PICK STUDENT AIDS OF STATE NET TOURNEY

Duncan Named Chairman by Athletic Board for Meet

With the dates for the state basketball tournament less than two weeks away, student committees have been appointed by the Athletic board to take charge of the preliminary arrangements and the entertainment of the high schools players during their stay in Madison.

Willard Duncan will act as general chairman, Stanley McCandless will have the responsibility of providing after-party entertainment for the visitors, and Allen Spafford the task of arranging two "W" dances as another form of amusement. Clarence Joerndt has charge of finances, and the general duties of a one-man ways and means committee, while the advertising and programs is in the hands of Clarence Rasmussen.

Inter-State Tourney Later
Thursday, Friday, and Saturday, March 18, 19, and 20, are the days on which the tournament will be held at the gym. This state tourney is distinctly separate from the inter-state tournament to be held here one week later, March 25, 26, and 27. The same committees, however, will have charge of both events.

The process of picking the teams which will compete in the state tournament is simple. The state is divided into nine sections in accordance with the number of normal schools. The best teams of each of these districts compete in district tournaments at the normal school located in that district and the winner of the tourney in each district is sent to the state tournament. Hence, there will be nine teams entered.

District Scraps on Now
The nine district tournaments are being held at the normals this weekend, with the first games commencing today. The number of entries is larger than ever before, and more than usual interest is manifest from the arrangements being made to handle the large crowds expected at every tournament.

EXCUSES DON'T GO IN BOOKS AT EXAMS

Students who appear for the examinations for the make-up of incompletes will not enclose their excuses in the blue-books, Prof. M. H. Haertel, secretary of the faculty, announced in correcting yesterday's announcement of the schedule. The statement that "blue-books not containing excuses will not be marked" is incorrect, as no such requirement has been made.

The time limit for applications for permission to take the examinations extends up to 5 o'clock this afternoon. Students must apply to the clinic for excuses and to Professor Haertel for permission to take the examinations.

VODVIL DATED FOR APRIL 2-3

Union Board Calls for Turnout of Campus Talent

Union Vodvil is with us at last. General headquarters sends out a call today for all entertainers, actors, and specialty artists in the student body to get busy on stunts. The dates for the performances are Friday and Saturday nights, April 2 and 3, and a matinee on Saturday.

John Bigler, assistant production manager, is booking all the acts, and organizations and individuals wishing to enter the tryouts should notify him as soon as possible. The tryouts will be held about March 15.

The proceeds of this year's Vodvil will be turned over to the Memorial Union fund. Organizations and groups will have the privilege of ordering blocks of seats so that theater parties may be held.

Appointments to the production staff have not been completed but it is expected that the list will be announced tomorrow. Special instructions in regard to the length of the acts, expenses, and property limitations, are being prepared and will be given to those who enter the tryouts.

Cuss Who Copped the Catcher's Mit May Get Caught

The first sign of spring isn't a robin this year.

At least that was the sentiment of M. A. Kent, varsity baseball coach, after a perfectly new $16 catcher's mit was stolen from the gymnasium annex Tuesday afternoon.

When people begin to steal mitts, the coach says, it's a sure sign that the baseball season has arrived, and that in turn is a sure sign of spring. Tuesday's balmy weather evidently got into the kleptomaniac blood of one bold student burglar, for he walked off with the glove and disappeared from sight in less than two minutes from the time the mit was last seen and the time Coach Kent went back in to the annex to get it.

The athletic department has adopted a policy of dealing severely with those who persist in taking things from the gymnasium and the thief when caught will have a hard time convincing the authorities that he any longer has a right to stay in school.

RED DOMINO ELECTS FIVE FROM TRYOUTS

At the meeting of Red Domino last night final tryouts were held, and the following were elected to membership: Olivia Sentreff, Alma Senn, Rinette Douglas, Mary Lindsay and Mildred Browning.

