STEWART, AUTHOR, HUMORIST, SPEAKS HERE DECEMBER 2

Sigma Delta Chi Announces Lecture on "Laughter in Jazz Age"

Donald Ogden Stewart, American humorist and satirist, will speak December 2, in Music hall under the auspices of the local chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity, according to a recent announcement. The subject which has been chosen is "Laughter in the Jazz Age."

As author of "A Parody Outline of History," and "Perfect Behavior," two "best-sellers," Mr. Stewart first secured his popularity, especially with the undergraduate part of the reading public. His more recent "Aunt Polly's Story of Mankind" was also one of the most popular books on the stalls when it was first published.

Contributor to Magazines.

It is announced that the Doran publishers will bring out a new Stewart book some time this fall based on the writer's European experiences and called "Mr. and Mrs. Haddock Abroad." Besides being author of various other books, he is a frequent contributor to Vanity Fair, Harper's Bazaar, Life, Judge, and Scribner's.

Tickets will go on sale a week in advance at 50 cents each.

McFee to Speak March 19.

William McFee, who has traveled the seven seas as an engineer and whose works, which include "Casuals of the Sea" and "Command," have been compared to those of Conrad, will speak here under the same auspices March 19. Further information regarding Mr. Stewart's talk can be had by calling Eliot Sharp '25, at B. 2985.

ATHENAE SOCIETY WILL PROSECUTE MOCK TRIAL

A mock trial will be prosecuted by Athenae Literary society in the near future. A jury of four will render the decision and in a rather unique manner, according to Athenae publicity committee, and several unexpected elements will probably be introduced. Because of Homecoming festivities this week the hearing will be postponed until after the Chicago game. Official notice will be printed in the Cardinal in advance of the day of which defendant and witnesses will be summoned.

Y. W. C. A. ENLISTS MEMBERS IN DRIVE

The only attempt to enlist university women in the Y. W. C. A. was made yesterday when cards for membership were sent to every former member of the organization in school. Only upperclassmen receive invitations to become members because the freshmen are given an opportunity to join through the discussion groups. These groups are open to every first year woman who is in any way interested in Y. W. C. A. work.

Madison Kids to Stage Real Fight in Stadium Before Iowa Game

When the curtain goes up on activities at Randall field at 1:15 o'clock Saturday afternoon, it will disclose 22 very eager, very nervous youngsters who will be realizing the dreams of boyhood.

A team composed of the Brittingham park kids, arrayed in flamboyant yellow jerseys, will battle with the lower campus gang, decked out in brilliant red, in a real, honest-to-goodness grid game before Wisconsin's Homecoming crowd.

This is part of the special feature program arranged by Val Gunther '25. Working with him are

Punish Powers

(An Editorial.)

Six months ago last night Peter M. Posepny '25 of Two Rivers was shot and killed by former police officer Patrick J. Powers on the back doorstep of the Powers' residence on North Lake street.

There were no witnesses to the shooting and the coroner's jury had to rely upon the officer's own story and upon the testimony of physicians who examined the student's body for their verdict. That verdict was unjustifiable homicide. Powers was arrested on a murder charge and released on bail.

After six months of delay the date for trial has been set, and the circuit court of Rock county will hear the case at Janesville some time this month. It is important that every piece of evidence available must be used in the prosecution, for Powers must pay for his carelessness in handling a gun.

Powers has fled to Janesville with the purpose of escaping student indignation and student demand for justice. But the indignation of students is righteous and the demand for punishment is justified. For this reason every student with evidence should be heard at the trial.

Famous Criminologist Will Speak at Stock Pavilion Tonight

Most of the reserved seats for the lecture to be given by Clarence Darrow at the Stock pavilion this evening, have been sold, according to Fergus Chandler '25, member of the Forensic board, in charge of the ticket sale. Tickets for rush seats will be available at the door.

The lecture will start at 8 o'clock. The subject on which Mr. Darrow will talk is "Crime and Punishment." He will be introduced by M. B. Olbrich, Madison attorney.

His philosophy of crime, its causes and treatment, which forms the subject for his lecture here, is peculiar to Darrow alone. The criminal is a sick man, morally and mentally, and in many cases physically, he declares. He calls attention to the fact that crime increases proportionally with unemployment.

Some men are of such strong character that environment is not able to influence them enough to make criminals of them, Darrow believes. It is the failure of the man to adjust himself to the society about him that makes him a criminal.

Mr. Darrow consented to speak here after he had turned down offers from the University of Chicago and numerous civic organizations throughout the country.

minute game, he gave those kids the thrill of their lives," said Gunther last night.

Other features planned for the game include special marching by the band, and fireworks. The band, with new maneuvers, "W" and "I" formations, will parade in the intermission between halves. Noise bombs will add to the general disturbance, and Wisconsin and Iowa pennants will float over the stands from parachutes.

