NO HOLIDAY ON FRIDAY, BIRGE SAYS IN RULING

Excessive Number of Class Cuts and Weather Are Cited

Friday, December 1, will not be a holiday.

Recent student agitation to have classes dismissed the day following Thanksgiving came to an end last night when President Birge issued a statement signifying his unwillingness to lay the proposal before the faculty at this time.

Unusually pleasant weather this fall and the large amount of interest aroused by football games, which have combined to cause an already excessive number of class cuts, is the principal reason President Birge gave for his action.

Recitations Already Interrupted

Had there been no other interruptions to university work this semester and if the student body had been willing to sacrifice one day of the Christmas recess in order to gain the day at Thanksgiving, the president stated he would have been willing to lay the matter before the faculty.

Under no consideration would the faculty be asked to consider a request which reduces the number of teaching days in the academic year, President Birge said.

The president's statement: . . .

Birge's Statement

Editor The Cardinal:

I have received from Dean Goodnight a petition signed by a large number of students asking that Friday, December 1, be granted as a holiday. I send my answer to The Cardinal since this is the easiest way to make it public.

If there had been no other interruptions to university work this semester and if the students wished to have this day at the expense of a corresponding shortening of the Christmas recess, I should be willing to lay the proposal before the faculty. I am not disposed to ask the faculty to consider any request which reduces the number of teaching days in the college year.

Chicago Game Attracts Many

Still further, the exceptionally pleasant weather this autumn and the unusual interest in the football games have combined to cause an amount of absence from class that is already excessive. Several thousand tickets for the game at Chicago have been sold to students and classes for the coming weekend will be depleted correspondingly.

Under these circumstances the request for another and even more serious interruption of study next week ought not to be granted and I do not think the faculty should be called together in special session in order to consider it.

The petitioners must, therefore,

NEW GRIDGRAPH WILL GIVE PLAYS OF FINAL GAME

For the last time this season, the football gridgraph will be seen in action at the men's gymnasium tomorrow.

Play-by-play action in the Chicago-Wisconsin gridiron classic will be depicted on the athletic department's miniature field. It is expected that the gymnasium will be crowded with fans who are unable to witness the battle on Stagg field.

An overflow crowd swarmed to the gym to watch the two previous games which were shown on the gridgraph. Admission to the "game" will be 25 cents. After Saturday, the gridgraph will be stored away until the 1923 football season opens.

Annual Wisconsin Dad's Day Looms in Action of Fratmen

An annual all-university Dad's day looms for Wisconsin following the decision yesterday of Ku Klux Klan, junior interfraternity organization, to lay the proposal for the new institution before the Athletic board and Athletic council for official approval.

The plan will be brought before the Athletic board at its regular meeting on Wednesday. It will propose the definite establishment of Dad's day as an all-university institution to be held each year on the week end of the Conference football game other than Homecoming. The organization of the affair under a student chairman appointed by the Athletic board and committees similar to the Homecoming organization is considered, Porter F. Butts '24, representative in the matter for Ku Klux Klan, stated last night.

The question of a Dad's day at Wisconsin has been discussed for some time. It was not until yesterday that action was taken to secure the definite establishment of such an event.

The affair has met with tremendous success at other Conference universities, particularly at Illinois, and has received the enthusiastic approval of several fraternities which have tried the scheme here.

Tom E. Jones, director of athletics, voiced his hearty approval yesterday of the plan for a Wisconsin Dad's day.

He declared that the event would mean much in broadcasting further the fame of Wisconsin throughout the Middle-West and that it would be invaluable as the one time of the year in which to interest parents directly in the university.

If the plan is approved by the Athletic board, it will go to the Athletic council for final sanction. When established, all university organizations, men's and women's, will be encompassed in the organization which will stage the affair each year.

U. S. ISOLATION WRONG: LOWDEN

Former Illinois Governor Urges America to Aid European Tangle

That the moral influence of the United States in Europe was never so high as it is now and that this country should recognize this fact and take greater action in European affairs is the opinion of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, who spoke before an audience of 800 last night in Music hall in the first of a series of all-university convocations directed by the Wisconsin Union.

"Europeans look to the American nation as the only nation in the world which is not covetous of territory, which is not seeking trade advantages, which can help the struggling nations out of their predicaments," Mr. Lowden declared.

"It is a question of how long we shall be able to hold that influence if we do not exercise just a little bit more action and eschew our policy of splendid isolation.

