Badger Bowl Is Stolen From Theta Chi House Amid Sleeping Guests

Emblem of Fraternity Athletic Supremacy Is Valued at $590

While alumni and guests slept within two feet of the table on which it was resting, the Badger bowl, emblematic of interfraternity athletic supremacy, was stolen from the Theta Chi house early Sunday morning. The bowl is valued at $590 and it is insured by the Athletic Board.

House Crowded

Members of Theta Chi last saw the bowl standing on a table in the center of the living room at 2:30 a. m. Sunday. The loss was not discovered until 6 a. m.

Following the game Saturday the chapter house was crowded with guests and alumni members. All the sleeping quarters being filled, a number of the men were forced to use the living room floor and davenports as beds and it was while they were in the room that the theft occurred. Questioning in the morning resulted in the general denial that anyone in the house knew anything of the bowl's disappearance.

Fraternity Cup War

While it was assumed by some that the bowl had been carried back to Minnesota as a trophy, it is well known that a cup war has raged among Wisconsin fraternities for more than a year. Numerous fraternities and sororities have lost cups, never to have the loss explained, and it is quite possible that this theft may be connected with these other disappearances.

Competition for the bowl is entering its fourth year. In its first year it was won by Beta Theta Pi, in the second by Sigma Chi and last year by Theta Chi who won possession until the end of interfraternity hostilities for 1928-29.

Victor Artists to Play at Union

Former Drake Hotel Orch-chestra Engaged for Entire Week-end

Don Bestor and his Victor Recording orchestra will play for the regular Union dances in the Great hall of the Memorial Union on Friday and Saturday nights, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. A conflict in dates prevented the appearance of Charley Straight's orchestra which was originally scheduled to play at this time.

Bestor filled a long engagement at the Drake hotel in Chicago and played here a few years ago at the Junior Prom. He has also played at Young's Million Dollar Pier in Atlantic City, at various hotels from San Francisco to New York, in the Orpheum Circuit Vaudeville and in many of the best ballrooms, cabarets, theaters and amusement palaces in the country.

This orchestra is the second of the series of well-known dance orchestras which the Union is bringing to Madison. Other bands in the series include Zeez Confrey's orchestra and the Egyptian Serenaders. Charles Fulcher and his Columbia orchestra played last Saturday for a capacity crowd.

Tickets for Don Bestor's orchestra to be featured at the Union Friday and Saturday nights of this week are now on sale at Pete Burns, Gelvin's and the Union desk. The sale is being limited to 400 couples.

Two More Receive Sophomore Honors

Their names have been included among those posted near the entrance in Bascom hall, and their parents have been notified of the occurrence by mail.

Six Participate in Preliminary Oratorical Contest

In spite of the fact that only six contestants participated in the oratorical tryouts held Monday afternoon in Bascom hall, Wisconsin will have a good oratorical season, in the opinion of H. L. Ewbank, assistant professor of speech.

Tuesday's tryouts were the preliminaries for the local contest to be held here Feb. 14. The winner of this contest is awarded the Frankenberger prize of $100 and will represent Wisconsin in the Northern oratorical league contest, held at the University of Michigan the first Friday in May.

The six who participated in yesterday's preliminaries were William Olson '29, Theodore Jax '29, Ruth Scherer '29, Philip Icke '30, Floyd Atherton '31, and Delisle Crawford Exp. C. 2.

Mid-Term Tests Dropped for First Year Law Men

Numerical Grades to Be Used; 74 Is Passing Average

Abolishment of mid-semester examinations for first-year law students was announced Monday morning following action taken at the meeting of the law faculty held Nov. 8. This includes the courses in contracts, torts, criminal law, and property.

Abandon Conditions, Failures
Abandonment of the grades of conditions and failures was also decided. Numerical grades only will now be used and a weighted average of 74 will be necessary in order for a student to continue in school at the end of two years.

Discussing the changes, Dean Harry S. Richards said that one of the results would be that hereafter it would be impossible for students to enter the law school at any time other than the fall term unless they have had some previous work in law.

List Actions

The following action was taken in addition to the abolition of first-year students' mid-semesters:

1. That the grades of conditions and failures be abandoned.
2. That all grades be given in numerical form.
3. That grades be published, so far as published, in numerical form.
4. That, in order to continue in school, a student be required to have a weighted average of 71 on all work taken when he shall have completed one year's work. For the purpose of this rule, a student shall be deemed to have completed a year's work when he has received credit in 22 hours of work.
5. That, in order to continue in school, a student be required to have a weighted average of 74 on all work taken when he shall have completed two year's work. For the purpose of this rule, a student shall be deemed to have completed two year's work when he has received credit in 48 hours of work.
6. That the giving of special examinations be discontinued.
7. That students be permitted at any time, whether in attendance or not, to take the regular examination in subjects in which they have received credit for the purpose of raising their grades. If, upon examination for the purpose of raising a grade, the grade is not raised, the original grade shall stand.

PAN-HELL BANQUET SATURDAY

Pan-Hellenic will stage its annual scholarship banquet in the Memorial Union on the night of Dec. 1, it was announced at a regular meeting of that organization yesterday. The scholarship trophy will be presented at that time, the cup this year going to Alpha Gamma Delta sorority. The presentation will be made by Dean Louise Nardin, and the cup will be accepted for the sorority by Dorothy Canfield '29.

Rev. Hengell Takes Hesperia to Task for Companionate Marriage Stand

Taking Hesperia Literary Society to task for its recent vote in favor of the legalization of companionate marriage, the Rev. H. C. Hengell of the St. Paul's university chapel Sunday termed it "Bad thinking to justify licentious living."

"A young man's debating society resolves that society shall legalize their experimenting with women. How many of them will really be willing to marry the women who have lived in companionate marriage for five or ten years or even for three weeks? Women who fall for that kind of stuff are crazy."

He termed a university sociologist "An educational mountebank". In reference to this view, he said: "As well argue that lying and stealing should be legalized because they are widely prevalent. The authority of an educational mountebank was invoked in defending birth control as a necessity to prevent over population."

During the course of his sermon, he went on to attack not only companionate marriage and birth control, but also divorce. Referring to divorce, he told his congregation: "The thief justifies theft on the grounds that

Astronomers and Oil-Burners See Eclipse of Moon

If "oil-burning" students were looking at the heavens between 1:24 a. m. and 4:39 a. m. this morning they saw a total eclipse of the moon which was described by Prof. Joel Stebbins as "one of the most favorable eclipses of the year."

