When You Die

CENTRAL
WISCONSIN
TRUST

Madison, Wisconsin

You can make any arrangement you please as to the disposition of your funds after death.

For example: The trust may continue for your wife, children or other person without interruption of income. In the absence of any arrangement or any will, it, of course, goes to your nearest of kin like any other personal property.

FIFTY—

and tortured by regrets

DO you suppose," cried Napoleon, as he stood with Gourgaud on St. Helena, "do you suppose when I wake at night I have not bad moments—when I think of what I was and what I am?"

He was fifty; and at fifty the race of men divides into two groups. There is the group of those who look back comfortably over the years, knowing that each year has yielded its measure of progress.

And there is the other group—the men who think: "If only I had it to do over again, how much better I could do it." They look back and say to themselves: "There was the turning; if only I could have seen it in time." To such men the night brings its bad moments—when they think of what they are and what they might have been.

To increase the number of men who, at fifty, can be satisfied with their careers, is the business of the Alexander Hamilton Institute.

85,000 men enrolled

The Alexander Hamilton Institute was founded ten years ago, with the specific purpose of giving men the all-round knowledge of Modern Business that fits them for executive responsibility.

It does for men in business what the law school does for men in law; or the medical school for men in medicine.

It has only one Course; it offers no training for specialized positions of limited opportunity.

In a ten-year period 85,000 men have enrolled in its Modern Business Course and Service. They are representative of every stratum and phase of business. More than 13,000 are corporation presidents.

Business and educational authority of the highest type are represented in the Institute's Advisory Council.

This Council consists of Frank A. Vanderlip, President of the National City Bank of

New York, General Coleman duPont, the well-known business executive; John Hays Hammond, the eminent engineer; Jeremiah W. Jenks, the statistician and economist; and Joseph French Johnson, Dean of the New York University School of Commerce.

The remarkable percentage of college men

Two facts are noteworthy in the Institute's record. In the first place the average age of the men enrolled with it is slightly over thirty. Not to boys is its appeal, but to mature men, who reach the age when they realize that their careers will be made or marred by the record of the few years just ahead.

The second striking fact is the very large proportion of college men enrolled. Over 33% of them are college graduates.

You, who read this page, may have reached the point in your career where you want to make the next few years yield double progress.

Or you may be the sort of college man to whom younger men are frequently turning for advice.

In either case you owe it to yourself to know something more of the character and achievements of this great educational force.

A free book worth sending for

For the information of college men who are interested in better business the Institute has set aside a certain number of its 112-page book "Forging Ahead in Business."

It is worth an evening's careful reading and it is free. The coupon will bring it; send for your copy today.

THE UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN
MADISON

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

April 14, 1919.

To Each Graduate of the University of Wisconsin:

The Commencement of 1918 was unique in the history of the University. It was both inspired by the war and overshadowed by its anxieties. More than two hundred of our seniors were absent on war service. Graduates and undergraduates by the thousand had joined the colors, and the number was still rapidly growing, both of those who were being sent into the desperate struggle abroad and those who were joining the army at home. The University itself was rapidly changing into a war organization, and this transformation was complete only a few weeks later. When Commencement was held the issues of the war and of the world were hanging on the chances of a desperate conflict.

The Commencement of 1919 is also unique, but in a far other sense than that in which we applied the word to the Commencement of the preceding year. We meet next June, thankful that the war is closed, grateful to God for victory, and solemnized by the new responsibilities which success has brought. We shall give thanks for a victorious peace, and we shall consider the new duties which the new order will call upon the University to perform.

Above all, we shall meet with Alma Mater to welcome home her sons from camp and from sea, from the service of their country at home and abroad. For the first time we shall call the roll of our honored dead and thank God that they who died for the cause of freedom did not give their lives in vain.

We ask each of you to be present with us. Can there be any later Commencement which will more urgently invite you?

E. A. BIRGE, President.

Number 7

What would you think of a circus that consisted of side shows but had no main tent? Would you favor building a modern high school that was all class rooms without an auditorium? Can you conceive of a meeting of the Legislature in a capitol that was all offices and committee rooms but had no legislative chamber? If these questions impress you as ridiculous what would you say of state universities that provide no auditorium, assembly hall or common meeting place large enough to accommodate any considerable number of students at any one time? The remarkable growth of state universities has been a matter of justifiable pride in most sections of the United States. Wisconsin is recognized as a leader among state universities. When we look at a sketch of the University of a half century ago when the University consisted of a single building, a few professors and a score of students, then glance at the sketch of the great institution we have today with scores of buildings, hundreds of professors and thousands of students, we are all justly proud of Wisconsin. But let not our pride blind us to the alarming decentralization of University life. While scholastic decentralization was a natural consequence which probably neither could have been nor should have been prevented, social decentralization is an unnatural consequence that has been forced upon University life. While students of agriculture, engineering, law, medicine, business, the humanities, etc., are necessarily separated in the class rooms, they are anxious to mingle together in a unified University social life at other times. At present they have no opportunity to eat together, meet together, sing together or talk together in any large numbers. Small social clubs, fraternities, and societies attempt to meet this need but with all credit to the part they play in University life, let us not forget that they are after all side shows rather than the main tent. The University commons would be fully as beneficial in its tendencies to keep the fraternity man democratic as its influence to make the non-fraternity man a social leader. As far as building needs at state universities are concerned the requirements of this college, of that department or these particular classes of studies are in the great majority of institutions no matter how urgent they may be, really subordinate to the needs of a building belonging not to some department but to all departments, not to a few students but to all students. Democracy in the making is after all the one course that should be pursued by every student at a state university. It is a course that cannot be acquired from a text book or given by a professor. It is but the natural result of the environment in which a student is placed during the four or more years he spends in the state university. So eminent a scholar as Cardinal Newman did not hesitate to say that students at Oxford learned as much from each other as they learned from the professors. When state institutions were small it was almost impossible for students not to know each other intimately. All of the students could and would get together very frequently. The numerical growth of the student body for many years did not catch up with the size of the places offered for general meetings. During the past two decades however there has been at Wisconsin, as in many another state university, no building that would accommodate the students. Today the great need of most state universities is a main tent,—a building dedicated to democracy, open to all the students all of the time and of sufficient size so that not only classes but the entire student body can meet therein.

