A. M. Price Of Barneveld Dies: Was A Pioneer

Came To Iowa County From
Prince Edward Isle In 1865;
Funeral Service On Saturday

(Contributed)

Alexander McLeod Price was born in Bedeque, Prince Edward Isle, June 22nd, 1843, and died April 3rd, 1930, after an illness of 8 weeks. Age 86 years, 9 months, and 11 days.

In the year 1865, he came to Hyde's Mills, Wis., with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John M. Williams, where he remained until two years later, when at the death of his father, Richard Price, he returned to Prince Edward Isle.

After settling his father's estate, he returned to Hyde's Mills in the fall of 1868, accompanied by his widowed mother, Mrs. Lucinda Price and five brothers, Wm. U., Solomon R., Lewis J., J. Wesley, and Frederick S. and five of his sisters, Caroline, Emily, Priscilla, Louisa and Ardilla leaving his eldest sister, Margaret A. (Mrs. Wm. Shaw) who with her husband followed eight years later. Arriving here, they spent the first winter in the house now occupied by Evan B. Davis and family, then owned by Wm. Hyde.

The following year A. M. Price purchased the farm near Hyde's Mill, where he made his home for 43 years. The remainder of his life he spent in the village of Barneveld, where he purchased a home in the fall of 1912.

His mother and family made their home with him until her marriage to John M. Williams. On Dec. 1st, 1874, he was united in marriage to Kate A. Hodgson, who preceded him in death 3 years ago last Dec. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary two years previous.

To this union, eight children were born, one son dying in infancy. Those surviving are: Jennie, Mrs. E. B. Davis of Hyde, Moody S. of Dodgeville, Frank of the old homestead, Miss Effie at home, Alice, Mrs. Thos. F. Lewis of Barneveld, Mary, Mrs. Erb Pine of Arena, and Sprague of Eau Claire. He is also survived by 16 grand children, two brothers, Lewis and Frederick of Casper, Wyo., and three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Shaw, age 88 years of Manitou, Colo., Mrs. Caroline Strang, age 85 years of Barneveld, and Mrs. Ardilla Hughes of Manitou, besides a large number of nephews and nieces and other relatives. Mr. Price was a man of strong character and clean habits, though he only had the education of an early pioneer. He had an active mind and was well schooled in the experiences of life. Powerful as he was in prayer, talking with God, face to face, as a man talks to his friends, convincing as were his words of testimony to God's saving Grace. Most mighty of all was the open book of his daily life, not only blameless, but always positively righteous. He was highly respected by all, irrespective of creed or nationality, beloved as a Christian citizen and a man of unquestionable integrity.

Especially was he a friend of little children, always sowing a few seeds of promise in the fertile soil of their minds, far better than a monument of granite or a statue of fame is the memory of a good man. Always genial and kind and his mark of manhood has been left indelibly upon the community where he lived. He was converted under the preaching of J. P. Sparrow during the revival services in Mill Creek, and is the last of 100 souls, who were converted at that time, to pass on to their reward. He united with the Congregational church at Hyde and was a strong pillar of that church ever after.

The funeral service was held Saturday, April 5th. After short services at the home, the body was conveyed to the Hyde church, where the services were conducted by Rev. A. H. Schoenfeld of Mineral Point, who spoke impressively and fittingly from Job 5:26. Interment was made at the Hyde cemetery beside the remains of his wife and infant son, who had gone on before.

Friends who bore his body to the last resting place were: John McCutchin, Albert Michaelson, Hiram Hubbard, Thos. Lynch, D. C. Lewis and Wm. Dawson.

The honorary pall-bearers were S. W. Dawson, James Theobald, John Powers, Franz Clavohn, Frank Sawle, Halver Knudson, D. J. Davis, D. D. Reese, Frank Roach, Ralph Hodgson, Wm. R. McCutchin and James Martell.

MRS. ANNA WATSON

Anna Buckett, fifth of nine children born to Sarah and Samuel Buckett was born Oct. 30, 1867 in the town of Eden, Iowa County, Wis.

She attended the public school, and developed into womanhood in the community. On June 25, 1888 she was united in marriage with James Watson of Livingston. The young people engaged in the occupation of farming, and lived the first years of their new life on a farm, in Clifton township, southwest of Livingston. Later they lived near Mifflin, where Mr. Watson was engaged in the development of mining in that vicinity.

They retired in the village of Livingston, among old friends and neighbors. After the passing of Mr. Watson in December, 1923, Mrs. Watson continued her residence in Livingston until about eight years ago, when she went to Cobb where she could be near her children, and for several years made her home in Cobb with her daughters, Mrs. Georgia Wonn and Mrs. Alice Jenkins.

While in Livingston Mrs. Watson united with the Methodist church, and has been a regular attendant at the various services.

Mrs. Watson was a woman whose simplicity of living, industry, unselfishness, optimism, sympathetic and genial nature, endeared her with bonds that will not break, to her large family circle and a host of friends.

For many years Mrs. Watson has been handicapped by ill health, but was patient and uncomplaining.

Her first interest and joy were in her loved ones, and they, in turn, have ministered to her needs, and lavished upon her every care and comfort to strengthen the failing body. Ms. Watson liked people, and contact with her friends.

The end came peacefully early on Thursday morning January 26, and we know that which is as universal as death must be a benefit for eternity.

"Our greatest inspiration now is this idea of the Resurrection. The idea will never lose its freshness, though the phrases we use to describe it may be worn to shreds.

"When we are very young, death seems a dreadful thing, but life is one long process of getting tired. Midway, we begin to regard it as a grave and sweet companion whose hand we will not shrink from when it is laid upon our arm. There is a birth in death all about us that tempers the sadness of the hour."

Six children survive: Georgia, Mrs. R. E. Wonn of Cobb; Hazel, Mrs. Will Hugill of Livingston; Alice, Mrs. Ernest Jenkins of Cobb; Stewart, of Barneveld; Rush, of Madison; and Grenfall of Cobb with eight loved grandchildren.

For those left to mourn this loved one, her departure is a magnet to attract them to the next world.

ROBERT RAY

Robert Ray, son of Joseph and Elizabeth Ray, was born in the town of Arena, Dec. 29, 1852 and spent his entire life in this community. On February 18, 1878 he was united in marriage with Isabell Harriett Hodgson. To this union were born seven children, Bertrum J. Newell F., Wilber, Robert L., Bessie, Percy and Allie Bell. Mrs. Ray passed away Sept. 11, 1898 and three of the children, Newell, Bessie and Allie Bell have also gone to their heavenly reward.

On Jan. 3, 1900, Mr. Ray was married to Miss Fannie Sawle and to this union were born two children, Harry J., and Joseph S.

Mr. Ray united with the Congregational church in Arena, Sept. 8, 1899 and was a faithful member until death. He passed away at his home April 30, 1932 at the age of 79 years, 4 months and 3 days.

He leaves to mourn his death, his beloved wife, six sons, a number of grandchildren and a host of other relatives and friends. He died as he had lived, an upright man ready to face his reward. Many times during his last illness he told his minister: "I am ready, just waiting for Jesus to come."

Mr. Ray's funeral was conducted at the First Congregational church of Arena, Rev. F. H. Brown in charge, on Tuesday afternoon, May 3, 1932 at 2 o'clock.

There is a reaper whose name is Death

And with his sickle keen,
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath

And the flowers that grow between:
Shall I have naught that is fair?

Said He: Have naught but the bearded grain.

Though the breath of these flowers is sweet to me

I will give them all back again.

He gazed at the flowers with tearful eyes

He kissed their drooping leaves—

It was for the Lord of Paradise

He bound them into sheaves

My Lord hath need of this flower gay

The reaper said and smiled.

Dear token of the earth are they

Where he was once a child.

They all shall bloom in fields of light

Transplanted by my care.

And saints upon their garments which

These sacred blossoms wear,

And the mother gave me tears and pain

The flower she most did love.

She knew she would find them again.

In fields of light above.

GEORGE F. SAWLE

George F. Sawle was born at Portscatho, Cornwall, England, on August 30, 1863, the son of Stephen and Margaret Dunn Rowe Sawle. He remembered as a small boy accompanying his father, who was a sea captain on several voyages to sea-ports of the continent. In 1875 he came with his parents to America, settling on the farm in the township of Arena. Here he resided his entire lifetime, with the exception of a few years in early manhood spent on the Pacific coast.

While devoted to the interests of the farm, he served the interests of community in many ways, officially and personally. He was a member of the Arena Third Congregational church. But beyond these, he served still wider interests; and it was here that he became widely known and did perhaps his best work. Gifted with a singing voice of unusual depth and richness and power, his services were in unceasing demand to the last, whether in special church services and celebrations, at funerals, in public festivities and formal occasions of many kinds.

His peculiar gift won him recognition and led him into wider fields. With a select male quartet under the management of Hugh Cork he toured the state of Pennsylvania in the interests of Sunday school work, financed by John Wanamaker, the merchant prince, and H. J. Heinz of pickle fame—a tour that took them into every county of the state. Later he made a similar tour with a male quartet through the state of Illinois. More extensive than either of these were the tours he made through Wisconsin in the interests of the temperance and prohibition cause. On the first tour the quartet accompanied the well-known campaigner, Michael J. Fanning, as speaker. Subsequently he joined a quartet organized by A. F. Fehlandt, then a pastor, now over twenty years a professor in Ripon college, in a tour of the state in the cause of sobriety and good citizenship. Two years later, in 1906, under the same leadership, he made his longest and most arduous tours in which the quartet in song and address filled over two hundred appointments in Wisconsin and Illinois—part of these in chautauqua programs. Everywhere his solo work and quartet singing were outstanding features.

Although of rugged frame and abounding energy, he suffered for some years with heart impairment; and this, with serious complications, after three months of confinement to his bed, closed his life on May 5, 1935. Remaining unmarried he is survived by four sisters: Margaret (Mrs. S. Lampman), Louise (Mrs. Robt. Ray), Harriet (Mrs. Walter Hodgson) and Gertrude (Mrs. Scott); and by two brothers, William and Frank; also nephews and nieces. The public funeral services were held at the Congregational church in Arena.

Packed to capacity the church was unable to hold the throng that came, many from a distance—to pay their last respects. Floral tributes were profuse and beautiful. Assisting the pastor of the church, the Rev. F. H. Brown, were the Rev. Mr. Bird of the Advent church in Arena and Rev. G. F. Shepherd of Mazomanie. The funeral address, with a personal memorial, was given by Professor A. F. Fehlandt of Ripon college, who spoke out of a long and intimate association and in high appreciation. At the close a poem was read, composed by Rev. John N. Davidson of Madison on April 5 of this year.

Beautiful music was rendered by a mixed quartet consisting of Mrs. E. Cox, Mrs. Lee Roberts, James Slau-son and Archie Ellis. A solo "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," was tenderly sung by Rev. George F. Shepherd, Mrs. F. Brown accompanying at the organ.

The pall bearers were the following nephews, Allen Hodgson, George Hodgson, Harry Ray, Joseph Ray, Richard Sawle and Williams S. Sawle, Jr.

Those who attended from a distance were Rev. and Mrs. August F. Fehlandt, Ripon; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Smith, Milwaukee; Mr. and Mrs. Alona Hurning, Janesville; Mr. and Robert Schumann, Madison; Mrs. Mrs. Joseph Peterson, Dr. Reese, vis, Miss Esther Davis, Hannibal Dodgeville; Mr. and Mrs. Will Da-Hatch, Albert Richardson, Wyoming; Isaac Evans, Miss Evans, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wilkinson, Mrs. Edward Ward, Mrs. J. King, Elmer Hodgson and son Leslie and daughter, Annie, Spring Green.

Mrs. Fred Bennett and son, Charles, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Stuart, Mrs. Aldrich, Mrs. Jane Sutcliffe, Miss Louise McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stuble, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Marquette and Mrs. E. Cox, Black Earth; Mr. and Mrs. T. Lewis and daughter, Barneveld.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jones, Miss Lulu Roberts, Mrs. Mattie Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. A. Kirch, Wm. Smith, Rev. Geo. F. Shepherd, Archie Ellis, Mazomanie; Mrs. Henry Brace and son, Mrs. J. Carswell, Mr. and Mrs. Kessenich, Lone Rock, and many others.

Card of Thanks

Only in sickness and trouble can we realize what true friends mean to us. And for the love, sympathy and your kindness to us which was manifested in so many ways, during the sickness, death, and burial of our brother, George, we can only say from the depths of our hearts—thank you all!—The Sawle Family.

A ROOSEVELT FAMILY

A train between Savanna, Ill., and LaCrosse, Wis., carried 14 persons on one ticket recently. Mrs. Frank Scott of Jewell, Iowa, with her thirteen children occupied five double seats. When the conductor came along for the tickets she presented one, whereupon he inquired if they were all her children, or was it a picnic. Mrs. Scott carried the family Bible in a suit case to prove that they were all hers. She had been married less than 10 years, and had had 19 children—all boys. There are five sets of triplets and two sets of twins. The 13 she had with her were all under 5 and entitled to a ride free.—Ex.

DR. HAMILTON'S DEATH IS LOSS TO COMMUNITY

Prominent Physician and Surgeon Dies in the Early Hours of Friday Morning

One of the greatest losses which Dodgeville and surrounding community has ever sustained among its professional men occurred early Friday morning at St. Joseph's hospital when Dr. Dennett Bartholomew Hamilton, age 59 died following an operation. He was one of the most widely known and successful physicians and surgeons in Southwestern Wisconsin.

Born in Madison, Aug. 30, 1876 he received his early education there and at the age of 14 years moved with his parents to Milwaukee where he attended Marquette academy, graduating at the age of 16. He then attended the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Chicago for one year and completed his education at the Wisconsin College of Physicians and Surgeons in Milwaukee. While there he witnessed the first appendicitis operation performed in Milwaukee.

In June of 1899 Dr. Hamilton located at Ridgeway where he remained for eighteen years and build up a large clientele. It was here that he met and married Miss Mable Brunker and to them were born two sons, Attorney Frank D. Hamilton of this city and Dr. William Hamilton, who is serving his internship at St. Paul, Minn.

In the year 1917 Dr. Hamilton and family moved to Dodgeville where he could give his patients the facilities of St. Joseph's hospital and his reputation as a physician and surgeon have had a great bearing on the success of that institution.

Dr. Hamilton has been a man of very powerful physique and gave of his talents and strength freely, never considering his own welfare. The strain told, however, as human flesh could not stand up to the tasks which he continually accomplished. Of late years Dr. Hamilton submitted to several operations and before fully recovered, returned to administer to others. This fall he has been in great pain most of the time but could not content himself to rest as he should. Up to the week preceding his death he saw many patients daily, gave treatments and performed operations. He had great ability in diagnosing cases and few surgeons were his equal.

Dr. Hamilton was a lover of clean sports and generous in his support of all worthwhile enterprises. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus, Elks and in 1931 was president of the local Kiwanis club. Few men are as keenly missed as Dr. Hamilton for his services to humanity were immeasurable.

ROY HENSTOCK KILLED WHEN TRUCK ROLLS

Ridgeway Man Has Skull Crushed Friday Morning Under Oil Truck

Roy Henstock, age 34, of Ridgeway was fatally injured Friday morning at about 8:30 o'clock on Highway No. 11 about two miles southeast of Ridgeway, when the oil truck he was driving left the road and rolled over a four foot bank. Mr. Henstock and Emery Davis were proprietors of the Puroil filling station and bulk plant at Ridgeway and the driver was on his way south to make a delivery when the accident occurred.

Another car came along side and passed the oil truck, the drivers of both vehicles swinging well over to their respective sides of the road. The oil truck followed the outside edge of the road for five hundred feet and then probably the soft ground on the right side pulled the machine over the bank.

As the heavy machine rolled over it crushed the cab and smashed the driver's skull. He was picked up still breathing and brought to the General hospital by Ben Davis and son Joe. The victim died about two hours later without regaining consciousness.

Funeral services which were largely attended, were held Sunday afternoon from the Grace Methodist church in Ridgeway, with the pastor, Rev. W. J. James officiating, assisted by Rev. W. J. Miller. Burial was in the Ridgeway Eastside cemetery.

Mr. Henstock is survived by his grief stricken mother, Mrs. Margaret Henstock and two brothers, Chester and Ralph, all of Ridgeway.

The family have the sympathies of all in their tragic bereavement.

Funeral services were held Monday morning from St. Joseph's church in this city where hundreds came to pay final tribute. Because of illness, the pastor, Rev. Fr. H. W. McGuire could not be present. Fr. J. Dursch was celebrant of the Mass, with Fr. Thos. Doyle of Highland, deacon; Fr. Michael Morris of Mineral Point, sub-deacon and Fr. Goetzmann of Highland as Master of Ceremonies. Rev. F. L. McDonnell of Ridgeway preached an eloquent sermon, most fitting to the occasion. Burial was in St. Joseph's cemetery.

ROBERT HUGHES' TRAGIC DEATH SHOCKS CITY

Popular Young Business Man Ends Life Sunday Afternoon; Funeral Tues.

One of the most shocking tragedies which the community has known occurred Sunday afternoon when Robert C. Hughes, age 30, popular young business man, ended his life with a .38 caliber rifle in the rear room of the Roach & Hughes undertaking parlors. And to make the situation even worse the body was discovered by the bereaved wife who surmised that something was wrong.

Last winter Mr. Hughes was troubled with an infection in his head which caused great suffering. Three weeks ago Tuesday evening his stepfather, John W. Hughes passed away and two days later the farm buildings on the deceased's farm were wiped out by fire. Last week Robert C. Hughes and his partner Leslie Roach were negotiating a dissolution of partnership in the furniture and undertaking business and the details worried Mr. Hughes considerably. For several days he was nervous and ill which alarmed Mrs. Hughes. When he went to the store Sunday afternoon and did not answer her calls over the phone, she investigated, accompanied by a neighbor, Mrs. Sen King, only to discover the horrible tragedy.

Robert C. Hughes was reared in Dodgeville and graduated from the local high school. At the age of 22 years he entered the furniture and undertaking business in partnership with Mr. Roach. He was popular and enjoyed a wide circle of friends. He had a beautiful bass voice and sang often in the Methodist choir where he took an interest in church work. He was a trustee of the church and member of the Masonic order. His home life was ideal and he took great pride in his four-year-old son Donald. Mr. Hughes was a liberal provider.

Mr. Hughes is survived by his bereaved wife; son Donald; his mother, Mrs. John W. Hughes; one brother and one sister, Wm. C. Hughes and Mrs. Frank Potterton of Milwaukee.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon from the home with his pastor, Rev. A. R. Klein officiating. Burial was in East Side cemetery. A profusion of beautiful flowers symbolized the esteem in which he was held.

How gladly his scores of friends would have aided and comforted him if they had been aware of the mental struggle he was going through. His bereaved family have the deep sympathy of the entire community.

THE ABOVE PICTURE, taken near St. Joseph's hospital in this city, gives an idea of the condition of the roads in Iowa County. The heavy caterpillar tractor plows batter their way through the huge drifts and elevate the snow out and up to unbelievable height. If storms continue, however, these cuts will fill with snow which the plows can burrow through but not remove as the banks along the side are so high that the snow will roll back behind the tractors, filling the road again.

MOTHERS WERE ALL AGE TWENTY WHEN BABES BORN

(Arena Corr.)

A four generation picture was taken recently of Mrs. Benjamin Hodgson and descendants which was of more than ordinary interest. Mrs. Hodgson's daughter, now Mrs. Ruth Whitt, was born when her mother was twenty years of age. Mrs. Whitt's daughter, Mrs. Edna Davis of Chicago, was born when her mother was 20. The fourth generation, Ruth Davis, also arrived when her mother was 20 years old.

WOMAN THROWS HOUSEHOLD GOODS FROM BLAZING HOME

(Arena Corr.)

Fire, which started on the roof of what is known as the Elmer Hodgson farm in old Helena, completely destroyed the structure Saturday afternoon, together with nearly all of the household effects. Two families, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dennis and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pine, occupied the house. The flames had gained such headway when discovered that it was impossible to check them.

Mr. Dennis and Mrs. Pine were away at the time, but Mrs. Pine broke out an upstairs window and threw articles out onto the snow until falling embers caused her to flee. The home was partly covered by insurance.

DR. T. A. HAGERUP TALKS TO PARENTS IN FAR-OFF NORWAY

Dr. T. A. Hagerup of this city enjoyed the experience Sunday morning at 7:30 o'clock of talking by telephone to his parents in Aalesund, Norway. Although the fee for such a long distance call was $28, the circumstances warranted the expense. On the previous day, August 1 his wife had presented him with a son who is the first grandchild on either side of the family. The Doctor talked to both of his parents for nine minutes and could hear them distinctly despite the 3800 miles of land and water which separated them. There was a difference of seven hours in time between the two places, it being 2:30 p. m. in Norway when the call was made.

