BLAINE GIVES SANCTION TO STOCK SHOW

Prize University Sheep and Cattle Will Be Entered in Contests

Receiving the hearty approval and sanction of Governor John J. Blaine, the Little International Stock show, the big annual event of the College of Agriculture, at the Stock pavilion March 12, is being industriously worked upon by 12 large committees this week.

"I am very much interested in the educational exhibits planned," Governor Blaine declared recently, "and shall try to attend myself if possible." The governor is the owner of a large herd of Holstein cattle, and has taken great interest in stock raising and breeding.

Plans Are Big

The committees which were appointed last month by A. L. McMahon '21, general manager, have been meeting this week. According to the interest that has been manifested in the exhibits of the show, the events promise this year to be "bigger and better" than ever before. Agriculture publishers have written heartily endorsing the exhibit by the university students. "Glad to have the opportunity to contribute our mite," was the way Hoad's Dairyman, a leading live stock publication, phrased it.

The judging of the animals will be done in the morning and afternoon. The announcements of the winners will be made after all the entrants have been reviewed and judged. Award of ribbons and prizes will then be made. One of the drawing features of the exhibition will be the horse show in the afternoon.

S. G. A. NOMINATES COUNCIL OFFICERS

S. G. A. executive council nominations for S. G. A. officers for next year were made at the council meeting yesterday noon. The nominations for each office are made by executive council and two are made by ballot in the S. G. A. mass meeting, which will be held Tuesday, March 8, at 7:30.

The nominations made by council were as follows: Esther Haven '22 and Gladys Haskins '22 for president; Ellen Correll '22 and Frances Beecher '23, vice-president; Miriam Doan '22 and Dorothy Ware '22, secretary; Margaret Weurpel '23, and Katherine Ely '23, treasurer; Lucille Curtis '22, and Josephine Doring '23, for census chairman.

These, with the nominations made at the mass meeting Tuesday, will be voted upon in the primary to be held Friday, Mar. 11, from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., in Lathrop hall, in which two names will be eliminated for each office. The final election will be held in April.

Every woman who is a member of S. G. A. is urged to attend the mass meeting and help in the nominating as well as to remember to vote at both elections.

BEAUTIES

Wisconsin Co-eds Outnumber All Others in Tribune Contest

"Wisconsin where they grow!" The pretty girls, of course, and 204 of them are pretty enough to enter their pictures in the Tribune beauty contest, according to statistics given out by the Chicago Daily Tribune. Out of 2,789 pictures mailed to the Tribune, 688 have been photos of university co-eds of the middle west.

The following figures have been compiled:

University of Wisconsin, 204; University of Illinois, 87; University of Chicago, 82; University of Iowa, 80; University of Indiana, 80; Purdue university, 66; University of Michigan, 41; Beloit college, 16; Carthage college, 11; Milwaukee-Downer, 9; Lake Forest, 8; Coe College, 4; Northwestern University, 0.

"Northwestern for her pretty girls?" Where are they, Northwestern? The beauties from Evanston modestly claim the reason for their failure to send in pictures is the fact that no pictures do them justice. That Wisconsin girls are not afraid of the test is proved by the above statistics. Northwestern will have to show us even though we are not from Missouri.

FACULTY MEN APPROVE MEET

Religious Conference Receives Support of Birge, Goodnight and Others

With the backing and unqualified support of the biggest men on the faculty the all-university religious conference opens this evening with a supper at the Woman's building for the workers on the conference committees and for others who are vitally interested in the work. Howard Beaver, Chicago, will be the speaker at the meeting which will be held from 5:30 to 7:30.

Pres. E. A. Birge, Dean S. H. Goodnight, Prof. A. B. Hall, Prof. J. L. Gillen, and other prominent faculty members have expressed themselves as standing unqualifiedly behind the religious conference movement.

"I am certainly in favor of the conference," said President Birge. "It is very worthwhile and I hope that the students will attend the meetings in large numbers. The movement can count upon my support."

"I heartily approve of the conference," asserted Dean Goodnight. "To hear a man like Sherwood Eddy is an opportunity that I believe the students and the faculty of the university should not miss."

Professors Express Approval

"I'm for it!" declared Professor Gillen. "It is a big thing. Sherwood Eddy is an important figure, not only in the Y. M. C. A., but in Christian work all over the world. The movement receives my unqualified approval and support. It is an opportunity of which I hope

ANNUAL TOUR OF MEN'S GLEE CLUB BEGINS APRIL 13

Home Concert Will Be Given Friday, March 11—Preliminary Tours Successful

The men's Glee club appeared in Beloit and Rockford on its final week-end concert trip Saturday and Sunday. The home concert will be given March 11, and the annual concert tour will begin April 13 with its opening performance at Eau Claire.

Other cities which will be included in the tour are Marshfield, Stevens Point, Neenah, Menominee, Mich., Oconto Falls, Green Bay, Sheboygan, and Fond du Lac. About 24 men will make the trip and they will travel in their special car.

The Rockford Morning Star in commenting upon the concert given by the University Glee club at that place Friday night said that the program was a delightful departure from the conventional and included solo, ensemble, and quartet offerings that were varied and satisfying. The Star gave particular praise to individuals of the glee club. The following is an excerpt from the Star:

DANCE DRAMA IS BASED ON MUSIC BY FORMER PUPIL

Bertha Ochsner, whose dancing, acting, and writing are well known to university students, has written music for "The Juggler of Notre Dame" which will be a feature in the Dance Drama recital to be given by students of Miss Margaret H'Doubler this evening at 8:15 in Lathrop hall concert room. Admission will be 50 cents. Tickets may be obtained at the door of Miss H'Doubler's office.

Those who will take part in the program are Eleanor Riley '21, Agnes Samuels '21, Frances Ellen Tucker '21, Julia Hanks '21, Catherine Meyer '22, Elizabeth Sehon '22, Elizabeth Waterman '21, Mary Parkinson '21, Janet Epstein '21, Bertha Ochsner, Helen Harper '21, Aline Smith '23, Mira Bowles '23, Lillian Stupp, grad, Dixie Davis '23, Carol Goodyear '23, and Lillian Bresler '23.

MORTAR BOARD WILL HAVE JITNEY DANCE

"A nickel apiece for a dance" will be the program at the Mortar Board "jitney dance" to be given Saturday afternoon, March 12 in Sterling court. The Kappa Kappa Gamma, Kappa Alpha Theta, Gamma Phi, and Alpha Phi houses will be opened to the public and dances will be run simultaneously upon the jitney basis in all four houses. Music will be furnished by student orchestras.

