Badgers Defeat Minnesota by Score of 7 to 3; Rally in Seventh Knots Count

Seven Proves to be Lucky Number for Wisconsin Team During Game

By BOB MUELLER

(The Minnesota Daily)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., May 24—Wisconsin's invading baseball nine defeated Patsy Clark's Gophers by a 7-3 count in a grueling contest on Northrop field here today.

The Badgers were held hitless by Redding, Gopher twirler, until the seventh inning when they staged a proverbial "lucky seventh" rally and came from behind to knot the count at three all. They scored four more runs in the eighth and ninth innings.

Seventh Lucky

Events of the day proved that seven is a lucky number for the Badger nine. They clouted seven hits and turned them into seven runs. The rally in the seventh inning was started when the sixth, seventh and eighth men in the batting order came up to the plate.

Barnum scored Wisconsin's first run in the seventh inning and was followed by Mansfield, who ambled in on Murphy's single, the first Badger hit of the game. Murphy came in with the third count, when Decker hit to Redding and was thrown out at first.

Two in Eighth

Massey gained first base by virtue of a bunt in the eighth inning. He advanced to second when Barnum singled. Mansfield long three base clout scored both Massey and Barnum. In the ninth frame Decker drove out a Texas League and scored on Burbridge's triple. Burbridge crossed the plate when Barnum singled for the third time. Minnesota scored in the fifth inning when three hits and two errors brought three Gopher runners across the plate. With Redding hurling no hit ball, it seemed as though the three runs would be enough to win the game.

PROFITS OF MILITARY BALL GIVEN TO UNION

Memorial Union cash was increased yesterday by the profits of this year's Military ball. A total of $101.58 was turned over at the Memorial Union headquarters by Calvin Koehring '27, chairman. The proceeds of the Military ball and the Junior prom each year for the last seven years have gone to help erect the building that will be the future scene of these events.

Board Reorganization

(An Editorial.)

By WESLEY F. PETERSON.

Members of the W. S. G. A. board will determine this noon whether or not a referendum, which proposes needed changes in the organization of the Daily Cardinal Board of Control, shall be presented to the student body this spring. The proposed reorganization of the board has been petitioned by more than 500 qualified electors of the university, and was unanimously approved by the Student Senate at its meeting yesterday noon.

It should be understood that this movement is not in any way factionary or personal, and that it distinctly is not an aftermath of the recent "insurgency" of staff members against the board. Neither is it a movement which is prompted only by developments of the past year; the changes which are proposed have been desired ever since the once active and intelligent interest in student self-government at Wisconsin began to ebb into the present slough of almost absolute indifference.

It has been charged, and we feel rightly charged, that, under its present organization, the Board of Control is too detached and aloof to be cognizant of the real needs and difficulties of this paper. Although it is provided in the corporation's by-laws that all candidates must have had one semester of actual experience on the staff, the members elected in accordance to this rule are, in the usual case, holders of only minor positions, and are oftentimes little more informed as to the paper's problems than persons who have never been listed on the masthead. On the present board, it is true, there are one or two notable exceptions—but the efficiency and integrity of this board obviously should not be dependent upon fortunate exceptions.

Also, under the present system of electing only from the Cardinal staff, there is almost always a scarcity of candidates. In elections of the past two or three years, all desiring to become members of the super-

Badger Managers Issue 2,000 Copies of Annual to Date

Some 2000 Badgers have been issued since Friday, May 20, according to the Badger distribution managers. The books will continue to be sold and distributed from the Langdon hall office until this coming Friday and the editors urge all students to call for their annuals before that time. After Friday those desiring year books will be obliged to call at the central office of the Union building.

Additional copies of the annual can be purchased by those who failed to secure receipts in the fall for $5 at the Langdon hall office until Friday, and some copies will be put on sale at the Co-op after that date.

Persons who have lost their receipts, may get their books by calling at the distribution office and reporting their numbers or their names to the person in charge.

Sigma Delta Chi Initiates Eleven Into Membership

Eleven men were initiated into Sigma Delta Chi, honorary professional journalistic fraternity, at a combined initiation and alumni banquet held at the Park Hotel last night.

The initiates include Thomas L. Cleary, grad, George Sakamaki '27, Frank Worthington '27, Howard E. Jamison, grad, John F. Wolver '28, Alan Greene '28, Genaro Florez '28, Ewald Almen '27, Vernon Loughran '28, R. C. Price, grad, and George Tagatz '28.

