BURGLAR CAUGHT AFTER STRUGGLE WITH FRATERNITY

Attempt to Rob Alpha Gamma
Rho House Thwarted
Sunday

A house-breaker showed poor judgment in entering the Alpha Gamma Rho house, 1726 Hoyt street, early Sunday morning. About 3:30 o'clock Russel Stiles, '25, a member of the fraternity, was awakened by the sound of footsteps near the stairs on the second floor. Stiles left his room and had barely gained the stairs before he saw the intruder cautiously climbing the staircase. Stiles was unarmed, but he immediately attacked the man and threw him to the floor. They had a battle royal before the other members were aroused, wrestling back and forth upon the hall floor, and in and out of the various rooms that flanked the hall.

Uses Football Tactics

The burglar was a much larger man than Stiles, and succeeded in throwing him off and making a dash for the stairs, but at that moment "Doc" Zaumeyer, '25, used football tactics and made a flying leap, straddling the man's back and riding him down the stairs. They landed in a heap at the bottom of the stairs, the student on top. The suspect was at the bottom, out of breath, but struggling to maintain the lead and make a get-away. After a 15-minute struggle, in which the other students were unable to interfere, the man broke loose and lunged for the door. Zaumeyer, slightly stunned by the fall, and weakened by the struggle with his opponent, released his hold for a moment. The man seized the opportunity and broke loose.

But C. H. Whitworth, '26, charged from behind, pinned the heels of the intruder behind him and impeded his progress. The other members of the fraternity then had their chance and blows fell from all directions. The burglar was then safely guarded until Patrolman Taylor Gray arrived and took him into custody.

Pleads Not Guilty

Yesterday the man, who gave his name at Fred Reitine, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Stolen. The prisoner was led into the crowded courtroom, handcuffed to the sheriff, one eye bruised and swollen. Bail was fixed at $5,000, and the preliminary hearing set for October 15.

The police are of the opinion that Reitine burglarized two other fraternity houses on the same night. Robberies were reported from the Theta Xi and the Phi Chi houses, between 2 and 3 o'clock Sunday morning. Thirty-five dollars in cash was reported missing from the Theta Xi house and only about $8.00 in change from the Phi Chi.

AD CLUB TO GIVE DINNER THURSDAY

Delegate to London Convention to Speak of Experiences

The advertising club will meet at a dinner meeting at 6 o'clock Thursday, at the Y. M. C. A. The speaker of the evening will be Miss Beatrice Morgan, advertising manager of the Harry S. Manchester department store. She will speak on her experiences at the world advertising conference in London last summer.

The meeting is open to all people who are interested in advertising, either those who are in advertising classes here or those who are connected with some publication on the campus.

The club is now composed of 20 members, and expects to have 50 members soon, which is the maximum number of members and the number last year. All those who wish to attend the dinner Thursday night should make reservation at the Octopus office between 4 and 6 o'clock today or Wednesday, giving their names to Clark Hazelwood, '26, president, or to Luther Brooks, '26, secretary.

Students Forced To Wait For Pros

Sense of Duty Makes 10
Minute Stay Imperative

One tradition that is observed at universities throughout the country is that of determining the length of time that students are expected to wait for instructors who are late to their classes. According to Dean Sellery, a sense of duty compels the student to wait ten minutes for a professor, four minutes for an instructor, and two minutes for an assistant.

Whether or not the class as a whole waits beyond the time set by tradition depends upon the daring of the bolder students. When such students begin to file out, the others are quick to follow. The biggest drawback to walking out prior to the arrival of the instructor is the fear that he will be met in the hall.

Many interesting incidents have been related by students who have counted the seconds with almost the same precision as a stop watch only to find that a classroom had but one door and a tardy professor could greet his fleeing class while ambling down the corridor at the eleventh minute.

REGENTS MEET TO PLAN NEW BUDGET

Dormitories, Addition to Bas-
com Hall, Will Be Discussed
Wednesday

Estimates on building needs at the university to be included in the budget which will be submitted to the legislature probably will be the principal business of the board of regents at its meeting here Wednesday.

An addition to Bascom hall, for the use of the College of Letters and Science, to be built at the rear of the present structure, probably will be among the projects considered. Among other things, the board will consider the erection of a group of dormitory buildings on the lake shore between Dean H. L. Russell's home and the Willows.

A general plan for financing the dormitory project has been worked out and the next step will be preparation and approval of sketches for the first unit. The university's building program is more than two years behind, following the last legislature's failure to appropriate funds. Committees of the board will meet Tuesday to prepare recommendations for Wednesday's session.

Few Badgers Will Be Available in Spring, Anderson

"Persons who are planning on subscribing for the Badger in the spring or on buying one at open sale will be disappointed," Ben Anderson, '26, business manager of the yearbook, said yesterday.

Final orders for the book will be placed October 21 because of the unprecedented amount of work that has already been done, according to Anderson. Only 100 extra copies will be ordered and will be placed on sale at $6.

The present price on the Badger is $4 if all is paid now and $5 if part is paid now and the rest in the spring.

HARDING'S COUSINS TO ADDRESS G. O. P. GROUP

Prominent speakers from the Coolidge-Dawes headquarters have been secured by the collegiate league of woman voters for the Republican meeting to be held tonight in Music hall. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henry Coker, cousins of the late President Harding, will speak on "Coolidge and the Republican Party." The talks are intended to give the students a clear and concise idea of the party's plans. Democratic and Progressive meetings will be held October 21 and 29, respectively.

BOARD ANNOUNCES RULES TO GOVERN STUDENT ELECTION

Strict Publicity and Advertising Regulations Set For Candidates

Publicity and advertising for candidates in the student election, October 31, will be printed in the Daily Cardinal as in the past except for the change in policy towards heads of tickets, the elections board announced yesterday. One announcement of the candidacy will be published and the same material will be included in the voter's guide, but nothing else may be printed.

Every effort will be made to keep the name of candidates out of the columns of the Daily Cardinal and the city papers except in cases where there is legitimate reason for the use of the name.

Pictures Barred.

No pictures of candidates may be published in the Daily Cardinal except those running for prom chairman, senior president, senior vice-president, and junior president. Half column cuts of these candidates may be published at the option of the candidate, but no other candidates will be allowed to publish pictures.

Petitions will be accepted at the office of the dean of men until 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. At that time the filing of petitions will close officially. No information concerning the identity of candidates already filed will be given out either by the board or the dean of men.

Elect 4 Sophomores.

In addition to the offices to be filled as reported last week, four sophomores will be elected to the Badger board. These students will hold office until the year book of their class is published. They will also select the editor and business manager from members of their class.

