SENIOR CLASS TO HOLD FIRST MEETING TODAY

Will Consider Future Plans

The first senior class meeting of the year will be held at 1 o'clock today in Music hall.

All members of the class of '23 are asked by Rollie Williams, class president, to attend so that a true consensus of opinion concerning the class memorial, union fund, and alumni association membership can be obtained.

"This is the important business meeting of the senior class, and its success in carrying through all commencement projects makes imperative the attendance of all seniors at the meeting," Williams said.

"We want to make decisions reached at this meeting to express the concerted wishes of all."

Plan Class Memorial.

Robert N. McMynn law '94, Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Alumni association, will give a short talk on the desirability of joining the General Alumni association of the university.

Arranging for and financing a memorial for the class of 1923, and a reunion fund are big class questions to come before the meeting today. Other plans for commencement week will be considered also.

R. O. T. C. Begins Annual Training For Inspection

Review of the course in military tactics is being given the companies of the Wisconsin R. O. T. C. in preparation for the annual inspection on May 18 and 19, to determine whether Wisconsin will retain its distinguished college rating.

The review and inspection will be held at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon for all university companies. Inspection of individual companies will be held at the regular hours on Friday and Saturday.

Beginning with this week and continuing until Friday, June 18, all the companies will assemble on the lower campus at 4:30 o'clock every Friday. All members of the R. O. T. C. will be excused from classes at 4:30 o'clock on those days. Attendance at the general inspection is compulsory.

After inspection by general staff officers, drill will be discontinued for the remainder of the year. All companies will take part in the annual president's review, Memorial Day, May 30.

World Tour Proceeds to Help Foreign Loan Fund

Wanted—money by a foreign student.

This might have been the ad of a Chinese student in Chicago or Madison if it had not been for the Foreign Students' Loan fund. This student had come to Chicago with only a limited amount of money because of the "wild robbers" that infested the city. He wired for more but forgot to give his address. No money necessitated working in Chicago, so that he might have enough money to reach Madison. Arriving in Madison without any money, he applied to the Foreign Students' Loan fund. He received the money loan until he received more from his home.

This is the work that the Foreign Students' Loan fund is doing for these students; and it is for this fund that the "Tour Around the World" will be given Saturday at 8 o'clock in Music hall.

WOMEN ARE TO ELECT ORGANIZATION OFFICERS

Elections for the women's class organizations will be held from 8 until 5:30 o'clock on Friday, May 18 in Lathrop hall. This will include Yellow Tassel, junior women; Red Gauntlet, sophomore women; and Green Button, freshman women. This year's Blue Dragon, senior women, will not hold an election. Red Gauntlet held its banquet last night in Lathrop parlors, Yellow Tassel is to hold its nominating banquet this Thursday in Lathrop parlors, and Green Button will hold its banquet Wednesday, May 16.

These organizations are for the purpose of increasing and strengthening friendships among the women of the different classes, and of increasing class spirit. Arrangements for the class sport tournaments are also handled through these societies.

Union Board Offers Prize To Get New Mixer Name

Organize Committee to Clear Dances From Objec- tionals

The Union board is conducting a contest to get a new name for the all-university dances, and will give a $5 award for the best suggestion submitted by April 29, according to announcement made last night by Malcolm Millar '25, member of the board.

All suggestions are limited to one or two words and should be sent to Malcolm Millar at the Union board mail box in the Union building. The judging committee consists of the nine members of the board. A ballot for voting will be found on page 2.

The next dance will be held on May 4 in the gym and will be conducted under the new plan which will eliminate the objectionable features of the old mixers.

Fee cards will be demanded at the entrance and a bouncing committee will keep out all non-students. By the adopting of a new name, it is hoped to depart as far spirit.

The traditional all-university mixer which is held the first week end of the first semester will be held as usual next fall, but all other dances will be held under the new name.

"The board has never given up and does not intend to relinquish the title of all-student mixer which several other organizations have taken the privilege of using in the past and thus bring bad repute to the Union board mixers," Malcolm Millar '25, said last night.

PROMENADE MAY BE SAVED FOR CLASS OF '1925

Students Make Pleas For Extension

Hopes for prom in the capitol next year were resurrected yesterday.

After the Senate had hung the crepe on student hopes by refusing to reconsider the joint resolution, No. 52, written and sponsored by Senator Heck, a Wisconsin graduate, the judiciary committee of the Assembly came to the rescue in a movie like thrilling and encouraging manner.

For one hour student representatives presented their urgent pleas that the use of the state building be granted for one more year. And for 15 minutes Senator Heck, a forceful speaker, progressive leader, well versed in speech as he is in law, explained with dignity the provisions of his resolution.

Many Attend Session

The committee reported last night to postpone indefinitely the measure. Assurance was made to The Cardinal last night that an amendment would be introduced by the committee, extending the use of the capitol to students until July 1, 1924.

