SENIORS PLAN SWING-OUT TO BE MAY 26TH

Annual Farewell to Be Unified
Panorama; Will Avoid Confusion

KIRK HEADS COMMITTEE

Senior Swing-Out, annual farewell of seniors, to take place May 26 at 6:30 p. m. on the lower campus, has been especially planned this year by Elizabeth Kirk '23, general chairman, to be a complete artistic unit.

"We want the whole thing to begin and end as a picturesque panorama of events, and not a confused mob of people," said Miss Kirk yesterday.

Archways will be placed at the sidewalks in front of the North and South halls through which the seniors, in cap and gown will enter. The juniors, in white, starting with the daisy chain from the Lincoln statue, will form two lines on the upper campus through which the seniors, headed by Dean F. Louise Nardin and Ima Winchell '22, president of Blue Dragon, will march. The sophomores and freshmen, also in white, will enter in twos from opposite directions and form an escort for the seniors.

Pass Torch of Knowledge

As the senior president passes by the junior president she hands on the burning torch of knowledge to the junior class.

A greater space will be roped off this year so that the crowd cannot push in and interfere with the view. Ushers to control the on-lookers will make the ceremony orderly.

A Maypole dance on the green, in charge of Irene Clayton '23, will be followed by the announcement of the 1923 Mortar Board election, by Marion Strassburger '22, president of Mortar Board.

Glee Club to Sing

The Girl's Glee club will sing, and an interpretative dance, given by Miss H'Doubler's girls as an invitation to attend the dance drama immediately following Swing-Out in the open air theatre, will close the program. The seniors will file out each side in twos to the tune of "On Wisconsin."

Louise Moore '23 has charge of programs for Swing-Out; Elizabeth Thorkelson '23 of the daisy chain, assisted by the freshman commission; Olivia Fentress '23, of the line of march, and Kathryn Perry '23, of publicity.

Soph Dance Tickets Are Placed on Sale

Tickets for the annual Sophomore Spring party to be held May 13 can be obtained at the University pharmacy and can be bought by all students in the university according to an announcement made yesterday by Gordon Wanzer '24, chairman of the dance.

The committee is endeavoring to make the sophomore party an annual affair for the entire student body but conducted by the sophomore class, just as Prom is for all but is managed by the juniors.

Will Uphold Badger N. O. L. Rep Tonight

Erling Ylvisaker '23, representing Wisconsin, will clash with mid-western orators at Urbana, Ill., tonight for honors in the annual Northern Oratorical League contest. His subject is "Thy Neighbor in 1922."

Ylvisaker, with the aid of the speech department, has been working on his address for the past few weeks; and tonight he will stake his oration against those of the universities of Minnesota, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, and Northwestern in an effort to keep the title won last year by Sterling Tracy '22.

Prof. J. M. O'Neill, the head of the speech department, will act in the capacity of judge tonight.

STEFANSSON TO SPEAK TONIGHT

Noted Arctic Explorer To Illustrate Polar
Trip

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, Arctic explorer who has gained world wide renown through his recent work in the Polar circle, speaks in the university gym tonight at 8 p. m.

Discoveries which Stefansson has made in the vicinity of the north pole have completely disorganized previous conceptions of the Arctic region. The explorer will give the account of his last trip in an illustrated lecture entitled "My Five Years in the Arctic."

Stefansson is the author of several books treating with economic conditions and human life in the Arctic. One of his works, "My Life with the Eskimo," has been proclaimed one of the best geographic treatises on the Arctic fringe of North America.

Bulletins of the American Geographical society contain many reports and accounts of the explorer's work in the north. The following comment is made in one of the society's reports:

"Stefansson has established his reputation as one of the ablest, most resourceful, and most fruitful investigators of the Polar regions and their inhabitants. He has learned better than most men how to live and work among conditions met in the Arctic."

Tickets will be sold at the door tonight and all seats will be reserved. Prices are 50 and 75 cents.

A CHANCE FOR THE GRADUATE

TO different people the same cause may have a different effect. The upward trend of commerce and industry means progress through a business cycle to the economist, a fluctuation in curves and data to the statistician, and an increased stability of money to the financier. To the college man or woman it means all, and even more than this. It means greater opportunity of obtaining employment in the field he or she has chosen.

Business conditions are gradually improving, and, although it will be some time before anything resembling normalcy exists, those seeking employment this year have a brighter prospect than did the graduates of a year ago.

The college-trained man or woman is a necessity in business fields today. During the period of depression, however, this necessity, like many others, was curtailed. There has been a greater supply of trained men than there has been a demand. Hundreds of colleges and universities have been pouring their graduates into the labor market each year, many of whom were forced to enter any field that was open to them. College men accepted jobs as bank messengers and express handlers.

The situation is changing, but the market is still flooded with capable men. The graduate of this year must be prepared to accept an opportunity when it comes. But not only must he accept the opportunity—he must prove that, by his education, he is the best man in his field and the only one who can successfully carry out the requisites of his job.

THE OPEN FORUM

THE defeat of the Kronshage resolution lost to the university an institution that is much to be desired. This resolution, an outgrowth of the proposed Student Forum board plan submitted by the Student Senate, provided for a committee composed of faculty members and representatives from the student body, whose duty it was to be to pass upon the speakers, proposed by student organizations, desiring to use university halls. It would have eliminated, to a large extent, disparaging criticism of the faculty, which has become a common occurrence of late, on its stand on free speech. The student body would have been given an opportunity to voice its opinion in regard to any speaker who was to come to the university. In fact, it would have placed the burden of responsibility on the student body, in as much as the student representatives outnumbered the faculty members. It would have required each member to think clearly and definitely and to back his convictions with sound reasoning.

