The libraries provide public access to a wide range of material, including online exhibits, digitized collections, archival finding aids, our catalog, online articles, and a growing range of materials in many media.

When possible, we provide rights information in catalog records, finding aids, and other metadata that accompanies collections or items. However, it is always the user's obligation to evaluate copyright and rights issues in light of their own use.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a form of shorthand or a specific dialect, written on a piece of aged, torn parchment. The text is arranged in approximately 12 lines, though the lower portion is heavily obscured by damage and missing fragments. The script is dark and fluid, with some characters appearing to be ligatures or stylized abbreviations.
