BELOIT PREXY TELLS HOW TO PICK VOCATION

Physical, Mental and Moral Capacities Should Be Considered Says Brannon

That every man in choosing his life's work should consider the subjective conditions, such as his physical, mental, and moral capacities, and the objective conditions which are presented in the 10,000 vocational opportunities, was the point brought out by M. H. Brannon, president of Beloit college, in a talk at the Fellowship meeting in the "Y" last night.

Must Be Fit for Vocation

"It would not pay a man physically weak to choose an occupation that would tie him down to desk work, nor would it do for one to take up the profession of journalism or that of a criminal lawyer if his mind was not able to act quickly and under a strain," said President Brannon, in outlining the subjective conditions.

"A man knowing that he did not have the strength of character to render faithfully a public service should not enter into a governmental position."

Occupations Outlined

An outline dealing with the simpler productive occupations as well as the more complex work found in manufacturing and commerce was presented by President Brannon while speaking of the objective conditions to be considered in choosing a vocation.

He requested that each man ask himself which of these various occupations appealed to him most. He dwelt briefly on the work to be encountered in the government positions and in the professions such as law, engineering, medicine, teaching, and religious work.

That every man be intensely interested in an avocation was strongly urged on the grounds that one third of a man's life is or ought to be devoted to recreation. A man should investigate his avocation from all angles in order to put zest into his work.

"I believe my chief avocation is a deep interest in youth," vouched President Brannon, in response to questioning after the meeting. He stated that at one time during his life he was a salesman and was

"Lit" Plans Two Boxes For Contribs

Two contribution boxes for the convenience of contributors to the Lit will be placed on the hill next week. One will be in the central entrance to Bascom hall and the other in front of the Union building.

The December number of the Lit will be on sale Monday and Tuesday. Among the contributions are a story by Earl Hanson '22, "The Reeve's Daughter," a play by I. M. Ramsdell, the author of "The Adventures of Gaucelm," and "The Portrait of a Woman," by Martha Dreiblatt '23.

IS PRODUCTION MANAGER FOR UNION VODVIL

Picture by Photoart
CARL BRONSON '22

Carl Bronson, who was appointed production manager of the 1921 Union Vodvil by Dale Merrick '22, general manager of the show, is well-known in university dramatic circles, having successfully managed the Haresfoot production, "Miss Quita," on its ten day tour of the state last year. Bronson is business manager of Haresfoot and a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Grads Plan Novel Party For Tonight

A "soiree dramatique" followed by a dance is the novel entertainment planned for the Graduate club meeting to be held this evening at 8:30 in the concert room at Lathrop hall.

Two one act plays, "The Old Maid and the Burglar," and "A Mixup of the Suitors" will be presented. The members of the club will constitute the personnel of the program.

All members of the Graduate club and their guests are urged to attend.

Friendship Drive Now Organizing

Preparations for collection of contributions to the Student Friendship fund are rapidly assuming definite form and the first appeal is to be made through the Madison churches Sunday morning.

The method of receiving voluntary gifts from students has not been announced by the committee, but no individual solicitation will be made. In some manner, however, students will be given the opportunity of giving as much as they feel they can afford to the nation's Christmas gift for the students of Europe.

Church clubs are planning dances and dinners, the proceeds from which will be donated to the fund. Many organizations are following the example of Gun and Blade, which collected from members a considerable amount of money to be given to the fund.

Two Santas Hold A Pre-Christmas Confab on Gifts

"Oh, Mary, are you going to give George that pongee muchoir with the pash green threads, or the meerchaum with your initials carved on the front?"

"Don't know yet, Peppy, but I have a grave feeling that he may fall heir to those Kappa cuff links Santa Claus brought me last year, and which I never wear since dear old Jimmie donated his with the Beta crest to me after the canoe episode of last June."

"Dad and the baby are stickers though. If only there were late files of Sears Sawteeth in the libe for reference one might get a lot of good ideas."

"But, my Dear, you are absolutely forgetting your little room mate and all I want to say is that she would not care for any pongee or gingham nose guards, nor sealing wax candy jars, nor cretonne lingerie, nor—"

"Peppy Beloved, calm your fears, I have no such will intent agin you. All I did was to order a Blue Dragon ring form you. I knew you had already got one, but you can easily sell it, or farm it out, or exchange it for a sister pin, or something. I think we ought to insist upon useful gifts this year since—"

"Useful—Stuff! You are the third person who has promised me a Blue Dragon ring. Why didn't somebody buy me a Phi Gam cigarette holder? Bob has been promised one ever since I decided that I wanted him to go to Prom with me, and now, where oh where is it coming from?"

"SORE EYES" WILL BE SENT HOME AS USUAL SAYS DEAN

Juniors and Seniors Have Chance to Stay Until February

No student will be sent home before Christmas for poor academic work except those who show either by gross deficiencies or by their attitude that they are clearly unable to continue their college studies, according to a statement given out from the office of the dean of the College of Letters and Science.

"No juniors or seniors will receive notices to leave before the end of the semester," said Miss Alma Sandberg, secretary to Dean G. C. Sellery.

A few students have been sent notices to leave because of misconduct or because they have cut a large number of their classes. Since the establishment of the early October exams it was necessary to postpone the mid-semester exams from the week before Thanksgiving until two weeks before the Christmas holidays. By this method those who should have left before Thanksgiving are given until the end of the semester to make good.

"It is not the policy of the executive committee to send anyone home before his case has been thoroughly analyzed and the student given all possible opportunity to redeem himself," said Prof. Harry Glicksman, junior dean.

Mid-semester reports are due in the dean's office today and a few students, who are on probation, will be asked not to return after the holidays.

