MAITLAND LANDS IN HAWAII AFTER 2,400 MILE TRIP

Army Flyers Complete Jump to Honolulu; Byrd Reports
by Wireless

Still another chapter has been written in the history of trans-oceanic flying. And one more episode is in the writing.

The army fliers, Lieuts. Lester J. Maitland and Albert Hegenberger, completed their 2,400 jump from San Francisco to Honolulu at 6:29 yesterday morning after flying for 25 hours and 43 minutes. During the course of their trip they had been seen only once—by the steamer Honoma 750 miles off the coast of California.

Byrd Reports

Reports from Com. Richard Byrd who with his three man crew took off at dawn yesterday on his long delayed scientific air expedition to France, show him well on his way. At 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon he was 380 miles from New York and wireless messages were received from him as his flight progressed.

Maitland and Hegenberger by their successful flight, supplemented the pioneer work begun Aug. 31, 1925, by their brothers of the navy. On that date three giant planes of the navy made the first attempt to cross the Pacific from San Francisco bay to Hawaii. One plane failed to rise, another fell into the sea 300 miles off shore and the third, containing the heroic Com. John Rodgers and three other men, came down 300 miles short of their destination. For nine days they drifted with their seaplane and were picked up when hope had been almost abandoned.

DEAM DESCRIBES WORK OF JOLIET

Lecturer Explains Success and Organization of Large
High School

The great recent development of the Joliet township High School and Junior College is largely due to the untiring efforts of Dr. L. W. Smith, Prof. T. M. Deam stated in his lecture yesterday on "A Large City High School at Work." It was Dr. Smith's vision that made possible the organization of the large vocational school, the continuation school, and the very large night school.

The entire building cost more than two and one half million dollars. There are four sections, the first was erected in 1900; the second the junior college, was completed in 1916-1917; the third, the shops, with adequate equipment was built in 1922-1923; and the last section which is the high school auditorium and gymnasium was finished in 1925-1926.

The gymnasium is one of the best in the state of Illinois. Its balcony seats 1200, the main floor has a seating capacity of 700, and 900 people can stand very comfortably on the running track. The tennis courts are used in the fall and spring for gymnastics, and as a general playground for the girls of the school. The concrete floor of this playground not only makes a good playing field for the girls during favorable weather but it also is used by the R. O. T. C. boys for drilling ground in winter. Parts of this ground are used for skating rinks, also. There is no large stadium on the athletic field, but there are bleachers seating 4,000 on both sides. Around the field is a quarter mile track where spring athletics are carried on. The girls of the school have an athletic association. Mural meets are held annually.

31 Paintings Now on Exhibition in Bascom Art Room

Cool quiet seems almost out of reach in these days of perspiring bustle, but the delightful collection of paintings in the art exhibit room, 175 Bascom hall, offers a panacea for the most oppressed mind.

This month's exhibit is a collection of 31 paintings, gathered almost exclusively from the French school. It shows the development of French painting from De la Croix, who painted about 1830 to such contemporaries as Matisse and Derain, from the pre-impressionists through the impressionists Manet, Monet, and Renoir, up to the expressionistic school of Cezanne and Van Gogh. The landscapes of Renoir and Matisse are especially delicate, and "Third Class," a train impression of Daumier is delightfully realistic.

This exhibit will hang until about July 20th when another collection will be arranged. Exhibit hours are 8:30 to 12 o'clock on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

TROUTMAN ISSUES CALL FOR ACTORS

Tryouts at 4 O'Clock Today for Parts in Coming Three Productions

The Wisconsin Players, whose initial summer production "The Truth About Blayds" is being presented tonight and tomorrow evening at the Bascom theatre, have several interesting parts in future plays to offer to summer school students. Prof. W. C. Troutman announced yesterday that try-outs for these parts would take place today at 4 o'clock in the Bascom theatre.

In "Dulcy," to be presented July 14 and 15—Blair Patterson—a short but good part representing a man of 50 or 55.

In "Outward Bound," to be presented July 21 and 22—Mrs. Cliveden-Banks—a society woman, female lead, very comical, carries the play; Mrs. Midge—old woman of the arcy Carr type; Rev. Mr. Duke—a good emotional part.

In "Captain Applejack," to be presented July 28 and 29—Anna Valaska—leading woman, vamp, has French accent; Mrs. Pengard—lady crook; Johnny Jason—juvenile; a butler; 10 to 15 pirates.

French House Open for Summer School; Begin Activities

The French House opened for the Summer Session last Monday with Madame Fayard as chaperone. Mademoiselle Blein and Mademoiselle Palisse also preside at the tables and assist in directing the conversation.

The first meeting of the members of the house was held Monday night when the following officers were elected: Constance Hampl '27 president; Erma Schmidt secretary and treasurer; and Gertrude Mildren social chairman.

Beside its various activities the House will receive the French Club, at its first meeting at 7:30 tonight.

CANOE DOT MENDOTA; C. E. BROWN PREPARES BOOKLET OF LEGENDS

Now that cool winds blow only over the lakes, registration at the boathouse is almost as crowded as in required courses on the hill. From 1500 to 1800 people daily use the canoes of the university boathouse, according to Robert Erickson, manager, besides the host of private canoes, sail-boats and launches.

