S. G. A. MEETING ON RULES IS SET FOR NEXT WEEK

Changes to Be Debated April 2

The S. G. A. mass meeting for all university women to discuss the rules and present regulations has been definitely set for 8:15 o'clock Monday evening, April 2, in Music hall, it was announced yesterday.

This mass meeting, which will be the first of its kind ever held here, is being called by Keystone, organization of the presidents of all the women's organizations and the S. G. A. executive officers. Cleo Parsley '23, president of Keystone and retiring president of S. G. A., will preside at the meeting.

Need Two-thirds Vote

Members of Keystone have been considering possible changes and modifications for the existing rules at their last meetings, and will present a set of recommendations to be considered by every woman at this mass meeting.

A two-thirds vote of all the women present at the meeting will be necessary to change any of the rules, according to the present S. G. A. constitution.

"Music hall should be filled for this meeting, as it is the one chance that the women of the university will be given to express their views on the subject of the rules and regulations under which every under-graduate woman has to live," said Cleo Parsley in speaking of the meeting.

"There has been a great deal of apparent discontent among the university women over the rulings of S. G. A. and it is for the purpose of stopping this feeling by open free discussion of all of the problems that we have called the mass meeting," she said.

Plan Free Discussion

"Any rule which will be brought up will be freely and openly discussed at this meeting," said Lois Jacobs '24, president of S. G. A. It is essential that every one be here, as it is primarily a meeting instead of through any system of representatives as has been used formerly."

The S. G. A. office will be open from 10 until 3:30 o'clock every day, and there will be some officer of the organization there to answer any questions which may come up before the meeting. Women are urged to bring any suggestions which they may have in before the meeting so that they may be carefully considered by the committee.

Journalists Will Not Take

Chicago Trip of Inspection
The annual trip to Chicago for purposes of investigation through the various newspaper plants there will not be undertaken this spring, according to Prof. E. M. Johnson, student director of the Course in Journalism.

In former years this trip, conducted by the directors of the course has been a feature of much interest to students of journalism. However on account of conventions and other special work during the other vacations this year, spring vacation will be the first opportunity for a rest given this department.

A number of students who will be in Chicago during the vacation are planning to go through the Ruben R. Donnelly plant and one or two other large publishing firms, under the guidance of Mil J. Cohler '23, student assistant to the Course in Journalism.

Mrs. E. C. Hoebel to Preside at Phythia-Castalia Debate
Phythia and Castalia have chosen Mrs. E. C. Hoebel, president of the women's Progressive league, as the residing officer for their joint debate to be held Friday night in music hall. The judges will be Mrs. Martha Sell of Madison high school, Professor Selig Perlman of economics department and A. C. Reis.

Winners Of State Title

WISCONSIN HIGH TEAM

This is the team that brought a state interscholastic title to Madison by winning from Oshkosh in the finals last night. Coach Davis' Blue and White men have been considered dangerous contenders from the first of the season and have lived up to their adavance reputation all the way.

COMPANY SUES FOR INJUNCTION AGAINST STAND

Pop-corn and "hot dog" wagons must go.

So says the State Street Investment company, which has started suit in the Circuit court for a permanent injunction, against Louis Stevenson, proprietor of the University pharmacy, James McCloskey, owner of the wagon at 652 State street, and Dr. J. H. Bertrand, De Forest, owner of the property on which the wagon stands.

The city council also took action Friday night to investigate the matter. The city attorney will have his report ready sometime during this week.

The suit is being brought under an old ordinance of the City of Madison, which requires all structures in the fire limits to be built of fire-proof material. The fire limit includes all the business district between the two lakes.

If the injunction is granted, not only will McCloskey be forced out of business, but practically every other pop-corn stand and "hot dog" wagon located in permanent places as well.

The wagon was formerly owned by Eagon and Kelley and was purchased by Mr. McCloskey.

"The only interest I have in the wagon," said Mr. Stevenson yesterday afternoon, "is that I loaned Mr. McCloskey the money to get started on."

Mr. McCloskey, when interviewed, had heard nothing of the suit and was very much surprised that any action had been taken.

UNION LIFE MEMBERS TO RECEIVE BUTTONS

Buttons for all life members of the Wisconsin Union will be distributed after the spring vacation according to an announcement made by Union board yesterday.

Union board plans a more elaborate program for next year. The biennial Vodvil performance will be one of the features for next year.

"The convocation series begun this year will be continued, and we expect to bring speakers such as Hiram Johnson here also. Three concerts by leading musical artists also will be given. The aim of the board is to create interest among students for cultural programs, but the chief aim, of course, is to raise money for the Memorial Union," John C. Dawson '25 said.

All-university mixers and the Lathrop parlor dances will be conducted as usual next year, Dawson said.

For the first time since the innovation of Wisconsin state high school basketball tournaments, a Madison team was crowned champion last night, when the Wisconsin high quintet outclassed Oshkosh in the finals of the 1923 meet, winning 26 to 13.

The showing of Coach Ira Davis' Badger preps exceeded all expectations. Their floor work and team play, coupled with the individual shooting ability of Nelson and Holzworth, proved insurmountable barriers to the Oshkosh five, which was a heavy pre-game favorite.

Preps' Attack Fast

With a defense which held the touted scoring machine of the sawdust city aggregation to five field goals, and a clever five-man attack, the Madison basketeers swept down the floor for shot after shot, assuming the lead early in the initial quarter and adding to the margin up to the final gun.

In the initial session, the playing on both sides was slow, with the men showing the effects of tournament strain. "Shorty" Nelson, Wisconsin high forward who was later awarded an all-state position, made all the field goals in this half, sinking two shots from the floor, while Captain Stehr kept the Davismen in the lead with four free throws. The count was 8 to 4 at half time.

Use Short Pass

Oshkosh sent Barsch, sensational guard, into the tilt out of a sick bed to stem the tide of baskets in the second half. He responded with a beautiful field goal shortly after the start of the period, but it was

NAME WORKERS ON KICKMI STAFF

Property, Publicity Men Are Appointed For Annual Haresfoot Show

Announcement of members of the production staff for "Kikmi", the twenty-fifth annual Haresfoot show, was made last night by Thomas A. Tredwell '23, manager, and Walter A. Frautschi '24, publicity director.

The selections for the staff were based upon the amount and quality of work done by the applicants during the past five weeks. Thirty-one property men and 16 publicity men applied for the three production and seven publicity jobs which the club offers.

"The intensity of the work and the earnest co-operation of all men trying out this year has been greater than ever in my history of Haresfoot experience. The task of picking men was extremely difficult," Tredwell declared last night.

The production and publicity assistants as picked by Tredwell and Frautschi are:

George B. Hazen '23; program manager. George Freeze '24 patrons and advertising. Walter Plewke '24, score manager. James Culbertson '25, Wes Dunlap '25, Leon Zarne '24; publicity assistants. Paul McGinnis '25, Gilbert Schultz '25, program assistant. Orville M. Frye '25 and Christian Randall '25, property men.

In addition to these new men picked from the tryouts, the production staff is made up of E. Mortimer Shuter, director; Howard C. Welch, assistant to the director; L. Gerold Koch '23 undergraduate director; Thomas A. Tredwell general manager; Walter A. Frautschi publicity director and advance agent; Sidney Thorson '24 and Clifford Nolte '25 assistant managers; Sidney Thorson, scenery construction; Edward Spranger, Milwaukee, electrician; Oscar Vetter, Madison, stage manager; Willard Lauch, Madison, master of properties; Miss Schultz, Milwaukee, wardrobe mistress.

Reformation in England to Be Subject of Discussion

"The Reformation Movement in England" is the subject of a talk to be given by Frederick E. Wolf at the meeting of men's discussion groups from 9:30 to 10:15 o'clock this morning at the Y. M. C. A.

"Dad" Wolf has given a series of previous discussions on the reformation in Germany, France, Holland, and Scotland. After spring vacation, the rise of modern denominations out of this reformation movement will be studied, tracing the origin of such sects as Baptists, Methodists, Lutherans, and Presbyterians.

Y. M. COLLECTS WORN CLOTHING

Discarded Clothes Will Be Sent to Aid European Students

A collection of worn and discarded clothing to be sent to students in European countries will be made this week by the Social Service committee of the Y. M. C. A.

