Sir,

I have the honor to lay before you, to be submitted for the Constitutional action of the Senate, a treaty concluded by F. W. Armstrong acting Superintendent of Indian Affairs for the Western Territory, with the Osages on the 5th day of January 1835.

The accompanying letter from Major Armstrong sets forth the reasons which induced him to enter upon this negotiation without the previous direction or sanction of the Government.

I transmit sundry papers marked from A. to I explanatory of the provisions of certain articles in the treaty to which corresponding letters are appended in the margin, with a brief synopsis of the treaty. —

Articles of a Treaty made and concluded at Fort Gibson, between F. W. Armstrong acting Superintendent of Indian Affairs for the Western Territory, on the part of the United States, and the undersigned Chiefs, Headmen, and Warriors, of the Great and Little Osage Tribe of Indians, duly authorized by their respective bands.

Whereas the Osage Tribe of Indians had originally been in possession of a vast extent of Territory, including a large part of the State of Missouri, and Territory of Arkansas, which they have ceded to the United States by former Treaties, together with an extensive Country West of said State and Territory, extending from the Kansas to Red River, embracing the lands which are now occupied, in part, by the Choctaws, Western Cherokees, Creeks, Senecas, Quapaws, Shawnees, and other emigrant Tribes, with the unappropriated land North of their present reservation. And whereas by their liberality and friendly disposition in thus complying with the views of the United States, they have enabled the Government to carry out the policy of the United States, in placing the several Tribes residing East of the Mississippi, upon lands West of said river; thereby furnishing a permanent home for several of the largest Tribes of their red brethren, who are now prospering under the policy of the government. And whereas the condition of these People at this time, requires that the United States should extend to them, at least, their portion of the many advantages which they believe have been secured to other Tribes, not yet granted to them; and whereas

whereas they now show by this treaty, a friendly disposition on their part, to remove from a part of their present reservation, and take lands North of them, in accordance with the views and wishes of the government; and whereas the United States do with pleasure witness this additional evidence of the friendly disposition of the said Osages, and with a view to do them ample justice and to promote their future welfare, the said parties have agreed to the following articles. viz.

Art. 1. The Osage Nation do hereby relinquish and cede to the United States, for and in consideration of stipulations herein after made, Thirty miles to be taken from the southern part of their present reservation to be divided by an East & West line, running twenty miles south of the Northern boundary of said reservation; and in exchange for which, the United States hereby cede to the said Osage Nation of Indians, for their use, so long as they continue as a Nation and reside upon said reservation, a Country North of the reservation aforesaid, beginning at the North-east corner of the reservation above referred to and running due North, ten miles; thence due East, to the Western boundary line of the State of Missouri; and thence due North along said State line, twenty miles; thence due West, until a due North line from the point on the South bank of the Arkansas river where the line between the United States and Mexico, will strike the river aforesaid, shall intersect said line. And the United States agree to have the said lines plainly marked, as soon as practicable after the ratification of this treaty, except the Western boundary line which shall be run so soon as the point on the south bank of the Arkansas is established.

Art. 2. In consideration of the removal that must take place with the greater part of the Osages, and the fact, that they are now destitute of provisions, and with a view to encourage them to grow corn the approaching season within the reservation herein provided for them; The United States agree to furnish them with an ample supply of provisions for six months. The issues to commence as early as practicable, after the ratification of this treaty. Provided however, that those drawing provisions, remain within their country and exert themselves to raise corn for their support, for the next year. It is understood that such of the Osages who occupy themselves hunting, during the season for making crops, and fail to comply with the provisions of this Article, shall not be entitled to draw rations; the removal to take place within six months after the ratification of the treaty.

Art. 3. Whereas the Osages contend, that by the order of the Superintendent A. at St. Louis, and their former Agent, Gov. McNair, that the sum of three thousand dollars was deducted from their annuity, to pay for depredations which they admit were committed by them, on different traders, in robbing them of mules, on the Santa Fe Road; which sum should in equity be repaid them, as they have from time to time delivered all of said mules to those claiming them; therefore the United States agree to pay to them the aforesaid sum of three thousand dollars.

