LOST TO CHICAGO

SCORE WAS 8 TO 2 AT CLOSE OF SATURDAY'S GAME.

STRANGE COMBINATIONS OF CIRCUMSTANCES.

Jones Injures a Finger—Gregg Struck by a Ball.

"Of course we can't expect to beat always." Such is the consolation which we give ourselves over the score of 8 to 2 against us which was the result of Saturday's game against the University of Chicago. Dame Fortune seemed to favor the visitors at every turn, while she just as persistently frowned upon every effort of our own team.

In spite of the rain, which stopped scarcely long enough to allow the game to be played, and which made the attendance rather small, nine innings were played. Nichols was in the box of the visitors. He was in excellent form and threw a terrific ball. Jones caught him till the first half of the fourth when a ball smashed the end of the little finger on his right hand and tore the nail loose. Drs. Harper and W. S. Miller dressed the injury and Pike was substituted. Gregg showed his gameness by playing right along after being struck on the right leg by a fouled ball.

The game opened with the Chicago team in the field. Gregg, Runkel and Kummel went out in succession on flies to the out-field. Nichols, the star of the visiting company, was the first to bat for Chicago. He sent a hot one out into left field and reached second on it. Tall Jones sent a fly out in the same territory. Fowle gathered it in amid applause. Atkinson then took the willow and sent a sky scraper out into center where McCabe captured it before it touched the sod. Nichols moved up to third. Abler drove the sphere out into left field allowing Nichols to score. Kummel threw Abler out at first.

The second innings was opened by Freeman who stepped to the plate and swatted the ball out into left field. Falk followed suit with a similar hit, Freeman moving to second and the batter reaching first. Wheelihan and McCabe then fanned. The side was retired on Dudgeon's fly to second, which fell into Grant's hands. Hering led off for Chicago by sending a hot grounder to Freeman who let it by him. Clark knocked an easy one to Runkel who passed the ball to second to cut off Hering, but Wheelihan couldn't stop it. A short hit by Brown filled the bases. Winston fanned. Grant got a base on balls, forcing Hering home. Nichols at this critical point drove the ball to Wheelihan who again failed to get hold of it, permitting Clark, Brown and Grant to score. Tall Jones then stepped up and swung the wagon tongue, allowing Nichols to amble home and reaching second himself. McCabe captured a fly by Atkinson and Fowle one by Abler, retiring the side.

Fowle, Gregg and Runkel were all thrown out at first in the third. The second half opened with Hering at the bat. He went out on a fly to McCabe. Clark followed with a liner to Kummel, but the latter couldn't find it. Brown, with a safe hit out into center field, reached first safely, while Clark moved up a bag. Winston, with a grounder out into center field, filled bases. Grant then made a timely hit letting Clark score. Nichols sent a hot liner to Kummel who fortunately caught it and immediately passed it to third, making a pretty double play and retiring the side.

In the fourth Kummel went out on a fly to Grant and Freeman followed suit to center field. Falk fanned. At this point Jones was injured and Pike took his place. The latter was first to bat at the opening of the second half of the fourth. He went to first on a hit to center field. Atkinson retired on a fly to Kummel. Abler got to first on a grounder that went by Kummel. A fly by Hering dropped into McCabe's hands and one by Clark into Wheelihan's hands.

Wheelihan fanned at the opening of the fifth. McCabe was thrown out at first. Dudgeon reached first on a single-bagger out into left field. Fowle with his perpetual, but inimitable smile, then faced Nichols. The smile rattled Nichols who let the batter hit him for a pretty three-bagger, bringing Dudgeon home. Gregg pounded out a liner to Grant, allowing Fowle to score and reaching first safely himself. Runkel went out on a fly. From this point on Wisconsin did practically nothing. Winston scored for the visitors in the second half.

The other four innings were devoid of much interest. In the sixth Clark, Chicago's left fielder, muffed a fly by Kummel. Gregg caught two fouls in the seventh. The map of defeat is as follows:

BACK FROM IOWA

HENNING AND SCHMIDT RETURN FROM THE CONTEST.

NEW OFFICERS ELECTED BY THE LEAGUE.

Markings of the Judges—Toast by Mr. Schmidt.

Mr. Henning and Mr. Schmidt returned from the oratorical contest at Iowa City this morning. Mr. Elward went from there to his home at Peoria, Ill., for a short visit.

