CITY CARNIVAL WILL BE GIVEN WITH "U" EVENT

University Carnival Will Take Place During Ski Meet

That the university ice carnival will be held in conjunction with the city carnival on February 3, the date of the national ski meet, was decided at a meeting of the city's general ice carnival committee held in the office of the Association of Commerce last night.

Ice boat races will be held on Lake Monona, Friday, according to the plans made. On Saturday the ice events will be held on Lake Mendota, and the skiing tournament on the university ski jump.

To Spend $4,000

Approximately $4,000 will be collected for this carnival. This sum will cover and arrange for prizes, decorations, music, costumes, shelter for the participants and preparation for the rink and ski jump.

Fred E. Goetz '23, chairman of the carnival will plan the festivities of the university's part assisted by George Martin, instructor in skiing and skating, who was recently appointed by the athletic department, and Coach Joe Steinhauer who will take charge of the skating races.

Need Varied Program

"We should arrange our plans so as to provide a varied program for the school children, university students and town people," Thomas E. Jones, athletic director and member of the committee, said.

Ski and snowshoe races will be held for girls, according to the plans arranged by Goetz. Because more than 300 women students are taking courses in skiing and skating under the women's athletic department of the university, a large entry is expected in these events.

Fitzpatrick, Griffith to Talk at Convention

The thirteenth annual convention of men representing institutions in the Mississippi Valley engaged in the training of teachers in manual arts and industrial education will be held here from January 11 to 13.

Prof. I. S. Griffith of the department of industrial education will speak on "The Progress in the Development of Plans for the Training of Teachers" in the State Historical Library, at 10 o'clock Friday morning.

Major Edward A. Fitzpatrick, secretary of the state board of education, will speak in the library at 10 o'clock Thursday morning and H. W. Schmidt, of the department of vocational education, will lead a discussion on "Objective Tests and Measurements as Applied to Manual Arts and Industrial Subjects."

More than thirty men will speak at the convention on various phases of work. The program provides a single topic for each session in order that all present may take part in the discussions. All round table meetings will be held in the State historical library in the morning and in the evening the discussions will take place in the Park Hotel.

"STOP THIEF" SET MADE BY ARTIST

A set for the mystery play "Stop Thief" to be given by the Wisconsin University Players on the afternoon and evening of February 1 has been prepared by Mr. Howard Tuttle, of the Pabst theater, Milwaukee.

The completed scenery includes back and side sets in a mottled brown motive, and panellings finished with finely grained wood. Practically an entire railroad car was required to transport the scenery from Milwaukee.

Herbert Boning '23, business manager of the Prom Play, is in charge of purchasing properties and made the contract for new sets. Contracts have also been made for costumes and stage fixtures.

SELECT EIGHT IN DEBATE TRYOUTS

Prof. J. M. O'Neill announced yesterday that those successful in the semi-finals of the Intercollegiate debate tryouts are: Walter H. Coutou '24, George J. Fieldler '25, John C. Fritschler Law 2, Herbert D. Hentzen '23, Wilbur G. Katz '24, George E. McKinnis '23, Robert E. Sher '24, and Arthur T. Thorson, Law 2.

The question was: "Resolved that all necessary constructive and legislative changes making the use of injunctions in labor disputes impossible be immediately affected." Tryout speeches were 5 minutes in length for constructive speeches with a three minute rebuttal.

Of the 24 students, to compete in the semi-final tryouts, only 13 made the attempt, eight being successful. In the third and last tryout, which is to be held in about two weeks, the veteran debaters from last years Intercollegiate teams will compete. There are 12 final positions to be filled.

Choral Union to Begin Work on Opera "Faust"

Choral Union last night began its second work for the year, which is the grand opera "Faust," by the French composer Charles Gounod.

During the month of January new members will be received into the Union. Membership in the union is open to students and townspeople, and tryouts can be arranged for by consulting Prof. P. W. Dykema of the School of Music.

In addition to the regular chorus material of the opera in the edition used vocal numbers will be given, some of the waltz tunes which are originally intended to be played for the ballet dancing.

The opera is characteristic of Gounod's mingling of sacred and secular music. Even in the beautiful ballet music with which it abounds there is the serenity that we find in church music, while in the music that has the religious flavor there is always something that recalls the love song.

Funk is Elected V-Pres of Square and Compass

Howard V. Funk '23, president of the Wisconsin Square and Compass, for the second semester, was elected vice-president of the national organization at the convention of that body January 2 and 3 at Lexington, Va.

Funk represented the local square at the convention and will make a detailed report at the meeting of the club tonight in the Y. M. C. A. This was the first convention in which Wisconsin was represented as a fully chartered and authorized square.

The work of nationalization was due largely to Funk's efforts last spring in bringing Masons from several mid-western colleges and universities to Madison for a discussion of the best means for perfecting a national body. The result was that Wisconsin with several other colleges, voted to join the already existing Square and Compass organization.

January Country Mag Will Be on Sale Today

The January issue of The Country magazine will be sold in Agricultural hall and other buildings on the Campus today.

"Writing for Farm Women," by Betty Fitch, a former women's editor of the magazine, "A Tribute to Wisconsin Men," and "Master and Men" by Dr. A. S. Alexander will provide interesting reading for students, according to critics of the publication.

More than 50 copies of the January number have been sold already to bankers in different parts of Wisconsin as a result of the article on the subject of the banker's affiliation with the farmer.

WEATHER: FAIR

Generally fair for today and tomorrow, with slightly rising temperature today. The maximum temperature was 27 degrees at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, and the minimum for the day was 13 degrees at 7 o'clock in the evening.

