VOL. XXXVI. NO. 160

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN, MADISON, FRIDAY, MAY 6, 1927

PRICE 5 CENTS

PHI ETA SIGMA, NEW FRATERNITY, TO BE INSTALLED

60 Freshmen Eligible for En- trance to First Year Hon- orary Organization

An honorary fraternity for freshmen under the name of Phi Eta Sigma will be installed at the university on the tentative date, May 16, according to an announcement made by Dean Scott H. Goodnight yesterday.

Entrance to this fraternity will be based on scholastic excellency only, with a required average, at the end of the first semester, of 2.5.
Freshmen, however, who fail to reach this average at the end of the first semester may qualify at the end of the year if that average is attained, and may be initiated this coming fall.

60 Are Eligible

Out of an enrollment of 1655 freshman men at the beginning of the first semester, 60 are now eligible, and invitations will be sent out to them within a day or two from the dean's office. All members will become inactive upon becoming sophomores and there are no financial obligations beyond the original initiation fee covering cost of the key, certificate of membership, and initiation banquet.

This fraternity is similar to that of Phi Beta Kappa except that it is only open to freshman men. The pin is a gold scroll with the letters engraved in black, the colors of the fraternity.

Sixth Chapter Installed

The first chapter of this fraternity was founded at the University of Illinois in 1923 at which time only 3 per cent of the male members of the freshman class were eligible. At the spring installation this year the percentage had been increased to over 5 per cent. The Wisconsin chapter will be the sixth one to be installed, the others being at the University of Michigan, Purdue university, the University of Missouri, and the University of Oklahoma.

Dean Thomas Arkle Clark of the University of Illinois, founder of the organization will conduct the installation services and speak at the installation banquet.

VIOLA WENDT AWARDED LOGAN MEMORIAL PRIZE

Announcement has been made by Prof. Arthur Gordon Laird, chairman of the Department of Classics, that the John Logan Memorial Prize for Sight Translation in Greek has been awarded to Viola Wendt '25.
The John Logan prize is given in memory of John Logan, a former student in classics at Wisconsin, who was killed by bandits while continuing his studies in Greece.
The prize was first awarded last year to Lauriston Sharp '29.

STUDENTS PROVOKE "BLACKBIRD" BY FAILING TO PAY FOR HOT TAMALES

Down on the corner of Langdon and Henry streets where trouser cuffs are 20 inches wide or better and where the gauntness of life never stalks, he and his little Ford tamale wagon with its silver-winged radiator cap have been "meeting the boys" for the past six years. But "the boys" won't play the game
square with him, and Monday night they tried to cheat him again.

Most of them don't even know his name. Some call him George and the rest call him Blackbird, but they all know him as the nigger whose shouts of, "Hot tamale" provoke jeers and cat-calls from the neighboring fraternity house every night of the week. Some of them know him as good-natured coon whom they can cheat.

Wednesday night they tried to cheat him again. Two of them snatched their tamales and dashed back into their waiting car without paying him. It was the second time in a week and he had to tell
"the boys" who were hanging out of their windows yelling at him about his troubles.

He told them about the two attempts to beat him out of his

A Famous Song Writer Dies.

A song writer died last Thursday in the dressing room of a Cleveland

This man, Ernest Ball, needs no monument, for his memory lives in the refrains of famous ballads that have made Americans both shed tears and smile.

As long as "Mother Machree,"
"Let the Rest of the World Go By,"

Two Measures Affecting the "U."

Two statutes directly affecting the university came up for consideration in legislative mill yesterday.

The Michigan law which would require university law school graduates to pass the state bar examination, similar to the Marquette graduates, before being admitted to the practice of law, has now reached the third-reading state in the assembly.
It has already passed the senate.

We sat in a committee hearing room yesterday and heard George Little and Ikey Karel tell the legislators the need for a physical education building. George Little is backing the bill to the utmost, and no one can doubt his sincerity. Just a mention of the physical education building (we won't call it a field house because George dislikes that synonym) is enough to make his face glow with enthusiasm. When every man in the university is given adequate opportunity to develop himself physically, George Little's ideal will be achieved.

Goodbye To The Spokesman.

a "Bolshevist" scare in Mexico to the White House collier now.

Athletes, Legislators, and Taxpayers Give Approval to Proposed Field House

All Speakers Favor $100,000 Program at Joint Finance Committee Meeting

By C. S.

Former athletic heroes, legislators, and taxpayers gave approval to the proposed physical education building, popularly known as a field house, at the hearing before the joint finance committee yesterday afternoon.

They were unanimously in favor of a $100,000 appropriation annually for three years beginning July 1, 1927, this appropriation to be combined with a similar amount gained by profits from university athletic contests. No dissenting opinion was presented to the committee and generous praise was bestowed upon George Little and his "athletics for a program."

Recommend Bill

Due to the favorable sentiment expressed yesterday the joint finance committee was expected to recommend the bill for passage.

"Today Wisconsin is the kindergarten in the Big Ten as far as physical education and sports are concerned," declared "Ikey" Karel, probate judge of Milwaukee and one-time Wisconsin football star.

"Representatives of the other institutions call together the very cream of the young manhood of this state. They always dwell on their superior athletic facilities. I want to say that Wisconsin is drifting behind."

Little Explains

Director of athletics, George Little, explained to the committee that the present gymnasium was erected 34 years ago for 800 men and graphically pointed out that university men now have only one-seventh of the chance they had then to exercise. Exactly 974 lockers must accommodate 5,400 men.

Carl A. Johnson, Madison manufacturer, who is chairman of the physical education building committee, asserted that Wisconsin is lagging behind the other Big Ten uni-

BUSES TO CONVEY STUDENTS TO PARK

Bernards to Furnish Boat Serv- ice to Pavilion Next Week

Bus service to convey students to and from the Union board dances at Bernard's Park tonight and tomorrow night has been arranged in order to temporarily replace the boat service which Bernard's are unable to furnish. Because wet weather has delayed the painting, the boats are not yet in the water, but it is believed that they will be running next week; in this event the bus service will be discontinued.

The buses will leave the corner of Lake and State streets at 8:30 o'clock and 8:45 o'clock according to the schedule arranged by Gordon Dawson '28, Union board member.
The dance will run from 8:45 o'- clock until 11:45 o'clock.

At the request of several students, Union board is limiting the dances to university students, eliminating the non-student townspeople.

