EUROPEAN TRAVEL MAKING EDUCATION CHANGES--LANDIS

Dr. E. B. Hubbell is Unable to Keep Lecture Engagement

"Travelling in Europe is making a revolution in the educational progress of the world," said Dr. Edward Bryant Landis, traveller and lecturer, who spoke in place of Dr. Earl B. Hubbell, last night in 165 Bascom hall. Dr. Hubbell was unable to keep his lecture appointment in Madison.

"The revolution is caused," Dr. Landis stated, "first because out of this particular condition we find schools of travel in Europe where one can earn certain points which are transferable to our schools and from which one can attain a certain earning capacity, and second, because travel is inspirational and educational it will lead one into fields in which history has been made."

Shows London Scenes

Dr. Landis showed slides of places of note in London, Paris, Switzerland, and Rome. A panoramic view of Oxford university, the harbor at Liverpool, scenes of Shakespearian importance around Stratford-on-Avon, the home of Ann Hathaway, Eton college, and scenes of interest in London were presented.

Of the London scenes, Westminster abbey, the national gallery of St. Marks, an old tower of the Knights Templar, a portrait of Queen Elizabeth which showed her in one of her 1,000 gowns, were flashed on the screen. Northern points of interest such as the castle of Edinburgh, the monumental arch to Shakespeare, and a portrait of Mary Queen of Scots were also shown.

Tells Value of Travel

Turning to Italy Dr. Landis told of the educational value to be derived from visiting such historic cities as Rome and Florence where history can be studied first hand.

"When students can visit such places as the coliseum, the Appian way, St. Peter's cathedral and the Sistine chapel in Rome, they obtain totally new conception of the real meaning of history," Dr. Landis declared.

TWO ARE NAMED TO BADGER BOARD

Vaughn and Koehring Made Members; Godfrey, Bonnie-well Elected Officers

Two members were appointed to the Badger board at a meeting of that body yesterday afternoon. Edith Vaughn '27 and Calvin Koehring '27 were named to fill the positions left vacant by the resignation of Robert Monihan '27 and Count Olwin '27.

Kneeland Godfrey '27 and Alyce Bonniewell '27 were elected to the offices of president and secretary, respectively, for the ensuing year. Under the system of control which is now in use these members will continue in office until the Badger of the class of 1927 is edited. Positions on the Badger board will be filled next fall at the regular student elections by members from the present freshman class. These members will remain in office until the Badger of the class of 1928 is compiled.

"The newly reorganized board will elect the editor and business manager of the 1927 Badger at a meeting to be held within the next week or ten days," Otis Wiese '26, present editor of the Badger, said after yesterday's meeting.

The last sections of the year book were sent to the printers last week. With the exception of reading the proofs of these divisions all editorial work has been completed. The binding of the material into a book will be finished the last week in May and the books will be ready for distribution then, according to Wiese.

Blaine and Birge Speak at New Hospital Dedication

COMMITTEES REPORT AT SENIOR BANQUET

Fifty members of senior class committees held a banquet from 6 to 9 o'clock at the Woman's building last night. The banquet was held to hear reports on work done in the past and discuss plans for the future. John Bergstresser, president of the senior class, presided, and Dorothy John, class vice president, and Helen Robinson, secretary, gave talks.

Reports on work already done were given by the following committee chairmen:

Edwin Gerber, finance; Eliot Sharp, class play; Fred Gustorf, alumni; Ellis Fulton, invitation; Alice Cummings, cap and gown; Margaret Campbell, class play; Wenzel Fieber, commencement; Robert Nethercut, social; Elmer Barringer, publicity; Arno Wiese, organization, and Lester Kissel, Memorial Union.

PLAN SOPH DANCE AS ANNUAL EVENT

Special Song is Written For Occasion; Little to Chaperon

To make the sophomore dance the annual spring social affair of the university just as Haresfoot Follies has become a traditional fall event is the hope of the members of the class of 1927, according to Ewart Merica '27, general chairman of the Spring Shuffle.

The sophomore song written especially for the occasion by Robert Scott '27 and Jack Sampson '27 will be presented by the Haresfoot quartet, and William Rahr '27 will give an original dance skit, Robert Kolb '27, chairman of features, announced yesterday.

Director and Mrs. George Little will make their first official appearance at an all-university social fair by acting as official chaperons for the dance. Dean and Mrs. Scott H. Goodnight and Mr. and Mrs. George Berg have also consented to chaperon.

Lathrop concert room will be thrown open to accommodate the overflow crowd from the gymnasium, and reduced rates will be made to those attending after the Union board dance which ends at 2 o'clock.

Red and white programs emblazoned with the Wisconsin seal will be used. There will be 12 dances including two extras. Ted Moore's ten-piece orchestra from the Sherman hotel, Chicago, will furnish the syncopation.

The floor has been given especial attention to remove unpleasantries from dust. Jefferson Burrus '27 floor committee chairman, announced.

TO TAKE ORDERS FOR CAPS AND GOWNS SOON

All seniors who expect to graduate may be measured for their caps and gowns at the Co-op in about a week.

Definite announcement of the time will be made in the Daily Cardinal later and cards will be sent to all seniors reminding them to place their orders, according to Alice Cummings '25, chairman of the cap and gown committee. The exact price cannot be given as yet, but it will be approximately $5. The measurements will be taken and the gowns ordered in time to be here for the senior swingout and the other early commencement functions.

PICTURE OF "WORLD FLIGHT" COMING SOON

A movie of the "World Flight" trip will be shown at the armory, May 11, afternoon and evening. The movie will be accompanied by "Smiling Jack" Harding, one of the fliers, with a lecture explaining the picture giving his own version of the flight.

