PROF. SLAUGHTER DIES OF ILLNESS WHILE ON LEAVE

Chairman of Latin Department
Succumbs After Three Week's Sickness

No further word has been received in Madison concerning the removal of Prof. M. S. Slaughter's body from Rome where he died on December 31 following a three week's illness. Prof. Grant Showerman and President Birge announced last night.

Professor Slaughter with his wife, left last June for a year's leave of absence from the Latin department of which he has been a professor since 1896. No news was received here concerning his illness until the announcement of his death as received by Professor Showerman in a telegram from Mrs. Anne C. E. Allison, Providence, R. I., former dean of women. Mrs. Slaughter had cabled on Sunday to Mrs. Allison.

Served in Red Cross

During the war in 1918 Professor and Mrs. Slaughter were members of the Italian commission of the American Red Cross, serving in Italy, and he had the commission of major.

Professor Slaughter was born on October 3, 1860, at Brooklyn, Indiana. He received degrees from Berlin and Munich after graduating from DePauw university, later receiving a fellowship from Johns Hopkins. Before coming to the University of Wisconsin he taught at Bryn Mawr, the Collegiate Institute at Hackettstown, N. J., and Iowa college.

Studied in Rome

During the year of 1909 he was in Rome as an annual professor in Latin of the American school of classical studies. Besides being a member of the University and Madison clubs Professor Slaughter was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon and of Phi Beta Kappa fraternities.

SET AUTO SHOW DATE FOR FEBRUARY 7-10

Madison will have its annual auto show February 7, 8, 9 and 10, in the new Gill garage on Webster street, the automobile dealers' association decided Wednesday night. The recommendation of the committee appointed to make preliminary arrangements for the show was accepted in full. Details of the show will be left to the individual committees, appointed by J. P. Gillespie, which committees will arrange admission price, space allotments, decorations, music and entertainment.

S. G. A. Teaches Auction Bridge and Dancing Tonight

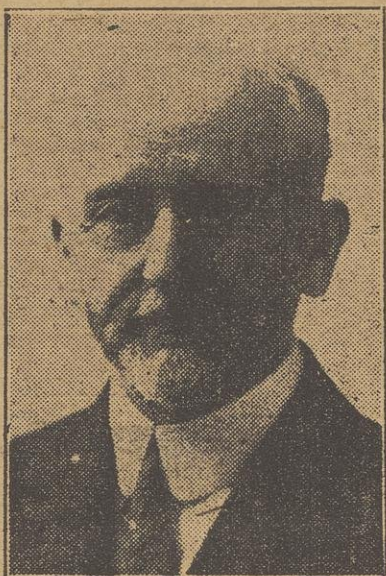

Instruction in bridge and in dancing will be given by S. G. A. in Lathrop parlors from seven to eight o'clock tonight. This is one of the regular get-togethers for all university girls which S. G. A. has been conducting this year. Instruction in bridge is a new feature of the plan, having been given only once before.

"There seems to be much interest manifested in our plan," Helen Kingesford '24, chairman of the work, said. "At our last party before the holidays 150 were present. The mixers are creating a spirit of fellowship among the university women and is one of the best schemes ever tried by S. G. A. for bringing the girls together in an informal way."

A similar plan has been in operation in the University of Minnesota for several years and has proved very successful there. Miss Kingesford stated. More than 29 girls take charge of the class in instructing and dancing with the girls. It gives girls living in houses where there are small parlor facilities a place to dance.

CON EXAMS SET FOR JANUARY 12

Hours and Rooms Will Be Posted on Official Bulletin
Boards About Campus

Examinations for the removal of conditions incurred at any time prior to the current semester will be held on Saturday afternoon, January 12, at hours and in rooms to be announced on Friday, January 11, on the official bulletin boards in the Engineering building, Agricultural hall and the rotunda of Bascom hall.

Since examination questions will be prepared only in those courses for which there are applicants, all students desiring to take condition examinations at this time must make application in person at the office of the Secretary of the Faculty, 151 Bascom hall, not later than 5:00 o'clock Tuesday, January 8. Students who have failed to make proper application will be refused admittance to the examinations and their conditions will lapse into failures according to C. A. Smith, secretary of the faculty.

DOLLARD AND DAWSON TOUR STATE FOR UNION

John Dollard '22 of the Memorial Union committee, and John C. Dawson '24, president of the Union board spent the greater part of the holiday period traveling through the state as field agents of the university arranging for local meetings to celebrate Founder's day.

The Founder's day exercises will be the first step in the formation of permanent organizations among alumni to interest prospective students in coming to the university and to keep their respective communities informed of university events and policies.

Both Dollard and Dawson report that alumni were enthusiastic about the plan. Students going home for the holidays arranged for the local meetings and attended to the preliminary organization before the field agents arrived.

Waupun, Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Manitowoc and Sheboygan were among the larger cities where meetings were held.

DR. PAUL C. HODGES, '15 DOES GRAD WORK HERE

Dr. Paul C. Hodges of the Peking university medical school, Peking, China, is spending a year's leave of absence doing graduate work here in the department of psychology. He is working for the degree of doctor of philosophy. Dr. Hodges, whose home is in Ashland, was graduated here in 1915 with the B. S. degree, and received the M. D. degree from the University of Washington in 1917.

The Holiday Spirit is dead. He suffered a horrible end when he fell into the clutches of the Spirit of Education, lying in wait on the hill yesterday morning.

Late the night before last upon returning from his sojourn, he was seen enjoying the very best of health, frolicking and rollicking everywhere. But on toward midnight while dragging out some long-forgotten books, he suffered a sudden fainting spell, which was not, however, thought to be serious at the time. But early yesterday morning, he suffered a collapse which almost proved fatal. School spirit came to his aid and they rallied up the hill together. It was not until then that the invalid realized the true character of his companion. But recognition of the co-partner of his foe came too late, for before he could defend himself, the Spirit of Education had leaped from hiding and strangled him.

The loss will be felt far and wide for he was a jolly-good-fellow and a friend to all—very different from the brother of these other two who will take his place, the Spirit of Examinations. It has been rumored that immediate acquaintance makes him far less fearful and tyrannical. He may be met at the library any morning, noon or night or any quiet evening at home.

"Las Solteronas" Will Be Played By Spanish Club

Two men-hating old maids, both of whom fall in love with a married man, is the theme of the rollicking comedy, "Las Solteronas," a short play by the Luis Helidores Criado, which will be the principal feature of the big open meeting of the Spanish club next Tuesday, in Lathrop hall. No admission will be charged, and all interested are invited to attend.

Samuel Wofsy of the Romance language department is in charge of the direction of the play which has the following cast:

Clara Pratt '26, Elizabeth Morey '24, Evelyn Hilpertshauser '25, Charles Anson '24, and Eugene Bradley '26.

The evening's entertainment will include in addition to the play, Spanish songs sung by Hilda Schultz, '24, original Spanish readings by Manuel Ortega '24, and interpretations of provincial dances of her native Spain by Senorita Carmen Cadenas of the Romance language department.

LEATHER FIRM GIVES SLIDES TO CHEMISTS

A. F. Gallum and Sons company of Milwaukee have donated 25 slides to the chemical engineering department for the microscopic study of various skins and leathers. A set of slides showing the different stages in the process of making the leather is included in the series. These were given through the company's chemist, Dr. John A. Wilson.

Foreign Flashes

PARIS.—The rise of the Seine river is causing grave alarm here. The river has already invaded government buildings on its banks and threatens complete disaster to several sections of the city.

MEXICO CITY.—Federal troops are reported to have defeated the rebel troops at Pachuca, 55 miles from Mexico City. A simultaneous attack has been launched at another point out of Mexico City in an attempt to break the rebels hold on the territory surrounding the capital.

NEW YORK.—Col. Emilio P. Coreodoro, famed as a spy in Spanish-American war days is dead here. Col. Coreodoro went through many thrilling experiences during hostilities in '98, but outwitted his enemies by carrying secret messages in a cavity in his cork leg.

