THREE FRESHMEN REPRIMANDED BY STUDENT COURT

Punishment of Hazing Inciters Made Lenient By Court Decision

A public reprimand to the three freshmen convicted last Thursday by the Student court on a charge of inciting hazing by sophomores was given out late last night by the court, acting through T. R. Hannon, chief justice and George R. Currie, secretary, with the request that it be printed in The Cardinal.

Henry Brooks, Jefferson Burrus, and John Wilkinson, the convicted freshmen, plead guilty to the charge at the time of the trial.

In giving the sentence on Thursday the court expressed itself in favor of a lenient punishment because of the peculiar circumstances of the case. The sentence finally decided upon is the public reprimand printed below.

Reprimand of Court

The Student court regrets that it has become their duty to reprimand three members of the class of 1927 so recently welcomed into our midst with a display of friendliness and spirit of cooperation at the Varsity Welcome. The Court feels that the student body has the right to expect in return some appreciation for this cordial welcome. Henry Brooks, Jefferson Burrus, and John Wilkinson have shown by their unwarranted actions on the evening of October ninth that they have utterly failed to catch the significance of this splendid ceremony.

The jeers and cries directed at the members of the Sophomore Class constituted an offense but slightly less serious than the ensuing riot which fortunately was prevented by the presence of upper classmen. The fact that no blows were struck at that time subtracts but little from the offense. The Student Court has the duty of maintaining order among the student body, and it will punish invitations to fight as well as actual fighting. The Court fails to see the manliness of a challenge to a group who are prevented from accepting such challenge by regulation of the Student Senate. The fact that similar encounters the same evening have gone unpunished is no answer to this offense. The Court has no means of obtaining such information except through the student body itself, and up to the present time no other complaints have been made.

Culprits Unidentified

The person or persons who brought about the whole disgraceful affair of that evening are the greater culprits, and it is unfortunate that their identities cannot be established. All who afterwards took part in the disorders of that evening share the blame. As is the case in all mob actions, only those who are particularly conspicuous are complained against and punished. The others, unless they have the manhood to stand shoulder to shoulder with their more unfortunate fellow-offenders, go free. Knowing this, cowardly spirits seek to accomplish their unlawful ends by mobbing their identities in a mob. Mob spirit among students, who are above all expected to have the courage to face the consequences of their acts, is most inexcusable. It is regrettable that this spirit has again shown itself at Wisconsin after an absence of several years.

Henry Brooks, Jefferson Burrus, and John Wilkinson have by this offense set themselves apart from the student body as the first convicted offenders of this school year, a stigma which they can erase only by good conduct during

SMITH ENTERS FIELD FOR UNION BOARD JOB

Norton Vernon "Bud" Smith is the first to announce his candidacy for the position of sophomore representative on the Union Board.

Smith won his numerals last year on the freshman track squad and is at present on the varsity track squad. He is a member of Philomathia Literary society and Varsity Rooters' club, and served on the 1922 Homecoming and Interscholastic Basketball tournament committees and Wisconsin in China and Union Memorial drives.

He is again on the Homecoming committee for this year. He is also active in Y. M. C. A. work as a member of the sophomore committee. Smith is president of Inner Gate and is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

CARDINAL MOVES INTO NEW OFFICE

More Space Made Necessary By Increased Volume of Work

The Cardinal opened a new editorial office on the first floor of the Union building yesterday. The office is the third Union building room now in use by The Cardinal. Increases in the size of the staff and in the quantity of work done each day has made the additional space necessary.

The new office houses the copy desk and the offices of the managing editor and associate editors. It is equipped with a standard semi-circular copy desk, private telephones, and a buzzer connection with the second floor editorial offices.

All copy for The Cardinal will be taken to the downstairs office hence forward and slipped in the copy basket from the outside. Reporters will continue to take assignments from the desk in the second floor office as usual. Files and typewriters will remain in the upper office, which will be used in the future only as a workshop for staff writers.

No changes have been made in the organization of the business office.

PLEWKE ELECTED HEAD OF ADVERTISING CLUB

The new officers for the Advertising club for this year are: Walter H. Plewke '24, president; P. K. Robertson '24, vice-president; Don Bell '24, treasurer; Clark Hazelwood '24, secretary; John Kohler '25, junior directory; Elizabeth Clark '24, senior directory. Newly elected members are Luther E. Brooks '26, Mildred Frudenberg Beatrice Walker L3, W. J. Fronk '24, Robert D. Casterline '24, John C. Legler '26, Erven Weingaertner, Willis Sullivan '25, Lawrence Nelson '24, Lloyd Muell, Harold E. Darnil, Vernon Beardsler '24.

HOMECOMING POSTERS DISPLAYED DOWN TOWN

Of the 30 Homecoming posters submitted to the judges of the poster contest that of Samuel Himmel-farb '27 took first prize. The judges in the contest were Profs. W. H. Varnun, Stebbins, A. N. Colt and Miss D. F. Wilson. Second prize was awarded to Catherine Rice '25 and honorable mention was given to Richard Yoe '27, Ruth Alcott '27, Edna Eimon '27, Sara Wild '24 and Myra Ludwig '25. The posters are now on display in down town store windows.

THE GAME RESULTS

Call The Cardinal office, Badger 250, anytime after 2 o'clock today for the latest score of the Wisconsin-Indiana game. A staff sport writer will keep constant connection with the telegraphic report received at the gymnasium and will be glad to relay the score to you.

WELCOME SQUAD TOMORROW NOON WITH OLD WAGON

Eyes of Business World Centered on Greeting Given Returning Warriors

At 12 o'clock tomorrow the student body will meet at the library steps on the lower campus to meet the football team at the Chicago and Northwestern station as it returns from its first conference football game of the season and under a new coaching system.