Students to be elected to the court have been asked by the elections board to refrain from aligning themselves with any particular ticket or faction in the coming campaign. Court elections have always been held at a different time from the general elections to keep them out of politics but it has been impossible to hold the election earlier this fall. Candidates are chosen by the deans of their respective colleges and not by petition.

Name Requirements

All publicity matter for the Daily Cardinal and voter's guide must be presented in duplicate in typewritten form to be accepted by the board. The candidate's name, address, and phone number must appear on the sheet. As soon as candidates have filed they may present their qualifications and eligibility slips to Wes W. Dunlap, '25, chairman of the board, for publication.

These will be printed in the Daily Cardinal in the order in which they are received. If possible all announcements will be given the same position in the paper, but no agreement can be made on this subject. All publicity matter must be published before October 22, the board rules, and candidates are warned that no extension of time will be made. If not published before that date nothing will be printed at all.

All men students of the rank of sophomore or above who wish to serve as ballot clerks in the election have been asked to report to Dunlap. About 60 or 70 men will be required for this work in addition to the women furnished by W. G. S. A.

HILBERTS FALLS DOWN STAIRS AFTER FAINTING

After fainting and plunging headlong down a flight of steps in the Phi Kappa Sigma house at 609 North Lake street, Bert M. Hilberts, '25, was taken to the university infirmary Monday afternoon, suffering with a severe case of gastric disorder. He will probably be confined to the infirmary for two or three days at the least. As acting president of the senior class and general chairman for Homecoming, Hilberts has been working strenuously, which is thought to account partially for his present illness.

Badger Announces Old Ford Contest

Free Year Book Offered For Best Slogan

A way has been devised to make some use of old Ford wrecks, the students' hobby. The Badger announces a contest to begin this week and end Saturday. For the best slogan about the Badger gracing the exterior finish of a student car, not necessarily a Ford wreck, the Badger will give one free copy of the 1926 year book.

To give some idea of the kind of slogans wanted, one of the managers of the year book has suggested, "The Badger, an answer to a maiden's prayer." Rules of the contest stipulate that no sign other than concerns the Badger can be used on the car.

The contest begins today. The winner will be picked in a parade of all the entrants Saturday mornings. The time of the parade will be announced later. Participation in the contest is all that is necessary to make the contestant eligible for the prize.

ACCIDENTS FATAL TO 2 GRADUATES

Russell Castner '24 and Linton
Cox '20 Meet
Death

Two former university students, Russell Castner, '24, and Linton Cox, '20, met with accidental deaths yesterday. Castner fell from a tree while doing landscape work on an estate near Delavan, while Cox was killed in an automobile accident in Indianapolis.

Cox was one of the two students in the history of the university who was awarded an honorary "W" for four years of work on the track team. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Delta Theta. Since leaving school Cox has been secretary to Congressman Merrill Moores of Indianapolis. He is also a first lieutenant in the aviation corps.

Castner completed his university work here last summer.

October Octopus, Out Wednesday, Has Rotogravure Pages

The October Octopus, which will be issued Wednesday, is slightly smaller than last year's. "Mike" Stivers, '25, drew the cover design, showing the typical fair co-ed. The new Octopus boasts of a rotogravure section, also new in this issue. There is an exchange section and a page of short humorous sketches.

Many of the old contributors are back again this year, so "Octy" will not seem altogether unfamiliar.

Gretchen Gilbert, '25, John W. Powell, '26, Kenneth Kehl, '26, Frank Lathers, '26, Esther Hawley, '27, and Ruth Carlberg, '27, are among those contributing in this issue.

"PEP BAND" TO MAKE ITS DEBUT SATURDAY

The organization of the "Pep Band" has been completed. It has enrolled 28 members. The first appearance of the band will be Saturday noon. They will drive through the Latin quarter on a truck and endeavor by their playing to rouse the university spirit for the Wisconsin-Minnesota game in the afternoon. The band has been equipped with uniforms by the athletic department. The uniforms consist of white sweaters with six inch cardinal body stripes and white stocking-caps with cardinal bands and tops.

NIGHT STAFF
There will be a meeting of all desk editors and desk assistants of the Daily Cardinal at 5 o'clock this afternoon in the lower office at the Union building.

STRAW VOTE TO BE CONDUCTED BY DAILY CARDINAL

Next Monday Set as Date For Balloting on President

A presidential straw vote for university students will be conducted next Monday by the Daily Cardinal in conjunction with the New Student, international publication, which is taking a nation-wide canvass on October 20.

Sunday the Daily Cardinal will print a ballot which will be used by all students voting for president in this national straw vote. Only these printed ballots will be counted.

Install Ballot Boxes

Ballots may be mailed to the Daily Cardinal office or be placed in ballot boxes that will be installed in the Y. M. C. A. lobby or the Y. W. C. A. headquarters in Lathrop hall.

The results of the local election will be printed in the Daily Cardinal of next Tuesday. These totals then will be forwarded so that they may be included in the vote for the entire nation. The national vote will be announced shortly before the elections in November.

Shows Student Mind

"This straw vote may not signify anything with respect to the trend in the November elections but it may show where the student mind is drifting and how national politics will be influenced by the present student generation 20 years from now," said C. V. Hibbard, Y. M. C. A. secretary.

"All the students may not register their opinions, but it undoubtedly will show the voice of the interested minority on this campus," he said.

JUNIOR ADVISORY TEA WILL BE HELD TODAY

"All freshmen girls living on Langdon street and Howard Place are invited to the junior advisory tea for this district from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon at Dean F. Louise Nardin's apartments, 612 Howard Place," declared Edith Boys, '26, chairman. Junior advisors are to come with their freshmen advisees.

The hostesses will be Edith Boys, '26, Alice Drews, '26, and Margaret Wegener, '26, chairmen, and Ruth Kirk, '26, and Mary Louise Stibgen, '26.

COMMONS WILL TALK ON "PITTSBURG PLUS"

Prof. John R. Commons, an interested follower and participant in the fight that resulted from the order abolishing the system of "Pittsburg Plus" practice of the United States Steel corporation in fixing the prices of steel, will describe the system to the Madison Lions club in the Park hotel today.

AG SCHOOL CLASS SHOWS DECREASE

Fewer Freshmen Enroll in Long and Middle Courses,
Says Bulletin

Enrollment in the freshman class of the long and middle courses offered by the College of Agriculture has decreased, according to a bulletin issued by the department. At the same time the number of graduate students has been maintained.

It is expected that the enrollment in the short course, which opens November 17, will be greater. This course will open its fortieth session this fall.

A new three term system has been arranged, whereby students who cannot be present for the full duration of the course, can come for any one or two of the three five-week periods. The schedules have been so arranged that one student may take the work in any course in which he is particularly interested.

