MATHEWS TO TALK SUNDAY AT "Y" MEET

Chicago Dean Will Open Series of Sunday Morning Gatherings

Dean Shailer Mathews, head of the divinity school of the University of Chicago, will speak at the first of a series of men's meetings at the university Y. M. C. A. tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock on the subject, "Has the Bible a Place Among University Men?"

Dean Mathews was one of the chief speakers at the Campus Religious conference in March, 1920, and the large audience which heard him that time made most favorable comments on his speech.

Speaks Much

In his position at Chicago, Dean Mathews has had ample opportunity to come into close contact with students and to understand their attitude toward religion. He has spoken at most of the universities of the country.

As president of the Northern Baptist convention, he has come into close touch with that denomination throughout the United States. Besides being a lecturer, he has written several books and is considered an authority on religious subjects in many parts of the world.

Form Study Groups

At the time of the address, discussion and study groups will be formed. No such groups were organized last year, but those of two years ago were well attended.

"How to Study" and "How to Make a Budget" are subjects that will be studied this year by the freshmen mens study groups, which will meet on Sunday mornings in the university Y. M. C. A. parlors. The freshmen will be divided into three groups, and the upperclassmen into two.

This year the freshmen and upperclassmen will have separate groups. The freshmen will have three courses and the upperclassmen two.

Cardinal Introduces New Feature Section In Sunday's Issue

A leisurely breakfast on Sunday morning—you're a bit unconcerned with the busy affairs of the week—turn to the feature section—

Read—

"Figures of Earth," a delightful book-review.

"Color Sketches of Today's Game."

"Men of Wisconsin"—a bit of what Wisconsin boasts.

"The Trail of the Varsity Movie."

TO PURCHASE SITE FOR UNION TODAY

Negotiations for the purchase of the building site will be completed sometime today as a result of the meeting of the Union Memorial board, held recently in Milwaukee.

A committee of 600 students under the leadership of L. S. Baker '22 will begin campaigning for funds at once. S. H. Goodnight, has been released from part of his university duties, and is devoting much of his time to the memorial campaign.

DEAN ROE TO TALK AT Y. W. VESPERS

"The College Woman in the New World" is the subject on which Dean F. W. Roe, of the College of Letters and Science, will speak at the Y. W. C. A. vesper services next Sunday afternoon.

All university women, especially freshmen, are invited by the Y. W. C. A. to attend this meeting, which will be held in Lathrop hall parlors at 4:30 p. m. Clara Leiser '24, accompanied by Barbara Hastings '24, will sing. Helen Kasbeer '23, will have charge of the meeting.

FROSH AND SOPHS SHOW ENTHUSIASM AT "PEP" MEETING

Wood, Jones, and Knollin Urge Underclassmen to Get Behind Team

Wisconsin spirit and a high pitch of enthusiasm were predominant at the "pep" meeting of freshmen and sophomores held at the armory yesterday afternoon at 4:30 for the purpose of spreading a contagion of spirit preliminary to the Lawrence game.

Speeches were made by Major John S. Wood, commandant; T. E. Jones, head of the physical education department; and Albert Knollin '22, president of the Athletic board and captain of this year's track team. Cheers were led by Lawrence Hall '20, and the singing was under the direction of Prof. P. W. Dykema.

"Work Up Spirit"

"Work up spirit to start the season right, and let the team know that you are behind it," said Major Wood, immediately after the band had opened the meeting with "On Wisconsin." At the close of his speech, Major Wood introduced T. E. Jones.

"Every man gets Wisconsin spirit before the close of his four years here," said Coach Jones, "but I hope that you will get it in a week. There is no money in school spirit, but neither was there any money in shouldering a gun and going to France—it's the spirit that counts."

Frosh to March

In conclusion, Coach Jones explained that all freshmen are to meet on the lower campus at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, and are to march out to the game as a class. He advised all freshmen to purchase their tickets before going to the field in order to avoid the breaking of ranks at the gate.

BREWER CHOSEN NEWS EDITOR OF DAILY CARDINAL

Sunday Feature Section in Charge of Schwinn—Other Appointments

G. Frederick Brewer '22 was appointed news editor of The Daily Cardinal at a meeting of the Board of Control yesterday afternoon. Brewer fills the vacancy left on the staff when William M. Sale '22 was appointed managing editor.