During the month of April there has been a deplorable recurrence of unjustifiable hazing at the University. The Student Court penalized three sophomores by suspending them for a week and one sophomore by Hazing suspension for two weeks. Thirteen sophomores and two freshmen were placed under bond. Four freshmen have been recommended to the ducking committee for punishment, as soon as the Clinic declares the water of a temperature high enough to permit swimming, and are ordered to stay out of the class rush. Ardent supporters of student government are, of course, disappointed that general hazing was started again at the University this year. Apparently the freshmen have been so importune to show University spirit without having very clear knowledge of what University spirit is that they felt called upon to be somewhat assertive as a class and the sophomores without waiting for proper student authorities to handle the matter took into their own hands the responsibility of immediately humbling the freshmen with the natural result that some mob violence and subsequent individual hazing occurred. When student government was instituted at Wisconsin the general interest of students was so keen that practically all students informed themselves as to the rules, regulations, limitations, etc., of student self-government. At present, however, as far as the men's branch of self-government is concerned, it is almost impossible to find a printed copy of the charter of the Student Senate, the legislative powers of the Student Senate or the judicial powers of the Student Court. Booklets containing such printed information should be provided for all students and should be furnished to all freshmen. The women's branch of the Self-government Association provides members with such a booklet.

Are you coming back to visit your Alma Mater, June 22-25, 1919? If you are a member of a "four" or "nine" class you have, of course, been planning to return for your class reunion. But even if you are Your Reunion not a member of a "four" or "nine" class have you thought of returning this June? Have you realized that over three-fourths of the men students of the University of Wisconsin were in war service? Have you stopped to think of the large proportion of graduates and former students of the University who have participated in this war? If you have you must have felt disposed to, in some public way, show honor and respect to these men. The reunion in June, 1919, promises to be an epoch-making one at Wisconsin. A dignified and impressive ceremony of honor has been planned. Former students as well as graduates are expected, invited and urged to be present. Men who have been in service will return to meet other men who have seen service. Class-mates will return to meet class-mates, friend to meet friend. At the Commencement exercises, at the Alumni Day exercises, at the Class-Day exercises and at the Class dinner will appear Wisconsin men who served "Over There." Next month we hope to be furnished with a complete program which we can publish in the MAGAZINE. May we suggest to graduates that they seriously consider returning to the University for the Commencement season this year. Plan to be at Madison, June 22-25, 1919.

The Mary Cornelia Bradley Memorial Hospital is the most recent large private gift to the University. In addition to $50,000 voted by the Legislature, Dr. H. C. Bradley contributed $75,000, Mr. T. E. Brittingham contributed $25,000 and a donor, whose name by request is withheld, contributed the remaining $25,000 toward this $175,000 structure.

Gifts Among other important gifts that the University has received are the purchase of land for the University by Dane County, Washburn Observatory by Governor C. C. Washburn, Jackson Law Professorship by Judge Mortimer M. Jackson, foundation for fellowships by Dr. and Mrs. C. K. Adams, foundation of scholarship for women by Mrs. Fanny P. Lewis, the entire estate from William F. Vilas, the Lincoln Statue and the Muir bust by Mr. T. E. Brittingham, the Carl Schurz memorial foundation of $30,000 and a $400,000 estate from J. Stevens Tripp. All of these gifts are remarkable expressions of faith in a great commonwealth university. They reflect high honor on the generous benefactors; they give manifold direct benefits to the University; they so increase public confidence that all the citizens of Wisconsin take pride in increasing the public support to a State institution that has shown its worth of such generous bequests. Economists tell us that this matter has been carefully investigated and that it has been found that public willingness to give, through additional taxation, follows such expressions of confidence as the generous benefactors, we have mentioned, have shown in the University of Wisconsin.

What are the traditions of Wisconsin? Subsequent to the first local observation of Foundation Day last February, the officers of the women's Self-Government Association sent a form letter of inquiry to a number of women graduates. A copy of this self-explanatory letter together with a reply from a graduate of the Class of 1897 may be found with the 1897 class news in this issue. The commendable activity of the Self-Government Association in this important undertaking should receive all possible encouragement and assistance. The Traditions Committee of the men's S. G. A. might well follow the example set by the women's branch of the S. G. A. in collecting and compiling interesting accounts of developments of University activities. From such information might eventually be published information of much interest and benefit.

CLEVELAND

By D. Y. SWATY, '98

A dinner at the Metropole, at which Regent Hammond was the principal guest, was given at 6:30 Thursday evening, Jan. 30. Notices reading as follows were sent out:

"The war is over, and we now have time to think of something besides the throttle-wide drive to put the kibosh on the Kaiser.

"All friends of Wisconsin will be glad of the opportunity to hear Mr. T. M. Hammond tell us about the affairs of the University. Mr. Hammond is a member of the Board of Regents and will be in Cleveland on Thursday, Jan. 30. We have arranged for a dinner that evening at 6:30 at the Metropole, 631 Prospect Ave., at which Mr. Hammond will be our guest. He will tell us all the latest campus news, will recount the participation of the University in the great struggle, and tell us of the reconstruction plans under our new President Birge.

"Mark off the date now on your calendar—Thursday, Jan. 30.

"If you know any U. W. men who have come to Cleveland in the past year, extend the invitation to them, and send their names to be added to our list. Let us start the year right with a big attendance to hear Mr. Hammond.

"Sign the slip below and send it in now, so we can make the proper arrangements for the dinner. The price is $1.75 per plate."

DENVER

THEODOSIA SLOTHOWER-PERRY, '15

The Colorado chapter of Wisconsin alumni held a banquet at the Metropole Hotel, Friday, Feb. 21, in honor of Regent Theodore M. Hammond, at which time J. H. Gabriel, '87, president of the Club, acted as toastmaster. The address of welcome was given by E. H. Park, '84.

Mr. Hammond paid a glowing tribute to the late President Van Hise. He also touched upon the part taken by Wisconsin in the war, the S. A. T. C., and the future of the University.

This being our first meeting since the death of Dr. Van Hise, A. P. Hoskin, '90, read a beautiful tribute to his personal friend and our late President. It was moved that the Chapter adopt this resolution memorializing President Van Hise. It was passed unanimously.

