BYNNER GIVES POET'S VIEWS OF THE ORIENT

Noted Poet Tells Characteristics of Japanese and Chinese in Talk at Music Hall

That by taking people as people we can overcome the race tragedies that have opposed us in the past, was the argument presented by Witter Bynner, noted poet, in his talk on "A Poet's Impression of the Orient" at Music hall last night.

"There is no good whatever in economic conference," he said. "The conference at Washington will only change the degree at which the nations face each other."

In his talk, which was given before a large audience of students and faculty members, Mr. Bynner brought out the characteristics of the Japanese and Chinese and told of their attitude toward foreigners.

"It is the quality of unthinkable obedience that makes the Japanese a race feared by other nations. Toward one another they are more Christian than any other people. It is only when they get away from their own country and live in such countries as Korea or Formosa that they become beasts," he said.

Mr. Bynner emphasized the fact that Japan is the only Asiatic country that is independent. "Is there any other method of maintaining her independence except by conducting herself as we do?" he asked. "We have no right to demand a different course from Japan until we demand it of European nations."

That we should not draw wool over our eyes in regard to British operation in this Far East was urged by Mr. Bynner. The Japanese are not entirely what they are represented to be by a great wave of propaganda that is generally accepted all over America.

Referring to China he stated that "tolerance" is the heart and soul of religion in that country. "It is a tremendous quality; a quality we can well learn from them," he said. "We Christians are after all a little intolerant."

Men in the Orient wear sombre colored clothes, contrary to the prevalent opinion. Women's clothes are much more sombre than

Federal Board Men Are Given Smoker

A smoker for all Federal students of the university and of 4C college was given by Gun and Blade, disabled service men's organization, at the university Y. M. C. A. Friday night. Mayor I. M. Kittleson was the principal speaker.

The smoker was a general get-together in order that Federal board students might become better acquainted. Paul Tobey, president of Gun and Blade, presided and explained the aim and ideals of the organization. Musical numbers were secured by Jone E. Sheldon.

Union Board Holds Dance at Lathrop

For the benefit of those who did not go to the Wisconsin-Chicago game, Union board has arranged a dance tonight at Lathrop hall.

"We would like to have a crowd out for the dance," said Leslie Gage '22, in charge of the affair. "Everybody who comes is sure to have a good time."

Six Men Selected For Debate Squad

The debaters who will meet with Washington university and the University of Missouri on January 6 were selected by Prof. J. M. O'Neill yesterday following the tryouts held Wednesday. The affirmative team, which will meet the Missouri squad at Music hall, is composed of Carl R. Rogers '23, A. H. Brown '23, and Carroll R. Heft '22.

Harold A. Seering '24, Martin Kriewaldt '22, and Thomas Amlie '22 will make up the negative team which will debate Washington university at St. Louis. The question of debate has not yet been definitely decided. Kriewaldt and Amlie were members of last year's inter-collegiate squad.

Campus Religious Meet Opens Monday

The campus religious convocation will start Monday, Nov. 21. Charles Foster Kent, professor at Yale, will be the speaker this year. Professor Kent is touring the country in a year's leave of absence from Yale, and wherever he goes, he receives enthusiastic praise.

There will be two meetings Monday at Music hall, one at 3:30 when Professor Kent will speak on "Democracy of Jesus and the Prophets," and another at 8 p. m., when his subject will be "Religion in the Life of the Educated Man."

Many accusations have been made concerning the irreligious attitude of the University of Wisconsin. Indictment by William Jennings Bryan, and others, have led the Campus Religious council to be more than anxious to disprove this by the forthcoming convocation. That science and religion are not incompatible is the fundamental idea which will run through the speeches of the convocation.

Birge Addresses So. Dakota Academy

President E. A. Birge addressed the South Dakota Academy of Sciences last night. His subject was "The Lake as a Going Concern," and his address gave a general account of work done on American lakes in recent years by the Wisconsin Geological and Natural History Survey.

The address dealt chiefly with the life structures in lakes, of their numbers, their size, their total weight, their variations according to season, and their importance in economy of the lake.

The life of the bottom of the lake chiefly of the young of insects and chiefly of the young of insects and of worms, both of which feed on the remains of the organisms of the open water which slowly fall to the bottom as they die.

Election Kicks May Be Made in 3 Ways

Three courses are open to those who wish to enter complaints over the method in which the recent elections were held. The first course is to bring the complaints before the new elections committee, the second is to bring the matter before the Student Senate, and the last and most probable course of action is to bring the matter before the Student court, which will be appointed soon.

At the meeting held on Wednesday noon for the purpose of investigating the elections, no complaints were entered because those wishing to make objections felt that it was unwise to complain at that time. The new Student Senate members took office Wednesday evening and it is probable that the matter will be brought to their attention in one of three ways.