Announce Subjects For William Vilas 1924 Prize Essay

Prof. R. E. Neil Dodge has announced the subjects for the William F. Vilas prize essay contest, which is open to all undergraduates in the university. Prizes of $50 and $25 will be awarded for the first and second best essay. The subjects for 1923-24 are: trends in literary criticism of the present day, some literary critic of the last 30 years, Havelok Ellis as a critic of life, Anatole France as a satirist of society, some seventeenth century lyric poet. General subjects, like the first, second and fifth, are not limited to English literature.

Essays should not exceed 6000 words. They should be typewritten on paper of thesis size. They should be signed with pseudonyms, and accompanying each should be a sealed envelop marked on the outside with the pseudonym and containing the writer's real name.

Essays must be submitted not later than April 21.

UNION ORGANIZES ASSISTING STAFF

Insures Recognition For Work
Done on Board Activities

To insure recognition for work done in the Union board's activities by men trying out for recommendation, the board has planned the organization of an assisting staff composed of those students who have shown the greatest interest in the work and who are considered most deserving of special mention. The staff probably will consist of a dozen to 15 members.

Members of the board are of the opinion that the present system is unfair to men who spend considerable time in the work of the board and yet are never given any credit for it. Official recognition, possibly in the form of a space in the Badger or publication in The Cardinal will tend to induce more men to try out for board positions and to make it worth while to them, John C. Dawson '24, president of the board, thinks.

"The increased interest in the Union's activities on the part of all men students since the passage of the referendum in November has led members of the board to believe that we should give official recognition to men who are doing a fair share of the work. It is from this assisting staff that recommendations to the voters will be made. Heretofore only those elected to the board have ever received any of the benefits of their work," he said.

More than 30 men are doing work on the board now in order to be eligible for recommendation to the voters in the spring election. From these 30 probably half will be chosen to act as the assisting staff. While this number is larger than in any previous year the work of the board is broadening out so that more men are needed all the time, Dawson says, and he is anxious to have still more available. Application may be made at the office of the board any day between 2:30 and 4:30 o'clock.

HENRY C. QUARLES, LAW GRAD, COMMITS SUICIDE

Henry C. Quarles, graduate of the College of Law here, was found dead in a retiring room of his office suite in Milwaukee yesterday with a bullet hole in his head and the discharged pistol beside him.

He was the head of the Henry C. Quarles and Co. investment securities of Milwaukee and was also a member of the board of directors of the Investment Bankers' association of America. His uncle was the late U. S. Senator Joseph V. Quarles.

Physicians called directly after the custodian of the building heard the shot and broke into the office declared that death had been instantaneous and that all indications pointed towards it being self-inflicted.

PRIZE FOX TROT TO BE PLAYED AT PRE-PROM DANCE

First Affair of Junior Event
Will Take Place Next Week

The pre-Prom dance will be given Saturday, January 12, in Lathrop hall, Lawson M. Adams '25, chairman of the pre-Prom dance committee, announced last night. The Prom fox trot will be featured by its composer and Jess Cohen's ten-piece orchestra will furnish the music.

"We will introduce and feature the Prom fox trot as part of the program for the dance this year. The composer of the music will play it in public for the first time for those who are present at the dance. This is the only time that the Prom fox trot has been presented in public before the night of Prom. In all Proms previous to the 1925 Prom the fox trot has been kept from the public until the night of Prom. We are offering it almost a month before that time this year as a special feature of the pre-Prom dance," said Adams.

Play Piano Duet

A ten-piece orchestra featuring Jess Cohen, Bill Hayden, Nelson Fairbanks, and seven other popular student musicians will play for the dance. The main attraction of the music will be furnished by Hayden and Cohen, who will play two pianos simultaneously throughout the evening.

An elaborate system of decorations is being planned by the committee and will be completed and put into operation for the dance.

Cancel Union Dance

"The pre-Prom dance this year will be the largest and best ever. We are expecting an overflow crowd to arrive early. We have the best music we can get, I think, and the introduction of the Prom fox trot will in itself be worth coming to the dance for," stated Adams.

There will be no Union board dance on the night of the pre-Prom dance. Managers of the Union dances have cancelled their dance scheduled for that night in order to let everyone go to the pre-Prom affair.

BAG DISAPPEARS AS FORD HITS SNOWDRIFT

A travelling bag, tumbling from the running board of a Ford coupe driven by Jimmie Van Wagenen '26 was lost somewhere between the Northwestern station and the Tri-Delt house about 8:45 o'clock Wednesday evening. It belongs to Margaret McGovern '26. Van Wagenen claims that the snow drifts were too large for the stability of the Ford and the safety of the suitcase. The finder is asked to call B. 152.

Eleven alumni classes, beginning with 1869, will "reune in June" at Commencement this year.

Henry H. Huber '25 Plays Polar Bear In Lake Michigan

Did he like the "dip" he took in Lake Michigan on New Year's Eve Henry H. Huber '25, isn't saying much about it either because it is not an event in his life, or because he really enjoyed this method of letting the New Year know that he was ready for any cold shoulders.

Here is the rest of the story. Huber is a member of the Milwaukee Polar Bear club which boasts that every New Year's eve for the last fifteen years at least one of its members makes a plunge into Lake Michigan. Maybe it was his turn.

But that isn't all. Polar Bear members not only bathe on the night when the next year makes its blushing bow to the world but they take regular "dips" at some beach Sundays and holidays throughout the winter. Well, maybe they like it.

7,000 DELEGATES ATTEND MEETING

Wisconsin Sends 40 Representatives to Indianapolis Religious Convention

Delegates numbering nearly 7,000 from 40 different nations attended the quadrennial International convention of the student volunteers which met at Indianapolis from December 28 to January 1.

Wisconsin's 40 representatives at the convention included Miss Jean Hord, Miss Mary Anderson, Chester Harlett, state Y. M. C. A. secretary, and Miss Florence Pierce, state Y. W. C. A. secretary. Among the foreign students who were delegates were Tsuta Shimizu, Anna Chang, Vecla Strela, Charles Shao, S. L. Wang, Elenterio Avincula, S. P. Vallejo. Members to the meeting were elected through churches, the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A.

The race question and war were the principal subjects discussed. Informal group meetings were held preceding the main convention at which questions were debated such as "Shall We Admit Foreigners to our Fraternities and Social Life?" These subjects were then considered in the larger meeting.

The purpose of the student volunteers movement and the Indianapolis convention is to spread missionary work, appeals for which were made at the close of the meeting.

A group of pacifists separated from the main body at the convention and refused to participate in the same meetings. Leaders of this group were largely Hindus and the rumor is current that they are followers of the Indian pacifist, Gandhi.

At the main program were speakers from the Philippines, Mexico, Switzerland, Canada, England, China and the United States.

The aim of the entire program was to have discussion among as many different types and races as possible. At a meeting to consider the race question, the subject debated by a northerner, a southerner, a Negro, a Japanese, and a Californian.

The organization is instrumental in promoting the student friendship fund and in training college students for missionary work. It has been described as "the biggest thing on college campuses" because of its international as well as national influence.

PYTHIA WILL PRESENT ONE-ACT PLAY TONIGHT

A one-act play by Teresa Helburn will be presented at the regular meeting of Pythia literary society at 7 o'clock tonight in the dancing room of Lathrop hall. Blanche Jandell '26, Katherine Bigzham '25, Bertha Glennon '25 and Mercedes Zander '24, will take part in the play. Dorothy Nelson, '25 will play a piano selection and Irma Dick '25 will review Drinkwater's play "Robert E. Lee."

Around the Big Ten

INDIANA

BLOOMINGTON—Both affirmative debaters were declared winners by a two to one vote of the spectators at the Indiana-Cornell debate. The question was whether the United States should enter the world court. Under the Oxford system of debating each school is represented by an affirmative and a negative speaker and the audience judges.

NORTHWESTERN

EVANSTON.—Undine Dunn, chairman of the junior social committee issued a statement denying responsibility of the prom committee for the disposal of tickets. The denial followed the charges of favorites and scalping in the disposal of tickets for the annual ball. Miss Dunn explained that the student council had taken over the sale of tickets.

Students Receive Cold Welcome on Entering Madison

A fine reception the students got Wednesday night when they returned to Madison after a warm and care free two weeks at home.