APPOINT FRANSEEN AS CHAIRMAN OF MILITARY BALL

Chosen to Fill Position Left Vacant By Late Herbert Opitz

Clifford Franseen '25 will lead the 13th Military ball to be held next March, according to an announcement made at the office of Major O. L. Brunzell, commandant, yesterday.

Franseen, who entered the military department of the university as a freshman, has risen in the corps to his present position as ranking major. He is also president of the university Y. M. C. A., chairman of the annual all-university religious conference, De Longe president of Scabard and Blade, a member of Phi Kappa Phi, and of Alpha Kappa Lambda. His home is in Frederick, Wis.

Franseen '25

Is Big Social Function

The Military ball, held annually in the state capitol, has come to occupy a place in the social events of the season, second only to the Junior prom. The jobs of leading the Military ball and of cadet colonel carry the greatest responsibilities that can be conferred on the cadet officers of the corps.

Herbert C. Opitz, who was recently electrocuted, had been picked to lead the ball. His untimely death made it necessary for Major Brunzell to make another selection.

Relieves Colonel of Extra Duties

This appointment is in line with the policy announced last spring of relieving the cadet colonel of the duties of the leadership of the Military ball, in order that his efforts may be devoted to leading the brigade and toward securing the "distinguished college" rating which the university held continuously from 1915 to 1923.

FINAL TRYOUTS TODAY FOR PRE-PROM PLAY

The final tryouts for the pre-prom play will be held at 3:30 o'clock today in 451 Bascom hall. Only those persons who have been notified as having been chosen from the preliminary tryouts are eligible. The tryouts will be based on the pre-prom play, "The Rescuing Angel," by Margaret Kummer. Copies are now on reserve at the library for the use of candidates.

POLITICS IS BLIND GAME FOR VOTERS

—MRS. CATT

Noted Woman's Suffrage Leader Gives Speech at Gym on Voting

"Politics to the average voter is a blind game in which men are elected to fill offices, the duties of which the voter knows nothing about," said Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, internationally known woman's suffrage leader, who spoke to an audience of over 2,000 at the gymnasium yesterday afternoon, on "Men, Women and Politics."

"The politics of this country is distinguished by a peculiar kind of partisanship," continued Mrs. Catt. "The scars of the Civil war are still apparent, and New England would be as solidly republican as the south is democratic were it not for immigration."

"This partisanship is furthered by the natural belligerency of man. Parties continue to exist merely because they have always existed."

"Many claim that woman suffrage is a failure. It is true that women are born into the parties, also, and that they voted this year just as their fathers and husbands did. Women, however, went to the parties and asked for planks to help the illiterate, child labor and crime situations," she concluded.

"Idea Essential in Ad," Says Crowell

"Halitosis made Listerine famous," declared L. D. Crowell of Chicago, in charge of the Parker pen advertising campaign, in a talk before members of the advertising club last night.

"The essential thing behind an ad is the idea and the secondary thing is the expression of that idea. When the Listerine business hit upon Halitosis, it increased its profits 700 per cent," Mr. Crowell said.

"Good advertising is specific, it screens the advertiser's self-interest from view, injects a fresh note into an idea, and builds up the advertising case from the consumer's point of view. It is right in product, plan, and price."

Humorous talks were given by five of the initiates. John Stuart '27, spoke on "The Appeal of Kelly-Springfield Advertisements," Josephine Thompson '26 pointed out the appeals in the Listerine advertisements, Harry Shuck '27, spoke on the effectiveness of the Dodge Brothers' ads, John Weisz '27, gave a talk on "The Effect of the Jordan Ads on the Tired Business Man," and Irene Norman '25, described "The appeal of the Holeproof Hosiery Ads on the Masculine Eye."

KRONSHAGE SPEAKS AT CHICAGO BOARD MEET

Theodore Kronshage, president of the university board of regents, spoke Tuesday at the annual meeting of the Association of Governing Boards of State Universities, held in Chicago. His subject was "Dormitories and Dining Halls."

Ruth Draper, Noted Impersonator, Shows Versatility in Her Acting

By A. S. C.

Ruth Draper, the noted diseuse and favorite of American and European audiences, displayed unusual versatility in her program of eight impersonations at Christ Presbyterian church last night. Tragedy and comedy were intermingled in a program which was greatly pleasing to the audience which crowded the church.

"Children's Party in a Philadelphia Suburb" was the most amusing number, and Miss Draper, as a fond mother helping at the party, had her troubles with the children. A rapid-fire comment to another mother was interspersed in amazing cleverness with admonitions to the children.

In "Three Breakfasts" Miss Draper took a married couple from the first breakfast at home after the RUMOR SPREADS OF SHAKEUP IN ATHLETIC DEPT.

Authorities Neither Deny Nor Affirm Reports of Changes

Rumors that a big shakeup in the athletic department is due which will oust T. E. Jones as director of athletics, and place Dr. W. E. Meanwell in his position, with a new football coach to replace Coach Jack Ryan, were rampant on the campus yesterday.