People returning from European countries bring back stories of almost unbelievable conditions. Almost none of the students have more than one suit, and those who have one in good condition are considered fortunate. According to prevailing prices in central European countries, a great majority of the students have been unable to buy any new clothing for four years, resorting to having their suits turned, patched, and mended as best they can.

Appeal for Clothing

One report from the European student relief organization tells of a group of students having one suit between them, and alternating in their attendance at classes.

Through the efforts of the European student relief, thousands of students have been able to continue in school. This organization, which is supported by the students of American colleges and universities, has issued an appeal for discarded clothing. Suits, overcoats, flannel shirts, sweaters, shoes, and any other articles of warm clothing are desired.

Defrays Shipping Cost

Fraternities are asked to gather their bundles together and to notify the Y. M. C. A. office when they have done so. These will be called for on Saturday, March 31. Men in rooming houses may leave any contributions at the Y. M. C. A. or call the office and their bundles will be collected.

The central office of the Y. M. C. A. in New York has offered to defray the cost of shipping the clothing to Europe, where it will be distributed under the supervision of the officers of the European student relief.

"This appeal presents an opportunity to be of real service to students of Europe with a very small amount of sacrifice on our part," said Wilber G. Katz '23, chairman of the committee.

Chicago Rabbi Will Address Jewish Student Association

Rabbi Samuel Cohen, of the Mizpah Temple, Chicago, will speak at the meeting of the Jewish Students association to be held at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening in the Woman's building. This is the first time Rabbi Cohen has addressed the Jewish students at Wisconsin. His subject will be, "What is Judaism."

Cohen, Cornelius Write

Songs For Studio Dances

"Fashions" and "Longing" are the two new songs composed by Jess Cohen '24 and Jack Cornelius and played for the first time at the dances in the Candy shop this weekend.

"We are planning to compose other songs to present as features at the studio dances throughout the spring," said Cohen yesterday.

Although written especially for the week of fashions in Madison, the song "Fashions" was presented for the first time at the studio Friday night.

Huber I. R. Move Passed By Assembly

The Huber joint resolution proposing an initiative and referendum amendment to the constitution was concurred in by the assembly today. There was no debate. The amendment would empower the people to propose laws and enact or reject them at the polls and to approve or reject at the polls any act of the legislature. It would further provide for submission of amendments to the constitution upon petition of a specified number of citizens.

Dickson Chosen to Captain Chicago Basketball Squad

Campbell Dickson '24, was unanimously elected captain of the 1924 Chicago basketball squad last Wednesday. Dickson is a graduate of Hyde Park High school where he played for two years.

He was a star end in football, starred in basketball although during the last he was handicapped by an injury received in football, but he was the chief goal scorer for the Maroon squad. He scored forty-one baskets for the Maroon squad.

Five men have been recommended by coach Nels Nirgren to receive the major "C" this year, they are: ex-Capt. George Yardly, Captain Dickson, Joe Duggan, Harrison Barnes and Bill Weiss. Yardly is the only man on the squad who received the letter last year. Those who were recommended to receive the minor or old English letter are: Joe Smidt, Bob Howells, Harry Frida, E. Quick, and Harold Griffin.

Elliott Advises Students On His Ninetieth Birthday

A few words of advice were offered by President emeritus Charles W. Elliott, of Harvard university, on his ninetieth birthday last Tuesday. "Eat moderately, sleep at least seven hours a night with windows open, take exercise in the open air every day, use no stimulants, enjoy all natural delights without excess in any, and keep as serene a spirit as your nature permits," was the advice which the educator offered.

Charles A. Coffin Fund Available For Fellowship

The Charles A. Coffin foundation is offering a $5,000 annual fellowship fund to seniors and graduates of colleges and technical schools of the United States, who show by the character of their work that they are capable of doing research in educational institutions either in this country or abroad.

The fields in which the scholarships are to be offered are electricity, physics and physical chemistry. Application blanks have been sent to the university and must be filled out and returned by April 15.

The dean of education will recommend the two applicants who in his opinion, and the opinion of the faculty, are best qualified to receive the award. The committee prefers men who would be able to devote themselves to the work without financial assistance.

The fellowship carries with it a minimum allowance of $500, which may be increased to meet special needs of the winner.

Drake Relay Carnival Meet to Hold 23rd Anniversary

Back in 1899 the athletic director at Drake university, John L. Griffith founded the annual Drake relay carnival. On April 27 and 28 John L. From a meet attended by a small group of athletics representing a few schools it has developed into one of the largest track events in the country.

QUOTA FOR SUMMER ARMY CAMPS FIXED

The quota of the military department at the Reserve Officers' Training Camps to be held June 14 to July 25, was announced yesterday by Major John S. Woods, commandant.

The artillery may send 45 men to the basic work at Camp Knox. As many men as are taking the advance work here and can qualify may take the advanced work at Camp Knox. Approximately 15 men will go. Camp Custer is the central camp of this corps area, and will draw most of the men. The basic infantry work will be allotted 90 men; the advanced infantry 40; the basic signal corps, 20; and the advanced signals, 30. A quota of 10 men will take ordnance work in Maryland camp.

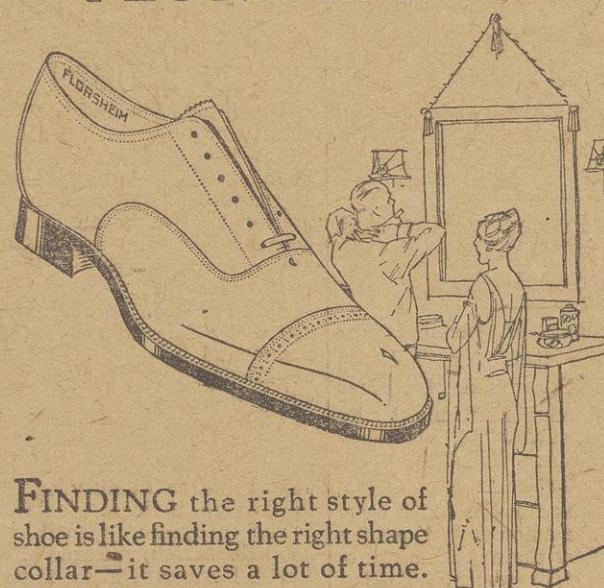

Traveling expenses, uniforms, meals and all medical care will be furnished to all men taking basic work. Advanced students will receive $21 a month in addition.

These students will be called into active service on the same status as officers of the regular service. They will receive the pay and allowance of a second lieutenant in the regular army.

Indiana Celebrates Memorial Drive Success With Holiday

A three-day holiday was given students at Indiana university recently when the $1,000,000 Memorial Union fund went over the top. Holiday rules prevailed for three days after the completion of the campaign, in which freshmen and new students oversubscribed their goal $580. $1,000,399.24 was the total amount received.

SHAWANO WINS OVERTIME GAME FROM APPLETON

Victors Come From Behind

Appleton lost a heart-breaking overtime contest to the Shawano quintet in the final of the competition series of the state basketball tournament last night when a sensational field goal and two free throws turned an apparent 21 to 19 victory into a 24 to 21 defeat.

The Appleton case took a lead shortly after play began, while the game was one of the most thrilling of the meet. It never allowed the No. 11 team to overtake them until the last 10 minutes of play. The score at half time was 10 to 8.

Tie Score as Game Sounds

In the final minutes of play the Shawano basketeers succeeded in counting several long shots, tying the score at 19 all when the gun sounded. In the extra period, Heiderman tallied a long shot and the Paper City lads held the two point advantage until the last 35 seconds of play. Fermanick netted a field goal, and a personal foul enabled the Shawano outfit to win.

Briese Piles up Score

The brilliant work of Briese, Appleton veteran, was the feature of the tilt. Besides his superb defensive strength, the diminutive guard counted 13 points. Mills was an important factor in the rapid passing attack of the losers, while K. Schwiers continued the excellent floor work displayed in previous games.