BADGERS MEET MAROONS IN LAST CONFERENCE FOOTBALL GAME; 30,000 TO SEE CLASH

PILOTS BADGERS FOR LAST TIME

CAPT. GUY M. SUNDT

Captain Guy M. Sundt ends his Conference gridiron career today after holding down a backfield position on the Badger eleven for four years. During this time he has been one of Wisconsin's mainstays, and his consistent work this season is indicative of what he has done in his entire football career.

Band Accompanies Team to Chicago

The university band left this morning at 7:15 for Chicago, and will return on the train leaving Chicago this evening at 11:45. E. W. Murphy, director, declared that only those men who complied with conditions by going on the special, would receive special railroad fare.

Copy Due Nov. 30 For Next Octopus

Octopus has set Nov. 26 and Nov. 30 as the respective art and copy deadlines for the December issue of the Octopus, which will appear on the hill Dec. 14.

General Christmas copy and art work is wanted for the issue—the Christmas number. One-act plays and 200-word prose sketches are especially desired by the Octopus editors. Contributions may be placed in the boxes scattered over the hill or brought to the Octopus office.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Chicago is on the qui vive today.

The Midway awaits with expectant impatience a pilgrimage of Badgerdom which will gain its full strength this morning. Thousands of Wisconsin students and alumni will arrive to lose themselves in the maelstrom of humanity which officials figure will throng the University of Chicago campus this afternoon.

12,000 to Cheer Badgers

Of more than 30,000 persons who have reserved seats for the Mid-Western grid classic, the football clash of 22 Maroon and Cardinal-clad warriors, at least 12,000 will be cheering for the supremacy of Richards over Stagg, of Wisconsin over Chicago.

Experts opine that it will be a battle of lines, with the most powerful opening up holes through which star backfield men should rip and tear for long gains. It will be more than a battle of lines. It will be a battle engaged in by thousands, present and far-away. Not an atom of humanity in the big stands but will cheer fervently for one team or the other.

Hold Last-Minute Workouts

The Wisconsin and Chicago football squads engaged in last-minute workouts yesterday afternoon. Coach Richards sent his men through a spirited drill, short and snappy; "Old Man" Stagg, who upheld western supremacy over the east, had his men pitched up to a high point. In the last game of the season, the Maroons are prepared to give everything they have in an effort to wrest victory from the onrushing Badger eleven.

During the past week the Maroons have spent most of their time trying to perfect an effective defense against the touted Wisconsin aerial attack. Stagg has drilled his men in team play and they are said to have reached their point of highest efficiency.

Plan Aerial Attack

Wisconsin will undoubtedly depend upon an overhead offense to defeat the Maroons in case the Chicago forward wall outplays its lighter Badger opponents. Freshmen and All-Americans have worked against Varsity in tough scrimmages this week, and the first string eleven opened up with all it had to upset the reserves.

Every play in the category of the two gridiron mentors will be shown today. A dazzling attack composed of intricate formations and tricky plays can be expected. Field generals will hold back nothing.

OH WOE, thou hast overwhelmed us! We awake to find that all our friends are in Chicago, in the rumble of the elevated and the din of traffic, with so much excitement near them that nothing can prevent them from having the most hilarious of times. Just imagine, if you will, that wonderful crowd and the picturesqueness of color at the game down there today. And then think of yourself, sitting over in the gym this afternoon, waiting for the next message on the game, biting your finger nails in anxiety—why, do you know, you can't even smoke a cigarette in the gym? Gracious, guess we'll have to make up some sleep.

OUR mutual friend, GUSS P DOOR, is downcast, for Fate has broken up the even tenor of his way. This is the mournful message he sends us: "Say, guys, di javer support a candidate because he would make you assistant Prom chairman and then at the last minute have your best girl come out for vice-president on the opposing ticket? Di javer? Well if ya did, ain't it . . . ?"

* * * TREBOR.

AS was the custom in them days, people used to go down to Chicago to see the game because they could buy a ticket up here, because the railroad fare was cheap, and because it was a good game. Now-a-days they go down to Chicago because the cut rates on the railroad are fairly cheap and because it is a good game.

Red Domino Plays Show Individuality

Three artistic productions, each a complete entity, each remarkably individual, were the Red Domino one-act plays produced in Lathrop hall Thursday night.

"Sh! Here comes Phipps...." Strike me, strike me, if you dare!" melodramatically cried Lady Fanny, heroine of "Phipps," Stanley Houghton's comedy of manners. And there was the beginning of the struggle, for Phipps, the butler, turned out to be "a man!" The ridiculous situation of this ironic bit of drama was carried off with ease and savor faire by the three actors, Roberta Louden as Lady Fanny, Wells Carberry as Sir Gerald, and William Purnell as the remarkable Phipps.

