BADGERS TRIM PURPLE 27-7

BADGER DRIVE SMASHES 1921 SALES RECORD

A. O. Pi Defeats Theta by Margin of 17 in Subscription Contest

The 1922 "Year-book With a Mission" smashed all previous records with a subscription total of 4,278, which beats by 1,100 the 1921 Badger, the former record-holder, when the curtain dropped at midnight Friday on the most successful Badger campaign in the history of the university. A. O. Pi cinched first honors by staging a desperate last-moment spurt which gave them victory over the Thetas by the narrow margin of 17.

Final Standings

Alpha Omicron Pi	602
Kappa Alpha Theta	585
Chadbourne	396
Achoth	326
Gamma Phi	325
Sigma Kappa	265
Alpha Chi Omega	261
Delta Zeta	232

Alpha Gamma Delta	191
Delta Delta Delta	178
Alpha Phi	118
Pi Beta Phi	109
Phi Mu	98
Delta Gamma	89
Kappa Delta	70
Miscellaneous	34

Mary Swan of Chadbourne won the cup for the individual obtaining the largest number of subscriptions with total of 307. Adeline Thayer of Alpha Gamma Delta is second with 188; while Norma Kiekhofen of Alpha Chi Omega is third. Many of the stubs turned in at the office were not signed by individuals; but with their sorority name. Therefore they could not be credited to anyone in the determination of individual standing.

The keen rivalry between the Gamma Phis and Achoth for fourth place had an interesting ending, as Achoth won out by but one subscription. Never before, in a Badger campaign, did the final standing show two teams so close together.

Y. W. C. A. TO HAVE SERIES OF "COZIES"

Y. W. C. A. will have a series of "cozies," one to be held every Friday afternoon in Lathrop parlors from 4 to 6. It is felt that there is no means of bringing all university women together in an informal way, and in this way Y. W. C. A. is attempting to supply the need of such social functions.

Informality will be the keynote of these "cozies." There will be no receiving line, past which guests will have to file. School clothes will be the correct costume for the guests. All university women are invited to attend, whether members of Y. W. C. A. or not.

WILSON LEADS JOINT VESPERS

Will Give Third Talk at 4:30 Today in Music Hall

This afternoon at 4:30 in Music hall the first of the all-university vespers services will be held. Hon. J. Stitt Wilson will be the speaker.

Through the help of the Campus Religious council and the churches of Madison, the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. are planning to hold four vespers services during this school year. It is the plan of the committee in charge to make these services attractive to the entire student body in bringing the best men and women available as speakers at these meetings.

Mr. Wilson, who will speak today, has had large and varied experiences during his life. He is deeply interested in the social and industrial, as well as the moral and religious, conditions of this country. He has spent much time in study and comes here well prepared to give an idea of present conditions and of his opinions on the solution of present problems. He has spent much time abroad, especially in England, where he became vitally interested in the conditions of the laboring man. His talk this afternoon will be the third in his series on "Constructive Christianity."

The singing will be in charge of Prof. Dykema of the music school. He will be assisted by members of the choral union who will also furnish some special numbers. Special song sheets, which have been printed for these meetings, include many of the old well-known favorite songs.

These meetings are open to the public and all those who are interested in present day problems are invited to attend at 4:30 this afternoon in Music hall.

SPANISH CLUB TO PRESENT PLAYLET

The Spanish club will meet for the first time this semester Tuesday night at 7:30 in Lathrop parlors. A playlet entitled "La Imaginacion del Doctor" will be given at that time. There will also be a talk by Prof. C. D. Cool, piano selections, and Spanish songs. A social hour will follow the program.

Membership in the club is open to students of Spanish who wish to improve in conversational ability. There are at present 22 Spanish classes in the university and the club aims to aid the many students to understand more intimately the life and literature of the Spanish speaking people.

Team Will Make Strong Bid for Championship Honors

By defeating Northwestern on Randall field yesterday afternoon the Wisconsin football team established a strong claim for consideration as a championship eleven. With all of the regulars in the line-up, the Badgers rolled up a large score in the first half giving Coach Richards a chance to use substitutes during the remainder of the game.