Mortar Board, honorary senior women's organization, maintains an annual scholarship fund and co-operative house fund for university women and for these objects holds several functions each year. This is the first party given this year.

Tickets will be on sale next week and will be sold in strips of ten or admission will be taken at each house before each dance.

PURDUE SCRAPS WITH INDIANA IN TITLE GAME

Badgers' Test Comes Saturday in Minnesota Contest

Purdue meets Indiana tonight in an important conference game. The result of the game will decide which team will stay in the running for the conference championship.

The Wisconsin basketball team has been put through light work-outs this week as Coach Meanwell is merely keeping the men in shape for the Minnesota game.

The game on Saturday night will be the most important one played on the local floor since 1907. At that time John Schommer, still an important figure in athletic circles, clinched the conference title for Chicago by eluding "Jumbo" Stiehm and tossing the winning basket during the final seconds of play.

Monday night's conference games turned out pretty much as had been predicted. Illinois came close to losing to Ohio State, however, so it is possible that the Suckers are not displaying the same brand of ball that they did two weeks ago.

Although Purdue is given a slight edge over Indiana tonight, the game is sure to be hard fought. If Indiana wins, it will mean a tie with Illinois for first place, while if Purdue wins, the Boilermakers will

NAFZIGER IS NEW PRESS CLUB HEAD

Halling '23 Describes Newspaper Experiences at Meeting of Journalists

Following a speech by Martin Halling at the regular meeting of the club, election of Press club officers took place Tuesday evening in Lathrop hall. R. O. Nafziger '21 was elected president; Katherine Beebe '21, vice-president; Charles Demarest '24, secretary-treasurer; A. J. Fehrenbach '22, chairman of the social committee.

Porch-climbing is still a necessary art, according to Mr. Halling, who described his experiences in newspaper work at Denver, Colo., at Sterling, and at Milwaukee, after his return from the service. He told of his "first harrowing experience in interviewing the sweetheart of a suicide who died from unrequited love," explained how he "relieved an unaccommodating lady of a picture on her mantel-piece by the simple employment of strategy," and showed illustrations of his "first bold attempts at headline writing."

"Straight-forwardness, pep, perseverance, and tact, coupled with a lively imagination, are all that are necessary to make a good newspaper man," concluded Halling. "Above all, one must never break trust with the people with whom he deals so frequently. Anything but a high sense of honor is fatal in a journalistic occupation."

SECOND LECTURE ON GERMAN ART GIVEN BY BRUNS

The second in a series of lectures on the subject of German art was given by Prof. F. Bruns of the German department yesterday afternoon in 112 Bascom hall. The next will be given next week.

"The art of painting is much bound up by the senses and must copy life," said Professor Bruns. Young German painters were drawn to Italy by the influence of Michaelangelo, who was primarily a sculptor, and early German paintings have an effect similar to sculpture. In fact, they are sculpture with the brush."

Continuing in his discussion of classic landscape and romantic landscape, Professor Bruns said, "The romanticists used figures in their landscapes because they found that a landscape without figures was dead. The figure was not something inserted into the landscape; it was the embodiment of the spirit of the scene."

CADET TRACK MEET IS NEXT SATURDAY

The annual inter-company track meet will be held next Saturday afternoon, March 5, i.e. the gymnasium annex.

The meet is open to freshman or sophomore track men who are taking drill. Entries should be made at the gymnasium before Saturday.

hand, according to A. J. Fehrenbach ably many will be disappointed.

GYM TEAM IN GOOD SHAPE TO MEET CHICAGO

Maroon Strength Unknown Badger Squad Shows Best Form of Year

With every man in excellent condition and the squad showing the best form thus far this season, Coach Fred E. Schlatter's gymnastic team will meet Chicago on Friday, Mar. 4, at Bartlett gymnasium, Chicago.

The tumbling team is practically the only varsity team which has not been hit by ineligibilities and injuries, and as a result, Wisconsin will be represented by one of the best squads in recent years.

"The men are all in excellent condition," declared Coach Schlatter on Wednesday afternoon, "and Wisconsin will make a good showing against the Chicago team. By defeating the Milwaukee Y. M. C.
A. turners, the team showed it is one which will have to be watched in Big Ten competition."

Little Known About Maroons

Little is known about the Chicago gym team. The Maroons possess practically a veteran team, but they have engaged in no important meets this season. Chicago was one of the strongest contenders for first place honors at the Conference gymnastic tournament last year, however, and the Maroons always develop a strong gymnastic team.

"While we have no exact dope on the strength of the Chicago squad, and have no basis of comparing the ability of Wisconsin with that of the Maroon team, they are sure to put up a strong battle," said Schlatter. "The only event which the Badgers are fairly sure of winning is the fencing match. Finn Aanesen '23 has not been defeated by any Big Ten fencer, and if he maintains his record, Wisconsin can count on several points in the fencing match."

The team will leave for Chicago
at 9:30 Friday morning on the C., M. & St. P. road.

Wisconsin's Lineup

The lineup for Wisconsin follows:

Eberhardt May be on Dubiske Program

Ex-Governor Eberhardt of Minnesota is expected to address an evening entertainment for the clients of the H. W. Dubiske company tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the High School auditorium. Motion pictures of several large industrial plants will be exhibited to give a clear understanding of the work of the companies.

VARSITY LEGION HOLDS MEETING

Future Activities and Pos- sibilities for Post Are Discussed

Plans for the future organization and activity of the University of Wisconsin post of the American legion were made last night at a reunion of ex-service men in the auditorium of the Engineering building. Nearly every legion man in the university was present, and automobiles were provided to bring men who could not otherwise attend.

After a short business session at which Lester W. Brann, post commander, presided, the meeting was turned over to "Doc" Hughes, chairman of the entertainment committee.

Dean Scott H. Goodnight was the first speaker. In his address on "Service and Reward," he brought out the point that the greatest good comes through service, and that every service has its reward.

McKay Talks on Ideals

Prof. J. Gordon McKay of the economics department, spoke on the ideals of the American legion and its organization. "The ideals of the legion can be made effective only through organization," he declared, "but the organization of the American legion need not become a mere political machine. The legion can use its splendid organization very effectively in promoting some very concrete things here in the university. I think the Memorial building is an excellent project which merits the support of every ex-service man."

A humorous dramatic reading given by E. L. Peterson, and singing by Reuben Brown, accompanied by Paul Sanders, were features.