"Y. W." WORKER WHO SPEAKS AT WOMEN'S CONVO

MRS. KATHERINE W. EDDY

Today's program for the Religious conference includes two meetings. The first will be a women's meeting at Lathrop hall at 4:30 this afternoon when Mrs. Katherine Willard Eddy, national executive for the foreign work of the Y. W. C. A., will address Wisconsin women.

In the evening there will be a second all-university convocation at the armory. Dr. E. S. Tittle of Northwestern university and Mrs. Eddy will be the speakers. The chorus under the direction of Prof. E. B. Gordon, will continue to be a feature of the convocations.

Students who wish to arrange for personal conference with any of the speakers who come here during the next few days may do so by getting into touch with the committee on personal interviews. Ross Rogers is chairman of this committee and the other members are Anne Humphrey, Janet Lindsey, Esther Waner and Viola Maag.

A feature of tonight's convocation will be the exhibition of lithographs and posters from the Des Moines student volunteer convention depicting the world opportunities for religious work.

Mrs. Eddy will address university women on the subjects contained in the questionnaire which has been discussed in all the rooming and sorority houses this week.

The questionnaires, which were prepared by the university Y. W. C. A., take up practical social and personal problems confronting the women of the campus at present. Among the subjects taken up are: cheek-to-cheek dancing, smoking, the spirit of democracy, co-operation, and the honor system.

CAST CHOSEN SOON FOR SPANISH PLAY

The cast for the play which is to be presented by the Spanish club March 10, has been chosen and will be announced later, according to Frank A. Sprague, chairman of the play committee.

Music for the evening will be furnished by an orchestra and as an added feature Agnes Samuels will give a gypsy dance in costume between acts. Miss Carmen G. Espinosa, instructor in Romance languages, is directing the play. Admission will be 25 cents.

RELIGION VITAL FORCE IN LIFE OF UNIVERSITY

—PRESIDENT BURTON

New Interpretation Coming for Spiritual Ideas, Says Speaker

"What is religion? Religion is life, lived in all of its relationships," said President M. L. Burton of the University of Minnesota before an audience of 2,000 people at the opening Religious conference convocation yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium.

"The question often arises whether anyone can accept religion in the face of the intellectual education he is receiving in such sciences as sociology, biology, and philosophy," said President Burton. "I should say, emphatically yes, because religion is not a matter of beliefs and creeds. It is simply a process of becoming socialized and humanized, and in establishing a friendship with God."

President Birge in Welcome
President E. A. Birge, who presided at the convocation, explained that the conferences are for the benefit of everyone, regardless of his faith. He pointed out that Christianity is not a temporary belief, but is an evolution from centuries back, in which men of all creeds have laid up their hopes and fears for world betterment.

"I realize," said President Birge, in welcoming the students to the convocation, "that I have before me representatives of all religions, from all parts of the earth. The very fact that you are here shows that you have realized that necessity of religion in life. I ask you that, during the days of this conference, you consider this subject, not as my religion, nor as anyone else's religion, but as a vital and indispensable part of life."

University Not Godless
President Burton took as his subject, "The Function of Religion in University Life." He refuted the charge that universities are godless, and while he conceded the necessity

MALES CAN ASK HER TO '23 CLASS DANCE

Freshman co-eds will not do all the asking for the freshman dance, according to class committee heads. Male members of the class will continue to take the initiative as in the past, but it will be considered perfectly good form for the women to use their leap year prerogative.

Tickets for the dance, which is to be held at Lathrop hall, March 26, may be purchased for $2 at Morgan's, the University pharmacy, and from members of the committee. In order that the floor may not be overcrowded, the number of tickets is limited to 200.

Thompson's first orchestra will play for dancing and the Rusty Hinge Quartet will furnish vocal entertainment during intermissions.

"The Shopping Public and the Young Wage Earner" will be the subject of the speech to be delivered by Mrs. Florence Kelley, secretary of the National Consumer's League, at 4:30 this afternoon in 165 Main hall.

