SENTINEL TALE GIVEN LIE BY UNION BOARD

Article on Inaugural Ball Brings Hot Retort From Students

Branding as "a lie and as wholly without foundation" an account of conduct of students at the Inaugural ball which appeared in the Milwaukee Sentinel January 4, the Union board went on record last night in a resolution condemning the insinuation that "nearly 1,000 students" danced in an undignified and shocking manner.

According to members of the board the number of students was closer to 100 than 1,000 and it was the unqualified statement of these members that none of the students present conducted themselves in either a disorderly or objectionable manner.

Story Was All Lies

Al Hotton '22 who has had charge of All-University mixers the past two years made the following statement: "I was at the ball from 8:30 on and during the entire evening I did not see one objectionable thing. The students seemed to be particularly careful not to do anything that would seem questionable. It is just such lies as this one about the university that gives outsiders a bad impression. The whole article seems to be a malicious attack upon everything in connection with the inauguration and there is no more truth in the statement about the students than there is in any other part of it."

"It is to be very much regretted that any paper should have in its employ a reporter who would send in such deliberate lies as appeared in the article in the issue of the Evening Sentinel of January 4," said Charles Moore '21, vice-president of the board.

'21 BADGER STAFF TO HOLD BANQUET AND DANCE TONIGHT

A banquet and dance for the entire business and editorial staff of the 1921 Badger will be held at the Women's building tonight, starting at 6:30. Frederick L. Sperry '21 will act as toastmaster.

Both the banquet and dance are semi-formal and the Badger management has assumed the expense of the entire affair. Frank W. Kuehl '21, business manager of the 1921 Badger, will make his official report at the banquet. Elizabeth Chandler '21 is chairman of the committee in charge of the entertainment.

Only those who are members of the 1921 Badger staff are attending the banquet, but each member may invite a partner, not on the Badger staff, to the dance, which will begin at 9 o'clock.

The following guests of honor have been invited because of their interest in the publication: Dean and Mrs. S. H. Goodnight, Dean Frances Louise Nardin, Prof. Warner Taylor, Prof. and Mrs. Stephen Gilman, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sumner, Prof. and Mrs. F. H. Elwell, Prof. and Mrs. E. H. Gardner, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Rogers, Dixon, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rankin, Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Koch, Mr. and Mrs. De Longe, and William Meuer, Madison.

300 WILL WORK IN FUND DRIVE

Wisconsin in China Campaign to Start Monday

The annual canvass for the support of Wisconsin-in-China will be begun next Monday, when 300 students, organized into teams under chosen captains, will scour the campus in a concerted drive for funds.

For the support of Jack Childs, the men of the university and members of the faculty will be asked to contribute $3,000. Women students will raise $1,800 for the Wisconsin Women's work in China. Jack Childs was sent to Peking in 1916 to represent the University of Wisconsin in China. He is supported each year by voluntary contributions from the student body.

Fraternities will be canvassed by

FIRST 1921 MIXER SATURDAY EVENING

The Union board will give the first All-University mixer of the new year Saturday evening, January 8, at 8:30, in Lathrop hall gymnasium. Dancing will start at 9 o'clock. Eleanor Riley '21 and Julia Hanks '21 will give a special dance during the evening. The committee in charge of the affair, under Sussie Fisher '21, consists of Elizabeth Waterman, Gladys Fraser, Harriet Bridgman, Mildred Gerlach, Louise Mareaux, Elizabeth Osius, Helen Patterson, Ethel Tyrill, Esther Graham, Margaret Neal, and Frances Farrington.

DEFENSE IN LYNAUGH TRIAL DENIES LUNNEY'S TESTIMONY GAINS GROUND FOR THE STATE

TICKET SALE FOR ALL-UNIVERSITY JAMBOREE OPENS

Tickets are on sale now for the All-University Jamboree which is taking the center of interest for next week's calendar and will be held Saturday night, January 15, in Lathrop gym and concert room.

The committee in charge of the sale of tickets under the direction of John Hurley '24 have placed them on hand at the University pharmacy and at Morgan Brothers as well as at the various fraternity and sorority houses. They expect a whirlwind sale since the interest in group costumes is becoming very keen and many organizations are making arrangements now to obtain costumes. About 300 costumes will be brought to Lathrop next week for rental, and people who have costumes they wish to exchange with others may rent them then.

Special arrangements will be made for spectator seats in the balcony for those who want only to watch the masqueraders and the special stunts. The price of the tickets is 50 cents.

