EXPOSITION IS SUBJECT FOR CONVOCATION

Thursday, April 7, Designated For All—University Meeting

Frances Ellen Tucker '21 and Wesley Travers '21 will be the student speakers at the all-university convocation in the men's gymnasium Tuesday, April 7, at 4:30 p. m. The faculty speaker will be announced later.

This convocation is for the purpose of acquainting students not actually working on Exposition committees with the scope and importance of the Exposition. It will also enable committee members to understand the relation of their committees to the whole project more fully than they could in any other way.

Outline Meaning of Exposition.

The meaning of the Exposition to the university and the state, outline of all the arrangements for the Exposition, and the students' duty in spreading the news of it throughout the state will be the subjects taken up by the speakers.

Students will be especially asked to talk about the Exposition during their spring vacation, and to advertise it among the high school students in their homes.

All classes will be dismissed at 4:30 Thursday, in order that every member of the student body may attend. It is hoped that by this means every student at Wisconsin will be able to explain intelligently the general facts about the Exposition.

The committee on arrangements for the convocation is headed by Milton Borman '21. The other members are Wesley Travers '21 and Elmer A. Kletzien '23.

WOMEN MEET IN DEBATE TONIGHT

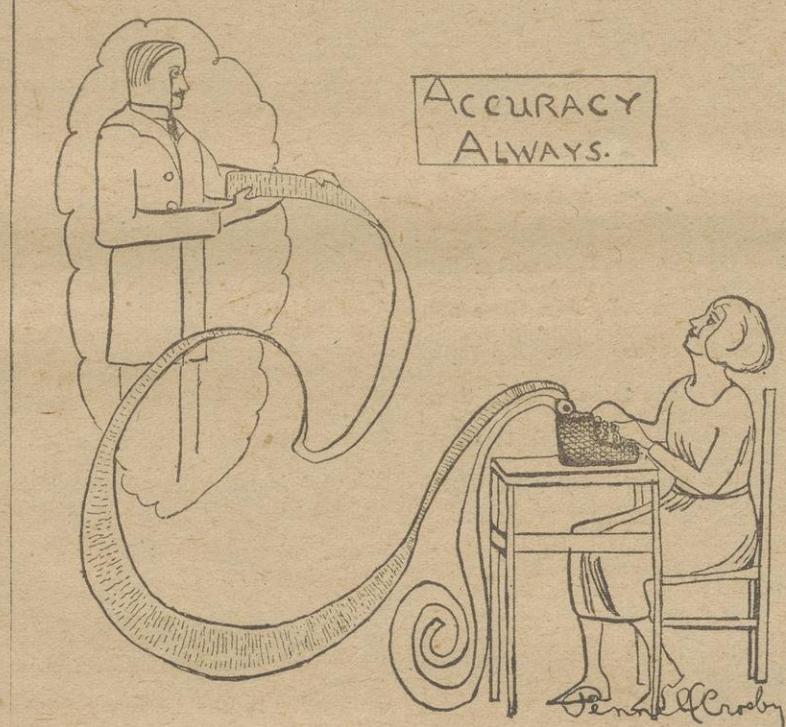

Co-eds will appear in their most sombre attitude tonight at 7:30 in Music hall when debaters representing Pythia and Castalia Literary societies will meet in the annual girl's Joint debate to argue the question: "Resolved, that the Philippines be given an independence equal to that of Cuba." Admission will be free to everyone.

Castalia will support the affirmative with a team composed of Florence Koltes '23, Mildred Throne '23, and Gladys Haskins '22, closer; while Pythia will take the negative with Fern Busby '21, Carol Conlee '22, and Eleanor Shearer '22 closer.

Chief Justice R. G. Siebecker, of the state supreme court will be the chairman of the evening, and at the close of the debate, will award gold pins to each of the contestants indicative of their participation in the debate.

The judges will be: H. C. Cracken, P. M. Cuncannon, and Paul Knoplund, all members of the university faculty. In keeping with an established tradition all literary societies will adjourn their meetings until the conclusion of the debates in order to attend the contest in a body.

THE JOURNALIST'S DREAM APRIL FOOL!

It Never Could Be True

"Last night I dreamed a wondrous dream," said Vi, of C. J. 3. "Over the piles of copy sheets the great ed came to me. 'The mighty man did smile and said, 'All that you write I'll take.' 'I tapped on my Corona till I thought the keys would break. 'The copy I had written stretched for at least a mile, 'And still the ed he asked for more, with a delighted smile. 'I thought of all the things I'd buy, with the money I had earned, 'The thoughts jazzed off my fingertips, and oh—the genius burned! 'But it's all a dream that will never come true," she said, "alas, it's 'crool;'" "For I woke up and found it was the morn of April Fool!"

MORAL

One Dime is Only Ten Cents and it May Save Your Neck

It was a sunny Sunday, and the infirmary was crowded with benevolent visitors.

"Oh, the poor fellow!" cried co-ed Edith, as he noticed him lying there with his neck twisted so far askew that his sole outlook on life was the back of his neck. "Oh, the poor boy! Perhaps he was at the bottom of the elevator shaft in Bascom when the elevator fell!" And she laid a box of chocolates and a bouquet of Bavarian orchids on his cot and passed sighingly on. "Oh, what a shame," exclaimed the dean, who was spending his vacation visiting the infirmary, "no doubt he was pitched headlong out of a class, and was unfortunate enough to fall on his neck." And he passed sighingly on.

The point is, the whole incident just goes to show that while virtue often goes unrewarded, a character like the poor fellow, who got his neck in that condition by trying to read other students' Cardinals, instead of buying one of his own, is pampered and made much of.

SOCIAL EXPERT TO DISCUSS PROBLEM OF LABOR MIX-UP

Whiting Williams, one of the country's best known social experts, who has attracted national attention through his personal investigation of labor conditions, is to speak in 165 Bascom hall this afternoon at 4:30, on the subject of "The Industrial Mix-up and Some Ways Out."

While director of personnel of the Hydraulic Pressed Steel company of Cleveland, in charge of 4,000 men, he took a leave of absence, donned overalls and with $25 in his pockets joined the ranks of unskilled labor. For seven months he worked as a member of the labor gangs of various steel plants, coal mines and shipyards. While with his "buddies" at work or in the boarding house, he tried to get at their feelings.

Mr. Williams spent last summer in the coal mines of South Wales and in the steel plants and on the docks of England and Scotland. Since returning he has given a course of lectures on the labor problem in the Harvard graduate school of business administration and in the Department of Applied Psychology in Carnegie Institute of Technology, Pittsburgh.

ELECTION FOR S. G. A. PLACES OCCURS TODAY

Five Officers Will be Named for Next Year

Final election of S. G. A. officers will take place today at Lathrop hall. The polls will be open from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m.

Electioneering for candidates is taboo, according to Marie Bodden, S. G. A. president. "The polls will be policed," said Miss Bodden, "and canvassing will not be permitted. Anyone desiring information about a candidate will be referred to the posted sheet of names and qualifications."

All women in the university who are registered as S. G. A. members are qualified to vote.

The candidates are:

For President

Ellen Correll '22, Y. W. C. A. cabinet council 1, 2, 3; Outing club president 3; W. A. A. board 3; Prom committee 3; woman's chairman Ice carnival.

Caryl Parkinson '22, Y. W. C. A. cabinet 2, 3; president of freshman commission, sophomore commission, secretary of Cardinal Board of Control 3; A. C. F. board 2, 3; Country Magazine staff, Euthenics club, Varsity Jamboree committee 2, 3; Homecoming committee 2; Junior Prom 3.

For Vice-President

Frances Beecher '22, Y. W. C. A. cabinet council, Crucible, W. A. A. pin-wearer, manager swimming team 3; chairman S. G. A. exposition 3; chairman women's arrangements Religious conference, Varsity tennis team, Outing club, Dolphin club, Prom committee 3.

Zirian Bish '22, freshman cheerleader, vice-president Red Gauntlet, vice-president Outing club, vice-president Chadbourne hall, treasurer Yellow Tassel, treasurer Y. W. C. A., W. A. A., track team 1; bowling 1, baseball 2.

For Secretary

Dorothy Ware '22, president Yellow Tassel, Judicial committee S. G. A., vice-president junior class, president Keystone, Badger staff 1, 2; Outing club.

Louise Fritsche '22, W. A. A., secretary Outing club, 1921 Y. W. C. A. finance drive, sophomore dance committee.

For Treasurer

Peg Duckett '22, Outing club board 3; S. G. A. board, vice-president Washington, D. C. club.

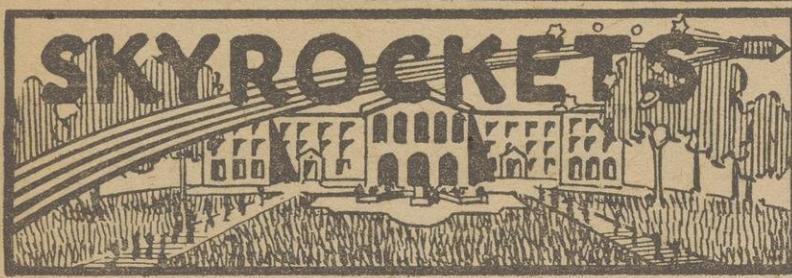

Katharine Ely '22, treasurer Green Button, swimming team 2; mounting editor Badger 3; Y. W. C. A. cabinet council, Pythia, Arts and Crafts club, W. A. A. chairman junior advisory system.

For Census Chairman

Jo Doring '23, Twelfth Night, Outing club, S. G. A. board, hockey squad 2; captain, Y. W. C. A. drive team 3; treasurer Red Gauntlet, Castalia, basketball 1; Varsity baseball.

Isabelle Capps '23, W. A. A., Physical Education club, president sophomore commission, hockey team 1, 2; basketball 2.

The points involved in these positions are: President, 16; vice-president, 10; secretary, 8; treasurer, 8; census chairman, 6. The S. G. A. point system, of which the census chairman is in charge, regulates the number of activities in which students may engage.

On seeing Ralph Scheinpflug clad in glad golf array working busily in the Union building, we had the illuminating idea which enables us to offer this solution regarding the reason for the costume: He wears them for outside activities.

FEATURE STORIES
The maiden turned her story in,
The editor inspected it,
And then, without a look at her,
He brutally rejected it.
"It's saleable, without a doubt,
If you would bring the features out."