The feature section, which is to be a regular four-page addition to the Sunday morning issue, starting October 2, was placed in charge of Walter K. Schwinn '22. The following desk assistants were appointed: Porter Butts '24, Robert Reynolds '23, Karl Maier '23, Harry Maier '24, Maurice Perstein '24, and Walter Pfister '23. E. C. Crane '23 and L. J. Melrose '24 were appointed to the reportorial staff.

The position of merchandising service manager was created on the business staff and Blanche K. Field '23 was appointed to take this position for personal work with Cardinal advertisers.

Board Explains Action

In appointing a man who is not at present a member of the Cardinal staff, as news editor, the board explains its action through its desire precedent to which the paper has always attempted to adhere, namely, that of having a senior in school hold this position on the staff. The present staff is composed of juniors, and sophomores, the board states, and it is its wish that this place be filled this year by a man who graduates in June following his appointment. The board feels that the organization of the present staff depends on each man filling the place to which he was appointed last June.

Brewer has been connected with college publications for several years, and the board feels that he is well qualified to take up the duties of news editor.

HOLD TRYOUTS FOR CHEERLEADERS AT LAWRENCE GAME

All sophomores or freshmen men who wish to obtain positions on the Varsity cheerleaders' squad will be given a chance to take part in the leading of yells and songs at the Lawrence game this afternoon. The results of these tryouts will determine those chosen for the squad, and they will assist in the leading of future games.

CARSON LYMAN TO BECOME EDITOR OF LAKE GENEVA NEWS

Carson F. Lyman '21 was in Madison yesterday on his way to Lake Geneva, where he will take the position of managing editor on the Lake Geneva News, a weekly paper.

Since his graduation last spring, Lyman has been copy reader and telegraph editor on the Milwaukee Journal.

BADGERS PLAY LAWRENCE IN OPENER TODAY

Game Begins at 2 O'Clock; Freshmen March to Field Together

PROBABLE LINEUP

Wisconsin	Lawrence
Tebell	R. E. Stark
Hohlfeldt	R. T. McGlynn
Nelson	R. G. Ketchum
Bunge	C. Capt. Smith
Brumm	R. G. Hunting
Brader	L. T. Blackburn
Horne or Gould	L. E. Doering
Gibson	Q. B. Ziebell
Williams	L. F. Basing
Elliott	R. F. Kubitz
Capt. Sundt	F. B. Grignon

In its first game of the 1921 grid season, the Wisconsin football team will engage Lawrence college this afternoon at Camp Randall. The game is scheduled to begin at 2 o'clock. All entrance to the stands will be from Breese terrace, and freshmen will meet at 1:30 on the lower campus preparatory to marching to the game in a body. Sections F and G have been reserved for them.

Still Experimenting

Exactly 16 days after the start of official practice in Madison, Coach John R. Richards is still experimenting in his lineup. Only a few players can be said to have practically cinched their positions.

Captain Guy M. Sundt is a surety at the fullback post, and Tebell has no strong competition for right end. Bunge is working well at center, with "Jimmy" Brader certain of the 'right tackle berth. "T" Gould is available for both end and left half-back positions. Elliott played a strong pre-season game at right half, but backfield and line may be radically changed at any time.

Hard Practice

The light workout which was predicted for the squad yesterday did not materialize. Richards sent his charges through a tough program of secret practice, and it was not until 5:30 that he called a halt. Many changes were made in the lineup during the Friday afternoon practice. "Big Jaw" used every possible combination, giving each available prospect an opportunity to prove his worth before game.

LAKE STREET TO BE DONE IN OCTOBER

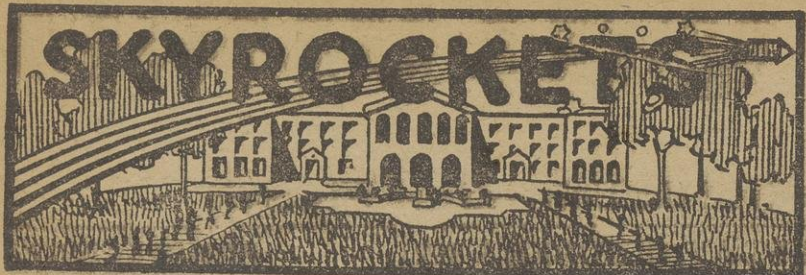

The paving of Lake street with sheet asphalt will be finished about the middle of October, according to information received yesterday at the office of the city engineer.