"By tonight, Bernard's will have assumed the aspect of Lathrop," Dawson said. "Even Daddy Brown, the university cop, will be there waving his stick, but he won't know what in thunder to make of it because students are going to be allowed to smoke out at Bernard's."

Student Workers Union Given Added Impetus Last Night

Impetus was given the movement to organize a student workers' union when a group of 40 interested students gathered at the University
Y. M. C. A. last night to discuss the future of the organization.

An executive committee consisting of Richard Grueslaff '29, Ralph Connor '29, Louis Klevay '28, Rae
Needleman '29, Lyle Spooner '28, Maurice Schor '29, David Gantz and Toivo Tenhunen '29 was elected to make plans for the next gathering which will be in the form of a mass meeting.

Harold Groves of the economics department asserted that the student union could exert its power to do three things—increase bargaining power of workers, give publicity concerning bad conditions which should remedy ills, and act as a spokesman for working students.
Mr. Groves stated that President Frank undoubtedly would be behind such an organization.

Prof. Selig Perlman also spoke in favor of the student union as did W. L. Forest of the Madison Federation of Labor.

LITTLE OFFERED FOR FLOOD RELIEF

Indifferent Response Expected, But Should See Necessity of Situation

Barely $30, of which amount $25
was contributed by women students, had been received by the student flood relief committee up until last night. The committee will again keep office hours today in the W.
S. G. A. rooms in Lathrop hall from 10:30 o'clock to 2:30 o'clock and in the Union board office all afternoon.

"Looking at the matter cold-bloodedly, perhaps, the indifferent response on the part of the students is to be expected," said Clyde Kuck-hohn '28 yesterday, "but on the other hand the students should recognize the imperativeness of the need and the intenseness of the suffering in the South."

Receipts at the Union board office yesterday remained almost static while the W. S. G. A. office reported a slight picking up over the donations Wednesday. The volunteer committee, which signed the original declaration in favor of student aid in the South, will continue its policy of refraining from all campaigning.

Whether or not the committee will extend its activities into next week has not definitely been decided, but tentatively today has been set as the last on which students may as a group help in the Red Cross crusade among the southern refugees.

JONES, VORNHOLT DISPLAY ARTISTS' TALENT IN GRADUATE MUSIC RECITAL

Two young men, Paul G. Jones, organist, and Daniel E. Vornholt, tenor, last night proved themselves well on the road to true artistry in the presentation of their graduate recital in Music hall.

Undoubtedly the largest audience attending a graduate recital this year greeted the two musicians, and soon found ample justification for their attendance in spite of the alluring and not at all concert-going weather.

Mendelssohn's Sonata No. 1 and the Bach "Passacaglia" were the high points in Mr. Jones' program, while Mr. Vornholt was at his best in Barthelemy's "Chi se nne scorda" and the Paggiacci "Vesti la giubba" by Leoncavallo.

Mr. Jones made a decidedly fine impression through his spirited

LAWYERS ORDERED TO INVESTIGATE STONING OF CABS

Newest Angle of Strike Trou- ble Brings Complaint From Taxi Company

The board of directors of the local Yellow Cab company has instructed its attorneys to make a thorough investigation of the stoning of three of the company's cabs and the injuring of one of the drivers by pickets at the Memorial Union site. This was the most recent announcement in the strike wrangle.

Yesterday also brought about the dropping of the charges against J.
Pfeffer, the contractor, by the district attorney and the reopening of the case by the legislature's labor committee. The union lodged four complaints against Mr. Pfeffer with the board.

Plans Not Ready

Glenn Stephens, attorney for the Yellow Cab company, said yesterday that he was not quite ready to disclose the pending plans, but he admitted that the directors of the company had met to consider the affair and that he had been given authority to investigate the circumstances surrounding the fracas.

The labor unions as an organization can not be held liable for acts of violence committed by their members, and Mr. Stephens, in line with his policy of delaying all announcements, did not say what line the attack might take.

Five cabs again took non-union men from the building site yesterday. The few pickets stationed at the building made no hostile move.

Charge Against Pfeffer

That J. Pfeffer, general contractor for construction of the Memorial Union building, broke his promise to employ only Madison union men is the charge that was laid before the state assembly's committee on labor late yesterday by the Madison Building Trades Alliance. The Alliance, which is composed of union men engaged in the building trades, stated that the regents of the university let the contract of Mr. Pfeffer because of his promise to hire local union men.

They further asserted that the contractor has violated the law by bringing into Madison non-union men to work upon the building without informing them that a strike exists at the building. Lastly they said that the bringing in of non-

BURRUS' BOOKLETS ARE FREE, NOT FOR SALE

Contrary to a previous statement, Union board is not attempting to sell the booklets, "The Present Intercollegiate Athletic System," by Jefferson D. Burrus Jr. The pamphlets are being given away to anyone who calls for them at the Memorial Union office or at the Union board office, members of the board said. West Point Military Academy, Williams college, the University of Tennessee, and the intercollegiate commissioner of athletics have requested addition lots of the booklets. Yesterday 390 of them were mailed to high schools throughout the country.

playing and splendid technique displayed in the Mendelssohn number,
and also contributed some very fine Bach. In this later work, the base was somewhat indistinct, but a spirit of surety, yet entire ease, quite compensated for the deficiency.

Mr. Vornholt is endowed with a tenor of unusual vigor and freshness. The lilting, altogether captivating Barthelemy piece gave him splendid opportunity to display both his voice and his well-developed technique, an opportunity of which the tenor took the fullest advantage.

In dramatic interpretation, too,
Mr. Vornholt proved himself entirely capable. His opening number,
"Total Eclipse" by Handel, made clear at once his ability in such compositions.

PRIZES AWARDED IN ESSAY CONTEST

$25,000 to be Given Writer of Best Article on Wilson

Fifty thousand dollars in prizes are to be awarded by the Woodrow Wilson Foundation for the two best 2,500 word articles submitted on the subject "What Woodrow Wilson Means to Me." Of that amount, $25,000 is for the man between the ages of 20 and 35 who writes the best essay and $25,000 for the woman between 20 and 35 who writes the best essay.

Competitors must have their articles in the office of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation, 17 East 42nd street, New York City, on or before Oct. 1, 1927. Pamphlets containing details concerning the contest may be obtained from the same address.

Since "the direct and sole purpose of these awards is to bring to the young people of the United States a closer knowledge of the ideals and principles of Woodrow Wilson," the article must be confined to an exposition and appraisal of his ideals, standards, and principles, according to the personal standpoint of the writer, and must be neither a biographical sketch nor an essay on partisan politics.

