UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN, MADISON, THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1926

PRICE 10 CENTS

Y.W.C.A. SPONSORS DANCE AT LATHROP TOMORROW NIGHT

Fee Cards Plus Fifty Cents Will Admit Summer Session Students

All university students attending summer session will be entertained at the annual summer school dance to be given by the W. Y. C. A. from 8 o'clock to 11 o'clock tomorrow night in the gymnasium of Lathrop hall. Students may obtain tickets only upon presentation of fee card at the door of the hall, and payment of fifty cents.

This dance is the first of a series of entertainments being planned by the Y. W. C. A. for summer session students, in order that they may become better acquainted. Music will be furnished by Thompson's seven piece orchestra.

STEEL CHAIRMAN

Marcella Steel '27 is general chairman of the dance, with Berne Mitchell '27 as chairman of the committee on arrangements, and Mayme Bender as chairman of the music committee.

Members of the floor and introduction committee are Dorothy Atkinson '27, Catherine Esch '28, Frances Heckman '28, Irene Lampert '27, Margaret Moore '29, Dorothy Schultz '29, Marian Miller '28, Dorothy Bolton '27, Mary Frances Byard '27, Carol Biba '27, Loretta Morrissey '29, and Elizabeth Gilmore '28.

WILL CHAPERON

Chaperons for the dance will be Dean and Mrs. S. H. Goodnight, Prof. and Mrs. A. V. Miller, Prof. and Mrs. Curtis Merriman, Prof. and Mrs. F. A. Aust, Dean Lydia Brown and Dean Clara Flett.

TWO LECTURES AT MUSIC HALL TODAY

Tiemann, of Forest Products Laboratory, and W. C. English Will Speak

Two lectures have been planned for the instruction and entertainment of summer session students today. One is to be the first of a series on Forestry, the other is to be the opener of a group on the history of Wisconsin.

The first lecture will be given by Dr. H. Tiemann of the Forest Products Laboratory. The subject of Dr. Tiemann's lecture will be "The Forests of Our Country." Other lectures on Forestry have been planned, all the speakers being authorities in their particular fields. The lecture today will start at 3:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Music hall.

The second lecture sponsored by the director of the summer session, will be given by W. C. English, of the Wisconsin archeological society. "Wisconsin Caves and Rock Shelters" will be the subject of this lecture, the first of the series. Mr. English will speak at 4:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Music hall.

MILLER TELLS OF WEATHER CHANGES

Defines Various Meteorological Terms and Methods in Lecture

Explaining in a semi-technical way the causes in variations in weather, Eric Miller, meteorologist of the university, addressed a group of students in one of the opening extra-curricular lectures of the summer session.

Mr. Miller defined the various terms and methods used in weather calculations, expounding the doctrine of the solar constant and similar expressions.

His lecture, entitled "Is Our Climate Changing," was designed to show the effects of atmospheric conditions, such as inordinate quantities of dust in the air, unusual currents and movements of air and the like, upon the regularity of climate conditions.

The variation of weather from day to day and the variation of weather conditions from season to season were explained by Mr. Miller in a way which allowed those unfamiliar with technical terms, to obtain a graphic idea of the fluctuations in temperature.

"JEFF" BURRUS '27 IS ELECTED CREW CAPTAIN

Jefferson Burrus '27, of Louisville, Ky., was elected captain of next year's crew by the squad in Poughkeepsie yesterday. Burrus has pulled the number six oar in the Wisconsin shell since his sophomore year.

WISCONSIN MEN ARE POPULAR AS UNIVERSITY, NORMAL PRESIDENTS

Eleven alumni of the university are now college presidents and five are normal school presidents, a tabulation prepared by Porter Butts, alumni recorder, reveals.

The alumni most recently elected to a college presidency was Dr. Frederick R. Hamilton, of the class of 1906 who became president of Bradley Polytechnic Institute, Peoria, Ill. The presidents of two other Illinois universities are Wisconsin alumni. They are Dr. David Kinley, of the University of Illinois, who received the doctor of philosophy degree from Wisconsin in 1893, and Dr. Max Mason, '98, elected last summer to the presidency of the University of Chicago.

Wisconsin alumni who are normal school presidents are:

Pro. Jesse H. Ames, '07 of the State Normal college, River Falls, Wis.; Prof. Charles McKenny, master of arts in 1910, of the Michigan State Normal college; Ypsilanti, Mich.; Prof. Alexander C. Roberts, '06, Centralia State Normal school, Seattle Wash.; Prof. Asa Royce, '04, State Normal school, Platteville, Wis.; and Prof. Harvey S. Schofield, '04, of the State Normal School, Eau Claire, Wis.

"Get Acquainted With Your Own State" is the slogan for the university get-together announced by the Dean, S. H. Goodnight, director of the summer session for tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock.

At the beginning of each summer session these get-togethers are held for the purpose of acquainting summer students with the members of their own state or section of the country. The various groups meet, organize, elect their officers, and plan out a program of entertainment for the six weeks of summer school.

Launch rides with picnics afterward, social hours and dances are some of the things done by the groups which organized last year.

The places suggested for the Get-together of the groups this year are as follows:

Western States: Campus between South hall and Law Building; Southern States: Campus before Music hall; Eastern States: Muir Noll; Illinois: Lincoln Terrace; Ohio: Campus Engineering building; Missouri: Campus west of Lathrop near flower garden; Minnesota and Iowa: Campus between Music hall and Law Building.

It is estimated that about 2,500 summer students will be present at this first get-together. Everyone is urged to meet at the places announced for their state or section.

Officers Elected at First Meeting of Spanish Club

Marie Crawford was elected president of the Spanish club at their first meeting at the Casa Cervantes, 224 North Murray street, last Tuesday evening. The other officers elected are Henry Blanco, vice-president; Marina Briones, secretary; Kathryn Manning, treasurer; and Beda Hand, publicity manager.

Prof. J. Ortega gave a short talk to the forty members present on the gifts which had been recently presented to the house. The club is also planning a picnic and a dance for its members.

The next meeting of the club will be next Tuesday evening at the Casa Cervantes, and any one interested is invited to attend.

RE-ELECT KRONSHAGE PRESIDENT OF REGENTS

Theodore Kronshage, Jr., Milwaukee, was re-elected president of the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin last week. Ben F. Faast, Eau Claire, was re-elected vice-president, and M. E. McCaffrey, Madison, was re-elected secretary.

Following the tea model initiation will be held in the Hotel Loraine, the grand officers of the sorority officiating, which will terminate the fourth day of the 45th national convention of Sigma Kappa which marks the 52nd year of the organization.