Of the four lakes that surround Madison, Lake Mendota is the most treacherous, Erickson stated. "The

HISTORIC MOVIES SHOWN, TO OFFER FURTHER REELS

Pictures Produced by Yale Press Prove Accurate and Interesting

The first two episodes of a series of "Chronicles of America" photoplays to be given this summer were presented last evening at 7 and 9 o'clock at Music hall. "Columbus" and "The Gateway to the West" were the features shown.

"Columbus" a four reel film, showed in graphic, accurate manner the interesting career of the discoverer of America from 1485 to 1492. The discouragements, persistent efforts, and ultimate triumph of the "mad Italian" in his eventual landing upon Watling Island gave to the production a firm dramatic structure seldom found in non-theatrical movies.

Produced by Yale Press "The Gateway to the West," proved equally successful in combining educational and entertainment values. The theme of the picture was the rivalry of England and France in the Ohio valley around 1753. The production also presented a fine picture of the life of Old Virginia, and the early activities of George Washington.

The Chronicles of America Photoplays were produced under the direction of the Yale University Press, and are perhaps the most significant contribution yet made to the field of visual education. The object in producing these films was twofold, to introduce a helpful feature to the teacher of American history and to enlighten and entertain citizens of the country not directly connected with education.

Introduce Pictures Elsewhere An attempt is being made to introduce these films in Wisconsin schools as a special feature with American history. Many Wisconsin schools have already decided to take the course, and the outlook for many subscriptions is encouraging. Cooperation of the country is large with Yale in showing these pictures will lead to other large scale endeavors of this nature, it has been announced.

The schedule for future showings of the Chronicles follows: July 6, "Jamestown" and "Wolfe and Montcalm;" July 13, "The Pilgrims" and "The Eve of the Revolution;" July 20, "The Puritans," "The Declaration of Independence," and "Yorktown;" July 27 "Peter Stuyvesant," "Vincennes," and "Daniel Boone;" August 3, "The Frontier Woman," "Alexander Hamilton," and "Dixie."

W. A. A. SPONSORS FIRST SUMMER HOP

All-University Dance Will be Held Tomorrow Night; in Nature of Get-together

An annual opening summer school dance will be held at Lathrop hall tomorrow night, according to an announcement by Sylvia Meyer '29, president of the Women's Athletic Association, which is sponsoring the affair. The dance which is held each year for the purpose of giving summer student an opportunity to get acquainted, has been very popular at the university in the past.

The entire women's gymnasium will be given over to the dance, which will start at 8:30 o'clock and continue until 11. Cece Brodt's orchestra will play. An admission of fifty cents will be charged all students who attend, co-eds not excluded, it was announced. It will be open to all summer school students. Sylvia Meyer is chairman of the committee composed of Alice Nauts, Charlotte Anderson and Winifred Smith.

Chaperons will be Coach and Mrs. George Little, Prof. and Mrs. J. T. Rood, Miss Corilla Broadnax, Mrs. C. B. Flett, Miss Reid, Barnard hall hostess, Miss Sara Norris, Chadbourne hall hostess, and Miss Blanche Trilling.

Episcopalians to Attend Party at St. Francis House

At 8 o'clock this evening, there will be a party for Episcopalian students and their friends at St. Francis' house, 1015 University avenue.

The usual Sunday night cost supper at 6 o'clock followed by a brief instruction and discussion and daily service at 7 and 8:15 o'clock on Sundays will be maintained. This week Bishop Darst from South Carolina, who is here for the rural clergy conference, will lead the discussion.

Dr. Frank Gavin, professor of ecclesiastical history at the General Theological seminary, New York, is the acting student chaplain at St. Francis' house for the summer.

PLEBES PULL TO VICTORY IN FIRST REGATTA CONTEST

Wisconsin Freshman Eight
Trails All the Way; Finishes Last

A crack plebe crew from United States Naval Academy, coming in the freshman two mile race for the first time in the history of the regatta at Poughkeepsie, swept over the finish line yesterday, by a length and a quarter its nearest rival, Syracuse.

The Wisconsin eight, though seconds behind the Navy crew, finished a poor last, being the lengths behind the sixth boat. The race started with the Navy Syracuse fighting for the lead position, the battle continuing until mile mark when the middy dispirited with such force as to open water between it and threatening Syracuse eight.

Columbia Third

The order of the shells at finish was, Navy first, Syracuse second, Columbia third, Cornell fourth, California fifth, Pennsylvania sixth and Wisconsin seventh.

The freshman crews lined up the gun and were off with the but were called back. It appeared from the shore that a Navy had pulled his slide before the start. They turned about and rowed slowly back to try it again.

Syracuse Takes Lead

This time they lined up at stake boats and got away with gun, Syracuse leading with Navy right behind. At the mile mark the Navy was still in same position, but at the mile mark the order was reversed and Navy was ahead and maintained lead from then on. Wisconsin off to a bad start and was unable to do better than last place in the procession down the river.

The Navy started using a stroke at the start, but in the showed its true class, and stood it in good stead. The battle then turned into a fight between Syracuse and Columbia.

PROFESSOR READS WORKS OF GOETHE

B. Q. Morgan Presents A
Translations of Famous German's Writings

Yesterday afternoon Prof. B. Q. Morgan of the German department read to an appreciative audience several of his own translations from Goethe into English poetry.

