JUNIOR VARSITY CREW TRAINING FOR ST. JOHN'S

Meet Military Academy
Eight on Mendota
May 28

Ineligibility of four men has forced Coach Harry E. Vail to change the lineup of the junior varsity crew which will meet St. John's Military academy in the first dual meet of the season on Saturday, May 28.

P. B. Price '23, W. S. Smith '23, D. C. Newcomb '23, and R. Gerholtz '23 are the men who are not eligible to row against St. John's. They are replaced in the junior crew boat by Adrian Dornbush '22, Arthur H. Laup '23, W. L. Huff '23, and R. E. Ecke '23. The other men rowing with the second crew are: R. O. Klussendorf '23, K. H. Fauerbach '23, C. C. Christianson '21, G. C. Turner '23; A. Sinaiko, coxswain.

Eight Needs Training

Because of the numerous shifts in the second varsity crew and inclement weather conditions, the junior eight has lagged behind and is in only mediocre shape. The first varsity combination has rounded into excellent condition, and although the men worked out only two nights last week, they have made fast time in the trials.

The eight have been rowing short distances in their training, but with the races against the Lincoln Park Boat club and St. John's Military academy only two weeks' distant, Coach "Dad" Vail is sending the men over longer courses. The two races on May 28 will be over a course of one and one-quarter miles.

College Crews Practice

Four college crews and two freshmen eights are rounding into condition for the inter-college and inter-class regattas. Capt. August Pabst is leading a strong combination in the freshman boat. The first year men who are on the squad are: Capt. A. M. Pabst, W. Gerhard, E. H. Crozier, H. E. Johnson, B. H. Pearse, H. J. Benson, E. Blettner, R. J. Schuetz; W. E. Schultz, coxswain.

MUST ORDER GOWNS FOR SENIOR EVENT

All senior women who have not already ordered caps and gowns for Senior Swing-out, may do so, if they go to the Co-op immediately, according to Esther Haven '22, general chairman.

If orders are not sent in very soon the caps and gowns will not get here in time for the ceremony on June 3. Seniors will not be able to participate without them.

GREEN BUTTON TO BANQUET JUNE 1

June 1 has been decided upon as the date for the annual Green Button banquet. This affair, the last of a series of successful parties given by Green Button, will be held at the Candy shop studio.

Tickets are being distributed by the members of freshman commission, and will also be on sale in Lathrop hall. All freshman women are invited.

Marjorie Capron '24 is general chairman of the banquet. Other committee heads are: Rachell Haswell '24, decorations; Hazel Goddard '24, program; Clara Kosterman '24, music; Margaret Callisen '24, publicity; Ruth Jones '24, tickets; Louise Beebe '24, finances; Lila Ekern '24, toastmistress.

SIDE-TRACKED

Shipment of 5,000 Badgers
Held Up—To be Distributed
Tomorrow

A sign on the door of Music hall announces to a disappointed public: No Badgers Wednesday.

Yesterday morning it was confidently announced that the Badgers would arrive on time. But, alas! The car containing the previous books was first lost and then delayed in Chicago, being held there because it was not in good condition. As soon as wired arrangements were put through the Badgers were reloaded onto another car, which left Chicago yesterday afternoon and will arrive about noon today. The books will be distributed tomorrow morning. Even with this delay the volume is out much earlier than usual.

The hours for distribution tomorrow are from 8 to 10:30 in the morning and from 12 to 6 in the afternoon.

It has been the usual thing for the Badger to be retarded by some accident and arrive later than scheduled time. In 1917, delayed by some unrecorded cause, the year-books arrived in three installments, being distributed on three different days.

Last year in order to be on time, 2,000 Badgers were specially brought on trucks for the first day's distribution, the remainder coming by freight and being given out the next day.

PURPLES PLAN GOLF TOURNEY

Extend Invitation to Many Colleges for Meet
June 21-24

Northwestern University's athletic department announces that final arrangements for the inter-collegiate golf tournament next month are just completed and desires to make known, in this connection, the following facts:

The tournament is scheduled for June 21-24, inclusive, at the Indian Hill club just north of Kennilworth, which is said to be one of the best courses in Cook county.