Dr. Norland, acting President of the U. of Colorado, related a few personal experiences which he enjoyed while instructing at Wisconsin. Because he was once connected with our Alma Mater, Dr. Norland was declared by Mr. Gabriel to be a member of the Colorado chapter. Mr. Gabriel was unanimously elected the Colorado representative of the U. W. memorial association. This very happy meeting was then adjourned.

KENOSHA

The following resolution was passed by the U. W. Club of Kenosha, April 10, 1919:

BE IT RESOLVED THAT:

WHEREAS, it has come to the attention of the members of this Club that B. C. Brennan, '05, former City Engineer of the City of Kenosha, who, when our country was plunged into war, voluntarily gave up his position and the salary, and offered his services to his country to face death on the battlefield; and whereas, Mr. Brennan, for conspicuous ability, was given a Captaincy in the Engineering Corps, and rendered great service to his country in France, and fortunately has been able to return; and whereas, his experience as an engineer while in the service has qualified him even better for his duties as City Engineer of the City of Kenosha; and whereas, the City Council, by the majority of its members, has recently refused to reinstate Captain Brennan, but has even humiliated him by offering him an inferior position with much decreased salary; and whereas, we believe that the action taken by the City Council is entirely contrary to the wishes of the great majority of the people of the City of Kenosha, who recognize Mr. Brennan's fitness for that position;

Now, THEREFORE, We enter this our solemn protest against the action of the City Council in failing to reinstate Mr. Brennan as City Engineer, with its appropriate salary; and we brand such action of the members voting for the same as unpatriotic and unworthy of the representatives of the City of Kenosha.

We pass this resolution in recognition of the splendid services given by Captain Brennan to his country during the late crisis, and with the hope that his splendid abilities may be recognized, if not in Kenosha, in some other city, where his worth will be fully recognized and his services will be fully compensated.

MINNEAPOLIS

By E. J. FESSLER, '06

The Club held its fourth meeting of the year at Dayton's Tea Room, twenty-two alumni being present. Luncheon was served at 12:15 P. M. after which, Frank Olson, '10, made a few very apt and interesting remarks about the bill now before the State Legislature, creating a new tax levy board for Minneapolis.

Regular monthly meetings are held at Dayton's, the first Thursday of every month, at 12:15 P. M., and all alumni are cordially invited to attend.

NEW YORK*

By O. V. THIELE, '08

At Stewart's, Park Place, behind the Woolworth Bldg., Tuesday, April 1, 1919, at 12:30 sharp. Interesting personal tales by some of the boys back from Over There.

Turn out! Honor them! Welcome them back! If you were in the Service yourself, come and swap yours.

*The above notice was sent out by the secretary in March.

NEW YORK ALUMNAE

"Will you be kind enough to send me the names of all the Wisconsin people who are living in and around

New York City. We have heard of the well-organized Wisconsin group in Washington, and we think that there are enough alumni here to form a live organization. The women are now meeting on the first Friday in each month at Keen's Chop House on 36th Street, 72 W. 36th, between 5th and 6th avenue, for luncheon. It would be good advertising for us if you would put this notice in the ALUMNI MAGAZINE so that any one here for a short time would drop in also. . . . You have no idea how good a Wisconsin person looks in New York City!"
—Mrs. Robert Barton (Agnes Durrie, '17).

"The U. W. alumni association of which Mr. Thiele is secretary, is only for men. I fear me, the members must have been only partially co-educationalized at Wisconsin. . . . One of our impromptu clubs is getting in touch with Mrs. Scott this week, to the end that we may have an informal luncheon of U. W. graduates (men and women), the first Friday of each month.—Harriet O'Shea, '16.

PEKING*

By PYAU LING, '12

Dear Mrs. Van Hise:

The University of Wisconsin Club of Peking has received but lately the sad news of the death of our beloved President. While this note will reach you months later, we wish you to be assured of our profound sympathy, and of the hope that the sorrow we feel will, in some measure, relieve the weight which bears upon you. It is difficult for us to realize that such a constructive force as was President Van Hise is no longer with us to take the burden of the day; but this we know, that the force of his example lives on and will be in our lives ever an inspiration and a guide.

May this knowledge of our appreciation be a comfort to you and those who sorrow with you.

Sincerely,

The University of Wisconsin
Club of Peking,

ST. PAUL

By SOLON J. BUCK, '04

Largely through the efforts of J. H. Curtis, '10, and A. W. Logan, '07, we have recently organized a U. W. Club in St. Paul, which is holding informal luncheons from time to time. We started out with a luncheon every week, but finally decided to hold them regularly, only once a month, with extras, when special out-of-town speakers might be available.

On April 7, we had a very interesting talk by Regent Ben Faast of Eau Claire. We have had talks from Judge A. A. Bruce, '90, and Dean G. S. Ford, '95, both on the faculty of the U. of Minnesota.

We are hampered by the fact that we do not have a complete and up-to-date list of U. W. people in St. Paul. Can you furnish us with such a list?

Please notify me of any members of the Faculty or prominent alumni likely to be in the Twin Cities, whom we might be able to secure for luncheon talks. We do not expect to confine our speakers to Wisconsin men or Wisconsin subjects, but would be glad to have as many such as possible.

SCHENECTADY

By E. S. HENNINGSEN, '12

For the past year and a half, the Schenectady Club has held no official meetings. Several of the members were in the Service and most of the others very busy with work intimately connected with the war. Activities were resumed about the first of the year and we have had two luncheons and a dinner since then. Our membership is smaller than it was two years ago, there being only twenty-three alumni in the city.

March 1, the Club held a regular meeting and a dinner at the Mohawk Golf Club. A bowling match before the dinner helped whet appetites even though no records were hung up. After dinner 1st Lt. Walker Anderson, '13, gave a very interesting account of his experiences in flying, and Lt. E. S. Henningsen, U. S. N. R. told of life in the Navy.

The secretary was instructed to send the congratulations and best wishes of the Club to President Birge.

C. B. Bradish, '12, was elected president and E. S. Henningsen, '12, was re-elected secretary.

ATHLETICS

By G. T. BRESNAHAN, '15

Baseball

The baseball team, under the tutelage of Coach M. A. Kent, won the opening clash of the 1919 season against Northwestern College of Watertown by a score of 9 to 0 on Randall field.

Weather conditions have hindered the workouts to some extent, but from now on the Varsity will practice daily against Coach Lowman's freshmen at Camp Randall.