Importance of Building to University is Stressed By Prexy

The formal dedication of the Wisconsin General hospital, which was opened for use late last fall, took place last night in the assembly chamber of the capitol. Gov. John J. Blaine gave the opening speech of welcome and expressed his pleasure at the completion of this immense project which has been in progress since 1922.

The result of the combined need of both the people of the state and the university, and the obvious connection between the hospital and the university were stressed by President Birge, whose work in building up the pre-medical course is significant.

Greater Than Expected

"In 1880 I obtained a leave of absence from the regents and went to Leipzig for a year of medical study in order to learn some of the basic sciences necessary to start the pre-medical course here," said President Birge, at the beginning of his speech.

"I was looking forward," he continued, "to such a course as this hospital makes possible and though I see the result of 45 years of development with great pleasure, I am constrained to say that there has been no unseemly haste. However, the completed hospital with its medical school completed with it is much greater than any of my hopes in 1880."

Phillips Speaks

President Birge closed his speech with an acknowledgement to the past two administrations which made the realization of his dream possible, and mentioned also that the hospital is a memorial for service for those who served their country so valiantly in the war.

Ex-governor Emanuel Phillips, in whose administration the plans for the Wisconsin state hospital were first made, told about the beginning of this project and his work in connection with it.

"I was country raised and often saw the sad need of more complete medical advantages throughout the state," said Mr. Phillips. The statistics of the state nurses and the obvious need in the university finally instigated a plan in his and other's minds of using the $1,500,000 dollars which remained from the amount of the soldiers bonus for this badly needed institution.

Dr. A. J. Ochsner, a former resident of Wisconsin and a graduate of the medical school, expressed his pleasure at the excellent result of President Birge's desires, and also his gratitude to the president for the inspiration which his laboratories gave him in starting his career.

OCTOPUS COMMITTEE GOES TO CONVENTION

A committee of Clark Hazelwood '26, Ralph Crowley '26, John Powell '26, and John Davis '25 will represent the Octopus at a convention of the Mid-West College Comics association which will be held at Ann Arbor Saturday. F. S. Brandenburg of the Democrat Printing company, a speaker at the convention, will accompany the men.

SAYS CARL RUSSEL FISH NEEDS COURSE IN SPEAKING

"Carl Russell Fish ought to take a course in public speaking," declared a prominent faculty member yesterday, "and if I am invited to the Gridiron banquet that is one of the things I would like to suggest for discussion."

The professor who ventured this guess was joking but his suggestion was right in line with some of the things that are being planned for the banquet of roasts that Sigma Delta Chi is sponsoring during the latter part of May. Besides the serious things which will take up part of the evening, there will also be matters of frivolous nature to entertain the gathering.

And some of the suggestions which the entertainment committee members have had from some

Haresfoot Show on Tonight; Gold Dust Twins Dread Cold

The gold dust twins are praying extra hard for fair and warmer weather today. Likewise are Venus and Adonis and some 61 other Haresfoot neophytes who are preparing to display their talents, dramatic and otherwise, to the campus.

For the Haresfoot show is not yet over. Although the "Ivan Ho!" itinerary was to end last Saturday night, a special performance with a cast of 65, going through their parts without lines or expensive Chicago-made costumes, is scheduled for 6:30 o'clock this evening on the lower campus.

The comic policeman last night was at a loss as to how he was to keep the actors and audience in order when such individuals as Luis Firpo, the red-shirted, wild bull of the pampas is let loose upon Baby Peggy and Mary and her lamb.

Polo players, mounted on thoroughbred bicycles, will demonstrate the game as it is really played while a Greek wrestler in pink tights will demonstrate his prowess in attempting to down temptation to a tune played by the Spirit of '76. All this and more too gratis and no war tax!

CAST FOR SENIOR PLAY IS PICKED

Members Selected From Largest Number of Candidates in Six Years

The cast for the senior class play "Dear Brutus," was announced yesterday by Caral McMillan, chairman of the play tryouts. Every member chosen is a senior with the exception of Alfred Ludden, grad, who will play the part of Lob.

The characters of the play with the men and women who will act them are Lob, Alfred Ludden; Matei, Louise Mallory; Dr. Bearch, James Hemingway; Mr. Purdie, G. Maynard Halverson; Mr. Coade, Wells Sherman; Alice Bearch, Pearl Kulp; Joarna, Florence Root; Mabel Purdie, Ellen Flynn; Mrs. Coade, Louise Durham; Lady Caroline, Agatha McCaffery; and Margaret, Margaret Campbell.

"One of the most gratifying things about this year's production has been the high quality of talent which has reported," said Miss Mac Millan. "More seniors tried out than at any other time during the past six years."

Progress has already been made on the production and indications are that "Dear Brutus" will be one of the outstanding senior class plays, according to Margaret Campbell '25, play chairman.

NATIONAL COLLEGiate PLAYERS ELECT EIGHT

National Collegiate Players, honorary dramatic fraternity on the campus, has elected eight people to membership. Those elected are: Pearl Kulp '25, Hazel Weingand '25, Ellen Flynn '25, Mark Porter '25, Mrs. C. E. Roach, grad, William Ross, grad, Mary Sands, grad, and F. Lincoln Holmes, grad. Mr. Holmes is a member of the staff in the department of speech.

FRAZIER APPOINts ASSISTANTS FOR VENETIAN NIGHT

Eleven Chairmen to Work on Details of Annual Event

Announcement was made yesterday by Lincoln Frazier '26 of the appointment of the committee chairmen who will have charge of the arrangements for Venetian night, May 23.

Two assistant general chairmen have been chosen to aid Frazier. Charles Decker '27 will have charge of the general Venetian day arrangements and events, while Clarence Herschberger '27 will be the other assistant general chairman, and will have charge of the tennis and swimming events which will be scheduled for different times during the day.

