Play the Game

After all, saving money is as keen, as real, and as worth while a game as is making money.

It calls for the best of foresight, of stick-to-it-iveness, of courage. It pays in self respect, in increased income, in comfort, in large desires satisfied.

The small desire curbed today—the money saved—lays the foundation for the tidy sum which will purchase some of the big joys you have longed for.

It is a real game, worth the best play of real men and women.

Come and be thrifty. Ask for our book of rules W-4. It costs you nothing.

The Nitroglycerin Wheeler

No baby tucked in its cushioned carriage ever had more watchful care and skillful attention than the nitroglycerin wheeler gives the concentrated power carried in his rubber-tired wagon.

Back and forth he pushes it between the nitroglycerin store house and the mixing house. He follows a smooth planked walk made exclusively for his use. At one end of his trip the buggy is filled. At the other he pours the nitroglycerin into a mixing machine by means of the long rubber tube attached to the buggy. With this act he gives life and power to Hercules Dynamite.

Soon, before the breath of this modern Hercules, great mountains fade away; rivers change their courses; waste and arid lands are changed to fertile fields; metals and minerals, all important in our modern life, are blown from the earth.

The man with the nitroglycerin buggy plays an important part in supplying the enormous force necessary to produce the coal and other minerals and metals which are the pillars of our material civilization. Look around you as you read this. Wherever you may be you will find, if you trace it back, that dynamite made possible most of the necessities and conveniences on which your eye will fall. And a very large part of the dynamite used in this country bears the name Hercules.

The recent special session of the Legislature made appropriations of $750,000 for the State of Wisconsin General Hospital at Madison, $150,000 for a Home for Nurses and $450,000 for the equipment of the hospital Appropriations and home. The appropriations are to be met with surplus funds of the Service Recognition Board. The hospital is to be operated in connection with the University Medical School. "A sufficient sum for a hospital site" was also appropriated; this sum is to come from the General Fund. Twenty-five thousand dollars was added to the University capital account, which includes such items as apparatus, books, furniture, machinery and tools. Forty-three thousand six hundred dollars was added to the account for building repairs and maintenance. Nine hundred ninety-eight thousand five hundred twenty-nine dollars was appropriated for operation—(this is really an increase of about seven hundred sixteen thousand dollars over the budget for the year 1919-20). These appropriations for capital, maintenance and operation come from the University Income Fund. An increase of $18,890 was given the University Extension Division for operation; this sum comes from the General Fund. The Legislature did not approve the request for an appropriation to enlarge the Chemistry Building. While the bill to secure additional revenue by added surtaxes was vetoed, it is generally understood that there are sufficient other funds available to meet the appropriations. Special attention is called to the fact that these special appropriations for capital, maintenance and operation cover the period from July 1, 1920 until July 1, 1921 only. Explanation of capital, maintenance, and operation accounts, together with a clear exposition of University finances may be found in "Plain Facts on University Finances" which we are sending to all members of the Alumni Association.

With this issue of the MAGAZINE we are mailing "Plain Facts on University Finances." This lucid exposition was prepared prior to the meeting of the special session of the Legislature; it contains valuable statistics concerning Facts the growth of the University and such an intelligible statement of University funds and finances that it is worthy of special attention by all members of the Alumni Association. We trust that it may prove not only of general interest but also of lasting value. To include this article, which was painstakingly prepared by a few eminently well qualified University officials, we find ourselves obliged to curtail some of the regular sections and to omit entirely other sections of the current issue of the MAGAZINE. The August issue will contain the Class News and Campus Notes held over from this July issue.

Frequently we have been unable to fill orders received for extra Extras copies of THE ALUMNI MAGAZINE after the edition was off the press.

We shall at all times gladly accommodate members by filling orders for extra copies if the orders are placed with us before we go to press.

WISCONSIN ALUMNI CLUBS

"Sit together, listen together, sing together, eat together, and talk together, and you'll work together."

CHICAGO

By C. L. BYRON, '08

DURING the past month at three of our weekly meetings at the Chicago City Club, we have enjoyed some interesting talks. On May 21, Lieut. G. Q. Lewis, who recently returned from Japan and China, where he investigated their railway systems, told us in a very comprehensive manner about the oriental railways.