The eclipse was the last one this year and those unaccustomed to star gazing was urged to use opera or field glasses to view the celestial phenomenon.

The university observatory was open to the public from 3 a. m. to 4:30 a. m., with Professor Stebbins in charge. Before this time the telescope was used by a class in astronomy.

his family needs the money. Divorce is common. Therefore cure the evil by legalizing companionate marriage." "Christ's words do not pass away. His words on marriage are as clear and definite as the teaching of the church on that subject:

"Every one that putteth away his wife and marrieth another committeth adultery; and he that marrieth her that is put away from her husband committeth adultery." —Luke XVI, 18.

"In the sixteenth century they demanded a 'new church,' in the eighteenth century 'a new Christ,' in the nineteenth century 'a new God,' and in our own century a 'new religion.'

"There is much talking about religion nowadays, but little walking in it. Men use religion as a shock absorber to their erring consciences. They live seriously and then construct a moral or religious doctrine to fit their living."

"Bad thinking, or logic is flattering-ly adjusted to bad living. Phoenix-like a religion. For example, sexual prostitution is made to look respectable by calling it companionate marriage. The most shameful evasion of responsibility in married life seeks justification as 'birth control.'

Board Will Meet Wednesday to Investigate Case

The names of four university students charged with scalping football tickets have been turned over to the athletic council by federal agents. The students' names were disclosed, pending investigation by the council.

Arrested Saturday

The arrests were made Saturday in an effort to stop the practice of selling football tickets for high prices which has been so prevalent here this fall.

It is understood that the four arrested were violators of the rule against scalping and are subject to the forfeiting of their rights to buy tickets at student rates as a minimum penalty.

Little Silent

George E. Little, director of athletics, would not comment on the affair further than to say that the athletic council will meet Wednesday to act on the case.

It is expected the case will be referred to the committee on student life and interests or the disciplinary committee.

Liberals Challenged in Labor Analysis by Prof. Pryre

"What are you going to do about it?" demanded Miss Margaret Pryre, economics professor, after presenting a diagnosis of the present disordered condition before the Liberal club in room 212, Bascom hall last night.

According to the professor, at present labor is an under-dog in the struggle waged with capital. A second industrial revolution is in progress. She stated with 87 per cent of the people owning 10 per cent of the wealth and 13 per cent of the people having 90 per cent of the wealth. Industry, she continued, takes the cream off national resources, producing more than ever before, and the minority of the population buys the product.

Miss Pryre said that the Kenosha strike situation is but a symptom of a general turmoil. Machinery has increased production and decreased the need for labor. The moving conveyor, the chief technical advance of capital has decreased the need for skilled labor.

When there are a dozen hungry men around the corner waiting to pounce on the union member's job, the striking unity of the union members is impaired.

Young Speaks on War Psychology

Social Professor to Talk at Athenaeum Meeting Tonight

"Any discussion of war must take into account both the habit of war in mankind and the fact of pugnacity and antagonism which exists in everybody and which becomes associated with the national group to which we belong. Any plans for the abolition of war which fail to take these factors into account will go on the rocks."

It was Prof. Kimball Young, of the social psychology department, summarizing the talk which he is to give at the meeting of the Athenaeum literary club tonight at 7:45 in 112 Bascom hall on the "Psychology of War."

"War is what the anthropologists call a culture pattern, closely associated with the nationalistic state and the present economic system. We have all been brought up in the doctrine of war and it is extremely difficult to change the fundamental views of people on the matter," said Young.

"One of the fundamental instincts of man is the tendency to throw off restraint which may be called pugnacity. Any attempts to restrain what we consider freedom of movement, leads to intense emotions of anger and the tendency to destroy that thus retards our movement."

Graduates Plan Teacher Sorority

Members Entertained at Dinner by Songs and Reading

The Graduate club met for its bi-weekly dinner in the Old Madison room of the Memorial Union Monday at 6:30 p.m. A social hour in the graduate room preceded the meeting.

Announcement of plans for forming a professional education sorority was made and all graduate women in education interested in the project will meet at a date to be announced during the week to consider organization.

Miss Katherine Keene read "In a Gondola" by Robert Browning, and Levi Dees of the School of Music gave a group of three songs. They were: "Shipmates O'Mine" by Sanderson; "The Hills of Home" by Oscar Fox, an American composer whose home is in Texas; and "Some Rival Has Stolen My True Love Away." Mr. Dees was accompanied by Harry Pollock.

The Graduate club dinner Monday, Dec. 9, will take the form of a Christmas party.

Announcement was made that information on graduate fellowships and scholarships, may be had and applications for them may now be made at the Graduate office.

The Graduate club dinner Monday, Dec. 9, will take the form of a Christmas party. The weekly bridge party will be held in the Graduate room of the Memorial Union Saturday night.

Wisconsin Entered in Livestock Show

Represented by 18 well known breeders, showing more than 300 head of carefully groomed livestock, Wisconsin will make a strong bid for some of the leading premiums of the International Livestock exposition, the 18th edition of which opens in Chicago Saturday. Officials at the College of Agriculture have been informed by E. H. Heide, secretary-manager of the exposition, that Wisconsin entries have been accepted in the Shorthorn and Hereford breeds of beef cattle, and in the sheep, swine, and horse divisions.

As Winter Comes Public Founts Go

Another sign of winter was noted here Monday with the removal of the public drinking fountains from prominent places in the city. The last fountain was removed Friday. The fountains are removed with the approach of freezing weather each fall. Because of the warm weather this fall the fountains around the capitol park were left standing later than usual.

CONDITIONS IN INDIA DUE TO ENGLAND—SHELVANKER

If the United States had been under the Republican administration for 100 years and at the end of that time found herself under the conditions of present India, to what would you attribute this condition: because they are Christians and go to church every Sunday, or is it due to the inefficient and untrustworthy government?

This was the question asked by Krishnaras S. Shenvankar of Madras, India, to those present at the Presbyterian Student Headquarters Sunday evening. "And yet," added Mr. Shenvankar who is a fellow in political science, "the existing conditions of India are described as the benefits of English rule!"

The basis of social structure in India was explained by Mr. Shenvankar. The three that form this are the Hindu family, the caste system, and the village life.