The reports, which predicted that the regents of the university will take action along these lines at their next meeting, were published in a local newspaper and were sent out by Associated Press last night.

The authority for the statements was given as "close to the board of regents."

Pyre Says No Action Expected.

Authorities who could be reached last night would neither affirm nor deny the report. "No action has been passed by the regents, and as far as I know there is no such collective contemplated action," said Prof. James F. A. Pyre, head of the athletic council, last night. When asked as to whether it is in keeping with the policy of the regents to remove coaches before a three or four year period of service, Professor Pyre replied that he believed it was.

T. E. Jones, director of athletics, stated that he knew nothing of such a proposed action, and believed that there would be no major changes made by the regents this year, although he intimated that new assistant coaches might be engaged to aid Ryan.

Call Meeting of Regents.

"It takes some time to introduce a new coaching system," said Jones, "and I believe the regents have confidence in Coach Ryan. These situations come up in the athletic history of every school. The positions of Yost and Zuppke have been threatened at various times, but level-headed consideration kept them at their posts and they have redeemed themselves."

It is understood that a special meeting of the regents of the university has been called for the near future, with a regular meeting set for December 1. This has been taken by many to mean that a shake-up is due.

Salient features of the change mentioned in current reports are:

1. A new head of athletics, probably Dr. Meanwell, to replace Mr. Jones.
2. The ousting of Coach Ryan and the securing of a new grid mentor, even at a salary of $10,000.
3. Retaining of Mr. Jones as coach of track.
4. A new director of ticket sales to replace Paul Hunter, now in charge.

FRESHMAN COMMITTEE MAKES DANCE PLANS

The get-acquainted meeting of the freshman committee of 50 held last night in the cabinet room of the Y. M. C. A. discussed plans for a freshman dance in the first part of December.

honey-moon, to a breakfast ten years later, and ended happily with a breakfast 40 years later. These realistic breakfast scenes were immensely appreciated by the audience.

A telephone girl at a switchboard in a New York railway station does not seem like a tragic character, but Miss Draper introduced an element of pathos in her presentation of this slangy character which showed her remarkable ability to portray human nature.

An "Art Exhibition," an "Incident of County Kerrick," "Scotch Immigrant at Ellis Island," "Three Russian Jews in the Court of Domestic Relations," and a "Class in Greek Poise," gave further evidence of Miss Draper's remarkable ability to impersonate different types of characters.

Ryan

When the football men assembled early this fall to start training there were only 10 men who had been on the squad before and of these only seven were letter men from last year's squad.

Captain Harris, Bisherstein and Miller had two letters to their credit while Blackman, Nelson, Teekemeyer and Stipek had earned one letter. In addition to these letter men there was Steve Polaski, who had won a letter two years ago.

The other two men who had been on the squad but have not won a letter were Stangel and McCormick. This gave Coach Ryan three guards, one center, one tackle, three ends and two backfield men that had any experience at all, around which to build a team.

The rest of the squad was made up of 26 men who had never worked before on the varsity under Coach Ryan. Surely this was anything but a cheerful prospect. One of the main troubles has been that newspapers have overrated the Badger football material until the fans who do not know the facts expect a conference championship team to be turned out annually at Wisconsin.

Many schools started the season with one or two men who were playing their third year of regular football. Only second year regulars were all that were to be had at Camp Randall. Jack Harris, Bieberstein and Miller will graduate with three letters each in football but each of these men played barely enough varsity football their sophomore year to win their letter.

This year only four first string men are graduating and the squad next fall will be made up of about 30 men who have had one or more year's experience on the varsity squad. This augurs well for next year's grid team.

CLASS SWIM MEET
IN LATHROP POOL

Seniors will splash against the sophomores and the juniors against the freshmen in the first interclass swimming meet at 8 o'clock tonight in Lathrop pool. All the teams are evenly matched this year as far as numbers go. In experience within school and athletic associations, the seniors and juniors probably are strongest, although the sophomores last fall showed some fine material.

The following events will take place: 40-yard breast stroke, 40-yard free-style, 40-yard side stroke, 100-yard free style, relay, plunge, and diving.

"Managers must have their lists of event and of entries posted in Lathrop tank room before 5 o'clock today," said Beatrice Marks '26, head of swimming. The meet will begin promptly at 8 o'clock but all swimmers should be in their suits at 7:45, ready for instructions."

F. H. Yost, Michigan Mentor
Believes in Old Time TricksBadgers Fooled By Ancient Trick; Gophers Tripped By Clever Strategy

By GEORGE DENNIS.

Just as some dashing Romeos think that "old loves are the best loves," so Fielding H. Yost, veteran gridiron mentor at Michigan, believes that "old plays are the best plays" to use against opponents when the going gets a little rough.

