No apology is deemed necessary for adding another singing-book to the number already published. Conductors of choirs, and teachers of singing-schools, are fully aware that but little progress can be made without frequent additions of new music to the common stock. There may be danger, indeed, of carrying the love of the new too far; but that a choir of singers should occasionally desire a new book, is neither surprising nor unreasonable.

The PSALTERY is not only a new music-book, but it is emphatically a book of new music; for, while it contains a sufficient number of the old standard tunes, much the larger portion of the work consists of such pieces as have never before been published. Some of these have been written expressly for the work: others have been derived from compositions of the best masters. The resources of the editors have been abundant, their labor has been great, and no expense has been spared to render the work complete. As the result of these exertions on their part, the editors feel confident that they have produced a better work of the kind than any in which they have heretofore been engaged, and one which will not disappoint those who may so far honor it as to allow it to speak for itself.

Many tunes, it will be seen, are the composition of Mr. CHARLES ZEUNER. To this gentleman, and to all others who have furnished new music, the editors offer their grateful acknowledgments.

Many tunes and pieces—more, indeed, than enough to fill an entire book of this size—have been received from various parts of this country, and from other countries, for which no place could be found. To the many friends who have contributed tunes, and who, on looking over the work, may be disappointed at not finding them, the editors would say that, with such a mass of materials on hand, it has been the most difficult and trying part of their labor to decide which tunes to select, and which to reject, in order to render their work the most interesting and useful. They have acted according to their best judgment, and under a sense of their responsibility. May they not, therefore, hope for the forbearance of those for whose contributions they have been unable to find a place?

For those tunes which appear without the author's name, or without any designation of the source from whence they are derived, the editors must, in general, be held accountable; though, in some instances, well-known old tunes will be found without any notice of their origin, and, in other instances, tunes by living composers, other than the editors, are inserted anonymously.

The favorable manner in which the PSALTERY has been received by the respective governments of the BOSTON HANDEL AND HAYDN SOCIETY, and the BOSTON ACADEMY OF MUSIC, and the fact that it is published under the sanction and with the approbation of these two institutions, cannot fail to give additional confidence in the work. To the friends of psalmody it is respectfully inscribed, with the hope that it will be found well adapted to advance the cause, and to promote the great end of music in public worship.

Remarks on several of the leading features of the work may be found on page 31

ELEMENTS OF VOCAL MUSIC.

CHAPTER I.

GENERAL DIVISION OF THE SUBJECT.

§ I. Musical sounds have three essential properties :

LENGTH, PITCH, and POWER.

Any sound having these three properties is a musical sound, or a TONE.

§ II. There are, therefore, three distinctions existing in the nature of musical sounds :

1. LONG or SHORT.
2. HIGH or LOW.
3. SOFT or LOUD.

§ III. Hence, also, in the elements of music there are three departments :

1. RHYTHMICS. This is founded on the first of the above distinctions, and treats of the length of sounds.
2. MELODICS. This is founded on the second distinction, and treats of the pitch of sounds.
3. DYNAMICS. This is founded on the third distinction, and treats of the power of sounds.

§ IV. GENERAL VIEW.

Distinctions.	Departments.	Subjects.
LONG or SHORT.	RHYTHMICS.	LENGTH.
HIGH or LOW.	MELODICS.	PITCH.
SOFT or LOUD.	DYNAMICS.	POWER.

QUESTIONS.

How many distinctions exist in the nature of musical sounds?—What is the first? Second? Third?—How many departments are there in the elements of music?—What is the first department called? Second? Third?—What is that distinction in the nature of musical sounds, on which Rhythmics is founded? Melodics? Dynamics?—What is that department called which relates to the length of sounds? Pitch? Power?—In how many ways do musical sounds differ?—

How many essential properties have musical sounds? What are they?—What is the subject of Rhythmics? Melodics? Dynamics?—If sounds differ from one another only as it respects their length, is the difference Rhythmic, Melodic, or Dynamic?—If sounds differ with respect to their pitch, is the difference Rhythmic, Melodic, or Dynamic?—If sounds differ with respect to their power, is it a Rhythmic, Melodic, or Dynamic difference?

CHAPTER II.

RHYTHMICS.

DIVISION OF TIME.

§ V. The length of sounds is measured by dividing the time they occupy into equal portions.

§ VI. These portions of time are called MEASURES.

§ VII. Measures are divided into PARTS OF MEASURES.

§ VIII. A measure with two parts is called DOUBLE measure.

“	THREE “	“	TRIPLE “
“	FOUR “	“	QUADRUPLE “
“	SIX “	“	SEXTUPLE “

§ IX. The character used for separating one measure from another is called a BAR.

§ X. To aid in the equal division of time, it is usual to count, or to make certain motions of the hand. This is called counting, or beating the time

NOTE.—Every person learning the elements of music, should give strict attention to counting or beating the time. Experience proves that where the habit of counting or beating is neglected, the ability to make the divisions with accuracy, or to keep the time is seldom acquired.

§ XI. Double measure has two beats: first, Downward; second, Upward Accented on the first part of the measure.

§ XII. Triple measure has three beats: first, Downward; second, Hither; third, Upward. Accented on the first part of the measure.

§ XIII. Quadruple measure has four beats: first, Downward; second, Hither; third, Thither; fourth, Upward. Accented on the first and third parts of the measure.

§ XIV. Sextuple measure has six beats: first, Downward; second, Downward; third, Hither; fourth, Thither; fifth, Upward; sixth, Upward. Accented on the first and fourth parts of the measure.

NOTE.—The hither beat is made horizontally to the left, the thither beat to the right. For the first downward beat, in sextuple measure, let the hand fall half the way, and for the second, the remainder.

§ XV. Sextuple measure is also used with two beats: Downward and Upward. It thus becomes a compound measure of two parts, having three semi-divisions to each part; or two threes in a measure. This is its common use in this work.

NOTE.—The most important requisite in choral performance is accuracy of time. It is this that binds a choir together, and carries them safely through the most difficult rhythmic combinations. To acquire the habit of keeping good time requires much patience and perseverance; and it is in this that those who commence learning to sing are most likely to fail.

QUESTIONS.

How is the length of musical sounds measured?—What are the portions of time called?—What portions of time are smaller than measures?—How many kinds of measure are there?—How many parts has double measure? Triple? Quadruple? Sextuple?—On which part of the measure is double measure accented? Triple? Quadruple? Sextuple?—What is the character called which is used for separating the measures?—What distinguishes one kind of measure from another?—In beating time, how many motions has double measure? Triple? Quadruple? Sextuple?

CHAPTER III.

RHYTHMICS. OF NOTES.

§ XVI. The relative length of sounds is indicated by the form of certain characters called NOTES. Notes represent to the eye the relative length, or duration of sounds.

§ XVII. There are five kinds of notes in common use.

WHOLE NOTE,

EIGHTH NOTE,

HALF NOTE,

SIXTEENTH NOTE,

QUARTER NOTE,

Sometimes called Semibreve, Minim, Crotchet, Quaver, Semiquaver.

NOTE.—Other notes, as Thirty-Seconds, Sixty-Fourths, and also Double Notes, are sometimes used.

§ XVIII. A Dor adds one half to the length of a note.

QUESTIONS.

What are those characters called which represent the relative length of sounds?—Are notes rhythmic, melodic, or dynamic characters?—How many kinds of notes are there in common use?—What is the longest note called? The next, &c.—How much does a dot add to the length of a note?—What do notes represent?—What property of sounds is represented by notes?

CHAPTER IV.

MELODICS.

THE SCALE. (Diatonic Scale, Major.)

§ XIX. Musical sounds, as differing in pitch, are arranged in a certain order or series, called THE SCALE.

§ XX. The scale consists of eight tones, which are named numerically from the lowest, upward: ONE, TWO, THREE, FOUR, FIVE, SIX, SEVEN, EIGHT.

§ XXI. Letters are applied to the tones of the scale, as follows:

1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
C	D	E	F	G	A	B	C

NOTE.—Numerals designate the relative, and letters the abstract pitch of tones.

§ XXII. In singing the scale, the following syllables are used:

	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8
Written,	Do,	Re,	Mi,	Fa,	Sol,	La,	Si,	Do.
Pronounced,	Doe,	Ray,	Mee,	Fah,	Sole,	Lah,	See,	Doe.

NOTE.—Although the syllables are not regarded as indispensable, two reasons may be assigned for their use. 1st. A strong association is quickly formed between the syllables and the pitch of the different tones : thus the syllable enables the inexperienced singer to strike the tone accurately, with comparative ease. 2d. The proper practice of the syllables lays the foundation for a correct delivery of the words.

NOTE.—The scale should be sung to the class slowly and distinctly, to the syllable la, or to numerals, beginning at a suitable pitch, ascending and descending several times until they may be supposed to have a clear idea of it, when they may be required to sing it themselves. A few will almost always be found, say from five to ten in a class of a hundred, who cannot at first get the sounds right. These cannot go on with the others with advantage to either party, but if they can practise in a separate class they may, probably, by extra exertion, succeed. As the difficulty in such cases is almost always with the ear, listening to the singing of others is of much greater importance to such persons than any attempt to sing themselves.

§ XXIII. The difference of pitch between any two tones is called an INTERVAL. Thus, the difference of pitch between one and two is an interval.

§ XXIV. In the scale, there are five larger and two smaller intervals; the former called STEPS, and the latter HALF-STEPS.

§ XXV. The half-steps occur between the tones three and four, and seven and eight; between the other tones the interval is a step.

QUESTIONS.

What is that series of musical sounds, relating to pitch, called?—What is the scale?—How many tones are there in the scale?—How are the tones of the scale named?—What is the first tone of the scale called? Ans. One, &c.—What letter is applied to one? To two? &c.—What syllable is sung to one? To two? &c.—What is the difference of pitch between two tones called?—How many intervals are there in the scale?—How many kinds of intervals are there in the scale?—What are the larger intervals called?—What are the smaller intervals called?—How many steps are there in the scale?—How many half-steps?—What is the interval from one to two? Two to three? &c.—What is the interval from C to D? D to E? &c.

CHAPTER V.

MELODICS. THE STAFF AND CLEFS.

§ XXVI. The pitch of tones is represented by a character called a STAFF, on which the scale, or other music, is written in notes: the position which the notes occupy on the staff representing the pitch, and the notes the length of the sounds.

§ XXVII. The staff consists of five lines, and the spaces between them.

§ XXVIII. Each line and space is called a DEGREE; thus, there are nine degrees: five lines and four spaces.

§ XXIX. When more than nine degrees are wanted, the spaces below or above the staff are used; also additional lines, called ADDED lines.

THE STAFF, WITH ADDED LINES.

Space above.....	—————	Added line above.
Fourth space....	—————	Fifth line.
Third space....	—————	Fourth line.
Second space...	—————	Third line.
First space.....	—————	Second line.
Space below....	—————	First line.
	—————	Added line below

§ XXX. In writing the scale on the staff, one may be placed on either of its degrees, and the other sounds follow in regular order; thus, if one be placed on the first line, two will be on the first space, three on the second line, and so on; or, if one be placed on the first space, two will be on the second line, and so on.

§ XXXI. There are two ways in which the scale is commonly written on the staff; first, one on the added line below; and second, one on the second space.

§ XXXII. To distinguish between these two ways, or to fix the position of the scale on the staff, a character is used called a CLEF.

§ XXXIII. There are two Clefs in common use: the G Clef, and the F Clef.

§ XXXIV. The G clef, which signifies G, is placed on the second line

§ XXXV. The F clef, which signifies F, is placed on the fourth line

§ XXXVI. When the G clef is used, it fixes G on the second line; of course one (C) will be on the added line below: and when the F clef is used it fixes F on the fourth line; of course one (C) will be on the second space

EXAMPLE 1. The Scale, G clef, ascending and descending.

EXAMPLE 2. The Scale, F clef, ascending and descending.

QUESTIONS.

What is that character called, which represents the pitch of sounds?—Is the staff a rhythmic, melodic or dynamic character? Why?—How many lines are there in the staff? How many spaces?—What is each line and space of the staff called?—How many degrees does the staff contain?—(Pointing to the staff,) Which line is this? Space? &c.—(Pointing to the staff,) Which degree of the staff is this? &c.—What is the space above the staff called? Space below?—If lines are added below the staff, what are they called? If added above the staff, what are they called?—Where upon the staff is one usually written? Where two? Three? &c.—What letter is one? Two? Three? &c.—What syllable is one? Two? Three? &c.—On what other degree of the staff, besides the added line below, is one often written?—How can we tell, whether one be written on the added line below, or on the second space?—How many clefs are there?—What are they called?—What does the G clef signify?—What does the F clef signify?—If the G clef is used, where must one be written?—If the F clef is used, where must one be written?

CHAPTER VI.

RHYTHMICS. VARIETIES OF MEASURE.

§ XXXVII Each kind of measure may have as many varieties as there are different notes. These varieties are obtained by the use of the different notes on each part of the measure.

§ XXXVIII. Figures in the form of fractions are used to mark the kind and variety of measure; the upper figure, or NUMERATOR, showing the number of parts, or kind of measure; and the lower figure, or DENOMINATOR, showing the particular note used on each part of the measure, or the variety of measure.