The articles will be judged for their subject matter and ideas rather than for their literary merits, and it is therefore advised that they be written in a natural, easy, and readable way.

For source material there are numerous books both by Wilson and about him available at libraries and bookstores, and also a special edition of three volumes, comprising "An Old Master," "When a Man Comes to Himself," "Mere Literature," and selections from his more important literary and political papers and public addresses. This set may be ordered through any bookstore or ordered direct from the Woodrow Wilson Foundation for $2.

Good Music and Dancing Feature New Orpheum Bill

In this week's Orpheum bill there are one or two acts that are quite outstanding, which are characterized by remarkable musical talent and good dancing. In fact these exceptionally good acts raise the tone of the entire bill above the average.

The photoplay, called by the euphonious title of Corporal Kate, was another of those war pictures about which the less said, the better. In fact it has nothing at all to recommend it; the plot, or rather the lack of plot, was its greatest handicap, but even the acting failed to redeem it. In order:

Miss Physical Culture

A remarkable acrobat doing some inappropriate advertising.

El Cota with Bee Byrne

The best act of all. A marvellous performance on the xylophone by a true master. The rendering of Liszt's Second rhapsodie is a truly great accomplishment. The dancing of Bee Byrne is an added attraction.

Lewis and La Varre

A decrepit railroad ticket agent and an actress. Some good wise cracks.

Sunshine Sammy

One of "Our Gang" and a good red hot stepper. His support is unsuitable.

Daily Cardinal to Distribute Sacco- Vanzetti Petitions

In response to the demand for petitions at the Sacco-Vanzetti mass meeting, the local committee has placed a supply of mimeographed appeals at the business office of the Daily Cardinal.

The petitions are all ready for signing and have room for several names on one sheet. The office will open from 9 to 11:30 o'clock and from 1:30 to 4:30 o'clock so that anyone wanting a petition can call for it.

The petition reads, "The undersigned, being convinced that Sacco and Vanzetti could not be found guilty by a jury having before it the evidence now available, and a new trial being legally impossible, request Governor Fuller to appoint a committee of unprejudiced persons to investigate the conduct of the trial and recommend to the Governor what action he should take to right any injustice done to Sacco and Vanzetti and to restore the confidence of the public in the administration of justice."

union men, who work for lower wages than union men, is lowering the standard of competency which the Building Trades Alliance is seeking to maintain.

Statements Submitted

In an attempt to come to some agreement about the affair, written statements of the whole strike matter were submitted to Assemblyman A. M. Miller, chairman of the state assembly labor committee, by both factions. The committee expected to meet with officials and attorneys of both sides yesterday afternoon, and if a satisfactory agreement was not reached then, the matter is to be carried into public hearings. All action has been left in the hands of the assembly committee by District Attorney Glenn D. Roberts.

Union pickets were patrolling the Memorial building since early yesterday morning, but did not succeed in their attempts to talk with any of the fourteen Chicago carpenters. The strike-breakers, who are Landis Award men from Chicago, were protected from violence by the city local union men by the presence of several policemen.

WINSLOW WRITES FOR GRAD OCTY

Novelist and Short Story Writer Contributes for Final Number

Horatio Winslow novelist and short story writer of note, is one of the many famous graduates of Wisconsin who are contributing to the "Grad Number" of the Octopus, with which that publication will conclude its year. The grad number is to go on sale on the hill next Wednesday.

Winslow, who has become prominent primarily through his short stories, but who is also a novelist of note, is not only an alumnus of Wisconsin, but is also a former editor of the humor magazine, which in his day was known as "The Sphinx." He has been writing constantly since his undergraduate days, and has long been a regular contributor to the Saturday Evening Post.

A novel on life at Wisconsin twenty-five years ago, written by Mr. Winslow, is now in the hands of the publishers, and will appear in the book stores in the very near future, it is said. Because of his interest in Wisconsin, the author complied with the request of John Alcott '28 and Don Abert '28, editors of the Octopus and wrote as his contribution a poem which has been aptly illustrated by the Octy artists.

Horse Show Opens Tonight

Over Thirty Groups Entered;
Regimental Band Will Furnish Music

Wisconsin's annual spring horse show, sponsored by the field artillery unit of the R. O. T. C., will open at 8 o'clock tonight at the stock pavilion. Interfraternity and inter-sorority events, with an entry list of over thirty groups, will feature tonight's program. The regimental band is to furnish music throughout the evening.

The show will open with ten horses entered in the pen jump, to be followed by the three-gaited open for saddle horses. The interfraternity three-gaited event, one of the most important of the evening, will be next on the program.

Nine Cups offered.

The hunters, to be shown over eight jumps, will be one of the most interesting numbers with a field of eight or ten horses entered. The roadster class, to be shown in harness, and the five gaited saddle horse classes are to follow in the order named.

Inter-sorority competition, with the largest entry list in the history of the event, will hold the limelight as one of the outstanding events of the evening. Nine cups are to be awarded as well as over $200 in cash prizes. Touch and out, a sweepstake event in which the winners divide the entry fee, will be the last competitive event of the evening.

Cavalry Drill by Women

Of special interest will be the cavalry drill by the women members of the University hunt club. The girls have been drilled for weeks under the tutelage of Harry Lasker '30, and have developed an unusual exhibition. Awards are to be made to the 16 girls as well as the coach by the show officials.

Another outstanding event will be the performance by Queen of Spring Brook, a high school mare owned by F. A. Rogers, president of the Malleable Iron Range Co., Beaver Dam. The horse has been trained by W. F. Stuart, a man of wide experience in the training of show animals. The performance of the mare will be repeated at both Saturday performances.

Fifty Children Will Appear In Dance Review

Madison's youngest toe dancer, 4 year old Carletta Kehl, will appear in the first annual dance review of the East Side Dancing school to be held in the Central high school auditorium at 8 o'clock Saturday night. Fifty pupils of Miss Eva Marie Kehl, ranging from four years old to five times that age, will appear in every variety of dance, from the Valencia and Charleston to folk dances and novelties.

Track Team Prepared For Minnesota Here Saturday

Wisconsin Will Have Opportunity to Prove Ability Today

By H. D.

