Volume IV
Waterford High School, Waterford, Wisconsin

This air view of our high school and its environs stimulates one's imagination with regard to the future when the new athletic field, now in its initial stages, will have become an integral source of pleasure and pride to the school and to the community.

Intermingled with our plans for this book, there were thoughts of one who—no longer with us—had worked faithfully and joyfully on the art staff of last year's EMERALD. Inevitably, an art theme became our choice. Life, indeed, offers to each of us a picture to paint, and we all paint as best we can, adding our little touch of originality to make the picture exclusively our own as we hang it in our school's long gallery of successful lives.

*Heaven Is Sweeter
For Friends Gone Before*

You were all sunshine, like a morning in June.

Shadow and sorrow — you escaped from them quickly

With a song and a smile and a gay
whistled tune,

Or you picked up a pen and set to work
briskly

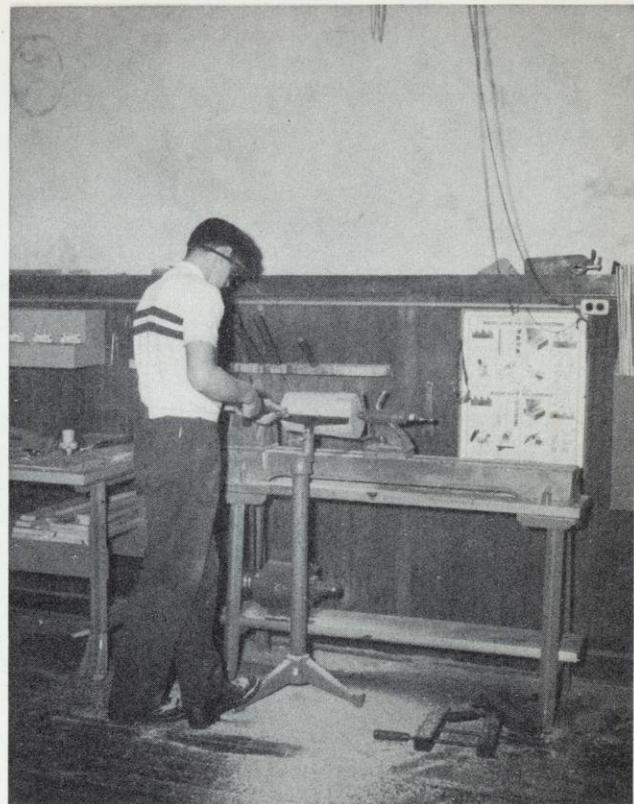

To sketch all the fancies that crowded so thickly.

"A picture you want? I'll do it this noon."

No one more willing — a pal to work for;

Yes, heaven is sweeter for friends gone before.

PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE

It is of prime importance that our schools provide successful experiences for our youths, giving them the opportunity to develop to the maximum all the capabilities which they possess.

In the chaotic world in which we find ourselves, a better type of education than ever before becomes increasingly necessary. We propose to continue the well-tried activities of our school, with constant evaluation, to the end that our students may be better fitted to meet the contemporary world.

I wish to express my personal wishes to the class of 1950 as its members take their places as participants in this challenging period.