Bernard Kruger of Manchester, England, a graduate of Manchester College, on May 28, spoke on "European Conditions Today." He spoke with authority, having just arrived in Chicago after a trip through France, Belgium, Germany and Russia.

On May 28 we were delighted to have Fred Esch, '07, of Washington, D. C. with us.

"Some Naturalization Problems" proved to be a very interesting talk given by F. E. Schlotfeldt of the U. S. Bureau of Naturalization on June 4. Mr. Schlotfeldt, who is an authority in his line, spoke first upon the procedure followed in connection with naturalization, and then told us of some very interesting fraud and spy cases in connection with naturalization during the war.

O. W. Middleton, '07, in speaking of the annual Wisconsin spring dinner says:

The regular Wisconsin spring affair for the alumnae, alumni and their friends, was held at the Parkway Hotel, on May 26. It was a repetition of the dinner and dance held at the same place a year ago and was equally successful. About a hundred people sat down to a delightful dinner, during which they found ways of amusing themselves by singing and giving class yells.

Margaret H'Doubler, '10, with her party of Wisconsin coeds had been expected to be present and there was much regret that the University had not permitted them to come. However, one of our own number, Mrs. Robert Lamson, gave us two very interesting whistling numbers.

Dr. A. J. Ochsner, '84, spoke briefly on the Memorial Union Building drive, and we were favored with a short but inspiring talk by Bishop Samuel Fallows, '59. He closed by urging us to be "on with the dance", which suggestion was immediately acted upon. The orchestra had moved into the adjoining room, and the doors were then thrown open.

Dancing continued until midnight and there were more people dancing than there have been at any recent Wisconsin affair. E. H. Handy, '11, proved that he was rightly named by taking the dance in charge and calling off some circle and "step-up" dances. These resulted in everyone becoming acquainted and Mr. Handy was given a skyrocket for his good work. Several old glee club members (we mean members of old glee clubs) got next to the orchestra and pulled off some songs with everyone joining in the chorus.

It was a most successful party and those who missed it should make it a point to be there next year.

INDIANAPOLIS

By R. M. BREWER, '18

Over fifty graduates, former students, and friends, held a jubilee dinner and dance at the Hotel Severin, April 28, with Prof. Carl Russell Fish as guest of honor to start off our Memorial Building Fund drive. Professor Fish was at his best in one of those delightful after-dinner speeches for which he is so famous. He gave us a most pleasing account of some experiences in England in his work with the University Union, and also told of the complex situation at Madison now with the increased enrollment in the University.

We consider ourselves fortunate in having among our membership Ralph Hills, ex-instructor in engineering in the Extension Division of the University, now leader of community singing with the local branch of Community Service. He puts a lot of "pep" into our meetings in making everyone sing, and sing a lot. So we had a most enjoyable time—and Professor Fish admitted that it was a live bunch of alumni.

Our Alumni Association here has just been reorganized on a new basis and consequently we were slow in getting started on the Memorial Building Fund drive—but Professor Fish gave us a good start by so forcefully showing the need and demand for such a building. Mrs. Charles Scheuring (Martha Wertz) '08, has been appointed chairman of the local drive and we expect some good results from her committee's work.

On May 5, we had the privilege of having President Birge with us for lunch. It was a great pleasure to get a direct personal touch with the administrative side of the University and find out all our Alma Mater's increased difficulties and opportunities for service with its sudden growth in enrollment. President Birge gave a most thorough review of the University's needs in the way of increased salaries, an enlarged faculty, greater housing facilities, and the Memorial Union Building. He urged alumni in general to awaken to greater interest in the University.

We are planning a joint picnic with the Indianapolis Club of Madison as soon as the members of the latter arrive home.

