3 More Drop from Race, Leaving 12 Posts to Default

The latest developments in the most unusual election campaign ever held on the campus was the announcement that three more candidates have dropped out of the race.

The failure of these candidates to participate in the election raises the

WSGA Decides To Recognize Default Victors

The Women's Self Government association decided, by a majority vote of the council, not to take any action regarding the fact that all candidates for positions in WSGA have won their campaigns by default.

The action was taken last night, when Armina Bedrosian, WSGA president, contacted the girls on the council and got their opinions over the phone.

Miss Bedrosian said, "The girls were not happy about the situation, but they felt that nothing would be gained by acting as the Senior council did, Wednesday night, and refusing to recognize candidates who gained office through default."

It was the opinion of the council that the girls who were chosen by the default are "... capable girls."

Miss Bedrosian felt that if the registration period were opened again it would not be fair to those candidates who filed on time. She said, "It would not be justifiable to make those people who filed on time extend their campaigns any longer than was necessary."

When queried as to whether students should have a chance to choose their candidates for office Miss Bedrosian said, "There was plenty of time for students to file for positions."

Union Directorate Names 2 Officers

Paula Abramson, a sophomore in nursing, and Don Reich, junior in political science, were elected secretary and treasurer respectively of the Union Directorate at a special meeting yesterday.

Directorate also selected Reich, Louise Hegg, vice-president-elect and Bill Bailey, head of Activities Bureau, to be the Wisconsin student delegation to the convention of the National Association of College Unions at Michigan State, April 25-28. Barb Connell, president of the National Association of College Unions at Michigan State, April 25-28, Barb Connell, president will automatically be a delenumber of positions that will be filled by default to twelve.

Jim Hammond, captain of the 1951 football team, and independent candidate for vice-president of the senior class, announced yesterday that he was dropping out of the race.

Hammond said that he would be unable to run for office because he cannot meet the credit requirements and will not be a senior next fall.

Ed Young, candidate for president of the Wisconsin Independent Student association (WISA), explained that he would be unable to fill the post because of "... previous commitments," and he also left the race.

The third cancellation came from Elizabeth Sime, candidate for a position on the Badger board. The deletion of her name from the campaign created the peculiar situation of having all the positions on the board filled by candidates who have won their campaigns by default.

Charles Saunders, the candidate who won his campaign for vice-president of the senior class as a result of Hammond's dropping out of the race, said last night, "I'm sorry to see that such an apathetic condition exists among the students.

"I think that the student body has a right to have a choice. Someone should not be pushed on them through the machinery of default. I would like to see the registration for all campus positions opened again."

Saunders cannot take office as a result of a ruling made by the Senior council on Wednesday night. This ruling states that the council will not accept any senior class officers who have won their campaigns by default.

Georgetown Drops Intercollegiate Football

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Georgetown university suspended all intercollegiate football "indefinitely" last night. Intramurals will replace competition with other colleges.

Georgetown president, Rev. H. Guthrie, gave as the reason for dropping the sport, that "it costs too much money." He intimated that the suspension of intercollegiate football would be permanent.

WKOW Cancels Broadcast Of Student Athletic Forum

Moderator Resigns; Speaker Questions Station 'Censorship'

By JERRY SCHACTER

A student discussion on "Is There Too Much Emphasis on Intercollegiate Athletics," scheduled to be broadcast at 7 p.m. on WKOW last night, was cancelled. The station gave no reason for the program cancellation. The moderator of the show, "Students Speak" has resigned.

Ed Levine, law two, moderator of the program said: "I can no longer retain my self-respect and run the program."

The discussion of intercollegiate athletics was originally scheduled for the "Students Speak" program on Thursday March 8. That program was cancelled because of "mechanical difficulties." Mary Casey, program director of WKOW, explained that "the tape of the March 8 show was inadvertently erased." WKOW announced on March 15th that the show would run last night, March 22.

Miss Casey refused to comment on why last night's program was not broadcast.

An announcer at WKOW said last night that "the show was not scheduled" and assumed "that it was discontinued." Michael Henry, director of WKOW was out of town.

The scheduled speakers on last night's show — which was tape recorded Wednesday night — were John Simcic, defensive guard on the varsity football team, and Karl Meyer, editor of the Athenaeum, campus literary magazine.

Simcic told the Cardinal that he felt "the directing of the show and the actions of the moderator in letting us speak our own views were fair."

Meyer said that "Johnny Simcic and I had a right to have our views presented to the students. Neither Simcic nor I said anything that was (Continued on back page)

Fred Celebrates Quiet 64th Birthday

Today Pres. E. B. Fred, scientist and scholar, begins the sixty-fifth year of his distinguished career. Yesterday he quietly celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday with his wife, two daughters, and son-in-law.

This year is also his sixth as president of the University of Wisconsin, a position which he took over in 1945 when Pres. Clarence A. Dykstra resigned.