PROM BENEFIT TO DEFRAY EXPENSES

"Up in Mary's Attic," is the movie which has been obtained for the Prom benefit performance to be held at the Grand theater on February 3 and 4. All proceeds above a certain percentage will go to help pay for Prom. Zirian Blish '22, in charge of the arrangements, declared yesterday that aside from the fact that the movie itself is a good one, it should receive the support of every one interested in making Prom a success. An extensive ticket sale is being planned, details of which will be announced later. The price will be 28 cents.

COMMERCE MEN TO HAVE BOX AT PROM

A box at the Prom for all commerce students who have not made other arrangements has been planned for. In order to know how many to prepare for, it is necessary that all reservations be made at once. Commerce students who wish to make reservations must notify R. C. Zimmerman, B. 6144, within the next few days.

Clancy Will Attempt to Show Jandorf as "Leader of the Crowd"

(Special to The Daily Cardinal) JEFFERSON, Wis., Jan. 6.—After an afternoon of the most grueling cross examination ever heard in Jefferson county, the defense in the Lynaugh murder trial, headed by James M. Clancy, denied tonight that much ground had been gained after Julian Lunney '23, one of the state's chief witnesses, had completed giving his testimony.

Lunney Quizzed

Time on time again Lunney was charged with contradictory testimony. Mr. Clancy forced him to testify that there were "between 50 and 75" students present when the group reached the corner of Lake and Langdon streets, instead of "21 students," as he had said earlier in the day.

He made Lunney acknowledge all of the truth of his statement made at the inquest last June to the effect that Jandorf "was the most prominent one" in the crowd about the policeman.

This testimony Mr. Clancy will use to show that Jandorf was "the leader."

State's Case Strengthened

The state, however, was strengthened when Lunney testified that he had "never before seen the harbor pole" which Lynaugh arrested him for stealing, and claimed that the officer produced no warrant for his arrest nor informed him of the grounds.

Charles Rohr, student, testified late this afternoon that "Jandorf and he walked side by side as far back as Lake street." All other state's witnesses during the trial had failed to notice Jandorf until the crowd reached Grady's house.

PROFESSOR BLEYER ELECTED HEAD OF JOURNALISM SOCIETY

Prof. Willard G. Bleyer, director of the Course in Journalism, was elected president of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism at the annual meeting of that society which was held in St. Louis last week.

The American Association of Teachers of Journalism is one of three such journalistic societies in the United States, all of which held annual meetings in St. Louis and Columbia last week. The other organizations are the Association of Schools and Departments of Journalism and the Association of College News bureaus.

Professor Bleyer and Prof. Grant M. Hyde attended the annual meetings of all three societies last week. The next meeting of the American Association of Teachers of Journalism will be held at the University of Wisconsin.

 "Ladees an' gents, allow me to interduce to you the only living horse-pistol, raised from a Colt. I thank you, one and all."

Overheard, in the conversation that took place on our right:
 "Have you-hic-seen the-hic-white mule?"

"No, only smelt him."
 "Well, hick, he is in the basement."

"I hear you are doing very well at school; how come?"

"I'm riding through school on galloping dominoes."

"Neigh, neigh, Pauline." (Horse laughter heard off stage).

Racy humor, eh?

AND do you know, dear people, we received a pair of ice skates for Christmas. And we get back here to find that they are as useful as the hole in a doughnut.

WE accomplished one thing by taking our books home over the holidays, anyway. They were not available for our first class, for the baggage was very slow.

WHERE are them there contribs, we ask yah? Seeing as how we just finished paying out 100 dollars we owed, how, as man to male, can we be ridiculous or even punny?

HAD one bright incident happen during the day, however. Went to class feeling kind of blue and while there noticed some new co-ed. Perked up immediately. Nice rubber tired glasses and everything. After while she took them off and, lo and behold, who else was it but our old friend, Mary Diefenderfer, completely disguised. Who are you shadowing, Mary?

HAVE you noticed the new array some of these girls are flaunting before our eyes? Christmas does wonders.

LIT SOCIETIES HOLD REGULAR MEETS TONIGHT

Hesperia and Philomathia Literary societies are devoting their meeting tonight to raising "pep" for the joint debate to be held next week. Athenae will debate taxation problems and England's policy toward India, and Agricultural Literary society will discuss capital and labor problems.