KNOXVILLE

By MRS. WILLIS WOOLRICH, '14

About twelve alumni of Wisconsin, with their wives, met at the home of Prof. W. A. Schoenfeld for the purpose of getting acquainted and organizing a Wisconsin Alumni Club in Knoxville. William Schoenfeld, '14, was elected president, and Mrs. Willis Woolrich (Neeneh Myhre) '14, was made secretary. The club plans to meet at various alumni homes once in two months for a social hour. Alumni now living in Knoxville are: Dr. W. T. De Sautelle, '08; J. D. Jarvis, '05; F. R. Jones, '15; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Schoenfeld (Mabel Wagner) '14 and ex'16; Prof. G. H. Benkendorf, '10; Prof. J. A. Switzer, ex'93; Dr. David Lee, '07; Prof. R. B. Lowry, '17; Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Woolrich, '11 and '14; R. M. Murphy, '17; Carl Steinmetz, '10, and M. H. Newman, '01.

LOS ANGELES

By W. F. ADAMS, '00

The Alumni and Alumnae Associations of Los Angeles held a banquet and a dance at Christophers on May 22. The arrangements for the banquet were in charge of the younger members of the associations and they infused a great deal of "pep" into the banquet. Pursuant to a recent resolution passed by the Board of Regents of the University, Professor Cross of the University of California was designated by the Board of Regents as its representative to attend this banquet and Professor Cross attended the banquet in response to such designation. He gave us a most instructive and entertaining address and made some very pertinent observations upon present University affairs and upon the mission of University men and women in connection with the present day problems. The banquet was followed by a dance in which everybody participated. About seventy were present.

NEW YORK

By A. R. TAYLOR, '14

The U. W. Club of New York held a dinner at the Masonic Club, 46 W. 24th St., at 6:30, June 11. Weekly luncheons of the men are now held down town. The suggestion was made that one luncheon for both men and women be held uptown once a week.

The Association has been revived and a new constitution adopted. Dues are $3.00 per year and it is planned to hold an annual dinner in February and frequent informal dinners throughout the year. Join and help build the influence of Wisconsin in the East. There are many constructive things we can do in addition to the pleasure we can have in renewing our acquaintanceships. Make 1920 a big year for Wisconsin in New York.

ACOACH "Tom" Jones' track team, winner of four consecutive dual meets and third honors in the Big Ten meet, made the best record of any Badger major sport team in the school year just closed. Wisconsin went through the season unbeaten in dual meets, and figured strongly in the western championship meet at Ann Arbor.

The victory over the championship Illinois team was the high spot in the record of the thin-clad athletes of Wisconsin. It was a total surprise to the defeated team, and equally agreeable to followers of Wisconsin athletic teams who had witnessed more than their share of defeats during a rather disastrous year.

Incidentally it was the third major sport in which Wisconsin scored unexpected triumphs over championship teams. In football the Badgers were the only ones to defeat Illinois, and the eleven finished the season with a victory over Chicago. In basketball Wisconsin's losing team triumphed over Illinois and Chicago in the last two games, Chicago being the champions of the Conference.

Coach Jones developed his track team from a squad that was mediocre, judged alike by past teams and by squads of other universities. At the beginning of the season Wisconsin was not conceded a chance in the Big Ten. Neither were the Badgers feared by Illinois, Minnesota or Chicago in dual meets. The record of the team must be considered as a success in itself, and better still, a promise of a real championship contender for next year.

THE ILLINOIS MEET

Illinois Day at Madison, May 15, opened with a defeat for the baseball team. Immediately after the close of this contest, however, the track men started in to avenge the diamond reverse, and the Illini returned home wondering how it was done.

Maleckar, Spetz, and Kelsey, all of Wisconsin, jumped away to a lead of 9 points when they won three places in the 100-yard dash, Maleckar's time being: 10:1.

Wall and Ramsay raised the score to 17 to 1 when both finished ahead of Yates of Illinois in the mile, Wall's time being 4:32:1.

Emery of Illinois won the 220-yard dash in: 22:4, Maleckar and Spetz placing, and the score was 21 to 6.

Knollin and Captain Andrews both beat Wallace of Illinois in the high hurdles in a 16-second race, making the score 29 to 7.

Weiss of Illinois put the shot 42 feet, 5 inches, to win, and Sundt of Wisconsin and Cannon of Illinois were next. Score 32 to 13.