Students turned out in "full force" to watch the stern legal grinding of the legislature in the judiciary committee room, No. 213. More than 30 were present when the matter of "Joint Resolution, No. 52," was brought up after a long wait.

Herman W. Sachjen, Madison lawyer, opened the hearing.

Asked for Capitol Too

Senator Heck, formerly Racine county judge, arose walked to one end of a large table around which the committeemen were seated, and began:

"I've very little to say, gentlemen. I haven't changed my mind in 32 years. Thirty-one years ago I was on a committee from the law school which at that time was located in the state capitol. We went to see Governor Peck for permission to use again the capitol for a law banquet.

"Peck turned to us gravely, and said: 'This is a public building. I have no right to exclude the public at any time.'"

"The bill isn't aimed at any group," Heck declared. "It is the principle which is important and which should be judged. We have no right to let admission be charged for entrance to the capitol."

Assemblyman A. M. Warden, smiling, interjected:

"So long as you are not charged anything for it?"

"No," Heck replied quickly. "I enjoy dancing. Why, I can out-dance anybody in this room. I'm willing to go on a Marathon any time."

BADGERS MEET NORTHWESTERN

FROSH RUNNERS LEAD VARSITY IN 440 RELAY

Good Records Made in Tryouts

Four freshmen track speedsters upset all the dope in the varsity trials at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon when they beat the pick of varsity sprinters in the 440 yard relay race by several feet.

Tryouts were held in the quarter mile relay the quarter mile run and in the mile run that coaches might line up their men for the Drake Relays to be held at Des Moines, Ia., next Saturday afternoon.

Men in the mile showed up well, running the fastest they have made for some time. Schneider finished a few feet ahead of Rossmessel, his nearest competitor, in the fast time of 4 minutes and 32 seconds. Bergstresser and Sherman came in third and fourth respectively.

The quarter also was hard fought with Hilberts showing the best speed. The men who will go to Des Moines for the mile event have not yet been chosen but the results of the meet yesterday probably will be taken largely into consideration when choices are made.

Athletic Director T. E. Jones has entered four teams at the Drake Relays. The four mile team is considered strong enough to place high, and the two-mile team should count. Practically the same team of half-milers that took third place at the Kansas Relays last Saturday will represent Wisconsin at Des Moines. The half-milers encountered a little hard luck at Kansas and lost out after leading the field for three laps, but with a week of intensive drill behind them, they should give better results at the Drake runs.

The showing of the men during the next two days of practice will count considerably when the squad of men to make the trip to Iowa is announced.

BAND DISPLAYS VERSATILITY IN GOOD CONCERT

The First Regimental concert band demonstrated its versatility at the annual concert held in the University gymnasium Sunday afternoon, under the direction of Major E. W. Murphy. The band numbers were: "March Richelieu," Boisvert; "Finale from Symphony in F Minor," Tsaichowsky; a selection from the opera "Mefistofele," Boito; "Valse Caprice," Rubenstein; "La Feria," Lacombe; and two Slavonic dances by Dvorak.

Encores were "Mothers of Democracy" March, Panella; "The Prohibitionist," a march by Alvin Willis; and "Scott's Special," Phillips.

Cecil Burleigh of the University school of music played four violin selections one of which, "The North Wind," was his own composition, and after insistent calls by an enthusiastic audience played Beethoven's "Minuet" as encore. Mr. Burleigh was accompanied by Leon L. Iltis, of the University school of music.

Miss Clara Thurston, harpist, was unable to fulfill her engagement to play with the concert band because of illness.

CREW IN FIRST DRILL ON LAKE

Initial Match is Scheduled With Duluth Boat Crew May 26

In its first outdoor work-out of the year, the Varsity crew launched a shell on Lake Mendota yesterday afternoon and went through a drill under the direction of Coach "Dad" Vail.

Construction work on the new pier in front of the boathouse was completed and weather conditions were good for the initial lake practice. The crew took to the water this year two weeks later than last year and its form has been seriously retarded by the delay.

With the first match scheduled with the Duluth Boat club for Saturday, May 26, the men will have to do some intensive training if they are to be in good condition by that time. This race will be one of the events in the spring regatta which is scheduled for that day.

Plan for Spring Regatta
Other events will be a race between the Junior crew and St. John's Military academy, canoe races, interclass and intercollege races, and a number of other water events.

Culver Military academy will send a crew here on June 2 at which time they will race the Junior crew. About June 16 the senior crew will race some well known college, but the opponent has not been decided.

The athletic board recently expressed itself as favoring the plan to send the crew to Poughkeepsie next year to attend the eastern regatta. Whether the crew will go depends upon what action faculty members will take, but it is thought they will look favorably upon the plan.