He looked at her; her cheeks were red,
Her lips were shining redder yet,
Her eyebrows were a penciled line,
Her ears bore each a pound of jet;
"My meaning do not misconstrue—
It's the story I have reference to."

One of the Tri Delt national songs has a chorus in which each chapter is expected to insert its chapter Greek letter. On the suggestion of Eva McFarland, the Wisconsin chapter has abandoned the singing of the song, for when the sisterhood begins to carol, "Mu, mu," it sounds a bit.....

"Will you call Alex Field?" queried a sweet voice over the phone.

"Well," retorted the brother, "We don't know anything else to call him."

SATURDAY VS. WEDNESDAY
When Julius Sylvester Darius McWhorter comes down over again to visit his daughter, just see what her typewriter writes:

A-B-C-D-E-F-G-H-I-J-K—

Never a miss
In a line like this!

But Phyllis Augusta Matilda MacWhorter, when father goes home, doesn't do what she oughter; Her typewriter gaily she smiles:

A-ZZZZ! $$$$$$—X

The gay little miss writes something like this!

THE WAIL OF THE CO-EDS TO THE MOVIE HERO

I.
We loved him for his stature tall, And for his manly bearing most, But now we see him every day Crouched criminallike behind a post.

II.
We thought his lips were perfect rouge, There was such color in his cheek, But now he wears a yellow hue, And he looks so pale he must be weak.

III.
We thought his lips were perfect quite (Though we would not confess we did) But if—we cannot finish this— Imagine how grease paint would skid.

IV.
We love his profile still—we must— We worship still, we have no choice, We wonder at his famed "technique," But Oh! how much we miss his voice!

Walt Schwinn tells us there's just one thing against his job as skyrocket editor—is that he can't put his own name in print—so here is in 10 point:

WALTER SCHWINN—wanted "To be big on the hill"—Call Sigma Nu house.

PROPHECY OF THE SENIOR CLASS IN JOURNALISM

Ten little maids wedded to the pen, All graduated—see what happened then!
Ten little penmen, standing in a line;
One buys a typewriter—then there are nine.
Nine before the editor stand in line and wait;
One gets impatient, then there are eight.
Eight think reporting would be simply heaven,
One becomes a critic, then there are seven.
Seven are approached, a snappy tale to fix;
One takes the money, then there are six.
Six go to work, like bees in a hive;
One gets spring fever, then there are five.
Five write a story that makes the Mayor sore;
One has a libel suit, then there are four.
Four go to cover Mrs. Tip-Top's tea,
One spells her name wrong, then there are three.
Three then resolve to stick to what is true;
One writes on politics, then there are two.
Two write a feature story on a bandit's gun,
One thought it wasn't loaded, then there was one.
She wrote a feature "Is matrimony best?"
The editor agreed with her—and you can guess the rest.

And Mrs. Harding's contribution to normalcy is reducing the skirt line.

"Tis rumored that spring suits for men will be sober—the hip pocket is to be eliminated.

The Cardinal Editor's Complaint
Co-eds to right of me,
Co-eds to left of me,
Nearly a hundred,
Press time—our biggest day—
What did it matter?—Say! EVERYONE blundered!

THE nosy NEWSIETTE
She asks the most important question of the day, once a year. What could co-eds do to improve themselves?

Leon Kaumheimer: I think that on the whole, the co-eds need a mother. They are subjected to great temptations here and I fear many yield.

Don Marvin: If all co-eds would adopt the motto held by one group in school—"Weaken just a little," together with exposure to a good Zete's influence, everybody would be happy.

Bud Follett: They should all learn to cook, sew, and talk intelligently with men. There are other requirements but very few can live up to them. In fact, I've only seen three, and two of those were bluffs.

Bill Sale: Girls should always maintain a delightful conventionality and never for a minute mean anything they say. It makes it so difficult if they do, because handing a line is really the only fun in life. If a girl would follow this creed she'd be a "thing of beauty and a joy forever."

Grant Showerman: Have them wash the paint off their cheeks and do away with their false hair and high heels.

Ourselves: Nothing!

Found in an old April Fool Cardinal:

"FOR GIRLS ONLY"
Who says men aren't onions?

Amy had a little story—
Was it written? Was it sold?
No; the story we refer to
Was the one that Amy told.

Flapper-Janice: My dear, I was out with Larry last night, and he razzed me all evening about—

Filosopher Dixie: I should think you'd consider him a razzberry.

Infamous Last Lines
You're missing the chance of your life time!

Some professors seem to think it's April Fool's day 365 times a year when they're marking blue books.

Heard at one of the Phi Beta Pi dances—(in the dear dead days):
Girl to medic: Oh, gee, I've got an awful pain in my heart, all at once.

Medic to girl: Is it an—acute pain?

Girl to medic: Oh, you horrid thing to be so flip!

Write your own poem:
Co-eds whim
March swim;
Startled shout,
Speedy out!
Shiver grin.

Wonder what some of our eminent would-be scientists think about in class—(A series in nine identical postures):

1. Um-m-no, I cannot agree with his radical theory at all.
2. It is fundamentally wrong. On the other hand, however—

3. Doctor McDulla has some justification for advancing such a—
4. Paradoxical conclusion. Nevertheless, I am convinced he goes too far—much too far—

5. In his thesis he ignores one of the basic elements—TIME
6. He may ultimately gain his objective. But by the use of ascomycetous fungi, the cost of time is—

7. Reduced to a minimum. I shall stand or fall on my conclusion that—

8. Considering both time and potency

9. Yeast is much more efficacious than raisins

We would suggest the following subjects as admirable practice for the student in Skyrocket shooting:
The double-faced record with "The Woman Thou Gavest Me" on one side and "When a Feller Needs a Friend" on the other.
The space in the library periodical room occupied each evening by Harry and Bertha.

The young greencap who inquired frantically where and how he could get an invitation to Dean Fernberg's teas. (This will never appear in any ordinary edition of the Cardinal because of pull with the regular editor of Sky Rockets).

Somebody—Why, one of Bud's eyes is smaller than the other. I don't see how you can—

Louise (indignantly)—It is not, it's larger.

HONORARIES OF BETA CHAPTER ARE FAMOUS

Theta Sigma Phi Has Well-known Writers on Roll

Beta chapter of Theta Sigma Phi has among its honorary members four women who have become famous in the world of letters and journalism.

Zona Gale is, perhaps, the most intimate of the honorary members, because she is a graduate of the university in the class of '95. Zona Gale's home is in Portage Wisconsin, but much of her time is spent in New York where she covers special assignments for the New York World.

She has written much free lance stuff both in fiction and in special articles, but the things that have made Zona Gale most famous and best loved are her Friendship Village stories. They are the sort of stories that "just us folks" love to read and laugh over and cry over. "Miss Lula Bett" which first appeared in a novel form and which Miss Gale dramatized is now playing in New York, where it has had a long and successful run.

Edna Ferber is Honorary. Edna Ferber began her journalistic career on the Appleton Wisconsin Crescent as a reporter. She later worked on the Free Press in Milwaukee, and it is about the Milwaukee newspaper life that her best known novel "Dawn O'Hara" is written. "Emma McCchesney and Co." has been popular as a novel, on the stage, and in the movies.

Honore Willsie is a University of Wisconsin woman. Her husband was also a Wisconsin man, a graduate of the College of Engineering. Mrs. Willsie was the editor of the Delineator for about five years, but two years ago she left the Delineator and is now writing fiction. Many of her stories are intimate descriptions of the life in western mining communities where Mrs. Willsie spent part of her married life. "Still Jim" is one of her vivid and delightful novels of western life and love.

Poetry Editor in Theta Sig. Harriet Monroe is editor of the Poetry magazine. "The Columbian Ode" won for Harriet Monroe her first recognition. "You and I", a book of poems, is Miss Monroe's most noted literary work.

SOPHS AND JUNIORS TIE FOR HIGH PLACE

By the Sophomores defeat of the Juniors, and the Seniors defeat of the Freshmen in the basketball finals last night, the Juniors and Sophomores tie for first place, and the Freshmen and Seniors for third.

Belle Knights and Margaret Henry starred for the Sophomores, who piled up a score of 43-33 against the Juniors. The lineup was as follows:

Juniors	Sophomores
Fritsche, L.	Knights, B.
Lyman, A.	Henry, M.
Maxwell, M.	Clayton, I.
Roach, M.	Kilgore, J.
Strassburger, M.	Mainland, E.
Winchell, I.	Capps, I.
Substitutions — K.	Fish for Fritsche, Barton for Maxwell.
Field throws — Lyman 9, Fritsche 1, Henry 10, Knights 5.
Free throws — Lyman 2, Fritsche 1, Knights 13.

The close guarding of Hazel Wright in the Senior-Freshman game was an outstanding feature. The final score was 23-15 in favor of the Seniors.

The lineup follows:

Seniors	Freshman
Thompson, H.	Harris, E.
Zimmerman, B.	F. Fox, F.
Swift, M.	C. Bilstead, E.
Kropf, D.	C. C. Phillipson, S.
Wright, H.	Lloyd, K.
Albrecht, S.	G. Cherry, J.
Substitutions — Sudor for Cherry, Crane for Phillipson, Snow for Fox, Cherry for Sudor, Calisen for Cherry.
Field throws — Zimmerman 7, Thompson 2, Harris 5, Fox 1, Free throws — Zimmerman 5, Fox 1, Snow 1.

Edits Program For Exposition

WILLIAM M. SALE '22

The chairman of the program committee for the University Exposition is William M. Sale, Louisville, Ky. He was appointed by William Florea '21, general chairman.

Sale was publicity director for the 1922 Prom and editor of the 1920 Homecoming program. He is desk editor of The Daily Cardinal and copy editor of the 1922 Badger. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and Ku Klux Klan.

Good Bill At Orpheum

By D. D. C.

"The Girl With the 1000 eyes," who sees all, knows all, and tells all is the headline attraction at the Orpheum for the entire week. Miss Leon La Mar, an unusually remarkable girl completely baffles her audience by answering all questions asked, and by even describing rows of people.

Mr. Valentine Vox presents his ventriloquial classic "The Clubman". This act is exceptionally good, Mr. Vox, a skillful ventriloquist entertains his audience with a clever conversation with the bell-hop, ending his skit with a whistling selection.