Endres, Merrick and Wilder won all the points in the pole vault for Wisconsin, Endres going 12 feet, 3 inches, and the other two 12 feet. Score 41 to 13.

Emery, Spink and Donohoe, all of Illinois, swept the boards in the quarter-mile in: 50:4, making the score 41 to 22.

Wharton of Illinois won the 2-mile in 9:57:4, Dayton and Crump of Wisconsin following him home. Score 45 to 27.

Knollin and Andrews won again in the low hurdles, in :26:3, Prescott of Illinois finishing third. Score 53 to 28.

Osborn and Howard of Illinois won the high jump at 6 feet, 2½ inches, and Edwards and Mobley of Wisconsin divided the third point, making the score 54 to 36.

Illinois scored its second "slam" in the discus throw, which was won at 129 feet, 8 inches. Weiss, Wilson and Bennett raised the visitor's score to 45.

Nash of Wisconsin, who had gone to Prom the night before, upset all tradition and expectations by winning the half-mile in 2:01:1. Brown and Schuh of Illinois placed, making the score 59 to 49.

Wilson of Illinois threw the javelin 163 feet, 7 inches, on his last trial, beating Sundt and Mecartney of Wisconsin. Score 63 to 54.

Sundt of Wisconsin scored the points needed to win with a leap of 22 feet, 2½ inches in the broad jump. Osborn of Illinois was second and Capen of Wisconsin third. This raised the score to 69 to 57, one point more than Wisconsin needed.

Bennett and Wilson of Illinois won in the hammer throw with 154 feet, 2 inches as the winner's mark. Anderson of Wisconsin added a point to his team's total with third place, making it 70 to 65.

Coach Jones earned the best efforts of his athletes when he permitted three men to attend Prom the night before, these men having made their arrangements to attend before the date was postponed from February 13. Brothers, cross-country captain, failed to place in the 2-mile run as a result, but Nash came through with a splendid performance in the half-mile.

THE MINNESOTA MEET

The week following the Illinois meet the Wisconsin men won from Minnesota by a score of $83\frac{1}{4}$ to $51\frac{3}{4}$. Only three events were won by Minnesota men, and in the 2-mile run and high hurdles Wisconsin men finished one-two-three.

Sundt won the broad jump with 22 feet, $4\frac{1}{2}$ inches, and the shot put with 40 feet, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches. Knollin won both high and low hurdles, in :25 and :15.4 respectively. Maleckar won the 220 yard dash in :22:1 and placed second in the 100-yard, in competition with Kelly and Johnson of Minnesota. Spetz won the quarter-mile in :50:2 and Nash the half-mile in 2:02:1. The distance men scored three places in the 2-mile and first and second in the mile. Dayton, Brothers and Crump won a 9:58:1 two-mile event, and Ramsay and Wall a 4:26:3 mile.

Minnesota won three places in the javelin throw, Patrick, Sommers and Fletcher scoring in this event which was won with 168 feet, 8 inches. Henke of Minnesota won the hammer throw with 113 feet, 11 inches, beating Anderson and Mecartney of Wisconsin. The third event which Minnesota won was the 100-yard dash, won by Kelly in :10:1.

Kelsey of Wisconsin threw the discus 129 feet, $5\frac{1}{2}$ inches to win, and Mecartney won second. Endres won the pole vault, as usual, with 12 feet, 3 inches, Merrick taking third. Edwards won the high jump for Wisconsin with 5 feet, 6 inches.

THE CHICAGO MEET

Five firsts, two seconds, and nine thirds formed Chicago's quota of the points in the dual meet at Stagg field. Higgins of the Maroons won three weight events, Otis won the mile, and Speers led the half-milers home. Wisconsin won the other ten events, along with thirteen seconds and six thirds.

Guy Sundt won the broad jump and javelin throw, and second in the shot-put. Kelsey won the 220-yard dash, second in the discus, and third in the shot-put and 100-yard dash. Knollin won both hurdle races. Spetz won the quarter-mile and second in the 100-yard dash. Maleckar won the 100-yard dash and second in the 220 event. Andrews won second in both hurdle races. Endres won the pole vault, Dayton the 2-mile run, and Edwards the high jump. Mecartney placed second in the javelin and third in the discus. Other seconds by Wisconsin men were Nash in the half mile, Brothers in the 2-mile, Wall in the mile, Merrick and Wilder tied in the pole vault, Mobley in the high jump, and Capen in the broad jump. Klug won third in the quarter mile, Stolley third in the high hurdles, and Ramsay third in the mile.