GLEE CLUBS OF 12 SCHOOLS TO ENTER CONTEST

Meet in Chicago Next Month to Raise Standards

Twelve mid-western university and college glee clubs will take part in a contest to be held Friday evening, February 19, in Orchestra hall, Chicago. The contest is being held under the auspices of the Intercollegiate Glee club corporation with the aim of raising musical standards in the various schools.

The organization, modeled after similar ones in the East, was incorporated last October in Illinois by members of glee clubs in the twelve universities and colleges. The schools represented in the corporation are the universities of Wisconsin, Chicago, Illinois, Purdue, Iowa, and Northwestern, and Lake Forest, Beloit, James-Milliken, Knox, Grinnell, and Wabash colleges.

Will Sing "Varsity"

Each glee club will give three selections, a college song, the "Hunter's Farewell" by Mendelssohn, and a lighter song of high musical calibre. The Wisconsin Glee club will sing "Varsity" and German's "O Peaceful Night."

Tryouts were held in Music on Thursday noon to determine the members of the Glee club who will go to Chicago. The number is limited to twenty-four and only undergraduates may take part. The following students were selected, according to Prof. E. Earl Swinney, director of the Glee club.

W. W. Brandenburg '23, Harry E. Carswell '23, Tom Dartnell '23, Kenneth F. Damon '23, E. W. Guild '25, R. E. Hill '24, Whitford L. Huff '23, H. M. Hoffman '23, B. M. Hilberts '25, T. J. Hunsaker '25, O. A. Krebs '24, A. C. Johnson '25, Chris Hendra '23, L. W. Lentzner '25, John Murphy '24, Robert Nethercutt '24, E. N. Otis '24, W. H. Oatway '25, Carroll Robb '25, R. W. Sharp '23, C. R. Tellum '24, G. V. Vaughn '24, G. C. Wade '23, W. N. Wentworth '24, and F. C. Whitehead '24.

Madison in Darkness Due to Line Trouble

Local officials of the Madison Gas and Electric Co. did not know the exact cause of the trouble which caused the lights to go out for a few minutes at 9 o'clock last night. "It was probably due to line trouble between Prairie du Sac and Madison," J. E. Newton, supt. of distb., said late last night.

Phillippine Club To Honor Josef Rizal, Islands' Hero

The Phillippine Badger club will present a program at the Madison public library at 7:30 Thursday night, in honor of Dr. Josef Rizal, Filipino martyr.

Dr. Rizal is today considered the greatest Filipino of history. He gave his life in the cause for Phillippine freedom at the time when the Phillippines were under the rule of the Spanish government. After a brief stay in the United States, where he fostered the cause of the freedom of his people he returned to his native land in spite of the warnings of his friends. He was executed by the Spanish government soon after his return.

Dr. Rizal was a cultured and much travelled man and spoke seven languages fluently. He is the author of several noted books on Filipino oppression which have since been translated into various languages. He at one time attended the Madrid University where he graduated as a doctor of medicine and philosophy. He was thirty-five years old at the time of his death.

The program to be given under the direction of the Women's Progressive association of this city will open with a selection by the Phil-

RADIO MESSAGES GO OUT ONCE MORE

The university radio station which has been closed for some time resumed broadcasting last Monday. The station has been completely rebuilt and with increased power is able to send the daily programs farther.

Will Relate Details of Escape From Russia

Crossing a river by stepping from one cake of ice to another as the Bolshevik searchlights played upon her, Madame Pierre Ponafidine made her perilous escape from Soviet Russia, the details of which she will relate in her talk at Music hall, at 7:15 o'clock Friday evening under the auspices of W. A. A.

Mme. Ponafidine, wife of a Russian land owner, lived in Russia for four years, and is able to give a direct account of the conditions under the different regimes before and during the Great War. Her stories contain a graphic impression of the starvation, injustice, cruelty, and murder which has swept away the most intelligent and humane of the Russian population.

Since arriving in this country last February Mme. Ponafidine has lectured extensively throughout the East, and has been enthusiastically received. In Buffalo she repeated her lecture over a dozen times. Tickets for the lecture will go on sale tomorrow.

He is a chemist of international repute and has written the best known treatises on the preparation of colloids. His work has been recognized by many prizes and he has been elected to numerous foreign honorary societies.

ATHLETIC BODY WILL CONSIDER 40 CANDIDATES

Begin Eliminating Appli- cants For Position as Head Coach

The business of eliminating approximately 40 men who have applied for the position of head football coach at Wisconsin will begin within a week.

This announcement came from the athletic department office yesterday, with Coach Thomas E. Jones outlining the methods which the council will use in making its final selection. At the next session of the athletic body he will list the names of coaches who have applied for the job and give, as far as possible, a history of their athletic record.

Offer Five Possibilities

After due consideration, which may take many weeks, the council will whittle down the number of applicants until it makes final decision.

Five possibilities in securing a coach are offered:

First, to secure a "big time" mentor, who is recognized nationally as a successful coach. Men like Gil Dobie, Jack Wilce, Knute Rockne, Bob Zuppke, and Bill Roper come in this category, but it is unlikely that any of them can be procured.

Second, to secure a man who has been one of the most successful football directors among the secondary colleges of smaller conferences. Minnesota followed this possibility when it grabbed William Spaulding from a Michigan Normal school. He has already made good. Coach Hod Ofstie, Mississippi, A. & M., Cub Buck, Lawrence, Paul J. Schissler, Lombard, and others are in this class.