American Influence Good

Representatives of the nations in charge of the Rhineland territory look upon the time with fear and trembling when the last American soldier is withdrawn from those parts.

"The Yankee has created a feeling of good will among the Germans of that territory. The American flag over Coblenz is a symbol of safety and peace in the occupied land.

"Not only the French, English

$10,000 Bungalow To Be Built By Professor Neff

Prof. A. A. Neff, of the College of Engineering, will build a $10,000 bungalow in Nakoma at Custer road and Odanah place. Other homes built and under construction during the year have ranged in cost from $9,000 to $23,000. The new homes include those of Prof. Farrington Daniels, Prof. Loren Miller, Fred Sarles, Prof. R. E. Vaughn, Prof. J. H. Kolb, C. N. Wilson, J. G. Milward, Paul E. Stark, Dr. James Dickson and H. G. Karrow.

Euthenics Club To Aid Agric Triangle In Work

Euthenics club met at 7:15 o'clock last night for a short business and social hour in S. G. A. parlors.

Plans for cooperating with Agric Triangle club in country life work were discussed. Euthenics club expects to take charge of work in interest the farmer's wife, while the men present solutions to problems of the farmers of the various communities.

Thirty-three new members have been elected to Euthenics club.

William Allen White To Address Students

The next of the series of convocations will be held the night of February 26 in the armory when William Allen White of Kansas will speak, it was announced last night by the Union Board.

Mr. White is editor of the Emporia Gazette, Emporia, Kansas, and a former associate editor of Judge. He is one of the most prominent writers in America and has been for some time eminent in political affairs.

He took the side of the liberals in the recent coal strikes and has upheld the right of a workingman to strike.

BADGER CANVASS OPENED TO SELL ANNUAL TO 4,500

In an effort to raise the circulation of the 1924 Badger to 5,000 books, 20 members of the staff have started this week on a personal canvass of nearly 4,000 persons who have not ordered an annual.

The solicitors have organized the names of non-subscribers according to the streets on which they reside. Each of these students will be asked to buy a Badger.

"If students do not want the book, we want them to tell us why," Howard Lyman '24, business manager of this year's annual, declared last night.

The canvass of students will continue until Christmas. It is expected that the number of books sold will be raised from 3,190 to at least 5,000 before the holiday recess begins.

The contract for the number of books to be printed will be closed in January. Lyman declared that the Badger will not contract for more books than ordered in the subscription campaign.

Ten leaders in the campaign which closed a few weeks ago have organized the canvass and will take active part in it. They are Ferdinand J. Kojis '24, Hugo Bachhuber '24, William Sullivan '25, Harry Sanborn '24, Daniel Seiber '25, Jessie Morton '23, Dorothy Bach '26, Jean Cavanaugh '23, Kathryn Butler '26, France Cobabe '26, Lucy Jamieson '25, and Helen Trettien.

Badger Students Invited To Dance At Drake Hotel

A private dance for Wisconsin students will be held tomorrow night in Chicago at the Drake hotel. Isham Jones, noted jazz artist, who played at the Junior prom three years ago, has been engaged. Tickets may be obtained by calling the Alpha Xi Delta sorority, F-311.

WEATHER: FAIR

Fair weather is forecasted for today and tomorrow. The temperature is predicted to drop today and to rise again tomorrow.

VARSITY LEAVES FOR CHICAGO TO CRUSH STAG GMEN IN LAST BATTLE OF CONFERENCE YEAR

Who Lost Two Tickets For The Badger Game?

Here's a real mystery.

The Badger Studio notified The Cardinal last night that two tickets to the Chicago game had been found yesterday at the studio.

When the news was received at the office last night, no less than nine people made claims immediately to their ownership.

They even vouched their willingness to describe the tickets. So the mystery deepens. The "real" owners of the tickets, however, may claim them by calling at the studio today.

Eight Members Play Final Game of Season With Maroons

Camp Randall was the scene of Varsity's final practice of the football season yesterday afternoon.

And when the men had assembled their equipment and left the field for the last time, they bristled with a determination to invade the lair of Stagg and keep him from a Big Ten championship which has not been brought to the Midway since the good old days of Pete Russell and Dolly Gray, 'way back in 1913.

Carrying 40 men, the Wisconsin Varsity squad left at 7:45 o'clock this morning for Chicago where the Badgers and Maroons clash in the classic gridiron game of the Midwest. It will be the final battle of the season for both teams. The two traditional rivals will fight with might and main while 32,000 persons witness one of the most imposing spectacles of the 1922 gridiron season.