JONES BROS'. FARM FIRE IS BAD HOLOCAUST

Herd of Purebred Shorthorns, Horses, Barns and Feed Wiped Out

'One of the most devastating farm fires recorded in this section for many years occurred at the Jones Brothers' farm in Garrison Grove, 4 miles southeast of this city Thursday night. The entire herd of mature purebred Shorthorn cattle and five head of horses perished in the flames. The cattle barn 34x98, the adjoining horse barn 24x36 and a leanto 70x28 were destroyed.

The fire, which must have broken out shortly after ten o'clock was first seen by the John Holland family a quarter of a mile away. They were awakened by the light from the flames shining in their bedroom windows. The attempt to call the Jones family by telephone failed and as quickly as possible members of the Holland family rushed to aid if possible. When they arrived Owen Jones and nephew Everett were just coming from the house.

The main barn was by this time a mass of flames and it was too late to release the stanchioned cattle which were bellowing pitifully. The horse barn door was thrown open and one mare and colt ran out. The flames were so close that the other horses could not be released.

Some of the youngest calves died in the main barn with their mothers, but the south end was partitioned off for calves from two weeks old and older. A door was thrown open and they ran from the flames. An adjoining leanto on the east contained over thirty head of yearlings and they, too, rushed pell-mell for safety when a large door was rolled back. The flames, however, had driven them to one corner and two were badly scorched.

The Jones Bros. herd of Shorthorns had been built up over long years and all the mature cattle were wiped out. Besides the 27 cows, the purebred herd sire and 3 young calves were burned. Included in the horses was a purebred Percheron stallion valued at nearly $1,000.

The barn contained a large quantity of hay, fifty or more tons, and when this mass dropped into the basement it made such a heat that the carcasses of the cattle were pretty well consumed. A new grain drill, rotary hoe and corn planter were also destroyed.

Over the horsebarn was the granary with two thousand bushels of grain which was destroyed. Four sets of harness were kept in the building. A corner crib and hog house farther up the hill caught fire several times but with the help of neighbors were saved.

COBB SCHOOL IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Flames Early Saturday Morning
Quickly Devour Frame Structure
Built Fifty-five Years Ago

(Cobb Corr.)

A fire early Saturday morning completely destroyed the Cobb public school together with all its contents. The flames were discovered at 5 a. m. and had made such headway that nothing could be done to save the structure and all efforts were turned toward saving nearby buildings.

The school was erected in 1882 and has stoically withstood the passage of time. Although the structure would not accede to modern architecture, the equipment in the various departments was adequate as materials have been added from year to year.

Besides housing the grade and high schools the building also allotted space to the public library which was under the supervision of the Woman's club. Insurance was carried on the building and contents. Classes will be held in the churches and village hall until a new school is erected.

Feb 1937

Arena — Traffic was stopped on highway 14, about a mile east of here, from late Saturday night till last night when the waters of Mounds and Black Earth creeks rose to unprecedented heights and inundated the highway for a quarter of a mile in five feet of water.

Highway Patrolman Bertyn Davis and George Nelson, both of Arena, were marooned in a truck all Saturday night when the machine stalled on the flooded highway where they had been towing stalled cars through. The men were forced to sit in their stalled machine for seven hours before they were finally rescued Sunday morning by R. L. Southard, rural mail carrier, who took them to safety with a boat.

The men were numb and cold from exposure but suffered no ill effects today. Traffic was continuing along the highway today as the waters receded.

Friday morning the Jones family faced the cold fact that their herd of producing cattle was wiped out together with all of the feed on the place with the exception of some corn. Their seed grain and alfalfa seed were consumed and they were without a harness for the one horse remaining. A dozen motherless calves without shelter of any kind, were blating in the yard for milk which had to be obtained from neighbors' herds. The loss is approximately $15,000 with some insurance.

BLIZZARD ON HEELS OF WINTER FLOODS

Heavy Rain Saturday Sends Torrents
Down Every Valley; Cold and Snow
Sunday Block Roads

Taken as a whole the weather this winter has been favorable, with few storms and not much severe cold. Since New Year's, however, the ground has been encased with a heavy coating of ice, making walking and motoring precarious. A heavy rainfall last Saturday, accompanied by thunder and lightning in the evening, ran off the ice sheet like a tin roof and flooded every valley. The Illinois Central trains have since been unable to reach this city because of ice on the roadbed.

Our Arena correspondent reports that Patrolmen Bertyn Davis and George Mabbott of that village and Harold Vivian of this city, were marooned Saturday night on Highway No. 14 east of Arena. They were using an F. W. D. truck to pull motorists through the flood from Mounds Creek which crosses the highway there.

Finally the truck itself became stalled and as the water arose to a depth of 59 inches over the concrete highway the men sat for seven hours with feet propped up against the windshield. In the morning a boat was brought from Arena, manned by R. L. Southard and the three cold and numb from exposure, were rescued from their uncomfortable position.

Following the flood, came severe cold and a blizzard on Sunday which blocked highways until snow plows could open them. The ice frozen on many low places also made traffic impossible.

AUTOMOBILES KILLING DEER IN IOWA COUNTY

(Arena Corr.)

It is unlawful to hunt deer in Iowa county at all times and yet the animals are slaughtered with regular frequency. Their death is not caused willfully, however, but is self inflicted as they jump in front of motor cars. A beautiful doe was found dead Saturday morning by Patrolman Bertyn Davis on Highway 14 near the Three Gables filling station. The conservation commission at Madison secured the carcass. This is the fifth deer killed within a short time by cars within three miles of Arena.

FLOOD HORRORS AT LOUISVILLE TOLD IN LETTER

C. A. Rubado, City Supt. of Schools Pens Vivid Picture of Conditions There

The following letter, from C. A. Rubado, a former Highland boy and now superintendent of city schools at Louisville, Ky., to his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Powell, is so interesting that they have kindly passed it on to Chronicle readers:

After the flood era

Dear Ones:

It is extremely difficult to attempt to give you any idea of the terrible time we have gone through because it all seems like a bad nightmare now and it is like recalling a dream. All the water has gone and there is actually dust in the air. Dust that must be laden with disease germs and filth of all kinds. But strange to say there has been no increase of disease to speak of. To date there has not been one additional case of typhoid. But 200,000 people have been inoculated against it and it seems to have worked. Then, too, our water supply has been fine and we can now drink out of the tap with safety but with a distinct odor and taste of chlorine.

This afternoon is the first time I have really had to see anything of the flood and we drove about the city and across the bridge to Jeffersonville. They would not let us into the town there. It is still under martial law and the soldiers stop all who do not have a military pass. That town was hit harder than this city because it was on the current side of the river and the water washed heavily there. We saw houses washed upside down and garages all over the streets in New Albany. Along the river near Shawnee park there were buildings washed and deposited along the bank of the river. And remember that the bank of the river was sometimes four or five miles from its present bank.

Broadway was a long river and boats plied along its full length of five or six miles. The Federal building that is so new and beautiful was a boat station during the worst time. I went into the building Wednesday and it was like a tomb. The walls were running water and the floor was full of ooze, slimy and foul.

There were no lights and no heat. It was the foulest, dankest place you can imagine. The Brown hotel still has the basement full of water. They pumped sand for a time and were afraid that they would undermine the foundation. The Heyburn building had no lights, elevator or heat until yesterday. The Brown hotel is still cold.

You drive over about half of the city now and in every yard is a pile of discarded furniture. Where the water got in the houses it has ruined the plaster and the floors and all the furniture. There is no way to save any of it so the owners are just piling it in the yard and having it hauled away. The loss will run into millions and there is no way to estimate it. Of course, the sentimental value of things can never be replaced besides. The city is full of automobiles that have been under water and they must all be taken apart and every part cleaned and the upholstery replaced. If it is not a new car the expense is too much to undertake so some are running the cars and just hoping they will run another week or month. They are ruined.

In the flood area there is not a store of any kind that has not been looted of its contents. Some of the food stores were emptied by order of the mayor and the food used for refugees. But others took advantage of the time and looted every store, liquor store, drug store, butcher shop, clothing store. Now they are all boarded up and hundreds of the little stores will not reopen for they represented all the owners had in the world and if they are not reimbursed they are ruined.

It is a terrible thing to have the river creep up on you and to realize that there is nothing to stop its rise and that perhaps when you wake up from sleep there will be water in your own home. Of course, we live in a high part of the town but every hour the water crept higher and higher and we were only twenty feet above the water when it was near its crest. It was still raining and nothing to tell when it would stop. The water came into our basement when the power was shut off and threatened to put out the fire. I bailed for a long time and kept the fire going. Marie bailed the next day and then I sent four of the refugees over at twenty-five cents an hour and they got it down about two inches. Then the next day a pump came along and got the water out. So we had fire all the time. And Marie had boiled about ten gallons of water when the warning first came. We also filled two wash tubs, the washing machine and the bath tub.

Then when the water was turned off we had to carry water from the basement to the bathroom in order to flush it. That was flood water for we did not dare use the clean water. Then we had no light for a week or more and had to use candles. I did manage to get one flashlight just before the bad part came but I had to pay double to get it. We had plenty to eat and the gas stayed with us here all through so we could cook anything. The people in the west end are still without gas or electricity and most of them are without heat for they cannot start their furnaces. Just last night the electricity came on for the business district. But most of the business houses cannot use it because their own wiring and motors are not ready to use. The papers say that that business is as usual but they are kidding no one but outsiders. It will be weeks before business is over its paralysis.

We expected to start 31 schools tomorrow but after a conference with the business manager yesterday we decided not to open any for another week. It is slow business cleaning up and we do not want to take any chances. We insist that the buildings are clean and safe.

During the excitement I had charge of one of the Junior high schools which was a place of refuge for colored people. We had twelve hundred there for some time. The first night we had six hundred and only 250 blankets. There were no cots at all except the seven which were in the school and we used them for the sick. Then we kept getting in more blankets and quilts until every one had at least two. There were no cots in the building until two days before we evacuated the building. But we had plenty of food and they ate better than they had ever eaten in their lives, I believe. They did not want to leave.

The first shift I put in was for 28 hours. Then I came home for four hours and back on the job for another 28 hours. Then four more at home and back for another twenty-eight. Marie went back with me and worked all night. She will tell you that she was diaper manager for a while. We had twenty-nine babies at that time. Things eased up after that and I got down to twelve to fourteen hours a day because Coslow relieved me and it was necessary for just one of us to be there after we got it organized.

We had a fine organization. Office manager, medical head, sanitary head, personnel director, recreation manager, school, cleaning detail, hall duty, room charge. And every one in charge of a department had white helpers and then had the colored refugees organized to help. If any of them got lazy or cantankerous we sent them away with the first load out of town. They did not want to go so we had no trouble. I forgot that there was a kitchen detail under two very capable women and a man. They cooked for twelve hundred and gave them fine food. We served only two meals a day. Breakfast consisted of oatmeal and milk, sausage (bologna) bread and coffee for the adults and milk for the children. Only one day of the whole time did we fail to have milk and that day we had enough for all the very small children. The other meal was the main meal and we varied it as much as we could. We had an unlimited supply of grapefruit and they could have as much of it as they wished. Then we always had fresh meat and potatoes and two vegetables when we had them. But always one. Then there was bread so that they had all of that they wanted. And again coffee.

So many pitiful tales come to us who work with the refugees that we get somewhat calloused. But they are frightful. People herded in cattle cars and taking 12 hours to get out of the waters. People marooned on roofs or on the second floors of their houses watching the water creep up on them and not knowing if a boat would come in time. Some marooned and hungry and thirsty for several days. Some refusing to get out of their homes and then begging to be taken. The radio certainly did a noble piece of work and when the electric current went off while it was still repeating calls for aid it was terrible. But cars with radios came to the rescue and kept in touch with the distress calls and directed the work. Men of all classes performed miracles of labor and the loss of life was insignificant in view of the size of the disaster. Men I know worked for fifty hours at a stretch and women, too, worked as valiantly. There was no thought of self through it all and no class consciousness. No color lines were recognized. Some of the most heroic work was done by the colored and even the girls in the red light area have been commended for their unselfish labor in the stricken down town area.

With it all there did appear some instances of selfishness and greed. But in the light of the tremendous number involved I believe there was not enough to worry about.

We had in our school two babies without father or mother. The mother of one had died and the mother of the other just had not put in an appearance. We have not yet found the mother of that one, but the father of the one whose mother died has claimed that one.

Through it all the refugees were courageous and kept a stiff upper lip. There was no complaint that we had no cots for them and that they had to sleep fifty in a room. Two of the women were going through the hall one day when one said: "See that, that is just like I have in my home." The other said: "Lawdy, honey, you ain't got no home." And then they both laughed as if at a good joke on some one else. They tell the story of the woman who stood on her front step while the boat was coming for her and the water ran five feet deep in the street, wanting to register a complaint to the mayor because her sewer had gotten backed up again. Then there is the one about sewage disposal. In one of the refugee places one of the women said that they had plenty of food but too much cheese. She said she guessed they fed them that cheese so that there would not be so much danger from sewage disposal. Perhaps she is right for there was a lot of trouble about that.

In some of the large apartment buildings where they could not use the toilets they used a paper and threw it out of the window into the rushing water. When registering refugees one night Marie asked one colored woman where she slept last night and she said: "I'll have you know that when I sleeps I sleeps alone."

What will happen to our schools and how long can we run them this year? I have no guess. We are dependent on the collection of taxes and the rate has already been set. Half of Louisville cannot pay any taxes this year. The answer is that we can run only a month or two unless some way can be found to get money from some other source. They can get money to rehabilitate the homes and the losses that are material but there seems to be no way to get money to pay salaries to the teachers. The children are scattered and some of the schools will not be fit to reopen this year. We are looking for places for them to meet outside the schoolhouses in some sections. All we can do is to keep a stiff upper lip and think of the teachers and others who have lost all they own in the flood and then do the best we can. The Lord has been good to us. We have no complaint.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodell who have been with us through it all have lost all in the downstairs and not a complaint has passed their lips. They are wonderful folks. Love to all,
Clarence

ABOUT two and one half miles east of Arena, state trunk highway 14 crosses a creek bottom. The road is low at this place and when weather conditions are such as they were last Saturday, the creek overflows in the highway and a truck must take cars through the water, one at a time.

Saturday night a couple from Arena (whose names Operator 999 forgot to include in his report) who had spent the day in Madison and were returning home and found a line of cars waiting their turns to be taken across the water. After the Arena couple had waited a full hour, and it was their time to be taken across next, the patrolman who was refereeing at the creek-crossing ordeal, came to their car and said, "Everyone keep good natured — the boys have been working hard all afternoon and they have to go home for supper now. They'll get back as soon as they can."

The Arena couple waited another two hours, then, with nothing to do except listen to the radio... and, while they didn't have even a stick of gum to divide and keep their hunger at bay, practically every program they turned on advertised something good to eat or drink.

Finally "the boys" came back with the truck, however, the Arena couple drove their car up on it, and, just as the truck started to move the radio began to play, "Home Sweet Home."

DRIVER BURNED AS GAS TRUCK BLAZES

Barneveld Citizens Alarmed Monday As Explosion of Nearby Tanks Is Feared; Neighboring Villages Aid

(Barneveld Corr.)

A disastrous blaze was narrowly averted in Barneveld Monday morning when flames broke out at the Co-op bulk plant. Arthur Weyerman had just finished loading his tank truck when fire of unknown origin broke out. With great presence of mind Mr. Weyerman closed the valve on the large bulk tank and with his clothing in flames tried to drive the blazing truck from the danger zone, but was overcome before he could get away. He was badly burned about the head, neck, hands and feet and was rushed to St. Joseph's hospital in Dodgeville. He is very seriously burned but his condition is favorable.

The fire destroyed the oil pump house and most of the truck. For a time it was thought that the large tanks had ignited which with the nearby Standard Oil tanks would have endangered the village. Residents in the near vicinity left their homes for a safer neighborhood.

The Mount Horeb and Ridgeway fire departments were called and responded promptly. Members of the fire companies and local citizens succeeded in extinguishing the flames with a loss of approximately $1,000 to the Co-op company. It is hoped that Mr. Weyerman will recover.

GRASSHOPPERS ARE MENACING COUNTY

Barrels Of Poison Bait Are Being Distributed In Arena Vicinity; Other Outbreaks Should Be Reported

Iowa county, like other communities has had its drouths and grub worm damage in the past, but now a new pest is menacing growing crops. Grasshoppers by the million are reported in the vicinity of Arena. In some of the northern counties they did great damage last year, but as yet we have been little affected here. The hoppers are now in the tiny stage but as they grow they also develop immense appetites.

Poison bait is used to control these insects and farmers in that locality may obtain free poison by calling on Ivan G. Ley on Mondays and Wednesdays. This bait is furnished by the state department of agriculture.

In the meantime if farmers in other localities find the hoppers in large numbers they should notify the county agent at the courthouse and also call for poison bait.

W. C. T. U. HOLDS ANNUAL CONVENTION, ARENA, AUG. 4

(Contributed)

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union with Mrs. T. M. Strong, president, held its 30th annual convention in Arena on Wednesday, August 4. Rev. W. W. Moore of Arena conducted the morning devotions and made some very fitting remarks.

Business matters were taken up during the forenoon and the same officers were elected with the exception of Effie Price, who was elected in place of Mrs. Edith Salzman as treasurer. During the forenoon Rev. Hainer of Barneveld spoke of the alarming rate of increase in Wisconsin of the growth of the plant from which the drug, marijuana, is made. This drug is used in cigarets and its effects are very harmful. Mr. Hainer believes the W. C. T. U. should do all in its power to warn against the use of this drug.

During the afternoon Mrs. Lillian Ellis gave a very fine report of work done in the county. She stated that health books which are being adopted in the schools contain much material on the effects of alcohol. She also said that a book entitled "Alcohol and the Habit Forming Drugs" has been adopted as a basic book for every school in North Carolina. Mrs. Ellis had with her some of the essays and poems written the past year.

The walls of the community building were decorated with very fine posters which the Barneveld people brought with them as a sample of the work that the children had done.

Rev. D. H. Fleet, in his splendid address, gave an outline of the temperance movement up to the present time. He mentioned reasons for the present conditions and said that the liquor people are planning to popularize liquor drinking in much the same way that cigaret smoking has been popularized.

During the day there was singing by the audience and solos by Miss Rachel Bennett and Mrs. Daisy Southard. A ladies' quartet comprised of Mrs. Andrew Peterson, Mrs. Ann Davis, Mrs. Margaret Kirschbaum and Mrs. D. Baumgartner from Barneveld also favored the audience with a number. At noon the ladies of the Advent Christian church furnished an excellent dinner.

PRINCE EDWARD

LONDON—(U.P.)—The text of Edward's farewell broadcast to the empire:

At long last, I am able to say a few words of my own. I have never wanted to withhold anything. But until now, it has not been constitutionally possible for me to speak.

A few hours ago, I discharged my last duty as king and emperor, and now that I have been succeeded by my brother, the Duke of York, my first words must be to declare allegiance to him. This I do with all my heart.

You all know the reasons which impelled me to renounce the throne. But I want you to understand that in making up my mind, I did not forget the country or empire which as Prince of Wales and lately as king, I have for 25 years tried to serve.

But you must believe me when I tell you that I have found it impossible to carry the heavy burden of responsibility and to discharge my duties as king as I would wish to do without the help and support of the woman I love. And I want you to know that the decision I have made has been mine and mine alone.

This was a thing I had to judge entirely for myself. The other person most nearly concerned has tried up to the last to persuade me to take a different course. I made this decision, the most serious of my life, only upon the single thought of what would in the end be the best for all.

This decision has been made less difficult for me by the sure knowledge that my brother, with his long training in the public affairs of this country, and with his fine qualities, will be able to take my place without interruption or injury to the life and progress of the empire. And he has one matchless blessing, enjoyed by so many of you and not bestowed on me, a happy home with his wife and children.

During these hard days, I have been comforted by her majesty, my mother, and my family. The ministers of the crown and in particular, Mr. Baldwin, the prime minister, have always treated me with all consideration. There has never been any constitutional difference between me and them or between me and parliament. Bred in the constitutional tradition of my father, I should never have allowed any such issues to arise.

Ever since I was Prince of Wales, and later on when I occupied the throne, I have been treated with the greatest kindness by all classes of the people, wherever I have lived or journeyed throughout the empire. For that I am very grateful.

I now quit altogether public affairs, and I lay down my burden. It may be some time before I return to my native land, but I shall always follow the fortunes of the British race and empire with profound interest and if at any time in the future I can be of service to his majesty in a private station, I shall not fail.

And now, we all have a new king. I wish him and you, his people, happiness and prosperity with all my heart. God bless you all! God save the king!

Mrs. Elizabeth Richardson, age 86, died last Thursday at the home of her son Ross in Minneapolis. She is survived by five children, Charles L., of Wyoming Valley; Albert L., Mrs. John R. Perkins and Mrs. Grace McIntosh of Dodgeville and Ross of Minneapolis. There are also nineteen grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. She had resided in the towns of Arena, Ridgeway and Wyoming, also in this city.