Klath Heads Track Events

Other chairmen who have been appointed are Carl O. Klath '26 who will have charge of the track events, Melanchton Simkins '26 in charge of entertainment for the day, Fidelia Pease '26 who will take care of the floats for the night, and William McDonald '25 who will manage the electrical work for the night. Robert Paddock '26 is chairman of publicity.

Bert M. Hilberts '25 and Charles E. McGinnis '27 will work together on the Venetian night programs; John P. Riley '26, will have charge of the emblems; and Edith Boys '26 will have charge of the prizes which will be awarded for the floats. Committee members will be appointed soon.

Need Student Support

"The students of the university must get behind Venetian night and the button sale which helps defray the expenses if it is to be a success this year," Frazier said yesterday. "This is even more important than last year."

According to Frazier the athletic department does not feel able to support the event as strongly as it has done in other years, so that support by the student body is even more important this year than in previous years if the general tone of Venetian night is to be maintained.

OLD CLOTHES ASKED FOR NEAR EAST RELIEF

Only old clothes and shoes are being asked for in the Near East Relief drive which opened on the campus this week. Unlike former years no money is being sought except what will come from the sale of Armenian handkerchiefs in Mother's Day folders the week preceding the national Mother's Day. Contributions should be taken to the W. S. G. A. office according to Mildred John '25, chairman of the drive.

SECTIONAL RIVALRY OF TEAMS ENHANCES CARNIVAL SPIRIT

RED DOWNS BLACK IN PRACTICE TILT

Crofoot and Rueland Show
Usual Fine Form For

A little over 1,000 enthusiastic football fans flocked to Camp Randall yesterday afternoon to see the last of a series of Red-Black grid-iron battles that have been run off by Coach Little during his spring football practice thus far.

Anything but disappointment was meted out to the spectators as the Reds rade roughshod over the Black machine to a 33-3 score. The guns were opened in the first quarter when Crofoot, midget quarterback on the Red eleven, slipped through for the initial counter of the game.

Just to even the count a bit and make the battle more exciting "Chubby" Goodlad, scrappy signal caller on the Black machine, came back with a beautiful 35 yard drop kick to make the count 7-3. It looks as though the Badger team of 1925 will be a dangerous scorer of field goals.

Although the two teams fought bitterly, the experience of the Reds began to tell, and the score slowly piled up until five touchdowns had been shovelled across the goal line. The work of Rueland was especially praiseworthy; the little back was responsible for four of the five goals that his team scored.

Ray Bartlett looks like a find at the passing game. He leaps into the air time after time to nail the oval when it seems as though it is going for a sure incomplete.

Milwaukee and Chicago Feuds
Will Be Carried Here to Relays

When the second annual Mid-West Relay carnival is run off next Saturday afternoon it will be more than a competition between the high schools of the middle west; it will be in the nature of a contest between the various high schools from Milwaukee, those from Chicago, and also a contest between the two cities.

With all but South high of Milwaukee entered from the cream city there is sure to be stiff competition between North Milwaukee, West Milwaukee, Riverside Milwaukee, and Washington Milwaukee high schools which will determine to a large extent the city high school track championship.

Four Chicago Teams

Likewise, Chicago rivals are sure to furnish interesting fights. From this city are Deerfield Shields, Hyde Park, Oak Park, and Nicholas Senn to battle for a track title.

University students from these schools are expected to attend the relay Saturday in large numbers to watch their home town high school athletes compete for honors. Last year the relay carnival, the first of its kind ever attempted here, was well attended both by graduates of the high schools competing as well as track followers in general, looking over the possibilities of the high school men becoming Wisconsin track stars. With two more high schools entered than last year and with 75 more athletes competing it is expected that an even better turnout will result this year.

The special events on the program, as well as the fact that three Madison high schools are entered, are expected to draw a large number of Madison people, since this will be the only chance for them to see the crack Wisconsin two mile relay team in action. Exhibitions will also be given by McAndrews, McGinnis and Schwarze.

Canty Secured as Announcer

The high schools who will compete in the meet Saturday are Wisconsin: Mineral Point, North Milwaukee, West Milwaukee, Riverside Milwaukee, Washington Milwaukee, Monticello, Kenosha, Madison Central, Madison East Side, Wisconsin University high, Mazomarie, Janesville, Green Bay, Wausau, Elmwood, Viola, Cambridge, and Milton Union; Illinois: Deerfield Shields, Oak Park, Nicholas Senn, Allesburg, Harvard, Rockford, Hyde Park, Chicago, and Libertyville; Iowa: Mason City and Cedar Rapids; Michigan: Menominee.

Regular programs for the carnival will be on sale at the field. Ted Canty will be on hand as the official announcer. Admission to the field will be 50 cents.

FRATS SLOW TO HOUSE ATHLETES

Only Two Have Qualified Desire to Entertain Incoming Trackmen

To date only two fraternities have reported to Lavern Smith '27, chairman of the housing committee, that they will be able to take care of some of the visiting athletes who will be in Madison Friday and Saturday for the second annual Mid-West relays.

Last week letters were sent to every fraternity on the campus asking them to care for these prep school trackmen for one night and a Saturday luncheon, but returns have been disappointing, according to Smith.

Personal Calls

Today Chairman Smith is having his committee call up every fraternity and get a personal answer from each house on the matter. High schools will be represented from four of the leading states in the country.

The housing committee is made up of Lavern Smith, chairman, John Best, Joseph McCartney, Jefferson Burris, Theodore Zillman and Charles McGinnis.

