NEW EVIDENCE IS PRODUCED IN SCALPER TRIAL

Court Fails to Reach Verdict; Case is Held Over

The case of George R. Spangenburg '23, alleged scalper of tickets to the Homecoming football game, came before the Student court last night in a meeting held in the Law building and, after the counsels for the defense and the prosecution had presented their cases and six men had been heard in the witness stand the meeting was closed with no final verdict.

The verdict will be rendered within the next few days and published in The Cardinal according to members of the court.

As the case was given, the defendant sent to the athletic department an order for one student ticket at 50 cents and two $2.50 tickets for which he was alleged to have inclosed $5.50.

Hunter Takes Stand

Because of the fact that no $2.50 tickets were at that time being sold by the department two $2 tickets and the student ticket were returned to him with no refund.

When R. H. Hunter, who was in charge of the ticket sale, and Peter Cheli '23, an assistant of Mr. Hunter, were called to the witness stand they both affirmed that the records of the transaction showed that only $4.50 had been inclosed with the order.

As admitted by the counsel for the defense and the defendant himself, Spangenburg, feeling that he had lost $1 and not needing the two $2 tickets, sold them indirectly at $2.50 each, the amount which he felt he had paid for them. The transaction had been carried out through the medium of a friend, H. W. Holm '23. According to the evidence, Holm also had disposed of the student ticket at the price of $2.50.

Heft Argues Defense

Carroll Heft, L 3, counsel for the defense, contended that the men in charge of the ticket sale might have lost the $1 which should have been refunded to Spangenburg if his evidence is true and Spangenburg therefore would be justified in making a transaction which would not involve loss of money to him.

The Student court is Clifford Myers L 3. Since Holm was involved in the transaction, he also pleaded guilty to the charge of illegally selling tickets to the Homecoming game.

The cases of three freshmen, alleged to have been delinquent in carrying out the traditions of the university in regard to their actions, will be held before the Student court January 9, Cecil Dull '23, chief justice of the court, announced.

McCURDY TALKS ON 3RD PARTY TONIGHT

"The Third Party Movement", will be the subject of an address by Allen B. McCurdy, national secretary of the Committee of the 48, given under the auspices of the social Science club at the men's gymnasium at 8 o'clock tonight. William C. Kittle, secretary of the state board of normal school regents will preside.

Mr. McCurdy was a former follower of Theodore Roosevelt but left the Republican party in the break of 1912, and has since represented the Liberal wing of the Republicans.

Three or four years of travel throughout the United States and Europe and intimate personal study of the Liberal party movement places Mr. McCurdy in a position of authority on the political possibilities of the movement and its significance in the 1924 election campaign.

Noel Sargent, employed by the National Manufacturers' association, and Paul Blanchard, employed by the League of the Industrial Democracy, will debate the question of the open versus the closed shop, December 14.

Need a Little Lucre? Write a Prom Slogan

"Five dollars for a slogan", is the cry of prom officials today as the slogan contest opens.

"We need a good slogan for prom and we need it quick," Gordon B. Wanzer, general chairman, said yesterday, "A prize of $5 is offered for the best slogan. It must be short and expressive. The contest will be open to everybody. The winning slogan will have to express democracy and the spirit of cooperation."

Suggestions for the slogan are to be mailed or brought to Gordon Wanzer, Chi Psi house, 150 Iota court. The contest will close at 6 o'clock Saturday. In case there are duplicates, the prize will be awarded to the person handing in the slogan first. Accurate record of the time of receipt will be kept.

FINALS NEAR, DEAN WARNS

Only 2½ Weeks For Study After Holiday, Sellery Points Out

Only two and a half weeks remain after the Christmas holidays instead of the customary three or four weeks, for the student to prepare himself for final examinations, it was pointed out by George C. Sellery, dean of the College of Letters and Science, yesterday in a statement calling student attention to the necessity of immediate study for finals.

"This announcement may come as a shock to some who have been expecting to put off the heavy work of preparing for final examinations until after the Christmas recess," Dean Sellery declared. "The wise student will settle down at once to do some of his best work from now until the beginning of the Christmas vacation.

"The end of the semester is in sight and students who do not settle down to steady work now and exercise self-control in shutting out Christmas sensations will be taking great risks."

The rumor that an extended vacation would be granted to students who have to cross two states in order to get home was declared untrue by Dean Sellery.

"Since one can leave Madison on Wednesday and reach the confines of the United States before Christmas evening, there is no reason for an extended vacation this year," Dean Sellery said.

"The no-cut rule is to guarantee to every student an equal opportunity of getting his education. The idea is designed in the interests of educational democracy.

"The shift in the university year has resulted in a shortening of the teaching period after Christmas and will end the academic year somewhat earlier," Dean Sellery concluded.

Arabian Surgeon Speaks at "Y" Luncheon Today

Dr. Paul Harrison, surgeon of Arabia, will address the Inner Circle and Sophomore Commission at luncheon this noon in the Y. M. C. A. parlors.

Dr. Harrison spoke yesterday noon to juniors and seniors; at one o'clock he addressed the Medical school at Science hall; this noon he will address the freshmen and sophomores in the parlors of the Y. M. C. A. This evening he will speak at the Baptist church. He will speak to the members of the Rotary club tomorrow noon.

At 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night he will speak at the Y. M. C. A. on "Opening the Desert of Arabia." This meeting is open to both men and women.

CHILDS ISSUES EXACT REPORTS OF CHINA WORK

Lauds Orientals in Explanation of Badger Movement

An official statement by Jack Childs, former editor of The Cardinal, concerning the nature of his work as Wisconsin's representative in China was made public yesterday.

Childs interprets the movement which will be launched next week under four separate heads. He asserts that the West has contributed much to the East but he also lauds the capacities and traits of the orientals.

The complete formal statement of Childs is as follows:

(1) "The Wisconsin in China movement is not an effort to carry to an inferior and heathen people an American brand of salvation. Six years of close fellowship with the youth of China has given me genuine admiration for their character and intellectual capacity.

Contact with the ancient civilization of China, a knowledge of progressive forces now operating in China, as well as a certain appreciation of what China has suffered from economic and political exploitation from so-called western Christian nations, makes one seriously question whether any movement from the West will be of large service to the Chinese people if it rests on a false assumption of superiority.

(2) "To say that, however, is not to say that the West has nothing to contribute to the national and social life of China. The leaders of China themselves realize that there is much in western civilization that they do desperately need if they win a larger life for their people.