Lady Fanny is cute and pretty and shallow and impossibly brainless. Sir Gerald was the perfect fool—almost too perfect—his monocle and cigarette holder were manipulated with professional ease. Phipps was the most difficult part, and was almost convincingly done.

The play itself was pleasing, and the end satisfactory, since it offered a pleasant solution to the difficulty. It was produced by Flora Filtzer Hertzler.

"The Shepherd in the Distance," a pantomime, was the most amusing of the plays. It was quite like a child's pantomime, with its oddly mechanical characters, who move around like dolls to the taps of the Maker of Sounds. The plot and staging were original, and the costuming effective, being carried out completely in different combinations of black and white. The cast included Mildred Downie, Margaret Emmerling, Olivia Fentress, Agatha McCaffrey, Aline Klug, Ruth Koppke, Frances Hughes, Alma Fenn, and Faren Hall, and the production manager was Esther T. Guerini.

The only tragedy of the group was the last in the series, Boccaccio.

NEWS OF CONFERENCE SPORTS

GRID SEASON CLOSES WITH GAMES TODAY

Badger - Maroon Clash is Feature Event of Schedule

The curtain will fall upon the football season for most of the schools and colleges throughout the country this afternoon. The Chicago-Wisconsin clash will be the feature game of the day, as the championships in the various parts of the country were definitely decided last Saturday.

There is little chance to pick the winner in this game as the play of two teams seems to have been about on a par throughout the entire season. Both are out of the running for the championship, although a wide margin win by the Badgers would show them to be as strong as either of the 1,000 per cent teams.

Chicago and Wisconsin both produce such consistently good teams that the annual clash of the two on Stagg field is considered one of the big games of the west. The coaches have their men in as good shape as they have been at any time during the season, and the backfields are not surpassed in the conference.

Both of the title contenders go into action today also. Ohio State plays Illinois at Columbus and Iowa travels to Evanston to play Northwestern. Since the Purple have not won a conference game this year, it is expected that Jones will turn his machine loose and see just how much damage they can do.

James L. Brader completes his fourth year of Conference football with the game today. By playing on the S. A. T. C. team he was allowed an extra year on the Varsity eleven. Brader has played three positions—end, tackle, and guard. In all three he has held his own with the best, and last year was placed on many all-conference elevens. From his work this year it is predicted he will rank higher than ever.

Iowa Does Not Want Post-Season Game

The matter of a post-season game between Ohio State and Iowa universities is looked on with disfavor by Iowa, according to the University of Iowa News service. The Hawkeyes see no reason for a post-season game and point out further that conference rulings forbid such a contest.

Both teams will come out of the conference race unbeaten if they win their games today, but, according to the view taken by Iowa, the championship belongs to them. Today Ohio State plays Illinois, and Iowa takes on Northwestern, and there seems to be little doubt as to the outcome of both clashes.

Iowa points out that she has been victorious not only in conference games, but in every game she has played, including the tilt with Notre Dame. According to the Iowa News service, no other team between the Rockies and the Alleghenies has such a record.

Suspension Fails to Check Ticket Scalping

CHICAGO — University of Chicago authorities announced today that the student suspended yesterday for ticket scalping is William Sears of Charlevoix, Mich., a sophomore.

The suspension however, has not had much effect on the sales of tickets for tomorrow's Badger-Maroon game, it was reported. One student investigator says he was approached by eleven student scalpers in front of the gymnasium this morning.

Tickets for the game are plentiful in the downtown brokers offices at prices ranging from $6.60 for the $1.50 standing room pasteboards to $15 for the $2.50 sets.

Illinois, on the other hand, has a fighting chance of withstanding the Buckeye onslaughts. Zuppke has played Wilce's teams for a number of years, and the Sucker mentor knows just what to expect. The Illini have shown improvement with each game, and the men are in better shape than they have been at any time during the season. And with such men as Cramble, Walquist, Carney, and Peden hitting their best stride, it must be admitted that the Suckers will have a least a fighting chance.

The Wolverines will no doubt end up their season in a most satisfactory manner by winning from Minnesota. Yost and his players feel that there is as much honor in tying Wisconsin and eliminating them from the running as there would be in sharing a triple tie.

An interesting battle will take place when Indiana and Purdue clash this afternoon. Both teams have had rather disastrous seasons, although the latter won its first game in three years against Northwestern two weeks ago.

The Big Three season will close when Harvard meets Yale. All dope indicates a Bulldog victory, as Yale has yet to suffer defeat, while the Crimson fell before Princeton and Centre.

Coach Rockne's Notre Dame warriors will this afternoon invade this state for the first time, when they take on the Marquette eleven. Judging from the record made by the Hoosiers this year, they should easily win from Ryan's outfit, which does not seem to be quite as strong as usual. It is unfortunate that the game was not scheduled for a date when the Badger team was not playing, as many fans in this part of the country would welcome the opportunity to see an aggregation in action which was able to humble the Army and other elevens of known strength.