MATINEE SATURDAY

In an effort to find out what in heck is going on around here anyhow, TAP HAZZARD submits the following voter's guide for the much talked of questionnaire:

Year—(This has no reference to your number of years, refer to the directory).

Male or female—(not a movie). After technical education—Ans. Yes.

How far after—Ans. Two weeks. Do you intend to graduate?—Ans. No.

When did you make this decision?—After mid-semester.

Know any professors outside of school?—Yes. Want to know any more?—Never again.

Do you believe in Santa Clause?—Ans. Yes or No.

Do you ever feel blue? green? yellow? red?

What four magazines do you read besides The Police Gazette and Vanity Fair?—Yes.

Is college life worth while?—It's worth a lot.

Getting enough from it?—Ans. Too darn much.

What do you think of Edison?—Ans. Don't know him.

What makes the grass grow green?

GRANDDAD'S LATEST

She (at musical recital)—What IS that he's playing?

He (there against his will)—Oh that? A violin, I think.

A WOPPER!

They say that Doug Newell saw a whale of a fish lying on a wharf. He looked at it for a minute or two, and then said to the fisherman on the dock: "The man who caught that fish is a liar!"

There are three words, the sweetest words,

In all the human speech—More sweet than are the songs of birds,

Or pages poet's preach.

This life may be a vale of tears, A sad and dreary thing—

Three words, and trouble disappears,

And birds begin to sing.

Three words and all the roses bloom,

The sun begins to shine;

Three words will dissipate the gloom

And water turn to wine.

HESPERIA IS TO DEBATE ON WAR DEBT TONIGHT

The question, Resolved, that the United States should immediately cancel the allied war debt, will be debated by Hesperia Literary society tonight at 7:30, in 451 Bascom hall.

The affirmative will be supported by Lester H. Darnestadt '23, Loren S. Clark '23, and Wayne T. Morse '23, closer. The negative will be upheld by Charles B. Puestow '23, Roger B. Russell '23, and Ralph E. Axley '23, closer.

Unusual interest centers about this important question which today is baffling financiers and diplomats. The matter has come up in Congress a number of times and it promises to be one of the much debated questions during the present session. Upon returning from Europe this fall, Professor Scott stated that unless the finances of Europe are relieved, bankruptcy is just around the corner.

The debate is in charge of two old time Intercollegiate debaters, which promises to make it a very interesting and heated contest. Halsey Kraege '22, president of the society, will preside.

In addition to the debate of the evening, Albert W. Weeks '23 will speak on "Accomplishments of the Wisconsin Geological Society." John T. Atwood '22, will give a talk on "What Hesperia accomplished in 1921." Visitors and students are invited to attend the program of the evening.

Three words will cheer the saddest days—

"I love you!" (?)—Wrong, by heck!

It is another, sweeter phrase: "Enclosed—find—check."

—"Brown Jug."

Railroad Jack is Greatly Honored

The greatest honor of his eventful life, to date, was bestowed upon Railroad Jack last night at the Madison club during the banquet given to the board of regents of the University of Wisconsin and Normal schools of the state.

"Jack" complimented the audience in giving them to understand that their batting average of intelligence, judged by the questions sent in, was the highest of any gathering where he has before displayed his wares. "Jack" thinks that after the audience heard the governor speak and then heard his remarks, that the audience probably now thinks more of the governor than they did before.

CARLSON CALLS SOPH MEETING

President George Carlson of the Sophomore class has called a meeting of all sophomore men to be held Thursday, Dec. 15, at 7:15 p. m., in Music hall. ## NOTRE DAME CANNOT MEET 1922 VARSITY

Various Schedules Are Approved By Board

Notre Dame will not meet Wisconsin on the gridiron next fall. Because of conflicts in their schedules, the Catholics were unable to accept the October 14 date offered by Wisconsin.

South Dakota State college has been signed to take the date which had been considered by Coach Knute Rockne's Indians. The Dakota Aggies held Wisconsin to a 24 to 3 score this year and won the championship of the Northwestern conference.

North Dakota university may be the first team to be met. If the Dakotans and Wisconsin can make proper arrangements, these two teams will open the 1922 season on October 7 at Madison. Indiana, Minnesota, Illinois, Michigan and Chicago are the Big Ten teams slated to play Richards' men. Carleton and Lawrence are being considered for the first preliminary game.

No possibility exists for a game between Wisconsin and Wisconsin. "If Wisconsin was to go outside of the Conference for a game," said Athletic Director Thomas E. Jones yesterday, "it would be with eastern teams such as Yale, Harvard or Princeton."

Two dual track meets will be held during the indoor season. Iowa and Notre Dame come to Madison, and the Badger speedsters go to Evanston for the indoor conference meet and to Urbana for the Illinois relays.

In the outdoor schedules, Illinois and Chicago come to Madison, Wisconsin meets Minnesota on the Gophers' stamping grounds, and men will probably be sent to the Drake and Penn relays.

An especially heavy schedule faces Coach Joseph C. Steinauer's swimming squad. Six dual meets, three at Madison and three in foreign tanks, and the Conference meet at Evanston are carded.

Lawrence will open the wrestling season on January 14, by grappling with Coach George Hitchcock's outfit at Appleton. Chicago is the only institutions which is sending a mat squad to Madison, but the Conference meet will be held here on March 25.

Probably the hardest gym schedule in years has been arranged by Coach Fred Schlatter. Three dual meets at home, two at Milwaukee and Minneapolis, and the Northwestern gym meets are slated for the Badger tumbler. In addition to this schedule, the annual Conference tourney will be run off in the Wisconsin gym on March 25.

A spring baseball trip looms up as the biggest inducement for Varsity baseball candidates. The trip through the south will extend from April 8 to 17, with Notre Dame being the last team to be met on the return journey. Four preliminary games have been carded before the Conference season swings under way. On April 21, Indiana will open the Big Ten season with a series of two games at Madison. The Badger ball tossers meet all Conference teams on the diamond.