Intramural News

There is still room for more fraternities in the interfraternity swimming meet which is being arranged. To date Beta Theta Pi, Alpha Kappa Lambda, Triangle, Phi Kappa Tau, and Tau Kappa Epsilon have signed for the swim.

Registration may be made with George Berg, director of intramurals, up until 12:45 o'clock Friday noon at which time the complete schedule for the meet will be drawn up. The competition counts toward the Supremacy cup.

Some arrangements were made at the first meeting yesterday. Fourth places will count in the events if ten chapters sign for the swim. All of the regular eight events will be on the bill; the breast and back stroke, however, will be but 100 yards in length.

The new flash system of scoring for the dives will be introduced at this meet. In the flash system, each of the three judges write their score for the dive on a card and hold it up to the spectators immediately after the dive is completed. In this way the scoring is more fair, and the audience knows the value of the dive.

The managers who represented their teams at yesterday's meeting were Folsom, Alpha Kappa Lambda; Winchell, Beta Tau Pi; Lidicker, Triangle, and Golzer, Phi Kappa Tau. A manager has yet to be appointed for the Teke squad.

Four games were played in the interfraternity baseball league last night. Beta Theta Pi defeated Alpha Tau Omega, 13 to 1. Delta Tau Delta lost to Theta Delta Chi by a score of 3 to 11. Chi Psi defeated Theta Xi in a close game, 3 to 1, and Sigma Chi and Sigma Alpha Epsilon will have to play off a game which ended in a 2 to 2 tie.

ZODTNER ELECTED MAT LEADER FOR COMING SEASON

Spirit Mounts at Wrestling
Feast as Coach Little and
"Roundy" Talk

A wrestling spirit and a spirit of co-operation for all sports soared at the banquet of the 1925 varsity squad at the University club last night.

Lisle Zodtner '26, of Portage, Wis., was re-elected captain of the team. A cool-headed and hard-training matman, Zodtner lost but one meet this season, and that to the 145-pound conference champion. Next year, with two seasons' experience behind him, Coach Hitchcock expects that Zodtner will be one of the most feared men in the conference.

"Wrestling puts men in condition for football, it gives them a fighting spirit, and trains them for the charging stance necessary for football players," declared Coach Little, guest.

A bright future for wrestling next year was expressed by each of the speakers, who based their anticipation on the fact that every man on the 1925 squad will be back on the mats next year, barring ineligibility, and one of the strongest freshman wrestling squads in the history of Wisconsin will serve as a source of potential strength.

"Roundy" Coughlin made a few remarks in characteristic "Roundy" style, and each member of the squad from the littlest man, Elmer Hanson, to heavyweight Walter Muegge gave a short talk.

CEDAR RAPIDS' TROPHIES BACK AFTER FIRST WIN

Strong Competition May Be Obstacle to Second Consecutive Iowan Victory

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, is entering a high school team in the Wisconsin mid-west relays next Saturday which will carry to Madison one of the largest collections of medals and trophies ever won in a relay carnival by a mid-west high school—the fruits of victory claimed when the Iowa team walked off with five out of six events in the first annual mid-west relays held here last year.

These travelling trophies, which must be won six times in succession for permanent possession, are already coveted by every one of the 30 schools entered this year. Of the 12 new schools which have registered for the relays, Galesburg, Ill., and Mason City, Iowa, are expected to give the Cedar Rapids men strongest competition for the prized trophies.

MASON CITY WEIGHT MAN GOOD

Mason City is especially strong in the person of Joe Lillard, negro football star, who has made an exceptional showing in shot put, javelin, and discus work.

Galesburg has a two mile team which successfully placed in the Drake relays last Saturday, and is already doped to give every entrant a stiff run for first place in this event.

Any prediction of a definite nature as to the probable winner of the track contests would have to take into consideration not only the Galesburg and Mason City entrants, but also the four Milwaukee, and three Chicago high schools, whose supporters claim have sufficient strength to push any competing track men to the limit.

Outcome Doubtful

The new schools entered in the meet this year give an entirely new angle to any suppositions concerning which school might be able to equal, or exceed, the record of Cedar Rapids last year, as all of them possess known power in several events.

The twelve new schools entered in this year's relays include: Mineral Point, Wis., Mazomanie, Wis., Janesville, Wis., Green Bay, Wis., Wausau, Wis., Elmwood, Wis., Viola, Wis., Cambridge, Wis., Milton Union high school, Milton, Wis., Harvard, Ill., Galesburg, Ill., and Mason City, Iowa.

Dear Mr. Birge:

It may interest you to know that the triangular meet in which your university competed proved to be very exciting.

I am glad to say that your boys made a splendid showing and that from all quarters, railroads, hotels, guests of hotels, and spectators, the conduct of the University of Wisconsin athletes both off and on the field was spoken of very highly.

We are glad to have been host to such a splendid group of young men, and congratulate you as president of the university for sending out such youth. I trust we may see your boys again.

WOMEN ORGANIZING W.S.G.A. INDOOR BALL LEAGUE IN DISTRICTS

Wisconsin women are to have a baseball league all their own.

In each of the 23 W. S. G. A. districts, teams now being organized will contest in a tournament during the next few weeks. Sponsored by the seniors in the course in physical education, the tournament is being conducted in the interests of clean sport and good fellowship among university women.

Any woman student may sign up with her district chairman for a position on the district team. No previous training is required and the uniforms are optional.

"We are anxious for all women who enjoy the play spirit and who do not get enough of it here to come out and play indoor baseball outdoors," Mabel Rugen '25, manager of the tournament, said yesterday. "The playgrounds will be vacant lots in the districts so that no one will have to go far to play."

