ANNUAL DEBATE IS AWARDED TO ATHENA SOCIETY

Last Year's Record Is Duplicated in Soph Semi-Public

Athena Literary society, duplicating her last year's feat, won annual sophomore semi-public debate last night by defeating Philomathia's negative team and Hesperia's affirmative. The debate question involved the proposed Ship Subsidy bill, and was: "Resolved, that the Lasker Bill merits adoption."

In the third debate, between Philomathia's affirmative and Hesperia's negative teams, the decision was awarded to the negative. With this result, the three sections of the debate ended with Athena the winner of two, Hesperia the winner of one, and Philomathia losing both.

The successful Athenian affirmative team consisted of Simon S. Levitan '25, Richard V. Rade '25, and Lewis S. Berkoff '25, closer. The winning negative of Athena was Max N. Lyon '25, Glen H. Bell '25 and Alfred H. Nicolaus '25, closer.

Favor Merchant Marine

Hesperia's negative consisted of B. T. Masslich '25, E. A. Uehling '25, and H. A. Craneheld '25, closer while their affirmative team was C. W. Damsheuser '25, C. C. Fransien '25, and F. C. Stuart '25. Philomathia's affirmative team was H. K. Snell '25, M. A. Brackett, and S. E. Strong '25 and the negative, V. F. Houghton '25, H. J. Sporer '25 and G. W. Mitchell '25.

The main points of the winning affirmative team were that a strong merchant marine is a great asset both in peace and war; that a merchant marine is essential; and that to obtain these ends, we must have such a law as the Ship Subsidy bill in operation.

Bill Is Unsound

The successful Athenian negative based their arguments on the facts that the bill is ineffective and would defeat its own purpose; that the bill would involve the United States in international subsidy entanglements and eventually in military conflicts; and that the bill is economically unsound.

Hesperia's winning negative declared that such legislation was unnecessary, because of present conditions, that the proposed bill granted too autocratic powers to the shipping board, and that the measure gave money to an unworthy cause.

PROM OFFICIALS CHOOSE SLOGAN

"The Prom for Every Badger" is the slogan selected for the Junior prom. The decision was made last night by Gordon B. Wanzer, general chairman, and the assistant general chairman.

The prize of $5 was awarded to Sydney B. Solinger '24. His slogan was duplicated by seven other persons. Solinger's reached prom headquarters first, having been recorded at 3:30 o'clock on the second day of the contest.

"Count of the number of suggestions showed that 212 slogans were received," Wanzer said. "It was difficult to do the judging because of the similarity of a great many of them. Most of the short, snappy slogans were handed in by more than one person. The rules were that the prize should go to the first person who handed in the suggestion."

The winning slogan was chosen because it is expressive of the scope of the prom," Wanzer said. "The word 'Every' probably did more to make it a winner than any thing else," he said. "Badger makes it distinctly Wisconsin and puts the stamp of Wisconsin zeal on it. 'Every' makes it democratic."

The assistant general chairmen voted to publish their thanks to every person who submitted a slogan.

EXPECT 300 AT RACINE HOLIDAY UNION FUNCTION

"Enthusiasm over the Racine Memorial Union dance is running high," Gordon R. Walker '26, declared yesterday in speaking of plans for the coming event which will be held at the Elks' club, Racine, on either December 28 or 29. "We expect to sell over 300 tickets at $3 a couple, which will more than double our quota."

A Madison orchestra is being negotiated for to furnish the music. A number of features are being planned.

The affair will be informal and will be open to the general public. The ticket sale is in charge of Racine students attending the university, but alumni at home will assist with distribution.

Walker is in charge of the dance. He is assisted by Osborne Hand '26, Josephine Keech '24, Richard Lund '26, and Jack Harris '25. More committee members will be chosen soon to complete the arrangements now being planned.

AUDIENCE FAVORS BLANSHARD'S TALK

Mr. Paul Blanshard, educational director of the amalgamated clothing union, won an audience decision over Mr. Noel Sargent, manager of the open shop department of the National Association of Manufacturers, in a debate on the open vs the closed shop at Music hall last night, under the auspices of the Social Science club.