Lake Mendota was the source of entertainment for the 300 delegates in attendance at the convention. Twenty-five chapters entered the various meets of the swimming contest which was held at the university pier. For the more skilled performers there were fancy diving, double diving, distance, and form swimming contests. The women also took part in log rolling, barrel rolling, canoe stunts, and paddling events.

After the aquatic meet, a boat ride was taken around Lake Mendota, terminating in a picnic at Bernard's park. Following the picnic supper 40 chapters competed for the silver loving cup which is awarded to the chapter submitting the best original words and music for a Sigma Kappa song.

"Over the Hill" First of "Movies" Please Audience

By M. A.

An average crowd of approximately 300 saw the moving picture, "Over the Hill" last night which is the first of a series of regular Wednesday night "Movies" scheduled for the summer session. The picture was shown in Muis hall.

The picture was a re-issue film which made such a success last year, playing New York for a solid year. It was adapted from two poems in Will Carleton's series "Farm Ballads." A rather melodramatic scenario reveals the inner seams of the American family, with several clever portraits. Mary Carr as the loveable mother who is forced to the poorhouse by an ungrateful son gives a sincere and unacted interpretation.

The picture was cleverly directed, and minor climaxes were worked with great skill, bringing tears from several of the younger folk, and again laughter of the hearty sort.

DEAN'S NOTICE

By university regulation, student dancing is limited to Friday and Saturday nights and to dancing parties which have been regularly registered in and approved by this office. A list of these dances will be published each Thursday in the Daily Cardinal, and house-mothers of women's houses are specifically instructed not to accept signatures of women for parties other than those thus announced.

S. H. GOODNIGHT,

Dean of Men,
Director of Summer School.

The approved parties this week are:

Bernard's Park.
Esther Beach.

Beta Theta Pi.

PRESIDENT FRANK ADDRESSED 3,000 STUDENTS AT GYM

Claims By-products Are Most Important Values Obtained From Education

Claiming that the by-products were the most important values to be obtained from education, President Glenn Frank addressed a crowd of 3,000 students who packed the gymnasium for the summer session convocation Tuesday afternoon. "Life is a synthesis of habit and originality; crankiness and co-operation; beauty and utility; poverty and prosperity," declared Dr. Frank, pointing out some of the more important by-products.

Since President Frank left for Europe last night, the address was the last as well as first time that summer session students will hear him.

Factors of Life

The by-products of education, the president explained, are the four sets of factors that synthetically compound the perfect life. Succinctly, he discussed these by-products as follows:

"Habit is the cement that holds society together, originality is the dynamite that blows up the cement of habit when it threatens to entomb life and to steal away from sunshine and air the eager roots of growth."

Crankiness-Co-operation

"Crankiness marks the man who will not abate one jot of what he holds to be right; but cooperation is the hallmark of the reformer who insists only on that which is essential."

"Beauty must be democratized, not reserved for the few. Something is wrong with an education that does not help toward this synthesizing of beauty and utility."

"Poverty is not a virtue in itself; prosperity is not a vice in itself."

GIVE TEA IN HONOR OF SIGMA KAPPAS

500 Women Will Attend Event at College Women's Club

Five hundred women including prominent university faculty members and Madison representatives, will attend the Panhellenic tea which is being given for the national grand officers of the Sigma Kappa sorority from 4 to 6 o'clock this afternoon at the College Women's club. The Madison, Milwaukee and St. Louis alumni chapters will act as hostesses. Representatives from all sororities active and alumnae chapters will also be guests.

In a brief sketch of the history of feminism in Europe Prof. Ortega pointed out four cardinal events in the emergence of women and stated that the old idea that Christianity was responsible for freeing women from servitude had been exploded. The first event of importance came during the Renaissance when women like Maria Agnesi in Italy and Catherine Erxleben Griesen in Germany began to show that women were capable of intellectual attainments.

Then in France during the Revolution women demanded the right to climb the tribune and address the people. Third, Mary Wollstonecraft in England was taking the leadership of 18th century women who wrote. The fourth event was the International Congress of Women in Berlin in 1894.

Prof. Ortega explained that the reason feminism in France, England, Germany and Italy has a history of several centuries and is now in Spain is due to the traditional passivity of the Spanish women. Feminism in other countries

SPANISH FEMINISM TITLE OF LECTURE

Prof. Ortega Believes Hope Lies in Women of Middle Class

Feminism in Spain is a comparatively recent thing and dates back only 20 or 30 years, according to Prof. Joaquin Ortega, who gave a picture of the life of Spanish women in a lecture on the "Social Condition of Women in Spain" in Bascom hall yesterday afternoon. A large audience listened with interest to Prof. Ortega's explanation of his belief that the hope of the hope of the Spanish women and the solution of the feminist question lies with the women of the middle class.

GAGE A MEMBER OF HONOR TEAM

Was Popular Athlete and Third Wisconsin Man Elected to Squad

Les Gage, who has been appointed publicity director and assistant basketball coach to aid Dr. Meanwell by George Little, director of athletics, was the third Wisconsin man to be selected on the first all-conference basketball five.

He is now in the city and will start in his new position about August 1. He was a member of the basketball team in 1922-1923.

The following is taken from the files of the Daily Cardinal and from the issue dated May 27, 1923, under the heading "Gage Third Badger on All Star Basket Team."

"At the star basketball coaches' conference, held at Ann Arbor, Michigan, Les Gage, forward on Wisconsin's 1922-1923 champion ship team, was elected to the position of all-conference forward.

"Gage is one of the most popular athletes at the university. He is the third man on the Badger team to be placed on that honorable five. Dr. Meanwell deserves no small amount of credit for the coaching of this athlete.

"Two former basketball men representing this university have succeeded in winning membership of the team. They are Williams and Tebell."

PROF. ORTEGA LECTURES ON SPANISH FEMINISM

(Continued from page one) was made possible by the rise of the educated, aristocratic society women. In Spain the women of the aristocracy remained ignorant although the law of 1857 admits women to all public institutions. The Spanish woman has been afraid to become independent.

"Divorce in Spain," Prof. Ortega explained, "is an indignity to women and is undesirable to them both socially and economically." Prof. Ortega stressed the necessity of sounder education of women "or self support and the education of men to consider them as human beings. In conclusion Prof. Ortega declared that "words are not sufficient to praise the virtues of Spanish women and in time and under suitable conditions they will prove themselves as capable as other women."

This was the first of a series of six lectures to be given by Prof. Ortega during the summer session. The second will be an illustrated lecture on "Seville, the Heart of Andalusia."

Blood can reveal sex according to recent experiments by Dr. Dewey G. Steele, of the University of Wisconsin.