Art. 4. Whereas in a payment made, by John F. Hamtramick when B. agent of the Osages, to them; a disagreement occurred between him and Clermores band; in consequence of which that band did not receive their portion of the annuity, amounting to three thousand dollars; and that subsequently, Col: A. P. Chouteau, for the purpose of relieving their immediate wants, and quieting their feelings, incensed by the failure to procure their goods; did advance to them, fifteen hundred dollars in Merchandise, with the understanding that an application should be made to the Department, to repay this sum to him; which amount was paid to him by the Government; but as it was deducted from their Annuity; therefore the United States do agree to pay to Clermore's Band, the original sum of three thousand dollars, in goods at first cost.

and

Art. 5. The Osages agree to relinquish to the United States,
c. Their Perpetual Annuity of fifteen hundred dollars; also their
d. Annuity of seven thousand dollars, provided for in the 3<sup>d</sup> Article of the treaty made at St. Louis, 2<sup>d</sup> June 1825. In lieu of which, to better the condition of the Osages, the United States agree to pay to them, the sum of thirty thousand dollars annually, for the period of thirty years; to be paid under the direction of the President of the United States, in Goods, Stocks, Provisions, or money; such portion of which however, as he may deem most advantageous and beneficial to them, may be expended for education or for farming purposes. Provided however that the sum of ten thousand dollars annually shall be retained to be expended in their country, under the direction of the President of the United States, for the purpose of Manufacturing fabrics, suitable to the condition of the Osages; and to

to enable the Government to encourage and introduce among them, a knowledge of an important branch of economy, intimately connected with their future prosperity and advancement. The Cloth made under the direction of the President, shall be divided in such manner as he may deem best calculated to encourage and promote industry among them. In addition to the provisions of this Article, the United States agree to give to each female, a Loom and Wheel complete, whenever it is made evident to the Agent, that said individual has learned to spin and weave.

Art. 6. For the purpose of giving a direction to the minds of the Osages, as early as possible, and to induce them to abandon their towns, and to settle in families and neighbourhoods, the United States agree to employ one or more farmers to superintend labourers who are to be employed in aiding and instructing those disposed to become agriculturists, to erect Cabins, make fences, raise crops, and to afford them all other knowledge requisite to enable them to conduct the operations of a farm; and for the payment of the farmers and labourers aforesaid, the United States agree to expend annually the sum of five thousand dollars, for twenty years; and that each family that will occupy and cultivate a separate Improvement, as herein provided for, shall receive from the United States, a Cow & Calf, two breeding Dogs, one Plough with a set of Plough gear for one Horse, one Ox & one Hoe.

The

The Carts, Wagons, and Teams, not to exceed ten in number, necessary for the erection of buildings & fences, to be furnished by the United States.

Art. 7. Should there yet be due the Osages, any of the Stock or Poultry provided for in the 4th Art. of the treaty made at St. Louis, on the 2<sup>d</sup> June 1825, the United States do hereby agree to furnish whatever may be deficient; whenever in the opinion of the President, it will be most advantageous to them.

Art. 8. The United States anxious to relieve the Osages from their present embarrassed situation, arising from the claims that are now due other tribes, and to Citizens of the United States, for depredations committed by them, for which their Annuity is held bound, but which is inadequate for a just payment of said claims; do agree to pay the same, Provided however, that said Claims shall be first examined and liquidated, under the direction of the President of the United States, upon principles of justice; and the rules of evidence shall be determined on by him, so as to insure a fair and equitable settlement of said claims. The examination thereof shall take place, and the sum returned to the Department, in time to enable the next Congress to appropriate the amount to pay the aforesaid claims.