The team will be placed in a wagon and pulled by the students up to the campus. Years ago it was a tradition to meet the team, win or lose, in this manner and it is hoped to revive this custom tomorrow noon.

To Purchase Wagon
The athletic department is working on the purchase of an old fashioned flat bed wagon. The wagon will be kept near the gym and according to the custom it is never to be used for any other purpose.

Musicians will gather at the lower campus and form an impromptu band to meet the team. Those interested in playing in the band will bring their instruments at 11:50 o'clock.

The Michigan and Minnesota teams will be met at the station and escorted to their hotel with the wagon.

Students at Station

Approximately 12 students were at the Northwestern station on Thursday afternoon to demonstrate that the students are back of the team as they entrained for Indiana on the eve of an uncertain Big Ten season. There were about 50 business and professional men at the station also, many of them did not attend the university or did not graduate.

Many comments on the loyalty of the students were current in the business district yesterday and much interest is being taken by the merchants over the possible demonstration at the station tomorrow especially with Homecoming a week in the future.

MINNESOTA BAND WILL ATTEND HOMECOMING

Minnesota's student band of approximately 60 pieces will attend the Homecoming game according to a telegram received yesterday by T. E. Jones of the athletic department.

Foreign Flashes

FOREIGN FLASHES

BERLIN, Oct. 19—The Socialists forced the government to back down before defiant Saxony by threat of general strike today. The government also offered to withdraw General Von Lossow, dictator of Bavaria.

Promise that the state of siege was to be extended over all of Germany so as not to favor Bavaria in her quarrel with Saxony was also granted.

WEST BADEN, Ind., Oct. 19—A formal resolution pledging President Coolidge "fullest co-operation" in the enforcement of prohibition was adopted today by the fifteenth annual convention of governors. Adoption of the motion was accompanied by a tumult of shouting and stamping during which Governor Parker of Louisiana left the meeting. Governor Blaine of Wisconsin objected strenuously to the motion.

PARIS, Oct. 19—France is planning organization of a huge company combining all the French oil interests, it was learned here today. The government trust hopes to include the petroleum areas of Turkey now held by America in the Chester concessions which the Quai d'Orsay believes will be defaulted.

NEW YORK, Oct. 19—Six persons were burned to death today in a fire thought to be of incendiary origin. Police are seeking a "firebug" under a warrant charging the man with arson and murder.

SNELL AND CIZON RUN FOR SENATE POSITION

Hampton K. Snell and Max N. Cizon announced their candidacies for junior class representatives on the Student senate yesterday.

Snell is forensic editor of The Cardinal and is in charge of the forensic section of the 1925 Badger. He made his numerals in track and is on the varsity squad at present. Snell has been active in Y. M. C. A. work, having worked on the handbooks, news sheet and deputation teams. He is a member of Philomathia, Press club and the president's guard.

Cizon is president of the young men's progressive club. He was on the finance committee of the sophomore class last year and a member of the semi-public debate team. Cizon is on the staff of the 1925 Badger. He is a member of Athena and the field artillery officers' club.

SCHUTT-LEVIS HEAD FIRST SOPH TICKET

Margaret Ashton, Francis H. Tratt and Finley Fill Out Ticket

George A. Schutt heads the first ticket for sophomore class offices to be chosen at the annual fall election November 2. The other candidates are Emmeline Levis for vice president, Margaret Ashton for secretary, Francis H. Tratt for treasurer, and Watts Finley for sergeant-at-arms.

Schutt is president of the sophomore commission of the Y. M. C. A., and a member of the cross country squad. He made his numerals in track last year. He is a member of Theta Xi fraternity.

Emmeline Levis is active in Y. W. C. A. and Badger work. She was on the freshman class decorations committee. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority.

Margaret Ashton is a member of The Cardinal staff and is prominent in Y. W. C. A. work. She was a member of the freshman hockey squad.

Tratt was a member of the college of engineering crew last year. Finley is a member of Saddle and Siroin club and Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

TIMES WILL OPERATE GRIDIRON DURING GAME

A varsity cheerleader, Ralph Gill and Coyne, members of last year's football squad, will operate the gridiron in front of the Capital Times building on King street this afternoon, it was announced yesterday.

Play by play returns will be read to the crowd, and while one man is reading the plays, three operators will manipulate the three gridiron. The gridiron is in the form of a big football field upon which the ball will move to and fro as the game progresses. A chart gives the name of the player carrying the ball and also the character of the play.

Final scores of all important football games scheduled for this afternoon will be flashed on the board as soon as the results come in over the wires. The board will be illuminated by electric reflectors.

UNION BOARD DANCE CROWDS LATHROP GYM

Several hundred students attended the second Union Board dance last night in Lathrop gym. A 10-piece orchestra from Thompsons played. About 50 S. G. A. girls assisted Union Board members at the dance which was characterized by one of the board members late last night as being the best the board has ever given.

MANY BOATS DAMAGED BY HEAVY WIND STORM

The high winds of the last two days have played havoc with sailboats anchored along the lake shore. Two boats are entirely submerged with the exception of their masts, and are at the sinking point. Another boat was washing ashore on the Delta Tau Delta yard when it was saved from destruction by students who tied it to a pier

GRID-GRAPH TO PORTRAY EVERY PHASE OF GAME

Wisconsin Rooters Can Receive Thrills of Indiana Battle in Gym

Rain or shine, snow or sleet, those who cannot make the trip to Indiana will be able to experience all the thrills of the game in comfortable chairs today at the gymnasium.