In this year's game against Wisconsin the tricky Wolverines pulled a play that is "as old as the hills" and a play that most football coaches had forgotten was ever in use. Michigan had the ball on Wisconsin's 12 yard line and it looked as though they would fail to put it over. Then Tod Rockwell, clever Maize and Blue quarterback, after calling the signals as usual, ordered the play stopped and started talking to one of the players. The ball was snapped back to Marion, Michigan fullback, and he dashed through the bewildered Badgers unmolested for a touchdown. Tod Rockwell grinned like a schoolboy all the time he was pulling the wool over the Badger's eyes with this old trick.

Wolverines Pull Clever Trick.

Again the following week at Minnesota in their game with the Gophers the Michigan eleven got away with tricks that any football team should be ashamed to have pulled on them.

In the Gopher game the two teams fought evenly for most of the game. At one time Michigan had the ball well down in Minnesota territory, but it was fourth down and the Wolverines still had some distance to go. Tod Rockwell, still remembering the sayings of his wily coach in regard to pulling old plays at a critical moment, stepped back in preparation to boot a field goal. This seemed the perfectly logical thing to do—fourth down, unable to gain, near the goal—why of course, make three points by a goal kick. So the Minnesota eleven were all set to break up a place kick. Tod surveyed the situation, limbered up his right leg a bit, prepared the ground for a kick; the ball was snapped back and Rockwell tossed a pass to a Michigan man with the result that Michigan accumulated 7 in place of 3 points.

Gophers Fooled Again.

Again toward the end of the game Michigan had the ball in about the same position and was in a similar situation; so Rockwell again prepared for a place kick. This time, however, the Minnesota team, smarting from the fools they made of themselves the other time that Michigan attempted a place kick, resolved not to be sucked in. The line went ahead in preparation to block a place kick, but the backfield played well back so as to break up an trick passes. Again Tod surveyed the situation, limbered up his booting leg a bit, plucked a blade of grass; the ball was snapped back and Rockwell, running like a deer to meet it, caught the oval on the run and dashed over the goal line for the second counter of the day.

After that play Coach Spalding, of Minnesota, was ready to go gopher hunting at any time. To have a kid trick such as that pulled on his team twice in a game that was otherwise perfectly evenly fought was too much.

The Wolverines tried the same trick against the Illini this year and the only reason it failed is that one of the Wolverine backs fumbled a pass.

Tricks Are Moth-eaten.

Coach Yost claims that the easiest way to beat a team that thinks it is all primed to stop your style of play is to pull some old moth-eaten relic of the early days of the gridiron and they will fall for it every time. This has been his football psychology for a number of years and in at least 14 of the Wolverines games within the past ten years Michigan had won on an old fluke play that makes ather teams seem foolish. An odd part about it is that they work best against the best teams. No one is more susceptible, according to Yost, than a team that thinks they are good.

JUNIORS DEFEAT
ANCIENT RIVALS
IN HOCKEY GAMEJuniors Upset Dope in Hard Fought Dual on Hockey
Field

Fighting as no hockey team has ever fought before, the juniors gave the senior champions their first defeat in two years, by a score of 3 to 1, yesterday afternoon at Camp Randall. Enthusiasts had expected the game to be a tight one, but a tie was the least that junior rooters had hoped for.

The real scrimmage began when a long drive by Rugen '25 sent the ball over to the right wing, Parker '25, who dribbled it down into the junior circle, where, after a short contest, it was shot outside. From a corner, the juniors sped down to the other end of the field and got within a foot of the goal, but the opposing full-backs played strong in warding off the ball and finally sent it down field again.

After a prolonged and desperate struggle in defending their territory, with Sherman '26 and Clark '26 outstanding in the fray, the juniors found themselves once again headed toward the senior goal. Within a few minutes of play, Shepard '26, scored the first point for her class. The half ended, 1 to 0 in favor of the juniors.

The second half started with a fast onslaught by the senior forwards, led by Simpson, c. f. A sure and swift shot was stopped by Magnussen '26, guard. A spectacular moment occurred when Maytum '26 and John '25 clashed, and interlocked. Maytum with a neat stroke got the ball, but Robertson '25 quered her opponent's success by her long, powerful shots.

Keyes '26 made the second goal and shortly followed with a third after a fast left wing dribble on the part of Burt '26, which was stopped by Weingandt '25 but immediately picked up by Jorris '26.

Senior grit and come-back was displayed in the last few minutes of play when Rugen '25 made a rush for her opponent's goal and set the final score 3 to 1.

In the second team game between the juniors and freshmen, the final score was 0 to 0. Good-kind '28 and Jenkins '28, both full-backs, played a neat game. The defense of the juniors was led by Liggett. Their right wing, Phendler, was a best ground-gainer but failed to score.

ATHLETICS IN THE
COLLEGIATE WORLDALL AMERICANS
GAIN BY USE OF
IOWA STRATEGYRyan Uses Same Lineup That Started Practice Sessions
This Week

Later and later into the night Coach Jack Ryan continues to send his cardinal-clad charges in an effort to build up an offense and defense that will spell defeat for the Hawkeyes when they invade Camp Randall Saturday. Scrimmage last night continued long after dark under the arc lights.