Examples of some of the common varieties of measure.

NOTE 1.—It is to be observed, that notes have no positive, but only a relative length. The example 2-2 is not necessarily either slower or quicker than 2-4; 3-2 is neither slower nor quicker than 3-8, &c. The different varieties of measure in each of the above examples are practically the same. To the eye they are different, to the ear alike.

NOTE 2.—As there is no necessity for the different varieties of measure in church music, only one variety (Quarters) has been employed in this work.

§ XXXIX. Different notes may occur in every kind and variety of measure; and different notes may also occur in the same measure.

§ XL. The music may commence on either of the parts of the measure.

QUESTIONS.

How many kinds of measure are there?—How many varieties in each kind of measure?—How are the different varieties of measure obtained?—By which figure is the kind of measure designated?—By which figure is the variety of measure designated?—What is the upper figure (numerator) for?—What is the lower figure (denominator) for?—Do the different varieties of measure differ to the ear, or to the eye only?—What does the numerator express (or number)?—What does the denominator express (or denominate)?—Suppose the figures to be 4-4, what two notes will fill a measure? What one note? What four? &c

CHAPTER VII.

RHYTHMIC CLASSIFICATION; OR PRIMITIVE AND DERIVED FORMS OF MEASURE. ONE NOTE TO EACH PART OF THE MEASURE. SIMPLE FORMS.

§ XLI. When each part of a measure is occupied by the particular note designated by the lower figure, the measure is said to be in its primitive form. Thus, if the denominator be 2, the primitive form of the measure is halves; if 4, quarters; if 8, eighths, &c. Such forms of measure with their derivatives are called Simple Forms. The primitive note is taken as a standard by which to determine the length of others.

§ XLII. DERIVED forms are obtained from the primitive forms, by uniting two or more parts of the measure.

EXAMPLES.

QUARTER FORMS.

Double Measure.

Triple Measure.

Quadruple Measure.

NOTE.—It will be observed that in the first class, the union commences with the first part of the measure; in the second class, it commences with the second part, &c. The second derivative in the third class, may be considered as irregular.

§ XLIII. When a tone commences on an unaccented part of the measure, and is continued on the accented part of the measure, it is said to be SYNCOPATED, and the note representing it is called a syncopated note.

NOTE.—As there is but one variety of measure used in this work, it is thought unnecessary to give examples of half, eighth, or sixteenth forms.

QUESTIONS.

When is a measure said to be in its primitive form?—What is the primitive form of the measure when the denominator is 2? 4? &c.—What is the primitive form of the measure marked 2-4? 3-4? 4-4? &c.—When is it said of a measure that it is in the primitive form?—What are other than primitive forms called?—How are derived forms obtained from the primitive?—What is peculiar to the derivatives of the first class? Second? Third?—Why is the second derivative in the third class in quadruple measure called irregular?—How can derived forms be reduced to primitive forms?—When a tone commences on an unaccented part of the measure, and is continued on an accented part of the measure, what is it called?—In which class are syncopated notes found?

CHAPTER VIII.

OF RESTS.

§ XLIV. When a measure, or part of a measure is to be passed over in silence, it is indicated by a character called a REST.

§ XLV. Each note has its corresponding rest.

EXAMPLE.

Whole Rest.	Half Rest.	Quarter Rest.	Eighth Rest.	Sixteenth Rest.

QUESTIONS.

When a measure or part of a measure is passed over in silence, what is it called?—What are those characters called, which indicate silence?—Are rests rhythmic, melodic, or dynamic characters? Why?—How many kinds of rests are there?

CHAPTER VIII.

DYNAMIC DEGREES.

§ XLVI. A tone produced by the ordinary exertion of the vocal organs, is a medium or middle tone; it is called MEZZO, (pronounced met-zo) and is marked m.

§ XLVII. A tone produced by some restraint of the vocal organs, is a soft tone; it is called PIANO, (pronounced pee-ân-o) and is marked p.

§ XLVIII. A tone produced by a strong or full exertion of the vocal organs, is a loud tone; it is called FORTE, and is marked f.

§ XLIX. If a tone is produced by a very small, but careful exertion of the vocal organs, softer than piano, yet so loud as to be a good audible sound, it is called PIANISSIMO, (pronounced pee-an-is-si-mo) and is marked pp.

§ L. If a tone is produced with still greater exertion of the vocal organs than is required for forte, but not so loud as to degenerate into a scream, it is called fortissimo, and is marked ff.

NOTE.—Mezzo, Piano and Forte are Italian words, which, by long usage, have become technical terms in music, and are used by all nations.

QUESTIONS.

What is the third distinction in musical sounds?—What is the department called, which arises out of this distinction?—What is the subject of dynamics?—When a tone is neither loud nor soft, what is it called? How marked?—When a tone is soft, what is it called? How marked?—When a tone is loud, what is it called? How marked?—If a tone is very soft, what is it called? How marked?—If a tone is very loud, what is it called? How marked?—What does Piano, or P signify?—What does Forte, or F signify?—What does Mezzo, or M signify?—What does Pianissimo, or PP signify?—What does Fortissimo, or FF signify?

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

Many of the exercises that follow are so written that they may be sung in two parts, say Ladies sing one part, and Gentlemen the other. The second division to commence when the first division passes the double bar.

CHAPTER XI.

EXTENSION OF THE SCALE, AND CLASSIFICATION OF VOICES.

§ LVIII. When tones above eight are sung, eight is to be regarded as one of an upper scale.

PRACTICAL EXERCISE.

§ LIX. When tones below one are sung, one is to be regarded as eight of a lower scale.

PRACTICAL EXERCISE.

§ LX. The human voice is naturally divided into four classes, viz: low male voices, or BASE; high male voices, or TENOR; low female voices, or ALTO; high female voices, or TREBLE. Boys, before their voices change, sing the ALTO.

NOTE.—Besides the above distinctions, there is also the BARITONE, between the Base and Tenor, and the MEZZO SOPRANO, between the Alto and Treble. The Treble is often called Soprano.

§ LXI. The following example exhibits the usual compass of the human voice, and also that of the different parts, as Base, Tenor, Alto, Treble.

§ LXII. The Treble or G clef is used for the Alto, and often for the Tenor; but when used for the Tenor it denotes G an octave lower than when used for the Treble or Alto. The following example exhibits the common use of the clefs.

NOTE.—It is important that the difference of pitch between male and female voices be fully explained and illustrated.

QUESTIONS.

When tones above eight are sung, as what are we to regard eight?—When tones below one are sung, as what are we to regard one?—Into how many classes is the human voice divided?—What are low male voices called? What are high called?—What are low female voices called? What are high called?

CHAPTER XII.

THE CHROMATIC SCALE.

§ LXIII. Between those tones of the scale which form the interval of a step, there may be an intermediate tone; thus, intermediate tones may occur between 1 and 2, 2 and 3, 4 and 5, 5 and 6, and 6 and 7; but not between 3 and 4, and 7 and 8, because the intervals between those tones are half-steps, and there is no smaller practicable interval.

§ LXIV. An intermediate tone may be represented by the same degree of the staff as is either of the tones between which it occurs. Thus, the interme diate tone between 1 and 2 may be represented by the same degree of the staff as is either of these, and so with all the others.

§ LXV. When the intermediate tone between 1 and 2 is represented by the same degree of the staff as is 1, it is called SHARP One, or C SHARP, and a character called a sharp (#) is placed before it. Thus, also, sharp two may occur between 2 and 3; sharp four, between 4 and 5, and so on.

§ LXVI. When the intermediate tone between 1 and 2, is represented by the same degree of the staff with 2, it is called FLAT two, or D FLAT, and a character called a flat (b) is placed before it. Thus also flat three may occur between 2 and 3; flat five, between 4 and 5, and so on.

§ LXVII. A scale of thirteen tones, including all the intermediate tones, with twelve intervals of a half-step each, is called the CHROMATIC SCALE.

§ LXVIII. The application of syllables to the intermediate tones will be seen in the following example :

EXAMPLE. The Chromatic Scale. (Numerals, Letters and Syllables.)

§ LXIX. The sign of an intermediate tone (# or b) belongs not only to the note before which it is placed, but also to all the notes on the same degree of the staff in the measure.

EXAMPLE.

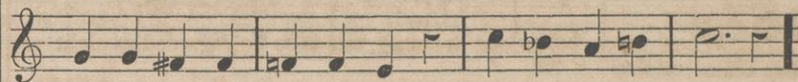

NOTE.—In the above example the fourth note is also C#; but to the C in the next measure the sharp does not belong.

§ LXX. The sign of an intermediate tone, continues its influence from measure to measure when no intervening note occurs.

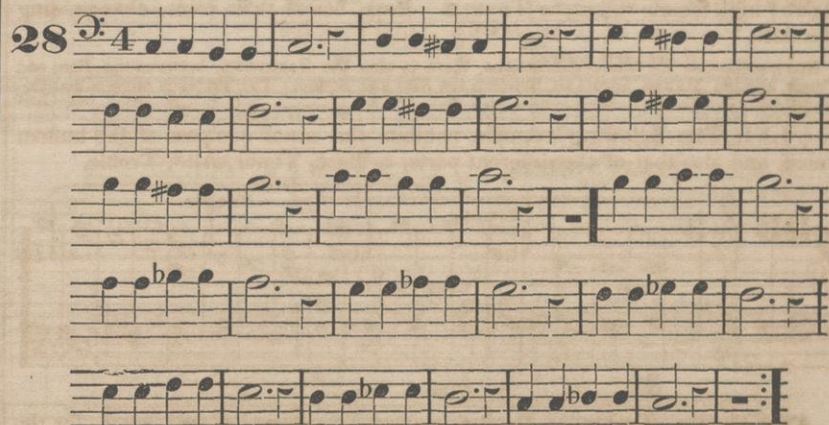

§ LXXI. When it is necessary to contradict a flat or a sharp, or to take away the power of either of these characters, a character called a NATURAL (♮) is used.

EXAMPLE.

§ LXXII. A sharped tone naturally leads to the next tone above it, and a flatted tone to the next tone below it. Hence it is easy to sing a sharped tone in connexion with the tone next above it, and a flatted tone in connexion with the tone next below it.

PRACTICAL EXERCISE.

NOTE.—Tunes in the key of C may now be introduced.

QUESTIONS.

Between what tones of the scale may intermediate tones be produced?—Between what tones of the scale cannot intermediate tones be produced?—Why can there not be an intermediate tone between three and four, and seven and eight?—What is the smallest practicable interval?—On how many degrees of the staff may an intermediate tone be represented?—When the intermediate tone between one and two is represented on the same degree of the staff with one, what is it called?—What character is placed before the note?—When the intermediate tone between one and two is represented on the same degree of the staff with two, what is it called?—What character is placed before the note?—(Similar questions with respect to the other intermediate tones.)—What is a scale of thirteen tones and twelve intervals of a half-step each called?—How many tones in the chromatic scale?—How many intervals?—What are the intervals, steps, or half-steps?—What is that character called which is used for contradicting a flat or a sharp?—To what does a sharpened tone naturally lead?—To what does a flat tone naturally lead?—What is the guide to a sharpened tone? To a flattened tone?—What is the character used to indicate the intermediate tones in the ascending chromatic scale?—What is the character used to indicate the intermediate tones in the descending chromatic scale.—To what does $\sharp 1$ lead? &c.—To what does $\flat 2$ lead? &c. CHAPTER XIII.

DIATONIC INTERVALS.

§ LXXIII. In addition to those intervals called steps and half-steps belonging to the scale in its natural progression, there are also other intervals occasioned by skipping; as SECONDS, THIRDS, FOURTHS, FIFTHS, SIXTHS, SEVENTHS and OCTAVES.

§ LXXIV. Intervals are always reckoned from the lower tone upwards, unless otherwise expressed.

DIATONIC INTERVALS.

NOTE.—Diatonic, because they are produced by skips in the diatonic scale.

§ LXXV. Two tones being the same pitch, are called UNISON.

§ LXXVI. When the voice proceeds from any tone to that on the next degree of the staff, the interval is called a SECOND; as from 1 to 2, 2 to 3, &c.

§ LXXVII. When the voice skips over one degree, the interval is called a THIRD; as from 1 to 3, 2 to 4, &c.

§ LXXVIII. When the voice skips over two degrees, the interval is called a FOURTH; as from 1 to 4, 2 to 5, &c.

§ LXXIX. When the voice skips over three degrees, the interval is called a FIFTH; as from 1 to 5, 2 to 6, &c.

§ LXXX. When the voice skips over four degrees, the interval is called a SIXTH, as from 1 to 6, 2 to 7, &c.

§ LXXXI. When the voice skips over five degrees, the interval is called a SEVENTH; as from 1 to 7, 2 to 8, &c.

§ LXXXII. When the voice skips over six degrees, the interval is called an OCTAVE; as from 1 to 8, 2 to 9, &c.

QUESTIONS.