A solidarity exists in the Hindu family. Regularly, property is inherited by the children and their children's children, and family ties are very strong. The prevalent idea of child-marriage was attacked by Mr. Shenvankar in these words: "There is a mistaken notion on this subject. Child-marriage has been merely mistaken for early marriage. In India, two-thirds of the women are not even married at the age of 16, as years take place between ceremonial and effective marriage, unlike in most European countries where the interval between the two is mostly a matter of hours."

Originally there were four stratas in the caste system, but has evolved through the centuries into the complicated state of today. The main differences are that members of one caste do not eat with another, nor intermarry. Economic condition is not the standard of the caste system, he said, as often families of the highest caste, the Brahmins, are one of the poorest in the land.

Twenty-nine planes brought football fans to Madison Saturday for the Minnesota-Wisconsin football game.

Four planes landed at the Madison airport, two from Milwaukee, one from Minneapolis, and a tri-motored plane from Wisconsin Rapids.

Twenty-five ships landed at the Pennco airport, which seemed to be the haven of the Minnesota air contingent. The majority of the planes, which were cabin planes, were from Minnesota. Three of the planes went on through, depositing a cargo of passengers, and continuing to Chicago. One plane from Chicago made two trips.

Twelve planes stayed overnight, their passengers evidently desiring to take part in the Minnesota whoopee Saturday night. These planes left Sunday.

Sport Followers Turn Attention to Basketball Court

Fresh Will Play Varsity Dec. 3 in First Open Game

By WILLIAM AHLRICH

Now that the stage hands have packed away the scenes at Camp Randall, and the moleskins have been stowed away in camphor balls, sports followers are turning eagerly to basketball.

The varsity court team is getting all set for a game with the Fresh which will be played on Monday, Dec. 3 at 8 p. m. according to an announcement made by John P. Hume, Milwaukee, senior manager. "This will be the first public game of the year" said Hume, "and will afford the public an opportunity to gain a line on the workings of the team, inasmuch as to date all practice sessions have been closed."

Hank Kowalazyk, Ray Ellerman, Johnny Doyle, Elmer Tenhopen, Lynn Miller, Carl Mattusen, Eddie Amielewski, Bud Foster, Morris Ferber and John Schroeder along with the new candidates from the football team including Sam Behr, will play for the varsity.

Much interest has been aroused in this first contest as the freshman team this year is considered to be a strong peppy little aggregation. Among the outstanding players on the green team are, Doug Nelson brother of George Nelson, Harold Griswold, of St. Paul; Lester Zoelle, and Harold Dornfeld of the Watertown high school team that won the State title here last year; "Whitey" Jensen who was a member of the Lake Forest Academy that won the National title by defeating Manlius here, and Claude Maurer of Warsaw who was an outstanding player on his team which competed here in the state championship last year also.

An alumni team composed of George Hotchkiss, Louis Behr, Charlie Andrews, George Nelson, Rollie Barnum, and Lester Gage will play an exhibition game with the varsity on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 8.

City Hockey Clubs Win Two Games From University

By BERNICE HORTON

The Madison Field Hockey club won two games Saturday morning when its first team overwhelmed a Varsity team, 9-1, and its second team took a much closer contest from a second Varsity, 2-1.

The first Madison team showed some fine passing and all-around team work in its attack, while its defense was almost impenetrable. The Varsity put up a stiff defense within the striking circle, but Madison shot goal after goal. The one Varsity counter came in the second half when Lillian Wellner '29 managed to get free to shoot. The field was very slippery and tumbles of all sorts were numerous.

The Madison second team and the second Varsity fought an evenly-matched battle, the Madisonians winning by one goal. The lineups were:

HERE'S the DOPE

By HAROLD DUBINSKY

The king is dead. Long live the King. Football is a thing of the past. The tyrannical emperor met his perennial death last Saturday and now only the cold memory remains to give evidence of the pulsating thing that he was.

Retrospect. We can look at the season in retrospect, give credit to the coaches and players, and pick all-something-or-other teams.

Credit.

We lost the title. But defeat does not in the least detract from the credit due Glenn F. Thistlethwaite for pulling Wisconsin from the depths of football obscurity. He did wonders with the squad.

More Praise.

It is needless for us to praise the team. They have been praised. The reader knows just who deserves praise and who deserves criticism. Few deserve criticism. They all played splendidly. No team in the country could have gone through our schedule without a defeat.

Illinois.

It may be unsportsmanlike to say that Illinois does not deserve the title, but most everyone except the most rabid Illini fans will admit it. Illinois won over Indiana, Chicago, Northwestern, and Ohio State. Three of these teams are the weakest in the conference. Ohio State is tied for third place. Neither did the Illini have any difficult outside games.

Wisconsin.

Wisconsin had to meet Iowa, Minnesota, and Purdue, admittedly three of the strongest teams in the conference. Besides this Wisconsin had games with Notre Dame and Alabama, two very strong outside teams. Only once did we have what might be termed a set-up game and that with Cornell. The Chicago game was won easily but it took effort.

Other Teams.

All the other teams had easier schedules and less outside games. And we still maintain that if any Mid-Western football title is to be accorded, Wisconsin should have it.

Cross Country.

Another sport ended Saturday when Wisconsin's harriers were relegated to third place in the conference run. Indiana won, and Ohio State was a close second.

Wixon.

Wixon, the best of the Badger harriers, was unable to finish the race when he was seized with cramps in the fourth mile of the race. His loss had a bad effect on the well-balanced Wisconsin team. Without him, the other members of the team were unable to keep among the leaders, and as a result Vernon Goldsworthy, the first Wisconsin man to finish, was in 17th place.

Dilley.

Dilley, sophomore runner on the squad, deserves great praise for his work Saturday. He finished 18th behind Goldsworthy, and was the second Badger to finish. He should do great things next year.

Coach Jones.

Coach Jones was heartbroken Saturday after the race. He didn't say much, but it was quite obvious that he was quite disappointed. He had figured all season that the balance of the team would triumph in the Conference run. Coach Jones worked with an inexperienced and star-less team and what he did with them more than makes up for the loss of the title.

From Minnesota comes a story that eight Big Ten football coaches selected an all-conference team (before Saturday's Theta Chi won the Interfraternity touch football championship when they scored on the Theta Delta Chis with just 15 seconds to play. G. Secher, who drove all the way from Baraboo just to play in the game, arrived in time to be put into the game and score the winning points by catching a pass from Paul.