3,000 STUDENTS HEAR PRES. FRANK AT GYM

Prof. Paxson Opens Meet

The convocation was opened by Prof. F. L. Paxson. Dr. C. H. Mills conducted the singing of "Varsity" and the execution of several college yell, but gave up the latter when he found that the greater portion of the audience knew little of the Wisconsin yell.

A violin solo was given by Prof. Cecil Burleigh, accompanied by Miss Louise Lockwood. A vocal duet by Prof. E. E. Swinney and Miss D. C. Buriff, accompanied by L. A. Joon, followed.

M. B. Olbrich, member of the Board of Regents, acted as presiding officer, contributing an introductory address on the uselessness of the presiding officer's role, that kept the audience in uproars of laughter.

Greeted by a great burst of applause, Dr. Frank, upon opening his address, turned immediately to the first pair of education's by-products—habit and originality.

"Education is too often little more than the handmaiden of habit, smoothing and polishing men's minds so that they may fit without friction into the grooves of custom and originality," he said. "But education must also be the siren of originality, lest it become merely the stabilizer of ancient wrongs. Clear and disciplined thought will alone establish a working partnership between habit and originality."

Out of the second pair of by-products, Dr. Frank reasoned that the cooperation is necessary to accomplishment in life, while crankiness "retards achievement.

Live By Beauty, Bread

Man lives by beauty and by bread, declared the president, discussing the third pair.

"We must have democratic beauty," he asserted. "Beauty that is taken away from the many to be hung on the walls or draped on the bodies of the favored few alone, degenerates into ugliness. Beauty shared is beauty multiplied, beauty made more beautiful."

The fourth pair of by-products, poverty and prosperity, found Dr. Frank a defender of neither, but a supporter of a compromise between the two.

"A servile submission to poverty when unnecessary is the hall-mark of a weakling," he said. "But a courageous willingness to face poverty when necessary to keep one free from the subtle slaveries that modern life imposes upon men is the hall-mark of a hero."

"I hope that your contact with the educational processes of the University of Wisconsin may help you to realize these four by-products of education."

It took 100 years for the piano to develop out of the guitar and clavichord.

Katherine Courtney Is Operated On Tuesday

Katherine Courtney, daughter of Mrs. Ella Courtney, proprietor of the Loraine Beauty shop, was operated upon at a local hospital yesterday for acute appendicitis. Dr. R. T. Cooksey performed the operation. Miss Courtney was reported to be in a favorable condition to-day.

"DAD" VAIL RIGHT, BADGER CREW DID NOT HAVE POWER

Coach Made No Predictions; Beaten by Six Better
Crews

Dad Vail was right. His boys did not have the necessary power?

For three miles they were in the second division, but that was anticipated. At the bridge, however, they failed to raise the stroke and as the shell slid across the finish line in seventh place a mighty groan went up from the alumni and students abroad the observation train.

After the great race of the year became a contest of history, Dad
Vail nearly smiled when questioned.
He had never predicted anything but had cast gloom over the proceedings for three weeks.

ALL GOOD BOYS

"I have worked with my boys for a long time and I knew the capabilities of every man that was in the shell," said Vail. "They are all good boys and they tried hard and none have alibis. We were just beaten by better crews."

The men took their beating not without tears. First and second place were expected to go to the Navy and Washington but the final result was too much for them to stand.
Teckmeyer at stroke appeared unmoved. Capt. Coulter, coxswain, was in tears when he ordered the men to take the shell for the water and place it on the racks.

ONLY A RACE

"After all," said Dad, "a boat race is only a boat race, and as long as the men give the best that is in them, they should not feel badly.
We'll be back next year and perhaps we'll be able to do better than this."

The victors, the hardest crew ever to go east from Seattle, shared the same boathouse with the Badgers and they were as happy as the Wisconsin men were sad. Dad

UNIVERSITY ATHLETES MAKE EXCELLENT RISKS

The percentage of mortality among college football men is slightly lower than that of the average college graduate, is indicated by a survey recently made at Massachusetts Aggies. The Metropolitan Life Insurance company conducted an investigation into the mortality of college men who engage in organized athletics while in college to find out whether or not these men show the effects of athletic activity in college.

For the period from 1878 to 1905 of 222 Massachusetts Aggie football men 182 are living and 40 are deceased, the percentage of those having died being 18. For the same period the total of graduates is 1,018 and of this number 191 are dead, a percentage of 18.7.

POYNETTE — The second annual outing of the St. John's Evangelical Luther league was held Sunday. Leaving Poynette at 8 a. m. in three decorated cars, packed with league members and abundant eats, en route from Green Lake, they travelled through Portage, Endeavor, Packwaukee, Monticello, and Princeton. After a picnic dinner near Green Lake, they drove to Ripon and Waupun. Supper was held in the park at Beaver Dam, after which games were played.

Vail was among the first to congratulate Rusty Callow.

WISCONSIN CHEERS

Wisconsin rooters occupied an entire car on the train that followed the crews down the Hudson.
None of the supporters of the Crimson crew took their places until the train started on its journey toward the starting point.

They sang to the tune of a jazz band and the crew was the only one to give verbal support of their friends. As soon as the race began, the cheers were over.

The dinner at the Nelson house after the race was a quiet affair.
Some of the boys dined elsewhere and late in the evening they wandered off in groups to spend as they might their last night at Poughkeepsie.

Last night they were the guests of the Wisconsin alumni at New York and they will return to their homes shortly.

TEN REGISTER FOR DAILY CARDINAL TENNIS TOURNEY

All Men Students and Faculty Members Eligible to Enter Contest

Entries in the singles and doubles in the Daily Cardinal summer session tennis tournament are coming in fast, according to Harry Cohen, chairman of the contests.

Ten men have already registered for the contests up to last evening and it is expected that many more will before next Tuesday noon, the deadline for registration.

All indications point to the largest tournament ever sponsored by the publication and the interest shown is more than usual, according to the chairman.

Register Daily

Entries may be made at the men's gymnasium daily between the hours of 10 and 6 o'clock.

Any man student or faculty member is eligible to enter the annual contest by paying the entry fee of fifty cents.

To Award Cups

This money will be used in the purchase of cups to be awarded the winners of all events.

Early entries in the singles include H. Hancock, F. Matin, C. M.
Johnson, W. B. Sarles, M. F. Howison.

Expect 50 To Take U. W. Course On Recreation

CALLOW TO STAY AT WASHINGTON

Huskie Crew Mentor Signs
Three-year Contract at Western School

Announcement from Seattle that Russell Rusty) Callow had decided to remain as coach at the University of Washington three years robbed eastern rowing discussions of a favorite topic.