When two tones are both the same pitch, what are they called? Ans. Unison.—When we proceed from any tone to that which is represented on the next degree of the staff, what is the interval called? Ans. Second.—When we skip over one degree of the staff, what is the interval called? Ans. Third. When we skip two degrees? Fourth. When we skip three degrees? Fifth. When we skip four degrees? Sixth. When we skip five degrees? Seventh. When we skip six degrees? Eighth, or Octave.

MAJOR AND MINOR INTERVALS.

§ LXXXIII. Seconds.

1. A second consisting of a half-step, is a MINOR SECOND.
2. A second consisting of a step, is a MAJOR SECOND.

§ LXXXIV. Thirds.

1. A third consisting of a step and a half-step, is MINOR.
2. A third consisting of two steps, is MAJOR.

§ LXXXV. Fourths.

1. A fourth consisting of two steps and one half-step, is a PERFECT FOURTH.
2. A fourth consisting of three steps, is a SHARP FOURTH.

§ LXXXVI. Fifths.

1. A fifth consisting of two steps and two half-steps, is a FLAT FIFTH.
2. A fifth consisting of three steps and a half-step, is a PERFECT FIFTH.

§ LXXXVII. Sixths.

1. A sixth consisting of three steps and two half-steps, is MINOR.
2. A sixth consisting of four steps and a half-step, is MAJOR.

§ LXXXVIII. Sevenths.

1. A seventh consisting of four steps and two half-steps, is a FLAT SEVENTH.
2. A seventh consisting of five steps and one half-step, is a SHARP SEVENTH.

§ LXXXIX. Octave. An OCTAVE consists of five steps and two half-steps.

QUESTIONS.

If a second consists of a half-step, what is it called? Ans. Minor Second.—If a second consists of a step, what is it called? Major Second.—If a third consists of a step and a half-step, what is it called?—If a third consists of two steps, what is it called?—If a fourth consists of two steps and one half-step, what is it called?—If a fourth consists of three steps, what is it called?—If a fifth consists of two steps and two half-steps, what is it called?—If a fifth consists of three steps and one half-step, what is it called?—If a sixth consists of three steps and two half-steps, what is it called?—If a sixth consists of four steps and one half-step, what is it called?—If a seventh consists of four steps and two half-steps, what is it called?—If a seventh consists of five steps and one half-step, what is it called?—If an octave consists of five steps and two half-steps, what is it called?

RHYTHMICS. COMPOUND FORMS OF MEASURE.

§ XC. When two or more notes come to each part of a measure, they may be considered as constituting the primitive form of the measure, and be taken as the standard by which to determine the length of longer notes. Such forms with their derivatives are called Compound Forms of Measure.

EXAMPLES.

Double Measure.

Triple Measure.

Quadruple Measure.

§ XCI. Three notes are sometimes sung to one beat, or part of a measure. The figure 3 is placed over such notes, and they are called TRIPLETS.

DYNAMIC TONES.

§ XCIII. ORGAN TONE. A tone which is commenced, continued and ended with an equal degree of power, is called an ORGAN TONE. (====)

§ XCIV. CRESCENDO. A tone commencing soft and gradually increasing to loud, is called CRESCENDO. (Cres. or <=)

§ XCV. DIMINUENDO. A tone commencing loud and gradually diminishing to soft, is called DIMINUENDO. (Dim. or >=)

§ XCVI. SWELL. An union of the crescendo and diminuendo, produces the SWELLING TONE, or SWELL. (<=>)

NOTE.—Sing the scale very slow, (ah), applying the swell.

§ XCVII. PRESSURE TONE. A very sudden crescendo, or swell, is called a PRESSURE TONE. (< or <=)

PRACTICAL EXERCISE.

§ XCVIII. EXPLOSIVE TONE. A tone which is struck suddenly, with great force, and instantly diminished, is called an EXPLOSIVE TONE; also FORZANDO, or SFORZANDO. (> or sf. fz.)

PRACTICAL EXERCISE.

§ XCIX. The proper application of dynamics constitutes the form of musical expression.

QUESTIONS.

When a tone is begun, continued, and ended, with an equal degree of power, what is it called?—When a tone is begun soft, and gradually increased to loud, what is it called?—When a tone is begun loud, and gradually diminished to soft, what is it called?—When the crescendo is united to the diminuendo, what is it called?—What is a very sudden crescendo called?—What is a very sudden diminish called?

CHAPTER XVIII.

TRANSPOSITION OF THE SCALE.

§ C. When C is taken as one, as it has always been hitherto, the scale is said to be in its natural position; but either of the other letters may be taken as one, in which case the scale is said to be TRANSPOSED.

§ CI. The letter which is taken for one is called the KEY. Thus, if the scale be in its natural position, it is said to be in the KEY OF C; if G be taken as one, the scale is in the KEY OF G, &c. By the key of C, is meant that C is one of the scale, or that the scale is based on C; by the key of G is meant that G is one of the scale, &c.

§ CII. In transposing the scale the proper order of the intervals (steps and half-steps) must be preserved. Thus, the interval must always be a step from one to two, and from two to three, a half-step from three to four, a step from four to five, from five to six, and from six to seven, and a half-step from seven to eight.

§ CIII. The interval from one letter to another is always the same, and cannot be changed; thus it is always a step from C to D, and from D to E, a half-step from E to F, a step from F to G, from G to A, and from A to B, and a half-step from B to C. In the transposition of the scale, therefore, it becomes necessary to introduce intermediate tones, (sharped or flatted letters,) so as to preserve the proper order of the intervals.

§ CIV. First transposition by the sharp fourth; from C to G, a fifth higher or a fourth lower.

EXAMPLE.

§ CV. SIGNATURE. To preserve the proper order of intervals from six to seven, and from seven to eight, in the above transposition of the scale, it is necessary to introduce F#, or to take F# as seven. The sharp is placed immediately after the clef, and is called the SIGNATURE (sign) of the key; thus the signature of the key of G is F#. The signature of the key of C is said to be natural.

§ CVI. The following illustration of the transposition of the scale may serve to make the subject plainer to beginners:

EXPLANATION.

On the upper staff is written the scale in the key of C. The distances of the notes one from another represent the different intervals, as steps and half steps.

On the lower staff G is brought down as one, A as two, B as three, C as four, D as five, E as six; as the interval from six to seven must be a step, it is seen at once that F will not answer for seven, because the interval from E to F is but a half step, and of course that F# must be taken; thus the interval of a step from six to seven is preserved. The interval from F# to G being a half-step, G is brought down as eight, and the scale is complete in the key of G.

NOTE.—Let not the teacher be satisfied with any illustration of the subject, addressed necessarily to the eye; but let him give examples, vocal or instrumental, until the subject is made plain, and the transposition of the scale is practically understood.

PRACTICAL EXERCISES.

IN THREE PARTS.

QUESTIONS.

When is the scale said to be in the key of C?—Why is the scale said to be in the key of C, when C is taken as one?—Suppose G be taken as one, in what key would the scale be then?—What is meant by the key of C? D? E? F? &c.—When any other letter than C is taken as one, what is said of the scale?—In what key is the scale, when in its natural position?—In transposing the scale, what must we be careful to preserve unaltered?—What must the interval always be, from one to two? Two to three, &c.—What is the interval, always, from C to D? D to E? &c.—How can the order of the intervals be preserved in transposing the scale?—What is the first transposition of the scale usually made?—How much higher is G, than C?—How much lower is G, than C?—What is the signature to the key of G?—What is the signature to the key of C?—Why is F# introduced in the key of G?—What letter has the key of G, that the key of C has not?—What letter has the key of C, that the key of G has not?—How many letters have the keys of C and G in common?—What letter is one, in the key of C?—What tone is C, in the key of G?—What letter is two, in the key of C?—What tone is D, in the key of G?—(Similar questions on the other letters and tones.)

* Although the Minor Scale has not yet been explained, the class may be exercised in minor lessons; let them regard the lesson as beginning and ending with six. By singing such lessons they will be prepared to understand the minor scale not only theoretically, but also practically.

QUESTIONS.

If the scale be transposed a fifth from A, to what letter will it go?—In order to transpose the scale a fifth, what must be done?—What is four in the key of A?—What sharped letter, then, must be introduced, in transposing from A to E?—What is the signature to the key of E?—What letters are sharped? Why?—How much higher is the key of E, than the key of A?—Other questions may be asked, similar to those under the first, second, and third transpositions.

§ CX. Fifth transposition by the sharp fourth. Key of B. Five sharps: F#, C#, G#, D# and A#. (Same as Cb.)

§ CXI. Sixth transposition by the sharp fourth. Key of F#. Six sharps: F#, C#, G#, D#, A# and E#. (Same as Gb.)

§ CXII. Seventh transposition by the sharp fourth. Key of C#. Seven sharps: F#, C#, G#, D#, A#, E# and B#. (Same as Db.)

§ CXIII. Eighth transposition by the sharp fourth. Key of G#. Eight sharps: F#, C#, G#, D#, A#, E#, B# and F#. (Same as Ab.)

§ CXIV. In the last transposition, from C# to G#, a new character has been introduced on F#, called a DOUBLE SHARP.

QUESTIONS.

What key is a fifth higher than E?—What is the signature to the key of B?—What sharped letters are there in the key of B?—What key is a fifth higher than B?—What is the signature to the key of F#?—What sharped letters are there in the key of F#?—What key is a fifth higher than F#?—What is the signature to the key of C#?—What sharped letters are there in the key of C#?—What key is a fifth higher than C#?—What is the signature to the key of G#?—What sharped letters are there in the key of G#?—When a sharp is placed before F#, what is it called?

§ CXV. The scale may be still further transposed by double sharps, but it is unnecessary, inasmuch as the same variety can be more easily obtained by transpositions by flats. The keys beyond E are seldom used.

§ CXVI. It will be observed that, in each of the foregoing transpositions, the scale has been removed a fifth, (or a fourth downwards,) and that at each transposition a new intermediate tone, (sharp four,) has been found necessary. Hence the following RULE: The sharp fourth transposes the scale a fifth.

§ CXVII. First transposition by the flat seventh; from C to F, a fourth higher, or a fifth lower.

Do	Re	Mi	Fa	Sol	La	Si	Do	Do	Re	Mi	Fa	Sol	La	Si	Do

§ CXVIII. SIGNATURE. To preserve the proper order of intervals from three to four, and from four to five, in the above transposition of the scale, it is necessary to introduce Bb for four. The flat is placed immediately after the clef, and is called the Signature; thus the signature to the key of F is Bb.

NOTE.—The teacher may here introduce a similar illustration to that at § 106.

What flatted letters are used?—What key is a fourth from G_b ?—What is the signature to the key of C_b ? What flatted letters are used?—What key is a fourth from C_b ?—What is the signature to the key of F_b ? What flatted letters are used?—When a flat is placed before B_b , what is it called?

§ CXXVII. The scale may be still further transposed by double flats, but it is unnecessary, inasmuch as the same variety can be more easily obtained by transposition by sharps. The keys beyond A_b are seldom used.

§ CXXVIII. It will be observed that in each of the foregoing transpositions by flats, the scale has been removed a fourth, (or fifth downwards,) and that at each transposition a new intermediate tone ($b7$) has been found necessary. Hence the following RULE: The flat seventh transposes the scale a fourth.

CHAPTER XIX.

MINOR SCALE.

§ CXXIX. In addition to the diatonic major scale, as at Chapter IV, there is another scale differing from the major with respect to its intervals, called the MINOR SCALE.

NOTE.—The word mode is often used in connection with major and minor; as, major mode and minor mode.

§ CXXX. There are two forms in which the minor scale is used:

§ CXXXI. First: In the first form of the minor scale the intervals are, between one and two, a step, two and three a half-step, three and four a step, four and five a step, five and six a half-step, six and seven a step and a half-step, seven and eight a half-step.

EXAMPLE.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1
 A B C D E F G# A A G# F E D C B A
 La Si Do Re Mi Fa Si La La Si Fa Mi Re Do Si La

§ CXXXII. In the second form of the minor scale the intervals ascending are, between one and two a step, two and three a half-step, three and four a step, four and five a step, five and six a step, six and seven a step, seven and eight a half-step; and in descending, between eight and seven a step, seven and six a step, six and five a half-step, five and four a step, four and three a step, three and two a half-step, two and one a step.

EXAMPLE.

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1
 A B C D E F# G# A A G F E D C B A
 La Si Do Re Mi Fi Si La La Sol Fa Mi Re Do Si La

§ CXXXIII. The minor scale in its natural position commences with A, or A is taken as one.

§ CXXXIV. When the major and minor scales have the same signature, they are said to be related. Thus the key of C major is the relative major to A minor; and the key of A minor is the relative minor to C major.

§ CXXXV. The relative minor to any major key is found a sixth above it, or is based upon its sixth; and the relative major to any minor key is found a third above it, or is based upon its third.

§ CXXXVI. The letters and syllables correspond in the major and its relative minor. Thus the syllable Do is applied to C in both cases, although it is one in the major and three in the minor scale, &c.

NOTE.—Minor exercises have been given, in the chapter on the transposition of the scale.

QUESTIONS.

