Foreword

THIS FOREWORD IS ADDRESSED TO THE GRADUATING SENIORS OF 1957, WHO, ALMOST A HALF CENTURY FROM NOW, MAY FEEL NOSTALGIC ENOUGH TO LOOK AT THE YEARBOOK PUBLISHED THE YEAR THEY WERE GRADUATED FROM WISCONSIN STATE COLLEGE AT RIVER FALLS.

RICHARD DOETKOTT
MELETEAN EDITOR, '57

FEB. 3, 1957
his is the year 1957. To us it is one month old; to you, a half century. The purpose of a yearbook is to try to close this gap and with pictures and words portray the past for the scrutiny (and perhaps sympathy) of the future. To give a complete picture of the school year '56-'57 we must do more than record the scores of football games. What sort of pressures, political, educational, and otherwise did you meet when you graduated? What kind of world did we live in? Often one forgets. Perhaps this foreword will bring the year you left River Falls into sharp focus once more.

You were graduated into a world of troubled complacency in 1957 and, as you might recall, this didn't seem to be a contradiction at the time. The gentle art of optimism might have imagined itself in the Dark Ages for all the support it received in '56-'57. Yet there wasn't so much pessimism either as complacency, a rather strange sort of "giving up" or resignation. This "I don't care" attitude seemed to be an avoidance reaction to ten years of "The Cold War," the term unique to this period of history.

People today are tired. They are tired of a constant threat of war with Russia, they are tired of paying three-fourths of their taxes for the purpose of avoiding such a tragedy, and they are tired of worrying about both. This has resulted in a philosophy of "enjoy it while you can," a philosophy that we have grown so used to that we have almost forgotten our worries. In fact, a third world war would surprise and shock us today, even though the situation is twice as perilous as before Pearl Harbor.

To you in the year 2,000 we might seem quite like the ostrich, refusing to face the facts but still plenty vulnerable to attack. Instead of sand, we hide today in our foam rubber cushions behind the chrome exterior of the latest model automobile. Automobiles today are getting larger, but people are getting smaller. Because we are hiding in our materialism, we have adopted a smaller view of things. Today we are suspicious and resentful of criticism and because of this attitude we have been receiving more criticism than ever before — even from our friends. Relations with our traditional allies, France and England, have grown a bit cooler in 1957. Under the pressure of the times, our allies are desperately trying to survive without the advantages of the prosperity and wealth we enjoy.

On top of everything else 1956 was an election year. We elected Dwight David Eisenhower for his second term. Formerly a general, there was no doubt that he would be elected in this era of uncertainty. When war is threatening we like to have someone around who has been in one — just in case. When President Eisenhower was elected to his first term many people expected some sort of miracle to happen to take care of the world's troubles. Now at the beginning of his second term, we start to realize that one good man is not enough.

But we are painting a pretty dismal view of your graduation year — at least of the political and world situation. It is encouraging to note that we moved ahead in '56-'57 in science and education. This year was designated the National Geophysical year, dedicated to finding out more about the world we live in. In connection with this the planet Mars was observed more closely than ever before, new expeditions explored the Antarctic, and the first "space satellite" is due to be launched soon. In the field of medicine, science triumphed in '56-'57 with the conquering of poliomyelitis, the great crippler.

Education moved ahead too, with integrated schools finally approaching a reality after much strife. Soon, all Americans will have the same opportunity to receive the best education we can provide. Schools are more crowded than ever before, but with help such as the Ford Foundation grants given this year and the proposed federal aid to education, this problem no longer looks insurmountable.

Inventions were many in '56-'57 — the solar battery and atomic powered ships come to mind as two examples of important ones. Science, fortunately, moves ahead independently of world affairs, although not so independently that it is unaffected. Science today must make toys for the war-minded before humanity can benefit. Scientific progress can build a better tomorrow — if given a tomorrow.

And what of the future? What lies ahead for us? You in the year 2,000 are in the enviable position of knowing our future. Perhaps at this time it might be interesting to compare notes as to what the future may hold. To this editor there seem to be two roads into the future. They are, classically, the road to peace and the road to war. It seems unlikely that the present potentially explosive situation of the "Cold War" can last fifty years and survive intact. It would seem that the touchy foreign situation is bound to erupt into a major war, with all the horror and devastation that atomic energy can produce. It would mean a severe setback to the human race, a setback that might take hundreds of years to regain what once was.

We see little today to avert such a catastrophe. One hope and one hope only do we have. This hope is the United Nations; more specifically, United Nations disarmament. Disarmament would not solve all the problems of the world, but it would prevent war. We could then turn our attention to relieving suffering and hunger in the world. We could explore the universe. Science would create untold miracles. We would live longer and like it. We could dream again. In short, we could pull our heads out of the sand and live again.

Whether nations will set aside their differences in the future, and disarm, only you can know and unfortunately you can't tell us. Incidentally, if you haven't looked at the graduation pictures in this yearbook, do so now. No doubt you will laugh heartily at the funny antique costumes and hairdos. We hope you will also laugh as heartily and as long at the worries and fears we had in 1956-'57. We pray your children haven't inherited them.

Dedication

IN APPRECIATION of Prof. J. M. May, 1956." So read the inscription on a bound file of letters presented to the head of the Agricultural Division of the college at a testimonial dinner. Every state in the union was represented in those testimonials.

To these tributes the Meletean staff adds a dedication, not only to John May, the man, but to John May, department head, counselor, teacher, friend, and 'dad' to more than 840 men trained in his department since 1913. Professor May's 44 years of service to his students, the college and the state is the type of accomplishment that will continue to make itself felt in the future.

Praise of this contribution was aptly voiced by President E. H. Kleinpell when he said, "Nothing satisfies an administrator like knowing he has on his staff a man who has done an outstanding job for his kids and his community."

We are proud to dedicate the 1957 Meletean to this type of man.

*His life was gentle, and the elements
So mixed in him that Nature might stand up
And say to all the world, 'This was a man!'*

As You Like It

A pictorial summary of college life at River Falls.

A photograph of a college building with a large tree in the foreground and a person standing near the entrance. The tree is a large, mature pine tree with a thick trunk and dense green needles, occupying the left side of the frame. The building is a two-story structure with a red brick upper section and a lower section made of light-colored stone. The entrance features a curved stone wall and a set of glass doors. A person is standing near the entrance, looking towards the camera. The sky is blue with some white clouds.

Enter Orlando and Adam.

Orlando.

As I remember Adam, it was upon this fashion bequeathed me by will, but poore a thousand Crownes, and as thou sayst, charged my brother on his sadnesse: My brother Jaqes he keeps there begins my sadnesse: My brother Jaqes he keeps for my part, he keeps me heere at home vnkept: and more properly staies me heere at home vnkept: for call you that keeping for a gentleman of my birth, that fers not from the stalling of an Oxe? his horses are bred better, for besides that they are faire with their feeding, they are taught their mannage, and to that end Riders deerly hir'd: but I (his brother) gaine nothing vnder dung hills are as much bound to him as I: besides this nature gaue mee, his countenance seemes to take from me: hee lets mee feede with his Hindes, barres mee the place of a brother, and as much as in him lies, mines my gentility with my education. This is it, Adam that grieues me, and the spirit of my Father, which I thinke is within mee, begins to mutine against this seruitude. I will no longer endure it, though yet I know no wife remedy how to auoid it.

Enter Oliver.

Adam. Yonder comes my Master, your brother.

Orlan. Goe a-part Adam, and thou shalt heere how he will shake me vp.

Oli. Now Sir, what make you heere?

Oli. Nothing: I am not taught to make any thing.

Oli. What mar you then sir?

Orl. Marry sir, I am helping you to mar that which God made, a poore vnworthy brother of yours with idlenesse.

Oliver. Marry sir be better employed, and be naught a while.

Orlan. Shall I keepe your hogs, and eat huskes with them? what prodigall portion haue I spent, that I should come to such penury?

Oli. Know you where you are sir?

Orl. O sir, very well: heere in your Orchard.

Oli. Know you before whom sir?

Orl. Know you then him I am before knowes mee: I know you are my eldest brother, and in the courtesie of nations allowes you my better, in that you are the first borne, but the same tradition takes not away my blood, were there twenty brothers betwixt vs: I haue as much of my father in mee, as you, albeit I confesse your coming before me is neerer to his reuerence.

Oli. What Boy.

Orl. Come, come elder brother, you are too yong in

Oli. Wilt thou lay hands on me villaine? I am no villaine: I am the yongest sonne of Sir Rowland de Boys, he was my father, and he is thrice a villaine that saies such a father begot villaines: wert thou not my brother, I would not take this hand from thy throat, till this other had puld out thy tongue for laying so, thou hast rauid on thy selfe.

Adam. Sweet Masters bee patient, for your Fathers remembrance, be at accord.

Oli. Let me goe I say.

Orl. I will not till I please: you shall heere mee: my father charg'd you in his will to giue me good education: you haue train'd me like a pezzant, obscuring and hiding from me all gentleman-like qualities: the spirit of my father growes strong in mee, and I will no longer endure it: therefore allow me such exercises as may become a gentleman, or giue mee the poore allottery my father left me by testament, with that I will goe buy my fortunes.

Oli. And what wilt thou do? beg when that is spent? Well sir, get you in. I will not long be troubled with you: you shall haue some part of your will, I pray you leave me.

Orl. I will no further offend you, then becomes mee for my good.

Oli. Get you with him, you olde dogge.

Adam. Is old dogge my reward: most true, I haue lost my teeth in your seruice: God be with my olde master, he would not haue spoke such a word. Ex. Or. Ad.

Oli. Is it euen so, begin you to grow vpon me? I will physicke your taucknesse, and yet giue no thousand crownes neyther: holla Dennis.

Enter Dennis.

Den. Calls your worships?

Oli. Was not Charles the Dukes Wraffler heere to speake with me?

Den. So please you, he is heere at the doore, and importunes access to you.

Oli. Call him in: 'twill be a good way: and to morrow the wraffling is.

Enter Charles.

Oli. Good morrow to your worships.

Charles. There's no newes at the Court Sir, but the olde newes: that is the old Duke is banished by his yonger brother the new Duke, and three or foure louing Lords

Wisconsin State College at River Falls

Wisconsin State College at River Falls has many facets. Many of these, strangely enough, seem to have been described by William Shakespeare.

Although it's true that the college is the oldest in Western Wisconsin, it can't claim to antedate Shakespeare. Yet, sometimes it seems the famous bard MUST have been writing about our college. A few examples follow.

"Here is everything advantageous to life"

The natural beauty of the campus invariably is the subject of comment by visitors. A green carpet covers the grounds during the summer months. In the winter, snow covering the trees and shrubs of all varieties converts the landscape into a wonderland.

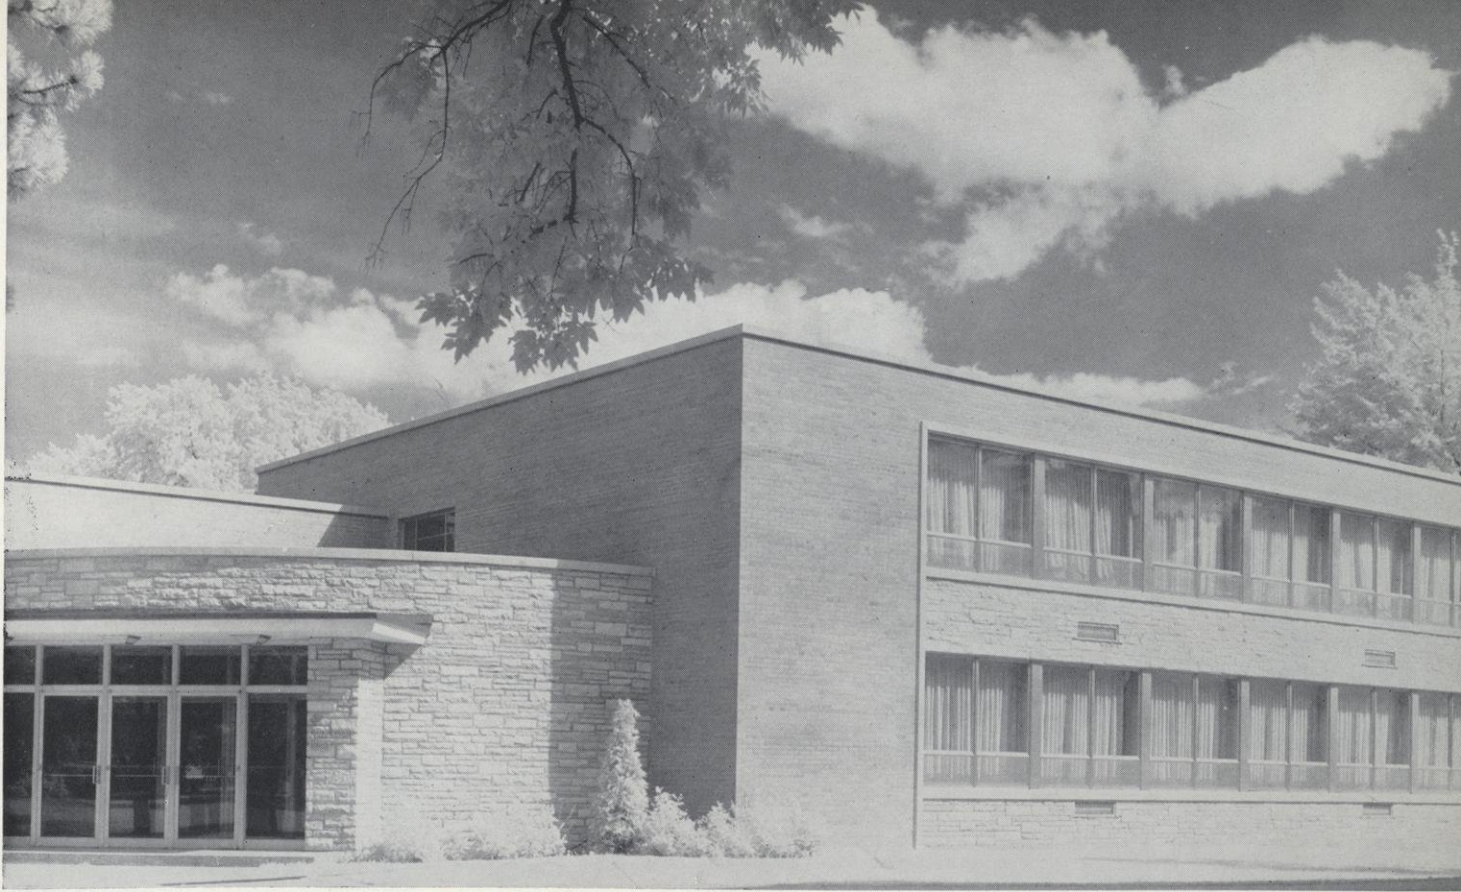

But it's not only nature that provides "everything advantageous to life." The college offers a wide variety of programs and course offerings in liberal arts, pre-professional work and teacher education.