A special invitation is extended to all western colleges whether members of the Big Ten or not and also such eastern schools as wish to enter.

Each university will enter a four-man team and conference eligibility rules will be in force.

The first day's play will be a 36-hole medal event to decide the winners of the team event,—that is, the team having the lowest score will be college team champion of the west.

Simultaneously the 32 lowest individual scores will qualify the makers for individual competition. Eighteen-hole matches will take place June 22 and 23 and the final match of 36 holes will be run off June 24, the last day of the tournament.

Director of Athletics Dana M. Evans is planning this meet on a big scale and wants it to be one of the great events in golfdom of the current season. He is especially anxious to acknowledge publicly, he says, the generous co-operation of the officials of the Indian Hill club and their splendid sportsmanship.

WOMEN ORGANIZE VOTERS' LEAGUE

Adopt Platform for Body to Replace Former Suffrage
League

The Collegiate League for Women Voters, organized last Thursday night, to take the place of the disbanded Suffrage league, held its last meeting of the school year last evening. The platform of the league is as follows:

1. To promote an intelligent understanding of political issues among college women.
2. To support those in public life who can best serve the community irrespective of party affiliations.
3. To legislate for those measures which will ameliorate the lot of laboring women and children.
4. To encourage women's efforts in all industrial, professional, and political interests.
5. To encourage in all a desire for higher political ideals.

The officers of the league are: president, Sonya Forthal '23; vice-president, Arlene Page '23; secretary and treasurer, Marguerite Doherty '22. The organization plans, when its work is well started, to affiliate with the National Collegiate league. This is the first attempt of its kind to be made in a university.

GARSTANG NEW HEAD OF COMMERCE CLUB

Reginald Garstang '22, was elected president of Commerce club for next year at the meeting which was held last evening in the Physics-Economics building. Other officers are: Rudolph Zimmerman '22, vice-president; Rollin Ecke '23, secretary; Robert Reynolds '23, treasurer; Humphrey Desmond '22, assistant treasurer, and Hashell E. Coates '23, sergeant-at-arms.

A silver cup and a vote of thanks were given to G. Vance Smith '21 for his services as acting business manager of the Commerce magazine for the last six weeks.

The joint picnic with the Women's Commerce club which was to have taken place today has been indefinitely postponed.

COOKE WILL RECITE BEST KNOWN POEMS

Noted American Poet to Appear at Music Hall Tomorrow

Of the half thousand poems of Edmund Vance Cooke, who will appear at Music hall Thursday evening, "The Moo Coo Moo," "The Other One Was Booth," "Fin de Siecle," and "How Did You Die?" are among the best, and among those which he will recite on this occasion.

Each of the poems has a special place in the hearts of poet lovers. "The Other One Was Booth," has been a favorite among literary people and folk of the stage. "Fin de Siecle," known as "the most stolen American poem," has been worked into several well known comedies.

"How Did You Die?" is widely known and has a romantic history. It was written in 1902; first appeared in the Saturday Evening Post; and later was printed in the volume of "Impertinent Poems." Henry Crimp, prominent English composer, and Florence Thomas set it to music with instant success. Editors, essayists, and preachers have used this poem in their work. The poem was stolen and reprinted under various names, among them Harrison Lee and Elizabeth Fortier.

MANY ENTRIES IN HIGH SCHOOL TRACK EVENT

Plan Attractive Program to Entertain Younger
Men on May 28

The number of entries in the twenty-seventh annual state scholastic track meet, which will be held at the university May 28, indicates that the big high school track event will be one of the largest and most successful held here for many years. More high schools will be represented and a greater number of athletes will take part, according to a statement of the athletic department made yesterday.

All the races will be run on the new Olympic model track, which measures 12 feet from the pole and is the only one of its kind among the conference universities. Another feature of the day will be the crew race between the varsity eight and the Lincoln Park boat club of Chicago. The varsity junior eight will also hold a crew race with the St. John's Military academy crew.