Because the season has just begun, and because no airtight games have been played thus far, predictions of the percentage columns are somewhat previous at this time, yet the material looks good, and Wisconsin's opponents will have to play baseball to win.

Among the most promising candidates for the team are the following men:

Catchers—Abrahamson, Emanuel; pitchers—Miller, Doyle, Williams; first—Cramer; second—Beaver, Keyes, Chipman; S. S.—Keyes, Barlow; third—Lyman; outfield—Doyle, Wall, Edler, Emanuel, Van Hagen, Pridcoe, Horton.

Basketball

Basketball "W"s were recently awarded to Zulfer, Knapp, Weston, Pease, Bauer, Barlow and McIntosh; while Fanning and Schneider will receive "aWa"s. Harold Knapp, '20, was elected captain of the 1919-20 team. (Announcement of election in last issue was an error.)

The members of the freshman Varsity basketball team to receive sweaters are Taylor, Hess, Bloecher, Sundt, Knollin, and Held. Solbraa, Holbrooke, Luraas, Janisch and Auby were awarded numerals.

Football

Coach J. C. Steinauer is rounding into condition about 35 spring football candidates and among them are Carpenter and Mann. Paul Meyers, Edler and Cramer will quite likely appear in action next fall.

Football Schedule

The 1919 football schedule for the University of Wisconsin, which has just been announced, will include the following games:

Oct. 4—Ripon at Madison
Oct. 11—Marquette at Madison
Oct. 25—Illinois at Urbana
Nov. 1—Minnesota at Madison (Homecoming)
Nov. 15—Ohio State at Madison
Nov. 22—Chicago at Chicago

Rowing

Coach H. E. Vail has fifteen crews ready for Lake Mendota as soon as warmer weather prevails. The men are working on the rowing machines just now, but their next step will be preliminary work on the barges. Two war canoes with a capacity of 18-20 men each are also available for use.

Wrestling

The schedule thus far includes dual meets with Chicago, Illinois, and Minnesota, and as usual, a team will be sent to the Conference Meet at Chicago in June.

Weeks, winner of his bout against Ames, was awarded a "wWt."

Track

Outdoor track work has been hindered by the lack of an adequate cinder path and the necessary field space. The S. A. T. C barracks still cover part of the former running track, but the lower campus is being used as a substitute.

Plans were made to send a two-mile or four-mile relay team to the Drake U. Relays, April 19. The two relay teams entered in the Pennsylvania games fared well—the drawings for the pole.

DEATHS

BISHOP JAMES WHITFORD BASHFORD, '73, born at Fayette, May 29, 1849, died at Pasadena, Cal., March 18, of a lingering illness. Commenting on the passing of Bishop Bashford, the Christian Advocate (New York), of March 27, says, in part:

"He dignified the whole missionary cause by deliberately giving himself to China when he might have chosen to do the work of a Bishop in America. The missionaries, the Chinese, and the home Church, all felt the uplift when such a Bishop as Bashford made missions his life work.

He lifted missions to the status of a world interest. History and comparative politics deeply interested him. He was a voracious reader of the newspapers and reviews of two worlds and a student of the currents of thought which he found in them. He recognized, and made others recognize, the relation of Christianity to these currents and he saw in foreign missions not merely a ministry to the souls and bodies of individual men, but a lever which should pry whole nations out of their sockets and set them moving in new orbits. It is no stretch of truth to call him a "world-citizen." He was personally known and consulted on important international questions by the governments at Washington, Peking and Tokyo. His luminous advices to the directors of the great press associations helped the newspapers to understand and interpret the larger news of the day in relation to the Orient.

He did not break his home ties when he went to Asia. His years in the Church and college had given him an extraordinary hold upon a large and widely scattered public. In Ohio, Wisconsin, Iowa, Western New York and New England he was among his own people, and when he told them of China's need they responded accordingly. He was not the old type of man who had gone out to China in boyhood and who returned a stranger to his own people. He was a representative American, who kept in closest touch with America, and was to the last a citizen of two continents."

JEROME ARPKE, '84, died at his home in Appleton, March 16. Paralysis was the cause of his death. Mr. Arpke was born in Franklin, Sheboygan County, March 26, 1861.

BARTLEY K. STANCHFIELD, '94, died Feb. 27, at Fond du Lac. Death followed a five days' illness of pneumonia. Mr. Stanchfield was superintendent of the Olds Motor Works at Lansing, Mich., for five years and, while in that capacity, directed the construction of the first four-cylinder motor ever turned out there.

DR. PAUL H. DERNEHL, '03, specialist in eyes diseases, died at his home in Milwaukee, March 28. The Milwaukee Herald of that date said in part: "In the death of Dr. Dernehl, Milwaukee, and in fact the whole State, loses a man whose skill and humanitarian service can ill be spared.

"Paul Dernehl was born in Mecklenburg, but in childhood he came with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich Dernehl, to America, directly to Milwaukee. He graduated from the Milwaukee High School, during which course, he earned the money with which to attend the University. From this institution he graduated with honors, completing the four year course in three.

Later, he worked for a degree at Johns Hopkins, also at Rostock and Strassburg, Germany, under the well-known Doctors Peters, Korner and Manasse. His education was continued in the medical clinics of Berlin and Copenhagen. In 1909, he returned to Milwaukee, where his exceptional skill soon gave him a large practice. . . . Dr. Dernehl's life was a sacrifice to service."

LT. EDMOND COLLINS, ex '11, recently died in Archangel, Russia, as a result of wounds received in battle March 24, last, according to a report received by his father from the War Department.

Extracts from the paper read: "The reception tendered by the University of Toulouse to its American students last Saturday was the first success of what promise to be a brilliant social season. The nave of

LAW '94, WISCONSIN

Dear Classmate:

The Law Class of 1894 held a re-union in 1914. It was a great success. Many of us had not seen each other for twenty years. It was a delight to note what slight ravage Father Time has made in our ranks and in our visages. However, there was some hair missing.

It was voted that we have a re-union on the 25th anniversary of our graduation. Looking backward, it does not seem a quarter of a century.

"The sands run swiftly." At our last meeting, I was honored with the class presidency, and in that capacity I am writing you. 1894 classes are to have a big re-union—Law '94 wants to show up at least as strong as in '14.