It had been understood generally for some time among rowing officials that Callow had received several attractive offers in the east with Pennsylvania making the largest bid for his services. His name also had been mentioned in connection with rowing at Harvard and Cornell.

CALLOW IS SILENT

After yesterday's regatta at Poughkeepsie, in which his varsity Huskies were victorious for the third time in four years, and his junior varsity for the second straight time, Callow refused to discuss reports that he had accepted the Pennsylvania offer.

It was understood that he planned to confer with the Quaker officials tomorrow.

Last year's defeat at the hands of the navy in the intercollegiate championships is the only reverse on the Callow varsity record.

CORNELL COACH MAY GO

There are many indications that the eastern rowing will undergo some changes in the coaching department before another season.
Cornell is reported seeking a successor to its present head coach Charles A. (Pop) Lueder, following the most disastrous showing to "big red" crews ever made at Poughkeepsie.

They finished last in the varsity and freshman races and next to last in the junior varsity yesterday.
Cornell rowing authorities have not yet taken any action on the coaching situation, but the names of Mike Murphy, Yale freshman coach, and Ed Stevens, a former Cornell oarsman, who recently resigned as Harvard's head coach, have been mentioned for the Ithaca job. It is understood that Minnesota also seeks Stevens' service.

SUMMER COACHING SCHOOL HERE IS PIONEER IN FIELD

Founded in 1911 to Meet Needs of Playground, Gymnasium Directors

The school of coaching which is being conducted this summer by the athletic department is the follower of the first one of its kind to be formed in the country.

In 1911 the course was established and since that time it has increased in popularity until now many men and women are registered in it. Exact figures will not be known for some time.

Since 1911 similar schools have been founded at many of the universities of the Big Ten conference and many state universities throughout the country. Illinois was the first to follow suit and it was followed by Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota and Ohio State.

It was the purpose of meeting the needs of instructors and directors of playgrounds and gymnasiums, of school teachers and administrative officers of schools, clubs and social welfare institutions that the coaching school was established.

Now such courses as the history and principles of physical education in elementary and secondary schools, community recreation, principles of coaching and training, physical education, and the organization and administration of physical education are given by the athletic department.

In the professional courses classes are being held in the technique of all the various sports, George Levis, one of Wisconsin's greatest

WHERE YOU FROM?

Whether summer session students have realized it or not, there is a decided program under foot to bring the 5,000 or so of us together for acquaintance and cooperation. The business of organizing this body in classes, meetings, lectures, and social functions, is a tremendous one. It is one of the major activities of Dean Scott H. Goodnight in his capacity of director of the summer session.

Tomorrow evening an all-university mixer will be held on upper campus to acquaint the state groups with each other. The young miss from Kentucky will find that Mary Lou is attending summer session too, having spent a year with her at that fashionable finishing school down east. The stranger from Texas is going to discover that Bob Williams, who knows Fred, who knows Tom, etc., down to the Texan's brother, is taking several courses in engineering. It will mean that friendships will be made and resumed which will add much to the six weeks in Madison.

During the school year activities, social and otherwise, are organized to an exceptionally high degree, in fact so well that many criticisms have been directed at the system. Then students have many points of contact, friends are made at every turn, and a cheery greeting on the way up to an 8 o'clock adds much to the zest of the daily hill climbing contest.

But during the all too brief six weeks of the summer session there are few organized activities. Meetings must be arranged, lecturers must be secured, mixers must be held. Many have said that the greatest benefit one receives from a period at the university is from the contacts made. That point is still open for discussion, but it is true that much can be gained from a wide acquaintance with those who are thinking as you are, and yes, from those who think a good bit differently.

The first general get-together, unorganized and informal as it will prove to be, will afford an excellent opportunity to make new friends. We hope that a great percentage of students will be up on the hill tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock.

THE RURAL COMMUNITY

With a motor vehicle for every 5.8 persons in the United States in 1925, there is no question but that this is an age of ears and cylinders with much and rapid travel.

Different periods have had different emphasis. For example, during the settlement and pioneering days the emphasis was expansion, conquering a new territory, pushing the covered wagon farther and farther westward.

Then there was the period when the free land had been about exhausted and the emphasis became one of more intensive development of the territory already settled. In this period the great physical and biological sciences having to do with plant and animal production came for major contributions. In Wisconsin the names of Henry, Babcock, Russell, Moore and others will always be associated with this great period. Their contributions have been great, and they are not at an end. This emphasis must go on and become perfected and expanded for it lies at the foundation of modern agriculture.

But there is another emphasis which seems to be recognized on every hand. It is sometimes called the organization emphasis where the great economic and social relations of farming come in for their share of attention.

It is quite unnecessary to suggest that this organization emphasis of the day is on a scale much larger than the old country neighborhood of the settlement days. At that time much of economic and social life was within the neighborhood boundaries, centering in such institutions as the church, the school, the store. The limiting factors were the horse and the roads. But all this is changed.

There may be no agreement as to what the limiting factor really is at present, but it is probably the man himself. But in any case, agriculture in its economic and social life is widened out to a large community basis. This community is not confined to country neighborhoods, but is expanded to take in both country and town.

The farmer's gate continues to swing open on roads but the good roads lead to town. This farmer and his family are dependent upon this town for many of the goods and services, he cannot find on his farm, or in his old neighborhood settlement, such as flour, fuel, clothing, doctor, high school teacher, or recreation. On the other hand this town is directly dependent upon its rural community for the supply of new wealth which is to be poured into the channels of trade and commerce.—Wisconsin Bulletin.

Former Wisconsin Instructors, Publish Game, Play Book

Directions for conducting a hundred educational plays and school room games are included in a book which has just come from press by Mrs. H. P. Greeley (Emily W. Elmore), former instructor in physical education in the university and Miss Marie L. Carns, former assistant professor of physical education.

Many of the educational plays illustrate such classic children's stories as Hansel and Gretel, The Pied Piper of Hamlin, and Hiawatha. Others are based on German and classical mythology, such as Perseus and Andromeda, The Golden Fleece and Nibelheim.

Some of the schoolroom games are blackboard baseball, indoor football, mind reading, word seeking, east letter contest, and schoolroom bowling. The games and stories are performed in cadence and aim to exercise both muscle and mind.

30 STUNTS GIVEN BY SIGMA KAPPA

Presentations Typical of Various Sections of Country Represented

One of the most unique of the 30 stunts given by chapters of the Sigma Kappa at Lathrop hall Tuesday night, was that of the original chapter from Colby college, Waterville, Me. The stunt was a statue representation of the picture of the original founders in the full-sleeved bustled costume of that day, 50 or more years ago.