TOP STRENGTH, IS CURRENT REPORT

Spaulding Lacks Heady Quarterback; Line Strong From Tackle to Tackle

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 13.—The Gophers will be far from their top strength when they travel to Madison Saturday to play their keen rivals, the Badgers. The team has been unusually slow in developing this year and a number of unexpected weaknesses have cropped out, not only in the early practice games, but in the daily sessions on Northrop field.

The injury to Bob Peplaw, fleetest of the Gopher backs, was a sad blow. His leg injury is such that he may not be able to start against the Badgers—a heavy blow as he has shown more ability as an open field runner than any of the other backs. He tore ligaments in his leg in the first scrimmage against the freshmen squad, and the length of his absence from the squad is indefinite.

Lacks Field General

Minnesota's greatest weaknesses to date have been the lack of a smart field general, the failure of the backs to play together, and the slowness of the line on the offense and in leading interference. The end problems still worry the coaches, but the arrival of Bert Baston, former all-American wing star, may bolster the leading candidates, Roger Wheeler, Chuck Morris, and Mark Matthews.

One thing is certain about the Minnesota team this year. That is the strength and power in the line from tackle to tackle. With five experienced men in these positions Minnesota opponents may find it a little difficult to gain through the use of straight football.

Overconfidence Gone

The spirit of overconfidence that has reigned in the Minnesota camp early in the year has been wiped out by the team's disappointed showing and now all of the regulars are working tooth and nail to reach the peak of their strength for the hard conference schedule which calls for games with Wisconsin, Iowa, and Michigan on three successive Saturdays.

One of the pleasing features of last week's practice was the array of talent that has reported to Sherman Finger, coach of the freshman gridders. Never has the first year squad possessed so many versatile men and beefy giants as this year.

COACH T. E. JONES

Although technically he is director of athletics at Wisconsin, Mr. Jones is better known and more frequently referred to as Coach Jones because he may be seen any day on the football practice field, aiding Ryan, or in the annex directing the destinies of the track squad. Jones loves sports for sports' sake and will never be content to "direct" without the human contact.

Frosh Squad Training Points
Toward Good Aerial Attack

The weakness caused on the varsity grid team since the time of "Shorty" Barr by the absence of good forward passes and receiving ends may be eliminated next year by the ability on the frosh squad and the intensive training being given them on this score by Coach Guy Sundt.

Tappert, a big frosh fullback, has one of the best throwing arms on the field, varsity included, while Crowfoot has an uncanny knack of hooking the oval out of the air. The combination of Tappert to Crowfoot should prove valuable to future Ryan elevens. Weigand and Van Horn are other capable pass heavers and E. Christianson at end is a bearcat at pulling down the pigskin. Passing material should be plentiful on Badger teams in years to come.

After the listless manner in which the varsity played Saturday it was a relief to see the fighting brand of football displayed by the frosh in scrimmage last night. From first to last there was blood in their eyes. The backs bucked the line and circled the ends with the snap and speed that makes football. The defense tackled clean and hard. Although the first year men are lighter than usual they more than make up for it by their aggressiveness. If they show the same spirit next year when they Approximately 30 freshmen are out for the frosh crew, which is beginning organization. Yesterday afternoon the most promising candidates were working on the machines under the supervision of Coach "Dad" Vail.

"Dad" makes no promises as to this year's crew, but says that he will have a real one in two more years at least. It takes time to make real oarsmen, and that is what "Dad" will use in building up these frosh. There are some mighty big men in the 16 who were pulling at the racks yesterday, and they average well over 170 pounds.

They will not go out on the lake until the spring, so at the present time, "Dad" gives each one of them private tips on their work in order that they will be sure of working correctly in the shells.

He is emphasizing the fact that what they do on the racks they will do on the water.

With the all-university tennis tournament nearly a week old 28 matches have been played. Nearly all of the first round matches are over and in order to make the tournament move faster Coach Masley decided that unless all of the first round matches are not played before October 14 the delinquent ones will be crossed from the sheet. The freshmen tournament is coming along in fine style. Ten of the first round matches have been played and a great deal of interest is being shown in the matches. Coach Masley is very anxious that both of these tournaments be carried through the finals and asks for the prompt playing of all matches. No Confirmation Made; Invitations from California Received Previously

Reports current yesterday, which could not be verified last night, intimated that early April may see the Wisconsin track meet on the Pacific coast to compete against the University of California stars.

Wisconsin has for several years been issued an invitation to compete in these coast events, Coach Mead Burke said last night, but the squad was never sent. Illinois and Michigan have also received invitations in the past, he said.

Burke did not know that the move indicated in the reports was contemplated by Badger athletic directors.

College Men
now keep their hair smooth, lustrous, always in place

Today, as never before, college men have smooth, well-kept hair.

Why?

A few years ago the hair was a nuisance to almost everyone, for it was usually the least attractive part of the appearance—always unkempt and unsightly an hour after being combed.

There was no way, then, to keep it from being so. Old-fashioned pomades only matted it and made it greasy. Water evaporated quickly and left it drier and more unruly than ever.

Today everyone can have smooth, neatly combed hair

Now Stacomb—a delicate, invisible cream for keeping the hair in place—has changed all that.

It is responsible for the amazingly improved appearance of men's hair. And it has made possible for every woman, however "difficult" her hair, the new smooth effect so much in vogue.

In clubs and fraternities, at the theatre or the game, today you can seldom find even one case of unkempt hair.

People who know that the hair can ruin the whole appearance—people who are careful about the way they look—have given Stacomb an important place on their chiffonier or dressing table.

No matter how dry and straggly your hair may be—no matter how uncontrollable after being washed—Stacomb will keep it always in place, smooth, lustrous, natural. A touch of it in the morning when you comb your hair—and all day long your hair will be just as you want it, for Stacomb will keep it smoothly in place until you go to bed at night.

You can get Stacomb in convenient jars and tubes, at all drug and department stores. Non-staining and non-greasy. Use it tomorrow morning—and look your best all day!

DAILY REPORTS OF ALL BADGER TEAMS

WRITERS CREDIT KOHAWKS IN GAME LAST SATURDAY

Newspapers Call Game Listless; Harris and Doyle Harmon Get Praise

All of the big Sunday papers of Wisconsin and Illinois hand their praise and compliments to the plucky little Coe eleven which held the Badgers to a 7 to 7 tie last Saturday at Camp Randall. The articles were very sparing in comments favorable to the Wisconsin grididers.

Oliver Kuechle, in the Milwaukee Journal, says, "No bigger surprise could have been handed Wisconsin than Saturday's game. If Coe had had a capable drop kicker, there is no telling what the score would have been. There is a little consolation in the fact that Wisconsin contributed greatly to its own defeat by the listless and indifferent way in which the game was started. It was plainly apparent that the team expected a walkaway."