An unusual act was that of Belle Montrose "Her Only Chance" in which she takes a difficult part, more than pleasing her audience.

Jewell and Raymond put on a clever "Just Kids" act. Both have good voices and do their parts well. Gillett opens the bill for this part of the week doing some tumbling and bicycle stunts. In "An Unusual Occurrence" William Mandel and his partner do some clever acrobatic take-offs.

23 CHAPTERS CARRY ON FRATERNITY AIMS

To work constructively for the betterment of conditions of women in journalism, to bring them into closer relationship, and to confer honor upon those who distinguish themselves in the profession are the aims of Theta Sigma Phi, the only national journalistic fraternity for women, which was founded at the University of Washington, April 8, 1909.

Chapters in twenty-three universities and colleges in all parts of the country from California to New York, a membership of about 1,000, and a national journalistic employment bureau for women, show that these aims have been crystallized since the organization of the fraternity.

Only women who intend to engage in active journalism are chosen for membership. Through alumnae organizations the fraternity carries out a policy of forming a connecting link between the undergraduate and the professional journalist.

BOOK COLUMN

Alice B. Munro

MAIN STREET. by Sinclair Lewis
If you are one of the thousands who get off the train at some little Gopher Prairie and make your way home near Main street, you will be sure to ejaculate "How true!" on reading page after page of this novel. It is the story of a drab little country middle-western town, and the efforts of Carol Kennicott to teach the inhabitants to substitute the art of living for the struggle of existence. It has chiefly been criticized as not portraying the other side of Main street with its well-furnished homes, filled book-cases, and shaded lights, which most small towns boast in greater or less degree.

POTTERISM, by Rose Macaulay

Are you the sort of a person who drinks in 4:30 and 7 o'clock lectures, soaking up what you call inspiration as a waffle does syrup? And then do you go smugly home to reflect on how much better the lecture has made you? Or does that sort of an attitude make you sick, as it does Rose Macaulay, who calls all such cant, posing, insincerity, and sentimentality? The book itself is written in most un-Potterish style, sharply clever, with clear-cut character portrayal, and a fresh, sane view-point on life.

MARYWOLIASTON, by Henry Kitchell Webster

For young freshman girls, especially finishing school products, who adore to revel in conventionalized bohemianism, this book is perhaps not designed, but they probably constitute the greater part of the public who have made Mary Wollaston a this year's best seller. She smokes, my dear, incessantly, and all throughout she lives, with a capital L.

HAUNTED BOOKSHOP, by Christopher Morley

The bookish person who loves to come across familiar and friendly references to his favorite authors, will find in the author of the "Haunted Bookshop" a kindred spirit. The description of the Bookshop itself, "of a warm and comfortable obscurity," full of little nooks for browsing, makes one long for the reality. But many people, skipping all discussions of books and authors, would find in this a really thrilling novel, with bombs and Germans and chefs and President Wilson inextricably entangled, up to the very end. This is not a great book, but for either sort of person, it is an extremely entertaining one.

MRS. WARREN'S DAUGHTER, by Sir Harry Johnston

Rather intelligent people will welcome Sir Harry Johnston as one of their favorite modern authors, from the evidence of this book and of "The Gay-Dombey," which preceded it. But those who like a frothy novel, which will not tax what minds they have will find it quite bore-some. Mrs. Warren of this book is she of Bernard Shaw's play, "Mrs. Warren's Profession," and her daughter and many of the other characters are taken also from the play. A knowledge of English politics and a rather wide range of

Delightfully Inconsistent

The co-ed's wardrobe for the new season is to be a thing of delightfully feminine inconsistencies. Frocks dignifiedly long and slender will rub elbows with frocks frivolously short and billowy. Dresses quite frankly of continental peasant inspiration will consort with others of such aristocratic ancestry as the Spanish costume. But this much is certain—Canton crepe is especially favored.

One charming little model is a brown Canton crepe frock with slender lines, wonderful contours—very naive in its simplicity—size 38 $27.50

Sashes An Important
Detail---

Sashes are rampant in the land of fashion. Moyen age and oriental styles call for these graceful girdles. The simplest of frocks take on new life with the addition of a Roman striped girdle, a yarn embroidered sash or one of shiny cire satin.

Long dangling sashes and many colored fringes add vivid touches—new dresses and old respond to the enlivening sashes—$2.50, $4.95, $7.50 to $13.50.

Tricolettes and fringes for gay scarfs or sashes at special prices.

Long Gloves Are Smart---

The new costume simply demands fresh new gloves, preferably long ones. Smart new modes are here in silk, chamoisette or kid gloves.

At $1.50 we have the 12-button chamoisette gloves in mastic beaver.

At $2.00 we have the long 12 and 16 button length, in white, pongee, grey and navy.

At $5.50 we have the 12 button kid glove in brown, grey and white.

At $7.00 we have the 16 button kid glove in brown, grey and white.

Music Memory Selection

Fourteenth of 28 Daily Selections for Friday, April 1.

Overture from William Tell (four parts), by Rossini (1792-1868).

You know the old story of William Tell, the Swiss patriot, whom a foreign tyrant forced to shoot an apple from his son's head, and who later led his countrymen in a successful revolt against oppression. Today's selection is a musical summary of this story.

Gioachino Rossini was an early successful Italian opera composer. Only two of his many works are heard in their entirety now: the opera, Barber of Seville; and the oratorio, Stabat Mater, which is operatic in style. Today's selection, which is almost all that has survived of the opera, represents Rossini at his best—dramatic, intensely virile, attractive, flowing.

This overture is program music in that it illustrates a story. There are four clearly marked parts typifying the peaceful life, the sudden anger, the calm period of reflection, and the final uprising.

Part I. At dawn. The music seems to be moving upward, thus suggesting the development of dawn into day. After a short prelude a lovely melody appears filled with the spirit of peace and lonely grandeur of the Alpine heights.

Part II. The storm. The music is realistic and highly descriptive. The opening tones of the violins well suggest the hurrying and scurrying of all life to some place of shelter. Soon the storm breaks in all its fury. Every instrument of the orchestra is in rapid, excited, noisy action. The lightning flashes. The thunder's roar is tossed from crag to crag in ever-increasing reverberation. When nature's rough frolic is over, the sun appears, the bird, beast and fowl emerge from their shelter. The shepherd's horn is sounded, and peace and calm again settle over the mountain side.

Part III. The calm. The storm has passed and all nature is calm. The villagers issue from their houses, and we heard the notes of the shepherd as he leads his flocks to the fields.

Part IV. Finale. The thought of the finale is military throughout. The first fanfare of trumpets is the call to arms. Solo instruments relate various incidents in the progress of events. These narratives seem to be personal and individual but are soon interrupted by the tap of drums and the call to action. Then comes the jubilant music of an elaborate coda announcing the well-earned victory.

The fourteenth selection in last year's contest was Ave Maria by Bach-Gounod.

LOST

A Spanish Vamp—And the Plot Thickens Into Sailors and Senoritas

Dress rehearsal—concluding suggestions, last touches, final assurances—"The Maid and the Middy" is ready for the public performance tonight.

The final rehearsal of the Gun and Blade play went off so successfully last night that the usual remark, "well you know a poor dress rehearsal means a good show" was not to be heard among the scattered dress rehearsal audience.

Color dominates the play—gay Spanish senoritas, sinuous harem girls, Egyptian dancers, brilliantly dressed masqueraders all in contrast to the shining whiteness of the sailor uniforms worn by the members of the Lakeside boatclub gives and fancy dress party in the second act a color effect seldom found in an amateur performance.

Added to this are a great variety of special dances, comedy and music including a Spanish dance by fifty girls, a vagabond dance by Julia Hanks '21 and a sailor's hornpipe by Gun and Blade members, the clever antics of "Doc" Hughes '21, as Beer Dill, and the singing of the Soldier's Chorus from Faust by the Mozart club under the direction of Alexious Baas, which is worked into the plot through the vaudeville program presented at the fancy dress party.

Anita causes all the trouble—anita, the mysterious Spanish vamp who disappears causing the count to accuse Billy of the deed. Anita shows up at the end and surprises everybody, but not before the count has demanded Billy's life or that of the Maid for his lost Anita, and—you'll have to see "the Maid and the Middy" at the Fuller tonight for the thrilling outcome. Anita is different from most vamps!

The leading parts in the play will be taken by Dewey Edson '21, as Valeris Vane, the Maid. Although the ticket sale for the comedy has been good, there are still a number of seats to be had. These may be secured from members of the Gun and Blade club on the campus today or at the Filled box office.

Fifty per cent of the proceeds of the musical comedy will be turned over to the Memorial Building fund while the remainder will be used to help finance a club house for the disabled ex-service men at the university, according to John E. Sheldon '22, business manager of the play.

WAGE MEETING IS HELD TODAY

Builders and Employees Confer; Settlement is Expected

Wage agreements for 1921 in the building trades need not be concluded until April 5 under a plan to be submitted to a joint conference of employers' and workmen's representatives at the Master Builders' association hall at 4 Thursday afternoon. The present wage agreements expire at midnight Thursday but the time has been extended to permit ample consideration of the plan. Both sides appear to be confident no trouble will arise.

No announcement was made following a meeting of the master builders Wednesday evening concerning the plan for fixing the wage scales in the different crafts affected.

Socialist is Unseated by N. Y. Legislature

ALBANY, N. Y. The State assembly by a vote of 77 to 62 Wednesday night declared vacant the seat of Assemblyman Henry Jager, socialist, of Kings county. Jager, it was charged, was a resident of New Jersey when he was elected.

The Riotous Reporters

Question: What do you think of the woman journalist?

Where asked: Front yard of the Union building in the morning and back yard of Ag hall in the afternoon.

CORRINGTON GILL: Women journalists are all right. But their place is in the home, learning to make good, hot coffee. As an outside activity it's all right while the husband is at the club and providing all darning is done and buttons are sewed on. Otherwise.....No*

BILL FLOREA: I've had no experience with women.

ESTHER VAN WAGONER: I consider myself a living example. Mary Roberts Rhinehart is, however, worth mentioning.

LEE McCANDLESS: Although I am very young yet to have an opinion, I feel that if the woman journalists will support me in my oncoming campaign, she's for the public good.

HANS GUDE: Ay bane for 'em yust now.