Last Game for Eight

Eight members of the Wisconsin outfit will play their last game for the Cardinal and White. They are Capt. Rollie Williams, Gus Tebell, Shorty Barr, Gibby Gibson, Bob Sykes, Rudy Hohlfeld, Fat Smith, and Tom Nichols.

Each of these men is listed as a senior, but because some of them have not completed their allotted three years of Conference competition, it is possible they may be back in uniform when the official call for candidates is sent out on September 15, 1923.

When Wisconsin stacks up against Chicago, an undefeated eleven will meet one that has lost two games. The teams are so evenly matched that none but the bravest of critics dares to select a winner. Chicago has beaten Northwestern, Purdue, Ohio State, and Illinois. The Maroons have yet to lose a game and their goal-line is still uncrossed.

Richards Has New Tricks

Wisconsin was returned victor over Indiana and Minnesota, lost to Illinois and Michigan in terrific battles which were put on the wrong side of the ledger when hostile teams got the breaks.

The Badgers will not wait for the breaks when they clash with Chicago. They will go out and get them. One of the most versatile attacks that has ever been unleashed on Stagg field will occur when Wisconsin is in possession of the ball.

Coach Richards has taught his men a whole bagful of new tricks. With a variety of puzzling formations, with Capt. Rollie Williams in fine fettle, and with Shorty Barr threatening to forward pass the Staggmen out of a title at any stage of the game, Chicago will have a difficult time of it.

Stagg is expected to use the old-time army game of smash 'em and bust 'em.

3,600 TICKETS TO GAME ARE SOLD TO U. W. STUDENTS

That students intend to boost the team win the Chicago-Wisconsin game tomorrow is evident by the huge ticket sale which far surpasses that of any other sale for the Chicago game. Approximately 10,300 tickets were sold here for the game. About one third of that number were sold to alumni of Wisconsin, residents of Chicago and its suburbs.

It has been estimated that 857 students procured 3,600 tickets.

While last year the Chicago alumni were able to obtain tickets in Chicago, this year all the tickets were issued from here.

WINE AND BEER EDICT DISPUTED

Wisconsin Professor Disputes
Claim of Dry Rule Over Ancients

"Wine and beer played such an important part in the religious ritual and daily life of the ancients that prohibition seems improbable", Prof. Michael I. Rostovtzeff of the Ancient History department of the university, declared in commenting on the assertion that "Prohibition was tried in ancient Egypt and Assyria and had failed", of Prof. J. F. Lutz, University of California.

Records of extensive breweries, dating back as far as 2000 B. C. have been found on Egyptian monuments, Professor Rostovtzeff stated.

"The Assyrians made large quantities of wine while the Egyptians made wonderful beer. With the spread of Greek civilization came the importation of the famous Greek wines which enlarged their choice of beverages, he declared.

Used Wine At Parleys

Herodotus, the Greek historian and sage, wrote that when an issue of importance was to be discussed, wine was imbibed in large quantities at the conference in order to furnish enthusiasm and inspiration.

"The next day when they were well sobered up the question was considered again and a decision was reached."

Distillation, however, was an unknown art and none of the drinks were nearer than 14 per cent," Professor Rostovtzeff continued. "The sensational accounts of the old time orgies are mostly exaggeration."

"The parties of the small group of ancients were no wilder than carousals of the correspondingly small group of modern enthusiasts," he declared.

Favors Light Wine, Beer

"Regarding present day prohibition, I believe that the government should limit the sale of heavy liquors.

"Of course, it is for you Americans to decide, but in Russia my friends and colleagues would laugh at the idea of prohibition on light wines and beer."

"Tobacco, tea, coffee, and even food and water are injurious if taken in excess. Why not have prohibition on them?"

U. S. Needs Better Taste in Music, Prof. Dykema Says

A need exists for musical education and a refinement of tastes in popular songs in the opinion of Prof. Peter W. Dykema, of the Music School. Professor Dykema is quoted at length in the Literary Digest Nov. 18 issue on his views of jazz, expressed at the recent congress of Playground and Recreation associations and the Committee service convention at Atlantic City recently. He is also quoted on his opinion of the place of instruments in musical life.

