The system now in operation for keeping track of gate money is as follows: When an event is to occur its manager is given a number of tickets by the treasurer. After the event the manager returns the unsold tickets and accounts for the sold in cash and audited and receipted bills on a regular bank form. These statements are kept by the treasurer and may be inspected by anyone.

While much as been done this year in the way of systematizing there is yet room for improvement. The particular fault now is that debts are contracted, most of them necessary, to be sure, but debts of whose existence nothing is known until they appear before the auditing committee, when there is nothing left to do, it seems, but to pay them.

There has been much complaint about the financial methods of the Athletic association. The fault is with the student body. In it lies the power to make it what it will,—to elect the officers, the auditors, and to amend the constitution.

Respectfully submitted,
L. M. Hanks, Treas.

READY TO PLAY CHICAGO

FOOTBALL TEAM TO LEAVE TOMORROW MORNING.

ANTAGONISTS ARE STRONGER THAN PURDUE.

But Victory Is Expected—How the Men Will Line Up.

The football eleven will leave for Chicago at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning, via Milwaukee. They will reach there about 1:30 and go immediately to the Chicago University grounds at 57th street and Ellis avenue, where the game will be played. Quite a number of the students expect to go with the team to see the game. It is evident that it will be a good one. The Chicago team is much stronger than Purdue, they are in good shape and are men of experience. Parker will play guard for Chicago in the game. He is a new man and weighs 230 and helps to make their line much stronger. Everett and Stickney will go with the men. The Wisconsin team is in good shape and U. W. will probably be able to celebrate their third football victory tomorrow night. The boys took some light practice this afternoon. The game will be called at 3 o'clock; this will not enable our men to catch the 10:50 but will reach here at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Lyman, however, will try and get here on the first train.

Gould, of Amherst, will act as one of the officials of the game. The men will line up about the same as at Purdue, as follows:

Left Guard—Bunge.

Center—Kull.

Right Guard—Jacobs.

Right Tackle—Silverwood.

Right End—Major.

Quarter Back—Lyman.

Left Half—Nelson.

Right Half—Karel.

Full Back—Richards.

Substitutes—Alexander, Trautman, Kaiser.

CASTALIA.

Roll Call—Respond with your favorite author.

Music—Miss Cushing.

Five Minute Talk, The Late and New Presidents of France—Miss Mabbit.

Debate—Resolved that the benefits to the United States of foreign immigration outweigh its evils. Affirmative: Misses Sheibel, McKowan. Negative: Misses Wootton, Maynard.

A Review of "Trilby"—Miss Cramer.

Music—Miss Richardson.

Paper—George Inness.

Farce—Miss Chakman, Miss Peters, and Miss Thomas.

—Mr. John A. Kittell, '96, has been nominated by the republicans for county superintendent of Brown county which includes Green Bay and cities on the lower Fox river. He left last Wednesday to personally carry on his canvass.

DEMOCRATS CONVENE.

And Listen With Delight to Schmitz and Leary.

Last evening a democratic rally of unusual interest, was held in the assembly chamber of our capitol, under the auspices of the U. W. Democratic club. The ushers, Kroenke, Kull, Cunningham, McNab and Lockney welcomed all at the door and politely escorted them to seats. After having a few selections by the band, Pres. Richmond introduced as the first speaker of the evening Mr. Adolph J. Schmitz, '75, of Manitowoc, candidate on the democratic ticket for lieutenant governor this fall.

Mr. Schmitz is a very earnest and able talker and gave the boys many pointers on the tariff question. He compared the McKinley bill with the Wilson bill, and claimed that there would be a large actual saving to our country under the latter. He showed the ridiculousness of the republican scheme of having the foreigners pay our taxes. No, he said, the foreigners are not built that way; they have their own taxes to pay. He told about Cleveland's coming into office in 1893 and finding the treasury almost empty, that he had left it filled in 1889. He also claimed that we had a hole in our treasury until the democrats came into power and patched it up. Mr. Schmitz claimed that the republican party could have no platform this fall that would catch the people, whom they have deceived so often. He said we heard no more about the little school house; that the republican papers were ashamed to print the picture of that little school house in their papers. He dwelt on the wholesome immigration laws passed by the democratic party; and then told the story of "Upham's Wild Cat" currency. Mr. Schmitz then finished with the expression of his hope to be in Madison next year and be with the boys himself.

Mr. Thomas J. Leary, of Platteville, was then introduced and gave an encouraging address, explaining and discussing the ground the democrats must stand on this fall to succeed in carrying the election. He told several amusing stories of "Our Uncle Hod Taylor," whom he had heard make several speeches lately, and remarked on the latter's ability to twist figures, and to overlook all the important sum totals of the excuses of the government during the respective administration of the two parties. He called on all to vote the ticket that had at its head such men as Peck, Schmitz, Cunningham, Hunner and O'Connor, who had shown their fidelity to state and party the past four years.

When Mr. Cleary finished his eloquent address, there was a loud cry for "Vilas," whom the boys had found among them. Mr. Vilas expressed his satisfaction at seeing the boys so enthusiastic in the right cause and promised the club to make an address to them before the 6th of Nov. next, and after great applause the meeting was adjourned.

ENGINEER FOOTBALL.

The sophomore engineers turned out fifteen men for football practice on lower campus yesterday afternoon. Considering their limited experience, the boys made a very creditable showing. Messrs. Alexander, Major and Nelson will coach the team.

Any failure to receive the Daily Cardinal promptly should be reported to the Business Manager.

Persons who have items for the Cardinal should be careful to deposit them in the "Cardinal" box in University hall and not in the box labeled "Badger."