Yale Men Gather at Informal Dinner

All Yale men in Madison will gather at an informal dinner in the grill room of the Madison club tonight. At the dinner, the Madison Yale association, the local organization of graduates and former students of Yale, will hold its first meeting since before the war and will plan a renewal of its activities.

Dr. Charles S. Sheldon, of the Yale class of '63, is president of the association, and Carisle P. Winslow, director of the Forest Products laboratory, is secretary. Arrangements for the dinner are in charge of Harry Glickman, and Grant M. Hyde, both of the university.

Notices have been sent to all former members of the association, and a general invitation has been extended to all Yale men in the city.

Club Offers Prizes For Original Plays

Four cash prizes are being offered by the Spanish club for production plays written in Spanish and submitted, before December 15, to R. G. Sapper, L. W. Crawford, Manuell Ortega, or Margaret Sickels, who form the committee to judge the plays.

"First prize of $10, second prize of $5, and two prizes of $3, will be awarded for one-act plays of about 2,000 words, to be presented at the bi-monthly meetings of the club, and another special prize that has not yet been decided upon for a three-act play," said Miss Sickels.

The Spanish club, under whose auspices the contest will be carried on, number 30 members with R. D. Sapper as president. The other officers recently elected are: E. Fisher, vice-president; C. Dredrick, secretary; H. M. Acton, treasurer. Regular meetings are held bi-monthly in the S. G. A. room at Lathrop hall.

Many Delegates To Older Boys' Conference

MILWAUKEE, Wis. — Delegates from all parts of Wisconsin are expected to attend the State Older Boys' conference to be held here, Nov. 25 to 28. The principal subjects to be discussed are work among employed boys, high school boys, club leaders and Sunday school teachers. Speakers include A. J. (Dad) Elliott, Chicago, former Northwestern university football star; Dr. M. S. Rice, Detroit; C. C. and A. P. Robinson, New York; Rev. A. J. Soldan, Madison and Miss Lola Baumgarten, national girls' work secretary of the Y. W. C. A. H. F. Lindsay is chairman of the local arrangements committee.

A Lake Erie college girl made 100 yards in 12 seconds in 1911.

Some of the winners in the Swedish track and field championships were Sandstrom, Engdahl, Holmstrom, Krokstrom, Lundgren, and Hellas.

William Petterson is the Olympic running broad jump champion.

Paddock, Woodring, Loomis, Landen, Foss, Ryan, McDonald, and Brown were winners of first places in events at the Olympic games held in Antwerp in 1920.

W. Bathe is a German swimming champ. The W. stands for wet.

Illinois easily won the outdoor track championship of the Middle West in 1920.

REAL CLASSIC OF MID-WEST HELD TODAY

All-Star Backfields to Test Strength at Chicago

ing in their efforts to come out on top and to finish well up in the final Big Ten conference standings.

All-Star Backfields To Compete

All-star backfields will pit their strength against each other. Capt. Sundt, "Rollie" Williams, "Rowdy" Elliott, and "T" Gould are opposed by Milton Romney, the Salt Lake flash, "Bobby" Cole, Pyott, and Harold Timme. In addition to four first string backs, Stagg has eight more who would be a valuable asset to any Big Ten eleven. John Bryan, Zorn, Hermes, Thomas, and Hurlbut are men who will probably be injected into the battle before the issue is decided.

Ten men, five from each team, play their last football game today. Sundt, Elliott, Gould, Brader, and Bunge are the Wisconsin big five who sing their "swan song" in one of the most magnificent settings ever prepared for a football game.

Capt. McGuire, "Fritz" Crisler, Charles Redmon, "Bobby" Cole, and "Death" Halladay have completed their three years of conference competition for Chicago.

These men will be prepared to "give their all" for victory. It will be a battle such as has rarely been seen before.

GEORGE C. BUNGE

George C. Bunge, husky center, will don his uniform for the last time today. Bunge's three years' showing at center position has been a creditable one, and the middle of the Badger line has always put up a stubborn defense.

THE SCALPING EVIL

THAT an inefficient or faulty athletic department should bring about such a distressing condition as the present shortage of tickets to the Chicago game is lamentable. But that certain individuals should take advantage of that condition to further their own ends is utterly disgraceful.

We may have some sympathy for the former, but we can have none for the latter.

Ticket scalpers have in the past been no slight menace to the ticket sales for the larger Conference games. Scalping has done much to the detriment of clean sportsmanship. It has made necessary a deal of tedious work and has involved otherwise needless expense at each ticket sale.

When the sale opened for today's game, the scalpers saw what appeared to them to be a golden opportunity. In the confusion attendant to the ticket sale they had many opportunities to satisfy their glut for more tickets than they were justly entitled to.