Due to the fact that Goethe's very difficult to render into English these translations were delightful and accurately done. Prof. Morgan's translations included love poems, ballads, epigrams and scenes from Faust.

The ballad entitled "The Elck" was very much enjoyed by the audience. "Prometheus" was done to beautiful English. In the category of the gruesome were "Dance of Death," in the mood of epigram "Years" and "Humility" and one sonnet called "Nature Art."

Prof. Morgan's ability as a translator was clearly shown in his sages from Goethe's "Faust." scene of Faust at night in his vaulted Gothic chamber was enjoyed because of its powerful suggestive English.

CANNOT BUILD ON PART-PAY PLAN

State Would Create Debt Under Proposed Method, Attorney Rules

The state cannot have some firm build an office building and pay for it on the installment plan while renting it, the attorney general ruled today.

The opinion was given to the joint finance committee of the legislature on a bill by which bonds would be issued to carry out this suggested way of getting an additional office structure for the state.

The opinion held that "an agreement between the state and another (the firm) in the form of an ordinary rent and purchase contract, the state absolutely promising to pay equal installments and the aggregate constituting the original purchase price thereof with interest thereon, in consideration of the promise to rent and sell a site with an office building thereon, creates a state debt, within the meaning of section four article eight of the constitution and is prohibited thereby."

For the third position to the sixth the crews were all pretty well on a par, for they came in closely bunched together. Wisconsin lined up next to the Navy, California having the lane next to the shore.

The Navy rowed the race in 9:45 which is poor time compared to last year's 9:15. Wisconsin's time was 10:16. The freshman boats lined up at 4 o'clock eastern daylight saving time, for the first event on the card for the regatta yesterday afternoon. The junior varsity and the varsity races followed at 5 and 6 o'clock, respectively.

Chicago Shotguns Kill
One, Wound Two Others

CHICAGO—Gunmen, whose shotguns blazed from curtained automobiles, slew one man and wounded two others in two early morning forays today.

Diego Attalomonte, 30, the dead man, was nearly decapitated by the stream of lead. His companion, Otto Pupill, 28, is reported dying at a hospital with more than 20 slugs in his body.

The other wounded man who may have been killed, was Charles Brown, 40, a watchman who was kidnapped after he had been dropped to the sidewalk by the motor car marksmen in an attack some miles from the Attalomonte-Pupill assault.

The shooting of Brown may have had some connection with the present labor difficulties on the Chicago surface lines. Brown was a watchman for the surface lines.

Mayor Still Controls
Depleted Police Body

The absence of two police commissioners from Madison still gives Mayor A. G. Schmedeman's forces control of the board of police and fire commissioners.

The absent members are Prof. J. L. Gillin, rated as anti-Schmedeman, and Miss Marjorie Johnson, a Schmedeman appointee. Remaining in Madison for duty are Miles C. Riley, chairman, appointed by I. Milo Kittleston, former mayor. Joseph Brown, secretary, Schmedeman appointee, and Dr. E. H. Drews, former president. Mr. Riley and Mr. Brown are pro-Schmedeman while Dr. Drews is rated as anti-administration, giving the Schmedeman forces a two to one lead in the commission.

Three Wisconsin
Crews Will Row
on Hudson in 1928

The Wisconsin crew showing yesterday, though disappointing to many, can partly be laid to the handicap of weather conditions and ineligibility that have been hounding the frosh aggregation the whole spring term.

Coach "Dad" Vail at no time stated that his crew would do more than row in the race and as for any chance at lead position was pessimistic, though racing experts in the east gave the eight an under dog chance.

Vail stated the other day in 'Keepsie something that should have some weight on his prospects for next year. He said that 1928 would see Wisconsin on the Hudson with three crews and he intends to set up quarters of his own on the river with his own cook and thus be able to have a training table with proper "dirt," something "Dad" has not had yet and which he feels will help greatly.

The second event will include faster outfits of the Johnson standard twin type, the Lockwood, and the Elto Evinrude.

The third race will include boats of the last word in speedcraft with outboard motors of the big twin type. The list of trophies will be announced tomorrow.

Britain Still Hopes
To Discuss Battleships

GENEVA.—(T)—Great Britain, according to information in authoritative circles, has tacitly recognized the impossibility of revising the Washington naval treaty at the present tri-partite conference here without the consent of the United States as one of the Washington signatories.

This reported British acceptance of the American viewpoint does not mean, however, that the question of the size of battleships will not be discussed here as the British delegation seems keenly desirous of an opportunity to present its views before a plenary session of the conference.

OHIO U. EXPLAINS
REJECTION OF A
SCOUTING PACTProposed Plan May be Effected
Next Year, Coaches
Say

COLUMBUS, O. June 29.—Why Ohio State University was unable to accept Princeton's proposal for a non-scouting agreement for their football game next fall was explained here today.

Abandonment of scouting, in the opinion of Dr. J. W. Wilce, for 15 years director of football here, is the "eventual" logical high ground for college football. But it cannot be done suddenly.

Ohio Scouted

When it was apparent last fall that Princeton and Ohio State might play this year, Coach Bill Roper, of the Tigers, made a special trip from Princeton to Champaign, Ill., to see the Ohio State-Illinois game there last November, after the close of the Princeton season. Roper saw the Buckeyes defeat the Illini, 7 to 6.