Most of the chapter stunts were typical of the section of the United States from which the chapter came. The Texas chapter gave a representation of a Negro spiritual meeting. The "Wild West" element was contributed by the Denver chapter.

A pirate treasure hunt, and a mother telling her daughter of memories of college at the sleepy time of the day were some of the contrasting numbers.

A vivid change from the costumed stunts were the aquatic stunts at the meet on Lake Mendota yesterday. Log rolling, barrel rolling and other watery attempts furnished the comedy.

Sigma Kappa expert swimmers and divers were to compete in the double and fancy diving contests scheduled, as well as the relay swimming races, and fancy swimming. Canoe races were included.

Today, Pan Hellenic day, the Sigma Kappa grand council, and Madison, Milwaukee, and St. Louis alumnae chapters will be hostesses at a tea from 4-6 o'clock at the College Women's club.

In the receiving line will be Mrs. Ida Fuller Pierce, founder, Miss Frances Hull Warren, national chairman, and Mrs. R. A. Moore, patroness of Sigma Kappa.

The members of Psi alumnae and active members will assist and the rooms will be decorated with garden flowers and candles.

Libe Looks Same as During Exams to Old Students

"The campus seems much the same as ever," the old students say to one another as they meet on the hill. "Summer session has not changed it greatly." And that is true until one wanders through the library.

There, wonder of wonders, the tables are full, the corridors overflow, the steps abound with students. It resembles nothing so much as the last week before final exams.

The influx of students to the library characterizes the difference in temper of those who attend the regular session and those who come primarily to study, in the summer time, using the precious hours of vacation to gain a little more knowledge by which to benefit others.

This situation marks the difference between those who prefer to study a little each day and those who come, not to spend all their time in idleness, but to enjoy themselves for the greater part of the accumulating their learning at one great gulp at the end.

CHANGE MEETING HOUR OF CERCLE FRANCAIS

The Cercle Francais, French club of the university, will hold its first meeting of the summer session this evening at 7 o'clock. The meeting was scheduled for 8 o'clock, and was so registered in the weekly bulletin, but owing to several 8 o'clock features, the members decided to push the meeting up an hour, according to Prof. Casimir Zdanowicz, chairman of the Romance Language department. A resident will be elected at the meeting, which will be held in the French house, 1105 University ave.

DIXIE CLUB TO HOLD FIRST MIXER TONIGHT

The Dixie club of the university will hold its first meeting from 7 to 8 o'clock this evening in the form of a mixer on the campus in front of Music hall. All students from out of the Mason and Dixie line have been invited to attend the meeting. In the event of rain, the mixer will be held in Music hall.

these are a few of the adjectives picked at random from the many used by the reviewers who have spoken in such glowing terms of the Skyrocket serial, "The Poor Fish," which starts in the column next Saturday.

"THE POOR FISH" will be the best seller of the year, according to Isabel Tingling in the Christian Science Monitor. "THE POOR FISH," will surpass even my novels in luscious dripping sediments," stated Elinor Glyn after she had read the manuscript through misty eyes.

"THE POOR FISH" is modern, very modern. (Not that it being modern improves it any, but, nevertheless and notwithstanding, it is modern.)

In Saturday's Cardinal we will present the first installment of this unprecedented thriller, together with a picture of the heroine in four poses. Watch for "THE POOR FISH."

"Art thou taking any snap course, D'Artagan?"
"Verily, simple one, methinks they snap like a bear trap."

2nd—Doubly so.

ROCKETS ENCYCLOPEDIA

BLIND DATE—A form of amusement indulged in by many of the burgoise. Very unreliable. Most of the species are not blind at all—they can at least see a little out of one eye.

CANOEING—A most hazardous sport usually indulged in on the lake or on some body of water. 50 cents per hr. Quite romantic if you're that kind of a girl.

CLASSES—Absolutely the worst and most boring part of college life. Are to be avoided as often as possible. Very unnecessary to the bright student—if there are any such animals. Generally presided over by a person who has a bad habit of calling on one at most inopportune times.

SUMMER SCHOOL STUDENTS—People who come to Madison for their six-weeks vacation.

READ "THE POOR FISH"

By means of force, persuasion, bribes, and compulsion, the Skyrocket staff now has the grand total of three members. That is, we think there are three. More are needed—come one, come all.

The following is our first bona fide contribution. The fair ink slinger is yept La Tete Rouge and casts a mean typewriter. Front and center—

YELSEW.

Well, hello everybody. How's everything. Just got back from a lively sojourn out in the wilds of Vilas Park. But it still looks just the same only more so. It is easy to see summer school is on. We strolled through the libe and— and behold—the place was full! It looked like final exam time and yet exams are five weeks off.

Down on the Square is a most interesting announcement over the Parkway theater. It reads:

BORN TO THE WEST
BABY DOROTHY IS HERE

A famous landlady on Langdon street doesn't give the summer school people much credit for intelligence. On her nice lattice arbor she has a small piece of wood labeled "BOARD." Oh, please you really should give us credit for knowing that much.

COMING—"THE POOR FISH."

Virginia gave herself away as a summer school girl yesterday when she ran her nice new roadster into a hydrant. Looking at the scratched and bent fender she sighed and murmured, "Oh, sugah!"

CLASS NOTES

Professor Fulcher was mentioning Maetlinck's St. Anthony which the dear saint's halo was made to glow whenever its wearer performed an act which was especially moral. To bring it down to practical basis, Paul suggested that we mortals, on doing some Boy Scout act of kindness, might be surrounded by a faint rose glow, or on transgressing somewhat, might turn a pale green.

Oh Paul—but what a give-away on dates.

By the way, did you notice how many silken frocks, proudly sporting pins at a jaunty angle just south by south west of the left collar bone, also bear the recent imprint of those same pins just above the belt line? Yes, we are collegiate!

IS SOMEONE TRYING TO BE CLEVER BY CHOOSING "OVER THE HILL" AS THE FIRST UNIVERSITY MOVIE?

We know all about "over" the hill—and behind it, too.

READ, "THE POOR FISH."

Fight Over Fitzpatrick Appointment

Milwaukee Council Balks At Naming Former Madison Man

An echo of the World war was heard on the floor of the Milwaukee common council meeting last night when that body at least temporarily blocked appointment of Edward A. Fitzpatrick, former Madison man, now a dean of Marquette university, to the Milwaukee public land commission because he is alleged to have made uncomplimentary remarks about Germans during the war.