What other scale is there beside the major?—In what respect does the minor scale differ from the major?—In how many forms is the minor scale used?—In the first form of the minor scale what is the interval between one and two? Two and three? &c.—In the second form of the minor scale, ascending, what is the interval between one and two? Two and three? &c.—In the second form of the minor scale, descending, what is the interval between eight and seven? Seven and six? &c.—What letter is one, in the minor scale in its natural position?—In the first form of the minor scale what sharped letter is used? Why? Ans. So as to make the intervals correspond to the received form of the scale.—In the second form of the minor scale how many sharped letters are used in ascending? What are they? Why? Ans. So as to make the intervals correspond to the received form of the scale.—In the second form do the ascending and descending scales differ, or are they alike?—In what consists the difference? Ans. In the order of the intervals.—When are the major and minor scales said to be related?—How much higher than a major scale is its relative minor?—How much lower than a major scale is its relative minor?—What tone of the major scale is one in the relative minor?—How much higher than a minor scale is its relative major? How much lower?—What is the relative minor to C major?—What is the relative major to A minor?—In C major what tone is C?—In A minor what tone is C?—In C major what tone is A? &c. &c.—What syllable is applied to one in the minor scale?—What tone is La in the major scale? &c. &c.—What is the signature to the key of G major?—What is the relative minor to G major?—What is the signature to E minor?—Many similar questions will occur to the mind of the teacher.

CHAPTER XX.

MODULATION.

§ CXXXVII. When in a piece of music the scale is transposed, such change is called MODULATION.

§ CXXXVIII. The particular tone by which the change is effected, is called the tone of modulation, or note of modulation.

§ CXXXIX. When a modulation occurs, the melodic relations of the tones are immediately changed, and it is necessary for the singer to understand and feel this change, and to be governed by it.

§ CXL. If possible, the change should be made in the mind of the performer before the note of modulation occurs, as this will enable him to get the true pitch of that note.

§ CXLI. In such changes as usually occur in psalmody, extending only to one or two measures, it is not necessary to adopt the syllables to the new key, but merely to apply the usual syllable appropriated to the note of modulation, as Fi for sharp four, &c.; but where the change is continued for sometime, the solmization of the new key should be adopted.

§ CXLII. The most common modulations are, 1st. from one to five, or from any key to that which is based upon its fifth; 2d. from one to four, or from any key to that which is based upon its fourth. These changes occur in almost every piece of music. See transposition of the scale by #4 and by b7.

§ CXLIII. First modulation. From one to five. This change is produced by introducing sharp four, which (sharp four) becomes seven in the new key. Sharp four is therefore the tone of modulation between any key and its fifth.

§ CXLIV. Second modulation. From one to four. This change is produced by introducing flat seven, which (flat seven) becomes four in the new key. Flat seven is therefore the tone of modulation between any key and its fourth.

CHAPTER XXI.

PASSING NOTES, SHAKE, TURN, LEGATO AND STACCATO, AND MISCELLANEOUS CHARACTERS.

NOTE.—The contents of this chapter may be introduced at any convenient time during the course § CXLV. PASSING NOTES. Ornamental or grace notes are often introduced into a melody that do not essentially belong to it; they are commonly written in smaller characters, and are called PASSING NOTES.

§ CXLVI. APPOGGIATURE. When a passing note precedes an essential note, it is called an APPOGGIATURE. The appoggiature occurs on the accented part of the measure.

EXAMPLES.

Written.

Sung.

§ CXLVII. AFTER NOTE. When a passing note follows an essential note, it is called an AFTER NOTE. The after note occurs on the unaccented part of a measure.

EXAMPLES.

Written.

Sung.

§ CXLVIII. SHAKE. The shake (tr) consists of a rapid alternation of two sounds, as in the following example. It has no place in common psalmody, but should be much cultivated by those who would acquire smoothness and flexibility of voice.

EXAMPLE.

Written. tr Sung. or

A - - - men. A - - - - - men. A - - - - - men.

§ CXLIX. TURN. The turn (∩) consists of a principal sound, with the sounds next above and below it. It should be performed with care and neatness, but not too quick.

EXAMPLES.

Written. Sung.

§ CL. LEGATO. When a passage is performed in a close, smooth and gliding manner, it is said to be LEGATO. (—)

EXAMPLE.

Sol.. La.. Si... Do Re.. Si.. Sol Sol..... Re..... Re..... Mi.... Do

§ CLI. STACCATO. When a passage is performed in a pointed, distinct and articulate manner, it is said to be STACCATO. (||||)

EXAMPLE.

Written. | | | | Sung.

§ CLII. TIE. A character called a TIE is used to show how many notes are to be sung to one syllable. It is also used to denote the legato style. (—)

§ CLIII. PAUSE. When a note or rest is to be prolonged beyond its usual time, a character (∞) called a PAUSE is placed over or under it.

§ CLIV. DOUBLE BAR. A double bar (||) shows the end of a strain of the music, or of a line of the poetry.

§ CLV. BRACE. A brace is used to connect the staves on which the different parts are written.

§ CLVI. DIRECT. The direct (↖) is sometimes used at the end of a staff to show on what degree the first note of the following staff is placed.

CHAPTER XXII.

EXPRESSION OF WORDS, AND MISCELLANEOUS DIRECTIONS.

§ CLVII. TONIC SOUNDS. The tonic (vowel) sounds only should be sustained in singing. It is on these alone that the voice should dwell. They should be delivered with accuracy, and carefully prolonged, without being changed. To insure this, the organs of sound should be immovably fixed from the beginning to the end of a tone; not the least change should be allowed in the position of the lips, teeth, tongue or throat; nor indeed of the head or body.

It is a very common fault for singers to change the tonic sounds, and dwell not on the radical, but on the vanish or closing sound: thus a becomes e; o, oo; &c. In the word "great" for example, instead of dwelling steadily upon the tonic sound a, the singer changes it to e, and that which should be grea - - - t, becomes grea - - e - - - t; so also in the syllable applied to Two—let it be Ra - - - e, and not Ra - e - - -.

§ CLVIII. CONSONANTS. Articulation is essentially dependant on the consonants. These should, therefore, receive very particular attention, and be delivered quickly, smartly, forcibly, distinctly, and with the greatest precision. The neglect of a careful utterance of the consonants, is often a principal cause of indistinctness in singing.

§ CLIX. ACCENT. Accent is as important in singing as in speaking. In the poetry be regular in its construction, and is properly adapted to the music the accentuation of the two will correspond. If otherwise, that of the former must, in general, be attended to, and the musical accent made to conform to it.

§ CLX. PAUSE. Pauses, both grammatical and rhetorical, are also essential to good singing. In general, when necessary, they must be obtained, not by a pause in the time, as is the case in the use of the character called a pause (∩), but by shortening the preceding note; as in the following example, viz :

The image shows a musical staff with a treble clef. The first part is labeled 'Written.' and contains the notes for 'Joy to the world—the Lord is come!'. The second part is labeled 'Sung.' and contains the notes for 'Joy to the world—the Lord is come!'. A vertical line with a small circle above it (representing a breath mark) is placed between the two phrases. The notes are quarter notes and half notes, with a key signature of one flat (B-flat).

§ CLXI. EMPHASIS. Emphatic words* should be given with greater or less power, (often with sf.), without reference to rhythmic accent. In common psalmody its application is difficult, from the frequent want of a proper adaptation of the poetry to the music, or rhythmic appropriateness of one to the other. The effect of emphasis may often be increased by a momentary pause. (See § CLX.)

§ CLXII. OPENING OF THE MOUTH. The mouth should in general be so far opened as to admit the end of the fore finger freely between the teeth. It is very common for singers not to open their mouths sufficiently wide to give a free and full passage to the sound.

§ CLXIII. TAKING BREATH. (1) In taking breath make as little noise as possible.

(2) Let it be done quickly, and without any change in the position of the mouth.

(3) Never breathe between the different syllables of the same word.

(4) When several notes come together, to one syllable, do not breathe between them, except in long running passages, or divisions where it cannot be avoided.

(5) Words which are intimately connected in sense, as the article and its noun, or the preposition and its noun, should not be separated by taking breath.

(6) The practise of breathing at a particular part of the measure, or of rhythmical breathing, should be avoided.

* On the subject of Articulation, a little work entitled "Elements of Musical Articulation," is recommended.

(7) Take breath no more frequently than is necessary.

(8) Exercises on the explosive tone (fs) will assist in acquiring the art of taking breath.

§ CLXIV. QUALITY OF TONE. The most essential qualities of a good tone are purity, fullness, firmness and certainty.

(1) A tone is PURE, or clear, when no extraneous sound mixes with it; IM-PURE, when something like a hissing, screaming, or huskiness is heard. Impurity is often produced by an improper position of the mouth.

(2) A tone is FULL, when it is delivered in a free and unconstrained use of the appropriate organs of sound. A tone is FAINT when it is produced by a careless or negligent use of the organs.

(3 and 4) A tone is FIRM and CERTAIN, which, being correctly given, is held steadily, without change: and which seems to be perfectly under the control of the performer. Hence the following are faults, viz :

(1) Striking below the proper sound and sliding up to it, as from five to eight, &c.

(2) A wavering, or trembling of the voice.

(3) A change just at the close of the tone, produced by a careless relaxation of the organs, which should always be held firm and immovable in their proper position until the sound ceases.

§ CLXV. TO CORRECT FAULTS. Whenever the teacher discovers a fault, let him first imitate it himself, and afterwards give the true style of performance; then let him require the pupil to imitate both the bad and the good example. It is not sufficient for the teacher to say that a certain fault exists, he must actually point it out, or exhibit it by his own performance, and this over and over again, until the pupil obtains a clear perception of it, and knows both how to produce it, and how to avoid it.

§ CLXVI. In all vocal performance attend to the spirit of the words. Enter into those emotions which are expressed by the poetry. Avoid a dull, heavy, unmeaning, unfeeling, automaton-like style of performance, and cultivate that which comes from the heart, which has some soul, some meaning, and which is appropriate to the words and music. The composer does but furnish the mere skeleton, and it depends upon the performer to say whether that inanimate form shall live, and breathe, and move so as to take deep hold of the affections and control the feelings of others, thus producing the effects for which music is designed, and for which it is so admirably adapted.

REMARKS ON SOME OF THE LEADING FEATURES OF THIS WORK.

1. DIRECTORY TERMS, AND DYNAMIC MARKS.—Directory Terms, indicating the style of performance, sometimes in English, and sometimes in the usual technicals, and Dynamic Marks, both degrees and tones, have been applied with reference to the music, when taken in connection with the particular words here adapted to it. When a tune is applied to other words, it may be desirable to deviate from these directions; sometimes, indeed, so far as to substitute the Forte for the Piano, or the bold and vigorous for the gentle and subdued. But, in general, when other words are adapted, if they are appropriate, or if there is a congruity between the words and the music, the terms affixed will still indicate the proper style. But, in all cases, suit the music to the words, and the words to the music, and let the style of performance be adapted to both, being careful “never to o’erstep the modesty of nature.”

2. BREATHING-PLACES.—Some rules for taking breath will be found at page 30. Breath should be taken when it may be done so as least to interrupt the sense either of the poetry or the music. In conformity with this principle, the breathing-places have been marked. In general, the places marked will be found to be the best and only places where it will be desirable to breathe; but easings will occur, on the one hand, where breathing at the places marked will not be needed, and, on the other, where the necessity for breath will be felt in places not so marked. The following are a few examples where a deviation from some of the common rules has been permitted:—

Austinburg, page 38. A breathing-place is marked after the word “humble,” in the last line, because breathing becomes necessary the second time in singing the line. So, also, it may be necessary to take breath in the tune Barlow, page 38, after the word “Immanuel’s.” See, also, Fabius, page 39, where a breathing-place is marked after the word “evening,” in the last line. It is hoped that the marking of the breathing-places will call the attention of singers to this subject, which is one of no small importance. It is to vocal execution what bowing is to a stringed instrument. All the grammatical pauses, of course, admit of taking breath.

3. COMPASS OF VOICE.—The different parts are kept within the compass of the class of voices for which they are designed. It is a common fault in books of church music, that the parts are too high; so high, that they can only be sung by voices of extraordinary compass, or by voices considerably cultivated. Composers of secular music usually write for professional singers; and hence we find the soprano carried up to G or A, and the other parts proportionably high. Their example has been followed by compilers of church music; and hence the parts in some books are quite beyond the reach of ordinary voices. But, in music intended for church choirs, without much accompaniment, or for congregational use, the treble should seldom go above D or E, and should not dwell for any considerable time on notes so high as these. Even if there are singers who can reach the high tones without a scream, it will be observed that there can be but little blending of the parts when these high tones are sung; they stand out by themselves, seeming to have but little sympathy with the other parts. In concert music the case is different; for, where there are full orchestral accompaniments, they obviate this difficulty, and blending becomes easy, since they bind together the high and the low.