The wonderful offensive work of the Badgers convinced Wisconsin followers and opponents alike that Coach Richards has one of the fastest and strongest backfields in the conference this year. Elliott was in great form and the Purple tacklers simply could not hang on to the star halfback. Sundt played a great game at fullback and his 60 yard run through the entire Purple team

SUMMARY OF ACTION

Yardage gained — Wisconsin, 567 yards; Northwestern, 156 yards.

Punts — Wisconsin, 113 yards; Northwestern, 286 yards.

Forward passes — Wisconsin 95 yards; Northwestern 54 yards.

in the third quarter was the longest run made at Camp Randall this year.

Davey made several long runs while the forward passing of Barr was the best seen on Randall field this year. Holmes, Gibson and Woods played great games and tore through the porous Purple defense repeatedly for big gains.

Wisconsin's line showed remarkable improvement over the early season contests and consistently tore holes through the ranks of their heavier opponents. Captain "Red" Weston played a great game and although a great deal of the Purple defense was concentrated upon the star end, his defensive work was of the same caliber that made him the unanimous choice for an All-American berth last year.

Bunge, Scott, Brader and Stark were fighting every minute of the game and the Northwestern backs could not gain through the Badger line. Tebell showed up well on de-

THE GRADUATE'S OPPORTUNITY

Some persons have set it down as axiomatic that one can get in on the real spirit of university life only as an undergraduate. Although this mistaken notion may hold at many other schools, it is far from being prevalent at Wisconsin. One who comes here for graduate work, whether or not he spent his undergraduate days on this campus, has the same opportunity, the same medium, and the same method of benefiting through university associations as the man who stands on the threshold of his university career.

The reference in this instance is to the graduate club, which has now come to occupy a pre-eminent place on the scroll of university organizations. It differs from the others only in the respect that membership is confined to graduates, research workers, prospective college professors and the like. It has as its chief purpose the launching of a thorough-going attempt to bring graduate students out of the so-called "stick-in-the-mud" class. It seems that in the large majority they bury themselves in their own apartments and thereby foreclose the possibility of inter-departmental contact, much as the broadening effect of that is to be desired.

Despite the fact that the membership personnel might perhaps create such an opinion of the organization, the graduate club is not a teachers' association or research bureau. Not unlike its campus contemporaries, it is primarily intended to furnish broader contact and social intercourse for graduate students. Picnics in the spring, monthly parties, Monday evening suppers in the S. G. A. rooms are but a trio of the many methods used to accomplish its worth-while objective.

Graduate students now at Wisconsin who are not members have missed something amounting to self-denial of a splendid opportunity. They ought to get out and join next Monday night. Fifty cents is the pass-word to membership for one year.

A MAN WITH A WORLD MESSAGE

J. STITT WILSON has a world message that he delivers with drive and power. Students who fail to hear him during his stay at Wisconsin will be passing up one of the vital intellectual opportunities of the year.

In these times when civilization is pulling itself together again after the bloodiest, most tragic cataclysm of the ages, the coming generation, particularly potential leaders in the colleges, need to be jolted out of provincial thinking.

It is the sobering challenge to think in enlightened, comprehensive terms for the future good of the race and civilization, that Mr. Wilson is putting up to college men and women in his talks on "Constructive Christian Democracy."

Inclement weather and other elements have militated against this eminent social worker being given the hearing at Wisconsin that his stirring message deserves.

But there still is opportunity for university men and women to hear him in his two remaining talks at the union vespers in Music hall at 4:30 p. m. and at the Y. M. C. A. Badger club at 8 p. m. today.

It is certain that no more forceful speaker has appeared on a university platform since the all-university religious conference last February.

STUDENT TAG
DAY TO COVER
CAMPUS DRIVE

University Quota For Hospital to Be Raised Wednesday

"Make it at least a quarter!" is the university slogan for the Salvation Army tag day, to be conducted on Wednesday. This does not mean that larger and smaller contributions will not be received, but it does mean that that amount is the individual quota decided upon for each student in the university.

The campaign will be conducted as a part of the state-wide movement to raise money for the construction of a maternity hospital and rescue home, which has been agreed upon by authorities as an absolutely necessity in the state.

The university campaign is under the direction of the following committee, working in co-operation with Dean S. H. Goodnight, Pres. E. A. Birge, and the Dane county committee, whose chairman is John Blakemore; Wesley Travers, Mildred Rogers, Margaret Swift, Marguerite Crosky, Milton Borman, and Carson F. Lyman.