The youth of China in their war against poverty, illiteracy, graft and inefficiency in public life are eager to appropriate out of the

Dean Vaughn of Michigan Speaks at Pasteur Meet

A commemorative address to Louis Pasteur, French scientist, will be given by Dean Victor C. Vaughn of the University of Michigan School of Medicine, and chairman, National Research council, Division of Medical Sciences, at 8 o'clock this evening in the auditorium of the Biology building. Sigma Xi, graduate scientific fraternity, is sponsoring the meeting. Other demonstrations in commemoration of Pasteur will be carried on in various universities throughout the world during the month of December. Pasteur is noted for his studies and discoveries in fermentation, researches in hydrophobia, and his suggestion of inoculation as a preventative of disease. Pasteur institute in Paris, where he worked from 1886 until his death in 1895, bears his name.

Elias Day Will Present Drama Reading Thursday

Elias Day, dramatic reader and author, will present his varied program tomorrow evening in 165 Bascom hall under the auspices of Forensic board. Mr. Day is a well-known member of the Chicago Lyceum of Fine Arts and has spent more than 25 years in dramatic work. "Mr. Day has a very delightful personality and expresses this personality fully in his selections." Prof. Gertrude Johnson of the speech department said yesterday "He has an extremely wide range of readings, many of them delightfully humorous without detracting from their literary value. He will present a splendid program."

Tickets, at 50 cents, may be procured at the Albert Smith music store, at the University pharmacy, or in the rotunda of Bascom hall.

Santa Razzes St. Pat as Frosh Wear Green

Jaunty bits of green headgear have disappeared as if by magic from the campus. In the words of the old song "The green cap is gone from the hill, Maggie."

And yet among the many students who toiled up the hill to learning the other day two brilliant spots of green were seen. Saint Patrick turned a handspring and followed them, chuckling right happily.

Granting a certain amount of loyalty to the dear class of '26 we are prompted to credit the display to old man Santa Claus just a little advance decoration for the merry Christmas season, you see. Noses and ears of the wearers of the green contributed a cheery note of red to the color scheme, the ensemble thus carrying out the traditional red and green of the Yuletide season.

MILITARY HOP FRIDAY NIGHT

Service Men and Cadets Shun Dull Care in Annual Spree

On with the hop, let joy be unconfined.

The third annual military hop in Lathrop gym at 9 o'clock Friday will be an informal "get together" of the cadet corps, band, members of the various military organizations and ex-service men from all branches of the army and navy, a "runner up" for the military ball in the spring. Old blues and khakis will be dug up and pressed into service for the occasion.

Fighting togs supported by the paste boards which may be obtained at Morgans, the University pharmacy, Sergeant Atkins or the company commanders, will be the password.

To make the military atmosphere complete, Thompson's 8-piece orchestra will be attired in cadet uniforms and the Varsity quartet will sing several selections, the words and music of which are original, dressed in their ex-service khakis.

Changing colors of lights shrouded by decorations will produce shadows contrasting with the shifting spotlights and form one of the features making the party more interesting than the ordinary weekend party.

Confirmed bachelors departing from their usual principles for the event can secure dancing partners by applying to Sergeant Atkins who ran a successful bureau of this nature for the last hop.

Junior Division Studies Drama at First Meeting

The junior division of the University league at its first study program of the year held yesterday, the topic of the program was "The Modern Drama." The purpose of the study programs is to present some of the most desirable material along artistic and literary lines. The plays reviewed yesterday were Drinkwater's "Abraham Lincoln" by Mrs. Kenneth Scott, Eugene O'Neill's "Emperor Jones", by Mrs. Geist, Bernard Shaw's "Getting Married," by Mrs. Hazel Beliniman, and W. S. Gilbert's "The Mikado," by Mrs. E. M. Johnson.

Dormitory Finance Plan Discussed By Regents

The Board of Regents, meeting in the Administration Building last night, discussed the proposed plans for the financing of dormitories with private capital. Definite action on the matter will be taken at a meeting this morning.

WEATHER: FAIR
Fair and warmer is the weather prediction today for Madison and vicinity. Warmer with increasing cloudiness is the forecast for tomorrow.

SPONSORSHIP OF C. I. P. A. MEET CHANGES HANDS

Sigma Delta Chi to Run Press Convo With Same Directors

Sigma Delta Chi, professional and honorary journalistic fraternity, will sponsor all activities of the Central Interscholastic Press association in the future, according to an announcement made by the directors last night.

Activities of the high school association continue throughout the school year, the annual fall convention being but one of five service features. A monthly magazine advises and discusses publication problems, a criticism service is maintained and exchange lists are furnished members. Contests of various sorts will be announced.

Present Directors Continue

The present directors, Prof. E. Marion Johnson, Fred L. Kildow '23 and Harold E. McClelland '23, will continue in their official capacities. They will direct the work of the other members of the chapter, who will be organized into groups to take care of the various activities of the association.

Professor Johnson will continue to act as faculty adviser to the students engaged in the work and will handle the finances of the organization.

Kildow will retain his position of editor of the Scholastic Editor, official monthly publication of the organization. Other members of the fraternity will contribute articles and discussions of interest to high school editors. Kildow will also secure contributions from journalists and educators of national reputation.

To Give Service, Contests

The personal criticism service will be placed in charge of Prof. Henry E. Birdsong, who will direct the work of answering questions and offering suggestions for bettering the high school newspapers, magazines and annuals. He will be aided by members of Sigma Delta Chi who have had actual experience on publications of all kinds.

Correspondence will be in care of McClelland, who will handle recommendations and applications for membership, requests for articles in the Scholastic Editor and suggestions for future convention activities.

A series of contests for the best editorial page, for the best editorial, news story, feature story, short story, for the paper having the best headlines, cartoons and make-up will be conducted throughout the year.

WANT MONEY, NOT PARTIES, FOR POOR

That the annual Christmas parties for the poor children of Madison, given by the social organizations of the university, should not exceed eight or nine, is the wish of Miss Jeanette Davis, secretary of the Madison Public Welfare association.

We appreciate the interest that the university social organizations take in helping to make Christmas brighter for the needy children of Madison, but we feel that donations instead of parties will help us in our work more because the funds given can be used for food and shelter and will reach those who cannot benefit by the Christmas parties," Miss Davis said.