Brader, Sundt, Carpenter?

Third, a young coach, recently graduated from college, who might be expected to succeed in coaching as he has in playing. Men who have been prominently named are Jim Brader, Guy Sundt, Chuck Carpenter and other recent Wisconsin graduates. The selection of a young coach will be a last resort, and Wisconsin will not be a "training school" for coaches.

Fourth, to take a coach who has been successful in past years, but who is on the down grade. Speedy Rush, Princeton; Dr. Al Sharpe, formerly of Yale, Greasy Neale, just released by Washington and Jefferson, are such men.

Fifth, to take an assistant to some larger college coach. Examples of this type are Nels Norgren, University of Chicago, Aubrey Devine, Iowa, Little, University of Michigan. Selection of a man in this class is only a bare possibility.

Coaches who have come to Madison to confer with Athletic Director Jones are Hod Ofstie, and Jack Ryan, former Marquette university coach and who recently signed a contract to handle the Dartmouth line. Many other mentors are in communication with the athletic department.

BISHOP MCCONNELL TO SPEAK MONDAY

Bishop Francis J. McConnell of the Methodist Episcopal church, will deliver the convocation address on "Can We Christianize Industry?" under the auspices of the Campus Religious council at Music hall at 8 o'clock Monday evening.

For sixteen years a bishop of the Methodist church of the Pittsburgh district, Bishop McConnell is known as the author of religious books, and one of the leading platform speakers of the country. He graduated from Ohio Wesleyan university and was given a degree as Doctor of Divinity from Boston School of Theology, the largest school of theology in the country. He comes to Madison from a lecture tour that took him to the leading universities of the Middle West as a convocation speaker.

MORE PLAY FOR GIRLS NEEDED

College Women Know Little About Sports, Says Ohio Instructor

(Special to The Cardinal)

COLUMBUS, O., Jan. 5.—College women in Ohio and the middle-west know comparatively little about sports, and they are so little versed because the elementary schools are not teaching the girls how to play. These are two observations of Miss Lydia Clark, head of women's physical education work at Ohio State university and author of texts on physical education widely used in grade schools.

Quoting figures just compiled from compulsory physical tests given, 1,289 freshman and sophomore girls at Ohio State, Miss Clark cited that 560 girls will be required to take corrective work for slouchy postures and 458 others developing exercises to correct lateral curvature of the spine "largely because the physical side of the girl receives so little attention in the elementary schools."

Other revelations of the physical examinations conducted by Miss Clark's division and resulting in assignments to corrective divisions were "193 cases of under weight, 73 of fallen arches, 10 structural cases of round shoulders and 64 of lateral curvature."

On the other hand 120 girls passed the physical examination with "A" grade, entitling them to participate in hockey, basketball, baseball, track, tennis, dancing, gymnastics, or any major sport.

Almost as great freedom in selection is allowed 709 girls who emerged from the tests with "B" grade, indicating, according to Miss Clark, that they have "slightly less endurance than the girls in class A and therefore should not be permitted to exercise quite as strenuously."

Assignments to corrective divisions total 360. It is this group that offers real opportunity for helpful work, Miss Clark pointed out. The coming practice, as physical education programs broaden in scope, Miss Clark believes will be "prescription of exercise after a study of individual deficiencies, much as a doctor prescribes for a patient, instead of exercise by classes."

Horticultural Society Meets at Capitol Today

The annual convention of the State Horticultural society will begin in the state capitol today and continue through tomorrow and Friday, according to preliminary programs published by the organization.

The convention consists of talks and discussions by prominent horticulturists on the various phases of fruit growing, inspection, storage, and kindred subjects. Sectional conferences will be held for those who are interested in particular phases of the fruit growing industry.

"It has been the custom to hold a fruit exhibit in connection with the convention," Prof. J. G. Moore, of the horticulture department, said yesterday. "This year I understand that the display will be larger than usual."

Urges Jurisdiction of Auto Transport Lines

John M. Glenn, editor of the Manufacturers' News, recommends in a letter to Chairman McChord of the interstate commerce commission that the commission assume jurisdiction over the automobile carrier of freight and passengers, which, says Mr. Glenn, "destroys the highways as fast as they are being built and butchered over 13,000 people last year."

Only Known Manuscript of March Disappears

The only known manuscript of the military march, "Troop C," written by L. V. Metcalf '26, has been lost for more than eight weeks. This composition has been played by some of the leading bands in all parts of the country, but always from manuscript form, as Metcalf never had any of his compositions published. Unless copies were made of the march by some of the bands who used the manuscript there is no hope of bringing it into being again, unless someone finds the original. Critics have pronounced the piece one of exceptional merit.

Watching Shadows is Unhealthy For Patients

"Watching lengthening shadows and counting wall paper designs from day to day has retarded the recovery of many patients," said Miss Gertrude Burnson, Dane county nurse, in her talk to the Madison Dental Assistants club in their monthly meeting held in the Y. W. C. A. parlors yesterday.

It is not only the essential care of the sick, which makes for their recovery, but the cheer and change which can be made in the sick room. A crackling fire in the grate not only adds cheer, but is conducive to more complete ventilation.

A dinner was served in connection with the meeting.

BADGER HOCKEY SQUAD TO PLAY AT ANN ARBOR

Lack of Ice Prevents Early Practice For Team

Varsity hockey men are putting in hours of hard work every day in an attempt to get into proper winning condition for the first conference meets of the season to be held at Ann Arbor next Friday and Saturday. Lack of ice until after the Christmas holidays has prevented sufficient practice, and the team will journey to Michigan without being in the best of condition.