All the work last night was on defensive. Coach Gundy Nelson's all-Americans drove hard and furious against the regulars, using the varied Iowa offense, with salient features in the form of a rapid shift not unlike that of Notre Dame, passes over the left side of the line, and fast line plunges.

A great portion of the time the seconds scrimmaged against Nelson's omelettes, while the first string players stood by and watched the direction of the plays. If the progress made by the all-American backs are any indication of what Graham, Scantlebury, and Parkin will do Saturday, fears may be expressed for the outcome as far as Wisconsin is concerned.

Miller Still at End.

There were no shifts in lineup over that of Tuesday night. Miller carried on at end in Polaski's place, while Leitl and Stipek filled in the left side of the line, with Straubel replacing Leitl at intervals during the scrimmage.

Straubel and Nelson were back in play, after being out with injuries. Doyle Harman was not used. Larson continued at quarterback, while Leo Harmon, McGiveran, and McAndrews filled in the other back-field positions.

"Bearcat" Holmes,
Wrestling Leader,
Called Ineligible

That Robert F. Holmes, captain of this year's wrestling team and conference champion in the 135-pound division, is ineligible because of scholastic difficulties was learned yesterday from Coach Hitchcock. Holmes was a consistent point gainer last season as he won seven out of eight matches. He started wrestling in the second semester of his freshman year and this was to be final year of varsity competition, a year in which much was expected of him because of his showing before. A new captain will probably be elected from the "W" men after the varsity team selection, which will not be for several weeks.

Spaulding, Gopher Mentor, Given New Contract; Record Like Coach Ryan'sRYANMEN MORALE
HURT BY CRITICISM

That the constant criticism to which the Wisconsin team has been subjected since the beginning of the season has hurt the morale of the players was stated by Guy S. Lowman of the Badger coaching staff in a talk before the Lions club. Coach Lowman pleaded for a revival of spirit and support for the team in the Iowa game next Saturday and diagrammed some of the plays which Iowa may be expected to show in the homecoming battle. He also analyzed the Notre Dame plays that defeated Wisconsin.

The storm seems to be breaking. Rumors yesterday that had no traceable authority predicted that a shakeup in the university athletic department is about to break, that will place Dr. W. E. Meanwell in the place of T. E. Jones as athletic director and just Coach Jack Ryan.

It is regrettable that these things have to go around just when the coaching staff and team is at a crucial period in the year's games. The team has only started. True, it lost to Michigan, but is not Wisconsin able to take defeat as other schools take it?

The rumors indicate that the action that will start the shake-up will come from the regents of the university. Although there has been great pressure for more successful athletics at Wisconsin, especially in football, it seems improbable that the regents will root out the Ryan system before it is well started.

The season is only well begun and talk such as that of yesterday tends to break up the spirit and morale of the team, coaches and followers of the team. The team can work under an average amount of criticism, but this sort of thing breaks confidence a thing which is essential if a team is to win games.

There is no doubt but that the team has been going poorly. They are slow in whipping into shape. All the things that go to make up a successful team have been lacking. But the team has had the spirit and the followers of the team should maintain the same spirit.

Spaulding Followed Successful
Coach at Minnesota; Ryan
Did Likewise

By KEN BUTLER

Coach William Spaulding, of Minnesota, whose coaching record at the Gopher school has been about the same as that of Jack Ryan at Wisconsin, has been tendered a contract for a second term of years and it seems certain he will be signed up again to direct the football destinies at Minnesota.

Spaulding's appointment was about the same as that of Ryan's. When Doc Williams left Minnesota, after a term of successful years, the university went out and brought in a man who had been a good player himself at Wabash, who was middle aged, and who had turned out championship teams at Western State Normal school, Kalamazoo, Michigan.

Ryan Successful at Marquette Coach Ryan, following Coach Richards, played at Dartmouth and later coached successful teams at Marquette university, Milwaukee.

Minnesota followers have the greatest faith in Spaulding. His teams have suffered defeat after defeat, but his system of training is recognized as sound, and the alumni and students have faith in his ability to turn out creditable teams.

Spaulding's teams, like those of Ryan's, have put up a real battle against each eleven they met and in spite of frequent defeat his teams are always feared.

INTERCOLLEGE RUN TO BE HELD TODAY

The intercollege cross country run will start this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. The start and finish will be in front of the men's gymnasium. It will be over the regular 2.9 mile course that has always been used for the intramural cross country runs.

The first five men to finish from each college will constitute the team that will score points for that college. Numerals will be awarded to the first five men to finish and also to the five men on the winning college team. Any man is eligible to compete except the 11 men that have competed in the varsity runs so far this season.