RODNEY WELCH: Professions for women are sometimes exigent. In such a case, a woman should give no voice to any acrimoniousness but should turn to journalism as a mitigation of the adversity of the circumstances. There should be no vituperative premeditation to the decision; it should be spontaneous and irrefragable. Then, while some may be viridescent in method, I consider the woman journalist the acme of delightful occupationists. This is no sycophantic statement.

GEORGE BUNGE: She must be young and pretty and know how to admire me. Otherwise I should not consent to an interview.

BUD FOLLETT: The woman journalist is permissible to long as she is properly censored. However, I cannot have them present at my convocations with the university women.

THE DUKE DI KAKIAK: I must reserve my opinion for the skyrockets. I have enough trouble filling the column without giving out any potential ideas.

PAT DENNIS: Wicked! wicked! I don't like 'em. Interfere with my smoking and cussing during office hours. Ain't a good idear.

Gosh, I came back from seeing "The Nut", ran up the stairs three at a time, jumped over a bedroom chair. That's the way Doug makes you feel in this picture. It is better than a double coke with amonia or two cups of black coffee.

The plot isn't so much—there's a girl, as usual, that Doug is head over heel in love with (we think that's a vurr good way of describing the gentleman's athletic amours) only this time the girl has a big project to which she is devoting her life, namely, that of raising slum children to a high intellectual level by bringing them in contact with the homes of the rich and cultured people—and her lover tries to win her affections by putting her plan before influential folks. But he is such a irresponsible, dizzy sort of person—a regular "nut"—that's his attempt always end disastrously. A grand scramble at the end with Doug riding gambling houses, rescuing his beloved and getting married in jail.

Marguerite La Motte is passively pretty girl and there are some cute kiddies in the picture and attractive settings—but it is Doug who puts the picture over—Doug as a peppy punctual and—long may he wave!

Parliamentary practice will be led by Gerald H. Heebink '23.

S. G. A. ELECTIONS ARE HELD TODAY

Twenty-eight candidates for the their equipment to the Camp Randall lockers on Friday or Saturday of this week, and all further diamond practice will be held on the field at Randall.

Coach Guy S. Lowman is sending his men through a daily practice in preparation for the first preliminary game of the season against Northwestern college on Wednesday, April 6. The initial contest will be mainly an experiment to find a winning combination for Wisconsin, and the majority of the 28 men will probably get into the game before the last man is put out.

Although members of last year's squad have an edge in the struggle for regular positions on the nine, Coach Lowman has made no division of the squad into first and second teams, and he will not cut down the squad until shortly before the start of the conference baseball season.

Industrial Girls to Honor Mrs. Blaine

Mrs. John J. Blaine, wife of the governor, will be guest of honor at an industrial girls club dinner at the Y. W. C. A. Thursday evening. Other invited guests are Mayor and Mrs. I. Mrs. Jennings graduated from the College of Letters and Science of the university in 1917. She is a member of Alpha Xi Delta sorority and of Phi Beta Kappa. Mrs. Jennings is also a member of Theta Sigma Phi, women's national honorary journalistic fraternity.

SIXTEEN PLAYERS WILL GIVE MUSIC
AT MILITARY BALL

Music for the 1921 Military ball will be furnished by a 16-piece Thompson's orchestra, instead of the First Regimental band, as has been the custom in the past.

The First Regimental band will furnish the music for the reception, which will be held in the governor's office and reception room at 8:20. The full university band, consisting of sixty pieces, will furnish a carefully selected program, and the music committee urges all persons attending the ball to plan to be present at the reception.

Members of the committee to arrange for the music are: Maj. Joseph B. Bolendar, chairman, Lieut. Claire C. Ongdon, Lieut. Donald M. Bennett, Lieut. John H. Jaquish.

Exhibit

Prominent alumni from other cities will address the Exposition spectators by wireless by means of a loud speaking electrifier attached to the wireless apparatus as a part of the exhibit of the physics department.

A type of submarine detector installed on battleships by the Allied war department is to be exhibited in the swimming pool. Among the other interesting demonstrations of the physics department will be moving picture apparatus, an X-ray machine, a powerful magnet, and liquid air with its uses.

To see ourselves as others see us will be made possible by a large double mirror which enables one to see one's reflection exactly as he is and not in the usual opposite position.

The machinery used in the administration of our government will be explained by the political science exhibit. The machinery for calculating the tax rate is especially featured. Official documents, photographs of prominent statesmen, and the League of Nations covenant are to be seen.

Four heads make the division of this department's display: general political science, American government including local phases, European government and comparative government, and international law and diplomacy.

TEBELL AND TOBEY OUT FOR ATHLETIC AND UNION BOARDS

With the filing of more petitions in the office of Dean Goodright for the coming elections in April, Gustav K. Tebell '23 announces his candidacy for football member of the Athletic board and Paul T. Tobey '23 is the first to announce his candidacy for the sophomore position on the Union board.

Tebell is a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity and has won letters both in football and basketball this year. He is also a member of the varsity baseball squad. Tobey is a member of Gun and Blade club.

The case of Herbert Brockhausen '22, who is running for editor-in-chief of the Badger, was taken up by the election committee of the Student senate. It was decided that Brockhausen, who is an adult special student, will be eligible for the office, Arthur Trost '23, is running for business manager on the same ticket.

Other candidates for office are Corrington C. Gill '22, for junior member of the Union board, Roland Williams, '23 or basketball representative on the Athletic board, Julian Lunney '24, for sophomore member of the Badger board.

FEMININE BOWLING
GETS RECOGNITION

"Bowling as Organized for Women at the University of Wisconsin" is the title of an article in the January number of the American Physical Education Review, by Mary R. McKee '10, formerly an instructor in the department of physical education here.

"Bowling is probably the greatest American indoor sport today," writes Miss McKee. "It is not only popular among the men, but women are beginning to take it up as a pleasant form of exercise and recreation."

Miss McKee outlines the plan of organization at Wisconsin, and illustrates the perpetual tournament with several diagrams.

How the class squads and teams are chosen, how the champion team is picked by elimination, and what the inter-sorority contest is, are explained in careful detail by the writer. Particular emphasis is put on the recreational value of bowling.

"It develops co-ordination and poise, and a certain patience and stick-to-it-iveness that is often lacking in our American make-up," adds Miss McKee.

Miss McKee is in charge of the physical education department at Washington State College, Pullman, Wash.

"THE RIVALS" WILL BE PRESENTED BY PROFESSIONAL CAST

Whitney Williams Will Talk
This Afternoon in Bascom
Hall

Sheridan's "The Rivals," which is considered one of the purest comedies on the modern stage, will be given by the Coffer-Miller players, who have appeared in many leading educational institutions of America, in Music hall on Saturday, April 9, at 2:30 and 8 p. m.

The problem of the play concerns itself with a certain Miss Lydia Languish, a frivolous young thing, who is hopelessly in love with "Beverley," an unknown ensign. Her aunt, however, has different plans as to the future life and happiness of her niece, and endeavor to bring about a match with a young gallant, Captain Absolute. Thus, we have presented before our very eyes "The Rivals," and a duel on the field of honor naturally must be the result.

The proceeds of the play will be used to establish a student loan fund. Tickets are $1.10 and may be secured at the Bursar's office, at the Menges' pharmacy on the square, or at the office of the dean of men. Reservations will be made at the Bursar's office. Music will be furnished by the university orchestra.

MAIL ORDER BALL
TICKETS MUST BE SECURED TODAY

Today is the last day that the Military ball tickets which were reserved during the mail order sale may be secured. All tickets which have not been called for by tomorrow will be placed on open sale.

There are a large number of groups that have ordered tickets and that have not as yet called for their reservations. The ticket committee urges all such groups to get their tickets at once.

Larry Warner, chairman of the committee, can be reached at B. 197 today between 12 and 2, and between 4:30 and 7:30. The tickets sell for $3.50, and cash must accompany all orders.

Tickets may also be secured from the University pharmacy, Morgan's Park hotel, and the military department office. Spectators' seats are on sale at 75 cents.

JANICE JOY: I don't know much about one. But if it is nice I would just love to be one.

MARION GOODWIN: I wouldn't be anything else. It gives me that opportunity for freedom and independence for which I earnestly seek and at the same time keeps up with all the latest gossips.

TOM COXON: I think that they are real sweet.

REGGIE GARSTANG: Some are prying old pen scratchers (he hasn't heard of the typewriter) and for a bunch of hot air, alliteration, and curly cues, call on the feminine scribe.

PROFESSIONAL interest that satisfies itself with the finished product, scholarship steadily maintained, and an innate interest in activities—these are the basis upon which Wisconsin selects those women journalists who shall compose the personnel of her contribution to the national journalist organization known as Theta Sigma Phi.

The novelty of women in journalism as a profession has long since worn off. Nor are they limited any longer to the role of society editor or "sob sister," in the narrower sense. These restrictions, too, have gone.

The women's press clubs of the larger cities, women's advertising clubs, and general business women's clubs with special large committees devoted to journalistic work, denotes the firm establishment of the profession among those already at work.

Theta Sigma Phi means recognition in college life of those qualities which are essential to the successful journalist and writer. By virtue of its national organization it makes for a general union of women publicists. The undergraduate organization is, therefore a vital step toward professional contact not only for the undergraduate but later for the graduate also.

The Women's National Journalistic Register, which was organized last year when the national convention was held at Wisconsin, is only one form of its national activity affording professional contacts. Local university groups in themselves afford much professional contact to their members, not only by means of their programs, but through their honorary members. Among these, Beta of Wisconsin includes the late Ella Wheeler Wilcox, Zona Gale, Harriet Munro, and Edna Ferber.

Aside from associations and theoretical interests the local chapter of Theta Sigma Phi distributes its personnel generally on university publications and assumes annually a special edition of the Cardinal for which it is entirely responsible.

YELLOW JOURNALISM

THERE are two kinds of yellow journalism.

The worse kind of the two is the sort that is manifested in the deliberate distortion of news.

The other is in the calculated, cowardly suppression of news. Both kinds of yellow journalism are bad. We get some of both every now and then, here and elsewhere.

VOTE TODAY

WE are told that there are close to twenty-two hundred women at Wisconsin.

Today is the one day in the year when we need twenty-two hundred votes, votes to elect officers of the Women's Self-Government association.

To forget about it or to postpone it until later today may mean losing your opportunity.