Science . . . Mathematics

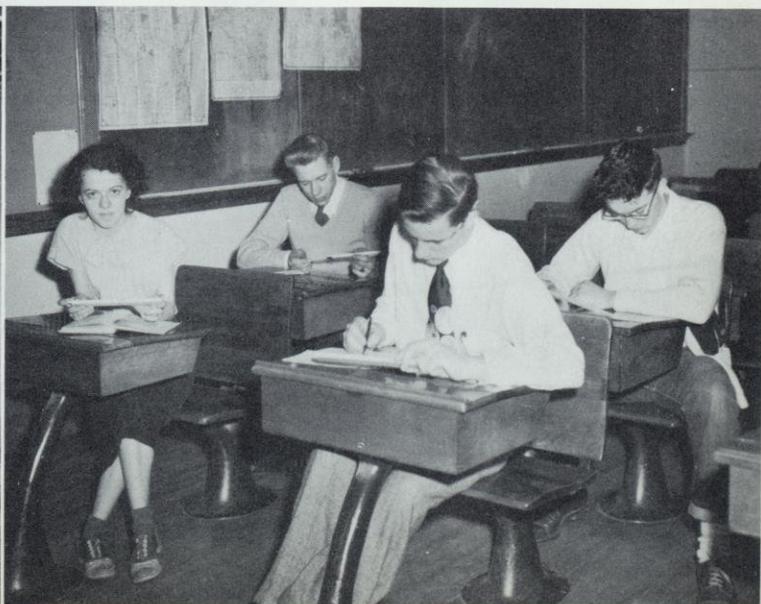

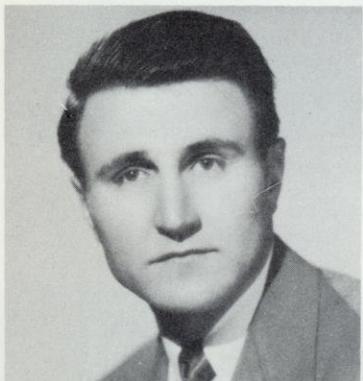

These students of chemistry have varied assignments depending upon their ability to construct chemical set-ups in the synthesis of nitrates, the production of gases, and the testing of mixtures and compounds for their composite elements.

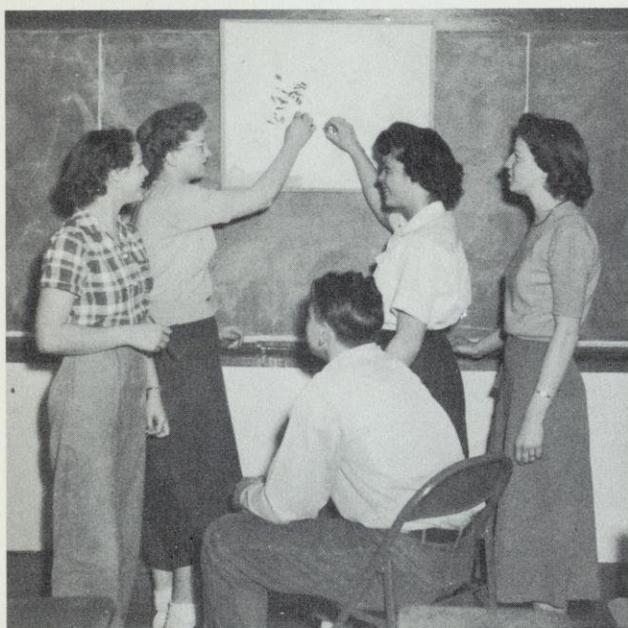

Like everyone else, the class in advanced algebra is interested in shortcuts, and the most important of these shortcuts is the use of the slide-rule.

In accordance with progressive methods, visual aids were used more extensively in the English program this year, two classes frequently combining to see a movie showing a new approach to spelling, composition, or reading. Authors' lives depicted on the screen enhanced appreciation of the literature studied.

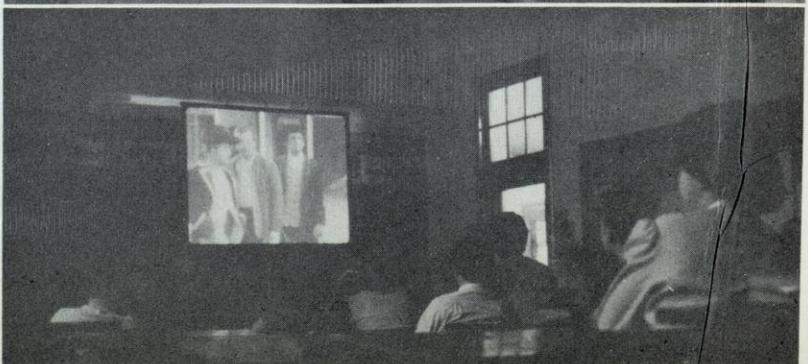

Students in this history class realize that we are indeed living in One World as they study the units designed to bring the world into focus and broaden their outlook on life.

Latin II students are particularly happy over the stories, puzzles, and jokes they decode in "Res Gestae", a Latin newspaper they subscribed for this year. The beginning classes have a new book "Latin for Americans". Supposedly a dead subject, Latin, is really one of the most interesting courses in school.

Vocational

The study of color, line, and design as applied to clothing, is a vital part of garment construction.