Now, I want every man of you to write me a letter saying that you will be on the job. But if for any reason you cannot come, we want a letter that can be read at the dinner.

Don't fail to respond promptly.

With kindest regards, I am

Sincerely yours,

A. W. MACLEOD.

SELF GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN

MADISON

March 8, 1919.

DEAR ALUMNAE:

This year, since the establishment of the tradition of Founder's Day for our University, we have become greatly interested in looking up facts, stories, and reminiscences of "the beginning of things;" the entrance of women to the University, and the development of our university activities. Traditions such as these are precious. There is an added significance to our present activities and life on the campus when we know their history.

We are writing to ask you if you would help us by writing up informally and as fully as possible your memories of Wisconsin life. If you send us the names of women who have been here at various times, classmates or others who would be interested in this matter, we would appreciate it deeply. We are specially interested in the stories of the early life of women at Wisconsin and in the foundation of such organizations as S. G. A., W. A. A., Y. W. C. A., the literary, dramatic, and musical societies. We feel that these letters will be of great interest and value in Wisconsin traditions.

We thank you for your cooperation.

Very sincerely yours,

THE SELF GOVERNMENT ASSOCIATION,

By HELEN SMITH, '19, president.

changed into the Wisconsin Literary Magazine. At least two of its youthful contributors, Grant Showerman, '96, and Zona Gale, '95, have become nationally known.

In February 1896, there was organized a small informal literary society under the patronage of Professors Frankenburg, '69, Knowlton and Dow. The first meeting was held at Ladies' Hall, and the charter members were Messrs. Bleyer, '96, Showerman, '96, Craig, Kronshage, '98, Nash, '97, Rindlaub, '96, and Sanborn, '96; the Misses Spence, '96, Scribner, '98, and McLenegan, '97. That we were all young people of decided tastes may be inferred from the fact that all the boys, among whom I remember Charles Vilas, '99, of Milwaukee and the Hon. Joseph Davies, '98, were crazy about Kipling and detested Mary E. Wilkins, while the girls could not abide Kipling and adored Miss Wilkins.

There was no Self Government Association. An organization known as the Woman's League was begun about 1897, of which Miss Anne Scribner, '98, now Mrs. William Hard, was president. At one time that office gravitated to my unworthy shoulders. We met in a very serious manner in Chadbourne Hall, but I do not recall that we did anything. The purpose was not then very clear to us, perhaps. But I think the main trouble was that we lacked the guidance and experience which the students seem to have since acquired in organized movements. This embryonic attempt has since grown into the splendid Self Government Association.

Miss Annie Emery, who was the first Dean of Women, came, I think, in 1897. President and Mrs. Charles K. Adams were always graciously disposed toward the students and took a kindly personal interest in them, scarcely possible for executives to do now.

The first Junior Prom was held in the Armory in 1894.

The fate of the world seemed to us to hang upon beating Minnesota in football. I have still a copy of the first red Cardinal I ever saw printed Nov. 17, 1894. Can you imagine President Birge jumping up and down, spinning his hat on a cane in front of the Historical Library? I saw him do those things that day, when the side of the Library was still a grove and the games were still played on the lower campus.

In 1895 the Theodore Thomas Orchestra gave a concert in Madison. In 1896, we had Sousa's Band, Madame Modjeska, Otis Skinner, Rhea, the French actress, and E. S. Willard were some of the excellent players who appeared at the Fuller. "Ian MacLaren" and Mrs. Ballington-Booth also talked to the students.

My class, the Class of 1897, gave the first class play, which consisted of a curtain raiser called, "A Cup of Tea" and "Mr Bob" presented at the Fuller, under the direction of Ernst Kronshage, '98, now editor of the Milwaukee Free Press. A dramatic fund for the encouragement of drama, was created by the proceeds of the class play. On April 30, 1898, "the First Annual Dramatic Contest of the University of Wisconsin" was held at the Fuller. A prize of $50.00 was offered for the best performance of the evening. The contests were as follows:

1. "A Proposal Under Difficulties."
Charles Vilas, '99, Gray Montgomery, '99, Clarissa Linde, '98, Grace Merrill, '98.
2. Scene from "Othello."
Walton Pyre, '99, Louis Ward, '96, Mary Freeman, '98, Jennie Smith, '01.
3. "Her Only Fault."
Gerhard Dahl, '96, Fred Clausen, '97, Margaret Rogers, Ex '98, Nora Johnson, '00.

The prize was awarded to the "Othello" cast and the judges were: Mr. Wayne Ramsay, Mr. B. J. Stevens, Prof. Julius E. Olson, '84, Dr. W. A. Scott, Prof. H. D. Sleeper.

Our days at the University were the fearful days of boarding houses and chaotic social life. When visiting the University last spring after an absence of several years, I was much impressed with the coordination, smoothness and general community feeling of the student life now. Possibly a certain spontaneity and individuality that we possessed may be lacking, but I am sure that in the progress for the general good that the University authorities have acted wisely and efficiently.

MR. L. F. VAN HAGEN, Madison, Wis.

Dear Van:—You asked me if the Class '04 is going to have a rethis year.

Of course, it is, you old stiff! Don't you remember that five years ago, when The Great Jubilee Class held its tenth reunion, that the 150 fortunate ones who were there, got right up and swore that nothing could keep them from attending our fifteenth reunion?

Of course, the Class of '04 is going to hold its reunion, and it will show the other classes how reunions should be held. You remember that when our great reunion was pulled off, that the class of '09 rudely tried to interfere with our wonderful program; how you, "Eddy" McEachron, Charlie Lyman, and Bill Juneau, and some of the other boys scampered up the girders in the gym like so many monkeys and let loose a million '04 balloons which those fresh '09ers tried to interfere with. I understand that it is very doubtful whether '09 can pull off its 10th reunion. They did not have much push or "pep" five years ago. The only thing they did have was the freshness that is usually found in the class which is drinking at the fountain of university learning for the first time.

Our reunion may not be as spectacular as our tenth reunion because we sold a great deal of our paraphernalia and all of the wild animals to Mr. Ringling in order to do our share in financing the war. However, we are going to be back in great numbers and show our love for dear old Wisconsin and furnish new inspirations to the other alumni. We have one thousand feet of moving pictures showing the great time we had five years ago. That's great stuff because every one who comes back can have the joys of two reunions. That was some reunion we had five years ago, and what we pull of this year will be no slouch.