4. VARIETIES OF MEASURE.—It will be observed that there has been but one variety of time used; or, in other words, a system has been adopted, in relation to the use of notes, by which a quarter-note always fills one part of the measure, or receives one beat. This, although it makes no difference to the ear, presents uniformity, and is pleasing to the eye. It will also render the introduction of the varieties of measure in singing-schools (Elements, chap. vi.)—a subject which is somewhat difficult to be understood by the learner—unnecessary. Nor will those who have practised in this way find any difficulty with other varieties of measure, as they may afterwards meet with them in other works. To the Messrs. Bird, of Watertown, Mass., the editors would express their gratitude for suggesting this improvement; though their attention had often been drawn to the importance of uniformity, from the fact that almost all the German choral books follow the plan of one variety of measure only, some adopting halves as the standard, and others quarters.

5. VARIETY OF STYLE.—The variety of style is much greater than in former books. This remark is particularly applicable to Melody, Rhythm, Harmony, Cadences, and the Minor Scale.

Melody.—When we consider that there are but about twenty or twenty-five tones, out of which the forms of vocal melody must all arise; that the parts, when taken separately, are each of them confined to a much narrower compass, or to a scale of not more than ten or twelve tones; and that out of these have been composed all the melodies that have hitherto been invented,—the probability of producing any thing strictly new seems almost hopeless. But the fact is, that, after all that genius and industry have done to draw out different melodic figures, an inexhaustible fountain still remains. More especially is this the case in the department of psalmody, which has received comparatively but little attention.

There are some who seem to suppose that a tune must always consist of a leading, striking, or taking melody or air in the treble, and that all the other parts are to be mere accompaniments. But, while it is fully admitted that there are many, and may be many more, excellent tunes of this character, (and there are many such in this book,) it is also certain that this is but a single and somewhat contracted view of the subject of melody. By the term, in a more extended sense, we mean that pleasing effect which is produced by the combination and progression of the several parts, each apparently free, but yet dependent, and always preserving unity, relation, and sympathy, in view of the leading thought, aim, or end, of the piece. It is true, indeed, that the leading thought is most frequently found in the upper part; but it often leaves this part, and appears elsewhere; or it may be so divided as not to be prominent in either part, when taken separately, and yet be distinctly traced, when all are united and performed according to the design of the piece. Those who have been accustomed to listen attentively to instrumental music of a high order—say Beethoven's symphonies, or Haydn's or Mozart's quartets—will easily comprehend our meaning in the foregoing remarks on melody; and, in this view of the subject, which is certainly correct in relation to all part music, whether vocal or instrumental, much that is new will be found in the PSALTERY.

Rhythm.—This is a field which, in psalmody, has been less thoroughly explored. Indeed, until within a few years, the rhythmic structure of psalm tunes has been very limited, as any one will see by an examination of old books. Dr. Watts felt the need of a greater variety, in this respect, when he said, "It were to be wished that we might not dwell so long upon every single note, and produce the syllables to such a tiresome extent, with a constant uniformity of time, which disgraces the music, and puts the congregation quite out of breath in singing five or six stanzas; whereas, if the method of singing were but reformed to a greater speed in pronunciation, we might often enjoy the pleasure of a longer psalm, with less expense of time and breath, and our psalmody would be more agreeable to that of the ancient churches, more intelligible to others, and more delightful to ourselves."* Dr. Watts undoubtedly here refers to the choral style, as in Old Hundred, which, while it is unequalled for sublimity, when a whole congregation are engaged in the singing of a psalm of lofty praise, is altogether unsuited to three quarters or seven eighths of the psalms and hymns contained in our common hymn-books. The Carmina Sacra, published in 1841, contains a greater rhythmic variety than any other collection of church music known to the editors; but the present work will be found to carry this principle still farther, and to contain many new rhythmic forms, in various metres; so that the variety of style, in this respect, from the plain choral, or from the Cantabile triple movement, to the Recitando, or measured chant, is much enlarged. It is certain that, in rhythmic forms, the PSALTERY contains much that is new, and the variety is very great.

Harmony.—The harmony of the PSALTERY will be found to be more natural, easy, dignified, and church-like, than previous books from the same source. In this respect, the old Italian and English masters have been the model. Palestrina, Leo, Purcell, Tallis, and others of the same class, are unrivalled in the simplicity and sublimity of their church harmonies, and the highest ambition of the editors has been to follow the example of these illustrious composers. There is a loftiness, richness, and fulness, in the old harmonies, unknown to the exciting chromatic combinations of modern authors, the only effect of which is to awaken surprise and astonishment, or call forth admiration. Variety in harmony has been increased by the use of the chords of Two, Three, and Six; chords which have been almost discarded by some modern writers, but which abound in the compositions of the old masters, and which are not only highly effective, but are truly ecclesiastical in association, certainly, if not in their very nature.

* Preface to the first edition of Dr. Watts's Psalms, December 1st, 1718.

A number of tunes have been so harmonized as to admit of the transposition of the treble and the tenor. In the first English books of psalmody, the Canto Fermo, or plain song, was mostly given to the tenor; but modern musicians, following the more natural order of harmony, have given it most frequently to the treble, or upper part. But there seems to be no good reason why a part of our tunes should not be so harmonized as to admit of a change in the parts, or of an inversion of the chords, which, although it circumscribes the limits of the harmony, affords a pleasing variety in the singing of several successive stanzas to the same tune. It may not be out of place to observe here, that it is an error to use the terms air, melody, and treble, as synonymous. Air and melody may often be used in this way; but the air may lie in the tenor, or alto, or base, or it may be dispersed, as we have seen, through all parts. It may be well to remark, also, that the part which, for the time being, contains the leading melody, should be sung the loudest.

Cadences.—A greater variety will be found in the form of the cadences than usual in books of this kind, in the more frequent introduction of the plagal cadence, and in the use of the old church chord of 5-4, so soft, sweet, and gentle, which often appears instead of the harder and more cutting 6-4, a chord which Dr. Crotch has well observed “should be but sparingly used.”

Minor Scale.—The frequent introduction of minor tunes and minor strains in major tunes, in this work, increases the variety, and adds many beautiful and appropriate forms of expression to the musical vocabulary of religious emotions. For many years past, minor tunes have been much neglected; so much so, indeed, that choirs may be found who not only do not like to sing, but who cannot sing, minor music. The mistaken notion has also prevailed, to some extent, that the minor scale is only appropriate to the expression of sorrow, and can only be used with propriety in circumstances of affliction and distress, as in psalms and hymns of the most mournful or penitential character. But this is certainly an error. There are but few hymns of worship, whether of prayer, meditation, or praise, that may not be well sung to a minor tune. If reverence, solemnity, and humility, become us in our acts of worship, we may, with great propriety, have recourse to the soft, gentle, and subduing qualities of the minor scale, in our songs of praise and adoration. It has been sometimes given, as a reason for the unfrequent use of the minor, that the tunes are all slow, heavy, and monotonous. This excuse cannot be made where the PSALTERY is used, since it contains many minor tunes in different metres, and in the most pleasing and useful rhythmic forms.

6. WORDS.—Except in a few instances, the same words have not been repeated, or inserted in connection with different tunes. The whole hymn is frequently given. This offers great advantage in training a choir to the adaptation of the same tune to various stanzas, and in giving appropriate expression to different emotions in connection with the same music.

7. INTRODUCTORY ELEMENTS.—This part of the work, though not differing essentially from the Carmina Sacra, has been carefully re-written. The inconsistent use of some terms has been corrected, and the whole has been improved and rendered more interesting by new practical exercises, most of which are written in the form of rounds.

8. ANTHEMS, SET PIECES, AND CHANTS.—The anthems (which are almost all new) are mostly such as are suitable to various occasions of public worship. Several are well adapted to ordinations or dedications, and most of them are appropriate to the common service of the Sabbath.

A; an Italian preposition, meaning to, in, by, at, &c.
Accelerando; accelerating the time, gradually faster and faster.
Adagio, or Adasio; slow.
Adagio Assai, or Molto; very slow.
Ad Libitum; at pleasure.
Affettuoso; tender and affecting.
Agitato; with agitation.
Alla Capella; in church style.
Allegretto; less quick than Allegro.
Allegro; quick.
Allegro Assai; very quick.
Allegro ma non troppo; quick, but not too quick.
Amabile; in a gentle and tender style.
Amateur; a lover but not a professor of music.
Amen; so be it; pronounced, in singing, Ah-men.
Amoroso, or Con Amore; affectionately, tenderly.
Andante; gentle, distinct, and rather slow, yet connected.
Andantino; somewhat quicker than Andante.
Animato, or Con Anima; with fervent, animated expression.
Animo, or Con Animo; with spirit, courage, and boldness.
Antiphone; music sung in alternate parts.
Ardo; with ardor and spirit.
Arioso; in a light, airy, singing manner.
A tempo; in time.
A tempo giusto; in strict and exact time

Ben Marcato; in a pointed and well-marked manner.
Bis; twice.
Brillante; brilliant, gay shining, sparkling.

Cadence; closing strain; also a fanciful, extemporaneous embellishment, at the close of a song.
Cadenza; same as the second use of Cadence. See Cadence.
Calando; softer and slower.
Cantabile; graceful singing style; a pleasing, flowing melody.
Canto; the treble part in a chorus.
Choir; a company or band of singers; also that part of a church appropriated to the singers.
Chorist, or Chorister; a member of a choir of singers.
Col, or Con; with. Col Arco; with the bow.
Comodo, or Commodo; in an easy and unrestrained manner.
Con Affetto; with expression.
Con Dolcezza; with delicacy.
Con Dolore, or Con Duolo; with mournful expression.
Conductor; one who superintends a musical performance; same as Music Director.
Con Energico; with energy.
Con Espressione; with expression.
Con Fuoco; with ardor, fire.
Con Grazia; with grace and elegance
Con Impeto; with force, energy.
Con Justo; with chaste exactness.
Con Moto; with emotion.
Con Spirito; with spirit, animation
Coro; chorus.

Da; for, from, of.

Da Capo; from the beginning.
Decani; the priests, in contradistinction to the lay or ordinary choristers.
Declamando; in the style of declamation.
Decrescendo; diminishing, decreasing.
Devozione; devotional.
Dilettante; a lover of the arts in general, or a lover of music.
Di Molto; much or very.
Divoto; devotedly, devoutly.
Dolce; soft, sweet, tender, delicate.
Dolcemente, Dolcessa, or Dolcissimo. See Dolce.
Dolente, or Doloroso; mournful.
Doloroso; in a plaintive, mournful style.

E; and.
Elegante; elegance.
Energico, or Con Energia; with energy.
Espressivo; expressive.

Fine, Fin, or Finale; the end.
Forzando, forz., or ff.; sudden increase of power. <
Fugue, or Fuga; a composition which repeats or sustains, in its several parts, throughout, the subject with which it commences, and which is often led off by some one of its parts.
Fugato; in the fugue style.
Fughetto; a short fugue.

Giusto; in just and steady time.
Grazioso; smoothly, gracefully.
Grave; a slow and solemn movement.

Impressario; the conductor of a concert.

Lacrimando, or Lacrimoso; mournful, pathetic.
Lamentevole, Lamentando, Lamentabile; mournfully.
Larghissimo; extremely slow.
Larghetto; slow, but not so slow as Largo.
Largo; slow.
Legato; close, gliding, connected style.
Lentando; gradually slower and softer.
Lento, or Lentamente; slow.

Ma; but.
Maestoso; majestic, majestically.
Maestro di Capella; chapel master, or conductor of church music
Marcato; strong and marked style
Messa di Voce; moderate swell.
Moderato, or Moderatamente; moderately, in moderate time.
Molto; much or very.
Molto Voce; with a full voice.
Morendo; gradually dying away.
Mordente; a beat, or transient shake.
Mosso; emotion.
Moto; motion. Andante con Moto; quicker than Andante.

Non; not. Non troppo; not too much

Orchestra; a company or band of instrumental performers; also that part of a theatre occupied by the band.

Pastorale; applied to graceful movements in sextuple time
Perdendo, or Perendosi; same as Lentando.
Piu; more. Piu Mosso; with more motion, faster.
Pizzicato; snapping the violin string with the fingers.
Poco; a little. Poco Adagio; a little slow.
Poco a Poco; by degrees; gradually.
Portamento; the manner of sustaining and conducting the voice from one sound to another.
Precentor; conductor, leader of a choir.
Presto; quick.
Prestissimo; very quick.

Rallentando, or Allentando, or Slentando; slower and softer by degrees.
Recitando; a speaking manner of performance.
Recitante; in the style of recitative.
Recitativo; musical declamation.
Rinforzando, Rinf., or Rinforzo; suddenly increasing in power. <
Ritardando; slackening the time.

Semplice; chaste, simple.
Sempre; throughout, always, as Sempre Forte, loud throughout.
Senza; without; as, Senza Organo, without the organ.
Sforzando, or Sforzato; with strong force or emphasis, rapidly diminishing.

Siciliana; a movement of light, graceful character.
Smorendo, or Smorzando; dying away.
Soave, Soavement; sweet, sweetly. See Dolce.
Solfeggio; a vocal exercise
Solo; for a single voice or instrument.
Sostenuto; sustained.
Sotto; under, below. Sotto Voce; with subdued voice.
Spiritoso, Con Spirito; with spirit and animation.
Staccato; short, detached, distinct.
Subito; quick.