Ohio State, on the other hand, had no opportunity to watch Princeton play. It was felt here, in consequence, that for Ohio State to consent to a non-scouting pact, effective this year, when Princeton, in a sense, had already scouted Ohio State, was rather out of the question.

Agreement Next Year
Coaches Wilce and Roper are quite in agreement on the matter, the Princeton mentor having been here during the spring to speak at a local gathering. It is quite probable that the non-scouting understanding will apply to the 1928 game when Princeton is scheduled to play here.

Saved From Florida Bay

MIAMI, Fla.—(T)—Fred Osius, wealthy Racine, Wis., inventor, was arrested this morning and is being held without bond pending an inquest into the drownings Monday night of Mrs. Bertha Miller and her six year old son, Marvin. Osius surrendered after the drownings, which occurred when an automobile he was driving plunged into Biscayne Bay but he was released when his condition showed signs of nervous collapse. The tragedy marred their tenth wedding anniversary celebration.

Osius and Bain Miller, the woman's husband, were rescued. The party was enroute from the Osius estate to Miami for a dinner, honoring the Millers when the auto was crowded on the street car tracks of the Dade County Causeway from where it plunged into the bay.

One of the two men held here for the creamery thefts has been living in Madison for considerable time under the name of Walter Graves. Officials on Tuesday night discovered that Graves' right name is Clifford A. Hatcher and that his home is at Hub City, near Richland Center.

Even Hatcher's wife did not know of the alias name until Tuesday when officials introduced her to her husband under his right name.

On a farm three miles east of Madison on the Sun Prairie road, officials on Tuesday recovered a tub and a box which had contained butter and which was stolen from one of the creameries that the ring is alleged to have robbed in Dane, Sauk, Columbia, and Green counties.

DIRECTOR LITTLE PUSHES DRIVE ON NEW FIELD HOUSEMany Improvements Brought to Attention of the Regents

With the fate of the Wisconsin Athletic Field House bill to be determined by the legislature in the very near future, Director George Little is continuing his drive from increased facilities and improvements for the conduct of his outdoor sports program. Little has high hopes for the passage of the measure which will give the Badgers a new gymnasium, after years of cramped conditions in the Old Armory.

The endorsement of the Joint Finance Committee was encouraging, and indicates that the members of this group are in sympathy with the policies of the Wisconsin Physical Education Department. However, while the outcome of the new indoor plant hangs in the balance, the wheels have been set in motion along other lines.

Regents Approve

The Wisconsin Board of Regents and Athletic Council have authorized a preliminary study and the receipt of estimates on additions to Camp Randall stadium, re-surfacing and seeding of athletic fields, grading and developing of new intramural areas, and preparation of a number of tennis courts.

State Architect Peabody will present figures in a few days on the cost of completing the horse-shoe in the Stadium with concrete seats. This would include the filling in all of sections of A and B in the west stands and the upper rows in the other sections on the same side of the field.

New Fields

The improvement of fields and tennis courts would give the Badger coaches a new Frosh gridiron and baseball diamond, five new intramural gridirons and twenty-two courts. If this program is completed by fall, Wisconsin students will have a dozen football fields at their disposal, including the Varsity facilities.

Son Killed, Father Dying
Racing Train To Frisco

COUNCIL GROVE, Kas.—(P)—The attempt of Samuel Klein and his father, Morris Klein of Chicago, to beat the fastest rail time between their home city and Los Angeles in an automobile ended in disaster near here Tuesday when their machine left the road, killing the son and seriously injuring the father. They left Chicago at 3 o'clock Tuesday morning.

At Bushong, 10 miles east of here the road narrowed at a culvert near which another car was parked. The roadster missed the bridge and hurdled a small stream.

When farmers and motorists reached the machine Samuel was dead. His chest was crushed. His father was unconscious. He sustained a fractured skull, his left arm and right hip were broken and his right foot was crushed. Physicians said he had little chance to recover.

liquor pinned to his clothing. When his body was found, the money was gone. Another man who frequently stayed in Madison and who is said to be one of the missing ring members is alleged to have accompanied Kelly on his fatal ride to the northern part of the state to purchase liquor.

Some of the information has been known to officials for a considerable time, but additional evidence was said to have been uncovered through questioning two men now held in connection with the creamery robberies.

Projects of Progress

Progress of the university along three important lines is bound up with the action of the state legislature on bills which will be recommended by the joint legislative finance committee. The athletic department has asked for an appropriation of $300,000 to cover all the cost of the proposed new physical education building.

Other appropriations recommended for passage by the finance committee are $3,000,000 for the La Follette memorial library and $600,000 for the new engineering building.

The need for adequate athletic facilities has long been recognized, and under the vigorous leadership of Director George Little important progress has been made. A new, large intramural playground has recently been put into use, tennis courts are under construction, and every effort is being made to advance Wisconsin's program of athletics for all. One of the most reamed of steps in that program has been the erection of a field house, or, as Coach Little properly terms it, physical education building.

Now, for the first time in 30 years, the athletic department has gone to the state of Wisconsin and asked for an appropriation for building purposes, and it is with a great deal of joy that the university has noted the favorable action of the joint committee on finance. The proposed structure will cost $600,000, but the state has been asked to give only half of this amount. The athletic department is willing and ready to supply the other $300,000 from its own funds, from the income received from gate receipts.