University co-eds served doughnuts and coffee. The post is very much indebted to Katherine O'Shea
'24, and her colleagues of the Delta Gamma sorority and to Frances Beecher '23, and other members of Chi Omega for their support and co-operation.

MANY THINGS TAKEN UP AT SENATE MEET

To Send Protest on Ticket Sale to Athletic Board

Action was taken at a meeting of the Student Senate last night on several matters which have come under recent discussion. It was decided that a letter of protest and suggestions for improvement be sent to the Athletic board regarding the much talked of mismanagement of ticket sales during the fall games.

On the question of student honor and examinations, the Senate voted to send a letter to President Birge urging the enforcement of the present regulations. These regulations provide that all examinations shall be written under strict surveillance, except when a class shall petition the instructor to conduct the quiz on the honor system, in which case the granting of the petition is optional with the instructor. It is thought that the second part of the provision has not been widely known and for that reason advantage has not been taken of it.

Phi Delta Kappa Recognized

A local chapter of Phi Delta Kappa, national educational fraternity, was recognized. April 29 was the date set provisionally for elections. A stand was taken against campus cutting and other forms of campus mutilation. It was decided that all possible publicity should be given to arouse popular sentiment against it. With publicity the Senate believes that the enforcement of rules against campus mutilation can be brought about merely by sufficient force of public opinion against it.

"LIT" MAGAZINE HAS SUCCESSFUL SALE

More than two-thirds of the Literary magazines printed this month were sold the first day, according to Horace Powell '22, circulation manager and nearly the entire number were disposed of by last night.

"The engineers seemed to like particularly the essay, 'On Women,' advertised on the cover, judging from the speed with which the magazines disappeared in the Engineering building," said Powell. "And in the chemistry and biology buildings, I am sure 'Science' sold more than usual."

Those still wanting to subscribe for the last four numbers may do so by paying their 75 cents to anyone who is selling Literary magazines, and taking one of the last issues with them.

ART APPRECIATION IS SUBJECT OF SHOWERMAN TALK

Speaking under the auspices of the Arts and Crafts club, in 112 Bascom hall last night, Prof. Grant Showerman, of the Latin department, gave an illustrated talk on "Appreciation of Art."

Professor Showerman prefaced his address with a sketch of the general meaning of art. "No person can have an 'open sesame' to the appreciation of art," he said. "Art cannot be gotten from a single lecture, but requires special study on the part of the individual. Fear of not knowing about art is the beginning of wishing to know about art."

The first part of the hour was given to an outline of the history of art, and illustrations were used showing the stages through which an art developed.

Professor Showerman described the various phases of art, and briefly commented on the slides which exemplified the points brought up. The importance of art in everyday life was illustrated by pictures of architecture, sculpture, and painting, and interesting criticisms of the merits of familiar campus objects were made. Short summaries of the lives and times of great artists served as the background for comments on their work.

The meeting was the fifth open meeting of the club for the year. Members of the Commerce club were especially invited. Three more talks of a similar nature are to be given this year by the club, and will be open to the student public.

TEACHERS TO FIND NO CUT IN SALARY

"Next year's teachers need fear no salary cutting," declared Prof. Thomas L. Jones, chairman of the committee on high school relations, in a conference yesterday with students who are planning to enter the teaching field. "Judging from the past year's increase of from twenty-five to sixty-seven per cent, salaries will remain at the present level, though the present financial situation makes it hard to estimate whether or not there will be any further increase."

The conference, which was held for the benefit of those who missed a similar meeting last Monday, consisted in questions and answers as to teaching possibilities and requirements, and in the distribution of application blanks. The blanks are to be filled out with very definite information and references for the use of the committee in placing student applicants.

both students and faculty will take the fullest advantage."

Prof. A. B. Hall is giving time and attention to the conference, and his statement regarding the religious meet is given in no uncertain terms. "Religion is one of the dynamic factors in life," he stated. "Every thinking student will want to understand this force, and define his relations to it in order to enrich his own personality and to secure the intelligent ordering of his own life. The religious conference will be stimulating and instructive to those dealing with this problem."

The conference will have the privilege this year of hearing Sherwood Eddy, a world figure in Christian student work. Meetings have been scheduled for all week-end and there will be opportunity for the entire student body to hear Eddy at one time or another.

Suckers Hold Honors

The conference championship now hinges on whether or not either Michigan or Chicago can beat Illinois. If the Suckers suffer another defeat, it will probably mean a tie or possibly a triple tie for first honors at the end of the season. Chicago plays their last game of the season against Illinois Saturday night, and they will undoubtedly make a great effort to win from the Suckers, since that victory would somewhat atone for the poor showing they have made this season.

CHAMP CLARK DIES AT HOME IN WASHINGTON

Leader of House Democrats Had Served 26 Years in Congress

WASHINGTON — Champ Clark 71st year and within two days of his retirement from the House of Representatives after a service of 26 years.

Death was due to an attack of pleurisy and a complication of diseases incident to his advance age. Up to ten days ago however, when he developed a severe cold, Mr. Clark had shared actively in proceedings of the house as Democratic leader.

Immediately after the death of Mr. Clark, was announced the house recessed for 30 minutes. Rep. Rucker, Dem., Mo., who made the announcement said it was Mr. Clerk's wish as expressed through his son that there be no interruption of congress in its closing days.

Immediately on reconvening after the 30 minutes recess the house adopted a resolution providing for the payment to Mrs. Clark of a year's salary totalling about $9,000.

Although Champ Clark was known as a Missourian he was born in Anderson, Ky., on March 7, 1850. He was christened James Beauchamp Clark, but early in life he reduced this to Champ Clark. His first work as a farm hand, clerk in a general store, and in a country newspaper.

He was educated at Kentucky University and Bethany College, and the Cincinnati Law School. For a short time he was president of Marshall College, and, at 22, held the record of being the youngest college president in the United States.

GLEE CLUB TOUR BEGINS APRIL 13

Press Praises Concert

"Mr. Kenneth Damon, the first soloist to appear revealed a lyric voice of exceptional quality. . . Mr. Paul Sanders, pianist and accompanist, played 'Garden in the Rain,' by Debussy, which was rendered in a masterful style, giving evidence of a thorough and artistic musicianship. His accompaniments for the solo and ensemble parts were admirable. . . An innovation on the program was a group of violin solos by Mr. Max Peterson, whose excellent technic and bowing were displayed in 'Baracolle,' 'Tschaikowsky - Ornstein,' 'Bird as Prophet,' 'Schumann-Auer,' and 'Caprice Viennoise,' Kreisler. He was called for an encore."