The Wisconsin track team will have an opportunity to disprove various prophecies that it will not fare as well in the outdoor season as it did in indoor competition, when it meets the Minnesota team tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Capt. "Chuck" McGinnis and "Sol" Kreuz who were unable to compete at the Drake relays, are again in fit condition to vie for honors tomorrow. Capt. "Chuck" will be entered in three events as usual, and is rated as a favorite in each event. Kreuz had a sore arm last week, and if it is completely healed he should take the javelin event with ease.

Wisconsin's weakness in the weight events has been generally broadcast, and many have attempted to predict a Gopher victory on the strength of a large score piled up in these events. But Minnesota it seems, also lacks star weight men, and despite the Badger weakness, these events will not be a complete victory for the visitors.

Minnesota is also supposedly very strong in the mile and the half mile. In half mile a very interesting race will be run off between Scarborough of Minnesota, and Ray Erickson, star Badger half miler. The former defeated Erickson last year in the outdoor competition, but Ray retaliated by showing his heels in the indoor meet.

In the mile the competition will be equally great. Wisconsin will run Petaja, Payne, Bullamore, and Schwenger. Petaja reigns as the Badger favorite, but Minnesota has in Wexman a runner that has turned in a time of 4:25.6 in the mile. Although Petaja has not yet officially made a record as commendable as that of his rival, he is a hard man to beat in competition because of his extreme endurance.

The two mile race will be Wisconsin's best event tomorrow. J. Zola, barring accidents, is generally regarded as the sure winner of this race. His time in the two mile stands as the best record made this year by conference two-milers. He succeeded in doing this long grind in 9:38.3, which is more than one second faster than the time of any other two-miler this year in that long grind.

McGinnis' sprained ankle is well, and if his layoff has not affected him he will help the Badger team to win by placing in the high jump, pole vault, and the high hurdles.

All this is the first outdoor meet of the conference track season at Wisconsin, it is expected that a huge crowd will turn out to watch the progress of the competition.

GREEK BASEBALL TEAMS PLAY OFF MANY GAMES

Fraternity baseball players were favored with excellent baseball weather Thursday, and ten teams took advantage of this opportunity to play off games.

The games played yesterday were very interesting and extremely hard fought. Alpha Delta Phi won its game from Acacia by a score of 14-2. The former team took great liberty with the ball and succeeded in swatting it about the field for a total of 14 runs.

Another interesting and close game was that between Sigma Chi and Phi Gamma Delta. With the aid of pitcher Brooks the Sig Chi team were able to defeat its rival by a score of 3-1.

The closest game of the day was between the Theta Delta Chi and Theta Pi teams. The score was 1-0 in the last inning, and a rising young baseball player of the Theta Delt team swatted a three bagger to bring in two men that were on base at the time. By this strategic hit he was able to give his team a win by a score of 3-1.

Tau Kappa Epsilon won its game from the Alpha Kappa Lambda team on a hit in an extra inning, 6-5.

Phi Delta Phi was able to win from Delta Sigma Tau when Fry of the Phi Delt's neatly knocked a homer and brought in two men. The score was 9-3.

Other scores were as follows: Phi Kappa Sigma, Sigma Phi Epsilon 0. Beta Kappa 3, Sigma Phi Sigma 2. Delta Chi added another victory when the Alpha Chi Sigma team failed to show up.

BADGER BASEBALL TEAM, OPTIMISTIC, OFF FOR CHICAGO

Clausen, Ellerman, Thelander, or Stoll to Pitch at Windy City

Encouraged to the point of optimism by their 4-3 victory over the Madison Blues. Members of the Wisconsin baseball team will leave tonight for Chicago to play two games, one against the University of Chicago nine and one against Northwestern.

Four pitchers, Capt. George Stoll, Stanley Clausen, Ray Ellerman, and Ted Thelander will be available for use against the Maroons and the Wildcats. Although Coach Guy S. Lowman did not mention which of these hurlers he would use first, it seems probable that Stoll will pitch tomorrow, while Clausen, whose three-inning performance at Iowa was quite creditable, will be held over for Northwestern.

At Chicago, the Badgers are running into a fair to a good baseball nine and the result will probably depend largely on which team gets off in front first. If Wisconsin can continue the timely hitting which marked the Iowa and Madison Blues games, Chicago will be hard pressed to keep up.

While none of the Maroon pitchers have shown big league form to date, MacInd, the probable choice to oppose Wisconsin, is considered an excellent hurler. Although he permitted Indiana to get 11 hits in the game which Chicago won 6-5 last Monday, MacInd kept these bingles well scattered and exhibited excellent control.

The lineup of the Wisconsin nine, as practically settled for the season will consist of Murphy 1b, Massey 2b, Decker ss, Donagan 3b, Stoll lf, Larson ss, Burbridge rf, and Barnum c.

TENNIS TEAM SET FOR GOPHER MEET

Members of the Wisconsin varsity tennis team will have their first taste of conference competition when they meet the strong Minnesota team here Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

The competition this year will consist of six singles, and three doubles matches. Each team will be represented by a six man team, a new idea in Big Ten circles. The new team basis makes it possible for a well balanced squad to drop two or three matches and still win.

Gophers Threaten

Minnesota will furnish the Badgers with as strong competition as they are likely to meet during the entire season. According to reports from Minnesota, their team is composed of six men who are almost equal in ability, and they feel themselves in line for a championship year.

With fair weather during the last week, Coach Winterble has driven his men at top speed in an effort to improve them and at the same time determine the ranking of the first six players. The men who will represent Wisconsin in Saturday's matches are Capt. Leo Boldenweck, Dave Freeborn, Oscar Kaner, Enoch Judkins, and two others who have not been chosen.

Name Minnesota Team

The men who will in all probability represent the Gophers are Shay, Armstrong, Tathan, Johns, Flanagan, and Cornell. At the present time these men have been going through a tournament themselves, and the results so far indicate the ranking of the men as given above. They are coached by Dr. Deihl who is known for the good teams he has turned out, and the fine showings they have made.

To accommodate the spectators in Saturday's matches, bleachers will be placed around the courts so that every play may be easily followed. Coach Winterble is especially anxious to have a good attendance to cheer the boys on.

INTRAMURAL GAMES TODAY

The following church league diamond ball games will be played off today at 4 o'clock on the intramural field: Calvary Lutheran Memorial St. Paul vs. Wesley Foundation. St. Francis vs. Hillel Foundation.

THEY GO AWAY

INTRODUCING

THAT NAVY CREW

Business is terribly dull these days. The weather stays nice, the baseball team wins, none of the track men have broken their legs lately. Wotta life.