While the team has not been dited with having a very strong team during the past few years, little is known of the 1923 team. Word came from Ann Arbor last year that the freshman team was stronger than the varsity team. While these freshmen would be varsity material this year, it is not known whether or not the dope is all true.

Many Are Ineligible
Despite the fact that several men from last year's Wisconsin team are in competition again this year, Coach A. K. Viner does not feel entirely satisfied with the results which practice has shown so far this year. A large number of men are reporting for practice every day but many of them are freshmen and are ineligible for the varsity squad. Viner places most of his hopes for a winning team on the work of a few regulars from last year's team. In Captain Howard Combacker he has a consistent player who is aggressive and who can be counted on to work in every game. Tom Tredwell, in the goal tender's position, is another man who can be depended upon to cause considerable worry to opponents.

Start Trip Thursday
Other men who will play in the games this week end are Fiske, Blodgett, and Johnson. The other men have not been picked yet, but will be picked according to the way in which they show up in the practice of the next few days.

The men will leave for the games with the Wolverines tomorrow evening. Regular practice will be held this afternoon and the team will take a short workout on Thursday afternoon as well.

Besides the games with Michigan on Friday and Saturday, the Badgers will play six other games this winter. Michigan will come to Wisconsin for a series of two games, the Badgers will go to Minneapolis to take on the Gophers two games on the Minneapolis rink and Minnesota will play two return games at Wisconsin.

The term of the summer session extends from June 25 to August 3. The posters illustrate the university and aim to call attention to the opportunities of the summer session. These posters will be followed up by other information in a few weeks.

Holmes, Halfback, Will Be Eligible Next Fall

Good news often follows bad news.

On the heels of the loss of Steve Pulaski, Varsity end who has left school, comes the definite announcement that Harold Holmes, Pocatel, Idaho, half, end, and quarterback will return to the University of Wisconsin for the second semester.

Holmes communicated with members of Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity and declared his intentions of returning. He will be available for the 1923 football team and will greatly bolster up the backfield.

Holmes played in the 1920 season, alternating with Rollie Williams at halfback and also playing quarter and end at times. Ineligible last year, he played with the All-Americans which boasted then of Marty Below, captain of next year's team, Shorty Barr, and Pat Donaghey.

185 Men Placed at Work During December

The employment situation in Madison remained about the same, according to the monthly report of Madison Employment Agency for December. A slight decrease was experienced but this was due to many plants closing down for inventory purposes and for the holidays.

During December 419 men were registered, 267 requests for help, 267 referred and 185 placed. The women's department had 200 registrants, 96 positions offered, 128 placed and 95 placed.

Indications the first of the year indicates that work is again picking up. The building trades are picking up after a slight falling off the early part of the winter.

At the meeting tonight, informal pictures of action will be taken for the Badger.

What Will Become of Music Lovers—Dykema

The pressing question of present day music lovers is where the people are going, rather than where they are, in their musical tastes, according to Prof. P. W. Dykema of the School of Music in an address given during the convention of National Music Teachers' association at the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York City, recently.

Community music as an American innovation was the theme of his address.

The present community interest in music originated during the war, according to Professor Dykema. In the effort to take music to all of the soldiers old songs of the people were revived and introduced into the camps. Now the popularity of this form of music is becoming steadily greater as is evidenced by the number of local orchestras, cantatas, and choruses which are given in this country at this time.

BASKET SQUAD PREPARES FOR CHICAGO GAME

Team's Defensive Work Helps in First Victories

The Wisconsin basketball team, victorious in two games played during a five-day jaunt, will start work this afternoon in preparation for the Chicago contest on Saturday.

Defensive work of the quintet was a feature in the two games which were won.

How long will Wisconsin remain at the top of Conference basketball standings?

Team Under Fire

Now that the Badgers have captured two games, this question is uppermost in the composite mind of fandom. When Wisconsin defeated both Northwestern and Indiana on foreign courts, it showed that it has a team which will be dangerous at all times. The team was under fire in both games and in the Hoosier tilt did not pile up a safe lead until the closing moments.

Those who predicted that Ken Elsom could not stand the gaff of a Conference battle were sadly mistaken. The slight forward ran wild against Indiana. He netted five baskets, more than any other man on the team, and his floor work was superb. Les Gage continues to be the steady floor man and consistent basket shooter. He made baskets against the Purple and two against the Hoosier quintet. Gage dropped 7 out of 9 free throws in the initial game and if that is any criterion, then Wisconsin has the consistent thrower who has been missing for several years.

Chicago Next

Captain Williams and Gus Tebell are playing a bang-up game on defense. They are also working into the offense and each succeeded in caging long shots during the first two contests. Because of an injury received early in the Northwestern game, Gibson failed to uphold his reputation as an "out-of-town" star. He may be expected to round into form soon.

With Chicago as its next opponent, the Badger squad begins work today in preparation for their first home battle. Chicago has had little luck in the early season, losing all of its games to Armour Legion post, Vanderbilt, Butler, and Iowa university. Coach Nels Norgren is using Frida, Capt. Yardley, Barnes, Dickson, and other men of fair ability in an effort to produce the right combination.

Hotel Man Planning Work in Milwaukee

The project will cost $1,250,000.

PLEASING OBSERVATION

We have just had a look at the Prom issue of the Octopus and can't help mentioning it. It is pleasing to observe improvement in university activities, especially in the tangible efforts of editors. And the Octopus approaches in this issue the standard of taste set by the great humorous weeklies.