Wherever the university men's glee club has appeared it has been greeted by crowded houses, and has received flattering press reports from the papers of the cities visited.

Prof. Edward E. Swinney, director of the Glee club, stated that the program has, as given by the men, reached such a state of perfection that it is almost professional in character.

WOMEN NOMINATE NEW OFFICERS AT W. A. A. MEETING

Nominations for officers of W. A. A. for next year took place at a special meeting held last night. Mabel Winter '22, Ima Winchell '22, and Mary Roach '22 were nominated for president.

The other nominations were as follows:

Marjorie Severance '23, Margaret Henry '23, Louise Fritzsche '22, and Elizabeth Kirk '23 for secretary, and Alice Tucker '22, Florence Hupprich '23, and Irene Spiker '22 for treasurer.

BLAINE SANCTIONS ANNUAL STOCK SHOW

Bring High-class Stock Teeming with pep and originality, the "Wild West" show, as the evening performance is popularly called, will be held at the Livestock pavilion amphitheater. Music will be furnished by the Second Regimental band of forty pieces, directed by J. H. Jaquish '23.

Many pure-bred animals of exceptional quality and type, prize winners in many exhibits, are to be shown. Eighteen sheep from the university flock, which will be on exhibition, won twenty ribbons at the International Stock show at Chicago last year. Duroc Jersey, Poland China, and Hampshire hogs which are making history for their breeds will be exhibited, as well as Chester Whites and Berkshires.

Shorthorn Aberdeen Angus cattle, direct from England and Scotland, are to be exhibited. The exhibits last year won the high commendation of leading live stock breeders in the state. This year's exhibits promise to excell all previous records.

Rules for Judging Listed

Anyone in the College of Agriculture is eligible to participate in the Livestock show. All the animals in the university flocks and herds are open to selection as show animals.

Judging of the animals on their fitting and show will be on the following points:

All animals will be judged before any work is done on them and judged again in the show ring. The amount of improvement will be the chief point to be considered by the judges and will constitute 75 per cent in the basis of award.

The merits of the animal in the show ring will constitute the remaining 25 per cent.

Ribbons will be awarded to the first, second, third, and fourth places. First prize winners in each class will compete for the championship in each department. All prize winning animals will be paraded in the evening show.

The superintendents of the five departments are as follows: L. E. Murphy '21, dairy; James Ballantine '21, beef cattle; R. R. Knoll '21, horse; L. B. McKay, grad., hog; and Philip Gates '21, sheep. Entries are restricted to university students. Those desiring to enter animals in the show are urged to notify the superintendents at once.

WRESTLING TEAM LOSES CAPTAIN BY INELIGIBILITY

Crippled Badger Squad Will Meet Chicago Mat Men Saturday

Another severe blow has been dealt the Wisconsin wrestling team, which meets Chicago on Friday, by the faculty action which definitely declared Captain L. G. Culver '21, lightweight, ineligible for further Big Ten wrestling competition. I. L. H. Peterman '22, welterweight grappler, will act as captain of the varsity mat squad for the remainder of the 1921 season.

The loss of Culver leaves a big gap in the squad, which has been badly riddled by ineligibilities and injuries. Coach G. T. Hitchcock will use either I. R. Haddorff '23 or T. E. Carlson '22 in the lightweight division. Neither E. H. Templin '23, who has hurt his hand, or H. M. Pier '23, suffering with a "cauliflower" ear, are likely to get into the meet against the Maroons at Chico.

Because the Maroons will not have a bantamweight wrestler prepared for the Wisconsin meet, G. F. Prideaux '22 will not be entered in the meet. Prideaux is one of the best wrestlers on the Badger squad, and he was counted upon as a sure point winner in the 115-pound division.

The lineup for the bouts follows: Ora McMurry '21, heavyweight; L. G. Barry '22, light heavyweight; P. W. Voltz '23 or E. H. Templin '23, middleweight; Captain I. H. Peterman '22, welterweight; I. R. Haddorff '23 or T. E. Carlson '22, lightweight; J. S. Hess '22 or E. A. Woelffer '23, featherweight.

SEMI-FINAL GAMES ELIMINATES S. A. E. AND CHI PSI FIVES

Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Chi Psi fraternity basketball teams were eliminated from the inter-fraternity basketball finals on Wednesday night. The Phi Sigma Kappa quintet defeated the S. A. E. squad by a 13 to 9 score, and Beta Theta Pi won from the Chi Psi team 15 to 13.

In the other game of the semi-finals, the Kappa Sigma basket tossers beat Alpha Sigma Phi by a count of 15 to 10.

The teams which remain in the running for the first and second place cups are Phi Sigma Kappa, Beta Theta Pi, Kappa Sigma, and Alpha Sigma Phi. These teams will play on Monday night for the inter-fraternity championship.

Schedule for the finals follows: Kappa Sigma vs. Beta Theta Pi. Alpha Sigma vs. Phi Sigma Kappa.

EVENING GOWN OF PEACH SILK CREPE

They called this a gown at the silk exposition, but it looked like nothing so much as a bit of clever draping of a few yards of material. The foundation is a narrow, straight-line dress of silver lace. Over this the peach colored Canton crepe is draped with studied carelessness with an effect which is rather Grecian in line.

NAME CAST FOR GUN AND BLADE MUSICAL SHOW

"A Maid and a Middy" who meet at the annual regatta of the Lakeville Boat club are the leading characters in the musical comedy of that name, to be given by Gun and Blade at the Fuller theater, on April 1.

The mysterious abduction of a certain Spanish señorita, of which Billy, the Middy, is accused, furnishes the necessary complications. With the help of Valerie, however, Billy manages to clear himself, and all ends well.

Tryouts for the comedy last Wednesday and Thursday resulted in the selection of Dewey Edson '21, and Ruth Laylin '22 for the leading parts.

The Madison High school girls' glee club, child dancers from Kehl's dancing school, and the Madison troupe of Boy Scouts will have a part in the performance.

Cast Picked

The cast for the comedy follows: Billy, the middy; attached to the "Dreadnaught," Dewey Edson '21; Dawson, a retired farmer, Idrys Hughes '21; The Count, a Spanish gentleman, John Sheldon; Evans, the master of ceremonies, Roman Koeisch; Fritz, of the house committee, Boyd Ladd; Valerie Vane, Ruth Laylin '22; Alice, Katherine Keen '23; Maud Avis Labisky '23; Phillis, Mary Tillotson '21; Mrs. Gaily, Olivia Fentress '23.