This will be the second intramural run of the season and Coach Mead Burke is anxious that all men who have been working out at cross country this year enter the race as this is the only way he has of checking up on the ability of those who are not on the varsity team.

too. Two or three years ago Zuppke's job at Illinois hung in the balance. Take Yost, of Michigan, too. Two years ago Michigan alumni in some parts demanded his resignation. And Yost is recognized as one of the greatest coaches of the day.

That's the way it goes. But the students have kept an admirable faith during the recent slump. Even after a defeat they storm the ticket office and break first-day sale records handing in applications for the next game.

GRID BATTLE ONLY

Rumor False That "Big Jaw" Planned to Coach Here Again

Official denial was made late Tuesday that John Richards, former Wisconsin grid coach, who is coming here for the homecoming game, was coming on invitation of the athletic department. Rumors that the former Badger mentor was coming to serve as assistant football coach for the remainder of the season had been rife all day Tuesday.

Jones Denies It.

In a statement given to several papers Tuesday afternoon, Thomas E. Jones, head of the athletic department, denied knowledge of Richards' intention to be here for the Homecoming game, adding that his department had issued no invitation for his return. Judge "Ikey" Karel managed to throw some light on the question by declaring that he, as an official of an alumni association, had invited "Big Jaw" to return for the homecoming, and the former Cardinal mentor had accepted the bid.

The fact that Richards is now living in California has led many to believe that he would not make so long a trip without sufficient cause, surmising that he had received a summons to discuss, and probably attempt to remedy, the present athletic situation, but all statements from officials indicate that he is merely coming back as an interested and faithful alumnus to Homecoming and that his visit has no bearing other than that.

A NOSE FOR NEWS

A nose for news is unquestionably a reporter's most valuable possession and the newspaper which can "scoop" its competitor is proud of the reporter who is responsible for the "scoop."

But, while the story which appeared last night in one of the local papers anent a shake-up in the university athletic department, was technically a beat on the other papers, it was decidedly a loss to the paper which published it. Actually it was not a beat, for it had all the ear-marks of a "bunk" story.

It ascribed the various statements to "sources close to the board of regents." No reporter, if he has actual source information, will fail to give it, and we suspect that the source was just as close to the board of regents as the office of the newspaper. The story reminds one of the story which appeared in the other local paper two years ago saying that Richard Little had signed as Wisconsin's head football coach. It was entirely unfounded, and its author did no more than go off half-cocked on a wild tangent. In all probability, that is what the writer of the latest "scoop" did, if he did not do worse.

It is thoroughly understood with the reading public that sentiment is entirely foreign to a newspaper office and that the news is the all-important matter. Nevertheless, it must be remarked that in all probability the story in yesterday's paper is the worst thing which could have come before Wisconsin and the team at this time, with two conference games left on the schedule.

Not only did the reporter run the danger of having himself branded as an ass; he also ran the danger of having a good lake party administered by all who are true Wisconsin backers, which he is not, and have the interest of the team at heart, which he just as obviously does not.

IN PEACE WAR RAGES

With Armistice day just shortly past, it might be well to think again of the war and the peace in a connection which seldom occurs to the average person. Every one knows how many Americans were killed during the war, every one knows that there were as many who were wounded and who are living on now, still suffering from that which ended six years ago and who will perhaps go on suffering the rest of their lives. It is they who laid down their lives just as much or even more than those who were killed in action; laid down their lives with the understanding, at least, that they were doing so for the general good of mankind.

What has happened to them? We know that they exist somewhere. But where? And the answer does not come until we think of the hundreds of hospitals in the country where these men are confined, with no chance of getting out to see a movie or go to a dance or a football game. There they are, shut off from the rest of the world, in solitary confinement, punished most severely for their efforts. In loneliness they can not help brooding, and with nothing to distract them, they give way to unwholesome thoughts, despondency, sadness, bitterness. They are in a living death the while we make merry.

Is there nothing that can be done for them? There is, as a witness whereof we have the letter which appeared recently in one of the local papers written by one of these unfortunates and asking those who are able to help them.

In the vicinity of Madison there are two hospitals which care for these disabled veterans, one across Lake Mendota, one near the fair grounds on Lake Mendota. They are both but a short distance from the campus, easily accessible. It would be a splendid thing if student organizations could make regular visits to these hospitals with the end in view of entertaining the men. Such organizations as Haresfoot, the Wisconsin University players, the Glee club, the band, possibly the gym team and various individual entertainers, such as those who appear in Union vodvil as well as campus musicians could provide excellent entertainment for these ex-soldiers who are still suffering the ravages of war.

We are enjoying the peace which they won; they should be helped to enjoy that peace as well.

THE GLORIFICATION OF MEDIOCRITY

The great aim and purpose of this university seems to be the glorification of the mediocre; all attention is devoted to those students whose grades are "fair" or below. A mighty effort is made to pull the grades of all students up to "standard." What an odious word that is! Standardization! Mechanical standardization! The development of originality and individuality seem to be entirely out of the province of modern education, unless it be in the graduate schools.