One sometimes hears college humor mentioned in a patronizing manner. It is a sad condition if such an attitude is justified. College students theoretically are a selected class, and we fail to see why publications edited by and for them should not display a standard of taste acceptable to a less selected circulation.

Lack of cleverness might be excused in an amateur effort, but usually there is plenty of cleverness in college. Lack of finesse, fumbling satire, gross blundering which verges on vulgarity, overemphasis of the pun (which is a delightful form of wit when used discreetly) these faults, however, are hard to forgive in a college paper. For they are largely concerned with respectability of taste.

We do not flatly indict past issues of the Octopus for such faults, but neither can we plead their absolute innocence. It is for this reason that we are so decidedly pleased with this latest issue. It is a notable improvement, meriting applause.

THE WINTER CARNIVAL

It is proposed that the university join with the city of Madison this year in staging a great winter carnival worthy of an ice-bound community. Such an opportunity for cooperation is not lightly to be discarded.

The university needs and should have a big ice carnival; such an event is also beneficial to the city. An event in which the two joined forces would have much greater possibilities than two attempts on a smaller scale.

We hope the city and the athletic department will co-operate.

ON ESMERELDA

A little sonnet published in the Skyrockets column last Saturday has inspired some comment. Signed by "Esmerelda" the verse expressed a very decided attitude on the question of Fitzgerald Love," with a particular dig at collegiate fussers.

Some satirical stabs by cynical males have put a new angle on the question. Has the recent inundation of jazz age tales a foundation in fact? What do college couples talk about? Have college students a fund of interesting conversation? What is the most popular pastime for fussers, next to dancing? What experiences do college students have with members of the opposite sex?

Though the matter is interesting, we do not care to express opinions about it; editorial efforts leave little time for experimentation, even upon a problem so pressing. So we will remain silent.

But still we are interested, and we have laid open the columns of the Cardinal, so that those who know may contribute to this branch of human knowledge.

Terse, pithy contributions on the subject will be welcomed.

Ticket Sale For Walpole Lecture Will Open Today

A limited number of tickets go on sale today for the lecture by Hugh Walpole, English novelist and literary critic, which is to be given at 8 o'clock Thursday, January 18 in Music hall under the auspices of Theta Sigma Phi.

Mr. Walpole is now making his first appearance on the American lecture platform since his brief tour in 1920 which attracted record breaking houses everywhere that he went. His popularity on both his tours has been so great that newspapers in every city have devoted columns to his views on contemporary lectures which have aroused such unusual interest.

Not only is Mr. Walpole one of the foremost authorities on English literature but he has also written eleven novels of high repute himself.

As a speaker he is fully as interesting as he is as the writer. In addition his close personal acquaintance with the authors whose books he discusses enables him to intersperse his lectures with interesting reminiscences and other intimate touches which serve to show the celebrities at close range and give an insight into their methods of working.

Fraternalities and sororities are receiving special attention, and may

ANNOUNCING PAT TERN

TO CLAUDE FROLLO:

Far be it from me to enthuse over the linguistic accomplishments of Esmerelda, yet do I detect symptoms of that awful ego in your touching lines? In the language of the classic; what do you expect for a nickel?

Boy, your education in that all-embracing subject of fustology has been sadly neglected. What characteristic of your make-up do you consider must inevitably bring forth demonstrations of undying affection?

Did it ever occur to you that perhaps a wanton kiss is all that you deserve? Do you always choose topics of conversation which are of interest to the girl with whom you are conversing? Two bits you do not.

From your sweet little composition I infer that you expect every girl to live up to the standards of your particular ideal girl. In other words you are looking for something which ain't.

Please don't think me rude when I suggest that you try to bear up in silence. I may as well acquaint you with the fact that there ain't no Santa Claus as to tell you that you will be obliged to look quite a few over before you will find the ideal girl. Perhaps your reading of novels has contributed to the unbalancing of your mental processes with regard to the modern female. Think it over. Duelling is forbidden in the U. S. A.

Yours for a soul-kiss,
PAT TERN.

Cartoons, Verses In Prom Octopus Make Issue The Best Ever

By H. H. P.

The Prom number of the Octopus, which appears on the campus today, strikes us as the best issue of the magazine yet published. Which is saying a good deal; for there were some very good issues published last year.

As usual the cartoons are clever and well executed; but also the copy has the unusual attribute of being uniformly enjoyable to read. If you are one of the many who make a practice of ignoring all but the illustrations in the Octopus, read the verse and the satirical sketches this month. We think you'll enjoy them.

You won't find the usual shovelful of bad puns, but you'll find several good ones sparkling brightly with good display. But best of all there is a touch of humanity and whimsical lightness in the humor which is decidedly pleasant.

We don't mean that the Octopus has reached the acme of good taste in humor, but it has eliminated a great many of its grosser faults. A sharp satirical scalpel has somewhat replaced the blundering bludgeon. (Unfortunately most of the satirists seem to be men, and women are the subjects for most of the incisions.)

The most striking achievement of the issue, however, is the satirical spread, burlesquing the Prom Cardinal. To one familiar with this annual journalistic enterprise, especially to one who has helped edit it, this page is superlatively funny. If you have a copy of last year's Prom Cardinal, compare them and add to your laughs.

In this burlesque, the Octopus has thrown overboard its usual unbending policy of general humor, shunning the personal, and taken a tack of personality and particularity which is effective and refreshing.

The good contributions, most of which stick to the subject of Prom, are too numerous to mention individually; but we can't resist remarking that Miss Leitzell's delightful sketches this month are closely connected with the attendant jokes.

have their seats reserved in a block for them. Orders may be sent to Marjorie Ruff '23, who is in charge of the ticket sale, or to Frances Warren '24, who is assisting her.