Interfraternity council and Pan-Hellenic association are planning to cooperate and divide up among the fraternities and sororities the number of parties to be given this year just before the Christmas holidays.

Miss Davis has prepared a name list of 200 children who can be entertained at parties and who will receive scarcely any other Christmas entertainment.

U. OF W. SENDS JUDGING TEAM

University Delegation Attends
Chicago Live-stock
Exposition

Wisconsin's agriculture is going to be in the limelight during a series of farmers' meetings planned for the winter months. Many are now attending the international live stock exposition and grain and hay show in Chicago.

A delegation of upper class and graduate students of the university in charge of G. C. Humphrey and J. G. Fuller are attending. Sheep exhibited by Frank Kleinheinz and horses by Joe Delwiche are at the show.

The college stock judging team consisting of A. V. Mills and D. A. Skalitzky of Jefferson county, C. P. Kellum of Cambt, Ind., M. C. Viste of Dodge county, and F. A. Kleinheinz and W. F. Renk of Dane county, will compete.

Other meetings planned are the annual convention of the Wisconsin branch, American Society of Equity at Fond du Lac, Dec. 5-8; fourth annual meeting of the American Farm and Bureau Federation, Chicago, Dec. 11-14; Wisconsin Products Exposition, Milwaukee, Dec. 14-20; convention of Wisconsin Cheesemakers' association, Milwaukee, Jan. 10-12; convention and exposition of Wisconsin Horticultural society, Madison, Jan. 10-12; Wisconsin Farmers' course, Madison, Jan. 29-Feb. 2; and the annual meetings of the Wisconsin Live-stock Breeders' association, Madison, Jan. 29-Feb. 2.

Herrick, Rhodes Scholar, History Instructor Here

A Rhodes scholar, Frances H. Herrick, Western Reserve university graduate in 1922, is spending a year as instructor and graduate student in the history department; here before he leaves for England next fall. Clyde Emery '21, and S. K. Larson, graduate from Lawrence college in 1920, are the students from the state studying at Oxford now.

D'ja Miss That Letter? Y. W. Bazaar's Got It

Love letters—real honest-to-goodness love letters, both for those who already have some tied away in pale ribbons and scented with lavender and for those who haven't any but still wish that they did—that's what the Y. W. C. A. old English bazaar this next Saturday is going to have at the old post office on Tottenham Row.

The letters will fill all acute letter needs in a most proficient and satisfying manner and the letters will be chuck full of thrills and all of the necessary elements for a true love letter.

They've all been written by experts and have the earmarks of professionalism.

Every man and woman who goes up to call for his mail at the post office will get the letter which has been written for him,—and there is a letter for every person in the university.

And in case you are looking for new ideas along these lines for your own personal usage, this is the place you'll find 'em.

That letter will be waiting for you, and so don't forget to go up and collect it next Saturday!

Cost of Living Lower at Iowa State College

Students at Iowa State college are living at less expense this year than they have for a number of years. At student boarding clubs board has been brought down to $4 per week. In the women's dormitories and cafeteria board averages $5 a week. Fraternities and club houses are succeeding in keeping the food good at a cost of between $4 and $5 a week.

Lutheran Students Will Banquet Tonight at 6

A banquet for Lutheran students will be held at 6 o'clock tonight in the church parlors, to interest freshmen in the Lutheran student organization.

Dr. M. J. Bieber, superintendent of missions in Minneapolis, and Dean F. Louise Nardin will speak. The musical numbers on the program will be rendered by Harriett Dohr '23 and Harold Fry '24. The program will end at 8:30 o'clock.

POMMERENING WILL NOT RUN

McCaskey Looms as Equity Chief at Convention This Week

FOND DU LAC, Wis.—Out of a list of nearly 30 candidates, W. T. McCaskey, of Marinette county, present business manager, has been mentioned as the most likely man for the presidency of the Wisconsin state union, American Society of Equity, holding its annual state convention this week. The voting strength of the society is 511. Of this number 276 are required for election.

E. C. Pommerening, president, has announced that he will not be a candidate for re-election. C. D. Hown of Pierce county is among those mentioned as definite candidates.

J. N. Tittemore, former president, is again mentioned for that place, as is J. B. Husting, former state secretary.

Mr. Pommerening stated that he favored the establishment of state headquarters in Milwaukee as he regarded that city as the logical place for them.

The directors today turned over complete charge of the livestock business conducted within the state to the Equity Co-operative Sales Co., of Milwaukee, thereby ending a joint direction of the business participated in by the Equity directors and the co-operative sales company. Conflict in authority, it was held, proved a detriment to the business.

M. F. Sharp, former national president, of the American Society of Equity today declared that dissension and discord had no part in Equity.

Crucible Starts Drive to Sell 100,000 Xmas Seals

The sale of 100,000 Christmas seals among the university students has been started this week by Crucible, junior honorary society, under the direction of Arleen Klug '24.

The S. G. A. representative in Barnard, Chadboune and each of the girls rooming houses has been sent about 15 stamps for each girl in her house. The girls have been asked to buy at least 15, and the sales-women are expected to sell their entire quota or buy the seals themselves. The sororities and fraternities each are being taken charge of by a member while the men's rooming houses are to be canvassed separately.

All unsold stamps are to be returned to the S. G. A. office by December 15. The stamps also will be for sale at a special booth at the Y. W. C. A. bazaar Saturday afternoon.

Eat Eline's Chocolate

If the skin is to be beautiful and free from blemish the body must be well nourished. The immature red blood corpuscles must be fed that they may develop and nourish the layer of tissue just under the skin.

The secret of an unblemished skin is a free circulation of healthy blood.

Eline's is rich in protein and carbohydrates to supply the proper nourishment for the blood.

Eline's is delicious to taste—cocoa beans, pure sugar, and fresh, whole-cream milk are the only ingredients—the milk comes fresh each day from cows that feed in the emerald green fields of Wisconsin, where crystal clear water abounds in spring-fed lakes and babbling brooks.

Yet,—Eline's costs no more than common chocolate.

40 TRACK MEN WORK OUT FOR VARSITY SQUAD

Burke Predicts Winning Team if Men Keep Eligible

More than 40 track men are working regularly in the gym annex in preparation for the regular competition which will begin shortly after the second semester starts. While a large number of last year's squad is lost through graduation, there is material on hand which insures a fairly good squad.