Crew Will Lose Nine
Authorities find it difficult to determine just how strong next year's crew will be. Nine men will graduate from this year's crew, and although a few men on the junior crew and frosh crew who have showed good ability, it is probable that Coach Vaile will not find it an easy matter to fill the shoes of these nine men. Most of the men on the first year crew are not heavy enough, but this is one factor which the coach has been contending with for several years.

The men who will be lost to the crew next year are: P. J. Okerstrom, E. H. Crozier, D. C. Newcomb, L. H. Kingston, T. Bacchus, W. M. Smith, A. J. Platten, C. G. Jax, and R. S. Klussendorf.

Athletic Field And Ball Nine Discussed at Meeting

The proposed athletic field and the Madison baseball team were discussed by Tommy Thompson at the last supper for the season of the Nabors club held at 6:30 last night at Plymouth Congregational church. The meetings of the club will be resumed the second Monday in September.

A Mothers' Day program, May 7, will be arranged by the Peers club, it was decided at the weekly supper of the club held at 6:30 last night at the city Y. M. C. A. Mothers of club members will attend the program, which is under the direction of John Gotstein, chairman of the program committee.

"PROFESSIONAL" CHARGE TAKES MILLS, PITCHER

Sixth Badger Player Ruled Out

Professionalism took one more of Coach Guy Lowman's baseball players in the clean-up campaign waged by John L. Griffith, commissioner of conference athletics, when Ashley V. Mills '23, Lake Mills, was declared ineligible the morning of the Indiana game.

Mills is a southpaw pitcher who was used on the mound and in the field on the southern training trip. The action costs Mills his letter and loses to Wisconsin one more valuable ball player. Mills is the sixth Badger declared ineligible for athletic this spring.

Athletic Director Jones received a letter from Commissioner Griffith Thursday, and Friday morning the charge of playing two semi-professional games at Jefferson last summer caused Mills to be ruled off the team.

INTER-COLLEGE TANK MEET IS HELD THURSDAY

A swimming meet to determine the inter-college championship will be held at 7:30 o'clock on Thursday evening at the gymnasium pool. Coach Steinauer wants every man that is good in any tank event to come out and support the team.

The Engineers or the Commerce men are hoped to win the event, for they have some of the best swimmers in school. The business men will get their main support from the Freshman swimming squad, for the green tank men are nearly all in the Commerce department.

The Engineers will get their main support from the remaining frosh, and from Varsity tank men. Men who have been awarded letters, however, will not be permitted to enter the meet. The L. & S. college and the Law school will also have some good support by Varsity squad swimmers.

The Freshmen have shown up best as a class this year, having won the inter-class meet by a large margin, and it is expected that they will be out in full force for the inter-college meet.

The events that will be held in the meet are the 40 yd. dash, 100 yd. dash, 220 yd. dash, 100 yd. breast stroke, 100 yd. back stroke, diving, plunging, and relays.

Next week an all-university swimming meet will be held. This meet will be for the purpose of determining the best swimmers in each class—Senior, junior, sophomore, and Freshman.

ASSEMBLY GETS SEVERSON BILL THIS MORNING

The Severson bill to increase the number of regents from the state-at-large from two to four will be sent to the assembly this morning.

It will be sent to the educational committee immediately and be granted a public hearing later. The assembly will probably vote on it sometime this week. It has passed the senate already.

The present plan of having one member from each congressional district will be continued. The new bill provides that of the four members appointed from the state-at-large, two shall be farmers and two shall be engaged in the manual trades.

It is further stated that two of the above shall be women. The two regents must be appointed 30 days after the passage of the bill.

The bill was introduced by Senator Severson of this district on March 9.

Judge O. A. Stolen of the Superior court is temporarily confined to his home due to eye trouble. Judge A. C. Hoppmann, senior Superior court judge, is taking Judge Stolen's place.

A. C. O. WINS IN INTER-SORORITY BOWLING MEET

Alpha Chi Omega won the inter-sorority bowling tournament with 31 games won and only eight lost. Alpha Xi Delta came in a close second with 30 victories and nine losses. This was a margin of only one game for the Alpha Chi Omegas, and meant the loss of the permanent cup which would have gone to the Alpha Xi Deltas if they had been able to chalk up the third victory in five years. Alpha Omicron Pi won third place with 21 games won to 12 games lost.

This is the fifth year of inter-sorority bowling tournament. The scores so far stand: first year—Alpha Xi Delta; second year—Phi Omega Pi; third year—Alpha Gamma Delta; fourth year—Alpha Xi Delta; fifth year—Alpha Chi Omega.

There are two cups offered in this tournament, one permanent cup to the winner each year, and one travelling cup which will be given permanently to the first sorority who wins the cup three times out of five successive years.

High individual score was bowled by Doris Gormley '24, 225; high individual average for the entire season was bowled by Cleo Parsley '23, 139.2; highest team score was won by Kappa Delta with 747 for one series; and highest team average was taken by Alpha Xi Delta with 600.2 for the entire season.