Many Entries in Frat Frosh Meet To Be Held Saturday

At the conclusion of the annual inter-fraternity track meet to be held Saturday afternoon in the gym annex, four beautiful cups will take their positions of honor on the mantelpieces of the winning chapters. Each of the 15 teams which have been entered in the meet will strive to carry off the honors, and, with the fairly even distribution of star performers among the rival squads, all of the 11 events of the afternoon will be strongly contested.

Pi Kappa Alpha, who won the meet last year, will attempt to repeat this season. Among those in whom this fraternity is placing its hopes for a place are D. Jones who will shine among the pole vaulters and also perform in the sprints; Wade will do his part in the distance races, and Newell will attempt the hurdles and the dashes.

OPENING OF SKI SLIDE SET FOR JANUARY 7

January 7 is the date set for the formal opening of the new ski slide. A good season for skiing is expected, as it has been announced that we have already had more than the average amount of rainfall this season.

Minnesota has asked to have the annual tournament here this year as their slide has been blown down. Because Minnesota won the contest last year, a great effort will be made by our men to carry off the honors this year.

There will be no tournament at Lake Nagewicka this year, but Milwaukee will send a few men here for a tournament which is to be held sometime in the middle of February.

VARSITY TRIMS '25 SWIMMERS

Frosh No Competition In Many of the Events

The Varsity swimming team overwhelmed the Freshmen by a score of 34 to 7 in a meet held at the city Y. M. C. A. last night. A few men on both teams performed in a manner which makes it appear that Wisconsin will be well represented in the aquatic squad for the next few seasons.

Both teams were handicapped due to the fact that many of their best men failed to report for the practice meet. This was a disappointment both to Coach Steinauer and the hundred or so of fans who were on hand to view the teams for the first time this year.

Czerwonsky, of the Varsity, was the individual star of the meet, winning firsts in the 100 yard breast stroke and in the 100 yard back stroke. He has a long, easy stroke, and bids fair to aid in making the team a strong one this year.

Ellicot, a Frosh, won the 40 yard swim in a manner which bespeaks success for him next year, when he will be eligible for Varsity competition.

The practice was held in preparation for the meet against the Milwaukee Athletic Club, which will be held in the latter city on Dec. 22. This year's squad should be considerably stronger than that of last season, providing that all of the men who are now out remain eligible the second semester. Coach Steinauer lost all but four of his men before the conference meets took place last year.

The summary of events is as follows: Event 1. Fancy Diving. Won by Koch, Varsity. Nash, Varsity, second. Pag, Freshman, third. Time: 1 minute, 41 seconds.

60 Yard relay. Won by Varsity. Time: 1 minute, 28 seconds.

40 Yard swim. Won by Ellicot, Freshman. Ambolley, Varsity, second. Davies, Varsity, third. Time: 20 seconds.

100 Yard breast stroke. Won by Czerwonsky, Varsity. R. Pabst, Varsity, second. Rand, Varsity, third. Time: 1 minute, 14 seconds.

Plunge for distance. (Only Varsity men entered.) Won by Lohman. Distance 59 feet. Huebner, second.

100 Yard back stroke. Won by Czerwonsky, Varsity. Copeland, Varsity, second. Madesult, Freshman, third. Time: 1 minute, 28 seconds.

BASKET MEN EASILY BEAT FROSH TEAM

Game Was Last Open Practice of This Week

In its last open practice previous to the Michigan Aggies game, Varsity trimmed the Freshman basketball team, 26 to 10, before a crowd of 300 fans, yesterday.

The Badger quintet had difficulty in getting started for a half and led the yearlings by only two points when the teams changed baskets. Frequent changes in the lineup slowed up play, but in the second period, Varsity recovered its shooting eye and ran the score from 8 to 6 to 26 to 10.

The Meanwell Offense

Using the famous Dr. Meanwell offense, the first string team consistently worked the ball down the floor to within easy scoring distance. At this point the attack often failed and time after time, shots rolled out of the hoop. With the men working in close formation, five regulars had little difficulty in piercing the yearling defense. They pivoted and whirled their way to the free throw ring. Long shots were rarely attempted and the forwards made no try for the net until they were within easy distance.

The Varsity defense kept the frosh away from the hoop and permitted them only five baskets. Hard luck shots characterized the yearlings' attempt to run up their score. With lanky Hertz forming the main cog in their scoring machine, the frosh started, the frosh started in mid-season fashion and ran up a four point lead before Varsity started. Williams and Tebell were effective and let their young opponents slip through for only two baskets in the second period.

Taylor Scores Most

"Cop" Taylor was the big scorer of the lengthy scrimmage. The captain sapped four shots into the net, one in the first half and the remainder in the last. He was pushed for scoring honors by Capt. "Duke" Ceaser. "Duke" did all of his counting in the last period. Every Badger except Tebell broke into the scoring column. Williams marked up two baskets, one a beauty from the outer edge of the ring.

Gibson and "Cy" Johnson alternated at center. The pivot job has been Wisconsin's weak point since the days of "Bill" Chandler and "Vic" Hemming. Gibson works in well although he showed signs of nervousness during the scrimmage. Johnson played center and forward. He is a player who has shown evident signs of development under Meanwell's tutelage.

Hertz and Harris were outstanding luminaries of the first year team. Hertz rung up three baskets. He frequently got the jump on the Varsity center. Harris is the Williams type of running guard. He is sure in his handling and passing of the ball. Mainland scored two baskets for the yearlings.