FOUR GREEK GAMES SLATED FOR TODAY

Four games are scheduled for today's interfraternity baseball tournament. At 5:30 this afternoon on the Lower Campus Sigma Phi Sigma is slated to meet Theta Chi. Out on the West Varsity field at 6 o'clock, Gamma Eta Gamma is scheduled to play Phi Beta Pi. At the same time on the Freshman diamond Alpha Chi Rho will meet Phi Mu Delta. Bentson Demonstrates "Ability" To Fill Position of Johnson

Alternate Good and Bad Weather Varies Badger Crew Practice

No better rowing conditions could be desired than those under which the four Badger crews plied their oars Tuesday afternoon on Lake Mendota. As usual, half were freshmen and half were varsity. Rough water prevented lake work yesterday.

Every day it becomes more evident that Bentson is capable of filling the stroke position left vacant by Johnson, one of the greatest Wisconsin has ever had. With the end of last season came a slight depression of spirits in Badger rowing circles, for everyone who followed crew knew of the great handicap with which Coach Dad Vail would be burdened at the opening of the 1925 season—the task of finding a man who could fill Johnson's place.

And then rumor had it last fall that Bentson, former Badger stroke, would again take up his course of studies at the university. Rumor was right, and Bentson is here now, the shining light of the varsity crew now in action. No other man out for crew at the present time equals him in ability to fill this all-important position.

Upon the stroke's shoulders rests the responsibility of regulating the power and rate of every man's stroke who is in his shell, and it is upon the power and rate of stroke that the winning or losing of a race depends. Bentson is filling his place admirably, and the fears which were prevalent in the early fall have been dispelled.

Wisconsin is assured of having a capable man stroking for the old Cardinal at Poughkeepsie, a man who knows rowing in all its varied aspects, who knows what to do and when to do it.

vents Practice and Final
Team Choice

Coach Masely is driving his men hard for the grilling matches which they face Friday and Saturday. Marquette will meet the Badger net men Friday, and Saturday Coach Masely's racket swingers play Minnesota here.

Due to the condition of the courts in the past week the men have been unable to work out, and thus the team which will meet the invaders has not been picked. Coach Masely expects to have his men chosen by this afternoon so that they will have an opportunity to practice together Thursday before the matches.

Squad Cut to Six

The squad has been cut to six men, and these are working out regularly at the varsity courts at Breeze terrace and University avenue. Of them all, Sam Durand is the best racket wielder, and is rapidly showing midseason form. His low but consistent playing is pretty to watch, and his form is the best in the courts. Jack Maniere is the likely choice to open the doubles with Durand. The two played together for several seasons, and they should make a formidable combination.

Gissel Stars

Gissel, a new man in the university tennis world, is showing good form and real chop stroke ability. His cross court chop is the worry of all his opponents, and he is able to force the best of them to deuce sets.

Miller, of varsity basketball fame, is playing a fast, smashing game and promises to be one of the best on the team. Junkins is developing into a technique artist; his strokes are excellent, and his timing and direction is perfect. Tiddle, one of the best prospects on the team, has been declared ineligible.

You're Safe!

With a slicker in your wardrobe you're safe against any form of wet weather, be it drizzle or downpour.

The new light-weight styles have the added advantage of comfort as well as protection. Made of thin, waterproofed material, they're so light you scarcely know you have one on, except that it keeps you dry from neck to shoe top.

Colors are yellow, tan, red, blue, olive, and green.

OUT OF THE WEST

The track team returned several weeks ago from the West where it met the University of California. The 20 men who took this trip may not have brought victory with them, but they did bring back memories of very interesting experiences, some of which might very aptly furnish examples which might well be emulated on our own campus.

At Berkeley the men were overwhelmed with such enthusiastic hospitality as they had never before heard of under such circumstances. It is this hospitality to which we refer.

As a side issue, the harriers seem to have made some impression upon the westerners in that they introduced "On Wisconsin" in such fashion that it was believed that Wisconsin's track team and Glee club were one and the same thing. They likewise introduced Californian students to serenades.

But what is significant to us about their experiences, however, was not the part they took, but the part the westerners took during the weekend on which the track meet was held. In the first place, the team—and the Washington crew—were guests of the university at the annual Ax rally held in the open air theater, a ceremony in commemoration of the taking of a traditional ax from Stanford, the Bears' cherished rivals. It was on this occasion that "On Wisconsin" was introduced.

Immediately before this rally, the team was entertained by the California team at a dinner at which Pres. William Wallace Campbell made a welcoming speech.

The night of the meet, a dance was given for the members of the Cardinal track team, girls were provided and the rally committee was on hand to see to it that a good time was had by the visitors.

Throughout the visit, furthermore, cars were at the beck and call of the runners from the East, and as a result, the visitors were able to do a deal of sight-seeing.

In short, more than being mere competitors, the hosts were hosts who knew what real hospitality is.

We know what happens at Wisconsin when a visiting team comes to town—or rather, what doesn't happen. The Washington crew, when it raced on Mendota against our Varsity two years ago had no such reception as the Badger track team was accorded at Berkeley. And so it has gone.

When the Memorial union building is completed there will perhaps be better and more facilities for entertaining visiting teams. At any rate, it is planned that there shall be sleeping quarters in the building for those members of visiting teams who care to take advantage of such facilities.

But Wisconsin can learn much from this example out of the West and can profit emulating the practices of the University of California. It would be to our advantage in many ways. And, aside from that feature, it should be done anyway.

READERS' SAYSO

In yesterday's issue there appeared a statement in the Readers' Sayso column relative to a communication that had been published the preceding day. The original communication was mailed to the Daily Cardinal and signed with the name Oscar A. Kaner.

It seems that Mr. Kaner did not write the letter but that some students wishing to play a practical joke on him sent the letter over his signature.

