FOREWORD

THIS, the second edition of the T. R. Register of manufacturers, importers and jobbers of toilet goods and druggists sundries is published at the end of a period of changes in the industry which considerably reduced the value of the previous issue and made a new edition imperative.

The need for such a volume increases daily, and we believe that the present edition, with its alphabetical index of every item of merchandise listed in the book will prove a handier reference work than did the previous volume. The addition of this alphabetical index, and the rearrangement of departments are the principal differences between the present edition and the earlier one. A special section devoted to raw materials and supplies is a further addition which will prove of value to many of our readers.

The editor recommends that in seeking to find the name of the manufacturer or importer of a given article the reader consult the alphabetical index first. This index will give the page on which the department containing the item begins, and a few seconds should suffice to locate the desired name. Then, by consulting the Manufacturers Index in the back of the book, the address of the manufacturer or his American Representative will be readily secured.

The Department Index lists the nineteen departments in which the present volume is divided, gives the page on which each department starts, and lists the items which appear in every department.

A section is devoted to the Importers of toiletries, with the names of their agents and distributors. The addresses of such distributors will be found in the Manufacturers Index.

Our thanks are extended to all those in the trade who by their prompt compliance with our request for catalogues and price-lists, made possible the present volume.

TWO OF THE PARK & TILFORD QUALITY GROUP

GUERLAIN

Paris

The exquisite creations of Guerlain need no word of introduction to buyers who know the prestige and favor carried by the name of Guerlain among women of refinement. The vogue of Guerlain in America is but the sequence of Guerlain's leadership in Paris.

How To Use The TR Register

In looking for the name and address of the manufacturer or importer of a certain article, consult first the Alphabetical Index on page nine. The Department Index on page four should be used to check up the names of products under the several classifications and not to locate a specific article.

Let us say for example that you are trying to find who makes a perfume named Paris. Turn to the Alphabetical Index and look for Perfumes, which you would find to be listed on page sixteen. The name would be found in proper alphabetical position, together with the name of the importer. If you wished to know the Importer's address you would then turn to the Manufacturers' Index, where such information will be found.

Where the brand name of a product is the same as that of the firm marketing it, as "Pepsodent" which is sold by the Pepsodent Co., the name is not listed in its alphabetical position under the brand but appears under the list of manufacturers at the end of the division in which it belongs. Do not fail to scan the department closely before deciding that the item you seek is not in the Register.

The Alphabetical Index of every class of product contained in the TR Register is planned to make it a simple matter to locate any item or department quickly. Items are double indexed whenever it has been possible so to do. For instance if you wish to locate the makers of hat brushes, look under "H" for Hat or "B" for Brushes. In the first case you will find the exact page on which hat brushes are listed and in the second case the page on which the brush section starts. In either event it takes not over half a minute to get the required information.

Write Toilet Requisites, 225 Fifth Avenue, New York, for any information which interests you and cannot be secured from this Register.

Soap Making Past and Present

It is believed that soap, in some form or other has existed for twenty-five centuries. The history of its origin and development however, with that of its discoverer or inventor is lost in antiquity. The Old Testament tells us that wood ashes and vegetable oils were recognized for their healing qualities, being used in those times as an ointment for diseases of the skin. It is possible that the first soap maker realized that a liquid obtained from ashes and mixed with oil would serve his purpose better, and not unlikely that the cleansing properties of this combination were an accidental discovery.

Historical writers credit the Phoenicians as the first nation to make use of soap as a commercial product. This was in 600 B. C. and we have good reason to believe that their products was made according to an earlier wood-ash, animal fat formula. To the Romans we owe our first knowledge of materials, utensils and processes used in the manufacture of soap. In the ruins of Pompeii have been found furnaces, implements, kettles and moulds, which were in use on the very day when Vesuvius engulfed the city with its lava.

In Rome prior to the decadent days which worked its downfall, cleanliness, both physical and moral held full sway. Even the common soldier of that day was forced to adopt a habit of daily bathing, and the better classes paid profound attention to the subject of cleanliness.