The mercury hovered around a dangerously low point on the thermometer as the trains disgorged thousands of weary students. They threw bags off the train platform, and then followed them. It was a cold, cold world, both figuratively and literally speaking, and the snappy and biting wind did not help the general morale any.

Five Wisconsin weekly newspapers were edited and managed by university journalism students for one week this year.

already been given by the regents. A nation-wide campaign for $1,000,000 has been started and is being conducted by the women.

OHIO

COLUMBUS.—A faculty rifle team will be formed at Ohio State university this year. A similar team was organized last year, but it failed to meet expectations. Captain E. H. Herlihy, coach of the varsity team, will organize the new team and looks for better success.

IOWA

IOWA CITY.—A successful national convention of Theta Tau, honorary engineering fraternity, was held here on December 31, and January 1 and 2. Besides the national officers 21 official delegates from the various chapters were present.

MINNEAPOLIS

MINNEAPOLIS.—More than 70 delegates from Minnesota university attended the International Student Volunteer convention at Indianapolis December 28 to January 1. It is expected that the entire university will benefit by the information that will be obtained.

GARDNER TELLS EAST OF UNION BUILDING

Wisconsin alumni in eastern cities are hearing the appeal to the support of the Memorial Union building this week. Prof. E. H. Gardner spoke to a meeting of alumni at Philadelphia Thursday night and will address a similar gathering at Buffalo, New York Saturday night.

Professor Gardner is traveling through the East as advertising councilor for the Ronald press.

Monroe and Fort Atkinson meetings of alumni in support of the union which were to have been held this week have been postponed until Founder's day, February 5.

Trophy to Eastern Winter Club

Six Badgers representing Wisconsin at the New Year's day ski tournament held at Lake Placid, N. Y. by the Lake Placid club won the Marshal Foch trophy in the college competition. The Wisconsin jumpers competed against representatives from Dartmouth, Williams, Yale, and McGill and Ottawa universities of Canada. McGill placed second in the tournament.

Club Invites Badgers

Four members of the Badger ski club and two grads formed Wisconsin's team. At the invitation of the Lake Placid club the Badger Ski club sent four men, Dudley Carmichael '26, George Martin, grad, A. C. Gulden, and Morris Waterman '25. Arriving at Lake Placid these men met Robert Pabst '27 and Fred Pabst, grad, who were guests of the club. These men accepted an invitation to jump for the Wisconsin team.

Carmichael was the big point winner for Wisconsin, taking second place and winning the standing jump. Fred Pabst won fourth place and Robert Pabst took fifth place. This gave the meet to Wisconsin. A man from McGill took first place in individual honors.

A warm rain the day before the tournament spoiled the large slide that has been built at Lake Placid, and it was necessary to use a smaller slide on which large jumps could not be made.

Marshal Foch Trophy

The trophy which the Wisconsin men won was presented to the Lake Placid club by Marshal Foch and is therefore designated as the Marshal Foch trophy. It is a replica of an ancient statue fashioned in bronze resting on a silver base. Those who have seen it say it is very appropriate. It is a traveling trophy and is competed for each year.

The Lake Placid club is foremost in the promotion of winter sports, many games being here there at this time of the year. The Wisconsin men who attended the meet were high in their praise of the club.

GYMNASTS TRAIN
FOR SECOND MEETTeam is Getting Into Shape to Meet Milwaukee Y. M.
Here

With a return meet with the Milwaukee Y. M. C. A. gymnasts scheduled for January 19 directly ahead of them, the gym team is getting in hopes of avenging the defeat that they received at Milwaukee just before vacation.

No regular workouts were held during the vacation; though many of the team members were in Milwaukee and practiced in the Milwaukee "Y" gym. Hicks, Baker, Reinholdt and Gapadze worked at the armory during vacation.

The whole team is still eligible for competition according to Coach Schlatter. That they are developing very slowly, however, is the coach's opinion.

Schlatter has not yet heard from Koch who was hurt in a fall at the Milwaukee meet, but is confident that he will be in shape for the coming meet. The condition of Krueger, who was badly hurt while practicing a short time before the Milwaukee meet, is still doubtful though the coach is hopeful that he will be ready for the conference meets.

Some new fencing equipment has been received by the athletic department. This includes two sabres, two foils, two duelling swords, and two masks.

"Jab" Murray Brings St. Stephen's Through Big Season Against Odds

Another Bob Zupke? Another Jack Wilce?

Donald F. "Jab" Murray, just another of the host of good coaches produced at Wisconsin, has started out on what looks to be another successful career of which Badgers may be proud. Word comes from Annandale, N. Y. of the successful season which the boys of St. Stephen's college have just completed under the able tutelage of Jab Murray, former Wisconsin grid tackle.

Murray, who is director of physical education as well as head-coach of football, basketball, and baseball sent his gridders through a season of five victories and two defeats. The fact that St. Stephen's is much smaller than most of the schools it has to contend with makes the record all the more noteworthy.

Following are the scores of the seven football games in which Murray's team played:

Hamilton 7, Stephen's 25.
New York U. 13, Stephen's 6.
Hobart 49, St. Stephen's 0.
New York City College 0, St. Stephen's 7.
Worcester Poly 0, St. Stephen's 32.
Drexel 0, St. Stephen's 37.
Conn. Aggies 6, St. Stephen's 12.

Prelims Tomorrow

The preliminary schedule of inter-fraternity basketball will end Saturday, with the probable exception of a few postponed games.

Two teams from each division will go into the next round of the basketball tournament. In case there are any ties to decide who will go into the next round, provisions will be made, to play off these ties, within the next few days.

The following teams will play January 5:

Sigma Phi vs. Phi Kappa; Delta Sigma Pi vs. Chi Phi; Alpha Tau Omega vs. Alpha Theta Pi at 3:30 o'clock.

Sigma Chi vs. Phi Delta Theta; Phi Beta Pi vs. Phi Psi; Theta Chi vs. Delta Tau Delta at 4:15 o'clock.

Sigma Phi Epsilon vs. Farm House; Theta Psi vs. Sigma Nu; Phi Kappa Alpha vs. Kappa Psi, at 5:00 o'clock.

Delta Kappa Epsilon vs. Alpha Sigma Phi; Alpha Gamma Rho vs. Alpha Kappa Kappa; Theta Xi vs. Theta Delta Chi at 5:45 o'clock.

MONTANA SCHOOLS HIT
ROCKS IN RELATIONS

Athletic relations between Montana State college and Montana State university were virtually terminated for an indefinite period yesterday. At a meeting of athletic representatives of the various higher educational institutions in Montana for the purpose of making schedules for the coming year it developed that these two schools had not scheduled contests in any sport. According to those in attendance, the state college and state university, being in different conferences, were unable to agree over rulings to govern eligibility of players.

SANTY PUTS ONE
WIN IN BADGER'S
SOCK, AND QUILTSNetmen Drop Franklyn Game
in Last Ten Minutes of Play

By HARRY BARSANTEE

One victory and one defeat marked the work of the Wisconsin basketball team during the Christmas holidays, but the scores in no way show the development of the team decisively.

The confident Marquette university quint from Milwaukee was sadly stepped on Dec. 19 in the big auditorium when Doc Meanwell's netmen piled up a 27 to 7 score. Wisconsin was playing its average game, and Marquette, sure of a win until the game started but not long thereafter, had not a comeback in the world.

Hilltoppers Dazzled

It was in this game that Wisconsin seemed partly to find its stride, scoring frequently and bewildering the Hilltoppers with their fast attack. The small score on the Marquette side of the board was largely because of the inability of the Milwaukee boys to shoot. While Marshall Diebold played his usual steady game, Ken Elsom still appeared a bit out of his natural place.

Elsom played a brilliant floor game, starting the Badger offense time after time in pretty fashion, but he did not yet seem to have the knack of guarding closely, and had Marquette been more lucky with her shots, the tale might have been considerably different.

Lose Next Game

After a two week period of rest from competition, the Badgers took on the touted Franklyn team from Indiana, and it was in the final ten minutes of that game that they were delivered a surprise package which proved to be a lemon. Wisconsin has suffered heart-breaking defeats before, but the 21 to 18 licking which she took from the Hoosier five Wednesday capped them all.