Prof. E. A. Ross, professor of sociology, introduced the speakers, and acted as judge but did not renounce its approval of Mr. Blanshard's arguments for the closed shop by interrupting him twice, and giving him the greater part of the applause at the conclusion of the speeches.

Mr. Sargent, opened the debate by appealing for the welfare of the general public and outlining the abuses of the closed shop in regard to price restriction of output, apprenticeship, and exclusive agreements. He quoted from reports of the head of the American Federation of Labor and recent Army reports on the inefficiency of labor during the war.

In reply Mr. Blanshard attacked the affirmative for its stand in citing cases only from the craft unions of New York and Chicago.

Mr. Blanshard unfolded a vivid description of the conditions of the worker as his personality is ground down, and he is forced to the lower strata of humanity. He indicated the past success of unionism in raising wages and improving the organization which brings humanity into industry.

After the debate the audience was given an opportunity to question either speaker concerning any phase of the question.

Octopus Issues Early Call For Prom Copy

The deadline for all material for the prom number of the Octopus has been set for next Tuesday, announced Herbert Townsend '23, managing editor, at a meeting of the board of editors yesterday.

Because the issue will be on sale on January 12, it is necessary to set this early deadline for art and editorial material, due to the vacation period.

The prom number will reflect all phases of that event according to Townsend. Short prose and poetry selections on any subject relative to this general idea, will be welcomed at the Octopus office on or before December 12.

SQUARE CLUB IS INSTALLED IN NATIONAL BODY

98 Masons Become Charter Members of Square And Compass

Exactly 98 university Masons, including three faculty members, signed the constitution of the national Square and Compass making them charter members of Wisconsin square at installation ceremonies last night at the Christ Presbyterian church.

Edward E. Parkinson acted as representative of the national president in the ceremonies and administered the oaths, assisted by Garold C. Jenison, grad, acting as marshal.

Delivers Address

Rufus S. Phillips '23, president of the club, proceeded with the business of the new organization. The officers of the Square club were elected to serve for the remainder of the semester. New officers will assume their duties at the beginning of the second semester.

Charles E. Whelan, past grand master of Wisconsin, delivered the address of the evening at the banquet immediately following the ceremonies. Mr. Whelan congratulated the men on the part they are taking in campus affairs and urged them to take the full responsibilities expected of them.

"Become calm, clean, clear-thinking leaders," he said. "If you seek to lead men, lead them because you are men of that broad responsibility of higher ideals."

Choose Delegate

Mr. Parkinson presented the charter to Phillips on behalf of the national organization. Short talks were given by Howard V. Funk '23, Erwin J. Kaderabek, president of the club last semester, and Lynne H. Halverson, toastmaster.

Funk was chosen to be the club's delegate to the national convention to be held at Lexington, Va. January 2 and 3.

Officers for the second semester are Howard V. Funk '23, president; Lynne H. Halverson, '23 vice president; Herbert Licking '23, secretary; Richard W. Austermann '23, treasurer.

New Literary Magazine Will Be Out Monday

The Wisconsin Literary Magazine will be ready for distribution next Monday.

Instead of the usual black and white cover, the December issue cover will be an illustration by Elizabeth Morrison '23.

Madison Choral Union To Give Public Concert

The Madison Choral Union will give a free public concert at the Christ Presbyterian church at 8:15 o'clock next Monday. The program will consist of 12 carols from many nationalities.

"Listen to the Lambs" a negro religious song in the form of an anthem, will be a number on the program. It was written by R. Nathaniel Dett, who is one of the leading negro composers of today. He has retained, in this selection, the rhythm and religious tone of his people in the slave days.

Carols from England, Norway, Germany, France, Austria and America, will be sung also. Many of them are true folk songs and others are representative of notable composers.

The concert is under the direction of Prof. Peter W. Dykema of the University School of Music. The accompanist is Mr. George K. Hibbets.

POOR CHILDREN WILL FROLIC AT Y. M. C. A. PARTY

One hundred poor children will be entertained by the university Y. M. C. A. at a Christmas party to be given at 7:30 Sunday night in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A.