Tace, or Tacet; silent, or be silent.
Tardo; slow.
Tasto Solo; without chords.
Tempo; time. Tempo a piacere; time at pleasure.
Tempo Giusto; in exact time.
Ten, Tenuto; hold on. See Sostenuto.
Tutti; the whole, full chorus.

Un; a; as, Un Poco, a little.

Va; go on; as, Va Crescendo, continue to increase.
Verse; same as Solo.
Vigoroso; bold, energetic.
Vivace; quick and cheerful.
Virtuoso; a proficient in art.
Voce di Petto; the chest voice.
Voce di Testa; the head voice.

OLD HUNDRED. L. M. SECOND ARRANGEMENT.

Words from the 'New-England Psalm Book,' first printed at Cambridge in 1740; being, as the Rev. Thomas Prince informs us in his preface of 1758, 'the first Book printed in North America.'

Choral.

Treble and Tenor may be inverted.

Shout to Je - ho - vah " all the earth, With joy - ful - ness " the Lord serve ye : Be - fore his presence " come with mirth, And with " ex - ult - ing mel - o - dy.

* This arrangement has been made with reference to the inversion of the Treble and Tenor. In the oldest copies of Old Hundred, it appears in the key of F. It is found in this key in the following works: — 'Marot and Beza's Version of the Psalms, in French,' Geneva, 1543; 'Sternhold & Hopkins' Version of the Psalms,' England, 1562; 'Est's Collection of Psalm-tunes,' 1592; 'Claude L. Jeune's Version of the Psalms,' Leyden, 1635; 'Playford's Introduction to the Skill of Musick,' 1674, and in other old collections of psalmody. It was probably sung to a considerably quicker movement formerly than it is at present; hence, we find its rhythmic form to be $\bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid$ &c. in Marot & Beza; and $\bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid \bigcirc \mid$ &c. in Sternhold & Hopkins'.

The third arrangement may be regarded as the original copy of this celebrated tune in PARTS. It is from one of the oldest collections of psalmody, having the following title-page: — 'The Whole Booke of Psalmes: with their wonted Tunes, as they are song in Churches, composed into foure parts: All which are so placed that foure may sing each one a severall part in this booke. Wherein the Church tunes are carefully corrected, and thereunto added other short tunes vsually song in London, and other places in this Realme. With a Table in the end of the booke of such tunes as are newly added, with the number of ech Psalm placed to the said Tune. Compiled by sondry authors who haue so laboured heerin, that the vnskillfull with small practice may attaine to sing that part, which is fittest for their voice.—Imprinted at London by Thomas Est, the assigné of William Byrd: dwelling in Aldergate streeete at the signe of the Black Horse and there to be sold. 1592. The composing of Old Hundred into 'foure parts' is ascribed to J. Douland B. of Musick. The name 'Old Hundred' seems to be American; in English books it is called the Hundredth Psalm, Savoy, or the Old 100th.

OLD HUNDRED. L. M. THIRD ARRANGEMENT.

The original English copy as published in 1592.

Plain song in the Tenor.

PSALM 100. STERNHOLD & HOPKINS' VERSIFICATION. 1562.

All people " that on earth " do dwell,
Sing to the Lord " with cheerful voice;
Him serve with fear, his praise forth tell,
Come ye before him " and rejoice.

The Lord ye know " is God indeed,
Without our aid " he did us make:
We are his flock, he doth us feed;
And for his sheep " he doth us take.

O enter then his gates " with praise,
Approach with joy " his courts unto:
Praise, laud, and bless his Name " always;
For it is seemly " so to do.

For why? the Lord our God " is good,
His mercy " is for ever " sure,
His truth " at all times " firmly stood,
And shall " from age to age " endure.

* The similarity between this tune and Winchester will be readily perceived. Although Winchester is ascribed to Dr. Craft as its author in the English books of Psalmody, it is evident that he must have taken it from the same Choral from which Motier is derived. Like all other old and popular Chorals, it appears in various forms and arrangements in different books.

1. No change of time shall ever shock My trust, O Lord, in thee; For thou hast always been my rock, A sure defence to me.
2. Thou our deliverer art, O God; Our trust is in thy power; Thou art our shield from foes a-broad, Our safe-guard, and our tower.
3. To thee will we address our prayer, To whom all praise we owe; So shall we, by thy watchful care, Be saved from every foe.
4. Then let Jehovah be adored, On whom our hopes depend; For who, except the mighty Lord, His people can defend.

RAYNHAM. C. M.

English Tune.

O hap-py is the man who hears In-struction's warn-ing voice, And who ce-les-tial wis-dom makes His ear-ly, on-ly choice.

Smooth, gentle, and in steady time.

CALEDONIA. C. M.

1. My Shepherd will supply my need, Je-ho-vah is his name! In pas-tures fresh he makes me feed, Be-side the liv-ing stream.
2. He brings my wand'ring spirit back, When I for-sake his ways; And leads me, for his mer-cy's sake, In paths of truth and grace.
3. When I walk thro' the shades of death Thy presence is my stay; One word of thy sup-port-ing breath Drives all my fears a-way.
4. The sure pro-vi-sions of my God At-tend me all my days; Oh may thy house be mine a-bode, And all my work be praise.

Con Grazia.

Treble and Tenor may be inverted.

English Tune.

Choral-like.

Sweet was the time, when first I felt The Sa-viour's pard'ning blood, Ap-plied to cleanse my soul from guilt, And bring me home to God.

* Marlow was arranged from an English tune, by L. Mason, and first published in this form in 1832. It has heretofore been written in the key of G, but experience has proved the key of E to be more favorable to the blending of the parts, and to a subdued and quiet performance. For hymns of a joyful character, however, F will be better, or perhaps, G. Slight alterations in the second and fourth lines, accommodate the key, and also the transposition of the Treble and Tenor. Marlow is one of the most useful church tunes: it may be appropriately sung to many hymns, and may easily be made to express deep and varied emotion.

YORK. C. M.

JOHN B. ILTON. First published by Ravenscroft, 1623.

KULER. C. M.*

From a tune by RAVENSCROFT, 1620.
Words from Cotton Mather's 'Psalterium Americanum,' 1718.

Quite slow.

All Common Chords.

1. I lift my Eyes up to the Hills: From whence should come my help? My help's from the E-TERNAL God, who made the Heav'ns and Earth.

2. He will not let thy foot be mov'd; thy Keep-er slum-bers not. Lo, He that keep-eth Is - ra - el; He slum-bers not, nor sleeps.

3. Th'E-TERNAL God is He who is thy watch-ful Keep-er still; Th'E-TERNAL God becomes thy shade; at thy right hand He stands.

4. The Sun shall not smite thee by Day; nor shall the Moon by Night. Th'E-TERNAL keeps thee from all ill; He shall pre-serve thy Soul.

5. Th'E-TERNAL keeps thy go - ing out; and keeps thy com - ing in; He does it from this time and will do it for - ev - er - more.

Chorus.

Verse.

Chorus. f

My God, my heav'n-ly King; Let age to age thy righteousness In sounds of glo - ry sing, In sounds of glo - ry sing.

His good-ness to the skies; Through all the earth his boun-ty shines, And ev'-ry want sup-plies, And ev'-ry want sup-plies.
 How slow thine an-ger moves! But soon he sends his pard'ning word, To cheer the souls he loves, To cheer the souls he loves.
 My God, my heav'nly King; Let age to age thy righteous-ness In sounds of glo-ry sing, In sounds of glo-ry sing.

HOMER. C. M.

Allegro Moderato.

1. What glo-ry gilds the sa-cred page, Ma-jes-tic, like the sun: It gives a light to ev'-ry age; It gives, but bor-rows none.

2. The pow'r that gave it still sup-plies The gra-cious light and heat: Its truths up-on the na-tions rise; They rise, but nev-er set.
 3. Let ev-er-last-ing thanks be thine For such a bright dis-play, As makes a world of dark-ness shine With beams of heav'nly day.
 4. My soul re-joices to pur-sue The steps of him I love, Till glo-ry breaks up-on my view In bright er worlds a-bove.

Choral.

1. Let not des-pair nor fell re-venge Be to my bo-som known; Oh give me tears for oth-ers' wo, And pa-tience for my own.
 2. Feed me, O Lord, with need-ful food: I ask not wealth, or fame; But give me eyes to view thy works, A heart to praise thy name.

 5 I'd stretch my ev - er last - ing flight, And bid the world fare - well, From sin and strife, to realms of light, Where peace and qui - et dwell.

Plaintive, supplicatory.

1. Hear me, O God, nor hide thy face, But answer, lest I die: Hast thou not built a throne of grace, To hear when sinners cry?

2. As on some lone-ly building's top, The spar-row tells her moan, Far from the tents' of joy and hope, I sit and grieve a-lone,
 3. But thou for-ev-er art the same, O my e-ter-nal God! A-ges to come shall know thy name, And spread thy works a-broad.
 4. Thou wilt a-rise, and show thy face, Nor will my Lord de-lay Be-yond th'ap-point-ed hour of grace, That long ex-pect-ed day.
 5. He hears his saints, he knows their cry, And by mys-te-rious ways, Re-deems the pris-'ners, doom'd to die, And fills their tongues with praise.

GRANGER. C. M.

Pathos. Fervor. Steadiness of time.

1. O Lord, how in-fi-nite thy love! How wondrous are thy ways! Let earth be-neath, let heav'n a-bove, Com-bine to sing thy praise.
 2. Man in im-mor-tal beau-ty shone, Thy no-blest work be-low; Too soon by sin made heir a-lone To death, and end-less wo.

3. Then, "Lo! I come," the Sa-voir said, Oh be his name a-dored! Who with his blood, our ran-som paid, And life and bliss re-stored.
 4. O Lord, how in-fi-nite thy love! How wondrous are thy ways! Let earth be-neath, let heav'n a-bove, Com-bine to sing thy praise.

NEWARK. C. M.

Maestoso.

With the exception of the key, (originally D,) this tune is in all its parts as written by its author.

1. O God of hosts, the mighty Lord, How lovely is the place, Where, in thy glory, we behold The brightness of thy face!

2. My fainting soul with longing waits To view thy blest abode: My panting heart and flesh cry out For thee, the living God.
 3. Thrice happy they, whose choice has thee Their sure protection made; Who long to tread the sacred ways, Which to thy dwelling lead.
 4. For God, who is our sun and shield, Will grace and glory give; And no good thing will he withhold From them that justly live.
 5. O Lord of hosts, my king, my God, How highly blest are they, Who in thy temple always dwell, And there thy praise display.

PINCKNEY. C. M.

In a gentle, smooth, gliding manner.

1. I love the Lord, he heard my cries, And pi-tied ev'ry groan: Long as I live, when troubles rise, I'll hasten to his throne.
 2. I love the Lord, he bow'd his ear, And chas'd my grief away: O let my heart no more despair, While I have breath to pray.

3. The Lord be-held me sore dis-ress'd. He bade my pains re-move: Re-turn, my soul, to God, thy rest, For thou hast known his love.

The first system of the musical score consists of a vocal line and a piano accompaniment. The vocal line is written on a single staff in G major (one sharp) and 4/4 time. The piano accompaniment is written on two staves (treble and bass clef) in the same key and time. The music is marked with dynamic instructions: mf, f, and Cres. (Crescendo). There are also accents (>) and slurs over certain notes. The piano part includes figured bass notation: 6, 5, 6, 6, 5, 4#.

* Nathan, (himself a Jew,) in his History of Music, says: "At the time the celebrated Leoni sang at the Synagogue, (London,) he gave such general delight by his execution of this melody, that it was adapted to English words for the service of the Protestant Church, and has since been published under the name of Leoni." It has been published in various forms in this country; in this copy the original key is restored, and the melody is brought nearer to Nathan's copy than it usually appears.

1. The Prince of sal - va - tion in triumph is riding, And glo - ry at - tends him a - long his bright way; The tidings of grace on the breezes are gliding, And nations are owning his sway.
 2. Ride on in thy greatness, thou con - quer - ing Saviour; Let thousands of thousands sub - mit to thy reign, Acknowledge thy goodness, entreat for thy favor, And follow thy glo - ri - ous train
 3. Then loud shall ascend, from each sanc - ti - fied na - tion, The voice of thanksgiving, the cho - rus of praise; And heav'n shall re - echo the song of sal - va - tion, In rich and me - lo - di - ous lays.

Slowly, gently.

1. Thou art gone to the grave! but we will not de - plore thee, Though sorrows and dark-ness'' en - com-pass the tomb; The Sa-viour''hath pass'd thro' its por - tals be - fore thee, And the lamp of his love'' is thy guide thro' the gloom.

Thou art gone to the grave! we no longer behold thee,
Nor tread the rough path'' of the world by thy side;
The wide arms of mercy'' are spread to enfold thee,
And sinners may die, for the sinless has died.

Thou art gone to the grave! and, its mansion forsaking
What though thy weak spirit in fear'' linger'd long;
The sunshine of Paradise beam'd'' on thy waking,
The song that thou heardst, was the seraphim's song.

Thou art gone to the grave! but we will not deplore thee
For God, was thy ransom, thy guardian, and guide:
He gave thee, he took thee, and he will restore thee;
And death has no sting, for the Saviour hath died.