NON-FRAT GROUPS TO ORGANIZE BALL TEAMS

A meeting for all groups interested in forming an independent baseball league will be held at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night at 271 Langdon street. The purpose of the meeting is to give non-fraternity groups an opportunity to organize teams for the league. The league will be open to all rooming houses, boarding houses, clubs and organizations on the campus. Last year eight teams were entered in the league and some fast competition was the result. Three of the teams were awarded cups. Promoters of the independent league hope that they will be able to increase the number of teams in the league this season.

Hesperia Elects Debating Team Members For Next Year

In preparation for next year's joint debate with Athenaeum, Hesperia Literary society at last Friday's meeting elected George J. Fiedler '25, Harold A. Cranefield '25, and Arthur T. Thorson '25, as members of the debate team, and two alternates, C. C. Fransien '25 and K. F. Hamlin '25.

According to the rules governing the joint debate, the challenge and the subject are made by the inactive society of the 3 men's groups. The loser of each year's debate meets the Agricultural society team, and the inactive society challenges the winner. Next year, Philomathia will meet the Aggies, and Athenaeum will debate against this year's winner, Hesperia.

SOPHS, SENIORS TAKE WOMEN'S BASKET GAMES

The seniors and the sophomores each added another victory to their count in the second round of the women's interclass basketball tournament which was played off in Lathrop gym at 7 o'clock Friday evening.

The seniors defeated the freshmen 39 to 29 after a game whose first part was marked by scoring ties throughout. Before the end of the first half Phyllis Tatman '23 succeeded in shooting into the lead and the senior score was not in danger at any time after that. The two freshmen forwards, Mary Rugen '26 and Lorraine Maytum '26, played with good team work, and splendid accuracy as to baskets in the first part, but lost out in the end.

The junior team went down before the sophomores 26 to 18 in a game which was hotly contested from the start to the finish. The first half ended 14 to 10 in the sophomore's favor, but in the first part of the second half the juniors, trying out a whole new combination with their team, brought the score up to an even 16 to 16. Daisy Simpson '25, even 16 to 16. Daisy Simpson '25, forward, played a fast game with fairly accurate shooting which kept the sophomore count up, in spite of the good team work of the junior guards, Helen Battman '24 and Frances Hellebrandt '24, with Ethel Mae Smith '24 center.

This gives the seniors two victories to their credit, the juniors and the sophomores each one victory and one defeat, while the freshmen have come out with the under score in both of their contests.

The final round which will decide the championship will be played off next Friday evening at 7 o'clock between the seniors and juniors, and the sophomores and freshmen.

T. K. E. Water Basketballers Win From Kappa Sigma Five

The T. K. E. water basketball team took the measure of the Kappa Sigmas by a score of 8 to 2 in the final preliminary game of the interfraternity league yesterday noon. Semifinal games will start next Saturday with eight fraternity teams eligible to compete. A triple tie exists between the Kappa Sigma, TKE, and DKE teams. Play off games will be held to select one of these three to enter the semifinals.

WOMEN PIN CHAMPS DECIDED TOMORROW

The two final matches in the women's interclass bowling tournament will be played off Monday at 7 o'clock in the Lathrop alleys, when the seniors will come up against the juniors, and the freshmen and sophomores will meet. The sophomores have two victories to their credit, the juniors and the seniors each have one victory and one defeat, while the freshmen team foots the list with two defeats. The two matches tomorrow night will determine the championship. The winner will be awarded 40 points toward the all-year championship, which will be announced Field Day after all of the spring sport championships are decided.

SWIM LEADER BREAKS MARK

Czerwonky Wins Breast Stroke At Princeton Meet Yesterday

Hugo E. Czerwonky '24 broke the national intercollegiate record in the 200 yard breast stroke in competition at the national intercollegiate swimming meet at Princeton, New Jersey, last night. Czerwonky navigated the distance in 2:47 flat.

According to Johnny Bennett, captain of Wisconsin's team this season, the record was formerly held by a Yale man who made the distance in 2:57 3-5. Both the new and old records were made in 25 yard tanks. In the Wisconsin tank Czerwonky has clipped off the 200 yards in 2:42.

Czerwonky left for Princeton last Wednesday and was the only Wisconsin man entered in the meet. Bennett made the trip but was kept in Madison by scholastic work.

The new college champion of America in the breast stroke will captain the Wisconsin swimming team next season having been elected to that position Friday night. He was one of the mainstays of the team during the past two seasons and with Bennett was largely responsible for what success Wisconsin tank men have had during the past year.

BANQUET BRINGS TOURNEY TO END

The state basketball tourney which has held sway at the university for the past four days, was brought to close last night with a mammoth banquet for players and committeemen in the capitol.

Awards of every description were made at the banquet when Prof. T. E. Jones presented cups, medals, and watch pendants to teams and individuals for excellence in sportsmanship as well as in prowess.

Joe Steinauer introduced the speakers and welcomed the high school students. "Pinky" Stehr, captain of the winning team, responded for the high schools, thanking officials for their excellent work and thanking various committees for their efficiency in handling the tournament work.

All speakers emphasized the idea that Wisconsin is a most desirable institution to enter, and extended a welcome to the high school students to Wisconsin.

LA CROSSE FIVE TRIMS STEVENS POINT 25 TO 23

River City Quintet Shows Class

Coach George Kaegan's La Crosse basketball warriors proved themselves yesterday when, after being behind during almost the entire game, they stepped out in the last few minutes and took Stevens Point into camp by a 25 to 23 score.

As a result of the victory, the La Crosse five finished the state tournament in third place. Their claim is undisputed.

With the exception of the first few minutes when the La Crosse team held a lead the Stevens Point aggregation was ahead in the scoring until La Crosse started its winning spurt five minutes before the pistol sounded.

Harget and Kasbab Star

Kasbab, at left forward, led the La Crosse attack with five field goals, most of which he made on short shots when Harget passed to him. Harget played a brilliant game as he has done throughout the tournament and got away for two field goals besides making five points via the free throw route.

Boone was the stellar performer for Stevens Point. The Point five presented a different line-up yesterday from any they have started with before and Boone worked at forward. He rang up six field goals and counted five times from the free throw mark.

The game was rough and fouls were frequent. Weigant, La Crosse guard, was banished to the side lines in the last few minutes of the play when he committed his fourth offence.

Team Well Coached

The River City team showed evidence of excellent coaching, and had they been able to go through the tournament with the form they displayed in the first two games they would have doubtless won the tourney. Kaegan is a man with a world of coaching experience to rely on as shown in the good basketball and football teams he has put into the field this year.

"KICK" IN COURSES

There are no amendments prohibiting "kicks" in college courses. But some instructors have allowed their brew of inspirational value to weaken until their courses as dealt out to student customers boast less than one and one-half per cent interest and vitality.

Students today are leaving many class and lecture rooms with the disgusted feeling that the courses are all "bunk", that the subject has been forced upon them by the pressure of curricular requirements, and that the course has degenerated into a mere phonographic reproduction of facts and ideas.

The customary share of the blame rests with the students, but the burden of correction of passive attitudes lies with the instructors.

That university students are the most alert intellectually of any group found in the world, and that this generation of students is inquisitive, even ultra-critical, in their questioning of all practices and all customs, are statements which were made recently by Dr. John R. Mott.

He also stated that students are demanding reality in speech, that will be a relief from the welter of present day scholastic neutralism.

If instructors and professors are to hold the attention and inspire university audiences, they must show that they have an adequate knowledge of the subject on which they are lecturing and that they have the platform ability necessary to put that subject across.

Students don't demand a lyceum course program, but they do want teachers in all their courses whom they can conscientiously respect as teachers who have a vital something to pass on to them and who can pass it on in a vigorous manner that will be a relief from the welter of present day scholastic neutralism.

WHY NOT AN EASTER VACATION?

One week from today will be Easter.

Church bells will tell the layman that the day is to be set aside for Christian observances and Easter lilies and spring hats, those faithful harbingers of the season, will again add the touch of reality to the occasion.

But Easter has come to mean also a day of family consecration and the renewal of numerous friendships. And with this thought comes the reflection that we won't be home with the family this year, that we'll miss the real joys of Eastertide, and that we have been missing the same joys for the past few years.

We've been wondering why the university schedule never is arranged so that the spring vacation includes Easter Sunday. Surely it could be accomplished without upsetting the eternal order of things.