A pep meeting will take place in the armory before the returns of the plays come in over the wire to create the atmosphere of a real battle. While "Ez" Crane leads the Wisconsin rooters at Bloomington, "Shorty" Wallstead will lead the cheers in the armory. T. E. Jones, head of the athletic department, will speak and the university band will be on hand to give the necessary music.

Grid-graph Shows Plays

The "grid-graph", an electrically operated replica of a football field which was purchased by the athletic field department last year, will portray every play that is made on the gridiron at Bloomington.

The device makes the reports of the contest remarkably realistic, reproducing all the features of the game even to the extent of showing the individual characteristics of a player, if the operator is clever enough. Downs, end runs, penalties, passes, punts, and number of minutes to play are all shown.

The Minnesota game was the first of the out-of-town contests that the grid-graph reported last year. By the time of the Chicago game it had become so popular that the gymnasium was filled to capacity and many were unable to get in.

Doors Open at 1

The game will start at 2 o'clock and, the doors will be open at 1. The admission is 25 cents, the proceeds being used for intramural purposes, such as the purchase of numerals and sweaters, and part to help send the freshman team to Chicago.

It is requested by Jones that the students turn out in a body Sunday noon and meet the team at the Northwestern station on their return from the first conference game of the season. Students should meet on the lower campus and march down to the station in a body via Langdon street and Wisconsin avenue.

RIFLEMEN MEET AT RIPON TODAY

Varsity Team to Defend Title on First Trip Away in Years

The varsity rifle team left early this morning for Ripon college where members of the team will shoot against the Ripon marksmen. Seven men were selected for the trip after competitive tryouts held this week. Five men will shoot on the Varsity team while two will serve as alternates.

The men composing the team are Captain W. A. Rorison '25, C. J. Randall '24, L. P. Drake '26, G. H. Ross '26 and C. J. Ludwig '26. W. L. Jackman '25 and J. A. Kopplin '24 were chosen as alternates.

Ten men were originally selected to try out for the team, and team elections were based on six trial targets, 3 of which were shot in the prone position and three in the sitting position. Exceptionally high scores made the competition keen, especially for the last two or three places.

The match at Ripon will be shot in two positions, prone and sitting. It is the first time for several years that a team has made an out-of-town trip. The match is expected to be a close one inasmuch as Ripon sharpshooters gave the Wisconsin riflemen a close race for the Sixth Corps area championship. Now the Badgers will be called upon to defend their title as champions of the United States, which championship they won last May.

HOMECOMING NEWS MAILED TO ALUMS

$5,000 Letters and Ticket Applications Sent Out By Committee

Fifteen thousand letters, containing information about Homecoming and application for tickets, have been mailed to Wisconsin alumni by the Homecoming Alumni committee.

The committee, headed by Henry C. Smith '25, has been working since early in the spring preparing for Wisconsin's greatest Homecoming. Before the school was out (Badger Photo) last spring letters were mailed to all fraternities and sororities urging them to begin getting ready for October 27. Early in September letters were sent to some 80 alumni associations throughout the country, informing them as to methods in securing tickets and giving other general information. Practically every alumnus of the university has been reached in some way, through the cooperation of fraternities, sororities, alumni associations, and the Athletic department. Letters were again sent to fraternities and sororities this fall, urging them to have as many of their alumni back as possible, and to arrange for their accommodation.

The work of the Alumni committee has been of greater importance this year than ever before, due to the fact that the capacity of the stadium has been so greatly increased.

Members of the Homecoming Alumni committee are Henry C. Smith '25, chairman, Clifford Nolte '25, Willis G. Sullivan '25, Louise H. Clearman '26, Herb C. Opitz '25, and Russell E. Gage '26.

Story of Eclipse Hidden By Clouds Related By Stebbins

Astronomers Balked in Efforts to View Phenomenon at Catalina

Prof. Joel Stebbins, director of the Washburn observatory, in commenting yesterday on his journey to California for the purpose of observing the eclipse of the sun on September 10, explained how cloudy weather frustrated the plans of the expedition. O. E. Romare, university mechanician accompanied Professor Stebbins to Catalina Island where the astronomers were gathering.

"We left for California about the middle of August," Professor Stebbins said yesterday. "We were joined at Catalina by Prof. Jacob Kunz of the University of Illinois. We set up a small observatory hut near that of the Yerkes observatory party. Catalina island had been chosen because of the generally favorable weather.

"A general storm area, however, hovered over the Pacific coast and on the day of the eclipse high, thick clouds interfered with observations made by all the expeditions on the island and in Lower California. Two months of preparatory work and two weeks at the station in the broiling sun, were thus rendered useless. The three minutes during which the eclipse was total were dark moments in more ways than one. The only observers who had perfect weather conditions were in the interior of Mexico.

"Our expedition was aided in part by the Watson fund of the National Academy of Sciences. Prof. J. E. Watson, who died in 1892 was the first director of the Washburn observatory at Wisconsin. He left in his will a bequest to the National Academy of Sciences from which fund our expedition was aided.

"The next eclipse visible in the United States will be on January 24, 1925, when the sun will be in eclipse in the extreme northern Wisconsin and the upper peninsula of Michigan. The eclipse will be visible in New England and in New York. Owing to the low altitude, scientific observations of value will be possible only east of the Great Lakes."

DEAN H. L. RUSSELL RETURNS FROM N. Y.

Forty-three Countries Were Represented at World's Dairy Congress

Dean Harry Lumen Russell of the College of Agriculture has just returned from the World's Dairy congress at Syracuse, N. Y. where 43 countries were represented. This convention was held in connection with the National dairy show held in the east for the first time. After the meetings in Syracuse, the foreign delegates were invited to attend the dedication of the new dairy building at Cornell university at which Dean Russell gave the address.