A black and white photograph of a large, arched doorway. The door is open, revealing a man standing inside. The man is wearing a light-colored shirt and dark trousers, and has his arms crossed. The doorway is set into a stone or concrete wall. The arch above the door is large and features a grid pattern. The lighting is dramatic, with strong shadows.

"A Remembrance Of Things Past"

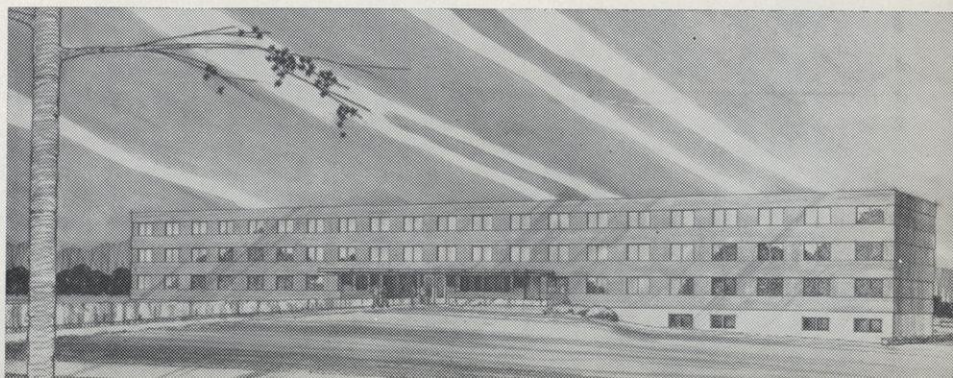

Staunch, weatherbeaten South Hall with its inscription "1874 - State Normal School - 1898" is a reminder of things past. Founded in 1874, the college operated for a half century as a Normal School. It became a State Teachers College in 1925 with a four-year degree. In 1951 the name was changed to Wisconsin State College at River Falls and the liberal arts program began. More than 18,000 students have attended the college.

My library was dukedom large enough

“A Spirit of Youth in Everything”

Symbol of the spirit of youth is the newest building on campus, the Chalmer Davee Library. With characteristic youth, the college continues to grow. In a short time the campus will be graced by a new Student Union Building and a Men's Dormitory. At the bottom is an artist's sketch of the men's residence hall, now under construction, and scheduled for occupancy by the fall of 1958. Future plans also include a Health and Physical Education Building, a new campus school building, a new farm site and additions to the residence halls.

"Still Constant In a Wondrous Excellence"

The "wondrous excellence" of River Falls is generally acknowledged. Graduates of the college are serving in every state in the nation and in foreign countries. Accrediting agencies and the Wisconsin State Department of Education have praised River Falls for its forward-looking program.

Part of the reputation of the school, at least, rests on the fact that the institution is student-centered.

The student at River Falls always is an individual. He studies in small classes and comes to know many of the members of the faculty personally. He is assisted in his academic planning and in the choice of a vocation.

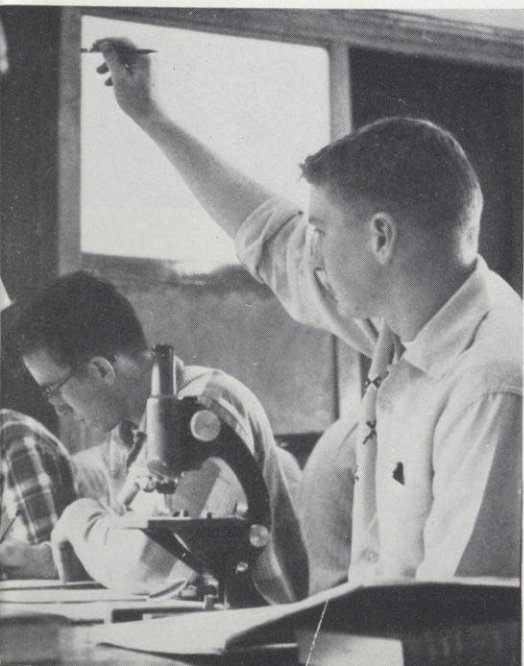

The college measures its success by the success of each student.

"How Infinite In Faculty"

Faculty members at River Falls are distinguished by their enthusiasm, their scholarship and their interest in student welfare. They are well-qualified in their chosen fields and are sincerely interested in teaching. Their aim is to produce persons who know how to think and who are prepared to take places of leadership and to participate intelligently in today's complex world.

The iron tongue of midnight hath tolled twelve

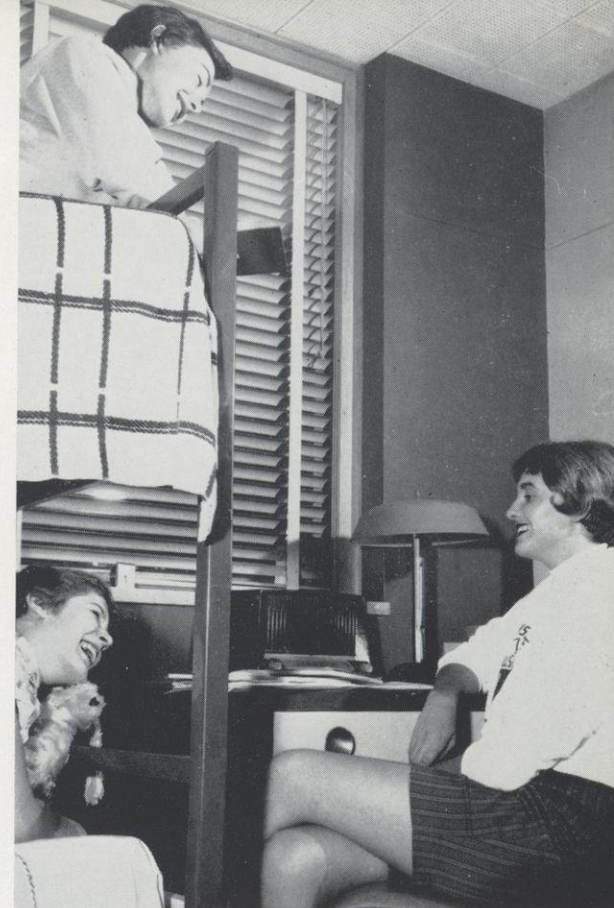

“And Yet I Would Not Sleep”

Hathorn Hall, women's dormitory at River Falls, has been expanded with a new third floor. Rooms are large and airy, well heated and lighted.

Men students, too, enjoy the TV set in the basement, the date rooms, comfortable lounge furniture and the eye-catching color schemes.

Of course, only the girls who live there can appreciate the convenience of the laundry with automatic washers and driers and the pressing rooms.

Soon, men students at River Falls will have these same advantages with construction of a new dormitory on the west side of the campus.

"And One Man In His Time Plays Many Parts"

All the world's a stage

A diversity of extra-curricular activities is offered at the college. Students interested in drama, music, sports, debate, publications, dance, art, and related fields find organizations and projects in which they may work with others of like interests.

Many clubs and organizations are set up to foster interest in academic subjects — organizations such as the math club, chemistry club, French club, German club, Association for Childhood Education International, Music Educators National Conference, and the American Council for Teachers of English.

Because the college is small, students are permitted to participate in a number of organizations and activities to broaden their interests and learn to do many things.

Our bruised arms hung up for monuments

The better foot before

Students are also trained for democratic living. Government is conducted by a Student Senate, elected by the students themselves. Each class has its own officers so that students have a voice in conducting the affairs of the college.

In addition to extra-curricular activities, clubs and organizations, and experience in self-government, students have the advantage of hearing outstanding speakers and artists who are brought to the campus for concerts and lectures.

"In Brief, Sir, Study What You Most Affect"

*The books, the arts
the acadames
That show, confirm,
and nourish all the world*

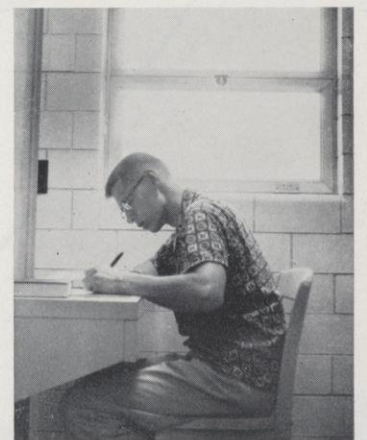

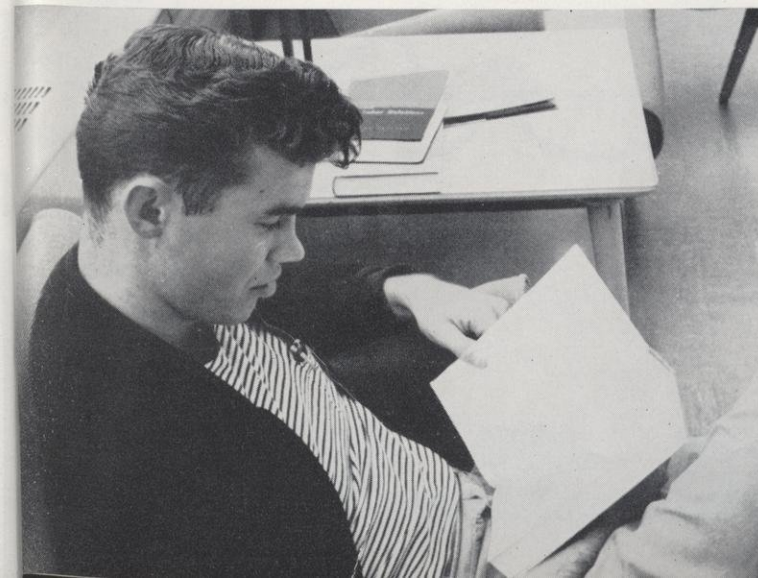

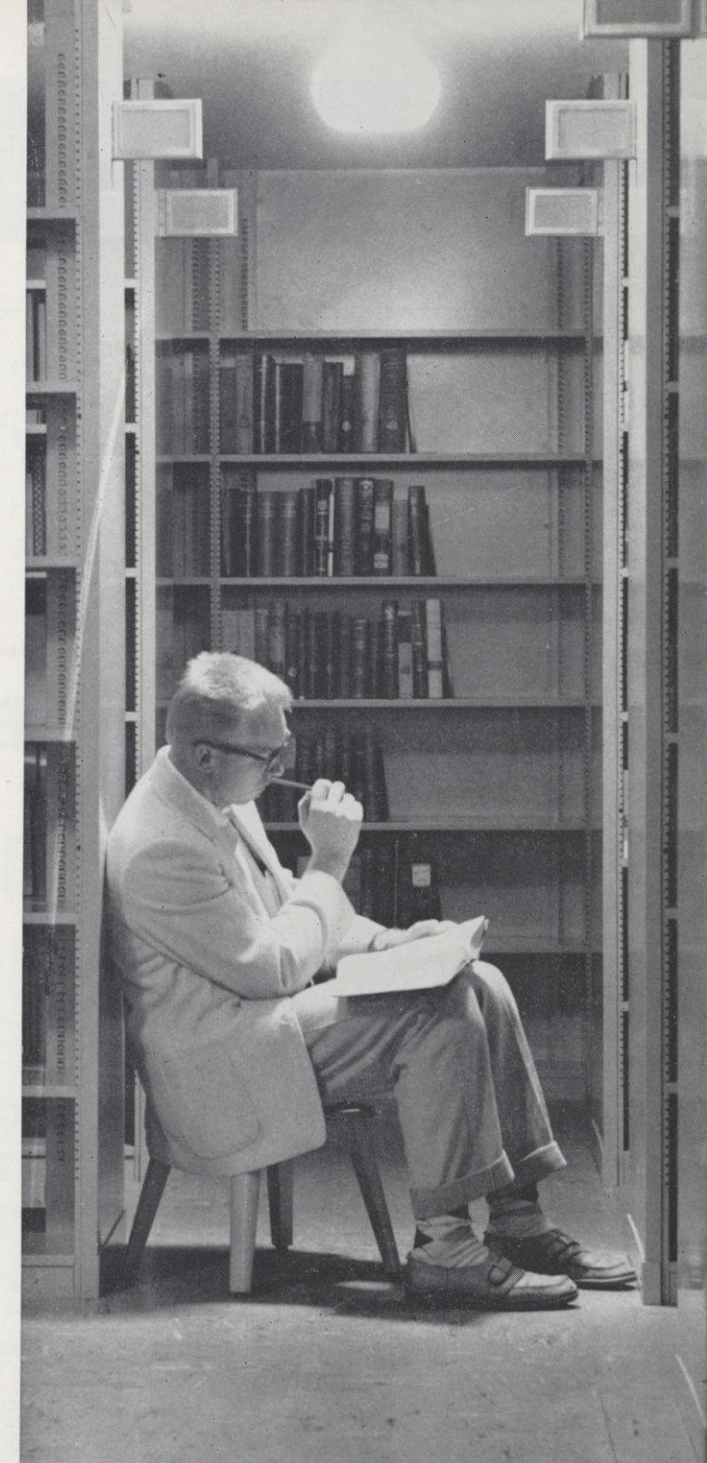

Students at Wisconsin State College at River Falls are preparing for many fields of service—for teaching and the other professions, for positions in business and industry, for jobs in government.

The college offers both the bachelor of science and the bachelor of arts degrees.