Illinois will observe the season and accordingly closes its doors on Thursday of this week.

When next year's Lenten season rolls around, may we answer dad's letter with a "Yes, I'll be home for Easter."

RUBBING THE LAMP BACKWARDS

At a meeting of the city council held last Friday night, the matter of the recent aggravated county-fair-like appearance of State street was brought up for discussion.

The question was referred to the city attorney and the city building commission.

Newspaper agitation and the consensus of popular opinion, especially among "State street advertisers," wants the approval of direct and immediate action against operation of hot dog stands, lunch wagons, popcorn shacks and concessions along Madison's most travelled street.

We hope that the ghosts and progeny of county fair and circus booths which have been the eyesores of State street for the past months will soon be bid to strike stakes and return to their native haunts.

Then perhaps the tourist may traverse our Broadway without wondering whether or not by the power of a mysterious Aladdin's lamp he is following in the wake of some carnival and the resident of Madison again may take pride in a street which is now over-run with unbeautiful hovels and little "nickel-catching" devices.

The decision which soon will be reached by the city attorney and the building commission will determine the future building policy for Madison streets.

Whether or not the Four Lakes city retains its rating in the catalogue of beautiful cities depends largely on this building policy.

There must be no mistake in the decision reached.

Sunday Round Table

THE ACHIEVEMENT OF CHARACTER

BY REV. J. B. GLEASON
Baptist University Pastor

"He, reflecting God's bright glory and stamped with God's own character sustains the universe with his word of power."

"Today is Palm Sunday the beginning of Holy Week,—the fulfillment of the Lenten season. Therefore students and peoples of all nations will stop and face toward the East, toward their Holy city and check up upon their spiritual ideals. This is the special week of the seasons of the spirit. The following questions will be foremost in all minds. Am I developing according to the purpose of God? Have I any power in my life? Have I any real character?

This leads me to ask what is character? It is the development of the spiritual self, one's own personality. It is rather difficult to define this spiritual self. Someone has said, "The self is the being any man experiences himself to be." The self may undergo sudden extreme changes and retain the feeling of being the same person. One's conversation and actions reveal one's spiritual self. What a man thinks about the most, what books he reads, what games he likes to play,—all these facts of life reveals man's inner world, his spiritual conception of things.

In other words this inner world in which he lives, thinks, feels, and acts is his character. Henry F. Waring says, "In every man there are elements of both good and evil. The elements of good are the assets, the elements of evil are the liabilities". We need to find the elements of evil with their degrees and the elements of good with their degrees before we are able to compute the worth of any man. The answer will be in terms of character.

Another splendid definition of character is "The sum total of tendencies to action." In this definition three things must be considered: moral acts, right motives, and right consequences. The mind is the seat of fact values, while the heart is the seat of the motive. Is the heart right? The two must go together. "I didn't think" is no valid excuse. It is immoral to say that. Look always to the underlying motive. Look before you jump. Think before you act. Do you care enough?

The person who really cares, violently, furiously and intensely is arriving and it will not be long before he will develop a real character.

"He, reflecting God's bright glory and stamped with God's own character, sustains the universe with his word of power."

Character is an acquired product. Man builds for himself. What I am is the result of action and the reaction of life. It is the purpose of God in life. Moral action and moral motive result into moral consequences. Here are some touchstones that will help man to achieve the highest and best character:

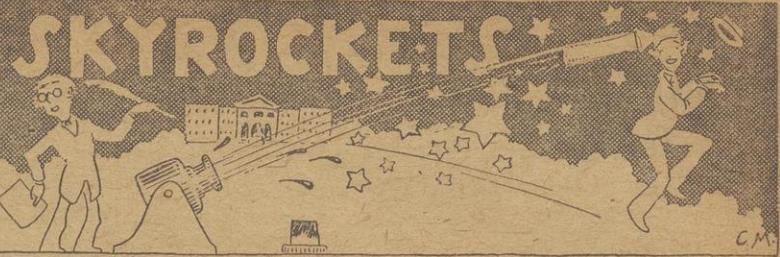

First, knowledge. The facts of the universe must be known. Ignorance always breeds trouble.

Second, proper associations. In other words the right kind of friends. I recommend the church to every man. There he will find and make the best friends. Man grows in character by the very fact of belonging to and mingling with those who are seeking richer and fuller lives.

Third, right choice and decisions, in other words the power of the will. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he". Man must develop the power of genuine initiative to make choices for the best in life.

Fourth, the spirit of good will toward all men of all nations. Hatred, suspicion and misunderstanding must go.

Finally, great concepts of what

YES SIR! today is Sunday, and what's more Sunday is probably one of the nicest little days in the week. First, because it gives you a chance to sit around and look at old rusty radiators. Secondly, you can mend button hooks and if you find time, do a few lessons.

Now if you want to get 100 percent returns from Sunday you must start the day correctly by doing our SETTING DOWN EXERCISES. If you are already up run right back to bed, then with the ears well out of water dive out into the floor (cement floor affords more real laughter). If you do not hear something break do it again. Then run into the living room (all the time keeping out of sight of icemen, maids, etc. etc.) then back to bed. Throw dresser out of window, LAUGH. Then give roommate dirty kick on shins. LAUGH. Roommate will also laugh, but watch him; he is apt to strike you with a chair or bed. By this time you will be so tired that you will have to go to bed for the rest of the day. In a way the joke will sortuv be on you.

JOKE NUMBER TWO?
Mike S. (to Johnny P. who has black eye): How did you get that eye?
Johnny P.: I was dancing with my girl the other night, and her father came in and didn't hear the Victrola.

OUR TODAY'S STORY FOR THE KIDDIES
Little OSCAR lived with his deaf uncle not far from a DAIRY LUNCH. He used to have great fun playing pranks upon his uncle, like lighting the house with a match and then yelling FIRE. But above all he liked to go over to the Dairy Lunch and chase flies; it even got so that he was spending a great deal of time over at the DAIRY LUNCH chasing flies.

Now it all happened this way. One day when little OSCAR had cornered a great big fly under a tomato can the manager of the LUNCH walked in, and you may be sure he watched little OSCAR, for he thought that OSCAR was stealing toothpicks. And then he saw the truth, that OSCAR was chasing the things which he says about Nicholas Murray Butler, for instance, might cause a beautiful libel suit if President Butler thought he could in any way disapprove some of the statements or that it would be in any way desirable to do so. The president of Columbia, we are given to understand, is just about as low down a man as one could find.

And so it goes. Mr. Sinclair does not mince matters. He believed that he had a strong case against the newspapers and he pushed that case to the limit. He believes that he has an equally strong case against the universities (which do not seem organized in such a way as the newspaper are but which Mr. Sinclair believes to be closely interlocked) and he pushes this case to the limit.

While the progressive author may speak the truth in many instances, even perhaps in all instances, he does not speak all of the truth in that he presents only one side of the situation. As a piece of writing about the university life "Town and Gown" was lopsided in that it showed only the sordid side of that life. So "The Goose-Step" is lopsided. In only a few instances does it praise.

Upton Sinclair has a reputation for being adept at twisting facts so that they will suit his own way of thinking. We would not be surprised if he had done this in "The Goose-Step".

The author seems to forget that no institution can exist without financial support. Financiers have given liberally to education and for this the author flays them when they wish to know how their money is being used.

"The Goose-Step" is highly entertaining. It is amusing to see how ruthlessly Upton Sinclair flays the present status of institutions of learning.

MEMORIAL FUND IS $830,000

Prof. Gardner Seeks Support of Alumni in Western States

With more than $830,000 subscribed to the Memorial Union fund, Prof. Edward H. Gardner is swinging through the West on the first leg of his tour to arouse the Wisconsin alumni to active support of the drive.

Professor Gardner brought the matter before the St. Louis alumni last week and was enthusiastically received, as the $4,000 contribution testifies. He is now in Los Angeles where a Wisconsin dinner was held Friday. The results of this meeting have not yet been received here. San Francisco is the next scheduled stopping point.