The athletic department was meeting with censure from all sides. Students were insistent in their demands for tickets to the game and the harassed officials were naturally easier to be misled than they would have been at a normal sale. The result was that the scalpers received tickets which should have gone to some of those hundreds of students who were clamoring for them.

Madison business men as well as students were guilty of this selfish greed for personal gain. Fraternity houses were telephoned and offered tickets at $20 apiece. No fault can be found with the marketing system of the scalper. The fault lies in the commodity which he was attempting to barter.

The scalper's argument that he is simply collecting a legitimate profit on his foresightedness and working capital is an argument that no self-respecting individual would make. Monetary gain received through commercializing school spirit and loyalty is not profit, but plunder. Anyone who would do this for a handful of silver is beyond consideration as an equal.

Students at the University of Chicago have been found guilty of this offense and have been suspended. Other cases are now being investigated. Offenders there should be harshly dealt with. But we must clean our own yard also.

In all the turmoil and discontent engendered by the ticket sale fiasco, there is nothing that is to be so deeply regretted as the pernicious activities of the scalper. The athletic department may have been careless and inefficient, but the scalper has been disloyal and dishonest. He is a menace that must be removed.

THE PURPOSE OF A COLLEGE EDUCATION

The actual subject matter of education is, in our judgment, of relatively small importance. What really counts is to be sure that the student is enabled to see the forest, and not the trees. This is the crux of the whole matter. We have observed in the last quarter century such a growth in curricula, such minuteness in the course of study, as to deprive all but the most brilliant of the opportunity to range over the fields of knowledge and to recognize great endeavor and great principles when seen.

The demand for scholarship during the past quarter century has been for accuracy and anything like a broad generalization has been looked upon with suspicion. The result is that the substance and manner of education is not interesting to the youth.

The colleges are suffering from a dearth of interesting ideas and interesting ideas emanating from interesting professors. Some of the most stimulating thoughts and events are to be found in the ages past. Students can be made to see this if they come under the guidance of the right personality.

An encouraging proof of it has recently come to our notice in one of our large universities, where a course in Greek philosophy has set students to speculating in the most gratifying way on such fundamental conceptions as immorality. —The Weekly Review.

CUTS

With the first quarter only half over, and with six weeks of cutting possibilities before them, many students are beginning to find the "one cut an hour" rule highly interesting. Those who have already taken two cuts in a three-hour 8 o'clock class, sleep uneasily lest they should fail to wake up in time some morning and find themselves cut out of the university. According to the rule as it now stands, the student, freshman and senior alike, is to be barred from the final examination if his total cuts are equal to or exceed the number of credit hours for the course.

This rule is at the present time not well enforced; it is possible now for three students to cut a class in the same course under different instructors and have three different fates befall them. One student may get conditioned, one hear nothing more of it, and the other asked to explain or take the consequences.

If students, after their first year, were allowed to cut at their own peril, with the understanding that grades were to be based upon recitation and examination as before, the emphasis would shift from mere presence to what the student was getting out of the course. Incidentally, students would be thrown on their own responsibility in the matter of the daily problem of whether to get up for that 8 o'clock. The present system is at once childish, ill-advised, and ineffective. Let's have less leading to water and more drinking.—Minnesota Daily.

NOTICE TO BONUS STUDENTS

Bonus drafts for October will be distributed on Friday, Nov. 18, from 8:30 to 12:30 and 1:30 to 5:30, at 151 Bascom hall, instead of on December 1, as announced in the printed regulations. A second distribution will be made on Monday, Nov. 21, from 10:00 to 12:30 and 2:30 to 5:30. All drafts not called for by the close of business on November 21 will be withheld until the December payment. Drafts are being mailed to the banks and to individuals today.

Signed, C. A. SMITH,
Secretary of the Faculty.

BADGER CLUB

A meeting of the Badger club will be held Sunday evening at the university "Y." Dad Wolf, of the International committee of the Y. M. C. A., student department, will speak.

ORGANIZATIONS

All campus organizations desiring space in the 1923 Badger must notify Lois Duffin, organization editor, by Tuesday, Nov. 22. No applications will be considered after that date.

CLASS TEAS

The class teas which were to be given November 19 in Lathrop and Barnard parlors have been postponed to December 3.

The Classical club will meet in the parlors of Lathrop hall on Monday, at 8 p. m., November 21. Professor Charles Forster Smith will give an account of his year in Greece.

BADGER PICTURE

Copy and pictures for the fraternities, sororities, honor and class societies are now due. All pictures must be taken by Tuesday, Nov. 22. Schneider's Badger studio, De Longe, and Thomas, are official organizations' photographers.

CHIPPEWA VALLEY CLUB

A meeting of the Chippewa Valley club will be held at 4 o'clock, Sunday, Nov. 20, at the University Y. M. C. A.