Prof. Bleyer announced the awarding of Sigma Delta Chi honors to Helen Liebman, Elmer Beth, Daisy Grenow, and Arthur Senke, all senior journalists, who were given the honor upon a basis of high scholarship. Similar awards were made by national officers in other principal schools of Journalism in the country.

STAFF MEETING

There will be a short meeting of the editorial staff at 4.30 o'clock this afternoon in the Daily Cardinal office.

STUDENT SENATE APPROVES CHANGE IN CARDINAL BOARD

Governing Body Also Takes Action Regarding Altering of Bag Rush

The petition, signed last week by more than 500 qualified voters of the university, which called for certain changes in the present organization of the Daily Cardinal Board of Control, was approved, after a few modifications, by the Student senate at its regular meeting at the University club yesterday noon.

Other important action taken at yesterday's meeting was the approval of the Athletic board's suggested revision of the freshman-sophomore bag rush and the election of Frederick Koehler '28 to chairmanship and Paul Griesser '28 to membership on the elections committee. George Little, director of athletics, was present at the meeting, and offered suggestions for the revision of the bag rush.

15 Tug of War

The bag rush next year, in accordance with the plan drawn up by the Athletic board and approved by the senate, will consist of 15 separate tugs of war. In the center of each rope will be fastened a bag, and the contestants on each side will endeavor to drag it to their side of the line. It is thought that, in this way, the traditions of the rush will be preserved, yet much of the objectionable roughness will be eliminated.

W. S. G. A. Board members, who meet this noon, will now decide whether or not the plan for the reorganization of the Board of Control shall be put before the student body in a referendum this spring. Koehler, as new head of the elections committee, yesterday stated that the referendum would

Glee Club Sings at Oshkosh Before Audience of 600

OSHKOSH, Wis. May 24—The University Men's Glee club sang its nineteenth formal concert of the year here last evening before an audience of approximately 600 people which nearly filled the Trinity church.

The 32 singers comprising the concert group left Madison at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Motorbus, arriving in Oshkosh about 7 o'clock.

This was the last concert to be sung by the Glee club before its departure for the European tour beginning after Commencement.

Women's, Freshman Glee Clubs Give Splendid Concert

BY R. L. M.

A concert that augurs well for future Wisconsin Glee clubs was last night given at Music hall by the Second Women's Glee club, under the direction of Miss Alice Gress, combined with the Freshman Men's club, led by Daniel Vornholt.

Roland F. Molzahn, who is a very capable baritone, appeared as one of the soloists of the evening. His "Homage" by Del Riego and "I Did Not Know" by Vanderpool provided some interesting moments of entertainment.

Miss Lorna Snyder proved her complete understanding of the Chopin spirit by a splendid interpretation of the "G Minor Ballade."

For the choruses there is no single case for fault-finding, and no space for laudatory detail, yet there must be mentioned the admirable manner in which each number was carried out. Singly and combined the groups were positive in attack, sonorous in quality, and fully equal to all the heights and depths of the music before them.

"Mother Goose Arabesque" by Tukey stood out as the women singers' finest selection, and Scott's "Gypsy Life" that of the men while Griegs inspiring "Olaf Trygvason" formed a splendid conclusion to the mixed chorus work.

LINDBERGH TO RETURN TO UNITED STATES AIR MAIL SERVICE AGAIN

Seeing Paris has not changed the future plans of Capt. Charles Lindbergh, for in spite of flattering offers, Lindbergh has decided to return to the air-mail service in the United States. "I never really left the air-mail," the trans-atlantic flyer said, "and I guess I can get my job back."

The United States navy department has offered the use of one of the big ships now in European waters to Lindbergh for the return of both his plane and himself. The Smithsonian institute has cabled an offer to obtain his plane to be put in the institute along with other pioneer planes.

The Wisconsin legislature voted Monday night that congratulations be sent from the state to Lindbergh for accomplishing a feat that others older and more experienced than himself hesitated to do. The resolution declares, "He has opened up a new world of aerial navigation for future generations and made of May 21, 1927, a day for future historians." It continues, "Resolved by the assembly, the senate concurr-

One Workingman to be Operated; 123 Unused Stones Are Ruined

Developments in the Memorial Union investigation Tuesday resulted in the starting of a civil suit against the local carpenter's union, the Madison Building Trades alliance, and nine union laborers, ordering them to appear for examination regarding the Union riot on Friday night.