All of the Chicago members of the class are now getting together and making plans for coming back. All of us will be there and it is now up to Madison and Milwaukee to organize and be there, every man, woman and kiddie.

Yours for the glory of 1904,

JOHN S. LORD.

"It was while operating on a former officer of the Russian regular army, for him to tell me that he was intimately acquainted with Crawford Wheeler, while I told him Mr. Wheeler was my next door neighbor in Eau Claire." Mr. Wheeler, according to the Russian, is a big man, one of the biggest in "Y" work in Russia. "Just received a copy of the Wisconsin ALUMNI MAGAZINE and read it with interest, even including the advertisement 'When a Man is Thirty and Married.' I read this ad under a misapprehension that its title was 'When a Man is Thirsty and Married.'

"I see that the class reunions are to be held on June 22-25 and, along that line, I wish to make again the suggestion that I have been making for years, i. e., that the commencements be made really worth while. I have not attended many reunions, but I feel that ours could be made lots more attractive. I have always contrasted Wisconsin reunions with those I happened to see at Princeton and Ann Arbor. I am living in hopes that the day will come when some effort will be made to keep the major part of the undergraduates over as participants in the Commencement. For a man who has been out of college five years there is nothing more desolate than coming back to empty buildings. I hope that an effort will be made to provide some sort of attraction that will make the undergrads want to remain over. I think that a start could be made by starting a custom of a baseball series to be played during Commencement time. If we could have such a series and also a big boat race, Madison wouldn't hold the "old boys and girls" who would flock back. These ideas are rather intangible things at the present time because I haven't had much of an opportunity to go over them but I'll put them in concrete form before commencement time. . . . Altho I don't 'reune' this year, I am hoping to have the privilege of being the first Wisconsin man to fly back to a commencement. As you know, I am now with the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation, New York City, in the capacity of Publicity Manager. We have quite a Wisconsin delegation here with John Davies, '14, as general sales manager; J. M. Bickel, '16, assistant sales manager; and Paton McGilvary, '16, assistant sales manager. If we can do it, we all want to fly back this June and land on the upper campus. We have talked it over several times and all of us are keen for it. . . . New York is surely a small place after all. You would be surprised at the large number of Wisconsin men and women who are in the city. Since coming here, I have met more than fifty Wisconsinites. . . . Best of luck to you and to Wisconsin."

Mr. Joseph A. Becker,
 Sec'y, Class of 1914,
 Box No. 354,
 Madison, Wisconsin.

My Dear Joe:—I am delighted to read of the plans for our reunion in the March MAGAZINE. You may be sure I will be there, if out of the Service at that time, to assist in any way possible in making it the most memorable affair of its kind ever staged in the old town. Have not visited school since I left, and have been far away most of the time. We ought to be able to put on a pageant, or something of that nature. At any rate, we want to do something original; something that will leave an impression, as we are wont to believe the Class of 1914 did.

With best regards to all, I am,
 Sincerely yours,
 WALT POWELL,
 Athletic Director, 6th Naval District,
 Naval Training Camp,
 Charleston, South Carolina.

Skinner, who is designing electrical engineer, with the Westinghouse Electrical Co., lives at 1010 Rebecca Ave., Wilksburg, Pa.—Mrs. J. K. Livingston (Majory Davis) has moved from Brooklyn, N. Y., to 30 Cottage Place, Nutley, N. J.—Lt. N. S. Trotman, Milwaukee, has been commissioned officer in charge of the naval coal stations at San Diego and La Playa, Cal.—Mrs. A. R. Johnson (Minnie Kurz) has moved from Chicago to 615 Michigan Ave., Evanston, Ill.—J. P. Davies is now sales manager of the Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor Corporation, at 52 Vanderbilt Avenue, New York City. Mr. Davies has had considerable experience in salesmanship and office management and, in addition, he has had flying experience, both in this country and abroad. Graduating from the University in 1913, he entered the life insurance business as general agent for the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance Company. He organized and developed the first and largest university agency in the United States. When war was declared, he entered the aviation service, and upon completing his ground school training at the U. of Illinois, he was sent to Ellington Field, Texas, as instructor. He specialized in night flying and bombing work and, early last summer, he was detailed by the Government to visit the fighting fronts in order to study these phases of aviation, and to work out a uniform course of instruction for the schools in the United States. He spent three months abroad, studying French, English and Italian methods. He returned to America shortly before the armistice was signed and on January 1, he entered the Curtiss organization.

Mr. Davies predicts a great and immediate future for aviation. He believes that the aeroplane industry holds greater opportunity for aggressive young men than any other business in the world.

"Aviation today is often compared with the automobile industry of ten years ago," he said.

"As far as the public appreciation of aviation is concerned, it is undoubtedly a very fair comparison; but as far as size of the business and progress in aeronautical engineering, as compared with automobile engineering ten years ago, there is no comparison. As a matter of fact, the aeroplane engineering of today is actually ahead of automobile engineering of today, and the enormous aeroplane factories bear no resemblance to the small automobile plants of a few years ago.

"The aeroplane completes the transportation facilities by supplementing steamships, railroads, and automobiles. Contrary to the general opinion, it is no more subject to weather limitations than are steamships or automobiles. It has proven itself in peace uses to be as safe, if not safer, than any other form of transportation. As a sport, it combines the fine air of the yacht with the adaptability of the yacht and automobile combined.

"Flying fields are being established all over the world to take care of the commercial developments of the aeroplane, and new types of planes are being developed to care for the various problems involved by local conditions in various parts of the country.

"First-class mail will eventually be entirely carried by aeroplanes, as will all light express."—W. D. R.

Jose Zapata, (ex), with the 6th Division Ammunition Train, now on detached service, has entered the U. of Toulouse, France. In a recent communication, Corporal Zapata says: "The plan calls for three weeks of nothing but French, so, in the morning, we attend lectures, and in the afternoon, we go to regular classes, where we learn French by the direct method or, what you would call practical method. We started yesterday, and it took all day to find the different buildings. French universities, unlike American, are scattered all over the town. . . . We are the first American soldiers to come here, so that the people stop on the street to stare at us, but they are very nice and polite. The men salute (by taking off their hats), and the women smile or look curiously at us. We are billeted in barracks near the school, and eat French chow. I met some of the fellows I used to know, and heard about some of the others. . . . All in all, it is some experience."—"We could not get along without the ALUMNI MAGAZINE," writes M. R. OUR DEAR OLD COLLEGE HOME

By F. I. AMBLER, '16

Dear Madison, thou quiet city built by inland lakes,
Where scores of students gather year by year
To learn great lessons from great books and men;
To study Nature's ways with eyes alert
And ears well trained to catch the music sweet
That drifts across Mendota's silvery sheen.