This new building has cost $600,000. It is the finest and largest of its kind in the world. The machinery alone is valued at $200,000 according to Dean Russell.

Cornell has just elected James W. Sherman formerly of the College of Agriculture at the University of Wisconsin as new head of the dairy department. He has been connected for the last 10 years with the United States department of agriculture at Washington, D. C.

Special Demonstration of STRATFORD CLOTHES Today

YOU are most cordially invited to attend a very interesting demonstration of the most recent styles in the things young men wear.

Saturday, October 20, is the day. The place—our daylight College room on the second floor of our building.

Mr. N. C. Whimsett, special representative of Stratford clothes, Chicago, will put on the demonstration. He's a past master in the art and we can therefore promise that you will thoroughly enjoy your visit.

Drop in. Bring your friends. No formalities. No obligation. Just a friendly showing of the new style creations. A fine opportunity to get "a line" on what is new in men's wear.

Be sure to drop in some time during the demonstration, and remember—no obligations.

CONFERENCE
WIRE SERVICECRUCIAL GAMES
MARK GRIDIRON
PROGRAM TODAYEarly-Season Tilts East and West May Bring
Surprises

Games between Wisconsin and Indiana, Ohio and Michigan, Northwestern and Chicago, and Illinois and Iowa in the middle west, and Notre Dame and Princeton, Holy Cross and Harvard, and Navy and Penn State in the East are the salient features of Saturday's schedule.

Wisconsin, with its full strength practically unknown, will engage in the first conference game with Indiana. A great deal depends on the outcome of this contest, as any team once beaten is practically eliminated from conference possibilities.

The Badgers are in fine physical condition and have shown a great deal of improvement during the last two weeks. Taft and Nichols are recovered from injuries. Harris has struck his gait, and the morale of the men is excellent. As for the Hoosiers, they have already lost one game and are handicapped by a new style of coaching, but they are a dangerous combination.

Michigan-Ohio

Michigan, with a backfield composed almost entirely of experienced men, will meet Ohio in one of the season's crucial tilts. Both teams are fighting for a place at the top of the conference heap. Ohio, minus the services of Ollis Klee, is at a slight disadvantage, but since the Buckeye's showing against Colgate, they are rated very nearly on a par with the Wolverines.

Another game that will be watched with interest is the clash between Illinois and Iowa. Zupke's Illini are running wild this year and are all set to spill the last year's champs. Several of Coach Jones' men are on the injured list and Grange, Illinois' fleet back, is expected to display some pretty open field running.

Indiana-Northwestern

The annual encounter between the Purple and the Maroon will take place tomorrow at Stagg Field. Northwestern has been pointing for the struggle and is heartened by its win over Indiana. Ten thousand rooters will accompany the team and Stagg's men will be forced to play a superior brand of football in order to eke out a victory.

In the East the center of attraction is the intersectional game between Notre Dame and Princeton. Since the Irish took the Army mule into camp by a 13 to 0 count they have been rated as slightly superior to Princeton and are expected to win by a safe margin. Rockne's open field game has always puzzled eastern coaches and this year finds his offensive better than ever.

Colgate-Cornell

Colgate, after tying with Ohio last week, enters its eastern element again and tackles Cornell tomorrow. The former is among the best in the East this year and should dispose of Cornell handily. The annual combat between Alabama Poly and the Army comes off tomorrow, with the Army having the edge on its opponents. The Cadets went down before Notre Dame's rushing attack but nevertheless are a strong aggregation and should repeat their previous performances.

Harvard-Holy Cross

Harvard and Holy Cross, rivals for years, meet in a desperate encounter tomorrow. Although the Crimson has usually been victorious its games have been won by a small margin, the score two years ago being 3 to 0.

Navy swings into action against Penn State tomorrow in its first big game of the season. The Nittany Lions are going big this year, having already defeated Pitt, and, while the score will probably be close, they should succeed in spoiling the Gobs' annual outing expedition.

HIGH SCORES FEATURE
FRATERNITY BOWLING

Six games with scores of over 800 were the features of the first round of the second division bowling matches Thursday night. Three teams won all games played in their respective matches.

The scores were: Beta Theta Pi 3, Phi Sigma Delta 0, Alpha Chi Sigma 3, Acacia 0, Phi Sigma Kappa 3, Tau Kappa Epsilon 0, Kappa Sigma 2, Delta Sigma Pi 1, Delta Upsilon 2, Delta Tau Delta 1, Phi Kappa Sigma 2 and Chi Phi 1.

Second division teams will meet again on Tuesday night for second round matches. The first division teams will start the third round on Thursday.

YELL LEADERS TO WEAR NEW SUITSWhite and Red Costumes Are Ordered By Athletic Council

A proposal by Coach Jones to have definite costumes for the cheer leaders will be carried out at once. The Athletic Council will buy three outfits. They are expected to be ready in time for the Homecoming game.

Ez Crane '24, head cheer leader, will have a red Norfolk coat with white straps, cuffs, buttons and belt, and a pair of white flannel trousers with a wide red stripe down the sides. He will wear no cap, but all other cheer leaders will.

The two junior cheer leaders, Bill Saries and Shorty Walstead, will wear red vests with white pockets, buttons and lapels, and white flannel trousers with wide red stripes down the sides. Red caps will complete the outfits.

Frosh cheer leaders, Chuck McGinnis and Red Miller, will wear white sweaters, flannel trousers with a red stripe down the side, and their frosh caps.

Coach Jones says that the idea of this is to have definite wearing apparel for different cheer leaders so that the students can distinguish them.