The student who is flunking or near to it is the object of great concern; his instructor calls him to conference, his adviser berates him, the deans warn him, his fraternity "rides" him. The attitude toward the student who is "getting by" is generally "let well enough alone." As to the high scholarship man, no one ever dreams of talking to him about improving his work. How many students with 90 averages do the deans see in a semester? They don't need it. Of course not.

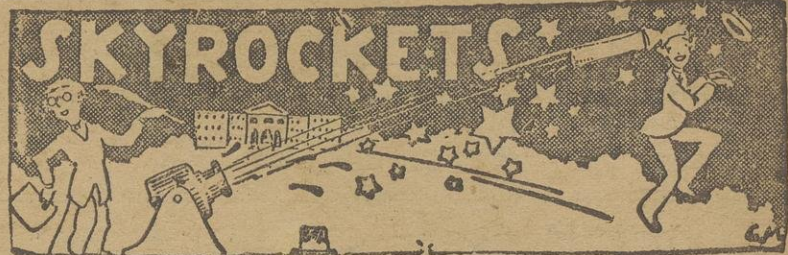

Unfortunately, it is quite possible to get excellent grades from hard work spent in the learning of facts and without acquiring much knowledge. An appalling conviction exists that genius and talent, like murder, will out. If men and women with the averages of good and excellent were properly advised and encouraged, better directed effort, and even increased effort, could be obtained from them which would lead to accomplishments far more important than any which hundreds, who are not really students at all, could ever attain. The objection arises—the instructors, advisers, and deans have not enough time to give individual attention to all students; they must therefore concentrate on those who would otherwise be forced to leave the university. It would be a better thing for universities and for America if the students of college age who have not the initiative or the mental power to keep up with their work, without having clubs held over their heads, were allowed to flunk out, for this type of student does not belong and has no place in university society.

The Tramp Abroad

By M. K. ANKLESARIA

The British Empire club between its closed doors, walls and the members endeavors to strengthen and tie up the empire from within by mutual understanding about the different parts of the empire from their representatives here who are from Canada, Australia, South Africa, Scotland, India, etc. Some of them are his majesty's willing subjects; others, unwilling.

The members may try to tie together. Only they must not forget that "the blood is thicker than water" and that "oil and water do not mix." The former is always on the top. However, it is a fine endeavor. Keep the ball rolling, for there is nothing lost in trying good things sincerely.

Say, can you think of any job that has it over that of working in the library on this Saturday evening?

FULL OF SPIRIT

We got quite a kick out of this little excerpt from last Saturday's chronicle d'affairs: Saw a foreign car floating foreign colors and bearing the inscription, "The Fighting Irish." Within said car, dead to the world of reality, sagged said Irishman, his unconscious form draped about one of the "mother-in-law" seats.

TACT AND FACT

Just to prove that this business of being prof requires ability to use delicate language in difficult places, note this outburst of Sunny Pyre: "The BENEATHS and BENEATHS of the lavish gowns of ladies in Elizabeth's court show us that the dances were comparatively stately." Might call them "watered stock," eh, professor, because they concealed the real figure?

A soiled, tattered, American flag that was carried during the Civil war has been donated to the State Historical museum by Mrs. James B. Prideau. The flag is on exhibit this week in the museum.

This old flag was made by Mrs. George W. Cobb of Mineral Point, and was presented to Company I of the Second Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry. During the entire war it was carried by the regiment, which was one of the regiments of the famous Iron Brigade.

MASSMEETING WILL START HOMECOMING

Harris, Ryan, Fish in Red Vest, and Old Grads Will Speak

The 1924 Homecoming massmeeting will be held in the men's gymnasium tomorrow evening. It will begin at 7 o'clock and will last a half hour, according to Willis Sullivan '11, chairman of the mass meeting committee.

Captain Harris and Coach Jack Ryan will be at the meeting and will speak for the team. Judge John C. "Ikey" Karel, Milwaukee, the Badger who made the lone touchdown against the Gophers in 1894, when Wisconsin won her first victory against Minnesota, will speak.

Prof. Carl Russell Fish is expected to be present with his red vest and white tie, and he will probably talk. The alumni are selecting a speaker to represent them but his name is not yet known. Frank Cosgrove '13 will introduce the speakers.

The second university band will furnish music for the meeting. There will be no overflow meeting as the committee feels that past overflow meetings have not been successes. Special honor will be paid to old "W" men, they having a section of seats reserved for them at the massmeeting.

The committee originally planned on holding the massmeeting on the lower campus so that many more persons could attend the meeting, the capacity of the gym being limited to 2,000. However, plans for a huge bonfire on the lower campus immediately following the meeting precluded this proposal.

Besides the men on the varsity team, almost 300 others played football at the university last year.

UNION BOARD TO PRESENT VIOLINIST

Albert Spaulding, America's Genius, to Appear in Concert November 24

Albert Spaulding, America's greatest violinist, will give a concert November 24, at the stock pavilion.