The gentlemen who have returned report that they were excellently treated by the Iowa students. As soon as they arrived in the city they were received by the reception committee, who took them around and showed them the sights of their pretty little city.

Friday afternoon the annual business meeting of the league was held. Mr. Henning did not preside, not arriving until four o'clock in the afternoon. Many important changes were made in the constitution of the league.

At the business meeting of the league a number of changes were made in the constitution, including the following amendment to Art. 5, Sec. 4.

The judges selected shall be six persons, three of whom shall judge the orations on both thought and composition, and three of whom shall come to the contest and judge on delivery; and in addition to these on delivery one alternate, who shall act as judge, provided any regular judge fails to appear. The grades shall be made without consultation on the scale of 100.

Art. 5, Sec. 1, was amended to read: No resident of the states in which the contest is held or of the city in which any college of the league is located shall act as judge.

The by-laws were so amended as to make the home association of the college where the contest is held responsible for 25 per cent. of the loss, or allowing them 25 per cent. of the profits of the contest. If there is a deficit, the remaining 75 per cent. shall be paid equally by the remaining five.

After the banquet at the St. James Friday evening another business meeting was held, in which the following officers were elected for the following year:

President—F. W. Beckman, of Iowa University.

First Vice President—A. B. Kannehel, of Northwestern.

Second Vice President—Mr. Orth, of Oberlin.

Third Vice President—A. H. Schmidt, of Wisconsin.

Secretary—J. V. Quarles, of Michigan.

Treasurer—A. Bowers, of Chicago.

A partial treasurer's report was given, showing that there would be a deficit of about $150. It was decided to levy a tax on each institution represented to cover the deficit.

At the contest the audience was rather smaller than usual, only about six hundred being present. The contest was very spirited and close.

Below are the markings by the judges:

Immediately after the contest there was a banquet at the St. James hotel. Prof. Isaac A. Loos, of Iowa, was toast-master. Each of the alternate orators responded to toasts, Mr. Schmidt responding to "The Politician." A very enjoyable time was had by all the guests.

THETA NU EPSILON.

The sophomore members of Theta Nu Epsilon, who thus far have been kept secret, made their appearance wearing the fraternity pin yesterday. Ossian T. Waite.
Ernest S. Park.
Bertrand H. Doyon.

The Choral union was highly complimented in its rendering the other evening. Theodore Thomas declared that the perfect blending of the parts was the best he had ever heard in similar choruses, while Mr. Bendix, the leading violinist, considered the production of the highest order. This gives a fair idea of the high order of music which is practiced by the union.

The result of the game Saturday was disappointing and unexpected. The luck seemed against Wisconsin and this with an inability to bat the ball in the right direction and loose playing at critical points, was too much for our team. The grounds were wet and this seemed to seriously interfere with our fielding, while it was to the credit of the Chicago team that the conditions under which the game was played had no effect on their playing. But our fielding was so far below the usual mark that it cannot be said that luck had nothing to do with it. In the fatal second inning our team had two chances to retire the side without a run, but neither were taken advantage of. A lack of nerve was apparent in many places. This should be remedied. The team also showed lack of coaching and headwork, especially in base running. There is time for these defects to be remedied, if the work is gone about in the right way. We have a good team and this defeat should only incite them to harder work.

The Daily Cardinal bows. It is very seldom that the Cardinal does bow. We did not even doff our caps last week to the overwhelming demands of the law students. We have withstood even the coquettish advances of the Woman's League, begging for a gymnasium. But now we feel compelled to remove our cranial covering and scrape the sanctum floor. Let us be understood, however. We do this not in apology but in graceful appreciation of the thanks proffered in the last number of our beloved contemporary, —the Aegis.

How many times have we breathlessly turned its pages always expecting that acknowledgement which we have so long deserved and which we have at length received.

But the worthy editor of our literary contemporary does not stop with mere thanks. Had he done so we should say no more. He feels impelled to do some more talking. With a sarcasm worthy of a better man and a better cause he proceeds to ruthlessly expose our weaknesses to the public eye. For we have weaknesses—we acknowledge that we are not perfect. We try our best but "ne Jupiter quidem omnibus placet" to quote from the same language which the Aegis editor so woe-fully attempts to use (see "non licet hovi" page 212, Aegis May 3.) If the Aegis were placed in the hands of its readers as the Cardinal is in three hours from the time the copy is written we could excuse occasional proof mistakes such as appear in the spelling of postoffice (see page 204, Aegis May 3). But the Aegis has two weeks to revise its copy while we have scarcely as many hours. The striking similarity of the alumni notes in the Aegis to the same paragraphs as they appeared several weeks before in the Cardinal needs no comment. Neither need we say anything concerning the similarity of poems published in the Aegis, to those which had appeared previously in local and state papers.