Invitations have been sent to the children and only those with invitations will be admitted. University men are inviting them personally and will bring them to the party.

This is the fifth year that the Y. M. C. A. has given this kind of a party. Last year there was such an overflow that all could not be handled. When the men arrived in Little Italy they found groups of five and ten waiting on the corners. Where one was invited six came. This year the Y. M. C. A. has overcome this difficulty by issuing personal invitations.

Refreshments will consist of ice-cream cones, all-day suckers, popcorn balls, and Christmas cookies in the shapes of various animals.

Wilbur Katz '24 and the social service committee have charge of arrangements for the children. The social committee under William Thompson '24, have charge of decorations.

CHILDS CAMPAIGN YIELDS ONLY $180

No more than $180 was collected up to last night in the general canvass for funds to support Jack Childs, Wisconsin's representative in China.

The small amount of money taken in the general canvass was ascribed to the failure of captains getting out and working by Thomas A. Tredwell '23, general chairman of the movement. Only one captain had given a complete report at 9 o'clock last night.

Success Depends On Workers

"If Wisconsin is to make a success of this thing, workers must get busy and do their work this week before the vacation rush begins," Tredwell declared last night.

Lucius Chase '23, assistant chairman, asserted that the success of the movement on the campus at this time was dependent upon the forty captains and their men who are supposed to be at work among the student body.

"The belief in the work of Childs and the money is present, and our men must realize that it is their duty to finish their work at once," Chase declared.

No actual reports as to the funds subscribed by the fraternities have been given out, but indications are that this wing of the movement is more successful than the general canvass.

Special Trains To Take Students Home For Xmas

VARSITY FALLS BEFORE ATTACK OF COLLEGIANS

Battling Butler Basketball Team Wins By 20-13 Score

Butler did it again. Battling indomitably and breaking through the Badger defense with long shots, a plucky Butler college basketball team trounced Wisconsin 20 to 13, in the first game of the season played here last night.

A crowd of 2,000 fans, the largest number that has ever witnessed a preliminary game in the university gymnasium saw Wisconsin go down fighting.

For the second time in two years, a team developed by Coach Pat Paige has defeated Coach Walter E. Meanwell's proteges. A quintet of natural basket shooters was pitted against a team of mechanical passers, and the men who could shoot were the victors.

Tebell Scores

The game was a good defensive battle. Guards were drawn down the court far enough so that the forwards were forced to take longer shots. The Meanwell dictum that tries at the net are to be taken over short distances was discarded when Butler guards presented a stonewall defense to the Wisconsin forwards. Three Wisconsin forwards played without scoring a single counter. Gus Tebell, with two long throws, both arched accurately, one from the center of the floor, lead in scoring. In addition to his two baskets, he made two free throws—all that he attempted. Rollie Williams made the fourth Badger basket.

Time after time, Wisconsin drew in for tries at the net, and inability to follow them successfully cost the game. The Indiana outfit threw the ball at the board and with several men racing in singly for follow tries, usually counted. Poor guarding by the Wisconsin team permitted them to shoot until they made the basket.

Badgers Tie Score

Butler swung into the lead when Griggs made good on a free throw after Gibson's foul. From this point on, the collegians augmented their total steadily although they faltered shortly before the end of the half and allowed Wisconsin to tie the score at nine all when the first period came to a close. The whirlwind shooting attack was continued in the last half and the winners forged ahead until they held a seven point lead.

VARSITY FALLS BEFORE ATTACK OF COLLEGIANS

Battling Butler Basketball Team Wins By 20-13 Score

Wisconsin scored one basket in the last period, Gibson getting it after several failures. Two free throws by Tebell added the only other points garnered in this period while Butler scored one more point than it had chalked up in the initial period.

Haldeen Griggs, center, was the scoring star of the game. The husky pivot man hit the net for 8 of his team's points, six of them coming on free throws. Right forward Nipper dropped in three baskets during the last half before he was injured and relieved.

Shoot Poorly

Wisconsin registered a miserable scoring record. Although the Badgers got enough tries at the net to win two games, they were rarely successful. Les Gage was the key to the Wisconsin offense, but his shooting was off form.