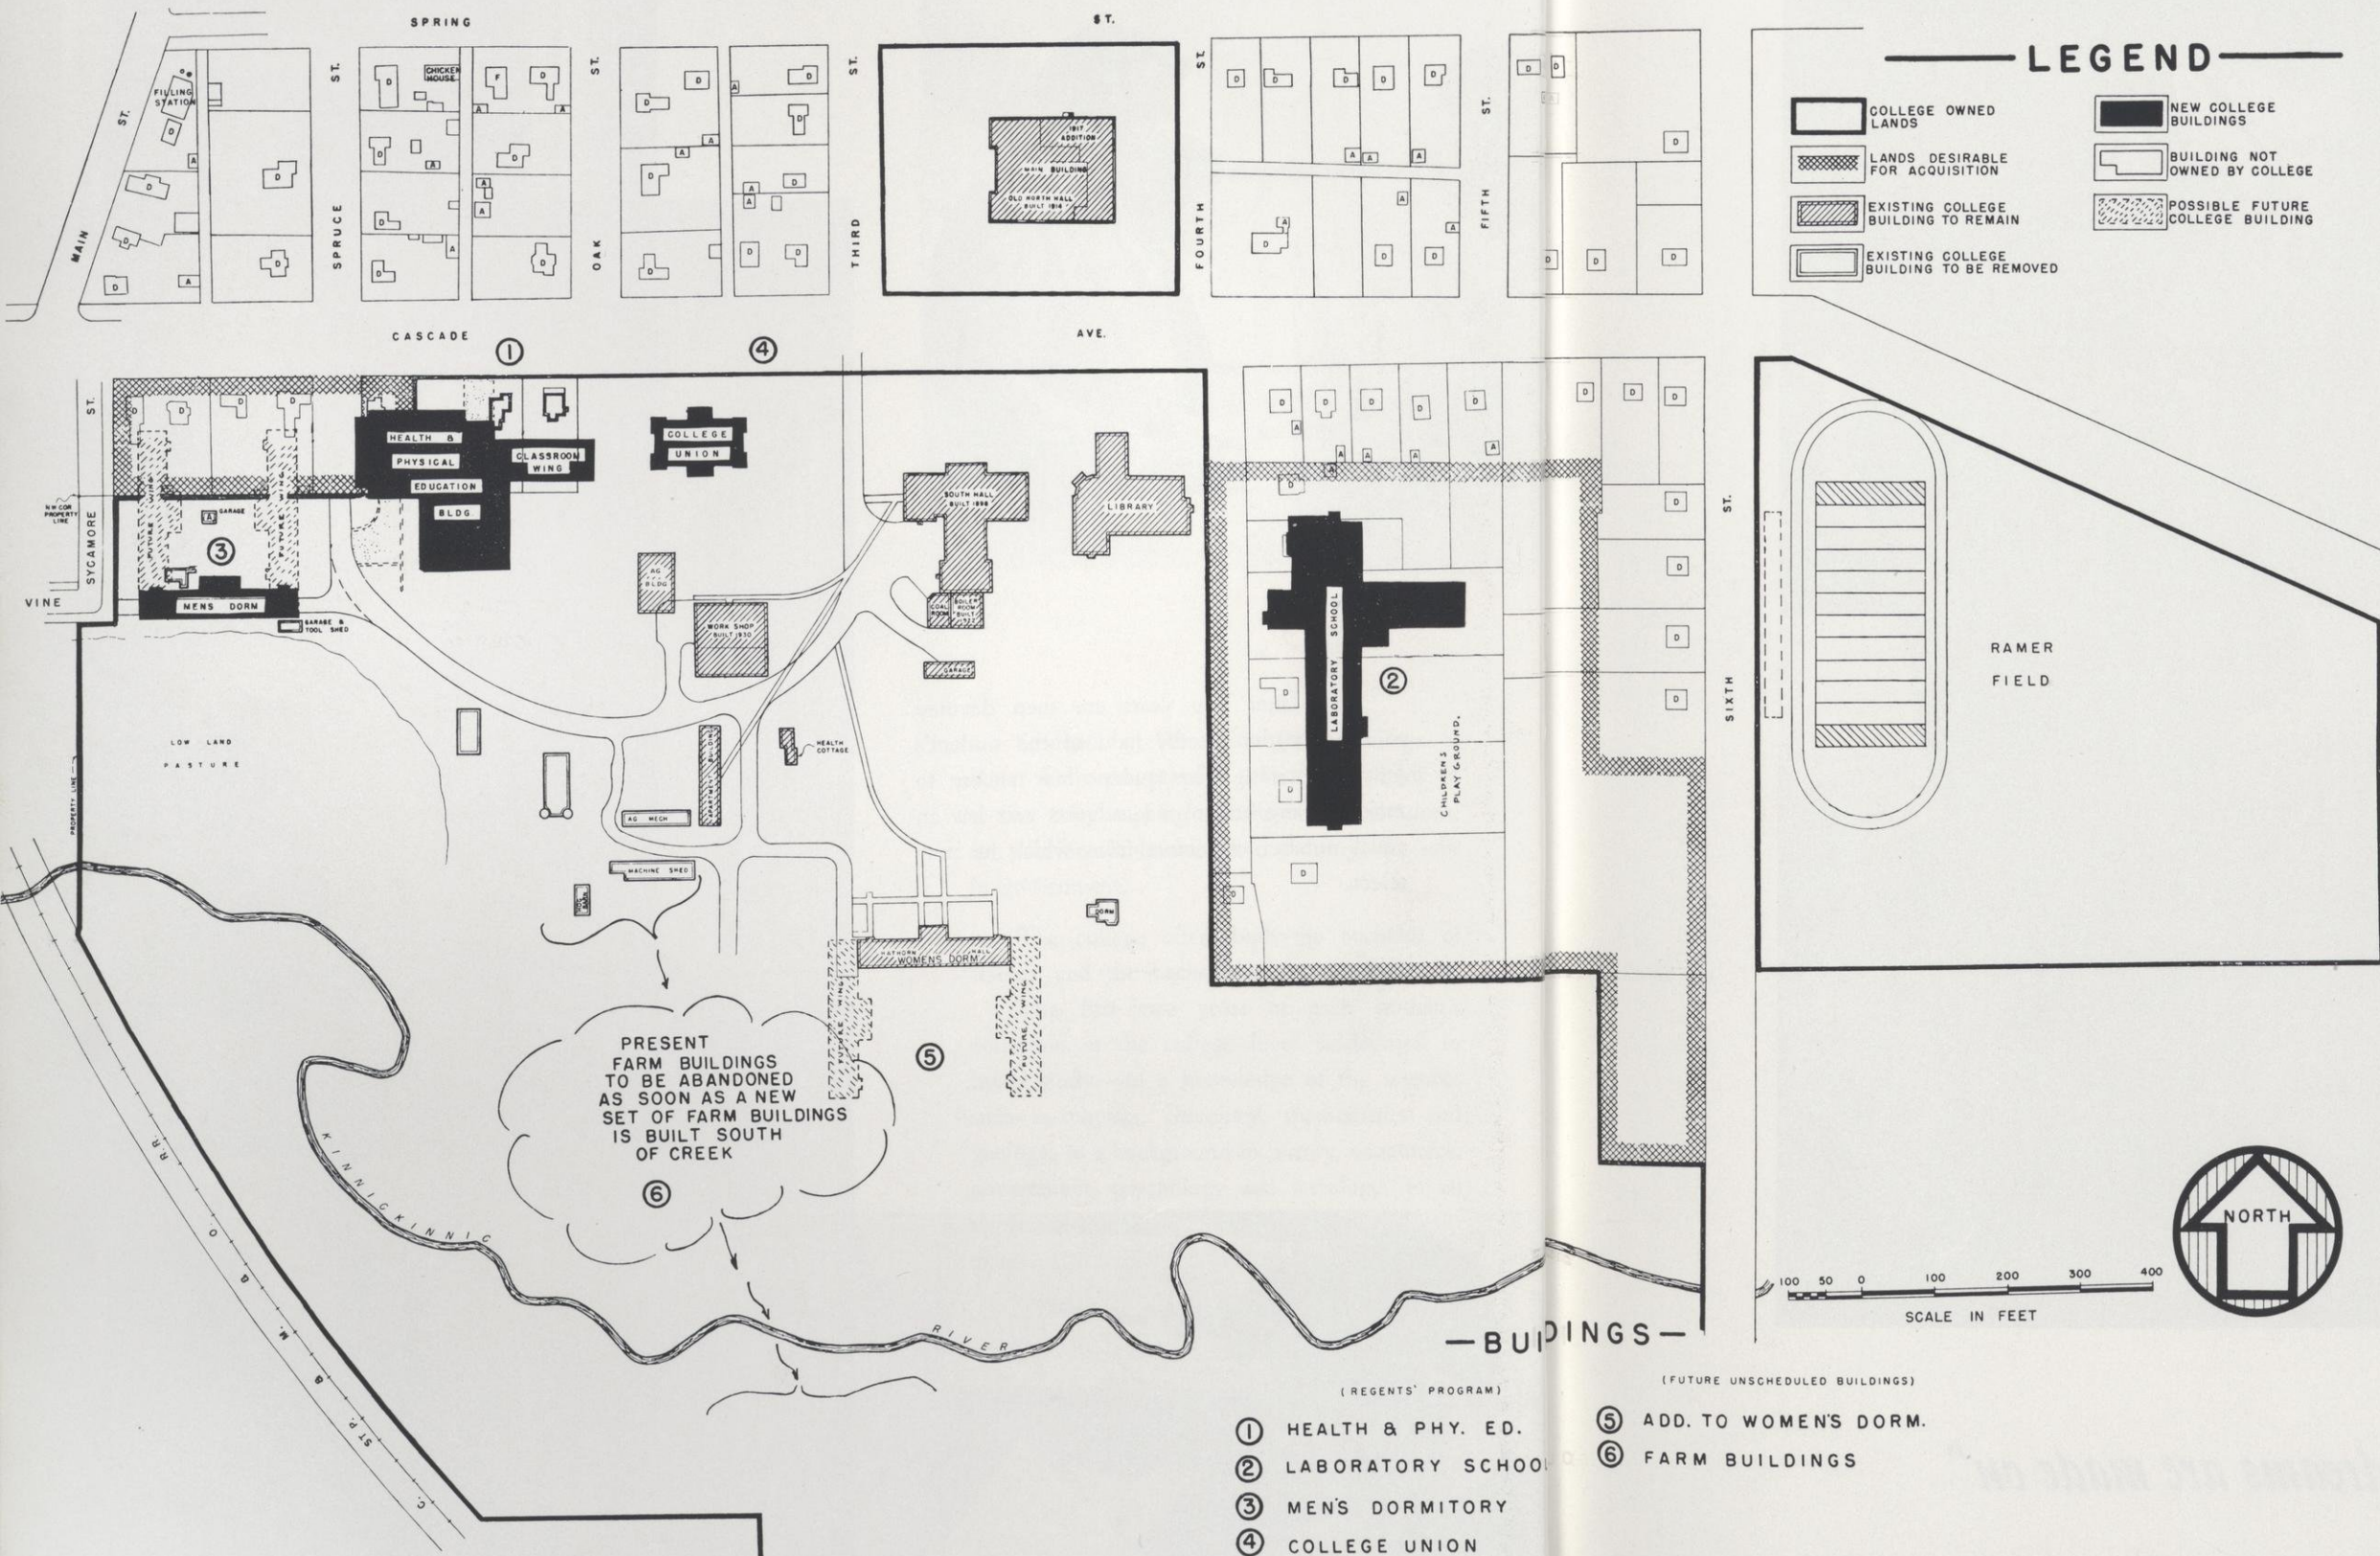

The first two years of each student's education at the college level is devoted to broad study—to a knowledge of the sciences such as physics, chemistry, mathematics and geology, to a background in history, economics, government, psychology and sociology, to an appreciation of the values in literature, language, art, music and philosophy.

This gives the student an opportunity to discover his interests and to see what area particularly challenges him.

The latter two years are then devoted to concentration in the field of the student's greatest interest. The student may choose to major in any one of 14 subjects and has an equal number of minors from which he may select.

"True I Talk of Dreams"

Enrollment at the college in 1957 passed the 1000 mark for the first time. Because of planning in the past, the college was able to accommodate this larger number of students.

However, the student population at the college will continue to increase. By 1975, it is predicted that enrollment will have doubled.

The needs of Wisconsin's young people who choose to come to River Falls must be met. Two of the buildings in the plans for the future will have become a reality before many of our present students have graduated. The student union and the men's dormitory will be functioning by the fall of 1958. But more facilities are needed.

These include the Health and Physical Education building, a new Laboratory School, and additions to the residence halls.

Plans are being made also for academic growth and for additional services the college may offer. The ability of the college to serve an increasing enrollment and meet its responsibilities to the state will depend upon the support it receives. Its alumni, students, faculty, and administration must continue to back programs to "make a good college better."

"Such stuff as dreams are made on"

In Memoriam

TWO OF THE COLLEGE'S MOST FAITHFUL SUPPORTERS AND WORKERS DIED WITHIN HOURS OF EACH OTHER THIS YEAR AND BROUGHT SADNESS TO THE SPRING.

J. H. AMES, COLLEGE PRESIDENT HERE FROM 1917-1946, DIED APRIL 12 OF THIS YEAR AFTER AN ILLNESS OF SEVERAL MONTHS. DURING MR. AMES' ADMINISTRATION, THE COLLEGE BECAME A FULLY-ACCREDITED FOUR-YEAR INSTITUTION AND THE PHYSICAL PLANT WAS EXPANDED WITH A NEW WING ON NORTH HALL, THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE INDUSTRIAL ARTS BUILDING AND THE ADDITION OF RAMER FIELD. MR. AMES WAS GREATLY LOVED BY THE STUDENTS WHEN HE WAS HERE AND THEY NEVER FORGOT HIM.

JOSEPH KAHUT, MAINTENANCE EMPLOYEE OF THE COLLEGE FOR MORE THAN 24 YEARS, DIED SUDDENLY THE NIGHT OF APRIL 11 OF A HEART ATTACK. MR. KAHUT SERVED ONE YEAR AS FIREMAN AND 23 AS CHIEF ENGINEER AT THE COLLEGE. THE LAST PHOTOGRAPH OF MR. KAHUT, TAKEN ONLY WEEKS BEFORE HE DIED, APPEARS IN THIS YEAR'S MELETEAN AS A TRIBUTE TO HIM.