This dramatic ending added the finishing touches to a very colorful game that had already contained contained sparkling and unusual plays. Incidentally Theta Chi completed the season without having been scored upon.

Johnnie Paul, the Theta Chi punter, met his equal in Larson, his Theta Delta Chi opponent, who was in remarkable form Sunday. Bob DeHaven, Theta Chi center, was all over the field diagnosing plays as they started and getting his man time and time again behind the line of scrimmage.

Zinn, Mills and Larson formed one of the classiest backfields in the league but lacked the support from the linemen to make their efforts count.

Theta Xi defeated Alpha Chi Rho for third place in the final standing in the league, Theta Xi winning 6 to 0. Hanke, Theta Chi, scored the winning touchdown when he ran 60 yards after completing a pass. Black, Alpha Chi Rho, played a great game for his team throughout the game.

The line up: Theta Chi: Dahlman RE, DeHaven C, Por LE, Pautsch QB, Florez HB, Timm HB, Paul FB.

Theta Delta Chi: Van Natta RE, Judson C, Porter LE, Larson QB, Mills HB, Brondt FB.

The team selection was interesting, but they will probably reconsider that decision now that Nagurski won the game for Minnesota.

The medical school at the University of Indiana has received a bequest of 400 volumes to establish a new library. The bequest was made by a former professor in the School of Medicine.

LaFollette resorted to long passes in the last part of the game in a desperate attempt to score and in the last play after the whistle had blown Meiklejohn heaved a pass to Moore, who was waiting unobserved behind the LaFollette goal line, and completed the pass for a touchdown. Try for goal was not successful, and the score was Botkin 6, LaFollette 0.

The teams battled for nearly four periods, during which LaFollette flashed a smooth short passing game, which compelled Botkin to play a purely defensive, punting game during the contest.

LaFollette resorted to long passes

HERE! LOOK AT THIS

Lewis Burton, Universal Press correspondent in New York city, has this to say about Wisconsin's football record:

"The middle western situation is somewhat of a puzzle despite Illinois' victory in the Big Ten race and Nebraska's clinching of Big Six honors. The Illini have had one of the easiest schedules in the Big Ten. Ohio State, its 8 to 0 victim on Saturday, was the lone hard spot. Wisconsin, on the other hand, had Purdue, Iowa and Minnesota on its schedule but none of the powerful teams faced Illinois.

Were it not for a tie with Purdue earlier in the season, the Badgers would be joint holder of the Western conference championship. At any rate, they defeated Notre Dame and despite their defeat by Minnesota, which followed a Wisconsin fumble, they must be rated very near the top in their section.

LaFollette Wins Dormitory Title

Long Pass in Last Seconds

Snatches 7-6 Win
from Botkin

By ROBERT MEYER

A successful 35 yard pass in the last five seconds of play gave LaFollette a hard fought 7-6 victory over Botkin in the finals of the Dormitory touch football race.

Early in the first quarter, Boesel of LaFollette caught a punt, and to avoid a tackle, attempted a lateral pass to Meiklejohn, which Abramson of Botkin house knocked down behind the goal line, whereupon Meyer fell upon the ball for a touchdown. Try for goal was not successful, and the score was Botkin 6, LaFollette 0.

The teams battled for nearly four periods, during which LaFollette flashed a smooth short passing game, which compelled Botkin to play a purely defensive, punting game during the contest.

LaFollette resorted to long passes in the last part of the game in a desperate attempt to score and in the last play after the whistle had blown Meiklejohn heaved a pass to Moore, who was waiting unobserved behind the LaFollette goal line, and completed the pass for a touchdown. On the try for the extra point, Meiklejohn passed to Schaeffer, who downed the ball behind the line, making the final score, LaFollette 7, Botkin 6.

Lineups were:

country team this year. Bobby Ocock was awarded second place. Hank Stevens, last year's manager, received the egg.

The Turkey Day race is a truly old tradition. It was founded by Dr. Elsom in 1898. The original course of the race started from the gym, crossed the lower campus, went up State street around the square, up Wisconsin avenue, and down Langdon to the gym, a distance of about two miles. It was originally run on Thanksgiving, as the name denotes.

Now the biggest insect in the salve is the fact that the boys who win the birds are expected to turn them over to the committee for the harrier banquet, which is planned for Wednesday evening. Besides the generous donations made by the racers, Allen Burr, a former captain of cross country, turns in the peas for the meal, and Bernardo Elsom, another former captain, is expected to furnish his usual donation of cider.

The Billie Goldie trophy will be awarded at the banquet time to the best cross country runner of the year. Coach Tom Jones will make the selection.

Another feature of the banquet will be the selection of a cross country captain for next year. Only lettermen will ballot in the vote.

Fraternities Play Snappy Football in Varsity Games

Alpha Kappa Kappa, Pi
Kappa Tau and T.K.E.'s
Are Victors

The Interfraternity varsity football games opened Sunday morning at both the intermural and Camp Randall fields. Alpha Kappa Kappa, second place winner of last year, and Alpha Gamma Rho engaged in the first battle.

Alpha Kappa Kappa won handily from the Alpha Gamma Rho's 13-0 who were unequal to match the varsity plays of their opponents nor did they have the weight to carry their plays to completion.

Parish and Hurth stared for the winners and were responsible for both of the touchdowns that their team scored. Both scores were the result of steady marches down the field.

Pi Kappa Tau Wins

Pi Kappa Tau won a very exciting and close game 19-14 from the Theta Delta Chi team Monday afternoon in a game that ended by being played under the flood lights on Camp Randall and with the Ghost ball. In fact the Pi Kappa Tau's almost lost the game when they failed to score until the last period of play and were on the under side of a 14 to 0 score. However they rallied against the fast tireing Theta Delta Chi team and scored three touchdowns and one point after the touchdown.

Zeran scored two touchdowns for the winners and Musoff the third. Zinn, Theta Delta Chi, scored both of his team's touchdowns and Larson made good the extra points by running the ball over the goal line instead of trying to make a drop kick good.

The Law, Our Master

Commendable, the Federal Agents Work This Weekend

TWELVE federal enforcement agents, described by the district officer in charge as "specialists in the enforcement of ticket scalping laws and the most experienced men in the state" proved their unquestioned worth over the past week-end by obtaining enough evidence to arraign one violator and supplying the United States attorney with enough evidence to think about taking action on eight others.