SINCLAIR LEWIS TO REVIEW LIT

Author of "Main Street" Consents to Zona Gale's Request

Sinclair Lewis has agreed to review the December issue of The Wisconsin Literary Magazine, according to an announcement made last night by the staff. The author of "Main Street" and "Babbitt" was asked by Zona Gale in behalf of The Wisconsin Literary Magazine to give his critical judgment on the next issue. Mr. Lewis consented to do so.

The review as given by Mr. Lewis will appear in The Cardinal. Margery Latimer '24 is handling the matter for the student literary publication.

During the past summer Sinclair Lewis announced his intention of living in Madison this winter. He was in the city the first part of July. He was quoted at that time as having said that Chicago was too big for him and called Madison "as nice a town" as he knew.

Since then report has come that he has given up this plan and has definitely made his home in Hartford, Conn.

U. W. HARRIERS LEAVE FOR RACE IN BIG TEN MEET

Six Trackmen To Compete In Conference Event At Purdue

Six championship-seeking Badger harriers left Madison last night to go to Purdue where they will enter the conference meet tomorrow morning. The men who will fight for a win against 11 other cross country teams in the annual meet were accompanied by Coach Mead Burke and Trainer Enos Jones.

The men will arrive today noon at Purdue where they will have ample time to become familiar with the conference course. While no workout is scheduled for today, the men will spend the afternoon in resting and looking over the course.

Wisconsin will have an advantage shared by few teams in that the Purdue course is much like the local course. There is a rise in the course near the start and general hilly country prevails throughout the entire remainder of the way. Much of the territory of the local course over which the Badgers have been practising is of this nature.

Expect Third Place

Many of the conference courses are smooth, running through the city streets or parks. Teams which have become accustomed to running over this kind of country will find themselves at a distinct disadvantage when they have to cope with the difficulties of running over hills and uneven territory.

While Wisconsin's hope is for a first place in the meet, dope does not favor them to place higher than a third. Ames has demonstrated its ability along the cross country line by defeating every team in its district.

Entrants in the Missouri Valley meet bowed down to defeat when Ames walked away with all the honors.

Michigan defeated Wisconsin several weeks ago and is rated as a possible winner of the meet.

Tschudy, Wade, Leaders

From a large group of men who have been showing up well this fall, Burke has chosen six men who have consistently shown the best speed and who he is sure will do some lively stepping in the meet.

Tschudy and Wade are the dependable men of the squad who are sure to place somewhere near the head of the procession at the end of the race. These two men have fought for first honors during the entire season and it is hard to tell which will make the best showing tomorrow.

Valley and Moorhead have been doing good work this fall and are dependable men. Rosmeissel, who has developed wonderfully during the season will go to Purdue where he will have a chance to show his class. If he runs the speedy race he has been doing in practice, he will help much toward a win. Perry is the sixth man on the team and is sure to run a good race.

Indian Program Given By New Clef Club Members

New members of the Clef Club gave a program in Lathrop Hall last night.

Indian music was played and Indian songs sung by several members. Eva Makemer '25, spoke on Indian music, its character and influence on modern music, and on such composers as McDowell and Cadman. A short business meeting was held.

Grace Jones '24, was in charge of the program.

Holiday Dance Planned By The Manitowoc Club

Manitowoc club met at the University Y. M. C. A. last night to elect officers for this year. Plans were made for a club dinner, to be given before the holidays, and for the annual Christmas dance at Manitowoc. The officers elected were: Jack Markham, president; Paul Urbanek, vice president; Vernon Houghton, treasurer; and Milton Stangel, secretary.

GRIDIRON CONFERENCE IN EAST WOULD IMPROVE GAME THERE, EXPERTS AGREE

John Heisman, veteran coach who suggests such a conference, and (inset) John L. Griffith, high commissioner of the "Big Ten" conference in the west.

The recent plea of Coach John Heisman of Pennsylvania for a football conference in the east to compare in scope and general makeup with that of the "Big Ten" in the west is expected to create considerable discussion by the time another grid season rolls around. The lack of uniformity in eligibility and scholarship rules, lack of co-operation between the colleges of the east and the direct result of both—lack of definite grounds on which to base any championship claims—have prevented the east from keeping pace with the west in developing football.

INTEREST KEEN IN GYM SOCCER

Champs Move Near the Finals By Win Over the Tigers

By a 1-0 win over the Champs yesterday afternoon, the Tigers kept one step closer to the finals in inter gym class soccer tournament. The soccer tourney has become a regular part of the fall work in the department of physical education.

Eight teams were picked from the gymnasium to compete.