The lineup follows:

Varsity	Freshmen
Capt. Ceaser	R. F. Mainland
Taylor	L. F. Spooner
Gibson	C. Hertz
Tebell	R. G. Harris
Williams	L. G. Mabry

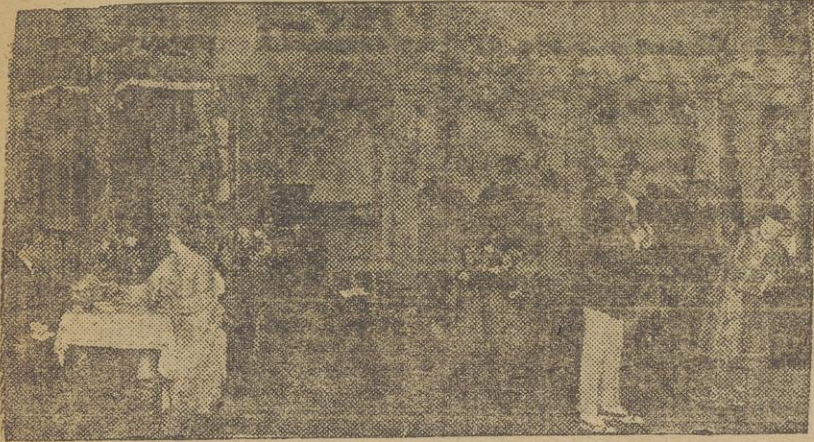

Baskets—Varsity, Ceaser 3, Taylor 4, Gibson 2, Johnson 2, Williams 2. Freshmen, Hertz 3, Mainland 2.

Substitutions—Varsity, Johnson for Gibson, Gage for Taylor, Gibson for Johnson, Johnson for Ceaser, Ceaser for Johnson, Taylor for Gage, Johnson for Gibson.

Frosh, Nolte for Mainland, Morrison for Spooner, Pollak for Morrison, Diebold for Hertz Rippe for Harris, Balow for Mabry, Spooner for Pollak, Mainland for Nolte, Hertz for Diebold, Harris for Rippe, Mabry for Below.

A large crowd enthusiastically greeted the cabinet members on their arrival at the Mansion House. Announcement was made today at the military headquarters here that if the Anglo-Irish agreement is ratified the crown forces would be removed from Ireland within a month. The members of both houses of the Ulster parliament considered the Irish agreement at a meeting in Ulster this morning. After two hours of private conference, it was announced that Sir James Craig, the premier, would leave for London tonight.

Orph Bill Holds Audience After Curtain Falls

By W. K.

The bill at the Orpheum for the last half of this week is one of the best balanced bills that has been presented here this year. It pleased the audience from curtain to curtain. In fact when the show closed everyone remained in their seats instead of climbing over each other to get to the open air. Miss Adelaide Bell of the last act should never be allowed on the vaudeville stage; she should be playing right tackle on Flo Ziegfeld's All-American team.

Emile and John Nathane

An original tumbling act for a change. Apparently these boys are used to more applause than they got.

* * *

Mort Infield and Venzia Nobiet

An ordinary song act saved by good humor and some new jokes.

Charles F. Semon

One might expect him to play on a razor strop; he seemed to please with a burlesque costume and good variety of musical contraptions.

* * *

"No Trespassing"

An extremely well turned skit. It has a wealth of good lines and is saved from turning into an over-worked husband and wife melodrama by the hilarious acting of Miss Claire Vincent, who plays to the audience and gets away with it.

Bob Knapp and Chris Cornalla

In the vernacular, this act was the berries. A poor start is the only weak spot in the act, which is a well rounded combination of comedy, dancing and tumbling. The chap in grey did some excellent work in the final dance.

Adelaide Bell

A solo ballet dance that leaves an impression of bright eyes and limber limbs. Miss Bell has the good judgment to stop while the audience wants more, but the poor taste to carry a green fan that clashes with her first costume. Her second creation was splendid. Her accompanist can make his piano talk out loud.

Tax Rate Is Finally Fixed At 23.5 Mills

Budget is Accepted by Council by Vote of 17 to 2

The tax rate for Madison was fixed at 23½ mills Wednesday night. At a session of the common council, record-breaking for its brevity, the 1922 city budget was adopted, with its tax rate fixed at a figure one mill higher than the 22.5 tax of a year ago.

The budget was accepted by a vote of 17 to 2, Ald. J. H. Brown and Ald. E. F. Gibbs voting against it. Ald. G. J. Fessler was absent and Ald. A. B. Groves, who has been forced to be absent from many committee meetings and was not thoroughly acquainted with its contents yet, was excused from voting.

With costs in every department increasing, the committee was congratulated by Mayor I. M. Kittle-son that it had been so successful in its undertaking. An increase could not be avoided.

A total of $1,933,472.37 will have to be raised by direct taxation, a summary of the new budget shows. This is equivalent to a 23½ mill tax on a valuation of $82,275,420.

The contingent fund, this year is higher than it was last year. It contains $17,223.75 and will form a reasonably large working basis for the council. The total expenditures estimated for the coming year are $1,043,481.31 for salaries and wages, and $486,127.05 for materials and supplies. The outlay totals $441,637.85.

The indebtedness of the city is $336,594; street improvement bonds, $278,844.03; state taxes, $161,671.47; county taxes, $247,305.50; offset to income tax, $125,000; and with the other expenditures, totals $3,137,185.96.

THEY'RE ONLY BOYS

STUDENT bodies are often accused of being hypercritical and too exacting. It must be admitted that students are not devoid of that human instinct to criticize that which does not meet with their approval. It is only natural to expect as much. Not only are outside actions subject to student critical comment, but the activities of students also come in for their share of contemporary censure.