TRACK MEN WILL MEET IN CLASS
TOURNEY TODAYAnnual Event Scheduled For
1:30 O'clock at Camp
Randall

The annual inter-class track meet, the first track event each fall, is scheduled to take place at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon at Camp Randall.

Judging from the entrances on the bulletin board at the gym, a large number of first string men will compete.

Frosh and Sophs Enter

Competition has ordinarily been the keenest between the freshmen and sophomores classes. The meet today will be no exception to the rule.

Entrances in the two lower classes are considerably larger than that of the upper classes; consequently the freshmen and sophomores enjoy the distinct advantage through the superior numbers.

"W" Men Prohibited

The meet affords an opportunity for the men of the various classes to win their numerals. As all "W" men are prohibited from entering, an equal chance is given to the competing candidates.

"BIG JOHN" RICHARDS
HERE TO SEE GRID TEAM

"Big John" R. Richards, former Badger football coach and player, appeared at Camp Randall Thursday to see the team in practice.

That the team seems to be in good shape was the only comment he had to make. The team was going through its paces in the drizzling rain. It was his first appearance at the Randall field since he retired as coach last fall. Saturday Richards leaves for Chicago.

All the men of last year's squad greeted "Big Jawn", and he talked to them for about half an hour of the incidents of bygone days when he directed our football teams. He shook his head and smiled when asked if he would ever coach again.

Richards said he would like to remain in the East and see some of the big games, but his plans call for a trip to Texas and then back to California at once. He may return here Monday for a day or two before leaving for the South. The former Badger coach is now engaged in business in Los Angeles.

CHICAGO ALUMNI CLUB
TO ENTERTAIN BADGERS

Fred A. Hayner, football expert of the Chicago Daily News, an old-time player, coach and official will speak at the Chicago U of W club luncheon, which will be given today at the Palmer house.

Mr. Hayner will speak on the various conference teams. He has seen them all, and attended the Michigan Aggie game here.

On Friday, November 23, the night before the Chicago game, the Chicago U. of W. club will give their annual football dinner. Both alumni and students will be invited.

HOMECOMING SALE
REOPENS MONDAYLast 1,500 Football Tickets Will Be Offered to Public

The public sale for the remaining tickets for the Homecoming game will begin Monday morning at 9 o'clock at the ticket window in the gym. The remaining tickets for the sale total approximately 1,500 according to Paul Hunter, who has charge of all ticket sales. There will be a limit of two tickets to each person so as to eliminate the possibility of the scalping that has been practiced in former years. All remaining tickets will be sold for $2.50 each.

The sale will undoubtedly break all former records as far as mail orders and student sales indicate, so that at the time the whistle blows it is estimated approximately 36,000 people will be in the stands.

The completing of the horseshoe this year adds approximately 7,000 to 8,000 seats over last year's total thus taking care of a great number who might be turned away. Last year nearly 13,000 were refused entrance.

NOTRE DAME GRID MEN
RECITE ON LONG TRIPS

Notre Dame's football men do not suffer in their class room work because of their long trips. The squad includes a corps of professors and regular recitations are held on all their trips.

SIGMA DELTA CHI

Sigma Delta Chi will meet at 6 o'clock Sunday night at the Delta Pi Delta house.

BADGERS INVADE
HOOSIERS' CAMP
FOR TILT TODAYStage Set For Wisconsin's
First Conference Game
This Season

Jack Ryan's Badgers will meet the Indiana football eleven this afternoon in Bloomington. The tilt will be the second conference game for the Hoosiers this season.

Just what the outcome of the game will be is difficult to determine but one thing is certain, and that is that Ryan's men will exert themselves to the limit to snatch a victory from the Hoosiers.

To close followers of the Cardinal eleven, it seems folly to predict an easy win for the Ryanmen. In fact, it is the general belief among those on the inside who know football, that the Badgers will be required to play a brand of ball three times the quality of that shown against the Michigan Aggies last week.

The Badgers have not arrived at the stage where they can compete on an equal basis with the remainder of the conference — barring, perhaps, Northwestern, Indiana and Purdue, although the latter might even prove to be a big stumbling block if a game was played with them.

Ryan took 30 men to Indiana with him Thursday night, and one of the most disheartening send-offs ever accorded a Badger eleven bid them good bye and wished them victory.

A TYPE THAT NEEDS A COLLEGE

In the "Other Editors Say" column on this page today is printed an article which appeared in the Chicago Daily News as a review of an article in the Woman's Home Companion some time ago.

The sense of the article seems to be that there is a certain alert kind minded type of boy whose commercial instincts are so early developed that for him college is merely a waste of time. It is surprising that a man connected with a technical institution of learning should commit himself to such a theory.

Aside from the fact that statisticians are eager to broadcast their findings as to the greater money-earning potentialities in a man after a college education (no matter how highly his commercial instincts are developed), there are other considerations which make it vital and necessary that every man who has power and ability should go to a college.

Perhaps the most pointed comment on this phase of university education was made at one time by Nicholas Murray Butler who said, "A man does not come to college to learn to earn a living; he comes to learn to live." This is not a very startling remark on the face of it, but it expresses an idea and it expresses it in the layman's tongue, which Cardinal Newman and Mathew Arnold didn't.

Practically, of course, a man learns more of the actual handling of his business in the first six months after college than he does during his entire university course. He, however, who has had those four years learns more in those six months, because he knows how to learn, than does a mere high school graduate. These are facts statistically proven.

But then there are the other things which make a college education essential. To learn to know art, to realize that the experiences of the present are a mere continuation of the history of the past, to learn to think deeply on questions of philosophy and social relations, to be able to place one's self on a par with other educated persons in conversation and mental alertness of a kind apart from business—these things are all invaluable to every man.