There are still three parts which haven't been selected. A "big man," a baritone, and a "little man" are necessary to complete the cast. The Gun and Blade will select the men for these parts at their next meeting this evening.

The production of the comedy is being directed by Miss Alice Keith, La Crosse. Rene W. Pinto '22, is the general manager.

The chairmen of the different Gun and Blade committees concerned with giving the play are as follows:

John E. Sheldon, business manager; William Hartmer, stage manager; Adrian Scolten, publicity and advertising manager; Robert Thomas, rehearsal; L. W. Peterson, properties; E. M. Bouke, tickets.

An additional judge for the superior court of Dane county was recommended by the assembly judiciary committee on Wednesday. The bill will be on Friday's assembly calendar for consideration. This bill provides that the judge shall be elected at the spring election in 1922.

Judges of the superior court shall be elected for six years. One shall be known by length of service as the senior judge. The senior judge shall make provision either by general rules or by special orders for the division of the work of the court.

The salary of the senior judge shall be paid by the state and shall be $5,000 annually. Under this bill Judge A. C. Hoppmann would be the senior judge. The new judge would be paid by the county and city and will receive the same salary as Mr. Hoppmann now receives.

Madison Teachers O. K. Pension Bill

Madison teachers endorsed the new teacher's pension bill at the regular monthly meeting of the Madison Federation of Teachers at the city library Tuesday evening. The action was taken after Charles E. Brooks, actuary, had explained that it places the pension system on a scientific basis. He pointed out the reasons for failure to pay more than 23 cents on the dollar under the old pension measure, and predicted that teachers now paying money into the pension fund would receive nothing in return. The legislative, membership and social committees reported at the brief business session which preceded Mr. Brooks' talk. Miss Katherine Regan, president, presided.

THE ATHLETIC REVIEW

ATHLETICS, perhaps more than any other phase of college life, depends upon effective publicity if it is to attain its highest ends. Wisconsin athletics have been seriously handicapped in recent years because of the lack of an instrument with which, not only to reach and interest potential athletes who are still in the high schools of the state, but likewise to express the university's appreciation to the athletes who are here and now upholding the honor of the university in the field of intercollegiate athletics.

The Wisconsin Athletic Review bids fair to fill this long-flet want of the athletic department. It will appear in magazine form and will take its place in the lineup of student publications, as an ardent advocate of all the best features of athletic training at the university.

The Review has as its definite mission the following purposes: (1) to give recognition to the moral, social, and hygiene values of athletic sports; (2) to promote inter-class, inter-college, and inter-group contests so all students may compete, and (3) to foster high ideals of clean, manly sport, high standards of loyalty and sportsmanship, and to give emphasis to the spirit that brings athletic victories to Wisconsin.

The Athletic Review will make its appearance on the campus next week. Read it; support it!

ATTEND THE CONFERENCE

NO other time of the year could possibly be more appropriate than the Lenten season for the Religious Conference which opens with an all-university convocation at Lathrop gymnasium tomorrow afternoon. To all earnest Christians, the Lenten season is a time for special meditation upon the spiritual significance of life.

The Religious Conference, which has become an annual event at this university, offers an exceptionally happy opportunity to all students to come into contact with a number of the great religious leaders of our day and generation.

Many students there may be who may have differences of opinion on matters of religious belief, but none can deny that a strictly non-sectarian discussion of various phases of religious experience will have a wholesome, stimulating influence upon the personal conduct of individual students, as well as upon the whole university community.

In the mad rush for amusement, the pursuit of extra-curricular activities, or in the intense concentration that is required for the mastery of difficult courses of study, many students have sadly neglected the development of the spiritual side of their lives. Many, on the other hand, have studied the religious aspects of philosophy; others have given serious thought to religion and its relation to science, but none can successfully deny the challenge of religion, and the need for greater emphasis upon fundamental instinct to acknowledge the Supreme Being.

The Religious Conference has other purposes aside from the discussion of social and religious questions. These purposes are aptly set forth in an editorial which appeared in the current of the News Sheet, published by a group of students connected with the University Y. M. C. A. Following are pertinent paragraphs from the editorial:

"We are students in a university where by law religion is prohibited from being taught. This has caused many to regard the university as a "Godless institution." Yet it is certain beyond doubt that the true spiritual nature of man is being administered to at this university.

"The world's greatest need is the need for leaders men and women who fearlessly and boldly seek out the truth in paths that may often be blind and so difficult to follow that only those of indomitable will succeed in their search. The mission of the university could be no nobler than to furnish the type of leadership that will succeed. The leaders of the future are today to be largely found in the universities and colleges. If that future leadership accepts the challenge of a life of highest service, a life of joy and satisfaction, the mission of our universities and colleges will have been fulfilled. To aid the university in its preparation of leaders is the purpose of the Religious Conference."

THE BAND CONCERT

When we allude to Sunday's band concert with Maj. E. W. Murphy as director, we do so with a feeling of admiration for the brilliant success of the entertainment and the excellent support at his command.

The Milwaukee Journal once remarked that more town-people are present at these concerts than university students. This is lamentably true, but may be ascribed to the fact that our ocular sensory nerves are more developed since the war than the auricular. This condition is only a temporary abnormal one and will soon disappear.

Programs have much influence on the attendance at such musicals. In the past years the First Regimental Military band programs were very poorly arranged with no practical application of the psychology of music. Selection No. 1 would, perhaps, be Sousa's "King Cotton March," followed by No. 2 Sousa's "Stars and Stripes Forever," No. 3 some cheap, purloined march by King, etc., ad infinitum.

The success of large organizations like the Boston, Chicago, and Minneapolis Symphony orchestras is due, in great measure, to the skillful selection from their repertoire. Sunday's program was cleverly arranged. We were regaled by French, German, and Russian masterpieces. Our imaginations strayed to the middle ages in Tannhauser and even in Mignon, we then took an imaginary look at the fast and silent steppes of Russia with Tschaikovsky, then at the wild and sensuous Orient, and finally to Rome by Lemmen's "Marche Pontificale."

On the whole the concert was something worth while. The customary mediocre compositions of King, Clark and even Sousa were not in the program, although a decidedly antique march by Sousa was resurrected as an encore. The audience was very appreciative, but, as usual, in such excellent concerts there were specimens of the "cod-fish aristocracy" whose gregarious instincts forced them to seek the haunts of society, not because they appreciate music but because theirs is a nature which cannot bear its own society. Their main function seems to be that of disturbing others.