Franklyn, claimed by fans and press agents everywhere to be among the best in the nation and absolutely out of Wisconsin's class, almost slipped from her high place when she met Wisconsin, but through her indomitable spirit of victory she pulled the game out of the fire in the last ten minutes after she had trailed in the wake of the Wisconsin's prides during almost the entire game.

Anyone who saw the game is willing to admit now that the team that defeats Franklyn deserves to sit at the top of the basketball world.

Pace Hurts Badgers

Wisconsin's short pass was working to perfection during the first half of the game, and the Hoosiers could not fathom the attack. The Badgers could not stand the pace, however, and when their game began to slow up, Franklyn opened up her scoring eyes and grabbed the game out of the fire.

Neither of the two games played during the holidays was played against a conference team, but Wisconsin starts her long grind in the conference race Saturday night when she meets Indiana university at Bloomington.

In general, the holiday games showed practically the development which Wisconsin fans have formed the habit of expecting. The defense is yet weak, as it usually is before the season is well under way, but the offense is fast and sure. Doc Spooner and Varney, playing regularly at the forward positions, have hit their stride and are going in mid-season fashion. They vie with each other in each game for scoring honors.

Players Improve

While Captain Gibson is still some distance from his best form, his work in the Franklyn game showed a distinct betterment over his former performances this year. Gibson has a habit of starting the season in poor form and improving as the season progresses.

Wackman, Gibson's understudy,

SNOW CANCELS
SOCCER CONTEST
WITH MINNESOTA

The recent heavy fall of snow has wiped out chances for a soccer game with Minnesota here this season. The soccer team had been practicing daily up to the beginning of vacation in hopes of being able to meet Minnesota immediately after the holidays. No recent word has been received from Minnesota, but Schlatter, varsity soccer coach, feels that there is small chance of a meet being held.

WRESTLERS GET READY FOR MEETChicago, First on Mat Schedule, Will Meet Wisconsin
in Gym

With all men back and rested the wrestling team yesterday started hard workouts in preparation for the coming conference meets, the first of which is with Chicago at the gym. No official workouts were held during the vacation period. Captain Benbow, Chapman and Wheeler worked out some at the gym however.

Benbow is in good shape and nearly down to weight according to Coach Hitchcock. The rest of the team with the exception of Hanson is in good shape. Hanson had his elbow dislocated shortly before vacation and will not be ready for competition until the Chicago meet.

Eliminations for the varsity and freshman squad will take place next week beginning Tuesday. Hitchcock hopes to carry three complete teams or forty-two men in each squad.

The frosh and the varsity will hold a meet Saturday afternoon, Jan. 17. This meet will be open to the student body and will give the team a chance to get over their so-called stage fright.

Spring Season

Many candidates for the varsity track team returned several days before the regular influx of students began and started their training at once in preparation for the Wisconsin relay carnival which is scheduled for January 26.

With the completion of the carnival, the track season will start in earnest, beginning with February 16, when the Cardinal men will engage Chicago, Illinois, and Ohio in a quadrangular meet at Evanston, Ill.

Although the majority of the students have been enjoying themselves for the past two weeks, the track men have not overlooked their obligation to their team to keep eligible and indulged in light workouts practically every day.

If Wisconsin is to remain one of the leading teams in the conference, it will be necessary for each and every man to govern himself accordingly in the matter of condition. If the men do their part, the Badger track men will undoubtedly live up to their reputation as one of the strongest contenders for first honors in the conference this year.

Samples of wood from all over the world are sent to the U. S. Forest Products laboratory here for analysis.

still plays his regular game at either the pivot position or at one of the forward berths. "Katy" Farwell, a forward, is coming to the fore under Meanwell's supervision, and should make a dependable man when he becomes more thoroughly acquainted with Meanwell's system. Irv Gerber, football man, is beginning to show real worth as a guard.

HOLIDAYS BRING
BIG DEVELOPMENT
IN SPORT CAMPSMinnesota Receives Offer to Make Trip to Orient
Next Spring

Conference sport competition has been strong during the past two weeks, in spite of the holiday vacation. Wisconsin's spring baseball training trip schedule has been completed, Minnesota has received an offer to tour the Orient, a number of basketball games have been played, and now Big Ten teams are ready to swing into the round of conference schedules in almost every winter sport.

Minnesota's baseball team may make a trip to Japan next spring if negotiations now under way are approved by university authorities, according to information received by George Levis.

Levis Took Trip

Levis, while baseball coach at Indiana, took his team on a tour through the Orient. Recently Dr. L. J. Cooke, baseball coach at Minnesota, wrote Levis regarding expenses, arrangements, and full data concerning the trip, saying that Japanese officials had invited the team to meet several of their colleges next spring.

The proposal is under consideration by Minnesota, but there are several drawbacks to the proposition. If the team were to make the trip it would be unable to meet its conference rivals, and would be entirely out of Big Ten consideration for the coming year. It would also take one of Wisconsin's oldest rivals off its schedule and leave our present schedule two games short.

Two Week Tour

Wisconsin's baseball team, on its spring training trip, will play nine games and will be gone for the greater part of two weeks. The trip will open with a game at Butler, April 5, and closes with the first conference game against Chicago April 15.

The schedule as announced by Coach Guy S. Lowman is as follows:

April 5—Butler.
April 7-8—University of Mississippi.
April 9-10—University of Alabama.

April 11-12—Mississippi A. & M.
April 14—Armour Institute.

April 15—Chicago (conference). Basketball prospects at Ohio State look exceptionally bright this year following State's victory over Pennsylvania Dec. 27, 35-22, and the drubbing it gave the Yale quintet Dec. 31, 43-20. Minnesota's cagers had little trouble in quelling Grinnell 25-19, but Chicago was less fortunate and fell before the speedy De Pauw aggregation.

Meanwell Praises Iowa

Coach Meanwell, after viewing both teams in action, says that Iowa has a much better team right now than Illinois, and undoubtedly has the strongest team in the conference. He states that the Suckers are learning the short pass and are still a little ragged, while the Hawks are prepared to step at top speed right now.

More conference swimming records are liable to be broken shortly, for Morse B. Lake, a freshman at Iowa, recently tied the conference record in the plunge for distance by doing the 60 feet in 17 8-10.

MOSES STEPHEN SLAUGHTER

Four or five years ago a professor in the mathematics department gave a dinner for one of Wisconsin's most prominent alumni, an extremely successful business man. There were eight or nine professors present, teacher under whom the alumnus had studied. Talk ranging on many subjects was interrupted by the arrival of still another teacher. The alumnus, recognizing him, waved aside every other attention, rushed up to him and, putting his arm around him, exclaimed in the presence of the rest: "Professor Slaughter! I've been waiting anxiously to see you, for I got more out of your course in Horace than any other course on the hill."

Throughout the 27 years in which Prof. Moses Stephen Slaughter taught at the university he combined his scholarship and his personality to make good students and devoted friends. He was so full of human kindness that he became the real friend of any one who knew him at all. So it was that he had an unusual hold upon the hearts of students at the university and was able to give them much of his wisdom, academic and spiritual. He understood his students, he was in tune with them, and so in their work with him they responded readily, not with a sense of duty, but with a sense of pure pleasure. It is not enough for a teacher to present facts; he must make these facts live that they may be vital for his students. This Professor Slaughter did.

However, not only his immediate students knew and profited by knowing him; there were others who had never come into contact with him in the classroom who nevertheless felt as though he had been their teacher. In his home, on the street he was known to many students as a jolly friend with the feelings and sympathies of an undergraduate himself.

It was always his aim to make life more rich and full. An unusually human human being, he succeeded in that aim wherever he went.

THE TRADITION

While the ivy covered halls have been vacant and the Latin Quarter silent as though a plague had swept away all its inhabitants, while students have been playing through the holidays, Jack Frost has been a hard working man in these parts. In fact, he has worked so hard that he was able to give us a surprise when we walked up the hill yesterday. He had covered the lake, cloaked it over in the first preparations for a firm surface for skating, ice-boating, skiing and what not.