Tribune Praises Harmon

The Chicago Tribune did not give much space to the game, saying that the Badgers found a tough foe in Coe college, and that Harmon played a good game.

"Red" Mich, in the Wisconsin State Journal, was strong in his criticism of the Wisconsin team. He says in his lead, "Adam met the serpent, Napoleon clashed with the Duke of Wellington, the kaiser tried to lick the American doughboy, Bill Bryan took on the Republican party, and the Badgers scheduled a game with Coe college.

"The Kohawks, glowing radiantly, went home as the hero after a triumph, and Wisconsin hung its head as one does after a defeat at the hands of a weaker opponent." The same article played up the fact that it was a listless game on the part of Wisconsin.

Blames Second Team

The Chicago Herald and Examiner lays the outcome of the game to the presence of practically a whole second team at the start of the fracas, regardless of the fact that Coe played as strong a game offensively after the substitution of the first team men. The same article praises Doyle Harmon and Captain Harris for their offense.

Another Hearst paper, the Sunday Sentinel, in an article by Harry M. Golden, says, "The only noteworthy feature of the Badgers' play was the running of McAndrews and the improved appearance of the passing attack."

All of the papers seem to be of the opinion expressed by the Sentinel, "The Cardinals must present a better front next Saturday, or the game will be a catastrophe."

So It Seems

This week promises the rising of a new sun on Badger football hopes. Any overconfidence that might have existed is now dispelled. The team, with a great thing in common to work for, will practice this week with a greater zest than before.

The preliminary games are gone and forgotten, with the Badgers considerably to the good through the seasoning they received. No better trio of preliminary elevens could have been signed up as far as real, first-water competition goes.

Minnesota is next. The stadium, which has appeared more or less gray and empty in the prelim games, will next Saturday be oscillating with color and life and enthusiasm.

The Gophers have been handicapped in preparing for Wisconsin this year, according to dope from

Minneapolis, as they have been forced to show all they had in reserve against North Dakota and the Haskell Indians, because these supposedly "practice" foes demonstrated too much strength for early season games.

Wisconsin has tasted this, but not to such a great extent. Coach Jack Ryan is too smart a coach to allow the team to open up with their plays, especially the more complicated and deceiving ones, with scouts from all schools in the stands. It is safe to say that the Badgers have more "stuff" than they have shown.

What's a preliminary game, anyway, except a good, live scrimmage intended to thoroughly season the team and give the coach a chance to judge his men under fire? A tie, or even a defeat, is no reflection and is soon forgotten if the team goes tearing through its greater enemies—teams of the Big Ten.

A week ago Saturday Chicago was defeated by Missouri. The defeat was soon forgotten by football followers, but that defeat inspired the Maroons to greater

BADGER HARRIERS TRAIN HARD FOR MINNESOTA MEET

Cross Country Men Show Promise of Good Performance in Conference

Wisconsin's cross country team, fresh from a victory over Marquette here Saturday, started intensive training again yesterday in preparation for the meet with Minnesota here this weekend.

The Badger harriers showed wonderful form in the meet with the Hilltoppers and looked as if they will go big in the conference this year. Although Shimek of Marquette took first in the meet and broke the course record, Kubly and Petaja of Wisconsin, who finished second and third, also broke the record.

Five Near Record

Five other Cardinal runners finished within a few seconds of the record. This is indeed considered to be a remarkable performance as the men have been practising for only a very short time. Perry's and Cohen's running was also wonderful and they followed instructions perfectly. They were the pacemakers and tired themselves in the first mile, but still finished fifth and seventh.

The meet this coming Saturday with the Gophers will be a much harder one. Minnesota has every one of her last year men back. Although Wisconsin has beaten them the past three years, they have a man finishing first almost every time.

Gophers Are Fast

In the meet last year, Brown of the Gopher squad finished far ahead of any of the Wisconsin runners. He will run again and also Jacobson, who finished fourth here last season. Besides these two men, they have some very able runners in Vye, McLaughlin, Morrison, Popkin, and Schuck. They will be hard to beat.

Kubly, who finished second here in the meet with Marquette, was running his first race on a Big Ten team, and did the course in 20:35. Schwenger, Cohen, Petaja, Shafer, and Schilke also were running in their first real race. These men showed that they will give a good account of themselves in future meets.

heights, for they tramped over Brown in lively style Saturday.

Along about Friday an army of honking, rattling Fords—alongside of sleek Cadillacs and Chryslers—will storm Madison after a hasty trip from Minneapolis. The Gopher fans are that way. Every freight train and Pullman all day Friday and Saturday mornings will bring additional Gophers ready to support Spaulding's men to the last ditch.

Long about Friday we will begin to sniff the coming of battle.

TOBOGGAN SLIDE IS DUG DEEPER! SPILLS WILL BE LESSENED

The possibility of toboggans jumping the side of the slide and spilling their riders in the snow this winter has been eliminated by work done on the toboggan slide during the summer. The slide was dug one and a half feet deeper. With this improvement the slide rates as one of the best in this section of the country, according to George Martin, director of winter sports. The skating rink will be larger than last year, and the snow will be cleared off regularly and flushed often to secure smoothness. A wind break probably will be erected.

VARSITY FORGETS COE, WORKS FOR GOPHER BATTLE

Ed. Williams and "Tiny" Sauger Back in Uniform; Signal Drill Held

Bygones are bygones at Camp Randall this week and Coach Ryan is turning his whole attention to the entrance game of the Big Ten schedule which will be played Saturday when the Badgers meet Minnesota.

Practice yesterday afternoon was pointed entirely towards straightening out the defects in play brought out in the Coe game Saturday. After a short practice on fundamentals, Ryan divided his squad into three elevens and put them through a thorough signal drill.

Larson worked on the first eleven with Blackman and Polaski as ends, and Schwarze, Nelson, Bieberstein and Miller in the line. Williams and Barnum held sway on the second eleven, while Jack Harris worked with the third squad.

A great deal of attention was paid to interference, in which the team showed up weak in the three preliminary games. Forward passing, too, was given a great deal of attention.

Men who are close to the team declare that the scores of the past three games do not indicate the true strength of the team. They say it is a policy of Ryan's not to show too much in practice games and to hold back many of the more complicated plays until Big Ten contests. At any rate, Ryan is directing practice with his usual calmness and does not seem to be worried over the poor showing made Saturday.

Williams and Sauger, after being out of practice for a week, were back in uniforms last night, although Williams merely called plays and did not run a great deal as his leg is not entirely healed.

DESK EDITOR—ELMER L. BOEHRINGER

The Spanish writer Ibanez, has declared war against the king of Spain and even goes so far as to say that he will dethrone that royal personage. Perhaps he thinks it is a case of the pen being mightier than the sword.