Tomorrow's vote is no vote. S. G. A. will have a paid secretary next year to give detailed help to every university woman. It is up to you to select the undergraduate officers to help and direct her.

Let's vote today at Lathrop, twenty-two hundred strong!

THE THROTTLE ON EDUCATION

A COMMITTEE bill proposing that the tuition be raised to $500 a year will be presented to the assembly this morning with a report unanimously favoring passage. According to those behind the measure it is the avowed intent of the bill to exclude all non-resident students and in this way cut down the need for increased appropriations necessitated by a larger building program.

The Cardinal desires to call attention to the possibility of the legislature making the greatest error that has every been known in the annals of Badger legislative procedure if this bill becomes a law. A university, to be in the true sense of the word a real, constructive medium in the development of world leaders cannot by legal limitations confine itself to the narrow limits of the state and still fulfill this significant role.

It is well to note, at the time that the state mourns the loss of one of the greatest legislators known to America, that if this bill had been a law when he came to dedicate himself to a life of service for the state, Wisconsin might have been denied the services of Charles McCarthy, who came originally from Massachusetts.

The University of Wisconsin has already made its name. If it is to progress; if it is to fulfill the obligations that every taxpayer holds essential, additional funds must be provided regardless of whether or not the doors are closed to out-of-state students.

Complete information on the arguments that will be made by the proponents of this scheme of legislation is not yet available. Friends of the university may rest assured, however, that they will have to exert every legitimate effort in order to keep this proposed law off the statute books.

THETA SIG PLEDGE HARKS BACK TO DARK DAYS OF JOURNALISM

By Gencieve Jackson Boughner
These are some reminiscences of college journalism in my day and I will set them down in the first person, although I know that the newest thing in autobiography is to write in the third person as exemplified by Edward Bok, Henry Adams, and Julius Caesar.

There were only two other girls reporting regularly on the college paper when I was a freshman cub. They were very serious minded, earnest young women, verging upon the blue stocking type. There was also a society editor and when her sorority gave a party and she was not too busy, a brief department of society news appeared. When her social affairs were quiescent, there was no society news.

Everyone wondered why, out of all the conventional college activities there were to choose from, I should select the least conventional-reporting, so in a measure I suffered "the wild joys of the pioneer and the bitter pains of the outcast" as someone wrote of Mary Wollstonecraft, the first advocate of women's rights.

The "aily" office was a dark little room in the basement of Main building which afterwards burned down (it is a college tradition for Main halls to burn down) and I have "crowding memories" of the battered desk in one corner and the long littered table, from which the men students grudgingly removed their feet when you came in for your assignment or with your long hand copy.

You never dreamed of writing your stories in the office for that would inconvenience the men reporters by necessitating their keeping their feet off the table for at least a half an hour. Besides the "Daily" office in those days was a sort of "hang-out" for all the idle students about the campus, as well as a political lobby, where election slates were made out and the co-ed as decidedly de trop, even when she had a legitimate mission.

Toward the end of my freshman year, one of the woman reporters was allowed to edit the paper one day a week, in recognition of her extraordinary ability.

The college literary magazine was managed entirely by men, but once a year they turned it over to the women for one month's issue. The money the women made from advertising was turned over to some university cause.

It is obvious that that splendid feeling of equality that exists now between girl and men college journalists, the wholesome camaraderie, the recognition of the co-ed's ability as a newspaper worker did not exist in the earlier days of college journalism, at least not in many colleges.

Girls have had to fight for that recognition as they have had to fight everything else—the right to study law and engineering and, of course farther back, all the subjects of higher learning. But they won, or else this would not be written here.

PYTHIT-CASTALIA DEBATE TONIGHT

Women's Societies Will Clash on Subject of Philip pines

Gladys Haskins '22, closer for Castalia in tonight's co-ed joint debate, has been prominently identified with university activities since her freshman year, when she was chairman of the French orphan committee, on the student war council, and a member of the Y.W.C.A. Freshman commission. In her second year she was on the Sophomore commission. She is now a member of the S. G. A. council, judicial committee. Miss Haskins was chairman of the Mayhew drive, and is now a member of French club, and Alpha Xi Delta sorority. She won honors in her Sophomore year.

Eleanor Shearer '22, will close for Pythia. She was a member of the Pythia team in 1919 when Pythia last defeated Castalia and her presence on the negative squad tonight will be material help in aiding the Pythians in their attempt to retrieve the honors lost when Castalia won last year. Miss Shearer was an interscholastic debater at Madison high school.

TOLSTOY LECTURE WILL COVER REAL RUSSIAN PROBLEM

1,200 Feet of Motion Pictures to Illustrate Count's
Talk

"The Truth About Russia" is the subject of the lecture to be given by Count Ilyas Tolstoy April 6 at the High School auditorium. His lecture will deal with interesting material regarding Bolshevism in America and a proposed solution of the labor problem. It will be illustrated with twelve hundred feet of motion pictures taken in Russia.

Ilyas Tolstoy, fl., fl., fl., fl.
During the past eight months, articles by Count Tolstoy on the Russian situation have appeared in the 12 leading magazines, including Century, Harper's, Collier's, Leslie's, Pictorial Review, and Everybody's.

Ilyas Tolstoy, the second son of the late Leo Tolstoy, was born at Yasnaya Polyana, near Moscow. He was brought up and educated under the supervision of his father, the greatest of all Russian writers and thinkers, and is said to have inherited much of his father's depth and clearness of vision.

SOUP! !

Plot Thickens as Hot Soup
Drowns Varsity Movie
Heroine

Soup? Well, it's all right in its place. And undoubtedly that place is the Varsity Cafe on University avenue.

But any girl will agree with Madelaine Johnson '23 that even in the Varsity Cafe, hot soup spilled down one's back and all over one's fur coat is distinctly out of place.

But if Madelaine didn't enjoy it, the spectators who crowded the street in front of the restaurant and rubbed their noses shiny against the windows, in an effort to watch the Varsity Movie company at work on one of the interior scenes in the plot, certainly did.

The Varsity Cafe management loaned the use of its restaurant to the movie company for three hours yesterday afternoon. Electricians rigged up "arcs," and several good scenes were "shot," including most of the cast.

And although, in the scene above, the soup does not thicken, the plot certainly does, for the whole action of the affair hinges on Madelaine's injured coat (and injured feelings). And, of course, the handsome waiter who does the spilling is none other than "our hero," Jack Harding.

Sugar Prices Believed At Highest Point Now

Sugar prices, which have advanced slightly during the last six weeks, are believed to have reached their highest point, according to A. E. Johnson, manager of the United States Sugar Co., Fair Oaks.

The sugar company's factory, which has been closed during the winter, is now open for repairs and is being prepared for the manufacturing process which will start the first part of October.

The season for manufacturing sugar lasts for only three months, is due partly to the limited supply of beets obtainable, but mainly to the fact that the beets must be made into sugar before the weather becomes too cold.

Last year 44,000 tons of beets were handled, and 11,000,000 pounds of sugar manufactured. This was a larger amount than has been handled during any previous season.

STUDENTS AND FACULTY HAVE JOINT MEETINGS

Engineers Will Further Co-operation Through Committee

Questions of interest to the students and the faculty of the Engineering school are discussed informally every three weeks at the meetings of the Student-Faculty committee. This committee is composed of 15 student members elected by the students of the various classes and branches of the Engineering college and two members of the faculty, Dean Turneaure being a permanent member. The aim of the organization is to create a better understanding between students and faculty and to improve conditions in the college of engineering wherever possible.

Any Engineering student who believes he has something of interest to the students and faculty, either in the nature of a suggestion or a complaint, is requested to notify any of the members of the committee. His views will be discussed at the following meeting, and if deemed advisable by the committee, will be presented to the faculty for action. Thus, thru the Student-Faculty Committee the faculty will be made acquainted with the wishes and sentiment of the student body.

The one trouble at present is that the average student feels that perhaps his complaint or suggestion is not worth while, and therefore he is reluctant about speaking of it to members of the committee. To overcome this condition a box will be placed in the hall of the Engineering building to receive communications. These communications will be read and discussed by the committee and recommendations made to the faculty for final action.

The committee also desires to cooperate with the various Engineering societies. In order to establish a closer relation with the societies their present members will be invited to the next meeting of the committee. It is hoped that thru them the members of the societies, which means practically the whole Engineering student body, will become better acquainted with the workings of the committee, which will result in a greater good for all.

OFFICIAL MAGAZINE IS CALLED MATRIX

Type Matrix of Linotype Machine Used for Pin

To make the Matrix, Theta Sigma Phi's official publication, a magazine which will be in demand wherever members of the writing craft are found, is one of the aims of the organization. Personal experience articles about phases of journalistic work, success stories about members, and humorous verse are features of the four numbers which are published each year. Two departments, "Experience Exchange," and "Where to Sell It," are valuable from a practical standpoint.

Miss George Anundson '18, president of Theta Sigma Phi during her senior year, was editor of the Matrix during 1918-1919. She also edited the Stanley Republican and is on the staff of the Pictorial Review magazine at present. Mrs. V. R. Seeburger, Des Moines, Iowa, was elected to take Miss Anundsen's place as Matrix editor in the convention held at Wisconsin last May.

Both the magazine and the pin of Theta Sigma Phi take their names from the type matrix, or letter mold, of the linotype machine.

S. G. A. HOLDS PARTY TONITE FOR WOMEN

A chance for all university women to get acquainted is offered at the S. G. A. party to be held tonight at 7:30 in the Lathrop concert room. Dancing, impromptu stunts, refreshments—could any girl ask more? Mary White '22, in charge of the arrangements.

VARSITY NINE IN FIRST TILT WEDNESDAY

Northwestern College to be Badgers' First Opponent —Team Unpicked

With no team as yet selected the first varsity baseball game will be played next Wednesday when the Badgers stack up against the strong Northwestern college nine from Watertown, Wis. If warm weather continues the game may be played this Saturday, however. The Lutheran boys are always in the running for baseball honors among the colleges of the state and are reported to have their usual strong outfit this year. There is no doubt but that they will give the Cardinals a stiff workout.

Just who the team will be composed of is doubtful, but there are several veterans from last year who are certainties on the string that starts against Northwestern next week. Captain "Rowdy" Elliott at shortstop is assured of his place unless the famous Wisconsin "hoodoo" overtakes him and lays him up as it did so many varsity players last year. At second, Ed Farrington has been playing, and considering his work in the infield last year he will probably be a sure selection for the job this year. At third base both Lyman and Ruder are trying out with both showing up well.