In a large student community there is bound to be difference of opinion; it is present in exceedingly small communities. Where, as on a university campus such as we have, every student believes in his own opinion with the ardent faith of youth, small differences, petty misunderstandings are at times liable to assume very unpleasant proportions. And how often it is only after the unpleasantness has been caused that we realize how much might have been avoided by the practice of co-operation and a little understanding rather than purely destructive criticism and hostile clashing.

To criticize is always easier than to construct, and at times a plea for a little tolerance is not out of the order of things. On the Cardinal staff are a goodly number of students who are really working, giving their best that the publication may achieve a successful end. These students differ from most in school only in that they have had some experience in their particular line of endeavor; they do not claim to be superior beings. They make no claim of being infallible, but is it fair for those who have very little knowledge of the working of the machine and who are not active in contributing anything toward its running—is it fair for them to destructively criticize when a slip-up occurs?

Perhaps if it were generally known just what responsibility, effort, and strain is connected with the publishing of the Cardinal, the critics would be a bit more tolerant. If the countless attention demanding details, the late-at-night and early morning hours, and the many instances of importance that demand immediate decisions were fully realized, perhaps misunderstandings would be fewer.

The Cardinal is one of very few student owned and controlled papers in the country. Obviously, the entire student body cannot directly control the paper and for that reason its powers are given to a student elected board of control. It is the duty of this board of control together with the staff it appoints to regulate and be responsible for what goes into the Cardinal and how it goes in.

When the students elect a board to control the Cardinal for them, they do not, however, thereby shake off all interest in what the Cardinal does. It is still their paper and in all fairness to the owners they should be kept informed of all that transpires in the paper. Helpful criticism is always desired and received by the Cardinal, but let the criticism be of that nature and let it be above board and tendered in a co-operative spirit.

Work on the Cardinal is not performed for material gain, and to be totally intolerant of human fallibilities is wrong. Better co-operation and understanding will do much for the spirit of the Cardinal, and let us remember with some one who so aptly put it, that after all, they're only boys.

OUR LIT

MONDAY, the third of this year's Lit Magazines will be on sale on the campus, and the staff is hoping for an increased response on the part of the students. They are not hoping for too much, for the Lit is deserving of student support, which it will undoubtedly get eventually. Unfortunately the first issue of the Lit contained a style of writing which did not meet with the approval of the entire student body, and it did not take long for the disapproval to be voiced.

In former years the Lit has upheld a high standard of writing and has had consistent support on which it is dependent for its success. The Literary Magazine does not aspire toward the "highbrow" to be enjoyed only by a select "literary" few, but aims rather to give entertaining reading to the student body at large. If the students generally will see this and give the Lit a chance, its continued success is assured. And, too, the Lit is not published only by the staff for their own effort in the literary field; let the ability, of which the campus certainly has plenty, come forward with its contributions and help to maintain for the Lit a worthy reputation for real entertaining value, which the Lit has earned during the recent years of its existence.

Let's come ahead and support our Lit by contributing to its content and reading its issues. Have your quarter ready when you go to class next Monday.

Communications

Editor Daily Cardinal:

As an example of small-town thickheadedness, it is impossible to surpass the refusal of the Parkway management to give a Cardinal reviewer seats for "Miss Lulu Bett." I understand that the manager said that he did not consider it worth his trouble to accord the Cardinal the courtesy which any theater gives any newspaper. In other words, he feels that student support of his theater is so unimportant to him that he can afford to overlook entirely the student daily by means of which some thousands of people in Madison are informed of what is going on. The Cardinal very properly refused to review "Miss Lulu Bett" under the circumstances, and it appears that some of Miss Gale's friends now feel that the Cardinal is to blame for discourtesy to her.

The Cardinal is perfectly right in its attitude. The Parkway has subsisted in the past and will subsist in the future largely on the patronage of people connected with the university. If the management of the theater is going to discriminate against student publications, it should be made to realize clearly that it is making a mistake. There is a general tendency to underrate the benefits which the university confers on the city. If the Parkway feels so cocky in its new make-students and people connected with up, I suggest that it try excluding the university from its productions. It is unfortunate that Miss Gale's play was not reviewed, but it is more important that the Cardinal assert its position and refuse to give the Parkway presents which it does not appreciate.

P. V. Gangelin '23.

Editor Daily Cardinal:

By way of, perhaps, a final word upon the Scott Nearing case, I am writing this communication. It has attracted considerably more attention than it has deserved. The unusual interest in the Scott Nearing case can possibly be explained along with the unusual interest in the Sacco and Vanzetti murder case of Massachusetts. Judging from the number of communications published in the Cardinal, every member of the Social Science club must have received explicit instructions to write the Daily Cardinal upon the subject.

The Wisconsin Social Science club is not an organization for the study of economic questions, but solely to spread propaganda of a radical and anarchic nature among the students here. The Social Science club was run out of the university once. Their reputation is a black one. I emphatically deny that they are a fit group to choose speakers for university crowds.

I deny further the statement they have made, that no harm can come from airing such views as they propose the university shall sponsor. Many of the students who come here are very young, and consequently not able to pick the fallacies in erroneous but well polished arguments. Their parents do not send them here to be made into radicals, but rather into well behaved citizens.

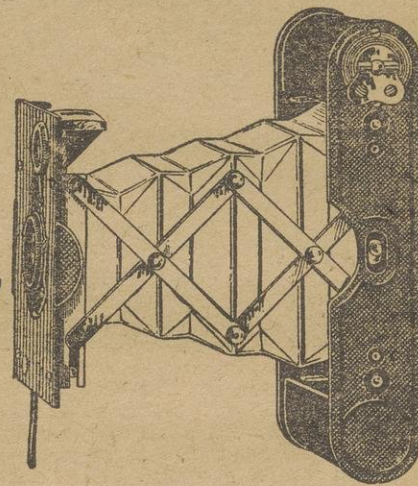

This university is charged by the state to train citizens worthy of its name. To be lulled by the fantastic schemes of Scott Nearing is not an essential part of that training. It would be, in fact, opposed to the purpose for which this university was established.