Reports also indicated that the city of Madison may be held responsible for the damage which contractor Jacob Pfeffer has declared almost $30,000. As the investigation of the Pfeffer company continued, estimates of the personal and property damage done to non-union workers and building material steadily multiplied.

Operate on Laborer

A wire from a Chicago physician, under whose care one of the injured men has been placed, yesterday reported that the workingman will have to undergo an operation for the removal of his eye.

Charles Nesbit, timekeeper for the Pfeffer company, is now in a local hospital with a broken jaw. Nesbit received the injury Friday night when attacked by three rioters while he was watching the fracas.

123 Stones Ruined

An architect's checkup of the destroyed building material disclosed that 123 unused stones range in value from $20 to $80 each, and every one will have to be replaced before construction can continue.

Tinners and a few other workers were back on the job yesterday, but nothing definite can be done in continuing work on the building until an exact statement of the loss has been determined. Construction, when renewed, will also be delayed, since every stone in the Union building which has been stained with ink must be removed by tearing down stones from above. Re-

BLAZE SMOKES OUT NEW GREEK LODGE

The newly established members of the Kappa Delta sorority lodge, recently completed, were aroused early last evening by a slight blaze which sent clouds of smoke throughout the house and into Langdon street. The fire was thought to have originated from a defective furnace which formed a smudge and startled the occupants, who had just moved into their new house in the afternoon from their former home on East Gilman street. The fire department was called to the scene and in a few moments located the origin, declaring that no noticeable damage was done.

ing, that this legislature on behalf of the people of the state of Wisconsin, extends to Capt. Lindbergh, its congratulations on his incomparable accomplishment and its best wishes for his future."

Amid the cheering throngs in Paris, the baskets filled with congratulatory letters and offers for future work, the cablegrams from his friends and the government on this side of the Atlantic, and the dinners and receptions held in his honor wherever he goes, Lindbergh is planning on coming home to take up the work he left. He did not make the trip for any financial advantage and "just can't see himself dancing in the vaudeville."

A copy of the resolution made by the legislature will be sent to Mrs. Lindbergh who is in Detroit teaching her classes and refusing to accept offers of a private pullman car and theatrical opportunities which have come to her as a result of her son's achievement. She refuses, she says "to cash in on the other fellow's triumphs—even if he is my son."

ALUMNI PLANNING FOR JUNE REUNION

Interest in Commencement Week High; W. H. A. to Broadcast Programs

Responding to personal invitations from President Glenn Frank sent out last week, alumni class organizations of the university are making final arrangements for their reunions at Commencement time in June.

E. E. McCormick, secretary of the general alumni association, forecasts more interest than ever before in the event of the Commencement week-end.

For the first time, he announced today, the whole state will be able to participate, by way of radio, in the main feature of Alumni day, Saturday, June 18. Station WHA, of the university, wavelength 432.4 meters, will carry to radio listeners the formal program of the Senior-Alumni banquet.

From 7 to 8 o'clock, the banquet speakers, President Glenn Frank, Charles Byron, Chicago, president of the alumni association, and representatives of the reuniting classes will talk to the radio listeners as well as to the group of alumni merrymakers in the gymnasium.

Besides hearing the speeches, radio listeners will get a word picture of the banquet scene, with 2,000 alumni, seniors, and faculty members about the long tables in the men's gymnasium, and will hear some of the class stunts.

Mrs. T. E. Brittingham, Madison, of the class of 1889, who has been planning during the past few months for the reunion of her class, this week invited all members of '89, '90, '91, and '92 to a reception at her home, Runmuven, on the Middleton road, on the afternoon of June 18.

The class of '72 will establish headquarters at the Park hotel, their president has written Mr. McCormick. Nearly all the surviving members of this class will attend the reunion.

erecting the part torn down will be necessary.

Three police guards were continuously at the site and on duty yesterday following the consultation of Mayor Schmedeman and Chief of Police Trostle on Monday. Union pickets were also on duty, spending part of the day sitting with police officers on the building grounds. This is the first time, according to members of the Pfeffer Construction company, that Union pickets have trespassed on the site while doing active picketing.

Frank Kilgore, a non-union employee of Mr. Pfeffer, whose complaint caused the summons against the Building Trades association to be issued, signed the request for an adverse examination of the union members. Kilgore has indicated his intention to ask the union men these questions at the examination:

Questions Asked
1. What men participated in the riot at the Memorial Union building Friday night?