The final standings were in percentage: Alpha Chi Omega, .795; Alpha Xi Delta, .769; and Alpha Omicron Pi, .692.

AGRIC MATMEN BEAT L. & S.

Victory Gives Farmers Claim to Inter-College Title

In a close match, featured by several over-time contests, the Agrics defeated the L. and S. team in the final round of the inter-college wrestling meet by a 14 to 13 score yesterday afternoon.

Seven bouts were scheduled for the occasion, and out of this number, four had to be extended before the winner could be determined. The bout between Shervert and Stair, which was won by the former, was easily the fastest bout by a fall in seven minutes, 45 seconds, but he did not have an easy time doing it.

Much interest was displayed in the last bout between Chapman and Chada, as the score stood 14 to 10 with the Agrics leading. If Chapman could have won the bout with a fall, it would have given the decision to the L. and S. men, but the best he could do was to win the decision in an overtime period.

The victory gives the Agrs an undisputed claim to the inter-college wrestling championship, since the L. and S. men had previously defeated the Engineers by a score of 21 to 8.

The summary shows that the Agrs won four bouts with three decisions and one fall. The L. and S. team won two of their bouts by falls, but they could only get one lone decision in the remaining bouts.

The summary of the bouts is as follows: 115 pound class, R. Rickert won a decision from E. Hanson in an overtime contest; 125 pound class, C. Witworth won from R. Wheeler in two minutes, 55 seconds; 135 pound class, H. Sherbert won from Stair by a fall in seven minutes, 45 seconds; 145 pound class, G. Minkwitz won from Jacobs by a fall in an overtime bout.

L. L. Chapman won the decision in an overtime contest from H. Chada in the 158 pound class; 175 pound class, E. Payton earned the decision from "Red" Pelgrin in an overtime bout; heavy weight class, R. Stepiak won by a fall from Sears in six minutes, 45 seconds.

COLLEGE TEAM PLAY OPENING CONTEST TODAY

Badgers Have Every Advantage

Badger baseballers play their second home game of the season at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon when they stack up against the Northwestern college team from Watertown, Wis.

Wisconsin has every advantage over the college players since this will be Northwestern's first game. They were scheduled to open their season against Whitewater Normal Saturday but the game was called off because of weather conditions.

Announce Lineup

Coach Lowman will use the game as a test for his pitchers, Johnson will start the game if the day is warm and at least one or two other twirlers will be called to the box. Lowman rates Northwestern as one of the best small college teams in this part of the country and figures that hit pitchers will be kept busy keeping the bases clear.

The new batting line up for the Cardinal will be:

Williams, lf; Becker, cf; Servatius, rf; Holm, 1b; Ellington, 2b; Tebell, 3b; Aschenbrenner, c; Combacker, ss; Johnson, Radke, or Schrenk, pitcher.

Hully Holm has advanced to the clean-up berth in the batting order in recognition of the way he has been wielding his bat in the last few practice sessions and in the Indiana game. Capt. Rollie Williams leads off as usual.

Frosh Improve

Batting practice has been the big thing in the work-outs this week. The Badgers seem weak in this department.

After a lengthy turn in front of the batting cage the Varsity again crossed bats with the Freshmen. The Frosh held better than they did Monday and about all the first stringers could do was pop up flies.

The infield led by Howie Combacker at short stop are showing real class. They have been gobbling up hot grounders and shooting the ball around the horn in flashy form. The real test comes later in the week when they play Chicago and Michigan on strange fields. Notre Dame will round off six days of intensive baseball for the Badgers in a game Monday at Notre Dame.

Coupon book holders can use their tickets to the cancelled Indiana game for admittance to the game today as the Conference rules will not allow a game to be postponed.

Chicago Bows to Iowa

The squad will take a final work-out at Camp Randall Thursday afternoon before the departing for the three-game trip. Friday afternoon the Cardinal and Maroon clash on the Midway in a contest that should provide plenty of excitement. After taking one game, Chicago dropped before the supposedly weak Iowa team. This coupled with the memory of two stinging basketball whippings and a football tie that eliminated Chicago from Big Ten honors, all at the hands of Wisconsin, should be incentive enough to drive Chicago to play above par.

Michigan is leading the Conference together with Illinois and Wisconsin. When Badgers and Wolverines meet, the one who emerges winner will be a strong Conference championship contender.

Michigan Defeats Ohio in First Game of the Season

Michigan opened its 1923 baseball season by defeating Ohio State 3 to 2. Intermittent rain made the field uncertain. Liverance held the Buckeyes to four hits. Harry Kipke scored the winning run in the sixth.

A BADGER SUGGESTION

The recent default election of Badger executives suggests the fact that perhaps some changes in the method of elections to these two important offices might expediently be adopted. No reflection upon the ability or political tactics of the newly elected heads, or in fact, of any previous men, is intended by this comment, but it is evident that some new system of election might well be adopted.