Wisconsin men swept the boards in the 100-yard dash, high hurdles, and pole vault. Chicago scored similarly in one event, the hammer throw. Among the best events were Maleckar's 10-flat century dash, Otis' 4:27:1 mile, Kelsey's :22:1 furlong dash, Knollin's :15:3 and :25 hurdle races, and Sundt's javelin throw of 163 feet, 3 inches.

THE ALL-WESTERN MEET

Wisconsin entered the Big Ten meet at Ann Arbor without a sure first to count on, but with men who might place in almost any event. Two firsts, and points in all but five events for a total of twenty-five, represented the hard-working Badgers' share of the spoils in the western classic.

Otto Endres, '20, and Allen Knollin, '22, scored the two firsts for Wisconsin. Endres cleared 12 feet, 3 inches, in the pole vault, and justified Coach Jones' assertion that he was the most consistent vaulter in the west, sure to make this mark in any meet. Dale Merrick, '22, of Wisconsin vaulted 12 feet and tied with two Michigan men and a Californian for second place.

Knollin ran a pretty race in the low hurdles, winning in :25 flat. This athlete was a sprinter on the yearling team a year ago, but this season he was converted to the hurdles, and has been running in better time in each succeeding meet. His performance at the Conference meet is one of the big reasons for hopes for the championship next year.

Captain Andrews won second honors in the high hurdles, a :15:4 race, and added another point to his team's total with fourth in the low hurdles.

Guy Sundt, '22, furnished more hope for next year when he won a second and a third. In the broad jump only the great Carl Johnson of Michigan beat Sundt, at 23 feet, 7½ inches. Sundt failed to score in the shot put, but placed third in the javelin throw, which Hoffman of Michigan won with a record throw of 172 feet, 10 inches.

William Maleckar, '20, and Ralph Spetz, '22, scored third and fourth in the 100-yard dash. Wisconsin failed to place in the 220 or 440-yard events, or in the two-mile run. Clyde Nash, '21, scored fourth in the half mile, and Wayne Ramsay, '21, fourth in the mile run.

BASEBALL

Wisconsin's baseball team finished in last place among the seven Conference teams which played the national game this spring, Chicago's team journeying to Japan and Northwestern and Minnesota not having any teams. Michigan won the championship with nine victories out of ten, Ohio State finished second with eight wins in ten starts, and Illinois third with seven victories. Wisconsin won two games out of twelve.

It is poor form, neither does it reflect the Wisconsin spirit, to attribute a series of defeats to injuries. Nevertheless it would be unfair to the team and coach to omit mention of the run of misfortune which resulted in Coach Kent's team finishing in last place.

George Willigrod, first baseman, broke a bone in his ankle just before the first Conference game. At the same time, Pitcher Frank Williams was taken ill with scarlet fever and the services of the best moundsman were lost for the season. After two defeats the team gained some badly-needed hitting strength when "Rowdy" Elliott of football fame became eligible. He helped to win two games and then suffered Willigrod's fate, after which he followed the team on crutches. Catcher Allen Davey played the entire season with two fingers of his throwing hand taped together. Infielder Carson Lyman, Outfielder Larry Doyle, and Pitcher Allen Miller were all out part of the season with mumps.

Pitcher Zulfer played first base the first half of the season, but when Miller took sick Willigrod was pulled off the cripple squad to play first base. Until the end of the season Coach Kent was unable to present the same infield lineup in three consecutive games, and he was forced to experiment anew with his batting order in practically every game.

The Illinois game at Madison was a heavy hitting affair. Wisconsin broke the ice for a 4-run lead in the third inning, when Ogle, Emmanuel, Davey and Falk all hit safely, the last hitter making the circuit when his single went through the left fielder. Illinois took the lead with five hits combined with an error and a passed ball, good for five runs. The following inning the visitors continued their assault on Ogle, driving him out of the box, and on Miller, who relieved him, five more hits accounting for four runs.