At first base Jack Williams, baseball man, is playing good ball. He will probably get the position for this year. Other infielders who may step in and take a position are Glenn Gifford, Pigot and Johnson.

In the outfield Pat Snow, Ceaser, Hardell, Brann, Rollie Williams, Tebel, and Prokop look good. The first three are probably the logical men to start the season off, as they are members of last year's team and have the experience.

The pitchers who are showing up well are Paddock, Williams, Christianson, and Miller. Williams and Paddock especially, are throwing good ball this spring and look as though they will be used in a majority of the fracases this season.

The catcher's job lies between Allan Davey, last year's paddist, and Vanderhoof and Barry. Vanderhoof is a member of the last year freshman team.

Coach Lowman had the men out on the lower campus yesterday despite a raw wind and put them through some hitting and fielding practice. He is paying a lot of attention to the rurling staff this season for this is where Wisconsin has always been weak. If weather conditions permit, the game next Wednesday will probably be played on the lower campus. If rain intervenes making the clay too soft, the spectators will have to journey to Randall for the preliminary.

MILITARY BALL TICKETS

All tickets for the Military ball that have been reserved must be called and paid for today. No tickets will be held after tonight. See Larry Warner, 625 N. Henry, B. 197, any time between 12 and 2 or between 4:30 and 7:30 this afternoon to secure the tickets.

Prof. Max Mason of the research department of the university addressed the Roxana club at the city Y. M. C. A. on Submarine Detection. He told of the early experiments with the detection devices from the time he tried out his first crude device in Lake Mendota until the final detector was given the sanction of Thomas A. Edison and Secretary Daniels and orders given to put the university man's invention on ships. Professor Mason's apparatus is now installed on ships for peace time use as a safety device which is of particular value in a fog.

Films portraying Longfellow's Children's Hour, and other pictures, will be shown at the Community tabernacle on E. Washington ave., at 7:30 Thursday night. The same program will be given at Trousdale church Friday night.

NATIONAL REGISTER FINDS POSITIONS FOR JOURNALISTS

Specially Trained Women in the Profession Are Aided

Letters are being sent out this week and next to Theta Sigma Phis all over the United States asking them to send in their names and qualifications for positions to the Women's National Journalistic Register, Inc., which was organized last year at the national convention held in Madison the first of May.

The register is a sort of employment bureau for Theta Sigma Phis and other women who have had superior training for journalistic work. There are at present two offices—one at 151 E. Chicago avenue, Chicago, and the other in the office of the New York Globe in New York city. Mrs. Marion Felix Jones, who attended Wisconsin in 1919, was elected to take charge of the arrangements for the Chicago office, but since last year there have been various changes in committees and re-organization of the work. Mrs. Susan Shaffer Dibelka is very active in the Chicago work.

Find Jobs for Journalists

The work of the bureau consists in getting in close touch with various editors and literary men and in finding out what are the openings for women who have had college and special training. Then the women who have registered their qualifications with the bureau are notified of the positions and may take them if they choose. Though the register is primarily for wearers of the matrix, other journalistic women may also obtain positions through the organization.

Many plans for enlargement in the future are already being made and the organization is looking forward to the time when the register will have an office in every important city in the country.

ENGLISH COAL MINERS STRIKE

Walkout Called for Failure to Settle Wage Demand

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON—The coal miners began to leave the pits in various districts this afternoon in line with the decision of the union executive committee to call a strike at midnight tonight because of the failure to settle the miners' wage demand.

The board of trade officials have decided that coal for export shall be rationed rigidly.

Benefits For Injured Workers Are $2,500,000

During 1920 the benefits to injured workmen in cases settled under the workmen's compensation act totalled $2,540,084. Of this amount $1,970,513 was paid as indemnity and $569,571 for medical aid. This last figure does not include medical aid in cases in which the disability was less than seven days, amounting at least to $200,000 or more. During this year 16,246 cases were settled under the compensation act. The average indemnity per case was $121 and the average medical aid $35.00.

But few of the cases settled involved industrial diseases, which were included under the compensa-

BLAINE SENDS APPOINTMENT BACK AGAIN

Governor Takes Issue With Senate; Says Statute Does Not Bar Appointee

Gov. John J. Blaine took issue with the senate Thursday and resubmitted the name of Brayton O. Webster, Delafield, as a member of the state conservation commission. In a message to the senate Gov. Blaine points out the qualifications of Mr. Webster and declares the statute does not disqualify a man from serving on the commission if he belongs to no political party.

"I am convinced that I am serving the public interests in resubmitting the name of Mr. Webster," declares Gov. Blaine. "It is unthinkable to believe that party affiliations is necessary for public service. I repeat the statute does not provide that the members of the commission belong to any party."

There is inference in the message that Mr. Webster has been an independent. The senate on Wednesday refused to confirm this appointment on the ground that the confirmation would put three men on the commission of the same political faith. Gov. Blaine declares that if Mr. Webster is not qualified by reason of training, ability, and experience or is not a man of unimpeachable character and reputation, he will withdraw the name otherwise he feels that the senate should confirm it.

"I resubmit the name," said Gov. Blaine, "for the reason that I understand confirmation was denied not because Mr. Webster is not properly qualified by training and experience to occupy the position, but because of his alleged political affiliation, and because of the alleged political affiliations of two members of the Commission whose terms have not expired.

Served State 12 Years

"May I suggest that Mr. Webster has been engaged in fish culture for 22 years. He served under the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries in Michigan and afterwards was employed by Pennsylvania, and has served this state for 12 years, part of which time as assistant to the superintendent of fisheries, and as foreman of fish hatcheries. The information that I have received convinces me that Mr. Webster is one of the best, if not the best qualified man in the state along the line of fish propagation and fish conservation.

"I feel that the public interests are first to be served, and, in the interests of efficiency and economy, I am convinced that I am serving the public interest in resubmitting the name of Mr. Webster.

"I am aware the state provides under section 23.09, that the state conservation commission shall be created to be composed of three commissioners, not more than two of whom shall belong to the same political party, nor does it set up any standards of qualifications by which the executive or either branch of the legislature can determine to what political party an elector may belong.

Asks Reply to Query

"Is a man's party affiliation to be determined by his vote for state or national candidates on state or national party tickets, and if so, at what election, or elections, or how many of them, and for how many candidates must he vote? When an answer to that question can be agreed upon, then we might well be in a position to determine party affiliations of electors.

"The statute does not recognize any political party, nor does it disqualify a man from serving on the commission if he belongs to no political party. The statute is designed to permit a man to serve on the commission who may be independent politically, who supports candidates and principles quite regardless of party, and who may support candidates on different tickets at the same election or at different elections.

"Judging from the record made by a majority of the senate, it appears that the majority lost sight of the fact that the great mass of independent thinkers and voters who think and vote independently never were intended to be excluded from serving their state. It is unthinkable to believe that party affiliation is necessary for public service."

BOOK COLUMN

Alice B. Munro

IN THE MOUNTAINS

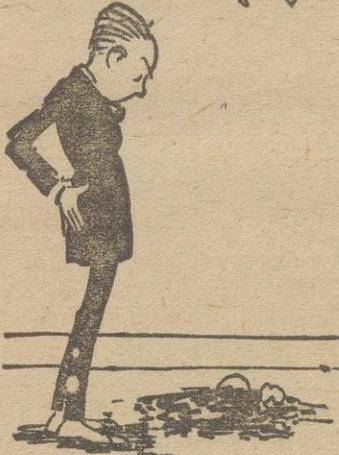

Anonymous If you read feverishly the Tribune's list of "six best sellers" every week, and then rush off immediately to buy them, you can not have missed "In the Mountains." But it is such a typical, yet agreeable best seller, that it cannot be entirely ignored here. Perhaps, besides, you do not take the Tribune. Anyway, "In the Mountains" strikes us as the kind of book that a well-known authoress, with a "delightful sense of humor"—you can just hear the critics' charas—would dash off in no time at all. The plot is quite slender, but its clothing and embellishments are calculated to keep one's interest to the end, and all the ideas are guaranteed easy to grasp. It is an ideal book for the tired, being simple and very refreshing.

THE AGE OF INNOCENCE

SOCIETY NEWS

April Fool's day seems to afford an excellent occasion for spring parties by indications of the social calendar. Many formal dances and dinner dance affairs find places on this evening's program. The absence of any all-university performances is also conducive to successful entertaining. The list of this evening's functions follow:

Chi Omega sorority will entertain at an informal dance at the chapter lodge, with Miss Bertina Hamilton, home mother, as chaperon.

The Chi Psi formal dinner dance will be at the lodge, 150 Iota court.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley C. Hanks will chaperon.

Beta Theta Pi fraternity will give a formal dinner dance at the Park hotel. Roses and palms will be used in the decorative scheme. Lieut. and Mrs. J. A. Ballard will chaperon. Among the guests of the fraternity will be Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Cook.

The Cadet Officers' association will entertain at an informal dancing party in Lathrop hall parlors. Major and Mrs. Orlando Ward will be their chaperons.

A formal dinner dance will be given by Zeta Psi fraternity at its house, 104 Langdon street. Mrs. J. R. Vernon and P. W. Slocum will be the chaperons.

Members of Chi Phi fraternity will give a formal dinner and dance, to be chaperoned by Dean and Mrs. H. S. Richards.

Kappa Sigma fraternity is giving a mock military ball at the chapter house. Major and Mrs. John S. Wood will chaperon.

Pledge Announcements

Phi chapter of Theta Xi fraternity has announced the pledging of John W. Smart, Monticello, Wis.

Alpha Gamma Delta sorority has pledged Dorothy Johnson, and Helen Winkelman, Omaha, Neb., freshmen in the College of Letters and Science.

Y. W. Cozy

The regular Y. W. C. A. cozy will be held this afternoon in Lathrop hall parlors from 4 until 6 o'clock. There will be a musical program and Miss Violet Goo, a student from Honolulu, Hawaii, will give an informal talk on her native country. There will be a supply of towels to be hemmed for the Madison General hospital.

Grad to Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Fred G. Hall have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Miss Irene C., to Alpheus Koontz, to occur April 12 at the Congregational church, Ottumwa, Iowa. Miss Hall was graduated from the university last June and was a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Misses Dorothy Seaton and Mildred Hinnes will go to Ottumwa for the wedding, to be members of the bridal party.