It is not customary for governments to furnish asylums for the airing of views leading to their destruction. Free speech is not at stake in the controversy. There is a difference between a government permitting free speech along such lines and directly encouraging it by furnishing the halls in which the erroneous reasoning of the malcontents is spread broadcast.

THETAS INTERPRET MUSIC IN VODVIL ACT

—Picture by Phoroart
"The Power of Music" presented by the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority will be one of the headliners in tonight's Union Vodvil program. The

are Helen Cheetham '22, Martha Buell '23, Wilma Trost '23, and Marjorie Boesch '22. The piece is written in a manner that makes it run smoothly, bringing out the different moods resulting from various kinds of music. A harmonious combination of melodious snatches goes to make up a satisfactory number.

EDUCATORS OF STATE DISCUSS FUTURE PLANS

State School Leaders
Gather to Consider Harmonious Co-operation

NO PROGRESS MADE

Speakers Confine Remarks
Today to Departmental Activities

President Birge for the university, Geo. P. Hambrecht for the continuation schools, Clough Gates of Superior for the Normal schools, Edward A. Fitzpatrick and John Callahan, state supt. of education, addressed the conference of state educational boards in the senate chamber of the capitol Thursday morning.

The meeting was called to unite the various boards that they might work more harmoniously in furthering educational work in Wisconsin. The system is now decentralized with each board working for its own particular section with very little thought of the other departments. This morning no progress was made. Each speaker related the hopes and achievements of his board and predicted that it would continue in its present course of bettering sectional departments without any radical changes. That various departments naturally trod on someone's toes in the march seemed to be the keynote of most of the speeches.

Dr. Fitzpatrick hoped that the conference would usher in a new day of educational betterment.

"What Wisconsin needs is an evangelist of education, one who will have the faith, one who has served on the various boards and knows the requirements of the schools."

Supt. Callahan pointed out the improvements that had been made in the schools in the last few decades. The country schools are still the chief sufferers, he claimed, because of their size restricting the installation of modern methods and the employing of better teachers. Teachers in the small country schools now must be expert in teaching all grades from the primary to the eighth.

"We should correct our weakest spots first, among which are the correction of present consolidation laws which do not work; also the strengthening of county boards of education," was the advice of Mr. Callahan.

George P. Hambrecht, secretary of the vocational school board, detailed the advance made in education ahead of the other states in continuation work that they are gasping at our lead," said the secretary. "This was the result of the laws passed by the 1921 session of the legislature."

ing children who are obliged to leave school to work. "Wisconsin has been put so far ahead of the other states in continuation work that they are gasping at our lead," said the secretary. "Children in Wisconsin are now made to attend school until they reach the seventh grade. Pupils between the ages of 14-16 are obliged to attend school 2½ days per week and beyond these ages until they are 18 they must attend school at least one day per week."

Clough Gates, secretary of the board of normal regents stated that harmony should be a means to an end not an end in educational matters.

"Many people have a misconception of the University of Wisconsin," exclaimed Pres. Birge.

"We spend one-third of our appropriations for educational work in the state that has nothing whatever to do with the students at Madison."

"Our purpose is two fold: to organize knowledge so well that the people throughout the state can apply it for their immediate benefit and to educate the students that come to us so that they may be better fitted for life and to also spread knowledge where they go." The conference will be continued Friday.

Will Be Moving Day For Pacific Coast Catchers

Several pitchers on the Pacific Coast League teams are going to have new battery mates next spring it appears. For catchers figure in most of the deal rumors. Sacramento, it is said, will dispose some way of Rowdy Elliott, the young catcher who got a thorough try-out with the Dodgers last year. Salt Lake has Byrd Lynn and Joe Jenkins, and is reported willing to let one or both go, it is said. Los Angeles is willing to let the veteran Oscar Stanage figure in a deal. Portland has three backstops they are willing to trade.

Parkway Theatre Is Fortunate In Strauss Program

The Parkway theater was indeed fortunate in being able to bring to Madison so fine a concert as last evening's Strauss program proved to be. The audience, having gathered not only in interest in the music, but as well for the hearing and sight of Richard Strauss, gave the musicians a continual evidence of their appreciation and pleasure, that brought forth several encores. This in spite of the fact that a lost trunk had made a revision of the announced program necessary as only part of the music needed was at hand.

These circumstances caused the program to be opened with a group of Schubert songs, which at once won the audience to the splendid artistry and engaging personality of Elizabeth Schumann. Not a little of the enjoyment of the evening is to her credit. Whatever doubt may have been in the minds of any as to the expediency of a whole evening of German song was quickly dispelled by her graceful voice and gracious manner.

Richard Strauss, at the piano, was still the Richard Strauss of Til Eulenspiegel, and Death and Transfiguration fame, although the songs were seemingly of altogether different inspiration. Those compositions for orchestra that have won Strauss so great a name give little clue to the manner of melody that Strauss set for voice. His success in the florid contrapuntal resources of full orchestration is not chiefly melodic. He casts to the wind too much of the form and idiom in which we have learned to appreciate the classics. For this his melody does not always appeal to most listeners, who often declare "Pure Dissonance!"

In the songs of last evening's program there was never a lack of melodic coherence, and seldom the tonal turbulence one thinks of as Strauss. Something there was, though, that is characteristic of his other work. Possibly that combination of restrained romantic passion and the seemingly non-concomitant philosophical abstraction of his orchestral tone poems. In the more passive moods of some of the songs this was particularly noticeable. Never did the music reach the intensity of Tchaikovsky's sadness, and yet there was no loss of vitality in this restraint. The lighter moods of the songs never became frivolous.