The Readers' Sayso column is conducted for the benefit of students who wish to express opinions, make criticisms, or give their views on any subject. The Daily Cardinal takes all such communications, properly received, in perfect good faith and treats them accordingly. However, it does not countenance any such practice as the one mentioned.

The communication column is maintained as a service, as is the entire paper, to the students, its stockholders. Any breaches of this trust display a lack of appreciation and taste on the part of readers. The Daily Cardinal is "owned and controlled by the student body of the University of Wisconsin" and is published solely in their interests. It will continue to be published in that way and not as a vehicle for would-be jokesters.

LOOKING UP

Living, as we do, in the Age of Invention it is hard for us to grasp the great importance that inventions, yet in their infancy, will attain in the future. Already there is talk of air centers for huge fleets of airplanes which will supplant the railway and bus lines in time to come. Edsel Ford has declared that "Detroit should be the center of the aeronautical industry in America and we Detroiters must leave nothing undone which will bring that distinction to our city." The elder Ford presumably says: "These are my sentiments exactly." For it seems that the entire Ford organization is looking forward, or rather upward, for a new dimension in space to conquer.

The beginning of the Ford airline between Detroit and Chicago has merely brought the public's attention to an enterprise already well developed, for the Fords are much farther along in the flying business than is commonly known. On the manufacturing side they are preparing to produce airplane motors in their own plants and are working on various aviation problems in their laboratory at Dearborn. Financially, they are backing two independent companies that manufacture all-metal and metal covered planes respectively, and the marketing of these products will be taken care of by the widespread sales organization of the Ford company.

In making Detroit the aircraft metropolis of America, the Fords are proceeding according to a well-matured plan. It has been stated that "an airport has already been established on a 260-acre tract near the Dearborn plant of the Ford company. This will be used as a landing field and terminal for aircraft. It is provided with two 300-foot wide runways and the name FORD in letters 200 feet high which can be seen by aviators 10,000 feet up. The airport now has under construction a mooring mast for the largest dirigibles in the world. It will be 201 feet high and inside will be a five-passenger elevator, designed to ascend to the height of 176 feet, from which the passengers may be unloaded directly into the nose of the airship or into the passenger cabins themselves."

This all goes to show what rapid strides are being taken in the development of aircraft for commercial purposes and no one knows to what extent they will be developed. Detroit is fortunate in that she has the Fords, leaders and master minds for such an enterprise.

A PLEA FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Now that the dull and dreary days are gone, and the great outdoors beckons one to revel afield, a plea for continued attention to the textbooks is perhaps not out of place. It is difficult to settle down at one's own desk and laboriously con lessons with the robins chirping outside in the tree-tops and one's best girl's picture simpering from the desk-top, but, after all, is it not better to study conscientiously and even fail, than not to study and flunk anyway?

It is not such a task after all, if one will but make a joyous game of it. For instance, one might pretend that the assignment were a fiery dragon to be slain, or a game to be won. Let us just say grimly "I'll master this, or pass out in the attempt." And it will be mastered.

In closing, let us submit as a motto for our scholastic endeavor the dying words of Commodore Perry as he lay on his deathbed, "Half a loaf is better than none."

Rumor doth herald that the Press will meet tonight. Forsooth, Macduff, no doubt arrangements will be made to hold that sleighride party which didn't materialize in February.

Four salesmen who landed in the city to sell electric fans left rather hastily yesterday, accompanied by the bathing suit agents.

Authorities are seriously considering the introduction of aquatic tennis in order to make best use of these soggy days.

If April showers bring May flowers, we're all set for an avalanche of snowballs.

"Wisconsin still lacks funds. What are you doing about it?"—Billboardly speaking, we're getting in step.

We note with amusement Argon's discovery that a trip to Black Earth costs ninety cents. My word, Banquo, why not wait a few years? Methinks we will all get a free ride to black earth eventually.

MY ROOMIE THINKS AN ARTERY IS A DRAWING SCHOOL

We are great devotees of brotherly love, and we honor the man who invented it; but we still firmly maintain that it is carrying the idea too far when it leads to a communistic attitude toward our toothpaste and toilet soap. We don't get so awfully peeved when the boy across the hall commendeers our Colgates; but, darnitall, Fels Naphtha costs money!

BLAHOLOGY
O—"What has four legs and flies all around?"

I—"Two sparrows, I suppose."
C—"No; a dead horse!"

Be it known that Jay and Macbeth hereby voluntarily withdraw their respective and several names from the list of those elected to Phi Beta Kappa. You see, we were kidding them all the while; we really didn't expect to be taken in. O, it was so sudden, don't you know? But we couldn't possibly think of keeping such company!

Didst observe that ad apropos the movie "Greed?" Didst note that the scenes were so horrible that those under sixteen were not admitted? Zounds, could not the same be said of the university—especially when the azure-bound, blank leaflets are passed out?

Latest dispatches inform us that "Battling Strat Corbett," the swordy-penned Recoil who exposed to the blistering light of publicity, the sordid and disgusting vices and crimes of the campus underworld, has recoiled to this fair metropolis again. We're gonna assign H. H. H. or Hula Lou to fix his clock this time.

They tell us that Strat is going to operate a bus here. Gee, if he uses his eyes and ears, he ought to be able to pick up enough gore for another paper, no fooling.

OUR THOUGHT DEPARTMENT
THE SPANNING BUSINESS NEEDS A GREATER TURNOVER

Having resolved to camp in the trophy room if it took all summer, we finally got a reservation for a tennis court, and burst into our room, shouting with exultation: "I gotta court!" Whereupon Meth pipes up with "What dame have ya gotta court now?" He will not finish his thesis in time, the attending physician states.