2. What preliminary plans were laid for the manhandling of the non-unionists and the destruction of their bunkhouse at the Memorial Union building?

3. Did the rioters have any orders regarding the affair from the officers of the local Unions?

Kilgore has retained Roman Heilman, legal counsel for Pfeffer, as his attorney. Should he be successful in obtaining the names of the persons connected with the riot, it is likely that charges of assault, battery, and destruction of property will follow.

In its investigation of the strike Tuesday afternoon, the assembly labor committee, appointed by the lower house of the legislature, found but little more than has already been given out by the parties before. The unionists declared that a "gentlemen's agreement" to hire nothing but union labor had been made between the contractor and the union while Mr. Pfeffer, emphatically denied that any such agreement had even been made.

Arthur Peabody, state architect, in commenting on the removal of the stained stones, has said that no make-shift work will be allowed on the building, and that it must be put into the same condition in which it was before the trouble Friday night. He does not believe that any other course than the removal of the stones is possible.

Oxford university can be sued by any student receiving injuries in athletic contests.

Jones Picks Michigan First;
Iowa Second; Illinois Third;
Wisconsin Fourth

The preliminaries of the Western Conference track meet to be held here Friday afternoon, will have competition equally as good as the finals on Saturday, according to Coach T. E. Jones, varsity track coach.

Two and three different preliminaries will be run off in each of the events with the exception of the mile, two mile, pole vault, and high jump, which will have only finals. It has been so arranged that the preliminaries will start on Friday at 2 p. m. and continue until 4 p. m. so that spectators at the meet will be able to go to the Minnesota ball game on Randall field.

Jones Places Wisconsin Fourth

Coach Jones was not very optimistic as to the outcome of the Wisconsin team Saturday. His opinion was that Michigan would be a sure winner of the Western Conference championship. Iowa was his second choice for the meet, with Illinois as the third place victor. Wisconsin, according to Mr. Jones, will take a fourth place if it beats out Ohio State.

Mr. Jones expects Capt. "Chuck" McGinnis to be in perfect condition for his event Friday and Saturday. The Badger track coach, however, does not hold much hopes for Kreuz's recovery from his wrenched shoulder. Kreuz, javelin thrower, was considered as one of the mainstays of the Wisconsin team. Braatz, high jumper, who was injured in the Minnesota dual meet here, will also be unable to make much of an effort because of his pulled tendon.

Lieb Arranges Field Novelties

Meanwhile, Tom Lieb, Wisconsin's field events coach, will act as Captain of Equipment at the meet this week, has completed his novel arrangements for the field. Mr. Lieb tried out many of his ingenious ideas at the Interscholastic meet last Friday, and they aided the spectator considerably in watching the progress of the field events.

An innovation of no little help to the spectator, is the huge scoreboard placed in the middle of the field. This scoreboard plainly reveals to the onlooker the points and standings of each school entered in the competition. In the shot put, Lieb has arranged a signboard on the side of the shot put area. This board has the feet and inches marked on it and with the help of a sliding arrow helps the spectator to see just at what distance the shot has been heaved.

MORE DOPE

WHAT REALLY COUNTS

PRINCETON SPRINGS ONE

Two more days and the Western conference track meet will be in our midst. And it probably won't be back again for some time in the future. Like Halley's comet, or a rich aunt.

Just a bit of dope that might be added to the story on sprinters in yesterday's deed. "Buck" Hester of Michigan beat one of his toughest rivals, Kriss of Ohio State, in the century during a meet between the two schools last Saturday. Kriss, however, evened it up in the 220, taking that event in 21.7 seconds. Tooley, Ohio State, ripped off a passable half-mile run in 1 minute 58 seconds. Think that over, Mr. Erickson, and see what we can do about it.

Everybody, including T. E. Jones, is picking Wisconsin to finish not higher than fourth in the Big Ten outdoor rating. And to tell the truth about it, things don't look so encouraging. But after all, it's what they say after the meet, not before, that really counts.

Princeton rather upended the staid old rowing critics of the Atlantic coast last Saturday, by defeating Yale and Cornell in a three-cornered race on Carnegie lake. Yale, traditionally a great crew, fell a bit behind on the final stretch and couldn't make up, permitting the surprising Princeton lads to win by a quarter-length. Cornell, the only one of the three crews entered in the Poughkeepsie regatta, was a length behind Yale.