Kicking over the traces, a group of Socialists and non-partisans flouted the wishes of Mayor D. W. Hoan by refusing to suspend the council rules and vote on the ap-

Where to Picnic

PICNIC POINT

This narrow, picturesque point derives its name from the fact that it has always been the favorite picnic site for students. The walk is about a mile and a half from Bascom Hall and one follows the Menard lake shore drive.

Picnic Point is about one-half mile in length. It was the site of an early Indian village evidences of which may still be seen. About half way down its length is a canoe portage from Lake Menard into University Bay. Several low Indian mounds, oval and linear in form, are located among the trees at the base of the Point and a single conical burial mound stands on the backbone of the Point a short distance from the portage.

To reach the Point follow the lake drive to the place directly opposite Picnic Point farm. Then turn to the right and follow the worn path along a farm fence and along the edge of the marshland. Pass through the opening in the fence and proceed eastward along the edge of a field. Then climb over a wire fence by means of a stile and proceed straight ahead to Picnic Point.

met last week in order to select officers and organize for the campaign. Nearly every precinct in the county was represented. The following officers were elected:

J. E. Zetzman, Fall Creek, chairman; Jule Wilke, Fall Creek, vice-chairman; J. Erle Ingram, Eau Claire, secretary-treasurer. An executive committee consisting of one member from each precinct was appointed by the chairman as an executive committee to act as a representative of each section in this campaign.

The following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, that this organization being in full accord with the principles set forth in the La Follette Progressive Republican platform most heartily endorsed the following candidates for the offices respectively named: For governor, Herman L. Ekern; for lieutenant governor, Henry A. Huber; for secretary of state, Theodore Dammann; for state treasurer, Solomon Levitan; for attorney general, John W. Reynolds; for U. S. senator, John J. Blaine."

The meeting was addressed by E. J. Onstad, Madison, who discussed the problems confronting the La Follette Progressives in this campaign. He reviewed the campaigns of the last six years and showed how attempts have been made to defeat the Progressives by combinations of Democrats and stalwarts.

Famous Tenor Gives Concert Here Tomorrow

Riccardo Martin Sings At Christ Presbyterian Church

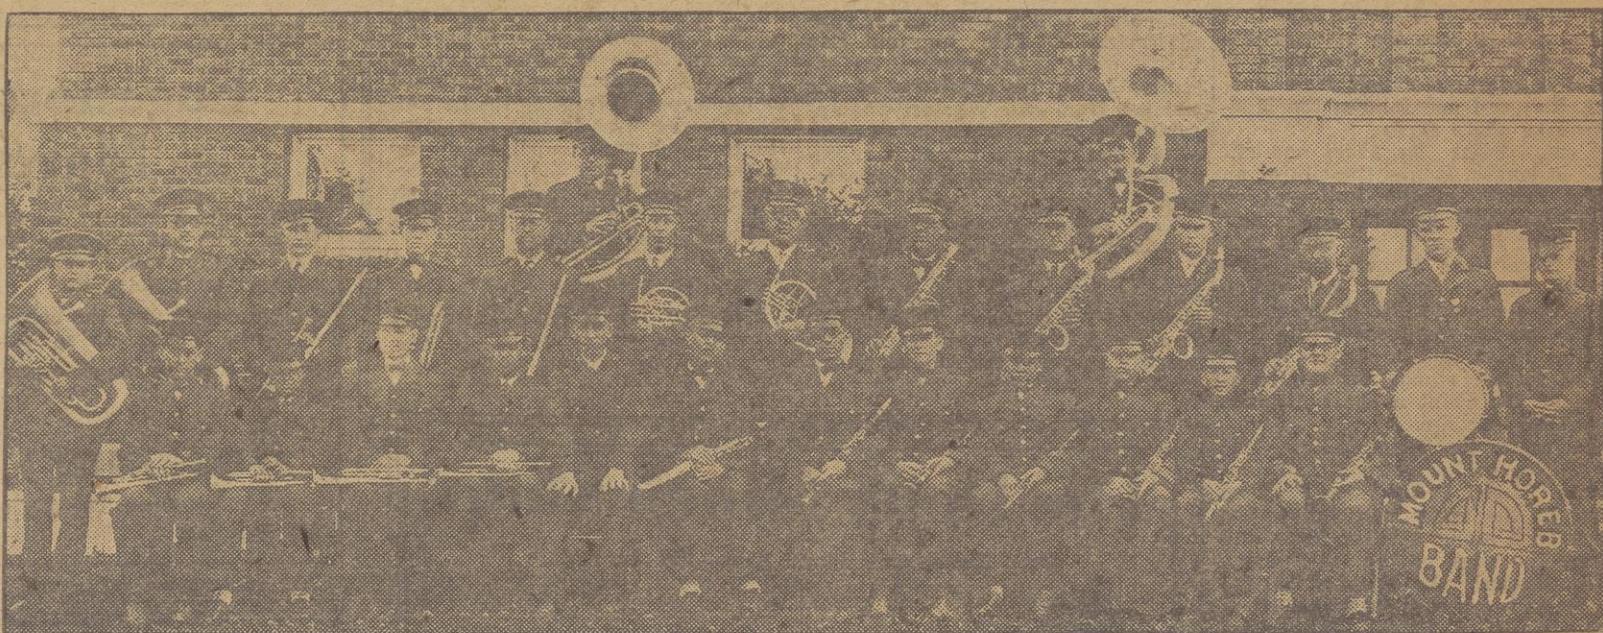

Riccardo Martin, the tenor of international reknown who has just finished a heavy season in opera, appears in Madison in concert to-night, coming here from Chicago. Chicago.

Mr. Martin will appear at Christ Presbyterian church where he sang last July and received a reception which caused an immediate reengagement. He will present this year a program of French, Italian, English and American songs, and arias from popular operas.

"Anyone interested in music will find this concert worth while," said a professor at the university.

Previous to 1916 Riccardo Martin sang all the principal dramatic roles in Metropolitan Opera, New York, including Aida, Salome, "La Gioconda," "Pagliacci," and "Losca," but not until he substituted for Caruso during the latter's protracted illness did the American tenor prove his real value and reach the topmost rung of success.

Mt. Horeb 38-Piece Band to Play Here on July 5

Coolidge is Bumped By Big Margin

$100,000,000 Ag Credit Measure Downed In Senate By 54 to 26

WASHINGTON.—With surplus crop legislation crushed beneath the weight of economic and political controversy the administration's cooperative marketing bill stands today as the only farm relief measure likely to be enacted at the current session of congress.