After the fall of the Roman Empire, soap as a common commodity was lost to the world until the early part of the fifteenth century, when it again sprang into fairly general use, this time at Savona, in Italy. It is from Savona that soap takes its name, savon, jabon, etc., being different adoptions of the word "Savona" in different tongues. The History of Savona as applied to soap making teaches us that olive oil was one of the principal ingredients, but fails to tell us what else the soap of that period contained.

Marseilles in France became the center of the soap industry in the sixteenth century, and to the French may be attributed the use of perfumes in soaps and the development of fine toilet soaps. Spain too was an important soap center of that early day, and Castile soap a real luxury.

During the reign of Charles II of England a soap-makers guild was organized in London to compete with the French soap makers, who at that time practically monopolized the markets of the world.

For a quarter of a century the United States has been growing more and more of a soap-making as well as a soap using country, and the manufacturers of this country stand well to the fore, in the quality of their products as well as in the quantities produced.

Soap is now made of tallow, palm oil, cotton-seed oil, lard oil, soap bean oil and olive oil as bases. Roughly speaking the processes of manufacture are boiling, moulding, stamping, milling and packing. Milled soap is the best, and the more times a soap is passed through the milling machines the smoother it will feel and the longer it will last.

Fine soaps today are not only delicately perfumed and attractively colored, but the boxes and wrappers in which they are packed are really artistic creations, combining the skill of the artist, engraver and printer. Statistics indicate that toilet soaps are purchased almost entirely by women and to their aesthetic tendency we naturally owe the high standards which now prevail in the soap industry.

- 2—It gives an UNUSUAL PROFIT. Each sale nets you a profit approximately SEVEN times as great as you gain in selling an ordinary depilatory.
- 3—It has a BIG DEMAND. Women readily recognize its superiority over ordinary depilatories.
- 4—ZIP has come to mean HAIR DESTROYER. Our advertisements appear in fifty national magazines, reaching 22,000,000 women. The majority of women coming into your store are repeatedly reminded about ZIP and its merits. A package on the counter completes the sale.
- 5—ECONOMICAL! At $5.00 it is very inexpensive. It actually destroys the growth. (Not to be confused with merely removing surface hair.)

Cologne Spirits 95%

For the Production of High Grade Perfumes and Toilet Waters

IN the past considerable difficulty has been experienced in securing a pure Cologne Spirit which will give uniform results in the manufacture of perfumes and other toilet requisites.

For this reason, French perfumes are being sold successfully in United States markets more and more. One of the most important factors in producing their exquisite and lasting odors is the superlative quality of the French Cologne Spirit.

We are manufacturing a strictly neutral Cologne Spirit produced under French methods of distillation and rectification by use of French apparatus of the most modern design.

This distillate is used by us in producing tax free special formulas authorized by the United States Government for use in the manufacture of perfumes, toilet waters, barber supplies, dentifrices, mouth washes, tooth pastes, shampoos, liquid soaps and transparent soaps.

We are enabled, by having warehouses in all the principal cities of the United States, to make quick deliveries.

Dainty Perfume Vials

A NEW WAY TO SELL MORE PERFUME

MANY different styles of these artistic perfume vials either plain or beautifully striped in one or more colors are available to American perfumers. The vials come with elongated, leakproof glass stoppers with nickel slip or gilt screw caps. They can also be obtained in aluminum, gilt or nickel cases. Their forms vary to suit every need—flat, square, round and hexagonal with cut glass stoppers. Exclusive rights given for new designs. Prices exceptionally low. Write for samples.

Artistic Real French Gold Perfume Seals

The most artistic real French gold perfume seals produced in Paris with your own text, are offered at the cost of ordinary seals. We create new designs. Our gold seals retain their beauty indefinitely as they do not tarnish, nor are they affected by climatic conditions. Edges will not ruffle. So perfectly die cut, every word is legible.

Give your packages the Parisian Atmosphere and Watch Your Sales Grow.

Let us improve your present seals or duplicate them for less money.