Art. 9. It is further stipulated by the contracting Parties, that four Companies of Light Horse, one for each Band, shall be organized, from among the Osages, by the Agent or Sub-agent and the Principal Chiefs of the Nation, to consist of a Captain and eight Warriors each, for the express purpose of carrying into effect the Acts of Congress, through the Agent under the instructions of the Department. They shall also carry into effect the Laws of the Nation, under the authority of the same, and for which services, they and their successors, shall receive from the United States, the following salaries annually for thirty years; to the Captains twenty five dollars each, and to each Warrior of said companies, fifteen dollars per year, and a good Blanket to each Captain and Warrior of said Companies annually in addition to the Pay herein allowed. It is expressly understood by the contracting parties, that it shall be the especial duty of the Light Horse to protect Private Property, in every instance; and where any thing has been given or furnished to the Osages under this treaty, and it is destroyed by the Osages, the offender shall be punished as the Chiefs may direct; and the Stock or whatever may be so destroyed, shall be replaced out of the Osage Annuity.

Art. 10. In addition to the Black Smith now supported by the United States among the Osages, the United States agree to support one other Black Smith, and to furnish each with a Shop and Tools, and the requisite quantity of Iron and Steel.

Art. 11. The Union Missionary establishment referred to in the tenth Article of the late Osage treaty of 2<sup>d</sup> June 1825, shall be valued under the direction of the President of the United States, immediately after the ratification of this treaty, and the amount amount thereof placed to the credit of the Missionary Society that established the same, to be drawn for and expended by said Society, within the Reserve herein provided for the Osages, and for the benefit of the said Osages, either for purposes of Education or farming, as may be agreed on by the Agent of the United States, and the Agent of said Society; and in case of disagreement as to the best manner of applying the same for the benefit of the Osages, the expenditure thereof shall be made under the direction of the President of the United States.

J. And the United States also agree that the Harmony Missionary Station referred to in the said tenth Article of the said treaty of 2<sup>d</sup> June 1825, shall be sold and the proceeds applied for the benefit of the Osages, in the same way and under the same conditions as the proceeds of the Union Missionary Station, are to be applied.

And the United States further agree that in consequence of the Hopewell Missionary Station being within the Cherokee limits, and the operations of said Mission being altogether applied for the benefit of the Osages; the Missionary Improvement at said station shall be valued and paid for, and the amount thereof also applied in like manner for the benefit of the Osages; provided the sum shall not exceed the sum of one Thousand dollars.

Art. 12. It is understood by the contracting parties that the sixth Article of the treaty made at St. Louis 2<sup>d</sup> June 1825, is revived Cr. in this treaty; and that all other treaties hitherto made shall be considered null & void.

Art. 13. The Osage Nation hereby agrees that the United States shall have the right to establish Forts, and to have the free use of Timber &c, necessary for the use of the Troops at any point within their country.

Art. 14. The Osage Nation do hereby agree and stipulate most positively that they will prevent their people from establishing Hunting Camps within or near the settlements of any of the neighbouring tribes.

Art. 15. The United States agree to purchase the reservations provided for in the fifth Article of the treaty concluded at St. Louis 2<sup>d</sup> June 1825, for which the Osage Reserves shall

H. be paid by the United States, one dollar twenty five cents per acre, and in addition that the Improvements now on the reservations aforesaid, shall be valued by two disinterested persons, one of whom to be chosen by the United States, and the other by the claimants or their representative; in case of disagreement between the two appraisers, they shall select a third person to fix the value thereof, and the amount of the valuation of said Improvements shall be paid by the United States, to said Reserves or their representative.