Struggling with the problem in a bitter ten hour session yesterday, the senate late in the day voted down the $100,000,000 Fess credits measure, which, like the cooperative marketing bill, had the avowed support of President Coolidge, by 54 to 26, a majority of 28 votes, a margin nearly five times as great as that by which the McNary equalization fee rider was defeated last week.

Then, in rapid succession, one substitute proposal after another was rejected with only a relatively small part of the senate membership remaining in the chamber, the cooperative marketing bill was passed without a record vote.

Was Already Passed in House

This measure which would establish a new division in agriculture department to handle cooperative marketing problems and authorize an appropriation of $225,000 for its work, already has been passed by the house but because of senate amendments including one eliminating naval stores from its provisions, it must go to conference between the two chambers for adjustment of these differences.

Little delay in final enactment of the bill, however, is expected to result from these changes, and house leaders held today's program open to expedite the progress of the measure toward the White House. Nothing else of major importance remains on their slate for action prior to adjournment, which they hope to bring about at the end of this week or early next week.

The senate roll call on the Fess farm bill follows:

A total of 794 columns of news matter, totaling 15,872 column inches without headlines, has been written for and published in Madison and other Wisconsin newspapers during the present college year by student reporters in the sophomore class in newspaper reporting in the Course in Journalism.

As there were 85 reporters in the class, each doing one assignment a week, they averaged 186 inches, or about 9 1-2 columns apiece. Five students exceeded 500 inches, or 25 columns, each. Nineteen exceeded 200 inches, or 10 columns, each. Some 53 exceeded 100 column-inches, or 5 columns each.

At the Madison Theaters

The Haunted House' Above the Average Orpheum Production

A farcical mystery play and an affective parody on the hackneyed melodramatic stage thriller is "The Haunted House," now being presented at the Orpheum theater by Al Jackson's stock company. Reminiscent of "The Cat and the Canary," it has its setting in a habitation peopled with strange spirits from the other world and features sudden shots, eerie screams, taps on the wall, raps on the ceiling, and the rest of the implements employed in the out-and-out hair-raising thriller.

Mr. McDermid, playing the part of an eccentric author who lives the parts of his characters, gives the most forceful and amusing impersonation and is responsible to a great extent for the success of the production. At the time of the murder—there had to be a murder of course—the novelist is writing a mystery play. The crime offers him an excellent opportunity to live the part of his detective, so he does.

The novelist-detective is most amusing, especially with the aid of his wife, a role played by Miss Ella Etheridge. His scientific technique and procedure rival that of the famous Sherlock Holmes and, even though his reasoning is wrong occasionally, everything turns out all right in the end.

Miss Betty Bandy and Mr. Fred McNellis, who play the roles of the bride and groom who come to spend their honeymoon in the haunted house, seem better than usual. Miss Bandy gives a good impression of the frightened bride, being very capable of emitting blood-curdling screeches.

The play is by Owen Davis and is full of clever lines and amusing situations. The plot is devoted to the solving of a murder committed near the haunted house, the unriddling of the same being "in charge" of the novelist and a city detective. Each character in the play is suspected during the course of the hectic evening, but in the end . . . well, we're not supposed to divulge the final outcome, so you'll have to see it for yourself.

Some of the players seemed quite amateurish, especially Harry Griffiths, playing the role of a chauffeur, and Harry Bodie, characterizing a lisping milkman. Another fault which is perhaps more obvious and more easily remedied is the habit the unoccupied actors on the stage have of showing an absolute disregard of the proceedings or disclosures made by the actors speaking. As a whole, however, "The Haunted House" is above the average of the Orpheum plays and is well worth seeing.

Charm and Thrills in 'The Rain Makers' at Parkway Tonite

BY E. M. H.

The thrill of a horse race, the spice of Old Mexico, the sweetness of youthful love, all combine to make of "The Rainmaker" one of the most promising pictures of the year. It will open its Madison engagement at the Parkway theater tonight, and will play for the remainder of the week.

Starring Ernest Torrence and William Collier Jr., the picture depicts the unique history of a jockey who seems endowed with unusual powers of "making" rain. Wherever he goes a storm accompanies him. The use that he makes of that power, and the ultimate test which it must stand to save the life of his sweetheart, form the nucleus around which the motion picture is built.

The excitement of several big horse races, and a startling fight in a Mexican town add plenty of thrills for those who look for the nerve-racking moments in a picture.

"SWEET DADDIES" STORY OF IRISH VERSUS JEW

With practically the same cast and with a plot based upon the same principle, Irish versus Jew, "Sweet Daddies," now showing at the Strand theater, is very similar to "The Cohens and the Kellys." The Irish boy desires to marry the Jewish daughter, the two families are at odds with each other until the final peace and the marriage between the younger members of the houses.

Ernest Torrence, who is as good as ever in his Irish interpretation, plays the part of the head of the Irish family. George Sidney, who became one of our favorites in "The Cohens and the Kellys," naturally takes the role of the Jewish father. Jack Mulhall and Jobyna Ralston play the parts of the lovers.

The son of Erin and the wealthy Jew go into the molasses business. Both eye the prospective marriage of their offsprings with favor. The mother of the girl, however, has already picked a husband for her daughter and will hear of no other.

In the end the hand-picked husband is disclosed as the villain who tries to break the molasses combine by getting its members involved in a rum running deal.

After a bit of suspense when the girl almost marries the unscrupulous villain, the plot is disclosed and the marriage of the Irish to the Jew is finally solemnized.

In dramatic qualities, "Sweet Daddies" (we are unable to account for the title) is by far inferior to its predecessor, "The Cohens and the Kellys." It is, however, more farcical and equally as funny. The main criticism to the play might be that the plot is insufficient for the length of the film. The action is slowed up greatly in spots by the

N.D. Primary Today Decides Sen. Nye's Fate

G. O. P. And Nonpartisan League Fight For Con- trol Of State

[By The Associated Press]
FARGO, N. D.—With interest centered in the senatorial contest and the attempted political reincarnation of A. C. Townley's erstwhile power in the Nonpartisan league, North Dakota's primary campaign closed with two factions of the republican party struggling for control of state and national offices.

The factional warfare is between republicans indorsed by the Nonpartisan league and the "regulars" or Coolidge republicans, who will attempt to oust Gerald P. Nye, nonpartisan, from the senate. Today there is a double election—the regular primary and a special senatorial election to select a successor to the late Sen. Ladd. Sen. Nye was appointed to the vacancy pending a special election, which was set for the same date as the primary.

Opposing Nye for the short term are L. B. Hanna, "regular" or Coolidge republican, and C. Stone, independent republican, running on a "light wine and beer" platform. These three, with Norman N. Midtbo, Donnybrook, also are seeking the republican nomination for the long senatorial term.