With such a fine program and so delightful artist as Elizabeth Schumann, it was no surprise that the audience without exception remained unwilling to leave until two encores had been heard.

Strong China Needed For World Peace

Rotarians Hear Plea Today
At "International"
Luncheon

"Only a strong China that can command a place among world powers will solve the question of world peace" declared Fisher Y. C. Yu, a Chinese student at the university, who addressed the Rotary Club at the luncheon at the Park hotel this noon. He outlined the past development of his country and gave the view of his people on the Far East problem and its solution.

F. Van der Merwe of South Africa, related the history of his country and explained some of its present economic struggles. The program also contained Ishmael Mallard, a Philippine student, who also told of his native land. "American jazz is all the rage in the entire Philippine archipelago," he stated. He said that American capital was extremely welcome because of its aid in the development in the islands.

Formal Functions Are Held Earlier in the Season

Three formal dinner dances are included among this week end's social festivities, and coming as they do, in the middle of the first semester, seem to indicate a desire to do more formal entertaining during the winter season rather than so much of it into the spring months, as has been customary in previous years.

Union Vodvil, which will be presented Friday and Saturday nights of this week affords opportunity for some variety in entertaining also. Several dinners and theater parties have been planned for tonight.

Formal Dinner Dance Given At Phi Delta Theta House

Decorations will be developed in a color scheme of blue and gold for the formal dinner dance which Phi Delta Theta fraternity will give tonight at the chapter house on North Lake street. Bell shaped canopies of blue and gold will lower the ceilings and the same colors will be used in the table decorations. All lights will be shaded in amber. Dr. and Mrs. Ted Hodges will chaperon the affair.

Delta Tau Delta Gives Formal Dinner Dance

Members of Delta Tau Delta will entertain formally tonight with a dinner dance, to be given at their chapter lodge. Southern smilax will form the chief note in the decorations of the house and will also be used with flowers on the tables. Those who have been invited to chaperon the party are Dr. and Mrs. L. O. Heems, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Teckmeyer.

Psi Upsilon Formal

Cherry blossoms, colored Jap lanterns, quaint lighting effects, and other decorations suggestive of Japan will be used at the Psi U house tonight for the formal dinner dance which members of that fraternity are giving. Mr. and Mrs. Max Maxon have been invited to act as chaperons of the party.

Dinner Party to Be Given by Delta Upsilon

Covers will be laid for 21 guests tonight at the formal dinner party which will be given by members of Delta Upsilon fraternity at their chapter house on North Frances street. The dinner will precede a theater party at the opening performance of Union Vodvil. Mr. and Mrs. Milton B. Findorf have been invited to chaperon.

Theater Party and Dinner To Be Given by T. K. E.

Tau Kappa Epsilon will entertain about 20 guests at a formal dinner at the chapter house tonight. After the dinner, guests will attend Union Vodvil. Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Mirick will chaperon.

Kappa Kappa Gamma Dancing Party

An informal dancing party will be given tonight by Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. It will be held at the Kappa house on North Park street. Mrs. J. C. Evans, Miss Mary Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moser will act as chaperons.

Informal Dancing Party To Be Given by Y. M. C. A.

An informal dance will be given tonight by men who live in the Y. M. C. A. dormitories. It will be held at the Woman's building. Prof. and Mrs. J. H. Mathews and Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Wolf will chaperon the party.

Acacia Dinner Party

Members of Acacia fraternity will entertain tonight with their annual formal dinner for alumni members. It will be held at the Acacia house at 6:30 o'clock. About 75 alumni guests will be present.

Personal

Miss Ruth Nelson, who has been ill, and confined to the infirmary for some time, has withdrawn from the university, and left on Monday for her home in Chicago.

Col. C. F. Crane, Freeport, Ill., commandant of the university cadet corps in 1916 and 1917, was in Madison yesterday, and called to pay his respects at the office of Major John S. Wood.

Dudley Godfrey, Milwaukee, is a visitor at the Kappa Sigma house.

CARDINAL STAFF GIVEN BANQUET

That the loyalty and co-operation of the staff of the Daily Cardinal to the men in charge of the paper is essential to its success was emphasized by speakers at a banquet given by the board of control to the staff at the Capitol cafe last night.

Adrian Scolton, president of the board of control, and William Sale, managing editor of the Cardinal, both emphasized the necessity of co-operation on the part of every member of the editorial and business staffs and of the board of control.

Prof. William G. Bleyer, director of the course in Journalism, gave a brief history of the Cardinal. Professor Bleyer was editor of the paper during his sophomore year at the university, 30 years ago, and has been connected with the Cardinal ever since then. Prof. Grant M. Hyde spoke of Cardinal publicity.

Christmas is Theme of Girls' Club Sing

Many were put into the Christmas mood by the Y. M. C. A. song service given by the University Girls' Glee club Thursday afternoon in Lathrop parlors. The Christmas message of peace and good will was carried out in each number of the program.

The program was as follows: "God is Love," by the Glee club; "It Shall Come to Pass," from the "Holy City," a trio by Margaret Moore, Gladys Garness, and Merle Gibbs; "But the Lord is Mindful of his Own," from Mendelssohn's "Elijah," asolo by Erna Duncan; "Peace I Leave With You," by the Glee club; "No Candle Was There," a solo by Martha Chandler; "French Noel," by the Glee club; "Bethlehem," a solo by Agot Borge. Frances Landon and Ethel Lemmer played the piano and violin accompaniments.