C. D. A.

Another arrow on the signboard shows the exact location of the World's record in the shot event. A similar arrangement has been rigged up by Mr. Lieb for the broad jump.

Another signboard resembling a huge thermometer is placed on the side of the high jump to show the height that has been reached by contestants. A similar signboard placed near the starting line shows the height that pole vaulters have reached.

INTERFRATERNITY
BASEBALL TEAMS
IN ACTION TODAY

Unless Rain Halts Play, Title
Contenders Will Fight for Supremacy

Unless Jupiter Pluvius again puts a quietus upon baseball, the interfraternity baseball teams will swing into action this afternoon. Delta Kappa Epsilon will meet Theta Delta Chi in a crucial game on Field A at 4:30. Both teams are regarded as title contenders, with stellar pitching and hitting power. Zimmer, Theta Delt pitcher, is regarded as one of the best in the Greek loop; while Burbank, the DKE's freshman star is regarded by some as being Zimmer's equal.

Phi Kappa Seek Victors

The Phi Kappa-Phi Delta Phi game is regarded as a toss-up as both teams have played erratic ball in the season's play. Either Monte or Hank Brooks will hurl for Phi Delta Phi, while Healey will probably toe the rubber for Phi Kappa. Phi Delta Phi will have great difficulty in winning their third straight championship.

Farm House is expected to have little trouble in subduing Phi Kappa Psi in their game at 5:00 on South Field. Both teams are in the same division, and the luck of the draw threw them together in the final round. In their previous game Farm House beat Phi Kappa Psi 21-7.

Phi Kappa Tau-Delta Sigma

Tau

Phi Kappa Tau and Delta Sigma Tau will probably furnish a very interesting game. Phi Kappa Tau sailed through their division with little opposition, winning all of their games. The Phi Tau's possess a very good pitcher in Morrie Waterman and some very good hitters. The Delta Sigma Tau's also have a good pitcher in Baechler and a good catcher in Minton.

The Phi Kappa Sig's should have little trouble with Triangle. Scotty Stewart, Phi Kappa Sig pitcher, has been heaving excellent ball lately and should stop Triangle.

Kappa Sigma, with Farwell pitching, should mow down Kappa Psi today. The Kappa Sig's have some very good hitters and should give Farwell a good lead.

Four Cornered
Junior Midwest
Regatta Saturday

Lake Mendota will be the scene of the first Junior Midwestern regatta Saturday morning starting at 1:00 o'clock when a novel water sports program together with a four cornered race between eight oar shells from Culer, St. Johns, Wisconsin freshmen and the Wisconsin junior varsity.

The race between these four crews will be over a mile and a quarter course, and will be the first four cornered crew race ever held at Wisconsin.

Many novelties have been arranged by "Dad" Vail, varsity crew coach, and Joe Steinauer, varsity swimming mentor, for the program. Among the events carded for Saturday is an exhibition by the new Wisconsin crew launch "Vail." The new launch will tear about the lake in some speed tests.

Another novelty will be an aquaplane exhibition with the "Isabell" piloted by Capt. Isabell. The program of other competition has been arranged by George Berg and Joe Steinauer, and include five different events.

At 9 o'clock a fraternity sail boat race will start. At 9:10 a canoe doubles race extending over a half mile course will be run off. An interesting combat will take place at 9:20 in the fraternity canoe race. This will consist of a race between 10-oar canoes.

At 9:40 a novel canoe push ball game will take place, with six men paddling in each canoe, and six men pushing the ball. Individual prizes are to be offered, and the first 12 men will be selected and grouped into two teams.

WISCONSIN EIGHT MAY MEET WASHINGTON

Negotiations have been started to bring about a match between the Wisconsin crew and the strong Washington eight, winner of last year's Poughkeepsie regatta. An offer was received from Seattle for this practice match, in order that the Washington crew may get a chance to race on its way up to the Eastern regatta.

The offer came following the decision of Dad Vail and Jeff Burrus that the varsity crew was not in a condition to race at Poughkeepsie, and consequently would not attend that annual affair.

If the project is approved coach "Rusty" Callow, of Washington would probably bring his yearling

Cardinal Board Reorganizes

visory body have won by default. In the recent spring elections, the three persons elected were not only unopposed, but had to be urged before they filed their petitions.