Affettuoso.

1. The voice of free gra-e cries, 'Escape to the mountain: For Adam's lost race Christ hath o pen'd a fountain; For sin and pol-lu-tion, for ev-ry trans-gression,

2. Ye souls that are wounded, to the Saviour re pair, He calls you in mer-cy, and can you for-bear? Tho'your sins are in-creas-ed as high as a mountain,
 3. Now Je-sus, our King, reigns triumphantly glorious; O'er sin, death, and hell, he is more than vic-torious; With shouting proclaim it, oh trust in his passion,
 4. Our Je-sus his name now proclaims all vic-to-rious, He reigns o-ver all, and his kingdom is glorious: To Je-sus we'll join with the great congre-ga-tion,
 5. With joy shall we stand, when es-cap'd to the shore; With harps in our hands, we will praise him the more; We'll range the sweet plains on the bank of the ri-ver,

His blood flows most freely in streams of sal-va-tion.' Hal-le-lu-jah to the Lamb, who has bought us a pardon; We'll praise him a-gain, when we pass over Jordan.

His blood can remove them, it flows from the fountain. Hal-le-lu-jah to the Lamb, who has bought us a pardon; We'll praise him a-gain, when we pass over Jordan.
 He saves us most free-ly, oh precious sal-va-tion! Hal-le-lu-jah to the Lamb, who has bought us a pardon; We'll praise him a gain, when we pass over Jordan.
 And triumph, as-crib-ing to him our sal-va-tion. Hal-le-lu-jah to the Lamb, who has bought us a pardon; We'll praise him a-gain, when we pass over Jordan.
 And sing of sal-va-tion for-ev-er and ev-er! Hal-le-lu-jah to the Lamb, who has bought us a pardon; We'll praise him a-gain, when we pass over Jordan.

4. His going forth is from the end of the heaven,
And his | circuit..unto the | ends of it :
And there is nothing | hid..from the | heat there-of.
5. The law of the Lord is | perfect, con..verting the | soul :
The testimony of the Lord is | sure..making | wise the | simple.
6. The statutes of the Lord are | right, re..joicing the | heart :
The commandment of the Lord is | pure, en- | lightening..the | eyes.
7. The fear of the Lord is | clean en..during for- | ever :
The judgments of the Lord are | true, and | righteous..alto- | gether.
8. More to be desired are they than gold, | yea, than..much | fine gold :
Sweeter also than | honey..and the | honey- | comb.
9. Moreover by them is thy | servant | warned :
And in keeping of | them..there is | great re- | ward.
10. Who can under- | stand his | errors :
Cleanse thou | me from | secret | faults.
11. Keep back thy servant also from pre- | sumptuous | sins :
Let them | not..have do- | minion | over me.
12. Then shall | I be | upright :
And I shall be | innocent..from the | great trans- | gression.
13. Let the words of my mouth and the medi- | tation of..my | heart :
Be acceptable in thy sight, O | Lord, my | strength and..my Re- | deemer.

 CHANT No. 39.* Peculiar.

* The eighth selection may be sung to this chant, by omitting the first bar in the second line, and the first and second bars in the fourth line, of each verse.

1. Give ear to my words, O LORD: consider my | med-i- | tation :
Hearken unto the voice of my cry, my King, and my God; for unto | thee
will | I — | pray.
2. My voice shalt thou hear in the morning, O LORD ;
In the morning will I direct my prayer unto thee, and | will look | up.
For thou art not a God that hath pleasure in wickedness, neither shall | evil | dwell with | thee.
3. The foolish shall not stand in thy sight; thou hatest all | workers..of in- | iquity :
Thou shalt destroy them that speak falsehood; the LORD will abhor the | bloody..and de- | ceit-ful | man.
4. But as for me, I will come into thy house in the multitude of thy mercy ;
And in thy fear will I worship toward thy | ho-ly | temple.
Lead me, O LORD, in thy righteousness because of mine enemies ;
Make thy way | straight be- | fore my | face.
5. Let all them that put their trust in thee rejoice ;
Let them ever shout for joy, because thou defendest them ;
Let them also that love thy name be | joyful..in | thee :
For thou, LORD, wilt bless the righteous ;
With favour wilt thou compass | him as | with a | shield.

SELECTION XI. Ps. 15.

1. LORD, who shall abide in thy tabernacle ?
Who shall dwell in thy | holy | hill ?
He that walketh uprightly, and worketh righteousness,
And | speaketh..the | truth in..his | heart.
2. He that backbiteth not with his tongue, nor doeth | evil..to his | neighbor ;
Nor taketh up a re- | proach a- | gainst his | neighbor.
3. In whose eyes a | vile person..is con- | temned ;
But he honoreth | them that | fear the | LORD.
4. He that sweareth to his own hurt and | chang..eth | not ;
He that putteth not out his money to usury,
Nor taketh re- | ward a- | gainst the | innocent.
5. He that doeth these things shall | never..be | moved
Shall | never..shall | never..be | moved.

1. Truly God is good to Israel, Even to such as are of a | clean — | heart.
But as for me, my feet were almost gone; My | steps had | well nigh | slipp'd.
2. For I was envious at the foolish, When I saw the pros-|perity..of the|wicked.
For there are no bands in their | death; .. but their | strength is | firm.
3. When I thought to know this, It was too | painful | for me ;
Until I went into the sanctuary of God | Then..under- | stood I..their | end.
4. Surely thou didst set them in slippery places; Thou castedst them | down..
to des- | truction ;
How are they brought into desolation, as in a moment ! They are | utterly..
con- | sum'd..with | terrors.
5. As a dream when | one a- | waketh ;
So, O LORD, when thou awakest, | Thou..shalt des- | pise their | image.
6. For lo, they that are far from | thee shall | perish ;
Thou hast destroyed all | them that..go a- | stray from | thee.
7. But it is good for me to draw | near to | God ;
I have put my trust in the LORD, that I may declare | all— | —thy | works.

SELECTION XIII. Ps. 90, 1—12.

1. LORD, thou hast been our dwelling-place in | all..gene- | rations ;
Before the mountains were brought forth, Or ever thou hadst formed the earth and the world,
Even from everlasting, to ever- | last-ing, | Thou art | God.
2. Thou turnest man to destruction ; And sayest, Return ye | chil..dren of | men.
For a thousand years in thy sight are but as yesterday when it is past,
And | as a | watch..in the | night.
3. Thou carriest them away as with a flood ; they are as a sleep ;
In the morning they are like grass which | grow-eth | up ;
In the evening it is cut | down, cut | down and | withereth.
4. For we are consumed by thine anger, And by thy | wrath..we are | troubled ;
Thou hast set our iniquities before thee,
Our secret | sins..in the | light of..thy | countenance.
5. For all our days are passed away in thy wrath ;
We spend our years as a | tale that..is | told.
The days of our years are threescore years and ten ;
And if by reason of strength they be fourscore years,
Yet is their strength labor and sorrow ; For it is soon cut | off..and we | fly — a- | way.
6. Who knoweth the power of thine anger ?
Even according to thy fear | so is..thy | wrath.
So teach us to number our days,
That we may ap- | ply our | hearts..unto | wisdom.

SELECTION XIV. Ps. 97.

1. The LORD reigneth, let the earth rejoice ;
Let the multitude of isles be | glad there- | of.
Clouds and darkness are round about him ;
Righteousness and judgment are the habi- | ta-tion | of his | throne.
2. A fire goeth before him, and burneth up his | enemies..round a- | bout ;
His lightnings enlightened the world ; the | earth — | saw and | trembled.
3. The hills melted like wax at the presence of the LORD ;
At the presence of the | LORD of the..whole | earth.
The heavens declare his righteousness, and | all the..people | see his | glory.
4. Confounded be all they that serve graven images
That boast themselves of idols : worship | him,..all ye | gods.
Sion heard, and was glad ;
And the daughters of Judah rejoiced, because of thy | judg-ment | O — |
LORD.
5. For thou art high above all the earth ;
Thou art exalted | far above..all | gods.
Ye that love the LORD, hate evil ;
He preserveth the souls of his saints ; he de- | livereth them..from the | hand..of the | wicked.
6. Light is sown for the righteous, and gladness for the | upright..in | heart ;
Rejoice in the LORD, ye righteous ; and give thanks at the re-|mem-brance| of his | holiness.

1. The LORD reigneth; let the | people | tremble :
He sitteth between the cherubim ; | let the | earth be | moved.
2. The LORD is great in Zion, and he is high above | all — | people.
Let them praise thy great and terrible name; for | it — | is — | holy.
3. The king's strength also loveth judgment; Thou dost es- | tablish | equity :
Thou executest judgment, and | righ-teous- | ness in | Jacob.
4. Exalt ye the LORD our God; And | worship..at his | footstool ;
For | he — | — is | holy.
5. Moses and Aaron among his priests,
And Samuel among them that | call upon..his | name :
They call'd upon the | LORD, and | he — | answer'd them.
6. He spake unto them in the | cloudy | pillar :
They kept his testimonies, and the | ordi..nance | that he | gave them.
7. Thou didst answer them, O | LORD our | God ;
Thou wast a God that forgavest them,
Though thou tookest | vengeance..of | their..in | ventions.
8. Exalt the LORD our God; And worship at his | holy | hill ;
For the | LORD our | God is | holy.

SELECTION XVI. Ps. 118, 22—29.

1. The stone which the builders refused
Is become the | head-stone..of the | corner ;
This is the LORD's doing, it is | marvellous.in | our — | eyes.
2. This is the day which the | LORD hath | made ;
We will re- | joice..and be | glad in | it ;
3. Save now, I be- | seech thee; O | LORD,
O LORD, I be- | seech thee,..send | now pros- | perity.
4. Blessed is he that cometh in the | name..of the | LORD ;
We have blessed you out of the | house — | — of the | LORD.
5. God is the LORD which hath | show'd us | light ;
Bind the sacrifice with cords, even unto the | horns — | — of the | altar.
6. Thou art my God, and | I will | praise thee ;
Thou art my God, | I — | — will ex- | alt thee.
7. O give thanks unto the LORD ; for | he is | good
For his mercy en- | du- — | — reth for- | ever.

SELECTION XVII. Ps. 51: 1—4, 10—13

1. Have mercy upon me, O God,
According to thy | loving- | kindness ;
According to the multitude of thy tender mercies,
Blot | out — | — my trans- | gressions.
2. Wash me thoroughly from my iniquity, And | cleanse me..from my | sin :
For I acknowledge my transgressions ;
And my | sin is | ever..be- | fore me.
3. Against thee, thee only have I sinned,
And done this evil in | thy — | sight ;
That thou mayest be justified when thou speakest,
And be | clear — | — when thou | judgest.
4. Create in me a clean heart, O God ; And renew a right | spirit..with- | in me
Cast me not away from thy presence ;
And take not thy | Holy | Spirit | from me.
5. Restore unto me the joy of thy salvation,
And uphold me with thy | free — | Spirit ;
Then will I teach transgressors thy ways ;
And sinners shall be con- | verted | unto | thee.

SELECTION XVIII. Ps. 20.

1. The LORD hear thee in the day of trouble,
The name of the God of | Jacob..de- | fend thee;
Send thee help from the sanctuary;
And | strengthen..thee | out of | Zion.
2. Remember all thy offerings,
And ac- | cept thy..burnt | sacrifice;
Grant thee according to thine own heart,
And ful- | fill all | —.thy | counsels.
3. We will rejoice in thy salvation,
And in the name of the Lord will we set | up our | banners;
The LORD ful- | fill all | —.thy pe- | titions.
4. Now know I that the LORD, | saveth..his an- | ointed;
He will hear him from his holy heaven
With the saving | strength of | his right | hand.
5. Some trust in chariots and some in horses;
But we will remember the name of the | LORD our | God:
They are brought down and fallen;
But we are | risen..and | stand — | upright.
6. Save, LORD! let the king | hear us..when we | call.
Save, LORD! let the king | hear us | when we | call.

SELECTION XIX. Ps. 46.

1. God is our | refuge..and | strength,
A very present | help — | — in | trouble.
2. Therefore will not we fear, though the | earth..be re- | moved,
And though the mountains be carried into the | midst — | —of the | sea.
3. Though the waters thereof | roar..and be | troubled,
Though the mountains | shake..with the | swelling..there- | of.
4. There is a river, the streams whereof shall make glad the | city..of | God,
The holy place of the ta-ernacles of the | Most — | — | High

5. God is in the midst of her; she shall | not be | moved:
God shall | help her..and | that right | early.
6. The heathen raged, the | kingdoms..were | moved:
He uttered his | voice, the | earth — | melted.
7. The LORD of hosts is with us; The God of | Jacob..is our | refuge.
The LORD of hosts is with us; The God of | Jacob | is our | refuge.
8. Come, behold the | works..of the | LORD,
What desolation he hath | made — | — in the | earth.
9. He maketh wars to cease unto the end of the earth;
He breaketh the bow, and cutteth the | spear in | sunder;
He burneth the | chariot | in the | fire.
10. "Be still, and know that | I am | God;
I will be exalted among the heathen, I will be ex- | alted | in the | earth."
11. The LORD of hosts is with us; The God of | Jacob..is our | refuge.
The LORD of hosts is with us; The God of | Jacob | is our | refuge.