When sorrows come, they come not single spies, But in battalions.

*Our doubts are traitors

MEASURE FOR MEASURE, ACT 1, SCENE 2

Only a brief time remains for those of us who support the cause of higher education to cast aside doubt and make bolder demands for those things in which we believe.

At a point in history when true education supplies the only solution to grave problems — answers to the questions raised by the technical advances in atomic science, automation, and the manipulation of public opinion — many are fearful of asserting themselves to attain the quality of education which our children deserve.

The future of education, and consequently the future of the nation, in a large measure lies in the hands of those who will be graduated from this and similar institutions in the next few years. If those in a position to realize the advantages offered by education fail to demand the same or greater opportunities for those who follow, we will have suffered a disastrous setback.

The whole concept of equal educational opportunity is being challenged in the name of economy when, in fact, the percentage of the tax dollar spent for higher education has been shrinking steadily since the first World War.

The "good we might win" is too important to lose. But it will require a vigorous effort by all the friends of education.

COLLEGE PROFESSORS are a strange group — they come in all sizes and styles with various beliefs and ideas. They are in the unique position of enlightening mankind with words of wisdom and teaching great truths that mankind must have in order to grow physically and mentally. But the college professor is a paradox — even with the world's wisdom at his fingertips to communicate he feels helpless without an object to communicate to. It is this desire to communicate, rather than the mere acquiring of knowledge, that marks the college professor.

TODAY LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT BROWNING'S INFLUENCE ON MODERN POETRY.
People just don't read poetry anymore.

A college professor's greatest sin is to stagnate. He must be forever searching out new information, sifting it carefully, cutting it, adding to it, then communicating it to others. He must be aware of new ways of communication and how they may apply to his field. He must try these new methods, evaluate them and incorporate the ones he can use. Fads mean nothing to him. He wants to see, to try, to do his own evaluating. A college professor lacking this initiative is a sheep in academic clothing.

WE MUST LOOK AT THIS AS A SMALL FACET OF THE WHOLE.
They're not getting this.

The college professor likes people. He likes young people and their vivacious energy, their love of life and their robust idealism. He acts as their reservoir — they draw out and take as much as they need. Sometimes he feels unwanted, unneeded. Is there a human who doesn't?

BROWNING WAS NOT APPRECIATED IN HIS TIME.
I wonder if they care?

NOW ARE YOU SURE THERE ARE NO QUESTIONS?
We are the hollow men . . .

Perhaps the greatest pleasure is the realization that one is important and that one is needed. It is these moments that the college professor treasures—the question that shows true interest, the earnest inquiry for advice and the good natured “hi” in the halls. Later it is success — not personal successes, but the success of others that one has helped.

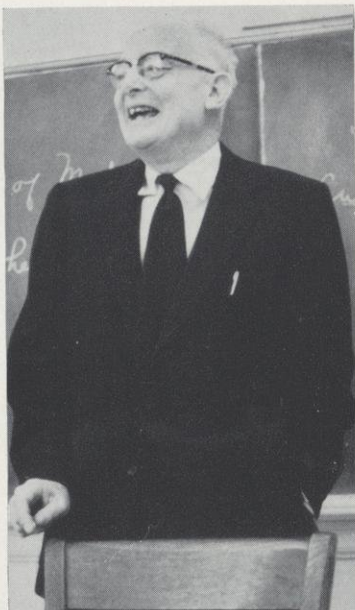

An educator's work is felt through the ages—witness Aristotle. There may not be many Aristotles to coin the words, but there always must be those who carry the word to those who desire to listen. And when people listen and use what they have heard to better themselves — then these words cannot die. How many people would fear death if they knew that the message they gave the world through their work and life could achieve this immortality? The college professor belongs to this small group whose influence is felt long after they themselves are gone.

WELL, THAT QUESTION CAN'T BE ANSWERED QUICKLY.
I haven't had a question like that since grad school.

Faculty

YOU CAUGHT ME WITH MY BROWNING DOWN.
And I couldn't be happier . . .

The college professor knows he teaches attitudes — attitudes that will make a better world. Not everyone will listen to him but some will — he is content with so much.

Homecoming Game

KING LEAR ACT I. SC. 4.

Homecoming

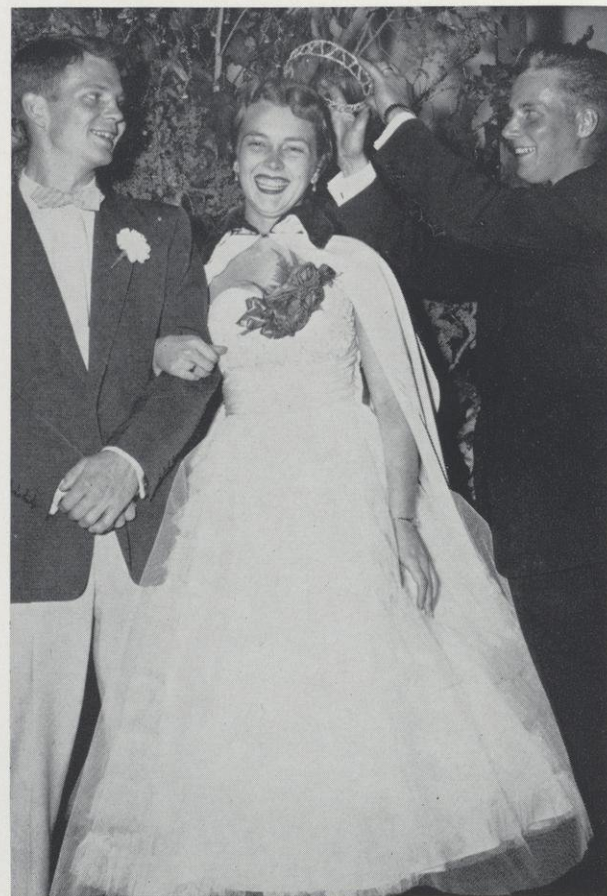

THE YEAR'S biggest social event got even bigger this year as more windows, houses and floats than ever before were decorated for Homecoming.

Highlights this year included a talk by Elmer T. Benson, first homecoming chairman at RF, and the introduction to the student body of the members of the 1909-10-11 RF football teams who were present for the Homecoming game.

The game itself was a good one, from the 200 balloons released at the kickoff to the final last second touchdown scored by River Falls to cinch the contest.

The victory was celebrated at the dance that night in North Hall gym. Beautifully decorated on the theme of "Autumn Leaves" and reverberating to the Joe Braibec seven piece orchestra, the gym became the perfect ending to a perfect day.

Winter Carnival

THIS YEAR'S Winter Carnival had tough sledding — no snow. After the initial surprise, the student body tore wholeheartedly into the activities that Chairwoman Sally Hallenberger outlined for the four-day activity schedule. Snow had to be "imported" from nearby hills for the snow sculpture activity, but the quality of the frosty works of art remained unimpaired.

Anthony "Bucky" DiSalvo was crowned King of the "Snowless" Carnival at the FFA Talent Show and then proceeded to reign over the biggest Carnival yet. Would-be skiers turned swimmers, and would-be tobogganers turned midway barkers as the carnival got underway. There was skating, though, and a hockey game for the more vigorous. A card tournament, bowling, beard judging, chess, basketball, and a candlelight pancake supper rounded out the schedule.

The Winter Carnival Committee had proven that a successful Winter Carnival doesn't need snow — but it woulda been kinda nice anyway. . .

THE AUDIENCES LAUGHED. For, it was a season of comedies in the Little Theatre. (The only exception being a student production.) Yes, the audiences laughed and enjoyed the plays. But soon, as is the way of audiences, they forgot the well-put line that made them laugh and the slight feeling of astonishment experienced as they heard a familiar voice saying unfamiliar things. And, in turn, they forgot the realization that came to them as they watched — the realization that it must take a bit of work, possibly also a certain amount of talent, to act like someone you aren't. Yet, there were some who did not forget. They remembered because at one time, or many times, they too had been on the other side of the curtain.

As the season got underway with "The Male Animal," an Alpha Psi Omega production, (the first in the chapter's history) the "old hands" chuckled at the stage-struck freshmen in the cast and said, "They'll learn." And they did. They learned, just as the upperclassmen did, with Director Blanche Davis out front saying, "Take it over." "The Lady's Not for Burning," the year's second play, was also a comedy. A record crowd filled the Little Theatre for the all-student presentation directed by Noel Falkofske.

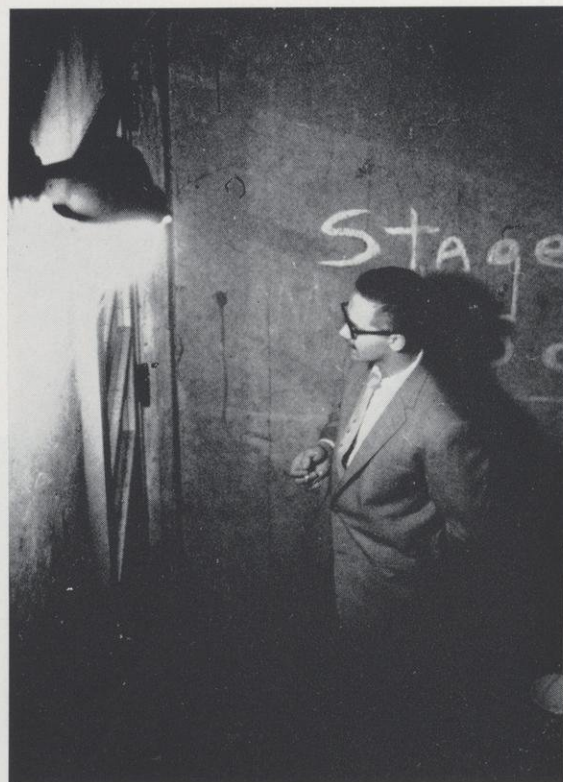

With the coming of the winter term the year's newcomers to RFSC drama began to learn "stage right" from "stage left," but the lights were as hot as ever and the rehearsals no shorter as Masquers made ready to present "The Devil's Disciple." The drama year ended with two student-directed plays. Laura Gardner directed "The Little Foxes" and Duanne Johnson directed the first "arena" play to be presented in Hathorn Hall — "Blithe Spirit."

The curtains in the Little Theatre are tied now, and the handles on the switchboard are all up, on the "off" position. But there are many who haven't forgotten the little stage. Still with them is the vivid recollection of the loud burst of applause for a production that they were a part of — for something well done.

THE DIRECTOR said we should consider tonight just another dress rehearsal. I almost wish it were, even if it does seem like we've been practicing for months. Hmm, I wonder how I'll ever get that term paper finished. But it's been worth it, I think — even though I'll probably never get that flat paint out of my black slacks. What? Oh, time to make up and get dressed. I'll be right in as soon as we get this fireplace into position. Now, let's see, what number makeup did Dr. Davis tell me to use?

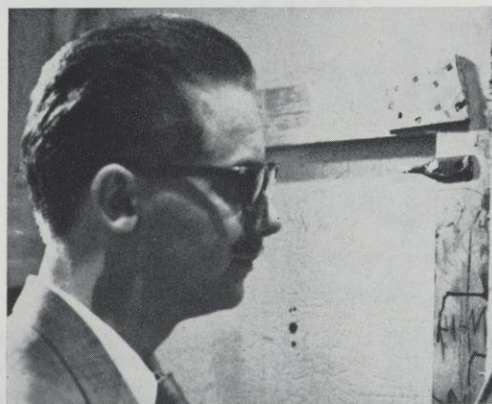

There, I hope those lines under my eyes aren't too heavy. I wonder if the house is filling up? Oh well, I should worry. With my small part, they probably won't even know I'm on stage unless I make some terrible blunder. I'll be all right if only I can remember all the things that the "Good Doctor" told me. Boy, she sure has shaped me into character. It was hard for me to see at first, but when she pointed out and demonstrated what she wanted, it began to come through.

The curtain is going up. Let me see, it should be about 10 minutes until my cue comes to go on. On second thought, maybe I shouldn't have eaten supper. For some reason my stomach feels a little odd. Dr. Davis

UNDER THE DIRECTION of a new coach, Mr. Walter E. Simonson, River Falls debaters entered more debates and traveled more miles than ever before. More debaters took part in the program this year and more of the beginners saw tournament experience.

Thirteen tournaments kept the debaters hopping from East to South to West. Even with the hectic pace that they set, RF debaters won more than seventy percent of their debates and placed first in several tournaments.

The biennial tournament sponsored by Pi-Kappa Delta honorary fraternity, of which River Falls is a member, was well attended this year with five contestants sent to Brookings, South Dakota. They brought back an "Excellent" in the Men's Sweepstakes.

The highlight of the year, which combined pleasure with business, was the 3,000 mile round trip to New York City. Stopping for debates along the way, debaters Arlin Albrecht, Bill Hagestad, and Richard Doetkott, along with Mr. and Mrs. Simonson, met New York State at Oswego and Le Moyne College at Syracuse and brought home a "five out of six" record.

*Y*our first college football game. The bright lights, glaring down from their nests, make the grass too green, the uniforms too vivid. You go through the warming-up ritual automatically, not feeling, not thinking.

The head and brain in your helmet do not seem your own but rather unfamiliar borrowed instruments. Your own brain was never so troubled with doubts and fears as the brain you are using tonight. One thing seems natural—the tightness in your stomach.

*I wish Dad weren't here.
What will he think
if I don't even play?
I remember when I was just a kid, throwing the ball around bragging to Dad
how good I would be,
just like him.
I can't let him down now.*

You watch the coach with your whole body, hoping to be given the sign to warm up,
— half-fearing you will.
You know you can do better than those guys in there.
Can't the coach see they are goofing off?
Just one chance . . . then it happens.
A man's hurt . . .
It's your position . . . warm up!