With more such skilfully arranged programs this orchestra should be a success, both from a pecuniary and musical point of view. The faculty might encourage attendance by reminding unconscious students in their working hours that such a thing as an orchestra exists here.

VINCENT LAMM '21.

AN OLD TIMER'S VIEWPOINT

Pocatello, Idaho, Feb. 23.
Editor Daily Cardinal:

The last couple of weeks have noted several articles in your columns regarding examinations and how they are conducted; much stress is laid on having an honor system, and the surprise to me is that so many students feel it is a handicap for a professor to be present while they are writing a quiz.

I have been absent from Wisconsin for 21 years and what I may write may seem to the present generation rather obsolete. But, I do not see why a professor present is any handicap at all; rather, it should be an advantage. If the student is full of his subject why does he need keep watching a professor who may be seated at the desk or walking about the room? What is the big idea from the student's standpoint? If he can write his examination acceptably why should he care whether a professor is present or a mile away?

In my own case, as a student, it was always an inspiration to me to be able to glance up at professor, and this was especially the case if got tangled and rattled, for usually, by watching the professor a few minutes, the subject matter would begin to come to mind, and twice when I walked to the desk and told him I just did not have anything in my head that would look well on paper, the reply was, "Just take things easy, do the best you can and see me after you are through."

The mental concept of the reassuring smile and return look of confidence that came to me during examinations from such professors as Freddie Turner, Haskin, O'Shea, Slichter, Reinsch, the late President Van Hise and others seems to give to me, since graduation, the same great inspiration that they gave while I was tackling some examination questions.

It was my opportunity to teach fifteen years; during that period there was never a class where a majority or even 20 per cent of the class desired me absent from the room during examination: I frequently left for a half hour or an hour; for the passing of a subject, never, in my work, depended on the final examination; an examination was an opportunity given to the students to show what they were able to do during a stated time and my policy was never to condition any student whom I considered able to carry the following year's work.

In conclusion, would not the question be more than half solved if the students took the attitude that the professors are their friends striving to fit them to be better prepared for better living and for success in the great school of hard knocks which they all enter immediately after graduation?

Respectfully,
HARVEY R. HOLMES '00, Ph.B.

REPLIES TO WOFSY

Editor Daily Cardinal:

In the reply to my communication in the Cardinal, Samuel Wofsy says that the students of Wisconsin have not reached the point of self-respect and pride in honor where one rebels as I do. I wish to say that my article not only represents my personal opinion, but the opinion of many students concerning the Honor System.

I further agree with Mr. Wofsy that at both V. M. I. and the University of Virginia the honor system is a tradition. But while the University of Virginia had its first session in 1825, the honor system wasn't installed until 1842. Now if the honor system is to become a tradition of Wisconsin it must be started. It will never become a Wisconsin tradition until after we start it.

As to the condemning of my "ignorance" as to the general sentiment at Wisconsin, I wish to say I disagree with Mr. Wofsy. Before writing any communication I talked with a number of students, which I think representative of the student body. And I am "proud" to say that Mr. Wofsy and myself are not the only ones who favor the honor system at Wisconsin.

As to the personal attack of Mr. Wofsy, I only wish to again quote the time worn expression, "It is a known fact that when men cannot combat principle with principle they attack personalities."

WILLIAM S. PEEBLES, JR. '22

PRESENT PLAN UNJUST

The present system of conducting examinations results in much injustice to those who are honest. I believe that there are students here who would have been sent home if they had not cheated in examinations, and some were sent home who would not cheat in examinations, but had been doing creditable work the entire semester.

The present system of conducting examinations makes any one who loves justice and self-government rebel against it.

If less importance would be attached to examinations and if instructors were able to convince students that marks are not the most valuable requirements from their courses, then there will be little or no cheating.

I do not believe the students of Wisconsin are less honest than at other institutions.

ADRIAN SCOLLEN.

WOULD BUILD CHARACTER

"I consider that the Honor System would be the greatest character building asset possible for the university. Nothing could go farther toward increasing self-respect on the part of the students than this plan. It is idle to claim that the majority of students here do not want such a system. A large portion are desirous of getting away from the old system of watchmen. Surely this system, based on suspicion, is not in accord with the true Wisconsin spirit."

STERLING TRACY '21.

GUILTY OR NOT GUILTY?

I heartily endorse the Honor System, and furthermore I believe it would work in Wisconsin. As was stated in a communication in the Cardinal, I believe the students of Wisconsin are morally as good as elsewhere.

The law says a man is innocent until proven guilty; however, a Wisconsin student is guilty in the eyes of the faculty, and it is almost impossible to prove oneself innocent.

A. B. CAROTHERS, grad.

MUST HAVE HONOR

Four years at college are hardly worth while if during that time students accumulate book knowledge alone, and are graded on a basis which does not necessitate a sense of honor. If in his collegiate course a man does nothing but develop a sense of honor, his time is well spent. I am heartily in favor of the Honor System. Install it, and the details can be worked out.

WILSON D. TRUEBLOOD '22.

RATHER DODGE ONE INSTRUCTOR THAN ALL STUDENTS

An honor system for Wisconsin students would in time prove far more effective than the present system.

Cribbing in the exam room with instructors present is prevalent, but under the honor system would be greatly reduced for it has been proved that the weaker student would prefer to take the chance of eluding the instructor's watch rather than face general student opinion—which under the honor system would be far less tolerant toward dishonesty than it is at the present time.

Student opinion in the right direction is the most powerful and most feared force on the campus. Once the students of the University of Wisconsin have realized the efficacy of and the true benefits to be derived from an honor system—and as a body have come to support this system, its true success would be demonstrated even as invariably as it has worked out in other schools.

THOMAS T. COXON '22.

TO REDUCE CRIBBING

I favor the Honor System because I feel it will reduce the cribbing to a minimum. Also we will feel that we ourselves are preventing this harmful practise. I believe it will make men and women of Wisconsin better fitted for citizens in the social and business world.

FINANCIAL BOOST IS GIVEN FOREST PRODUCTS WORK

Probable $325,000 Appropriation From Congress Will Aid Research

"Through the efforts of Senator Robert M. La Follette the Forest Products laboratory will probably receive a very much larger appropriation this year than formerly," declared A. Upson, head of the operation department of the Forest Products laboratory. "The senate passed an appropriation bill of $400,000, which was reported from conference with a recommendation for $325,000 appropriation. This is a $75,000 increase over the appropriation for last year."