Eligibility will figure largely in making or breaking the team for the men stay eligible the team which will represent Wisconsin next spring will be a winning one, according to Coach Mead Burke.

While there is not a great amount of material of known ability for any of the events, there seems to be at least a nucleus with which the coaches may work. Last year's frosh team was one of the best history and will be counted upon to furnish considerable material.

Spetz Will Lead Dashes
In the dash events, Captain Spetz will be one of the dependables. He has had much experience and is well fitted to lead the squad. Johnson and Irving Wade are other experienced men who will be out for honors.

Sid Eagleburger, of football fame, reported for the first time last night. He was the fastest man on Richard's football squad and may duplicate the performance on Burke's squad. From last year's frosh squad has reported Menke, another dash man of great promise. can hope to take distance honors from the Badgers.

Good Distance Man
Except for Doug Moorhead, who graduates in February, every member of this season's cross country squad will be eligible for the distance events. Headed by Jerry Wade and Tschudy, half milers, and two milers should be able to make excellent showings in all meets. In addition to the men of the cross country squad, Sherman, who was ineligible this fall will be running in the spring.

For the hurdles, Newell is the only man who looks good at present. With the progress of the season, however, there may be hurdlers who will show up.

For the high jump event good material is plentiful. Pete Platten and Dick Gibson of last year's squad will both be jumping again this year. In addition to these men, Tuhtar, yearling captain last year and Donahue, a man who promises much, will be out for honors in the event.

Pole Vault, Weights Shy
Experienced material for the pole vault is somewhat lacking. Hammann and Tomlinson being the only men from the 1922 squad who will be back. Several new men have been doing well in practice, however, and it is not to be expected that the Badgers will fall down in this event.

The graduation of Guy Sundt leaves a space in the weight events which will be hard to fill. In the shot put, Van Ells has been showing up well, while Nichols, of this year's football squad, is an experienced man in the hammer throw. For neither the discus or the javelin events have many men reported.

Agric Triangle Banquets Euthenics Club Women

More than 75 members of Agric Triangle and the Euthenics club attended the banquet held in honor of the Euthenics club girls at the Wesleyan Memorial Chapel last night.

E. H. Perkins '24, acted as toast master. The principal address of the evening was given by Prof. J. H. Kolb, head of the rural life department. Professor Kolb stressed the need of Euthenics club cooperation in the rural extension work of Agric Triangle.

"How the Euthenics Club Wants to Help Agric Triangle," was the subject of an address by Louise Thompson '23. The "Cats Meow" quartet sang several songs.

Yost's 1923 Team Looks Good With 15 "M" Men Returning

Michigan will lose some of her most brilliant stars from this year's team in Captain Paul Goebel and Bernie Kirk, probably the best pair of wingmen Yost has ever had on the same eleven. Eddie Johns, who has played guard and tackle for three years is ineligible for further competition. Doug Roby, veteran back, and Cappon, the smashing force in this year's attack, will be available for no more games and Knode, a valuable backfield man, has played his last game.

In addition to the first string players lost, strong substitute units have been lost in Van Orden, and M winner and second string guard for three years, and Garfield, who has played for two years at tackle. Even with these seven men gone Yost has a powerful machine left with 15 M men still on the job.

Great Backfield Prospects

To begin with there will be a backfield composed of Captain Kipke, Herb Steger, Uteritz, Dunleavy, Cunther Vick, Grube, the latter two from this year's all-fresh team and a number of others who the coaches are even now looking to for some great football. Kipke should have his greatest year next fall with two years of phenomenal success on the gridiron behind him to inspire even greater confidence. He is not the type who will be slowed up in the least by the added responsibilities of the captaincy. He is a born leader and will be at the top of his game with the knowledge that he has a team to inspire.

Uteritz a Star

Keeler and Steger have had their baptism of fire and next year will be considered seasoned players. They are a pair of backs surpassed this season by probably not more than five in the Big Ten.

14 SOPHOMORES, 8 ALL-AMERICANS GIVEN NUMERALS

Fourteen second year men who played in the sophomore-freshman football game will receive numerals and sweaters for their work in that contest, it has been recommended by Coach Guy S. Lawman. The Athletic board recently put an official O. K. to the recommendations.

Eight gridmen will get numerals and two more will get sweaters and numerals for playing with the All-Americans.

Those who get sweaters for playing in the class battle are Collins, Rippe, Homer, Sykora, Wigges, Schiatter, Fabera, Schrader, Friedl, Stipek, Pollock, Levitt, O'Brien and Joyce.

Men who get numerals are Carter, Nyhagen, Hicks, Monkwitch, Zachechner, Miller, Monkwitch. Two All-Americans who are not so sophomores but who get their numerals are Christianson and Tomlin-

Forty-one Teams Enter Greek Basketball League

Forty-one teams already have been entered in the inter-fraternity basketball tournament for which entries close at 10 o'clock tonight. At a meeting of the inter-fraternity athletic committee held last evening, last year's rules governing the tournament were adopted. The entering teams are divided into eight divisions and the first games probably will be played off in the gym at the beginning of next week according to Arthur Platten '23, chairman of the committee.

Thirty Candidates Out For Maroon Basket Team

A dozen or more Maroon grid stars including Capt. "Hal" Lewis, Harry Frida, "Cully" Byler, Franklyn Gowdy, Dawson, and Otto Strohmeier, were in the turnout of more than thirty varsity basketball candidates who took their initial practice at Bartlett gymnasium.

Northwestern Basket Squad Starts Practice

The Northwestern basketball squad went into practice yesterday with the determination to win the pre-holiday games with Monmouth and Lake Forest. Maury Kent, coaching for the first time at Northwestern, says that he has several promising players.

Uteritz has given an exhibition of quarterbacking during the past year that stamps him as one of the greatest who has ever piloted a Michigan team. Although they didn't have a chance to show their wares this year, Dunleavy and Gunther proved in practice that they have a world of ability. Dunleavy has understudied Cappon this past season and when he was given his chance he showed that he bids fair to fill the great fullback's shoes in a capable manner.

Perhaps hardest of all to take will be the loss of the two flankers, Captain Goebel and Kirk, but if Neisch and Curran keep up the form shown in occasional glimpses this year, the loss will be somewhat relieved.

Veteran Tackles Back

The tackle situation appears to be pretty well taken care of for both Muirhead and Rosatti, will be back. These men were towers of strength to the forward wall and in the Illinois game especially started every one by their consistent and efficient method of nailing the runner back of the line of scrimmage.

