NO RUSH OR CAPS IN 1880 SAYS HENRY

Former Dean of Agriculture Tells of Old Days at University

"There was no wearing of the green cap nor any class rushing when I first came to Wisconsin in 1880," said Dean Emeritus William A. Henry, first head of the College of Agriculture, who is spending a few weeks at the University club. Dean Henry's merry eyes twinkled as he spoke of those pioneer days when the university was a backwoods institution struggling along on an annual income of $90,000 instead of the present $5,000,000.

A fond feeling for the university permeated everything Dean Henry said. "Today I love the students of the University of Wisconsin more than anything else in the world," he declared.

Langdon Was Swamp

"The territory between President Birge's house and Lake street was a veritable forest when I came here," continued Dean Henry. "The land on which the gymnasium now stands was a swamp extending into the middle of the street. Boards were stretched along so that people were forced to risk their lives in order to get to the university. No streets in this part of the city were paved."

Dean Henry was head of the College of Agriculture from its beginning in 1881 until 1907, when he was forced by ill health to retire; and his place was filled by Dean H. L. Russell. He is the original author of "Feeds and Feeding," the authoritative text on cattle feeding which since 1898 has appeared in 17 editions, in the last of which Prof. F. B. Morrison was co-author.

Started Short Course

The first short course in agriculture was started by the Board of Regents in 1881, influenced by William Vilas of Madison and Hiram Smith of Sheboygan Falls. Professor Henry with two assistants taught the first class of 16 students.

"We had not taught long before we were impressed with the earnestness and zeal of the students, and from that time onward I was convinced that the way to build up an agricultural course was through the short course. In this way we could build up a strong structure and let this lead to long course students,

50 TRY FOR MEN'S GLEE CLUB PLACES

Over 50 men were present at the first tryouts for the men's Glee club, conducted on Monday and Tuesday in Music hall.

Much excellent material has already been found, but there is still opportunity for men who have not yet tried out. More tryouts are to be conducted at Music hall at 4:30 Wednesday afternoon.

The prospects for a successful year are very bright. Two home concerts have been scheduled and arrangements are already under way for the club to make several trips. The interest in the club that is being shown by the great number of men who are candidates for the vacancies indicates that the organization will be composed of men who will be well able to carry on the work of the club this year.

It is planned to enlarge the club to 30 members instead of 24 as has been the number in the past.

OUR MASCOT

Badger From Idaho to Lead Varsity

Ye Badger rooters of olden days will be greeted by the official Wisconsin mascot next Saturday. Providing, of course, that the requisition for the cardinal vest goes through.

The mascot is none other than a five months old badger caught and tamed by Harold Holmes, halfback of last year's Varsity eleven in the wilds of Idaho. Yesterday was official presentation day at Camp Randall, and Coach Richards halted scrimmage long enough to welcome the new addition to the squad to his official position.

The badger, which has always been emblematical of the State of Wisconsin, and which appears on the official seal of the state, is about two feet long, and carries a very heavy fur which is arched on his back somewhat similarly to a turtle's shell. He has very short squat legs, and small paws. Our mascot is a particularly good-looking specimen, having a fine white stripe running from the point of his nose to his fore paws, and setting off the mottled brown of his body admirably. We anticipate the writing of a new yell with which to welcome the good-luck mascot to the field.

COMMERCE MIXER WILL BE HELD IN GYM OCTOBER 14

The commerce mixer previously scheduled for this week has been postponed till Friday, Oct. 14, when a general get-together for all commerce students will be staged in the armory, according to Reginald Garstang '22, president of the Commerce club.

"Due to the general disorder that always accompanies the opening of the school year, we feel that the later date will be a more opportune one," Mr. Garstang said.

The proposed program for the affair includes faculty speakers, special music, and refreshments.

OFFICERS FOR GREEN BUTTON ARE NOMINATED

Ellen Correll Opens Meeting of the Freshman Women

Ellen Correll '22, president of S. G. A., presided at the meeting of Freshmen women held last night in Lathrop concert room. The speakers were Dean F. Louise Nardin; Miss Lydia Brown, adviser for freshmen women; Lila Ekern '24, former president of Green Button; Helen Ramsey, office secretary for S. G. A.; Isabel Capps '23, who is census chairman of organizations, told of the work and purposes of the various campus organizations. Mildred Rieck '23 was in charge of all arrangements for the meeting.

A committee of sophomore women sold green button pins, the official insignia of the organization of Freshmen women.

Those nominated for Green Button offices were: president, Dorothy John, Marion Streng, Mary Divine, Jessie Morrison; vice-president, Kathryn Farnham, Dori Burdick, Marion Guild, Genevieve Hardy; secretary, Ruth Donovan Virginia Resner, Gertrude Robin Virginia Ballyntine; treasurer, Helen Anderson, Dorothy King, Hazel Weingert, Elizabeth Ma- horney.

Approximately 450 women attended the meeting.