Art. 16. The Osage Nation hereby declare, that the interest

they

They feel for their children to whom reservations were given in the treaty of 2<sup>d</sup> June 1825, made at St. Louis between the United States and the Osages; induces them to declare that it is their wish, and the wish of their said children, that their confidential & well tried friend, Col: A. P. Chouteau shall be considered their legal guardian, to receive from the United States the amount of the aforesaid reservations; to be paid by him to the said Reserves or expended for their use and benefit. And that he is hereby authorized and empowered to make good and sufficient titles to the United States for said reservations. Provided however that he shall first obtain the consent in writing from the Reserves or their representatives, to be taken before the Agent, or Sub-Agent, Commanding Officer of a Military Post, or Justice of the Peace. To enable the United States to act upon this subject advisedly, the Osage Nation do hereby declare that it is a law among themselves, that their children can at any time dispose of their right to property, independent of the objections or consent of any one. Therefore the written consent herein stated is considered binding on all concerned.

Art. 17. The United States agree, in consequence of the Osages being entirely unacquainted with any of the pursuits of civil life, and more effectually to carry out out to them the benevolent views of the government, and for the purpose too of insuring a faithful compliance with the provisions of this treaty; to appoint an Agent, Sub-Agent, and Interpreter, to continue among them, so long as the President of the United States may consider their services advantageous to the Osage people.

Art. 18. The United States agree to pay to Beatt, Osage Interpreter, one hundred and eighty dollars, for his services in going to Little Rock to attend the trial of Mad Buffalo in a case of Murder; which claim has been forwarded to the Department, by Geo: Washon Cherokee Agent, pursuant to instructions. And also to pay to Jim Bazil twenty dollars for his claim for services as Interpreter in 1824.

Art. 19. The contracting parties agree that the sum of five hundred dollars shall be paid annually out of the Osage Annuity, to the four Principal Chiefs and the Warriors of each of the four Bands belonging to the Osage Nation, to be divided in the following manner. viz. To the Principal Chief of each Band, one hundred and twenty five dollars; to the second Chief of each Band, one hundred dollars; to the third and fourth Chiefs of each Band, seventy five dollars each; and to the four Principal Warriors of each Band, the sum of twenty five dollars each; to be paid to them and their successors in Office: to defray the expenses of an established custom among them, of greeting and making presents to red brethren of other Tribes, when visiting visiting them; and to pay them for attending to the public business of their Nation. It is also understood by the Parties, that the aforesaid Chiefs and Warriors, shall obey the calls made on them by the Agent, upon all public business between the Osage People and the United States. Provided however, that if any of the aforesaid Chiefs or Warriors shall disregard or refuse to obey a call of the Agent for the purposes aforesaid, the Pay due to such delinquent, shall revert to the Band or to his successor, as the Agent may determine.

Art. 20. The United States hereby guarantee protection to the Osages within the Country ceded to them by this treaty; and that intruders shall be kept from within the limits of their Nation. And the Osage Nation hereby agrees on their part, to be at peace with all the neighbouring Tribes, and that they will not make War upon any Nation without the consent of the United States. The Osages further agree and declare, that they will enter the service of the United States, under the orders of the President, whenever required; and the United States agree that they shall receive the same Pay and rations that is allowed to the regular troops. It is understood however, that the Osages have the right at all times within the limits limits of their own Country, to defend themselves, and repel an enemy therefrom, but not at liberty to pursue beyond their limits. The Osages agree that the United States shall have the right to open Roads when necessary through their country, and that the persons and property of individuals traveling thereon shall be considered under their protection.

Art. 21. In consideration of the faithful services of Moqua a half breed, the Osage Interpreter, and to gratify the wishes of the Osages, as expressed by them in this Council, the United States agree to pay to said Moqua two hundred dollars.

Art. 22. Two of the Reserves provided for in the 5th Article of the treaty concluded at St. Louis 2<sup>d</sup> June 1825, now being of lawful age, having some years since, sold two of the reservations situated in the Cherokee Country west, to white persons who purchased with a view to make salt at the saline on said reserves, under the belief that they could be occupied by them, but which opinion is now found to be erroneous. Therefore the Reserves claim and insist that the United States should now pay to them, the difference between one dollar twenty five cents per acre, and thirty six hundred dollars the exact amount received for the two reservations; to insure the sum of Two Thousand dollars to the said Reserves, over and above the one dollar dollar twenty five cents per acre, as herein provided for, and to enable them to pay back to the individuals to whom they sold said reservations, the amount of the purchase money. This is agreed to with the understanding that if the government of the United States reject this Article, it is not to effect the validity of any other stipulation of this treaty.