Gibson's rushes towards the goal opened up innumerable opportunities for baskets, but the big center was unable to score when he did secure the chance. Elsom played pluckily against the fast Butler quintet. Lack of endurance forced him out of the game in the first half and erratic passes marred his work during the latter part of the game after he had relieved Barwig. The Badger guards were in no position to stop the accurate long shots of Butler's tossers. They seemed unable to halt the college team even when play was under their own basket, and lacked the speed necessary to cope with the fast Butler floor work.

Coach Frank Murray, Marquette university, scouted the game for his team, which meets Butler tonight in Milwaukee and stacks up against Wisconsin here on Wednesday December 3.

COACH ADVISES NUMERALS FOR 26 YEARLINGS

According to an announcement made at the gymnasium yesterday, seventeen freshman football players were recommended by Coach Earl S. Driver for sweaters and numerals. Nine were recommended for numerals only.

Bud Walsh, Madison player, who was injured early in the season is in the list of numeral winners.

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR WRESTLING TEAM VICTORY

The prospects for a good wrestling team look better than ever this year. Competition is keen in every class, and it will be a hard job to pick the best man.

"We will have a much better team this year than we had last year," was the statement given out by Coach Hitchcock last night.

Two men in the 115-pound class are hard to beat. These men who will support the 115-pound class are Suzuki and Phelps.

In the 125-pound class three men, Stair, Haddorff, Bendow, are showing rare form. Holmes of the 135-pound class seems to have the edge at present on the other men in that class. However, "Bob" is being pushed hard to hold down the job.

Captain Templin is counted on for big things. This is his third year of wrestling. He also has developed himself until he is in practically a perfect condition for a varsity wrestler.

The frosh wrestling squad work out every Tuesday and Thursday night. From all indications they will be of value to the varsity next year.

TO MAKE WINTER SPORTS ELECTIVE

Winter sports may be elected in place of gym classes after the holidays. George Martin, grad, founder of the Badger Ski club, will conduct classes for both men and women in skating and in skiing.

The classes will be conducted with as much regularity as the weather will permit. Those who are not now enrolled in regular gym classes may enter the volunteer classes that are to be formed. An emphasis will be given to cross country skiing and to fancy skating.

Schedules will be posted after the volunteer classes. Saturday and Sunday classes will be held for those who cannot attend during the week.

Men who are interested in either of these sports are asked to meet Martin at 1:00 o'clock Saturday in the gym to learn about securing equipment and arrangement of classes.

SIXTEEN TEAMS ENTER ANNUAL FRAT CONTESTS

More Than 100 Runners To Engage In Track Meet

With sixteen teams and considerably more than 100 men entered, the annual inter-fraternity track meet to be held in the annex this afternoon bids fair to be one of the biggest events of its kind.

Not only present freshman, but stars of last year's yearling team who are not working out with the Varsity squad are eligible for the meet. Some excellent form was displayed by the men of the two lower classes in the frosh-sophomore meet held last week and many of the same men will be competing again today.

Strong Teams Enter

The teams which took the first three places in the meet last year are all entered for the meet today and, with much old material still in school, will probably fight for the high honors of the meet.

Pi Kappa Alpha, winner of first place in the meet last year, has entries in every event. They will base most of their hopes on Wade who is entered in the four distance runs. Jones is also a man who can be counted upon to win points in his events.

Sigma Nu is also out in full strength. Hopes for a win hang largely on the efforts of Gene Tuh-tar, captain of last year's frosh squad and individual star of the frosh-soph meet last Saturday. McCandless and Mainland can also be counted upon to do good work.

Four Hockey Teams For Prelim Game Considered

Four hockey teams are under consideration by the Wisconsin Athletic department for a preliminary game to be played here on January 6.

Notre Dame, St. Johns' Military academy, Oshkosh Athletic club, and Milwaukee Athletic club are in communication with Athletic Director Thomas E. Jones regarding the proposed contest.

The Milwaukee team defeated Wisconsin on the Madison rink last year. Led by Art Schinners, the team is one of the best in the country.

and several cross country men on the list, the Alpha Gamma Rho team hopes to better the showing it made last year when it placed third. Sherburne, a freshmen who showed up very well in the meet against the second year men a week ago will be sure to work in the 40-yard dash, as well as in the broad jump. Moorhead and Perry, two of this year's cross country men, are entered in the distance runs.