- Behold the LORD's hand is not | shortened, that it..cannot | save ;
Neither his ear | heavy..that it | cannot | hear :
- But your iniquities have separated between | you and..your | God.
And your | sins have | hid his..face | from you.
- Let the wicked forsake his way,
And the un- | righteous..man his | thoughts :
And let him return unto the LORD, and he will have mercy upon him ;
And unto our God, for | he..will a- | bundant-ly | pardon.
- As I live saith the Lord GOD,
I have no pleasure in the | death..of the | wicked ;
But that the wicked | turn..from his | way and | live.
- Turn ye, turn ye, from your | evil | ways ;
For why will ye | die, O | house of | Israel.

SELECTION XXI. Is. 55.

- Ho, every one that thirsteth ; come ye to the waters,
And he that hath no money ; | come ye,..buy and | eat ;
Yea, come, buy wine and milk..without | money..and with- | out — | price.
- Wherefore do ye spend your money for that which is not bread ?
And your labor for that which | satis-fieth | not ?
Hearken diligently unto me, and eat ye that which is good,
And let your soul de- | light it- | self in | fatness.
- Incline your ear, and come unto me ; Hear, and your | soul shall | live :
And I will make an everlasting covenant with you,
Even the | sure — | mercies..of | David.

SELECTION XXII. Is. 55 : 6—9.

- Seek ye the LORD | while he..may be | found,
Call ye upon him | while — | he is | near.
- Let the wicked for- | sake his | way,
And the un- | righ-teous | man his | thoughts :
- And let him return to the LORD, and he will have | mercy..up- | on him ;
And to our God ; for | he..wil. a- | bundant-ly | pardon.

1. LORD, make me to know mine end,
And the measure of my | days,..what it | is:
That I may know how | frail — | I — | am.
2. Behold, thou hast made my days as an hand-breadth,
And mine age is as | nothing be..fore | thee.
Verily every man at his best state, is | alto- | gether | vanity.
3. Surely every man walketh in a vain show;
Surely they are dis- | quie-ted in | vain:
He heapeth up riches, and | knoweth..not | who shall | gather them.
4. And now, LORD, what | wait I | for?
My | hope — | is in | thee.
5. Deliver me from | all..my trans- | gressions;
Make me | not..the re- | proach..of the | foolish.
6. I was dumb, I opened | not my | mouth;
Because | thou — | — | didst it.
7. Remove thy stroke a- | way — | from me;
I am con- | sumed..by the | blow of..thine | hand.
8. When thou with rebukes dost correct man for iniquity,
Thou makest his beauty to consume a- | way..like a | moth:
Surely | every | man is | vanity.
9. Hear my prayer, | O — | LORD,
And give | ear un- | to my | cry.
10. Hold not thy | peace at..my | tears:
For I am a stranger with thee, and a sojourner as | all my | fathers | were

SELECTION XXIX. Ps. 27.

1. The LORD is my light and my salvation, | whom..shall I | fear ?
The LORD is the strength of my life, of | whom..shall I | be a- | fraid ?
2. One thing have I desir'd of the LORD, | that..will I | seek after ;
That I may dwell in the house of the LORD all the days of my life,
To behold the beauty of the LORD, and to in- | quire—in | his— | temple.
3. For in the time of trouble he shall hide me in | his pa- | vilion ;
In the secret of his tabernacle shall he hide me ;
He shall set me | up..—up- | on a | rock.
4. And now shall my head be lifted up, Above mine enemies | round a- |
Therefore will I offer in his tabernacle sacrifices of joy; [bout me ;
I will sing; yea, I will sing | praises | unto..the | LORD.

5. Hear, O LORD, when I | cry..with my | voice ;
Have mercy also up- | on — | me and | answer me
6. When thou saidst, | Seek ye..my | face ;
My heart said unto thee, | Thy face, | LORD,..will I | seek.
7. Hide not thy face far from me; Put not thy servant a- | way in | anger ;
Thou hast been my help; leave me not,
Neither forsake me, O | God.—of | my sal- | vation.
8. When my father and my | mother..for- | sake me ;
Then the | LORD will | take me | up.
9. Teach me thy way, O LORD ;
And lead me in a plain path, be- | cause of..mine | enemies :
Deliver me not over unto the will of mine enemies ;
For false witnesses have risen up against me,

1. I was glad when they said unto me, Let us go into the | house..of the | LORD ;
Our feet shall stand within thy gates, O Jerusalem ;
Jerusalem is builded as a | city that..is com- | pact to- | gether.
2. Whither the tribes go up, the tribes of the LORD, unto the testimony of Israel,
To give thanks unto the | name..of the | LORD.
For there are set thrones of judgment, The | thrones..of the | house of | David.
3. Pray for the peace of Jerusalem, They shall | prosper..that | love thee ;
Peace be within thy walls, And pros- | peri..ty with- | in thy | palaces.
4. For my brethren and companions' sakes,
I will now say, | Peace..be with- | in thee.
Because of the house of the LORD our God | I will | seek thy | good.

SELECTION XXXI. Ps. 48 : 1—3, 9—14.

METRICAL PIECES MARKED FOR CHANTING.

Metrical Psalms and Hymns may sometimes be chanted with better effect than they can be sung in the usual way. In general, in stanzas of four lines, the singer has but to reserve three syllables in the second, and five in the fourth lines for the cadences; though cases will often occur when some other division will better accommodate emphasis, or the sense of the words.

SELECTION XLII. DESCRIPTIVE HYMN. Ps. 24.

(Chant No. 37, or 38, or others.)

1.
Our LORD is risen from the dead,
Our Jesus is gone | up on | high:
The powers of hell are captive led,
Dragged to the | portals | of the | sky.

2.
There his triumphal chariot waits,

2.

Thou heaven of heavens, his vast abode, Ye clouds, proclaim your Maker God;
Ye | thunders,..speak his | power:
Lo! on the lightning's fiery wing In triumph walks th' eternal King:
Th' as- | tonished | worlds a- | dore.

3.

Ye deeps, with roaring billows rise, To join the thunders of the skies,
Dim. Praise" him who | bids you | roll,
His praise in softer notes declare, Each whispering breeze of yielding air,
And | breathe it | to the | soul.

4.

Wake, all ye soaring throngs, and sing; Ye feathered warblers of the spring,
Harmonious | anthems | raise
To him who shaped your finer mould, Who tipped your glittering wings with gold,
And | tuned your | voice to | praise.

Maestoso.

5.

Let man by nobler passions swayed, Let man, in God's own image made,
His breath in | praise em- | ploy;
Spread wide his Maker's name around, Till heaven shall echo back the sound,
In | songs of | holy | joy.

SELECTION XLIV. DIDACTIC.

Watts.

UNIMPASSIONED UTTERANCE.

1.

Faith is the brightest evidence Of things be- | yond our | sight;
It pierces through the veil of sense, And | dwells in | heavenly | light.

2.

It sets time past in present view, Brings distant | prospects | home.
Of things a thousand years ago, Or | thousand | years to | come.

(44)

3.

By faith we know the world was made By | God's al..mighty | word;
We know the heaven and earth shall fade, And | be a- | gain re- | stored.

4.

Abraham obeyed the Lord's command, From his own | country | driven;
By faith he sought a promised land, But | found his | rest in | heaven.

5.

Thus through life's pilgrimage we stray, The | promise..in our | eye;
By faith we walk the narrow way, That | leads to | joy on | high.

SELECTION XLV. DESCRIPTIVE.

H. K. White.

IMPASSIONED UTTERANCE.

1.

The Lord our God is clothed with might, The winds o- | bey his | will;
He speaks, and in his heavenly height, The | rolling | sun stands | still.

2.

Rebel, ye waves, and o'er the land With threatening | aspect | roar!
The Lord uplifts his awful hand, And | chains you | to the | shore.

3.

Howl! winds of night! your force combine! Without his | high be- | hest,
Ye shall not, in the mountain pine, Dis- | turb the | sparrow's | nest.

4.

His voice sublime is heard afar, In distant | peals it | dies;
He yokes the whirlwinds to his car, And | sweeps the | howling | skies.

5.

Ye nations, bend, in reverence bend; Ye monarch's | wait his | nod,
And bid the choral song ascend To | cele- | brate our | God.

CHANT No. 62.

A - men.

HUMBLE DEVOTION.

1. From the recesses of a lowly spirit,
My humble pray'r ascends—O | Father, | hear it!
Borne on the trem'ling wings of fear and meekness: For- | give its | weakness.
2. I know—I feel how mean, and how unworthy
The lowly sacrifice I | pour be- | fore thee:
What can I offer thee, O Thou most holy! But | sin and | folly.
3. Lord, in thy sight, who ev'ry bosom viewest,
Cold in our warmest vows, and | vain our | truest;
Thoughts of a hurrying hour—our lips repeat them—Our | hearts for- | get them.
4. We see thy hand—it leads us—it supports us:
We hear thy voice—it | counsels,..and it | courts us;
And then we turn away! and still thy kindness For- | gives our | blindness!
5. Who can resist thy gentle call, appealing
To ev'ry gen'rous thought and | grateful | feeling!
Oh! who can hear the accents of thy mercy, And | never | love thee.
6. Kind Benefactor! plant within this bosom
The | seeds of | holiness, || and let them blossom
In fragrance, and in beauty bright and vernal, And | spring e- | ternal.
7. Then place them in those everlasting gardens,
Where angels walk, and | seraphs..are the | wardens;
Where ev'ry flow'r, brought safe through death's dark portal, Be- | comes immortal. Bowring.

CHANT No. 63. Peculiar.

Cres. Dim.

A - - - - - men.

"THY WILL BE DONE."

1.
"Thy will be | done!" || In devious way
The hurrying stream of | life may | run; ||
Yet still our grateful hearts shall say, |
"Thy will be | done."

2.
"Thy will be | done!" || If o'er us shine
A gladd'ning and a | prosp'rous | sun, ||
This prayer will make it more divine— |
"Thy will be | done."

3.
"Thy will be done!" || Though shrouded o'er
Our | path with | gloom, || one comfort—one
Is ours:—to breathe, while we adore, |
"Thy will be | done." Bowring.

Close by repeating the first two measures—"Thy will be done."

CHANT No. 64.

Verse. Chorus.

CHANT No. 65. Responsive.

Any selection may be sung to the above chant, by making the cadence always on the last accented syllable of the line. The response, or chorus part, should follow the single voice without pause.

CANON. "Thy mercies, Lord, shall be my song."*

THOS. TALLIS, 1560. 347

Moderately slow, and in strict time.

The Treble and Tenor are in Canon, and may be inverted.

Thy mercies, Lord, shall be my song, My song on them shall ev-er dwell; To a - ges yet unborn my tongue Thy nev - er fail - ing mercies tell, thy mer-cies tell.

Thy mercies, Lord, shall be my song, My song on them shall ev - er dwell; To a - ges yet un - born my tongue Thy nev - er fail - ing mercies tell.

Thy mercies, Lord, shall be my song, My song on them shall ev - er dwell; To a - ges yet un - born my tongue Thy nev - er fail - ing mercies tell.

Thy mercies, Lord, shall be my song, My song on them shall ev-er dwell; To a - ges yet unborn my tongue Thy nev - er fail - ing mercies tell, thy mer-cies tell.

* The tune often published under the name of "Tallis' Evening Hymn" is an arrangement from this piece. In this copy the original canon is preserved. It may be sung by the four parts to the words as they are printed in Roman letter, in which case the Treble and Alto will sing the four small notes at the beginning of the piece; or, while the Tenor and Base apply the words according to the Roman letter, the Treble and Alto may (omitting the four small notes, and beginning one measure after the other parts) apply them according to the Italics. The latter way, though it creates some confusion of tongues, best preserves the spirit of the canon; but if it be sung to other stanzas, or as a church tune, the former will be preferable.

ROUND IN THREE PARTS. "By the rivers of Babylon."

By the riv-ers of Bab-y-lon, there we sat down; We wept, we wept when we remember'd Zi-on, We hang'd our harps up-on the willows in the midst there-of.

ROUND IN FOUR PARTS. "Ye Christian heralds."

Ye Christian heralds, go proclaim, Sal - va-tion, sal - va-tion in Im-manuel's name; To distant climes the tidings bear, And plant the rose of Sharon, of Sharon there.

Larghetto. Verse.

p pp Dim.

Sweet is the scene/when Christians die, When ho - ly souls/re - tire to rest: How mild - ly beams the clos - ing eye! How gent - ly heaves th'ex - pir - ing breast!

p Cres. Dim. p Cres. Dim. Ritard.

So fades a sum - mer cloud a - way: So sinks the gale when storms are o'er; So gently shuts the eye of day; So dies a wave a - long the shore.

Chorus.

f m Dim. Cres. Dim. f Dim.

Triumphant smiles the victor's brow, Fann'd by some guardian angel's wing: O grave! where is thy vic - to - ry now, And where, . . O death, . . where is thy sting!

O grave! where is thy vic - to - ry now, And where, . . O death, . . where is thy sting!