Such effective enforcement of this vital law is of the highest merit and worthy, indeed, of our warmest commendation. Certainly if there were, as estimated, 2000 tickets scalped and some 300 men engaged in the practice the arrest of one man is notable.

The Daily Cardinal's sincerest congratulations go to those who are responsible for this monumental example of federal enforcement. We receive with joy the glad tidings that one man is safe in the clutches of the law. Perhaps there may be another. But we dare not allow ourselves to think about the remote possibility of more than one offender. What joy! What bliss! How brave these officers of the law!

Movie scenarios by the score have been written to show the worthy arm of the law in the line of enforcement, but what could be merrier than the sight of these badged officers sleuthing their way about State street and the square?

But our chagrin at the failure of the federal agents may be perhaps justified by the fact that never before have offenders of this sort been so flagrant, so obvious and so malicious.

It did not take a "specialist in the enforcement of ticket scalping laws" to see violations. Reporters on The Daily Cardinal would have had no difficulty in obtaining the choicest seats at any time on the open market. There was hardly a student who did not know just where to buy seats for Saturday's game. Any bell hop or soda clerk in the city could have told strangers prices and locations of seats for the game.

Federal agents were in full possession of the facts. They knew that large blocks of good seats were being openly sold; that professional scalpers were active; that the lobbies of the local hotels were filled all day Friday and Saturday morning with those who had tickets to sell; that Morgan's was jammed with scalpers; and the officers the week-end by one arraignment of ONE man in 300.

The Daily Cardinal was faced last week with the problem of exposing scalpers and driving them to cover, or being silent and trusting to the federal attorneys and the Internal Revenue agents. We freely admit our misplaced confidence in the law and in its enforcement officers. We have learned a valuable lesson. We hope that the public also has.

Our Fight Your Fight

Thinking Parents Do Not Sniff at Their Children's Heels

Note: The following editorial, written by Eugene S. Duffield and addressed to fathers of university student, was published in the 600 special editions of The Daily Cardinal issued at the annual Father-Faculty banquet Saturday night. Numerous requests from readers of the special edition, that we reprint the editorial for general circulation, have resulted in our decision to publish it again in The Daily Cardinal today. It should be understood that the article is addressed to, and is an appeal to parents for help.

—CHIEF EDITORIAL WRITER.

Thinking parents are commencing to hesitate about sending their children to Madison on account of statements like the enclosed clipping."

This is the concluding sentence of a letter which we have lying on the editor's desk in The Daily Cardinal office. The statements to which the writer refers declared that Wisconsin students, men and women, drink.

These statements, rather baldly phrased, were published in a communication to the Milwaukee Journal, and an alumnus, swelling with indignation and righteousness, demanded that the university defend itself against alusions which he suspected were untrue and very damaging.

It happens that the statements are not untrue. Some students do drink. Perhaps you have seen evidence of drinking yourself, and if you have your sons' and daughters' confidence, they will not have hesitated to give you a pretty straight slant on the question.

How many students drink? Nobody really knows, and please don't believe the Chicago Tribune, the Wisconsin News, or most other metropolitan papers when they expend several quarts of ink on a lurid and alcoholic picture of college men and women. It's distorted, unfair, and all out of proportion.

Perhaps five per cent of the students indulge in a "shot" with more or less regularity; perhaps more, perhaps less. At any rate, you certainly will find no more drunkards in a college community than you will find in the average office or club back home.

So much for the truth of the statements. Now are they damaging to the university?

Yes, we suppose they are. But it makes our blood boil to have to admit it, and when the righteous gentleman pulls out that old bromide, "thinking parents are commencing to hesitate about sending their children to Madison," . . . well, it's too much.

Thinking parents are frightened by a faint aroma of alcohol! Applesauce. Thinking parents raise their children so they can trust them away from their apron-strings.

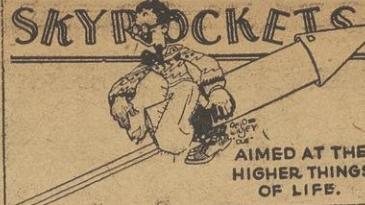

When the average student comes to college, he is nothing more or less than his parents' handiwork. You have had the molding of his character during the 18 most plastic years of his life. Yours is the duty to set his feet firmly on those fundamental precepts, which will remain steady under him throughout the stress of life. If your son slips, isn't largely because you have slipped somewhere? Isn't he your own faults and virtues incarnate?

A university doesn't make a man's flaws; it merely discovers them. College is his first excursion into life, and if he can't stand the gaff there, he certainly wouldn't be able to stand it in a factory or on a section gang. The sons of thinking parents don't need to be protected from situations; they set their jaws and see them through.

Most of us don't like the disgusting aspects of college life any better than you do. But what can we do about it? Nothing. No machinery the dean of men could set up, no edict the president could issue, no series of editorials in the student newspaper can change measurably what you have wrought in the two decades of a student's pre-college life. Our hands are weak and ludicrously impotent beside yours. Won't you help us a little?

The future of this university and every other one in the country is in the hands of fathers like you. No college can be much better or much worse than the students with whom it must work, and no one has a more vital part in determining what sort of students come to universities than the parents of those students. Yours is the duty to awaken in them that intellectual curiosity which is indispensable to true culture, yours is the forming of future generations.

Work with your sons and daughters, show them the springs of truth, and then when you send them off to college don't worry about them; trust them. Stand fast behind them and behind their university. Don't be the type of "thinking" parent who sniffs suspiciously at the heels of his own children. We are nothing more or less than you have made us. Our triumphs are your triumphs. Have faith in us.

By WEE WILLIE WINKLE

It seems that Wisconsin played Minnesota Saturday. We're not going to yell about it. The Badgers were scrapping all the time, and that's all we can ask. The school would be a much better satisfied institution if Wisconsin had won; there would be a great deal more satisfaction if these cynical devils who can't see any value in election to Phi Beta Kappa, etc. could develop the same feeling about athletics, and especially Big Ten championships.

We like to see Wisconsin win as well as the rest of you, but unless she plays every one of the nine other teams, we don't feel that she is entitled to be called champion. Illinois "won" the big fray this year, but Wisconsin was one single solitary team behind them as far as winning and losing was concerned. AND WISCONSIN PLAYED A MUCH TOUGHER SCHEDULE THAN ILLINOIS.

We maintain that Illinois cannot justly say that they are a better team than we until they have played and beat us, and we insist that they could never in this world do it.