Art. 23. This Treaty shall take effect and become obligatory on the parties, so soon as the same shall be ratified by the President, by and with the advice & consent of the Senate of the United States.

In testimony whereof the Acting Superintendent for the Western Territory, and the Principal Chiefs, Head-men, & Warriors, of the Great & Little Osage Nation, have hereunto subscribed their names and affixed their seals, at the place above written, this fifth day of January, in the year of our Lord, one thousand eight hundred & thirty five, and of the Independence of the United States, the fifty ninth.

Speeches delivered at Fort Gibson, on the 5th January 1835, by the Osages, just previous to signing the Treaty of that place and date.

Speech of Clermore, Principal Chief.

I am going to touch that pen, but doubt whether my Great Father will give me all in that Treaty. I sign it, on account of my people, but doubt whether I shall ever see them like the whites. We are indebted to our friend, (Col. A P Chouteau,) and although this Treaty does not provide for the payment of his claims, we wish and request, that you (Major Armstrong) will exert your influence with our Great Father to procure its payment, as the claim is just.

Speech of Ko he kah tungah, elder brother of Clermore.

My Grand father, I am tired of making treaties. The red people who have advanced in civilization, do not appear to be as happy as the whites. Those of them, who can write, have their treaties, and although my brother (Clermore) cannot read, yet I wish him to have a copy of this Treaty. The red people who have made treaties with you, were not as poor as we are, and I think we ought to have some presents made to us. I dislike to hear of my Grand father at so great a distance. I wish to see him, so that I may hear from himself what I ought to tell my people. I am apprehensive that we will not receive our annuities next spring.

Speech of Wah-tah-me-gah.

My friends all: I am going to address you. You have heard what our friend (Major A.) has said. My friends have told me, that the words of our Great Father were weak; that is the reason I presume, that our Great Father sent you to relieve our poverty. From this time, I will believe that he will take pity on us. He has promised as much through you. I shall be happy when my people see it all accomplished. Here are two men (A. P. & L. Choteau) whom I have always called my brothers. I wish them to aid you in obtaining all these things, in due time, for us.

Speech of White hair or The Soldier.

My grand-father, and my father, have made treaties with the United States: I am doing the same, on this fair day. My grandfather (White hair) made a treaty with the United States; and I think this treaty better than his. My Great Father says that he will create soldiers (Light Horse) entrusted to the Chiefs; to have the rights of all respected: they are not yet instituted, but I hope will soon be. My Great Father has I believe made a good Treaty for us, but I wish he had made us a small present now. Before Gen. Arbuckle and his Officers, I will say something more. In presence of him and his Officers, I demand of you the $3000 for those mules; to clothe us on our return home. I do not think it much. All that is promised in the Treaty will be received hereafter, but this sum I consider a debt, which ought to be reimbursed now.

Speech of Skin gah wah shah, or The Fine Bird, who desired to shake hands with Gen. Arbuckle and Gov. Stokes.

I called these two Gentlemen (Gen. A. & Gov. S.) because Clermore advised with Gen. Arbuckle, upon making this Treaty; and I consulted Gov. Stokes upon that subject. They visited our camp, and after consulting with us, advised us to make the Treaty, as they considered it a good one for us. We believe that we have been well advised by them; for our reflections confirm their opinions. On that point, I am done; but have something else to say. Clermore talked about the money ($3000) for the mules; I am not going to address him, but you (the whites). These two have spoken to you about these claims: I consider them due, and that you should pay them. I have asked you to bestow an Annuity upon our Interpreter, and if you will not, we must. As regards our Annuity, we ought to determine whether it shall be paid in money or not: we ought to have the control of it. When we receive it in money, our Agent will be present, and any claims against us, can, at that time, be satisfied. I am about to touch the peac, and I do it willingly; although I do not expect to enjoy all the benefits of the Treaty. I have told you that I consulted Gov. Stokes, and I wish to live to attain his age; but I will never leave the land secured to us by this Treaty, and will never sign another. I sign freely to day; but it is for the last time.