No doubt we should not be telling these secrets, but Meth has a little calendar on which he makes memoranda for all his dates for a month or so ahead. We thought we'd split when we noted this entry: "June 22—Will graduate today."

We heard so much about the fine ag school we have here, and just to be mean we asked one of the students of the soil (isn't that a neat expression?) what is the easiest thing to grow in the garden? Without batting an optic, he replies, sort of bored-like, "Weeds!"

FRENCH POSTER TAKEN FROM BULLETIN BOARD

A poster, designed to advertise the French play, was recently stolen from a Bascom hall bulletin board. The poster was a brilliantly colored figure of a minstrel of the Middle Ages, painted by Prof. F. J. Solalinde of the romance language department to advertise "The Farce of Maitre Pathelin" which will be given on French night, May 13. Two hours after the poster was displayed, it disappeared, and although a careful search was made, the poster cannot be found.

Zasu Pitts in Erich Von Stroheim's "GREED"

TO BUILD ROAD ACROSS MONONA

Plan to Follow Railroad Trestle; Work to Start Soon

The cross-Monona highway, a direct roadway connecting the section formerly known as South Madison with the city, a civic improvement which has long been discussed, was definitely assured today by E. E. Parker, city engineer, when he announced that arrangements have been made with John F. Icke, and will be made with other contractors, to dump all old macadam and asphalt from streets being reconstructed into Lake Monona Bay along the railroad tracks.

The plan, the city engineer made known today, is to fill in the lake along the railroad trestle and build a foundation for a road across the bay. This improvement has been advocated by several prominent city planners and engineers who have at one time or another been consulted by the city council.

Among the most prominent engineers who advised this step was Harland Bartholomew, St. Louis, who two years ago prepared a survey of the entire city to be used as a guide for future expansion of the city.

It will be several years before the cross-Monona highway can be completed, Mr. Parker declared, but the preliminary work will be started this summer when the refuse from many old streets around the city, which are to be reconstructed, will be hauled to the bay and dumped.

It is also the plan of the city engineer's office to have all future spring cleanup refuse thrown there, and contractors will be notified that earth excavated for their building projects can be hauled there in the future.

The connection with the city will be made at the foot of S. Bassett st., and may connect with the continuation of the lake shore drive, which has been closed for some time.

PROF. C. E. BROWN TO HEAD SOCIETY

Elected President of Middle-West Section of Anthropological Society

Prof. Charles E. Brown of the Wisconsin State Historical museum took his place as president of the American Anthropological society at the annual meeting of the Middle West section, which took place at the state museum, Springfield, Ohio, April 24 and 25.

Mr. Brown had the honor to be the first person to wield the wooden gavel, made of a limb of the famous Chief Logan elm, located in Lewiston. His gavel was presented to the society by the State Archaeological society of Ohio and is of Indian historical interest. The elm tree which stands in a state park, marks the place under which Chief Logan, famous Mingo chief, delivered his speech, telling the story of his raids upon the white settlers of Ohio as a result of the brutal massacre of 1774 in which many of the Mingo's relatives had been slain.

A bead necklace which was obtained from one of the oldest cave satisatiobs in France and which is estimated to be 75,000 years old, was exhibited by Mr. Brown for the Logan museum in Beloit. This necklace is now on display in the State Historical museum.

Dr. Berthold Lanfer of the Field museum, Chicago, was the last president preceding Mr. Brown. He is considered one of the foremost authorities on Chinese art and antiquities. Prof. Charles R. Keyes, Mt. Vernon, Ia., and Prof. Fay Cooper-Cole of the University of Chicago, are vice presidents.

EKERN ATTACKS INSURANCE BILL

Attorney Rakes Smith's Measure in Sharp Talk in Senate

Atty. Gen. Herman L. Ekern today dampened the hopes of the proponents of the state insurance code revision bill 175 S, proposed by Insurance Commissioner W. Stanley Smith, when in a five-minute talk before the state senate, in committee of the whole, he raked the measure fore and aft with verbal broadsides.

The bill proposes to redraft the entire Wisconsin insurance code and has with wide-spread objection because of changes in its fraternal and group insurance chapters and in application of provisions relating to mutuals.

Mr. Ekern said the fundamental trouble with the bill was that its drafters failed to recognize the policy of the Wisconsin legislature in having the revision work done by the revisor of statutes. He declared there were "things" written into the new bill and "things" written out of the present law which for some reason had not been explained by the proponents. He warned the senate against passing insurance legislation, which he said might destroy the bulwark of Wisconsin's present insurance law, declared by him to be good.

The attorney general announced himself as opposed to an omnibus bill on insurance at this time. If changes are desirable in the present law, he said the remedy is in separate amendment of provisions of the present law.

After discussing the bill for more than an hour the senate on motion of Sen. O. H. Morris laid further discussion over until tomorrow.

Police Force Quells Students In Pajamas

ST. PAUL—Three riot calls and 65 policemen were required to quell spring ardor of students at the University of Minnesota.

Some time between 2 and 3 a. m., a pajama parade started in the neighborhood of the campus, and rapidly grew in size and excentiveness.

Sorority houses were besieged with vigor. Windows were smashed, and garden hoses sprinkled interiors. Sleeping sorority sisters were thrown into a panic. The students were dispersed after a violent demonstration at Sanford hall, the largest coed dormitory.

When tea was first introduced it cost from $30 to $50 a pound.

Dog Guards Body of His Smothered Master

LONDON—At an inquest at Westville, near Lincoln, on Frank Burt, who was suffocated in a hole while ferreting rabbits, it was stated that his dog had mounted guard over the body and was so fierce no one could approach.