The remains were brought to the Albert Richardson home in Pleasant Valley from where funeral services were held Saturday to the Pleasant Valley church with Rev. A. H. Schoenfeld of Lake Mills and Rev. Ezra Meckel officiating. Burial was in the Wyoming cemetery.

At the Frank Price home, the eldest daughter, Miss Ruth, was the official hostess. She's an attractive and most charming young lady and not at all affected. After teaching successfully for two and one-half years, she took a short course at the Moody Bible Institute. Just what her reasons are one can only guess but June month may bring the answer.

Around the hill to the left, old Hyde's Mill was reached, the home of Ted Sawle and family. Mr. Sawle has purchased a plot of excellent timber and now is engaged in the lumbering business. The old mill has been fixed up of late years and is in good working condition furnishing electric power for the house.

The Hyde cheese factory is one of the best in the county and the maker, J. R. Dischler knows how to keep it running right. The building itself is almost hidden by a huge pile of wood in readiness for the boiler. With his assistant, Raphael Sweeney, Mr. Dischler was hauling truck loads of shale to floor the garage and make solid roads around the factory.

Gaius Davis and brother Quentin, were busy getting that rich valley land ready for corn. The former's wife just came out in the field with an afternoon lunch. The scribe wondered if it was a "shakedown" for a new dress but Mr. Davis assured him that he trained her that way when she was young. Evan B. Davis and Sons are well known for their Poland China hogs and also happen to be of the cleaner and better type of citizens. Gaius and wife live with the elder Mr. and Mrs. Davis in the large farm house and Quentin and family in another house a few rods down the road.

A few rods farther south is another comfortable home, that of Mrs. Ed Torphy whose son-in-law, Hugh Hogan, runs the farm. They, too, have that beautiful valley land, adjoining the mill which raises the best possible corn.

Under the branches of a huge maple tree stands the Hyde store, one of the oldest country stores in the county. Its quaint high counters and show cases date back many years and it also has the proverbial round stove. Owned by Harris & Company it serves the needs of the community and farmers find it very convenient when they make daily trips to the cheese factory. Among its former owners were the late Frank Roberts and Alfred Lee of Dodgeville. Miss Leona Olson, a cousin of the latter, has been in charge of the store for more than thirty years. She lives just south of the store with her aunts, Ida and Annie Johnson who operate the telephone central. The latter are among the pioneer settlers of Hyde and know its history. With its cluster of farm homes, cheese factory, store, mill and filling station, Hyde is a substantial little community and delightfully attractive in summer because of its trees shading the road.

Pick-Ups

For his day's rambles the Pick-Up-Man chose that rolling country north of Ridgeway. From early spring until late fall the view is enchanting and ever changing. Oak trees were just putting forth their leaves which gave the countryside a greyish green shade and here and there apple and plum in full bloom stood out in all their glory.

At the Dug-Way cheese factory a turn to the east was made on that road which was little more than a trail a few years ago, but now a well surfaced pike. C. L. Schuelke is putting in his 10th year at the factory and is a fixture in the neighborhood. Last year the farmer owners saw fit to tear down the old building and erected a fine tile structure in its place. It is a worth while improvement. The lily pond in the yard was already in use with large gold fish, which had been sheltered in the house all winter, swimming lazily about. As a side line Mr. Schuelke raises turkeys and last year turned out 54 fine birds, not losing a single one from the time he secured them from the hatchery.

Down through Hyde, where calls were made a few weeks ago, a turn was made up that side road below the Evan B. Davis farm. A road was laid out here many years ago but was practically unused. Recently it has been graded and even surfaced. It leads up a narrow dark valley, with no fences on either side. Sweet clover sweeps the car on either side and the Pick-Up-Man slowed down to avoid running over a fat woodchuck which scurried disgustedly for cover. On top of the ridge the road winds in rolling country among gnarled oak trees.

CHARLES A. LADD

DODGEVILLE—Charles A. Ladd, candidate for superintendent of schools of Iowa county, is stressing in his campaign for election April 6 that he was born and spent all his life in Iowa county.

Born in the town of Highland, he was graduated from the Union Valley rural school, the Dodgeville high school, and the state teachers' college at Platteville. He has attended several summer school sessions at the Milwaukee State Teachers' college and three summer sessions at the University of Wisconsin.

At 82, Deaf Woman Is Accomplished Pianist

(State Journal News Service)
DODGEVILLE — Music hath charms. Playing on the piano has given enjoyment for 75 years to Mrs. Ida Elizabeth Wright Ruggles, well known Dodgeville resident. Now at the age of 82 she still plays—and plays well. A piano was given her on her seventh birthday, and she started taking lessons. She was the first music teacher in Iowa county.

Even though a thickening of her eardrums began in 1915 and she is now partially deaf, she still hears musical vibrations and still plays. She is active in every way, doing her own washing, cooking and cleaning her room.

Mrs. Ruggles was born in Prairie du Sac Dec. 1926, 1854. She attended school in Prairie du Sac, then in Baraboo, and Nov. 5, 1873, was married to William Gardner Ruggles and settled on a farm near Ridgeway in Iowa county.

For 30 years she taught music—for 50 cents an hour to 30 or 40 pupils weekly. She gave occasional public performances, the last of which was two years ago here at a program to raise money for the high school band. Now she occasionally plays for friends and when alone loves to play for her own satisfaction. She stopped teaching music in 1915.

When her husband died she moved to Dodgeville to stay with her daughter, Mrs. Moody Price. Her other child, William Guy Ruggles lives in the town of Ridgeway.

MRS. IDA RUGGLES

The orientals have a pretty story accounting for the pearl. A drop of water fell one day from a cloud into the sea. Ashamed and confused at finding itself in such an immensity of water, the drop of water exclaimed: "What am I in comparison with this great ocean!" Just then, a pearl oyster, rising to the sea, opening its shell to receive the rain, received the drop in its bosom, and the drop of rain became a magnificent pearl — thus was its humility the cause of its elevation.

DEMONSTRATES OIL BURNER FORGETS TO SHUT IT OFF

(Arena Corr.)

Ralph Hodgson had an exciting experience at his home on Friday while demonstrating an oil burner to a neighbor. During the summer months, while the furnace is not in use, the register is covered by the dining room rug. Talking with the neighbor Mr. Hodgson turned the burner on and forgot to switch it off. Later he sat down in the kitchen to read.

In a few minutes he heard a crackling sound and soon smoke was pouring from under the dining room door. He found the rug over the register ablaze and the walls blackened by smoke. Opening the front door Mr. Hodgson quenched the flames unassisted, and then sat down to think up a good excuse for the accident.

Mt. Horeb Blind Man Runs Filling Station

'BILL' MURPHY

(State Journal News Service)
MT. HOREB—"Bill" Murphy, for the past 12 years owner and operator of a gasoline station at the corner of Springdale and Eighth st., is blind.

For 27 years since he ran into a locust tree while playing with schoolmates in the school yard "Bill" hasn't been able to see. A thorn, piercing one eye ball, caused him to lose sight in both eyes.

But "Bill" is well able to take care of his filling station business. He can put gas in a car, check the oil, fill tires, and even clean the windshield. In the 12 years he has operated the station only one person has tried to beat him out of a penny, and that person made good later.

Everyone in Mt. Horeb knows "Bill" and "Bill" recognizes them by their voices. All they have to say is "Hello, Bill," and he knows who they are. He can tell the make of car by the the sound of the motor, the position and size of the gasoline tank cap.

Bill loves to fish. He owns his own motorboat and a trailer to take it along and can always find one of his many, many friends to drive his car and operate his boat for him.

Before he lost his sight, Bill loved to play baseball. Now, of course, he can't watch ball games any more.

"That's not so bad," he said, "you see, I am a radio ball fan and I really get a kick out of listening to a good ball game."

Bill is married, has two children. An active member of the Mt. Horeb chamber of commerce, he is one of the city's best boosters. His bull dog is his constant companion.

Mt. Horeb by scarlet fever, listen when his musicians played.

Mrs. Pine had been in rather poor health for some months, living at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Funk, but just after Christmas she suffered a paralytic stroke. The daughter, Mrs. Funk caring for her mother constantly in tender devotion, assisted by Mr. Funk and others of the family. Two weeks ago, March 30, the mother suffered another stroke, bringing complete helplessness and a gradual weakening till the time of death.

We would bespeak for the community of their deep sympathy in this hour to Mrs. Funk and the family in their bereavement after these many, long weeks of constant and tender ministrations for their mother.

25,000 Jam Stadium to Hear Marine Band

By Arnold Serwer

Armed with thin piping flutes, silver toned cornets, doleful tubas, brassy voiced trombones, snare drums that emitted volleys of musketry, and growling bass drums, the U. S. Marine band landed at Camp Randall stadium Thursday night and soon had a musical situation, involving a huge crowd of 25,000, well in hand.

Before the first selection was over, the band had made musical prisoners of nearly the whole 25,000. A varied program that ranged from Tchaikowsky to "The Merry-Go-Round Broke Down", played spiritedly and imaginatively, lowered the throng's sales resistance to the point where the band could have won hearty applause with anything they might have chosen to play, including early Norse chants or "Yes, We Have No Bananas".

Good as Three Goals

There was "On Wisconsin", which the band played under Capt. Taylor Branson's direction in a manner that before a Homecoming game would have been as good as three extra touchdowns. There was the Marine band's "The Halls of Montezuma," "The American Patrol", and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic", which brought a fierce martial glint into the eye of everyone from the G. A. R. members in the front rows before the band platform to the mildest old ladies. After those marches, if Capt. Branson and his boys had whipped fifes out of their pockets, played "Yankee Doodle," and marched out of the stadium, the whole crowd of 25,000 would have gotten up and marched right out after them to the recruiting station.

So moved by the martial music was one aged veteran, that he leaped to his feet in the middle of one number, and to the delighted applause of the crowd shuffled his feet in a sprightly jig. The jig interrupted the music, which began again when he sat down once more to receive the jovial compliments of his fellow veterans.

Robert De Hart, cornet soloist, Kenneth Douse, saxophone soloist, Robert Isele, trombone soloist, and Charles Owen, xylophone soloist, had to play two and three encores apiece to quiet the voracious throng. Douse played "Cynthia", a composition of his own. Playing Strauss' "Perpetual Motion". Xylophonist Owen had everybody thinking "about little elves with bells on, dancing around" (as one listener put it, looking sheepish about the thought afterwards).

One number played by Owens, full of Christmas spirit with sleigh bell accompaniment and a marine standing at the rear of the platform shaking a tube from time to time to produce the effect of a whip cracking out over the heads of reindeer, was so realistic that when it ended the writer stole a quick glance into his shoes to see if they were full of snow.

Here and there in the huge crowd of attentive and appreciative listeners were a few renegades who chattered through the band's best offerings in spite of sour glances from people nearby who wanted to hear the band, and not the intimate details of some stranger's family life.

A group of people around the writer were made unwilling eavesdroppers by two elderly ladies who spoke right through the band's performance, except that the band stopped for intermission while the only thing the ladies stopped for was to draw a quick breath. The charming thing about their conversation was the irrelevance of one remark to another.

"Ain't it lovely music", one would say.

"I ain't heard from Will lately," the other replied.

"Look over there, there's the capitol," chirped the first one.

The band played "Little Old Lady."

"Little old lady dressed in lace," crooned the horns. "That's me," cackled one of the renegades, "Little old lady."

"Beutiful night," said the other.

Under the stars and crowd sat listening, thousands of faces, tier after tier, bent forward slightly, with matches flaring and winking up every second somewhere in the huge throng as cigarets were lit. Numbers ended and there was a fluttering of hands over a vast area, striking out notes of applause. Numbers began and there was the same rapt attention once more.

Only the two old women refused to surrender to the music, spurned any sort of truce.

"They sure can play," declared one, who must have known by what she read in the paper, certainly not by what she heard Thursday night.

"I wonder what they let the cars on the track for," piped up the other.

BOYS IN BLUE ARE HONORED AT MADISON

One of Iowa County's Two Surviving Civil War Veterans Escorted to National Encampment By Legion

To many Civil war veterans the National encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at Madison this week will be the grand finale to a series of honoring events which have transpired through the years since that memorable conflict. Less than 300 of the boys and young men who took part in those bloody battles were able to journey to Madison, but to them all honors were given.

Iowa county now has two "Boys in Blue," Lyman DeWitt of Avoca and "Uncle" Jerry Humbert of Mineral Point. The former is in failing health at the home of his son C. A. DeWitt but the latter was one of the most enthusiastic veterans at the gathering. Although 95 years of age Mr. Humbert is quite active and had an honorary escort of American Legion members and the Mineral Point City band.

John D. Rockefeller Succumbs at Age 98

(State Journal, May 24, 1937)

ORMOND BEACH, Fla.— (U.P.) — The body of John D. Rockefeller, who died in his 98th year after making $1,000,000,000 and giving $750,000,000, will be sent north in a private car tonight for burial.

In the rooms of a castle in the hills overlooking the Hudson river at Tarrytown, N. Y., members of the clan Rockefeller gathered to pay tribute to their patriarch and founder. There in the great hall the funeral will be held Wednesday.

Rockefeller died Sunday in his winter palace here. Death came while he was in a coma. There was no pain. It was caused by an aged heart simply giving up its task.

His death will not change the course of the dynasty or affect its future. Since he retired in 1911, his son, John D., Jr., has been in complete command of the family's couple functioning organization — the making of money through the investments and enterprises on one side, the spending of money for educational, scientific and general philanthropic purposes on the other.

FAREWELL TO REV. BIRD AND FAMILY OF ARENA

(Contributed by Keith McCutcheon)
Thursday evening, August 12, in the Community Building, citizens of Arena gave Rev. Bird and family a farewell and Godspeed. Rev. Bird has been pastor of the Advent Christian church for the past fourteen years. He leaves Arena for Auburn, Ill.

There was a fine program in his honor: Community singing; piano solo by Louise Mae Salzmann; vocal duets by Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Roberts, and the Misses Dorothy and Violet Sliter; vocal solos by Robert Jones and Robert Roberts; violin solo by Donald Moore; and a reading by Keith McCutcheon. Mr. Cox gave a short address of praise and farewell. Rev. Moore presented the purse that was given to the family as a token of friendly farewell. After the program there was a luncheon served.

During a number of years he added to his duties as pastor that of football coach in the High School. The first coach in the school, he made many splendid teams and an enviable record.

Rev. Bird has long been with us as a well-wisher and practitioner of the good. His own life has been a visible guide to real Christian living by his humble and sincere service to God and to those about him.

It is with an honest regret that the community must bid farewell to Rev. Bird, but it is with the genuine best wishes of all for success and happiness in his new field of endeavor.

A kindly, worthy, Christian man has moved from our midst; we shall miss Rev. Bird, for all know that such characters are difficult and rare to replace. But a fond farewell, and a Godspeed to Rev. and Mrs. Bird.

GLASSES LOST FROM PLANE FOUND TWO MONTHS LATER

(Arena Corr.)

Early in the summer Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Richardson went for a ride in an airplane piloted by Wm. McBoyle of Helena. Expressing a desire to see her old home from the air, the pilot flew over the Wm. Roberts farm. As they passed Mrs. Richardson put her head out the better to see the sight below and was chagrined to have her glasses fall off. This took much of the joy out of the ride.

Strange to say while her father was working in one of his fields two months after they had been dropped he found them. One lense was broken and a bow bent.

A Son's Wish.

I would that I might ever be
All my mother wished for me.
That I might know the joy and health,
Achieve success, gain the wealth,
My mother wished for me.

I would my life might come to be,
All my mother wished for me.
That I might be as good and kind,
As clean of speech, as clear of mind,
As mother wished for me.

I would, to mother, I might be
All that mother's been to me,
That God may give me grace and power
To compensate each loving hour
My mother's given me.

David Lloyd - 9 years old

A farewell party for Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Orht brought seventy-six relatives and friends to their home Tuesday evening. The night was perfect and the visitors were in the best of spirits and the occasion a heart warming affair. A bible was presented to them as a token of the friendship of the community for their worthy friends and neighbors. Mr. Orht and family expect to return occasionally for a week end at their home and will probably be here again during the coldest weather of the coming winter. The family will be greatly missed in the activities of the community and the Congregational Church.

MR. MAHONEY HAS LEARNED MUCH ABOUT OIL STOVES

(Arena Corr.)

Thomas D. Mahoney of upper Mill Creek has learned a lot about kerosene stoves since Wednesday morning last week. His wife being away, he lighted an oil stove in the kitchen, preparatory to getting his own breakfast, and then went out to do chores. Returning two hours later a dismal sight met his eyes.

The house was completely filled with smoke and ropes of oily soot were hanging from the ceiling. Luckily, he returned just at this time as a garment hanging near the stove had started to burn. The home was a mess to behold and all of the downstairs rooms will have to be redecorated, but luckily they did not lose the place by flames.

Be Strong!

Be strong!
We are not here to play—to dream, to drift.
We have hard work to do and loads to lift.
Shun not the struggle—face it;
'tis God's gift.

Be strong!
Say not the days are evil.
Who's to blame?
And fold the hands and acquiesce.—O shame!
Stand up, speak out, and bravely, in God's name.

Be strong!
It matters not how deep entrenched the wrong,
How hard the battle goes, the day how long;
Faint not—fight on! Tomorrow comes the song.
—Maltbie D. Babcock.

The ceremony was solemnized by Rev. A. M. Hainer in the presence of the families and friends. They were attended by Mrs. Eleanor Moe, sister of the bride, and Elliot Jabs, brother of the groom. THOMAS F. THOMAS

Thomas F. Thomas was born June 28, 1851, in South Wales, the son of George and Mary Thomas. At the age of 12 he came with his parents to this country and spent his early life in the Town of Ridgeway and Brigham. Mr. Thomas selected school teaching as his vocation, serving schools in Wisconsin, Iowa, Nebraska and Minnesota. Later he served as auditor of Cook County, Minn., where he made his home for a number of years.

Seven years ago Mr. Thomas came to Barneveld and made his home with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Klusendorf. Since two years ago last May, when Mr. Thomas suffered his first stroke of partial paralysis, he has gradually been failing in health. Mr. Thomas passed away Tuesday evening, Oct. 5, 1937 at the General hospital at Dodgeville; age 86 years, 3 months and 9 days. His father and mother, six brothers and two sisters preceded him in death, he being survived by only one brother, Joseph M. Thomas of Sioux City, Iowa, and a number of nieces and nephews. Among those present at the funeral services was the Rev. Geo. Griffith, a nephew, now pastor at Iron River, Wis., and formerly 11 years Field Secretary for Presbyterian church in Northern Wisconsin and who also had part in the funeral services.

Mr. Thomas was baptized in early life and became a member of the Congregational church. He much appreciated his membership in and was deeply devoted to the Masonic lodge, belonging to the consistory at Duluth, Minn., and the Eastern Star. He was instrumental in organizing at Grand Marais, Minn., both the Masonic lodge No. 322 and "The Northern Light" chapter of the Eastern Star. In appreciation, the lodges presented, some time ago, to Mr. Thomas a beautiful gold symbolic emblem, as Past Master and Past Patron.

The members of these lodges sent messengers to the funeral services, where the Masonic lodge took charge of the committal service at the grave, and among whom was Rev. Wilfrid L. Lowe, pastor of the United Congregational church at Grand Marais, where Mr. Thomas had been an active, earnest member. Rev. Lowe sang a vocal solo at the chapel service.

The funeral services were held at the Roach Funeral chapel at Dodgeville; Rev. A. M. Hainer and the quartet of the Congregational church of Barneveld, and Rev. Lowe and Rev. Griffith conducted the services.

Card of Thanks

The relatives of the late Thos. F. Thomas take this means of thanking all those who assisted in any manner during his sickness, death and burial, especially to the Masons who came from Grand Marais, Rev. Hainer and the Barneveld quartet. lwcx

A. L. BERRYMAN DIES MONDAY MORN

Well Known Business Man Taken in Prime of Life With Peritonitis Following Ten Days' Illness

Sorrow has come in double portions to the home of Charles F. Phillips and and Elsie Phillips Berryman, in this city, the son-in-law and husband Arthur L. Berryman being taken by death in the early hours of Monday morning, just one week following the death of Mrs. Phillips. Mr. Berryman had been ill about ten days and peritonitis set in. Saturday evening he was removed to a local hospital and a specialist sent for. A blood transfusion Sunday was encouraging for a time but proved futile.

Mr. Berryman, age 51, was born and spent his entire life in this city where he was associated in business for many years with his father-in-law, Mr. Phillips. Of late years he had devoted himself entirely to life insurance and was general agent over five counties for the Central Life Assurance Co. He was very devoted and an exemplary son to his aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Berryman, who are deeply grieved at his sudden passing in the prime of life.