Although soccer has not yet achieved recognition as a full-fledged sport in western schools, interest at Wisconsin has increased greatly. The influx of many foreign students who have learned the game in their home lands under British tutelage accounts for the growing interest.

The contest for the reward, which has been offered to the winning team, has narrowed this year to a triangular competition between the Tigers, the All Stars and the Periods.

An elimination game will be staged between the All Stars and the Periods this week-end. The winners are to play the Tigers.

'23 CAPTAIN OF VARSITY SQUAD TO BE ELECTED

The football captain for next year will be elected at the annual "family" banquet of the team at the Del Prado hotel tomorrow night after the Wisconsin-Chicago game.

The banquet will be an informal, hand-shaking affair in which farewells will be made to the "Old Romans." Coach Richards and Rollie Williams will speak.

The team will review the work of the past season and plan for the coming football year. Some of the men will stay over for Sunday.

CHICAGO ALUMNI PLANS BANQUET FOR BADGER FANS

The alumni banquet for Badger men and women will be held at 6:15 o'clock tomorrow night in the Sherman House, Chicago.

Ring Lardner and Harriet T. Woodruff will speak at the banquet. Ezra Crane '21, will lead the yells. Haresfoot club will entertain with a skit and Chudnow's orchestra will play.

Approximately 400 Wisconsin men and women are expected to attend the banquet. After the game those wishing tickets can arrange for them at the Sherman House upon arriving in Chicago.

to go in and give the Badgers the same sort of bad medicine he offered last year when he marched down the field alone and put the ball in a position from which Mitt Romney was able to dropkick successfully.

The Badgers have been warned that Jack Thomas is not the only back to be feared, however. Bill Zorn, good enough for any Conference team, Harold Thomas, Strohmeier, and converted into a quarterback, and Jimmy Pyott are a collection of experienced ball-carriers who will be dangerous any time they are called upon to tote the oval around the grid.

In one of the most encouraging and hardest scrimmages of the year, Varsity gave Coach Lowman's All-Americans a fine send-off yesterday afternoon. The line and backfield worked smoothly together, and the omelettes were spread over most of the field during the skirmish.

Harris May Play

Polaski continues to work at left end and will start the Chicago game in that position. The remainder of the Wisconsin forward wall will be identical with that which has started in previous Conference tilts.

Gus Tebell plays his last game at right end. Marty Below, one of the most brilliant linemen in action this season holds on the left tackle job, and Smith is at the opposite tail. Hohlfeld and Bieberstein are likely starters in the two guard places, but Miller and Sykes will probably see service before the end.

Shorty Barr will call signals with Merrill Taft and Capt. Rollie Williams carded for two of the backfield jobs. Gibson, who was withheld from the Michigan battle because he was injured, has again rounded into shape.

Jack Harris is also ready to play, and if Richards is willing to risk him in the final game, both men will work at right half.

To Elect '23 Captain

The Badger squad engages in its last preliminary drill at Stagg field this afternoon. The practice will be little more than a warming-up affair. Coach Richards and his men are quartered at the Hotel Del Prado.

O'BRIEN ELECTED CAPTAIN OF U. W. ALL-AMERICANS

Twenty-one All-Americans will make the trip to Chicago. These men have worked hard all season and deserve such a reward in recognition for their faithful services.

S. Weldon O'Brien, who has been playing with the All-Americans this year, was elected captain. O'Brien has been one of the outstanding men on the team this year.

The men who will make the trip to Chicago are Collins, Tomilson, Hosmer, Sykora, Wiggers, Christianson, Carter, Schrader, Pollock, Stipek, Levitt, O'Brien, Hicks, Fiedhl, Kubosh, Nyhagen, Fern, Weingandt, Miller, Monkwitch, Eschweiler.

THE CHICAGO TICKET SALE

THE Wisconsin-Chicago football game has furnished always a wealth of protests and curses against ticket sales and five-year contracts.

The yearly "scandal" has involved students as well as officials and employees of the athletic department.

Much of the criticism directed against the department has been unjust; some of it has been as just as it was unfortunate.

The ticket sale of last year was a brilliant example of inefficiency and graft.

Indignant students demanded and received promises of better arrangements this year. A harassed and luckless athletic department begged for more co-operation and honesty from the students.

The ticket sale system was reorganized. Presumably every effort was made to prevent dishonesty or inefficiency. No tickets were sold this year except through mail order sale. No students were to order more than four tickets apiece.

That the plans for an entirely efficient and honest sale have failed is but too common knowledge. The fault is not alone the athletic department's, not alone the students.