COMMITTEE WILL MEET FRIDAY TO REVISE TRADITIONS

Committee to Investigate Traditions to Study Enforcement

Nothing definite was decided in regard to the changing of Wisconsin's traditions at a committee meeting which was held Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at the university Y. M. C. A., according to Frank Cosgrove, Law '24, chairman of the committee investigating the matter. The next meeting will take place Friday, at which time a definite decision will be reached.

"We are impressed with the seriousness of the situation," said Frank Cosgrove. "Something must be done and each of us is doing his best."

Others who make up the committee to decide what changes, if any should be made in the statement, the substance, or the symbolism of Wisconsin's traditions, are: Worth Shoultz '23, Roy Sorenson '22, and Leo H. Kohl ad. spec. '22.

STAR OF VARSITY MOVIE RECEIVES ATTRACTIVE OFFER

Jack Harding, former star of the Varsity Movie, "Not Responsible," has received an offer from Thomas H. Ince to join his company, according to Q. X. Hadfield of Milwaukee, president of the Wisconsin Exhibitors' association. Harding is considering the offer seriously, but has made no decision.

The Wisconsin Exhibitors' association is the agency through which the Varsity Movie is being shown. Herbert Stolte '22, and Willett Kempton '23 have been booking the movie this summer.

MENORAH TO MEET TONIGHT IN LATHROP

The first open meeting of the Menorah society, which will be held this evening at 7:30 in the Lathrop parlors, will be addressed by Dean S. H. Goodnight, who will welcome the members on the part of the university. Other speakers will be Dr. Benjamin H. Schlobomitz, head of the physiology department of the Marquette medical school, and president of the Intercollegiate Menorah; Prof. L. B. Wolfson, of the University Semetics department, and Mrs. Joseph Jastrow.

Sylvia Rosenberg and Nathan Grabin will give violin and banjo selections, respectively, as part of the program. Refreshments will be served, and the latter part of the meeting will be devoted to getting acquainted.

The Menorah society is an inter-collegiate organization which studies Jewish culture and present day issues of interest. Membership is open to all college students and others, and those interested in its work are invited to attend.

LITERARY MAG TO ENCOURAGE LIGHT SATIRE AND HUMOR

Contributions to the Wisconsin Literary magazine should be submitted by October 5. The magazine is to appear on the hill about October 20. In conjunction with the first issue, the business department will carry on a subscription campaign. "We want stories, essays, satires, epigrams, poems,—anything that has merit in composition and subject matter. Humor and satire is quite as welcome as anything more ponderous," said Paul V. Gangelin '23.

The Lit contribution box will be open for business as usual on the landing in the Union building.

CAPS RETURN SATURDAY BY SENATE EDICT

Shortage of Headgear Delays Enforcement of Traditions

Next Saturday was the date set for the reappearance of the green cap on the campus, at a special meeting of the Student senate last night. The senate also fixed the date for holding the annual rush between the freshman and sophomore classes as Saturday, Oct. 22, one week before the Homecoming game.

Soph Tradition Committee

An additional motion was carried at the meeting by which the sophomore tradition committee, to be appointed by Jack Hurley, president of the class, will be committed to enforce the wearing of the caps. At the same time the senate reaffirmed its position in reference to hazing. The committee appointed by the senate to investigate traditions and to report its findings will have its analysis completed within a short time and in the meanwhile the rules of last year will be in effect.

Shortage Makes Delay

These actions come as the culmination of the referendum last Monday in which the students decisively indicated to the senate their stand in regard to the wearing of the green headgear by freshmen and the holding of the annual class rush and cap night. According to the constitution, all traditions were to go into effect immediately after the outcome of the referendum was made known, but the inability of local merchants to obtain a supply of caps before the end of the week made it necessary to allow the freshmen a longer time in which to provide themselves with the headgear.

The position of the senate as a result of the return of the green cap, necessitating the enforcement of traditions, greatly perplexed the members.

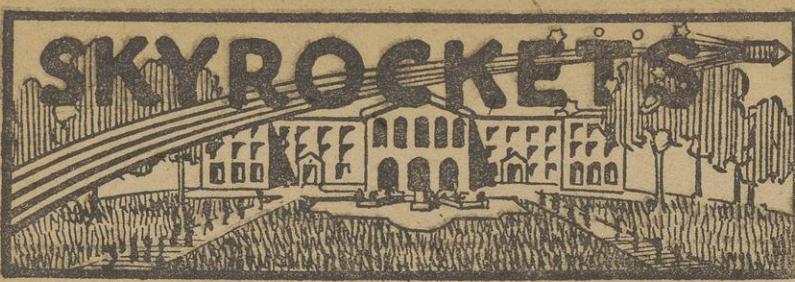

The Athletic board has already signified that it does not intend to furnish the bags, clubs, and other necessary equipment for the fray, but the senate will appeal to the board to carry on the work as in the past. The Athletic board will hold a meeting this noon at which time the question will undoubtedly be decided.