Pep Sessions

"Every Hesperian, including members of the alumni, will attend the pre-joint pep session tonight," say officers of that literary society. The sole object of the meeting is to arouse enthusiasm for the joint debate which takes place next Friday between Hesperia and Philomathia. Tonight there will be speeches by prominent alumni, members of the debating team, and yells and songs by all members. Hesperia will go in a body to Music hall, where the debate is to be held, next Friday evening.

Philomathia will hold a pep session similar to the one indulged in by members of Hesperia. Philomathians will also attend the debate as a society.

Debate Labor Question

Settlement of disputes between capital and labor by the establishment of a compulsory board of arbitration will interest members of Agricultural Literary society tonight. Speakers on the affirmative are W. H. Pierre '21, M. E. Luther '21, and J. J. Pinney '21. Those opposing the question are S. Goldman '22, H. S. Aherns '22, and S. Heebink '23. A reading after "Uncle Josh" by E. F. Huehn '22, and stunts by I. Weimann will follow the debate.

Athenae has two debates on her program tonight. "Resolved, That England should grant complete independence to India within five years," is the question for the first of these debates. Those supporting the subject are Russell S. Greenfield '21, Carl W. Lindow '23, and Herbert Morse '24. Members of the negative team are Aloysius J. Engelhard '23, T. Howard Field '24, and Edgar B. Kapp '24.

The exemption of personal property and buildings in Wisconsin from taxation will be discussed in a second debate. Affirmative speakers are Eugene P. Meyer '23, Truman Thompson '23, and August Sherr '23. Negative speakers are Anthony J. Nerad '23, Max W. Mallin '24, and Abraham S. Friedman '23. "The Progress of Political Reforms in the United States" will be discussed by Sam M. Soref '23.

FRENCH CLUB WILL OFFER THREE PLAYS

Three plays will be given by the members of the Graduate and Junior French clubs on Wednesday, January 19, in Lathrop hall concert room.

The first two, to be given by the Graduate French club, are "Rosalie" by Max Maurey, and "Il Faut Qu'une Porte Soit Ouverte ou Fermee," by Alfred de Musset. Members of the cast of the first are: Walter E. Pfeiffer '23; Mlle. Henrietta M. M. Treille, graduate, and Miss Dorothy B. Johnson, graduate. Those to take part in the second are Mlle. Alice Salvan, and Mr. Lipari.

"Franches Lippees," by Tristan Bernard, will be given by the Junior French club. The members of the cast are: Bessie E. Krohn '22; Nadia Leviten '22; Joe R. Scherr '21; Elizabeth J. Kenney '22; J. S. Irwin '23, and Marie Bielenberg '21.

WHO'S WHO OFFICE TO OPEN SATURDAY

Copies of Who's Who at Wisconsin which have not been called for will be distributed Saturday at the office on the third floor in the Union building. Students who signed up for the book during the campaign last spring are asked to call for them between the hours of 8 and 12 or 1:30 and 3 o'clock. The books which are not delivered Saturday will be reserved for new students who were unable to get them last year.

Lynaugh was apparently "angry up to the time of the shooting," and that "he cooled a little and seemed more calm and deliberate in his actions during the moment prior to the discharge of the revolver."

Miss Nettie Grady, who saw the affair from her window, corroborated the accounts given by other witnesses.

Thought it "Lake Party"

Prof. E. B. Fred, another witness, said he stood on the opposite side of Lake street from which the officer and Lunney were proceeding, and that his first impression was that they were going to "a lake party."

W. H. Sackett testified, stating that when Lynaugh took Lunney down Langdon street and got into the truck in front of the university Y. M. C. A., Lynaugh turned to the crowd and said, "He got what he deserved."

PROFESSOR WOOD DELIVERS TALK

"The High Power of Phosphorescence and Fluorescence" was the subject of a lecture by Prof. Robert W. Wood of Johns Hopkins university, and formerly a member of the physics department here. The lecturer described his work with the ultra-violet ray and told of its use in signaling on ships during the war. Professor Wood was among the first to carry on color photography.

LECTURE BY MONSON ON MEXICO TONIGHT

Frederick Monson, the distinguished artist, explorer, and lecturer, will give an illustrated lecture on "Mexico, Its Land and People," with special reference to its recent disturbances and its present outlook, in Music hall at 8 o'clock tonight.

Mr. Monson has again visited Mexico during the revolutionary times and has made a very close study of the nature of the men involved. He is equally at home in the understanding of the political conditions from the inside.

Mr. Monson has become a foremost authority on our own Southwest and the Mexican border. His pictures are of unusual artistic merit and as is well known, he draws large audiences in all parts of the country.