Mr. Berryman took a great interest in the Masonic orders and was a member of Dodgeville Masonic lodge, Dodgeville Chapter Royal Arch Masons, Mineral Point Commandery, Madison Consistory and Zor Shrine of Madison. Funeral services were held from the home Wednesday afternoon under the auspices of the Masonic lodge, with Revs. D. H. Fleet of this city and Rev. A. H. Schoenfeld of Lake Mills officiating.

Besides his wife, parents and father-in-law, Mr. Berryman is survived by two brothers, Milton J., of San Marino, Calif., and Frank C., of this city.

ALBERT D. RICHARDSON

Death called Albert D. Richardson, Oct. 28, 1937 in a Madison hospital after an illness of only a few days.

Mr. Richardson was born Sept. 3, 1864 and was the fifth son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonidas Richardson of Wyoming Valley. He attended the local district school and Dodgeville high school. When he was about 11 years of age his father passed away. As his schooling ended he returned to Wyoming Valley where he became a prosperous and industrious farmer and an honorable and exemplary citizen.

Having a good Christian mother, Mr. Richardson followed her teachings and early in life became interested in the community, schools and church. He was an active member and leader in the Independent Order of Good Templars and all throughout his life was active in the affairs of the Methodist church.

On March 16, 1888 he was united in marriage to Miss Libbie Olson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Simon Olson of Wyoming. They began their married life on the farm which he continued to operate throughout his life time. To them were born three sons, Harold, who died in infancy, Merrill, and Ed.

In the year 1904 Mr. Richardson was elected town chairman which office he held for thirteen years during which time he made a close study of the affairs of town and county.

On April 29, 1908 Mrs. Richardson was suddenly called by death. He continued with the home and farm and on Aug. 28, 1909 married Miss Lillie A. Berryman of Dodgeville.

In the year 1912 Mr. Richardson responded to the urge of fellow citizens and was chosen to represent his county in the State Assembly. Five years later he was elected trustee of the Iowa County Home and Asylum and continued to serve in this capacity until 1935.

Mr. Richardson was always vitally interested in the affairs of his community and the county at large. The problems of taxation were given a great deal of his time and thought and he had hopes of seeing some form of relief for the overburdened farm and home owners. He always gave his best efforts to duties entrusted to him and his word once given could be absolutely depended upon. The community loses one who has served it well.

On April 12, 1930 his home was again visited by grim death when Mrs. Richardson passed away and thus for the second time he suffered the loss of a helpful homemaker and mother to his boys.

Those left to mourn his departure are: two sons, Merrill of Madison; Edw. C., of Spring Green; one brother, G. I. Richardson of Dodgeville; one sister, Mrs. S. E. Knickerbocker of Dodgeville, several nieces and nephews besides other relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon from the Wyoming Methodist church with Rev. L. J. Ruff of Spring Green and Rev. W. J. James, a former pastor, of Briggsville officiating. Six nephews, Kenneth Olson, Harry Richardson of Wyoming, Leman Hatch of Boardman, Wilbur Berryman of Dodgeville, Eugene Richardson of Blanchardville and Hale Adams of Blue River acted as pallbearers. The honorary pallbearers were John Livingston, Wm. Dickinson, Dodgeville; Edw. Brown, Mineral Point; O. G. Rewey, Madison; John Evans, H. L. Gray, B. D. Sherwood and J. H. Diehl of Spring Green. A male quartet comprised of T. Harry Arthur, Bob Arthur, Leslie Roach and Chas. L. Wonn of Dodgeville furnished music with Wm. T. Harris, accompanist.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the many kind friends who were so sympathetic and helpful in our bereavement.—Merrill and Ed Richardson. lwc

NINETIETH ANNIVERSARY OF BARNEVELD CONGREGATION'L

(Barneveld Corr.)

An example of the progressive, wide-awake rural church and its work today was impressively illustrated in the 90th anniversary services of the Barneveld Congregational church last Sunday. The church was filled to capacity and the deep friendship and Christian brotherhood manifested was heart-touching as many friends, not seen for years and from far distant points arrived.

Rev. T. R. Faville, D. D. Congl. State Supt. gave an inspiring address on the Early History of the Congregational Church in Wisconsin. Rev. B. F. Schoenfeld, Park Falls, a former pastor, preached the anniversary sermon. The history of the church was outlined in three parts by O. Christopherson, D. L. Williams and J. W. Pryor, and that of Hyde Congregational church, a companion group by John McCutchin. Among other speakers were Atty. Christensen and Albert Phillips, son of a former pastor, both of Madison.

The ninetieth anniversary of the Barneveld Congregational Church was held last Sunday and the services were attended by a well filled church, extra chairs being necessary to accommodate the congregation. Among those present from a distance were: Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Schoenfeld of Park Falls; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Zepplin of Stratford; Miss Georgia Baker of Marshfield; Miss Margaret Baker and lady friend of Monroe; Rev. T. R. Faville, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Christiansen, Albert Phillips and family and Mrs. Naomi Bernhard of Madison; Donald Schneider and family and Miss Alice Zepplin of Verona; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Campbell, M. S. Price, Chas. Bilkey and Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan of Dodgeville; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Campbell of Hollandale; Mrs. H. W. Jones of Mazomanie; Mr. and Mrs. Bertyn Davis of Arena; Mrs. Foster Thomas of Spring Green; Mrs. H. Mohrenne of Blue Mounds; Abbott Utter and family of Middleton; and a large number from Ridgeway, Middlebury and Adamsville.

FORTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE RALPH GARFOOTS

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Garfoot of Blue Mounds, prominent farmers of the town of Brigham, celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary the week of Oct. 23. In honor of this occasion their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. S. Cain of Mazomanie entertained Saturday in their honor the following: Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Murphy, Edward, Marion and Eileen Murphy, all of Lime Ridge; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Marley of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Quinn, Mrs. John Lucey, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Lucey, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lucey and Mary Ellen Lucey of Mazomanie; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph J. Garfoot of Blue Mounds; Bill, Jr., Mary Margaret and Greg Cain. The occasion was greatly enjoyed.

ANDREW HAUGEN GOLDEN WEDDING

(Barneveld Corr.)

A large group of old friends and neighbors gathered in the parlors of the Barneveld Lutheran church on Friday, Oct. 1 in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Haugen who that day celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. A delicious dinner was served at noon and the ladies' aid society of the church donated a lovely wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Haugen were presented with a purse as a token of respect and good will, the presentation speech being made by their pastor, Rev. E. R. Anderson. After spending a pleasant afternoon together in social visiting, everybody returned to their homes happy for the opportunity to congratulate this worthy couple and to wish them Godspeed.

Pick-Ups

There certainly was some contrast in the weather this day to one week earlier when a jacket was very comfortable. On this late September day the thermometers stood above 80 and a hot breeze was blowing. The countryside was very dry, but one thing is certain and that is the heat and drouth ripened all corn whether planted early or late.

A shower caught the Pick-Up-Man in Barneveld but was of short duration and made the air seem even warmer. Brief calls were made on Druggist Pryor, the Chronicle correspondent who knows everybody and all things; on Dan Davis, the veteran hardware dealer of forty years who wonders what possible changes the next ten can bring; and on Fred Klusendorf, who had just sold his 55th Chevrolet this season, which is some record for a small village.

Driving east on Highway 18 it was interesting to see the changes being made in location of the highway. That hill just east of the village will hardly be noticeable when grading is completed and Harley Arneson, on the edge of the Mound, will no longer have cars whizzing between his house and barn as the new road will cut across the fields, south of the buildings.

George Mickelson, farther east, will see little change except that motorists will drive even faster past his gate and when the family motors out onto the highway they will have to be very alert and lose no time in making the turn and getting up speed. Field work is well caught up on this farm and father and son were busy painting the hog house. The silo had been refilled but they were already feeding the dairy herd from it to keep up the milk flow.

Use Your "Thinkers"

You have a "thinker" with which to think,
That's given to you to use;
Your eyes were made both to see, and blink;
Your feet to walk on, in shoes;
You have two hands that were given you,
To use them as you might need,
And a "thinker" to think out the things to do.
Just do them—and you'll succeed.

You have to think, if you want to know
The things that are worth the while;
When you start somewhere, think where you go,
And maybe you'll save a mile.
If you start at random, without a thought,
You may wind up anywhere,
And all your effort will come to naught,
And you're nowhere—when you're there.

You have a "thinker" to think out things;
The answers are there to get;
True thoughts are angels, without the wings.
Just think—and they're yours, all set!
There is no one else who can think for you
And here is a thought to heed:
Just think out the thing that's the thing to do,
And do it—and you'll succeed.
—James Edward Hungerford.

Cutting across fields to the county line road the scribe headed toward Blue Mounds with just one stop at the Ed Collins farm. A plot of valley land was seeded last fall to rye which was pastured this spring until June when it was plowed again and planted to corn. It grew surprisingly fast and made excellent silage. The buildings are located in a rather deep ravine well sheltered from the winds and makes a very pleasant place in which to live.

ARENA INSTRUCTOR TAKES ARGYLE GIRL FOR HIS BRIDE

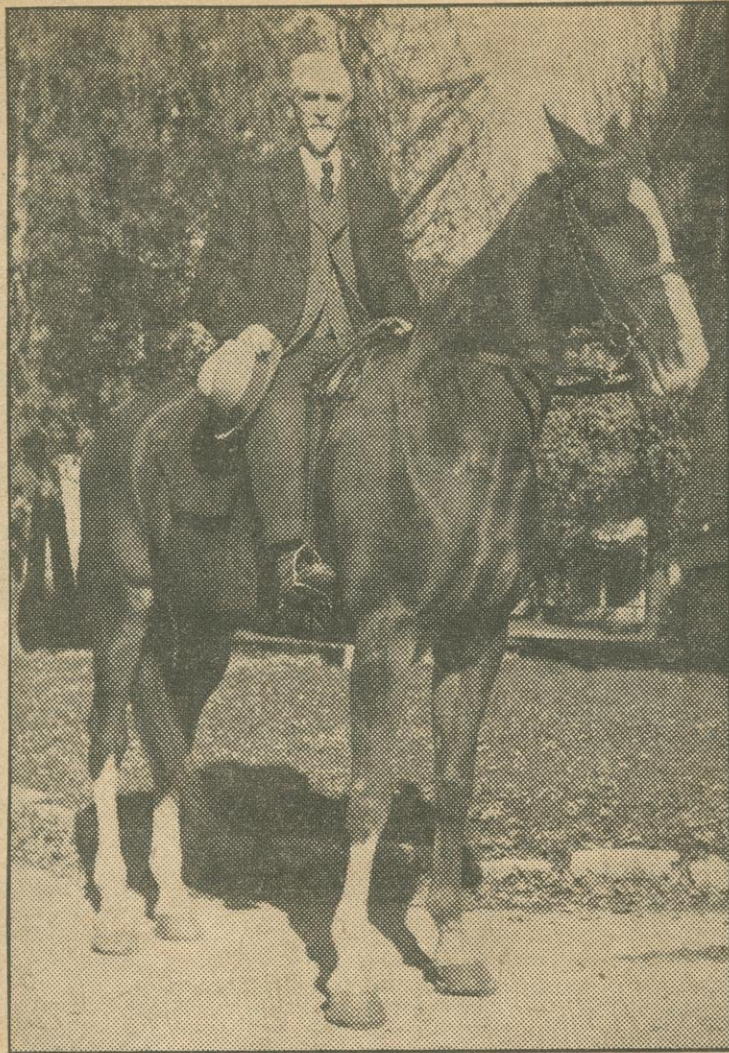

(Arena Corr.)

A quiet wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. G. U'Ren in Argyle Friday evening, Oct. 15 at 8 o'clock when their youngest daughter, Miss Jeanette Elaine was united in marriage with Frank Eugene Wheeler, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. H. Wheeler of Platteville. Dr. E. C. Dixon, of Wisconsin Dells, Wis., former pastor of the groom performing the ceremony. They were unattended.

The home was tastefully decorated with autumn leaves, ferns and chrysanthemums. Only members of the immediate families were present. After the ceremony refreshments were served by two young lady friends of the bride, Misses Helen Darrow and Frances Hendrickson.

The young couple left for a weekend wedding trip as Mr. Wheeler is teaching at Arena, where they will make their home. Congratulations.

Riding His Hobby at 84

'A gallant figure on horseback'

Motorists along the country roads in the vicinity of Platteville often see a gallant figure on horseback, an elderly gentleman who sits his horse like a general. It is Albert E. Rundell, 84, whose hobby through four score years has been riding.

While the breeding of Guernsey cattle has been Mr. Rundell's life work, bringing him national recognition, as well as the degree of Master Farmer from the University of Wisconsin, all through the years horseback riding has furnished his recreation. Living now in quiet retirement, his greatest joy is to ride out along the countryside which he helped to develop, from the time when farming was done without benefit of fences, and bears came right into a boy's own back yard.

"No, thank you, I don't need any help. I can mount and dismount by myself," says this 84-year-old horseman.

First He Made a Box Give Music, Now He Fashions Real Violins

(State Journal News Service)

DODGEVILLE — About 54 years ago Henry Hendrickson, then a town of Dodgeville school boy, made his first violin out of a cigar box.

Two years later, when he was 12, he made his first real violin. This model smashed to bits in an accident. He was heartbroken but undaunted, and he fashioned another, and another on up the years to today. In all he has created about 50.

He used to make copies of famous violins. Now, after a lifetime of study, he has fashioned on original, the "Hendrickson" model.

The secrets of the Hendrickson violin he prefers not to divulge in detail. His models are a quarter of an inch bigger all around than most violins. He like to make the sounding boards of Canadian spruce, the rest of the instrument of maple.

He holds that violins need not be old to be good, just so the wood is seasoned 10 or 12 years in a hot place before being made into an instrument. "The antique value is what brings fabulous prices for famous old violins."

One of the distinguishing features of Hendrickson violins is that they have more volume than most others. "I make them that way so that they can be heard clearly in an orchestra or hall."

Hendrickson gives away some of his violins to friends and relatives. He lends others. And he sells some. It takes him about 300 hours to make a good violin, he estimates.

Until nine years ago, Hendrickson was a carpenter, as his father was. Now, weakened by a physical ailment, his business is repairing antique furniture.

Violins constitute his hobby. He makes them. He repairs them. He even taught himself how to play one.

"... one violin after another ..."

FAMILY TRAVELS FAR WITH HORSES

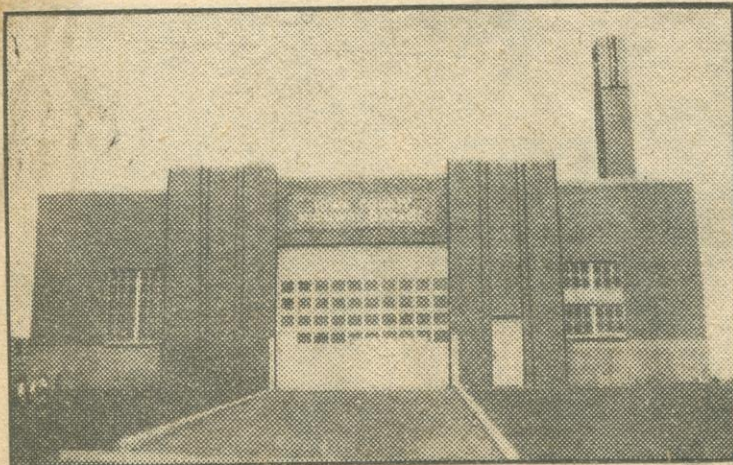

Parents and Six Children on Way from Saskatchewan, Can., To Montreal Pass Through Arena Friday

(Arena Corr.)

A family consisting of parents and six children, traveling in a trailer, drawn by a team of horses, passed through Arena on Friday and halted at the hospitable Joseph Hottman farm home to feed and rest their weary horses and also to dine themselves on food provided by Mrs. Hottman. The children played happily around the door yard, clad only in underwear and coveralls and their only complaint of the weather was that it was too warm.

Several years of hard times in Saskatchewan had impelled them to start out for the home of relatives in far off Montreal. The trailer was almost filled with beds, clothing, cooking utensils and a goat which furnished milk for their youngest boy, three months old. The man had $300 when they started out and hoped that it would carry them through to their journey's end. They reported that it was not hard to find shelter for the horses at night and the family bunked in the trailer. After all had fed they continued on their way.

Mail BagSymbol

Such sound as death complains at pane and door.

Grief rides upon the restless air to-night

And fills the hours with sobbing, like the light

Beating of waves along a distant shore;

All down the night's dark, silent corridor

The wind goes groping, like a soul in fright,

Who listens long to his uneasy flight

Becomes his comrade and his counsellor.

His grief is the symbol of a world's distress,

For deep unrest besieges every nation

And terror darkness lands where woes increase

With each new outburst of the bitterness

That holds the minds of men in lofty station:

These buy new prestige with a sick world's peace.

52 Years a Doctor, He'll Be 78 Monday

BLUE MOUNDS — Dr. Henry Valentine Bancroft, for 52 years a doctor here, will celebrate his 78th birthday anniversary Monday.

Dr. Bancroft was one of the pioneer doctors in Dane county and served his community in the days when travel was by horse and buggy on roads often quagmires and a night trip to a patient a few miles into the country meant hours of weary traveling.

In addition, Dr. Bancroft has served in various village offices, has been a member of the school board, and postmaster since 1915. He also owns and operates a drug store.

He has been active in politics as a democrat. During the world war he served on the draft board.

"Maybe your dog's will have puppies," suggested the artist's son hopefully.

"Naw," said the other, cheerfully final, "he won't. We had him de-pupped."

'Carries On' by Phone Music Work He Loves

(State Journal, April 30, 1937.)

MT. HOREB—Unconquerable the spirit of a man who really loves his work.

Such love has F. H. Hanneman, director of music in the Mt. Horeb schools.

A few days ago Mr. Hanneman became ill with scarlet fever and was forced to remain shut up in his home one mile from the school house. He didn't like that at all for he had been in the midst of preparing for the music tournament at Mineral Point, May 22.

Realizing that his quarantine meant finis to the school's hopes to compete at Mineral Point and realizing that this year he had one of the best bands ever turned out at Mt. Horeb, he nevertheless failed to surrender to adversity.

Instead he explored his mind until he found an idea. He contacted the telephone company and they agreed to help him.

Today he directs his music students at the school by telephone. A loud speaker at the school brings his messages to the students and his telephone carrier their music and responses back to him in his study at home.

Much of what Mr. Hanneman had hoped and planned for is lost, but he is not entirely disappointed for he still has his daily work to do.

ROUSED BY DOG IN BURNING BUILDING

Trout Creek Cheese Factory Damaged Early Sunday Morning To The Extent of $1,500

(Barneveld Corr.)

Fire broke out early Sunday morning in the Trout Creek cheese factory north of Barneveld and only for the timely warning of the dog it might have proved fatal to Mrs. Jaggi, the cheese maker's wife, who was home alone. Her husband was at Verona caring for the farm of a relative who was called away. Mrs. Jaggi was awakened when the house dog jumped upon her bed and barked.

In the darkness and thick smoke, the startled woman was unable to find the door but made her escape through the window taking the dog with her. Only partially dressed and in stocking feet she made her way to the farm home of Milo Anderson who then gave the alarm.

The Barneveld fire department answered promptly but found a large portion of the roof in flames. With plenty of water in the nearby creek, the flames were subdued but not until about $1,500 in damage had been done.

Both the Trout Creek Cheese Co. and Mr. Jaggi carried insurance with the Perry Fire Insurance company who sent a representative out Monday to make settlement.

BARNEVELD CAGERS CHAMPS FOURTH TIME

Win 15 Straight Basketball Games This Season and Take Highest Honors in Iowa County League

Barneveld is a village of approximately 300 inhabitants, but when it comes to basketball it is the class of the county. For four straight years its high school team has been county champion. On Friday evening it hurdled its last obstacle to the 1938 title by crushing Montfort 25 to 11. In this game Barneveld showed real form as it thoroughly whipped Montfort in the first half and then coasted to victory. Coach Verner O'Neill has an aggregation which should go a long way in the tournament at Mt. Horeb.

In the contest last Friday, Montfort B's had the satisfaction of breaking the winning streak of the Barneveld reserves which had the impressive record of 47 consecutive victories. This would indicate that Barneveld intends to be a strong contender for the league title in years to come. In league games this year they scored 274 points to their opponents' 140.

The crack Barneveld squad is comprised of Phil Arneson, Robert W. Thomas, Norman Watrud, Fred Rickli, Lavern Thompson, Tom Harris, Lyle Thompson, Paul Starry, John Wagnueller and Bill Kvernian. On Monday night of this week they trimmed Mt. Horeb 17 to 14 in a bitterly contested game at Barneveld. On Thursday evening they play the strong Edgewood academy at Madison.

The league standings are:

	W	L	Pct
Barneveld	10	0	1.000
Montfort	7	2	.778
Ridgeway	5	4	.556
Rewey	2	7	.222
Highland	2	7	.222
Linden	2	7	.222

Results Last Week—Barneveld, 24, Montfort, 15; Linden, 14, Highland, 13 (overtime); Ridgeway, 26, Rewey, 25.

