FIRST MIXER WILL BE HELD FRIDAY NIGHT

All - University Gathering and Dance to be Given at Lathrop

The first all-university mixer will be held Friday night in the gymnasium of Lathrop hall at 8 o'clock. Scherer's orchestra will furnish the music and there will be special stunts under the supervision of Prof. Edgar B. Gordon.

Prof. Gordon says "We are going to give everyone the opportunity of becoming acquainted with people from his own state. That is the first thing they want to know, 'Who is here from Kansas? Who is here from Ohio?' So we have made arrangements for the different groups to get acquainted."

"Mixers will be held the first three Friday nights," said Dean S. H. Goodnight yesterday. "The fourth Friday night will be reserved for a play, the Devereaux Players will be here the fifth, and it is not customary to have a mixer during the week of examinations."

STUDENTS WILL PRESENT DRAMA

Tryouts for Summer Play Begin Thursday in Bascom Hall

The public speaking department will present A Midsummer Night's Dream in the open air theater July 21 and 22. The cast will be made up of students, and tryouts will be held from 9 to 12, every morning, in Bascom hall.

Miss Maud M. Babcock, lecturer in the course on dramatic production, will have charge of the play. Members of the cast and production staff will have an opportunity to become familiar with staging and costuming. Tryouts begin Thursday.

CARDINAL TALKS

The merchants who advertise in The Daily Cardinal are equipped to meet all the needs of summer session students. They carry reliable goods and specialize in serving student trade. Their support of student enterprises and their loyalty to the university merit the business which the students have always given them. Their ads contain news that will make your buying easy and satisfactory. Look in the show window of The Daily Cardinal before you buy.

The list of meetings for today includes that of Masons and Eastern Stars. Announcement of the gatherings appeared in The Daily Cardinal and the weekly calendar. The same mediums are open to the members of other organizations. Notice of meetings will be inserted without charge. Students who are members of organizations have an excellent manner of becoming acquainted by getting together early in the session. They will then be able to plan dances, parties, boat rides, picnics and other activities.

FARM DINNER WILL HEAD RECREATION PROGRAM OF Y. W.

All University Women Invited to Country Party
Friday

A series of recreational week-ends for women is planned by the university Y. W. C. A., starting with a country dinner for 60 cents Friday evening at the "Y. W." farm and a launch ride, followed by a picnic supper to Merrill Springs and Black Hawk cave Monday afternoon.

All university women are invited to attend and are requested to sign on the bulletin board in Lathrop hall by Friday noon for the dinner and Saturday, 3 p. m., for the launch trip.

A three-mile hike under the leadership of Grace Stafford will be conducted every week-end and those completing 16 miles will receive a "Y." at a final picnic at the close of the summer session. Participants are requested to sign on the bulletin board in Lathrop hall.

A Bible study group under Edith W. Blakeman will meet weekly on Monday evening. Those interested are asked to sign on the bulletin board in Lathrop hall.

The university association aims to serve the women on the campus and has organized a special summer cabinet as follows: President, Pearl Lightfeldt; social chairman, Katherine Rosenberry; treasurer and membership chairman, Edith Ewald; secretary, Blanch Fieldfi recreation, Grace Stafford.

Miss Mary Anderson, student secretary, will direct the association work for several weeks. Daily office hours are held in Lathrop hall from 12:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

DIRECTORY TO BE PUBLISHED FOR STUDENTS

A student directory for the summer session will be published as soon as the complete list of names is available. Registration will be completed by the end of the week, and work on the directory will be started immediately. It will probably be ready for distribution by July 6.

INDIAN CORN EXHIBIT ATTRACTS MANY STUDENTS; 50 VARIETIES DISPLAYED

The special display of Indian corn which is being shown at the museum in the Historical Library by Curator C. E. Brown, is attracting the attention of many summer students and visitors. In four cases there are fifty exhibits representing several varieties of maize as grown in semi-cultivated state by the Indians of New York, the northwest, the central plains, and the southwest.

The multi-colored Wisconsin collections represent twelve varieties, including the white squaw flint, the red and blue, and the purple Winnebago. There is a sample ear of the original strain grown by the Chippewas in the Lac Courte Oreilles region. A corn map taken from the records of the Wisconsin Archaeological society shows that the greatest production of maize was in the southwest part of the state.

The Indian corn hills on the campus of Carroll college at Waukesha are representative of such plots, which sometimes included a number of acres.

In Wisconsin in early historic times corn was grown as far north as Lake Superior. Early explorers found it from the St. Lawrence to Texas.

It is generally supposed to have been derived from native grasses of southern Mexico and Guatemala. It is found in mounds and in ancient pueblo ruins and cliff dwellings. There is linguistic evidence of its

TENTING COLONY HAS MANY HOMES

Wisconsin's tenting colony is settling rapidly. Practically all the floors have been taken and about 20 tents erected. With the opening of the study hall the colony has taken on the appearance of a well organized community.