A man was caught early Sunday morning robbing a fraternity house. Perhaps he is the thief who has been so successful here for years. If he is, he is a case of "murder will out." If he isn't, he evidently was in a position to wish that he were "out" of that particular house Sunday morning, for he appeared in court yesterday with a beautiful black eye and several other indications that the boys had not treated him as a guest.

At the beginning of the year the committee on Fathers' Day felt that it would be satisfied if, this first year, only 150 fathers were on hand for next week-end. Now it is very likely that 700 fathers will be here. It will be a big time for these men. Is your father going to be among them? There is room for more, room for all if they will come.

WE'RE POOR LOOSERS?

"Did you notice the Wisconsin cheering Saturday—once behind they ain't yelling at all, the Badgers got to be in the lead to keep the happy. Coe made more noise with 100 rooters than Wisconsin did with 6,000, it is a joke."

Thus does a local sport writer sum up the Wisconsin cheering. The language may be crude but the undeniable truth of the statement overshadows the crude wording.

When Coe ran the ball down the field to the five-yard line Saturday the Badger stands were either too dazed or too disgusted to utter more than feeble sounds. The cheerleaders' efforts to "get a rise" out of the crowd were wasted. Instead of rising to its feet and roaring "Hold 'Em," it sat glum and silent.

Mob psychology rules and when we are winning the crowd vociferates voluminously, but when we are losing it follows the dictates of its natural feelings and is silent.

In this way the purpose of cheering is missed completely. Supposedly we cheer to give the team moral support. But it needs this moral support most when it is losing. And that was when it was lacking Saturday.

The writer of the above quotation is right. Collectively speaking the Coe 100 did cheer more than the Wisconsin 6,000. Maybe it was because they had real cause to, but they did cheer when they were losing. Is Wisconsin going to open itself to another pink tea charge?

VOTE SLACKING

The evil of the non-voting citizen of this country is clearly recognized. The general impression obtains that only about 50 per cent of the voters exercise their rights in this regard, and the recent statistical publications of Simon Michelot, a Washington attorney, justify this impression. In his researches into the extent of vote slackening, Mr. Michelot uncovered the fact that for every 20 voters, there were 19 slackers. Further, that the vote slackers were to be found among these better qualified to vote by way of education and understanding and the greater percentage of voters in proportion to population among the ignorant, the uneducated, and the illiterate, all of whom can be easily controlled and directed by the political bosses. These facts are most disheartening, especially so, because, as Mr. Michelot found, the excuses given for not voting were usually of the most flimsy sort, amounting to nothing less than a willful disregard for a citizen's duty.

Remedies for this situation have been suggested from time to time. The practical penalty of basing governmental representation not upon the basis of population but upon the basis of votes actually cast seems to be very applicable, inasmuch as the slacker would be placed in the position of damaging his own community. Disfranchisement has also been suggested to compel voting. Women, who fought so hard for the ballot, now neglect their rights even more so than do the men. Possibly the threat of disfranchisement would awaken them to their duty even as it might the men. The situation needs to be improved without delay and it must be done if governmental progress is to be made.

Very shortly, a presidential election is to take place. It is the solemn duty of every university student here, who is qualified, to cast a vote. The individual who neglects this right places himself in a despicable position, and is deserving of the scorn of every honest man. May it be that each one can say that he did his share and took his full interest in the government of his country.

Notes From a Dean's Clinic

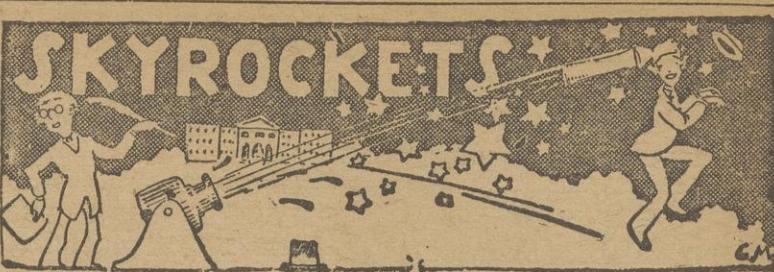

By G. C. SELLERY

7. THE CONTENTED MIND

Some of us have to cultivate contentment of spirit; others have it as a natural endowment. Arthur Machen, a writer who has recently "arrived" is of the former class. In his little autobiographical "Far Off Things," he says, with feeling, "I do believe that a moderate, not excessive, dose of the good conceit of oneself is one of the chiefest boons that parents should beg from fairy godmothers for their offspring. For life is necessarily full of such buffettings and duckings, such kicks and blows and pummellings, that balms and elixirs and medicaments of healing are most urgently indicated, and there is nothing equal to this same rectified spirit of conceit." True enough. But a superior, more dependable article is contentment with one's best efforts.

There is nothing bovine about true contentment. It is compatible with the most strenuous efforts, the boldest ambitions. The Apostle Paul, the magnificent missionary who carried Christianity to Europe and planted it in more congenial soil than its native Palestine afforded, was the most untiring and indefatigable of men. Yet he could say, "I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content." Contentment involves no relinquishment of ambition, no abandonment of youthful, "divine discontent," whether with one's position or with the present state of things. But it does imply a certain quality of repose, of restfulness, of recuperation.

I think particularly of those conscientious students who are anxious, concerned, discouraged at their progress, troubled about the outcome of their best efforts. I counsel them to be contented in the Pauline sense. Let them do their best, cease lacerating their spirits with self-reproaches, and rely upon this well-tested truth: that the student who does his best will win; that the stars fight for him; that the world will have an honorable place for him—provided he gain and keep a contented spirit, and thus allow himself to rest in the intervals between his efforts. Worry undermines strength. Work never killed a man.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Ekyrocket Editor: We, the undersigned Ajhids of the family Aphidae, rise in protest against the dreadful calamity poured upon us by ignorant humans, so-called students, by whom we are called "midges" (disgusting name!) We are said to have risen from the mud and slime of lakes, to return thereto at night, to fly with dire intent and purpose in the awful holes (constantly open) called eyes and mouths of the aforesaid humans in which so many of our unfortunate brethren have met hideous death.

Be it therefore, understood:

(1) That we neither come nor return to loathsome water (like many humans we abhor it).

(2) That our homes are trees and plants, and early October (again like humans) is our moving time.

(3) That seeking our new homes is our own affair.

Please cease to interfere!

Signed, on this eleventh day of October in the year 1924,

THE APHIDS.

ONE FATHER—Well, Harold is an author now.

SECOND—Is that right? Does he write for money?

FIRST—You bet he does. About twice a month.

We thought that that one might stand the shock of the occasion. Speaking of Father's Day, that's the one reason we have wanted a conference game to come. Noble sentiments, huh? This trip in the middle of the month sure is handy.