Commerce Club Dance

The Woman's Commerce club will give a dance Saturday afternoon. Clever stunts have been arranged for the afternoon. All women are invited. Mrs. MacMurray and Mrs. Gardner will chaperon.

Second Annual Spring Spree

The Presbyterian students will give their annual Spring Spree this evening in Christ church. There will be a five act play, music and stunts included in the plans for entertainment. Refreshments will be served.

Barnard Informal

An informal dance will be given at Barnard hall, Friday evening, April 1. Dr. and Mrs. G. H. Stuart and Miss C. A. Adams will chaperon. Florence Stolte is in charge of arrangements.

Personal

Miss Mary Andersen, secretary of the Y. W. C. A., will go to her home, Hudson, Wis., today to spend the week end.

Among the guests at the Sigma Phi formal tomorrow evening will be Miss Jane Richardson, who will arrive from her home, Evanston, Ill., today to visit for several days in Madison.

Misses Elizabeth Castle, and Margaret Anderson left last night for Ann Arbor, Mich., where they will attend the Opera week festivities. Miss Castle will be a guest at the Kappa Kappa Gamma house in Ann Arbor.

Miss Pauline Schlossman will be one of the guests at a house party to be given by the University of Michigan chapter of Delta Upsilon fraternity at Ann Arbor this week end.

Miss Helen Leadstone of Chicago is the guest for the week end of Miss Margaret Brabant '23. Miss Leadstone was in the university last semester and is now attending Northwestern university.

Miss Abbie Marlatt was the guest of Chadbourne hall at dinner on Thursday night.

Miss Nellie Bilstead, Cambridge, is visiting her sisters, Gwendolyn and Esther, at Chadbourne hall this week.

Dean and Mrs. E. W. Roe were guests at dinner at Chadbourne hall Wednesday night.

Miss Frances Floore, who is attending the Battle Creek School of Home Economics, was the guest of Miss Helen Wheeler at Chadbourne hall this week.

TEA ROOM IS HOME EC PLAN

Service to Tired Exposition
Guests Will be Given at Exhibit

Chicken salad, hot biscuits and honey, apple pie and cheese are only a few of the tempting things to be offered at the "On Wisconsin Tea Room" which will be part of the Home Economics exhibition of the University Exposition.

"And we promise regular service," assures Helen Sherman, who is managing the tea room. "We are choosing only those girls who measure up to the highest standards of table service, and at the same time appear attractive in the dainty little costumes especially designed to match the rest of the tea room scheme."

But the Home Ecs promise more than just something to eat. They are giving the "Expo" visitor a chance to rest in a large inviting living room. Here he can sink into a comfortable soft divan and enjoy the restful atmosphere that has been created by the genius of Margaret Chambers '21 and her committee on interior decoration.

Exhibit Wage Budget

Under the direction of Dorothy Jones '24, and Aileen Hamilton '23 the present minimum wage of the working girl, $10.50, will be featured as a budgeting display in contrast with the proposed minimum wage for girls, $16.45, which is now under consideration. This project will present detailed information concerning the board, room, and clothing of the woman in industry.

The solution of the labor problem in the home will be featured in the form of a laundry well equipped with modern labor saving devices, which will be kept in running action by the girls who have had house management training.

The Home Economics exhibition has been planned to carry out the general idea that the College of Agriculture is putting across in the Exposition. Woman's share in production will be the underlying principle.

The following statement by Miss Abbey L. Marlett suggests the idea, "Production in the home is the measure of civilization in the state."

Charity Ball Chaperons

Chaperons for the Charity Ball mixer to be given in the men's gymnasium Saturday night are Dr. and Mrs. S. Blanton, Prof. and Mrs. J. L. Gillin, and Prof. and Mrs. S. A. Leonard.

10 MEN PASS FIRST TESTS FOR HONOR ATHLETIC SOCIETY

Ten Wisconsin athletes, five of whom are freshmen, succeeded in passing the first requirements for membership in Sigma Delta Psi, national athletic fraternity. The five tests which were held in the gymnasium annex on Wednesday and Thursday afternoons are pole vault swimming, running high jump, running broad jump, and 16-pound shot put.

Men who passed their tests are Hans E. Gude '22, William P. Kinsey '24, Carl W. Otto '24, James K. Gibson '24, Norman D. Scott '23 James P. Woods '22, George H. Tomlinson '24, Marshall L. Stone '24, Harrington G. Yost '23 and E. E. Fourness '22.

Officers for the Wisconsin chapter of Sigma Delta Psi were elected at a meeting of active members in the gymnasium on Thursday afternoon. They are: Meade Burk '17, president; Guy M. Sundt '22, vice-president; Paul Kayser '21, secretary and treasurer.

Judge of the tryouts decided that three more events will be run off next week and scheduled the final tests for June 4. Men who passed the initial events will take the ten mile walk next Friday afternoon and the baseball and football tests on Thursday. Successful candidates must throw a baseball 250 feet, and punt a football 120 feet.

ONLY MALE POSSESSOR OF THE SECRETS OF THETA SIGMA PHI

PROF. WILLARD G. BLEYER
—Courtesy of Ruud

At a banquet at the Palace of Sweets, 11 years ago, Prof. W. G. Bleyer became the one and only possessor of the secrets of Theta Sigma Phi.

The first chapter of this organization was formed on April 8, 1909, by seven women journalistic students of the University of Washington. The following year, permission was given to the University of Wisconsin to form a chapter.

As it was impossible for the Washington chapter to send a representative to Wisconsin, the ritual was sent to Professor Bleyer and he performed the ceremony of installing the nucleus of the present chapter. Other honorary members have never been put through the ritual and, consequently, he is the only one who has possession of the secrets of the organization, besides being the only male member.

Professor Bleyer graduated from the university in the class of '96. He was editor of the Cardinal in 1893-94, and editor of the Badger in '96. He has had wide experience as a teacher of journalism, and has written several text books on journalistic subjects. "The Profession of Journalism," "Special Feature Articles," "Newspaper Writing and Editing," and "Types of News Writing" are Professor Bleyer's best known and most used books.

"I have watched with satisfaction the progress of Theta Sigma Phi and have seen the number of members increase with the increase in the enrollment in the school of journalism. I am proud to think that I am considered a member of such a lively fraternity," comments Professor Bleyer.

MISS FINCH WILL GIVE PROGRAM OF NEGRO READING

Mammy's Stories and Folk Tales Will Be Presented April 5

An unusual form of entertainment will be offered in Music hall Tuesday evening, April 5, when Miss Lucine Finch gives a program of her Mammy's stories, negro folk tales, and songs of the Old South. Miss Finch retells the tales of her mammy impersonatively, just as the old negro nurse told them to her.

Miss Finch has excited much comment whenever she has given her stories. Adolph Klauber, dramatic critic for the New York Times, says of her work:

"Miss Finch's stories are capital! Her excellent command of a difficult dialect, combined with a sense of humor and pathos so deeply and truly characteristic of the 'old timer' negro, makes her work of real value in preserving these strange and beautiful old tales and songs."

Miss Finch is being brought to Madison under the auspices of Red Domino and Twelfth Night dramatic clubs. The proceeds of the performance will be given to the Wisconsin Conference of Welfare.

BASEBALL TEAMS TO BE ANNOUNCED AT ANNUAL SPREAD

At the annual baseball spread at 10:30 Saturday morning the members of the varsity women's indoor baseball team will be announced. The spread will take the form of a picnic which will meet at Lathrop hall and go out to the stone quarry.

In case of rain the picnic will be held in the field house at Camp Randall. All women who are in any way interested in the sport are invited to attend the spread.

The committee in charge declares that the picnic will not keep the women from afternoon work; but several hiking parties have been planned for those who wish to join them after the spread. It has been announced that those who wish to attend the picnic must sign upon the bulletin board in Lathrop hall.

BUZZING TUNES OF "MISS 'QUITA" TO BE PUBLISHED

Haresfoot to Present Score for First Time in Five Years

The buzzing tunes and hummin' melodies of Miss "Quita", the twenty-third annual production of the Haresfoot club, will be offered for sale at the performances here April 22 and 23, as the club is publishing an illustrated score of all music and lyrics, for the first time in five years. The last score published was for the 1915 production, "Jan of the Trails".

The cover design of the book is a three color drawing by Hubert Townsend '23, who also plays the role of the vampish Paprika in the play. The book contains a synopsis of the show, a history of the Haresfoot club and its former productions and pictures of the members of the cast and chorus of this year's show. Following these introductory pages are the eighteen songs of the show with music by Earl Carpenter '21 and lyrics by Horace Carver '21.

Some of the best humorous songs are "The Hangman's Blues", "Red, Red Nose" and "The Hootch Hound's Lament". Each Pretty Miss" is the song with which Earl Carpenter as Larry Drake woos the ingenue, Philip Reed '21, who plays the role of Miss 'Quita. Reed sings "The Song of the Thrush" as a solo. The book will sell for $1.50.

14 Irish Police Missing As Barracks Are Bombed

CORK—An attack this morning upon the police barracks at Ross Carbery, county Cork resulted in serious casualties to the occupants. Fourteen of the police are missing and it is believed five were killed. An official report says the attack was made by civilians. The front wall of the barracks was blown in by explosives and bombs were thrown into the interior while a heavy rifle fire was maintained on the building. The police held the barracks until the room in which they were concentrated took fire, when a few escaped by an upper window.

LEGISLATORS ARE HOSTILE TO EXPANSION

Gov. J. J. Blaine Gives Impartial Survey of Recent Criticisms

"Sentiment of the state legislature at present is against the proposed two year expansion program asked by the university, and is inclined to the belief that the present buildings and equipment are sufficient to take care of the increased student enrollment without inconvenience."

Gov. John J. Blaine made the above statement last night at the university Y.M.C.A. while addressing the Fellowship club. The adverse, criticisms which are prevalent to a certain degree in the state and which have been made in the legislature against the university were also outlined. His talk was an impartial survey of recent criticisms.

"Legislators strongly feel that the demands made by the university administration for improvements for 1921 - '22, even if these are found necessary should be spread over a longer time. Business depression, labor conditions, and the present economic reasons, they believe, demand curtailment of appropriations," the governor further stated.