*Got to make good . . .
Just let me carry the ball . . .
Got to show them.
Give me the ball just once . . .
At last! Now block him!
Block him!
Daylight!
Got to run faster . . faster . . run . .
he mustn't catch me!
I can't breathe . . .
I made it! Dad, I made it!*

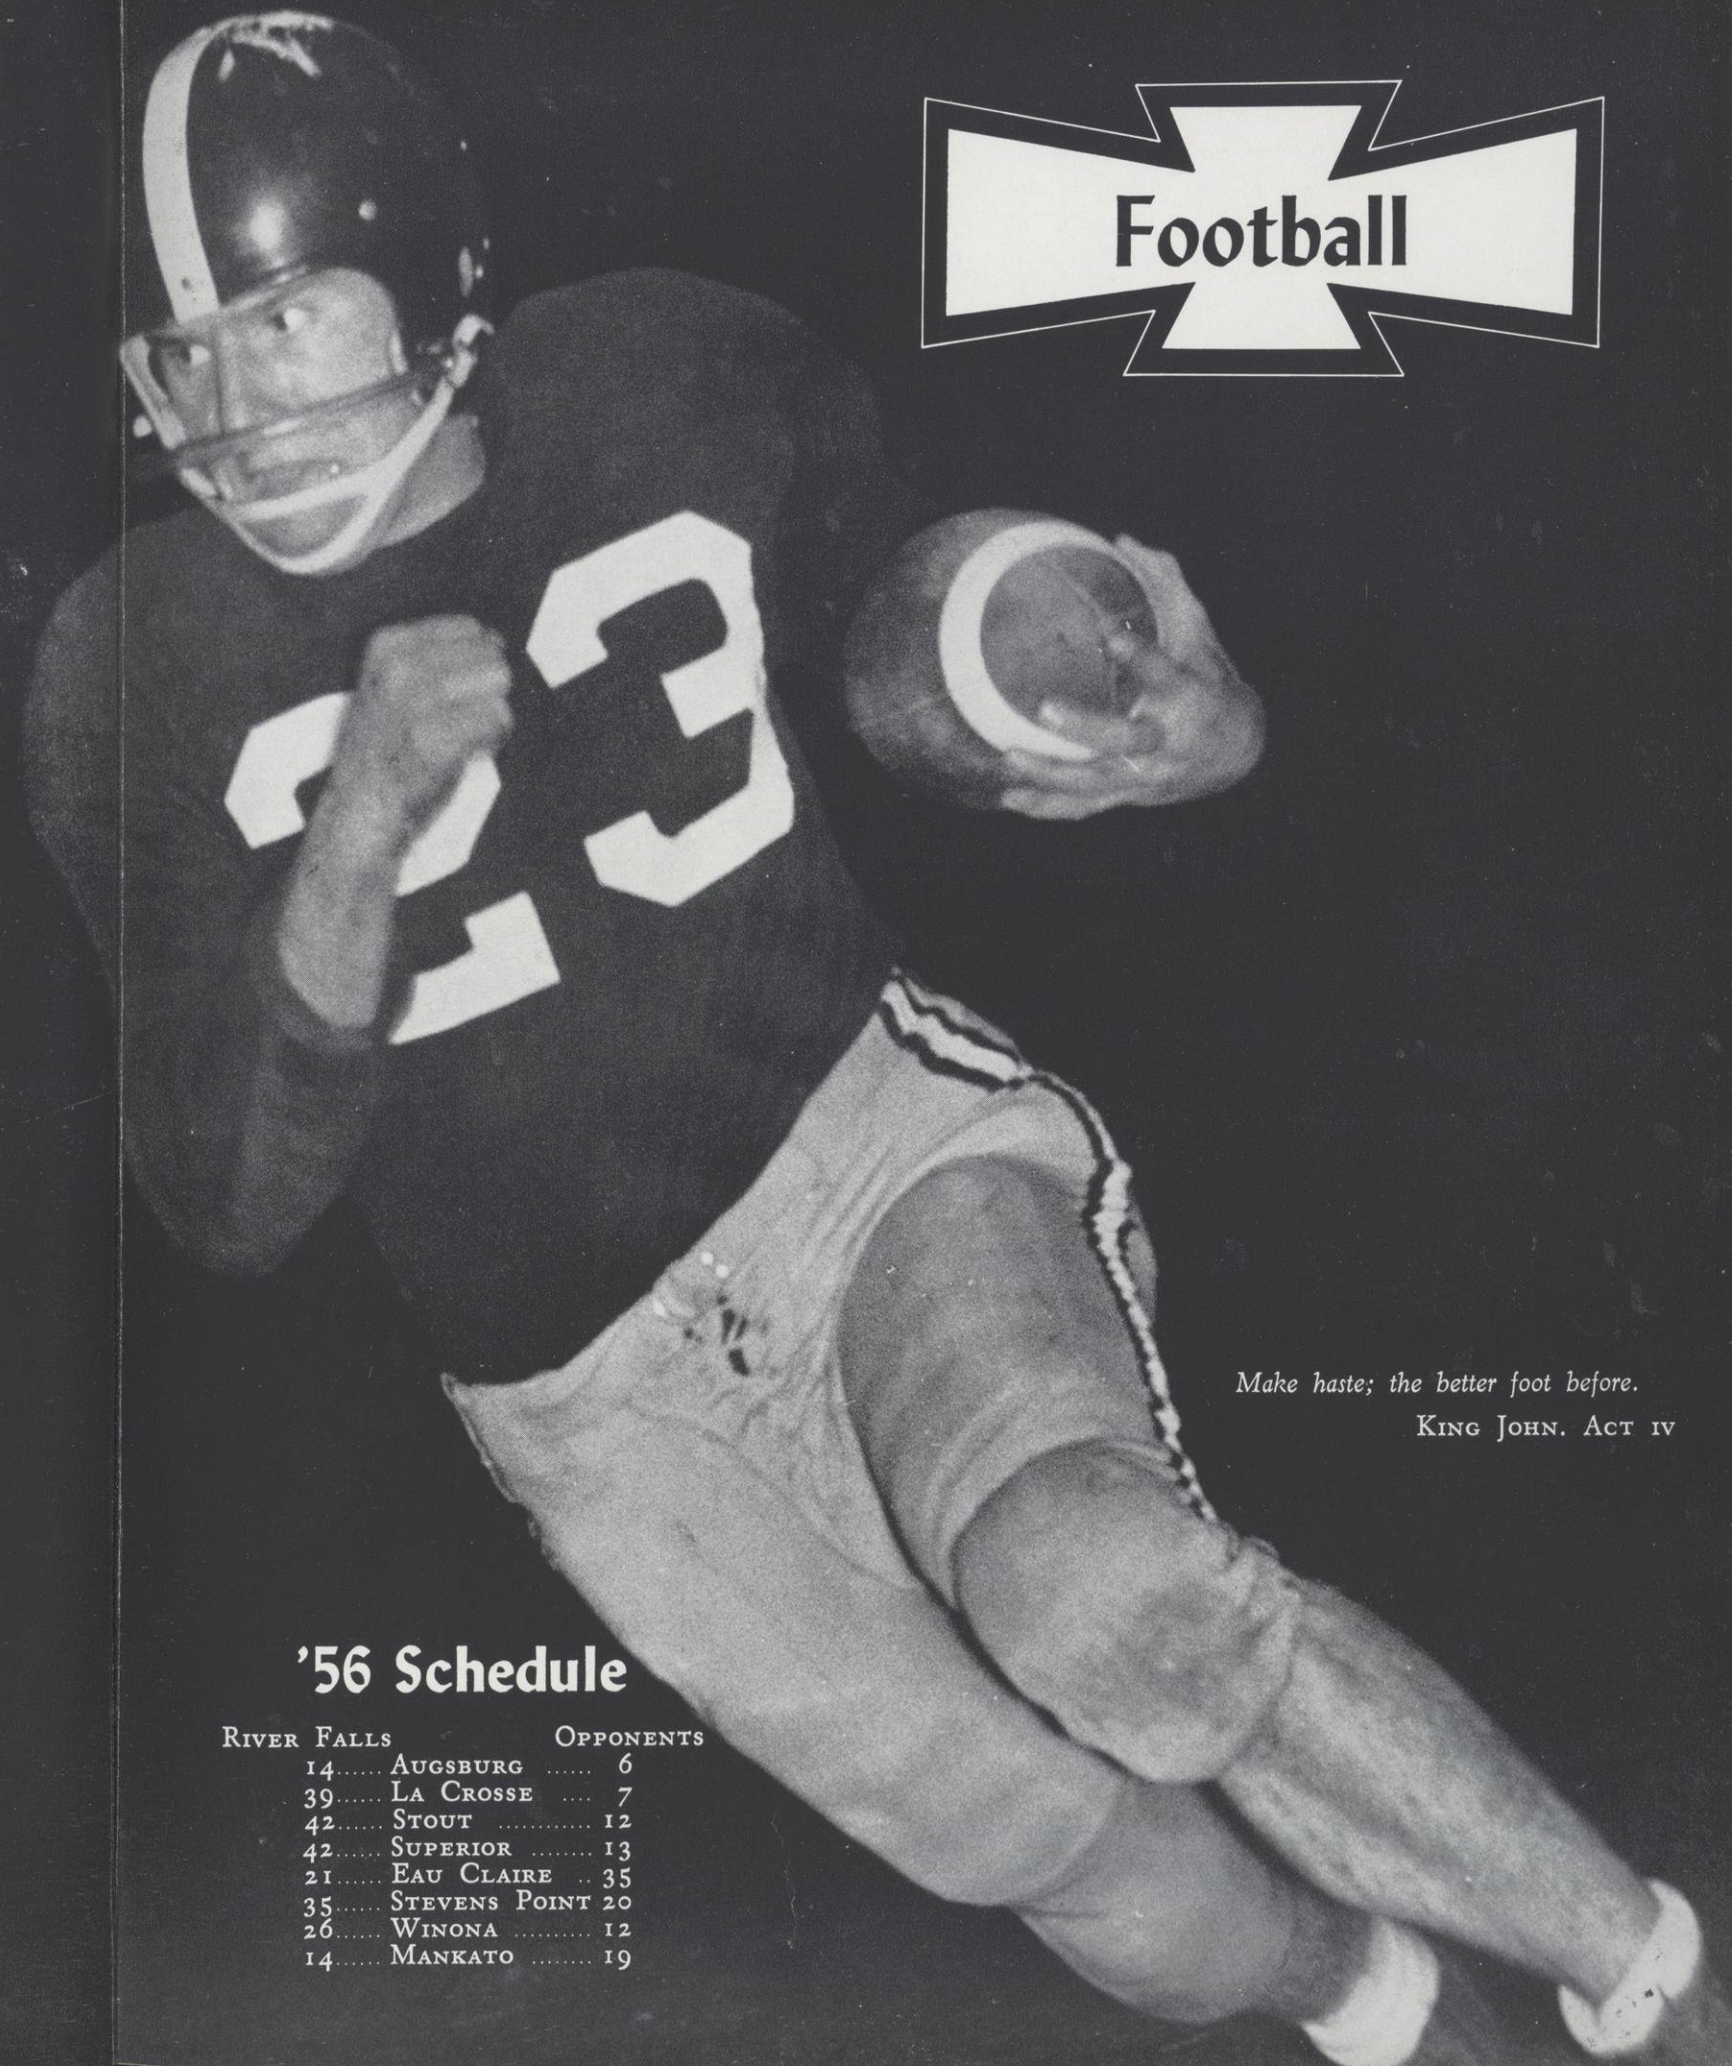

And the world is a score board with bright lights.

Then the game is over, but the lights do not go out.
The lights of this game will always shine brightly for two people — a father and his son.

THE 1956 FALCON GRIDDERS missed tying last year's record by just six points when they received their second loss of the season at the hands of the rampaging Mankato Indians in the final game of the season. After winning six of their first seven contests, they were defeated by a score of 19-14.

Just one more touchdown would have given this year's team the victory, and a record of seven wins and one loss, to equal last year's mark, the best since 1951.

This year's squad increased total yardage for the season from 2,311 in 1955 to 2,570 this year, according to unofficial statistics. The average yards gained per game figure was also raised from last year's mark of 288.9 yards to 321.4. A comparison of the total first down compiled over the two years reads 101 for 1955 and 113 for 1956.

In the total points department, RF outscored its opponents this year by a total of 232 points to 124 points. These totals average out 29 points per game (eight games) for the Falcons, to 15.5 for opponents.

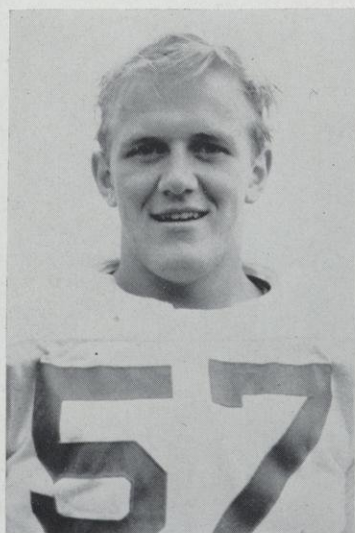

Ron Wunrow, center, and John Steffen, left halfback, were elected honorary co-captains of this year's footballers. Steffen was also selected as the Most Valuable Player of 1956. Wunrow received the "Academy Award" — an award given to the player who has had the greatest number of cuts, bruises, aches, pains and other injuries.

THE CRACKERBOX

FOUR FALCON CAGERS shot 40 percent or better during the 20

game span this year to lead River Falls State to a 10-10 season's record and a 5-7 mark in conference play. The team closed the season in a four-way tie for sixth place.

In their first year under Coach Fran Polsfoot, the Falcon cagers bettered last season's 7-13 record.

Leading the top shooters was senior forward John Steffen, who connected on 115 of 254 shots for a 45 percent shooting average. Center Dave Herum hit 43 percent on 151 of 352 shots, Mick Lauber had 42 percent of 123 baskets in 290 shots and Griff Howell connected on 34 of 84 shots for 40 percent.