Lake street has been closed from the lake to State street ever since last June, when the worn-out macadam pavement was torn up. This has been a great inconvenience not only to Lake street dwellers but also to those who live on Langdon street, since Langdon streets has been blocked at this point.

CUSS p DOOR tells this one on himself. He says that "Cleared-eyed" Mac burst in on him the other morning with the remark that there are two kinds of skates, cheap skates, and ice skates. "What do you mean?" pipes up CUSS, all anxious for the answer. "Well," says Mac, "I don't see you sliding along."

THAT leads the CUSS on to tell the story of the cheapest man in the world, which he says was told to him by one of the CHI PHI alumni. This particular man was married in the afternoon, took his wife for a trolley ride, and then bought a nickel's worth of candy, incidentally suggesting that they save the candy for the children.

THEN the CUSS, who has been handing us quite a little in the way of contribs, takes a little crack at us, which we cannot refrain from letting you in on. He says that he likens the above married man to us, because we are evidently saving some of his many contribs for the proverbial rainy day. The real reason is this, old CUSS. You must realize that everything that you hand in is not always appropriate, possibly because we happen to have heard it before, which makes it unfortunate for you, to be certain, or possibly because we just don't want to use it, which is still more unfortunate. But keep up the good work, anyway; you're bound to tickle our funny bone more on some days than on others.

time.

If the Badgers find Lawrence as easy as last year, a flock of substitutes will probably parade onto the field and get into the contest. Although it is doubtful if he starts, Irish, Madison end, is almost sure to be tested under fire. Hans Gude, in his first week of practice, is slated to get a try at one of the guard positions, and various other Badger second string men may enter the contest.

Coach Richards is making no predictions of an easy game for his team. The defeat of Northwestern by Beloit last Saturday is too fresh in the minds of Big Ten coaches to permit them to take any team lightly. "Bear stories" have been regularly emanating from the Appleton camp. Coach Harlan D. McChesney declared that he has had to rebuild a great part of the team, and that as a result it is inexperienced.

It is almost the same team, however, which walloped Beloit, Carroll, and Ripon colleges during last season. Lawrence won the Little Five conference championship in 1920 by a last-half defeat of the Ripon college team. The Badgers have a fighting squad, headed by "Cub" Buck, one of the best line-men who ever wore a Wisconsin uniform, they have absorbed a fair knowledge of the Badgers' style of play. Whether this knowledge will be of any help this afternoon remains to be seen.

Smith, Appleton, center, is said to be superior to any center in Wisconsin. A great duel between Bunge and the collegian should take place tomorrow. Basing and Kubitz are two veterans halfbacks who have played for two years, and who work together like two cogs in a machine. Doering is one of the fastest ends in the state, a good man on the defense, and a consistent receiver of forward passes.

Critics believe that Lawrence will attempt trick plays. The short kickoff and other freak formations are forecasted, but the steam roller attack of Wisconsin is expected to presage its true worth against Lawrence today.

Officials for the Wisconsin-Lawrence game are: Ajines, Yale, referee; W. D. Knight, Dartmouth, umpire; "Doc" Huagel, Marquette, linesman; Major Wood, West Point, field judge.

Nov. 19—Indiana at Bloomington.

WHAT THE COACHES SAY:

Coach John R. Richards—My team is at this stage of the season not in as good condition as it was for the Lawrence game last year. Experimentations have prevented the squad from rounding into the best of shape. Coach Harlan D. McChesney—We will give Wisconsin a better game than we did last year. New, untried men will be under fire for the first time, however, and this makes the Lawrence showing a bit uncertain. I have had to develop inexperienced players in several positions, and as a result, I don't know what they will do.