Because of the large student enrollment and the 1,300 employees at the university, a prejudice has arisen against the cost of the system. Junior colleges have been urged by some as a remedy for the congested situation now existing.

"The environment at the university," Governor Blaine asserted in his survey of prevalent criticisms, "is in the minds of some detrimental to the interests of the small cities and rural districts of the state.

"It is draining, they assert, these places of their natural leaders. The students do not often return to their homes, these critics point out, because of the environment into which they enter while here.

"The leadership of university graduates and students is now lacking other people claim. While the leadership in the past has often been from graduates of the law school, these people declare, a need now exists for leaders versed in economics, political science, public health, and education."

DARKIES MAKE LIGHT AT CHARITY MIXER

"Bright Lights from Dark Town" a miniature minstrel will be one of the features at the Charity all mixer which begins promptly at 8 o'clock tomorrow night in the men's gymnasium.

A quartet consisting of "Bob" Hesses Adult Special, "Tom" Dartnell '23, Inez Morrow '23, and Kathryn Perry '23, will be the darkies who give performances between dances.

"Romeo and Juliet" by two eminent dramatic artists will be the principal feature of the evening. The feature committee gives assurance that it will be a heart-rending performance and suggest the name "Julio and Romiet". The audience will decide later.

Tickets for the ball are on sale now at Morgan's and the University Pharmacy. The price is 50 cents.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 52 at 4 p. m. and the lowest was 32 at 7 a. m. Precipitation was .02 and the sun sets at 6:23.

Unsettled and warmer weather prevails east of the Mississippi river where the barometer is low. Heavy rains fell on the west gulf coast Wednesday night and light rains are falling today in the Atlantic states. The weather is clear and colder on the plains where the barometer is high. Another area of low barometer is crossing the Canadian Rockies with southerly winds and warmer weather.

PYTHIA MEETING

All members of Pythia will meet in the regular Pythia room at 7 o'clock tonight for a pep meeting before the debate.

Reception Chairman for Expo

THOMAS C. CLARKE
De Long...

The chairman of the reception committee for the University Exposition is Thomas C. Clarke '22, Evanston, Ill., Mr. Clarke has been in charge of the invitations issued to high school students all over the state, and has also cooperated with the fraternity houses in the problem of housing these guests. He has also been responsible for securing speakers for the Exposition.

Mr. Clarke is a member of Sigma Phi. He was a captain of the Cadet corps '19, chairman of decorations for Military ball in 1919, and was chairman of boxes for 1921 Prom.

DAIRY BUDGET BILL IS KILLED

Assembly Downs Appropriation by Vote of 44 to 35

STALWARTS DEFINITION OF A PROGRESSIVE

The assembly was discussing the Catlin game bill. Assemblyman Polakowski asked Mr. Catlin for his definition of a "progressive." Mr. Catlin stalwart leader replied:

"I notice that certain papers refer to me as a stalwart. I notice that the socialists have been voting continually with the progressives and the progressives have been voting with the Socialists, so they have come to mean one and the same thing to me. That is my definition of a progressive."

The appropriation for the state dairy and food department, one of the great farmer agencies of the government, was killed in the house on Thursday by 44 to 35. This would leave the continuing appropriation of the department $75,000 annually. Under George J. Weigel's administration $105,000 was annually spent.

The state board of public affairs recommended an appropriation of $114,000. The bill was killed. This will probably cripple cheese factory and butter inspection work.

People holding hunting licenses will not be compelled to make a report of all game animals killed. The assembly killed the Sullivan bill on this subject 54 to 26.

By 43 to 36 the assembly laid over until April 13, Gov. Blaine's veto of the Catlin bill appropriating $30,000 to the state conservation commission. The assembly 47 to 31 killed the Becker bill to increase the pay to country newspapers for the publication of the laws of the state at the close of the session.

HUGE THRONG HONOR GIBBONS

Greatest Catholic Assem- blage in U. S. History is at Funeral

BALTIMORE, Md.—The greatest assemblage of church dignitaries ever massed on this continent gathered here today for the funeral of James Cardinal Gibbons. In the great procession which formed for the pontifical requiem mass, were numberless priests and the mitred heads of a hundred dioceses.

To the Cathedral of the Assumption of the Blessed Virgin Mary on the heights overlooking the city of the cardinal's birth, came also lay delegates and diplomats.

In special recognition of the American prelate's service to the church, the pope decreed that the Gregorian Choral society of St. Mary's seminary should sing at today's mass a solemn Gregorian chant previously heard only at the funeral of a sovereign ruler of the Catholic church in the Sistine chapel in Rome.

By 9 o'clock, one hour before the time for the ceremony, streets surrounding the cathedral were so crowded that not a square inch of pavement could be seen.

At The Theaters

AT THE STRAND

Douglas Fairbanks in his latest picture "The Nut" is now showing at the Strand theater. This decidedly different picture can be characterized as an obstacle race for the heart of a maid. It is fittingly named, for the hero madly in love with the girl who lives in the same apartment house with him, so loses his sense of proportion that he easily deserves the appellation of "The Nut."

The genial Douglas, as Charlie Jackson, starts out in life by being eccentric. He dresses by machinery, makes love with fireworks and wax-works and sets out to win his way to the heart of the lady of his choice by making her hobby his hobby.

At one point in the story our hero finds himself running through the streets in his underclothes. Another time he is forced to pretend he is a corpse. All unwittingly he starts a fire. And finally he gets himself suspected of murder — all in his efforts to help the girl whom in reality he is merely humiliating and embarrassing through his ponderous attempts at chivalry.

As foil to the byplay in this production a serious note is added when the sauve and polished proprietor of a gambling house entangles the heroine in his web of dark intrigue. The denouement of the story is brought about by a spectacular rescue of the girl.

The added feature will be "Edgar Hamlet," a comedy adapted from Booth Tarkington's Adventures and Emotions of Edgar Pomeroy.

AT THE FULLER

Tomorrow afternoon and evening at the Fuller theater will be seen the much talked of New York comedy success "My Lady Friends," with the talented musical comedy favorite, Jack Norworth as the star and at the head of his own company, which is strictly metropolitan star. This comedy classic was regarded as the outstanding hit of New York last season and is credited with nearly a year's run at the Comedy theater. "My Lady Friends" is by Emil Nyitray and Frank Mandel, the latter, by-the-way, being co-author of "Mary," George M. Cohan's latest success.

Mr. Norworth needs no introduction to theatergoers, being famous on two continents for his versatility. As a singer and writer of popular songs, playwright, vaudeville headliner and musical comedy star, Norworth is unexcelled. Some of his songs have reached the two million edition, notably "Honey Boy," "Come Along Mandy," "Apple Blossom Time in Normandy," "Over on the Jersey Side," "Sorry," and "Ain't He the Wise Old Owl." In "My Lady Friends," Mr. Norworth's song hit is "I Want to Spread a Little Sunshine."

AT THE GRAND

Charlie Chaplin's new picture "The Kid," continues to draw capacity houses at the Grand where it is showing this week. At no time has the Grand been able to accommodate the throngs seeking admission. Manager McWilliams says that never in his experience has he known so many people to remain over and watch a picture the second time. The picture will close its Madison engagement Saturday night.

OHIO STUDENTS ENTERTAIN THUGS

Under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., the convicts at the Ohio Penitentiary are entertained by students of the Ohio State university once each month. The prisoners are appreciative of everything done for them and though forced to attend these meetings are good-natured about it. They have their own orchestra, composed of 18 pieces, which plays while the men march in.

TWENTY EIGHT ARE PERFECT

Twenty eight men at the University of Illinois were given perfect grades in all their subjects. Dean Arkle Clark, announced today. The record is believed unique in American collegiate circles this year. There are over 5,000 male students enrolled at the university.

An inheritance tax of $907.25 was paid in county court Wednesday morning by Ed Wittwer of Montrose on the estate of Jacob Wittwer, wealthy farmer, who committed suicide.

THETA SIG HAS HONOR ROLL OF GRAD WORKERS

Beta Chapter Alumnae Are Found in Variety of Features

Every sort of active journalistic position, ranging from Educational Secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in Honolulu to head of the Intelligence department of the American Women's club, Paris, and from the comparatively humble profession of reporter to professor of journalism at Lindenwood college, St. Charles, Mo., is held by alumnae of the Wisconsin chapter of Theta Sigma Phi.

While most of them are in advertising or editorial positions, there are exceptional people who are doing something very different. Alice Keith '16, who was an actress with the "Little Journey" company in New York till last year, has been coaching plays, and now comes back to Madison to be the coach for the Gun and Blade play, "The Maid and the Middy," and Margery Hendricks '18, who is case correspondent in the insular and foreign division of the American Red Cross.

Agriculture Has Followers

Several are taking an interest in agricultural journalism and are working on publications for farmers. Florence Collins Weed '19, is editor of the woman's department of the Orange Judd Farmer, Chicago. Ruth Boyle '16, was woman's department editor of Farm and Fireside, was in France during the war, another took a position on the editorial staff of the Illustrated News, Butte, Montana. She also writes for the Delineator and McGalls. Ingrid Nelson '18, is assistant editor of the New Jersey State Experiment Station.

Flora Orr '17 found home economics interesting and was Home economics editor of the Delineator. During the war she was in charge of the department of Home Economics for the United States Food administration, Washington. She now holds an editorial position on Today's Housewife.

Marion Davies '15, and Norma Stauffer '18 are spending the winter in Paris and Honolulu respectively. Miss Stauffer is Educational secretary of the Y. W. C. A. in Honolulu, and Miss Davies is in the Intelligence department of the American women's club, Paris.

Newspaper Women

Among those working on newspapers are Harriet Pettibone '19, the editor of the woman's page of the Milwaukee Journal; Louise Ludlum '19, reporter on the Sioux City Journal; Alice Edison '20, reporting on the Green Bay Press-Gazette, and Mary Converse '20, exchange editor on the Milwaukee Journal.

Some magazine workers are Imogene Burch '18, associate editor of People's Magazine; Jane Pine '19, assistant editor of Fashion Art, Chicago, and Lucy Rogers '20, who is the editor of the Y. W. C. A. bulletin, The Blue Triangle at Detroit, Mich. Eva Kittleson '20, is in the advertising department of McCall's Magazine.

The only educator among the Theta Sig alumni is Mary A. McMahon '15, professor of journalism, Lindenwood College, St. Charles, Mo.