Following the teams which are entered in the meet: Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Sig; A. T. O.; Beta Theta Pi; Chi Phi; Kappa Sigma; Lambda Chi Alpha, Pi Kappa Alpha; Phi Gamma Delta; Phi Kappa Psi; Sigma Nu; Sigma Phi Epsilon, Theta Chi; Theta Delta Chi; and the Y. M. C. A.

KEEN INTEREST IN INTER-FRAT BOWLING MATCH

Sigma Nus' Lead Cut By Alpha Chi Sig Team

In the interfraternity bowling tournament Thursday night the Sigma Nus still held first place in the second division. The Alpha Chi Sigmas have cut down the Sigma Nus' lead that the latter team has held throughout the year.

The competition is being keenly watched by those interested in the match. There are three weeks remaining before the tournament is over, and the strong Alpha Chi Sigma team has a good chance to throw the Sigma Nus into second place.

The Kappa Sigs jumped up into fifth place by defeating the Zeta Psi five three games straight. There are three teams tied for sixth place. Zeta Psi, Phi Kappa, and Delta Pi Epsilon each have .545. There have been a few minor changes among the tail-enders.

BENEDICKS 20, BACHELORS 13

THE BENEDICKS came, they saw, they conquered.

Wisconsin's pride, bachelors all, last night was defeated on the basketball floor, 20 to 13.

For two consecutive years married men have triumphed over single men in the Wisconsin-Butler basketball tilts.

The situation is becoming conspicuous. May results be construed to indicate the rationalism of student marriage?

Certainly the Badger team, in its opening game, failed to show the sanity of student singleness.

Connubial cussedness, so-called, apparently has done more to build up a basketball team at Butler than has single blessedness, at Wisconsin.

Perhaps Dr. Meanwell's coaching methods are ill-founded. Maybe he should recommend, first, that his candidates inscrol their names among those who are enjoying the blissful state, and, second, that they be good basketball material.

True Coach Meanwell has consistently turned out title-winning aggregations for Wisconsin. Yet the fact remains that, for two seasons, he has not developed a team strong enough to trim the Butler Benedicks.

Anyway it's food for thought.

FINISHING

THE world loves a winner. Even if the loser loses with all the breaks against him, he is still the loser. And many of his erstwhile friends and rooters are less boisterous and enthusiastic in their support.

At the beginning of each basketball season there is no end of enthusiasm for the team. Everyone is a loyal supporter. Championships are predicted. Every man on the team is the best in the Conference. Nothing but breaks of luck can keep the team from winning the Conference flag.

But if and when those breaks do come, as they will come to the best of teams, some of those same enthusiastic supporters forget that the matter of luck entered into the game. They give the fault to this or to that. The team or come of its individual members, or perhaps even the coach may be blamed for what obviously could not be their fault.

Disappointment leads to disapproval, then to unquieting remarks that no loyal supporter should use.

It is a poor crew that will not stick with the ship through whatever weather it may face.

Adversity shows up friends for what they are. A team, like an individual, wants to know that its support, all of it remains just as loyal at the end as at the beginning.

In the main, Wisconsin students are loyal throughout. But there are some individuals in every institution, in any place one may go, who must have their parsnips well-battered. If they give support they want victory returned as a reward.

For those individuals we have little sympathy. They are not the kind of fans that will help any college sport.

What a team needs is support that is unwavering in loyalty from the beginning of the season to the end. It would be the wiser and kinder way to save some of the excess cheers of the beginning of the season and use them later when the first burst of cheering has steadied down.

A game won at the end of the season is as worthy of recognition as is a game at the opening of hostilities. Why not spread it out a bit and temper it evenly throughout? Let's try it this season anyway.

HOW COULD YOU SEE?

WOMEN'S colleges are to be consigned to the flames and co-educational institutions robbed of all fair maidens. After that is done we suppose that the grounds will be cleared and some mammoth monument to the industrial ingenuity of the modern business man will be erected to perpetuate his memory.