The Board of Control is supposed to represent the student body, and it has been claimed that, as representative of the student body and not of the editorial or business staff, it should remain aloof and more or less detached. But is it truly representative of the entire student body when its members are elected from the staff workers, and usually by default? And should it try to be absolutely impersonal and aloof when such meritorious impartiality forces it to receive all information on the every-day workings of the Cardinal second-hand?

At various times this year, we have been made to understand, both the business manager and editor have been called into conference. Such conferences might have had the desired effect of cooperation between the three units of this paper, yet we feel that the heads of both staffs should be integral members of the board—that the heads of the business should be on the board of directors. We have also been made to understand that the Board of Control has, for a long period, wished that they might be members of the board, without votes, but that they cannot make a provision containing that specification without violating the articles of incorporation of the Daily Cardinal Company. Fine and good! The referendum will provide almost exactly the thing desired. We feel that the two staff representatives should vote, that they should be bona-fide members, provided that they shall not (they undoubtedly would not anyway) vote on that embarrassing question of size of their own bonuses, and that they shall not be members of the board.

In recommending candidates to the electors under the proposed system, the board will not necessarily drawn from the staff members, but shall nominate men and women who have general interests, are interested in the Daily Cardinal, and whom it feels most capable. Knowledge of the intimate workings of the paper will be supplied by the staff representatives, and by the faculty advisor, Prof. Grant M. Hyde, who has 12 years service as a background.

We feel that action this spring is highly desirable, first, because student thought on the matter is at present as much aroused as it can ever be, and secondly, because the board should begin functioning under its new plan of organization with the opening of the new semester, and not sometime after the fall elections. The referendum, if held, will not be on the extensive scale of the regular elections, and will not cause the more or less general distraction. There will probably be only one or two polling places.

As to the legality of the procedure, we still rest of Phil La Follette's interpretation of the Student Senate Constitution and the articles of incorporation of the Daily Cardinal company. We feel that there will be little opposition to the measure, because it is for the good of the Board of Control, as well as to the best interests of the Daily Cardinal.

Ignorant Followers

A new sort of outbreak has been squashed in the Philippine Islands. It was the "empire" planned by Flor Entrencherado, an insane leader.

The empire had 400,000 subjects, drawn from the taos, the working class, of the southern part of the island group.

Entrencherado and his empire achieved quick success. He promised to these ignorant people an immediate utopia in which there would be no labor necessary, his subjects having only to concern themselves about whether they wanted eight or thirteen hours of sleep and whether they wanted fish and rice or rice and fish for their meals.

The leader's insane promise looked good to these more ignorant Filipinos. That sort of life would appeal to anyone anyplace, but the rest of us would know it couldn't be true and would scoff at it.

Not so, these faithful 400,000. They were dragged in by the optimistic promises.

In much the same way have the Filipinos fallen into the "immediate independence" idea. Leaders, strong-willed, have made all manners of promises. The common people, in their ignorant way, willing to be led by anyone with an "idea" have taken to the "immediate and absolute independence" idea easily.

Not a thought have they given to the fact that an independent nation must have some system of taxation and that those taxes must be paid. Not a thought have they given to the United States oft-repeated statement that with establishment of a Philippine republic all the armed protection and trade protection the islands have now from the United States will also be withdrawn.

The leaders are crying "viva independencia" and the taos are taking up their song—not because they know what it will mean but because their "heroes," Mr. Quezon and Mr. Osmena, say independence is what the country needs.

The effect of this immediate independence for the Philippines would be a thousand times more disastrous for the people than the empire of Flor Entrencherado.

The Filipinos cannot see that fact now, but they would should the United States be foolish and grant them this independence.

More on Lindbergh

Yesterday's Chicago Tribune conveyed the information to us that Gene Tunney, erstwhile scholar and heavyweight boxing champion of the world, thought Lindbergh's accomplishment was fine but that it failed to accomplish anything.

We must acknowledge, of course, that outside of being the first man to span the Atlantic in a single flight, he achieved nothing in the way of sensational aeronautics; he did not blaze the way for future trips of a similar sort, for anything approaching a commercial plan for trans-Atlantic flight will use larger planes and will carry more men. No, as regards the blazing of an airplane trail, Lindbergh did nothing outside of his own flight.

But he has certainly brought to the fore the most cordial relations between the American and the French peoples. Never before in history has France welcomed a man to its arms as it has Lindbergh. The front page cartoon in the Chicago Tribune yesterday morning showed clearly how the petty matters between France and America have been shoved in the background while both rejoice in a common hero.