The fact that there was but one petition filed for Badger executive this year does not necessarily demonstrate a lack of interest by the sophomore class. Rather, sophomores themselves declare that it was a proof of their confidence in the ability and experience of the men who were chosen. That this is true, there is no reason to doubt; but there still is every reason to maintain that more than one person should have developed experience during his sophomore year which would qualify him for the editor's chair.

It has long been the custom of the Badger editors to name at least four so-called "sophomore assistants" who were to work in all departments in order to become fitted for work the following year. Foresight of this kind is commendable, for although the Badger is annually a single class affair, in most of its aspects it is a continuous activity with one year's work.

This year there seems to have been only one man whose complete experience was considered sufficient to place him in the responsible position. At least three other tickets are known to have been in an embryonic formation, but nothing was done because of the supposed superior strength and ability of the other.

This condition, of course, is much better than that of some other years when a man of no Badger experience has competed against a tried and talented man and because of superior political knowledge has won the position.

It is with the hope of averting

both extremes; namely the election of an inexperienced man or the absolute coup d'etat by one man, that The Cardinal suggests that the Badger board, the Senate, or some appropriate body consider some plan for future years whereby a competent and experienced man is annually assured, but where there also will be an annually contested election.

This plan may provide for any number of things. A suggestion is that out of the sophomores who serve an apprenticeship on the Badger, the Badger staff each year recommend as many as six to the sophomore class for election. The idea is rough, but seems to be one solution.

At any rate it seems expedient that only a man who has been connected with the Badger should accede to the position of chief and it also seems certain that in a school of 8,000 there ought each year to be sufficient petitions to assure an opportunity at the voting booth for class decision.

ALIBI?

Typographical errors in The Cardinal are all too common and they are annoying to the staff as well as to the reading public. It makes for discouraging reading.

No excuses are offered; but a mathematical friend has figured out a few interesting statistics which make an alibi unnecessary:

In a single column of an average issue of The Cardinal there are 110 lines, 770 words and 3,300 letters.

A recent exchange declares that in the short sentence, "To be or not to be" by transpositions alone, it is possible to make 2,759,022 errors.

If this sentence of 18 letters has possibilities for that number of mistakes, what are the chances of an errorless column in The Cardinal?

Lit Might Learn From Magazine Critic declares

By H. H. P.

The Lit might learn a thing or two from the American Boy and the St. Nicholas Magazine, to which K. F. so sarcastically refers in the leading editorial of the April issue of that publication, which will be offered for sale this morning.

Those little magazines at least have picked out their readers and are publishing matter aimed to interest them. Are their editors, then, to be condemned for rejecting the random preciosity of intellectual fleglings? We do not, however, as K. F. seems to think, criticize the Lit "for rivaling" these publications. Quite the opposite, in fact; we are trying to point out that there are enough juvenile magazines already.

The editorialist's ironic pen (we are careful not to call it a type-writer) cites several subjects which might come under our recent suggestion that Lit material be taken from campus life; and he evidently derives considerable merriment out of the idea that they might be developed into something approaching literature.

We, on the other hand, grow merry over the subjects. Can you think of much more amusing material for satirical narrative than the voluntary wearing of green caps, enforced by the student court; an S. G. A. massmeeting; a student senate meeting; an annual Baptists Banquet?

By labeling itself a "publication of the students of the University of Wisconsin," the Lit ostensibly has chosen its readers. But seldom (certainly not in this issue) does it show signs of being published for anybody but its writers.

Perhaps we have been too severe; there are interesting things in this issue of the Lit. For instance, we don't understand how Marquis Childs' contribution got by the editorial eye of K. F.; for his benefit we'll explain that it is a satire self-consciously sophisticated and self-consciously sophisticated aesthete.

Miss Anne Stoffregen, writing extraordinary facility in an adopted language, tells an interesting tale of a passionate priest and a young lady who sought romance and found it; Vincent Starrett writes well of the Vera Cruz invasion. We think, though, that both stories might have been more fully developed a bit inside the characters' minds, or have had external indications a little less elusively subtle. apsuu tqg w uoos saxu qj zo 'spusu

We like Margaret Emmerling's short sketch, though as usual it goes afar for subject matter. (She evidently has better relations with bookleggers than we have been able to establish.)

Catherine Meyer's nameless essay on sin is amusing. As far as we can figure it out, it is the epigram's totalling record of 90 hours and 10 minutes.

As for Carl Rakosi's criticism of John Gould Fletcher, we enjoyed the quotations from Fletcher and shall not attempt to analyze the reviewer's prose.

Unlike Cinderella's shoe, the golden slippers have travelled from England to New York, from New York to Cleveland, from Cleveland to Texas, and now from Texas back to Cleveland again.

During one performance a title holder wore out six pairs of stockings and four pairs of shoes; tired out four orchestras and three piano players; and danced approximately 50 miles.