Mrs. Kelley is a worker of nation wide reputation in the field of bettering conditions of working women and children. She is in Madison in the interests of the State Consumer's League and has consented to the urgent request of the University Consumer's League to give this address.

Mrs. Kelley, who is president of the Inter-collegiate Socialist Society, will meet members of the Wisconsin Social Science Club for an informal discussion in Lathrop parlors from 3 to 4:15 this afternoon.

The Consumer's League is about to inaugurate a campaign to create greater interest in this work. Membership is open to all university women and monthly meetings are held at which leading speakers may be heard on vital questions connected with the work of the league.

JAMBOREE DATE
SET TO APRIL 10

"The more time, the better the costume," says the committee in charge of the big Varsity Jamboree, to be held in the men's gymnasium April 10. If so students will outdo themselves in getting masquerade costumes, for the big masked event has had to be postponed until April 10 on account of the inter-state tourney for high schools, scheduled for March 27, the original date set.

Opportunity for students to display whatever latent or obvious cleverness they may have within them is being given by this all-Varsity affair. Because no particular ability is necessary to make a costume out of the odds and ends of the ever resourceful attic it is expected that every co-ed and otherwise will be at the Jamboree in greater glory than a disguised Solomon or Queen of Sheba.

A general meeting of all committees has been called by Wyman Smith, general chairman, for this noon at 12:45 in Music hall.

OF CLEVER FORGER

Warning has been sent out by Dean S. H. Goodnight to deans of conference universities concerning the activities of a crook who has, by passing himself off on Madison merchants as a student, cashed bogus checks amounting to about $300. The checks were made out to S. P. McDowell and signed H. C. and were drawn on a bank in Waterloo, Iowa. The thief seems to be a professional crook and is known to have operated in one other university town.

ZEROWEATHER ON HEELS OF BIG BLIZZARD

Rail Service Hit; All Sections Get Taste of Storm

The winter's worst storm yesterday swept from the mountain states toward the middle western states, accompanied by snow and greatly lowered temperatures, crippling wire communication and railroad traffic. The disturbance spread south and east with diminished thermometer readings and rain.

Madison was in the grip of the blizzard and local traffic was demoralized.

The big blizzard followed a heavy rain which set in early Wednesday evening and caused the streets to run with water.

More snow with zero temperature is promised for tonight.

Business was greatly delayed in Madison all day. Impeded street car traffic caused hundreds to report for work late.

High winds, drifting snow and a temperature that fell 30 to 45 degrees to zero within a few hours today had isolated a number of eastern Colorado and Nebraska towns.

Sleet and snow preceded the storm developments in Kansas, western Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma and northern Texas, where almost spring-like weather obtained.

Weather predictions were that severe cold in the Rocky mountains and plains states would continue today and tonight.

Relief parties on snow shoes today sought to carry supplies to passengers stranded on trains snow-bound near Cumbres Pass, Colo.

Coast Trains Late.

ST. PAUL, Minn.—Railroad traffic was delayed and street cars were moved with difficulty.

Mitchell, S. D., was reported cut off. More than a foot of snow has fallen at Pipestone, Minn., and a driving wind has piled it into great drifts.

The northern section of the state is also badly hit, Duluth reporting an old fashioned blizzard from the northeast and the Iron Range snowed in. Coast trains are reported from 1 to 5 hours late.

High Wind In Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb.—High winds that reached a velocity of from 40 to 45 miles an hour accompanied by snow and temperatures that touched as low as six below zero in Nebraska last night and early today slightly hampered railroad traffic and wire communications. Slight damage to telephone wires were reported.

Rail Service Stalled

WAUSAU, Wis.—The heavy fall of snow last night is being drifted badly by a 40 mile north gale today. All country roads are thoroughly blocked. Railroads have abandoned all freight train service and passenger trains are being hauled by two locomotives and are from 2 to 8 hours late.