Lindbergh did not stop there;—his flight will be considered the personification of American do-spirit. The sheer Bravado of his deed has stamped itself on many minds as typical of American action. Only an American, we feel, could have so nonchalantly stepped into his small plane, waved goodbye, and set sail in the most hazardous flight ever attempted. Foolhardy it may have been to trust one's physical powers for 33 long hours, but it was admirable foolishness.

Over 22,000 laudatory clippings have been printed about Lindbergh since his name became proverbial household property. We're proud to add this to the twenty-third thousand.

In Philadelphia, a professor of philosophy bewails that a "top-heavy" civilization is being produced and that it must fall unless a new system of education be devised. In Princeton university, two educators debate the value of higher degrees for teachers. In Amherst, Mass., student representatives from fourteen colleges discuss the evils of student life.

All of which proves that education is still suffering from growing pains. There are undoubted ills in the educational system. For the evils of education, we beg to prescribe more education.

"Student Suicides," reads a headline in the deet. Are No Greater than in Other Groups." Nor deadlier.

Two gents slept on the front porch of the Union building to get some Badgers. We have also heard of people sleeping-out-of doors being bothered by other things than Badgers.

For instance, the men who retired in the shanty by the lake on that self-same night discovered that there were "sermons in stones" but not "good in everything."

The freshmen raised more cash than any preceding class. We had not realized there were so many non-fraternity men.

SANDY AN' THA SPEED KOP
Sandy's little blonde Delta Gamma was so quick that he was afraid his little Shuv-roll-it wud be pinched 4 spedin'. Jus' then he herd a upt-put down the road which he did not know whether it wuz a motor-cycle or a golf team. He soon discovered, however, fer tha put-put had on it a gent who was werin' a huge badge. Sandy wuz not certain whether tha guy wuz a Chi Psi or a cop, but he hoped it wud be a cop bekuz u can't dislodge a Chi Psi. An' more than that, he new tha Chi Psi had won tha biscuit throwing contest in tha intramural leeg, and he wuz afraid that tha Chi Psi wud mitake him fer a cat-sup bottle and toss him three places down tha table. A furthermore, he new they wudn't have a chanct if tha guy wuz a Chi Psi. But tha guy wuz a kop, and Sandy got treeted fine.

BRIDGE NOTES

We hear Tri Delt, but who is Tri?

From the claim that Wisconsin is now making for Lindbergh, one would think he was finishing the Memorial Union.

HOW'S THIS ONE?

Anyway, boys and girls, we have the comfort to know that Lindy was kicked out. We are not on the same plane with him. That is, not yet.

JACOBSON'S PAINTINGS PORTRAY VIVID AFRICAN NATURE STUDIES

Bizarre beauty developed with strength and directness is the major note in the collection of African paintings in the gallery of the historical museum this month. This exhibition of 22 pieces is the work of Oscar Brousse Jacobson, director of the University of Oklahoma art school, and were done on a recent visit to North Africa.

Mr. Jacobson was born in Sweden but spent most of his life in this country. His early life brought him into contact with much of the vivid and picturesque life of the west.

This group of paintings is a strange combination of beautiful colors, "laid on flat" to employ the technical phrase in which all details are sacrificed for the whole. There is a definite effort to catch "the light that never was on land or sea" rather than a photographic representation.

Perhaps the most tender study of the group is No. 17, "Karonian Night" which suggests a still winter night whose beauty the darkness hesitates to cover. His desert scenes are fascinating in their bizarre massing color and their peculiar lack of heat. The trees are boldly drawn and well constructed and are all his architectural forms.

"It is interesting to note in No. 18 'Djidgetti' 55 Mr. Stebbing of the art department comments, 'The way the spirit of movement in the water is given. We can feel its agitation, but upon looking closely we see he has not tried to imitate the wavelets in nature; he gives us the impression by a succession of pointed lines."

This exhibition is quite different from any shown in Madison, both in subject matter and treatment. It will hang in the museum gallery during the remainder of this month.

R. O. T. C. INSPECTION HELD YESTERDAY

Demonstration Marks Close of Instruction in Military Education for Year

The annual inspection of the Student R. O. T. C. cadet corps the climax of the entire year of instruction in the department of military education, and for which the entire corps had been busily preparing since last fall was held yesterday afternoon on the lower campus, at Camp Randall and in the University armory.