From reformers throughout the land comes the complaint that this form of dissipation is dangerous to health, useless as entertainment, and a disgrace to the art and profession of dancing.

If individual vitality and endurance must seek an outlet, why not a long distance, non-stop chewing gum contest?

II. ABOUT THE LIBRARY

It takes nine minutes to get a book, six to get settled, and three to get a date.

In each hour spent in the library by a given student, 12 minutes are spent in looking at the clock, 28 in looking for friends—past or possible—and 20 in getting books, finding a place, taking off coat, or making ready to go.

The last time the lights went out in the library, it was expected that everyone would leave. When the lights came on again it was found that 14 more couples had come in.

Perhaps Wives In Love is not to be classified with the above, probably not. Yet, on the other hand, it may become a classic or one of its contemporaries which is causing Mr. Ford so much trouble, who knows?

It would be well, perhaps, if Mr. Ford and his other busy friends turned their attention from these books which are being published and sold in the open to those which can be found on some high and obscure shelf in railroad stations and which are published more or less surreptitiously. There they will find the root of a greater evil.

Books and things—cabbages—

News comes from the East that agitators in the Empire state are doing their best to suppress books, one in particular which has been criticized favorably by competent reviewers. If we remember correctly, the name of the book which has been receiving the condemnation of literary prigs is Wives In Love.

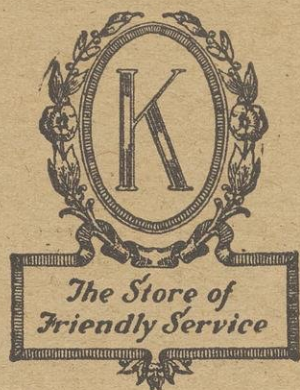

Although the title sounds more like that of a First National moving picture, it seems to indicate that the book is innocent enough. But it is difficult to tell the contents of a volume by its title, and there may be something in the work which would make the puritanical parents of the East think twice before they let their children read the book.

The story goes that a gentleman by the name of Ford learner from his supposedly innocent daughter that there was something in Wives In Love which little girls should not know. This aroused his interest—no we don't mean it that way. Anyhow, he began an investigation of books which ended in an agitation for an elaborate censorship plan.

Is it because New Yorkers are so near the proverbially puritanical New England that they are fearful of corrupting influences reaching their children? In all probability the children are not as subject to demoralizing influences as the parents believe.

Someone has brought out the fact that if parents had been as solicitous of their children's welfare as they are becoming, some censor would have gotten his hands on the Bible and the works of him "who didst the stars and sunbeams know," for there are not a few passages in these that would shock Mr. Ford had he not been educated in their tradition.

And what about a good many other literary works? Some red pencil would have wrought havoc

Woman's Club Hears Talk On Far East

The mandates of Mesopotamia, Palestine, and the island of Mauri in the Pacific, held by Great Britain since the Treaty of Versailles in 1919, were discussed by Miss Fanny Ellsworth before the history department of the Woman's club yesterday afternoon.

Miss Ellsworth said the advantage to Great Britain of holding Mesopotamia lies in the fact that that region is the trade route to India. Mauri is important because of the large supplies of phosphate that it yields.

Although the island is but seven and a half miles long and three and a half miles wide, it is the richest in the Pacific ocean.

Illustrated by photographs, the talk of Mrs. White dealt with all the sacred spots of Palestine.

George Larkin Dead

Son of Pioneer Politician Dies at Summit; Seriously Ill For Several Weeks

George Larkin, 79, Summit, son of John Larkin, early pioneer and politician who came to Madison in 1842 from New York, died at his farm home on Sunday night, after a serious illness of several weeks, and which had resulted from complications following a fall more than ten years ago.

Mr. Larkin is survived by his widow, Mrs. Addie Larkin, and an adopted son, Danford Larkin, now serving as foreman on the Pabst farm near Oconomowoc. Three sisters, Mrs. Helen Larkin Chase, Miss Louise Larkin and Miss Katherine Larkin residing with Frank J. Larkin, the only living brother at 890 Woodrow street, also survive him. A second brother, Edwin A. Larkin, died several years ago.

John Larkin and his wife came from New York to Wisconsin in 1842 and settled in the residence at 2310 Monroe street, that until two years ago was kept by the family. It is now occupied by Prof. and Mrs. J. M. O'Neil.

George Larkin was born February 8, 1844, and has lived in Madison, and Summit continuously until his death.

Y. W. C. A. HOLDS DRIVE FOR UNPAID PLEDGES

"May Day Is Pay Day" is the slogan which the Y. W. C. A. is aiming to have all of the members observe in regard to the unpaid pledges which were signed last fall in the annual drive for student members.

Three hundred dollars is still unpaid, according to the figures which were obtained in going over all of the accounts carefully the end of last week.