This afternoon at 2:30, Mr. Monson will speak to the Women's club and his subject will be "Vanishing Indian Trails."

SENTINEL TALE
BRANDED AS LIE

is in charge of Union dances and is also a member of the Student Senate. "There was no improper dancing by anyone, least of all by university students and not a sign of liquor or the effects of liquor. The affair was absolutely above criticism."

William Florea '21, treasurer of the board and also treasurer of the Senior class was at the ball for a short time about the middle of the evening. "There was absolutely nothing wrong with the dancing," said Florea. "Of course there was dancing in the corridors because space in the center of the capitol was not large enough, but the corridors were all well lighted and the dancers were dancing properly. I did not see more than fifty students and they were all acting as they should."

Written for United Press

The article in which the charge of improper conduct was contained was sent out by an experienced writer for the United Press and appeared in The Milwaukee Evening Sentinel and several small papers in the state. The entire article was devoted to abusing the ceremonies and conduct of the inaugural events. The part dealing with the students was carried under a sub-head entitled "Students Go as They Please." The paragraph follows:

"University of Wisconsin authorities who have been busy the last few weeks putting the taboo on the 'shimmy,' 'toddle,' and 'cheek to cheek' dancers were shocked at the report that nearly 1,000 university students danced the way they pleased in the many obscure nooks of the statehouse, while the few chaperons lounged in various executive offices."

The Resolution

The resolution which was passed by the Union Board follows:

WHEREAS, The Union Board of the University of Wisconsin is the authorized student organization in charge of the social activities for the university as a whole and is concerned in whatever effects the social life of the students and the university, and any accusations against the conduct of students are a direct concern of said Union Board.

Therefore, BE IT RESOLVED, That the Union Board in consideration of the facts concerning the Inaugural ceremonies at the State Capitol on Monday, January 3, 1921, and which facts are known by reason of attendance of members of the Union Board at that function, brand as a lie and as absolutely without foundation the implication that 1,000 university students conducted themselves in either undignified or improper manner at the Inaugural Ball Monday evening, which report was printed in the Milwaukee Sentinel, Tuesday, January 4.

ORPHEUM PRESENTS
FIFTY-FIFTY BILL

Two and one-half acts at the Orpheum this week are good, and two and one-half are n. g., and one is so so.

The so so act is Wellington and Sylvia, who manipulate Indian clubs, juggle hats and umbrellas and what not, and sketch sad pictures. The girl in the case is all good but her costume. That's her misfortune.

Marie Dorr with her interpretations of a rube farmer, a Swedish nurse, and an Italian girl offers the first good act. Besides being good looking and having a pleasing voice, she has an irrepressible personality.

The other all good act is that of the Ambler Brothers. With their daring balancing feats, these equilibrists manage to get the audience to hold its breath and grip the seats.

Billy Shone has a line of chatter about matrimony and trials and triplets that gets lots of laughs. It isn't what he says but how he says it, that gets it across.

And now comes the funeral.

The poor Meryl Prince girls with their "Melodies De Luxe." If they hadn't been so conscientious they would have been in for a merciless bawling out. But they did try. And after all they could sing pretty well. But here is a tip Meryl, why don't you pull more of that newsboy quartette stuff instead of draping the gals about declotte?

Inexcusable was the sketch, "Shoes." Both Whipple and Huston are clever comedians and can get across big without feeding the public trash they dish out in "Shoes." The male part of the cast, Mr. Billiken, who sells the shoes of wealth, friendship, and happiness in Life's Shoe Shop, et cetera, can sing and interpret a humorous role, but when he tries those puns that make you steal side glances at your neighbor to see if he is as purple as you, that is when the tragedy begins.

THE INAUGURAL BALL

THE action of the Union board in condemning the report in the Milwaukee Sentinel that charged 1,000 university students with improper dancing at the inaugural ball last Monday is to be commended.

It seems strange that a paper such as the Milwaukee Sentinel should see fit to distort and exaggerate the facts for its own political purposes. It is strange indeed that this paper should see fit to maliciously and falsely slander the university to further its own political mud slinging. It is strange indeed that a paper which supposedly stands for the progress of education and the betterment of the state should resort to the publication of slanderous lies of shimmying, toddling, and cheek-to-check dancing that never took place.

Upon the testimony of well qualified witnesses, the number of students at a ball in honor of the Governor of Wisconsin was greatly exaggerated—in fact, the reporter's vision was magnified about a thousand per cent when he counted the number of students. Moreover, the testimony of these witnesses shows that the students at the dance were guilty of no improper conduct.