Games This Week—Montfort at Linden, Highland at Ridgeway.

LOIS DAVIS

(Livingston Corr.)

A beautiful life story should be beautifully told — the life of Lois Mae Davis is a memorial to her, and what she has done shall be spoken of for a memorial to her.

Lois, the fifth of the eight children of Jessie Rundell Davis and Fred Davis, was born on a farm near Barneveld on Aug. 5, 1916. The family purchased a farm near Livingston and have resided here since 1919. Lois attended the Livingston Graded School and the Livingston High School. So finely efficient was her study that at the age of sixteen she was graduated with the class of 1933. She continued her record as an exceptional student at the Platteville Teachers' College for two years, then taught one year at the Jennieton rural school near Barneveld, and was teaching the second year at West Crow Branch rural school near Livingston.

Lois was a happy, normal girl, tender hearted and busy about the important concerns of childhood. She was helpful, cheerful and cooperative and most generous. She grew up loving and being loved. Home to her was the resort of love, of joy and of peace and plenty. From the depths of a loving and understanding heart how well she knew the heart of girlhood with its ambitions, its visions, its loves, its tender home ties. To know her was to love her. She worked hard and conscientiously to excel. So the brief span of twenty-one years passed, during which nothing was more characteristic of her than her vivid interest in her work and surroundings.

She passed away Monday morning, Jan. 31, 1938. She is survived by her parents, three sisters, Eleanor (Mrs. Frank Batten) of Linden, Alice (Mrs. Dean Livingston) of Bridge-water, S. D., and Marion at home; three brothers, Dale, Claude and Ralph also survive. One sister, Ethel, preceded her in death at the age of 9 in 1922.

Funeral services were conducted by

Rev. D. W. Davis on Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock at the home and at the M. E. Church at 1:30, where a large assemblage of relatives and sympathizing friends gathered to pay their last tribute of respect. Eight of her girl classmates were flower girls and six of her boy classmates were pall bearers.

Card of Thanks

We wish to extend thanks to the kind neighbors and friends who assisted us or in any way expressed sympathy during our recent bereavement, the death of Lois — Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis and family. 1wc

MRS. WM. B. PINE

Leaving the island at the age of 16 she worked for a time in Warren, R. I., later coming to Arena with her sister and brother-in-law, Elizabeth and Joseph Rogers. Here she became acquainted with William B. Pine, an ex-soldier of the Civil war, whom she married on Aug. 22, 1868. It was then that they purchased the farm at Old Helena, where they lived for 37 years and where their eight children were born. In 1905 they moved to Coon Rock, where Mr. Pine died on May 6, 1917. She was the only surviving member of her own family and the last of the older Pine family. She was the last charter member of the Arena Third Congregational church and the last of the Civil war widows of this vicinity to pass away. She was active in all temperance work in her home and community. Constant faith and trust in the Lord as her Savior gave strength in her early years and comfort and peace in her declining days.

Those who preceded her in death were her husband, a daughter Amye at two years of age, and her twins, Joseph in October, 1928 and Jessie Belle Pope in January, 1936. She is survived by two daughters, Ada Jane (Mrs. Clifford Brander) of Spring Green and Bessie Mae (Mrs. George Knight) of Arena; she also leaves three sons, Wilson of Dixon, Ill., Thomas J. and Erb H. both of Arena, and a niece, Fannie (Mrs. Harold Ellis) of Campbell, Minn., who was reared in the home as her own daughter. MRS. RALPH HODGSON

Elizabeth Hamilton was born in the town of Arena, on July 28, 1863. She was the daughter of Robert and Eliza Hamilton and was one of a family of twelve children.

Her childhood days were spent on the farm with her parents in Arena town. On February 2, 1881 she was united in marriage with Ralph Hodgson, one of the young men of the home community and they started out life's journey together on the farm of the groom's parents in Mill Creek community. There on the old home farm, the greater part of their lives were spent. All of their children were born on the farm and there, too, their oldest son Claude passed away in the fall of 1907 at the age of 23 years.

The district school and community church were just across the road from their home and these facts, coupled with the unusually hospitable spirit of Ralph and Lizzie Hodgson, made their home a gathering place for many of the grand old community meetings which used to be so common in the old days in the farming territory.

Truly theirs was "A house by the side of the road where the race of men" instead of going by, dropped in for a friendly visit and there always found a welcome and comfort in their time of trouble or sorrow.

In 1910 they sold the old home farm and bought a home in the village of Arena and the remainder of her life was spent in this village, where she passed peacefully on to receive her reward in heaven, at 11 o'clock on the night of April 20, 1938 at the age of 74 years, 8 months and 23 days.

She is survived by her husband, Ralph and seven daughters and one son: Mrs. Carl Bennett of Black Earth; Mrs. T. Harry Arthur of Dodgeville; Mrs. Alice L. Drake of Madison; Mrs. Thos. L. Jones of Arena; Mrs. Ed. Brown of Woodman; Mrs. Orvin Sale of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Roy Hottman of Arena; and Robert L. Hodgson of Dodgeville; twenty grandchildren and five great-grandchildren, one brother, Robert Hamilton of Everson, Wash.; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Jane Webster of Lone Rock; Mrs. Henry Druen of Chillicothe, Mo.; and Mrs. Fannie Thomas of Minneapolis, Minn.

MRS. MARY JANE WEBSTER WAS BURIED AT ARENA

Mrs. Mary Jane Webster, former resident of Clyde, and Arena, died Sunday night at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred Thurber in Lone Rock following several years' illness. Mrs. Webster was 88 years of age. She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Thurber and Mrs. Jennie Daniels of Lone Rock; three sons, Carl of Madison, Robert of Dodgeville and Byron of Lone Rock.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Thurber to the Gospel Mission church in Arena with her pastor, Rev. A. R. Longman officiating. Interment was in the Arena cemetery.

MRS. ELIZABETH MORGAN TO BE BURIED AT BARNEVELD

Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan, died at her home in this city at 12:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning following several months illness. She was 68 years of age. Mrs. Morgan is survived by her daughter, Mrs. Renzie Williams and two brothers, David Ellis and Ed Ellis, all of Dodgeville, grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held this Thursday afternoon from Plymouth Congregational church with Rev. Ezra Meckel officiating. Burial will be made in the Barneveld cemetery.

When a very young girl, she was united with the country church near their home, transferring her membership to Arena when they moved there and at the time of her passing was a member of the Gospel Mission church in this village, where she had been a very active member.

Mrs. Hodgson had also been greatly interested in the work of the W. C. T. U., having been president of the Arena organization several years and also having been an officer in the county organization. She had also headed the Red Cross drives several different years. Always had she stood for the higher and more noble things in life; her first thought being always for her husband and family, but always finding time and effort to give to the better things of the community in which she lived.

Truly, one of God's wonderful women, one who helped greatly to make the word "mother" mean what it does to all of us today. Now that God has called her home to rest we know that she does not want us to mourn her passing, her great wish being that we shall each live so that we can meet her again in the Home Over There.

Card of Thanks

We desire at this time to express our heartfelt thanks to all those who assisted in various ways during the illness and death of our beloved wife and mother. Ralph Hodgson and family.

Death Solves Grudge Shooting

Officials Seek to Link Suicide's Gun With Murder

ARENA — The suicide of a prominent Arena man today had tacked a quick solution to the grudge shooting of an Arena farmer and his son Tuesday night and sent officials paging back two years to possible solution of the slaying of Leonard Demby.

A searching party led by Sheriff Verl Poad late Wednesday found in a deserted car in a secluded roadside spot near here the body of Thomas Dawson, 52, bachelor son of a well known family.

In the car was a 20-25 rifle and a 22 caliber rifle. Dawson had been shot, apparently by the small bore gun, in the right temple.

Check Solves Shooting

Dist. Atty. George Larkin and Sheriff Poad today labeled as closed the shooting of Earl Murphy, 40, and his son, Harland, 6, Tuesday night at their farm home near here. Their decision followed a report from J. H. Mathews, University of Wisconsin ballistics expert.

Larkin said that they were satisfied Dawson shot Murphy and his son with the 20-25 caliber gun found in his car and then killed himself with the small gun after eluding searchers all day Wednesday.

On the window sill of the car near Dawson's body officials found a crudely penciled card which bore the sentence:

"Let the Lord take care of my trouble."

Another report from Mathews on a check of the bullet which killed Leonard Demby, Arena bachelor, as he sat at supper two years ago at his home here was awaited by officials this morning.

Demby was slain the night of Dec. 19, 1935, by a 20-25 caliber rifle, a rare type gun, and after a long investigation the case was laid away unsolved.

Undersheriff Clarence J. Holman, who was sheriff of Iowa county at the time of the Demby slaying, pointed to the similarity of the Murphy shooting and the slaying of Demby, and the fact that an odd caliber gun, a 20-25, was used in both shootings.

Murphy and his son were in St. Mary's hospital at Madison today recovering from the wounds received in Tuesday night's shooting. Both had leg wounds and broken leg bones.

Murphy could give officials no clue to why Dawson or anyone else might have shot him and his son. He said he knew Dawson but had no idea that "Dawson had a grudge against me."

Murphy told a State Journal reporter today that Dawson was the "last person in the world I would have suspected. Why, Dawson and his father were among my best friends."

"I haven't the least idea why he would have wanted to shoot me and my son. It's hard to believe," was all he could say about the shooting.

Finding of Dawsons body came as a distinct surprise for officials who had relentlessly searched all day Wednesday for car tracks to match those left at the Murphy farm.

Tuesday night a posse of farmers followed the car tracks to the village but lost them on the hard road. Late Wednesday Sheriff Poad and his party came across the tracks again. They led to Dawson's car and body.

Rubbers worn by the suicide matched footprints of the assailant at the Murphy farm, Holman said.

Find Gas, Recall Fire

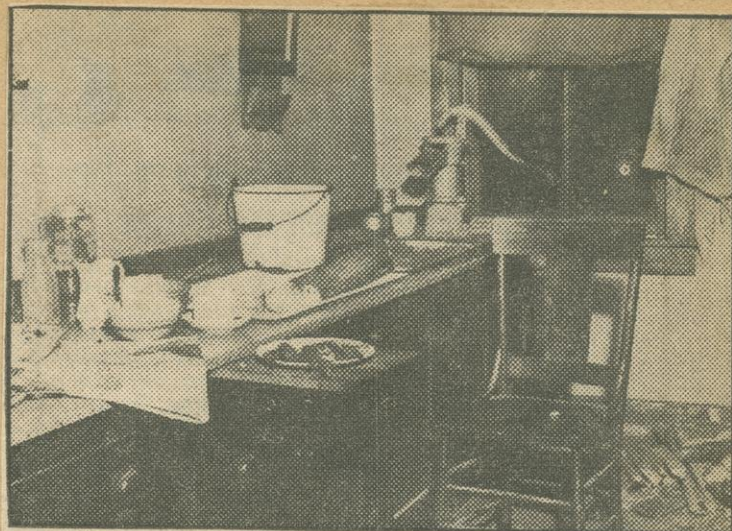

In the car was a bottle partly filled with gasoline which led Holman to recall a fire at the Murphy barn a few months ago. The fire did little damage and it was suspected at the time that the fire might have been set.

A coroner's jury was sworn in Wednesday night but officials postponed the inquest until final reports are received from Mathews and other angles of the case are investigated.

Dawson was the son of Stephen William Dawson, 90, oldest native of the township of Arena, a former member of the county board and a director of the Arena State bank. Thomas had been living with his father the past year.

Funeral Saturday

His funeral services will be held here Saturday, the undertaker said. The Rev. W. W. Moore

While seated at the makeshift table shown above in his home at Arena, Leonard Demby, bachelor, was slain by a mysterious maurader on the night of Dec. 19, 1935. The white spot on the window shows where the bullet that killed Demby pierced the pane. Iowa county officials prepared today to reopen the Demby case if the bullet that killed Demby matched a gun owned by Thomas Dawson, a suicide.

DEATH TAKES FORMER ARENA RESIDENT AT MAZOMANIE

Pat Haskins, aged 80 years, died at his home in Mazomanie Friday, May 27. Mr. Haskins lived for many years on a farm on Blue Ridge and when he retired, moved to the village of Arena, but for the past several years he has resided in Mazomanie. He is survived by his wife and three children, Peter Haskins, Mrs. Lewis Demby of Arena and Will Haskins of Milwaukee; one brother, George Haskins of Barneveld and two sisters, Elizabeth of Chicago, and Mrs. Francis Pailing of Arena. Funeral services were held on Monday from the home in Mazomanie and St. Barnabas' Church, with burial in the Mazomanie cemetery.

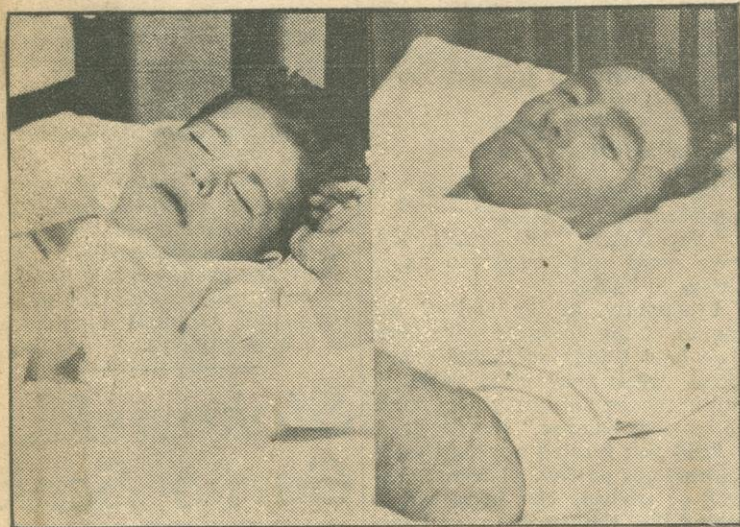

will officiate, and burial will be in Arena cemetery.

Those in the searching party Wednesday were Holman, Poad, Leo Murphy, brother of Earl Murphy, and George Tyson, Iowa county coroner, who "just happened" to be on the job even before the body was found.

Members of the coroner's jury are Al Anding, Connie Lannigan, Frank Sheehan, Walter Hankerson, Ted Bawden, and Robert Southard.

Dawson's survivors include his father, one sister, Mrs. Lou Harrop, and one brother, Will, all at home in Arena, and three other sisters, Mrs. Agnes Mitchell, Batavia, Ill., Mrs. Belle Mitchell, Geneva, Ill., and Mrs. Bessie Anderson, Rose Creek, Minn.

Hunt 'Grudge' Gunman After Farmer, Son, 6, Are Mysteriously Shot

HARLAND MURPHY

EARL MURPHY

"...neither is in a serious condition..."

Victims of what officials believe was grudge shooting, Earl Murphy, 40, and his son, Harland, 6, who live on a farm near Arena, are shown above in beds at St. Mary's hospital. Each had leg wounds and broken leg bones received Tuesday night at their farm when felled by bullets fired by a mysterious gun man.

Wounded by a volley of bullets fired by an unknown assailant, an Iowa county farmer and his six year-old son were in St. Mary's hospital here today. Neither was in a serious condition.

The farmer, Earl Murphy, about 40, and his son, Harland, were shot down Tuesday night as they were feeding a calf in their barn. The farm is located about four miles southeast of Arena in northeastern Iowa county just over the Dane county line.

The elder Murphy was shot in the left leg above the knee, the bullet shattering the bone. The son was struck in the right hip. The bullet broke the large leg bone.

Sheriff Verl Poad and Under-sheriff C. J. Holman were investigating several clues to the mysterious assailant today but refused to comment, other than that they suspected it was a grudge shooting.

The Iowa county sheriff entered the search Tuesday night after a posse of 50 farmers trailed car tracks, believed to be those of the gunman's car, for several miles, finally losing the trail near Arena.

The shooting came while Murphy and his two sons, Harland and Donald, were finishing the night chores. Donald was milking a cow and Murphy and Harland were feeding a calf when the gun barked.

The first bullet missed, the second dropped Donald and the third tumbled Murphy to the straw of the calf stall.

Donald ran to the farm home and notified Mrs. Murphy. She called an Arena doctor and then neighbors and the sheriff.

Other Farms Called

Before Mrs. Murphy's call came to the John Wilkinson farm nearby, Wilkinson noticed a Ford sedan speed by from the direction of the Murphy farm. When the call came he sounded an alarm to other farm homes in the vicinity and organized a posse.

A number of the farmers followed the tracks of the car seen by Wilkinson and the others spread out to watch township roads in the vicinity.

Wilkinson said that they followed the tracks, clearly indented in the soft roadbed because of apparently new tires and chains, in a circuitous route, and finally lost it on the hard road near Arena.

Clouded in Mystery

The reason for the attack was clouded in mystery today. Neighbors told Sheriff Poad that they had a "good idea" whom it might have been but other than that nothing was known except that the pair had been shot.

Murphy told officials that there had been a mysterious fire

Heartfelt sympathy of the people of Arena and vicinity goes out to the 90 year old man, S. W. Dawson, and his family in their recent sorrow. Tom Dawson was a young man of clean cut habits, ambitious, unoffending and respected in the community. After the death of his brother, Therman, he became morose at times. This gradually grew on him and he became a man of ill health. And the tragedy last week was only the result of this. The fine spirit manifested by Earl Murphy's brother, Leo Muryhy and family and other relatives of the Murphy's when they appeared with the mourners at the Tom Dawson funeral, proved without a doubt that they recognized this fact, and that they held no ill feelings toward the deceased, nor the Dawsons. A fine spirit indeed.

Miss Jennie Dawson of Shullsburg visited over the week end at the homes of Jos. Sharratt in Mazomanie and R. L. Roberts here.

Funeral service for Thomas Dawson was held from the home of his father and the Congregational Church on Friday, conducted by Rev. W. W. Moore, D. D. Burial was in the Arena cemetery. Mr. Dawson is survived by his aged father, four sisters, Mrs. Belle Mitchell, Mrs. Agnes Mitchell of Batavia, Ill; Mrs. Bessie Anderson, Rose Creek, Minn; Mrs. Lulu Harrop, Arena; one brother, Wm. Dawson, also of Arena, and other more distant relatives.

at his barn last Sept. 5. At the time, he said he did not suspect any foul play but now believes that it may have been set by someone who held a grudge against him.

He said he knew of no personal enemies.

Murphy operates a 280 acre farm and is considered quite well-to-do. Neighbors said that he was well liked by residents of the community.

Besides the two sons, Murphy has four other children. They were in the house at the time of the shooting.

SUICIDE ENDS ARENA MYSTERY FARM SHOOTING

Tom Dawson Found Dead In Car After Earl Murphy And Son Are Shot

One of the most dastardly crimes committed for some time in Iowa county took place Tuesday evening at the Morrissey Brothers' farm in the township of Arena, five miles south of Arena village. While Earl Murphy and his two sons, Harland and Donald were in the barn doing chores a then unknown assailant fired at them from the road.

The first shot went wild, but the second struck 7-year-old Harland in the thigh, passing through his body and breaking the large bone in his right hip. The next struck Mr. Murphy in the left leg, shattering the bone above the knee.

The bullets came from a 25-20 caliber rifle and were fired from the road which passes close to the house and barn. The alarm was sent out and a posse of neighbors was formed. The car was tracked through the mud, south and west to the Mill Creek road and back to the concrete near Arena.

Dr. E. N. Brown was summoned from Arena and after giving first aid the injured farmer and son were taken to St. Mary's hospital in Madison where they are resting comfortably.

Sheriff Verl Poad and Ex-Sheriff C. J. Holman worked on the case most of the night and continued their search on Wednesday. They got a good impression of the tires and followed a trail up along Blue Ridge to forty acre tract of land belonging to Tom Dawson, age about 50 and single man of Arena.

Here they came upon the body of Dawson lying in the car, shot thru the head with a .22 caliber rifle. In the seat with him was also a 25-20 caliber rifle from which the bullets which struck Mr. Murphy and son are supposed to have been fired. Just as we go to press Wednesday afternoon Dist. Atty. Geo. Larkin is summoned to the scene.

Following the shooting Tuesday evening Mr. Murphy stated that he had no enemies that he knew of. A mysterious fire had started in the barn last Sept. 3 and had always been a puzzle to the family. Mr. Murphy and family have occupied the Morrissey farm for the past two seasons.

Arena Slaying Clues Pursued in Little Hope

DODGEVILLE—Iowa county officials today pursued dim leads to a solution of the Demby murder at Arena three years ago but held little hope of finding an answer to that puzzling murder.

The case was returned to the attention of the sheriff's office Wednesday with the suicide of Thomas Dawson, 52, bachelor son of a prominent Arena family, and the quick solution of the shooting of Earl Murphy and his son, Harland, 6, at their Arena farm Tuesday night.

Officials who traced tracks of the assailant's car from the Murphy farm to Dawson's parked car and his body blamed Dawson for the shooting of the Murphys. Neither of them was seriously injured.