Expect Frosh at Game

The first football game of the season, Saturday afternoon, when Lawrence college sends its team to Madison, greatly influenced the members of the senate to set Saturday as the latest date for the appearance of the traditional green. As has been customary in previous years a large representation of freshmen are expected to attend the game in a body.

A number of the senators wished to hold off the wearing of the caps until a week from Saturday in order to give the tradition committee ample time to formulate new regulations but on account of the game finally decided in favor of the earlier date.

Spirit of the School!

Too many freshmen look in the wrong place for it. Upperclassmen, during moments of depression, lament its absence. If one is given to walking by himself and selects the right quarter, it may be had for a reasonable amount of compensation. The spirit of this university is unique and all-powerful, often impelling its men to great heights of attainment and its women to the formation of new standards and ideals. Its origin is baffling to townspeople; its effect is exhilarating, yet confusing, to those who make it their own. It has one danger: too much of it brings despair and leads to the purchase of one-way transportation.

Ah, members of '25, studies demand your attention, activities your hearty co-operation, but your self-respect and character demand this omnipotent spirit!

LIBRARY STUDENTS FROM MANY STATES

The enrollment in the Library school of the University of Wisconsin covers a wide geographical distribution, representing ten states, the District of Columbia, and two foreign countries. Twenty-three students have enrolled, according to Miss Mary E. Hazeltine, preceptor of the Library school.

Five of those enrolled are from Wisconsin, three from Michigan, two each from Iowa, Massachusetts, Missouri, and Montana, and one each from Indiana, Illinois, Kansas, New York, District of Columbia, Canada, and Norway.

The educational qualifications of the class are high, seven being of graduate work, one having a master's degree, and another Phi Beta Kappa honors. Three are seniors in the College of Letters and Science. The increased registration of college graduates indicates the distinct advantage of admitting college graduates without the formal written examination required in former years.

Several of the new members have considerable library experience. Fifteen have had training ranging from one to ten years, and, according to Miss Hazeltine, class discussions promise to be stimulating. Ten have had valuable experience as teachers and five the advantage gained from business positions.

Miss Mary Katherine Reely has joined the teaching staff of the Library school. She will give a course in book selection. Miss Reely comes from New York where she was editor for some years of the Book Review Digest. She is a graduate of the University of Minnesota.

FIRST FELLOWSHIP MEETING THURSDAY

All university freshmen are urged to attend the first fellowship meeting of the year which will be held Thursday evening at 7 o'clock, in the parlors of the university Y. M. C. A. Leo H. Kohl '22, president of the "Y" for the coming year, will have charge of the meeting and will speak on "The Value of a Friend." Special music by an orchestra under the leadership of Lester Cappon '22, is promised.

Starting in the fall of 1917, these fellowship meetings have grown from a gathering of congenial men to the large crowd of several hundred that now attends its meetings. The aim of the meeting is to give an opportunity to all men of the university to become better acquainted, and especially to enable freshmen to make connections. Each Thursday evening at 7 o'clock the men meet in an informal get-together, sing college and religious songs, discuss school problems, or hear some noted out-of-town speaker on timely political, economic, or religious subjects.

Combinations to Fill Gap Left by Weston Fail to Satisfy Richards

Left end seems to be the only variable on the Wisconsin Varsity for eleven. After critics had it all doped out that "T." Gould was the logical man for the place, Coach Richards changed his mind and shifted Gould back to right half, placing Horne on the left flank. "T." held down the wing Monday night, and his showing made a favorable impression, but Richards evidently believes that he will be more valuable if kept in the backfield.

Gibson Now Pilot

The remainder of the lineup was kept intact for the scrimmage between the Varsity and "Shorty" Barr's reserves yesterday afternoon. Gibson piloted the team, with Williams at his left, and Gould, and later Elliott, at his right half. Captain Sundt worked steadily at fullback. Tebell, Hohlfeldt, and Nelson retained their paces on the right side of the forward wall, with Bunge at the pivotal job. Horne, left end, Brader, tackle, and Brumm, guard, completed a formidable looking line. In all probability this combination will start the Lawrence contest.

Barr, directing the reserves, again displayed a few tricks with the forward pass during the scrimmage. He lined the pigskin straight at his receiving end each time the play was called. On the occasion, Varsity tacklers broke through the line and drove "Shorty" back, but eluding the would-be tacklers by a dash for the side lines, Barr got the ball away safely into the arms of a receiver. It doesn't take an expert to get the sphere when Barr hurls it. Reserves used shift formations against the first string men.

Frosh Start Work

While the Varsity was plugging away against the third team, five freshmen elevens were on the frosh field under the direction of "Keg" Driver and Ralph Scott. The 55 men who reported were divided into distinct elevens, and simple formations were used to get the candidates accustomed to handling the ball.

Some likely looking prospects are working out for the first year squad. Allard, formerly on the River Falls normal team, is a big husky lad who should make a future varsity tackle or guard. He is well built, fairly fast, and a good place kicker. Hosner, Detroit, is another good line man. Koch, Davenport, Ia., and Teckmeyer, Madison, have been getting the attention of coaches, also. Dean Millman, Platteville, is speedy at the quarterback position, and Jacobson, Appleton football and basketball star, is another candidate for the pilot's job.