The diamondmen, looking at life through rose-colored glasses since they trimmed the Blues Wednesday, will take a desperate chance and leave for Chicago only one day ahead of time, banking on the fact that 24-hour train service to that city has been established. The advertised object of the trip is a game with the Maroon baseball nine, after which the Badgers will be quartered in a bullet proof armored car until they can get out to Evanston, scene of a scheduled to-do Monday with the Northwestern Wildcats.

Though the Maroons have accomplished nothing remarkable during the season, the Maroons are fresh from a 6-5 conquest over Indiana and have at least had experience with winning conference games. Chicago peeled 11 hits off a Mr. Apple, Hoosier pitcher, in order to win.

Interest in the forthcoming dual meet with Minnesota at Camp Randall tomorrow is increasing greatly. The Gophers are especially strong in the 100, 220, 440 and mile track events and in the field events. O'Shields, Minnesota sprinter, is a ten-flat man in the century and will probably run strong in the longer sprint, although he has not yet made an actual mark in it.

Pat Dougan, Wisconsin's run around quarter-miler, will meet something hard and fast in the way of opposition when he starts trying to beat Bernhagen, Minnesota. Bernhagen and Dougan have both been clocked in 51.8 seconds for the 440.

Wexman, Gopher miler, ranks among the three best in the conference, having pedaled around four quarters in 4 minutes 25.6 seconds. John Petaja, Wisconsin's ace in this event, will have something to do, maybe.

Lord David Burghley captain and star hurdler of the Cambridge, England, track team, claims Americans take their athletics too seriously. In fact, Dave, Americans take everything too seriously except the prohibition laws.

Navy again has a weak, inexperienced crew this year. The Annapolis eight beat Pennsylvania by only five lengths in a match race over a mile and five-sixteenths course last Saturday. The time was 6 minutes 32 seconds, about as fast as an average man could run the distance.

The tennis and the golf teams will get in their weekend exercise on the Camp Randall courts and the Iowa City golf course respectively tomorrow. Minnesota's racquet swingers come here with very creditable recommendations and will probably show the Badgers a few strokes they haven't met before in competition this year.

Tramp Monkey Eludes Pursuit Of Officers

A vagrant monkey eluded the efforts of attendants from the zoo at Henry Vilas park to capture it today. The monkey leaped from tree to tree and dashed across house tops in the 500 block on S. Orchard st. to keep out of the hands of its would-be captors.

Authorities at the zoo told police that the primate had not escaped from that institution and police immediately called upon monkey owners of Madison to determine if any of them had lost the animal, but

FRESHMAN TRACK SQUAD HAS MANY OUTSTANDING MEN

Over Sixty Men Listed; Yearlings Show Strength in Weight Events

A large outdoor freshman track squad, under the tutelage of Coach Guy Sundt, is working out daily at 4:30 p. m. in preparation for its outdoor season on the oval.

The Badger yearlings have not had any opportunity to match their strength in actual competition, but it is generally conceded that a promising group of runners are included in the squad. During the indoor season the freshman squad was given an opportunity to pit its strength against other frosh conference teams, but the meets were all telegraphic. It was impossible for the Badger team to turn in a winning score when they were competing on the annex track.

Work Outdoors

Now they are outdoors and working out on a large track. All events, with the possible exception of the hammer throw, have an over-supply of candidates. The dashes especially have numerous runners listed. The freshman squad is notably strong in the distance events, and boasts of power in some of the weight events.

Wall, Steenis, and McCloud are the three most promising runners in the two mile event. Others listed in this distance run are Egger, and Baker. Steenis especially has made splendid showings against all competition that he has entered.

Strong Milers

In the one mile yearlings have Thompson, Schroeder, and McGowan. The first two have shown great power and speed in their event, and will greatly bolster up the strength of the mile event next year in varsity competition.

Vaughn heads the list of frosh 880 yard dash men. He has consistently demonstrated his worth, and placed in the recent outdoor inter-class track meet. Others who are making progress in this event are Hoffman, Porter, and Ramsey. Seven of the men listed as candidates in this race are: Wetzel, Sommerfield, Hurd, Hoppman, Hustling, Lamber-ton and Sorenson.

The following men are outstanding in the 440 yard dash; Ramsey, Levy, Wetzel, Schoen. Others who are out for the 440 are Laucher, Johnson, May and Merrill.

Few Hurdles

Wisconsin has only three freshman competing for places in the hurdles. Cole, Pudtall, Zeise are all out for the 220 yard low and the 120 yard high hurdles. Zeise has revealed a splendid ability in leaping the hurdles, but the other two are likewise accorded ability.

The varsity squads look for a betterment of its weight showing next year when Gurneau and Parkinson graduate into the varsity class. These two lads have been throwing the shot farther than regular varsity men. It is obvious that a re-inforcement in the weight be a great boon to the Badgers.

Others in the weights are: Neaport and Spaeni, Flowers, Purtall, Babler, and Merrill are tossing the javelin with the freshman squad. Flowers and Babler are the most capable man in this group. The yearling squad lacks hammer candidates, however.

Many Dash Men

The 100 and 220 yard dashes are well stocked with runners. Prominent among these candidates are Seiske, Schoen, Schnaper, Hayes, Benson, and Ramsey. Others are Focarato, Haugen, Mack, Leiske, and Linderman.

The frosh squad has two broad jumpers of especial merit. They are Hayes and Boezel. Schnaper, Babler, Pudtall and Grill are others interested in the broad jump.

Of the four candidates listed in the high jump Callender and Banger are making the best showing. The other two are Black, and Hoppman. In the pole vault are Talliferio, Babler and Healy and Folsom. The latter two are recognized as the best vaulters in this squad.

without success as the ownership of the monkey could not be learned. "Must be a tramp," was the comment of police.

The Union Strike, Settlement, and Students

As fair-minded students of a state university let's ignore the workmen's strike on the Memorial Union building. We can do no good toward the settlement of the labor difficulty by taking sides, and, quite the opposite, we can do much harm by lending our support to one side or the other of a struggle about which we know little or nothing concerning the real facts and issues at point.

The only fact about which we can be absolutely certain is that the union laborers and the non-union laborers are at loggerheads concerning the labor policy under which the construction of the building was contracted. Aside from this point we can be certain of nothing. There are newspaper accounts of the arbitration proceedings, to be sure, but they can not be taken as stating the facts because even the parties involved cannot state them and agree.