His story is that of "farm boy makes good," beginning on a Virginia farm, and continuing now as the head of one of the ten largest universities in the country.

He received his education in bacteriology at the Virginia Polytechnic Institute, and the University of Gottingen, Germany. In 1913 he came to the University of Wisconsin as an instructor and a research assistant in the then new bacteriology department and has remained with Wisconsin ever since.

Fee Raise May Keep Students From 'U': Fred

If university fees are increased "a good many students couldn't come to Wisconsin," Pres. E. B. Fred told a dozen campus leaders last night.

At an informal gathering of students and administrators, Fred outlined in detail the university budget problems. The group met at the home of Registrar Kenneth Little, 1009 Tumalo tr.

Fred also emphasized his desire to increase the number of scholarships and fellowships to make it easier for students to attend the university.

The groups also discussed the effect of the draft on student attitudes, the poor turnout in the current student election races, and the possibility of returning to the quarter system.

Student board president Karl Stieghorst signed a petition saying he backed Regent John Jones' plea for no raise in tuition. Gov. Walter Kohler has recommended a $15 per semester tuition increase.

Administrators and students attending were:

'U' Groups Give $65 for Solons

Contributions for Legislators' Day have reached $65. Don Reich, financial chairman of the project, announced last night.

Latest donation was made last night, when Union directorate voted to give $15 to the fund. This put the drive a little over one-fourth of the way toward its announced goal of $200, with 17 days still left in which to collect contributions.

Other organizations and their contributions are:

- Mens Halls association—$30
- Student board—$10
- Sigma Nu—$5
- Alpha Delta Phi—$5

Legislators' Day is set for April 10. It is designed for entertaining and instructing the 133 Wisconsin legislators on the university and its campus.

Legislators' Day Hosts, Hostesses To Be Interviewed

Interviews for hosts and hostesses for Legislators' day, April 10, will be held in the Union next Wednesday through Friday from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m.

Students selected for the positions will act as guides and companions to the visiting legislators during their afternoon on campus. The only prerequisites for the job are tact, courtesy and a knowledge of the campus.

Hosts and hostesses may ask to be assigned to legislators from particular districts. Room assignments for the interviews will be posted in the Union.

Mind Own Business, US Urged In La Prensa Affair; Dir. Gone

Edited By KAY ROHLOFF
WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Argentine Foreign Minister, Hipolito Jesus Paz, yesterday advised Uncle Sam to mind his own business on the subject of the closed Buenos Aires newspaper, "La Prensa."

Paz, in Washington for the Western Hemisphere Foreign Ministers' conference was asked to comment on a statement by the U. S. Assistant Secretary of State, Edward G. Miller, Jr., that the closing of La Prensa has had such an adverse impact on American public opinion that it has limited the ability of the United States government to continue positive steps of cooperation with Argentina. Said Paz: "This is a problem within the jurisdiction of Argentina and which admits of no foreign interference."

Paz declined to answer directly whether La Nacion, only independent Buenos Aires newspaper still publishing, would be closed like La Prensa.

Meanwhile it was reported in Buenos Aires that Dr. Alberto Gainza Pas, director of La Prensa, has disappeared.

Troops Dropped Just South of 38th; Patrols May Have Already Crossed

TOKYO (Friday) — (U.P.) — United States paratroopers and rangers landed just south of the 38th parallel this morning in an attempt to cut off the North Korean 1st corps, retreating north from fallen Seoul.

The troopers and rangers were dropped about 22 miles north of the city in two zones near the Imjin river. Their original landing was unopposed, but Eighth army headquarters said they had dropped "right in the middle" of the fleeing red forces.

AG MALL

WITH BURT OLSON

The Agricultural Engineering society is holding its annual banquet next Tuesday evening at the Union. Main speaker for the event will be Mr. G. Harper, Chief Engineer with the Farm Co-op Equipment Co. of Ohio.

A traveling trophy will be awarded to the most "worthy" member of the organization. The winner of the trophy, a spade, will be selected by popular vote.

The Blue Shield Country Life players made their campus bow Wednesday night in Bascom Theatre with performances of "Trifles" and "Raisin' the Devil". Phil Cracker, Drama director of the club, introduced the plays.

The first play was concerned with the efforts of District Attorney Burt Olson with the assistance of Sheriff Phil Cracker to determine who strangled "John Wright" while he slept. All evidence and the testimony of farmer Phil Tichener, who discovered the crime, seemed to point to "Mrs. Wright" as the guilty party, but a motive needed for conviction could not be found.

The audience was let in on the solution when, during the lawmen's absence, the sheriff's wife, Amy Ueschow, and friend Agnes Wehrle uncovered a number of trifling facts which revealed the needed motive. But by this time the audience was in sympathy with "Mrs. Wright" and approval of the ladies' methods of suppressing evidence.