As in the case of the tackles, the guard berths will have two capable claimants in Slaughter and Steele who played their first year for the Varsity this season and who performed with remarkable success.

When Ernie Vick left a year ago everyone wondered who could be found to fill his shoes at center. It took the coaches no time at all to find this man in the person of Jack Blott. Blott showed such a wealth of class in his one year of participation that several critics are considering him for the all-Conference berth. Besides Blott there is Blalock, a hard working product of the 1921 freshman team.

Notre Dame Starts Off Basket Season

The Notre Dame basketball team began its season last night at Michigan City, opposing the Michigan City Y. M. C. A. The first college contest will be staged with the Michigan Aggies at East Lansing on Friday night.

No great hopes are entertained for Notre Dame victory in any of these games because most of the court players were also members of the football squad and were not released for basketball practice until this week.

Coach Halas, in charge of the team for the last two years, will have his first real chance to develop a winner as long as football seasons prevented early starts in the two seasons preceding.

Northwestern Schedules Indiana Game For 1923

Athletic Director Dana M. Evans of Northwestern University has announced the addition of Indiana to the Purple football schedule for 1923.

The game, which was arranged just as the conference meeting at the Auditorium hotel Saturday was breaking up, will be played in Indianapolis October 13. It will be the first conference game of the season for Northwestern.

Widespread satisfaction with the 1923 schedule, which includes six conference games, was expressed in Evanston yesterday. Director Evans and Coach Glenn Thistlewaite were both highly pleased with the arrangement.

Engineering Prof. Makes Ventilation Investigation

Various types of ventilators for buildings are being investigated this year by Prof. A. H. Anderson of the department of steam and gas engineering.

"We will have no definite results for possibly more than a year," Professor Anderson said yesterday. "We are busy now with the testing of barn ventilators for dairy barns, school ventilators, church ventilators and industrial home ventilators. The respective merits and disadvantages are being investigated."

The merits and disadvantages of each will be studied carefully because of the importance of selecting an efficient ventilating system suited to the building in which it is to be installed.

DADDY OF MIDDLE WEST GRID SPORT IS 76 YEARS YOUNG

A. H. Hornsby.

Hidden in an obscure section of St. Paul, Minn., lives the "daddy" of football in the central west. He's A. H. Hornsby and he put on the first football game in Chicago forty-seven years ago. Hornsby admits the game has changed since then, but declares that it isn't any faster or more interesting. He played first at the Royal Military college, Birkenhead, England, in the early sixties.

SOPH RUNNERS TO HIT FROSH

Indoor Track Meet Between Classes Saturday; Greeks Meet Dec. 16

The frosh and soph indoor track meet is scheduled for 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Coach Mead Burke is desirous of having a good number of men report for this event and hopes that some new material will be discovered.

Every frosh and soph who wishes to enter the meet must report to Coach Burke before Saturday. The best men from each gym class are expected to enter together with any others who wish to try their skill in any of the track events.

The interfraternity track meet will be held December 16. Many fraternities are entering teams. Cups will be awarded to the winners.

"With all men eligible next semester we will have a very good track team this year," was the statement made by Coach Burke last night. Every man must be eligible in his work this semester in order to compete next semester. Most of the men this year are new men and a great many of them are sophomores. They look good. The greatest question now is that every man keep eligible."

Says California Could Beat Iowa in Grid Game

"California is two touchdowns better than Iowa," Prof. Ralph W. Chaney formerly of the geology faculty at the University of Iowa and who is now doing research work in the University of California, declared while discussing the relative merits of the Iowa and California elevens. "There are four teams practicing regularly at Berkeley, and any one of them can defeat Iowa," he said. "I firmly believe if the Iowa eleven played California, it would be unmercifully beaten."

U. of I. Co-eds May Reduce Dates For Better Grades

Central committees of the Woman's Group system at the University of Illinois are discussing the advisability of the elimination of dates to eliminate poor grades. If sentiment is in favor the groups will be divided systematically. The restriction of dates will be mostly self-imposed, working according to the principle of the honor system.

PUBLIC TO SEE BASKET MEN IN TILT NEXT WEEK

Meanwell Announces Open Practice on Monday and Wednesday

Two practice games between the Varsity and frosh basketball teams that will be open to the public were scheduled for 8 o'clock next Monday and Wednesday nights by Dr. Meanwell.

Various picked teams from the frosh squad are furnishing opposition for Coach Meanwell's basket tossers this week. Captain Tebell has reported for practice and has been placed in the scrimmage sessions already and is showing much of his old form.

The men used against the freshmen yesterday afternoon were Capt. Tebell and Charles Bareis at guards, Doug Gibson at center, Ken Elmona, Les Gage and Byron Barwig as forwards. Rollie Williams has not yet reported for practice. Clifford Nolte, another football man, is out.

Frosh Team Is Strengthened

Several men from the freshman football squad have strengthened the frosh net team by reporting for practice to Coach Carl Harper. Orin Wernecke, a graduate of Hyde Park high school and a former captain, Chicago, is a promising candidate for center.

Some of the fastest men on the squad have been chosen for afternoon practices with the Varsity team. They are Noth, Christianson, Christoph, guards; Skoglund, Wernecke and Larson, centers; Olson, Mac Carthy and Scheer forwards.

Meanwell Gives Season's Dope

The Wisconsin Varsity Basketball team probably will line up with Gage and Elson at forwards, Gibson at center, and Williams and Captain Tebell at the guard positions, for the first game, according to Dr. Meanwell, who is coaching the Cardinal team for the ninth season.

"We will have a faster and snappier team than those of the past two seasons, and it will be capable of putting up better exhibitions of team work than either of its predecessors," Coach Meanwell said. "But there is a great deal of green material included on the Varsity squad and we cannot expect too much of the boys playing their first Conference season."

In addition to the regulars named above, Barwig, forward, Jack Harris and Wackman, centers, and Nolte, Bareis, and Radke guards, will compose the eleven men who will make up the varsity squad.

On the reserved squad, which consists of sophomores and ineligibles, there will be Varney, Lieberman, Mainland, and Spooner, all forwards and Feuchtwanger guard. Not since the days of Van Gent has Wisconsin had a jumping center who could corral the ball on the tip-off, and there do not appear to be any men in sight who can furnish the necessary height to make tip-off plays possible.