Hits The State

MILWAUKEE—The state, particularly the portions in the western and northern sections, found itself today in the grip of the worst blizzard of the winter.

Swept on the wings of a 45 mile gale, the blizzard advanced eastward across the state toward Milwaukee and was expected to hit with full force late in the afternoon.

PYTHIA TO DISCUSS ACTORS AND PLAYS

Pythia Literary society will discuss the subject "Modern Actors and Actresses, and Their Principal Successful Plays," at its regular meeting tonight. The program is worked out by Marguerite Schulz and Eleanor Sherer. Castalia will hold no meeting tonight.

Raise 'Em Husky at Ames; Toss Tons Around on Backs

AMES, Ia.—Eureka! Boy, page the theorists and fanatics who argue that the vitality of the human race is on the decline. Where is the person that says college men are weaklings? From the facts divulged in looking over the records taken from the strength tests that are being given Iowa State college men, it can be proved that they are all wrong.

We can't imagine that with four men who can pull a ton with their chest muscles, 30 pounds more than a ton with their backs and 3,030 pounds with their legs, that the human race is deteriorating in strength and vitality.

The above marks were made by the four highest men in the tests. The marks set by them are amazing and come much higher than had been expected. The men who have taken these strength tests have their marks recorded and will take them again in a couple weeks to show whether college life is detrimental or invigorating, in the respect to bodily strength.

RELIGION VITAL IN LIFE OF UNIVERSITY

of the separation of church and state, he insisted that state institutions need not be godless.

"America needs religion more than anything else today," he declared. "I believe that America will be forced to face, in the days that are soon ahead, the real issues of religion. Our generation demands a people that are open-minded and independent, and that yet have the conviction that there are certain fundamental and vital realities in life which are indispensable, and that he who attacks them is an enemy to his nation and his people.

"State universities experience many difficulties in the question of religion. Although it seems now as though higher education is being methodically dissociated from questions involving the religious life of the students, the day is coming when a new interpretation will be put upon our spiritual ideas.

Three Functions of Religion

"Religion has three big functions to perform in the lives of students. It meets their spiritual needs, it establishes its sovereignty in their daily lives, and it socializes them. It is often the tendency of a young man or woman going away to college to put himself in the center of his own little world.

"But no universe is a universe in which any one person is the center. So many people today feel that if they could just get rid of a few things, they would have a much better chance of happiness in this world. But life does not consist in the annihilation of things; it rests in putting one's self into the right relation to them."

Fathers and Sons Banquet Friday Eve

"Teamwork for Fathers and Sons" will be the subject of an address by Justice M. B. Rosenberry of the supreme court at the Father and son banquet of the boys' division at the Y. M. C. A. Friday evening. "Our Dads," by Lowell Frautschi, and "Our Sons," by M. H. Hobey, will be other after-dinner speeches. Emerson Ela will preside as toastmaster. Prof. E. B. Gordon will lead the singing. O. C. Artman will present a Roosevelt prize to the "most efficient father." The banquet will begin at 6:30 o'clock.

Commission Orders to M. S. & S. S. M. R. R.

The Railroad Commission today issued a decision ordering the Minneapolis St. Paul & Sault Ste Marie Railway Company to pay $1,000 toward the cost of relocating highway No 14 in Barron county. The relocation is on the route between Barron and Poskin and the Commission finds that the new highway will divert through traffic from existing railway crossings so that it will be unnecessary for the railroads to provide further protection at these crossings.

Vacancies To Be Filled by Elections

Attorney General Blaine in an official opinion on Thursday held that a vacancy caused by the death of a town chairman, who has been elected for a term of three years, must be filled by election in April. In many counties the town chairman is elected for a term of three years and in case of resignation or death the vacancy is filled by appointment. In such cases, however, where a resolution of the county board does not provide to the contrary, the vacancy must be filled by election in the following April.