Carl Thedens was so convincing as the Parson in "Raisin' the Devil" that he converted Horse thief Fred Inse, seven people in the audience, and a university janitor who happened to be passing through.

Whether or not Harvey Weiland ever got over his fright long enough to marry Ruth Olson was never determined. Judging from the way he limped out of the flour barrel and off the stage, he's still running.

Everyone thoroughly enjoyed the show, and were entertained between acts by Concertina selections by Elmer Marth, and selections by a girls trio.

The men of Delta Theta Sigma have a program this year in which they have guest speakers at the house every two weeks. Last week they were visited by Rev. Sovik, who was born and raised in China and spoke on "The Economy of China." The men have found this program to be very interesting and educational, and would recommend it for other organized houses.

Turner Advocates United Language

Glenn P. Turner, director of the Madison Esperanto Foundation, told the campus chapter of United World Federalists (UWF) Wednesday that if you are going to have a government for the world that is going to be democratic, you will need a universal language.

The fact that people can not speak a common language is an object for fights; people would get along better with a common language," said Turner.

Turner told the group that Esperanto is so easy that one could learn to read and decode it in a course of one hour. "It would enable people to get along as well as they do in their own language now," he said.

Turner said that already over 60 million people have endorsed a petition for Esperanto to be introduced into the United Nations, and a Gallup Poll showed that 71 percent thought the world should have a universal language as Esperanto.

The group also discussed participation in a program concerning world government and Esperanto over WFOW, a local FM station. The broadcast held every Wednesday at 5:30 p. m. is sponsored by the Esperanto Association of the Middleton library.

FRANKFURT — (U.P.) — Anti-American demonstrations staged against military trains passing through the Soviet zone brought protests yesterday from American officials in Germany.

The American Deputy High Commissioner charged that there have been six such demonstrations. In one incident a bullet reportedly crashed through a coach door.

No Fifth Wheels, Please

Hegg Claims Veep Post

Vice-presidential jobs are often joked about as being fifth-wheel-on-the-wagon positions. It isn't so in the case of the Union, according to Duaine Hegg, junior in law, who will take over the office of vice-president on April 4.

The directorate has recently added to the duties of the veep the job of heading the public relations committee.

The public relations committee will take charge of official visitors to the Union, and will carry out directorate's part in such campus events as activities junction. Hegg's position is plans coordinator.

Part of Hegg's duties will be advising the president, a job for which he is well qualified. Through two and one half years work in the Rathskeller and one and a half years behind the main desk, he has become acquainted with almost every worker in the Union.

Union policy and procedure are familiar to Hegg so his job won't be completely strange to him. He has also worked on the Union section of the Badger.

A year's experience in the personnel branch of army ordinance developed his ability to judge character which proved valuable during Union committee interviews.

Hegg has a sense of humor which often disguises the serious attention he gives to responsibilities. For instance, the highlight of his responsibility as summer chairman of Commons committee in 1950 is an incident concerning the gas lanterns which lighted the summer open house.

The lanterns burned and died out by fits and starts. Hegg tried to fix them, but in the darkness he spilled some of the gas. "Wasn't much," he recalled — "only an eight-foot flame."

No Need To Spend Money On Draft Test Books

IN AN EFFORT to cash in on the college deferment tests, a number of publishers have come out with books they call "musts" for passing the tests with flying colors.

This Saturday more than 1300 students are expected to take the test here. For these students our only advice is: don't waste your money on these books.

Recently, the president of the Educational Testing Service which is preparing the aptitude tests to be used nationally said there wasn't the "slightest reason" for students to buy the books.

"There's not a thing to be learned here that the student who applies to take the test doesn't get free from his draft board in his book of instructions," he added.

Douglas Dixon, student military affairs counselor, and Kenneth Little, director of student personnel services, have backed up this advice.

THE DRAFT DEFERMENT tests are largely a matter of common sense, they explain. The questions are similar to the ones students have already been subjected to upon university entrance and of the same general type used in many university examinations.

In short, studying for the draft tests will be a waste of time.

"Practice for the Army Tests" ($2.00) and "College Tests" ($1.35), both being stocked in quantity by campus book stores, are selling fast according to latest reports.

A word to the wise and frugal student should be sufficient.

America Must Call a Halt to 'Racial Snobbery'

By ROBERT J. CAPENER

RECENTLY, YOUR pages have been filled with indictments of education at the university and what Karl Meyer so aptly termed "jellyfish" attitudes. Everyone wants to take a crack at the status quo and I am no exception. The following statements represent considerable thought on my part in an effort to capture the underlying fault of our culture.

Students of human behavior are making a determined effort to apply the scientific process to their problems. This process would exclude a judgement of right or wrong. It is necessary to have such clinical objectivity, but it is equally necessary to determine a dynamic code of life in order to eliminate damaging behavior.

The only valid basis on which to judge such behavior would be whether or not it is harmful to society as a whole. Using this standard, we must place the stigma of unwholesomeness on the American ethnocentric practice commonly called "racial snobbery".