SEEING IS BELIEVING.

The following is an incident reported from a Spanish class.

Professor—Miss Poynette, why have you so many absences against your name?

Lucy—I tripped on the sidewalk and fell down and hurt myself.

Prof.—Yes, I see that your lip is all cut.

Lucy—I broke my rib too and I've got that all bandaged up.

Prof.—(In haste) You're excused. I'll take your word for that.

These house mothers are organized; each one is in constant communication with at least a few of the others. Further more, it is often desirable to ask for the chaperone by name, when calling the house.

Here is an instance where The Daily Cardinal may be of active service to a group of women not of the university proper, yet vitally identified with its interests.

World of Society — Notes of Churches

Many Visitors in Town This Week End

Many students are taking advantage of the opportunity to go home over the week-end before winter comes. This weather is an inducement for motoring, and many leave each week. However, there are an equal number of guests coming in. Rooming houses, fraternity houses, sorority houses and hotels have been full to overflowing. For Fathers' Day next week there is not a hotel room to be had, and rooms other places will be at a premium.

Ruth Crouse of St. Louis was a guest at the Kappa Alpha Theta house over the week-end. She was a guest of Grace Marlott '25.

Sylvia Miller '27 spent last week-end in Milwaukee visiting her rents.

Helen Burt '24 of Minneapolis visited at the Pi Beta Phi house for several days last week.

Marie Kerr '25 went to her home in Milwaukee over the week-end, to visit with her parents.

Bessie Berkley '24 of Baraboo was a guest of Lida Hollingsworth '26 at the Chi Omega house for a few days last week.

Grace Martin '28 spent last week-end in Beloit.

Miss Louise Leonard, national president of Alpha Gamma Delta was a guest of Beta chapter last week. She comes to Madison from Syracuse, N. Y.

John F. Weimer '25 spent the week-end in Milwaukee.

Charles Radke '27 drove to Lake Geneva Saturday to spend the week-end at home.

Ethel Jones '25 went to Waupun for several days last week.

Thorberg Swenson '10 from Rockford was a guest at the Alpha Gamma Delta house last week.

Margaret Rasmussen '25 spent the week-end in Stoughton.

Clara Hertsberg '25 went to Fond du Lac over the week-end. She was bridesmaid at the wedding of Margaret Titus '26.

Katherine Wilson from the Northwestern chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta was a guest of Beta chapter this last week-end.

Marjorie Benton '25 went to Aurora last week to visit for several days.

Five girls from the Alpha Xi chapter at Coe college were guests of the Wisconsin chapter this last week.

Edith Norris '26 went to Fond du Lac over the week-end to attend the wedding of Margaret Titus '26.

Katherine Lyle of Ripon was a guest at the Alpha Xi Delta house last week.

Leo J. Dugan '28 spent the week-end in Milwaukee.

Marian Neican of Milwaukee was a guest at the Alpha Gamma Delta house for several days last week.

Marjan Hahn '27 went to Reedsburg last week to spend a few days with her parents.

Six girls from the chapter at Coe college were the guests of the Wisconsin chapter of Alpha Gamma Delta last week-end.

Marie Lehan of Milwaukee spent several days last week with friends in Madison.

Marian Belle Rathje '26 spent last week-end in Chicago with her parents.

Three girls from the Coe college chapter of Chi Omega were guests of the Wisconsin chapter over the week-end.

Evelyn Schmidt '26 visited in Wauwatosa for a few days last week-end.

Maxine Peters '28 went to Stoughton to spend the week-end with her parents.

Elizabeth Stanford from Northwestern was a guest of the Wisconsin chapter for several days last week.

Ruth Elston '26 spent the week-end in Muscine.

Mildred Rooney '24 of Fennimore visited at the Kappa Delta house last week for several days.

Margaret Hoover '26 visited in Milwaukee over the week-end.

Geneva Schoenfeld '21 of Waukesha was a guest at the Phi Mu house for several days.

Mary Kriz '24 of Milwaukee visited at the Kappa Delta house last week. Mrs. Thomas Marshall of Belvidere was also a guest over the week-end.

PROFESSOR TO ADDRESS IOWA TEACHERS COUNCIL

Prof. and Mrs. Andrew Thomas Weaver, 126 North Spooner street, are leaving soon for Iowa City to attend a teachers' council in the Iowa State university. Professor Weaver will address the council.

F. Poppenhagen '25 and Irving Cox '22 Engaged to Marry

Announcement was made at the Chi Omega house Sunday of the engagement of Florence Poppenhagen '25 to Irving Cox '22. Miss Poppenhagen is a senior in the library school and is a member of Chi Omega. Mr. Cox is now in business in New York and is a member of Alpha Tau Omega.

NEW CHAPERONS ARE GUESTS AT MANY TEAS

Many sororities are giving chaperon teas now. Those included on this week's social calendar are those being given by Delta Zeta and Alpha Delta Pi.

Tau of Delta Zeta is entertaining today at a tea from 4 until 6 o'clock. A senior and the chaperon from each sorority has been invited.

Alpha Delta Pi

The members of Alpha Delta Pi will entertain the chaperon and a senior from each sorority on Friday at a tea from 2:30 until 5 o'clock.

University League Fêtes Newcomers at Bridge and Luncheon

New women members of the faculty and brides of faculty members were welcomed by the University league at the annual fall luncheon held Saturday in Lathrop parlors, which was attended by more than 300 members.

Members of the Junior league, to which newcomers belong for the first year of their association with the university, were seated at the center table or "bride's table." Mrs. W. T. Root, president of the league, welcomed the members of the Junior league and spoke of the plans for the coming year.

Mrs. Thyra Hagen-Leisner sang several German home songs and the famous Wiegenlied of Schubert. She was accompanied by Miss Lockwood at the piano.

Tables were arranged for bridge and an informal social hour followed the luncheon. Autumn leaves and garden flowers were used for the table decorations. Miniatures of the university buildings on the "Hill" formed the center for the novel decorations on the "brides' table."

First Meeting of Southern Club to Be Held Wednesday

The Southern club, organized last year with Robye Nicholls '25 as president, will hold its first meeting of the year at 7:30 Wednesday evening in the Law building. Election of officers and formation of social plans will take place at this meeting.

The club had more than 300 students last year, representing 17 southern states. One of the outstanding social functions last year was the Mardi Gras ball given by the club in the Cameo room.

"All southerners who entered the university this fall are especially invited to attend the opening meeting," Miss Nicholls said.

There will be a regular meeting of W. A. A. at 7:15 o'clock tonight in Lathrop parlors.

SCABBARD AND BLADE. A meeting of all inactive members of Scabbard and Blade will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday in the Scabbard and Blade room. A captain will be elected and other business will be transacted.