It would seem then, to all clear thinkers, that the very type of man described in the communication below, is just the type whose executive qualifications need to be increased and developed by four years of college growth. If he obtains this, then, he will have learned not to be a machine, but to live.

WISCONSIN'S VOCAL CHORDS

The charge has come from members of the department of music at the university that Wisconsin students are the worst singers in the conference. The assertion is that at the football games or at mass-meetings of any kind there not only is discord in what singing there is, but the total effect is so weak as generally not to be heard at all.

In the olden days, singing was one of the most important phases of college life. Serenading was a favorite sport and in the rooming houses many songs were sung to the accompaniment of the old egg shaped mandolin.

Is Wisconsin forgetting how to sing? Did the fraternity sing last spring demonstrate that only a few of the old songs were still used and could be sung? Professors on the hill think so. They claim that Minnesota and Illinois and all other Big Ten schools with their small representations up here have more volume in their college songs than has the native Homecoming crowd singing "On Wisconsin."

If this condition is true, it is time that something should be done about the matter. There is nothing so effective as singing to weld together group spirit and to produce good feeling and cheerfulness. Wisconsin must maintain these things by keeping its vocal chords in tune.

This afternoon the university band will play at the Grid Graph announcements of the Indiana game, at the gym. Sheets of paper with the more familiar Wisconsin songs on them will be passed among the audience and they will be requested to sing with the band.

Whether your neighbor is a girl or not and whether you are self-conscious or not, every person present should sing the best he can, and not only strive to make harmony but learn the words of the songs by heart as well.

That will be something of the old-time spirit so often talked about.

FALL

"The melancholy days have come, the saddest—"

"Not so," cries the undergraduate and the student body as a whole.

It is true that exams with their blue books are near at hand. It is true that the autumn day seems a little duller. It is true that it rains nastily now and then.

But the days have a snap and vigor. The call of the quarter-back rings over the field and there is an eagerness in everyone's voice as he anticipates a win or a touchdown. Girls wear bright colored bonnets and luring shades. The breath curls faintly in cheerful steam. The fraternity houses hold their corn roasting sessions around the open grate. The frosh grins as he tries to pull his green lid over his tingling ears. Sadness seems the farthest from the thoughts.

It isn't June, but "God's in his Heaven, All's right—"

Other Editors Say—

There is one type of boy or girl whom I should never send to college—the one marked for a business career by the possession of some of the following qualities in a striking degree (for "he" in the next five paragraphs, the girl or the mother of a girl may read "she"), says a writer in the Woman's Home Companion:

First—He will have an instinctive, almost jealous, attachment to those things that are his own. A youth who lets others rob him of his belongings without a vigorous protest may be a very fine and generous fellow, but it is doubtful if he was meant to be a business man.

Second—He will be inclined to be neat, systematic, orderly, punctual. Business has use for such men.

Third—He will be energetic, self-reliant, masterful. If a youth is lazy and listless, his body being in sound health, it is to be feared that his sluggishness is deeply rooted in his nature. He will be mediocre in whatever calling he enters, but in business he will be an abject failure.

He will show some taste for swapping or trading with good judgment. The boy who likes to trade and swap and buys carefully has in him certain fundamental elements of business wisdom.

Fifth—He will not shirk responsibility or continually blame others when things go wrong.

Academic college training is a weariness and a Pritchett of Carnegie Foundation offers wiser counsel when he says that "many young men and women would find their greatest usefulness and their greatest happiness in other vocations than those to be sought through college attendance, and there is more need today to make clear what these opportunities are and to whom they are especially fitting than to urge upon all youth of the country the advantages of college attendance."

If your son and your daughter conform to the special type described above their place is a school where they may study business, commerce, finance, or a job in the world of affairs. When the young are so eager to be up and doing that they revolt against further study even of business subjects, it is better to let them go to work as soon as they have finished high school. Practical experience will show them what they need in the way of special training and they can procure it for themselves through correspondence courses or evening classes.

Now that the court has left the reprimanding of the freshmen up to the Cardinal the question is whether it should be done by the sport writers, the Skyrocket editor, or the caustic mind of the Editorial quips writer.

What's that?
Mahogany raft, yes that's it. And as he was—

What? Mahogany wont float?
Well didn't I say he was going down!

How about something about the team?

THE TEAM! Our college eleven. No, not seven cum eleven, about the young pretty girl who went up to the big strong football man and asked him how strong he was and when he modestly replied in the affirmative she asked if he were strong enough to break this twenty dollar bill for her.

Good Cast Saves "Up the Ladder" From Being Trite

In some plays it's a stairs, in others a social scale, but in this it is the ladder of financial success that the two conventional young moderns start to climb on their way to success.

The story is old, and was especially in vogue a few years ago when such plays as "Six Cylinder Love" were all the rage, but for all of that "Up the Ladder" last night at the Parkway was a most entertaining comedy-drama of American life, handled by a most capable cast. The play warranted a much larger audience.

Though the story of the play is ancient, it is kept from becoming trite by the clever balance between the comic and the near-tragic. The clever interspersment of humor by the author into the crucial moments of the play are in part responsible for this. In the main, however, the light touch to the whole affair can be attributed to a veritable "Penrod" of a boy—Elmer Ellsworth who played the part of the typical youth of the American family. His good nature and bitter but harmless wit cleared up the most trying of situations.

Gertrude Gustin as the ambitious but home-loving wife played her part well and raised a rather ordinary part out of the commonplace.