The tagday, which has been set for Wednesday, will be a campus-wide drive and will be conducted by university women. An effort will be made to reach every student, and there is assurance that the faculty will co-operate in every way.

The drive for the proposed maternity hospital and rescue home has been started by the various county advisory boards throughout the state. These boards, consisting of the most prominent men in each county, have made investigations of the conditions and have reported, in their advisory capacity, that such an institution is necessary. These county committees are conducting the campaign in their own districts at the present time.

The city campaign will be conducted separately from the university campaign, but the money will help to reach Dane county's $12,000 quota.

With the backing and endorsement of prominent men throughout the state and in the university faculty, there promises to be little difficulty in putting the university over the top in its share.

fense and his ability in spoiling Purple forward passes was an outstanding feature.

More than ten thousand people saw the game and some of the liveliest cheering ever heard at Camp Randall was carried on between the Badgers and the large crowd of Purple rooters who were present.

The field was in fairly good condition although the hot sun made it an exceedingly uncomfortable afternoon for football. Both sides were forced to call time out a great many times in the second half but there were no serious injuries to either the Badgers or the Purple.

The Curious Cub

TODAY'S QUESTION

"What do you think of betting on conference football games?"

Coach T. E. Jones:

I have noticed several college papers announce the prowess of their team on the ratio of betting—large odds signifying victory. I am certainly glad that the Cardinal doesn't take this standpoint. No amount of betting—large or small—can further the interest and chances of success. We can't prohibit students betting but we can throw a player off the team for such an offense. Why shouldn't the students help the players out this much? College athletics must be run on ideals and when this fails the true athletic spirit fades and sportsmanship perishes.

Wendall W. Paine, senior in the Course in Commerce:

Betting or gambling on conference football tends to create disloyalty as much as it may outwardly appear to be a badge of unqualified faith in the team.

With a stake at issue there can not be present a true sense of wholehearted sportsmanship and the desire to see the best team win, for failure on the part of the home team to perform according to expectations will result in grumbling and faultfinding in what would otherwise be a staunch supporter and a good loser.

Eliminate betting from conference competition and the result will manifest itself in greater comanadarie between schools, in bringing wholesome rivalry to a still higher plane and in making of conference football the king of all sports.

Dad Morgan:

To be candid with you, Cub, betting in small amounts does no harm. I have watched these bets placed for the past 10 years, and have seen no harm yet. It is something that you can't prevent and it seems to add spice to the game. However, we are going to do all in our power to stop large individual bets. Here is the only chance for corruption and we will fight it to the finish. But most of the large bets are the consummation of pools and here, of course, corruption is not possible.

Don Howland—traveling salesman and alumnus:

In the first place it certainly seems great to be back and watch the team perform once more. However, it seems that if I couldn't bet on the team, a certain amount of pep would be lost thereby. I wouldn't advocate big bets, but just enough to make one sit on the edge of his sit and watch every move that is made. There is no need of making large bets, that if they ever lost would hurt one's financial status. But a small bet seems to put the necessary stimulus in action to bring back the Ol' Wisconsin pep.

STRAND CALENDAR

October 17, 18, 19—Bebe Daniels in "You Never Can Tell" and a Paramount Magazine.

October 20, 21, 22, 23—"Silent Barrier" and a Cheater comedy "Four Times Foiled."

"You Never Can Tell," the initial Bebe Daniel starring vehicle for Realart which will open a three day engagement at the Strand theater today, presents arguments of interest to those who are fighting for higher salaries for telephone operators, waitresses, and other girls in public service.

The plot of the story revolves around a check-room girl in whom a love for beautiful clothes is created by her handling of luxurious wraps every day. Without money enough to buy such things for herself, a wealthy marriage seems to be the only way she can hope to secure such luxury. Just as ambition is about to get her into trouble, along comes a "Prince Charming," for the love of whom she gives up the wealthy rounder whose amorous attentions she was tempted to accept. But all such cases do not turn out so pleasantly. Undoubtedly the film will prove valuable propaganda for those who feel that the morals of girls working amidst luxury should be protected by adequate salaries.