Venetian Night Follows

The Venetian Night parade will be held on Lake Mendota in the evening. The third annual interscholastic tennis tournaments will also be held on May 27 and 28. Entries for this event are now being received. The Northwestern-Wisconsin track meet and Chicago-Wisconsin baseball game, which will be held on Friday, May 27, will also attract many early visitors.

The array of athletic events of such first-class calibre for this week end is the most attractive program that has been offered during the interscholastic track event for many years. The committee in charge states. Arrangements are being made by fraternities to accommodate the high school athletes while in the city. Last year over 30 high schools entered the track event here. With the added features and attractions of the 1921 meet, it is expected that a much larger number will be represented this spring.

Banquet is Planned

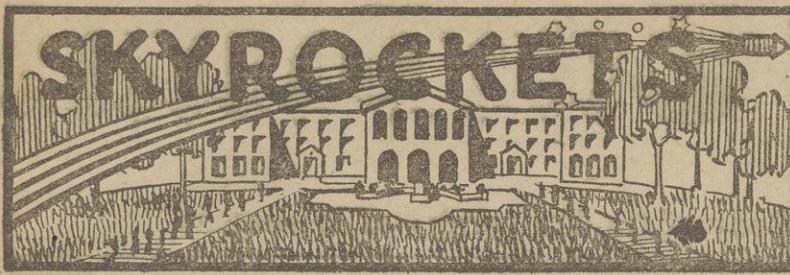

One of the special arrangements under way to entertain the high school visitors is a banquet with varsity speakers, vaudeville stunts by some of the dramatic societies, music, and other attractions. The event annually brings many state athletes later to the university, and is of great value to the institution in getting interested many high school students of promising athletic material, the athletics authorities believe.

LEGISLATORS HEAR PRIZE N. O. L. SPEECH

Legislators, students, and townspeople numbering 400 applauded Sterling Tracy '22 as he delivered his first prize N. O. L. oration, "America and Britain for Civilization," before a joint session of the legislature in the assembly chamber at the state capitol last evening.

Alvin C. Reis '13, who won the Northern Oratorical league contest in 1913, introduced Tracy, this year's winner. Following his address Tracy was congratulated on his speech and his victory by many of the legislators.

Tracy gave his oration at the request of the legislature, which passed a joint resolution for the purpose in recognition of Tracy's accomplishment.

TOMORROW'S the day!

YEP, standing in line for a Badger will give a good many an excuse to cut a class or so.

AND did you ever think of all the disappointed ones there will be, when they don't find their faces in it?

YESSIR, we claim that the only way to sell a Badger to every person in school is to get every person's picture in it.

AND then some of them wouldn't buy it because they weren't in as many times as some of the others.

LOST a lot of sleep last night trying to figure this out: Why is it that the women pull out their eyebrows and then put a black mark in the place where the eyebrows were?

THE weather man is on a vacation, or else he has a case of sleeping sickness. But the point is that for some reason or other he forgot to turn the faucet off.

U. S. Bureau Hits Sun Spot Weather Theory

NEW LAWS AID IN PROTECTION OF SONG BIRD

Wagner Claims Inter-state
Treaty Will Preserve
Migratory Birds

Although many states had bird laws before the passage of the migratory bird treaty, the treaty has accomplished some things which the state laws could not affect, according to Prof. Wagner of the zoology department of the University.

"Some states, including Wisconsin, have had bird laws and have enforced them, but others have either been lacking in laws or lax in using them. Robins were formerly killed and offered for sale in southern markets. A man in Illinois might kill birds and receive no punishment while in Wisconsin he would be fined. As long as there was no uniformity of action, birds were not sufficiently protected during migration. This was especially true of wild ducks and geese, which spend the breeding season in the Gulf of Mexico and then travel north as far as Canada. The treaty protects these birds throughout their journey and an increase of ducks and geese is the result.

"Fines imposed by the treaty are much heavier in general than state fines. A six months' prison sentence is not uncommon and a fine of $50 for each bird killed is often inflicted.

"The fact that there is much more trouble connected with being brought before a federal court than a state court is an improvement offered by the treaty. It is more difficult for a person to get off with a light sentence. He doesn't know the game warden perhaps, and the federal jury, if there be a jury, is not composed of his fellow townsmen.