Purdue and Michigan are the teams that will fight it out for the Conference title this year, according to Meanwell.

"Both Purdue and Michigan have really great teams this season and since they do not meet each other they should both stand an excellent chance of going through the year undefeated. It looks now as if the rest of us would have to content ourselves with scrapping it out for third place," the Badger mentor said.

Chicago and Carnegie Tech Make Grid Date

The Chicago eleven will play Carnegie Tech in football next year at Chicago on October 13. The Pittsburgh team has been developing excellently under the direction of Walter P. Steffen, former Maroon quarterback, but it is uncertain whether he will coach the team next year.

MAIN STREET, MADISON
CALIFORNIA breaks into the headlines when she frees some convict and when her prize cave prisoners she hasn't been able to woman breaks jail. Wisconsin figures in the news when her senior senator says something startling.

California also is heard from when her university football team plays an adversary from afar.

Wisconsin, so far at least, is content with political prominence.

California usually is thought of as a place where contrast of color is emphasized and racial feeling runs high.

Yet a student of Oriental extraction, who attended California last year, told us yesterday that he notices more racial prejudice, feels more his racial difference, at Madison than at Berkeley.

Evidently it is not only in sports that Wisconsin is provincial and narrow.

While so much enthusiasm is being voiced about Wisconsin in China, would it not be well if students showed more interest in China at Wisconsin?

Dozens of Oriental students attend the university, but they remain largely in an isolated group. They come to observe and learn western civilization; yet how much do they get outside the classroom?

How many students know any of their foreign fellows? Is there a foreign student in one of your classes? Do you know him? Have you made friends with him and made him feel welcome?

Within a few days Wisconsin students will give money—quite a bit of money, if precedent is followed—for the purpose of spreading western civilization in China. That is well, or the West has much to give in the way of modern culture.

Jack Childs' work, we understand, is largely to keep the Chinese interested in the western civilization they have learned. That is worth while; that is why Wisconsin students give him their money.

But what Jack Childs takes to China, Chinese students come here to get. Every day American students have opportunities personally to give their Oriental fellows what they have come for.

And to give it would cost them absolutely nothing.

No, it would cost American students nothing to give these Chinese what they come for, and at the same time they would be gaining much.

If these men from the East have any sense of humor, they must do a lot of chuckling at the pranks of fashion models and jazz geniuses with whose civilization they are supposed to be so much impressed.

They are aristocrats, many of these Chinese, scions of ancient and honorable houses. Behind them they have a great body of tradition, philosophy, literature, civilization. Decadent, perhaps, from the western point of view, but real, nevertheless.

While the American's ancestors were chewing raw beef in the barren wilderness of a dark Europe, the Celestial's forefathers were printing books, building up a great philosophy, and shooting their enemies with gunpowder in the most approved Christian fashion. The Chinese have much to give.

That's why we think they chuckle. The aristocrat with a sense of humor always laughs at the self-sufficient, patronizing parvenu.

If he has no humor, he is exasperated, offended by the crudity of an upstart.

Students may be expected to give generously of their funds for Wisconsin in China, but let us hope that they also will give something of themselves to China at Wisconsin.

Money usually sinks when it is thrown on the water, but bread comes back.

DISCONCERTING THOUGHT
TWO weeks remain before the annual Yule-tide exodus from "Minerva's hallowed home", to the agricultural acres and the metropolitan avenues. Then another fortnight will flutter by, filled with frolics, free from intellectual stimuli and professional anaesthetics. Then a return to the routine of this arduous academic existence.

That's the point. After the armistice, between the resumption of rostral hostilities and the first impact of the great January drive will remain just two and one half weeks in which students may deepen their trenches, replenish their intellectual ammunition.

Four and one half weeks to write reports, read books, begin a thesis, cram for exams! Whew!

CENTENNIAL

TODAY is the hundredth anniversary of Louis Pasteur, the great French scientist, to whom so many moderns owe their very lives. From his work, perhaps more than any other man's came the world's great knowledge of health and sanitation.

At such a seat of scientific research as Wisconsin, it is fitting that his centennial should be observed. It will be observed tonight at 8 o'clock in the Biology auditorium, when Victor C. Vaughn, dean of the Michigan medical school, will speak under the auspices of Sigma Xi on the work of the great scientist.

URGES MOVIES IN EDUCATION

Professor Uhl Takes Stand For Film Supplement to Courses

That motion pictures should be used in educational as advocated by Dr. John J. Tigart, United States commissioner of education, is the opinion of Prof. Willis L. Uhl, assistant professor of education here.

"I believe that the use of educational movies has increased very much," Professor Uhl said. "There are at present some purely mechanical difficulties, such as distribution of the films, that will have to be worked out before the moving picture as a means of education can be used extensively."

"In Detroit these difficulties have been overcome by use of central distributing stations to which each teacher may send for the films which she wishes to use for the day's instruction."

"The motion pictures would serve to make school subjects more vivid and more interesting. Illustrations, whether in books, on slides, in motion pictures or otherwise, are psychologically the most effective media for conveying accurate, detailed and abiding impressions."

"The motion pictures should not be used every day or too extensively," Professor Uhl said. "If they are used too frequently, they may become even more monotonous than some teachers."

JUNIOR COLLEGE QUESTION UP AS PEARSE RESIGNS

The resignation of Prof. Carroll G. Pearse has brought to legislative attention the question of the junior college to replace the 2-year college course in the state normal schools.

The new educational bill will be introduced soon after the legislature meets in January and will cover the same phases of the bill vetoed by Gov. J. J. Blaine in the last session.

At least five junior colleges will be suggested probably to be set up in high schools and directed by the city boards of education. Since the issue is political as well as educational the matter will be settled necessarily by the legislature.

The bill is virtually the same as that passed by the last legislature. If Governor Blaine again vetoes the bill, the question of such courses outside the universities and colleges will probably be at an end, since no appropriations have been made to carry on the work in the normal schools.

President Pearse's resignation has given rise to speculation as to whether he will become a factor in the state educational system or, as was reported from Milwaukee on Saturday, he may be offered the presidency of Stout Manual Training school to succeed the late L. D. Harvey.

Thousands of young men and women throughout the state are watching with interest the progress of the bill.

It is said that such educational facilities would provide them the opportunity of college training without the expense of going away to college or to the university. Five or more such college centers would accommodate a large number of students who, for various reasons, are unable to attend the state university or the smaller endowed colleges.