Let us review the results.

Some of the students registered their letters containing money and orders for tickets. These letters were given into the care of the post office department for delivery to the gymnasium and the student-senders waited in full trust for the prized cards of admission to the Chicago game.

But in many cases the tickets failed to appear.

Inquiry at the athletic department brought the information that the registered letters in question had not reached them. At least, if they had, there was no record of them.

Hurried visits to the postoffice netted the information that a record was held there of the proper registry of the letters.

The Cardinal has no detective bureau, no embryo detectives. It needs none to arrive at the conclusion that either the postoffice employs or athletic department employees have been grossly inefficient in the handling of registered mail.

Letters cannot well be lost without inefficiency or worse.

The Cardinal is interested in having the records of the postoffice and of the department traced to see where the loss occurred. The investigation should be conducted officially and at once.

In the meantime how about those students who have been unable to secure tickets, even though they registered their orders? We are interested in seeing them secure tickets to the game.

That is the immediate consideration of the students concerned. It should be, and undoubtedly is, the consideration of the athletic department.

The Cardinal holds no brief for the employees who are responsible for the loss of the registered letters. Whether it is an employee of the post office or of the gymnasium the guilty should be punished.

The athletic department deserves no little commendation for its manner in conducting this year's ticket sale. And we have every reason to believe that the department will welcome an investigation to bring the guilty employees to justice.

DAD'S DAY

THE proposal that Wisconsin have an annual all-university Dad's day comes as a timely and excellent move. Approval is certain from all at Wisconsin and enthusiastic support will be forthcoming immediately from approximately 7,000 dads, although the event will not occur until next fall.

Other Conference universities have tried the idea and found an overwhelming response from student body and dads. But it is not because other universities have met with success that Wisconsin will inaugurate the plan. The merit of adoption here or at any other school.

The advantages accruing to the holding of a Dad's day are innumerable and inestimable. Dads, hundreds of them, would come from every state in the union to live with sons or daughters in university atmosphere for three days.

Wisconsin, its activity, its athletics, its purposes, its spirit, would leave a definite impression on their minds.

Looking Back On Wisconsin

IN THE CARDINAL FILES

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

University library receives a valuable acquisition of 500 volumes from abroad.

A pep meeting is held for the coming game against Northwestern at the Athletic park, Milwaukee.

Thanksgiving vacation commences.

20 YEARS AGO TODAY

Wisconsin forced to meet Chicago in a crippled condition, due to the loss of some good men through injury.

University of Wisconsin Society of Civil Engineers is organized for juniors and seniors.

Twenty-eight contestants compete for the Freshman Declamatory contest.

A pep meeting is called to welcome the championship team's return from Iowa.

Grant M. Hyde's "Newspaper Reporting and Correspondence" is enjoying a wide sale and much favorable comment.

5 YEARS AGO TODAY

Wisconsin defeats Chicago 18 to 0, the first victory against Chicago in 17 years.

Dean S. H. Goodnight establishes the system of keeping complete records for all student organizations.

UNIVERSITY IN NO DANGER OF COAL SHORTAGE

"There is absolutely no danger of a coal shortage at the university this winter," Paul H. Presentin, secretary of the state coal commission declared yesterday afternoon.

At the present time approximately 125 tons of coal are consumed every twenty four hours. There is plenty of coal in reserve at the plant in case any of the shipments on the road should be held up. Mr. Presentin added.

The state fuel commission has charge of securing coal for all public buildings. This insures a sufficient supply for the university. The coal is purchased in all parts of the country, and each shipment is proportioned among the different state buildings according to their needs.

A body of enthusiastic publicity agents and supporters would be created instantaneously.

Fathers will see sons and daughters anew. Fathers will meet other fathers with much in common. The day will take its place alongside of Homecoming as a great Wisconsin institution.

Parties responsible for first instigating the movement are deserving of congratulations. And now we look forward to speedy and favorable official action.

AT PUNKIN HOLLER

IT was not so long ago that community meetings were commonly held in agricultural circles.

Those meetings were especially popular at Thanksgiving time when hearts were full and barns were packed with fodder and pumpkins, apples and cider. Perhaps even hard cider, if the truth were told.

The old time community meetings have of late been neglected for the more strenuous and artificial pleasures of present day urban-minded citizens.

It is with a commendable effort to revive interest in rural life and rural festivities that the Agric Triangle is conducting yearly an old-time Punkin Holler Community Meeting.