An innovation in Home Economics III this year was the study of Home and Family Relations. Here the bulletin board is being thumbtacked with clippings on the course.

George Laux, Robert Cahill, and Don Prill seem to find machine wood working a fascinating occupation if we are to judge by their earnest expressions.

D. A. R. Award

Joyce Callen, in the opinion of the faculty, was the outstanding senior girl of the year to be given the Daughters of American Revolution Award for 1950. Dependability, leadership, service, and patriotism were the important factors in making the decision.

Each girl named for the award submits answers to ten questions. Upon these answers is based the selection of the winner, who receives a $100 U.S. Savings Bond.

The time has come finally
For us Seniors to leave;
But our parents are happy,
And our teachers won't grieve!

Principal Ellis Evans, R. Kostrzak, Joyce Callen, C. Fisher.

Senior Honors

MARY BEAUMONT

Maintaining an average throughout her high school career, Mary Beaumont has earned the honor of being named valedictorian. In addition to her marked interest in her subjects, she was also a conscientious and valuable member of the Library Club, the Glee Club, and the G.A.A.

JOYCE CALLEN

The 1950 salutatorian, Joyce Callen, was an all-around good student and a leader in every worth-while activity. Active in journalism, class plays, Band, and Glee Club, Joyce has used her intelligence and abilities for the good of the school. She was named co-editor of the annual and was the faculty choice for the D.A.R. award.

ROCKROHR-SKARIE AWARD

The beautiful trophy on the right occupies the central position in the handsome trophy case located in the entrance hall to our school. The boys whose names are inscribed on this memorial were selected as most fitting to carry on in the spirit of Jim Rockrohr and Hans Skarie of the Class of '46. Following is a list of the recipients of the trophy so far:

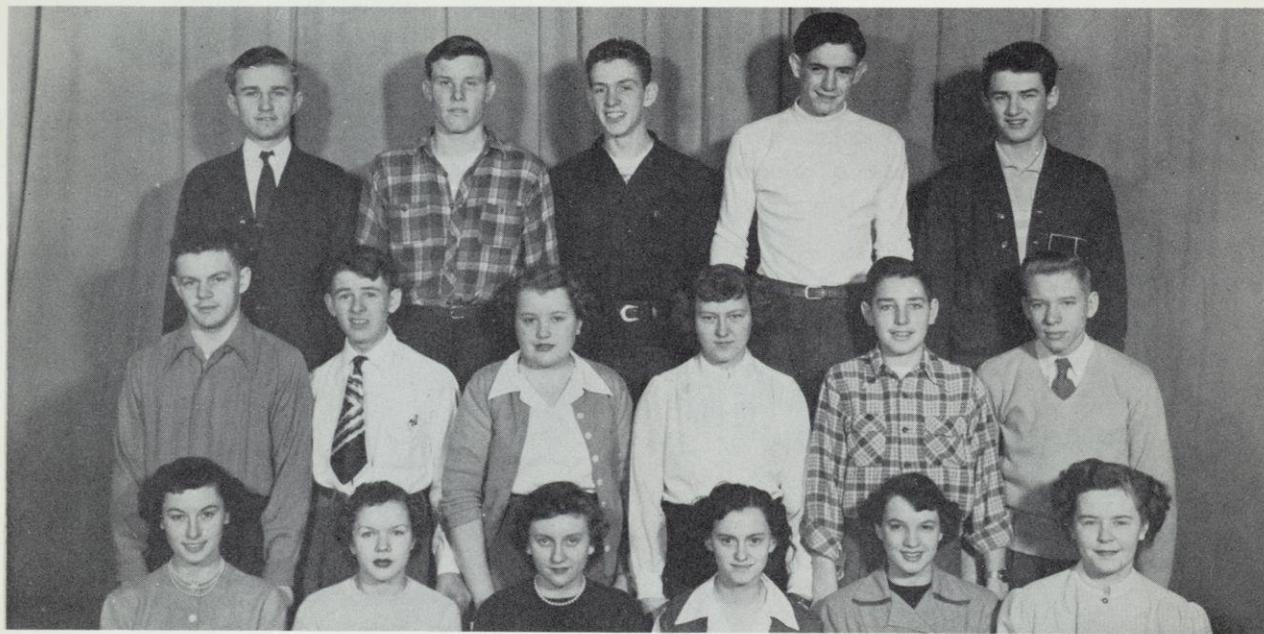

1946	Clem Zebrowski
1947	Richard Beck
1948	John Greil
1949	Donald Lewis

The award for 1950 will be made on Commencement Night.