Not only are Wisconsin alumni in the West being enlisted under the banners of the Memorial Union, but the eastern organizations are coming to the fore in its support. The Pittsburg alumni is planning to hold a Wisconsin dinner in the University club, Pittsburg, on April 13, when Edward S. Jordan, president of the Jordan Motor Car company, who is a Wisconsin graduate, will speak. A member of the university faculty will be given leave of absence to attend and address the eastern alumni. Following the dinner a dance will be held.

In Dayton, O., the Memorial Union has met with such favor that alumni in that city have wired officials managing the campaign to send a Wisconsin man there to speak at a dinner tomorrow night. L. S. Baker, secretary of the building committee, has been selected to carry the message of the Memorial Union and its purposes to the Ohioans.

Willetts Pollock, vice-president of the Second Ward Securities company, has taken charge of the Milwaukee district, which comprise 2,000 Wisconsin alumni. Numerous Wisconsin dinners held during the winter months have met with great success and enthusiasm for the Memorial Union is reported to be gaining impetus.

Requests from Kansas City, Kan., have been granted to have Professor Gardner stop there on April 22-23 to address high school students in that city. Professor Gardner will also speak before the Kansas City Advertising club at that time.

Edison Engineer to Speak

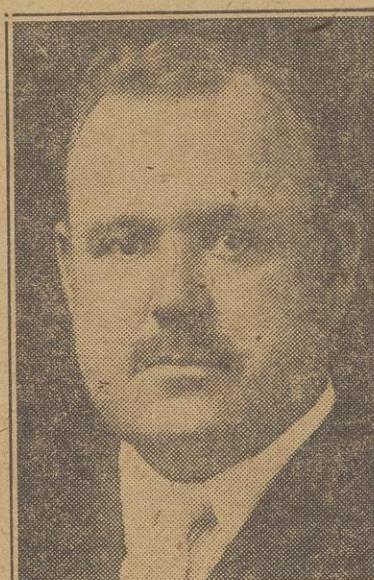

At Joint A. I. E. E. Meeting

R. F. Schuchardt, chief engineer of the Chicago Commonwealth Edison company will give a talk on "The Electricity Supply Industry and the Engineer," before a joint meeting of the Madison and the university sections of the A. I. E. E. next Wednesday evening in the auditorium of the engineering building. The lecture is to be illustrated by slides.

Mr. Schuchardt is a graduate of the engineering college and was president of the Chicago branch of the Wisconsin Alumni association last year.

Before the talk there will be a short business meeting in room 214.

Here is a picture of the man who will be appointed by Gov. Blaine as railroad commissioner to succeed Commissioner Trumbower. He is Frank McManamy of Washington, D. C. Mr. McManamy is an expert in railroad matters and has been identified with the interstate commerce commission. It is expected that Mr. McManamy's appointment will be announced before April 1.

Churches Arrange Extra Music For Today's Services

Music is a feature of Palm Sunday at the Madison churches today. The large vested choir, led by Professor Gordon will sing at the University Congregational church, and a student choir, led by Prof. L. L. Townsend will sing at the Methodist Episcopal church. The sacred cantata will be sung at the Church of the Holy Redeemer at 8 o'clock this evening.

Prof. B. Q. Morgan of the German department will give an illustrated lecture on the Passion Play of Oberammergau at the Wesley Forum at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the University Methodist church.

Professor Morgan was present at the Passion Play in 1922 and had his own slides made. Pictures of the various tableaux, the surrounding country and the characters in the play are included in his collection.

Y. M. Names Booster Body For Bible Meet

At a preliminary meeting of the city Y. M. C. A. last night a booster committee, consisting of Ingman Olsen, H. S. Jacobsen, Howard Piper, Oscar Olson, and the Rev. William Young, was appointed to advertise the summer Bible conference to be held here in August under the auspices of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago. The conference will be interdenominational.

The university gymnasium has been secured. A choir will be organized from the singers of the local churches.

Voting power in city budget sessions will be granted to Ernest F. Bunn, Mayor I. M. Kittleson and City Atty. Roman Heilman if the council passes a resolution introduced before the city council last night by Ald. John Stock, chairman of the finance committee. The resolution also would provide for the opening of budget sessions two months earlier than in the past.

The resolution was referred to the ordinance committee for further investigation and to be reported upon at the next meeting of the council in April.

The resolution of Ald. Stock is called for in a new state law governing the administration of cities and regulating the disposal of funds. The resolution calls for creation of a board of estimates with the mayor, city auditor, and city attorney as members to act with the finance committee giving them the right to vote on the budget provisions.

SIMPLICITY IS DRESS KEYNOTE

Expensive Wardrobes For College Women Are Unnecessary

Simplicity, individuality, neatness, and appropriateness are the things to be considered in selecting the college woman's wardrobe, according to the latest fashion dictates. It is not necessary that the wardrobe be expensive nor extensive to be attractive.

Dresses of serviceable wool materials in blue, black, or brown make excellent school apparel. They should be neat and business-like in appearance, preferably with white collars and cuffs which can be replaced by fresh ones, thus giving one a chance to prevent the dress from becoming tiresome.

Obtain Variety

The sport skirt and sweater, however, are replacing the tailored dress rapidly. As a rule they are far more individual and better suited to certain types of girls. The girl with a strong personality can easily wear bright colors and finds the woolen sweaters most becoming. They offer an opportunity to obtain a variety of combinations without being extravagant. Even personality can be found in the simple white blouse which is worn with the sport costume, and it also gives a neat and fresh appearance far superior to the woolen dress.

The sensible black or brown shoes, and not the high French heeled slippers are proper for school wear. Neither should the extreme shoes be worn for street wear or church. For such occasions the black kid or satin slipper with a lower heel can be used.

Use Knickers For Sports

Such things as fancy combs and ear rings should be for evening wear alone. Beads and fads should be chosen with a little common sense and good judgment. The paisley bands and kerchiefs worn by many college girls this year, are fitting only to a certain type and should not be taken up by every girl because it is a fad.

For the girl who is fond of sports and who takes an active part in them, the knicker suits or riding breeches and coat are quite suitable. They are necessary, however, only when participating in sports and are not fitting to be worn to classes or on the street.

Every girl should have at least one afternoon gown. It can be either silk, velvet, or some fine woolen material, depending upon the use of the dress and the number of dresses of this type that the girl can have. A simple silk dress is very good, as it can be worn at many functions. For the girl who can have only one dress, the three-piece suit is very practical. The dress alone makes a splendid gown for the informal dance and when worn with the coat is quite attractive for street wear. The elaborate tea gown is only for the girl who can have several.

LIT SOCIETIES ENJOY DANCES

Pythia Entertains Philomathia; Hesperia Elects Officers

The principal events of the meetings of the literary societies Friday night were a joint Pythia-Philomathia dance, an election of officers, and several debates on military training, the point system, the Huber unemployment insurance bill and the income tax law.

Athenae's program consisted of a debate on the question "Resolved that the Secrecy clause of the Wisconsin state income tax law be repealed," which was won by the affirmative team, consisting of E. Smith '23 and M. N. Cizor '25. The second debate was on the subject "Resolved, that the Huber unemployment insurance bill merits adoption." The negative squad of A. H. Nicolaus '25, and O. E. Messner '26, won the decision.

Philomathia adjourned in a body to attend the Pythia dance.

Agricultural Literary society devoted most of the meeting to a debate on the subject, "Resolved, that compulsory military training be abolished at the University of Wisconsin." The negative team, L. A. Burke '23 and V. J. Olson '24, was awarded the decision. General discussion of the question followed the argument. An educational paper was read by R. E. Orr '24 and a discussion of current news made by G. E. Johnson '25.

Hesperia concerned principally with a debate, which was won by the negative, on the question "Resolved, that the point system to regulate participation in extracurricular activities be adopted at Wisconsin." The successful team was A. H. Nickel '26, H. C. Bachhuber '24 and C. J. Ballam '26.

In the following election of officers for Hesperia, Wilber Katz '24, was made president, Clifford Fransien '25, vice-president; Edward Uehling '25, secretary; Carl Damsheuser '25, treasurer, and Robert Pfeifer '24, censor.

Only Guests See Actors Present Triple Program

By H. H. P.