From this it would seem that the most intelligent attitude for the student body to take on the strike is one of impartial observation until true and authentic statements can be received. For the most part we as students are quite totally ignorant of the problems which confront the fighters of the union vs. non-union or the capital vs. labor battles. We have not been in a position to know the intricate points at issue and we should realize this and conduct ourselves accordingly.

Conceding the point that student pressure or support of one sort or another might passably do some good for one side or the other, it is still essential that a "hands off" policy directs their attitude. The matter is now in the hands of people much better fitted by far more experience and training than we are to cope with such matters. Mr. Pfeffers, the union representatives, and non-union delegates along with city officials are ironing out the rough spots. They seem to be progressing very slowly, to be sure, but a settlement will be forthcoming in the near future. It will be quicker and better if the investigating bodies do not have to off-set hatred and riot fever which have been partly caused by student interference in the question between the two factors of laborers.

Some of the "riots" which have taken place at the Memorial Union building site during the past two weeks have been brought to a matter of action largely because of the student jeering and cheering. With even a trivial grievance between the two, most any two men will come to blows as a matter of showing their courage or protecting their honor if cries from a crowd of "hit him" are loud or numerous enough. It gets the contestants nowhere in settling their differences and may do permanent and serious bodily injury to them.

Economic pressure will bring the parties to an agreement long before student sentiment on either one side or the other will. The official body, the assembly committee which has been authorized to investigate, along with the evidence which it will gather from the contractor, the sub-contractors, the union and non-union representatives will be able to render an intelligent, effective decision which will settle the controversy.

The Daily Cardinal urges a "hands off" policy for the student body as regards the Memorial Union building labor strike, believing it to be the only intelligent and wise one under the existing conditions. Let's not be a party any longer to the "riots."

Help Buy a Levee

In spite of all the progress which man has made in laboratories toward harnessing the powers of nature and turning them into his servants for work and comfort he has not made a complete success of it. For the most part nature has yielded, slowly and begrudgingly, to the mastery of man. Yet occasionally it asserts its powers and suddenly breaks forth in spots least suspected to kill man and to topple over his homes, families, and accomplishments. Witness the Mississippi flood.

Swollen by heavy rains and melting snow the river has over-run its banks for hundreds of square miles and worked havoc with life and property. Hundreds of people have been driven from their homes and exist as best they can in improvised tent colonies or seek refuge and shelter in other towns. They are victims of nature. With their farms and homes destroyed they are living as best they can. It is a situation that appeals to us who are safe, happy, and prosperous in our northern homes.

Feeling that students of the university would be eager to contribute to the relief of these unfortunate people, a committee of men and women students recently announced that they would be glad to establish a focal point for such funds and to forward them to the Red Cross organization which is functioning so admirably in this catastrophe. Not as an activity of either, but as a matter of convenience, Union Board and the Women's Self Government Association have made their offices headquarters for the receipt of funds.

Thus far about thirty dollars have been collected. Most of this has been collected from women through the S. G. A. office. Surely this amount represents neither the ability of the students to contribute nor of their interest in the misfortune of the Mississippi flood people. We believe that once the news is spread around the campus the student committee will be able to report and turn over a handsome amount to the Red Cross.

Living in a sort of Utopia here in the university district, we are little cognizant of the struggle and strife, misfortune and calamity which exists in the "outside" world. As students who are being educated so that we may take an intelligent and active part in life latter on, it is our duty to assume some of the responsibility of life now while we are still in the university.

President Coolidge has asked for $1,000,000. Chicago sent off a check of $300,000 to the flood sufferers this week. We ask that the student body of this university assume some share of the responsibility for the flood sufferers and contribute a share commensurate with their capacity.

Our Thanks to the Student Senate

Our thanks to the Student Senate. The news columns of this paper tell us that at its first meeting since the recent election, the Senate took up the matter of the Soph-Frosh bag rush and started the ball rolling. A committee of two senators will visit the athletic board and pass the facts on to that body for consideration. We express the hope that the athletic board will consider the rush as one of some moment to two classes of the university student body and give it the attention it needs.

It is gratifying to the editors of the Daily Cardinal to see this move in the direction of action. It is one thing to hear page after page of criticism of student activities. It is quite another and pleasing thing to hear well-founded criticism of student activities by the students themselves which is followed by some action to inquire into the criticism. The latter is most gratifying. It is a sign to us that university students do not merit entirely the emblems of disparagement which are cast about generously by reform and anti-fun organizations of one kind or another.

We eagerly await the reports from the athletic board.

From the complaints we've heard, those who have classes in the Bascom hall addition enter equipped with compass and a small knapsack of food to be used in case the way out cannot be found before the starvation period sets in.

There are exactly three pieces of copy paper in the office today, all of which pleases us greatly because ideas are scarcer than outside reading books on the reserve shelf of the Libe.

Not that we intend to do any reading, but we are informed that books are scarce.

Frat club man: I ask you, what interest did you show in our last party? You didn't wax any floors, you borrowed my last collar, you snaked the president's girl. But wotinell did you do for the house? Frosh (Swelling up): I spiked the chaperon's punch and necked his wife, just think how the house saved on electricity!

Well—we MUST say it—that's shocking.

The more ordinary minds of the eating club got together yesterday to see how many puns were possible on the statement—"He's well bred".

We got up to eight when somebody threw the catsup bottle, then there wasn't anything to eat.

A deep pall (or whatever it is) hangs over the band. No more shall we hear the wham-wham of cymbals unless a reconciliation is effected soon. All the saxophonists are holding their breaths (thank Heavens) and the man with the oompah horn dares not to oomp it.

It all came about this way: One of the trumpeters is a very jealous boy, and rumor has it that one of the drummers has been beating his time.

Carl Russel Fish went down to Illinois to make a spich. We have an exam in his course this morning. We hope that Carl Russel likes Urbana a lot.

versities. He pictured the new building as a necessity in the development of the right kind of manhood saying that the present crowded conditions in the cities do not give the boy a chance to develop himself physically.

Mark Catlin, of Appleton, former Chicago football star and today prominent lawyer and Lawrence college coach told how he competed in the present gymnasium 25 years ago "as a kid" and facetiously remarked, "The annex isn't high enough so that this man McGinnis can reach his height in the pole vault for fear of knocking a hole through the roof."

Justifys Athletics

In justification for athletics at the university, Mr. Catlin declared: "We are teaching those fellows to think for themselves in football, basketball, boxing, and rowing; teaching them to be leaders not trailers in their respective lines. Every man I maintain can do almost anything in this world if he concentrates his mind and his effort on it."