Speech of the Little Chief.

I wish to speak to my Great Father in person. He sends us a good man to treat with us, but I fear I shall never see my people, like those (the whites) around me. My brother (Col. A. P. Choteau) you are going to carry the Treaty, and I hope you will soon return with it confirmed. I touch this pen with pleasure, for I believe our children will be benefitted. I have travelled all over the world, (this speaker was one of the company which went some years since to France,) to learn the means to render my people happy, without success; but I believe that this day will secure some happiness to them. I will repeat what some of our Chiefs have said about our Interpreter, to request our Great Father to provide for him in the Treaty, for if he does not, we must.

Speech of Dok me nome pah shay, or He who runs after Pawnees.

This Treaty must be good, as so many have examined and approved it. My brother (The Fire Bird) has said that he will never sign another Treaty, and I say the same.

Speech of Ne-kah-de-bah-nah.

I have come to sign this Treaty, and I do it, taking Major Armstrong for my friend; in token of which, I give to him my saddle horse.

Statement of transaction therin referred to —

Extract of letter from A. P. Chouteau, dated March 3<sup>o</sup> 1834.

" Of the claim under the Agency of Gov<sup>r</sup> McNair in the year 1835, for Mules taken by the Osages from a party of Spaniards on their way from Santa Fe to St Louis, this happened at the time when all the principal chiefs & warriors of the Big & Little Osage tribes were making the treaty with Governor Clark in June 1835; after the Osages with their agent had returned to their villages the agent received a letter from Genl Clark claiming from the Osages the 3000$ to pay for the Mules; the Osages agreed to pay that amount out of their annuity -

On the return of the Agent at White Hair's Town, he received nearly all the Mules which had been taken from the Spaniards and they were sent by him to Missouri - The $ 3000 was deducted from the annuity and the Osages have lost both Money & Mules - This happened a short time before the death of Gov<sup>r</sup> McNair & I have no doubt had he lived one year longer the error would have been by him rectified."

Clemens band in 1829 -

Extract of letter from Genl Wm Clark, Superintendent Indian Affairs at St Louis, dated August 8. 1829

"I have the honor herewith to enclose to you Mr Haunwick, " report to me, in relation to the conduct of that Band of Indians, his " delivery of the annuity to the Osage nation. The Agent has taken a bold stand, which is always necessary among uncivilized Indians, yet I do not agree with him as to the manner of delivering the annuity, which should have been apportioned & delivered to the several bands to whom it was due."