With three one-act plays of cranial appeal, the Wisconsin University Players made their bow last night, unhampered by box office considerations. The occasion was the club's first invitation performance before an audience of guests selected for interest in the drama. The program consisted of "Pariah" and "The Stronger," both by Strindberg, and "The Playgoers," by Phinero.

Rigorous elimination of the tawdry characterized the presentation; there was nothing of stage trickery. The Strindberg plays were intensely subjective, verging on the meta-physical; and the Pinero piece, while comic, was high satire, with keen characterizations. Success depended on acting, and the evening was successful.

We think, however, that the players lacked discretion in placing both Strindberg plays on the same program. Coming together with similar appeal, they demanded a difficult endurance of concentration; and left the auditor with a rather wrung-out feeling, as if he had listened to two or three philosophy lectures in one hour. A bit of wit or whimsy would have introduced the program more easily than "Pariah."

In "Pariah," with voluminous discussion of criminal motives well interpreted, Herman Wirk '26 and John Beffel '23 portrayed a slash of wills between a technical criminal, morally innocent, and a criminal, morally defective, in which the latter finally breaks and cringes before his opponent's analytic equanimity.

The quality of Beffel's cringing is well known on the campus, but this was the first university appearance of Wirk, who made a reputation last year as Manson in the Madison high school presentation of "The Servant in the House." The voice quality of both was especially striking. William Tannevitz '23 directed the play.

Agatha McCaffery '23 showed courage in attempting "The Stronger," for in it she had the sole speaking part. Her courage was justified. Portraying a wife's realization that the woman before her has sought to steal her husband, she precipitated an emotional attack on a sudden scorn, sitting sphinx-like behind a bottle in a restaurant, vacantly turning magazine pages. Laures Owen '23 turned the pages dramatically, glittering her eyes meanly with unexplained meaning which kept the audience in a state of conjecture. Dane Vermillion '23 directed.

With "The Playgoers" the evening relaxed. When a young and delicious bride, Helen Tyrell '24, sought to coddle and "uplift" a nervous batch of servants (who had stayed a whole week), her husband, Jack Cornelius '23, had to submit. Then the servants came in, a motley crew of comic types: Solveig Winslow '24, the sophisticated maid, affected with sesquipedality; Naomi Wenzelmann, the militant cook, dragging a befrizzled scullion, Mildred Downie '23; Geraldine Kappel '23, weepy "useful maid;" Arlene Klug '24, housemaid, acidulous vestal; Henry Klos '24, "add man;" "Gilt, sir's me nime. Ge-Ha-He-he; Gile. Think of wñnd," continually consulting his "list of duties."

Their calm critical acceptance of the proffered theatrical treat, followed by demands for tickets for their relatives and by their resignation en masse, gave opportunity for rich satire, well brought out by the direction of Miss Wenzelmann. It

SHOW PAGEANT OF WORLD LIFE

International Club Gives Program of Nations and Customs

"The World in Miniature," given by members of the International club Friday evening in Music hall, was a delightful program of music, dance and song.

Eunice Neckerman '25 and Otto Toenhardt '26 gave an interpretation of the "Sandmannchen" and other German folk songs. Toenhardt also took part in the Alpine trio.

Hindu pass work was interpreted and demonstrated by William A. Gluesing '23 and Fernando Sola '23. The audience helped this stunt by loaning their hats. The usual sleight-of-hand tricks produced might easily have been pushed into a crude burlesque, but it wasn't.

Stage effects, the most ambitious we have ever seen on the pitiful stage of Lathrop concert room, were well carried out by Harold Bentson '24, Jack Harrington '25, Kenneth Gardner '25, and Herbert Boning '23. The whole production showed the influence of Miss Gertrud Johnson's intelligent supervision.

white mice, rabbits, guinea pigs, currant jelly, and yards of paper ribbon.

"A Russian Atmosphere," in which Sonya Forthal, grad, sang folk songs while Anna Holdermann '23 interpreted them with picturesque Russian dances, proved to be one of the most pleasing numbers of the evening.

Sketches from the "Isle of Coo Coo," by P. C. Lani '24, Herman H. Levitz '23, T. Suzuki '23, and N. C. Lochaya '25, Portuguese peasant songs by Miss M. Bensuade, Jack Klak '24 as the inventing fool, the Japanese sumo interpreted by Takitaro Suzuki '23, and the Chinese pageant, depicting the outstanding historical figures of China's national life, were among the sketches presented.

Yussof Zia's '24 interpretation of one of the "Thousand and One Nights" was one of the most humorous and interesting of the whole evening.

STYLE FORECAST

FOR SPRING AND SUMMER
1923

In young men's suits, two distinct types will lead.

For young men of student age, the so-called "collegiate" types will predominate mostly, high three-button styles with straighter backs.

For younger types of business and professional men, the higher waist effect with greater width of shoulders and lapels, and higher gores, in two or three button models, will be favored.

The Norfolk type of sport suit with low belt and low pockets will also be very popular with young men.

Trousers for young men will call for more generous size in legs and bottoms than in the past season. Vests will be of the single breasted, five button type.

For the conservative class of consumers, the tendency will be towards a coat cut along graceful lines with medium body tracing effects.

The patterns in suits for both young and older men will be largely light colors, in tans and grays, with considerable demand in dark, plain colors with fine stripes.

Top coats will be in large demand this spring, mostly of the box type in light and medium colored patterns. In whips and garbines, the raglan shoulders and belted models will again prevail and will serve as a double purpose, sun or rain coat, for the spring months.

The season in men's clothing this spring will, generally speaking, be a very colorful one.

Karstens has long been acknowledged as the leader in styles. The clothing carried in stock has without question the most up-to-the-minute style ideas for either sport, dress or business wear.

All-Weather Toppers

A rainy day won't bother these coats, they're made to stand it. The model shown above is a loose belted Gabardine. It has style enough for any occasion. Others in shower-proofed Whips, Cashmeres and Cheviots, in the box cool style, without belt. You save money when you get two coats in one.

Y DEPUTATION TEAMS ACTIVE

Work Forms Connecting Link Between University and High Schools

To interest high school men in clean living, in life work, in higher education, and in the practice of real religion are the purposes of the Y. M. C. A. deputation teams sent out as one of the first ways of contact between the university and the high school prospective. Dad Wolf says, "The interest on the high school life of these men is uplifting and beneficial. Some of the present speakers have credited their university career to Y. M. C. A. speakers in their home high schools."

Two teams left Friday for Geneva and Walworth, where a high school mass meeting on Friday afternoon, was followed by father and son banquets on Friday evening. An inspirational and recreational program will continue through Sunday night. This is the usual plan carried out by the visiting men.

The Geneva group is made up of Worth E. Shoults '23, Ellsworth Buncle '24, Beverly Masslich '25, and Gus Tebell '23. Men who went to Walworth are Clifford Transien '25, Albert Finnell '26, George Schutt '26, Rollie Williams '23.

The Neillsville delegation last week end was Fred Clapp '25, Kurt Fox '23, Gordon Abbott '25. Letters from school principals and other prominent people of the town were received, expressing their appreciation of the work carried on.

Shoults leaves Easter day to address a mass meeting of Hi-Y at La Crosse. The Northwestern part of the state, covering Eau Claire and Augusta, will be visited during the Easter vacation, when men will spend the whole time conducting these conferences.

Additional men who are planning trips in the near future are George Walsted '25, Walter Frautschi '24, Everett Onstad '26, Harry Augustine '23, Allan Halline '24, Allan Walter '24, Paul Robertson '24 and Gamber Tegtmeyer '24.

Any club or organization on the campus which desires to play in the tournament are requested to send representatives to the meeting.

FLOOD MENACE IN NEBRASKA

Ice Jam in River Threatens to Wipe Out Farm Area

OMAHA, Neb.—Unprecedented ice gorges in the Missouri river near Vermillion, S. D., Sioux City, Ia., and Onawa, Ia., and Dakota City, Neb., early this morning have precipitated conditions present a flood menace for all the lowlands between Vermillion and Omaha, and that threaten the flooding of thousands of acres of rich farm lands in South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska and the destruction of hundreds of farm homes.

Books at Library Office Varied Reading Selection

Do you want to read some new books?