Y. M. C. A. to Build Unit Next Spring

"We hope to begin construction on the first unit of the new Y. M. C. A. next spring," said "Dad" Wolf, secretary, yesterday. "The building is designated to harmonize with the Memorial Union building, and the first unit will cost $300,000. We expect to raise the money this winter."

This unit will extend from the rear of the present building to the lake shore and will have a dining room seating 300 persons. With this addition the "Y" will be able to accommodate the same number of roomers. The Badger room with a pipe organ and cinema and a room for short course and foreign students will be part of the last unit.

Through error, the Cardinal stated yesterday that 500 persons attended the membership banquet held in the "Y" Thursday evening. Only about 200 persons were present.

Strand to Show Movies of Game

The Strand theater has made special arrangements to show pictures of the Wisconsin-Chicago football game. M. E. Diemer, photographer, left for Chicago yesterday where he will take pictures of the two teams in action this afternoon. He will return to Madison tonight, and the pictures will be shown on the screen beginning tomorrow. This is an opportunity for all those students who were unable to attend the game to see the event.

Good Combination Gives Orph Patron Unexpected Treat

By P. H. J.

To pick out the headliner this week end at the Orpheum would be difficult. There are so many good points about each act, and so few short-comings in any one offering that a summary cannot but decide that the bill is unusually good. There are no acrobats, no jugglers, no one-act playlets, no female impersonators, and, what is most extraordinary, no ukuleles. There isn't an act that falls flat, and the only fault that might be found is the sudden ending of acts just as the enthusiasm reaches its height.

Booth and Nina

An unusual combination. A stair-climbing cyclist and a girl banjoist who plays bits from the classics. After "The Glow Worm," the audience would have been willing to let her finish the act.

Mabel Blondell

Although she started out by impressing upon the listeners just how good she was, she lived up to her recommendation. Several good characterizations and at least one daring costume.

The Maxwell Quintet

Too many bum jokes and not enough quintet. As there is plenty of comedy on the bill, this group missed an opportunity to go over quite strongly when they pulled the minstrel stuff.

Daniels and Walters

Patrons who remember this team from last year will be ready to see them again. Their comedy has just enough innuendo to add spice, and the character impersonations are way above par. "Trilby and Svengali" end the act, the girl playing the violin and looking beautiful, while "Svengali" plays the background.

Pinto and Boyle

Impertinent remarks from a "plant" in the audience, coupled with the banjo playing of the other member, make up a unique act. Like the first act, the banjoist alone could have entertained the crowd.

Ethel Forde and Lester Sheehan

The title should have included Miss Marion Forde, for she contributes as much to the act as the rest. A dance fantasy set off with lots of costumes that are easy on the eye. In an ordinary bill this act could be lengthened into a headliner.

Public School Welfare Given Consideration

"Members of the school board conventions are taking a keen interest in the welfare of the public schools," says George S. Dick of the state department of public instruction. "The questions of consolidation and transportation nearly always come in for free discussion. A real consolidation school is a centralized school where not only the children but also the people come together at a common center, where the building is not only a school house but a community house. In a real school of this kind the school is carried into the home and the home is brought into the school. Here is found a fine opportunity for real community leadership and without this leadership success is doubtful."

85 Spanish War Vets Attend Meeting Here

With an attendance of 85, the Madison camp of the Spanish War Veterans held their annual fish chowder supper in G. A. R. hall Wednesday night. C. A. Zilisch, departmental commander, told of organization work in the department, and his wife, departmental commander of the ladies' auxiliary, talked on the women's organization. Joseph Brown, Baraboo, spoke.

Perry Sprague appeared on the program as a pianist, and Miss Penny Johnston gave a vocal selection. C. D. SeCheverell was also called on as one of the speakers.

Society News

The majority of students have gone to the Chicago game and social news is lacking in university circles this week end. Many fraternity and sorority affairs are being given for the Wisconsin students in Chicago.

Achoto sorority of Chicago will entertain the members of the Wisconsin chapter at a luncheon at Marshall Fields. Those students who will attend the affair are Dorothy Axtell, Isadore Coward, Selma Wallace and Jean Prince.

The Acacia students from here attending the game are Lawson W. Bishop, John Pederson, Louis Nelson, George Mason, Henry Fuller, Bert Sumner, Gordon Merrick, Truman Glenn, Adolph Youngberg, A. Irving Andrews, Frederick Nolte, Gordon Nelson, and Ray Irons. The Acacia Alumni association will entertain at a dancing party Saturday evening at the Kenwood club.

The Chicago Alumni association of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity will entertain at a dinner at the Morrison hotel Saturday evening. The Madison guests will be E. E. Crane, Robert Ely, Robert Tolerton, Robert Butts, Porter Butts, Charles Rowland, William M. Sale, Henry Held, Irving Cox, Harold Maier, H. A. Lewis.