Freshmen grid athletes will soon be working on Minnesota shift plays to prepare the Varsity for the Minnesota Homecoming game on Saturday, Oct. 29.

WORK TO PREVENT FLOODING OF LIBE

Because the level of the Historical Library building is much lower than the level of Park street, considerable trouble has been experienced with water draining into the basement.

The work now in progress on the west side of the library will make waterproof the tunnel which connects the north and south wings. A concrete wall is being built, with a system of tile drains, in front of the main entrance, which is intended to carry the water away.

This is the reason for the excavation. It is expected that the job will be completed within a few months.

ANTICIPATE HOT OPPPOSITION FROM NORTHERN SQUAD

A searching staff which compares well with those employed by Big Ten football teams is working daily to whip the Lawrence college eleven into shape for its first game of the season against Wisconsin on Saturday, Oct. 1, at Madison. Three experienced grid athletes are holding the tutoring reins at Lawrence, and two of them are Wisconsin graduates, familiar with the Badger style of play.

Harlan D. McChesney is back for his second year as head coach. McChesney led the collegians to a Little Five Wisconsin championship last season, and according to reports issuing from Appleton, he expects to repeat this year. McChesney has 15 years of experience as coach and gymnasium director, and in his year at Lawrence, he displayed apt knowledge of football. "Mac" was for a time coach of the Wisconsin gymnastic team. His squads made good records each year.

Buck is Coaching

To aid Lawrence develop a winning eleven, Howard "Cub" Buck, one of the greatest tackles who ever played for Wisconsin, is assisting McChesney. Buck is handling the line problem, and with plenty of veterans from which to select his forward wall, he hopes to have the strongest in Wisconsin. Buck was captain of the Badger Varsity in his senior year. Most critics placed him on the All-American football team when the season ended.

The third member of the staff is Ashe, Holy Cross. Ashe was captain of the Holy Cross Varsity in his freshman and junior years. He graduated in 1905. With such an aggregation of mentors to inculcate football knowledge into candidates, Lawrence has the best corps of coaches since the palmy days of Mark Catlin.

GREEKS TO OPEN BOWLING SEASON TUESDAY NIGHT

Teams of Second Division Start Balls Rolling in Race for Cup Next Week

The Inter-Fraternity Bowling league will get under way Tuesday evening when the teams in the second division bowl their first games. Teams in the first division will bowl their opening games on Thursday night. Tuesday and Thursday evenings were selected as the two nights for the league teams to meet.

The following teams were drawn into the first division: Phi Kappa Sigma, Phi Sigma Kappa, Acacia, Zeta Psi, Alpha Sigma Phi, Kappa Sigma, Chi Psi, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Alpha Delta, Sigma Chi, Psi Upsilon, Phi Gamma Delta, Alpha Chi Sigma, Delta Tau Delta, and Sigma Phi Epsilon; the second division teams are: Alpha Delta Phi, Theta Delta Chi, A. T. O., D. U. Theta Chi, Chi Phi, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Sigma Phi, Phi Delta Phi, Theta Xi, D. K. E., Triangle, S. A. E. and T. K. E. Sigma Phi Epsilon last year won the first honors and are reported as having a strong team entered again this year in an effort to repeat.

Five team cups will be offered for the teams finishing in the first five places in the finals and one individual cup will be given to the bowler totaling the highest score during the season. The four teams in each division which finish in the first four places at the end of the schedule will bowl against each other in the finals for the cups.

After much heated argument it was decided not to enforce the foul line ruling in order to give those men who are not expert bowlers a chance to make better scorers.

All candidates for the Varsity and freshman cross-country squad report to Coach Meade Burke at 7 o'clock tonight in the

CONFERENCE COACHES PREPARE TEAMS FOR SATURDAY CLASHES; DARK HORSE PROSPECTS FEARED

Presenting-- E. H. GIBSON

E. H. Gibson bids fair to capture the much sought for quarterback position on the Wisconsin Varsity eleven this year. "Gib" has distanced a flock of candidates, and in the last few scrimmages, his good generalship, careful handling of the ball, and snappy attitude has led Coach John Richards to give him the pilot's job. He led the Varsity against a reserve squad yesterday, and if "Rollie" Williams is retained at left half, Gibson is practically assured of playing quarterback.

The stocky, little back played his first year of Varsity football in 1920. He played halfback on the squad, and although not a regular, was sent into the Illinois Homecoming game and the Ohio State game. Shifted to quarterback this year, Gibson is expected to do some good playing when the Badgers stack up against the five big teams of the western conference.

HOLD FIRST W. A. A. MEETING OF YEAR

Fifty dollars was appropriated for a gift for the S. G. A. co-operative house by the Woman's Athletic association at its first meeting held last night in Lathrop hall. A committee was appointed to select a piece of furniture.