Exaggeration and falsehood may make a good feature or may be effective political mud, but these uses are poor excuse for blackening the name of the university.

The Sentinel could take no better action than to retract its false statements.

AN ALL-UNIVERSITY PROM

IN the past, much condemnation has been heaped upon the university because of the Junior Prom. It has been alleged throughout the state that Prom was open to but a small part of the student body—that no adequate provision was made for the non-fraternity men. These allegations have been more or less true.

However, increasing efforts have been made during the last few years to make Prom an all-university event. These efforts, while not wholly satisfactory, have had their effect, for last year there was a noticeable gain. This year efforts to popularize Prom among the non-fraternity men and to make provision for these men at Prom has been carried farther than ever before. Fortunately more success is being achieved this year than in any previous year.

As was announced in yesterday's Cardinal, seven non-fraternity Prom parties have been organized and are open to non-fraternity men. This should afford every man who does not belong to a social organization a chance to get into an acceptable party.

It is hoped that more non-fraternity men than have heretofore announced their intention to attend Prom will do so. Prom should be an all-university affair in actuality as well as in theory. Adequate facilities to enable non-fraternity men to go to Prom have been provided as far as the Prom committees can provide them. Further action must be on the part of the men themselves.

Non-fraternity men who desire to get into one of the Prom parties should do so at once. The efforts to make Prom an all-university affair should not fail.

THE JAMBOREE

THE second annual all-university jamboree will be held in Lathrop hall on January 15, one week from tomorrow night.

There are many students in the university who would like some explanation of the purpose and nature of the jamboree. Such explanation is here given.

The first annual jamboree was held last year under the auspices of the Student Senate to help pay the debt which survived the "Awk," the former Wisconsin humorous magazine. The Senate undertook, for the good of the university, to pay the debt of this defunct publication. A portion of the debt still remains.

The jamboree is a unique event in the university. It is the only all-university costume ball. It has, moreover, in addition to dancing, various stunts and other forms of amusement.

The committee in charge has made extensive plans to assure the success of the jamboree. Special arrangements have been made with large costuming firms to furnish students with costumes at a nominal cost. Special music has been secured. Numerous prizes have been offered for the best costumed groups.

The jamboree is an event which merits student support.

The purpose which called forth the first jamboree still obtains. There is still a portion of the "Awk" debt to be paid.

The jamboree, moreover, is one of the most enjoyable of all university social undertakings. It is unique in character. It is different from the ordinary run of social events. It furnishes a variety of pleasures.

Keep January 15 open for the all-university jamboree.

OUTING CLUB PLANS WINTER PARTIES

Outing club will hold a skating party for its members Saturday afternoon, January 8, if the ice continues to be safe. This event was decided upon at a meeting of the club yesterday noon. The party will assemble at the table in the central hall of Lathrop at 2:30 Saturday. All who can are urged to attend, as this is the first party of this nature that the club has held this season.

A sleigh ride party for the entire club was also planned at yesterday's meeting. This will take place after the first snow which makes sleigh riding possible. Arrangements will also be made for a supper at the field house at Camp Randall after the ride. This will be the first "get-together" which has ever been planned, to include the whole club.

METHODISTS PLAN UNIQUE SOCIAL

Events of interest to everybody will be found in the social for Methodist students at Wesley hall, Friday evening, January 7. There will be beauty contests, athletic meets, and electioneering stunts to get students acquainted. All students are urged to be on hand to boost for your candidate for "Custodian of the Iron Dish Rag."

UNIVERSITY CO-EDS OF 1870 LIVED A STRENUOUS LIFE

Water Was Drawn Via "Old Oaken Bucket" Route in Those Days

Girl students who registered at the university in 1869 and 1870 lived a life vastly different from that of the college girl resident there in 1920, declared a university girl of 1869 recently.

Our daughters or granddaughters climbing the hill to make "an 8 o'clock" on the third floor of main hall, may sometimes feel the days too crowded and college life too onerous. But, suppose that before starting for the 8 o'clock class, they had lighted a fire in the cook stove, drawn a pail of water via the old oaken bucket route and climbed with it to the fourth floor of South hall, prepared breakfast, put the rooms in order for possible "inspection" and then made ready for the trip to main hall?