For many years the inadequacy of Wisconsin's present athletic plant has been realized and complained of. The gymnasium has long been outgrown, and the shortage of intramural facilities, ball fields, tennis courts, etc., has only recently begun to be alleviated. It is indeed encouraging to see that action is under way and that the outlook is favorable for a physical education building and athletic equipment which will be able to meet Wisconsin's needs. George Little's work has been commended before, but his ardent efforts to bring athletics for all to the university are always worthy of praise. May the legislature speedily grant the needed appropriation.

Another long felt need which now seems to be in the process of being filled is the lack of library accommodations. Wisconsin has a beautiful library, but it is not large enough to accommodate the thousands of students who must go to its shelves for material they are studying. Therefore, it is the new La Follette memorial library will be a very worthwhile addition to the campus. It will cost $3,000,000 but its construction will be spread over a period of years under the bill now before the legislature.

Wisconsin has a College of Engineering of high rank, and a new building for this branch of university training will also be an advancement of importance. Approval of the appropriation of $600,000 for this purpose is a cheerful note, and the university now awaits final legislative action on its three projects of progress.

The Time to Enter

Many people have a great aversion to the idea of a freshman beginning his college career at the mid-semester period or during the summer session. They say that he will not feel himself a part of a regular university class and that he will be on the outside of many activities. It is claimed that he will not feel as though he really "belonged."

But the idea of entering college during the summer session has a great deal in its favor. Conditions are entirely different. The personnel of the student body is different. The general atmosphere of college is different. One is tempted to say that it is less "collegiate" in the garterless sense.

Consider the different things a freshman faces in fall as compared with the summer session. In the fall, he is usually kept busy with fraternity rushing which all too often gives him an exaggerated idea of his own importance. Besides, there are many university activities, welcomes, football games, and the inexperienced freshman is thrown at once fully into the rush of complicated college life. And too often he has no opportunity to adjust himself to his new existence and to a college curriculum. The result is bewilderment, discouragement, or failure to organize college activities rightly. The freshman does not learn how to study, he does not learn just "what it is all about."

But when he enters the summer session, he becomes a part of a student body which has a very high percentage of really interested and serious minded students. There is less confusion in connection with registration. There is no fraternity rushing. There are fewer activities, and the curriculum is lighter. These advantages enable a freshman to adjust himself to college life, to become accustomed to university courses, to learn how to study, to learn just "what it is all about." The result is a student who has a purpose, who is not bewildered, who has not placed a false valuation on many of the things of college life. He is then able to get the most out of his regular career. He will choose his activities with more care; he will know the importance of study; he will be a better student.

A Colorful Sport

The Poughkeepsie regatta is over. Wisconsin varsity was not represented; the Badger freshmen finished eighth.

There is a refreshing difference between crew and other intercollegiate sports. There are no stadiums with tremendous seating capacities; there are no gate receipts; there are no charges of commercialization. For the spectator there is not that tense fighting spirit of a football game, but there is a thrill when eight men, pulling together like clock work, send a slim shell skimming over the lake. As a sport it is picturesque, colorful.

Wisconsin is fortunate to be able to support rowing. It makes no difference where the freshman crew finished. Wisconsin is proud to have sent them East. And Wisconsin is proud of Coach "Dad" Vail, king of crewdom. She is glad that he has done so much for the sport here, so much to add to Wisconsin's reputation.

The recent race with Washington on Lake Mendota was a spectacle which should be more frequent here. It is to be hoped that similar contests will be arranged in future years. They will do much to stimulate interest and arouse more general appreciation of rowing as a sport, a colorful sport, one which demands the best and all a man has to give.

An arousal of such interest will result in the uncovering of more crew material, and it seems that there should always be enough at Wisconsin to have an eight worthy to go to Poughkeepsie. We wish "Dad" luck next year.

Other Editors Say

PATERNALISM

Another blow has been struck in the great crusade to divorce the university student from his flivver. Dispatches state that the University of Michigan has followed the lead of Princeton and Illinois in prohibiting the use of motor cars by students.

This action is simply another manifestation of the paternalistic attitude so prevalent on the university campus today. In almost every activity of his daily life, the college student is carefully shielded from too close contact with the rough realities of existence. He takes physical training for the good of his body, and military training, presumably, for the good of his soul. The finances of his organizations are handled by the university. A social committee guarantees the purity of his parties. Even his literature is rendered innocuous by the use of a restricted list upon which all works of doubtful virtue are placed.

The value of this type of protection is at best a matter of conjecture. The college student is presumably a person of mature years and comparatively sound judgment. He is shortly to enter into active life in which he will be supposed to possess sufficient moral strength to conduct himself as a responsible citizen. No dean of men will intervene if he passes a bad check; no board of regents will shake warning fingers if he is in danger of wasting his time in a motor car. If he fails to learn the lesson of self control in college, no excuses will be made for him when he has withdrawn from the shelter of academic privilege.

The increase of student responsibility would doubtless result in the elimination of a few weaklings. But to the majority it would mean an opportunity to grow in strength and to learn the proper conduct of life.—The Daily Iowan.