'Twas in thy paths, beneath thy ancient trees,
We wove close friendships true that never fade;
Though we may wander far yet Memory lingers still Recalling happy days. Deft fingers paint thy pictures
And behold, Nature engraves them for her idyl bower.
Enchanted then we catch the beauty of her mystic art.

Fair city! thou with myriad blessings crowned,
Center of learning, culture, and affairs of state;
Thou art a masterpiece of Nature's handiwork,
A living inspiration to thy favored sons.
Great is thy glory. Greater still will be
Thy history as the passing years decide.

In future times when other eyes behold
Thee in thy glorious progress, forward bent,
In civic pride by word and deed expressed
They, too, thy well-deserved praises shall proclaim.
While on the page which History's pen shall write
Thy name shall glow in cardinal colors bright.

GUY BLACK, '17, AND A LETTER

Upon the death of Guy Black in action last September—a letter written to him was returned, unopened, with merely the inscription "G. H. Q. A. E. F. Tours, killed, 9/27" upon the envelope—Wisconsin lost one of her most brilliant students and most promising lawyers, a leader at all times, and a true democrat. His quality of keen, quick understanding made his a mind that never swerved from a desired objective; his burning instinct to fight for the right, always realizing the distinction between law for the sake of law, and law for the sake of humanity, and his convincing aggressiveness made him a leading debater, a leader in all public student affairs, and above all, a steadfast friend. There is no doubt that Guy's letters would make an interesting volume if they could be collected and edited. The following letter was written by him in November, 1917, from Camp Mills, N. Y.

You would hear from me more often if it were not for the fact that I am one of those afflicted with so many close relations, who insist upon reports of whatever I am doing, that I do not have time to reach out to my friends except in line of duty. I have it on most of the latter, however, because I do not have to keep up a daily bulletin for the benefit of one or more "girls I left behind me." In fact, you owe this letter to that very thing. I do not have much to say about myself. Soldiering is my present profession, not so much for the love of the game as for a combination of circumstances. Possession of a college education makes it possible for me to become (fortunately, or unfortunately, and I often think the latter) an officer instead of an "honest-to-goodness" soldier. I do not like to boast about any incipient abilities in this occupation—there are too many standing ready to call me, if I did. All my ambitions now are compressed into one desire—to be in the first wave of that mighty host which will ultimately go over the top, carrying with it the slogan, "True world democracy," that is to become the guiding spirit of the progress of the next centuries. The satisfaction of this in years to come would be immeasurable; to be trampled down in the fight that is to lead to such a victory is a sufficient accomplishment for any one poor mortal. I might also state that I am now on the last lap of training on this side of the water; we are now equipping ourselves for the long haul; we are the next Division to sail. Bring on the transports, and may the devil take the hindmost! My work is intensely interesting. I will become the virtual father of some sixty men, each of whom will be a specialist in some of the many devilish arts of warfare. The responsibility will make a man old before his time, so prepare for a gray-headed man when the "invincible 162nd" leaves a part of its personnel at a little Wisconsin station sometime in the next few years.

I would advise the many not to quit in the middle of their studies. They ought to stay on and see it through, ready to give their country real service, for the country needs men more than ever now, who can think deeply and unselfishly. (Here he goes on to discuss the situation at that time). There will soon be forces here that will test our own democracy. After witnessing an election in this metropolis (referring to the campaign of Hylan in New York), and gaining a fair insight into conditions, I begin to wonder. . . . It is bedtime in camp now and, between you and me, it is durn cold in this tent. This, in spite of the fact that Art Robinson is a good stoker. If France is warm, then me for France!

CAMPUS NOTES

The biennial report to the Regents from the Extension Division shows that 12,923 students registered for correspondence study during the past two years.

Capt. Paul Withington, football coach at Wisconsin in 1916, now of the 89th Division, A. E. F., played guard on his own team, which defeated the eleven of the 36th Division, 14-6, late in March, reports the Cardinal of April 3. The game was played near Paris and was witnessed by General Pershing.

Marguerite Schulz, '21, a member of Pythia, won first place in the sophomore oratorical contest this spring. "A plea for a New Attitude in Americanization" was the subject of Miss Schulz's theme.

The 1919 Class Memorial will be an addition of $2,000 to the Chimes Memorial fund which was started by the Class of 1917 to provide a set of chimes for the campus. The $2,000 donation will be invested in Liberty bonds as were the donations of its predecessors, until the fund is large enough to install the chimes.

The barracks at Camp Randall, which housed the S. A. T. C., last fall and winter, are being turned to different uses, two of them being taken over by the College of Agriculture for forage and machine sheds and a third for a hog shelter.

The 1920 Badger will be issued in May, according to advice received from Ben Wishnefsky, '20, business manager.

Data on memorial buildings erected to honor soldiers in various parts of the country is being collected by the Municipal Reference Bureau of the Extension Department. Many cities have sent in not only blueprints of their memorial buildings, but photographs and other data.

Dr. H. C. Taylor, '02, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics, has been called to Washington, D. C., to take charge of the office of farm management in the Department of Agriculture.

A resolution thanking the defenders of the loyalty of the University was passed at a recent meeting of the student senate. In his reply to the letter sent him, Senator Lenroot once more denounced the attitude of Robert McElroy.

A little book of popular camping songs and their melodies is being compiled by the members of Pythia. The booklet will be sold on the campus when completed.

War crosses were granted to three of the twenty-five Wisconsin men whose names appear on the honor roll to be placed in Agricultural Hall. Lt. Harry Dillon, '13, received both the Croix de Guerre and the Distinguished Service Cross. Capt. S. S. Eaton, '15, and A. B. Burns, ex '20, were given the French decoration.

Community drama and community theatres as reconstructive recreational activities, and suggestions for their development, is discussed in a bulletin which is being prepared by the Bureau of Community Music and Drama of the Extension Division. An article on the community theatre at Evansville, illustrates this as a factor in promoting community spirit.