IN 1944, WE had American military personnel scattered all over the world. The war, and the subsequent period of occupation, was our golden opportunity to spread our own peculiar gospel of capitalism and democracy, and to gain friends for the future. We had to set an example. We had to present a 24-hour-a-day drama entitled, "American Culture in Action".

I saw the performance our players put on in several sections of the world, primarily in India. We were bad actors, and the play was a flop. This was particularly unfortunate because every member of the audience was a watchful critic.

We ridiculed everything about the Indian way of life; their clothing, their primitive industry, their customs, religions, poverty, and their illnesses. (Yes, even elephantiasis was an object of scorn and amusement.) We were happy about the Indian boy who piped "Deep In the Heart of Texas" on his toy horn, and we gave him money. We ignored, or worse yet, laughed at, the holy man with fly-bevelled, sightless eyes.

A nation of beggars, we called them. They were niggers, wogs, and gooks. We went on three day drunks in Calcutta and Karachi, drank their gin, flooded their gutters with vomit, and reached manhood via their venereal diseases. We held them up to the American standard of culture and found them wanting. This was our racial snobbery.

ASSEMBLY ACTION

WAS DISGRACEFUL

To the Cardinal:

The action recently taken by the state assembly in rejecting a fair reapportionment was disgraceful. Wisconsin has not been reapportioned since 1931, when the legislature in special session carried out its mandate.

The state constitution provides that at the first session after the federal census the legislature shall apportion anew the state senate and assembly. This section of the constitution has been violated since 1941.

Progressive leaders of the Republican party, including Governors Rennebohm and Kohler, have fought for reapportionment. A group of Republican legislators, however, representing a minority of the people have chosen to violate the provisions of the constitution, the platform of the party, and the wishes of the people.

The action taken by the state senate in passing a reapportion bill was very commendable, but the assembly apparently is not of the same mind.

Unless the assembly reconsiders its hasty action before readjournment the only course, if constitutional representative government is to function, is for Gov. Kohler to call a special session of the legislature to force reconsideration.

—Phillip W. Gross, Jr.

WE ARE SURPRISED and dismayed to discover that others dislike and distrust us. This antipathy not only wounds our national ego, but it is a serious threat to our security.

India occupies a strategic position in the East, and will some day be a powerful nation and a vital ally. They are still suspicious following their experience at the hands of another Anglo-Saxon people. They cannot be censured if they refuse to cater to our wishes. There is apparently nothing in common between their nation and ours, not even human understanding and kindness.

The tragic part of the whole thing is that our snobbery is not limited to India alone. We spread it liberally over the world. We are approaching the point where we will alienate every other nation, and then we can stand and watch our dream crack at the seams and disappear, while we wonder what happened.

OUR EMPHASIS SEEMS to be on cultural superiority, although there is a definite element of racial pridefulness, despite the acceptance of our mongrelization. This snobbery is a myth and a dangerous one. It is not difficult to understand where it came from. It began when the first settlers moved to these shores and set up their own brand of culture. Since that time we have made remarkable progress of which we are rightfully proud.

But now, every bit of reading material, every radio program, every movie flatters our standard of living and exalts our way of life. We cannot help but assimilate this egoism. We wallow in this bath of narcissism, and emerge with every pore clogged with snobbery.

There is little point in discussing the gravity of our present situation. We need friends more than ever before, contrary to General MacArthur's "go it alone" policy. The nations must cease fighting and begin to untangle the mess together or the entire works will blow up in our faces.

WE CAN HELP by changing our attitude toward others. We must learn to accept other cultures as they are, without judgement. We cannot accomplish this by reading the National Geographic every month. We must re-educate ourselves. We must not think of another culture as being an inferior one; we must regard it merely as a different one.

If we can attain this new attitude, our 24-hour-a-day drama will be more pleasing, and we can enjoy an unlimited series of performances. We could then call our play, "Tolerance".

Behind the Headlines

Brash, Outdated Police Practices Need Action, Now

By JERRY SCHETTER

ON SEPTEMBER 20, 1950 a university vice-president promised a general statement on university police policy would be "issued in the near future. Work on the report had begun in May 1950. Today a year later, there has been no action taken by the administration.

Throughout this period the strained attitude between the university police and the student and faculty community has continued. Rudeness, impudence, police flaunting of the law, and an acute failure to provide any satisfactory student police policy has persisted.

The days of brash stereotyped flatfoots are gone. It is 13 years since Joe Hammersley began working as a watchman for the university. In that time he has compiled anything but an admirable record.

UNIVERSITY POLICE in the majority of colleges and universities are considered to be the student's friend. I doubt if Hammersley or any of his staff could claim that distinction.

The attitude of Hammersley and his men is outmoded and has no place in the university community. Gruff, antagonistic, blunt and beligerant conduct has surrounded the police force with a cloudy myth that cannot be refuted.