STUDENTS AND RELIGION

"IS religion a phantom or does it serve an actual need in student life," queried President Burton, of the University of Minnesota, in firing the opening broadside of the all-university Religious conference yesterday afternoon.

Not one of the thousands of students who jammed the armory to its doors could help feeling, when that inspiring talk was concluded, that religion does serve an actual need; that it ought to be permitted to establish its sovereignty in the lives of all peoples.

In considering the question in its widest aspect it must be remembered that certain factors are at work to throw aside all obstacles in order that the person who seeks higher education may occupy the limelight. The state gives a great university, parents give financial support, and the public at large gives a willing sanction.

If, however, the seeker of higher education wants to properly reciprocate and make his mark he must refrain from looking at life in its detached forms. Successful resistance of what has been termed the temptations of life needs some source of inspiration.

That source is religion. But it is not the religion which calls for beliefs or creeds. It is the religion which is just as scientific and just as close to the realities of life as anything known to man. It is the religion, as Dr. Burton emphasized, which is, first of all, a fact. In short, it is the friendship with God.

The student who fails to comprehend the importance of the subject, when it is stripped of all its artificiality, has missed a vital factor. In this we are substantiated by the fact that receptive, mentally flexible, and independent men are the need of the hour in America.

A religious background will be the greatest bulwark to insure the much sought-for success.

NOT AN "EXPERT MILL"

A MAN who has passed through a university can always be discerned, a prominent journalist recently stated, not, as is often thought the case, by some quip or peculiarity, but because he is always possessed of "a certain degree of philosophy and philosophical method."

There is about the university man, the journalist maintains, that power of discernment that ordinary people do not have. There is in the university bred man a peculiarly developed ability to discriminate, to perceive and rule out irrelevancies, to recognize that which is essential and that which is extrinsic.

This is not saying that a college education is the trademark of a highly discriminating, carefully balanced mind, but that there is generally with the man that has been through college that power for careful, accurate, and broad thinking.

Certainly, he did not share the view that many utilitarians are wont to nourish, that the university is but a mill for grinding out experts, be they engineers or philologists. According to him it is necessary for the educated mind to have a touch of philo-

phy. His plea is for an education that is sufficiently broad to permit discernment.

One way to attain this breadth is through intelligent reading and discussion. For a law student to shut himself in his room and cram law continually, is not apt to develop the best lawyer. He must learn to look at things in a broad light, to weigh them. Only when the student disallows himself to be inculcated with the fallacious idea that university is an "expert mill" and that he must not turn his head right nor left for fear of having his attention diverted, will he realize the journalist's idea of an ideal university education.

THE NEW OCTOPUS CHARTER

To the Editor of The Cardinal: There was an error in the article concerning the approval by the senate of the new charter for the Octopus Publishing company, incorporated, in this morning's Cardinal. It was stated that at the same time the charter previously granted to Marie Bodden, Maurice Field, and myself had been "revoked." This is entirely incorrect, and I wish to correct the wrong impression it conveys.

Some six weeks ago, Field and myself sold our interests in the magazine to our staff members who wished to publish The Octopus as a monthly. Our reason for doing so was that neither of us felt that he could spare the time which would be required under such a plan. However, we believed that it would be better if the magazine were published regularly, and therefore, we transferred our interests. The plan of the new organization approved last night, was drawn up with the aid of the faculty committee on student publications, and was approved by Marie Bodden, Field and myself before Field and I withdrew from the organization.

There has at all times been complete harmony between the members of the staff, old and new, and the original owners of the magazine and the student senate and the S. G. A. The approval of the new charter last night was made at the request of myself, acting as president of the Octopus Publishing company, and the so-called "revocation" of the former charter was merely the formal release, secured at our own request, of Marie Bodden, Field and myself, from the obligations which we had assumed at the time we were granted application to publish the magazine.