Everyone has known a person like Henry Smith, admirably played by Lou Streeter, at some time, but there have been few on the stage who have so well presented this age-old type of a commonplace man, who by his simple

What? Number ple-e-ese! Say I'm talking to BADGER 1137. Oh hello! They cut us off. Listen, got one of those Pink Ladies Home Journals up there—you might get a joke outta them. Well ask a policeman where you can get one.

There's a sign in this booth says "FINE FOR MARKING ON THE WALLS." I'll say they are; they're nice and white.

OH, by the way got a news story for you. You know this Cream-O-Wheat nigger? Well he's going in to the movies, making cereal pictures.

And a guy told me today that milk shakes originated when the cow jumped over the moon. Say my dates waiting outside, gotta go. Yah nice girl, but she's taking Ag. and I'm afraid to open my mouth for fear she'll see my teeth. Listen, I've learned that there are two kinds of girls you can't trust; those with bobbed hair and those without.

I RAN over a ladies little puppy this afternoon and when I gallantly told her that I would replace the animal she said, "Sir, you flatter yourself."

I call that a doggy comeback.

TRAVELOGUE

(The first of a series of weekly travel articles which will be run every day.)

It was evening in dear old Chekko-Slovakia. The lights were dim. Suddenly a man came running out of a side street.

"Vas ist loes?" I cried in perfect French.

"Tengo miedo," he replied in German.

"What, stranger, has frightened you?" responded I in excellent Russian.

"I just passed a bad Chekk," replied the native.

I just met a wonderful girl. She wrote "The Shiek."

Did he answer her?

philosophy saves the domestic relations strained by twentieth-century commercialism and ambition. He was a droll old man, and we liked him.

All the cast was good. The maid rather spoiled things when she appeared, which wasn't often. The settings, although they showed the effects of long usage, exactly harmonized with the increasing social position of the young couple. In the first act the antique dining suite gave just the touch of a happy and well established family of the middle class. The soft tones and colours of the succeeding sets displayed a proper amount of modernism.

In fact, there was a coherence about the whole play—the settings, the cast, the play itself—which marked it as a metropolitan attraction and which accounted for its long run at the Central in Chicago. The Parkway in booking such attractions is certainly going "Up the Ladder."

WILDE PLAY READ AT MEETING OF PLAYERS

An abbreviated reading of "Lady Windermere's Fan" by Oscar Wilde was presented by probationary members of the Wisconsin Players in Lathrop parlors Thursday night.

This is the first of a series of programs which will be given at the conclusion of each regular meeting of the club during the year. The play was directed by Arleen Klug '24. It was announced at the meeting that the performance of "Mixed Marriages" will be presented at the Parkway theater, December 5 instead of December 1 as was previously announced.

REPORTS ENTERED ON S. G. A. BUDGET

One-third of Dues in; Dead
Line is Set For Next
Wednesday

The district chairmen of the Women's Self Government association have been handing in reports of the dues paid in each district this week. Approximately $1,000 of the $3,000 due has been received to date. The time limit for paying dues extends to Wednesday.

"Every girl in the university ought to feel her responsibility as a member of the university and of S. G. A., to attend to the small duty of paying her dues at once," Lois Jacobs, president of S. G. A. states. "S. G. A. exists for the benefit of the women of the university. The members in their turn ought to meet the slight obligation required of them. Putting off the duty of attending to this will hamper seriously the smooth progress of S. G. A. activities."

The tentative budget of S. G. A. for the year follows:

Secretary	$525
Printing	400
Student Loan Fund	300
Financing Girls' Classes	300
Cooperative House	150
Social	100
Convention	100
Student Relief	100
Miscellaneous	100

Scholarship	100
Office Furniture, Supplies	100
Badger	70
Junior Advisory	60
Telephone	60
Fund to Loan to Keystone
Organization	25
National Dues	15
Cardinal	3
Vocational Conference	40

Total $2748

Balance for use next fall before dues come in 252

"If anyone does not understand what the various items of the budget are," says Ethel Vinje, executive secretary, "we shall be glad to explain any of them to anyone coming to the S. G. A. office."

CONCERT PROGRAM IS ANALYZED BY DRESDEN

Prof. Arnold Dresden of the mathematics department of the university, gave an analysis of the program to be presented by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra Tuesday night, at an open meeting held Thursday in the Woman's building. Prof. Dresden was introduced by Mrs. O. P. Conrad, chairman of the music committee. He took up the various numbers of the program and gave their history, analyzed the music both in tonal quality and construction, and then illustrated his remarks with brief excerpts on the piano.

Proposed Addition
To University Club
Will Cost $70,000

An addition to the University club has been proposed costing approximately $70,000 and containing a dormitory and lounge. Tentative plans will probably be submitted for approval at the annual meeting of the club house association, Friday, November 2.

ation, Friday, November 2.

The new wing will occupy the site of the old part of the present house and all of the remaining space on the corner.

It has been planned that the new wing will have three stories and will be provided with a large dining room in the basement, a big lobby and lounging room on the first floor and a large dormitory and some living rooms up stairs.

KEEP NOTEBOOKS FROM FRESHMEN

—GOODNIGHT

Dean Advises Fraternities to Guard Younger Members From Temptation

"Keep English themes, history topics, laboratory notebooks and other data of previous years out of the hands of the youngsters," said Dean Scott H. Goodnight in discussing the necessity of fraternities to impress upon their pledges the matter of dishonesty in University work, before the discipline committee Wednesday evening. See that your pledges understand the consequence of being apprehended," he said.

The discipline committee considered the case of a fraternity pledge, who was not living at the house but who had free access to it. In the library of the house, the boy picked up a laboratory notebook that had been written last year by a man of the fraternity. He tore leaves from the notebook and copied considerable material into his own. The work was detected, and the boy was penalized for cribbing.