In the good days of 1869, the duties mentioned above were a part of the daily program with many of us. Old South hall was used as a girls' dormitory. Board could be obtained in the hall, but many of the girls boarded themselves and did their own laundry work as well. Instead of the possible game of tennis or canoe trip of today on a Saturday morning, many a fair coed bent over the wash tubs in the basement or prepared bread, pies and cakes, whose baking would soon cause savory odors to be wafted tantalizingly through the now classic corridors.

A charge of $2 a term was made for a suite of rooms, living room and bedroom, furnished. Bed linen, towels and dishes were provided by the students, as was also the fuel, for which lockers were provided in sheds near the building. For those who wished to prepare their own meals, cooking stoves were furnished.

The drinking water was obtained from the old oaken bucket and I fear that if it had been left to us to immortalize the bucket in poetry, it would have been left unsung. Drawing up the water, emptying it into our pails, and carrying it to the fourth story, tended to take the poetry out of anything connected with the operation.

Greased a Professor

The window ledges were often used as refrigerators by the "light housekeepers," and one unlucky rather warm day, a well filled butter dish slid off one of the ledges and spilled its contents over the sidewalk just as a dignified professor came that way. He reported the matter to our preceptress and it was thought worthy of special condemnatory mention at our next chapel convocation!

But the saying "girls will be girls" was true back in 1870, and ways were occasionally devised to evade the vigilant eyes of the ruling powers. Sometimes, however, the endeavor was not successful, as when at one time five or six of the girls had ventured out of an evening without permission. When the breach of rules was discovered, the girls were kept in their rooms for two or three days pending a meeting of the faculty. Expulsion was threatened and as some of the girls were seniors, there was great anxiety and much weeping and wailing.

The graduating class of 1871 had among its number the first girl graduates, of which there were four. The question of the advisability of coeducation was, however, not fully settled in the minds of the administrative powers, and the young women were not allowed to participate in the regular exercises, but read their theses on the afternoon preceding the formal graduating exercises. It was not until about 1872 that the girls and boys recited together.

"Silent Drive" Resumed

An average of $250 has already been set for donations from Madison business men to the Memorial Union building fund. A "silent drive" which was launched during November by a committee of business men has progressed favorably. Work during the holiday rush was stopped temporarily, although the quiet campaign will be resumed at once.

Boosters' Club Grows

The membership to the "Boosters' club," which was founded for promoting aims and ideals of the University of Wisconsin, has been rapidly increasing. Donors to the fund are given membership as a sign of appreciation for their support to the school.

Hundreds of letters have been sent out this week by Mr. Ashworth to students who have neglected to make the 1920 payment on the building fund. Prompt payment of pledges is urged. Those who have not yet sent in their amounts may take them in person or send them by mail to 821 State street, Memorial Union building committee, Mr. Ashworth said.

LARGE FIRMS SEEKING TO EVADE TAXES

Increases in Capital Stock Unprecedented is Capital Report

TOTALS $17,000,000

Rush Due to Belief Congress Will Change Law On Surplus

That many of Wisconsin's corporations are hoping to escape the federal tax by increasing their capital stock was indicated by the records at the office of Secretary of State Elmer S. Hall today which shows that for the last three days of December upwards of $17,000,000 worth of increased capital stock issues were authorized. This is unprecedented. Usually for the last few days of the year there are no increases of capital stock and only a few new corporations.

The rush in increases in capital stock was occasioned by the belief that congress will pass a bill which will permit 20 percent of the surplus of corporations to be divided in capital stock issues.

It is also stated at the secretary of state's office that 80 companies in the state had made these increases in the state and that the amounts of increase ranged all the way from $50,000 to over $700,000. The fees for these increases of capital stock issued amounted to about $17,000.

BOSTON—Channing H. Cox, was today inaugurated governor of Massachusetts. Vice President-elect Calvin Coolidge, his predecessor, after relinquishing office, left the statehouse without escort.

BUSINESS MEN GIVE $10,000 FOR MEMORIAL

Students Urged to Make Prompt Payment on Building Fund

The campaign for Memorial Union building subscriptions among the 1,000 Wisconsin alumni living in Madison and among as many local business men will be immediately resumed, now that the holiday rush is over.

"More than $10,000 has already been raised by the business men in Madison," stated R. L. Ashworth, secretary of the Memorial Union building committee. "This amount will be greatly increased, it is hoped, within the next few months. Many of the pledges have not been turned into my office yet by canvassers on the committee."