We do not like to enter into editorial conflicts with our esteemed contemporary. We would much rather contend with the Ariel or the U. of M. Daily but such things as appeared in the Aegis May 3 cannot pass unnoticed.

THE AEGIS.

One noticeable feature of the number of the Aegis which appeared Saturday, is its originality. It is not, as one of the best of the recent numbers was, a reprint of stories from the Madison Democrat, poems from Yenowine's News, and Alumni notes from the Cardinal. But its originality goes farther. It is customary for a college paper to give credit when it clips poems from other papers. But the Aegis is beyond such commonplaces. Perhaps the editors of the Yale Record, if they should happen to see a copy of the Aegis, would be surprised to find their poems decorating the advertising pages of our esteemed contemporary, with nothing to distinguish them from anonymous productions of modest Aegis editors.

But in spite of its originality this issue is one of the best that has appeared for some time. The story contest has been decided, the first prize being awarded to Miss Zona Gale, '95, for a story entitled "Five Hundred Dollars." It is published in this issue of the Aegis. It is well written and the interest is held throughout, but it is in a rather pessimistic vein. It is the same old story of filial ingratitude which has been worked over so often. "Trask's Maggie's Snaps," by Annie Nyham Scribner, is a clever little sketch of child life, which shows considerable literary talent on the part of the writer.

The articles on science are continued and "M." proves that the commonly accepted theory of heat and motion is entirely false; that heat is "a tangible subtle fluid." We hope that these articles will be published in a form accessible to the scientific world.

There are a number of good poems in the number, among them being "To My Meerschmann," by W. T. Arndt; "Time," by Will Wells and two short rhymes by W. T. A. "To a Sorority Girl," by "Loquidior," is rather heavy and abounds in classic metaphors.

The announcement of the prize contest is made. As before stated Miss Gale, '95, received first prize and Miss Gertrude Spence, '97, with a story entitled "Jimmy Barton's Dreams," received second.

GRADUATE CLUB.

All graduate students of the university are requested to meet in the law building on Tuesday, May 7, at 5 p. m. The purpose of the meeting is to organize a graduate club. Several members of the faculty will be present to explain the objects of such a club.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 7, 1894.

Eureka Chemical and Mfg Co., La Crosse, Wis.:
Dear Sirs—I have been a tobacco fiend for many years, and during the past two years have smoked fifteen to twenty cigars regularly every day. My whole nervous system became affected, until my physician told me I must give up the use of tobacco for the time being, at least. I tried the so-called "Keeley Cure," "No-To-Bac," and various other remedies, but without success, until I accidentally learned of your "Baco-Curo." Three weeks ago to-day I commenced using your preparation and to-day I consider myself completely cured; I am in perfect health, and the horrible craving for tobacco, which every inveterate smoker fully appreciates, has completely left me. I consider your "Baco-Curo" simply wonderful, and can fully recommend it.

Yours very truly,

MILITARY PARTY.

The military party given by the University battalion last Saturday evening was a decided success in every respect. Though the weather was threatening and the evening sultry, over forty couples decided to brave the elements and passed the pleasant hours by dancing to the delightful strains of Leuder's orchestra. All the gentlemen wore military uniforms, with which the lighter garb of the ladies stood in pleasing contrast. Certainly prettier sight than one of Wisconsin's military balls, viewed from the gallery of Library hall, can hardly be imagined.