The third annual meeting of the nature is being given tonight in Agricultural hall. Stay-at-homes on the game will find that the wholesome entertainment provided Agricultural hall will make them forget temporarily their keen disappointment over not going to Chicago.

SPORT COACHING BY MAIL, PLAN

Correspondent Courses by Universities Are Offered For Athletics

Coaching of athletics by mail will be offered soon by the university. Correspondence-study courses in football, basketball, track and field, and scouting and scout craft, now in the process of preparation by members of the department of physical education, will be completed by December 1, Prof. W. H. Lighty of the university extension division, announced yesterday.

Prof. Guy S. Lowman, director of the university gymnasium, who has coached football since 1905, is planning the football course.

Coaches Prepare Course

Two courses in basketball, one for men and one for women, are being prepared by Dr. W. E. Meanwell, varsity basketball coach, with the assistance of Mrs. Meanwell, formerly director of physical education for women in the University of Missouri.

T. E. Jones, chairman of the de- his course in field athletics and his course in field athletics and in track, will deal with sprinting, middle and long distance running, hurdling, jumping, weight throwing, relay racing, and a schedule of daily practice.

Dr. J. C. Elsom, associate professor of physical education, who has long been a director of the national Boy Scout movement, will take charge of the course in scout craft.

"For years there has been a demand for such courses," declared Professor Lighty, "but it was only this fall that we were able to make provision for them."

"An opportunity for the most up to date and correct type of coaching, and for the promotion of the best standards of sportsmanship is thus afforded."

fore, resign themselves to getting one more day's education than they want. May I also say I suspect that, when the end of the semester approaches and examinations are close at hand, some of those who signed the petition may discover they really needed more days of instruction rather than fewer?

E. A. BIRGE,
President.

Dean is Misquoted

Some misunderstanding has arisen relative to the statement attributed to Dean S. H. Goodnight in The Cardinal yesterday morning. Dean Goodnight was quoted as favoring the holiday project, whereas he merely expressed sympathy with the desire of the students to be at home on Thanksgiving, but concluded such a holiday at this time would be unwise.

The dean's statement:

Goodnight's Stand

Editor The Cardinal:

Permit me to express regret at The Cardinal report of an interview with me Wednesday with regard to a petition for a holiday, December 1. The interview, as it appeared, quoted me wholly in favor of the petition and pledged me to endorsement of it.

The fact is that, while I expressed sympathy with the natural desire of the students to be at home on Thanksgiving day, I pointed out the requirement under which the university operates to maintain the actual number of teaching days in the semester and pointed out further the fact that, with three football excursions out of town, a Thanksgiving recess of three days and a long Christmas recess, the work of the semester would be badly shattered. For these reasons I did not believe that the petition would or ought to be granted.

Furthermore I feel it unfortunate that as an administrative officer I am quoted as opposing a calendar arrangement which has been voted by the faculty. In such case one's duty is to administer the faculty enactment regardless of his own views and his opposition is limited to his privilege of participation in the debate in case the matter is brought before the faculty for reconsideration.

S. S. S.! U. W. Dances At Christmas Need Title

A campaign to get a cleverest title for the Memorial Union dances during the Christmas vacation has been launched.

The dances will be held in more than 50 cities under the auspices of university students for benefit of the Union fund.

But a snappy title for them is wanted.

Students are requested to mail suggestions to Katherine Wilson at the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority not later than next Tuesday.

St. Joseph's Academy Girls to Attend U. W. Press Conclave

Twenty-two representatives will come from one school to the third annual convention of the Central Interscholastic Press association to be held here December 1 and 2.

The party, which is the largest group to register from a single school, will come from St. Joseph's Academy in St. Paul. All of the representatives will be girls.

"About half of the delegates to the convention will be women," Fred L. Kildow, director, said yesterday. "It is encouraging to see what distances the women delegates will come. Some of the most distant places will be represented by women."

Returns from fraternity and sorority houses in the drive for rooms show that less than half of the number to be here can be accommodated.

"The drive to obtain rooms has a few days yet to go," Hal Heard, chairman of the housing committee, declared. "I think that when we hear from all of the houses, there will be a sufficient number of rooms. The returns have been splendid so far."

Woman's Collegiate Organization Aids in Plans For Leader

Mrs. Maud Wood Park, president of the National League of Women Voters, will speak at 4:30 o'clock next Monday afternoon in 165 Bascom hall on "Citizenship Our Inevitable Responsibility." The Collegiate League of Women Voters co-operating with Madison organizations succeeded in bringing Mrs. Park here.