Half the population is made up of families, members of which are enrolled in the university. The other colonists are groups of students who are camping out. Several families were members of the colony last year.

Boat service, a fine beech, a good pier, and life in the open are the inducements which have made the colony a success.

Hundreds Still to Register;
List to be Completed
by Saturday

The registration in the present Summer Session has exceeded the enrollment in any previous summer, although the exact figures are not yet available. Several hundred students registered yesterday and the Registrar's office will be kept busy until the end of the week. Total registrations will exceed by two hundred or more the largest summer enrollment so far, 3,217, last year's number.

Until recently the number of regular Wisconsin university students who have taken the summer courses has been proportionately small, but in the past the number has been steadily increasing. The present increase over last year's registration is due largely to the increased number of regular students attending, as is manifested by the line at Bascom hall, where the students in attendance the past year registered.

Several courses are exceptionally popular this summer. There is an overflow in the courses in American history, Public Speaking, Education Sociology, Political Science, and in some of the courses in Romance Languages. Some of the classes have had to move to larger rooms, and in many cases the classes will have to be divided, necessitating more instructors.

The popularity of the Wisconsin Summer Session is shown by the wide area from which its students are drawn, from almost every state in the country, and its rapidly increasing attendance.

PSYCHIC CULTS BUILT OF LIES

Jastrow Shows Origin of Fake Science and Myth Making

"False science and the primitive tendency to myth-making are responsible for most of the superstitious notions and magical ideas of today," said Prof. Joseph Jastrow, in the first of a series of lectures on "Psychical Cults and Systems," given in the Engineering auditorium Tuesday at 4:30 p. m.

"Modern occultism harks back to the time when primitive man personified everything in nature and thought of the exterior objects in the universe, like the stars, moon, and sun as possessing distinct powers over his fate and fortune," the professor continued. "The wearing of amulets and charms, the popularity of horoscopes, the belief in mediums who can bridge the gap between the real and the occult, indicate that we have not outlived our primitive psychology."

The mediaeval search for the elixir of life and the philosopher's stone, theosophy, phrenology, and the excesses of the mental healing advocates, were among the examples which Professor Jastrow mentioned in his historical view of the occult sciences.

COUPON BOOKS TO BE ISSUED SOON

Coupon books will be issued to students upon presentation of fee cards next week. They will admit the students to lectures, plays and other university events not open to the public. These books are usually available at the time of registration. The exact date and place they may be obtained will be announced in the Cardinal and on the weekly calan-

AT THE FULLER

What promises to be one of the real motion picture events of the year — and from film gossip concerning the production, the promise bids fair to be satisfactorily realized — will come to the Fuller theater toady in a picturization of Sir Gilbert Parker's greatest novel, "The Right of Way" in the field of letters, Sir Gilbert Parker. The publishers of the volume, Messrs. Harper & Brothers, estimate that the readers of this book run into the millions.

Translating celebrated books to the screen has in many instances been disappointing, especially to readers to whom widely known characters, such as that of "Beauty" Steele in "The Right of Way," are crystallized in imagination into real persons. But when Screen Classics, Inc., the producing unit which distributes its pictures through Metro, undertakes such production those who have read the book may go to see the picture with the assurance that atmosphere, characterization, story and setting will have been faithfully, intelligently translated into the form of a motion picture; that the cinematographic version will equal, if not surpass, in power, picturesqueness and heart appeal the original story.

RAMSEY HEADS SUMMER DRIVE FOR MEMORIAL

Hall, Bigler, and Draper Tour State to Boost Union Fund

The campaign for the Union Memorial building will be continued through the summer. Ronald W. Ramsey, formerly president of the Union board, is in charge of the drive among the students.

Lawrence Hall, Jack Bigler and Harold Draper are carrying the campaign to the alumni. They will be on the road all summer speaking to the active alumni organizations throughout the country. A. Lord, the man who is said to have put the Chicago organization over the top, and Regent Walter A. Kohler, also have made speaking engagements in many parts of the country.

A. L. Sommers, campaign manager, who has charge of the headquarters office in Milwaukee, is shifting the personnel of the campaign committee to secure better results and the response of the alumni has been very satisfactory. Contributions are being received as fast as members of the association and former students can be reached.

$90,000 Raised

The students share of the $1,000,000 necessary to build the building is $100,000. Of this approximately $90,000 has been subscribed by the students and faculty during the regular session. The committee feels that many of the summer session students will wish to contribute toward the Union Memorial. The site proposed for the new building is that occupied by the present Union building and the infirmary near the Y. M. C. A.

The building will serve as a center for student life and provide commons for a large number of students. It will include a memorial and a trophy room; reading and social rooms; commons, consisting of dining rooms, large and small; rooms for Union board, senate, court, debating societies, spaces for dancing, offices for various student organizations; billiard and bowling rooms; alumni headquarters and faculty rooms, and a theater.