"The treaty is not didactic in insisting on uniform action, but allows exceptions. For instance, the bobolink, which is not a harmful bird in the North, causes a great deal of damage in rice producing states such as North Carolina and Arkansas. The farmer there is allowed to shoot the birds to protect his crops. In Wisconsin the kingfisher offers a similar menace to the fish hatcheries. Permits are allowed to each hatchery separately allowing the killing of these birds when necessary.

"The next movement which will be undertaken for the protection of our birds will undoubtedly be that of a treaty with Central and South America."

Burden of Proof With Fish; Rings Bell When Caught

STOUGHTON, Wis.—Go to sleep and wait 'till they nibble. Seth Barnard of Evansville has just invented a unique contrivance to be used on a fishing pole which rings a tiny dinner bell when the fish is assured of a "hot time" in a frying pan.

The appliance consists of a wire attachment for the fish line. The wire is fastened to a little bell on the pole, and when the fish bites it tinkles the bell. If Mr. Fish is securely hooked, the bell rings louder by his effort to escape. A watch repairer in Evansville has turned out a number of these attachments for Mr. Barnard. Mart Green, local sportsman, demonstrated one of them here on Sunday.

'RAH FOR THE ENGINEERS

THE engineers are by nature a boastful lot. They shout about their defies at the "laws" every time the weather makes possible the gathering of the clan on the steps of their sacred shrine. Every year they hold a parade in which the remainder of the university is held up to splendid ridicule. Their pride knows no bounds.

Now comes the Wisconsin Engineer celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of the first issue of the publication. The number just off the press does great credit to the college of engineering and the university. There is a dignity and reserve about this issue that carry conviction. In their serious moments the engineers are not given to the flamboyant, rough and tumble variety of advertisement. The experience of the years has given them a rightful assurance of their status and they are sure of their ground.

The Wisconsin Engineer has admirably served as the proponent of the engineers' ideals and has helped to build up pride in a particular department of the university not only on this campus but throughout the country.

With the increasing recognition of the worth of the engineer this Wisconsin publication faces a great opportunity for service in the future. It is hoped that the next twenty-five years will see the same record of achievement accomplished in the last quarter century.

ANOTHER REMINDER

REPETITION is a favorite device in pedagogy and in advertising, hence its use now to help along a worthy cause. It is the Union Memorial fund. The payment of pledges has not been made as promptly as might be desired.

In the heat of the campaign for money it was easy to sign a pledge card and the students signed generously, meeting the test as they always do. But pledges do not build a memorial. Hard cash is the thing.

It takes only two or three minutes to write a check and then it's all over.

Every pledge should be paid before the end of the year.

DEMAND FOR
LABOR JUMPSOpening Up of Building
Construction and Farm
Work is Cause

In April the verified placements made by the 11 free employment offices conducted by the Industrial commission were 4,955. This is an increase of 25% over March. During this month there was an increase of 23% in the calls for help and a falling off of 15% in the applications. This is believed to be due to the opening up of building construction and farm work.

Nearly one-sixth of all persons referred by the employment offices to positions during April were sent to farmers, the total number referred being 1,109 as against 370 in March. The placements made on farms by the offices during April were nearly double those of any previous month in the entire history of these offices.

Less than one-fourth of the placements made were casual workers. During last month there were many high grade placements. One employment office placed an electrical engineer in a position with a $3,000 salary, and a general sales manager with the same salary. A mechanical engineer was placed at $2,400; several salesmen at between $1,500 and $2,500; a municipal engineer at $1,800, and a hotel manager at $2,400.

ORCHESTRA CONCERT
AT ARMORY MONDAY

New York Philharmonic to Appear Under Lead of Joseph Stransky

The New York Philharmonic orchestra will give a concert in the University armory next Monday evening, May 23, at 8:15, under the auspices of the Madison Orchestral association.