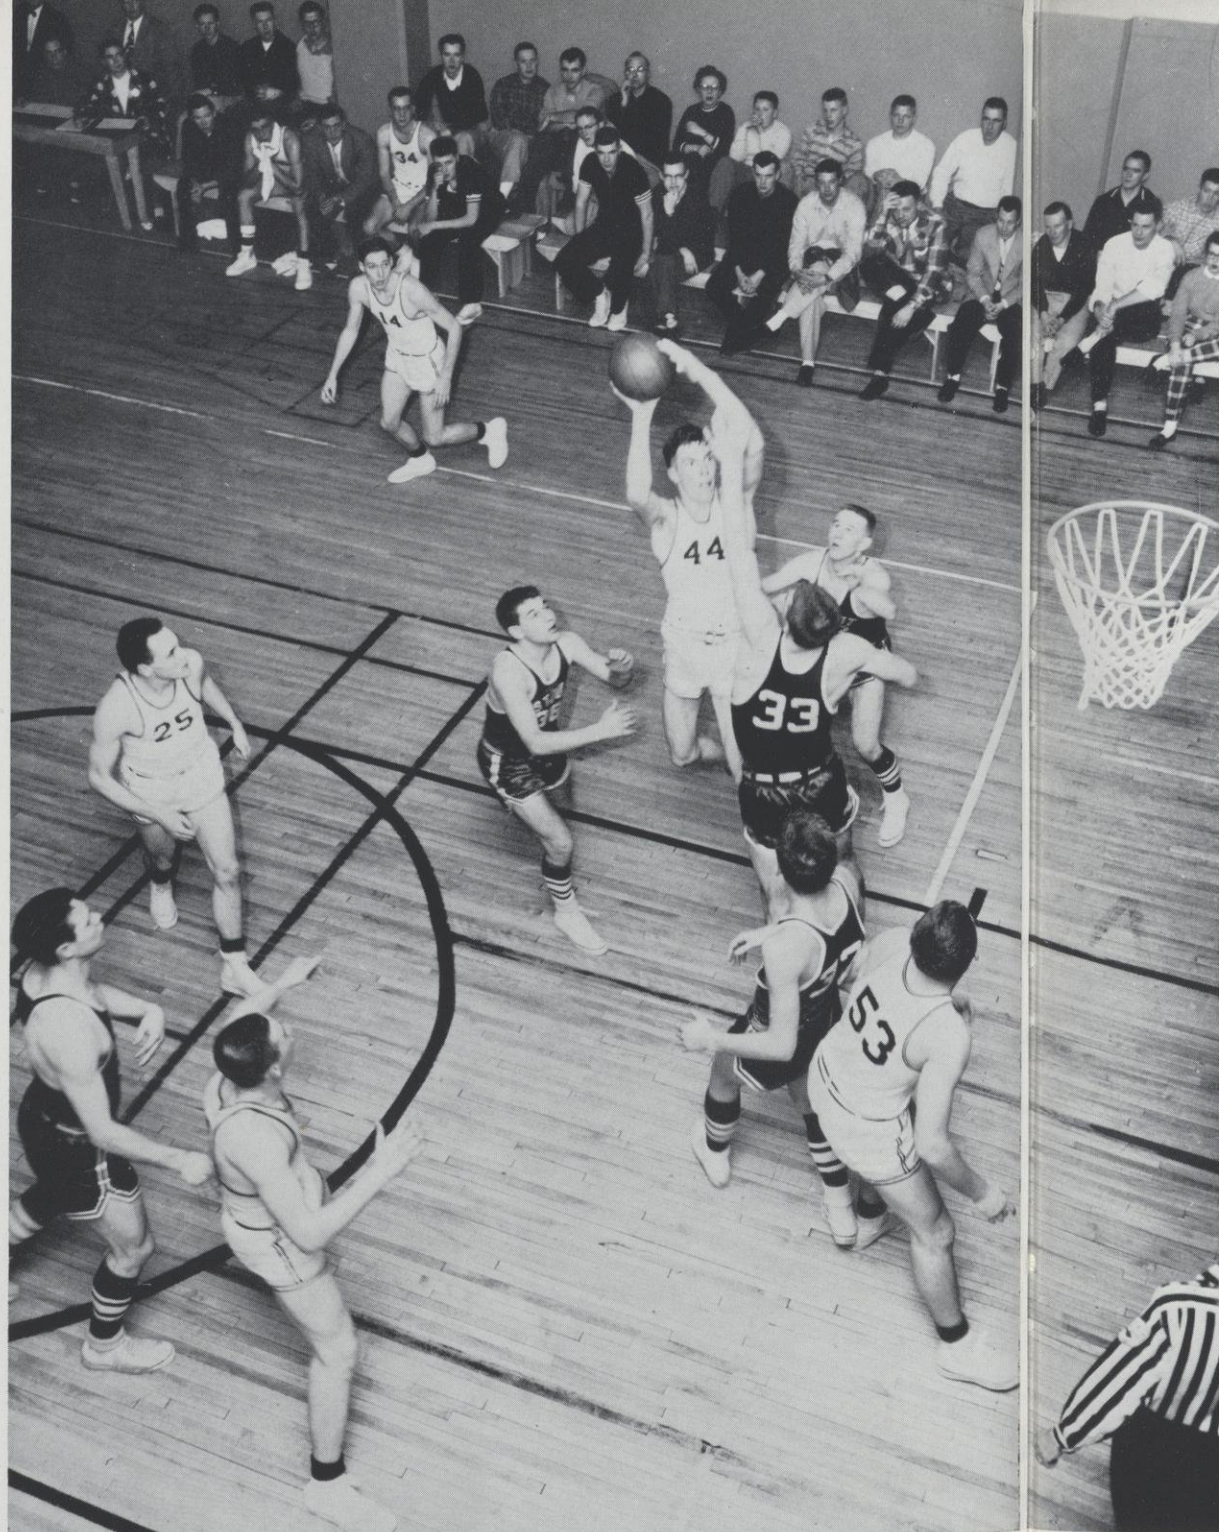

From the free throw line Herum, the conference's top scorer, averaged 71.01 percent on 196 of 276 shots.

Team-wise, the Falcons poured in 1,627 points for an average of 81.4, while opponents scored 1,583 for a 79.2 mark.

A hit, a very palpable hit.
HAMLET. ACT V. SC. I.

A HUSTLING River Falls State Baseball club put together an 8-3 record this spring in the best season under Coach Bill Solley since he took over the baseball coaching duties five years ago. His best previous year was in 1954 when his squad had a 7-4 record. This spring's Falcons posted a 3-3 conference record and won five consecutive non-conference victories. These included a 14-4 win over Carleton College, the eventual Midwest conference baseball champ.

Leading the RF regulars in hitting was shortstop Joe Burgoyne, who collected eight hits in 17 times at bat for a .471 average. Rounding out a list of five regulars who hit .300 or better were second baseman George Holland (.368), centerfielder Roger Roffler (.314), pitcher and outfielder Dick Fischer (.304) and infielder Al Suezaki (.300).

Leading in extra-base hits was Holland with five, including four doubles and a triple.

The extra-base hit totals:

Doubles: Holland — 4, Steffen and Hoffman — 3, Roffler and Madsen — 2, Swanson, Fischer, and Larson — 1.

Triples: Burgoyne — 2, Holland and Fischer — 1.

Homeruns: Swanson — 2, Anderson — 1.

Holland was also the runs-batted-in leader with eight.

RBI's: Holland — 8, Swanson and Fischer — 6, Roffler — 4, Hoffman and Anderson — 3, Stoflet and Burgoyne — 2, Wolfe, Simon, Steffen, Johnson and Madsen — 1.

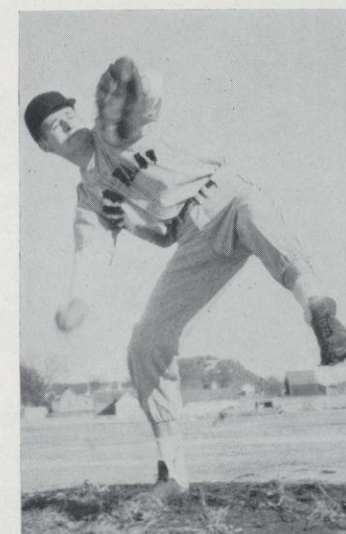

Dick Fischer led the Falcon mound corps with a 4-1 record and a 1.4 earned-run average. Louie Johnson had a 3-1 record, Jim Turnquist 1-1 and John Steffen 0-0. Johnson led in strikeouts with 30 in 33 innings. Fischer had 25 in 31 and two-thirds innings, Turnquist had 17 in 23 and one-third frames and Steffen had two in three innings.

meet

THE CROSS COUNTRY team wound up fall track and field events at River Falls with a perfect record — three wins and no losses. On the squad coached by Fran Polsfoot were Neil Sutherland, Bill Shimel, Phil Kuss, Joel Dahlby, Vern Parker, and Dan Teetzan.

After placing third in their first meet this spring at La Crosse, the River Falls track squad went on to take nine of a possible 15 firsts to win their next meet at Ramer Field. Among the nine first places was a record-breaking run by Kuss. He broke his own previous mark of 52.7 in the 440, running the distance in a hustling 52.3. Rounding out the afternoon nicely, he also won the 880.

Teetzan came through with a first for RFSC in both the mile and two-mile. Other Falcons winning firsts were Roy Sprenger in the 220, Parker (tied with Teetzan in the mile), Mick Lauber in the high jump, Delano Motaz in the pole vault and Bob Koplin in the javelin throw. Ray Meyer, Dick Coen, Phil Kuss, and Roy Sprenger combined for a River Falls first in the 880 relay.

RF State made it two in a row with their next meet at St. Thomas. Kuss and Sprenger each came through with a pair of wins — Kuss in the 440 and 880 and Sprenger in the 100 and 220. Besides winning the mile, Parker was one of three Falcons who took the mile relay. His teammates were Kuss and Sprenger.

Dropping the next meet to Mankato, RFSC won only three of a possible 14 firsts. Taking River Falls' three wins were Parker in the mile, Teetzan in the two-mile, and Aaron Burchell in the discus throw.

In the last meet of the season at Ramer Field, Coach Polsfoot's squad wound up third in a field of four, winning five firsts. Sprenger was the only double winner for River Falls. He was first through the tape in both the 100 and 220. In other RF wins, Kuss took the 440, Parker won the mile, and Teetzan breezed to a new school record in the two mile. He topped the old mark of 10:29.3 with 10:23.2.

The Meletean went to press before the final meet of the year, at Madison, was held.

Intramurals

INTRAMURAL SPORTS on campus are for the benefit and enjoyment of all interested in non-varsity sports. They develop sportsmanship and team work and those who participate realize satisfaction from the experience.

The intramural football season was kicked off in somewhat uncertain weather, but was to become one of the most exciting in years. Tough competition was offered by the ten teams who participated. The intramural season came to an end with team A-1 defeating team B-10 by the score of 10-6 in the championship game. This gave team A-1 their fourth consecutive touch football championship.

The basketball program was also one of the biggest and best in the history of the activity. Team A-4 won the championship by a score of 53-42. High scorer in the tournament playoff was Manley Olson with 38 points.

THE STUDENT SENATE meets regularly every Monday night at 6:30 P. M. to discuss campus functions and any problems which may have arisen during the week. The Student Senate regulates all campus functions of major importance such as Homecoming and Winter Carnival for which it selects a number of candidates to run for chairman of activities.

This year saw the rescheduling of all campus organization meeting times and places. The senate also picked the committees which scheduled the social and fund-raising programs such as Foundation Week, March of Dimes, Concert and Lecture, and Recreation Day.

Concert and Lecture Committee

CONCERT AND LECTURE COMMITTEE — Harry Elzinga, Dixie Prine, Jerry Best.

BRINGING a balanced program to campus that appeals to students is the task of the Concert and Lecture Committee. The programs this year varied from folksingers to noted speakers. This year also saw a very successful lecture given by one of the students on campus, Mr. Gail Roub, who had traveled throughout southern Europe and the Near East. The programs presented this year, although financed by a limited budget, were excellent.

Hathorn Hall Council

HATHORN HALL COUNCIL — Verlys Hicok, vice president; Sandra Kins, corresponding secretary; Theresa Bier, treasurer; Phyllis Benjamin, president; Laura Johnson, resident counselor; Marilyn A. Andersen, recording secretary.

THE HATHORN HALL Council is a group of girls elected by the residents of Hathorn Hall to govern the activities which concern the "dorm girls." The purposes of this organization include the preserving of the organization's prestige and the maintaining of social contact with the student body. They plan activities such as after game get-togethers, square dances, jazz sessions, weekly dance lessons and the annual Halloween Party. The biggest event of the year is the Valentine Formal, when the girls ask the fellows and "pay all expenses."

Foundation Committee

FOUNDATION COMMITTEE — Richard Waak, Dean Loree, James Sparks, Duanne Johnson, Lorraine Brynildson, Ardis Shannon, Rae Buchholz.

THE FOUNDATION COMMITTEE is organized for the purpose of raising money for campus improvement. In this venture the committee was helped by faculty members Marion Hawkins, Richard Delorit and James Murphy. This year the committee proposed to raise money for the construction of a campus directory which would be prominently placed on Cascade Avenue to direct visitors to the campus.

Among the events planned for Foundation Week were an "Old Time, Hard Time" dance, a smorgasbord dinner, a concert by the Men's Glee Club and a semi-formal dance. Of all the activities planned, the "Auction Barn," where various goods and "services" were sold to the public, was truly different.

Social Committee

SOCIAL COMMITTEE — Carl Duch, Virginia Novak, Elvera Petersen, Glenn Sandve, Marge Olson, Bernhard Feld, Dianne Shay, John Randall.

THE SOCIAL COMMITTEE is composed of students appointed by the Student Senate. Its functions are to regulate the social life of the campus and to assist organizations that are sponsoring all school events. The Committee selects the orchestras that play at all school dances and arranges record dances that are sponsored by organizations. In addition to the above mentioned duties the Social Committee has power of approval over all social activities.

GAMMA DELTA is the organization composed of the Missouri Synod Lutheran students on campus. The organization supplies Lutheran fellowship and Christian leadership for all students of the Lutheran Synodical Conference. This year Gamma Delta handled arrangements of an All-Lutheran Student Directory and conducted initiation of new members and various social activities. Gamma Delta was also host to the Regional President's Conference and attended the regional convention.

THE PURPOSE OF THE LUTHERAN STUDENTS ASSOCIATION shall be to confront its members with Jesus Christ as Lord and Savior, with His Church, and with His call to discipleship; to bear witness in the academic community to the Gospel of Jesus Christ as confessed by the Lutheran Church; to afford a means whereby its members may deepen and express their Christian faith; and to carry the witness of our faith into the ecumenical ventures of the student world, within the one holy, catholic and apostolic church. (LSA Constitution).

The L.S.A. also provides Sunday evening suppers and fellowship, Christian social ventures on this campus and special programs and events in keeping with the Church year.