Throwing a leaded blackjack at a student, breaking into classes to "nab" students, and telling a student board member that the reason he couldn't pass in a reserve area after 5 p.m. was because "we only do this to get you bunch of little big wheel dictators mad" are but a few of the outward manifestations of the senile system of student police action now in effect.

When a former university student was brought before superior court in Madison on a morals charge the writer asked Hammersley what he knew of the case. The reply: "Oh, I've had that guy's number for a long time. I've been reading his mail. You should see some of the letters he got from . . .

THE PUBLIC RECORD of Hammersley and another member of his force is anything but commendable, and yet these men are "policing" the university campus and deciding whether a case of student misconduct belongs in superior court or whether it is suitable for student court. With no background and no trained student counselor to work under Hammersley and staff have had a free reign of law enforcement on campus—and they've had more than their share of blunders. For example:

- The attempted dormitory search without warrants during Christmas vacation last year.
- "Preventive persuasion" at the men's halls, raid on Liz Waters and Barnard hall last fall, and their threat of actual use of firearms against students.
- The farce that has been made of student smoking violations.
- The handling and methods of approach to cases of student sex activity and homosexuality.

A GROUP OF prominent faculty members including Kenneth Little, director of student personnel; Deans Paul Trump and Theodore Zillman; A. F. Ahearn, superintendent of buildings and grounds; and Howard Gill, lecturer in sociology submitted a report to the administration. Student board has also prepared a report.

The administration unofficially has said it favors changes in the police set-up. Now, with only a week left to the school year, there must be a positive approval of a plan by the administration for a re-vamped university police force.

Student board has recommended that the police force be transferred from the buildings and grounds department and placed under the authority of an administrative official trained in human relations with particular reference to modern methods of youth counselling.

The faculty report also urged transfer of the police from buildings and grounds jurisdiction to a separate authority with a liaison between the buildings and grounds department, and the student personnel office.

IT HAS BEEN pointed out by a member of the committee that "the police were put under the maintenance department when the university was small but that the vastness of the campus community has led to increased functions involving human relations which should be handled by personnel administrators."

Not only has Hammersley and his men bungled the administration of law on the campus but their attitude and ideas are antiquated. Certainly students should be subject to the laws of the community but they should not be goaded and mishandled by men who have no understanding of student conduct problems or student guidance. It's time for the administration to act.

THE MILWAUKEE ROAD

So They Tell Me

By BUD LEA

Assistant Sports Editor

ONE SIDE, GRANDMA! . . . Quite a few scantily clad gentlemen are going to haul-off and run like Snyder's hound Friday at Northwestern's Dyche stadium as the Wildcats play host to the 51st annual Big Ten track and field meet.

Wisconsin will be there with cleats on. The "wing-footed thinclads," as Red Smith wouldn't say, are expected to "take off" like a miner's pay-check as the "initial gun sends them sailing down the cinders."

WILL WISCONSIN FINISH? . . . first, that is. Frankly, no, according to track coach Riley Best. The Badger mentor figures the Card trackmen will do no better than sixth place. Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, Michigan State, and even Ohio State have more balance and better top performers than Wisconsin. In outdoor competition this season, the Badgers lost to Michigan, 100-32, came back home to defeat Purdue, 86-46, and beat Ohio State at Columbus last weekend, 76-56. Against the Buckeyes, Wisconsin was trailing through most of the meet until Ted Bleckwenn and company took a clean sweep in the discus throw.

WE WERE CHAMPS AWAY BACK . . . The last time a Wisconsin team won the Big Ten outdoor title was in 1931 under Coach Tom Jones. That year the Badgers scored 46 points to beat Illinois with 39 5/6 and Michigan with 38 1/3. The best Wisconsin has done since was a second in 1947. Illinois won that meet, scoring 68 points, while the Badgers were getting 45 5/12 points. Since 1901, Michigan has dominated the title picture. The Wolverines have won the outdoor affair 20 times. Illinois has grabbed 15 crowns, and Wisconsin has been victor three times.

NEW RECORDS . . . Five individual defending champions all may come through again. They are Wisconsin's LeRoy Collins (49.1) in the 440, Don McEwen, Michigan, (9:13.0) in the two-mile run, Don Hoover, Michigan, (:23.0) in the 220 low hurdles, Clifton Anderson, Indiana, (53' 9") in the shot put, and Don Laz, Illinois, (14' 0") in the pole vault.

Laz looks like a cinch to break the 14-year-old mark of 14 feet 2 1/4 inches in the pole vault that has stood since 1937. The Illini star has soared to 15 feet 1 1/4 inches in a triangular meet with Southern California and Michigan this spring. Both McEwen and Len Truex, Ohio State, have bettered the existing mile record in competition this season. Another mark held by Walter Mehl, Wisconsin, in 1938 is the two mile which might very easily be broken by McEwen.