Local Campaign Planned

The Union board has agreed to co-operate with the local alumni committee in aiding with the work of canvassing the thousand graduates. The campaign will be carried on with the assistance of squads of local alumni who expect to put the drive "over the top" in snappy order. An individual canvass of the 1,000 alumni members is to be made, according to present plans.

An active campaign has never been undertaken here. The donations to the fund from many alumni in Madison have been very liberal, Mr. Ashworth declares. It is the plan of the committee and Union board, that every member of the alumni should be canvassed person-

At The Theaters

AT THE FULLER

Boyle Woolfolk's Novelties of 1920, a new musical revue which comes to the Fuller theater on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, January 10-11-12, under the direction of Boyle Woolfolk, with the inimitable Max Bloom in the leading comedy role, is of the intimate drawing room type of entertainment, which is achieving such intense vogue on Broadway today.

Boyle Woolfolk has established a reputation for presenting only the brightest and cleanest style of musical revue. He has realized in many ways the ideals which prevailed in London at the famous Gaiety theater. Presented in the original scenic setting which are marvels of taste and beautiful design and interpreted by one of the strongest casts ever taken on tour, it is little to be wondered at that The Novelties of 1920 is taxing the capacity of the theaters in the cities in which it is being presented.

AT THE STRAND

Maurice Tourneur's "Last of the Mohicans" is now being shown at the Strand theater. The picture was adapted from the novel by James Fenimore Cooper. It is a story of the danger of Fort Henry William and General Munro's appeal to Fort Edward for assistance. General Munro's two daughters, Cora and Alice, are on their way to Fort Henry William but owing to the treachery of their guide, Magua, they are lost. It is only through the aid of Uncas and his father, the last of the Mohican tribe, that they are directed to safety. Magua joins his Indian tribe and, failing in his attack on the girls, breaks away from the bounds of Montsalmon, the French leader, and invades the little English Fort, killing men, women and children. Cora has come to love Uncas and when Magua realizes this both die at his hands.

A comedy cartoon and a Paramount Magazine will also be shown.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH ADOPTS BUDGET INCREASE

Raise of $2700 is Voted at Annual Business Meeting

Members of the First Congregational church voted an increase of $2,700 in the budget for 1921 at the annual business meeting held in the church parlors last night. The Rev. E. S. Worcester presided.

The 1921 budget provides receipts at $13,550, and disbursements at

GIRLS FROM MAX BLOOM'S CO.
Fuller, January 10-11-12

$16,000. Last year's budget was placed at $13,300, and the expenditures exceeded the prearranged estimates by $829.87. The treasurer's report showed that the receipts for the last year were $13,944.99 and the disbursements $14,129.87. This year's budget provides for substantial increase for repairs, janitor's salary and benevolence.

Reports of committees were read and it was voted to continue the work of the Updike communion table committee.

Over 1,000 Apprentices Are in Milwaukee

Milwaukee has nearly 1,000 legally indentured apprentices in its shops at the present time, or more than three-fourths of all the apprentices in the state, according to a table published by the Industrial Commission. Beloit was shown to have 48 apprentices, Superior 45, West Allis 41, Fond du Lac, 30, Green Bay 35, Manitowoc 27; La Crosse 24; Racine 21, and Sheboygan 15. Outside of the cities listed no one had more than 10 apprentices, the number of which was said to be steadily increasing. During the period of business boom, it was declared difficult to induce boys to enter apprenticeships because of their opportunity to make higher wages as helpers and semi-skilled mechanics. At the present time this condition was said to be changed, and apprentices are being retained while the semi-skilled men are often discharged.

CELEBRATED RUSSIAN PIANIST GIVES CONCERT HERE JANUARY 11

BENNO MOISEIWITSCH

Already 1,400 seats have been sold for the last concert, arranged by Union board, to be given by the famous Russian pianist, Benno Moiseiwitsch, in the gymnasium, January 11.

"I never attempt to play anything that does not appeal to me, because to do so would be not giving of my best, which means ceasing to be an artist," said Moiseiwitsch. "There is no standard interpretation for a piece of music; it constantly varies with the performer's moods.

"I can not consciously play the same piece exactly the same way twice. Without individuality there is little of interest in an artist; that is why I am always striving to convey what the music means to me."

No Patience With Temperament

Benno Moiseiwitsch calls himself philosophical,—a rather unusual thing for an artist who has been considered as one of the most individual pianists of late years. He has little patience with "temperament." The temperamental artist according to the Russian genius is "spoiled by too sudden or too easy success" which largely accounts for the recognized difference between instrumentalists and singers who "are born with their instrument and have little difficulty to learn how to use it effectively."