Copy. To Genl Wm Clark, Sup: Ind. Affairs. —

Osage Agency July 13 1829

Sir, On the 19th ulto, I wrote to Captain Pross, requesting him to visit the agency with some of the principal chiefs & men of Clermont band, it was some time before they came & he informed me that they at first refused to attend, the pretty jealousy & conflicting interests between that Town & the upper Towns has been such as to make them always refuse to attend to the transaction of any business at the agency, demanding & expecting that I should attend on them at their Town. I found them from the first (& they are so still) wild and ungovernable, very little disposed to listen to the wishes of government, & still under the control of the transmission of that power whom interest separates them from their Nation and locates them where they now are almost each successive year, finds them engaged in the murder of some of the U.S. Citizens or committing other depredation, which keeps the nation in a ferment and when they visit the upper Towns, some difficulty ensues, unless Clermont band surrenders the murderers of a white man by the name of Sallen, who was killed on Red river as half blood Choctaws, remove on their reservation & listen to the desires of Government made through me. I shall persist (if not otherwise ordered) to make them feel the ill effect of cherishing the advice & wishes of eager Speculators, disaffected half bloods, the tools to spread discontent & mis-trust. Eventually Clemon's band attended the Council room my making the demand for the surrender of the Murderers, they shamed every sign of uneasiness and discontent, & from that moment determined to break up without settling any business whatever, their language became insolent. They demanded the whole of the Annuity to be given to them alone they would listen to nothing & I have no doubt were instigators to this course by the same power that is enabled to keep them a variance with the other part of the nation & to continue them at their present villages - they broke up and left here without any pretext, & in their savage & boisterous manner - I have taken an independent and I hope determined stand with them, relying on the honor of your support, otherwise the attempt that is making to destroy the success of my measures with them, will succeed - The annuity was ready to be delivered to the nation, when Clemon's band left here, and I could not take upon myself the retention of any portion, especially as there is no store or ware house provided here & I therefore delivered the whole to the upper towns - In fact as Clemon's band has not complied in a single instance with any of the provisions of the treaty which allows them the annuity I do not think that they are entitled to any portion of that annuity & that it would be good policy to give it to the upper towns only until they complied with the treaty & subjected themselves to the will of the Government although they tacitly look up to the government of the U.S. & keep within the bounds of an open rupture, yet they seldom let an opportunity pass of murdering the Citizens if they can catch one or two alone & unprotected & robbing and committing other depredations - they voluntary or by advice oppose the success of the measures of the government towards them - They wish to detach themselves entirely from the balance of the Nation to have an Agent Interpreter, Blacksmith &c &c entirely for themselves & not to be considered as belonging to or under this agency in any respect I understand that they have held a Council at Cautionment Hill now & complained to the ~~agent~~ Secretary of War that I was partial to the upper Towns, that they get no part of the cattle, that I did not build a House for their Chief in their Town that they got very few presents, that they with their portion of their annuities sent to their Town by the Arkansas river - will merely remark that a rigid & determined course is necessary to be pursued by me towards them, which will eventuate in discouraging to them (if I am sustained in it by the government) that the proper place for them is on their reservation & that so long as they look for support & advice from other persons than those authorized by government, keep themselves without the bounds of their reservation & continue to commit murder & depredations on the white, so long will they be the sufferers & longer

In my humble opinion if the government will take cognizance of the trifling complaints they have or may make against me, they will soon be found to complain every time I do not exactly comply with their demands or acced to all their wishes & eventually become the masters of the Agent & threaten him with Complaint or expulsion - The Agent should be their friend, ruler & counsellor they should be subservient to him not governed by their caprice, &c &c the new treaty.

Annual payments

This image shows a page from an old ledger or account book. The paper is heavily faded and stained, making the handwriting difficult to decipher. However, some key terms are visible, such as '借入' (borrowed), '支用' (disbursement), '貯金' (savings), and '現金' (cash). The layout consists of several columns of data, typical of financial record-keeping.

In 1831 March 31. a remittance was made to Genl. W Clark Superintendent at St Louis for the purpose of paying claims against the Asages & to charge the several sums upon their annuity for the year 1830 - among these the name of Mr. Chouteau is named as having claims to the amount of $3436.12 - which it is believed includes the amount referred to by the 4th article of the treaty

H
List of Establishments.

The 15th Article of the Treaty of June 2. 1825, reserves two sections to include Harmony Mission & Mill - one section to include the Mission on Grand River, called the Union, the third to be disposed of for the benefit of said Missions.

These Missions have been under the care of the American Board of Foreign Missions, who have made improvements, at their own expense, with the sanction of the Department, during the last fourteen years.

The present Treaty provides for the reimbursement of the amount thus invested by the Board, to be again laid out by it in the Country, now assigned the uses for their benefit.