The program, according to Dr. Charles H. Mills of the Music department, will be the best that Madison music lovers have had in opportunity to hear in many years. It is as follows:

Prelude to the Mastersingers.... Wagner
Rhapsody—The Culprit Fay.... Henry Hadley
Tone Poem, Death and Transfiguration.... Strauss
Symphony No. 4.... Tschaikowsky
Joseph Stransky is conductor of the orchestra, and Henry Hadley is associate conductor.

Tickets are on sale at Smith's music store, or may be obtained through mail order by addressing L. J. Pickards, 429 Park street. Student prices are $1.50 and $1.00.

STUDENT ROOM RENT
WILL NOT INCREASE

Reports from the university Y. M. C. A. and the various rooming houses indicate no increase in the price of room rent for the coming year. Neither an increase or a decrease is expected; the prices will remain approximately the same.

The Y. M. C. A. states that since the war the prices have not increased, except slightly during this year. The price level will not fall to the pre-war costs, but will continue as it is now. The highest priced double room at the university Y. M. C. A. rents for $60 per semester, averaging $3 a week; the lowest priced room costs $2.50 a week.

"I am not raising the price of rooms next year," said Mrs. E. K. Cochrane of Cochrane's boarding house. "The approximate cost of a single room will be $5 a week, and the highest priced double room will bring $9. If there is an increase in other things, the room rent will have to be raised; this is not expected." Other boarding house keepers expressed the same opinion.

The rooming houses are practically all filled for next year. The university Y. M. C. A. has a waiting list of 80 persons.

SOLONS STUDY NORTHERN PARK

Members of Special Committee to Report in 10 Days

Members of the special legislative committee appointed to investigate the proposed Northern Lakes Park are expected to complete their investigation within the next ten days and make their report to the legislature. The park is in the vicinity of Draper, and includes more than 20 lakes and many miles of river all banks by a great living forest of pine, hemlock and hardwood, traversed by trails, dotted with springs and interspersed with numerous streams.

The choicest portion of this park includes over 30 miles of lake shore, about 8 miles of the river's course and a land area of 8864.28 acres. Of this last, 350.92 are owned by the state, another 700, as nearly as can be estimated, have been improved, for summer home and resort purposes, and the remainder, about 7800 acres is the part which should be acquired by the state.

"Wisconsin is losing millions, each year, because we have failed to provide suitable attractions for tourists," said Asa K. Owen, Phillips, County Judge of Price county. "It is estimated this traffic in 1920, brought to Michigan 75 million dollars. We got but 10 million."

"The Northern Lakes Park, once acquired by the state, will bring Wisconsin to the front in this respect and that is where she belongs. Its cost will be, on the average, per capita, not more than one cent. Its benefits will be immense."

The Milwaukee Association of Commerce has already memorialized the Governor, and the senate and assembly, through the presiding officers, urging provision, at this session, for taking over this area for the people. Other organizations and leading newspapers are for it."

The region, in general, has an elevation of about 1400 feet above sea level. The park lies, largely, between the north and south forks of the Flambeau River, tributary of the Chippewa.

Waukesha Co. Inefficient Says Railroad Body

Answer denying that its order of March 28 was unlawful, was filed in circuit court by the railroad commission, defendant in a suit brought by the Waukesha Gas & Electric Co. The answer declared that because of the inefficient and uneconomical way in which it operates its plant and the extremely unsatisfactory service it renders its customers, the company is not entitled to as high a rate of return on its property as a utility operated with normal efficiency would be. The complaint has not been filed yet.

The celebration of the Norwegian independence day by the Sons and Daughters of Norway, scheduled to take place at Bernard's park this afternoon, was called off because of the inclemency of the weather. If rain does not prevent, the dance will be held tonight as planned.

Over one hundred students are included in the cast and executive staff. The actual cast consists of over 80 students. The largest number of students that have previously taken part in any one play was about 45.

The executive staff consists of a business manager, publicity manager, stage manager, production manager, and electrician.

Tickets for the play will be placed on sale within the next few days. For the first time, reserved seats will be sold. This will be necessary, as the high school auditorium will seat only about 1,500 people and present indications are that the demand for tickets will exceed this.