We don't know for sure if we are justified in attacking the police or not; he was so perfect that we are not sure whether he was corned or not, but let us state the facts for those of you who did not witness the episode. When the teams left the field at the end of the first half, an elderly lad took to the track below section H. He was leading a blanket, and appeared to be under the weather a bit. After leading a few cheers and yells and songs, the matter which deserves comment was brought to us.

He began to play around with a policeman who seemed to enjoy the farce very much, despite the fact that dear old Frankie Trostle said, mainly for publicity we suspect, that he would have his boys on the lookout and ready to make arrests if such a thing occurred. After a long session of joyous sport, our hero became thirsty, pulled a bottle out of his pocket and proceeded to enjoy himself thoroughly.

Having drowned his sorrows, he approached the place where several of the fair city's super-efficient police were resting comfortably in the hay, and began to threaten one, behind his back, with the empty bottle, and we certainly did pray that the blow would be a good one. But, alas, his little playmate approached, made brave by the presence of at least ten of his fellows, and, more power to him, took the bottle away—think of it, actually took it away from the stew, and threw it away and taking all his courage into his hands, risking untold misfortune, made the drinking fool sit down.

If those are worthy of the name "police," we are sixteen different kinds of poisonous mushrooms perched on the rear of a stone-boat sewing red and blue buttons on yellow ducklings.

It seems that there was a fellow scalping tickets, and after a long and diligent search, he was caught and put in jail. Lord knows, if we had had the dough and the ambition, we could have bought two-thirds of the seats in the stadium, one seat from each scalper.

Knute, the most valuable of the Llama Chi's possession—they paid $3 for him—got a write up in the Sunday Magazine of the Milwaukee Journal. The picture, if you look for it, shows the dog on the right. Yes; all the Llama Chi's like the one of the left.

WRITER CONTENDS THAT TURKEY HAS CHANGED IN PAST YEARS

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

An article in the Nov. 25 issue of The Daily Cardinal signed by Mr. L. H. Dadian contains some statements in regard to Mme. Halide Edib's lecture, which I would like to correct.

I have just come from Turkey, in fact left it in Aug. 22 of this year, and I can say that the writer of the article has very hazy ideas about Turkey and Islam in general. No one doubts the contribution that Islamic civilization made to Mathematics, Architecture and the Ceramic and Weaving arts. One has only to see the splendid public buildings in Constantinople, built after the city became Turkish to attest to the fact.

It is very easy for most people to view only one side of any question, but as the saying goes, there are always two sides. The article states that the Turk has not changed in 500 years. Even stone changes in 500 years. I have been in Turkey for nearly 20 years and I have seen many changes with my own eyes.

Twenty years ago no Turkish woman would appear on the streets without a veil or accompanied by men other than her nearest relatives. Today veils cannot be seen even in a long day's search, and Turkish girls go out not only with any Turkish boys, but also with Christians, and vice versa.

The recent change, in which, with one bold stroke, they cast away the Arabic characters which they had used for nearly 10 centuries, and adopted an adaption of the Latin alphabet, shows that they will perform the most radical changes to adapt themselves to 20th century methods and ideals.

MR. DJEMIL DENIES TRYING TO FOOL MR. DADIAN

Editor, The Daily Cardinal:

In reply to Mr. L. H. Dadian's article published in The Daily Cardinal on Nov. 25 and addressed indirectly to me, I have to say the following:

Bombastic articles, like Mr. Dadian's will find no answer from me in the pages of a university paper like The Daily Cardinal.

I can not help, however, to call the attention of the readers to the following lines appearing in Mr. Dadian's article:

"As far as art and culture is concerned Islam has contributed nothing. . . . We know the Turk for over 500 hundred years and he has not changed a bit."

I leave it to the readers to form their own opinion about Mr. Dadian's article, which is full of ingenious statements, like the one's I have quoted, and which are no doubt discovered by the illustrious author as a result of extensive research and far insight.

I can assure Mr. Dadian that I did not try to fool him, for I think that was hardly necessary.

RAINBOW 'ROUND MY SHOULDER, By Howard W. Odum. The Boobs-Merrill Co. $2.00.

"The Blue Trail of Black Ulysses" is the subtitle of this book, the most important, I believe, ever written about negro life. Nobody who is interested in the Aframerican considered either as human being or sociological phenomenon, will overlook Dr. Odum's fine work.

It is not a novel, and has no plot, so people expecting to find another "Black April" are likely to be disappointed. This is a rambling story, told in the hero's own words, and interspersed with bits of earthy songs, about a nigger bum and his adventures among outlaw boys, yaller gals, high-browns and white men.

He has been in thirty-eight states, working at as many trades. He roams about the country from

Millar and Klein Attend Meeting

Goodnight Elected to National Committee of Phi Eta Sigma

Milton Klein, president of the Wisconsin chapter of Phi Eta Sigma, and Dean A. V. Millar of the College of Engineering attended the first annual convention of the freshman honorary society, held at Champaign, Ill., on Friday, Nov. 23. Dean Scoot H. Goodnight, faculty advisor of Phi Eta Sigma, was unable to attend the meeting, but was elected a member of the executive committee.

Each of the seven chapters of the fraternity sent two delegates to the convention, which met Friday morning at the Alpha Tau Omega house and in the afternoon in Bradley hall. Dean Thomas Arkle Clark was re-elected national president of Phi Eta Sigma.

Mr. Klein gave a short talk before the meeting, giving the history of the Wisconsin chapter since its organization in the spring of 1927. Wisconsin was the fifth of the seven chapters to organize and has, at present, 110 members. Mr. Klein was placed on two committees, viz., the committee on resolutions and the standing committee to rewrite the ritual.

The society granted charters to two universities, De Pauw and George Washington, which will organize chapters. The Universities of Southern California, Arizona, and Oregon are also expected to organize chapters in the near future.

Oriental Men Take Family to Jail With Them

"The Orient, which we think of as traditional, is free to try new prison experiments, adopting the initiative, while we sit back custom-bound giving freely of our ideas," said Prof. John L. Gillin in a talk on "Penal Institutions to the members of the Arden club, Sunday night.

"There has never been a successful escape from their prison colonies which have no guards. Each man's family is allowed with him."

Although this method of penal reform works to advantage there it would hardly be adaptable in our country for the simple reason that the temperament of the people is different Prof. Gillin stated.