BADGERS BACK AT THE BEACH . . . With the Big Ten track, golf, and tennis meets being held at Northwestern Thursday and Friday, Evanston will be packed tighter than Aunt Martha's girdle. So the Badger tracksters will be bunking at the Edgewater Beach hotel on Chicago's outer drive.

GRIPER DEPARTMENT . . . "This writer," as the boss says, received a call from an irate Miss who wailed that we had forgotten to play up the Ohio-Wisconsin track meet in yesterday's paper. The meet was played Saturday and re-played by the big city sports writers the following day. The lady's "one-and-only" was running in the meet, but that wasn't the reason she complained . . . It says here.

Grad Students Apply For Coupon Books Today, Aspinwall Says

Graduate students must apply for coupon books today, according to athletic department business manager Bill Aspinwall.

"All graduate students who have been on the campus less than six semesters may apply today," Aspinwall said.

In an answer to many queries, the business manager said that any student who applies for a coupon book now, pays the $9.00 fee, and finds that he or she will not be returning next semester, can get a partial return. The amount will probably be $8.50 as a slight charge is made for the handling and processing of the applications, he said.

Students who will be juniors next fall may apply on May 28 and 29, and next year's sophomores are scheduled to make application on May 31 and June 1. The faculty and employee coupon book sale will open Monday, June 4.

"As was allowed last year, an individual may present as many as 20 application cards for any class group for football seats (only 10 for basketball) providing he has the original fee cards bearing the classification and permanent fee card numbers for identification. The student books must be picked up in the fall after school fees have been paid," Aspinwall concluded.

Applications, with the $9.00 fee, are to be turned in at the Camp Randall ticket office between the hours of 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Rain Cancels JV Game With Beloit

The Wisconsin junior varsity-Beloit baseball game, scheduled for yesterday afternoon at the intramural fields was postponed because of wet grounds. The game may be re-scheduled for a later date.

Six Games Left For Card Nine

The Badger baseball team, which defeated Bradley Monday night, 7-2, to run its season record to 13-5, has only six more games left this year.

After traveling to South Bend for a pair of games with Notre Dame this weekend, the Cards return to Madison to face Western Michigan on May 28-29 and Purdue on June 12.

The Cards will resume workouts today after laying off Tuesday following the Bradley victory. They will leave Madison for South Bend tomorrow afternoon after their regular workout.

Those making the trip include Ronnie Unke, Vern Andrews, Gene Radke, Al Suter, Ronnie Moore and Ken Slotten, pitchers; Tom Cooper and John Schnurr, catchers; Ronnie Barbian, Capt. Shelly Fink, Harvey Kuenen, Mel Gaestel and Dick Trotta, infielders; Paul Furtach, Jim Van Dien, Don Kenefick and Dave Hash, outfielders.

3 Teams Enter Big Ten Meet Crew Leaves For Coast Test

Track, Golf, Tennis Squads to Compete in Conference Plan

By BUD LEA

Assistant Sports Editor

Wisconsin's track, golf, and tennis squads will travel to Evanston today to compete in Western conference meets at Northwestern University.

Traveling squads for the three varsity sports were revealed by their respective coaches yesterday:

In track, Coach Riley Best has entered 13 men in the Big Ten meet and will take the squad down to Dyche stadium this afternoon by chartered bus.

The entries are: Capt. Ted Bleckwenn, shot put and discuss; Farnsley Peters, shot put; LeRoy Collins, 220, 440, and relay; Keith Carlson, 440 and relay; Walt Mars, 880; Sam Greenlee, 880 and relay; James Urquhart, two-mile; Walt Deike, two-mile; Don Firchow, mile; Tom Yorkson, 220 and relay; Al Cherne and Dick Kellman, high jump; Bob Johnson, broad jump; and Don Soe, relay.

Coach Joe Steinauer's golf team will be composed of Curt Jacobs, Doug Koepke, Bill Hilsenhoff, Tom Mould, Bill Engel, and Harry Dean. The squad will leave for the Evanston course this morning, arriving in time for an afternoon workout.

Tennis Coach Al Hildebrandt will stick with his regular squad line-up for the Big Ten meet. The singles players will be James DeLoye (No. 1), Ken Ohm (No. 2), Don Negendank (No. 3), Bill Rudelius (No. 4), Bob Regan (No. 5), and Bill Grunow (No. 6). DeLoye and Ohm will team up for the No. 1 doubles; Rudelius and Grunow for No. 2; and Regan and Negendank for No. 3. The squad left last night by train.

Three Big Ten track records may be broken this week when a field of 250 athletes assemble for the 51st annual championships at Northwestern University's Dyche stadium, Thursday and Friday.

The meet has been advanced one day to permit the men to return to respective schools for the selective service examination on Saturday. Thursday's preliminaries will start at 3 p.m. and the finals on Friday will be staged as a twilight meet starting at 6 p.m. and finishing at 8 p.m.