RAILROADS IN NEED OF FUNDS

President of Northwestern Says No Revenue is Guaranteed

"There has never been a time in the history of the railroads when they needed money for rehabilitation as they do now," was the statement made by William I. Finley, president of the Northwestern road, at a special meeting of the Technical club, Monday evening. He continued:

"The railroads cannot remain solvent unless they earn more than they spend. There is a prevailing opinion that the railroads have a guaranteed revenue of 6 per cent, but such is unfortunately not the case. The railroads have not earned 1 per cent on their investment since their return by the government.

"According to the latest wage agreement, the section men are not allowed to make the repairs on the gasoline cars upon which they ride to work. They must either call a machinist or send it to the shops. A gasoline section car is less complicated than a farm tractor. Imagine the predicament of a farmer if he were not allowed to have his hired man make the repairs on his tractor, but were compelled to call in an expert machinist or send it back to the factory."

Prof. C. I. Corp, chairman of the committee on public health, submitted a report in which he stated that the health ordinance which has been supported by the Technical club and other civic societies failed of passage at a recent meeting of the city council. The club voted unanimously to support this ordinance at the coming election, which by law must be called before July 22.

AT THE GRAND

"There's nothing new under the sun," is an old saying and a good one. Moving picture devotees will swear by it, for seldom do they see a picture that varies in any great degree from the many they have seen before. But they will get a surprise when they see "A Sister to Salome," in which Gladys Brockwell appears at the Grand today. "A Sister to Salome" is a dream story—a dream of a popular prima donna, who sees her former existence in ancient Rome. These scenes which constitute the first part of the picture are very elaborate and highly dramatic.

As the scene shifts to modern America, we see the powerful story of the romance of a young minister and a popular actress. The most surprising feature of the picture is its ending, which is thoroughly unique and unforeseen, so that it will surprise even the most sophisticated picture goer.

WARNER NAMED BY PARK BODY

Is Re-elected President of Pleasure Drive Association

Ernest N. Warner was re-elected president of the Park and Pleasure Drive association Monday night at the 29th annual meeting of that organization. This is Mr. Warner's tenth term as president. Other officers also re-elected are: Charles N. Brown, vice-president; John L. Bourke, secretary and Frank W. Hoyt, treasurer. Directors in addition to the president and secretary were named as follows: F. W. Hoyt, F. M. Schlimgen, Dr. C. G. Dwight, A. X. Merz, and John Stock. Mr. Stock elected to succeed John C. Prien who has left the city.

Resolutions favoring the Olbrich park and on the death of Dr. Charles H. Vilas were adopted.

The resolution favoring the Olbrich park is as follows:

"The Madison Park and Pleasure Drive Association has viewed with sympathetic interest the effort to establish a park upon the lake shore at the eastern extremity of the city, has repeatedly given the project its endorsement, believes that as a matter of justice to the residents of that portion of the city and from the standpoint of making a most desirable extension of existing park facilities, that the present time is very opportune for carrying out this project.

"Therefore, be it resolved, that the Association respectfully urges upon the City Council and taking of immediate steps looking to the acquisition of all of the area included in the plan of Mr. O. C. Simonds, or so much thereof as can be acquired at the present time consistently with other public demands."

Lillian Walker
In Person

COMING TO THE ORPHEUM

Lillian Walker, she of the dimples and the blond curls, the sweet smile and the sparkling eyes, will be in town next week, for three days. Since the early days of motion pictures, Lillian has been a favorite. We haven't seen her so frequently during the past couple of years and inquiries about her have been numerous. "When is 'Dimples' Walker coming back?" the fans have queried a bit plaintively.

Well here comes Lillian herself, not just a picture of her. To see her, all you will have to do will be to pay a visit to the Orpheum Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday of next week, any performance during the above three days. That's getting your wish, isn't it?