In the return game at Urbana, Wisconsin had the game won up to the ninth inning when Shortstop Julie Mee of the Illini hit his second home run of the game. There was a man on base at the time, and the score was changed from 3 to 2 in Wisconsin's favor to 4 to 3 for the home team. Mee opened the game with a home run in the first inning. Wisconsin tied that lead in the third when Captain Emanuel hit a double and scored. Illinois scored again in the fifth and Wisconsin went ahead for the first time in the ninth when two runs made the game look good, until Mee duplicated his first-inning drive.

Zulfer made his pitching debut against Purdue. He engaged in a pretty pitching duel with Wagner and left the game at the end of the ninth with the score 1 to 1. Ogle relieved him and lost in the twelfth inning, 2 to 1.

Two errors and an infield out gave Purdue a run in the first inning, and the game went to the ninth before Wisconsin overcame this lead. Farrington doubled, took third on a wild pitch, and scored on Zulfer's hit. Zulfer was then transferred to the outfield and Ogle went in, losing in the twelfth on two hits and an error.

Ohio State came here next for a series of two games, and won both. Zulfer had the extreme misfortune of losing after pitching a no-hit game for nine innings. The game went eleven innings and Wisconsin lost, 4 to 1. Ohio scored an unearned run in the first inning when a base on balls, a sacrifice hit, an infield out, and a passed ball enabled the lead-off hitter to score. Wisconsin tied this lead in the fifth when Willigrod hit to right field, the ball going through the fielder and permitting the first baseman to score. After nine innings of sterling pitching Zulfer permitted two hits in the tenth but pulled out safely in spite of two errors in his support. He allowed three hits in the eleventh and the game was gone when his mates failed to hit behind him.

Ogle was ineffective the following day and Ohio won with comparative ease, 6 to 3, in the regulation number of innings. Fish of Ohio State had the Wisconsin hitters at his mercy and shut them out with three hits, for eight innings. He yielded to Miller in the ninth, and Wisconsin fell on the recruit for four hits and three runs, just half enough. Miller of Wisconsin relieved Ogle in the eighth and donated a run to Ohio's total, on a pass and his own error. Hoffman, the Ohio catcher, hit a home run and a three-base hit, and Fogle hit for three bases, these hits being the features.

Michigan's championship team narrowly escaped a beating at the hands of the Badgers in the last game here. Although the Wolverines won by an 8 to 4 count in 10 innings, the strenuous treatment they were accorded here enabled Illinois to defeat them the following day and spoil a 1.000 per cent record.

Ruzicka started to pitch for Michigan but was withdrawn after passing two batters. Scheidler took up the burden, but he, too, lost control in the ninth inning. This made it necessary for Parks, the captain and star pitcher of the champions, to enter the game. He had to work two innings, and the following day Illinois defeated him for the first time in two years.

Zulfer pitched for Wisconsin, and for the third consecutive time his game went into extra innings. Zulfer left with the score a tie, 4 to 4 in the ninth. Miller relieved him, and Michigan scored four runs off the relief pitcher without half trying.

GERTRUDE ANTHONY, who has been in the Near East Relief service, wrote us on April 4 from Darachichak, Erivan District, Caucasus, as follows: "If I could do justice to my impressions I should be very happy to help get a true picture of these people before our alumni, but every time I sit down to write, such a mess of new experiences crowds for expression that nothing but an incoherent jumble results. A year ago we saw death from starvation every time we stepped outside our doors. There is still death from slow starvation, even in the cities, and in the out-of-the-way villages like those of the Darachichak district this winter has been almost as bad as last. The people have been so weakened that they have no resistance and the long severe winter here in the mountains has taken heavy toll. I haven't figures for all of my twenty-two villages but in many, over half of the people died during the winter. We could not get flour to them, partly because of bad roads, and partly because we lacked American personnel to supervise the work. When new workers came in January I was sent up here. A week of steady snow blocked everything, but toward the end of February with the help of the militia we got the roads cleared and trains of donkeys and ox-sledges brought enough flour for a few of the most destitute villages. We are getting enough now so that we feel sure that we can give a half a funt (about seven ounces) to each person per day. We supposed that used clothing from America had been sent here, but it got diverted somewhere, and many families have not enough clothing so that more than one can go out of doors at a time. It is said there is a trainload at Batum, but no transportation.