In Dawson's car, they found a 25-20 caliber rifle, an odd-caliber gun, and the same type used in the murder of Leonard Demby in December, 1935.

Sheriff Verl Poad and Dist. Atty. George Larking today waited for a final report from Prof. J. H. Mathews, University of Wisconsin ballistics expert, who has been checking the bullet which killed Demby with the 25-20 gun.

Another lead to the Demby case was given officials Thursday when Thomas Mahoney, Dodgeville carpenter, reported that he had traded Dawson a 25-20 caliber gun seven years ago.

Officials said they would obtain slugs from this gun and compare them with the bullet that killed Demby. The slugs would be removed from a telephone post into which Mahoney fired the gun in target practice before trading it to Dawson.

The inquest into Dawson's death was expected to be held here Saturday.

Funeral services for Dawson will be held Saturday at the Congregational church at Arena with the Rev. W. W. Moore officiating.

A basketball tournament scheduled for Arena tonight has been postponed out of respect for the Dawson family, whose home is next door to the hall where the games were to be played. The games included competition between the Dodgeville and Arena city and grade school teams.

HIGHWAY CREW DISCOVER BLUE MOUNDS CAVE

Legend Has It That Band of Indians Were Sealed Alive in Cavern

(Barneveld Corr.)

The Gutske Construction Co. road crew, making an excavation on the brow of the hill at old Pokerville just west of Blue Mounds village, for newly relocated Highways 151 and 18, discovered a cave which extends many hundred feet under Blue Mound. It is a giant crevice known to old miners as a 10 o'clock opening. Many curious people have visited the scene and made casual investigation. So far no skeletons have been reported found.

The highway skirts the shoulder of Blue Mound, which Indians called "Old Smoky" because of the haze or smoke which so frequently covers it. Legend has it that a French trapper, who had seen service with Napoleon's forces in the battle of Waterloo, used a cave on Blue Mound for his home. A barricaded door in the interior of the cave, kept out night intruders.

One day a band of Indians came along and finding the trapper away they hid in the cave with intentions of taking him by surprise upon his return. In the meantime another group of Indians appeared and hearing sounds from within the cave, thought they had the trapper at their mercy. Accordingly they rolled down a huge boulder from above which effectively sealed the mouth of the cave and spelled doom for the entrapped Indians.

Older inhabitants recall the discovery of this cave many years ago while digging an open well in Pokerville, at which time curious workers followed the opening for many hundred feet.

Pokerville, now but a few houses, was a historic mining village which got its name from a frame hotel erected by Carter & Giblett, whose chief business was gambling at poker.

The mound itself draws more visitors than any other spot in the county, because of its natural beauty and accessibility for picnics. Purchased a few years ago by John Minix, a fine road has been built to its top where an old half-mile race track was located many years ago. Here the visitor has a view of the country for miles around.

The discovery of the cave brought many skeptical people last Sunday and will doubtless result in a flood of visitors the coming season.

TWINS FOR SUMMER

Tuesday was the first day of summer and should always be remembered by Willis Owens of Barneveld for on Tuesday his wife presented him with twin sons at the General hospital.

EIGHTY YEAR OLD PHYSICIAN STILL ACTIVE

Dr. Wm. Reese Honored On Birthday Anniversary, Tuesday, April 19

The old axiom "early to bed and early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise" has been definitely refuted in this city in the life of Dr. William Reese, oldest practicing physician of Iowa county, who celebrated his 80th birthday on Tuesday. With Dr. Reese it has been "late to bed and early to rise, makes a man healthy, wealthy and wise."

Dr. Reese's niece, Miss Margaret Jenkins, who makes her home with him, had made rather elaborate plans to properly celebrate her uncle's birthday anniversary and hoped that he would be at home all day. He arrived home shortly after 12 a. m. and was called out again at 5 a. m. And throughout the day he broke off handshaking with many friends, who called, to answer the summons of patients who needed him. For after all a doctor's first duty is to his clients and Dr. Reese has been a true professional man.

Despite his many years he is splendidly preserved both physically and mentally, like a man in middle life. He has gone through several critical illnesses, but disciplined himself so that he emerged healthy and vigorous.

Dr. Reese was born on a farm in the town of Ridgeway, April 19, 1858 and from earliest boyhood aspired to become a doctor. His father died when he was a young man and it fell his duty to look after the farm. He studied medicine at home, however, and administered to neighbors and live stock.

Dr. Reese's life should be an inspiration to those who have an unfulfilled ambition. A popular book of today is "Life Begins at Forty" and this most aptly applies to Dr. Reese for he was forty years of age before he graduated from Rush Medical college and was able to commence his chosen profession.

One of the reasons that Dr. Reese has enjoyed such a success in the field of medicine is due to the fact that he never assumed anything of which he was not sure. In certain critical cases, which required special talents, he advised his patients where this service might be obtained. The doctor has been outstanding in his ability to diagnose appendicitis and in conquering pneumonia.

Dr. Reese is a social loving creature and in leisure moments enjoys good music, a trait which he inherited from his Welsh ancestors. He is a lover of horseflesh and in the days of horse and buggy raised many racing animals. He is a member of the Masonic lodge, Royal Arch Masons, Commandery and Consistory.

The good doctor is one of a family of 13 children, which again refutes an old adage that 13 brings bad luck. Six of the 13 are still alive, the eldest being Miss Jenkins' mother, Mrs. Margaret Jenkins of Detroit Lakes, Minn., who is 88 years of age. The other brothers and sisters are Mrs. Mary A. Hadlock of Evanston, Ill.; Stephen of Chicago, Ill.; Mrs. Annie Lewis of Ashland and John H., of Aberdeen, S. D.

Friends continued to call at the home all day and brought gifts, flowers and cakes. A niece, Mrs. Wendall Baker of Evanston, Ill., brought a beautifully decorated birthday cake which was 18 inches in diameter. More than a hundred callers were given cake, cookies and coffee.

The Iowa County Medical association remembered their eldest member with a bouquet which was much appreciated. Among the welcome bringers if good will messages were all of the city ministers. The mail man brought greetings from distant friends and relatives.

The kinfolk from out of town present for the day were Mrs. Mary A. Hadlock, Mrs. Wendall Baker and little Joan Lord of Evanston, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Henman, Mrs. Edward Yahnke and son and Mrs. Charles Specht of Madison.

Friends present from out of town were Miss Margaret Baker of Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ferrell of Waldwick; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reed of Ridgeway and the latter's daughter, Mrs. McPherson of Janesville.

It was a busy, happy day and had more known of the occasion the crowd would have been immense to pay tribute to an unselfish citizen.

FIFTH FATAL ACCIDENT ON COUNTY ROADS

P. E. McClenahan of Iowa City, Ia., Meets Death Near Ridgeway Thursday

P. E. McClenahan of Iowa City, Iowa, age 60, representative of the Wilcox & Follette Co., of Chicago, met instant death Thursday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, on Highway 18, west of Ridgeway, when his Chevrolet car collided head-on with a Ford truck owned by Lee Hottman, Spring Green. The victim was a book salesman, who had just made a call at the Ridgeway school and was on his way to Dodgeville. He had employed as driver, Edward Lueck, age 19, of Carver, Minn. This was the fifth fatal auto accident in Iowa county this year.

The Hottman truck, equipped with enclosed body, was returning from making a delivery of groceries in Linden. It was driven by Harold Mabbott and accompanied by the owner. The accident happened on a straight away between two curves as Mabbott attempted to pass a county gravel truck driven by Ed Evans. All of a sudden he saw the Chevrolet in front of him and pulled off the concrete in an attempt to avoid an accident. The driver of the Chevrolet evidently did the same and a collision resulted. The front of the Chevrolet was demolished and holes knocked through the windshield where the heads of its two occupants struck.

Mr. McClenahan had his ribs broken and died instantly. He was also cut across the forehead. Lueck also sustained cuts on the head, severe bruises and a broken left knee cap. Mr. Hottman and Mr. Mabbott escaped injury.

Traffic Officer Dick Jones, Coroner Geo. Tyson, Sheriff Verl Poad and Dr. T. A. Hagerup were summoned to the scene. The body of McClenahan was taken to the Roach Funeral chapel and from there to Iowa City, Iowa, on Friday afternoon. Lueck is a patient at St. Joseph's hospital.

A jury comprised of Ray Reese, Norman Harris, George Brayton, David B. Hoskins, Jas. Dougherty and Bennett Davis was impaneled and a coroner's inquest held at the courthouse Friday morning. Witnesses heard were Ed Evans, Harold Mabbott, Lee Hottman, Ed Lueck, Dr. T. A. Hagerup and Dick Jones. At first Mabbott refused to testify and when an attorney for the insurance company with which Hottman is insured, went to speak to him, Coroner Tyson threatened to have the sheriff clear the court room and hold a closed inquest if there was to be any coaching of witnesses. Mr. Mabbott later answered all questions asked by Dist. Atty. George J. Larkin.

The jury reached the following verdict:

After 83 Years of Community Service

Pioneer Mill Wheels Turn for Last Time

AVOCA — Shut down after 83 years of community service is the old stone mill at Avoca, a pioneer flour mill of southwestern Wisconsin.

"I doubt if it will ever grind another sack of flour," reluctantly admitted the mill owner, James H. Martel, who is only one year younger than the ancient mill. "Big wheat days in this part of the country are gone forever. We've kept running longer than most of the old mills—but you can't buck the trend forever."

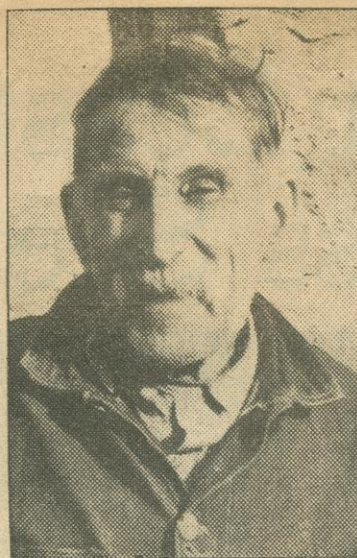

The habit of a lifetime is still a compelling force, however, in the 82-year old miller. The machinery is silent, but he spends his days at the mill just as he always has. "I'll be coming here every day as long as I can get around, I suppose," he said, as he sat and talked in the mill office.

"Some of the old mills have kept going by turning from flour-making to feed grinding," he explained. "But I couldn't do that. I've always been a flour miller, and my father and grandfathers before me."

It is an unusual story of steadfastness to one profession Miller Martel tells. The family on both his father's and mother's side, have been millers for nearly 150 years. As early as 1792 the Martels were milling wheat into flour on Prince Edward's island.

The generation that followed worked its way westward into Canada and finally down to Green

Bay. There 102 years ago Frances Martel, father of James, put his canoe in the Fox river, and with a French companion paddled up the Fox to Portage and down the Wisconsin to the mining town of Helena.

Joseph Rolette, fur trader at Prairie du Chien, owned a water-power mill not far from Helena and Martel hired out to run it. In 1840 he set up business of himself, building one of the first mills in western Wisconsin in Mill creek near the present town of Dodgeville. The stone burrs were brought by ox team from Milwaukee.

By 1854 traffic on the Wisconsin river was flourishing and the town of Clyde was enjoying a mushroom growth. A flour mill was needed there, so Frances Martel loaded up his millstones and moved once more farther west, this time building a mill on Otter creek at Clyde.

This was home for the Martel millers for nearly 50 years, the son James growing up in the business and taking over the mill after his father's death. "We drew custom from five counties," Martel recalled, "and ground 15,000 to 20,-

Meanwhile the mill at Avoca had been running since 1857, and in 1917 James Martel purchased it and moved from Clyde to Avoca, taking his son Stanley into partnership with him in the new location—the fourth generation to follow the business.

Though more modern types of mill machinery a good many years ago succeeded the old water power type in the Martel mills, the original French burrs have always been kept and were still in use in the Avoca mill when it closed down a short time ago.

OPEN LETTER TO A DRIVER WHO SPEEDS THRU STREETS

I saw you barely miss a little boy on a tricycle this afternoon and heard you yell, "Get the H— out of the way! Don't you know any better than to ride in the street?" He didn't answer because he hasn't learned to talk very well yet. So I'm going to answer for him.

No, the little boy doesn't know any better than to ride his tricycle in the street. He has been warned not to, but little boys don't always heed warnings. Some adults don't either, especially traffic warnings; for example, the one limiting the speed of automobiles.

I'm going to tell you something about that little boy. He has a mother who endured considerable inconvenience, anxiety and suffering to bring him into the world. He has a father who has worked hard and made many sacrifices to make him healthy and happy. The supreme purpose of their lives is to have their little boy grow up to be a useful man.

Now stop a minute and think. If you should kill a child, how would you feel facing its parents? What excuse could you give them for having robbed them of their dearest possession? More important: What excuse could you possibly offer Him whose Kingdom is made up of little children?

Children, my hasty friend, were here long before you or your automobile were thought of. All the automobiles on earth are not worth the life of one little boy. We don't know what that little boy may some day be. But we know what you are, and it's unimportant. We could get along without you, but we can't spare a single little boy on this street.

William J. Meerbrey Meets
Sudden Death Monday Evening Near City

William J. Meerbrey of this city, age 34 last August 4th, district salesman for the Cities Service Oil Company, was instantly killed Monday evening, about 8:15, near the Plum Grove church on Highway 151, four miles south of this city. A blowout probably caused his car to leave the road. As it struck the bank and hurtled over and over the driver was thrown out of an open door, up onto a roadbank ten feet high, from where he skidded along the snowy surface fifty feet before striking a rock. The victim's skull was badly fractured and death must have been instantaneous.

The accident was discovered by Ernest J. Heiman, International Harvester salesman from Madison, who, accompanied by his wife, was returning from Illinois where they had buried her father, that day. Corbin Burgess, who resides on the Mont Kendall farm, nearby, heard the crash of the car above the sounds of a radio which was in operation in the home. He came to the sad scene a few seconds after Mr. Heiman stopped to investigate.

Sheriff Verl Poad, Traffic Officer Richard Jones and Coroner G. W. Tyson were summoned to the scene but no inquest was necessary. The body was about 168 feet from where tire marks showed the 1938 Ford car had started to skid, and fifty feet beyond where the car finally came to rest.

This is the first auto fatality in Iowa county this year and it is a tragedy for the widow and other members of the family. Mr. and Mrs. Meerbrey had planned on attending the President's birthday ball in Mineral Point that evening in company with Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Sullivan and others. Mr. Meerbrey had called his wife from Platteville a short time before the accident, stating that he would be home as soon as possible. It fell the lot of Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan to inform Mrs. Meerbrey that instead of a happy evening it was to be the saddest of her life.

Mr. Meerbrey was born in Chicago and at the age of 14 years entered the employ of the Sprague Warner wholesale grocery as office boy. He remained with them 14 years and worked his way up to traveling salesman. He then entered the employ of the Cities Service Oil company where he remained until his death. In June of 1934 he married Miss Valeska Kelly of Baraboo. In October of 1935 they moved to Dodgeville.

Surviving are the wife; one daughter Paula, age 2 years; his mother, Mrs. Lillian Meerbrey of Chicago; one sister, Miss Florence Meerbrey and one half-brother, Clarence Meerbrey, both of Chicago.

Funeral services will be held this Thursday morning from the home at 10 o'clock with Rev. Ezra Meckel of Plymouth church officiating. The remains will then be taken to Baraboo where services will be held from the chapel under the auspices of the Masonic lodge. Interment will be made in that city.

P. J. Thompson Says Farmers Entitled to Credit for Making Quality Possible by Delivering Good Milk

(Arena Corr.)

P. J. Thompson, popular maker at the Farmers' Co-op cheese factory at Arena, had the honor of being awarded 1st prize on large, aged, single Daisy, American cheese at the Wisconsin State fair. The cheese had the splendid score of 96½ and he received a beautiful trophy.

Mr. Thompson has been employed at the same factory for 13 consecutive years where he has established a reputation for making excellent cheese. Thompson's cheese is well known to tourists of many states who stop each year at the factory on Highway 14 to secure a supply.

Mr. Thompson does not take all the credit for the quality of his cheese, much of which, he says, should go to the farmers who take extra pains to deliver only good, clean milk.

Cheese making seems to run in the Thompson family, as twin brothers are also in the business. Delbert formerly worked as his helper and now operates a factory near Barneveld. The other twin, Albert, is Mr. Thompson's helper this year. His second helper is a 12-year-old son, Vincent, who dons white cap and apron, and understands the ins and outs of cheese making.

The factory is spic and span inside and out.

DIASTROUS FIRE RAGES FRIDAY AT BARNEVELD

Lumber Yard Destroyed By What Is Thought To Be of Incendiary Origin

(Barneveld Corr.)

A fire, which was seemingly of incendiary origin, broke out early Friday morning at the Doyon Rayne Lumber Co. yard and within a few minutes the buildings were a mass of seething flames.

The alarm was turned in by Earl Ranney and C. G. Weston who discovered the fire while driving into town. The siren sounded at 12:20 a. m. and soon the villagers and farmers from the surrounding country turned out in large numbers. On account of the heat being so intense and the proximity of the Shell oil buildings and the stores of David Harris and W. C. Davies it was feared that our local company could not handle the situation alone and the Mt. Horeb department was called and responded in an incredibly short time.

Three freight cars and the coal dock which were nearest the fire became ignited and were extinguished with difficulty. Heat on the north side of the street was so intense that all the large plate glass windows at the Harris store were broken as were 20 panes of glass in the Davies building.

The heat on the Rongve home became so intense that it was necessary to use extinguishers to prevent it from burning. The Shell station and oil warehouse were saved from being ignited by hard work but suffered severe blistering and warping from the heat. The switch track adjacent to the lumber shed became so hot that it buckled like a snake.

Luckily, during the past winter and spring the village had put in a system of water mains and hydrants for fire protection and with the North-Western tank for a supply the two departments were able to keep the fire from spreading, but the stock and buildings of the Lumber Co. were almost a total loss, a small amount on the west end being saved.

The company's loss will run between $10,000 and $12,000 which is partially covered by insurance.

Our fire department, business men and people generally appreciate the aid given by those who came to our assistance including neighboring farmers and highway construction workers.

MR. AND MRS. FRED TINNEY

Hope Fades for Honeymooners

Tinneys Missing, U.S. Says Officially

Fred Tinney, 803 State st., and his wife, the former Madeline Morrissey, 814 W. Johnson st., are among the 28 American passengers of the British liner Athenia, torpedoed and sunk Sept. 4, officially reported still missing Sunday night by the state department in Washington.

The department said it was "possible some of those listed had been landed somewhere and had failed to communicate with local officials" and asked relatives who have information concerning those missing immediately contact the department.

On a Honeymoon

The Tinneys were married in Milwaukee June 13 and were returning to America on the Athenia after a honeymoon abroad. On Sept. 7 Harold Morrissey, Oregon, brother of Mrs. Tinney, received word from the state department that the Madison couple was safe in Glasgow. Two days later, a relative of Mrs. Tinney in Milwaukee was informed the two were not listed as survivors.

Florence Hargrave, 409 N. Henry st., a survivor of the Athenia, later cabled from Glasgow the Tinneys were unreported there, and on Sept. 11, United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy reported from London the Tinneys still were "unaccounted for."

U. W. Students

Mrs. Tinney attended the University of Wisconsin in 1930-31 and was employed by Manchester's store here for several years before her marriage. Her mother, Mrs. James Morrissey, is a resident of Oregon.

Tinney, assistant agronomist for the U. S. department of agriculture here, is a native of Malta, Mont. He received his doctor's degree at the University of Wisconsin in 1933. He had been attending conferences in various countries during the couple's honeymoon trip abroad this summer.

She is survived by her husband, one son, Albert, and two daughters, Mabel (Mrs. Frank Dimpfl), of the town of Brigham, and Ida (Mrs. Ted Swenson) of the village of Barneveld; also by 11 grandchildren.

She was the last of a family of 8 children, including the late Martin Monson. Her parents also preceded her in death, her mother having passed away in 1899 and her father in 1928. Mrs. Olson was a consecrated Christian mother, who loved her home and family, her church and friends. She remained a faithful member of the Blue Mounds Lutheran congregation. When a Ladies' aid society was organized for the western part of the congregation at Barneveld on June 24, 1909, she became its first president.

Her funeral took place Monday, May 8 at 1 p. m. from the home and at 2:30 p. m. from Barneveld Lutheran church. Burial was made at Blue Mounds. Her pastor, the Rev. E. R. Anderson, officiated. One of Dodgeville's most prominent business men, active in civic and political affairs is Harley I. Hicks, who was born Sept. 21, 1897 in the Cornish mining village of Linden where he grew to manhood. He attended the Linden graded and high schools, graduating in 1916. He studied at Valpariso University for one year before enlisting in the army during World War I and never returned to school.