In her present vaudeville offering Miss Walker, unlike many other picture stars who have entered the charmed circle of vaudeville through the silent drama, does not sing or dance, instead she happily "monologues" her way into the hearts of her old admirers and makes a host of new ones. You will declare her poise and general "at homeness" back of the footlights could only come from long experience in the spotlight, as she smilingly tells you the "life," "ands" and "whys" of the moving picture world with now and then an anecdote bearing on the fads and foibles of the male and female celebrities of the screen.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Vaudeville of a pleasing variety is scheduled for today, matinee and evening at the Orpheum theater. Headlining the list of acts is seen Brown, Gardner and Barnett in a song and dance revue which for speed, music, steps, costumes and eye-pleasing stage setting ranks high with any like offering seen here this season. Other features on this bill are Harry Cooper, in a songologue; Jerry and Gretchen O'Meara in "What Next," Dare Brothers, athletic accuracy, Dare Hilton, the girl with the golden voice, Anita Diaz's Monks, Pathé News and Topics of the Day pictures.

The new vaudeville bill booked to open at the Orpheum tomorrow night and remain for the balance of the week, including the three Sunday shows, will include no less than three big-time Orpheum circuit acts. Owen McGivney, the distinguished Protean actor will present "Bill Sikes," Murray Kissen in "A Hungarian Rhapsody," and the Six Kirksmith Sisters in "An Old Fashioned Garden." The balance of the bill will include Walton and Brandt, Gertrude Newman, Broadway's little jazz girl, Tuscano Brothers, and Pathé News reel.

AT THE FULLER
"Worlds Apart" is the title of Eugene O'Brien's latest Selznick picture which the Fuller theater will present as its principal photoplay attraction today.

There are many reasons to believe that this production will provide a more than usually enjoyable evening's entertainment. The first and principal one is, of course, the star himself, and the announcement that in one series of scenes in this John Lynch story he appears as Master of the Hunt and leads a field of thoroughbreds over the famous Warrenton course in Virginia, should be a source of keen anticipation to the many admirers of Eugene O'Brien.

The story of "Worlds Apart" deals with the bitter disillusionment of a young man who is only saved from becoming a bitter cynic through the chance meeting with another who has suffered more than he.

They join forces and the union leads to the untangling of a mystery and ultimately great happiness.

"The Sweetheart Shop"

Madison, Wisconsin is to get the original Broadway production, cast and chorus of the biggest sensation in musical comedy in recent years.

It is "The Sweetheart Shop" which comes here with Harry K. Morton and the same array of favorites as seen four weeks at the Columbia theater, San Francisco and all year in New York, Boston and Chicago.

There are two carloads of silken scenery, musicians who have played the score hundreds of times and costumes that represent the latest in modiste's art.

"The Sweetheart Shop" is a big caravan, using four railroad cars to transport the company of sixty. The same performance by the same company as seen in San Francisco, New York, Boston and Chicago will be seen at the Fuller theater, Saturday, May 21, matinee and night.

AT THE STRAND

Persons of middle age who have convinced themselves that life has yielded up its full share to them and there is nothing left for them but to die, will do well to see "Conrad in Quest of His Youth," the new William DeMille Paramount production starring Thomas Meighan, which will be shown at the Strand theater for four days starting today.

In this picture, Mr. Meighan plays the title role of Conrad Warrener, and shows how youth may be regained. The picture deals with his quest. He first seeks happiness in re-living the romances of his childhood, but each attempt in this direction only plunges him more hopelessly into old age.

He finally falls in love with a beautiful girl whom he thinks is a stranded actress, who to his surprise proves to be the Countess of Darlington, who, before her marriage was a popular London show girl. He then discovers that to be young one must be in love.

A Prizma natural colored picture and a comedy cartoon will also be shown.

SHOW LITTLE INTEREST IN SECURING JOB

Gilman Claims University
Men Do Not Care About
Positions

"If any student in the Commerce course goes out of this university without a job this summer, it will be because of a total lack of personal initiative," was the answer of Prof. S. T. Gilman of business administration at the University, to the statement that "the poor college boy is to be pitied because he can't find a job."

The demand for students this year is not as great as it was last year, although every department in the university is certain that it can place every student that wants work. The student for the past two or three years has had a choice of eight or ten jobs while he has only a choice of one or two jobs this year.

The students on the other hand are using different tactics this year than they ever used before. Instead of asking the faculty to find a job for them, the students are going out and finding their own jobs.