Prof. Irving Babbitt, Harvard U., author of "Literature and the American College," "The New Laocoon," and numerous other brilliant articles, which have appeared in such magazines as the Atlantic Monthly and the Nation, gave two lectures on the "Aspects of Romanticism," at the University in March.

Miss Ella Martin, L. S. graduate, has been appointed assistant in botany for the remainder of the quarter.

Prof. W. G. Bleyer, '96, head of the Department of Journalism, is one of the principal speakers at the third annual convention of the National Association of City Editors, which is to be held at Chicago, May 17 and 18.

Blueprints of "Electric Starting, Lighting, and Ignition Systems of Automobiles" were sent out by the Extension Department for use in overseas army schools. Five hundred sets of 50 prints each were included in the shipment, and the prints are the same that are used in the auto-mechanics course at the University and various Wisconsin cities.

Miss Elizabeth Bass, who was connected with the Physical Training Department of the University in 1906, is a member of the Y. M. C. A. Unit which went to France in January, and is now in canteen work at Nancy.

"Camouflage in War and Nature" was the subject of an address given in April, at Music Hall, by Gerald Thayer, New York City, joint author with his father, Abbott Thayer, of an important work on "Concealing Coloration in the Animal Kingdom." The lecture was illustrated with original views in color.

A prehistoric French hatchet, sent by Harold Wengler, '17, now with the 100th Aero Squadron in France, is the latest addition to the Wisconsin Historical Museum. The implement was picked up in a field near Notre Dame. A collection of non-commissioned officers' chevrons and hat cords, 100 in number, sent by Lt. George Chandler, '17, now at Fort Snelling, has also been received.

Prof. M. H. Haertel, '06, attended the North-Central Conference of College Presidents, as the University's representative, at Chicago, in March.

A tribute to the late President Van Hise, as one of the leaders in fostering the League of Nations plan, was delivered by H. S. Houston, editor of the World's Work, in speaking before the Wisconsin legislature in February. Dr. Van Hise's address on "The League of Free Nations," which he delivered at the Win-the-War Convention for Permanent Peace, held in Madison in November, has been distributed throughout the country, Mr. Houston said, and has become a widely known document.

Miss Ada Hunt, former instructor in home economics at Wisconsin, is serving as a dietitian in Le Maus, Sarthe, France. Miss Hunt has been in Italy in a similar capacity, and while there she met Dr. David Klein, '10, formerly in the Chemistry Department, and who is now a captain in the Sanitary Corps.

Wireless telephonic communication with Great Lakes Naval Training Station is now carried on by the University wireless station, after some months of experimentation. These two stations are the only ones in this locality permitted by the Government to operate at the present time.

Nine disabled soldiers and sailors have enrolled at the University for vocational education. Seven of this number are taking agriculture, one is in the Medical School, and one is taking the course in commerce.

A portrait of President Birge, executed by Christian Abrahamsen, Chicago portrait painter, is on exhibition in the State Historical Library. The painting is a full-length study of President Birge in his doctor's robe.

The University Club building, erected by faculty members as their clubhouse, restaurant, and bachelor dormitory, is being used as student infirmary. This use will probably continue until the completion of the new infirmary and research hospital, which are now in the course of construction. When the S. A. T. C. was announced last fall, the Club's members voted to lease the clubhouse to the University for barracks, and 322 engineer corps men were quartered in it during the first week. Later, during the "flu" epidemic, to avoid the use of several buildings, the Medical Department decided to turn the fire-proof clubhouse into a soldiers' hospital, since it accommodates 200 beds comfortably. Since the disbanding of the S. A. T. C., the University has continued to use it as an infirmary.

Public memorial exercises for the late President Van Hise were held at the Gymnasium, 8:00 P. M. April 29, since this issue of the MAGAZINE went to press. The principal speakers were Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews, Prof. T. C. Chamberlain, former president of the University and now of the U. of Chicago, and President Birge. The general public and particularly alumni were invited by the committee in charge.

Prof. E. M. Terry, '04, of the Physics Department, has devised a vacuum power bulb which is said to be better than any commercial bulb for use as oscillator or modulator in regulating aerial waves, and is an important factor in certain research work.

A section of photographs, showing what Wisconsin did to help win the war, will be included in the pictorial history of the Great War, which is being compiled by the general staff of the U. S. Army. This album of pictures will show, among other things, the work of the army vocational training section, and the nineteen courses included.

J. H. Walton, Jr., associate professor of chemistry, has been advanced to the rank of professor.

Dr. G. W. Ehler, formerly director of physical education at Wisconsin, was in Madison recently for a short visit before resuming his work as head of the Boy Scout activities in Pittsburg.

"British-American Relations" was the subject of a special lecture delivered by Prof. A. C. McLaughlin, head of the History Department, Chicago U., in March. Professor McLaughlin has just returned from abroad after lecturing on this subject in many English universities and colleges.

BOOK NOTES

Brief reviews of writings by Wisconsin students, alumni, and faculty.

Farm Tenancy, An Analysis of the Occupancy of 500 Farms, is the title of Research Bulletin 44, by C. J. Galpin, associate professor of agricultural economics, and Emily Hoag, assistant, issued by the Agricultural Experiment Station in February.

The Story of Wisconsin, 1634-1848, by Louise Phelps Kellogg, '97, is being published serially in the Wisconsin Magazine of History, of the State Historical Society, and the first chapter in the March number deals with physical and political geography.

The Gasoline Automobile, by Hobbs and Elliott, '13, of the Extension Division, soon to be published, will bring the edition of 1915 up to date. The book is used as a text-book in nearly every state and in Canada.

Goethe's Lyric Poems in English Translation Prior to 1860, by Lucretia Van Tuyl Simmons, '13, will be published as a volume in the Language and Literature Studies of the University. Another study under preparation in this series is The Position of the Roode en Witte Roos in the Sage of King Richard III, by O. J. Campbell, formerly of the English Department.

Wisconsin Indians Learn Farming, by J. F. Wojta, of the College of Agriculture, is the title of an article appearing in the latest issue of the Wisconsin Archeologist, in which the author declares that Indians are more interested in farming this year than before, and that five Indian farmers' institutes are to be held this spring for their benefit.