But he has done no more than make those first preparations. He has not completed the job. It may be that he doesn't make a complete job of it in a few days in order that he may be able to trick a few human beings. He is a deceptive chap and he has made a very deceptive work, that coating of ice on Mendota.

For with it he will lure many an innocent person out onto the lake. That white surface will be like a magnet to students who do not fully understand its falsity. Somebody, thinking the ice on the lake is perfectly safe, is bound to venture out upon it within the next few days. Then there will be a crunch, a cracking, a splash and a shriek, and that will be the end of that somebody. Each year that is the tale of some foolhardy person, or of some one ignorant of the condition of the ice.

There are many traditions here at Wisconsin, most of them are splendid ones, but the winter drowning tradition is not. It should be discontinued.

The lake did not begin to freeze until New Year's day; it was not completely covered yesterday afternoon; no part of it will be safe for two or three more days at least, when The Cardinal will make the announcement.

Until then, keep off the ice. It isn't safe.

THE HOME STRETCH

We are back on the campus once more, after a more or less merry Christmas, after sitting at home and twiddling our thumbs, or dancing every night and sleeping all day, or playing cards with the fellow-vacationers from Michigan, Yale, Penn, or improving each shining hour with a new book, or seeing a lot of shows in a short space of time or what ever it may have been. Anyway, now we are back on the campus, ready for the last lap of the semester, the sprint preparatory to these finals, frantic bucking at the library or frenzied cramming over the midnight oil in our rooms.

You look at the heading of this editorial and say, "Well, he's at it again. Just as surely as we have the four seasons, just as surely as we have the annual Homecoming, Thanksgiving, Christmas vacation, so do we have the Homecoming editorial, the Thanksgiving, the Christmas, the Home Stretch editorial after vacation. Can't get away from it, it's a hard and fast conventionality. Wow, but I hate conventions. You're going to be fooled this time if you think this editorial is going to preach the gospel of study and a word to the wise. Conventions are a bore and a nuisance and for that reason this is not going to be the usual, unescapable "Beware the finals" editorial, not at least if it can be helped, because conventions are oppressive.

Everywhere one goes, on the train home for the holidays, to the cafeteria, to a basketball game one finds everybody being conventional. He follows along like a helpless twig of wood floating down stream, behaving precisely like his neighbor, being affected in the same manner by each current and curve of the stream, making no effort to get into a different eddy. A spectator, if indeed there is one, must be filled with ennui at the monotonous sight.

From such a standpoint, Paris is one of the greatest curses on mankind, Paris and the men's fashions conventions. It seems too bad that we can not all make our own clothes. It is not enough to be able to choose them, they are made each season too much alike. No, we must tag along and, although a certain garment may not exactly suit our taste, we perforce take it because "it is quite the rage this season."

So it is that some students go out for extra-curricular activities. "It's quite the thing to do." So it is that certain courses, on the hill, though they be good, bad or indifferent, are crowded to extreme capacity. "Oh, everybody's taking that, of course I do."

There is a latent tugging somewhere, from what source it is difficult to tell; yet it tugs relentlessly and as it tugs and tugs there is a strong temptation to end this editorial by a warning of the impending finals. Yes, it can not be resisted; you have four more weeks and then your race is done and you are beyond help. Make the best of that time while you can. This period following the holidays is like the home stretch, and a word to the wise is sufficient.

Convention is too strong.

Critic Finds Mary Changed in "Rosita"

"ROSITA"

Featuring Mary Pickford and Holbrook Blinn.

An Ernst Lubitsch Production. Presented at the Parkway.

By R. L. S.

We went to the Parkway to see Mary Pickford with a picture in our mind of Mary, as the star who plays the little girl parts so well. But we found quite a different Mary, for we would have you know that Mary has grown up, or at least so it seems to us. In "Rosita" Mary takes the part of a Spanish street inger who defies a king and gets half the kingdom (or thereabouts) in return. The more she sasses the more she gets. Of course there's the other lover who is hung, murdered, drawn and quartered, just to add to the general excitement. It seemed to us that the ending was tacked on. Why must the producers always have a happy finish, even at the sacrifice of the whole story? They get a play, and because it hasn't the proverbial "were married and lived scrappily ever after" ending, they have to spoil the whole thing by sticking on some silly, improbable but joyful finish.

Nevertheless, the plot as a whole is good and is something different, which is always refreshing. The scenes and costumes are excellent, and Mary proved herself quite an

Hammond's "White Way Orchestra" was rather a disappointment. Perhaps our expectations were too high, but when you go to hear a travelling orchestra you should be able to expect something mighty good. ## "Happy" Went to Dog Heaven During Recent Holidays

"Happy" the erstwhile Boston terrier belonging to the Sigma Phi Epsilons is now nothing but a happy memory—for "Happy" died in a dog infirmary during the holidays. The pup had been suffering from ill health for some time and was taken to the dog hospital to recover. For some time he seemed to improve—but along came the holidays and festivities—and poor "Happy" suffered a relapse which proved fatal.

OPEN SEASON FOR SALE OF SODATOL

War Salvaged Explosive May Be Purchased From College of Agriculture

Open season for spring sodatol orders has been declared by John Swenhardt, of the College of Agriculture, who is in charge of the distribution of this cheap war salvaged explosive.

Sodatol prices will remain the same, but Swenhardt again warns farmers that the supply of blasting caps has been exhausted and these must be purchased through the regular commercial channels. Individual farmers are limited to 1,000 pound orders. This curtailment tends to prevent exploitation and speculation.

This inexpensive war salvaged explosive has more than lived up to the predictions made for it when its sale was thrown open to the farmers of the state. An excess of 2,000,000 pounds has been distributed throughout rural Wisconsin within the past three months according to Swenhardt.

About 10,000 Wisconsin farmers from sixty-eight counties have used the new explosive this fall.

Dawes Reports Nation's Savings $135 Per Capita

If you didn't have $135.40 in your pockets at 12 o'clock New Year's eve you had just that much in the annual report of Comptroller of Currency Dawes. That amount is the per capita savings of the United States.

Thrifty Americans have piled up in the banks of the nation the huge amount of $15,293,746,000 in savings deposits the records show. Distributed among the 112,950,000 residents of the United States, it equals $135.40.

This vast treasure is more than double the savings of all the people of the earth together who have access to saving banks. However, Americans are not the thriftiest people on earth, the table shows. They have it all over us in New Zealand. We come in second, and Australia ranks third.

Remains of Big Blimp Found Off Coast of Sicily

PARIS — Fire blackened wreckage from the French dirigible, Dixmude, has been discovered off the coast of Sicily, the ministry of marine is advised, thus bearing out the theory that the great airship with 50 aboard fell into the sea after taking fire, or as the result of an explosion.

One of the gasoline tanks was picked up near Cape San Marco, only a few miles from the spot where the body of the Dixmude's commander was brought to the surface by fishermen. The upper part of the tank was blackened by fire.

Several pieces of the rubberized cloth used in the balloon envelopes, also were found, leaving practically no doubt that the Dixmude fell in that vicinity with all on board.

9 Firms Enter Bids For Wisconsin Cement

Bids from nine of the leading cement companies of Wisconsin and other states were received by the state highway commission Thursday for 1,023,000 barrels of cement for federal aid and county bond highway construction for 1924. Contracts for the cement will be let by the state commission at a meeting on Jan. 10.

The bids submitted were for a total of 1,240,000 barrels, or 21 per cent over the amount required. The prices were on the basis of $1.65 net at Buffington, Ind., and $1.65 at La Salle, Ill., these being the two principal points to supply Wisconsin requirements. The bids show an increase of five cents per barrel over last year.

Forecast Better Trade In Iron and Steel In '24

WASHINGTON — A forecast that the foreign and domestic trade in iron and steel would be greater this year than during 1923 was issued today by the Department of Commerce. November iron and steel exports were 15 per cent better than the ten months average of 164,200 tons, from January to October. Imports of 26,365 tons were the smallest of the year.

"Two-Gun Bill" Has Film That's Different

"WILD BILL HICKOK"
Featuring William S. Hart.
Produced by Paramount.
Directed by Clifford Smith.
Presented at the Majestic.
By R. L. S.