"For two years these people have not had seed. We are exchanging flour for wheat, barley, potatoes, corn, and millet for distribution among them, but there will not be enough for all the land. An effort is being made to have the government assign land to refugees in time for the spring planting since there seems to be no hope of repatriation this year.

"You know there is fighting on all boundaries. We had to bring the orphans from Garmerlu to Erivan last week. Whole villages in that region are being massacred by the Tartars. 'If only America would take the mandate!' is what we hear on all sides.

"I am afraid that even we who are here are in danger of being complacent when we see the contrast between now and a year ago. But the job is so much bigger than just feeding and clothing the people! Even this we are not more than half doing. And what good is accomplished by prolonging a miserable existence, if there is no hope of self-support and self-respect. And we say the children are the hope of this land. They are, but unless something can be done soon they will be a very slim hope. I wish you could see them. Masses of them, crowded into inadequate buildings, half clothed, fed fairly well, and nothing to do. Pitiful attempts at industrial education with no tools and almost no material, and more pitiful attempts at school, with teachers and equipment such as five long years of war and massacre have left. Children with memories of horrors and misery such as our imaginations cannot compass, with minds eager and active, ready even now to believe in good,—what are we giving them? It wouldn't matter so much for a few months, but the prospects are that we can never do anything for more than a few of them. If ever there was a hot house for future bolshevists our orphanages answer the description.

"And those of us who are here trying to help are just learning some of the things we need to know, and our time is up and we are going home. A few are staying over another three months. The new people are going through the same mistakes, will learn the same lessons,—and go home. We need a more permanent force if we are to gain the confidence of the people, and do more than just save a part of the lives of Armenia."

ELSIE GLUCK, of New York City, won the Vilas Prize. Her essay was on Randolph Bourne.

ANTHONY ZULFER of Chicago was awarded the Conference Medal for proficiency in athletics and scholarship. "Tony" is a "W" winner in basketball and baseball, a versatile performer in both sports, and a student of more than the ordinary ability. During the year just closed Zulfer played forward and center on the basketball team. In baseball his specialty is pitching, but injuries made it necessary for this athlete to play first base the first half of the schedule. He pitched three late games and had the misfortune not to win any of them, although he made his opponents go extra innings in each case. When it was not his turn to pitch he was used in the outfield on account of his batting ability. Coaches Kent and Lowman will miss this faithful, willing and talented athlete next year.

CHARLES CARPENTER was awarded the Conference Medal in 1919. Owing to his absence in war service the presentation was deferred until this year. Carpenter possesses general popularity in numerous representative student activities from which he will be missed as well as by the Department of Athletics.

The deaths of two students brought sorrow to the University of Wisconsin during the Memorial day week-end.

Amanda Hanson of Ashland, junior in the College of Letters and Science, was killed in an automobile collision on a Madison street on May 31. Marjorie Huber of Minocqua and Mary Voorhees of Washington, D. C., were seriously injured in the accident.

Carl Jandorf of Grand Rapids, Mich., sophomore in the Course in Commerce, was shot on May 28 by a policeman during the arresting of a freshman suspected of having stolen a barber pole for the annual "cap night" bonfire.

The freshman in whose behalf Jandorf intervened pleaded not guilty to the charge of having taken the barber pole. The policeman has been held on two charges, first degree murder and second degree manslaughter.

No mobs, riots, or violence, such as was reported in certain press dispatches, took place. Only about 75 students witnessed the shooting, and the "cap night" celebration was abandoned in respect for their dead classmate. City and University authorities have since commended the student body for their calmness and self-control after the event and for making no effort to take the law into their own hands.

A census of Wisconsin's resources in motion picture machines and stereopticon lanterns is now being made through a state survey questionnaire which has just been sent out to a large number of organizations by the Extension Division.