Annual Staff

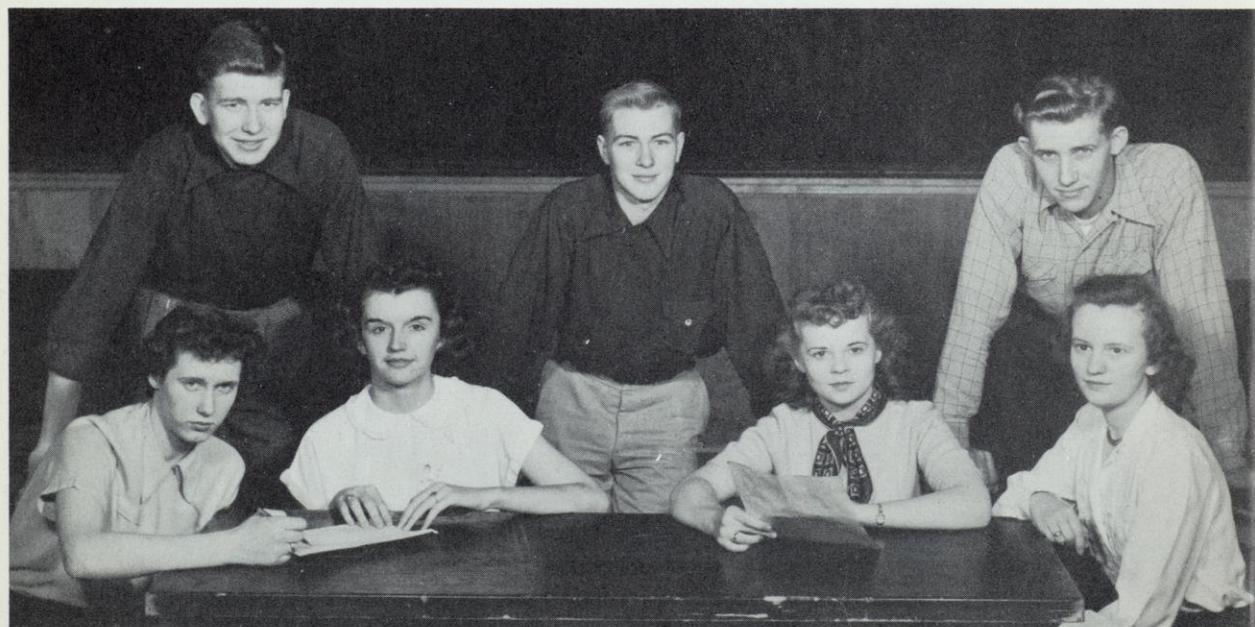

J. Van Valin, I. Schwarz, C. Paschen, L. Hall, J. Callen, J. Buenger, E. Clausen, M. Sorenson, J. Wiesenthal.

The Emerald for 1950 presented the accustomed challenge to the financial wizardry and editorial genius of the seniors, and they responded with a will. When sufficient sponsorships seemed to indicate a safe financial margin, work on the dummy began, pictures were taken, and copy was turned in to the editors.

June Van Valin was our artist; Richard Gehrand mounted the senior panels. All the staff members assisted in writing, typing, and editing the copy which went to the printer in March. The faculty adviser for the annual was Miss Handran.

Standing: R. Gehrand, G. Laux, C. Barthel.
Sitting: G. Sleik, M. Kipp, J. Sheard, J. Kolm.

Emerald Echo

Last fall Irene Mitsch became editor and Connie Sakowski, assistant editor, of our attractive school newspaper, the "EMERALD ECHO". Two new positions—Assignment Editor, Joyce Siebers, and Rewrite Editors, Geraldine Allard and Donna Malchine—were added to the staff. Clarence Barthel wrote "Sports" and June Van Valin was the full time artist. Mr. Stein is the very able faculty adviser.

On the list of new articles added this year are "Song Dedications" and "Melody Lane". The gossip page is now called "The Party Line".

Important improvements of the "Echo" were the ruling of the pages, the small sketches, and the eight page rotogravure.