The manner in which the various formations and demonstrations were performed yesterday afternoon indicates that Lieut. Colonel Joseph F. Barnes and his staff have efficiently trained the students of the department during the past year according to the inspectors of the war department.

Because of unfavorable weather conditions, the regiment of infantry formed as a unit on the drill floor of the armory and was there inspected as a detail on general calisthenics and a demonstration of weapons, including machine guns and trench mortars.

The field artillery inspection took place on Camp Randall field and that of the signal corps on the lower campus.

The demonstration which was given yesterday afternoon will be an indication of the ability of the university corps judged by the War Department inspectors. If they believe worthy the inspectors will recommend that the department of military instruction be placed again on he distinguished rating list which it has not held since 1923.

The inspectors also examined the regular cadet classes on yesterday. These were the final meetings for all student cadets in the department this semester, except for the annual program to be held on Memorial day.

DURHAM DEMOTED FOR ADMINISTRATIVE CAUSES

"Administrative reasons and for the purposes of morale" rather than from "lack of ability of such reasons" is the result of President Frank's investigation into the demotion of Frank Durham, a member of the university Reserve Officers. Durham's demotion has caused much comment and bitter controversy between the Wisconsin National Guard and the R. O. T. C. members. Before joining the R. O. T. C., Durham had been a member of the National Guard and it was when he decided to rejoin the Guard it is said that the notice of his demotion to a private was posted.

REGENTS CREATE NEW SCHOLARSHIPS

Awards Will Carry Year's Free Tuition at Milwaukee Extension

Eleven scholarships carrying a year's free tuition in classes of the Milwaukee branch of the University Extension division have just been created by the University Regents.

Nine of the scholarships will go to June graduates of Wisconsin high schools, not more than one to any high school, on the basis of scholarship. These will entitle the winning students to register for not more than three late afternoon or evening classes of the Extension division in Milwaukee during each semester of 1927-28. They will be awarded with the understanding that the persons who receive them are not financially able to go to college.

Two day school scholarships will be awarded on a competitive basis. Each Wisconsin high school will be entitled to select one candidate who will compete with all other candidates in English and algebra examinations conducted by three members of the University Extension faculty, the two highest competitors to receive scholarships. These scholarships also will be awarded with the understanding that the winning students are financially unable to attend college.

SENATE PASSES UPON BOARD REORGANIZATION

probably be held this Friday, providing the will of members of the board coincides with the desires of the senate and signers of the petition. The approval of the senate upon the modified plan of reorganization was unanimous.

Main Points

Main propositions in the new plan follows:

1. The Board of Control shall consist of three senior elective members, of one faculty advisor, and of the business manager and ranking head of the editorial staff.

2. The business manager and editorial staff representative shall vote on all questions except those pertaining to their houses or salaries, provided, that neither shall be an officer of the board.

3. Before the spring elections, the board shall nominate at least four sophomores to run for the two junior positions, and two juniors to run for the one senior position, provided that these recommendations shall not bar other candidates.

This plan, it is hoped, will bring about closer coordination between the business and editorial staffs of the Daily Cardinal and the Board of Control, and will remedy practically all the faults existent under the present system.

The Complete Golfer

With the evolution of the golf game to one of the most popular of outdoor sports, has taken place an evolution of golf apparel and equipment. The keynote is a combination of style, comfort and "a good game." With perfect equipment and accessories the "good game" is bound to be. No longer are golf clothes designed by someone who doesn't know a stymie from a billiard cue. The clothes for golf at The Co-op are planned for golfers by men who play golf and they are hitting the keynote in ease, smartness and durability. The equipment, too, is the favorite of experts and an asset to your confidence in your game.

Sweaters

The pull-over sweater was made for ease and roominess in the golf game. That's why it has come to be such a favorite for general wear. In smart, plain colors and in weaves and designs for those with a liking for colors.

Knickers

Knickers, too, are the result of desire for ease and freedom while trying for par. However, the man who seeks as much freedom in his everyday dress has adopted them for general sports wear. In linens and linen patterns.

Golf Shoes

Those who want to be correct even to their shoetips will naturally like Nunn-Bush shoes. They are the last word in smartness and built to withstand the treatment that only golf shoes get.

Varsity-Approved Suits with Knickers $55

Now here's the thing in suits with knickers! What the college man wants in an all-around suit. Drawn to plans of the style committee of leading colleges. . . . Our Mr. Ripp is a member. . . .