By special arrangements the seats are selling for $1. and $1.50, which is lower than at other places where Mr. Walpole is speaking. Tickets are on sale at the University pharmacy, Hook's Music store, Moseley's Book store, Brown's book shop, the Corner book shop, and in the Y. W. C. A. and S. G. A. office in Lathrop.

HOW IT ALL HAPPENED!

T'was Xmas time! Him and Her was sitting around one evening talking about the weather or something and the conversation kinda ran low and all at once she pipes up "My, Madison must be a wonderful place! They have a beautiful campus and a couple of dandy lakes haven't they?" and he says, "Yah! (like a true son of Milwaukee should) we got a pretty nifty outfit up there". (He is now nibbling at the bait) And she says, "My! I think the Madison men are so attractive," and he says "Well, weer—ain't such a bad bunch! (cough, cough,)—still nibbling! She continues, "And they do have such wonderful parties up there, and the music—of that wonderful music—especially at Prom!! My I'd love to go to a Prom up there—I'd give most—anything to go to one of those Proms" (and he begins to nibble a little more) he says, "If you—er—would like—er—care to—er—go— (Another sucker pulled in) so before he could finish—something might have saved him, she ups with the carefully rehearsed following, "Oh, I didn't expect that, of course I'll go—Your just the sweetest man I've ever known!!" ## Parkway Has 5 Days of Spoken Drama Booked

By H. H. P.

"The Man Who Came Back", a New York melodramatic success of the vintage of 1917, opened a five day run of spoken drama at the Parkway last night. It will be repeated tonight. Thursday evening Fiske O'Hara will take the stage for three days of "Land o' Romance", which we expect to enjoy considerably more than last night's performance.

We can enjoy a play of factitious unreality when the cast is strong enough to make it seem real; we probably would have enjoyed this play five years ago; but our frank opinion is that "The Man Who Came Back" has had a relapse.

The play is a tense tale of a "weak" and rapid young man of rich parentage whose father throws him out. He goes to hell in a glorious fashion, also starting that way a sweet little cabaret singer who loves him. She, however, remains virtuous, even until she meets him in the lowest opium dive in Shanghai; where they both decide that they have drunk enough drags and resolve to come back.

They came back on a pineapple farm in Honolulu, where the air is clean and the stars shine lonely-like at night-time. Yes, it's that sort of a play. A dark, dreary story with almost no comic relief, with no worth while thought to take away.

It takes mighty accomplished actors to make such a play seem real. When a man has to be both a handsome ne'er-do-well and a down-and-out, when a woman has to be both an unsophisticated cabaret singer and a virtuous hag in an opium den—but why elaborate? We couldn't forget that we were watching actors last night.

CAMPAIGN WILL REFORM PRESS

Los Angeles Citizens Unite to Raise Newspaper Standards

Approximately 300,000 citizens of California have joined Los Angeles women in a campaign to lift the standard of daily newspapers in Southern California.

The drive is especially directed against the "banning" in heavy type of accounts of crimes, scandals and tragedies, across the first page.

"The California campaign for a cleaner press is a highly desirable movement," said Prof. E. M. Johnson, of the Course in Journalism, yesterday.

"Entirely too much emphasis is placed upon the extremes in news and gives the average reader a distorted view of life," Mr. Johnson said. "Because the influence of the yellow press has had such a strong hold on the Pacific coast it is especially encouraging to learn of a movement to contract sensational news."

Record Retrenches

Among the prominent organizations included in the campaign are the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, the Los Angeles Board of Education, the Los Angeles Bar association, the Women's City club, the Men's City club, the Merchants' and Manufacturers' association, the Hollywood Chamber of Commerce, the City Teacher's club, Rotary club, Central Labor council, Los Angeles Realty board, Motion Picture Producers association, Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Ad club, and the Federation of State societies.

New Map of Europe Can Be Read at a Glance

An new map of Europe is now being prepared by Prof. A. K. Lobeck of the geology and geography department. This physiographic diagram will show mountains, rivers, valleys, plains, and geological structures. The topography is so drawn that to anyone having a knowledge of geology, the character of the country can be seen at a glance.

The diagram is similar to the one of the United States made recently by Professor Lobeck showing characteristics of areas of the different parts of the country. It is in general use in the many normal schools and colleges throughout the country.

With the small scale edition, there are six pages of text material. It gives in condensed form, a short description of the geography and geology of the various regions.

The large edition of the map is a wall or board map, but students find the smaller one useful in individual study. The small map was used last summer by students who were in Professor Lobeck's class taking the Rocky Mountain Field trip.

Third Electric School to Open This Month

The third annual school for electric meter men will open here January 29, and continue through Feb. 2. This school, which is conducted by the University extension division and the College of Engineering, with the cooperation of the state railroad commission and the Wisconsin Electrical association, will draw men from many Wisconsin cities.

The purpose of the school is to assist the electric utilities of the state in training men in the theory of operation, testing, and maintenance of electrical measuring instruments.

Last year there were about 69 meter men engaged in public utility work in attendance at the school. This year the students will each receive the specific instruction that he needs, since the men are all to be classified according to their previous electrical experience or education. The main factor, however, in classifying the men will be their knowledge of alternating currents. This is due to the fact that almost all of the meters in Wisconsin are of the alternating type, and a complete understanding of their operation and adjustment makes a knowledge of alternating currents necessary.