Joseph Hirschberg, former university baseball player added his approval to that of "Ikey" Karel and Mark Catlin saying, "I always feel that I got something out of athletics that I didn't get out of the classroom."

In opening the meeting, Senator C. B. Casperson characterized the present building as a fire trap and explained the crowded conditions, a fact which was soon afterwards reiterated by George Little.

Paying Through Profits

Nothing financially would be gained by putting off the appropriation, Senator Walter Hunt asserted. The idea of paying for the building through profits from intercollegiate contests was stressed by several speakers who visioned huge crowds at the basketball games. Assemblyman R. C. Trembarth contended that the receipts from that source would be increased threefold.

"If $100,000 was spread over the taxable property of the state you would only need to collect two cents on each $1000 worth of assessment."

FIND TAXES IN CITIES LOWER THAN ON FARMS

That farmers in Dane county, in 1924, paid as direct taxes nearly three times as large a percentage of their net income as did city and village people has been found by the Agricultural Experiment station of the university by means of research and study conducted and organized by Professors B. H. Hibbard and B. W. Allin. This state of affairs has been brought about by the failure of farm incomes to increase in proportion to the increase in taxes and by the fact that the tax is not on incomes but on the land, whether productive or not. Mr. Hibbard and Mr. Allin suggest similar research in other sections of the state in order to find broad enough evidence to justify legislative action.

ATHLETICS ARE IMPORTANT PART OF TRAINING AT CITIZENS CAMPS

Taller by 290 feet of added stature, heavier by 80 tons of new muscle, deeper of chest by 646 feet of extra capacity, with swelling biceps showing an increase of 724 feet over old measurements.

These giant-like proportions are physical gains which will be shared among 35,000 young Americans as a result of spending 30 days in the open air at Citizen's Military Training Camps this Summer, according to statistics received from the War Department today, by Joseph F. Barnes, professor of Military Science and Tactics.

The average youth who takes the C. M. T. C. training, these statistics indicate, may expect to add four and a half pounds to his weight. He should gain 10 inches in height. His waist measurement should increase .74 inch, his chest capacity, .22 inch; biceps, .25 inch; thigh dimensions, .96 inch, and calf expansion, .25 inch.

Besides, there are important general improvements of which accurate measurements cannot be made, such as development of correct posture, better carriage, harder endurance, keener mental alertness, higher sense of hygiene and improved all around health, it is reported by the Army surgeons compiling the statistics

Their figures were obtained by consideration of the records of almost 160,000 young men who have attended the C. M. T. C. Camps during the six summers they have been in operation, Colonel Barnes explained.

"This tremendous enrollment has been attracted to the camps very largely by the important place given athletics in the camp programs," he said "In no other country in the world have young men a greater devotion to a large variety of sports and games than in the United States.

"Ever since the first series of C. M. T. C. Camps in 1921, this interest in athletics has been reflected in the large number of volunteers who saw in the C. M. T. C. Camps an unusual opportunity to participate in all popular types of American Sports under skilled instructors.

"The government, in stressing the athletic feature of the camps, furnished much of the enormous amount of athletics equipment now available at C. M. T. C. Camps, but this generous work was supplemented by donations from patriotic societies and civic committees in all parts of the United States.

"The athletic youth of the Nation," Colonel Barnes declared, "finds nowhere else such abundant opportunity as the government offers each year at the Citizens' Military Training camps. Young men in all walks of life see in this outdoor life not merely physical betterment, but also moral education in team-work, fair play, and the will to win, with full recognition of the part these things play in the broad scheme of life.

"The Value of the Study of History" was delivered Wednesday afternoon in Bascom hall. He dealt particularly with the subject of teaching American history in the grades and high schools, naming three objectives which should be the aim of a teacher of history, a better understanding of nation institutions and civic duties to be instilled in the pupil, a foundation of liberal culture to be established, and a sense of patriotism and public spirit to be imparted.

'OUTWARD BOUND' SET BEING MADE

Players' Production to Dedicate
New Bascom Stage on May 13

An elaborate reproduction of the lounge of an ocean liner is being built for the stage set of "Outward Bound," the Wisconsin University Players production that will dedicate the new Bascom theater on May 13.

The set was designed by Fred A. Burki '27, who also has charge of its construction. When completed the scenery will be almost an exact reproduction of the set that was used by the professional company when the play first appeared in New York.

The story of "Outward Bound" revolves around a group of characters on a ghost ship. Shortly after the play opens they discover that they are no longer living in this world, and, as the play develops, each character is forced to stand judgement before the Great Examiner who reviews his past life. The action of the entire three acts takes place in the lounge of the liner.

Because the electricians are still working on the theater wiring and the stage equipment is still in the process of being installed, it is necessary to build the set in the basement of the Bascom addition rather than on the stage. As soon as the work on the stage is completed, however, the set will be put in place, and rehearsals will be held in the theater.

Theaters Offer Good Programs for Next Week

By TEDDY

Al Jackson's Garrick Players are to present that play which has been so much discussed, "Rain," starting Sunday afternoon.

At the New Orpheum, the vaudeville headliners for the first part of the week, Sunday to Wednesday, will be Ted Tieman and His Tune-smiths in something called "College Capers," and Gracie Deacon and Company. The motion picture will be "White Flannels," with Louise Dresser and Jason Robards.

For the last half of the week beginning Thursday, the vaudeville features will be Mr. and Mrs. Orville Stamm, (known as "the perfectly formed couple!") and Everett Sanderson's Revue, featuring "America's most versatile jazz artist. The photo play is to be "Jewels of Desire," starring Priscilla Dean.

Karl Dane, who seems to have gotten quite a following since his excellent work in "The Big Parade," co-stars with George K. Arthur in "Rookies," which comes to the Strand for an indefinite engagement starting Saturday. It is, as one would surmise, considering the stars, a comedy—one which concerns a training camp. We are told that it is also quite funny, which we are quite willing to believe, having a sneaking fondness for the work of the two principal members of the cast.

The University Glee club is to be on the program at the Parkway from Sunday to Wednesday. The motion picture will be Bebe Daniels in "Senorita" in which she is said to be very good as a feminine version of Douglas Fairbanks.

"Stage Madness" is to be the feature picture at the Parkway next Thursday and Friday, with an all-star cast.

As an enticing glance into the future, John Barrymore in "Don Juan" will be at the Parkway next Saturday.