Enroll 146 for Ag Short Session

Class Shows Increase of 10 Over Average of Previous Years

Total enrollment in the 44th session of the short course in agriculture, which recently opened at the University of Wisconsin numbers 146. This year's class represents an increase of 10 over the average enrollment of the past five years, report officials at the College of Agriculture.

Fifty Wisconsin counties, five outside states, and one foreign country are represented in the course. Richland county leads in number of students, with 12 registered. Dane is second with 11 entrants. Shawano and Grant counties have each sent six students, and Buffalo and Polk are represented by five.

Three students are registered from Illinois, and one each from Iowa, Kentucky, Minnesota, and Ohio.

Two members of the class are from Germany. Both are graduates of an agricultural college of that country, and have been sent to America for a two-year period by a student cooperative association in order to make a study of farming methods in the United States. They are taking the special course in cow testing, and after completing the work they plan to supervise a testing association in which they will come in contact with nearly 30 farmers every month.

How Gold Prospector Went Scotch

Minneapolis, Minn.
April 30, 1928

Larus & Bro. Co.
Richmond, Va.
Dear Sirs:

Two years ago last winter I went into the Red Lake gold fields in Canada. It was a tough trail from Hudson, over 140 miles of snow and ice. There were fourteen of us on the trail going in, and frequently at night when seated around a big camp fire, some one would ask me for a pipeful of Edgeworth. These Canadian boys sure like our Edgeworth.

In four weeks' time I ran out of Edgeworth. I was glad to get 'most any old tobacco.

One day, however, I dropped in to Dad Brown's tent, a 72-year-old prospector, and seeing a can of Edgeworth on an improvised table, back there 150 miles from the "steel," I perked up at once, saying, "Dad, I'm plum out of tobacco—how's chances for a pipeful?" "Help yourself," he said. So pulling my heavy duty pipe from my pocket, I loaded it with Edgeworth, packing it in so tightly that I couldn't get the least bit of a draw.

I excused myself for a moment, and stepped outside to remove about three pipefuls to put in my pouch. Dad stepped out, saying, "You're worse than any Scotzman I ever saw." Then I confessed. I told him what happened to my Edgeworth—that I was just dying for a smoke, and he understood right away. He said, "Boy, Edgeworth is mighty scarce in these parts, but I reckon I can spare what's left of that can. Help yourself."

You can just bet your last nickel that I guarded this Edgeworth with extreme care until I got back to the "steel."

Yours very truly,
C. M. Bahr

The Daily Cardinal

November 20, 1927, 19,213

November 20, 1928, 22,452

¶ This great increased advertising lineage is another proof that Cardinal advertising pays, for it shows that those merchants who have previously used the Cardinal have found it profitable to do so and have increased their advertising appropriations for this year.

¶ Students consciously buy from those merchants who advertise in the Cardinal, because they look upon the paper as one of their own institutions, and are favorable toward those stores which help support it. It is only natural, too, that when a store regularly puts its name before the student body that when the students want to buy anything in that particular line, they will immediately think of that store with which they are familiar through this contact.

Scandal Charges Stir 'Bama School

Students Testify on Alleged Gaming, Drink, Mock Wedding

Howard college, one of the principal Baptist schools of the South in Birmingham, Alabama, is in an uproar over the appointment of a special committee by the board of trustees to review charges preferred by 21 students. The students charge improper conduct on the campus.

Among the charges was an allegation that a member of the faculty had asserted that "if all Bibles in the world were piled up and burned the world would be better off within 100 years". The complainants alleged that Dr. John C. Dawson, president, had failed to give a sympathetic hearing when this and other charges were made to him.

After being assured immunity, the complaining group testified on three other charges. They declared that students, during a recent fraternity rush, staged a mock "military wedding" on the campus, that gambling and drinking had occurred, and that fraternities had permitted dancing in their houses, contrary to school regulations.

The complaints have been placed before the Alabama convention of the State Baptist association at Dothan, Alabama, by students. The board of trustees was then directed to appoint a special committee which was empowered to make the investigation.

Badger Attends Y.M.C.A. Session

Plans for the annual student conference at Lake Geneva, Wis., which is to be held early in June, will be drafted today in Chicago, where the Geneva committee of the Regional Field council of the Student Y. M. C. A. is meeting. William P. Steven, '30, is the University of Wisconsin representative on this committee.

It is said that German college fraternities never pledge a man until they have seen him drunk. They believe that the true nature of a man is revealed when he is under the influence of liquor.

Murads Fail; Lads Lose Nonchalance as Blunder Teaches Local Geography

Hampton Randolph, managing editor of this sheet, and Gen Florez, were bound for the Delta Chi house in search of Bill Grube.

Gen stopped the car in front of what they both took to be the Delta Chi house, and opening the unlocked door, they walked up to the second floor where Grube's room was supposed to be located. A maid saw them go up, but took for granted that they were expected visitors.

"Grube! Hey Bill . . ." they shouted. Silence greeted their calls.

Going from room to room, they admired the old fashioned furniture of all the rooms, the presence of ever so many bathrooms, and the exquisitely chosen silver toilette sets which rested on the carved oak dressers. Heavy, expensive looking rugs shuffled their footsteps as they continued their exploration tour-about the house.

"The Delta Chi's sure went in for expensive furnishings", commented Hamp.

"Yes sir—not a bad place at all", replied Gen.

"The alumni must have crashed through at last".

Again they called for Grube.

"Not a soul in the house. Odd, isn't it?"—they thought.

They walked downstairs to see if anyone could be located on the first floor. A boy met them on the staircase.

"Who're you looking for?" he asked. The visitors told him.

"Oh, he must be in the Delta Chi house," he answered laughingly, "that's the place next door. This is the governor's house you're in."

And both Hamp and Gen continued their search for Grube minus a great deal of their collegiate nonchalance.

Band to Give Fall Concert on Dec. 9

Orchestra Will Present Public Program the Following Sunday

Dates for the fall concerts of the U. of W. Orchestra and Concert band were announced this morning by Major E. W. Murphy, conductor of both organizations. The Concert band will play its first fall concert in eight years Sunday, Dec. 9, at 3 p. m., in the University armory. The Orchestra will give its usual fall concert the following Sunday afternoon, Dec. 16.

Preceding its Madison appearance, the Concert band will play at Lancaster next Sunday afternoon, Dec. 2, the second concert this year in that city, under the auspices of the local American Legion post and the Kiwanis club.