Very, very few people know that Mr. Hicks was once a newspaper editor and publisher and had he continued in this field might have vied today with Bill Evjue or Wm. Randall Hearst for literary honors. An ambitious youngster, he saw the need of a local newspaper and launched the Linden Enterprise while he was a senior in high school. It was a very close corporation as Mr. Hicks was solicitor, advertising manager and editor, in fact he constituted the entire crew. Material gathered was taken to Highland each week where it was printed. There is no record of its circulation but it was something less than that of the Chicago Tribune. It ceased to exist in less than a year because of scarcity of news print.

On Nov. 26, 1920 he was united in marriage with Vera Fish of Medford who has been an ideal companion and co-worker in civic affairs. They have resided in Dodgeville since 1921 and only a few months ago moved into one of our city's finest new residences which they erected on West Merrimac street.

Mr. Hicks and wife came to Dodgeville in 1921 because he was a born salesman and became associated with the late John I.

Hahn in the wholesale business which still bears the latter's name. Some years ago Harold J. Rieff became a member of the firm and he and Mr. Hicks have expanded it.

Some people suspect Mr. Hicks of having Hebrew ancestors somewhere in the background as he has always been successful in financial matters and has good judgment in business affairs. He was one of a group which saw the need of an new bank in Dodgeville which was launched so successfully five years ago. At its founding he was elected president of the board of directors, a position which he still retains.

A member of the American Legion he has long been active in veterans' affairs. He has served as commander of the local post, vice commander of the state, is now national chairman of conservation and agriculture and trustee of Camp American Legion.

An advocate of community progress Harley Hicks is a member and past president of the Dodgeville Kiwanis club and for several years has been a member of the committee on Gov. Dodge State park. He is also a member of and past president of the Rod and Gun club.

Few people have ever engaged in so many community activities and with greater success. For 5 years he was a member of the city park board, a similar 5 years was chairman of the Iowa County Soldiers & Sailors Relief committee and was chairman of the County Civilian Defense, back in the war days.

For the past eight years he has been supervisor of the Second Ward and is now vice chairman of the county board.

Taking a keen interest in government Mr. Hicks chose the Republican party and stuck with it during good years and bad. He served as secretary of the Iowa County Republican club from 1938 to 1955.

Mr. Hicks travels extensively on both business and pleasure and is widely known. Although the records of their business successes are in strong contrast, Mr. Hicks bears a striking resemblance to ex-President Harry S. Truman, and people often comment on it. Their political views vary somewhat and being a double for the notorious Democrat, is an honor which Mr. Hicks would readily forego.

Along Main Street

A week by week review of our business and professional men, with a reminiscence of premises occupied or business itself, in the trust that it will promote better understanding and appreciation of each other.

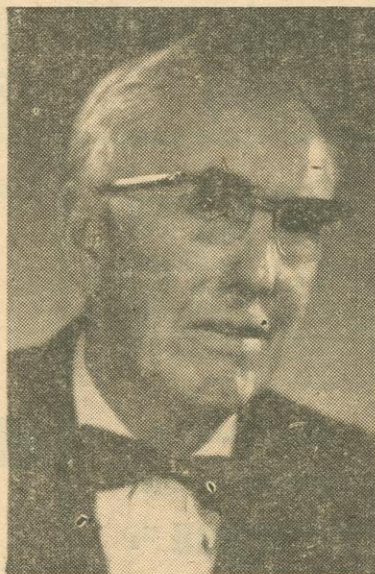

It just so happens that Dodgeville's oldest business man is engaged in propagating beauty, not the kind confined to the improvement of the appearance of the fair sex, but that dependent upon the cooperation of all artists, Mother Nature. Andrew Wedlake, who was 81 years young in September, operates the Dodgeville Green House, in partnership with his sister, Mrs. Bessie Walker.

Andrew, son of an early Cornish miner, was born in the Village of Mifflin Sept. 2, 1875 during its lead mining heydays. At the age of six he came with his parents to Survey community, two miles southwest of this city where mining was also at its height. He attended that old Survey rural school, which still stands at the crossroads, where he graduated in 1888. This was the first year that rural students wrote examinations for entrance into Dodgeville high school, which Andrew successfully passed. Prof. Beck was the principal and part of the high school students were crowded into the eighth grade room. Andrew quit before the close of his freshman year to assist his father on the farm of Dr. Pearce in this city which he had rented.

Three years later young Wedlake accepted a job at the Illinois Central depot for the learning of telegraphy under the direction of Agent G. E. McAfee. He also kept the records as part of his task and his salary was absolutely nothing as he was learning a vocation. Then came the chance to work in the mines near Silverton, Colorado, where his uncle, Frank Robbins, was foreman. The pay was a fabulous $2.50 per day and board.

Those were roaring times when miners sought recreation in the salons and dance halls of Silverton, six miles away. The curious Andrew took in the sights one evening and encountered one of those scantily clad, feminine charmers who followed one of the world's oldest trades. Only his family training and staunch Methodist background prevented him from succumbing to her wiles. Now he has reached that age where he must enjoy recalling this temptation and his triumph over sin. After a few months in the mountains of Colorado where his job was to break up huge chunks of lead ore and pack in into 100 pounds bags which burros transported on special saddles down trail three miles to the mill, Andrew returned to Dodgeville to assist his father on the farm.

On Jan. 10, 1900 Andrew Wedlake and Mable Reese were united in marriage and took up farming. Because of her illness they came to Dodgeville in 1924 where she died March 6, 1926.

For 11 years Mr. Wedlake worked winters with James Wilson in his feed warehouse and summers at the I.C. depot. A farmer at heart he decided that raising flowers would be an interesting vocation and as there was no greenhouse in Dodgeville he erected one on West Fountain street where he commenced operations Jan. 1, 1923. His present plans call for retirement Jan. 1, 1973 on his fiftieth anniversary in the business.

Andrew Wedlake has always been an upright, clean living citizen, an interesting conversationalist with a keen sense of humor. He is a student of the Bible and believes in its teachings. He seldom misses attending the men's classes in the Methodist Sunday school where many an enlightening argument ensues. He seldom comes off second best. He has been a member of the Masonic Lodge for 60 years.

Mr. Wedlake enjoys remarkably good health, but he did have one close call with death and believes that a higher power saved him. One day he had just returned from the cheese factory and was unhitching the team in a rain near the steel windmill. A forked bolt of lightning struck, one branch killing a horse in a nearby pasture and the other hitting the tower. A cow nearby was dried up for months and the ear of a horse he was unhitching acted as an antenna, the current coursing down over its wet head to the hand of Mr. Wedlake who was just un-snapping the reins. The horse was deaf for several weeks and Mr. Wedlake's right arm was numbed with a lump raised underneath. Only the fact that he wore rubber boots prevented him from being killed. For this and many other reasons Mr. Wedlake feels thankful for the many blessings and privileges he has enjoyed. A friendly man, he enjoys the respect of everyone.

She was educated in the schools of that village and the Platteville Academy and taught school several terms. She was united in marriage to Mr. Bainbridge Sept. 18, 1877, living in Mifflin until moving to her present

ONE IS KILLED TWO ARE BADLY HURT IN CRASH

Robert Rasmussen Meets Instant Death Near Asy- lum Tuesday

Robert Rasmussen, age 54, inmate at the Iowa County Asylum, was instantly killed Tuesday morning about 8 o'clock and Cyril Hawke, and Mike Aide of Linden were seriously injured when the car the latter were riding in struck Rasmussen, fracturing his skull. The accident happened at the foot of a hill a short distance east of the main gate to the Asylum and Home grounds.

Rasmussen and other inmates, with Wm. Koch, barn foreman, at the wheel, had started out with a truck to pick up wood. They stopped at the foot of the hill while Rasmussen jumped out of the truck to open a gate leading to a field on the north side of the road. Signs are posted along this road cautioning motorists to drive slowly.

As Rasmussen got out of the truck, a car driven by Bill Dickson, who was accompanied by Cyril Hawke, Mike Aide, Melvin Ihus, Ben Noggle and Wm. T. Hawke, all of Linden, came over the hill from the west carrying the men to work on a bridge located a mile farther east. The driver was unable to stop the car.

The road there is quite narrow and had he turned to the right the car would have gone into the ditch, so he swung out to the left of the truck where Rasmussen was standing, striking him violently. The car then overturned into the creek a few yards farther west.

The institution physician Dr. H. H. Morton was summoned and brought the Linden men to St. Joseph's hospital. Cyril Hawke, 58, was the most seriously injured having sustained a broken back and fractured jaw. Mike Aide, suffered a broken neck, scratches and bruises. Melvin Ihus had a broken collarbone but the others escaped with cuts and bruises.

Coroner Geo. W. Tyson conducted a hearing at the scene of the accident with the following sworn in as jurors: F. W. Kepke, Bert Ellingen, David B. Hoskins, Fred Holman, Clarence Olson and C. V. Berryman. After viewing the place where the tragedy occurred a recess was taken until the men confined in the hospital are able to testify.

The body of Mr. Rasmussen was taken to the Lulloff Funeral Home from where services will be held this (Thursday) afternoon at 1:30 o'clock with burial in the Barneveld cemetery.

Although not pre-arranged Mr. and Mrs. Winch met another Arena couple in Dubuque on the same mission. They were Miss Frances Powers, daughter of Pat Powers of Mill Creek community and Victor Marti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milt Marti. The happy couple will reside on a farm in Arena township.

HERMAN L. LINLEY

Herman Leon Linley, son of Sarah and Henry Linley, was born Feb. 8, 1869 on the farm in Arena which had been his home practically all his life. On March 7, 1894 he was united in marriage to Mary Wright who passed away in September, 1935.

To Mr. and Mrs. Linley were born five children, Leland of Parkdale, Oregon; Gertrude (Mrs. Frank Wolf) and John of Mazomanie; George of Cottage Grove; and Marion (Mrs. Alvin Jenkins) of Ridgeway.

Of the large family to which Mr. Linley belonged, only two survive, Gertrude of Mazomanie and Frank of Arena.

Death came entirely unexpected in the early evening of Jan. 12, 1940.

To be born, live one's life, and pass on, all in the same home, is experienced by few. The passing of one who has all his life been part of the community leaves a vacancy that is keenly felt.

The deceased was a member of the Community church of Mazomanie, to which his parents before him had belonged.

Funeral services were held from the home at 3 p. m. Tuesday. Rev. Shepherd officiating. Burial was in the Mazomanie cemetery.

Dodgeville Man Has Time—on His Shelves

DODGEVILLE—Moody S. Price, former chief of police here, is a familiar figure these days at the many auctions sponsored throughout Iowa county. But his bidding is confined to clocks.

A stranger fact, however, is that Price doesn't seem to care particularly if the clock is new or old, if it runs, if it has all of its parts.

Many he purchases are sans face, sans hands, sans wheels and gadgets. But Moody buys 'em and here's why:

In the Price home Friday there were 67 clocks, all running, all keeping accurate time. By today there may be more because auctions were held in the meantime.

They range from ultra-moderns to antiques 134 years old. They range in size from the grandfather clock just inside the hall to the three-inch model on the what-not.

Nearly all of them were purchased at auctions, although a few were picked up in junk piles and some were gifts from friends who thought they'd never run again.

Many have a story connected with them because Price, whose amateur watch-making ability is known the countryside, prefers them that way.

"If they don't have a story," he said, "they don't mean anything, so I sell those. But those which have something to tell, I keep them just for themselves."

Six came in a "sack of things" Price purchased when the Tom Mundy Pioneer Jewelry store here was dissolved. Another was the present of Thomas Harrison, Dodgeville's last Spanish-American war veteran.

The most accurate is the brass steamboat clock, taken from a Mississippi river side-wheeler when it was wrecked at Prairie du Chien. The finest of the two Seth Thomas models came from Billie Williams, an early Dodgeville druggist.

A late acquisition, but a novel one, is the clock from the Dodgeville grade school, which was wrecked last summer. Another regulator is one from the pioneer Cartwright Jewelry store, an early Dodgeville concern.

The most novel is a "cat-clock," constructed in the form of a sitting kitten which has a tail for a hand and replace lost hands but he gilds scratched interiors, paints new faces, and polishes expensive finishes.

Price's jewelry instinct was awakened when he was still a youth, living on his father's farm. A neighbor's clock refused to tick,

"... the monkeying corner ..."

Price said, "so I monkeyed with it." The clock regained vigor and Price has been "monkeying" since.

For many years clock collecting shared favor with gun gathering, so Price has between 40 and 50 guns in various stages of repair throughout his home.

Not to be out-done by her husband, Mrs. Price has a hobby too. She makes scrap-books and her seven volumes of clippings of events concerning Iowa county people would make a valuable addition to the "morgue" of any paper.

While it is a striking experience to be in the Price home while the 67 clocks are "ticking" it is even more striking when the approximately 50 sounding models mark the hour.

A. C. SCHEIDE GOLD WEDDING AT BARNEVELD

Friends Honor Them with
A surprise in School Gym
Saturday Evening

(Barneveld Corr.)

A fine community gathering was held at the high school gymnasium last Saturday evening where about two hundred people assembled to honor Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Scheide on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. The affair was well planned and a complete surprise to Mr. and Mrs. Scheide which made it all the more enjoyable.

Mr. and Mrs. Scheide had been invited out to a friend's home for supper. However, the driver somehow lost his way and delivered them at the gymnasium where they found a host of friends assembled to welcome and congratulate them.

A sumptuous supper was served followed by an interesting program of musical numbers, talks and reminiscences. The balance of the evening was spent in visiting. In addition to Barneveld people there were guests present from Madison, Blue Mounds, Dodgeville, Mount Horeb and the surrounding territory.

Albert C. Scheide and Isabella Clara Young were married Feb. 4, 1890 at Madison by the Rev. Updike. They at once established a home in Barneveld where he engaged in the mercantile business while his bride conducted a millinery establishment. Mr. Scheide conducted his store for twenty years, following which he engaged in the live stock buying business for nearly twenty years. For the past ten years they have retired to enjoy a well earned rest.

That Mr. and Mrs. Scheide have been good citizens and good neighbors is evidenced by the large group present to honor them. They greatly appreciate the tribute paid them and have the best wishes of a host of friends for many more happy anniversaries.

Rhoda Genevieve Blied, Robert G. Campbell Wed in Evening Nuptials

The dramatic effectiveness of an all-white wedding was proved once again when Miss Rhoda Genevieve Blied and Robert George Campbell exchanged their nuptial vows in a formal candlelight ceremony Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the First Congregational church.

The chancel was decorated with two large baskets of white chrysanthemums and white gladioli, and two 14-branched candelabra with lighted white tapers. The Rev. Alfred W. Swan performed the ceremony.

The bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Blied, 1325 Morrison st., was given in marriage by her father. Shimmering white slipper satin was combined with Chantilly lace in her princess gown. Simple in design, her dress featured a sweetheart neckline and three-tiered court train of the lace. From a crown of orange blossoms and net, worn far back on her blonde curls, the bride's fingertip veil of illusion fell in graceful folds. ANNABELLE CAMPBELL

Annabelle Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank G. Campbell was born at Barneveld, April 18, 1921. When a small child she moved with her parents to a farm near Dodgeville, later to a farm near Spring Green, where she graduated from high school with the class of 1940. As a child she received early Christian training; later she was baptized at the Spring Green Congregational Church, of which she was a regular attendant and a member of the Young People's Society.

After graduating from high school she went to Madison, where she was employed at the Cottage Cafe up to the time of her illness. On Nov. 8, 1941, Annabelle was taken seriously ill with strep infection of the blood stream, from which she never recovered.

On November 15 she entered a Madison hospital and later was taken to St. Joseph's hospital at Dodgeville where she would be closer to her family. She remained in St. Joseph's hospital three weeks where she received loving care from the Sisters of that place. Annabelle grew to love the Sisters and nurses and it was hard for her to say goodbye to them, when she received word requesting her to come back to the Wisconsin General hospital in Madison, where medical science had discovered a new treatment in the form of an operation performed on the heart. Annabelle was willing to have this operation as she had cooperated with the doctors and nurses all through her serious illness in the hopes that through her sufferings, others might be saved from this dreaded sickness, but all that loving hands and medical skill could do was of no avail and she willingly gave up the fight and was conscious to the end. She told her loves ones her arrangements for the last rites—she chose her scripture text, minister, pallbearers, flower girls and her favorite hymns.

Her blessed hour came April 12, 1942 when she peacefully fell asleep in Jesus at the age of 20 years, 11 months and 24 days.

The high esteem in which Annabelle was held by her friends was shown during her illness by the many blood donors, who gave their blood willingly so her sufferings would be lessened.

Of a happy, pleasant disposition, she will be missed in the home and the entire community, where she was always ready with a loving smile and happy words.

She leaves to mourn their loss, her father and mother, six sisters, Mrs. Bernard Leslie (Magdalene) of Linden; Mrs. Ervin Abraham (Alice Mae) of Waterloo; Clara Marie, Charlotte, Sonja, Judith Jean, at home; six brothers, Harland, U. S. Army, address unknown under sealed orders; Franklin, James, Emery, Jackie and Donald at home; a niece, Kathryn Lee Leslie and one nephew, Howard Ervin Abraham, many loving relatives and a host of friends.

Funeral services were held on Thursday, April 16 at 1:30 p. m. from the Roach Funeral Home, Dodgeville and at 2:30 from the Congregational church at Barneveld with Rev. Willis Miller of Ridgeway officiating.

Her mortal remains were quietly laid to rest in the White church cemetery, where they are awaiting the Glorious Resurrection. Sad, but peaceful was the Call, She was so dearly loved by all God took her Home—It was His will

But in our hearts, she liveth still.

Card of Thanks—Through the columns of the Chronicle we wish to thank each and everyone who so kindly remembered Annabelle while she was a patient in the hospitals with cards, letters, flowers, fruit, candy and calls. Especially do we wish to thank the blood donors. We deeply appreciate the kindness and help shown us by friends and neighbors, in Clyde and other places, during her sickness, death and burial. We wish to thank Rev. Miller for his comforting words in his sermon and song; Mrs. Margaret Kirschbaum and Mrs. Twila Convey for their duet and Stephen Harris for his solo and to Mr. Roach for his patient and excellent work. We want to express our appreciation for the many beautiful flowers and to those who furnished cars, to Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Flora for the use of their home in serving lunch to those who came from a distance. Your many, many kindnesses will never be forgotten. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell, the brothers and sisters.

Death Prevents Realization of Long Ambition

Career Ends 28 Days Before He Was to Take Office as Governor

Death late Monday cheated Orland S. "Spike" Loomis out of a life ambition.

Loomis, 49, veteran Progressive whose political career was climaxed last Nov. 3 by his election to the Wisconsin governorship, died quietly at 6:50 p. m. at Wisconsin General hospital, 28 days before he was to take the oath that would have given him the position he sought since he first entered the political arena.

His illness was sudden, unexpected.

He had conducted budget hearings all of last week and had appeared in the best of health. Early Saturday morning he was taken from his hotel to the hospital in a police ambulance, suffering from a heart attack complicated by a cold and grippe.

Sunday came a second attack, and Monday came three more—at 10:53 a. m., at 2:15 p. m., and at 3:08 p. m. An hour before noon Mr. Loomis had lapsed into a coma, but the end did not come until 6:50 p. m.

It came, attending physicians said, with "no terminal episode of any sort. He was just weak and stopped breathing. We couldn't get him started again. His chest was filled with fluid."

In the room as death came to the governor-elect were Florence Ely Loomis, his wife, Drs. Ovid O. Meyer and Margaret Nilsen, and two nurses.

Waiting in the hallway were the three Loomis children, Laura Jean; Robert, 20, who has been at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station; and John, 18, a freshman at Ripon college; Mrs. Nellie Karas, Mauston, a sister; and Larry Chambers, Mauston, Loomis' law partner.

Slaying Ends Drunken Brawl

Daniel P. Lynch Dies of Wounds

Daniel P. Lynch, 53, retired Middleton farmer and trotting horse fan, was shot to death early today as the climax of a drunken brawl in a tiny cabin at the Dane county fairgrounds, a mile south of here on Highway 12.

Authorities were holding Lynch's friend and fellow race enthusiast, Leon Showalter, 71, a horse handler and old age pensioner living at the fairgrounds. Dist. Atty. Norris E. Maloney said that Showalter admitted the shooting occurred about 2 a. m. after an all-day, all-night drinking tour by the pair.

Lynch's death was the fourth Madison killing in two months.

An inquest will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday in the courthouse.

Showalter said he shot in self defense when Lynch threatened him with a clawhammer. The brawl and shooting occurred in Showalter's one-room converted cabin trailer.

Lynch was killed by a bullet through the left chest, presumably from a snub-nosed .32 caliber revolver owned by Showalter. His head bore six wounds, one penetrating to the skull, believed from some instrument. The backs of his hands had deep cuts.

Showalter denied that he had inflicted the head wounds.