In shelves 11 and 12 at the library stand "Revelations of a Spirit Medium" and "Mechanics of the Brain". Science, history, biography, travel, and social problems crowd out the newest fiction.

French and Spanish books are not usual, but two volumes entitled "English-Tibetan Colloquial Dictionary" are striking. For thrills, "A Camera Actress in the Wilds of Togoland" might satisfy. Two plays by John Masefield stand between travel books on Sahara and Manchuria.

"Ancient India" to "The Problems of the Pacific in the Twentieth Century" cover the field of history. "Memories of the Crown Prince of Germany" give some new side-lights. "Modern American Period Furniture" with "The Worst Boys in Town" stand alone on the last shelf.

G. O. P. WATCHES LA FOLLETTE

Old Guard Prepares Attack on Wisconsin's Senior Senator

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Old Guard republicans here believe that Senator La Follette will be the only candidate against President Harding, and are today preparing to train their guns on the Wisconsin senator.

Announcement by Attorney General Daugherty a week ago that Harding would seek a second term and his slurring reference aimed at La Follette, that the latter would be his sole opponent, has brought important results in Washington in the last few days.

The political observers at the capital believe that Daugherty was probably correct in predicting that Harding will encounter the determined and open opposition of Fighting Bob, in his race for re-nomination. The attorney general's boast that the president will be triumphantly re-nominated and re-elected is accepted at Washington as idle talk without any basis in the political conditions actually existing throughout the country.

La Follette has refused to confide in his closest associates his plans for 1924. Those who know him best, however, believe that he will do everything in his power to defeat Harding and if it is necessary to enter the campaign himself on the stump that he will not hesitate to do so. It is believed that the senator will mark out his course and determine on a definite line of action within the next few months in the quiet of his home home at Madison. The candidacy of Harding has already eliminated Hiram Johnson from the field and will also keep Capper out of the running. Neither has the courage to fight openly within the party against the power of the republican machine which the president will command. Senator Borah's speech at Akron, Wednesday evening, before the great rally of progressives from every county of the president's home state practically killed the Borah boom. The Ohio progressives were disappointed with Borah's comment on the situation in the republican party. He did not refer to the old guard policies of the administration and gave no indication that he will aid in an open fight to prevent the nomination of Harding. As a result the Ohio progressives who were seeking leadership are now turning to La Follette.

The belief prevails here that in a few months La Follette will be found on the stump indicting the administration in much the same terms in which he attacked the policies of President Taft in his preliminary tour in 1911. Progressives here believe that La Follette will actively enter the presidential primaries beginning late this year but that he will go in to fight for delegates instructed to vote for a progressive platform and not committed to support himself for the presidential nomination, they believe that La Follette will get such a bloc of delegates from the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, Iowa and many states west of the Mississippi and that in republican strongholds like Massachusetts and Ohio, Pennsylvania and Illinois. He may capitalize the lukewarm feeling toward Harding sufficiently to sweep a number of those states against the president just as Hiram Johnson defeated Lowden and Wood in a majority of the primaries held in 1920.

It is conceded here that owing to control of the southern delegates and the non-primary states that Harding, like Taft, can obtain a re-nomination. After that, when the machine has adopted a reactionary platform at the convention, the wisest political observers believe that La Follette, Brookhart, Shipstead and others have it in their power to send Harding down to overwhelming defeat either by withholding their support from the republican ticket or by organizing a militant and formidable third party movement.

Prof. Sweeney is Against Contest of Madison Choirs

A propose to have a contest between choirs in Madison is looked upon with disapproval by Prof. E. E. Swinney of the Music school.

"It is absurd," said Professor Swinney. "Choirs are to furnish music Sunday, not to compete in contests as glee clubs. A big program of the choirs would be possible, but not a contest."

SOPHS GAIN 2 VICTORIES IN CO-ED BASEBALL

The sophomore women's indoor baseball team added two victories in the games of the inter-class tournament which were played off Thursday and Friday afternoon in the Lathrop gym. The seniors also gained a high score by defeating the juniors.

The game against the seniors Thursday ended 18 to 13 in favor of the sophomores. At the end of the fifth inning the score stood 10 to 9 in the seniors favor with two outs against the sophomores and their inning. A home run by Hazel Weingandt '25 brought the score even at 10 to 10 just before the third out. A sixth inning had to be played to decide the game, in which the seniors succeeded in bringing in only three home runs, while the sophomores piled up eight.

The sophomore-freshmen game Friday afternoon gave the second year team a 21 to 12 victory after a tight game. Hazel Hyer '25, pitcher and Jane Truesdale '25 played good games.

At the long end of an 11 to 8 score the seniors conquered the juniors Friday afternoon in a game featured by tight playing throughout. This is the lowest score of any game of the tournament this far.

Y. W. C. A. WILL FURTHER MOVE TOWARD PEACE

"We are going to plunge out in deep water in our Y. W. C. A. student industrial conference, and see if we can swim," Miss Katherine Halsey, national industrial secretary, addressed the first meeting of the conference. "The plunge which we are going to take is into the subject of world peace."

Prof. D. D. Lescobier of the economics department of the university, spoke on "Causes That Make for War in Industry."

"The working man today is insisting on only the most sensible rights in the main," he said. "Any outrageous claims which he makes are due to ignorance of the problem of the manager. The working man demands enough economic income so that he can maintain his own standard of living."

Miss Margaret Johnson, teacher of economics in the vocational school spoke on "Strife in the Educational System" he said.

"We do not educate for peace but for war. We train every child to know what to do if the other fellow plays a mean trick on him. We should train how to prevent him from playing the mean trick. In our text books we hold up the war heroes and not the peace heroes as examples. The curse of the world today is patriotism and national feeling."

Melting Pot Is Praised By Dean Nardin

By E. H. S.

Miss F. L. Nardin, Dean of Women, speaks highly of the Wisconsin Menorah production of Israel Zangwill's "The Melting Pot" which was put on in Lathrop concert room Thursday night.

Benjamin Lieberman who took the part of Herr Pappelmeister," Dean Nardin asserted, "acted with real effectiveness. His dignity was well carried out in his comedy role. I also thought that Miss Sara Abrams played the part of a soulless Russian baroness with fine restraint. Harry Katowitz (David Quixano in the play) took the lead very effectively."

Post impressions are disconcerting things. So are newspaper make-up men. We have almost forgotten, and we have surely forgiven, the half hour which we spent waiting for "The Melting Pot" to begin. And now that we are more kindly disposed towards the producers of that play we look back upon the performance and realize that it wasn't done full justice by in the review.

What have make-up men got to do with this story? Simply that one of them, through absolute necessity, left out of the issue for Friday part of the "Melting Pot" review. Please to understand that it was no fault of his. Stories must fit in the forms and the review didn't fit so the last part of it was "dumped."

Now, about "The Melting Pot." First of all, as will go on to say from where our review was out that Sara Abrams who acted the part of the Russian baroness, did splendidly, as did Benjamin Lieberman, the enthusiastic little director. As for the rest of the cast, it fully came up to our expectations.

As for the play itself, it is melodramatic. There is little art in it, little of the real art of fine plays, but it is surely not a medium for propaganda.

The sets and directing were excellent. If you know anything

COMEDY SKETCH TOPS ORPH BILL

A sure-fire comedy sketch, his latest vehicle, will be presented by Raymond Bond in an act presented at the Orpheum theater Sunday as the feature of the program for the first-half of the week. The well known actor will play the part of Ezra Pike, known as "Lucky," an awkward boob from the northwoods. An equally attractive act on the program is the appearance here of Adelaide Bell, the girl who was the talk of New York when she appeared for 17 consecutive months in the Ziegfeld Midnight Frolics and excited patrons with her "back shoulder kicks" and "ankle dislocations." "Broadway Bound" is an offering by Elizabeth Kennedy and Milton Berle, youngsters of unusual dramatic ability. Edward J. Lambert, comedian and pianist, assisted by Miss Minnie Fish, will give a little production, "Youth and Beauty." Grace Ayer and her brother, Billy, are scheduled in a "pleasant surprise." A news reel and Topics of the Day complete the program.