Much work and time is required to edit a paper. The staff did their best to publish a good paper and hope you enjoyed reading it as much as they enjoyed writing it.

Student Council

This year the Student Council, using the money earned by the magazine drive of '49, sponsored all-school activities such as the Homecoming Parade and Dance, the Mid-Winter Hop, and a series of speeches to the student body. The first of these was by Lieutenant James Whittacker, co-pilot when Eddie Rickenbacker and his crew crashed at sea. Mr. Evans was faculty adviser this year. Officers elected were as follows: Joyce Callen, president; Walter Hansen, vice-president; Viola Kopalke, secretary; and Connie Sakowski, treasurer.

Library Club

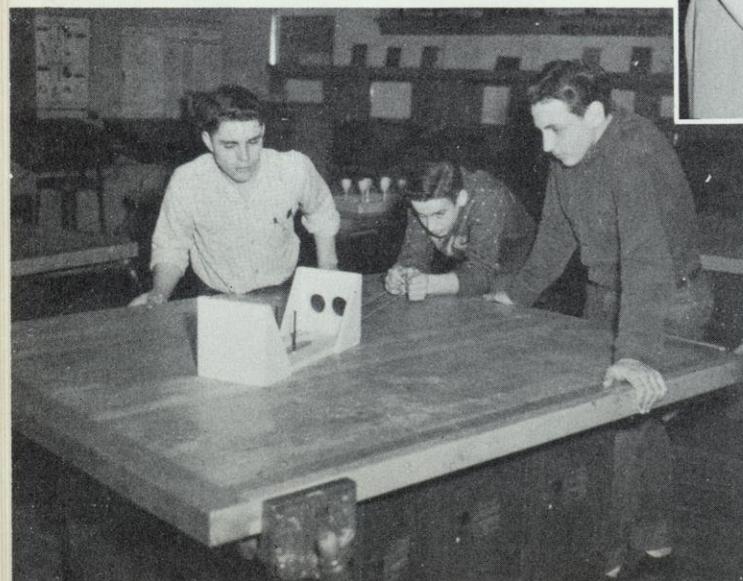

Each period cheerful assistant librarians are on duty. They check out books for students, keep the library neat, and help those who wish to find books. In their meetings, they learn how the system for checking out books works, how to use the card catalogue, and how to locate books by the use of the Dewey decimal system.

The officers this year are Marilyn Kipp, president; Marlene Laupan, vice-president; Jean Alleman, secretary-treasurer; and Darlene Lidholm, reporter. Mr. Kostrzak is the faculty adviser.

High School Notes

Editors Larry Hall and Charles Paschen assisted by Sports writer Clarence Barthel, Typist Shirley Rath, and the reporters met the deadline each week at the Waterford Post with High School Notes, the weekly column devoted to school news of interest to the public. Instruction on journalistic articles is given in a two-week newspaper unit during the junior year in English. The column in the Waterford Post gives all who desire it a practical outlet for applying this knowledge.

Drivers' Education

This year Driver's Education was taught to the sophomore girls by Mr. Kostrzak while Mr. Daugherty taught the sophomore boys. The students were given tests to discover eye weaknesses and to determine hand steadiness. At the end of the course, they were given final tests from the State Motor Vehicle Division. The students who passed the course were given a card recognizing their course in Driver's Education.

Dramatics

On November 15, fifteen members of the Junior Class presented a three-act comedy entitled "Papa Says No". It was directed by Miss Jennings.

The scene was the lobby of a small hotel in Florida. Miss Luella Watts (Jeanette Schimp) was an old maid who seemed to be able to get into everybody's business, especially that of Janet Page (June Van Valin) who was in love with Jack Prescott (Donald Woods) but couldn't marry him because her wealthy father (Larry Behling) objected. Her father had brought her to the hotel with the idea of sending her to South America but it didn't work out, thanks to Pete Carter (Keith Hulbert), who was at the hotel with his widowed mother, Mrs. Helen Carter (Peggy Widmer). He played the part of a girl and changed Mr. Page's ideas about love. The hotel staff consisted of the desk clerk (Dick Lukas), Joe, the bellhop, (Spud Mealy), Toots, the elevator girl (Jean Sykes), and the two waitresses (Bernice Paap and Nancine Rupert). Mrs. Hawkins (Donna Malchine) and her daughter (Jackie Paap) furnished some laughs in their attempt to get a hotel room.