These are the actual facts, as all members of the senate, the S. G. A., and the new organization are aware, and as can be shown by my correspondence on the subject with the former president of the senate and the president of the S. G. A. I merely call them to your attention at this time to correct a false impression which seems to have gained ground on the campus.

SOUTH DAKOTA CLUB ELECTS NEW HEADS

At a meeting of the South Dakota club last night at Lathrop hall, the following officers were elected: Carl Benz, of Canton, president; Dewey Edson of Alice, vice president; Evelyn Downs, of Mount Vernon, secretary; George H. Rinder, of Sioux Falls, treasurer; Adrian Scolten, of Valley Springs, publicity manager.

The club decided to allow all South Dakotans to invite non-residents of the state to the next dance, to be held in Lathrop hall, March 19.

Plans for a publicity campaign by which the entire state of South Dakota will be acquainted with the willingness of the club to entertain any South Dakotans who visit Madison were referred to a committee composed to William Clark, George Garland, Harry Eggen, and Adrian Scolten.

There are 94 South Dakota students at Wisconsin. Last November the club entertained 280 Dakota cattlemen who spent a day in Madison while on their way to the International Stock show at Chicago.

MINERS START HOOVER CLUB

'An Engineer for President'
Is Slogan of Boom
Movement

Campus engineers are strong for Engineer Herbert Hoover as the man to take the job of engineering the presidential office for the next four years.

Engineers of the Mining club at a meeting Wednesday night endorsed Hoover for the presidency and formed the Student Non-partisan Hoover club, the first campaign boom organization to start on the campus. The club is organized to co-operate with a similar organization in Madison.

A meeting of the Student Non-partisan Hoover club will be called soon to consider methods of assisting state and national organizations in support of the movement.

The Mining club at its meeting passed the following resolution boosting Hoovers' candidacy:

"Of all the great patriotic in a land that is renowned for its unselfish patriotism, there is no man in history that overtops the colossal figure of George Washington. Washington was an engineer and a wealthy man. The nation called him to the presidency to guide the ship of state through the troubled waters of the period following the War of Independence.

"The same steady nerves and cool judgment which made Washington a good engineer, coupled with the freedom from financial worries, enabled his patriotic soul to render services to his country, the results of which have endured and will endure throughout the ages.

"Another great war is ended, another reconstruction period, seething with troublesome cross currents, is upon us, and another great engineer is available for patriotic service to his country. It can be ventured that George Washington was never in greater personal peril, or made less of it, than was Hoover when traveling in Europe after he had run counter to the cherished designs of a number of cut-throat Balkan princes and aspiring Bolsheviks.

"Just as Washington refused to accept personal profit either directly or indirectly, for his patriotic achievements, so Hoover has refused reward, directly or indirectly, for his services to his country.

"Herbert Hoover has already proved himself great and brave and patriotic in war time, and it is the obvious part of wisdom to retain his services for the period of reconstruction."

"DAD" ELLIOTT FLINGS DEFY TO MORAL QUITTER

"Y" Leader Asks Student War on Bad Influences on Campus

"Dad" Elliott placed a chip on the shoulder of shady morals and undesirable influences in the university and sent a challenge to every Wisconsin man to move that chip, when he delivered the second talk of the Religious conference in the Y. M. C. A. parlors last night to an audience of men students. Mr. Elliott, international secretary for the West of the Y. M. C. A., was introduced by Milton Borman, student president of the Y. M. C. A.

The meeting opened with a short scripture reading and the singing of "On Wisconsin." Mr. Elliott did not give a sermon, but a man-to-man talk with earnestness and forcefulness. The essence of his talk was the need of men of strong character, men who have courage and convictions and who will not quit.

Mr. Elliott described a quitter as a man who will not do in the game what he has been coached to do in practice, and he applied this definition to the game of life.

"The biggest quitter," he said, "is the moral and spiritual quitter. Men know what is right but will not do what is right." He challenged any man to show him how he was more efficient because he was tough—that he was more of a man, that he had a stronger character, because he was obscene and a drunkard and entertained a hazy code of morals.