Several joint meetings with local and out of town church groups were held throughout the year. The Spring Banquet was held to initiate new officers and end the year's activities.

THE NEWMAN CLUB is a spiritual, intellectual and social organization which serves all campus Catholic students.

The first event of major importance which truly exhibited Newmanism in action this year was the welcoming of new students into the club by "club veterans," who had already experienced a year or two of Newmanism. Several special events throughout the school year formulated the biggest and best Newman year at River Falls. A greatly increased enrollment over previous years, the organization of the club newspaper, the "Loquitur," the forming of a Newman choir which performed, among other things, a Christmas Concert, a carolling trip around town for the sick and aged, daily performance at church throughout Lent, a special trip to the North Central Province Convention in Mankato as a visiting choir, and trips to adjacent parishes on Sunday mornings.

The highlight of the year was the Annual Cardinal Newman Day, February 3, which included an entire day of festivities climaxed by a Banquet and Ball.

THE UNITED STUDENT FELLOWSHIP unites all college and university students, especially those of the constituent denominations, into effective fellowship. They try to confront the campus community in its total life with the Christian faith and with the necessity of commitment to the Gospel of Christ, and to inspire students to witness Christian faith and develop active and responsible church members. USF furthers effective participation in the United States Christian Council and in the World Student Christian Federation. It fosters the sharing of worthwhile ideas, methods and programs with interested individuals and groups.

Social events of the year included the "Upper Room Meal" with the Wesley Foundation, joint meetings with other college USF groups, a State Conference and the Spring Retreat.

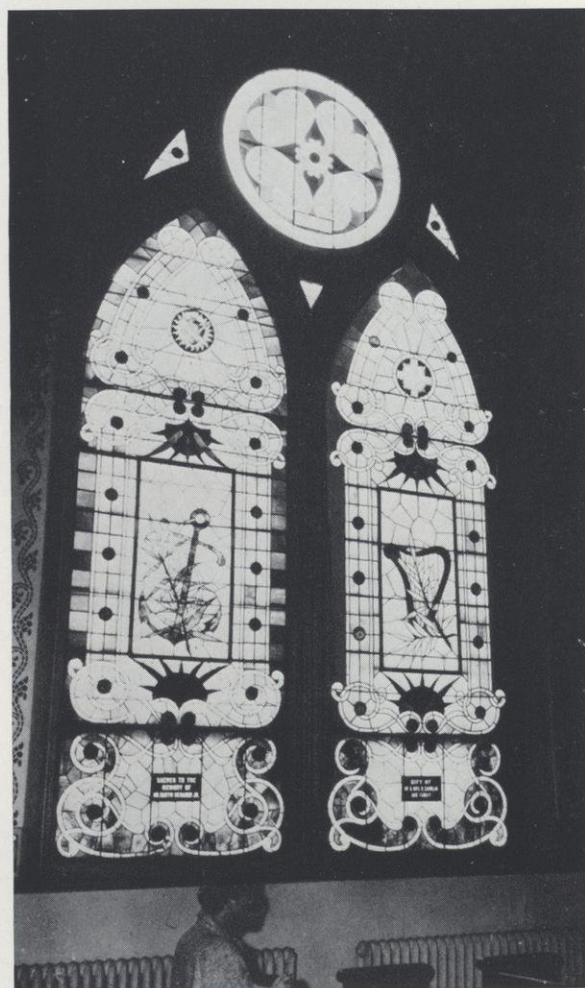

YOUNG MEN'S AND YOUNG WOMEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION is an interdenominational group.

The Association offers an opportunity to every student in college to unite in a program aiming at the well-rounded development of Christian personality through the participation in wholesome social and religious programs.

The Y's cooperate with other colleges in a world-wide Christian Fellowship for better understanding of the life and teachings of Jesus.

The YMCA and the YWCA make an organized attempt to influence the thinking of college students toward a Christian solution of campus, community and world problems. This year activities included noted speakers at regular meetings and Mr. Paul Bremicker as speaker at an all school convocation commemorating Brotherhood Week.

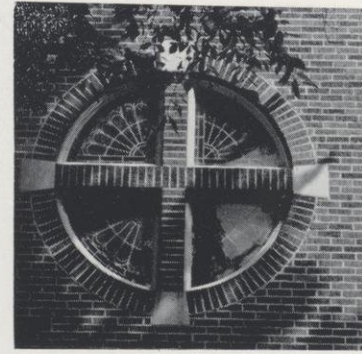

Religious Groups

WESLEY FOUNDATION ministers to the intellectual, social and religious needs of the students of the River Falls campus who are adherents of the Methodist church.

The big brother-sister banquet, hayrides, sleighrides, and Lenten breakfasts filled the year with fun and fellowship. The "Meal in the Upper Room" was held with the U.S.F. to herald the coming of Easter.

The Falconaires

THE FALCONAIRES is a dance band composed of students interested in playing modern ballroom music. The group plays for college dances and is in constant demand to play at high school proms and other engagements in the area. The Falconaires were under the direction of Tom Forthun this year.

M. E. N. C.

THE MUSIC EDUCATORS National Conference was formed on the River Falls campus in 1950. Its aims are to provide students with an opportunity for professional cooperative development while they are in college. Membership is made up of undergraduate music students and other students who are interested in music. M.E.N.C. offers a scholarship to an incoming freshman music student each year. The group also attends various outstanding music programs in the area.

This year a new "History of Music" program representing the five periods in the history of music was presented in the Little Theatre.

Men's Choir

DIRECTED by Nicholas Jadinak, the 30-voice male glee club added many an enjoyable moment to musical concerts this year by presenting a variety of numbers ranging from Negro spirituals to light novelty selections. The College Glee Club was newly organized this fall by Mr. Jadinak.

THIS YEAR'S MELETEAN, with seventeen more pages and a larger page size than last year, presented quite a task for a small staff.

The '57 Meletean contains almost ten thousand words and two hundred and fifty photographs — excluding one thousand identification pictures. Even with this quantity, the Meletean staff feels it has captured only gross features of the year. This yearbook, then, is intended to stir and refresh in part the memories of those who experienced 1957 at River Falls, and is not intended to be a complete record in itself of the year.

The staff is indebted to the faculty for their complete cooperation in letting Meletean cameramen come into their classrooms to photograph them unposed during actual class sessions. The faculty section is testimony of that cooperation. Our gratitude is also in order to the persons who have helped the photographers in their duties by holding lights, etc. These included Henri Elzinga who helped with football shots, Jim Laue, and Wayne Wolfe, who contributed pictures.

The advisors of Meleteans in past years have been largely lost in the shuffle and haste of making deadlines and have missed their just tribute. This is unfortunate, as no publication of this size and importance could be printed without competent advisors.

Mr. Crane and Mr. Wolfe have performed their duties as advisors well, tempering wild ideas, encouraging sound ones, and in general, making the book what it is and should be.

Credit for the '57 Meletean belongs to them.

STUDENT VOICE EDITOR

THIS YEAR saw the introduction of a new publication on campus — THE PROLOGUE. Edited by Wm. Hagestad, THE PROLOGUE is dedicated, in the editor's words, "to give a voice to what has frequently been called 'the silent generation' and to furnish an outlet for creative talent in the graphic arts. This is a magazine printed solely to give a voice to people who have something to say."

THE PROLOGUE is published every term and is financed from STUDENT VOICE funds.

The Student Voice

THE STUDENT VOICE is the newspaper on campus printed by the students for the students. The "Voice," as it is known, is distributed to all students every Monday afternoon in the cafeteria.

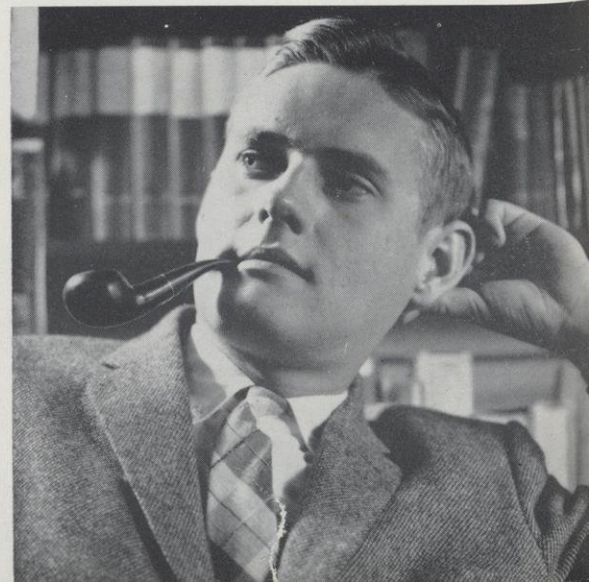

Much of the work on the paper is done by individuals enrolled in journalism, but all contributors are welcome. It is this willingness to make the paper truly the voice of students that has made it the popular publication that it is on campus.

The popularity of THE STUDENT VOICE this year can be largely attributed to its editor — Arlin Albrecht. Using the Voice's editorial page as a sounding board for student comment, Mr. Albrecht and his staff kept interest high in school elections, functions, and policy.

This year, as in the past, students could "gripe" or praise what they thought fit and have the chance to be heard. Freedom of the press has meaning at River Falls. — It will always remain, so long as the students wish for a voice in their own newspaper.

THE A.C.E.I. works for the education and well-being of children and to promote desirable conditions, programs and practices in the schools — nursery through the elementary. The organization tries to raise the standard of preparation and to encourage continued professional growth of teachers and leaders in this field and to bring into active cooperation all groups concerned with children in the school, the home and the community. The members try to inform the public of the needs of children and how the school program must be adjusted to fit these needs.

The A.C.E.I. sponsored activities for National Book Week this year. Social activities included a get acquainted supper, a workshop on elementary dance and a traditional breakfast for graduating seniors. The organization also sold buttons for Foundation Week and A.C.E.I. publications throughout the year.

This year Joan Drier attended the national convention in Los Angeles.

THE RIVER FALLS chapter of the Future Teachers of America was organized in 1952. The organization welcomes members enrolled in elementary and secondary education. The aim of the organization is to provide experiences for its members that will qualify them to teach. The River Falls chapter is one of the largest in the state of Wisconsin.

During the current year the Future Teachers of America have sponsored these programs: a welcoming picnic, a talk by an educational sociologist, a showing of two N.E.A. films, a Christmas party, a talk by President Kleinpell on public school support, and a discussion on mental hygiene, led by a psychiatrist of the Minnesota State Hospital at Hastings.

Among the members of the F.T.A. are two state officers: Ruth Hajek, state vice-president and Phyllis Benjamin, state treasurer. Last November twelve of the members attended the annual W.E.A. convention in Milwaukee.

ADVISOR	Francis P. Chisholm

THE RIVER FALLS Junior Affiliate of National Council of Teachers of English, is an organization which meets to consider and act upon matters of concern to teachers of language arts and to familiarize prospective English teachers with the conditions of their profession. The NCTE also encourages reading of professional materials.

Projects were conducted to raise money to send a delegate, Al Forsythe, to the national convention at St. Louis.

Next year the group is host to the undergraduates attending the national convention at Minneapolis.

AN ORGANIZATION of male students interested in self-improvement in speaking and development and improvement in parliamentary procedure, the group meets weekly, during the course of the year to attain these ends. The chapter is a branch of the Eau Claire Toastmasters Club of Toastmasters International.

The Club conducts a speaking contest for its members to name the outstanding toastmaster of the year. During the month of May, at the annual banquet, the finalists of the speaking contests deliver their speeches and a winner is selected.

The ultimate aim of this organization is to increase the poise of the members in their business, social, and civic relationships.

W.R.A. — Sharon Todd, Pat Phillips, Marilyn Hedlund, Romelle Miller, Elizabeth Schroeder, Carol Krantz, Mary Plahn, Phyllis Long, Marie Forman, Gwen Schlough.

W. R. A.

CO-PRESIDENTS	Sally Hallenberger and Barbara Rohl
VICE PRESIDENT	Pat Phillips
SECRETARY	Sharon Todd
TREASURER	Natalie Vanderhoof Kusilek
POINT SECRETARY	Sylvia Barsokine
ADVISOR	Adeline L. Levine

THE PURPOSE of the Women's Recreational Association is to promote permanent interest among women in recreational activities and to organize and sponsor extra-curricular activities.

The group sponsored various sales of articles in connection with school activities. During the Winter Carnival the W.R.A. scheduled a basketball game as a major attraction. In the spring an annual play day for the girls from surrounding high schools is held on campus which is organized and supervised by the W.R.A.

Young Democrats

PRESIDENT	Richard Kinney
VICE PRESIDENT	Gordon Lee
SECRETARY	Richard Doetskott
TREASURER	Jay .. Bergstrand
PUBLICITY DIRECTOR	Arlin Albrecht
ADVISOR	Walker Wyman

THE PURPOSE of the Young Democrats is to better acquaint the students of River Falls with the men and issues of our contemporary political world. Their aim, constantly in mind, is to become better citizens through knowledge of the who's, what's and wherefore's of politics. Members of the organization attended the State Convention and canvassed the River Falls community for candidates last fall.

Young Republicans

PRESIDENT	Richard Waak
VICE PRESIDENT	Tom Calvert
SECRETARY	Betty Schmidt
TREASURER	Donald Patin
ADVISORS	Gilbert Smith
	James J. McLaughlin

THE YOUNG REPUBLICANS foster an active interest in politics and gain an understanding of the Republican philosophy. The members gain an insight into campaign techniques and publicize and take sides on political issues — both national and local. The Young Republicans try to gain an understanding of these issues; national, international, state, and local.

This year saw the Y.R.'s taking an active part in the campaigns of various candidates. They also conducted a canvass of Pierce County for the candidates.

Classes

Bring me to the test . . .
HAMLET. ACT III. Sc. 4.