When Dean Goodnight was first placed in charge of the university summer session in 1912, the enrollment was slightly over 1,000.

SUMMER SCHOOL

Long lines of Ripon flunk-outs, high school principals with a salary-raise complex, faded flowers of another year who now teach domestic science or plumbing in the Eau Claire high school, transients from Pennsylvania who "can't stand the coal dirt," Dartmouth lads who spent too much time at Smith or Holyoke during the regular session, Baylor graduates who want to boast of having been "up north," Oregon ladies who heard that Lindbergh once attended Wisconsin Normal School graduates who are trying to shed ignorance by degrees, big tar and feather men from Gary who want additional sales talks, men who heard that there are six girls for each fellow in the summer session, long distance swimmers, big sweaty athletic coaches, and others of every conceivable size, shape, color, degree, and previous condition of servitude make it hard for a literator to select his subject. Aside from this, everything is in good shape, or so the officials at the University Boat House inform us.

ZERK wishes to announce the opening of the much-talked-of dating bureau. Young ladies may secure pleasant escortations by submitting application including name, number of years of teaching experience, number of times ballots have been cast for United States presidents, physiological capacity for Coca Cola, and distance from Cop-cornor of rooming house. Send these to the University Y any night after 11:30, and next evening a representative will call.

WE OFFER FOR THE JARGON OF THE CAMPUS

Bop: To gonk.
Gonk: To slug, as with a meat cleaver or cream puff.
Wet: (obs): Young ladies who will not date "the first time."
(Note: There are six girls for each fellow in summer school.)
Take a run at it: Something to shout at strutting professors. Lincoln Terrace: A sight-seeing vantage point between classes, if you get what we mean.
Tight: A word used to describe summer session instructors.
Memorial Union: A good place to date of a rainy night. (Smoking of Lucky Strikes not allowed.)
Lawrence's: A receptacle for books and false teeth during digestion.
Laissez airfe: A bill introduced into Wisconsin legislature to reduce bus fares between Pennimore and Madison. (I detect puns don't you?)

LOOK, OLD FRUIT, SOMETHING GOOD

As the governor of North Dakota might have said to the governor of South Dakota, do not under any circumstances, miss "WHO LIVES WHERE—AND HOW," to appear in this column off and on and vice versa. Many of the sorority houses which take in rumors will recognize the Milwaukee blonde (Chorus of "Which one?") possessed of the vernal erethic diathesis (NOT HALITOSIS.) The little dark-eyed lady from Beloit who has enough fraternity pins to start a bowling alley will also be exposed to public gaze. Then there is the Henna job from Green Bay with a New York subway car date capacity. These and many more will have their malignity inflamed, their animosity set fire to, and their ire aroused by the intrepid ASTERISK, bon vivant, wit, and divine afflatus. DON'T MISS IT!

A friend from Mississippi tells me that the auditor of Jackson school board is auditing a course in auditing this summer. What worries us is, how many young ladies came to Madison to study "climate and Man?" (Meteorology 2S)

If any one is offended by the churlish chatter found herewith and would like to "gonk" (see dictionary above) ZERK, please remember that all right (and left) are reserved, including the Scandinavian!

Book Notes

BY W. F. P.

The following is an editorial which recently appeared in the Oxford University's "Cherwell." It is interesting because of the views expressed and because it represents to a certain extent the modern English artistic attitude. The poem, "Cottage Squalor," is typical of the ideas of poetic form developed by the Cherwell writer:

FORM

Form may mean determinate shape. It is found in all nature and in all good art. For nature and art cannot develop without it; it is their foundation. In all young animals and plants there is a system of axial gradients, a scaffolding on which the body structure is built up and these gradients exercise as firm a control over the organism as the mould upon a pudding.

On Monday night Miss Edith Sitwell told the English Club of form in art. Painting and music, we know, without their basal plan, must end in chaos; and poetry must also have some permeating form.

And on this basal plan each individual part which makes up the living organism or the work of art will superimpose its special shape. In nature further gradients will build up a rounded body; in art colour and modelling will suggest the curves and maybe a sensation. Surely that message, so sought after by the nineteenth century in poetry and indeed in all art, may be as much to the subconscious as the conscious. May not a word have meanings unhinted in the dictionary and each its individual shape? I know a girl to whom the word soul means "a sort of grey lobster."

The modern poet is striving to appeal to the subconscious; to fix impressions and to mould them on an underlying form, his metre. He is trying to dress the old ideas in new clothes and if their clothes are not the farthingales to which his readers are accustomed they may not understand him. But he must keep ahead undaunted, for if he is truly great his kingdom is the future. To grasp his meaning now requires a mental effort, which, said the poetess, is very good for all of us.

Business Leaders Predict Favorable Future Conditions

A continuance of reasonably favorable business conditions during the remaining six months of 1927 is predicted by a group of business executives, widely representative, both geographically and industrially, in the current number of Nation's Business Magazine.

At the beginning of the year, this same group of business leaders forecast satisfactory conditions throughout 1927, and now, at the mid-year turn, they say that nothing has happened to make them change their opinions concerning the last six months.