The time for final payment of these pledges expired over a month ago, and two notices have been sent to every woman reminding her of the fact. They could have been paid anytime between October and March 15.

The organization is in actual need of the payment of all of the pledges, as the budget fell short this year of the estimated amount which would be necessary to run on. The student pledges fell almost $200 short in the beginning and are consequently $500 short now, due to the non-payments. The alumnae drive and candy sale have also fallen short this year, and for these combined reasons it is essential that every woman who subscribed to Y. W. C. A. make her pledge good.

The office will be open to receive the money from 8:30 o'clock until 5 o'clock every day. Complete records of all of the paid and unpaid pledges are on file there.

Triumphs In
Bella Donna

"BELLA DONNA"
Featuring Pola Negri.
Presented at the Majestic.
Directed by George Fitzmaurice.
Released by Paramount.

BY CHATTY

As Pola Negri trifled with the fortunes and loves of men in "Mad Love" so is her love and fortune trifled with in "Bella Donna." Here she is at the other end of the stick, although she does some trifling on her own account, and discovers the taste of her own medicine.

Queen of passion, she is the peer of any native actress in such a role as she has in this, her first—and we hope not her last—American production. At time she seems a bit unrestrained, but passion is anything but restrained; at time she seems a bit stagey, but we can forgive her this because of her many admirable qualities.

Like Nazimova, Pola Negri has something about her that is characteristically un-American. Like Nazimova in her finish, her fineness; like Nazimova, yet extremely unlike her. The tragedy of her picture, and Pola Negri seems to delight in tragedy, is brought home with piercing surety.

Of course, the actress quite outshone her co-stars, but that is not saying that her partners were poor. Far from it. The support was characteristic of Paramount. It was exceptional. Conrad Nagel, as the spurned husband of the heroine, did a splendid piece of moving picture acting.

Evidently nothing was spared in making this film. A desert sand storm almost sweeps you out of your seat and nearly blinds you; the Vanice carnival heightens your spirit. And through it all there is the prophesy of the sand diviner which dogs and dogs your mind. One is made to feel that he will henceforth shun all fortune tellers as harbingers of evil.

The picture is long; in fact, it lasts two hours. And at its conclusion comes some very rough and ready slap-stick comedy. Is it that our sense of humor is depraved? Or are these films really as intolerable as they seem to us? Thank goodness, Harold Lloyd will provide comedy for next week, and soon Charlie Chaplin will be coming in "The Pilgrim."

What we advise is that you go to the Majestic about 10 minutes after the time scheduled for the beginning of the feature in order that you miss the prologue and leave before the comedy starts. For these two can not stand the contrast.

Y. W. C. A. Will Hold Morning
Watch at Lathrop Today

Applications must be made as soon as possible.

Neilan Shows
Pep Session
At Parkway

"STRANGERS' BANQUET"
Presented at the Parkway.
Directed by Marshall Neilan.

By J. F. W.

Zowie! If you haven't seen this yet, for heaven's sake throw your book out of the window and go down tonight! You'll come home with more pep than you ever thought you could stir up, and your lessons will seem as easy as A B C. But don't go on the Drive!

Here is the story of a beautiful woman who takes into her hands the reins of big business and how she does drive! She battles against every trouble which can beset industry, and wins. Agitators, anarchists, union leaders vent their buncomb on her and she sweeps it aside like so much dust. Not however without the help of a strong armed young manager who has a way of taking off his glasses and setting things right occasionally.

You'll like Jeanie, too. She's a gold digger who marries the business woman's brother. Perhaps, if you're a man or woman of the world, if you may be able to feel for her as she reels dizzily home after a night of it. She is a woman who would just as soon break her marriage vow for a friend of her's who kisses her when she stubs her tootsie. She'd tell you, if she could, that it is the woman who pays.

The anarchists get kicked out,—they don't care about this (adjective) country anyway.

But for the pretty girl with any eye for business, and the chap with the glasses,—well "Love Will Find a Way."

Milton Sills
Is Clever In Adam's Rib

"Adam's Rib"
Paramount Picture
Produced by Cecil B. De Mille

At Madison theater
Featuring Milton Sills, Anna Nilsson, Elliot Dexter
Pauline Garon.

BY F. H. W.

"Adam's Rib"—we thought that it would show us some of the practices and advantages of earlier life, and it did—for a while. During the 10 minutes that the cave man (who practiced real cave man tactics) and the cave woman paraded before us we learned that they regularly looked as frowsy as a drumped as the average co-ed looks as she tears up the hill for an 8 o'clock.

Likewise we learned that there are hopes for even lower campus being utilized as a spot for love-making, for it would certainly offer advantages comparable to the Chicago wheat pit which Milton Sills and Anna Q. Nilsson used as the setting for their touching reconciliation.

Just another proof that Milton Sills was clever—he was such a clever husband that he kissed even his own wife, and what's more, he did it so cleverly that she never suspected him.