Bill Hart, accompanied by a few arsenals, has returned to the screen and of course its a "western thriller". There's not much to say about these western pictures. If you like them, you like them, and if you don't, why then you just don't. Personally, they all seem just about the same to us, but the ardent "western fan" seems to see a great difference in each one, and from the popularity of "Six-gun Bill" the "ardent western fans" seem to be quite numerous. The house was full, and the picture was followed with a great deal of interest by everyone.

It's the story of the famous "Wild Bill" Hickok, plainsman, touched up considerably by Hart himself. Our friend Bill, getting tired of killing bandits and rescuing stage coaches in distress, puts by his artillery to lead the quiet life of a gambler. Enter, a lady—Enter Bill's guns—Exit, seven or eight gangs of bravados.

You know it's mighty strange the way one will get all excited watching William, old lad, supported by half a dozen minor characters, massacre an army or two of bandits by half a dozen minor characters once getting hit himself. Even though we don't as a rule, like westerns, we'll have to admit that this was a little different. In fact, we quite enjoyed it, which proves that it must have been different. We can't say just how it differs from the others, but we can advise you to go and try to figure it out for yourself.

The added attraction is a quite amusing comedy about a cyclone, which of course sent the audience into gales of laughter.

RHINELANDER—Members of the Rhinelander Rotary club and their wives enjoyed a banquet at the Oneida hotel. Addresses were given by J. D. Mylrea, president of the club; A. J. O'Melia and Charles F. Smith.

TO MAKE PLANS FOR WINTER SPORT WEEK

A meeting of the Winter Sports committee, to make further plans for winter sports week, February 12 to 16, will be held at the Association of Commerce offices Monday night, it was announced today. Preparations will be made to get skating rinks in shape on the lakes. Provision for coasting, the raising of prize money which calls for a $600 budget, and events, including contests for school children, costumes for young contestants, and other details are to be considered.

OFFICIAL" SNUB

Baroness de Cartier de Marchienne.

Washington society is still talking about the almost official affront given to the German government by the Baroness de Cartier de Marchienne, wife of the Belgian ambassador to Washington, when she refused, it is said, to accept her partner at the annual state dinner of the President the German ambassador, Dr. Otto Wiedfeldt. Other arrangements were made and Dr. Wiedfeldt escorted the wife of the Japanese ambassador to the dining room.

HUMANITY EXAMS
SET FOR JANUARY 12

The committee in charge of the course in humanities will hold examinations in reading knowledge of French and German, open to all candidates for the humanities degree, at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, January 12, in room 325 of the library. Candidates who expect to present themselves for either examination at that time are requested to send in their names to the secretary not later than January 9.

7,089 Immigrants
Came To State
During Past Year

Immigrants arriving in Wisconsin during the fiscal year ended on June 30, 1923, numbered 7,089, of whom 3,101 were Germans and 915 Scandinavians, Secretary of Labor Davis announced in his annual report just made to congress. The number of aliens of other leading immigrant nationalities taking up their residence in the state during the year were: Hebrews, 459; Italians, 456; English, 291; Poles, 284; and Bohemians and Czechs, 112. Only two blacks announced their intended residence in Wisconsin. One African and one East Indian.

Italians living in Wisconsin showed the most departures of any nationality in the Badger state, this year, 163 departing, presumably for Italy. Sixty-five immigrants from Sweden and its neighboring countries, sixty-eight Germans and sixty-three Bulgarians also left the state. The total number of aliens departing from Wisconsin during the year was 7,720, which was much lower than in former years.

The high caliber of most of the aliens arriving in Wisconsin was emphasized by a cable, contained in the report which showed that the professional classes outnumbered 253 and the skilled and "miscellaneous laborers," 4,440.

Russell E. Frost
Engaged to Marry
Genevieve Hicks

Mr. and Mrs. Warren E. Hicks, Van Hise avenue, have made announcement of the engagement of their daughter Genevieve to Russell E. Frost, son of Prof. and Mrs. W. D. Frost, Grant street.

Miss Hicks is a senior in the home economics department at the university. She is a member of Gamma Alpha Epsilon, professional home economics sorority.

Mr. Frost received his master's degree from the university with the class of 1923. He is now junior editor of Hoard's Dairyman at Ft. Atkinson.

Pankalla-Meyer

Harvey G. Meyer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Meyer, Madison, recently married Helen A. Pankalla, daughter of the late P. J. Pankalla, Madison. Mr. Meyer was graduated from the university with the class of '21. He is a member of Delta Sigma Pi fraternity, and is now holding a position of professor of commerce at the University of Tennessee.

Whitcomb-Bredesen

Mrs. Anne Bredesen, Beloit, announces the marriage of her son Philip G. Bredesen, to Marion Whitcomb, Madison. Mr. Bredesen is a graduate of the university, a member of Alpha Delta Phi fraternity and is on the advertising staff of the Chicago Tribune.

Rinder-Reardon

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Rinder, Madison, announce the marriage of their daughter, Elsbeth, to William E. Reardon, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Reardon, Midland, Mich.

Miss Rinder was graduated from the university in 1923. She is a member of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority. Mr. Reardon is in the oil business in Omulgee, Cal. They will make their home in California.

Danielson-Steinle

Recent announcement has been made of the marriage of Mable Danielson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Danielson to J. Vernon Steinle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Steinle, both of Madison.

Mrs. Steinle attended the university of Wisconsin for two years. She is a graduate of the Presbyterian Hospital School for Nurses, Chicago. For the past three years she has been engaged in public health work in Dane county and West Virginia.

Mr. Steinle was graduated from the university, is a member of Sigma Xi and Alpha Chi Sigma fraternities, and at present is an instructor in chemistry on the faculty.

Mabis-Fritsche

Announcement has been made of the wedding of May B. Mabis, Madison, and Oscar O. Fritsche, Sioux Falls, S. D. Mr. Fritsche is a student in labor economics at the university, and a member of Artus. In the fall he will register as a junior in the course in mining engineering.

Sattre-Kuehl

Dr. and Mrs. O. M. Sattre, Rice Lake, announce the marriage of their daughter, Marion Jane, to Frank W. Kuehl, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Kuehl, Fountain City. Mr. Kuehl was graduated from the university in 1922, from the law school in 1923, and is at present private secretary to Gov. J. J. Blaine.

SENATE GREET'S 'BOB' LA FOLLETTE

Drop Party Warfare to Welcome Progressive Leader After Illness

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Robert M. La Follette returned to his seat in the U. S. senate today to receive the warmest of welcomes from his friends and allies of the Progressive group, and even the hearty congratulations of his political opponents upon his restoration to health. The veteran Wisconsin senator showed none of the effects of his recent illness from which he had apparently fully recovered.

Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, the majority "Whip," was one of the first of the Republican "Old Guard" to grasp his hand.

Even though the reappearance of "Fighting Bob," on the senate floor foreshadowed fresh trouble for the administration forces, it was manifest the personal regard even those of his senatorial colleagues who are his political foes, have for the senator was uppermost in their thoughts as they extended a hearty hand clasp to him. A remarkable personal tribute was paid him by his Progressive associates in the senate and house when they presented him with an engraved "Welcome" bound in a handsome little leather folder bearing his name on the cover.

When Sen. La Follette took his seat he was greeted by the entire Progressive group in the Senate and House, including ten senators and 22 representatives and presented with a bouquet of flowers by them.

When the flowers were presented to the Wisconsin solon he was also given a souvenir booklet containing the signatures of the Progressive senators and congressmen. On the book was the following engraved inscription: "To Senator Robert M. La Follette: With your many friends the nation over, we rejoice in your return to good health and active participation in the fight for Progressive legislation. Jan. 3, 1924."

Ohio State May Enroll 10,000 For Coming Quarter

COLUMBUS, O.—After flirting with the 10,000 mark for some time, Ohio State university's student enrollment may pass that figure during the coming week when the winter quarter begins. Excluding duplicated names, the enrollment for the present school year reached 9,875 during the autumn quarter, just ended.