Several of the group refer to the unfavorable factors—that have entered the business picture in the last few months, such as the Mississippi flood, the depression in Japan, and unsatisfactory weather conditions. Even these adverse factors, it is stated, are not expected to cause a serious derangement of business. A plentiful supply of capital and sound fundamental conditions are enumerated as the encouraging elements in the business outlook.

2.75 BEER BILL NOW GOES TO ZIMMERMAN

By a vote of 17 to 14 the state senate yesterday concurred with the action of the assembly in passing the Duncan beer bill which will legalize the manufacture and sale of liquor having a maximum alcoholic content of 2.75 per cent. The bill now goes to Gov. Fred Zimmerman for his approval or veto. The governor was elected by both wet and dry votes and his stand on the bill is awaited for with interest. If made effective, the measure will set aside the penalties of the state dry law and leave the enforcement of the prohibition act relative to "home brew" entirely up to federal officials.

U. W. Summer Session Hits 5010

A new record for summer school enrollment at the University of Wisconsin was set Tuesday when additional registration of 111 students brought the total up to 5,010. Never before in the history of the university has the total summer session enrollment exceeded 5,000 on the second day of classes. The

At least 100 more students are expected to register by Tuesday of next week. This will bring the final enrollment well over the 5,069 figure of the 1926 session.

Summer session officials are especially gratified at the interest being taken in the newly instituted nine-weeks graduate course. One hundred seventy graduate students have enrolled in this long summer course so far, and there is a prospect of exceeding the 200 figure.

Besides, many graduate students are taking the regular six-weeks summer course.

The special coaching course is occupying the time of 70 students, 103 are studying law, and 39 are in a special topographical engineering course at Devil's Lake.

Where to Picnic

VILAS PARK

The natural beauty of Vilas Park and Lake Wingra together with the zoo, the picnic facilities and other things of interest make this an ideal place to picnic. The zoo of animals and birds is noteworthy in its completeness for a city the size of Madison. The Stewart Memorial foundation, done by Lorado Taft, is near the park entrance, and on the hill-top above it are a number of Indian mounds of interest to visitors.

There are two routes to reach the park; One may take the Wingra Park street car, or follow the car line and alighting at Grant street proceed along this street for five blocks when the Park entrance will be reached. Also, one may take the South Madison car and get off at Drake street which leads to one of the park entrances.

Tables and benches, fresh water, and a confectionery stand add to the enjoyment of picnickers.

TIME FOR TENNIS

A FAMOUS OLD BAR

Among R. V. Culter's mirth-provoking sketches which make up that delightful album of the mauve decade, "The Gay 'Nineties" (Double-day, Page & Co.), is one picturing Christmas morning at Jake's place down on the corner, where hot Tom and Jerrys were "on the house" to old customers. It brings back pictorially memories of a famous old bar which existed in the days when there were swinging doors on every corner. For the bar Mr. Culter draws was presided over by Jake Wolff, who looked like a caricature of John Bull strayed out of Punch, and was in the cafe of the Casino Theatre which Jake owned. It was a gay place—this cafe—with its walls decorated by photographs, paintings, souvenirs and relics of stage celebrities—until 1904 when

Lillian Russell was playing in "Erminie" at the Casino Theatre. The fire in her dressing room destroyed the place completely. Jake managed to salvage a few articles from the wreck, including his treasured bar and brass rail, which he set up again in James Churchill's old restaurant on Broadway. Afterward he went to England with the intention of opening a chop house, but the project fell through because, he sadly remarks, "Englishmen didn't drink fast enough; they were too busy talking to barmaids."

Upon his return to the United States Jake Wolff set up his bar in several places, then prohibition came along, business went bad for Jake and he dropped out of sight. But one day a friend chanced to discover him in Atlantic City. Here in the Royal Palace cafe, Jake had placed the friendly old bar and several old chairs from the Casino cafe and had installed himself behind the bar. It was all quite like old times except for the fact that Jake was selling soft stuff.

MERCURY CLIMBS TO HIGH MARK OF YEAR

Students climbed the hill to classes yesterday while the mercury climbed to a record mark for this year. At noon the temperature was 86, and by 2 o'clock in the afternoon it had mounted to 89. "Continued warm" is the official forecast for southern Wisconsin, with probable light southwest winds. The hottest June 29 on record occurred in 1915, when the mercury rose to 95.

Quite recently fossil cocoanuts have been found in New Zealand.

Blaine Returns to Farm After Week in East

Sen. John J. Blaine will return to Boscobel Thursday after spending several days in Washington, D. C., and in New York city during the past week.

The Wisconsin senator said he was in Washington to inspect his new offices and to confer with members of his office staff. He would not discuss political questions while in the capital.

Sen. Blaine is bronzed after several months of out-door work on his farm near Boscobel, and has told friends that he is in better physical condition than he has enjoyed for years. He plans to remain at Boscobel until the senate reconvenes in October or December.

Rush for Blue Books Causes Ballard Blues

Custodian Says Departments Even Give Them To Janitors

Wisconsin "blue books" are giving Clinton B. Ballard, state superintendent of public property, a bad case of "blues."

The difficulty, from Mr. Ballard's viewpoint, is that state departments are altogether too liberal in handing out the blue books to all employees. In Mr. Ballard's words, "they are even giving them to the janitors and the scrubwomen."

The blue books are to be given, according to the statutes, to the legislators, state officers, schools, and those that remain are to be sold to students and others at the rate of $1 each.