"There is plenty of work this year for all students if they want it," said Prof. Gilman, "but they either do not want the work or have secured work already. I don't understand it; the students have not shown such a disposition since I have been in the university."

"The students show no interest in getting a job this year; it seems that they have no interest in the future today. They have had too much cream and sugar put on their opportunities; they have been overfed on good jobs and are spoiled like the child who is over-fed on all sort of dainties."

"Two years ago the students would read the letters of applica-

TO HOLD VOCATION DISCUSSION GROUP

"Prospects for Openings" will be the topic of discussion for the students of industrial relations tomorrow night at their meeting in 122 Library building.

Those students who attended the American Society of Industrial Engineers' convention and visited many of the factories in Milwaukee will tell of the labor conditions there. They will present the problems of scientific management which were discussed at the convention.

This is the first of a series of meetings which will be held every two weeks to discuss vocations.

tions which were placed on the bulletin board and would send a telegram to the corporation immediately, but today they will read the applications and not even come to our office to ask about them.

"Today they do not want job unless it has a salary of $5,000 to begin with. Those days are passed, yet there is not a corporation in the United States that expect a student to work forever on the salary with which he started. In fact, if these concerns were not sure that these young men would be drawing a salary, at least twice as large as the salary on which they started them after six months' acquaintance with the job they would not hire them.

"This peculiar disposition on the part of the student body is evidenced in every department throughout the university. The Engineering school has a great number of applications that have not been filled; structural jobs head the list, highways second, and hydraulics third."

"Besides the demands for students for out-door work, we have a few applications for teaching positions and salesmanship jobs," said Prof. L. F. Van Hagan of the Engineering College. "The state is building $30,000,000 worth of highways this year, and on this work alone we can place the majority of our students."

SPARE THAT TREE

Cry of Co-eds Unheeded as Giant Oak is Felled on Girls' Field

One of the oldest and truest friends Camp Randall ever knew has bidden a sorrowful farewell to the field it has watched over and shaded for more than 150 years. The faithful old oak that stood near the home-plate of the girls' baseball diamond has been cut down.

Yesterday the junior baseball team stood forlornly by and watched the slaughter.

"It hurts to see that tree being cut down," cried one girl. "I believe I'd rather see a dog killed!"

Two little girls from school came across the field on their way home from school. One of them half-heartedly plucked a leaf from the many that were falling.

"It makes a heap of wood, doesn't it," observed one practical-minded girl.

The need for the removal of the oak is a real one, however. The stadium at Camp Randall is being enlarged, and many changes must take place; the hockey field is to be laid out diagonal to its present position, and the archery field will lie parallel to Regent street. Teams of horses are already at work plowing up the land to grade with the rest of the field.

ANIMAL HUSBANDRY SUBJECT OF TALK

Humphrey tells Agric Triangle of Cattle Breeding Work in State

Telling of his experiences in inspecting animal husbandry in Rusk, Bayfield, and Sawyer, counties, G. C. Humphrey addressed the Agric Triangle Sunday morning on the topic "My Trip North."

"I was highly impressed with the good work these colonies have accomplished in the art of breeding live stock," Humphrey said. "One pure bred sire was the foundation upon which the many good herds now existing were built. To observe gives one an inspiration to do better work and extend heartier cooperation to those people who unflinchingly give their lives and souls to the development of northern Wisconsin."

"Colonization companies are starting all classes of people on small farms by financing them for a while and building homes for them to live in when they arrive. They usually start farming on a small scale having only one or two cows, one horse, and several chickens. Since 1912 these farmers have progressed under difficulties, but by being determined to win and having a home to look forward to they have grasped the opportunity given them and made good," concluded Mr. Humphrey.

HOME ECS AT OHIO HAVE FLAT FOR LABORATORY

At Ohio State senior women in the department of home economics occupy a flat ideally furnished and operated. Six women and a chaperone occupy it at a time for a period of two consecutive weeks. Each takes her turn in filling the office of hostess, housekeeper, cook, assistant cook, waitress, and maid. This counts as laboratory work to supplement the three lectures a week.