In questioning by Maloney and Sheriff Edward A. Fischer, Showalter said the brawl started from "kidding" Lynch about being unable to train horses. Lynch lived at Middleton and worked during the day at the fairgrounds, caring for his own two harness racers and two others. Showalter was handler for two horses owned by William Martin and Percy Leland, both of Madison.

County officers traced the movements of Showalter and Lynch as they went from tavern to tavern. They wound up with Lynch's car stalled in the snow at the Highway 12 entrance to the fairgrounds. Lynch obtained the help of Edward Morris, 47, an employee of Dr. J. P. West, to pull his car with a truck.

The case was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Joseph Walker, County Officers E. W. Kelzenberg and J. E. Hubbard, Fischer and Maloney.

Shoved Lynch Outdoors

Showalter said he was starting a fire in an oil stove in the cabin when Lynch returned and renewed the argument. They "pushed" each other in the little room, and finally he shoved Lynch outside, Showalter said.

Lynch kicked on the door and broke two small windows as he demanded entrance. Presumably the cuts on Lynch's hands were caused by broken glass in the windows.

Showalter said he warned Lynch to stop the havoc or he would shoot him.

"You haven't nerve enough to shoot me," Showalter said Lynch taunted him, calling him a profane name.

The old man shot through the "windshield" window in the trailer-home to "warn" Lynch, he said. Then as Lynch came through the door with a clawhammer upraised, he shot him, Showalter said.

"It was self defense," he said.

The gun contained three empty cartridge cases and two loaded bullets, but Showalter said he fired the gun only twice.

After Lynch had been hit, he turned and staggered out the door, Showalter said.

Showalter said he thought his bullets had missed him friend and he was relieved. However, he watched Lynch weave from the cabin and fall about 70 feet away.

"I Hurt Danny"

Showalter walked down a path past the body to the cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lovelace, employees of Dr. West, who were awakened by his hammering on the door.

"I hurt Danny," Mrs. Lovelace said Showalter told her when she answered the door. "I think I shot him."

Mrs. Lovelace summoned her husband at Showalter's request, and the horse handler said:

"Isn't it awful, Walt? Isn't it just awful."

The Lovelaces did not hear the shots.

Showalter and Lovelace then walked to the home of George Stahl, fairgrounds caretaker, who summoned the county officers.

Under Maloney's questioning at the county jail, Showalter said he refused to believe that his friend's head had wounds, Maloney ordered him taken to the Fitch-Lawrence funeral home where Showalter viewed the body.

"What killed him?" he asked.

Dr. W. L. Finnegan pointed to the bullet wound in the chest.

"What done that?" Showalter asked, pointing to the head injuries.

Maloney asked him if the wounds had been inflicted by one of Showalter's clawhammers, two of which were found at the cabin.

"Not by clawhammer," he said. "You bet I'm sure. I never had the clawhammer. I don't know anything about that."

Showalter's right cheek had a bloody abrasion.

Gun Found in Sink

Officials at first were unable to find the pistol which Showalter said he had thrown the length of the cabin. Fischer found it behind a kettle in the sink.

Mrs. Lovelace reported that Showalter said:

"He (Lynch) broke all the windows out of my house and smashed my door."

Showalter moved into the fairground shack about three years ago. His former home is Beetown, where he was a horse handler.

Showalter said he had been divorced about 40 years ago, and his wife, a retired postmistress, lives in Madison.

Lynch is survived by his wife and parents, all of Middleton. Owner of several farms near Middleton, Lynch had been working at the fairgrounds for about two years. His trotting horses had not been winners in recent years.

Lynch was reported to stay overnight with Showalter frequently.

Authorities said an autopsy and inquest would be held. Showalter submitted to a blood test to determine alcohol content early today.

Monday a car driven by Lynch figured in a minor accident on S. Park st. near the city limits. Lynch's car received a dented it.

Mazomanie's Century-Old Mill Burned

By MRS. EDITH BARNES
(State Journal Correspondent)

MAZOMANIE — Friday afternoon the village people saw clouds of smoke rolling up west of town.

Soon the news came that the old mill — Sawle's grist mill, was burning to the ground.

The site of Sawle's grist mill, is one of the oldest landmarks in this part of the country. This is the third time that disaster has visited this mill site — twice by flood, and now by fire.

A century ago, "Bill" Rowe came from England with the first settlers and built a saw mill between the upper and lower pond, which is three miles west of Mazomanie. Many of the settlers' homes were built from lumber sawed at Rowe's Mill. Later Rowe turned his mill into a flour mill, and people came from miles around to have their wheat ground into flour.

SAWLE

Attracts Relatives

Rowe was so impressed by this "Paradise" country of Wisconsin, that he influenced his relatives in England to come and settle here. William Sawle, the present owner of the mill, came with his father who was a sea captain. The Sawles were seafaring people, and adjustment from an ocean to a mill pond proved very difficult the first years. William Sawle worked for Rowe in the mill, and later became the owner.

Mr. and Mrs. William Sawle recently observed their 52nd wedding anniversary, and they have lived all their married life on a farm beside the old mill. Sawle changed the mill into a grist mill some years ago.

It is believed that a spark from the generator caused the fire which destroyed the mill. Eight hundred bushels of government feed were burned, and five or six tons of grist were lost.

If It Could Talk

If only the old mill site could talk, it would tell stories of adventure, of courage, of sorrow, of love, and of tragedy. The old mill saw the struggle of the first settlers, it saw the loyal Wisconsin boys go off to the Civil war, to the Spanish American war, to the first World war, and now, those little barefoot boys, who played around the mill ponds,—(was it just yesterday?)—they too have gone off to war!

The old mill witnessed the tragedy that befell the early mill owner, the Rowe's only child was drowned in the mill pond, and William Sawle's son was playing around the mill when he was caught in a belt of the machinery and killed.

But the mill-site has beautiful memories, too. How proud it must feel that for many years it has been the show place of the countryside, with its great stately trees, its flowers and its winding roads.

The mill which served so faithfully for many years is now gone, but the old land mark cannot be erased, and will hold the memories of the years gone by, forever.

Okay, Moody, What's the Time?

MOODY PRICE

Moody Price, retired chief of police at Dodgeville, is one man in town who never has to ask the right time. He is shown above in one corner of his living room with a few of the scores of clocks that he has collected in a hobby that has extended over several decades.

In a Tick-Tock Filled House, Price Lives with His Hobby

DODGEVILLE — Once in a while, Moody Price, retired chief of police in Dodgeville, is late for an appointment.

But he never tries to excuse himself by saying that he didn't know what time it was because people who know him would laugh him right out of town.

Moody, you see, has the largest collection of clocks in this city. His house is alive with them, and the incessant sound of their ticking fills the house with a queer restless sound of its own that is never hushed, year in and year out.

How many clocks Moody has is anybody's guess, including Moody's. He got up to 50 once, and then discovered he had over-looked a few in a what-not in one corner, some more under the table, and still had to tally the considerable numbers in the kitchen, the basement, and all over the house.

But then . . .

That wouldn't have stopped him, though, if he hadn't run across a bushel or so of alarm clocks and parts of clocks and he couldn't figure out how the parts should be counted!

Prize of Moody's collection is a century old grandfathers clock, although a pair of cuckoo clocks are close runners-up in his estimation, and the oldest clock is dated 1805.

With clocks, clocks, and more clocks lining the walls and filling the tables and shelves to the exclusion of anything else, Mrs. Price has herself a time dusting the clocks periodically.

And all of them run, for if they don't, out they go. When Moody gets a clock, he's a mighty busy man until he gets it fixed, and it's seldom that he fails to tinker a clock into running condition.

He Forgets

Once in a while, he forgets himself and asks a visitor what time it is, and this is always good for a laugh, for Moody can find the time of day from a half dozen clocks by looking straight ahead just about any place he happens to be in the house.

His idea of real fun is to get a bushel or so of alarm clocks at a jewelry store auction—or it was back in the old days—and tinker them back into running order again.

During the alarm clock shortage of the past year or so, though, he has been pretty well cleaned out of alarm clocks, for his friends have insisted in no uncertain terms that their need for a single clock is more vital than Moody's need for one more clock to his scores.

To be a perfect clock, Moody insists that each clock have a story, such as the clock he got which was salvaged from a Mississippi river steamboat wrecked at Prairie du Chien, or the one given him by Thomas Harrison, Dodgeville's last veteran of the Spanish-American war.

For more than an hour before he has breakfast, Moody wanders around the house winding all of the clocks that require that service once a day, and Saturday nights are reserved for winding the big 8-day clocks.

And, once in a while, a practical joker will set the alarms on a half hundred or so clocks for early the next morning and, as they all go into their symphony of cuckoos, tinklings, ringings, and all . . .

"It's quite a sight to see Moody hypering around in his pajamas and bedroom slippers trying to get them all shut off," says Mrs. Price.

DAVID LLOYD

David Lloyd, an honored citizen of LaMoure, N. D., departed this life on Saturday, March 3, 1945 at 11 o'clock, having reached the advanced age of 97 years, 9 months and 13 days. He had been in poor health for years, but the last illness was very brief.

Mr. Lloyd was born at Waunrhydd, Merionethshire, North Wales on May 20, 1847 and emigrated to America with his parents in 1850. He was the youngest and last survivor of six brothers and sisters. One brother Evan, died while crossing the Atlantic.

The family first settled in the town of Arena, later moving to the town of Ridgeway, now Brigham, and settled on what became the

David Lloyd

Lloyd family homestead. The family endured many hardships during the early years of their life in a new country, such as other pioneers have experienced. Mr. Lloyd often recalled those interesting early times.

He was educated in the common schools, the high school at Spring Green and Whitewater Normal. He early acquired a desire to teach school and be of help to young people. Many children were indebted to him for aid in obtaining an education. When only 16 years of age he took charge of his first school and followed that profession for several years. Later he engaged in the hardware and livestock business with his brother Robert at Blue Mounds.

In June of 1883 Mr. Lloyd went to LaMoure, N. D., and formed a partnership with his brother-in-law, A. J. Lockman, in the lumber business. This continued for 13 years and he then engaged in the farm loan and banking business. In 1898 he and others organized the State Bank of LaMoure which later became the First National of which he was president until his retirement in 1928. Mr. Lloyd also acquired extensive land holdings and was a prominent stockman in his community up to the time of his death.

Because of fine character and sound judgment his counsel and advice were often solicited by young and older men.

Mr. Lloyd was the oldest Mason in the State of North Dakota. He joined the Masonic order in Mazomanie, Wis., in 1871, later transferring his membership to the Mackey lodge of LaMoure in 1902. The following year he was elected treasurer of the lodge and held that office continuously until 1943, resigning because of failing health and eyesight.

On Nov. 19, 1921, the anniversary of his 50 years as a Mason, was celebrated by Mackey Lodge where he was honored with a life membership. During the same year the Grand Forks and Fargo lodges joined in presenting him with a badge as a token of appreciation of his record and example as a Mason. He was a charter member of the Bartholomew chapter of the Eastern Star and on Nov. 24, 1931 the chapter presented him with a life membership certificate.

David Lloyd lived an active life in the community, being honored and respected by all, always standing for the best and noblest things in life. He gave freely of his time and money to any and all worthy community interests.

During the years of the depression, while still interested in the First National bank, he gave freely of his resources to keep the bank operating and solvent. He sacrificed heavily to protect the bank and its depositors.

His interest in people and the affairs of the community never lagged until his last days. He had many fast friends up to the time of his death. Men and women who had attended his school, kept in communication with him.

Mr. Lloyd never married, but had a fatherly interest in his nieces and nephews, their children and grandchildren. He is survived by four nieces and nephews, 21 grandnieces and nephews, and other relatives.

Two brothers, Robert and David and a sister, Miss Elizabeth had established a home in LaMoure in 1907. Another member of the family is David Davis, the oldest nephew, who has faithfully supervised his uncle's farming and stock raising interests.

A sister, Mrs. Lockman, returned to LaMoure in 1911 following the death of her husband and remained a member of the family until her death in March of 1924, when a niece, Mrs. C. J. Raw and her husband came to maintain the home.

Funeral rites were held, as he had requested, from his home on March 5, with services conducted by a sincere friend, the Rev. L. R. Burgum, pastor of the Methodist church at Jamestown, N. D., and the Rev. Sathoff, dean of Jamestown college of which Mr. Lloyd was a trustee for 25 years. Rev. Sathoff paid a fine tribute to Mr. Lloyd for his unceasing interest in the college, and in young people in general. A quartet of ladies brought comforting messages in song, with Mrs. Clarence Alin as pianist.

The remains were accompanied by Mrs. Raw and D. L. Davis to Barneveld, where on March 7 services were conducted in the Congregational church by the Rev. Raymond Bawden, a friend of the family. Mr. and Mrs. V. C. O'Neill sang "Love That Will Not Let Me Go" and "Be Still My Soul," with Miss Marjorie Lewis accompanist.

Interment was in White church cemetery beside his father, mother, sister and brother. Burial was conducted under the auspices of the Barneveld Masonic lodge with Past Master A. G. Bass officiating. Six grand-nephews acted as pallbearers.

young man, Mr. Davis was taught the rigors of hard work and he remained on the farm until 1907.

IS CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER GRAVEL TRUCK

John Minix, Blue Mounds Park, Meets Shocking Death Friday

(Barneveld Corr.)

One of the most shocking deaths which occurred in Iowa county took place Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at Blue Mounds Park, about a mile from the Village of Blue Mounds. John Minix slipped under the rear wheels of a heavily loaded gravel truck and was instantly crushed to death as the wheels traveled the full length of his body. The driver stopped the truck just as the wheels cleared the body of the unfortunate victim.

Mr. Minix, proprietor of the famous Blue Mounds Park, has a modern home located on the shoulder of the mound near the park entrance. Extensive road work was under way in preparation for the opening of the tourist season. Frank Pascal of Hillsboro, employed by the John Bluel Trucking Co., of Madison, was hauling gravel to the roadway on top of the mound.

As Pascal drove into the park with his 3½ tons truck loaded with 6 tons of gravel, Mr. Minix came out of his home, waved for the driver not to stop and jumped on the running board. His foot slipped and was grabbed under the right drive wheel which passed completely over his body which was terribly mutilated. Fortunately Mrs. Minix, who was attending a church dinner, was not at home or she might have witnessed the accident.

Coroner F. W. Kepke and Sheriff Ray Reese were notified and found that no inquest was necessary. The body was brought to the Roach Funeral Chapel.

Mr. Minix had attained the age of 70 years but appeared to be much younger as he was very active. Almost his entire life was spent in Barneveld community where he engaged in the merchantile business and farming until he took up the development of Blue Mound Park, one of the most attractive places in Wisconsin. He was a gentleman in every sense of the word and enjoyed the respect of everyone. Few men are as well liked as was John Minix.

Mr. Minix is survived by his bereaved wife, one son, Wilbur of Chicago; two brothers, Charles of Blue Mounds and Roy of Omaha, Neb.; and four sisters, Mrs. Joseph Skoglund of Omaha, Mrs. Frank Alen of Norward, Col., Mrs. Wallace Malone of Madison and Mrs. Chester Mount of Kansas City, Missouri.

Funeral services, which were largely attended, were held Monday afternoon from the Congregational church with the pastor, the Rev. Donald Vanderwerp officiating assisted by the Rev. E. R. Anderson of Mt. Horeb. Burial was made in the White cemetery where impressive Masonic services were conducted by Past-Master August Bass.

Not only the family, but the entire community has suffered a distinct loss in the death of John Minix.

MRS. PETERS AND CHILD DROWN AS JEEP OVERTURNS

Kitten On Neck Causes Driver To Lose Control Of Car Monday

One of the most shocking tragedies which we have recorded for some time cost the life of an Iowa county mother and child Monday morning about 10 o'clock when the jeep in which they were riding overturned into a slough, just north of the Wisconsin river bridge, south of Spring Green. The victims were Mrs. Wesley Peters, 30 and her 2 year-old son Daniel, who met death by drowning.

Mrs. Peters is the daughter of Valdimir Hinzenberg and Mrs. Frank Lloyd Wright. She and her husband and two children resided with Mr. and Mrs. Wright at Taliesen in the town of Wyoming. Monday morning Mrs. Peters and two children, Brandoch, age five next December, and Daniel started for Spring Green to do some shopping. Brandoch took his pet kitten along in the car.

Some time after the accident the child told how the kitten had climbed on mama's neck. This evidently caused Mrs. Peters to lose control of the jeep just as they approached the south end of the cement bridge across the slough. The car swung to the west side of the highway, clicked the edge of the abutment and somersaulted into the slough where the two victims were pinned underneath the overturned car in about three feet of water.

Brandoch and the kitten were thrown clear of the car and the dripping youngster clambered up onto the highway and started south along the concrete. He had gone only a short distance when he met Glen Richardson, who operates the Bridge Garage and Store, traveling north in his wrecker. Mr. Richardson was accompanied by Donald Fogo. They stopped when they saw the boy, who evidently aware of the desperate situation, said "Will you please help us, we went into the water".

Richardson and Fogo hurried to the scene and succeeded in pulling little Daniel from underneath the jeep. They worked desperately to free Mrs. Peters, but in the mud and water they could not lift the jeep until a cable was fastened to the wrecker.

Although life was extinct the bodies of the mother and child were rushed to Madison in hopes they might be revived. Although a pulmotor was used, it was too late.

The father and husband, who was a student at Taliesen, before he met and married Svetlana Hintzenberg, was working in the garden unaware of the accident which had blasted his life and

Is There a Santa Claus?

The following, reprinted from the editorial page of the New York Sun, was written by the late Frank P. Church:

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun:

Dear Editor: I am 8 years old.
Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus.
Papa says, "If you see it in The Sun it's so."
Please tell me the truth; is there a Santa Claus?
—Virginia O'Hanlon.

Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the scepticism of a sceptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole of truth and knowledge.

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas Eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You may tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernal beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Hoeing and Praying

Said Farmer Jones in a whining tone,
To his good old neighbor Gray,
"I've worn my knees nigh through to the bone
But it ain't no use to pray.
Your corn looks just as good as mine,
Though you don't pretend to be
A shinin' light in the church to shine
And tell salvation's free.
I've prayed to the Lord a thousand times
For to make that 'ere corn grow;
An' why you'n beats it so, an' climbs,
I'd give a deal to know."

Said Farmer Gray to his neighbor Jones,
In his easy quiet way:
"When prayers get mixed with lazy bones,
They don't make farmin' pay.
Your weeds I notice, are good and tall
In spite of all your prayers
You may pray for corn till the heavens fall,

If you don't dig up the tares.
I mix my prayers with a little toil
Along in every row;
And I work this mixture into the soil
Quite vigorous with a hoe.
And I've discovered, though still in sin,
As sure as you are born,
This kind of compost, well worked in,
Makes pretty decent corn.
So while I'm prayin' I use the hoe
And do my level best
To keep down the weeds along each row
And the Lord he does the rest.
It's well to pray both night and morn
As every farmer knows;
But the place to pray for thrifty corn
Is right between the rows.
You must use your hands while prayin' the'

If an answer you would get;
For prayer-worn knees and a rusty hoe
Never raised a big crop yet.
And so I believe, my good old friend
If you would win the day,
From plowing clean to the harvest's end,
You must hoe as well as pray.

A MODERN MOTHER

(An appreciation that should have been written by a man I know).

She struggles hard to find the time
To play golf once each week.
She doesn't always find it, or
The other joys she'd seek.
She hasn't time for music clubs;
Her bridge game's not too strong.
She doesn't ride, or smoke, or write;
Her reading time's not long.
But she has wit and grace and charm,
She's all the world to me.
My half a dozen children are
The reasons she's not free!

'Just a Boy'

After a male baby has grown out of long clothes and triangles and has acquired pants, freckles, and so much dirt that relatives do not dare to kiss it between meals, it becomes BOY. A boy is Nature's answer to that false belief that there is no such thing as perpetual motion. A boy can swim like a fish, run like a deer, climb like a squirrel, balk like a mule, bellow like a bull, eat like a pig or act like a jackass, according to climatic conditions.

He is a piece of skin stretched over an appetite. A noise covered with smudges. He is called a tornado and leaves everything a wreck behind him. He is a growing animal of superlative promise, to be fed, watered and kept warm; a job forever, a periodic nuisance, the problem of our times, the hope of a nation. Every boy born is evidence that God is not yet discouraged with man.

Were it not for boys, the newspapers would go unread and a thousand picture shows would go bankrupt. Boys are useful in running errands, with the aid of five or six adults. The zest with which a boy does an errand is only equalled by the speed of a turtle on a July day. The boy is a natural spectator. He watches parades, fires, fights, ball games, automobiles, boats and airplanes with equal fervor, but will not watch the clock. The man who invents a clock that will stand on its head and sing a song when it strikes will win the undying gratitude of millions of families whose boys are forever coming to dinner about supper time.

Boys, faithfully imitate their dads — in spite of all efforts to teach them good manners. A boy, if not washed too often, and if kept in a cool, quiet place after each accident, will survive broken bones, hornets, swimming holes, fights and nine helpings of pie.