Design of Building

The design of the exterior is harmonized with the State Historical Library building, adjacent. The architecture, however, is more delicate as becoming to the character of the building. The human element is emphasized at various points and represents youth and life, as well as the element of a memorial. While in no sense a copy, it has a similarity, especially in the treatment of the front, to the Pan American building at Washington, acknowledged to be among the most successful buildings in the world and estimated as one of the five best buildings in the world.

The arrangement of the building places the memorial unit at the center of the front. The pylons at each side of the triple arches of the entrance emphasize this central feature and give room for appropriate inscriptions. The entrance leads at once to the memorial rotunda. This will be two stories in height with an open gallery affording spaces for portrait busts, paintings, inscriptions and flags. It will serve as the entrance to the wings and as the foyer of the theater. Marble, bronze and mosaic will be employed in the finish and decorations.

Room for Activities

The rotunda will be lighted by ornamental skylights in the vaulting and will be always bright. The trophy room occupies the space under the rotunda. The right wing of the building will contain the students' commons, with dining rooms, large and small, and a cafeteria. The upper story of the right wing will contain alumni headquarters with editorial rooms for the Alumni Magazine. With these will be a meeting room for faculty and debating society rooms. The left wing will comprise the great social room or lounge, reading rooms, and on the second floor, rooms for the editorial boards of the Cardinal, Badger, Lit, etc., and rooms for the Student Court, Student Senate and Student Union; and in the basement billiard and bowling rooms, etc.

1200 BADGER FARMERS AT U. W. SESSION

Trails of dust, miles long, on all the county roads leading to Madison, marked the coming into the city today of a caravan of Badger farmers bent on laying siege to the university agricultural department and carrying off as much information as can be crammed into a day's lecture.

With a total attendance of 1,200 up to 2 o'clock this afternoon, all expectations of E. L. Luther, in charge of the summer demonstration work, were shattered.

"It's a record attendance," he said. "Yesterday I had cheerfully counted on about 500, but my estimate is more than doubled."

Rock county alone sent 500 farmers, packing 50 automobiles. The Rock county delegation was headed by R. T. Glasco, county agent. Fifty autos, bearing nearly 200 farmers, came from Jefferson county. They were led by J. M. Coyner, county agent. There were delegates from Green, Sauk, Lake, Waukesha, and a dozen other counties.

Halls-Astell

Last evening at 8:30 o'clock in Grace Episcopal church, Miss Elsie Genevieve Astell, daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. Joseph Astell, North Brooks street, became the bride of John E. Halls, the Rev. Norman C.
Kimbell officiating.

Miss Astell wore a gown of ivory satin and a lone tulle veil, fashioned with a train and caught in cap effect with orange blossoms. Attending her were Misses Olive Parr and Nyria Gile, bridesmaids.

A wedding supper to 85 guests at the home of the bride was served followed by a reception.

Mr. and Mrs. Halls left for a trip, and will be at home after October 1 at 1105 East Gorham street.
The groom, who attended the University of Wisconsin with the class of 1915, is a son of John P. Halls of Chicago, and is associated with the Burgess Battery Co. He spent two years in France during the war, serving with the 127th and 51st infantry, and was commissioned lieutenant. The bride graduated from the university in 1915, College of Letters and Science. While attending the university she was prominent in athletic activities.

LA CROSSE—"It looks as if the old fashioned tramp was coming back," said Judge John Brindley in county court when eight hoboes were arraigned before him by railroad detectives. For two years the La Crosse county sheriff has been complaining of the small number of prisoners at the county jail, and now he is swamped with boarders.

LA CROSSE—George Hiler, former La Crosse policeman, died at the home of a daughter in Rapid City, S. D. Mrs. E. LaVannay, formerly Miss Esther Alex of La Crosse, died at Square Butte, Mont., at the age of 30.

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 80 at 3 p. m. and the lowest was 66 at 4 a. m. Sun sets at 7:41.

Rain fell yesterday and last night along a belt running from Nevada to New England. Over one inch fell in western Missouri. Another area of low barometer is crossing the Canadian plains accompanied by higher temperature and thunder showers. Its influence will be felt in southwestern Wisconsin tonight.

FIRST LECTURE ON ROME GIVEN

"The City of Rome," the first of a series of illustrated lectures on Roman civilization was given this morning by Prof. Grant Showerman in 260, Bascom hall.

Professor Showerman described ancient Rome as a city of majestic beauty with artistic palaces, spacious amphitheatres, massive columns, statues, and arches. It was situated on seven finger-like hills near the volcanic-ash covered Campagna. Today the wealth of archaeological material which Rome possesses is somewhat obscured by the factories and dwellings which have since been erected, but close observation brings many antiquities into view.

In 1898 Professor Showerman received a fellowship in the American academy at Rome and was enabled to study at first hand many interesting phases of classical times.