The appropriation will go largely to the expansion of research work dealing with mechanical, physical, and chemical properties of wood and forest products. In addition, the problem of wood waste will be studied. It is estimated roughly that two-thirds of the tree is wasted between the lumbering process and the final manufacturing.

SPANISH CLUB WILL HAVE PLAY TRYOUTS

Tryouts for parts in the Spanish club play, "The Lame Girl and the Bashful Man," which will be presented some time in April, will take place at 4:30 on Thursday in Lathrop concert room.

"We hope that many will come out to try for parts because the play is a promising one," said Elizabeth Fisher '21, president of the club. "Selections from any Spanish play will be accepted as readings for the tryouts and any one is eligible to come."

The readings may be two or three minute length.

The Curious Cub

Question asked: "What do you think of an honor system for university exams?"

Mary T. Voorhees: I realize that the present system is a very poor and egregious method of conducting final examinations. I am sure that the honor system would be an excellent method to remedy the situation. A monitor running up and down the aisles hampers one, and makes him think himself a cribber, whether he is or not. It is simply a game, and if he can beat his guardian, he feels that he has won, and does not seem to take into consideration the fact that he has cheated. His partner at his side laughs as he sees him win the battle. An honor system would not change the opinion of the cheater, but it would make his partner look upon him with disgust. In this one point lies the success of the system.

Frank W. Kuehl: To answer that question is to make a speculation. I certainly have a definite opinion on the present system or lack of system. Perhaps the fault lies not so much in the system as in the way it is enforced. It is true, I think, that in condemning the farcical situations that we find now, many overlook the successes of the system under the strong instructors. For certainly some examinations are splendidly conducted. Others are tragedies. Rather than make a radical change, let the true university spirit be displayed by those who conduct the exams. Of course, if the instructor knows no and recognizes no university spirit or ideal, how can be convey such an ideal to a plastic seventeen and eighteen year old mind? My answer then is let us recognize the consciousness of honor and ideal that each student possesses, NOT SCOFF AT IT, but maintain a proctor system for the sake of a few of the weak ones. The student body is a cosmopolitan one and therefore intelligent proctoring is legitimate. Let it savor of fraternalism and friendship.

Harold W. Lamb: The honor system is absolutely practical. Proctors parading up and down the aisles are almost a challenge to try to crib. Furthermore the distract the writers by their slow strady walking, their whispered conferences, their suspicion of every glance, however innocent that looks in any direction except on the paper. Students under the honor system will not "crib" if for no better season than because they respect themselves too highly to allow others to see them do something that they have promised on their honor not to do. I believe that both the students and faculty would gain by the speedy installation of the honor system.

Gertrude E. Adelt: The university at present is not ready for an honor system. True it is that the number of "cribbers" are in the minority; but it must be admitted by those who have observed, that that minority is far greater than it should be. Only too often when a student "cribs" he thinks that he is "putting something over," that he is "getting by" with something in much the same way that people are elated about slipping by without paying car-fare. The matter is not a moral question to a great enough number. The student's tendency is to help a "cribber" out, instead of trying to prevent him. Nor is "cribbing" confined merely to those who are just barely making their grades, "excellent" students are included as well, which makes it impossible for an instructor to determine just who is the offender when similar papers are brought before him. The matter might be remedied in several ways: First, by making the student realize that grades, as grades, are not important enough to be dishonest for. Second, to stimulate the student's sense of pride in himself. And, third, by conducting exams in which it is impossible for a student to write anything but his own information and impressions. The latter would promote greater individuality as well.

LANDIS WILL URGE PASSAGE OF BILL FOR NEW HOSPITAL

To Address Legislature Tonight
on Behalf of Rehabilitation Measure

Judge Kenesaw M. Landis will speak tonight in the assembly chamber of the state capitol on behalf of legislation for disabled soldiers.

Both houses of the legislature will meet in joint session at 7:30 to discuss the bill pending on the Wisconsin Memorial Hospital, which provides for an appropriation of $500,000 to construct a rehabilitation hospital for mentally deranged ex-service men. Judge Landis will arrive at 9:20 from Chicago and will be the speaker of the evening. The hearing is open to the public, and all students and ex-service men are urged to attend.

While in the city Judge Landis will be the guest of Major W. F. Lorenz, director of the Wisconsin Psychiatric Institute at Mendota. Judge Landis is keenly interested in rehabilitation work for disabled soldiers and has given up a previously arranged trip to be present at tonight's hearing.

BLAINE FAVORS NO INCREASE IN APPROPRIATION

Declares Extra Burden for University Needs is Unfair

Declaring that it "will be unfair to the people to ask them to bear the burden of a program of construction and maintenance for the next two years that so far exceeds the performance in the last six years," Governor John J. Blaine emphasized the importance of economy in state government in his financial message to both houses of the legislature yesterday.

The message pointed out that every state institution had asked for an appropriation from two to ten times as large as that granted by the last legislature, and intimated that the governor would veto any measure asking for more money than was appropriated at the last session.

"The university," declared the governor, "in the last six years expended for new construction $895,476.42. Requests for the next biennial period by the university for capital appropriation are as follows:

"For the year 1921-22, $1,969,185.

"For the year 1922-23, $1,973,085.

"The requests made by the university for these purposes for the next two years are about $3,000,000 more than was expended in the last six years."

Giving as his reason for advocating such a program of economy the fact that the state had exceeded its appropriations during the last few years, the governor went on to say:

"Until we have passed through the period of depression and reconstruction through which the state and the nation and the world are going, it will be necessary for all boards and commissions and other state's agencies to adjust themselves to the average for the period during which there has been a failure in new construction and added capital, and the ensuing biennium, as nearly as practical."

FARM ASSOCIATION NEED IS EXPLAINED TO POULTRY CLUB

"The market need of farmers today is stabilization," Theodore Macklin, professor of agriculture economics, told members of the Madison Poultry club last night at their meeting in the Agricultural Chemistry building. "The private middleman," he said, "who spans the time and space between consumer and producer should be replaced by an association of farmers."

Professor Macklin suggested an association for Wisconsin poultrymen such as that of the California Walnut Growers, through which all farmers in a community sell to one local union, and all local unions distribute through a large central storing and selling association. Farmers would then receive a fair, stable price for their products, it was pointed out, and the consumer would only have to pay a reasonable price.