- Seniors
- Juniors
- Sophomores
- Freshmen

Seniors

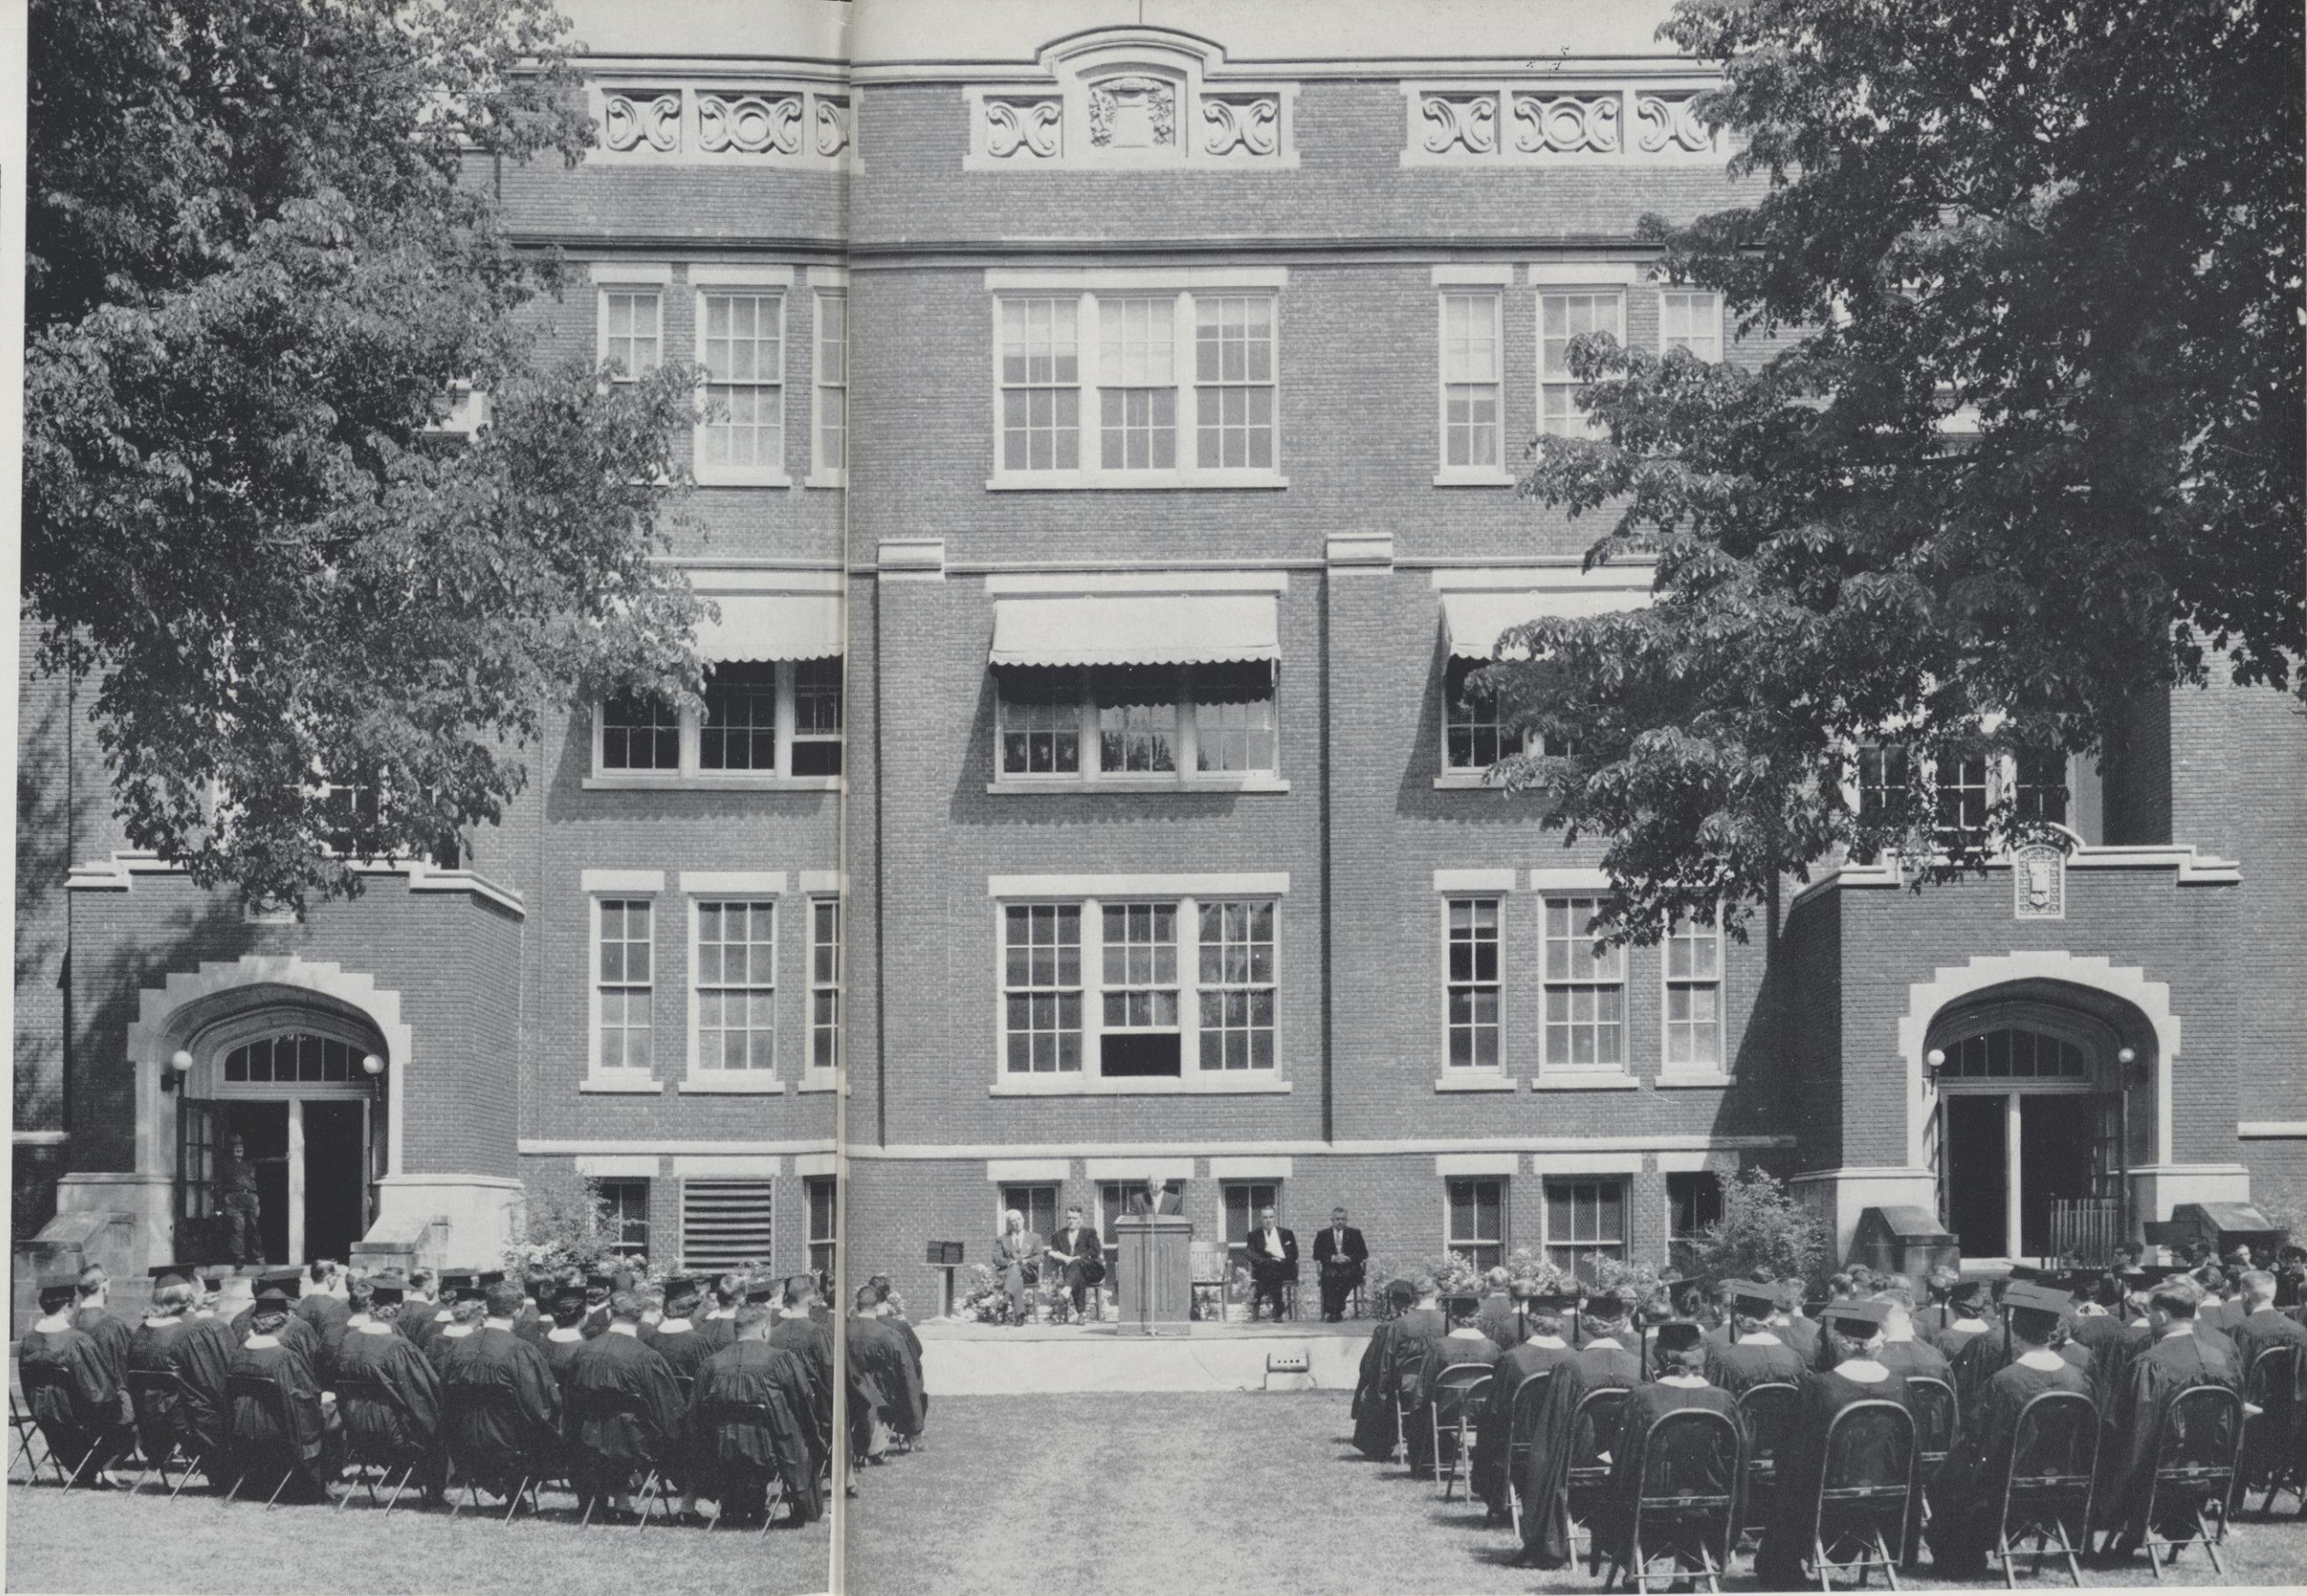

WHAT do they think as they come down the walk from old South, trying to keep their cap on straight and the tassel out of their eyes?

As they come across Cascade and up toward North Hall, what are they thinking? Is it about the practice teaching in the campus school, the basketball games and proms in the gym, or the first time they walked this way as a slightly confused freshman? No doubt it doesn't seem like four years ago.

Will they think, at least once, as they walk, "I wish I weren't leaving?" Is it possible they might be thinking about the changes that River Falls has brought about in the way they think, yes, and in the way they talk and act too? Probably not — that will come later.

As they walk across the platform, get their small roll and walk down while Mom, Dad and a few friends applaud, what do they think?

Educators would hope they are thinking of how much they have yet to learn.

Juniors

THE JUNIOR CLASS made two major contributions to the Homecoming festivities, with the Queen and Chairman both being representatives from the Junior class. The juniors were also in charge of the Campus decoration.

As the year wore on the juniors sponsored their annual class movie and took part in the Winter Carnival.

The spring was occupied with the Prom, held May 18. The theme was "Moonglow."

Sophomores

THE SOPHOMORES began the year by enforcing freshman initiation and taking an active part in the Homecoming activities.

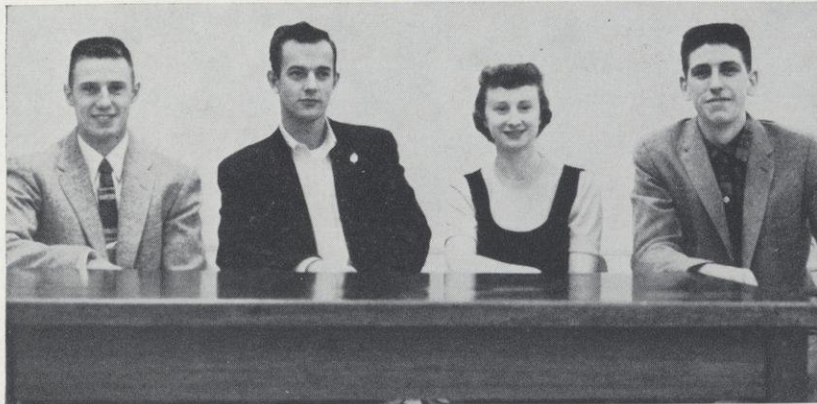

The Homecoming Dance, very elaborately decorated, was the largest project. The sophomores also decorated a window and received second prize on their float.

In the Spring the sophomores held the Annual Traditions Day.

Freshmen

THE FRESHMAN CLASS, the largest in the history of the college, struggled through the first confusing week of registration and orientation to be met with six weeks of initiation. This ended with Homecoming, which the freshmen took a large part in by decorating Ramer Field and building the bonfire. They also decorated a window, won third prize on their float, and succeeded in pulling the sophomores through the creek in the annual sophomore-freshmen tug-of-war.

The class' only money-making project, a "sock-hop," was held during the winter term.

As the school year draws to a close, the freshmen look with anticipation toward the coming year when they will no longer be underclassmen, which will give them the opportunity to haze the coming freshman class.