Pre-meet speculation rates Illinois and Michigan as the two favorites for the 1951 title. Illinois captured the 1951 indoor meet with 50 1/4 points as Michigan finished second with 33. The Wolverines have added strength in the dashes and are expected to give the Illini a close fight for the outdoor laurels.

Illinois strength stems from Don Laz and Dick Coleman in the pole vault. Joe Gonzales in the 100, Cirillo McSweeney in the 220 and 440; Stacey Siders in the 440 and 880; Joel McNulty and Jerry Slack in the hurdles and Harry Borschel in the discus.

Michigan's attack will be spearheaded by the brilliant Don McEwen, the conference's top entry in the mile or two mile, the latter being his specialty. Other Wolverine standouts are Bill Konrad in the 100 and 220, Joe LaRue in the 440, Chuck Whiteaker and George Jacob in the 880, Don Hoover in the hurdles, Ron Soble and Horace Coleman in the broad jump.

Tarrant Upsets Mack Court, 1-0

By AL DeCESARO

Tarrant house upset the favorite in the dorm intramural softball playoffs by defeating Mack Court 1-0, yesterday afternoon at the intramural field.

Dick Fix was the winning pitcher in his duel against Mack court hurler Jerome Merkel, even though he yielded five hits to the loser's three. Tarrant got their big run in the third inning when Kallalstad singled and Harr hit a hard double to score K.

Chamberlain Court ro 16-2, with the help of four home runs. Jerald Wuhrman hit two homers, one in the second inning with none on, the other in the fourth with the bases loaded. Joe Frost and Bob Gottschalk accounted for the other two home runs.

A single by Bill Serkar, with the bases full in the first inning, and two hit pitching by Bobby Zinner enabled Conover Back to shutout Frankenburger, 4-0. Second baseman Jud Heckler accounted for Frankenburger's two hits.

Vilas house had to go an extra inning to beat Showerman back, 6-3. A homer by Fred Putzier helped Vilas tie the score in the third inning. But it was a single by Bill Wolsey with Dean Grant and John Callahan on base in the sixth inning that drove in the winning runs. Dick Hornigold had the only extra base blow for the losers, a double that drove in a run in the third inning.

In the Independent league, Nu Sigma Nu went on a scoring rampage beating Kappa Psi 18-3. Norbert Arendt's double with two men on base in the second inning and Roy Zimmer's triple with two men on in the fourth supplied the scoring punch for Nu Sigma Nu. In the only other game scheduled, the YMCA won over Wesley on a forfeit.

as the top entry in the shot put and discuss, having thrown 54' 1 1/2" and 166' 4 3/4" in each event, respectively, this season. Other standout entries include Gene Cole of Ohio State in the 220 and the Buckeyes brilliant Len Truex in the 880, mile or two-mile. The anticipated dual between Don McEwen of Michigan and Len Truex of Ohio State may very well produce a new mile mark.

Last Semester Special Students Totaled 6,000

Almost 6,000 Wisconsin citizens, in every section of the state, were special "students" of the university right in their home towns last semester, according to a report issued by the University Extension division.

Housewives, nurses, teachers, industrialists, machine operators, and people in every other conceivable occupation took courses ranging from art appreciation to zoology.

During the semester, a total of 101 credit and non-credit classes, as well as lectures and other adult education services on the college level, were provided in 53 Wisconsin communities by the University Extension division.

According to T. J. Shannon, who is in charge of the special class program, the Extension division tries to set up a class wherever 15 or more people petition for one.

Shannon pointed out that this program is in addition to the Extension Center operation which provides freshman and sophomore college work in 10 cities around the state.

Dr. Bast Awarded $500 by Otologists For Work on Ear

Dr. T. H. Bast, professor of anatomy, has been awarded a medal and cash prize of $500 by the American Otological Society for his "eminent contributions to the knowledge of the temporal bone and the ear."

The award was made at the 84th annual meeting of the society at Atlantic City, and announced by the university. The society consists of about 150 top research otologists in the nation.

Dr. Bast was elected to associate membership in the organization in 1949.

He began his work on the ear and its structure in 1926 and his findings have been widely published. Later Dr. B. J. Anson, now of Northwestern University Medical School, joined Dr. Bast in the research, and together they authored a monograph on the subject which was published in 1949. Dr. Anson did his early anatomy study at the UW.

Dr. Bast has been at the university 31 years.

Pick Law School Association Heads

Donald Haberman, law 2, has been elected president of the executive council of the Law School association it was announced today.

Betty Lou Thronson is secretary, and Paul Meissner is treasurer. Both are first year law students.

The executive council is the governing body of the association, which includes every student enrolled in the Law school and thus is responsible for student book mart, the moot court program, the law ball, freshman smoker, curriculum committee, cane parade, and the year-round athletic program.

The council serves as liaison between student body and faculty, sifting suggestions, comments, and criticisms of a constructive nature regarding Law school problems.