AG LIT DEBATES ATHENA FRIDAY IN FIRST CLASH

The Agricultural Literary society will meet the Athena Literary society in debate in Agricultural auditorium, Friday night for the first time since the war.

"Resolved, that the Eighteenth Amendment to the United States Constitution Should Be Repealed" is the subject of the debate. The agries will uphold the affirmative side of the question while the Athenians will support the negative.

Previous to the war, the Agricultural Literary society held triangular debates with other agriculture colleges. These debates have not been revived since the war.

In order to maintain the incentive for effective debating in the Agricultural Literary society, the forensic board ruled last year that the society should debate the hill society that was not engaged in the

The first clash between a team representing a hill society and the agric team was held last spring when the Agricultural Literary society defeated the Hesperia team.

The clash next Friday night is considered of unusual interest among forensics enthusiasts because it will give another of the hill societies a chance to try its ability against the agric debaters.

Zoning Law Signed By Mayor Kittleson

The zoning ordinance was signed today by Mayor I. Milo Kittleson and will be published in a few days. The black and white map has arrived from the offices of Harland Bartholomew, zoning expert, at St. Louis, and may be published with the ordinance. The law will become effective immediately after its signing and publication.

LIBRARY GETS GOOD CLEANING

First Renovation of Building in 23 Years to End in June

For the first time in 23 years the Library is being house cleaned. The whole building is to be gone over, all the plaster repaired, and all woodwork painted. Work begun last fall will continue straight through the winter, and it will take until almost summer to complete the overhauling.

The contract for the job is under the general charge of J. D. G. Mack, state chief engineer and former professor in the College of Engineering. The Library since it is the property of the State Historical society and not a university building, is under the jurisdiction of the state chief engineer who investigates the needed upkeep of every state building.

Upon Mr. Mack's recommendation an appropriation of more than $36,000 to cover a period of two years was made in 1920. This sum, with the exception of that spent for grading last fall is to be used for the present work.

La Follette Seeks to Strengthen Seaman Act

WASHINGTON—Amendments to strengthen the La Follette Seaman's law, proposed in a bill introduced today by the author of the statute, Sen. La Follette, would prohibit clearance of American vessels from any American port with fewer men of the different grades than they had upon their arrival. Another provision would liberalize seamen's shore leave and resignations and allow them to demand one half of their accrued pay, under certain limitations, upon touching at each port of cargo discharge.

Settlement Groups of U. of W. Hold Dinner

Clubs of the University of Wisconsin settlement group held the ninth annual dinner at the settlement house Saturday evening at Milwaukee. Dean Alida Peter of Downer college, was the principal speaker, using as her subject "Purpose in Life." Seventy-five members of the clubs participated.

EXTENSION BODY TABULATES CITY OFFICIALS' PAY

Salaries of mayors of Wisconsin cities range from $1 a meeting to $6,800, according to a revised table of "Salaries of City Officials in Wisconsin," just issued by the Municipal Information bureau of the Extension division.

The report on city salaries recently was revised and based on data received from 127 Wisconsin cities. Blanks were sent to 135 Badger cities but eight failed to reply. In only 20 cities of the 135 do the mayors receive more than $1,000 and in only six do they receive more than $3,000.

Kenosha which has a city manager, pays $8,500. The mayor of Milwaukee receives $6,800, those of Oshkosh and Green Bay $4,000 each, and Eau Claire and Fond du Lac pay a salary of $3,500.

Under the general charter law, cities are required at the first regular meeting in February to fix the salaries of all officers to be elected or appointed during the ensuing year. The present report includes the population of each city and the salaries of its officers so that it can be used by city officials at the 1923 February meetings.

Smith Beat Johnsons In Directory Contest

The Smiths have again beaten the Johnsons in the student body of the university, according to the new student directory recently issued. The Smiths number 63, while the Johnsons, who up to last year had usually held first place, number 57. The Andersons, with 44, capture third place.

Other runners-up for the title are the Jones, with 32, the Browns with 29, Nelsons, 28, and Hansons and Hansens, 26. The Millers with 20 are just one ahead of the Schmidtts. Taylors number 16, and the Olsons and Olsens total 13.

KITTELESON FOR ANNEXATION OF SOUTH MADISON

Mayor Milo Kittleson spoke on the subject "What Madison Really Needs" at the regular meeting of the Lions club this noon. Dr. Louis R. Head addressed the club,

A cup that glows in the dark! This is the mysterious object which motivates the vital, thrilling plot of "The Light in the Dark," the First National attraction in which Hope Hampton is starring at the Strand Theatre starting today. The glow is first noticed after the recovery of the cup from a pawnshop to which it had been taken by a thief. J. Warburton Ashe (played by E. K. Lincoln) is elated when the goblet which he had found in an old English forest is returned to him. Warburton hands the cup to his man to be replaced in the drawing room. A few minutes later he is startled to hear the butler shriek, and, running from the room, he finds the man stumbling up the stairs, terribly frightened. Following to the drawing room, Warburton is amazed to find the room in darkness, except for a strange glow which seemed to emanate from the cup. Was it the Holy Grail? Or was

Portraits of Famed Statesmen, Soldiers, on Display at Libe

The oil portraits of more than 20 men, famous during the war as statesmen or soldiers, have been placed on exhibition in the Historical museum by the Madison Art association. The portraits were painted for the National Gallery in Washington by world known artists and they will remain here for two weeks.

Statesmen from nearly every country form one group of portraits and generals and admirals from various countries comprise another. Wilson, Clemenceau, Lloyd George, Orlando, Borden, Prince Kimmochi, Archibishop Mercier, Pershing, Haig, Sims, Foch, Joffre and Diaz are among those whose portraits are on exhibit.

"These paintings were done by some of the finest and best known artists in the country," Mrs. Warner Taylor, president of the Art association declared yesterday.

"A year and a half ago the portraits were sent on circuit by the Washington Federation of Art, and this winter they will become part of the permanent collection in the National Gallery," Mrs. Taylor said.

Children's books dating from 1808 to 1881 from another exhibit of interest. Heavy cardboard or cloth has been used for the covers of most of the books and all were generously illustrated.

Pencil marks, pages held together with twine and ragged edges are characteristic of the animal books which are illustrated in color. The sizes of the books range from an inch in height to the more ordinary dimensions.