Art Morgenroth, who played the detective, had the pleasure of taking Miss Watts to jail for stealing Mr. Page's passport, even though she didn't really steal it. It had been put in her coat by mistake. The play ended well, though, with Jack marrying Janet and Mr. Page marrying Helen Carter.

A welcome respite from first hour study hall is furnished twice a week to the members of the Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs which meet separately under the direction of our new music director, Joseph G. Lombardo.

Our band got under way this year when the second semester brought Mr. Lombardo, a very capable band leader. Approximately thirty members comprise the band, which meets twice each week on Mondays and on Wednesdays. On Mondays the children from the Graded School who are taking lessons on some band instrument join the high school band.

Those who wished to take part in the solo and ensemble tournament went to Whitewater on Saturday, March 25; in April the entire band participated in the annual music festival.

During the school year the band played for the first two basketball games, during the Basketball Tournament at Waterford, for some of the pep sessions, and for an assembly program.

Forensics

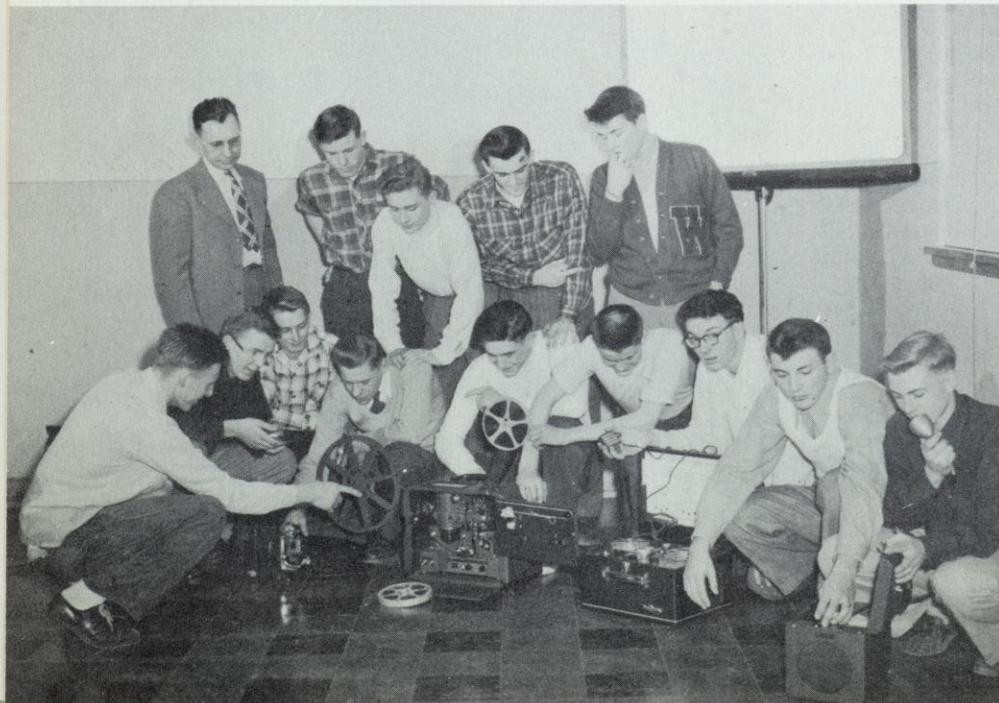

Top Row: Chapman, Daugherty, LaCombe, C. Paschen, Hall, Rockrohr, Sleik, Buenger.
Bottom Row: Bosch, Kipp, Siebers, G. Allard, Widmer, Laupan, J. Schimp.

At the League Contest held March 8 at Palmyra, Waterford topped rival schools by garnering four A's and six B's. The four who went on to the District Contest at Fort Atkinson were Larry Hall in humorous declamation, Peggy-Jo Widmer in serious declamation, Jim Buenger in oratory, and Irving Petersen in original oratory. Last year, Joan Malchine received B in humorous declamation at the District Contest, and Jim Buenger progressed to the State Contest at Madison where he was awarded a silver medal in oratory.