Ordinarily, the state has printed 40,000 copies of the blue book, Mr. Ballard explained, but this year, to take care of any surplus demand, 42,500 were printed. The demand, from state departments alone is so great that the superintendent has asked the attorney general for an opinion as to whom the blue books be given to.

He is at present holding up a number of requisitions for blue books which have been submitted by the departments, until Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds can render a decision. One department has called for "89 blue books for permanent employees, eighteen for appointed board members, and 43 for tempo-

Kill Measure for Reports of Judges' Loans

A joint resolution by Assemblyman Julius Iesner, Milwaukee, Socialist, which would compel all supreme court and circuit court judges to file with the secretary of state a list of loans made by each of them since Jan. 1, 1926, was killed by the lower house this morning, 57 to 21. The resolution was introduced by Mr. Iesner because of the recent action of the supreme court in disbaring Judge O. A. Stolen for accepting loans from litigants.

The roll call by which the resolution was killed follows:

Against the resolution: A. J. Baker, John S. Baker, Beggs, Budlong, Conway, Dihring, Eastman, Ebbe, Engel, Gamper, Gehrmann, Gilbertson, Graham, Grandine, Hilker, Hinkley, Hoesly, Huber, Husband, Ingalls, Jackson, Jungers, Kamper, C. Smith, Sonnemann, Spott, Staab, Stephens, Telfer, Thayer, Ungrodt, Withrow, Zink, Wood, Eber—56.

For the resolution—Baumann, Coleman, Duncan, Edwards, Gauer, Hahn, Hanson, Hitt, Huckstead, Kiesner, Nels Larson, McDowell, rary employees who just started to work." This is one of the requisitions that is being held up.

Halperins To Remodel State Street Building

Remodeling of the building at 416 State st., which was purchased from W. C. Middleton by Herman B. and Charles H. Halperin, owners of the Charles H. Halperin Co., automobile supply dealers, will start shortly after Aug. 5, according to Mr. Halperin.

The ground floor of the two-story building is occupied by the Madison Leather Goods store, and the second story by the Mouse Around Gift shop. The Halperin brothers plan to remodel the ground floor only, making two separate stores. The work is expected to be completed by Sept. 1.

SENATE CONFIRMS CHOICE OF HOEBEL

Upper House Upholds Gov.
Zimmerman's Civil Service
Appointment, 26 to 6

The state senate today confirmed by a vote of 26 to 6 the appointment of Mrs. E. C. Hoebel, Madison, as a member of the civil service commission. Mrs. Hoebel was appointed by Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman to succeed Gena Thompson, La Crosse, whose term of office expired June 21, 1927.

Roll call on confirmation follows:

Ayes — Senators Barker, Boldt, Caldwell, Carroll, Cashman, Chase, Englund, Gettelman, Goodland, Hull, Hunt, Hutchinson, Johnson, Keppel, Lange, Markham, Mehigan, Morris, Mueller, Polakowski, Roethe, Ruffing, Sauthoff, Teasdale, Titus, White.

Noes — Senators Blanchard, Daggett, Schuman, Severson, H. H. Smith, W. L. Smith.

Absent—Sen. Casperson.

There was no discussion on confirmation of Mrs. Hoebel's appointment. The roll call, however, is unusual in that Senators Schumann and Severson both recognized as Zimmerman supporters, and four conservatives, who have been friendly to Gov. Zimmerman, voted against confirmation.

Assembly Kills Measure For 12-Year-Old Caddies

Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman's veto of Sen. Oscar Morris' bill permitting the employment of children 12 years of age as caddies at golf courses, was sustained by the assembly today, 31 to 46. The senate recently passed the measure over the executive's veto. There was no comment on the measure when it was before the house this morning.

Atlantic City's Beauty Judge May be Here

Want Armand T. Nichols
To Aid In "Miss Madison"
Contest In July

Armand T. Nichols, director of the Atlantic City Beauty pageant, may come to Madison sometime in July to aid in the selection of a "Miss Madison" to be chosen at the Parkway theater, it was learned today. Mr. Nichols will be in Milwaukee toward the latter part of July to officiate in the "Miss Wisconsin" contest being held under auspices of the Eagles. Efforts are being made to have him come to Madison for one of the local contests.

Should Mr. Nichols come to Madison he would undoubtedly be feted by the Eagles, of which he is a high officer, and the Rotary club, of which he is a member.

Applications from girls who desire to compete in the "Miss Madison" contest are being received by the Parkway theater. Only a limited number will be accepted, and girls are urged to get their names in at once. A girl's name, address, phone number and age are all that is required to enter the competition.

There will be no public preliminaries this year as in 1926. The preliminaries will be held in private and the girls who are selected will be listed in the semi-finals. It is expected the semi-finals will be limited to 15 or 20 girls; and for the finals five will be chosen.

Defer Sentence On Man Who Tried to Free Other

Everett Newberry, said to have attempted to free Arthur Flath after Patrolman Rogers had arrested the man on a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated Monday night, pleaded guilty in superior court Tuesday to a charge of resisting an officer. He was ordered by Judge S. B. Schein to be held under deferred sentence until all the facts in the case are learned.

Flath denied the charge of driving while drunk and is to be given a hearing Wednesday.