Maroon Meets Purple Today In First Conference Clash

Presenting--
GUY SUNDT

For three years the name of Guy Sundt '22 has been on the lips of every Wisconsin football rooter. This year, his fourth on the Badger Varsity, he is leading the team from the position of fullback and gives promise of outdoing his previous record as a gridiron star.

Sundt came to Wisconsin in 1918 and played fullback on the S. A. T. C. Varsity of that year, winning his "W" in his freshman year. This was the beginning of his career on the Wisconsin gridiron. In his sophomore year, Sundt played his usual fast game at halfback. Last year he returned to his old position of fullback and won an envious reputation in the conference. William Eckersall of the Chicago Tribune placed Captain Sundt on his second All-Conference team in 1920.

Sundt's high school career was also brilliant. Before coming to the university he was one of the greatest all-around athletes ever sent out of Stoughton high school. For two years he was a star on the football, baseball and basketball teams and was a member of the track teams for three seasons.

Teams Throughout Country Go Into Action on Gridiron Today

With few exceptions, every football team in the country will go into action today. The big event of the day, as far as western and mid-western followers are concerned, will take place at Evanston, where Northwestern and Chicago meet in the first Big Ten clash of the season.

While it is not generally conceded that the Maroons will not encounter much trouble in winning from the Purple eleven, it is hard to tell just what changes Coach Elmer McDevitt's men have undergone during the past week, and an upset in the dope is not entirely out of the question.

Northwestern-Chicago

After taking a beating from Beloit last Saturday, Coach McDevitt has had his men working out hard every day this week. He even went so far as to hold a practice last Sunday, showing that a real effort has been made to put a team on to the field that will give a good account of itself.

Paddy Driscoll, star halfback on the Northwestern team in 1915 and 1916, has taken charge of the backfield, giving McDevitt a chance to concentrate his attention on the line. Buddy Ellis, running mate of Driscoll in 1916, has also been assisting with the coaching during the past week.

Northwestern's hopes were considerably boosted yesterday when it became known that Ole Dahle, a 210 pound star tackle, and Penfield, who was injured in one of the first practices of the year, will be in the lineup which will take the field against Chicago.

Indiana-Harvard

Dopesters and fans are also eagerly waiting to see what kind of a showing Coach "Jumbo" Stiehm's Hoosiers will make tomorrow in their last game before they travel to Harvard on October 8. Wabash is reported to have a strong team, and the game will afford Coach Stiehm an opportunity to further discover and correct the weak points in his team's performance.

In addition to the Chicago-Northwestern clash, every other team in the Big Ten conference, with the exception of Illinois, will play one of the games of their preliminary schedule today. The Iowa team, which has been robbed of its championship hopes by ineligibility and injuries, will meet the Knox college eleven at Iowa City. Coach "Doc" Williams' reconstructed Gopher eleven for their first game of the season against the grid warriors from the North Dakota state university. Ohio State, Purdue, and Michigan each open their schedules against some of the smaller schools.

DePauw-Notre Dame

DePauw and Notre Dame meet in what promises to be one of the most exciting battles of the day. DePauw is a sort of a dark horse this year, and they have an outside chance.

LET US PUT THE ROOF ON

THE Union Memorial building is on the way to realization. At last the machinery for bringing the fund campaign to a successful close has been organized and promises to expedite the gathering of the remaining portion of the fund.

Up to this time more than half of the million dollar fund has been received in pledges and donations. The Board of Regents, the alumni, and private individuals and friends of the university have thus far splendidly co-operated with the student body to make the Memorial Union building a fact.

The question of the necessity of the Union building here at Wisconsin has been answered so frequently and forcibly and convincingly that to revive it at this time would be both useless and foolhardy. The need of a Union building to act as the fountain head of Wisconsin's many activities, social and intellectual, is an undisputed fact.

Fortunately, thus far, the campaign has been progressing steadily, though slowly. But now it is about time to see this thing through, and put the finishing touches on. The Middle West recognizes Wisconsin the foremost state university within its boundaries. The University of Michigan is already enjoying the benefits of its Union building, which is a gorgeous, expensive, and commodious edifice. The University of Illinois, Ohio State university, and the University of Kansas have almost completed extensive campaigns for memorial stadiums and are intending to build immediately. Harvard university has closed its campaign for a Union building.