Following is a partial list of sorority members who have gone to the game at Chicago:

Pi Phi—Esther Haven, Margaret Thomas, Caroline Schweitzer.

Alpha Omicron Pi—Elizabeth Woods, Elizabeth Babcock, Stella Johnson, Esther Tully, Eunice Getzelman, Edith Hastings, Dorothy Tegtmeyer, Josephine Snow.

Delta Gamma—Elaine Mably, Katherine O'Shea, Dorothy Jones.

Marion McClintock, Solveig Winslow, Marcella Judson, Harriet Brown, Beatrice Fowler, Lucille Wanzer, Doris Pike, Eleanor Head, Sally Gallagher, Blanche Moritz.

Alpha Phi—Elizabeth Vincent, Dixie Davis, Marjorie Severance, Ellen Knight, Margaret Moore, Florence Stolte, Margaret Enlass, Kathryn Kitchen, Christina Affeld, Helen Kingsford, Catherine St. John, Margaret Conklin, Virginia Conklin, Catherine Conklin, Winifred Titus, Ruth Lyon-Campbell, Mary Baldwin.

Tri Delt—Louise Rickeman, Evelyn McFarland, Marjorie Ruff, Helen Schlosser, Helen Ross, Lucile Hanson, Evelyn Shakely, Agatha McCaffery, Helen Newell, Arline Klug, Janet Breitenbach, Kate Winter.

Alpha Chi Omega—Norma Kiekehefer, Luetta Crandall, Irene Salb, Reda Hayden, Helen Schumaker, Ruth Kelso, Margaret Ives, Alice Cockerell, Betty Ridell.

Chi Omega—Chrystal Vander Horst, Eleanor Glascock, Margaret Callsen, Helen Callsen, Eulalia Jones, Florine Teichgraber, Gladys Petersen, Margaret Chorlog, Elizabeth Mason.

Sigma Kappa—Dorothy Williams, Janet Taylor, Frances Warren, Kathryn Kennedy, Helen Clark, Frances Landon, Charlotte Delscamper, Bertha Berkhardt, Vivian Steeber, Mabel Jobse, Priscilla Johnson, Margaret Pergande, Elsie Kuhn, Lillian Melzow, Gertrude Haase.

Christopher Hendre, John Gary, Sidney Greiling, Victor Haut, Walter Gretke, Edison Boerke, Charles Olson, and Evrard Caluwaert of Delta Sigma Phi will be guests at an informal dance of the Chicago chapter Saturday evening.

it had a population of 817 and in 1910 it had 737. The next smallest township in point of population is Vermont, with 745, and the third is York, with 798. None of these townships have any villages within their limits.

Bliss Knap Delivers Interesting Lecture

"The safety of humanity today depends upon its ability to distinguish between good and evil," declared Bliss Knapp, C. S. B., Brookline, Mass., in a lecture on "Christian Science, the True Standard of Right," delivered before a large student audience, Thursday night.

"Of all the systems of religion or philosophy known to men," he said, "none but the teaching of Christ Jesus and their interpretation in Christian Science have ever consistently held to the single viewpoint that 'to be spiritually minded is life and peace.'"

The town of Primrose has the smallest population within its limits of any township in Dane county, yet it has three native sons on the Dane county board of supervisors, now in session at Madison. These are T. G. Lingard of Mt. Horeb, chairman of the board; Albert Nesheim, chairman of Primrose, and Albert O. Barton, supervisor from the tenth ward of Madison. According to the census of 1920, the population of Primrose was 684, that of the village of Mt. Horeb, 1,350, and that of the tenth ward in Madison, 3,664. Chairman Lingard thus represents twice as many people as are in his native town, and Supervisor Barton over five times as many. According to the census returns, Primrose is gradually losing in population. In 1900

Father Meyer In Statement On Theater

Cites Ordinance Passed in Chicago On Amusement Places

Father Edward J. Meyer, pastor of the Holy Redeemer church, today issued the following statement concerning the controversy over the building of a new theater on State street:

"In the 'Journal of the Proceedings of the City Council of the City of Chicago, Illinois, Regular Meeting, Friday, June 30, 1916,' on page 1,204 under the title 'Places of Amusements: Within 200 Ft. of Churches, Hospitals and Schools' we read the following:

"The motion (of Ald. Kerner) prevailed and said substitute ordinance was passed by Yeas and Nays as follows:—Yeas (names)—47; Nays (names)—15.