Now that we have the cap and gown we will probably be confronted by the same momentous question that is troubling the Northwestern. "Will some one kindly furnish us with a book on "Etiquette of the Mortar-board and Gown?" Numerous inquiries are coming in concerning the best usages in taking off the cap to a lady, and as to whether a gentleman should lift his gown when crossing a muddy street, and, besides these, many minor questions have arisen which must be settled before the minds of questioning students will be at peace."

WESTERN FOOTBALL TEAMS.

Football in the west is complicated and it is difficult to judge of the comparative merits of the teams. Last year's champions, the University of Minnesota, seem to have degenerated this fall. They were nearly taken into camp by the Grinnell (Iowa) College team last week. The Minnesota eleven lacks strength in line and its backs are not good ground gainers. The University of Wisconsin seems to have the strongest team in the west at present, if anything is to be deducted from scores. A week's practice may change the aspect of the various elevens, however. Lake Forest has a good eleven, but Evanston seems to have little more than half backs. Northwestern is a stranger to team play and it will probably continue to be fairly good practice for its opponents the remainder of the season. Ann Arbor has not been called to display its full strength yet and it has plenty of time to develop before its Thanksgiving Day game with the University of Chicago. Stagg's team, by the way, promises well. The Chicago Athletic association is lamentably weak and has no cause for self gratulation in its defeat of the University of Illinois eleven Saturday, for the Champaign men seemed for the most part tennis players. The Chicago Athletic association team will make a poor showing on its eastern trip if it does not improve rapidly.—Chicago Post.

HIGH SCHOOL AGAINST BELOIT
SECOND.

The High School football team will play the second eleven of Beloit college tomorrow afternoon on the lower campus. The game will be an interesting one as the high school has one of the best scholastic teams in the state. Their victory over our second eleven showed what they were capable of and it is very probable that Beloit's team will go down before them. An admission of 20 cents will be charged. The high school team will line up as follows:

Right End, Tracy P.
Right Tackle—Lyle.
Right Guard—Donkle A.
Center—Schilling.
Left Guard—Donkle T.
Left Tackle—Johnson.
Left End—Dean.
L. B.—Slightam (Capt.).
Left Half—Parkinson.
Right Half—Anderson.
F. Back—Berryman.
Substitutes—Cooley, Benson, Smith.

Y. M. C. A. MEETING.

The Y. M. C. A. held its regular meeting last evening. Eight members were elected. H. K. White, '94; R. A. Ruddick, '96, and J. M. Beffel, '94, will represent the university at the twentieth annual state convention which will be held in Janesville this week.

PROF. HUBBARD'S LECTURE.

Continuation of English Drama Yesterday Afternoon.

Prof. Hubbard continued his discussion on the morality plays. They are usually written in couplets, and their performance took place on festival days. The personages were half abstract, half real characters. In time instruction gave place to amusement and consequently characters tended to lose their abstractedness. The morality plays continued till the end of the 16th century when they were superseded by the regular drama. Abstract characters had no attraction for the people when they could see real personages. Besides these plays there were other forms of the drama that grew up along with the morality plays.
The pageant originating about 1236,
is supposed to have been introduced from Flanders. It was wide-spread and very popular. Pageants were given with great splendor during the reign of Henry IV., Henry V., and Henry VI. The Lord Mayor Pageant continued for a long time. The Mask occupied an intermediate place between the pageant and the regular drama.
It was often given for court entertainment and was very popular during Elizabeth's reign.

The regular drama is the next step.
Here we must note the distinction between tragedy and comedy. In Aristotle's time a tragedy was the representation of a serious complete action;
comedy was the representation of a mean and ridiculous action. Thus we see that both the tragic and comic elements are present in mystery and morality plays. The mystery plays were, however, limited in range of subject and action and lacked novelty and impression. This was due largely to the fact that they were based on Scriptures. The morality plays were weak and limited. They attempted to do what was impossible in trying to personify abstractions. The characters had no individuality and generally had to label themselves in order to be known. Furthermore there was no attempt in these plays to make any practical application of the truths they represented. Later there was a tendency in the mystery plays to get away from the simple biblical narrative.

The first real drama was "Robert of Sicily," acted at Chester in 1299. It was treated after the style of the miracle plays. It marked a tendency to get away from personified characters. This change in the drama took place when England was influenced by foreign literature. Influences that helped to shape the English drama
were four: 1st Mystery and Miracle plays, 2d Study of History, 3d Study of Classical Drama (Greek and Latin), 4th Study of Italian Drama. The literary revival introduced students to the classical drama. During the 16th century Italian literature was much studied and we derived from this source our blank verse and sonnet.
There was an attempt to write history

in a popular form and a tendency to appeal to the past for authority. This led to the introduction of dramas
based on historical events and modeled after the classic dramas. First drama of this kind was "Kynge Joh-han," a mixture of history and allegory, written by John Bale and published in 1538. Bale wrote many dramatic pieces, chiefly miracle plays. His dramatic pieces were intended to promote the cause of Protestantism. These plays contain the first attempt to instruct the public mind in the doctrines of the reformation by the instrumen-tality of the stage.

EXCUSE FROM DRILL.

All male members of the freshman and sophomore classes, including first and second year, special and adult specials, who expect to be excused from military drill must submit their reasons in the form of a letter to the athletic committee of the faculty. A great many are absenting themselves from drill without having been excused by that committee and are having absences recorded against them.
Letters may be addressed to the undersigned—

E. Chynoweth,
Commander U. W. Battalion.