The animal was lassoed and tied with a rope, but when the body was brought out the dog became so frantic that it broke loose. It was eventually shot and buried near the spot.

CLASS TO STUDY CHICAGO'S NEEDS

Prof. Smith to Present Problems in Series of Three Lectures

Chicago's problems and needs will be taken up by Prof. L. S. Smith of the College of Engineering before his classes in city planning in a series of three lectures covering Chicago's transportation problems, its city planning accomplishments, and the replanning of South Water street and Michigan avenue.

According to Prof. Smith, the proposed subway in Chicago will add to the congestion of the city.

"Subways only relieve congestion temporarily," Prof. Smith declared. "In the long run they serve to intensify the congestion, since they enable people to get to the loop more easily."

Covering the fundamental considerations of modern city building, students in the course in city planning are making a study of topographic, climatic, hygienic, economic, historic, and aesthetic conditions of towns and cities.

The reaction of such a study on the student is beneficial, according to Prof. Smith. He gets definite ideas of what a city is, what its needs are, and how to improve it.

Zoning is of particular interest and offers a comparatively new field for study since it was not in use before eight years ago. Now 330 cities are zoned, 15 of which are in Wisconsin.

The University of Wisconsin has the oldest city planning department of any American university. The department was started in 1910. In the last six years it has had an enrollment of more than 1,200 students. The majority of the students are engineers or general majors, but there are some home economic students and a few journalists.

MARQUETTE WINS ATTENDANCE PRIZE

Rotarians Given Award By Madison Club; Hartford Has 100%

The Marquette, Mich., Rotary club won the Rotary shield awarded by the Madison club for the club showing the largest number of members traveling the greatest distance to the annual convention of the tenth district which adjourned this noon. The Marquette delegation chartered a special car to come here. Presentation of the shield was made by Andrew B. Helstrom of the local club.

The Hartford, Wis., club was given honorary mention for a 100 percent attendance and Marshfield, Wis., club was cited for having a 90 percent attendance record.

Executives to Meet

Herbert N. Lafflin, Milwaukee, retiring tenth district governor, and his wife were presented a set of china by members of the tenth district in appreciation of their services.

The conference adopted a resolution this morning thanking the Madison Rotary club for the courtesy shown the visiting members. Appreciation was also tendered from the convention to the Wisconsin legislature, the highway commission, Mayor I. Milo Kittleson, Chief Thomas Shaughnessy and the local police force, the Boy Scouts, the members of the Kiwanis, Lions, Optimists, Gyro, Advertising clubs, the Association of Commerce and the congregation of the Luther Memorial church and the Masonic fraternity for the use of their buildings while in the city.

At 6:00 o'clock tonight, the district executives will be in session at a dinner at the Loraine hotel to be followed by a conference when instructions in the mechanics of Rotary clubs will be given the new officers.

Rotarian Fred D. Amburgh, New York City, took over the convention this morning and entertained the members with an instructive talk on "How To Fail-In Rotary."

Mr. Amburgh kept the members in almost a continual roar of laughter, or thoughtful moods of concentration, by his witty sallies and more serious instructions.

Urge Boy Be Pal

"There's one word that is absolutely essential if you are to successfully solve the crossword puzzle of life," he said. He then kept his listeners spellbound for probably 10 minutes before he gave them the word.

"Kindness! there it is," he shouted. Boys' week has become one of the important events in the activities of more than 2,000 Rotary clubs throughout the world, according to S. Kendrick Guernsey, of the Orlando, Fla., organization at this morning's meeting.

"Capitalize the gang spirit and provide something for the boys to take the place of the poolrooms and movies," he said. Be constructive and not destructive in your campaign to help the youngsters. "Above all be a pal for your own son."

William J. Zimmers, Milwaukee, elaborated on the points stressed by other speakers in the boys' work activities.

Lee Rasey, Appleton, and B. E. McCormick, LaCrosse, were elected governors of the northern and southern Rotary districts, respectively, at the annual business meeting of the tenth district convention here Tuesday afternoon, and LaCrosse and Green Bay were awarded the 1926 conventions of the two districts.

George Whyte, Kenosha, nominated Mr. McCormick, and Arlo Clark Smith, Marquette, Mich., submitted the name of Mr. Rasey as the other governor. No opposition was made to either election or to the selection of LaCrosse and Green Bay as the two convention cities for next year.

The tenth Rotary district, it was decided, will be divided into two sections on July 1, because of the tremendous number of Rotarians in this one district. The LaCrosse district will be christened the southern or 13th district; the Appleton district will be known as the northern or 10th district.

"Mickey" Smith of Green Bay made a stirring appeal for the northern district Rotarians to vote to come to his city next year. "Join Rossback of LaCrosse similarly extolled the attributes of his home town as a convention city and won the southern district meeting.

Revelry reigned for the Rotarians last night at their ball and informal entertainment in the state capitol. A grand march started the festivities.

Short bits of the Haresfoot production, featuring solos and song hits of "Ivan Ho" by William Ross, dancing numbers and the snapety chorus from the Haresfoot girls made a big hit with the Rotarians.

The program of the convention was continued this morning at the Masonic temple. Dr. C. H. Mills, director of the university school of music, played an organ recital at 8:30 followed by community singing of Rotarian and other songs under the direction of Rotarian Fred Carberry, Milwaukee.

Miss Evelyn M. Conlin, Crystal Falls, Mich., sang two solos preceding the invocation by Rev. Albert C. Fox, president of Marquette university.

LOS ANGELES—Dr. Earl Anthony, official federal physician in this district, today telegraphed the U. S. district attorney at Chicago that John W. Worthington, Chicago, "wolf of La Salle street," facing a three year term in the Atlantic prison, is dying.