"The following is said ordinance as passed:

"Be it ordained by City Council of the city of Chicago:

"Section 1. That paragraph (a) of Section 117 of the Chicago Code of 1911 be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:—(a) None of the foregoing twenty-one (21) classes of entertainments shall be produced, offered, presented or carried on, in any building hereafter erected, or in any building not now devoted to such purposes, unless such building was designed, constructed and intended to be used for such purposes, within two hundred (200) feet of any church, hospital or building used exclusively for educational purposes, said distance to be measured between the nearest point on the building within which it is proposed to produce, offer, present or carry on, such entertainment or entertainments, and the nearest point on such church, hospital or building used exclusively for educational purposes.

"Section 2. This ordinance shall be in force and effect from and after its passage and approval."

"If Chicago protects its religious and educational institutions, will the city council of the city of Madison not do likewise for our fair city?"

Beekeepers to Hold Convention Dec. 8-9

The annual convention of the Wisconsin State Beekeepers' association will be held in the city auditorium at Milwaukee Dec. 8 and 9. Milwaukee was chosen as the convention city this year over Madison by a vote of 125 to 18. The board of managers will meet at 2 o'clock Wednesday, Dec. 7.

Madison men who will appear on the program are H. L. McMurray, B. B. Jones of the division of markets; C. D. Adams, also of the marketing division; L. P. Whitehead, Dr. Robert Siebecker, H. F. Wilson and S. B. Fracker, state entomologist. Election of officers and the appointment of standing committees is the main business of the convention.

Family of 8 Wiped Out by Windstorm

MENA, Ark.—Eight members of the family of R. E. Weems at Wickes, Ark., 26 miles south of here, were killed last night when the Weems home collapsed during a violent storm. Reports of the deaths reached Mena today when a call for eight coffins was received. Details are lacking, as all wires to Wickes are down but it is understood little damage was done except on the Weems farm.

Another storm striking a lumber camp near Arkadelphia killed one person, injured 24 others and then skipped north to a point near Malvern where three more persons were killed and a number injured.

CARDINAL ADS PAY

To Award Prizes At Church Bazaar Soon

The St. Joseph's Catholic church, 22 S. Park st., will have a three day Christmas bazaar and entertainment at the church Nov. 24-27. The closing event of the bazaar will be a spaghetti dinner.

Among the prizes given away are two hand-painted pictures, Life's Best Friends, and The Last Supper. Other prizes are: two sacks of flour, ton of coal, $5 in gold, a gold bracelet with rosary, 100 pounds of sugar, statue of Blessed Virgin, $5 in gold, a gold plated bust of Blessed Virgin, an oil painting, Murillo Madonna, a pearl inlaid colored portrait of St. Peter and the vatican at Rome blessed by the Holy Father.

Milwaukee Doctor Heads Tri-State Body

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Dr. Horace M. Brown, Milwaukee, was yesterday unanimously elected president of the Tri-State Medical association. Dr. D. G. Smith, Freeport, Ill., was elected secretary-treasurer. The members voted to hold the next convention at Peoria, Ill. It was announced that the foundation fund started by the association some years ago to provide funds for research has been increased by a large donation from Dr. Mayo. The amount was not specified. The convention closed last night with a banquet at which Judge K. M. Landis was the principal speaker.

Dr. Joseph S. Evans, Madison, was named a vice president of clinics.

Grimm is Ready to Call for Grand Jury

JANESVILLE, Wis.—"I will call a grand jury whenever the county board will so direct," said Judge George Grimm of the circuit court at the annual dinner of the county board of Rock county. "The appetite for liquor is decreasing and will die out in time. Public thought will result in a sober nation in five years. It is a sign of the times."

Here Are Peas That Will Stay On Knife

MILWAUKEE, WIS.—Peas guaranteed not to roll off the knife is to the problem which the Wisconsin Pea Packers' association think they have solved, according to C. P. Guelf, a member of the association. Growers, it is said, have given up trying to cultivate square peas but the packers believe they have solved the riddle by pressing the peas into cubes and preserving them in square cans, according to Mr. Guelf.

Messerschmidt Will Speak in Milwaukee

J. E. Messerschmidt, assistant attorney general, will be a speaker at the Father and Sons banquet this evening at the Salem church in Milwaukee. Mr. Messerschmidt addressed a similar banquet in Milwaukee last week. He will return to Madison early Saturday morning.

men's, even in Japan. They do not wear the bright colored kimonos similar to those sold in America.

Mr. Bynner told of the manner of presenting plays in Japan and China and imitated the method of conducting an orchestra which is done orally. Actors must serve a long period of apprenticeship before they can become "matinee idols."

At the close of his talk Mr. Bynner quoted the words of a New York millionaire who said that we should keep the Philippines to be used as stepping stones for Christ in China.

Many times during his talk Mr. Bynner drew rounds of applause from his audience by telling certain humorous incidents that occurred while he was in the Orient. Occasionally he quoted poetry relating to the country which he visited.

After the conclusion of his lecture, he read several poems that he had written.