Defense Chairman Picks Committees

Two new sub-committees were named by the university's Civil Defense committee to help plan for meeting any possible wartime campus emergency. Prof. Lloyd F. Radler, civil engineering, chairman of the Civil Defense committee announced.

One of the new sub-committees, on university personnel, includes Emory Bretzman, personnel consultant; Alden White, secretary of the faculty; and Miss Emily Chervenik, assistant dean of women.

Members of the second new sub-committee, on space allocations, are Fred Wilcox, assistant superintendent of buildings and grounds; Secretary White of the faculty; and Prof. S. Lee Burns, director of residence halls.

Magazine Editor To Talk On India

In conjunction with the campus Food for India drive, Morris Ruben will speak Thursday at 8 p. m. in the Union on "India—Last Chance in Asia." Ruben is editor of The Progressive Magazine.

The money collected in the campaign will be used for CARE packages to be sent to welfare organizations in India. Most of these packages will go to Bihar Province, where the famine has hit the hardest.

The all-campus drive has received $40 in contributions so far. Contributions should be sent to the Food for India Committee, 140 Langdon Street, Madison. Sponsor of the campaign is the Socialist club.

Bureau Locates Speakers Here from 46 Nations

The International Club Speaker's Bureau now has speakers from 46 countries who are willing and ready to bring to Americans the most pertinent facts and problems of their homelands.

The bureau is a non-profit agency which coordinates the speakers from the various countries on campus for the promotion of better world understanding. Clement Nouri, bureau chairman, said, "the only approach to a peaceful and equitable solution of world differences is to understand people, their wants, aims, and problems."

"Since its inception, the agency has sent thousands of speakers to places inside and outside of Madison. Last year 124 speakers were sent, and so far this semester another 50 have gone out."

Nouri, a student from Iraq who has headed the Speakers Bureau for over two years, urges the presidents of the organized and independent houses on campus to take advantage of his speakers' services. Uphaus Urges Spiritual Change To Halt Wars

By CAROL HEISS

Dr. Willard Uphaus last night called for a spiritual change in the hearts and minds of people in order to prevent a third World War.

Speaking to the Madison Committee for Peaceful Alternatives to War, Uphaus told an audience of 75 people that he had no doubt that the Russian people wanted peace. Uphaus headed the National Religion and Labor Foundation for 17 years.

Uphaus, recently returned from Europe where he made a ten day visit to the Soviet Union, said there was as much fear of war in Russia as in the United States.

"Peace will be possible if we can bring our economic system under the control of the people," he said. "We must enter a world plan with other nations in order to work towards peaceful ends."

Uphaus, recommended consideration of the committee's Johnson resolution to end hostilities June 25, 1951.

"We mainly need a different attitude in the minds and hearts of the people," he said. "It is a spiritual change that people need."

Uphaus said he had hopes for peace because "we know from history that conflicting cultures have learned to get on together."

"Something Human" with a full intellectual understanding of his job, and succeeded in providing a smooth production. But the imaginative spark that we saw in all aspects of "The Bell" was not here.

Ben Logan's "A Time of Change" is somewhat puzzling when you consider it as a play, which we must do here. Its development is not really dramatic, and its material philosophical, presented as dialogue. Director Doris Wickenberg wisely staged this script as simply as possible so that its meaning would not be obscured. And actors Wallace Kennedy, Dolores Locke, and Skeet Guenther did create distinct personages. But neither the acting nor not need war for prosperity," he said adding that he did not believe the USSR had a time-table for the opening of war.

Uphaus said the difficulties in finding peace were the nations' differences in language and customs, the problem of defining democracy, the mutual fear of war in the two nations, and natural pressures within the countries.

the direction could achieve a unity of composition, and the pacing is frequently awkward. We sense that the actors are playing as individuals, rather than as a unit. I can only say, that in my opinion, this play is underdeveloped.

Settings and lighting were for the most part not obtrusive, though in "A Time of Change" there were bad shadows all over the stage. This matter will undoubtedly be corrected. As a group, these plays are the finest originals that the Wisconsin Players have presented in three years. Those of you who see them this afternoon or evening will enjoy them. And to make it more emphatic, don't miss "The Bell".

official rather than a voice vote, I believe the resolution would have passed."

Phil Gross, a YGOP, said after the meeting, "The Young Republicans showed themselves to be a group of weak spineless jellyfish in refusing to take a stand on re-apportionment."

Lawrence Eagleburger, another member, added, "They are afraid to tell the Republican-controlled assembly that they've done something wrong."

The survey and Miss Chervenik agreed that jobs were plentiful in accounting, elementary teaching, and engineering. Trained medical personnel, group workers (Red Cross, YMCA, YWCA), and home economics grads can expect better placement too, Miss Chervenik said.

She said that the business fields of insurance, banking, and retail sales are wide open. Traveling salesmen are less in demand this year, she said.