The other universities are apparently getting the lead on us. We must get into our own and catch up mighty fast.

We need the Union building now more than ever. Our university is growing; our interests are becoming more varied; our lack of an adequate social center tends to become a source of friction and disorganization.

We must see that the campaign soon to be launched is brought to a speedy, successful end and the Union building made a living reality at Wisconsin.

A WONDERFUL MEETING

THE freshmen and the sophomores got together yesterday afternoon in the armory, listened to some good speeches, and did some singing and yelling.

All things considered, it was the most inspiring "pep" meeting held within the memory of the undergraduates now in school. There was a tremendous power to the cheers, an indomitable swing to the songs.

Within five minutes those 2,000 men learned more about Wisconsin spirit than they could learn in a life-time by preachments and editorials.

Those men ought to get together every week.

It would go far toward settling the question of welding this student body into one loyal band.

Those same men ought to sit in the same cheering section at every football game and sing and yell as they did yesterday.

It would be the most impressive sight in the conference.

Here is another idea for our folks who are concerned with worth while traditions which command respect without clubbings over the head or duckings in the lake.

"CULTURE BY CONTACT"

THE most perfect relation between people is the comradeship of intellect. It is perhaps peculiar that the mind is more plastic to the impressions of living and vacillating people than to frigid and hard fact volumes. But it appears to be true and this principle is being embodied in our university education today.

Robert Frost, a poet of the first rank of the modern school, has been invited by the University of Michigan to become a sort of honorary member of the faculty at a salary of $5,000, to write his poetry, and incidentally act as an inspirational incentive to the student body. A similar step was taken by a prominent southern university, which granted a fellowship to Percy Mackaye, another outstanding American poet. President Burton of Michigan, in announcing his venture, declared that if the project proves a success, he will follow up his experiment by inviting other inspirational figures in future years.

The idea, like most ideas, is not entirely new. Yet it is interesting to note how other universities seek about for men that will prove an incentive and model to their men. But sometimes there is no need for searching foreign parts to find such unusual men. It must be admitted, however, that such personalities are needed everywhere.

We are fortunate, indeed, that we have no dearth of such men at Wisconsin. Some of our heads of departments and professors have national, if not international, reputations, and not a few have real inspirational influence.

Perhaps we had better continue to get our inspiration from these. Nevertheless, it is of value to remind every student that to leave the university without seeking the influence of these prominent figures we prize at Wisconsin is, to speak mildly, an intellectual crime.

chance of defeating the expert Notre Dame eleven.

A new ruling this year which promises to be of great benefit to the spectator is one pertaining to the numbering of each player. The rule states that each Big Ten player will wear an 8-inch white letter on the back of his jersey that will be visible the entire length of the field. While every team in the conference, with the exception of Illinois and Minnesota, has always favored and used a system of this kind, the size and color of the numbers was often so varied that they were of little benefit to the spectator.

75 TRY OUT FOR MEN'S GLEE CLUB

More than 75 men tried out this year for the Glee club under the direction of Prof. E. E. Swinney of the School of Music.

"Never have I listened to so many pleasing voices during my connection with the club, as were at the tryouts Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday," said Professor Swinney.

More than half the old members are back, so there is a substantial nucleus upon which to promote reorganization for a very successful season.

At the first business meeting held Sept. 29, general plans for this year were discussed. The officers who will have charge of this year's program, under the guidance of Director Swinney, are: Howard Sharp '22, president and general manager; Oscar Christianson '22, business manager; Whitford Huff '22, publicity manager; Harry Carswell '22, secretary and treasurer; Thomas Dartnell '23, librarian.

Says Couple Today Can Wed On Single Dollar

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—"A young man and woman, gifted with a goodly amount of education, health and moral character, could marry today with a single dollar as working capital and get away with it," Prof. William McKeever, for 20 years a member of the faculty of the Kansas agricultural school, told students of the Milwaukee normal school. But he said there were too many people who marry who are not fit to be husband and wife and who soon land in the divorce courts. Prof. McKeever was very marked in his statements against the jazz dance. He said "beware of the jazz dance. In its extreme form, it is undermining the health and moral fiber of American youth."