Prom Plans to Make No Excess Profits — Brader

In regard to a statement concerning Prom profits, which is likely to be misunderstood, and which appeared in a recent issue of the Cardinal, Prom Chairman James L. Brader makes the following explanation:

"It is not the policy of the 1923 Junior Prom to try to make excessive profits. Much as we are behind the Memorial Union, we cannot set a certain sum as a minimum, because it would be taxing students doubly for what they have already sacrificed.

"All of the net profits that may be gained from Prom will be turned over to the Memorial Union—we cannot stipulate any sum because we are not planning upon such a profit as Sunday's Cardinal stated."

Farm House Buys Conklin Property

The home of J. William Conklin at 309 Mills st., has been sold to the Farm House fraternity. The deal was concluded on Wednesday. It is understood that the consideration was $25,000.

The Farm House fraternity comprises students in the college of agriculture.

Mr. Conklin is a member of the Conklin & Sons Co., dealers in ice and fuel.

Learning To Read Made Simple Task

Old Time Primer Discard- ed in New System of Teaching

Learning to read in Madison's modern public schools is fun. It didn't use to be. But today the new principles of psychology upon which its teaching is based make it an open sesame to fairyland itself.

The old-time primer has been thrown away. As a matter of fact, when the children first begin to read, they originate their own material. The teacher talks with them about their homes, and plies them with questions that encourage definite statements. Susie says, "We cook in the kitchen." Mary says, "We sleep in the bedroom." These quoted statements are written on the board and used for reading material.

Each member of the class knows what these words mean. They can readily visualize, not only the appearance of the printed word, but also the thing for which it stands. The next step in learning to read is to grasp new, unfamiliar words.

The new method begins with favorite nursery games and rhymes. Simple words like "hop" and "skip" are placed on the blackboard. Willie is invited to hop for the edification of the class. Not only do the youngsters enjoy this acrobatic diversion, but they can hardly fail to master the association between the action and the word. Thereafter "hop" becomes a picture in their minds.

Were you to happen into the Art Department of the High School this next week the first two periods in the morning you would discover a tenth grade class of girls painting in fascinating colors designs on round wooden boxes. These color combinations have been decided upon by each girl after carefully considering the room into which the box is to be placed. For are these not to be filled with cookies or candies and presented to "mother," "auntie" or "cousin" for Christmas? This problem is only one of the many in applied design which this class make during the year.

Weger Named Head of Germania Society

Frank Weger, Jr., was elected president of Madison society No. 55, of Germania, at the election of officers Tuesday night at Turner hall. Other officers were elected as follows: Joseph Heiss, vice president; C. A. Kraft, secretary; Julius Rodefelf, treasurer; H. Michels, speaker; Frank Weger, Jr., conductor; Steve Baldinus, inside guard; A. B. Faust, trustee for three years; Charles A. Kraft, delegate to the central society; J. J. Sommers and Herman Gilbert, physicians. The local society has nearly 190 members and the entire society, operating only in the state, has grown in 38 years from a membership of 500 with a capital of less than $2,000 to an organization of 61 societies, with a membership of nearly 10,000 and a surplus of about half a million dollars.

Its main object is to care for the sick and provide death benefits.

Human Factor in Industry Needs Attention

"Industrial engineers should give more attention to the human factor in industry," said Willis Wisler, director of the commercial and industrial bureau of the university extension division, last night in addressing the class for executives at the Association of Commerce.

"Industrial engineers have stressed the conservation of raw materials and the capital and equipment sides in industry and have attempted to work out a system on a mathematical basis. Experience has proven that the human element is by all comparisons equally as important and yet the study of this problem and the application of policies is just beginning to attract studied attention," said Mr. Wisler.

REGENTS ASK RICHARDS TO COACH IN '22

Expenditure of $30,000 for Stadium Addition is Okeyed

At the meeting of the university board of regents day before yesterday, Coach John R. Richards was re-appointed coach of the football team. The board also approved the expenditure of $30,000 on an addition to the new stadium, and heard the report of President Birge on the petition of the Social Science club for an open forum on the campus.

No Full Time Coach

Previous to the meeting rumors had been current, especially in Milwaukee circles, that members of the board would try to provide for a full-time coach and would not advocate the selection of Richards for next year. The regents at their session, however, felt that the work of the Badger coach had been meritorious and consequently invited him to return next fall, as usual. No action was taken in regard to appointing a full-time coach for next year.

Provide Stadium Addition

In approving the Athletic board's expenditure of $30,000 on the incomplete stadium, the board of regents feels that Wisconsin will be placed on a better par with other conference schools. The locker and shower accommodations that Wisconsin has had to deal with in the past have been far inferior to those of other schools.

The new addition will be erected where the covered wooden stands are now. Underneath the concrete stand all the latest equipment in lockers, showers, rubbing-rooms, and visitors' accommodations will be placed. It is planned to have this addition ready for next fall.

No Action on Open Forum

Another matter which was taken up by the regents was in regard to the question of an open forum on the campus. President Birge reported to the board that he felt that at all times he has been lenient in permitting speakers to come here, but in some cases he felt that there were certain propagandists and proselyters which the school could not afford to endorse. He also stated that the wishes of the parents should in a great measure be considered. He stated that he had heard nothing which indicated to him that the people of Wisconsin, whom he represented, desired the so-called "open-forum" which was suggested by the Social Science club.

The regents after hearing the report of President Birge took no further action on the matter.

The board of regents meets five or six times a year as occasions arise. There are fifteen members of the board, two from the state-at-large, eleven from their respective districts and two ex-officio.

Summers are students up to many in Madison this week-end to attend the conference of state educational boards which meets today in the capitol.

How the student's vocation is that of getting an education while his avocation was found in his fraternity life was brought out in an interview after the meeting. Because one or two of a group do not live up to the standards, the group, as a whole, should not be condemned, was his opinion.