"Is the fraternity guilty of contributory negligence in this case?" was the question raised by the dean. "I am wondering if fraternities ought to see that such temptations do not fall into the hands of the freshmen who are just beginning their work."

"This temptation comes most strongly to fraternity freshmen. The non-fraternity man is not liable to find an accumulation of old notebooks, topics and the like in the house in which he is living."

"It appears to me that this is an opportunity for some constructive educational work as well as preventative precaution on the part of the fraternities in caring for their pledges," the dean concluded.

The story is told on the campus of the freshman, who had copied an old theme found in the basement of his fraternity house, when returned it was marked "A—I thought I deserved an A when I wrote this theme some years ago, so I am giving you that."

HOUSE PARTY PLANNED BY "Y" COMMISSION

The sophomore commission of the Y. M. C. A. is planning a house party to take place at Maple bluff cottage over the week-end.

At least eight members of the commission will take part in the party. They will go to the cottage Saturday afternoon and return Sunday afternoon.

This is the first time the commission has held such an affair, but it may become an annual function.

ORTEGO DESCRIBES POLITICAL SPAIN

Rivera Has Ousted Aristocratic Holders of Sinecures and Established Himself

Prof. Joaquin Ortega, of the Spanish department, spent the summer in Spain and knows about the recent revolution over there.

The king granted absolute authority to Rivera in September and since then a general anti-political policy has been carried out. All the high officials of government in power before the revolution were thrown out.

In their places came senior civil service employees who do the work of the discharged officials. Municipal government was also disrupted; the mayor and his appointed administrative officers were put out, and in their place were put leading citizens who, if not efficient, were at least honest.

"Padded payrolls have been done away with. Many young and inefficient men were in the administrative offices. They did nothing, and only drew a salary. Rivera ordered that they get to work or get off the payroll. Most of them were done away with.

Besides a general political clean-up Rivera has instituted drastic laws against profiteers. A few days ago a law was made making it illegal for a dealer in the necessities of life to make more than a 14 per cent profit annually.

Rivera has promised to make a public statement of the financial condition of Spain, as soon as he can put in operation the practice of strict economy he intends.

Public peace and order is being maintained strictly by means of a civic-guard composed of armed citizens.

"Primo de Rivera is, on the whole quite popular," said Prof. Ortega. "Of course a month is not very long for the people to judge the man by. He asks the people to give him three months in which to put in practice his ideas. So all Spain waits."

COUPE STOLEN FROM IN FRONT OF FRAT HOUSE

Dorsey A. Buckley '25, reported the theft of his new coupe Wednesday night from in front of the Theta Delta Chi house on Langdon street. The car carried Wisconsin license number 414-595. This is the first case for some time in which a car has been stolen from in front of a fraternity house, as the risk is generally too great for the thief, because of the "brothers'" habits of dropping into the house at odd hours of night and day. The car was fully insured.

Extension Division Asks More Funds From State Board

A request for further funds for the university has been placed before the state emergency board according to an official source.

The governor, as head of the board, has been requested to act to appropriate funds made necessary by the increased enrollment in the university extension division. Because of the large enrollment new teachers have been added to the staff and the general staff enlarged. Text books and general school supplies are in particular demand. A curtailment of work in the extension division will be necessary if funds are not furnished for this work.

The extension division reaches about 26,000 students in all parts of the United States and is the largest extension university in this country. Under a special ruling funds may be allotted to the state university and the normal schools by the emergency board of which Gov. John J. Blaine is head.

It is thought that the governor will relieve the distress of various departments of the university and of the normal schools in this way instead of calling a special session of the legislature to appropriate funds for the schools. He has already granted a previous request of the university for $10,000 for the agricultural experiment stations connected with the university.

BASCOM TO SPEAK AT VESPERS TOMORROW

Alice Cummings '25, will preside at a meeting of Vespers club in Lathrop parlors at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Among special features of the program will be a talk by Miss Lelia Bascom of the English department on "Sources of Power", and opening music by Maxine Day '26.

CLASS SECRETARIES TURN DOWN PROPOSAL

A proposal to subscribe $8,000 to erect a bronze statue of a bulldog on the Yale campus, made by Herbert M. Bowen, class of '78, former minister to Venezuela was turned down emphatically by 21 out of 25 class secretaries to whom the proposal was made.

Glicksman Speaks at "Y" Sunday on "Law Observance"

Dean Harry Glicksman will speak at the morning lecture at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday, October 21. The lecture hour will from 9 to 10 o'clock.

Dean Glicksman's subject is "Law Observance." He will feature observance of the laws by Wisconsin students with special reference to the eighteenth amendment.

A short song service will precede the lecture. All men students of the university are invited by the Y. M. C. A. to attend.

On October 28 Professor A. B. Hall will talk on leadership. On November 11 Prof. Louis Kahlenberg will lecture on the place of religion in education. When the present six-weeks lecture series is completed another will be planned if enough men wish it.

The Madison general hospital reports that Mrs. Carolyn Armistead '24, who was injured Tuesday, is in fairly good condition.

Surprising Things

Events occur continually in Wisconsin which are known to no other newspaper as soon as they are to The Milwaukee Journal. Naturally these events are of great interest to everyone in the state. By reading The New Morning Edition of The Milwaukee Journal you receive the most complete and the latest state news — and you receive it first.

the remainder of their school years here. A second offense of a similar nature would merit a stricter punishment for it would stamp them as men who evidently are not trying to co-operate to maintain the real Wisconsin spirit.

Although the Court has seen fit because of the extenuating circumstances surrounding this case to manifest leniency, it wished it to be clearly understood among the student body that future offenses of similar nature are very likely to be dealt with in a manner much more severe.