An excellent cast supports Miss Daniels in the production. Handsome Jack Mulhall is her leading man, while other players include Edward Martindel, Harold Goodwin, Neely Edwards, Helen Dunbar, Graham Pettit, Leo White and Mrs. Harry L. Davenport. It is a Realart picture, directed by Chester Franklin.

In addition there will be shown pictures of the Wisconsin-Northwestern football game that was taken Saturday by Dr. Diemer, and a comedy cartoon.

News of the Theatres

THE COMING WEEK AT THE GRAND

Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday—Annette Kellerman in "What Women Love."

Friday, Saturday—William Russell in "Twins of Suffering Creek."

Annette Kellerman, the Diving Venus, as she is known throughout the world, and said to possess the most perfect figure of any woman, whose activities in water and exhibitions of fancy high-diving have been the features of our big vaudeville circuits, and motion picture attractions, is coming to the Grand theater today in her latest work before the camera, "What Women Love," produced by Sol Lesser and released by First National. "What Women Love" is said to be wholly different from and to exceed anything Miss Kellerman has ever done before the camera, a 150 foot dive from the mast of a pitching schooner serving as one of the many thrills Miss Kellerman gives her audience. One of the unusual episodes in photodramatic presentations are the under-sea scenes showing Miss Kellerman in combat with one of the mutinous crew. Exhibitions of fancy diving are also given. The story deals with the moral reform efforts of James Cotton (Ralph Lewis), whose daughter, Annabel (Annette Kellerman) is particularly fond of swimming and a one-piece bathing suit. Willie S. John (Wheeler Oakman) is also strong for the moral up-lift stuff and is a model young man. The cave-man stuff, however, is thrust unexpected on our Willie and he develops into a real he-man gaining the respect of Annabel.

AT THE ORPHEUM

There will be three performances of vaudeville and pictures at the Orpheum today, the feature acts will include Margaret Doherty & Co., in "Past and Present"; Henry B. Toomer & Co., in "The Wife Saver"; Charnoff's Gypsies offering song and dance; Prie and Bernie, "Tune and Laugh Fashions of 1920"; Payton & Lum as "The Sportsmen"; Connell, Leena & Zippy, and Kinogram pictures.

Starting with two performances Monday and continuing for Tuesday and Wednesday, with Wednesday matinee the vaudeville program at the Orpheum will include the following acts: Ryan Sister & Berrens & Leslie in a Coterie of Dance and Music; Homer Miles & Co., will offer the playlet "The Rough Neck"; followed by Mack & Mabel in "Her Voice." A Musical Revue will be presented by Monti & Parti, while Ben Hanney, the originator of ragtime, will appear with Willard Farrell; "Treat 'Em Rough" will introduce Paul, Levan & Miller. Kinogram and Topics of the Day pictures will complete the bill.

AT THE FULLER

In "Madame Peacock," the picture she herself has declared her greatest since "Revelation," Nazimova will appear before local motion picture audiences today at the Fuller theater.

This latest photoplay, from a story by Rita Weiman, will present the Russian star as Jane Goring, a brilliant stage celebrity who finds the heights of fame somehow do not bring the complete happiness she had imagined.

Written by one of the leading dramatic writers of the day and enacted by undoubtedly the most finished actress in the world, "Madame Peacock," is a masterly and telling portrayal of the soul of a remarkable woman.

At the same time, and later in the story, Nazimova comes to the front in a second character, as Gloria Cromwell, the gifted, nondescript little girl to whom Jane Goring is rather more than a goddess.

SOUSA AND HIS BAND AT FULLER

The management of the Fuller announces that the regular box office seat sale of tickets for the coming concert of Sousa and his band of 70 players, which is scheduled for Monday night, October 25, will open to the public on Monday morning, at 10 o'clock. The demand for tickets through the mail orders has been very large, all the $1.50 tickets are sold, but there still remains plenty of the main floor seats at $2.00 and the gallery tickets at $1.00, which will be placed upon sale tomorrow. Patrons should make it a point to call at the Fuller box office not later than Tuesday.

Col. McCoy is Guest

Col. Robert B. McCoy, of Sparta, democratic candidate for governor, was the guest of honor at the Delta Sigma Phi fraternity house, 705 W. Johnson street, last evening. Two of his sons, Robert and Stuart, are affiliated with the fraternity, the latter having pledged this fall.