Love—lots of it all through the whole picture, with every one exposed to it from the king without a country but with a good looking uniform, to the 17 year old flapper who was so attractive that she even looked well in her set of regular old fashioned rag curlers.

And besides ability to look well in curlers, that young flapper had other accomplishments, for she caught the bachelor away from his weird skeletons, and succeeded in keeping such good care of her mother that in the end she fell in love with her own husband again. No doubt about it—these flappers are clever!

The batchellors didn't show up so well, for from a confirmed woman hater he was converted to an adoring follower by the simple trick of a lost slipper with a French heel, a docrine skillfully used, and the sweet smile. And later on he as suddenly changed back because of cutting a single dance. Women—are they the only fickle ones?

Spending Dad's Money is Hit By "Nice People" Plot

As the girl in "Nice People" says, "Father pays my debts." It takes a real, wholesome man to show her what a foolish outlook on life that is, and it is all told in the Rachel Crothers comedy being presented by the Dorothy La Vern Stock company at the Orpheum theater all this week.

Because of the big demand for seats, reservations should be made as soon as possible.

The characters in "Nice People" are human beings. You can see them in almost any town or city. You'll laugh absurdity of the things that seem so very important important to them. You'll realize that the heroine is a silly creature, but, in spite of that, you'll like her. And you'll realize that arents have a little to do with the way certain girls are being brought up today.

STUART OFFERS POLITICS QUIZ

General Information Test is Prepared By Iowa Professor

A general information and intelligence test will be offered to the students of the class in Current Political Topics at 8 o'clock Thursday morning by Prof. G. H. Stuart, assistant professor of political science.

The test was originated by Professor Manry of the University of Iowa, and has been presented at all the colleges in the country which offer courses in international relations. The purpose of the device is to ascertain how much college men and women know on the subject of international politics. In some institutions it is being presented to those who have not studied political problems in classes; in others, as here at Wisconsin, it is taken by students who have had class training.

It is an optional test and will be held outside the regular class period.

PROMENADE MAY YET BE SAVED

The students then took the floor, George J. Fiedler '25, speaking first. Fiedler brought out the following facts:

1. Prom was attended by approximately 40 percent of the student body this year.

2. Price of prom has been steadily decreased in the past three years from $7.50 to $6.

3. Basketball would be impossible in the gymnasium if the prom was held in the gymnasium, according to Coach Meanwell, since the prom would come in the midst of the basketball season.

"Where did you get the figure that 40 per cent of the students attend prom?" Senator Heck questioned point-blank to Fiedler who had concluded in a pleasant, frank and tactful manner, the "pros" for the student side.

"No definite figures are obtainable, but practically all of the goers are students," Fiedler replied.

Heck, who was leaning back in his chair, indifferently puffing at a cigarette, queried again:

"Well, don't many students send for their girls?"

"Yes," Fiedler replied, "I suppose many of them do, but there is nothing wrong with Wisconsin girls."

This provoked an uproar of laughter, committeemen chorled lustily in merriment, while Senator Heck himself smiled at the clever come-back. Hawley Porter '25 spoke next.

Profits of the prom were explained by Porter, who has taken an active part in the legislative lobbying.

Wanzer Appears

The prom in 1922 brought $1,081.51 in profits, although this year's prom netted only a little more than $300 in profit because of the reduced price of $1, Porter explained. All proceeds go into the funds for building the Memorial Union building.

"The Sophomore class is willing to promise a $5 prom next year, no admission for spectators and any other modifications which the legislature may desire," Porter declared.

Gordon Wanzer '24 appeared next.

Wanzer, in his capacity of this year's prom chairman, read two letters to the committeemen. One letter was from the state prohibition agent, stating that three of his rum sleuths had attended the event inognito and had reported that everything was dry and orderly.

A personal note from Dean Goodnight was also read by Wanzer. Goodnight declared that he had never attended a more enjoyable, clean and orderly prom, that the one this year.

buttal, citing the possible damage to the building, the fundamental principle involved, and then reaffirming his stand on the proposition.

The report of the committee will be made soon to the assembly body where it will be acted upon. Action in the assembly is uncertain, although it is predicted by several that the body will approve the judgement of the committeemen as expressed in the amended resolution.

Lutherans Will Celebrate Association's Birthday

The first birthday of the Lutheran Memorial Student association will be celebrated by a banquet at the church on University avenue, at 6 o'clock May 4. This occasion will also be made a farewell to the seniors of the association.

"We expect this to be the biggest event of the year. Our space is limited and I urge all Lutherans planning to attend the banquet to make reservations early by telephoning Badger 7855," Kilber Wittenberg '24, president of the Lutheran Memorial Student association, said yesterday.

"We hope to be able to procure as speaker at the banquet, Dr. C. C. Bauslin, D. D., Harrisburg, Pa., who is college secretary of the National board of education of the United Lutheran Church of America."