The plan passed by the Board of Regents is virtually the same as that which existed before. It has one advantage that the other lacked, however. Lecturers and speakers will not be introduced in the future by members of the faculty and this may eliminate the charges that the faculty sponsors all outside speakers. It leaves the opportunity open, however, for disappointed organizations and individuals to point an accusing finger at this institution and to say that there is discrimination, that the faculty is controlled and influenced by big business, and kindred remarks.

The Board of Regents represents the citizens of the state. It is to be hoped that its decision will be accepted, and that adverse criticism of the administration of university affairs will not fall where it does not belong.

SAVE THE FLOWERS

OUR campus is especially favored in location and beauty spots. There are few universities that can equal our hills, lakes, and woods. The location is advantageous. The beauty is unusual. And that beauty is of two types, the artificial and the natural. Not artificial in the sense that there is a strained effort to produce beauty, but artificial in that nature is aided by gardeners in enhancing the attractiveness of the grounds. The natural beauty is left to its own development.

No one would think of picking the cultivated flowers that are planted on the hill. But the wild flower is subject to an unfortunate existence—it is an object of spring vandalism. It blossoms by the wayside only to be plucked by a passerby and discarded when its freshness has vanished and it droops and withers.

The woods and fields close about the campus will soon be dotted with wild flowers and budding shrubs and trees. Lovers of nature will soon be wondering through those woods and fields searching for those very evidences of spring. Others will follow, and their search will be in vain unless the first-comers leave nature's treasurers as they find them.

THE LITTLE JOKE

Industriously polishing a pair of shoes, a little Italian bootblack looked up at the conclusion of a humorous story and said: "You know, you gotta have your little joke."

This bit of philosophy picked up by an immigrant who had not been in America long enough to speak her language correctly, is a real gem.

The realization of the truth of this utterance is a thing which will aid one throughout his life. One who can stop when hopelessly tangled in a knotty problem and have a good laugh at a humorous twist it has taken is well on his way to solving the puzzle.

The man who can take time to enjoy a hearty laugh at some good joke is a man who naturally attracts you. He will never get to the point where life is so serious that he cannot see the humorous side of things. A little joke well placed does much to relieve many a strained situation.—Ohio State Lantern.

COMMERCE WINS FROM L. & S. IN CLOSE GAME

By scoring four runs in the last inning, the Commerce baseball team defeated Letters and Science, 7 to 6, in an intercollegiate game played yesterday. The victory gave Commerce the right to enter the finals with Medics and Engineers.

"Hub" Perrin held the Commerce sluggers well in hand until the last frame. With the hill team leading 6 to 3, Commerce staged a batting rally and scored enough tallies to win. Capt. Hance, Commerce catcher, played a good game behind the bat and Capt. Eagleburger, third sacker, flashed for the losers. Cardinal, Bosworth, and Hance were in the points for Commerce.

The Ags gave the L. & S. soccer team a 1 to 0 beating in the first game of the year, which was staged on the lower campus Wednesday afternoon. Points towards the Nelson trophy will be awarded to the winners of these inter-college games this season for the first time.

Record Squad is Out For Tennis

The largest number of men in the history of Wisconsin athletics answered Coach George E. Linden's call for freshmen tennis men Wednesday. Twenty-five sanddicates signed up for the squad and signified their intention of trying out for the frosh team. The yearlings will appear Monday afternoon at 4:30 to put in their initial practice on Varsity courts.

A frosh tournament will be held in conjunction with the other class matches to determine the freshman champion. Duetsch, Logan, Reinsberger, and Campbell showed up especially well in the all-university tournament last fall, and with the addition of new material should compose one of the strongest freshman teams in years.

Square Club Beats Gun and Blade 6-5

The Gun and Blade club baseball nine was defeated 6 to 5, by Square club in a hard-fought game played Wednesday afternoon. The early innings had been played Monday night, but a tie made it necessary to conclude the game Tuesday. Thorp and Hartman were in the points for Gun and Blade at the finish.

GROOM CINDER MEN TO MEET TOUTED ILLINI

Gill's Stars Doped to Cop Dual Meet Here Saturday

Wisconsin track and field men are tapering off into excellent condition for the track meet with Illinois here this Saturday. Dale Merrick and Captain Knollin returned Tuesday from the Penn relays after their creditable showing and are working at Camp Randall.

Merrick will have an easy time in the pole vault against weak Illini aviators, but Knollin will be forced to the limit to break the tape ahead of the two Wallaces in the hurdles. When he took third place at Penn, "Al" showed that he ranked with the best in the country. Thompson, and Barron were the only hurdlers to beat the Badger.

Merrick, although he failed to place, finished ahead of Landowski at Penn. The Wisconsin entrant vaulted 12 feet 3 inches, while Landowski was forced to drop out at 12 feet.

With a record-breaking team of long distance stars, hurdles, and field men, the Illini will undoubtedly win the outdoor track meet. Their team is said to be the best that has ever represented any American college.

Coach Gill's track team established a world's record, two new American intercollegiate records, one new Drake mark, and tied a Drake record at Des Moines last Saturday.

PICKS FOUR FOR GOLF TEAM TO MEET BELOIT

Four men were picked for the Wisconsin golf team which will meet Beloit college in a 36-hole match at Beloit next Saturday.

The quartet is composed of Capen, Frost, Bauer, and Bach. Stegeman and Henry Pope have been chosen two alternate members of the squad.