The museum will be open to the public on Sunday afternoon from 3 until 5 o'clock in order that visitors may view the new exhibits.

UNIVERSITY CLUB FOR WOMEN TO OPEN AT CAPITOL

The official opening of the new national headquarters' and club house of the American association of university women will occur today in Washington D. C. A formal reception will be the first event of the meeting.

Dean F. Louise Nardin, who as dean of women of the University of Wisconsin and president of the Madison branch of the national association was invited to represent the university at the meet, can not be present and has asked two Wisconsin alumnae to attend in her place.

Miss Katherine Rosenberry '22, who is teaching at the National Cathedral school in Washington, will be the university representative, and Miss Elizabeth Fox '07, head of the rural work of the Red Cross society in Washington, will represent the local branch of the alumnae organization.

The new house, formerly the City club of Washington, is near the White house. The old house, a colonial Washington residence is too small for the present needs of the club.

In former years, the upper class women of the university have been invited to enjoy guest privileges at the club house, extended to all college women, while in Washington.

Body to Discuss Women's Vocation Work Thursday

To discuss women's vocational work and lay the plans for a definite program, the committee of faculty technical advisors will meet in conjunction with the women's vocation committee in Lathrop parlors at 4:30 o'clock Thursday.

This technical board of advisors is made up of people from each department who are fully qualified to explain the opportunities and future in the various professions and the courses which will best fit one for them.

The vocational library in Dean F. Louise Nardin's office is open for the use of all those who are interested. It contains the latest books and publications on the subject.

St. Andrew's Guilds to Hold Christmas Sale

The guilds of St. Andrew's church will hold a Christmas sale Thursday and Friday at Smith's Music store, 215 State street. The sales will begin at 9 o'clock and run through the day. Mrs. Hart's candies will be sold exclusively at these sales.

Saturday, Coach Nels Norgren put his protégés thru the initial exercises teaching them to catch, turn, and toss in quick succession, and after the workout lectured to them on the elementary features of the game.

Grand Opera Singer to Appear on Orph Program

The services of eight comedians are enlisted in Cyril Bogann's "Schooldays" at the Orpheum the last time tonight. Three of the comedians are midgets. They help to make this act a hit.

Other attractions today are "The Blue Bird Revue", "A Few Moments of Minstrelsy" with Johnson Brothers and Johnson, Kingston and Erber in "This is That", and Selbini and Grovini in "Follies of Vaudeville."

Sophie Brant, the grand opera prima-donna, will make her first appearance on the vaudeville stage at the Orpheum tomorrow night. Sophie Brant has to her credit some of the really great achievements in opera scored by any mezzo soprano in Europe in the past 10 years.

She sang in New York as principal mezzo-soprano with the late Oscar Hammerstein's Manhattan Opera company 10 years ago, since which time she has sung abroad except for a few performances in this country last winter. Her program in Madison will consist of popular and light operatic selections.

Farrington to Tell Dairy Club of New Butter Test

Prof. E. H. Farrington of the dairy department will describe the new test which he has just invented to the members of the Dairy Science club at 7:30 o'clock tonight in the Dairy building.

The new invention of Professor Farrington is a test to determine the amount of butter fat in butter. This invention already has proved asset to the dairy industry.

Professor Farrington has done much for the dairy industry by inventing several tests for dairy products, among which are included the Fenton acid test for determining the acidity of milk, and the test for butter.

Student Senate to Take Up Point System Tonight

The Student Senate at its meeting tonight will consider the point system which is designed to prevent students from carrying too many activities. Other matters taken up will be a slight revision of the constitution and the setting of the date for the Varsity Jamboree.

200 Babies Entered in Times' Baby Contest

Between 150 and 200 babies have been entered in the baby contest conducted by the Capital Times. The contest will close December 16. It is expected that there will be many more entries.

whole range of human experience them. Dr. John Dewey of Columbia university, after two years in Peking, stated that he had never found young men anywhere as "hungry for knowledge" as the students of China today.

(3) "The Wisconsin in China effort is a work of cooperation with the Chinese people. My work is done under the management of the Chinese Y. M. C. A., an organization whose direction and control is absolutely in the hands of Chinese people. Some of the most influential and representative men in China are members of this committee. I went to China at their invitation; I return to China after my furlough because of a renewal of that invitation.

"In my work in Peking I have a group of Chinese colleagues, men of splendid qualities, whose support is given by the people of Peking, both the Christians and the non-Christians contributing.

(4) "The work is varied in character. It is done through the initiative of the Chinese students themselves. The program includes social service, recreational, moral and spiritual activities. It is frankly religious in character and seeks to interpret to the China youth the great moral and spiritual conceptions of Christ."

Blazir Trails for Progress

Curiosity may have cat, but it has been hard-won development mankind. Once in a accident has been the torch of achievement. But much more frequently—always, nearly—accomplishment, especially in the field of science and invention, has grown out of the insatiable curiosity that seems to be the heritage of us all. Mankind wants to know—and is slowly finding out. Curiosity, the complement of imagination, knows no appeasement.

This is, however, no essay on the vague subject of idle curiosity. There is a vast difference between that and the organized, untiring, well-planned activity which, as an integral part of Westinghouse organization, searches continually for the answers to problems which intelligent speculation sets up. This, if you please, is curiosity in its highest and most intensified form; and it is a fundamental thing in the Westinghouse operations.

But much more frequently—always, nearly—accomplishment, especially in the field of science and invention, has grown out of the insatiable curiosity that seems to be the heritage of us all. Mankind wants to know—and is slowly finding out. Curiosity, the complement of imagination, knows no appeasement.

Research, as we know it, is the guiding hand upon the purely creative activities of business. Constantly it brings to light new aspects of known laws, new visions of laws yet to be uncovered. But the search for these is not haphazard nor whimsical; it is organized and planned as carefully and thoroughly as any other business activity. Whether chemical, electrical, or physical, it is engineering; and it follows engineering methods and tradition.

Many great engineers have been wholly at a loss in this specialized activity. For research, in a sense, reverses the usual order. Its endeavor is to discover unknown laws in the known facts—a thing which is quite at variance with ordinary engineering practice. Yet there is a fine type of engineering mind which finds its great opportunity in this kind of work. And to that type of mind, and that type of man, research beckons with an unmistakable hand. It is engineering pioneering, it blazes trails for progress, to new triumphs, in a wilderness into whose outskirts man has scarcely penetrated.