Doris Roll '22, and Alice Tucker '22 were elected as heads of archery and hockey, respectively, to fill the positions left vacant by Jo Doring and Margaret Henry, who did not return to the university this year. Marguerite Crosley '21 was elected to head graduate athletics.

The following new members were taken in: Jennie Heisig '22, Marjorie Ruff '23, Mary Wiswell '23, and Edith Oldenburg '24.

Northwestern and Chicago Start Race For Honors

With the exception of Illinois, every team in the Big Ten conference has a game scheduled for this coming Saturday. The Chicago-Northwestern clash is the only one, however, which will have any bearing on the conference championship.

This game, which is one of the big attractions of the week, will probably eliminate one of the teams from championship consideration, as the eleven which suffers defeat is quite apt to meet with at least one more reversal before the season is over. The fact that Northwestern was defeated by Beloit college last Saturday does not prove, by any means, that the Maroons are going to have an easy time defeating the Purple warriors.

Knowing that Coach Stagg and his team were in the stands last Saturday probably kept the Purple mentor from uncovering very much of his football wares. Many improvements are necessary, however, before Northwestern will be ready to meet the well coached Maroon eleven. Captain Hathaway's work was ragged and his passing poor last week, and even if he plays a good game, he will have a real job on his hands in holding down the heavy Maroon center.

Expect Hard Battle

On the other hand, last week's game filled the Maroons with confidence, and Coach Stagg is having a hard time in convincing his men that the team they will meet Saturday is not going to be the same that they saw perform last week. At any rate, the intense rivalry between the schools is assurance that no effort will be spared by either team in its attempt to win.

The Chicago team is composed of veterans this year, and it is conceded that Stagg's material is of championship calibre. Milton Romney, of Salt Lake City, has been holding the quarterback position

TANK MEN MEET FOR DISCUSSION OF SEASON PROSPECTS

Twenty-five candidates for varsity swimming turned out for the meeting in the gymnasium last night where plans for the coming season were discussed by Coach Steinauer. Due to the fact that the notice of the meeting was not published in the Cardinal, nearly half of the men who had signed up for swimming were absent. Five men who competed in varsity swimming last year will be out for the team again this season. They are: W. K. Collins '22, Frank C. Davies '22, L. H. Sollitt '22, A. H. Lahmann '23, and Rudolph Pabst '23.

Coach Steinauer predicted a successful season if the men would remain eligible, a thing they did not do last year. He said that it was practically certain that swimming would be made a major sport, with a major sport "W" to be awarded the men who place first or second in conference competition.

The season's schedule will not be made out until December 9, when the conference officials meet in Chicago. It is probable that four meets will be held this year, two here and two at other schools.

TOLERANCE

A UNIVERSITY of the magnitude of the University of Wisconsin is inevitably beset with many problems. It is like our great country, a conglomeration of many elements, a mixture of various ingredients.

The elements that go to make up the student body are gleaned from almost every nook and cranny in the state of Wisconsin, from perhaps every state in the Union, and from many different places on the civilized globe.

Each one has a different past. All come from slightly or radically different environments. All have acquired certain attitudes of mind as a result of their rearing and experience. Here there are to be found all conceivable shades of wealth, prestige, creed, and character. All have their ambitions, their little cosmos in which they move and think and feel. In short, this institution contains quite a multiplicity of differences.

Naturally, where great variety is, subtle inconsistencies arise. Prejudice is liable to make its ugly appearance. Silent antagonisms will stealthily come to the surface. Pettiness, vain-glory, smartness, and snobbery will perhaps now as ever strut their ungainly forms on our campus.

Some of these unpleasant featurees are part and parcel of every community life. They must be borne with some resignation. Yet many of the inconsistencies and antagonisms that arise can be mitigated, if not eliminated, by the development of a spirit of tolerance.

Tolerance presupposes understanding. Let us then understand each other.

A NEGLECTED STUDY

HABIT and imitation play so vital a part in our lives that what one overlooks may easily become a matter of general oversight.

Recently a mania for the study of Spanish seized this country like an avalanche, and through hit and miss decisions, many have been lured into its pursuit. Now it must be admitted that excepting its possible commercial value, Spanish holds out little for the wide-awake intellectual, by virtue of its poverty of literacy and artistic phases, once it is compared with the far richer tongues of the other European countries.

Here at the university people attached much too little importance to the study of Italian. It is true, French and German have received their due share of prominence. But the language of Italy, the focus of ancient civilization and the home of the Renaissance at the dawn of the modern era, the language upon whose culture most of Western life rests, is ungratefully side-tracked. It demonstrates how peculiar and distorted our sense of comparative values are!

The greatness of a language must be measured by the greatness of the thoughts and sentiments it expresses. In other words, a language is no more vital and significant than the thinking and achieving of its people are vital and significant.