This concert is one of the series of concerts sponsored by Union board for the purpose of bringing the worlds most talented musicians before Madisonian audiences. Tickets for the concert are on sale and may be secured for $1.50 at Hook brothers.

Mr. Spaulding is America's own genius, and furthermore, he possesses the distinction of being the first American to win an European reputation as an instrumentalist. Leading musical critics of the day not only list Mr. Spaulding as America's greatest violinist, but they give him a prominent position among the foremost violinists of the world.

He was born in Chicago and began playing the violin when only seven years old. He soon became the pupil of the most famous Italian and American teachers, and at the age of ten years he had played before some of the greatest of European nobility.

When 16 years of age he made his professional debut at the Nouveau theater, Paris, and he achieved immediate success. Besides being a wonderful player, Mr. Spaulding is also a composer of some merit. Up to the present time he has appeared before audiences in every prominent city in the world, and he has been very favorably received by all true music lovers.

Dr. V. A. C. Henmon, director of the school of education at the university, will be the speaker at the annual joint meeting of the Men's club and Women's club Wednesday night in Wauwatosa.

BAND MEMBERS HELP TWO WHO LOST COATS

"The bands are a closely knit organization among the musicians in the university," Major E. W. Morphy said, yesterday. "We stand back of all members, and the officers are all keenly interested in the welfare of the individual members."

"Saturday at the game two overcoats, belonging to band members disappeared. At rehearsal Monday night the other men in the organization chipped in to help these men who sustained the loss."

"This action was not one of charity, but merely one to show the men who lost their overcoats that we, the other members, stand behind them," he said.

GRAD PICTURES TO FEATURE PROGRAM

Former Grid Heroes and Other Famous Athletes Will Appear in Booklet

The program for Homecoming is composed essentially of pictures.

Two full pages have been devoted to pictures of athletes of former years, including such men as Red Weston, Hod Oftsie, Pat O'Dea and Ralph Scott.

"Six pages of individual squad members and two pages of the squad itself along with a picture of the freshman football squad Badger Studio are presented in the issue," Paul McGinnis, chairman of the Homecoming program, said yesterday. Pictures of Iowa squad members, of the Iowa team, Coach Burt Ingwersen and Captain Leland Parker will show the readers the pictorial detail of Iowa's football team.

The band, the cross country squad, Coach Jack Ryan and Captain Jack Harris are all pictured in the program. Short articles containing the prospects and problems of the seasonal sports are mixed in with the pictures.

CHICAGO SELLS TICKETS

Editor, the Daily Cardinal:—
Just a letter in response to something I read in the Daily Cardinal the other day concerning the manner in which football tickets are sold at the University of Wisconsin. The writer mentioned that a new system had to be found in order to eliminate the long waiting line for tickets of important games. He also mentioned that they were not in the predicament Chicago was, in that, "the student had to present his picture in order to obtain a ticket." It is here I wish to differ and inform you that we don't have to do that here because we have a very efficient way of getting tickets. It is true that we have our pictures in our "C" books which contain tickets for all the games and are only issued to students. The books are absolutely not transferable—hence the picture.

But—when we want tickets for coming events for Friday and Saturday complete the issue.

The program will be sold at the game and throughout the morning on Saturday for twenty-five cents.

our parents or friends for games we go to the stadium office and make out applications for them. We need no picture to do that. The tickets are given out entirely by lot. Only two tickets for the Illinois-Chicago and Wisconsin-Chicago games are allowed to one student. This year they were allowed two for the Brown game and as many as one wanted for the other games.

Now, do you think that is a far better way of selling tickets than other schools in the middle west have? It has proved very successful.

Just standing up for what is the truth,

Left Turn Elimination Discussed By Aldermen

The resolution asking the change in the traffic ordinance was presented at the last meeting of the common council by Ald. A. G. Park.

W. S. G. A. ADDS TO HOUSE FUND

Act in Response to Demands
From Co-operative Houses on Campus

Approximately $400 has been added recently to the co-operative house fund by W. S. G. A., this amount having been transferred from the smaller of the two loan funds which W. S. G. A. has been maintaining.

This was done in answer to several urgent demands made by the various co-operative houses on the campus which include Tabard Inn, University house, Fallows house, Charter house, and the prospective houses, Barnard house and the English house.

The other loan fund maintained by W. S. G. A., which totals nearly $1,000, is available to any woman student. Loans can be obtained by application to the chairman of the student loan fund. No interest is charged on these loans, according to Alice Corl '25, W. S. G. A. president, except after maturity.

"Co-operative houses for women have been very successful," Miss Corl said yesterday. "Different organizations have financed them in the beginning and now most of the older houses are self-supporting. In some of the houses seniors act as house mothers. W. S. G. A. finds that these houses are the best managed houses on the campus and they are decidedly self-governing."