CALLS TARIFF ACT UNCONSTITUTIONAL

Davis Alleges Power Given President is Contrary to Fundamental Law

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—It is the opinion of John W. Davis Democratic nominee for president, that the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill violates the constitution of the United States.

Mr. Davis announced his belief in an attack made here on the tariff act and reiterated today that law "not only violates the constitution of the U. S., but also violates one of the deepest traditions of the liberty-loving peoples of the world."

In support of this contention he cited the clause contained in the bill which, he said, gave the president "uncontrolled discretion to raise rates of the income tax or lower them as much as fifty percent."

It made no difference, he pointed out, that the act had stated that the president must be advised by the tariff board before rates specified in the bill were changed.

The clause was written into the law, Mr. Davis charged, to give the people an "anesthetic while they swallowed it."

Presbyterian Fund Campaign Starts On Campus Soon

Plans for the annual Presbyterian financial canvass have been completed and the canvass will be started next Sunday.

Those leading the campaign have been divided into two groups with seven captains in each group. Eugene Wechter, grad, assisted by members of the staff will be in general charge of the campaign. Under him will be 14 groups, seven under Margaret Ashton '26 and seven under Tom Darrenogus '26.

Each team will have seven members. The captains under Margaret Ashton are Harry Davis '26, Robert MacArthur '27, Rudolph Hartman '26, Annabel Douglas '25, Erna Wolf '27, and Gertrude Fries '25. Under Tom Darrenogus will be Capt. Lorin Janzer '25, George Hotton '27, Harriet Liggett '25, Frieda Auchter '25, Esther Caldwell '26, and Bernadine Walters '25.

HERBERT MORSE '25 IS NAMED HILLEL LEADER

Herbert Morse, '25, was elected president of the Hillel Foundation at the meeting held last Sunday at its headquarters, 506 State street. The Hillel foundation is composed of all Jewish students entered in the university.

An executive council which will direct the work of the foundation was also chosen. The following are members of the council, Louis Sosland, '25, Annette Hirschfeld, '27, Herbert Morse, '25, Robert Sher, '26, Nathan Eledson, '25, Freda Wyneman, '25, Cecil Eiseman, '25, Sydney Solinger, '25, William Lippman, grad., Rebecca Rabinoff, '26.

The report of the constitution committee was adopted. Dr. S. Landman, who is director in charge, will prepare a budget of the funds to be expended by the council. Meetings of the council will be held twice a month on Thursday night.

Hesselberg Gets New Role and Moustache in Majestic Comedy

Kempy.
Presented at the Majestic.

BY TED.

Melvyn Hesselberg done a mustache this week in "Kempy," and also a somewhat different role. The part of Kempy is played by Ralph Bellamy, who holds up his end of the performance quite successfully. Dixie Dow appears again as the heroine. This is her second week as leading lady for the company, but her role this week is so much like the one she played last week that she really doesn't have a chance to show she can do anything different. We have hopes.

Honorable mention this week goes to Madeline Eswood who in the part of Ruthie outshines the rest of the company.

Unfortunately, we can't say that we liked "Kempy" as well as he have some others we have seen at the Majestic. Oscar O'Shea disappointed us by overdoing his part, and the second act was most terribly slow. Perhaps, though, this was due to its being the first night. Let's hope so, and wish for better luck in "The Hottentot," which goes on next week.

Bulletin Board

This column is for the use of all organizations and university staff members who wish to reach large groups readily. No charge is made for notices. Notices may be brought to the editorial office in the Union building, 752 Langdon street, or phoned to Badger 250 before 5 o'clock of the day preceding publication.

BY CHATTY

More good weather for the open air theater, we should say.

The leaves are falling so fast and are so colorful that the stage of the open air theater looks like the very woods. No scenery would be necessary for some woodland play.

Don Kastler was in town the other day. He and Bill Tannowitz are working out the new college drama magazine. They plan to put out their first issue the first part of November and sell it on the campus of every institution where there is a chapter of the National Collegiate Players.

The organization is pretty well confined to the middle west, but there is a chapter as far east as Ohio and there are several on the Pacific coast.

After the publication gets underway, as it doubtless will in a hurry, it will mean a great deal in collegiate dramatics.

It will also mean a good deal to Wisconsin, especially since Don and Bill, the editor and business manager, to say nothing of Ted Lutton, the advertising manager, and several other members of the staff are or have been connected with this university.

"The Swan" seems to be holding the center of the stage in Chicago. This play by Molnar with Eva Le Gallienne, the daughter of the British poet, is a masterpiece of art from all accounts.

It is somewhat tragic, but is not so much so that it is repellent, as was the case with "The Shame Woman," however well that may have been done.

Tary of the civil service commission, will speak. All students are invited.

SWIM TRYOUTS

Swimming tryouts will be held at 7:30 o'clock tonight in Lathrop pool. Graduate women as well as all undergraduates are asked to turn out. An effort is being made to form a graduate team.

Because of the Physical Education club banquet Wednesday night, tryouts for women's swimming teams will be held at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday night, instead. Graduates should turn out for a graduate team.

A special meeting of the university De Molay club will be held at 7:30 o'clock, Tuesday evening, at the Square and Compass house.

JACKIE COOGAN IN
LITTLE ROBINSON CRUSOE

"Covered Wagon" Meets With Approval of Professor Fish

BY I. N.

"The best historical movie I've ever seen," Prof. Carl Russell Fish pronounced "The Covered Wagon," showing this week at the Parkway.

Such is the verdict of one who knows, if anyone does, the history of this country and particularly of the "covered wagon" days with which the screen version of Emerson Hough's novel deals. Not until you have lived through the trying days of westward expansion and the gold rush of 1850, as you fairly can through viewing this picture, will you realize the significance of this chapter in the history of America.

Its closeness to the truth and nature of things besides the bigness of it all will impress you. And there are plenty of thrills to boot in the way of prairie fires, Indian massacres, buffalo hunts, and an honest to goodness fight, "barring nothing." By far the most unforgettable scenes are those that picture the covered wagon trekking across 2,000 miles of wilderness and across the Platte river.

Binding the various historical elements of the story and giving it life and interest is the proverbial love story without which no movie is complete. J. Warren Kerrigan as Will Banion, the leader of the Liberty boys, justifies his winning of Molly Wingate, the heroine whom Lois Wilson charmingly portrays. A fine piece of acting is done by Ernest Torrence in the character role of the hard-headed though staunch right hand man of Banion. He provides most of the laughs, and there are many of them.

Movie Snapshots

"Little Robinson Crusoe."
Featuring Jackie Coogan.
At the Strand.

