The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

Killing Witches

Long ago the people agreed to kill all the witches. They gathered up all the elderly women. Then they asked them what they knew of witchcraft. They accused each other over which ones were that kind of individual. They accused them even more and they said to kill them all. So then they started to kill them.

One woman said, "That man standing there knows the most about witchcraft."

The man said, "She's the leader. Drop it right away."
So they killed her.