Dancing was indulged in from 8 o'clock till almost midnight, when the party broke up, not because the dancers wished to do so, but because the faculty said "go." Among those who were present are the following. Misses Harmon, Huntington, Ogilvie, Davis, Dow, Blanche Shearer, Hand, Perry, Medbury, Dodge, Flint, Schuman, Louise Shearer, Pingree, May Pendleton, Shepherd, Virgin, Sames, McLennan, McCoy, Vilas, Main, Mary Freeman, Taylor, Allen, Nicodemus, Hill, Brown and Miss Ratchet, of Watertown. Col. Chynoweth; Captains Fairchild, Robinson, Mann, Hase and Sawyer; Lieutenants Riley, Torbe, May and Noyes; Privates Peterson, Geilfuss, Bohan, G. Hodges, Allard Smith, S. W. Smith, True, Dickenson, Willets, Barnes, Burgess, Nash, Davies, Crenshaw, Hanks, Richards, Rumsey, Crane, Allen, Hobbins, Alexander, Hughitt, Bird, Bacon, Brownell, Heineman, Roy and John Main, Dwight Sanborn, Shimunock and Sheldon.

IN MR. DUNNING'S HONOR.

Friday evening the members of Laudi Mi, the high school fraternity, assembled at Odd Fellows Hall to tender a reception and dance to Mr. Max Dunning, '97. Mr. Dunning left at noon Saturday for Chicago where he will occupy a position in the office of J. K. Cady, the architect, and although it is with the greatest regret his friends see him depart, they cannot but feel assured of his success in this line.

MATHEMATICAL CLUB.

The first paper presented before the mathematical club on Saturday, May 4, was by Miss A. D. Dacy upon the life of Lobachevsky, the brilliant Russian founder of Non-Euclidean Geometry. Although Gauss first suggested the possibility of the falsity of the axiom that through a point one and only one parallel to a given line can be drawn, it was left to Lobachevsky to investigate the result of other assumptions. Before him, it was thought, that at least in geometry we could have absolute knowledge of space. After him we can no longer affirm it. By broadening the horizon he became the Copernicus of geometry. By the Russians his services also to the University of Kasan, where he labored life-long, will never be forgotten.

The second paper, "on the point singularities of universal quartics," was given by Mr. Stecker. He showed how such curves are obtained by quadric transformation from (a) a conic, (b) a cubic with an ordinary node at one vertex of the triangle; the former leading to curves with singularities as high as the osnode, the latter to quartics with triple points. Drawings were shown of all the forty-six types of such curves.

'96 CREW.

All members of last year's '96 crew and all other candidates for this year's crew are requested to meet at the Phi Gamma Delta house, 613 Francis street, at 8 o'clock this evening. At the last class meeting the class voted to support a crew and it is hoped that all interested in this matter will be at the meeting.

ARCHAEOLOGIST MEET.

The annual meeting of the Wisconsin society of the Archaeological Institute of America was held Saturday afternoon at the residence of Professor Kerr, who for the past two years has been president of the society. The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, C. K. Adams; vice presidents, Dr. C. S. Lester, Miss Elizabeth Plankinton, Miss Alice Chapman, of Milwaukee, and Breese J. Stevens, of Madison; member of the council of the institute, which meets in New York, May 11, Selden Bacon; secretary and treasurer, Prof. Geo. L. Hendrickson. The condition of the society is on the whole prosperous, but a committee was appointed to devise means to extend its influence and to render it more efficient in awakening and maintaining an interest in archaeological studies.

The Archaeological Institute of America, to the support of which the Wisconsin society contributes, is organized to foster the study of archaeology in the widest sense, although of late years it has been perhaps most prominently identified with American explorations in Greece in connection with the American School of Classical Studies at Athens. The character of the work to which the institute thus contributes may perhaps be best indicated by the following report of recent progress, telegraphed to the Inter-Ocean of Friday: "The excavations this spring at the Heraion of Argos by the American school in Athens have been highly successful. Two hundred and fifty men have been employed under the direction of Professor Waldstein, and the results achieved are declared by experts to rival in importance and magnitude those of the French in Delphi. They have given specimens of sculpture and architecture of the Periclean age, as well as gems and terra cottas of the Homeric period, and have already produced more material for the history of the earliest ceramic art than any excavations hitherto made, including even those of Dr. Schliemann."

—Ralph W. Jackman, '97, spent Sunday at his home in Janesville.

—Harry Hayes, '97, was in Milwaukee Saturday.

SCOTCH SONGS.

Prof. J. G. Dow, a cousin of Mr. Dow of Madison, will give an entertainment in the Christ Presbyterian church Tuesday evening, May 7th, illustrating Scotch songs. He has spent some time in study across the water hence the concert will be of special interest. An admission fee of twenty-five cents will be charged.