GALVESTON, Tex.—Prohibition has so decreased the number of paupers throughout the United States that the country's medical colleges are facing a shortage of bodies for laboratory instruction work, according to Dr. William Kirler, professor of anatomy of the University of Texas.

"There are fewer sick men than in the bygone 'wet' days, as sober men have enough sense to protect themselves in bad weather," Dr. Keiller said. "Absence of intoxicants and not high wages, is responsible for the scarcity of paupers, as many men would spend most of their earnings for liquor no matter how much they made," he added.

People who formerly patronized the charity wards of the large hospitals and clinics, now frequently drive up to the front door of the best institutions in their own automobiles, the professor said.

SENATE ADOPTS RESERVATION ON SHANTUNG

Lodge Modified Resolution
Almost Unanimously
Passes in Senate

WASHINGTON — The Shantung reservation to the peace treaty as modified in the bi-partisan compromise conference was readopted late today by the senate. The vote was 48 to 21 as compared to a vote of 53 to 41 when the reservation was first adopted in November.

WASHINGTON — Making its first change in the Republican reservations which were adopted last November, the senate voted today on motion of Senator Lodge to strike from the Shantung reservation all direct reference to Japan and China.

The change worked out in the recent bi-partisan conference had the approval of Democratic leaders and was accepted 69 to 2, Senators Reed and Sutherland voting against it.

Senator Lodge told the Senate that the modification had been suggested by Democratic members of the bi-partisan conference and did not change the meaning of the reservation "One iota".

As amended the reservation reads: "The United States withholds its assent to articles 156, 157 and 158 (Relating to Shantung) and reserves full liberty of action with respect to any controversy which may arise under said articles."

Although Senators Lenroot and Kellogg, declared the Democrats had agreed in the bi-partisan conference to accept the reservation as amended, Senator Hitchcock declared that the revised draft was unacceptable. He presented a substitute, arguing that the Republican reservation could no "no possible good" toward restoring to China any rights in Shantung.

Senator Hitchcock's substitute for the Shantung reservations was rejected 27 to 41, all the republicans and Senators Gore, Reed, Shields, and Thomas, democrats, voting against it.

The Wind Blew, the Weather Man Too, Ye Scribe Flew

"Blow right in," said the weather man as the news hound shuffled into his office yesterday noon after loping over the drifts that had piled up around the entrance to North hall.

"Gosh," gasped the hound. "Yu got any dope on the storm?"

"Nope," replied the W. M., continuing to draw pictures of windmills on a report he was making. "Working overtime now."

"Some breezy job yu did alright," interrupts the scribe. "But seriously, what's yer opinion on the rebellion of nature?"

"Seriously its unprintable, but technically I consider it a real fete, pardon me feat."

"Feat," scoffs the hound. "Plain ordinary north wind playin' tag with a gang of snow flakes."

"Yea, but it was movin' 30 miles an hour."

The W. M. got up and played with a little thing-a-ma-dig that dangled from somewhere-or-other.

"What's 'at do?" asks the hound. "The beautiful white's stacked up like poker chips at the winner's end after an all night session. Can't yu turn the old breeze around an' shove it off Langdon street back into the lake? Jes' think, a double header of varsity nags couldn't yank the snow plow through it. What's a poor hill-climbing pedestrian to do?" The pathos was vibrant in the voice of the scribe.

"And 8 o'clock, oh, it's awful, too awful!" The W. M. was silent. Only the wobbling of his Adam's apple bespoke his sympathy.

"Say," says the hound, a gleam of hope overspreading his darkened countenance. "D'yu spose there's a chance of Main hall being snowed under?"

"I wouldn't stake a plugged dime on it either way," replies the W. M. jiggling a little crank and listening with unrestrained glee to the whistle of the wind.