"I went to urge university girls to make a special effort to hear Mrs. Park. She is one of the prime movers in the obtaining of suffrage. Now that women may vote, helping them make intelligent and understanding use of it will be interested in the subject and I intend to attend," Dorothy Whipple '23, stated last night.

Mrs. Park graduated from Radcliffe in '98 with the highest honors. She spent two years in the Orient studying the position and general living conditions of women in China, Japan, the Philippines, New Zealand, Australia, India, Turkey, Syria and Egypt.

and Belgians, but also the Germans went that flag to continue its guard over the territory."

In speaking of the problems which face the statesmen of Europe, Mr. Lowden stated that those problems would be greatly minimized if the reparations, placed upon Germany, were revised within reason.

He asserted that the present reparations could never be paid by Germany and that foreign exchange could not return to normal while such demands were diminished.

French Efficient

Contrary to what is the general opinion of superficial observers in Europe, France is nearer pre-war conditions than is its neighbor across the Rhine, according to Mr. Lowden. Statistics show, he declared, that the efficiency of the French workman has increased 100 per cent since the war while that of the German workman has increased only 50 per cent.

The cause for the comparatively slight increase in efficiency of the German workman is the tremendous depreciation in their currency.

Mr. Lowden concluded his address by advocating an increase in the salary of our ambassadors, foreign ministers and secretaries.

"American representatives in foreign countries can not compete with other representatives because they are not in the field for a sufficient length of time to learn their trade."

MILK SUBSTITUTE MENACES HEALTH, U. W. EXPERT SAYS

That filled milk, an adulterated milk substitute, brings about a retardation in growth and a deterioration in health has been proved in recent experiments conducted by Edwin B. Hart, professor of agricultural chemistry.

"Filled milk is ordinary skimmed milk to which cocoanut oil has been added," Professor Hart declared. Butter fat is taken from milk and vegetable fat is added in its place."

"The rats used in this experiment showed a tendency to develop respiratory and eye diseases. This was due to the lack of the fat-soluble vitamine that is found in ordinary milk and which is so necessary to growth.

Butter fat, which is used in buttermaking, brings a high price when sold separately from milk. Thus butter fat has been taken from milk and vegetable fat substituted for it.

This growing adulteration of milk in our dairy industries which has menaced Europe for some time has led Dr. Alonzo E. Taylor of the food research bureau of Leland Stanford university to warn this country against such practices.

Dr. Taylor was one of the members of the American food administration which was appointed by food commissioner, Herbert C. Hoover.

RUSHING RULES WAITS FRATMEN

No Definite Action Will Be Taken Now, Leader Declares

"No further action has been taken in regard to fraternity rushing other than that accomplished at the last meeting of the Interfraternity Council a short time ago," Edward Hooker '25, chairman of the committee on fraternity rushing stated last night.

"We believe that a matter of this nature should be thought out carefully and all phases of the question discussed before the plan is adopted," Hooker continued.

The chief points in the proposed system of rushing, as submitted to the fraternities for consideration, are:

(1) To supply the prospective student during the summer with information concerning fraternity rushing and to warn him against "hot box" rushing.

(2) To postpone the pledging of any rushee until the third week after the opening of the semester. No rushing would be allowed during the period except smokers to be held at the various fraternities. The smokers would be open to all new university men.

School Board Sends Two to Teacher Meet

The school board last night voted last night to send Supt. Gosling and Miss Mary Hargrave to the National Council of Teachers of English which meets at Chattanooga, N. Y., next week.

An agreement between the regents of the university and the board of education was entered into, whereby an additional sum of $50 a semester is to be paid to teachers whose classes are open to visitation and observational study by the students in the school of education at the university.

Visual instruction will be a part of the educational program in Madison schools in future. Recommendation of Supt. T. Gosling that the board purchase a film and slide projector at a cost of $150 was upheld, with instructions that the superintendent secure definite information from the state industrial commission on the laws governing operation of a machine.

The chief points in the proposed system of rushing, as submitted to the fraternities for consideration, are:

(1) To supply the prospective student during the summer with information concerning fraternity rushing and to warn him against "hot box" rushing.

(2) To postpone the pledging of any rushee until the third week after the opening of the semester. No rushing would be allowed during the period except smokers to be held at the various fraternities. The smokers would be open to all new university men.