Northwestern University Experiments Reveal Cause of Trouble

5,000 Aid In Observation

Michigan Best Radio State; Rocky Mountain Area Worst

CHICAGO—Moonlight is one of the radio fan's worst enemies.

This is revealed in an exclusive report released through NEA Service on preliminary tests conducted during the greater part of the last year.

The tests were made under the direction of Northwestern University and the Stewart-Warner Corporation.

They are still going on and plans are being made to increase the present army of 5000 observers that more definite results may be achieved.

The demon, static, and his twin brother, fading, now find themselves pursued to their lairs.

The report informs:

"In the tests made by our observers in conjunction with Northwestern University through 20 observation stations and with the assistance of about 5000 observers, the physics departments of many universities and technical schools, one of the most outstanding features was that almost invariably where static was found, fading was also in evidence. Where static was bad, fading was bad, and where there was no static.

Opposes Former Theory

"The worst static did not come from the southwest, generally believed to be the happy hunting ground for such things. It was most apparent in the northwest, slightly in the south central states, and at its worst along the South Atlantic seaboard.

In Virginia and North Carolina fading was accompanied by what are known as directional silences. Observers in these states were unable to hear western stations at all. "And the effect of moonlight as a radio wrecker seems fairly well-established. Observers report that during full moon only the most powerful stations were able to get through.

"The magnetic effect of the moon upon the tides is well known and, the thought is advanced that this visible electrical display ought to have a definite influence on the ionized stratum of the atmosphere."

Other important facts brought to light by the tests show:

That Michigan is one of the best states for the radio fan.

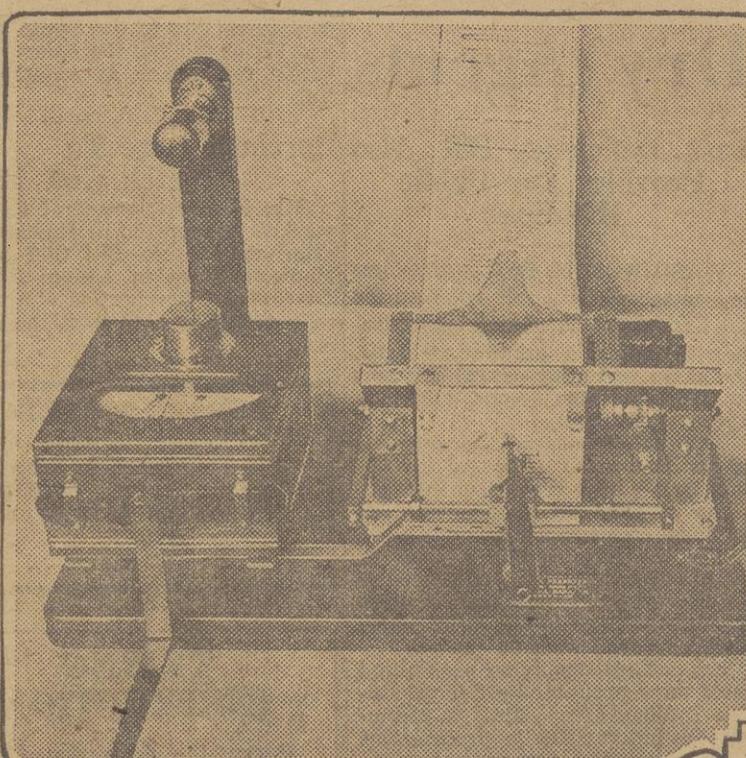

That the Rocky Mountain states are not so good.

That fading is recurrent along the south Atlantic seaboard.

That static often occurs where previous surveys have indicated the territory disturber.

That fading and static are related.

"Fading Recorder" Used in Tests

By means of this instrument, experimenters at Northwestern University and other stations have been following the vagaries of static and fading. It's called a fading recorder, the instrument at left, catching static charges and transmitting them to the pen at the right which translates the charges in the form of the wavy lines shown. J. K. Smith, at right, is in charge of this test.

40 Dangerous Age for Man, Doctors Say

125 Physicians Attending District Meeting Here

Man of woman of 40 and upwards—you who believe yourself in the best of health—you are at the dangerous age!

Beneath your apparent perfect vitality, there lurks the germ of disease alert to attack you when you show the least weakening of resistance.

That was the warning broadcast by Dr. Joseph F. Smith, Wausau, president of the Wisconsin Medical society, in an address to more than 100 doctors of Dane and surrounding counties at the first annual convention of physicians from Dane, Green, Columbia, Sauk, Rock, and adjoining counties in the Wisconsin General hospital today.

Childhood and youth no longer furnish the great toll of death, he said. Mature men and women, those who appear to be healthy, are keeping the death rate high and the life expectation low, he declared.

A thorough physical diagnosis from a reputable physician at least once a year was recommended every person who has reached middle life. The doctors assembled were urged by Dr. Smith to prepare themselves for the new vista of medical practice now opening to them—that of regular examinations of all people in their communities.

Science has slashed the rate of deaths from contagious diseases and from maladies of infants, but it has not done much, he declared, to reduce the toll of cancer, heart disease, and kidney ills, all of which are predominant in middle age.

Would Hire 906 Added Dry Agents

Last Deficiency Bill Also Provides For Public Buildings

WASHINGTON, D. C.—After going on record by a roll call vote for the first time this session on a question involving a prohibition issue, the house yesterday passed and sent to the senate the second deficiency appropriation bill.

This action cleared the calendar of its last piece of major legislation, and placed the house in a position to wind up its business and go home on short notice.

The measure carried a total of $45,014,000, of which $14,156,000 is for 73 new public buildings projects throughout the country, all of which were approved without change.

The roll call involving prohibition came on a proposal by Representative Tydings (Dem., Md.) to recommit the bill to the appropriations committee with instructions to eliminate an appropriation of $2,686,760 for the prohibition unit. The money would be used to employ 906 additional dry agents, bringing the total strength of the enforcement squad to 4,303.

The Tydings motion was rejected, 33 to 246, and the appropriation was retained in the bill. Those supporting it were:

Republicans—Racharach, Esterly, Gorman, Hill (Md.), Irwin, Lampert, MacGregor, Shafer, Schneider, Seger, Sosnowski, Stephens, Tinkham and Voigh—14.

Democrats—Auf der Heide, Black (N. Y.), Boylan, Carew, Cullen, Dickstein, Gallivan, Gambrill, Griffin, Kindred, Lindsay, Linthicum, Mead, Mooney, Norton, Quayle, Tydings and Weller—18.

Included in the bill are appropriations of $1,000,000 to begin construction of three of the 10 new