Shipwrecked on a tropical island, Jackie Coogan, as little Robinson Crusoe becomes white god to Miramba's cannibal tribe. From his bamboo throne Crusoe subdued the whole tribe to a state of awe until someone makes the discovery that Crusoe with his love for iced cake is far more like Mickey Hogan of San Francisco than like the white god who was to lead the tribe to war. This is a typical Jackie Coogan picture with several thrills, many laughs, and a very happy ending.

The first of the Daily Cardinal-Strand "Know Your Team" series is also being shown. Individual pictures of each player are featured.

"The Fast Set."
At the Madison.

The neglected wife, the busy husband, and the devoted bachelor form the eternal triangle in this story. The only thing different about this picture is that the husband is not a business man. He is an author, and he wears a flowing tie. The acting of Betty Compson and Elliot Dexter is mediocre. Adolphe Menjou's presentation of his part is the redeeming feature of the picture.

Put Across An All Star Bill at Orpheum

By C. J. W.

Real musicians, honest-to-goodness, comedy, unique acrobatics, and personality put across an all-star bill at the Orpheum this week.

Broken Toys.

A blare of music, a flash of light, a silhouette; lights go on revealing a profile view of a silken-clad clown pulling himself erect on a chair back. "An odd comedy novelty," in which the actors, though one-legged put to shame their more fortunate brothers with acrobatics in a toy shop setting.

Howe and Faye.

It may be "Sense and Nonsense," but there's something uncanny about having a girl in red calmly sit in a chair on the stage and call out whatever article to which her partner points as he passes through the audience.

Sargent and Marvin.

In spite of the fact that they are in "Songs," they sound better when they just play on their ukeles, guitars, harmonicas or clarinets. Personality puts across an ordinary act.

Albert Linquist and Leora Allen.

"Favorite Melodies" become more favored with these two beautifully blended voices singing them. Appropriate stage settings help transport an enthusiastic audience from "Mandalay" to a "Little White Cot by the Sea." A combination of the classical and popular with unquestionable success.

The Four Camerons.

The father is funny; the son is funnier, and the two together put on one of the funniest farces ever concocted. A combination of soft shoe dancing, bicycle gymnastics, and facial contortions are accompanied by clever conversational patter.

Crystal Bennett and Company.

Real boxing and wrestling by the fair sex proves to be such a novelty that it carries this act through.

STAGE TERMS TO FEATURE BANQUET

Physical Education Club Announces Program For Wednesday

Stage terminology will be the plan used for the toasts at the Physical Education club banquet which will be held at 6:30 o'clock Wednesday, at the Woman's building. Jane Ransom, '28, will give "The Prologue." Jimmie Hughes, '27, will give "The Curtain;" Marion Bigelow, '26, "The Setting;" Marion Strong, '25, "The Foot-lights;" Dean F. Louise Nardin, "The Props," and Miss Blanche M. Trilling, "The Spot-light." Dr. Harold C. Bradley, the principal speaker of the evening, will deliver "The Epilogue." Mabel Rugen, '25, will act as toast-mistress.

The juniors, represented by Elizabeth Shepard, '26, will hand their class cheverin to the class of '28 Katherine Petry, '28, will receive it. This bit of ceremony is an annual tradition. Every year at the normal meet, the graduating class hands down its yellow cheverin to its sister class, the sophomores, for them to keep to hand down at the banquet in the fall when they are juniors, to their sister class, the incoming freshmen.

The Physical Education club orchestra will furnish the music Wednesday night. Esther Rosenberg, '23, will entertain with some jazz dancing.

Tickets may be obtained from Daisy Simpson, '25, Mabel Rugen, '25, Marion Bigelow, '26, and Marguerite Schwarz, '27.

Catholic Rural Life Meet Opens Next Week

MILWAUKEE—Catholics from every part of the United States will assemble here Oct. 20-23 to take part in the annual meeting of the Catholic Rural Life conference, when every phase of rural life in its connection with the faith will be discussed.

The U. S. department of agriculture will be represented by Dr. C. J. Galpin of the bureau of agricultural economics and by George E. Farrell of the extension service. Work of religious communities will be explained by Father Sigstein, Gary, Ind.; Sister Ellerker, Duluth, and the Rev. George Daley of Canada.

The Catholic Hierarchy will be represented by the Most Reverend Sebastian Messmer, archbishop of Milwaukee, who will deliver the address of welcome, and by Bishops P. J. Muldoon of Rockford, Ill., and T. W. Drumm, Des Moines. A large number of rural priests and lay persons also will address the conference. Agricultural colleges of Iowa, Wisconsin and Massachusetts are to be represented.

Catholic Students' Club Meets For First Time Sunday

The first meeting of the Newman club, a social organization composed of all the Catholic students of the university, was held Sunday evening at the St. Paul chapel.

Officers for the school year were elected at the meeting. They are George J. Fiedler, '22, president; Esther Burke, '26, vice president; Dorothy Burns, '25, secretary; and George Vessier, treasurer. A social committee, which consists of a representative from each of the four classes, was also elected. The members are Clara Rood, '25; G. A. Rau, '26; Eleanor Reiley, '27; and J. J. Ebentier, '28.

The club is promoting four main social functions for the present semester, the first of which will be held Friday, October 24, in the Lathrop hall gymnasium.

So that students may become familiar with the things that are going on in the university and the people that are doing them, De Longe's studio, 525, State street, has arranged to display the photographs of groups of students prominent in various activities, during the rest of the university year.

The first display, showing the editors and board of control of the Daily Cardinal will be ready this afternoon in the window of the vacant store just west of the studio. Twenty-seven photographs will make up the collection.

Next week the committee for Union yodvil will be presented and later the Homecoming committees, and other groups, representative of the activities of the university.

Wisconsin Holsteins Go to Pacific Coast Show

This week marks the entraining of two dozen of Wisconsin's very best Holsteins for the Pacific Coast International show at Portland, Ore. Winners in the competition at the Wisconsin state fair will compose the shipment which will be a part of the special train as it carries the world's best livestock and premier show ring winners to this far away exposition.

Wisconsin Slandered Is Blaine Statement

Before leaving upon a tour for the La Follette presidential ticket, Gov. Blaine issued a statement here declaring that he intended to "tell the truth regarding La Follette" in answer to charges made by other interests.

"Throughout the campaign, lying newspapers and politicians have maligned and slandered Wisconsin," the statement said. "They have misrepresented Sen. La Follette, his principles, the state and her people. As important as is the campaign in Wisconsin to the progressive movement, I feel the most imperative demand at this time is to meet the campaign of vilification against Wisconsin and her foremost citizen."

"I therefore leave the campaign in Wisconsin in the hands of the progressives, confident that they will see to it that Wisconsin remains in the progressive column in November."
