INTRODUCTORY.

C. A.

With this issue of the Janesville City Directory we present the first volume issued by us, and it is with no small degree of satisfaction we take in the thought that it is worthy the name it bears.

This volume is printed on new type purchased by us especially for Directory work.

It has always been our aim, to issue works that would be a credit to the city where issued, and by comparing each new volume with the preceding one they will always be found an improvement over them. Our estimate of the population according to Directory names, is between 11,000 and 12,000.

In this issue will be found a number of new features. We hope before our next issue to see the city properly numbered. As we have had considerable experience in the numbering business, we would be pleased to furnish any information on the subject to the city free of charge, besides considering it a pleasure to do so.

We desire to return our thanks to our patrons and hope to place them, and a great many others, on our list again in 1886,