Italy can well boast of luminous constellations in art, science, philosophy, and literature. Dante, Leonardo da Vinci, Bruno, Galileo, Machiavelli, Tasso, and the more modern, Mazzini, Verdi, Marconi, and D'Annunzio are a rich cluster of names that haphazardly come to mind when the land of Italy is mentioned.

Italian is an asset not only from its intrinsic literary and cultural value alone. It is the daily tool of almost a million and a half of our foreign-born, who are scattered far and wide over the country. Most of these are workers strongly engaged in the up-building of our land. It is, therefore, reasonable to assume that to understand such a vital part of our constituency, would add its share to our capital of industrial good will and national unity.

Indeed, Italian possesses such a host of real cultural and practical uses that it is to be wondered that it has been hitherto so neglected in America.

A language of so much melody and richness, and beauty and thought will, we hope, become more than a curiosity to the mass of American studentry.

ON BETTER MOVIES

WETHER "blue laws" or women's temperance leagues, the Salvation army, or prohibition agents maneuvered the change is questionable. The fact remains that movies in general are on the upward trend to a more wholesome, artistic, and realistic plane. To attribute this change to the rising sense of dramatic values here in this country is, to say the least, quite a happy thought.

And, possibly, they were right at the time. The shocking beastliness, the over-drawn petty sentimentality, the utter silliness and hollowness, and the extreme tendency to obscene suggestion, that characterized the major part of the photoplay repertoire could elicit an exclamation of horror from less sensitive souls.

However, things have changed, or, better, are still changing. Mad cow-ranch hoodlums, fat-tened idle stock-brokers, and heart-broken distressing damsels are now bound for the "unhappy" hunting grounds and yielding in the movie to flesh-and-blood human creatures acting as if possessed of some civilized qualities.

We can now point with some pride to "Over the Hill," "The Old Nest," "Way Down East," "Humoresque," "The Golem," and "Disraeli" as exemplifying the advent of a new era in the history of the photoplay. It is a transition from sensation to sanity, from vulgarity to art.

We hope the tide will rise.

Banks in Schools to Promote Saving Plan

To encourage thrift among Madison school children, the Bank of Wisconsin has placed in each public school of the city a novel device. It is a large steel bank. A child may drop in a penny, a nickel, a dime or a quarter into the bank and as he does so, a stamp, denoting the denomination of the coin he has dropped in, comes out of a slot. He pastes this stamp into a little booklet he may obtain from his teacher, and when he has a dollar's worth of stamps in the book, he may take it to the Bank of Wisconsin for deposit. The bank pays three per cent interest on these savings. Each school keeps account of the amount saved by its pupils, and at present the Washington school is leading.

CONFERENCE TEAMS PREPARE TO CLASH

quite regularly of late, and will probably remain there. Bobby Cole, star of two years ago, is playing a flashy game in the backfield. Tatge and Strahmen, two of last year's regulars, have just reported for practice and probably will not be used in Saturday's game.

Interest in the Indiana-Harvard game increased considerably since last week, when the Hoosiers displayed their strength by defeating Franklin by a 47 to 0 score. While the latter team may have been weak, a strong offense is necessary in order to pile up so large a score. Coach Stiehm has had a chance to pick out his lineup, and is now able to concentrate on one certain combination. He is having motion pictures of the Franklin game shown to his men each night, and is enabled to point out their mistakes to them. Thomas and Maynard, two backfield stars, are now out for practice, and their presence will further strengthen Indiana's lineup.

Illinois Squad Suffers

While Coach Zuppke's material is as heavy and rangy as it ever has been, they are not all real football players. Many of them, in fact, are inexperienced and slow. It is now definitely known that the Suckers will be without the services of Carney, Hellstrom, and Majors this season. This is a severe blow to the team as these men were among the best players in the midwest. Dick Reichle, star end on the championship 1919 team has returned to school, and is being tried out in a backfield position. If he is successful, Zuppke will have a backfield which will be strong in every department except kicking. Here, again, Reichle, may be of some value.

Opinions regarding the Ohio team this year are rapidly changing, and it is not improbable that Coach Wilce will produce a team that will rate among the strongest in the conference. Noel Workman is playing the quarterback position, held last year by his brother, Hoge Workman. Other men are being developed to fill the places left vacant by stars of a year ago, and second Stinchcombs and Harleys are reported to be about to make their appearances. Wilce is following his policy of keeping his lineup to himself, but it would not be surprising if he has shifted the positions of some of last year's men.

Minnesota Dark Horse

Minnesota is liable to prove to be the dark-horse of the conference this year. Many old men are back, and several new men of promise have come to light. Of the former, Oliver Aas, a 185 man, is the most prominent. Coach "Doc" Williams has been working him at an end, and his work has been so brilliant that he is likely to retain a berth there. The Gophers open their schedule next Saturday, when they meet North Dakota at Minneapolis.