The study of relays will also be given careful attention. This work will be in charge of an expert from one of the large manufacturing companies.

Siebecker Is Praised During Services Here

Judge Stevens and Vinje in Eulogy at Memorial Event

Memorial services for Robert G. Siebecker, late Chief Justice of the Wisconsin Supreme court, were held at the Supreme Court chamber of the capitol this morning. Judge E. Ray Stevens delivered the memorial address and Chief Justice A. J. Vinje responded for the Supreme court. The court chamber and corridor were packed with spectators. The family of the late Chief Justice, members of the state Supreme court and of the Dane County Bar Association, and state officials attended the services. At the conclusion of the services the court adjourned until 1:30 this afternoon as a mark of respect to the memory of Judge Siebecker.

Judge Stevens said in part: "For nearly a third of a century Judge Siebecker served the state as a member of its judiciary. Nineteen of these years were spent on the Supreme bench and thirteen years at the circuit. His opinions appear in 59 volumes of the reports of this court."

"Judge Siebecker soon became a conspicuously able trial judge. He never determined a matter hastily, nor without full and careful consideration, but his decisions were generally right. Whether right or wrong, they were the result of his honest thinking and reasoning and they were firmly adhered to."

"The suitor does not live, the lawyer does not live, who can truthfully say that he received from Judge Siebecker anything but the kindest and most considerate treatment. He was a just judge."

Chief Justice Vinje responded in part:

"He is dull, indeed, who does not sense the epic qualities of the life briefly sketched in the memorial just presented. From barefoot farmer boy to Chief Justice of the state! That itself is a record shedding lustre upon him who achieved it. But it is double honorable when, as here, though attended with no small handicaps at the beginning, each step towards the final goal was deservedly earned."

"Our late beloved Chief Justice is both great and good, but he was both great and good, but he was preeminently the latter, and as such we reverently enshrine him in our memory."

Auto Crash Victims in Critical Condition

His mother, Mrs. William Boyd, 56, is also in a serious condition, suffering with a broken hip and numerous cuts and bruises. She is expected to recover.

Young Says Movies Cause Interest in Shakespeare

"The moving pictures are in a great many ways responsible for the recent great increase in the interest in Shakespeare," commented Prof. Karl Young, head of the English department of the university.

"The moving pictures have accustomed a large number of people to going to the theatre, and through their artificial antics, the movies have created a sincere desire for real acting on the stage. This desire naturally leads to Shakespeare."

"They have caused a demand in the people for clear, solid manhood and womanhood in the actors. Shakespeare, better than any other writer, is able to satisfy this demand."

Enrollment in Extension Division Totals 79,868 Since Organization

Since 1906, the date of organization, an aggregate number of 79,868 enrollments have been made in the correspondence courses and regular classes conducted by the Extension Division, according to the most recent report of Dean L. Reber.

A total of 6,647 students were registered in the 258 extension courses conducted in various cities during the past two years. A registration of 3,820 students in the 147 classes conducted in Milwaukee was the largest. Some 110 classes with a total of 2,827 students, were conducted in other Wisconsin cities and towns.

The rapid growth of the work since 1912, when there were 9,494 registrations, is illustrated by these increases: 1912-1914, a total of 6,498 correspondence students; 1914-1916, a total of 8,563, or an increase of 32 per cent; 1916-1918, exactly 13,413 a 57 per cent gain; 1918-1920, the number of 18,151, or a 35 per cent increase; 1920-1922, 23,749, or an increase of 31 per cent.

The various branches had these enrollments: In business and commercial vocational studies last year there were 6,885 students, in engineering and industrial studies 7,749, 26.3 per cent of the whole; in social sciences, 5,720 students, 19.4 per cent of the entire body; in English, 3,259, 11 per cent of the whole; in mathematics, 3,446, 11.7 per cent of the entire enrollment; in physical sciences, 877 students, 2.9 per cent of the complete listing; in foreign languages, the 4.8 per cent was made up of the 1,432 students registered.

Some 7,764 active registrations, of which 12,237 were men, and 5,227 women students, were carried forward into the next year from the end of June 30, 1922.

Steeplechase Scenes Appear in Comedy Drama

A sensational jump never before negotiated has been included in the spectacular steeplechase scenes in Thomas H. Ince's comedy drama special, "The Hottentot," now showing at the Strand theater.

One of the most difficult jumps to teach a high school horse is to take a picket fence. Director Del Andrews, who filmed the race scenes in Ince's screen version of the stage play in which Willie Collier scored such a success, was so determined to get something brand new in the way of racing thrills that he had two picket fences put in succession on the course which was specially laid out for the steeplechase in the picture.

Thirteen horses take twenty-four jumps, including stone walls, wire fences, hedges, artificial barriers and an eighteen-foot water jump. To be sure of enough horses to finish out the scenes, a string of twenty-six horses was gotten together and trained for these jumps. More time was spent in teaching the horses to take the double picket fence jump than was necessary for all the other jumps put together.

Dies in Blaze

Minneapolis Hotel Fire is Fatal For Woman; Scores Rescued

(By the Associated Press)
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — The coroner's office today planned to investigate the fire in the Lincoln hotel here late last night which resulted in one person being asphyxiated, caused injury to a dozen others and forced three score guests to flee for their lives. The blaze started in the pastry shop in the basement of the hotel and was confined to the shop but thick, heavy smoke spread quickly to the upper floors and a score of persons were overcome. The loss was about $15,000. Mrs. T. E. Lehman, Chicago, died after being taken to the hospital. Many heroic rescues by firemen, police, employees and guests were related. The life of a three months old baby was saved when she was dropped by her mother from the 5th. floor to the arms of Amos Miller, Detroit, who was on the 4th. floor fire escape and who carried the child to safety. R. C. Hill, River Falls, Wis., was slightly injured.