Just how much heredity has to do with musical genius seems difficult to calculate when one learns that the pianist is one of a family of nine children only one other of which showed any particular taste for music.

Wife is Violinist

On his present and second tour of America, Moiseiwitsch is accompanied by his wife who is known professionally as Daisy Kennedy, an Australian violinist. Miss Kennedy was one of Sevcik's star pupils and first appeared in England five or six years ago. She has been very successful over there and widely recognized as a brilliant performer and fine musician as well as a strikingly attractive young woman.

The N. Y. Evening Sun is authority for the opinion that the pianissimo effects achieved by Moiseiwitsch are "of an exquisite beauty such as few players have ever realized,—and that means all pianists." In this respect he rivals de Pachmann.

FUR TRAPPING TAKES HUGE SLUMP, REPORTS W. E. BARBER

State Conservation Commissioner Says Industry Slumped $50,000 in Year; Furs Bring Much Lower Prices

Furcoats are passing! So, at least the statement of W. E. Barber of the state conservation commission would show. Last year nearly a million dollars worth of fur was trapped in Wisconsin while the 1920 season, it is estimated will net the trappers about $50,000.

"Of course," said Mr. Barber, "this small season may not be entirely due to the market. There was a closed season for muskrats except in Winnebago and Waupaca counties and two townships of Waushara county.

"However, the fur market has taken a great slump. Mink skins that brought $125 in 1919 are selling at $10 and $12 this year. Muskrat skins have come down from $6 to an average of 60 cents a piece; deer skins have dropped to $10 from last year's $40 average."

Thus it appears that furs are passe.

Mr. Barber, in speaking of the game situation in the state, expressed gratification at the way the buck law had been received.

"I have received many letters from sportsmen," said he, "and the great majority of them are well satisfied with the buck law. They realize that to preserve the deer for future years, the does and fawns must be protected. As a result there have been few violations of the law this year—only 88 does and fawns were picked up by game wardens."

Protective laws have saved the game birds and animals in the state Mr. Barber claims. Instead of approaching extinction there has been a great increase in the number of every species except quail.

"There is an encouraging increase in all kinds of game animals and birds," he said, "thanks to state laws as well as the federal migratory law which protects the wild geese and ducks. Quail are the only birds which are not multiplying. The heavy winters have killed them off in large numbers."

The quantity of Wisconsin game is proven by the fact that 168,000 licensed hunters in 1919 did not in anyway deplete the supply. Neither did the 155,807 huntsmen of 1920.

In order to obtain more accurate statistics upon game, the conservation commission has suggested a law providing every purchaser of a hunting license must report the kill of game under his license.

Further amendments and additions to the game laws have been suggested by the commission as follows:

Changing the open season for all varieties of game fish excepting trout and black bass to the 29th day of May;

Bag limit of trout of 25 and minimum size of 9 inches;

Prohibit the shipment of game fish outside of the state;

Prohibit carrying of gun in counties where there is an open season for deer ten days prior to the opening date;

Changing the open season for deer to Nov. 10-Nov. 20;

Opening 13 counties to the trapping of beaver, viz., Ashland, Bayfield, Douglas, Vilas, Oneida, Price, Rusk, Sawyer, Iron, Langlade, Washburn, Chippewa and Taylor;

Changing the open season for furbearing animals, mink, muskrat, marten, skunk, fisher, raccoon to November 1st, closing Feb. 1;

Prohibit trolling from any boat propelled by other than paddle, oars or pole;

Law providing that blinds may be constructed not to exceed ten feet from any growth that will wholly or partially conceal the hunter;

Law providing a jail sentence for a violation of the law relating to partridge, prairie chicken and deer.

RUGH TO TALK ON CHINA AT BADGER CLUB MEETING

"What Next in China" Subject for Sunday Night
at "Y"

Arthur Rugh, one of the best students of modern China, who has spent the last 17 years in Y. M. C. A. work there, is to be the speaker at the re-opening meeting of the Badger club in the university "Y" Sunday evening. His talk, "What Next in China," is one of several which he has prepared especially for students here who are interested in the course of events in the far east, with regard to the American interests involved.

Mr. Rugh is a graduate of Wittenberg college, Ohio, and went to China as national student secretary in 1903. He has been active in the promotion of the student movement there, and has witnessed the growth of the present powerful student organization from its beginning.

The meeting will start at 8 o'clock. There will be a short program, and refreshments after the talk.