Although a Michigan victory over Mount Union on Saturday is almost a certainty, it is safe to say that the margin of points will be small. Coach Yost's men will probably employ nothing but straight football, as they are saving their trick plays and formations until October 22, when they meet Ohio. It is difficult to say, at the present time, just what the Wolverine lineup will be. Kipke, a backfield man, has been doing some brilliant open field running, and he is likely to be an important offensive man this season. There is a possibility that Dunn will replace Vick at center. He is one of the best men in the conference, and will aid in making the Michigan line a most formidable one. Yost has plenty of backfield men, and plenty of ends, so the Wolverines are apt to be a forward passing team this year.

Boilermakers Still a Question

Purdue fans are planning on Dietz's coaching ability to raise the standard of their football team this fall. His men go into action for the first time on Saturday, when they play Wabash. The Boilermakers have an exceptionally heavy line, but a light backfield. The team is speedy, and as reserve backfield men are plentiful, a more successful season than last year may be safely predicted.

With Glen Devine on the hospital list, with White, a good lineman, out for the season on account of injuries, and with Kinney declared ineligible, Iowa's grid prospects do not appear as bright as they did a week ago. Even with the team crippled as it is, seven touchdowns were scored on the seconds in a 40 minute scrimmage period. This shows that Jones' men possess strength, and when the Devine brothers combination is again intact, they are liable to cause some of the pennant aspirers considerable worry. They play the Knox college eleven this week, and, on October 8, meet the strong Notre Dame team.

CARDINAL EXPERT AMASES CAMPUS FOOD STATISTICS

Where we shall eat? How much we shall eat? and What we shall eat represent an ever present and important problem which the student has to contend with in connection with the acquisition of an education.

Practically 90 minutes a day, 2,700 minutes a month and 32,760 minutes a year are spent in the consumption of food by the average student. Cafeterias offer the simplest solution to the food problem. Prices in the various places are for the most part very similar. Dinner for an ordinary person including meat at 20 cents, potatoes 6 cents, a vegetable 6 cents, bread 2 cents, butter 2 cents, milk 6 cents, and pie 10 cents may be purchased for a total of 52 cents. Breakfast consisting of fruit 10 cents, toast 6 cents, and coffee 5 cents, represents a total cost of 21 cents, and a supper of potatoes, bread, butter, a salad, cake, and coffee costs about 33 cents.

Unfortunately, many students, especially the co-eds eat very inconsistently. Those who can boast of the most avordupois have a deep and constant desire for pie and ice cream, while those who represent the stately willows fill their trays with salads.

There is one possible solution to this question of the consumption of too much dessert and too little substantial food. The human being always desires that which is farthest from him, and so, if the dessert were to appear first on the counter, perhaps, who can tell, it might be passed up in the hope of something better farther along.

HESPERA TO HOLD MEETING OCT. 7

"Once an Hesperian, Always an Hesperian," is the motto of the men's literary society which will have its first meeting October 7.

"Never has that motto meant so much as this year," said Leo Kohl '22, president. "We shall stress the idea of unity and stand for the constructive things of the university. Hesperia must be worthy of the appellation, "Magna Pares Virum"—"Mother of Great Men."

The opening program will include a history of the society by Wayne Morse '23; "The Outlook of Hesperia for the Coming Year," by Robert Gerholz '23, and short talks by various members of the society.

Those wishing to try out for the society are given an urgent invitation.

tion to be present at the first meeting. The requirements for membership will be explained at that time.

Salvation Army to Seek $7,025 Budget

The Dane county organization of the Salvation Army will raise $7,025 as its 1921 budget, it was decided Monday night at a meeting of the Salvation Army advisory board at the Park hotel. This budget was endorsed by the board which consists of the following members: Judge A. C. Hoppmann, Mrs. A. E. Proudfit, Don E. Mowry, R. L. Hopkins, Clayton W. Haswell, Judge M. B. Rosenberry, Mayor I. Milo Kittleson, Judge E. Ray Stevens, H. A. Smythe, William A. Van Deuren, C. F. Burgess, L. L. Olds, E. B. Steensland, G. E. Geron, Harry Sauthoff, Mrs. A. O. Fox, Miss Margaret Smith and Capt. May Henningsen.

It was felt that, on account of the prevalent business depression and subsequent unemployment, at least this sum will be needed. The campaign to raise the money will be conducted from Oct. 24 to 31.

Civil Service Exams Held Here October 1

On Oct. 1, the Wisconsin Civil Service commission will conduct examinations for several important positions in state service. For the department of markets, an examination will be conducted for city market supervisor. Examinations will also be offered for the positions of deputy state fire marshal, assistant chemist and cheese factory inspector. For office workers, examinations will be offered for junior accountant, accounting clerk, statistical clerk, employment clerk, and filing clerk. Stenographic examinations will also be conducted at Madison, Oct. 8, at 2 p. m. The examination for boiler inspector with the industrial commission as well as chief engineer and assistant engineer with the institutions are desirable positions for those interested in that type of work. For the Tax Commission, the commission is desirous of securing applicants for the positions of assessor of incomes for Kenosha county and Walworth county as well as a state-at-large list.