All this is to be accomplished by one A. B. See who advocates the removal of the fair sex to the dishpan and washtub so that mere man may gorge himself at the table of intellectual enlightenment—ultimately to burst forth into the business field and extol the virtues of A. B. C. elevators, we presume.

Looking Back On Wisconsin

IN THE CARDINAL FILES

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

Announcement is made that an institute of sacred literature is to be held in Madison sometime during the coming month.

Nearly $2,000 has been raised among the students for the university boat house though there are over 400 students who have not yet subscribed. These will be thoroughly canvassed during the next four days.

A Curling club is organized. The club intends to challenge other clubs in the vicinity.

Everyone is enthusiastic over the proposed international intercollegiate regatta.

An article from the Milwaukee Daily News reads, "Wisconsin university supports a daily paper another proof of the school's rapid and substantial growth. This little paper is called the Daily Cardinal."

20 YEARS AGO TODAY

Much interest is being shown in hockey this year. Games will be held on the lower campus. Minnesota will probably challenge Wisconsin for a game.

Special committee of Board of Regents is in session today. Devise plans to ask legislature for special appropriations. North wing of Main hall is a probability.

Professor Comstock is elected as an honorary member of the astronomical society of Mexico.

An advertisement reads "A swell line of negligee and stiff bosom hirts at Taylor Bros."

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

Badger popularity contest, search for the best known students starts with a rush.

Uniform pans of pledging for Greek letter associations are to be discussed tonight.

The dormitory question is still up. The report of the subcommittees show that they reduce costs.

The ice boat fleet is getting ready for a big season.

It is decided that the new women's dormitory is to be named for President Barnard.

5 YEARS AGO TODAY

All university average is near 83 this semester.

"Shux" a new satire mag which appeared last Friday is fell received.

President Van Hise is to lecture on food administration tomorrow.

self. Mr. See has a vision of a bondless field of activity. If he can raise persons bodily, why not elevate their morals at the same time? Why not remove the growing girl from such dens of iniquity as educational institutions, where she, poor innocent child, is lured to such immoral practices as wearing high heeled shoes, using slang, indulging in powder, and creating a market for the manufacturers of lipsticks? Is it not better for the womanhood of the nation to be ignorant of such trivialities as philosophy, logic, psychology, English, and a few other unimportant curricular caelesthenics than to fall into such pitfalls of evil?

To Mr. See it seems to be preferable to erect a canning factory, perhaps, on Smith's campus; or a powder mill where Wellesley educators now dispense knowledge and enlightenment; or an elevator factory to take the place of Vassar's halls of learning. And as for Wisconsin—don't give us a canning factory, A. B. C.; we have plenty of them in the state now.

Mr. See undoubtedly believes that he has a panacea for the social evils of today. Remove someone—anyone—from somewhere—anywhere—add a little nonsensical chatter, and the best results are obtainable. That the opinion expressed by him is not accepted by some hundred and ten million people is a needless statement. One writer sums up his outburst by saying that he has an idea in his head and also a sore spot. If it can be called an idea, we will have to agree with this writer, but we know of many ideas that beat that one all to pieces. And the best one is for him to forget it and let education develop the kind of women that is seen fit.

Attention of Noah Webster Dear Sir:—Please add this word to your next unabridged edition. "Sapid."

This term has grown out of a combination of "sap-head" and "vap-id".

Example of use: We should say that Elementary Psychology, Economics 1A, and the Freshman lecture in Journalism were sapid courses.

* * *

"LAMENT"

By a Lady (?)
I take a little gauzy scarf
And play among the trees.
Nobody ever dates me up
Cause I'm a piece of cheese.

SOCIAL NOTES

Society will undoubtedly be pleased to learn that the girls of the university have come to a sort of "gentlemen's agreement" to wear earrings and long white kid gloves to Prom.

Wuxtry! Wuxtry!