Anyone who is interested in this subject is urged to attend the meeting. Officers for the coming year will be elected at a business meeting which will follow the lecture.

INDIANAPOLIS — Call for a joint meeting of coal operators and miners of the central competitive field to be held in New York City, Jan. 18, to negotiate a wage contract, was signed by J. L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and Phil H. Penna, for the operators.

Ag College Dean Scored by Comings for Attack Upon Organized Labor in America

By Lieut. Geo. F. Comings
"Instead of returning prosperity, he is facing a period of increasing hopelessness." At least one man holding a position of great importance in this state has for years consistently pursued a straightforward course in demanding in the interest of justice, and for the advancement of agriculture, a fundamental change in policies of taxation. He advocates this as one of the suggested remedies that should be tried as a means to rehabilitate agriculture.

In striking contrast to this, is the hide-and-seek chameleon attitude of agricultural leaders, deans of agricultural colleges, etc.

In the Saturday Evening Post a dean of the agricultural college in an adjoining state, sends broadcast just before election a most vitriolic, unfair, exaggerated attack on organized labor. It represents labor as soldiering on its job, as securing through tyrannical methods of unfair portion of socially produced wealth, leaving the farmer destitute and in a tragic condition.

Can anyone point out any considerable number of working people organized or unorganized who are loafing on their jobs? Does anyone know of any large group of laboring men receiving more than enough to maintain a decent standard of living? If anyone knows such things, let's have the facts. The time, place and manner, clearly indicates that the article in the Post was a piece of vicious propaganda. This same dean a few years ago in an address delivered in Madison suggested "an agrarian revolt or revolution as probable in a few years" because of the burden imposed upon society through inflated land values. Since then he burden has more than doubled, but labor not monopoly in land, is the evil that now causes the farmer's undoing.

Another dean not far removed, in an address delivered in Michigan, first deprecates the tragic condition agriculture is in, and then specifically enumerates the things government has done through legislation to help agriculture and then speaks of things which government should do to bring relief. A short time ago, according to this dean, legislative action was needed to mend the situation, more recently however, he is reported as saying to the manufacturers' association, legislative action is undesirable. It is not the best solution of the problem. "The question has got to work itself out."

Men rated high among agricultural leaders at Washington and in various states lament over the lack of a foreign market, and then their administration puts over a bill providing for a Chinese wall of exclusion. Great quantities of agricultural products might go abroad if we were willing to accept goods from foreign lands in payment, but to do that, would hurt our combination of manufactures. They could not profiteer at the farmer's expense so easily, so the law of prohibition of trade is put in effect, and the foreign demand ruined or not made effective. Is the tariff one of the claws or one of the tentacles of the unseen thing that has hit the farm.

Is it unfair to ask of those who pose as agricultural leaders and experts, those who draw princely salaries, those who attend conferences, those who speak at manufacturers' associations and club banquets, why do you not stop repeating over and over our social ills, and as leaders and experts get together and agree on some program, legislative or otherwise, that shall bring relief? Why forever walk and talk in a vicious circle that gets us nowhere? The farmers have paid you, they have followed your advice, and now are in the ditch. Are you, their leaders, agreed on any concrete steps to resolve the dilemma, agriculture is in? If you have no program, are you willing to help put in effect a system of taxation that shall lighten the burden resting on agriculture? Are you willing that discrimination shall be made in favor of earned incomes as against unearned

Milo Kittleson today is in receipt of a letter of thanks from the state headquarters of the Near East Relief association for Wisconsin asking him to thank the public of Madison for the great help given to the drive for funds. The sum received from the city amounted to $1,152.80 in addition to which a large amount of clothing was also received. The letter was received from E. E. Fitzgerald, director of the state drive at Milwaukee.

Building And Loan Association to Elect

The annual stockholders' meeting of the Provident Building & Loan association will be held tomorrow night at the city Y. M. C. A. Directors for the organization will be elected. Marshall Cousins, commissioner of banking, will address the stockholders at a supper preceding the business meeting. Officers will be elected by the directors on Feb. 9.

ed in matters of taxation? Are you willing to stop in a measure at least, a system of taxation that compels consumers to not only pay the tax imposed, but also ten to fifteen profits added to the tax, through which method the tax is often increased three hundred or more percent to the ultimate consumer and adds greatly to the high cost of living. Is the tax on commerce and industry another claw or tentacle of that unseen thing that has sent the farmers reeling to the ground?

Offer $350,000 To Church For Site For Hotel

Milwaukee Man Wants Location on Square For Project

An offer of $350,000 for the Grace Episcopal church site on the west side of the capitol square as a proposed location for the new $900,000 hotel to be built here this year, was submitted at the annual meeting of the church trustees last night.

The matter, not having been given announcement to all members of the congregation, was not voted upon last night, but a special meeting was called for Sunday evening at 7:30 to consider the proposition.

Two other sites in Madison have been under consideration. One is the Tenney block at the E. Main and S. Pinckney st. corner of the square, and the other is the old Atwood property at W. Doty and Monona ave., now owned by George A. Steinle.

The church site is said to be an ideal location. It has a frontage of 132 feet on the square, and 198 feet on W. Washington ave.

Valuation of the property and the possibility of securing another suite for the church will be taken up Sunday night to determine whether the congregation wishes to sell.