HANDBOOKS READY FOR FROSH AT "Y"

Hereafter ignorance of the law will excuse no freshman for violations of university traditions and customs. Dad Wolf, of the university "Y", announces that the "Frosh Bible," the handbook of the University of Wisconsin, is now ready for distribution, and may be had free of charge by applying at the desk in the "Y."

The "Frosh Bible" is a handbook published yearly by the university Y. M. C. A. and contains information relative to all campus activities. From the year's athletic calendar to the history of the university the book is replete with genuine information. It tells one where to go to church and where to borrow money, how to get a "W" and how to keep from getting kicked out of school. Surely no freshman should be without one.

AT THE ORPHEUM

With a bill that would do credit to any one of the standard vaudeville theaters the local Orpheum vaudeville theater will offer starting tomorrow night and continuing for the balance of the week, six acts and pictures, which surely will be the talk of Madison theatergoers after the opening performances. Heading the list will be seen the feature act extraordinary from the famous soldier show of Irving Berlin called "A Day in Camp"—10 Yip Yip Yaphankers, featuring John Rothang and Frank Melino.

This attraction has been headlining vaudeville bills throughout the country and is a hit from start until the finish. Next of importance on this program will be Miss Dolly Kay, Syncopation's Clever Exponent, with Phil Phillips at the piano offering a cycle of songs on the syncopation order. Byron and Haig, two talented singers and dancers always welcome, will present their "Book of Vaudeville" offering, which for high class and clean singing and dancing ranks with the best. The dramatic sketch on this bill will be one of Charlie Grapewin's called "A Pair of Calves," featuring Val Harris and company, one of those laugh-producing comedy dramas which Mr. Grapewin has a clever knack of writing. The musical part of the entertainment will be carried by Minetti and Reidl, accordion players DeLuxe, and Howard Nichols, the ace of Hoops will follow the Pathé News and Aespo's fables reels.

Two performances tonight and a matinee this afternoon at the Orpheum will offer for the last times the clever vaudeville show which has been holding forth since Monday.

AT THE GRAND

There are two reasons why Charlie Chaplin's latest picture, "The Idle Class," which is now showing at the Grand, should be a notable success. First, he spent months making it and got himself badly burned in a studio accident before the picture was completed. Further, he essays a double role—a golf-nut and an absent minded husband, both of whom, of course, are members of the idle class. The picture succeeds in keeping a laugh perpetually busy in the audience. Chaplin has a line of new and decidedly amusing business which receives its full measure of appreciation.

Not the business, however, nor the story, nor the make-up are half so funny as the star himself in his air of boredom and oblivion to his environment. If you're one of the legion of Chaplin fans you'll get a lot of fun from "The Idle Class."

AT THE STRAND

With maternal devotion as the theme, and a cleverly involved melodramatic plot as its moving factor, Thomas H. Ince has woven with characteristic skill in his latest production "Mother O' Mine," which will be shown at the Strand theater for four days starting today.

The story tells of Robert Sheldon, who prefers metropolitan opportunity and its possible trapfalls, to small town stagnation. His mother, upon his departure for the city, gives him a letter of introduction to a financial wizard who is, unknown to the lad, his father who has deserted the mother years before under the drunken supposition that her infidelity had made the boy the son of another.

The wizard, whose financial transactions are always just within the limits of the law, installs Sheldon as an operative in his offices. Complications arise which result in the vicious blaspheming of the boy's mother by her former husband, and a fight between the two in which the financier is accidentally killed by his own revolver. The sole witness to the affray, the mistress of the slain man, perjures herself on the witness stand to secure the boy's conviction and sentence to death.

In the ensuing scenes of the drama, in which the mother's sacrifice comes into play, Mr. Ince has resorted to wholly new dramatic practices, which the powerful climax more than justifies.

There will also be shown a comedy cartoon.

Delegation to Attend Rites For Cochems

State Officials Headed by Gov. Blaine at Services Tomorrow

A delegation of nearly 100 leaders in Madison, Milwaukee, and southern Wisconsin legal circles, headed by Gov. John J. Blaine and the Circuit judges of Milwaukee county, will leave Milwaukee Tuesday night for Sturgeon Bay, to attend the funeral rites on Wednesday for Henry F. Cochems, Milwaukee attorney, who died at Salida, Col., on Friday.

Arrangements for special train service to Sturgeon Bay were completed Monday. Three special sleepers and a dining car will be attached to the Northwestern road train which leaves the city at 11:25 o'clock Tuesday night. The cars will arrive at 9:30 a. m. on Wednesday, in time for the funeral services, which will be held at 10 o'clock.

A number of state officials, headed by Gov. Blaine will leave Madison on Tuesday to join Milwaukee friends of Mr. Cochems on their way to the funeral. Justice Christian Doerfler of the Wisconsin Supreme court, will deliver the eulogy.

In addition to all the Circuit court judges, many Milwaukee attorneys will attend, and a memorial delegation will be sent by the local Elks' lodge.