Poor Gordie's up a stump. The Prom queen committee to pass any girls Gordie wants to take to Prom. He goes up to Ed Hooker's room, and bravely knocks on the door. Ed yells "Who is it?" and Gordie replies—"It's little Gordon." Then Ed says, "Well, you can come in for a minute—ONLY DON'T FORGET TO WIPE YOUR FEET!" Then Gordie goes in and says "Uncle Edward—how about Tillie Gossamer-legs?" And Edward says "NO! Her grandfather ran against my grandfather in 1776. Don't forget to close the door as you go out."

* * *

You see, Gordie is a sort of "figgerhead"—which is not in any way associated with the other heads—such as "sap-head" "pin-head" or "erock-head"—the 'servant of the people and the party'—

* * *

If I were King
I'd tell the damn committee
Just where to go
And they would go, and they would go—
Were I a King
I'd ask the girl that I loved best

And tell the rest
Just when to go, and where to go
And they would go
Were I the King.

Quite Young, in Fact

Prof. Karl Young, Shakespeare lecture: "It is indisputably our Jooty to place present day LIT-ry efforts in the CEM-etry."

Young lady after class: "Professor Young on what authority do you pronounce the word 'indisputably'?" The dictionary gives it "indisPUTably."

Professor Young: Well, if that's the way the dictionary gives it, I feel sorry for the dictionary.

We don't! We feel sorry for him!

* * *

Did you know that bobbed hair has been awfully rough on rats? Fact!

* * *

He: What do you think of the Student's court?
She: Oh, Charlie! This is so unexpected.

* * *

We want to know if there is anything funnier than a nize pokey dignified old maid, trying to maintain her aforementioned dignity on the slippery Hill, right in front of that rough-neck engineering school?

* * *

On Friday Prof. McGilvary wore a blue suit to class. This is due to the fact that the green suit which he ordinarily wears to class, is at the tailor's, being repaired. Prof. McGilvary put his pipe in his pocket last Wednesday, without putting it out. Dame Rumour has it that the pipe did a little dirty work to Prof. McGilvary's green suit!

Quartette Sings Variety Program

By P. B. L.

The Varsity Quartette, composed of Noel Stearns, grad, Whitford Huff '23, Christopher Hendra '23, and Thomas Dartnell '23, offered an entertaining variety program last evening at the Baptist church.

Popular and classical numbers, serious and humorous, every type one could desire from "Varsity" to Barnaby's "Now the Day is Over" were given to the audience. It was the kind of informal concert which was sure to appeal.

"A Musical Melting Pot" which included Americanized songs from the continent, four numbers in all, were short, with the snap that suited entirely the mood of the listeners. These pieces, arranged by the quartette, were in every instance cleverly sung with individuality.

"Night on the Desert" by Ross and Curran's "Rain," solos sung by the first tenor, Stearns, illustrated the ability of the singer in producing the proper tonal pictures. Whitford Huff's singing of "Incitius" by Huhn well displayed the power, the quality of his bass voice. His enunciation was clear, his interpretation good.

The group of negro songs were characteristically done. Perhaps the most popular of them was "Hear Dem Bells." In the "Songs of Love," the "Indian Love Song" by Parks and the "Gypsy Love Song" by Herbert were the best for deep feeling, harmony and coloring.

A bathrobe or dressing gown is a gift that, through their constant usage, call forth a thousand and one grateful memories of the giver. They are the "home, sweet home" sort of gift.

Gifts like these are really appreciated—and they are not beyond the price you want to pay. Bathrobes range from $6.50 to $14.00. Silk lounging robes are $18 to $22.50.

If you want to give something "homey," yet not quite as pretentious as a dressing gown or bathrobe, we'd suggest a pair of house slippers. Something that a man always welcomes, yet somehow usually forgets to buy for himself. Price range $1.50 to $5.00.

Cast Is Selected For Menorah Play

The cast for "The Melting Pot", to be presented by the Menorah society during the second semester, was selected after the tryouts held Thursday night.

The members of the cast: Vera, Yvette Goldberg '24; David, Harry Katowitz '24; Kathleen, Bernice M. Mark '26; Mendel, Irving Goldberg, grad; the Baroness, Sara M. Abrams '25; the Baron, Robert Sher '24; Pappelmeister, Ben Lieberman '24; and Quincy Davenport, Sam Schwartz '24. Harold H. Laskey '24 is to act as business manager of the production.