Top Row: C. A. Daugherty, Krautkramer, Woods, Brooks, Daugherty.
Bottom Row: Lindner, Buenger, Shepard, Lukas, Becker, Mealy, Hall, Kramer, Laux.

With Herbert Lindner as president, Everett Hegemann as vice-president, and Jim Buenger as secretary, the Projector Club took charge of the visual aids program in the high school. Equipment now includes a movie projector, film-strip projector, and a tape-recorder. Mr. C. A. Daugherty is the sponsor for these junior and senior boys who are eligible for the club.

Junior Prom

The Señor from Mexico pulled his hat over his eyes, wrapped his colorful sarong more tightly about him, and proceeded to doze beside his lilac-filled cart. He had stopped to get a drink at the water hole in the oasis, laid down his mandolin, and decided to take a short siesta.

Suddenly he wakened enough to realize it was no longer twilight but still his beloved Mexico. It had become sparkling and alive with beauty and color and music. Very quietly he watched. A large crowd had assembled, so large that he could no longer see his desert gardens, the blooming cactuses or the purple foothills. The adobe house, hung with water jugs, gourds and richly colored Mexican clothing, now housed live, gay and busy señoritas.

Suddenly all was very quiet and far away on the hill behind the goats, musicians began to play. Then a court of honor consisting of Margaret Patterson, Marjorie Moore, Beverly Engel, and Ellen Olson awaited the arrival of Prom King Lawrence Greil and his lovely Queen Marilyn Henkel. With the crowning of the queen, the royalty descended the stairs and were joined by other señoritas and their escorts.

"Truly a Fiesta in Heaven" muttered the peon at the water hole as he watched the graceful march perfectly executed. Then when the couples passed, he sighted a diminutive couple—Tommy Mucci and Roberta Allard—brown eyed, dark skinned, and picturesque in their costumes—What were those people taking from them? He watched quietly, attentively, and then became overjoyed, for every person on the floor was receiving a picture of himself.

"Truly a beautiful party," he thought and went sound asleep.

The people who created this Mexican promenade of South of the Border were the Juniors of Waterford High School. The date was May the twelfth, 1949, and the co-sponsors were Cathryn Fisher and Lawrence Stein.

Cheer Leaders

At tryouts held in the gymnasium early in the year, the student body balloted on the cheerleaders of their choice, subject to the approval of the faculty.

Those who qualified were rewarded with the handsome new uniforms pictured above. They did their part by appearing faithfully at every game and leading cheers for pep session in the gym. Mr. Kostrzak is faculty adviser.

The 1949 football season saw a fighting Waterford eleven win four games and lose three. This year's Wolverines' team came out fourth in the conference standings.

In the first game of the season the squad traveled to Pewaukee for a non-conference tilt which saw the Wolverines pull the game out of the fire in a thrilling second half. Pewaukee scored late in the first half and led 6-0 at the end of the first half. Then the Green and White eleven came back with a roar and late in the third quarter drove 81 yards only to be stopped on the 4 yd. line. Pewaukee kicked. Again the Wolverines drove deep and this time scored. Alby kicked the extra point and the Wolverines won, 7-6.

The first conference game pitted Waterford against Rochester at Waterford. The Green and White eleven, working smoothly, swept to its first conference win, 25-0.

Waterford drew first blood in the initial period with an off-tackle smash by Hansen, good for 19 yards. In the second half, the Aggies threw two passes which were both intercepted and run back for touchdowns. Then early in the final period an unexpected end-run caught the Aggies flatfooted, and Halbach raced to the final touchdown with Alby again adding the final point.

The next game saw a championship Wilmot team take advantage of a Wolverine eleven which fumbled three times inside the ten yard line in the first quarter. It was Wilmot's Homecoming, and the final whistle found the Wolverines on the short end of a 26-0 score.

A fighting-mad Waterford team bounced back in the next contest. The Wolverines' first string, playing only half the game, made 34 points to swamp Union Grove on the Grover's Homecoming. In the first quarter, Lindner scored twice and Hansen once. The regulars were then rested, while a scrappy second string played the second quarter. In the third quarter, the regulars again scored two quick touchdowns.

Walworth was the next opponent and they too were downed. Heads up line play and good team work made possible a victory over a strong Walworth aggregation. The highlight of the game came when one of the Wolverine backs drove through a huge hole in the line and twisted and turned

Season

50 yards to score. The final score Waterford 19, Walworth 0.