Members of the Luther Memorial student association yesterday sent out "self denial" envelopes to every Lutheran student on the campus, asking them to make some contribution to the envelope every day during Holy Week. The money is to be used for the relief of students in Russia and central Europe.

This relief work is being carried on by the National Lutheran council, acting as the agency for practically every Lutheran church in America. The money appropriations last year amounted to $2,100,000 and clothing amounted to $3,750,000 was distributed.

One Side Of City Is Flooded, Other A Desert

That one part of the city of Honolulu receives 150 inches of rainfall per year and another section of the city receives only 10 inches was the statement made by Prof. F. E. Turneaure, dean of the college of agriculture, in his talk on Hawaii to a dinner of the Laymen's League of the Unitarian church.

"The reason why one section of the city receives more rain than the other," declared Dean Turneaure, "is that the Hawaiian islands are situated in the trade wind belt, which means that the wind always blows from the northeast. As a result the windward side of the island receives as much as 500 inches of rain and the area on the leeward side is practically a desert."

By CHATTY

The last series of a series of legitimate productions comes to town the first of this week.

There are those that would not care to see "Lightnin'" unless Frank Bacon were in the cast. But those that have seen it since that actor's death laud it highly.

After all, Frank Bacon may have done much to make the play what it is, but as a stage vehicle, "Lightnin'" is far above many things which have come to town.

Probably a good many people will see it, too, just because they want to be able to discuss theatricals intelligently and think that this is more or less impossible if they have not seen the play that ran three years in one house in New York.

We are surprised that there are any theater-goers left who have not seen the play.

Sorcery, mystery, weird charm. These are what "The White Flower" smacks of. In enchanting Hawaii we find the heroine possessed of all the fire of her American father and the romance and superstition inherited from her Hawaiian mother.

It seems strange that more scenario writers haven't made use of Hawaii.

Kentucky Derbies must be a lot of fun. We would like to see one in order to discover just how much the movie versions of the races are like them.

In "Racing Hearts", we find all the thrills that are afforded in Kentucky derby races and yet we find a little variety. For Kentucky derbies are becoming rather tiresome in the movies.

You've heard a lot of talk about "Merton of the Movies", haven't you? and about Glenn Hunter who played the leading role? The play has been making quite a hit in New York and the actor has been doing the same thing.

Glen Hunter has signed a five year contract with Lasky. He is playing here today. It's a story about a crook and how Jim, a rough-hewn younger brother who plays a second part to his big brother who is polished and educated, finally gets the better of his brother.

Stage plays are being used more and more by movie producers. Along comes "Enter Madame", a stage hit of several seasons in New York, Chicago and London.

The play is laid on the other side of the world from Hawaii, in

THEATER CALENDAR

ORPHEUM—Raymond Bond in one act sketch, Sunday through Wednesday; "Stars of Years Ago", Thursday through Saturday.

STRAND—Glenn Hunter in "Second Fiddle", Sunday through Tuesday; Anna Q. Nilsson in "The Isle Of The Lost Ship", Wednesday through Saturday.

MADISON—Betty Compson in "The White Flower", all week.

MAJESTIC—Agnes Ayres in "Racing Hearts", all week.

PARKWAY—Herbert Rawlinson in "One Wonderful Night", Sunday; "Lightnin'", Monday and Tuesday; Clara Kimball Young in "Enter Madame", Wednesday through Saturday.

Milan. Italy and Hawaii, what a week of romance in romantic lands the local playhouses are giving us!

Don't get "One Wonderful Night" and Griffith's "One Exciting Night" mixed up with each other. They're a little like each other in theme. That is, a lot happens in a very short time, and a lot that is strange.

That is probably why it is called a "wonderful" night. It is, quite.

BEBAN'S CAST WILL COME HERE IN PERSON

The Majestic management announces they have secured for an early showing George Beban and his entire original cast of screen players, all in person on the stage and on the screen in "The Sign Of The Rose."

For the first time Madison will witness a combination of silent and spoken drama. The story starts in motion picture form building through a series of powerful dramatic incidents to the most tense and vital situation in the picture. When this point is reached the scene fades from the screen—the screen disappears and from out of the darkness voices are heard, and as the lights fade in there upon the stage in the identical setting are Mr. Beban and the same players who appeared but a moment before on the screen; and with the spoken word they carry on the story to a tremendous denouement.

Again the scene fades from the stage back to the screen and the story is continued in shadowland.

Methodist Choir Will Sing "Easteride" Sun.

The First Methodist church choir will sing "Easteride" at the evening services tomorrow. The choir is composed of 58 voices.

The choir will sing "Modet Victory," at the Easter Sunday morning services, and "Easter Eve and Morn," at the evening services.

Stage plays are being used more and more by movie producers. Along comes "Enter Madame", a stage hit of several seasons in New York, Chicago and London.

Comedy Skit
Ziegfeld Girl
On Orph Bill

A sure-fire comedy sketch, his latest vehicle, will be presented by Raymond Bond in an act presented at the Orpheum theater today as the feature of the program for the first half of the week.

The well known actor will play the part of Ezra Pike, known as "Lucky", an awkward boob from the northwoods.

The Orpheum has offered many one-act sketches recently of excellent merit, and according to reports, this comedy sketch promises to please.

"Broadway Bound"

An equally attractive act on the program today is the appearance here of Adelaide Bell, the girl who was the talk of New York when she appeared for 17 consecutive months in the Ziegfeld Midnight Frolics and excited patrons with her "back shoulder kicks" and "ankle dislocations."

"Broadway Bound" is an offering by Elizabeth Kennedy and Milton Perle, youngsters of unusual dramatic ability. Edward J.

Lambert, comedian and pianist, assisted by Miss Minnie Fish, will give a little production "Youth and Beauty". Grace Ayer and her brother, Billy, are scheduled in a "pleasant surprise."

"Stars of Years Ago"

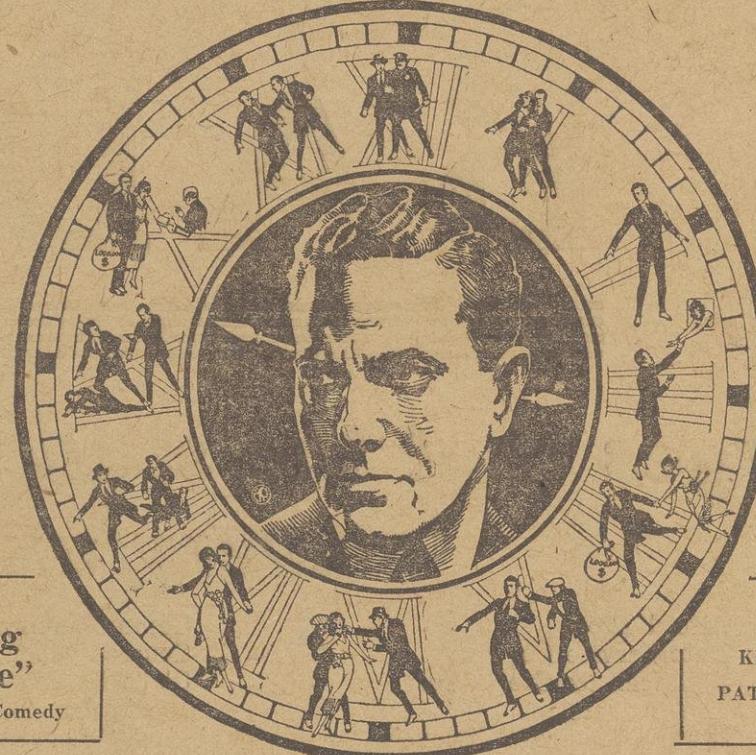

Starting Thursday is the appearance here of "Stars of Years Ago", a novel yet press-favored act in vaudeville today.

A news reel, Aasop's Fables and selections from the Orpheum orchestra, is also included as usual.

DES MOINES—One woman was killed and six other persons were injured when the elevator in the Randolph hotel fell seven stories at 12:30 o'clock today.

The Fastest 12 Hours
That Ever Were Filmed!

Flash around the clock with young Jack Curtis—dine with him, save a pretty girl with him, fight with him, see him marry the girl, find a million dollars, fight some more, and come back to find the girl gone. Folks, it's fast work—and it's great entertainment. You'll like it!