The winter quarter, opening Jan. 2 after a vacation of 11 days, extends through March 15. Although classes begin promptly at 8 o'clock the day after New Year's, students can register as late as Wednesday, Jan. 9. The only holiday scheduled during the quarter is University Day which, as usual, falls on Washington's birthday.

The winter quarter commencement is scheduled for Friday, March 14, in the university chapel. Between the winter and spring quarters there will be a vacation period of nine days.

The policy of the Coolidge administration with respect to reparations and foreign debt situation, was explained in detail to Robinson, who will sail shortly for Paris.

OHIO MAY ENDOW DIPLOMATIC CHAIR

Committee Appointed to Carry on Project as Part of Harding Memorial

COLUMBUS, O.—Approving the movement launched by alumni for the establishment here of the Warren G. Harding chair of diplomacy and functions of government as part of the Harding memorial plan, trustees of the university have appointed a committee of three to take up the project. Members of the committee are Lowry F. Sater, Columbus attorney, active in the work of the Franklin county Harding memorial fund committee; Col. Carmi A. Thompson, of Cleveland, and Dean William McPherson, of the graduate school.

The action followed receipt of a letter from Mr. Sater to the acting president of the university, suggesting Ohio State as the logical choice for the establishment of such a chair.

The proposal was heartily endorsed by Prof. H. R. Spencer, head of the department of political science, and Prof. F. W. Coker, his colleague. Establishment of such a chair, in their opinion, would greatly enhance the value of courses offered in diplomatic relations.

"Universities throughout the country," Professor Spencer says, "have been neglecting the preparation of persons for diplomatic work. The affairs of the country abroad should not be entrusted to an amateur. The work should be carried on by persons who have had special training along these lines."

5 HIGH SCHOOLS WIN IN JUDGING

Teams Successful in District Contest Compete Here February 22

Five high schools already have qualified for the finals in the state high school stock judging contest which is billed for February 22 and 23 at the College of Agriculture.

Chilton, Hillsboro, Rio, Holmen and Roberts high schools teams have been successful in competition in their respective districts, entitling them to compete for all-state honors. The event is sponsored by the Wisconsin livestock breeders' association. All classes of livestock including sheep, horses, dairy cattle, beef cattle and hogs will be placed by the boys.

T. L. Bewick, state club leader of boys and girls club work, who is in charge of arrangements for the event expects a bigger and more representative group of high school judges here this year than ever before in the history of the event.

Chicago Professor Wins $1,000 Science Award

CINCINNATI, Ohio—Dr. L. E. Dickson, professor of mathematics in the University of Chicago, was awarded the prize of $1,000 offered by the American Association for the Advancement of Science for the most valuable contribution to science, presented during the meeting of the association in Cincinnati. The particular contribution for which the prize was awarded was a very general mathematical theory the committee on awards announced.

FITFIELD—Virgil McKeown, arrested on a charge of burglarizing the Miller store here, was released because of lack of evidence against him.

COUNCIL TO SET COASTING HILLS

Mowry Seeks City Action to Guard Children's Safety By Picketing

The matter of designating hills for coasting will be taken up by the common council at its next meeting. It is planned to picket off the hills in order to prevent auto drivers from using them. Don E. Mowry of the Association of Commerce, Thursday, directed a letter to Mayor I. M. Kittleson and the common council. The letter, in part, follows:

"At this week's meeting of the board of directors of the Association of Commerce there was considerable discussion with reference to the coasting hills which have been provided in the past by this association, we putting up signs warning drivers of vehicles that these hills had been designated as coasting hills. We have found in the past that there are many sections of the city that desire to have streets designated as coasting hills and the result has been that last year thirteen different places were designated by our road and travel bureau.

"It has been found that it is exceedingly difficult to insure the policing of these hills and without proper pickets in the street coasting has proved dangerous and last year a number of serious accidents occurred, which we greatly desire to avoid this year.

"I was further directed to call this matter to the attention of the common council with the suggestion that this matter be taken up and handled by you this year, using, if possible, street ends going on to the lakes, and prohibiting sliding on any of the streets of the city. About all that would be necessary to provide would be either dirt or snow runways from the foot of the several hills onto the lake. It was suggested at the meeting that Wisconsin ave. to Lake Mendota, Lincoln st. to Lake Wingra; and a place out in the east side and the university slide, which will be available, and possibly some other places be designated by the common council and appropriations be made for such expenses as a necessary use of the playground fund.

"The board of directors of this association believes that, if it is found necessary to use the streets, that horses should be placed in the center of the street a block before the sliding place is reached and also that a wooden horse should be placed on each side of the street set aside so that vehicles would be obliged to travel between these sliding hills near the curb in coming and going."

Outdoor Recreation Spot for Monroe, Mayor's Plea

MONROE—An outdoor recreation center, including a swimming pool, is one of the needs of the city that should be filled in 1924, Mayor Fred L. Kohli says in a New Year's statement. Fixing of arterial highways to reduce intersection accidents and the carrying out of a long contemplated street paving program are other accomplishments hoped for.

No Building Permits Issued Yet In 1924

The annual New Year's slump in building permits is on at the city hall. None have been issued by the building commissioner thus far. The first permit issued the last two years was on Jan. 4. The first month of each year is the lightest, the time being used to draw plans for the resumption of building operations in spring.

Warren Refuses League Post on Memel Board

DETROIT—Charles Beecher Warren, former U. S. ambassador to Japan and later high commissioner to Mexico, today sent a cable to the council of the league of nations at Geneva, declining to serve on a neutral commission of three to investigate the dispute between Lithuania and Poland over the Baltic port of Memel.

Zimmerman Will Speak At Marquette U. Jan. 10

:: AT THE THEATERS ::

VODVIL, DRAMA
CINEMAChauve-Sauris,
"Kiki" and Duse
Entertain Well
By CHATTY

There's certainly a lot of spice for the theater-goer in Chicago. Presume you found that out for yourself if you were in the windy city at all during the holidays. But then, we heard only yesterday of a student who spent every day of the vacation in Chicago and didn't go inside of a single playhouse. So we'll take the precaution to let you know about one or two of the things that are showing.

To begin with—we've got to begin somewhere, you know—there's Lenore Ulric in "Kiki" playing the title role which she made famous for two years on Broadway. If you see "Kiki" you must rid your mind of all sordidness or you may read into it things that are not there. For Kiki, you must know, is a little imp from the streets of Paris who does absolutely anything that crops into her head. And that's saying a good deal.

Dressed in clothes that are in themselves hilarious, with black bobbed hair sticking out from her head in almost every direction she dashes from one thing to another with an impetuosity that knows no bounds. She's quite an acrobat, too; you'd be highly entertained by her "cataleptic fit." Most of all, she is a personality rather than an actress.

We suspect that the supporting cast is not the same which Mr. Belasco furnished her in New York, but it is satisfactory.

Turning to something entirely different, something tragic rather than comic, we shall see what can be said about Eleanora Duse's "Ghosts." No one who has seen it will ever be able to forget it. Her acting is such as is never seen under American management. It is too natural, too real, too little acting. Like the Russians of Moscow Art Theater, she forgot her audience entirely, even to the extent of playing with her back to it, forgot her audience and her audience forgot Duse—saw only Mrs. Alving, torn by disappointment after disappointment. If the Italian was hard to understand, it was easy to follow, for the play is familiar enough. With only one exception in the first act, the entire thing was clear to us.

Duse has been criticized for making Mrs. Alving too old. That criticism in a way is just, but without makeup the Italian could have done nothing else, for she looks beyond her 65 years. Yet Duse made up would not be Duse.

The play brought out the tremendous difference between at least the people of the Latin races and those of the Teutonic. Such emotion as was portrayed on the part of the actors one would never see among the latter people. Such sobbing as Benassi in the role of Oswald put forth was almost disgusting in spite of the fact that we remember he was playing the part of a lunatic.

Much though we would like to, we can't go on forever.