Starting Saturday to continue all week at the Madison, will be "The Fourth Commandment," starring Belle Bennett and Mary Carr. In case some of you haven't been reading your Bibles lately, the fourth commandment is the "honor thy father and thy mother" one, and with Mary Carr in it we suppose we may expect considerable depicting of mother love. But Belle Bennett is always splendid.

"Night of Love" Thrilling Story of Western Life

M. M.

Just what happens when four romantic young city flappers go the great open West for a few days' outing, and meet up against the strong handsome western shieks is most vividly portrayed in the clever and appealing comedy "The Night of Love," the picture showing at the Strand the last half of the week.

All the humorous situations that four frivolous young women could get into in a single visit to a western construction camp are loaded merrily into this picture. Dashing automobile rides, true western parties, narrow romantic escapades of every nature keep the action of the picture moving rapidly from incident to incident with never a break down.

Duane Thompson is the true comic hero of the picture, and his usual dry, girlish, rather simple actions, poses, and expressions are the greatest attraction in the production. He plays his entire part so naturally and cleverly that the audience has many a hearty laugh.

The leading parts in the picture are taken by Jacqueline Logan and Robert Frazier. Both are excellent and carry the love theme of the play through in a charming and appealing manner. Miss Logan is indeed an attractive young flapper and doesn't lose an opportunity to show her mischievous nature. Frazier is a regular "he-man" of the west and his clean-cut manly features and fine bearing lend much to the realism of the entire production.

Though the acting plays an important part in the success of the picture, it is the play itself that makes possible the clever situations. "The Night of Love" is taken directly from a scenario by Sarah Y. Mayson, and is about as skillfully put together as any modern photoplay.

Robert Florey, as director of the production, accomplishes a true success in the management of his scenes, characters, and situation. Realism in every feature is made to stand out strongly, but still enough is left to the imagination of the audience so that the picture doesn't tend to become boring.

A finer, more clever comedy than "The Night of Love" is indeed seldom seen in the motion picture world.

A. P. Desormeaux Is Confined To Home, Ill

A. P. Desormeaux, manager of the Strand theater, is confined to his home with a serious cold, it was reported today.

GILLETTE TO SPEAK AT MASS MEETING

Objects to Policy of Maintaining American Soldiers in China

Philip L. Gillette, recently with the Y. M. C. A. in Nanking, China, will speak at a mass meeting held May 12 to protest the Chinese situation. He will appear under the auspices of the Madison Peace council, which hopes, through the meeting, to inform the public of the situation in China and to warn of the danger in our present policy of maintaining soldiers and warships in the districts disturbed by Nationalist rioting.

According to the members of the committee in charge, which is in close touch with dispatches and with the Chinese students here at the University, the natives are interpreting the presence of the American troops in China as unfriendly and imperialistic. The Chinese have learned to fear imperialism through their experience with Great Britain and with Germany, and resent such tendencies on the part of the United States.

The committee believes that we are drifting inevitably toward war with China, since Pres. Coolidge has shown his stand by declaring that the United States intends to protect persons and property everywhere. They feel that the public should be informed of the true facts of the case, and given an opportunity to express an opinion.

The Oriental students at the University are keenly interested in the development of situation, and are cooperating with the Madison Peace council, the Women's International League for Peace, The Fellowship of Reconciliation and the Madison Federation of Labor in taking action on the question. Glenn Turner, of the Madison Peace Council is in general charge of arrangements. Posters will announce later the time and place of the meeting.

Flood warnings were issued by the bureau from October on to April 13 when it declared that every indication pointed to the greatest flood in the history of the Mississippi river.

The first flood of any importance was that of the Nebosho river in Kansas and Oklahoma in October. Then came more rains swelling the Ohio rivers. Rivers in lower Ohio were filled to the flood stage in the last part of December. Heavy rains followed in Kansas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Arkansas, Missouri and other Middle Western States. These heavy rains coupled with melting snow were the making of the greatest Mississippi flood.

She was a member of the Women's auxiliary of the G. A. R. and the Christian Mothers.

Superior Road Bill is Laid Over

Only two persons appeared Wednesday afternoon before the joint finance committee of the legislature when Sen. J. H. Carroll's bill for a concrete highway between Milwaukee and Superior was heard.

One was the author. The other was a representative of the United Commercial Travelers, who objected to the bill's provision for an addition of one cent per gallon to the state gasoline tax for three years, to pay for the highway.

Sen. Carroll explained his bill, which provides for a committee of Wisconsin citizens to sponsor and direct the building of the highway, to be appointed by the governor.

The measure was laid over by the committee, so that it may be considered with other bills affecting the state's gasoline tax.

Margin Between Prices Of Gasoline Increases

Although the retail price of gasoline is now three cents below the summer price of 1926, the margin between retail prices and wholesale costs has been on an almost continual up-trend for the past fifteen months. The spread between the service station price and the cost in tank cars at Milwaukee averaged 83-4c for the month of April, whereas six cents not long ago used to be considered sufficient margin for a local oil company to work on. The April average is the highest retail margin of any month in ten years, except for the month of July, 1923, when a ten cent margin obtained for a few weeks just before the cut of 6½c in retail prices. Except where local price-cutting has occurred, the margin has now been above six cents for fourteen months, and has averaged over 7½c for a year.

Ballot Change Bill Defeated in Assembly

Beat Measure To Simplify Voting; Substitute Lost

By an aye and no vote, the Wisconsin assembly this morning killed Assemblyman Arthur A. Hitt's bill relating to majority elections and the simplification of the ballot. A substitute amendment brought forward by Mr. Hitt was also defeated. This bill provided, among other things, that the party circle on election ballots should be removed and that all candidates for offices be listed under the name of the office, rather than under the party with which he is aligned. Assemblyman Henry Ellenbecker spoke against the bill, stating that "all it does is to clog up our system of voting."

New Hospital Fund Pledges Exceed $8,000

Lutherans Are Pleased At Early Progress Made In Campaign

Madison had, up to Tuesday night, pledged $8,132 toward the proposed new Lutheran hospital and sanatorium, it was announced at the fund campaign headquarters in the Cantwell building. A. O. Olman, general manager of the campaign, said that this result of the first days of the fund drive is gratifying and that it indicates success of the campaign to raise $100,000 in Madison before the end of the drive on May 12. "Such a drive as this seldom gets under way during the first few days," Mr. Olman said. The campaign headquarters repeated its appeal to the citizens of Madison to contribute toward the hospital fund.