A great deal of interest was manifested in the tryouts, the competition for parts in the play being strong and as a result the cast that has been picked is a capable one. C. L. Fernberg of the faculty Curtain club acted as critic in the selection of the characters.

The play is the work of Israel Zangwill, the noted author and playwright, which made its first stage appearance at the Columbia theater in Washington in 1908, with Walker Whiteside in the leading role of David. It has risen to be one of the great stage successes and has been played throughout the country, by professional casts and by other Intercollegiate Menorah societies.

Nannette Goes Christmas Shopping With Marjorie

"Just one more Saturday to buy Christmas presents for the whole family—mother, dad, sis, Aunt Lucy, cousins, uncles and most everybody you ever heard of," wailed Nannette miserably. "You know life has been just one exam after another and I just couldn't—"

"I understand perfectly, my dear," I broke in. "Let's start shopping right now at Manchester's. Really, you'll be surprised at how fast it will go."

"You darling!" exclaimed Nannette, impulsively.

We're Off

"Let's get something for mother, first. Something, oh, dear, I don't know what!"

"Let's see if I do," I volunteered, and led the way to the new hand made Fleur de Lis blouses, all hand sewed, hand embroidered, and trimmed with real lace and hand embroidery.

"Oh, I'd love one of these darling blouses myself," said Nannette, noting the exquisite daintiness of real filet on French voile, further distinguished with French taping and drawnwork. "Only $5?" asked Nannette. "What a find! I'll get that for Aunt Lucy and this one with all the lovely Irish lace and the frill for Muv." $9.75.

A Motor Robe

"Now how would your father like this good looking motor robe? It's $11.50 and would look mighty well in your car."

Nannette liked the idea immensely and the robe more, for it was a heavy wool robe with a rich plaid and fringed. So she took it.

The Dashingest

"Why, aren't these the darlinest handkerchiefs with the net and wide lace edges—they're so quaint!" said Nannette. "Why, there's hardly any handkerchief at all—just edging. Are they the thing?" "Exactly," I returned, and on Christmas morning at least half a dozen of Nannette's friends will have an extra choice 'kerchief to be perfectly thrilled about. Some had white linen centers; some were colored. 25c and 50c.

For Uncles Three

"And there's three uncles," said Nannette perplexedly.

"Three excuses to give these pongee handkerchiefs with the drawn colored threads, then." 85c each.

"A Perfect Mania!"

"Clarice—she's my room-mate—has a perfect mania for silk underthings," confided Nannette.

"Terrible! But suppose we found a cunning, adorable and perfectly delicious teddy suit of pink crepe and val lace?"

And we did, for just $3.75.

Concerned

Nannette was quite concerned as to what to give her grandmother, until she came to the silk padded jackets with the silk cords and fastening, at $7.50.

Very Important

"Now tell me, please, what to get for—"

"For him?" Let's see. I know where there's a Compacto set that's fine for a man. No larger than a tooth brush holder, yet it contains shaving soap, a brush, and a dandy safety razor, all in an ivory case." $4.50.

Nannette quickly decided.

What in 'he World!

"Whatever can a fellow get for a 10-year-old boy cousin! worried Nannette.

And we descended to Toyland.

A Porter Chemistry set that teaches the science of chemistry without mid-semester or quiz sections was chosen—perhaps for that very reason. That was $1.50, although there were others priced to $5.

Another cousin girl—is going to be happy for many days to come with a doll—a Madam Hendren doll, that actually says "Mamma" every time she bows. $4.95.

Aunts

When we continued upon the subject of what to give to aunts, a hand made French cluny, 24 inch piece, at $2.50, solved one problem, a boxed vest set in imitation Carrick McCross at $3 solved another, while a silk umbrella with ivory tip, rib-ends and handle with smart leather wrist strap at $4 solved the last problem.

Through!

And the afternoon scarcely begun! Nannette hopped upon one foot and peered above a topmost package.

"U-m-m, I'm so happy!"

Now I can go home without a single wee worry! I'm so glad I came to Manchester's. Really, it's a regular Christmas store, isn't it?"