It was definitely decided at the meeting that Dane county poultrymen would have a local poultry exhibit at the next county fair. M. M. Parkinson, secretary of the Dane county fair, said that $200 would be set aside for premiums on this class.

"WISCONSIN STOCK REVUE" SLOGAN FOR STOCK SHOW

"Wisconsin Stock Revue" will be the slogan of the Little International stock show. This announcement of the award was made yesterday for the judging committee by Prof. A. W. Hopkins, chairman of the course in agricultural journalism. The winner is R. H. Stinchfield '24.

"The slogans submitted were very gratifying," said Professor Hopkins, "and their universal merit made it a difficult matter to select any one contribution as the best."

A landslide of slogans poured into the office of the committee during the past week. Other slogans of special merit were "The Animal Prom," "Live Stock Over the Footlights," and "Wild and Wooly, but Simply Bully."

Prof. A. W. Hopkins, Prof. W. A. Sumner, and Prof. G. Bohsted were the judges of the slogans.

AT THE FULLER

Mary Pickford's latest United Artists production, "The Love Light," which will be seen at the Fuller theater today is an entirely different story and an absolutely new characterization than anything in which the World's Sweetheart has heretofore appeared.

Miss Pickford has appeared in comedy-drama but never in an emotional drama of the type of "The Love Light," and it was only after careful study and deliberate consideration that she felt herself equal to the tremendous role she plays in this story.

Those who have seen the production say that Mary Pickford rises to histrionic artistic effects which a screen artist has never before attempted, but in all this, in the clever characterization of an Italian girl, she is still the beautiful Mary whom we love so much.

Miss Pickford has surrounded herself with a splendid cast, which includes such artists as Jean De Brin, for several years leading man to Sarah Bernhardt, Raymond Bloomer, Edward Phillips, Albert Prescott, Evelyn Dume, who played with Miss Pickford in "Little Pippina," but who had returned to Italy to play important roles in an Italian company, and George Rigas.

AT THE GRAND

J. Warren Kerrigan's latest production, "The House of Whispers," a unique mystery play from the pen of William Johnston, the famous novelist and playwright, will be given its premiere today at the Grand theater. In this picture Kerrigan plays the role of a young adventurer who solves a baffling mystery that surrounds "The House of Whispers." The star is supported by an unusually strong cast, headed by Fritzi Brunette, his popular leading lady. The direction is by Ernest C. Warde and Jack Cunningham wrote the continuity.

AT THE STRAND

ful young man who proposes to a somewhat snobbish girl and when she accepted him, takes her to see a bungalow which he has purchased for their home. The girl rather resents her sweet-heart's precipitancy in the matter and an estrangement ensues. But the old fashioned boy, after a series of comical mishaps, finally adjusts matters and he and his fiancee as well as all concerned find happiness.

Jenny Hines in "Torchy," a picture adapted from a Saturday Evening Post story, is the added attraction.

CHORAL UNION HAS PLACES FOR SINGERS

All men and women students who can carry a tune and hold a part when singing with a group are eligible for membership in the Madison Choral union which starts its second semester work today. Prof. P. W. Dykema, musical director and lecturer, is at the head of this union.

"Our purpose," he says, "is to give members an opportunity to get acquainted with some of the splendid choral masterpieces of the world.

"Numbers prepared for the musical program which is to be given in the spring, are by Colridge Taylor, the English composer of negro extraction. These include 'Hiawatha's Wedding Feast,' and the 'Death of Minnehaha.' Although of a superior class of music, they are so beautiful in melody and rhythm and so rich in harmony that they make an immediate appeal even to people who thought their musical appreciation was limited to popular songs. Thus no one need fear his lack of appreciation because of lack of experience."

Rehearsals for the Madison Choral union are held at 7 p. m. Music of 50 cents a semester is charged. Each Tuesday. A laboratory fee of 50 cents a semester is charged.

EX-MARINES

The dance to be held at Lathrop Hall Friday, March 5, has been postponed to March 12 on account of the religious conference.

"BUDDIES" PLEASING; CAST GETS PRAISE

So much commendation has been awarded George Hobart's billet comedy, "Buddies," that to re-sing its praises would be but telling an old story.

It has come finally to Madison, not with the original cast it is true, but with one that is no mean substitute, and despite its belated arrival it is accorded the same hospitality that has been its wherever it went. Although it is an overseas war story which tells of a petite French maiden who couldn't make her bashful American lover confess his affection, it is so ingeniously contrived that it shares none of the disfavor that most war stories now receive.

FIVE COME TO NEAR-GRIEF AS ICE GIVES WAY

Action Not Dampened Since Actors Save "On Location" Scene

The ice is not safe.

This startling discovery was made by the Varsity Movie company yesterday afternoon when five men and two ice-boats were precipitated into the ice flood in front of Bernard's boat house during the process of filming a sensational ice-boat race.

Victims Display Coolness

John Warren was the first victim of this entirely unforeseen "thriller." As he came to the surface and emerged from the rigging of his boat, "Prom Queen," he shouted, "Camera! Camera! Hurry, I can't freeze all day!"

"Action," cried the director, and the camera man focused his camera and began turning the crank.

Rescuer's Attempt Foiled

Howard Stark '21, sailing the "Yellow Kid," rushed to the rescue, jumping from his boat. The ice gave way under his great weight as he reached for Warren.

Tragedy swiftly turned into comedy when Warren, hanging onto a sail, began laughing at his rescuer, Stark, who was splashing about in a herculean effort to free himself from the rigging of his boat.

Evidence is Saved

The cameraman, whose duty knows no pity, and who had been busily "shooting" the unfortunate, chose this moment to break into the action by falling in himself. The camera, however, was saved from a watery grave, so the accident was "all in a day's work," and no real harm done, according to the management.

The rest of the Varsity Movie company, Bob Holcomb '23, Tom Wood '24, Horace Wetmore '24, and Willett Kempton '23, and several spectators, rushed to the rescue, bravely risking life and limb (to say nothing of lumbago), and all the victims were spared the final agony.

Witnesses Testify

"We had been given every assurance that the part of the lake over which we were working was perfectly safe," stated Willett Kampton, director.

"We were all surprised and horrified when Warren's boat disappeared. We ran as close as possible to help him at once, and the camera was not focused on him until we had made sure that he was in no danger.

"Then we made the best of this accidental sensation. The only difficulty was that Warren was enjoying it so much that he ruined the tragic effect.

"It ought to be a peach of a picture, nevertheless, and some of the film of this scene will be shown at one of the local theaters soon."