The news hound put away his pencil, sighed wearily and went out to look mournfully at the steps whereon the engineers are wont to stand and shout—gleeful harbingers of spring.

MIT ARTISTS IN COLLEGE BOUTS

Fifteen Pugs Already Entered for Matches Starting Tuesday

Fifteen pugilists have already signed up to enter the inter-college boxing bouts which will begin next Saturday afternoon.

There is still chance for many more entries, as each college is to be represented by a man in each weight. The members of the winning team are to be awarded the insignia of their school.

Those who saw the finals of the inter-class boxing tournament last semester can vouch for the fact that the university has some real fist artists who know the fine points of the game and how to handle the padded mits to advantage. Most of these ring stars have signified their intention of seeking further honors in the approaching bouts.

AT THE ORPHEUM

The Six Venetian Gypsies with their music, singing and frolicking are the most popular on the Orpheum's week-end bill. They sing and play some old favorite Italian airs and some snappy jazz. The accordian player and the tambourine girl win the most applause with their spirited playing and dancing. Corbett and Garron have not much that is new in their act, but both have good voices that blend into pleasing harmony. Garron is somewhat of a comedian. Weisser and Reeser offer some chatter that gets across well. Jess and Dell, "The Human Puppets" appear first in an act that though not new is not often seen on the vaudeville stage. Some of their songs and antics are laugh-getters. The Seebucks come last in a very difficult punching bag exhibition. One of the most surprising feats is the striking of seven bags at the same time. The female part of the company is very good to look at and besides being a capable gymnast is there on the singing.

Madison Women Are To Vote On Daylight Saving

Madison women may vote on the daylight saving proposal April 6, as the result of the unanimous passing of a special resolution at a meeting of the common council Wednesday, the dispensation to depend, however, upon whether or not City Attorney Ryan declares the proposition legal.

It will be the first time in history that women of Madison have voted other than on the school board election.

The council also voted unanimously to accept Congressman Monahan's offer of a howitzer for the city, provided the freight expenses from the Rock Island, Ill. arsenal is borne by Madison. It is estimated that the cost of transporting the piece will be about $70.

The site for the cannon accepted last night has not been decided upon as it is not known how long it will be before it arrives. A suggestion was made that it be mounted at the foot of Monona ave, where, until it was removed several years ago to Camp Randall, a captured Spanish-American war cannon stood.

German Children Going to Norway

Jewish Relief Committee Aids Undernourished—Spends $100,000

NEW YORK—Undernourished children in Germany, suffering from malnutrition, many of them unable to walk, will be sent to Norway and Switzerland to recuperate, the American Jewish Relief Committee announced today.

An initial expenditure of $100,000 to take these children from their surroundings of misery and starvation to the healthy climates and good foods of Norway and Switzerland, has just been made by the Joint Distribution Committee, which disburses all funds raised by the American Jewish Relief Committee and its allied organizations.

This is a continuation of the policy of Jewish Relief work with the hungry, sickly children of Eastern and Central Europe, the committee having previously aided in sending several thousand children from starving Vienna to Trieste and Holland, where they will be nursed back to health in private homes.

SAYS MARS CAN'T SEE EARTH'S SMOKE PUFF

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—Professor William J. Hussey, director of the astronomical observatory of the University of Michigan, declares that a mammoth smoke screen released upon this earth could not be detected by astronomers on the planet Mars.

The use of the government surplus of smoke-making material left over from the war in signalling Mars was suggested by James J. Crenshaw, associate professor of chemistry at Bryn Mawr college. He advocates covering an area as big as the state of Pennsylvania with either black or white smoke.

That this theory is vitally wrong, according to Professor Hussey, is seen from the fact that the image of the earth as formed by a large telescope on the planet Mars would have a diameter twice as large as the head of a pin.

"Moreover," said Professor Hussey, "the fact that the earth is between the planet Mars and the strong light of the sun, would make the vision of a smoke screen upon this earth out of the question."