This is the first time in eight years the Concert band is to play in public before the second semester at the university. The annual spring concert given in March by this group has been popular in Madison for many years, and an additional concert will be welcomed by music lovers.

Two large overtures will feature the concert, the "Fingal's Cave," overture by Mendelssohn, and the "Sakuntala," overture by Goldmark. The orchestra will play as its main number the four movements from the entire Sixth Symphony, "Pathétique," by Tchaikovsky. The programs to be presented by each group will be announced later.

The full instrumentation in the Orchestra has been achieved again this year, according to Major Murphy, and a complete interpretation of the famous Sixth Symphony is thus made possible.

Sarg's Puppets to Appear Here

Present "Adventures of Christopher Columbus" on December 7

The world's smallest company of a actors will be in Madison Dec. 7 to portray "The Adventures of Christopher Columbus" on the stage of Central high school. The tiny actors are none other than the vastly popular company of marionettes operated by Tony Sarg.

In presenting his annual puppet show here, Mr. Sarg is bringing to Madison one of the favorite entertainments of people, young and old, over the entire country. "Puppeteering," as the art is called, has gained unusual popularity in the past 10 or 12 years, and there are now 15 such companies in the United States. Mr. Sarg's marionettes are the original and most complete of the puppet shows in this country.

Traveling with the band of little wooden actors, the eight "puppeteers," men and women who operate the dolls and speak for them. To do this, the operators must be highly skilled, since it requires a great deal of technique to make the dolls conduct themselves gracefully and in a lifelike manner. The puppeteers are often actors themselves, being especially fitted to speak for the mannequins who do the acting.

The play this year is to consist of eight scenes and three tableaux depicting Columbus' life from his first visits to the European courts, through his arrival in America, to his death. The company of puppets will appear in gorgeous costumes of the period, and will number many more than usual.

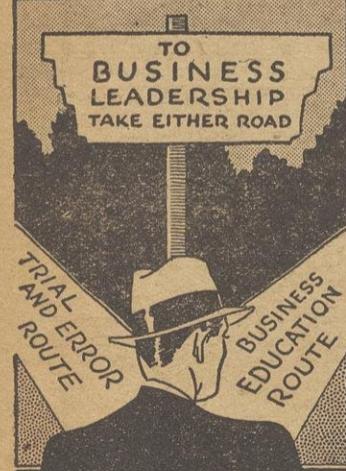

The Community Progress club is sponsoring the appearance of the marionettes.

FOREIGNERS JOIN FOREST PRODUCTS STAFF

The ranks of the foreign scientists working on American wood utilization problems at the U. S. Forest Products laboratory here were augmented recently with the arrival of five men sent by government and private agencies in Australia, Finland, Poland, and Sweden.

H. B. Somerset, Melbourne, Australia, will work as a member of the pulp and paper staff of the Forest Products Laboratory for a period of one year before returning to Australia to take a position in a paper mill operating on eucalyptus.

C. Ellis, forest economist to the Queensland Forest Service, Brisbane, Australia, will make his headquarters at the laboratory for the next 12 to 18 months. time at the laboratory studying the manufacture of plywood.

Dr. J. Wiertelak, assistant in the Institute of Chemistry, University of Poznan, Poland, is beginning a year of study at the Forest Products Laboratory on a scholarship of the Polish Ministry of Education. Dr. Wiertelak's studies will be principally on the chemistry of wood.

Carl Gustaf Strokirk, Harnosand, Sweden, is at the laboratory on a grant from the University of Commerce, Stockholm. Mr. Strokirk will remain at the Madison laboratory until May studying the manufacture of plywood and other wood utilization problems. During the summer of 1929 he will obtain employment in American woodworking plants to observe American methods. He will return to the laboratory next fall.

At the Orph one sees a good vaude bill headed by Lottie Mayer and her Hippodrome water ballet.

The real headliner is not the tank show. It is a combination of the other four acts, all of which are great. The show opens with a couple of boys playing banjos and singing comic songs. They pleased the large crowd Sunday . . . and should continue to do so.

Aileen Cook, in second spot, started to a cold house but when she went into her pantomime song recital the applause started and worked to an encore.

Her songs are original and her style reminiscent of Gertrude Lawrence. She is really pretty good.

The truckdriver and his sweetie meet in the alley because her father won't let the truckdriver into the house.

A Clubman and his beautiful baby meet on the avenue because her father won't let a Harvard man into the house.

Well, you get the idea. It is clean and funny . . . and a good act. The lines are identical on each side of the wall except in diction . . . this brings laughs.

Roy Rogers is a different kind of drunk comic. He doesn't "hic" or dance to the tune of "Three O'clock in the Morning." Instead he takes comedy falls and does eccentric steps.

Test College Will Present Greek Comedy in the Stock Pavilion

The third venture of the Experimental College players into ancient Greek drama will take definite form on Friday, Nov. 30, at 8:15 p. m. in the stock pavilion with the presentation of the "Lysistrata" of Aristophanes.

The play will also be given on the following night, Saturday, Dec. 1. Admission is 75 cents. Tickets are available at the various bookstores and the Memorial Union information desk.

The title role will be played by Brinckerhoff Jackson, a freshman in the Experimental college. Other important parts will be taken by Herman Diedrich, Ernest Strub, Walter Bonime, Frank Fernback, Cuthbert Francis and Arnold Riesky.

As in the case of "Electra" and the "Clouds," there will be an orchestra led by Robert Heyda, an Experimental college sophomore.

"There will be a very subtle blending of modern music with the spirit of Greek satire in this play," Heyda said concerning the type of music which will be used.

The settings for "Lysistrata" are of the type known as "constructivist." That is, no effort is made to conceal the mechanics of the scenery. It is there for purely utilitarian purposes to aid in the portrayal of the necessary action in the play.

"Lysistrata" will be produced under the direction of Victor Wolfson.

The above scene is from the Experimental College Players' production of the "Clouds" of Aristophanes in the stock pavilion last year. Another of Aristophanes' famous farces, the "Lysistrata," will be produced in the stock pavilion on Friday and Saturday, Nov. 30 and Dec. 1. The characters in the above view, from left to right, are: Phiedippides, Pasias, Socrates and Strepsiades." The "Lysistrata" will see an unusual adaptation of the pavilion for the purpose of presenting Greek drama. Admission is seventy-five cents.