A New Society has taken its place among the University's honor organizations. A chapter of Phi Kappa Phi was recently installed as a result of the efforts of members of the faculty to bring this honorary fraternity to Wisconsin. The basis of membership is two-fold. No person is eligible who does not stand within the first one-fourth of the students of his or her college. Character and strong personality are the other qualities on which election is based. Members are chosen at the end of the junior year, when men and women have had ample time to demonstrate their attitude toward scholastic work, and their qualities of leadership.

CAMPUS NOTES

Sixty-five students, juniors and seniors, recently elected to the Phi Beta Kappa, were initiated at the twenty-second annual initiation of the Wisconsin alpha chapter of the honorary scholastic fraternity. A banquet was held in recognition of the election of President E. A. Birge to the United Chapters of Phi Beta Kappa. Dr. Birge gave the annual address.

A Gold Star service in memory of the University's 125 heroes who gave their lives in the World War was held on the Lincoln Terrace at the University on Memorial day. A procession of 125 women students, clad in white and each bearing a gold star wreathed in green, marched from the lower end of the campus through a gateway made by two ornamental columns to the Lincoln Terrace, and placed the gold stars at the foot of the statue of Abraham Lincoln.

The Memorial Day service was a repetition of the first Gold Star service held on Alumni Day, June 24, 1919, as a part of the dedication of Lincoln Terrace. That service was said to be the first of its kind held by any university, and a repetition of it, linking the name of Lincoln with the heroes of the Great War, is to become an annual Memorial Day custom. A booklet entitled "The University's Tribute to Her Men in the Service and the Dedication of Lincoln Terrace," published last summer, described the service, and copies were sent to the parents of the heroes, with letters from President E. A. Birge.

"The Battle Hymn of the Republic" opened the Memorial Day service. President Birge introduced Major G. S. Bryan, overseas soldier and member of the faculty, who gave the following Eulogy of the Dead:

"Heroic dead of the great world war, wearers of the olive drab whom the grim reaper has claimed, a nation honors your memory today! Some few of you have come back home to us and are at rest in the peace and quiet of God's acres, but your great army lies overseas in that land for which you fought, for which you gave your very life blood.

"O, comrades, do you hear us while we speak? For in memory we live with you again through those anxious, hurried weeks of the training camps; through that never to be forgotten hour when your convoy moved out to sea and the great adventure was begun; or that thrill when at last you stood upon the sacred soil of France with the words of your great commander-in-chief ringing in your ears: 'Lafayette, we are here!'

"What words can ever fittingly describe the days that followed as wave on wave of your comrades in olive drab broke upon the shores of France! Cantigny, Chateau Thierry, Belleau

Wood, St. Mihiel, the Champagne, the Argonne—what a virile manhood, what a glorious heroism, what a wondrous spirit of self sacrifice marked you there! No martial music, no pomp and splendor of war; instead, cold, rain, mud, oftimes hunger and sleeplessness, the utter weariness of body and soul and to these added the horrors, the frightfulness of modern war—oh, how they beat down upon you, but never once did your dauntless spirit falter!

“In memory we revisit your resting places. In little groups here and there upon the shell-torn battlefields the crosses stand. Perhaps a faithful comrade, your buddie, has hung your helmet on the cross and tenderly laid a shattered gun beside your grave—mute tributes to a faithful heart. Oh, but you could not remain so scattered in that lonely desolate, shell-blasted region! With infinite care, with infinite tenderness, they have gathered you into your last great camps, and there on this day France too, honors you as she honors her own sacred dead.

“O wearers of the olive drab, sleep on in peace! Ye have not died in vain! The cause for which you gave your all has triumphed, and your spirit, in the heart of our nation, lives on! What a glorious heritage you have left us!

“Gathering at your shrine on these memorial days we shall ever gain fresh inspiration as we remember your devotion to duty, your superb courage, your spirit of unselfishness, your supreme sacrifice.”

Dean G. C. Sellery read the names of the heroes as the wreaths were placed at Lincoln's feet.

Over 6,000 former students are now members of the Wisconsin Alumni Association.