The Chauve-Sauris, also, something quite out of the ordinary, is charming. It can hardly be called vaudeville—not even high class vaudeville. It might be called a serious of tableaux, beautiful in color or sound or movement, humorous, grotesque. Each one was a piece of art in itself. The famous March of the Wooden Soldiers done at its best only in the Chauve-Sauris, the impressive El Ukhnem, or Volga Boat Song, the softly colored Porcelaine De Copenhagen and the serene and handsome Porcelaine de Meissen were probably the hits of the bill which is now running at the Garrick. But anything the stage-autocrat Balieff puts on would be high grade.

And now what about Balieff himself. It's a bit hard to understand him at first, he overdoes his broken talk a little. But after his second or third appearance one catches on and understands easily. His mock sorrow, his pathetic smile and to his humorous announcements and he becomes half the show himself. Of course, the music and the orchestra are also good parts of the entertainment.

We understand that "The Best People" is very good comedy along with "The Nervous Wreck" that the

"The Fighting Blade," a drama of the Romance age, shows Richard Barthelmess in a character part very different from any he has ever portrayed previously. From the earnest and appealing youth he has been graduated over night into the daring soldier of fortune with a blase attitude.

Whether you will approve of Richard as this sophisticated man or not you will have to admit that he "gets away" with it, considering his very youthful expression and appearance. The picture itself is a success as far as plot, acting, and scenic effects are concerned.

The story depicts one of the most dramatic effects of the historic conflict, reciting the exploits and romance of the valorous Kerstebrook, the most deadly duelist in all Europe. Richard as this soldier of fortune is at first considered lightly by both his fellow actors and the audience, but in the end both are equally convinced that he can be a man killer as well as a "ladv killer."

Settings of the period plays are apt to be a little too stage like and not realistic enough, but the producers in this case have used the utmost care in selecting the backgrounds for the picture. The costumes, the interior settings and the rural effects are neither overdone or incomplete.

Dorothy Mackaill makes a very appealing and charming girl for the hero to fall in love with, and she is a refreshing change from the much marcelled and sophisticated movie stars that are so numerous on today's movie screens.

While the long list of characters with the long names are apt to make the audience rather confused at first, and the threads of the plot are a little slow in unravelling, when they do get started there is no time left to wonder why the women next to you is eating peanuts.

Research concerning radio static is now being conducted by professors at the university.

Follies are a bore as usual—at least in comparison to the Passing Show, and that Joseph Schildkraut's egoism and an extremely dull play make "The Highwayman" poor entertainment.

Doug. Jr. is Acrobat and Good Actor Too

"STEPHEN STEPS OUT"
Featuring Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.
Presented at the Madison.
By HECK

He's quite a lad, is Douglas, Jr. And he is only a lad in spite of the fact that he might pass as a student at any university or college instead of Stillwater prep. school. Yes, he's quite a lad, and he seems so perfectly at home before the camera, if anything, too much so. In this picture the best things he does are smile and wear clothes. But he does them so well that there is room left for praise on other scores.

He must have inherited his histrionic ability from his mother, for he certainly has some, and none of it could have come from acrobatic papa, although he has acrobatic ability too. He says that what he wants to do in the movies is play the typical American boy. He does that well in the role of Stephen. The story really isn't very much, but it suits the actor to perfection for it gives him so many opportunities to do what he wants to do in playing the American boy. You'll chortle at Stephen's pranks, you'll appreciate his kind sympathies, you'll be sorry that he isn't more of a student but at the same time mighty glad because if he were, he wouldn't be at all what he is. And that would be a shame.

The supporting cast is quite good and does not infringe on the lead at all. You can't help liking Theodore Roberts, anyway.

We would like to start a Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Intellectuals and bar every one from making comedies except Charlie Chaplin and Harold Lloyd. Honestly, movie comedies as a rule have passed the stage of being stupid and have gone into the class of just plain "rank". Now go to the Madison and laugh at Ben Turpin if you dare.

Up Stage Bits

BY TORMENTOR

"Igloo, scabaromouche, gue-no." That's esquimo for "Greetings from the North woods," where the M. E. and Tormentor have gone for a little mid winter vacation and thesis writing.

* * *

Yesterday a wise squirrel came down the roof of the cabin and cocked an eye at us as if to infer that we were a couple of nuts. We told him that the stage was all set for a tragedy and he'd better look out or he'd be sizzling in our frying pan by noon.

* * *

The M. E. however, is a very poor shot. He's a lot better shooting wise cracks on the Haresfoot stage.

* * *

And then, too, in spite of being a feminine impersonator it's surprising what a rotten cook he is. Quite characteristic of these twentieth century flappers.

* * *

But up here is the real place to get a perspective on some of these dramatic things. We asked the half-breed guide the other day what show he would like to see if he went to the big city. We thought he'd make some boner like Tom Mix or Bill Hart, but he grinned and said "Me likum see Ziegfeld folly show."

* * *

After this winter, however, we'll feel a more brotherly spirit for Oliver Curwood and his Royal N. W. mounted police.

* * *

Oscar Vetter cashed in heavily during the holidays by trimming windows instead of stages.

* * *

Now that Shuter has that off his chest he'll come to Wisconsin to make plans for the biggest and best Haresfoot show ever. "Twinkle Twinkle."

* * *

Reports have begun to sift through even up into the Northern wilds of the success of the Michigan opera "Cotton Stockings" which was given in fifteen of the largest cities of the east and Middle West during the holidays.

He makes all kinds of things by tearing up pretty blue and pink paper. It's hard work, too.

Al Bayes and Harvey Speck They do some clever shuffling and spring some good lines.

Lewis and Gordon A dreadful mixup over blondes. Not so good.

Olive Briscoe and Al Rauh

This act goes over pretty well. Their lines are good and they sing well together. They use the "hate to go to the dentist" line.

Joe Thomas Sax-o-tette

These five men did everything it was possible to do with a sax. Some of their comedy stuff was good; some of it should have been omitted. Clarice Gannon who sang and danced was rather good-looking.

Although the Moscow Art theater folks are here again there doesn't seem to be the blare of trumpets about them that there was last year. Perhaps the great number of foreign attractions accounts for this: Grand Guignol, Duse, Chauve Souris, Max Reinhardt, etc.

HISTORY MEN GO TO CONVENTION

Former Wisconsin Professor Elected Officer in Association

Prof. D. C. Munro of Princeton university who was professor of history here in the university for more than ten years was elected to the second vice-presidency of the American Historical association held at Columbus, during the holidays.

This was the thirty-eighth annual meeting of the association. Professors Frederic L. Paxton, Paul Knaplund, Joseph V. Fuller, and Carl Stephenson of the department of history attended the meet. Prof. Martha L. Edwards of the Extension division, and Dr. Joseph Schafer, of the Wisconsin Historical association, also attended. Several of these Wisconsin representatives delivered papers before the conference.

As a result of the numerous conferences on the subject of the place of history in the schools a resolution was passed the text of which, was the censoring of history texts to be used in high schools.

"The presidential address, 'Laws of History', by Edward P. Cheyney, of the University of Pennsylvania, was very remarkable, both from the standpoint of the thought which it revealed and from the literary viewpoint. Every student who is interested in either history or a good literary presentation of a subject will want to read this address, which will be published first in the January number of the Historical Review," said Dr. Schafer.

Joint sessions of similar associations were held at the same time among which was a meeting of the American Political association, of which Prof. A. Ogg is secretary.

The next meeting of the association will be held in Richmond, Va. The meeting will be split to accommodate Woodrow Wilson who was elected to the presidency, part being held in Washington, D. C.

PENN STATE VOTES AGAINST LIQUOR

Student Council Unanimous in Support of Prohibition and and 18th Amendment

The student council of Penn State college, presenting 3400 students, has adopted resolutions unanimously placing the students on record in support of prohibition and in opposition to "any practice or transactions in violation of the eighteenth amendment."

This action by Penn State originated with the undergraduates and is their official expression. It is in line with recent action taken at Yale, Illinois, Wisconsin, Ohio State and other important institutions.

The resolutions, as reported by the local representatives at Penn State to the Intercollegiate Prohibition association at Washington, recognizing that college students should be leaders of thought, "heartily endorse all action on the part of our national and state executives that will lead to more efficient enforcement of the law" and pledge the Student Council to "support the administration of our college in severely punishing students guilty of violating the law."