The Homecoming game showed a Wolverine team, decidedly off their stride, lose to a strong Mukwonago eleven, 13-0.

Then on Nov. 2 the Wolverines' squad played its final conference tilt and lost a heartbreaker to East Troy. Waterford took the kick-off, on a bitter cold, snowy day, and marched 70 yards down the field to score on a 12 yard pass from Buenger to Roepe, for the Wolverines' lone tally. The rest of the half was a see-saw battle. The last half saw the Green and White drives continually stopped by penalties. Then with five minutes remaining in the fourth and final period, Metzke, East Troy's huge end, caught another pass for the extra point and the margin of victory.

The golden touch of Lady Luck was denied a scrapping Wolverine Quintet throughout the '49-'50 basketball season. Despite the loss of three key men by graduation, the squad showed up well and developed into a fine defensive unit.

In the season opener a large home crowd saw the boys play a good game, only to lose to East Troy, 36-31. In the next conference tilt, Waterford lost to an experienced, championship-bound Wilmot five, 54-21.

The first non-conference contest with St. Mary's was a seesaw battle which was won in the last two minutes by the Saints, 32-26.

Again on a strange court, the Green and White five lost to a strong and undefeated Rochester team, 45-20. Spurred on by four defeats, the Wolverines then bounced back to a well-earned victory by downing a highly rated Muwkonago five, 28-21.

Union Grove was the next opponent in the season's most exciting game which was decided by a free throw during an overtime period. The Grovers won 35-34.

In the second non-conference tilt the Green and White turned back a strong Racine Lutheran team, 36-31.

Things were beginning to look better now and returning to conference play, the Wolverines, not to be denied this time, took things into their own hands and severely trounced a game Norris team 45-33.

On the return contest with East Troy their center provided the attack and led the Trojans to a 49-28 victory. After a rough and hard fought battle with Wilmot the Wolverines found themselves on the short end of a 42-19 score.

The Wolverines then played the last non-conference tilt and lost by a narrow margin of 4 points to a red hot St. Mary's team. The final score was 35-31.

The Racine County Aggies team was our next foe in a rough and tumble battle which saw Rochester shade the Wolverines, 37-27. The team then journeyed to Mukwonago where the sharp shooting Indians edged Waterford, 36-33. Union Grove visited the Wolverines in their own den and went home victorious by a score of 37-20. Still fighting, however, the Wolverine quintet came back to take the last conference game with 45-42.

Then playing host to four schools in the sub-district tournament, Waterford came in fourth with their best game of the year by completely snowing under Union Grove 43-13 to avenge two previous losses at the Grovers' hands. The following night the Wolverines went down fighting against the Rochester Aggies 36-22, to bring down the curtain on a rugged season.

B Squad

Waterford's B team had a very good 1949-50 season, finishing a close second to Rochester. In conference play, the Cubs won 9 and lost 3 and in non-conference games won 1 and lost 2.

In the first game, the Cubs encountered East Troy. Staving off a last quarter rally, the Cubs won 16-15 with a balanced scoring attack. Going to the road for the first time, the Cubs beat Wilmot 28 to 7 on fine defensive play. Alberts led with 11 points.

Playing the first non-conference game with St. Mary's at home, the Cubs won 23-21, but their pennant hopes were shattered when they journeyed to Rochester and lost 35-12. Becker was high with 6.

The Cubs played host to Mukwonago. Cracking a tough man-to-man defense, the Cubs squeezed out a 22-18 win. Then they met Union Grove on the latter's home floor and won easily 42-23. Becker and Ranke netted 13 and 10 respectively.

The Cubs met Racine Lutheran at home in a non-conference tilt. The score was 26-19 with Becker registering 11 points.

The Cubs played the All-stars, made up of players from different teams, in the intramurals and lost 31-13. In conference play again, the Cubs played host to Norris Farm, winning easily 31-21. Paulson was high with 8.

Rounding the half point of the season, the Cubs met East Troy and won 19-15 in a nerve tingling game. Kransel led with 12.

The Cubs met Wilmot at home and won 19-13. Ranke was high with 6 points.

In the return game, the Cubs found St. Mary's very tough on their own floor and lost 30-18. Mealy was high with 8 points.

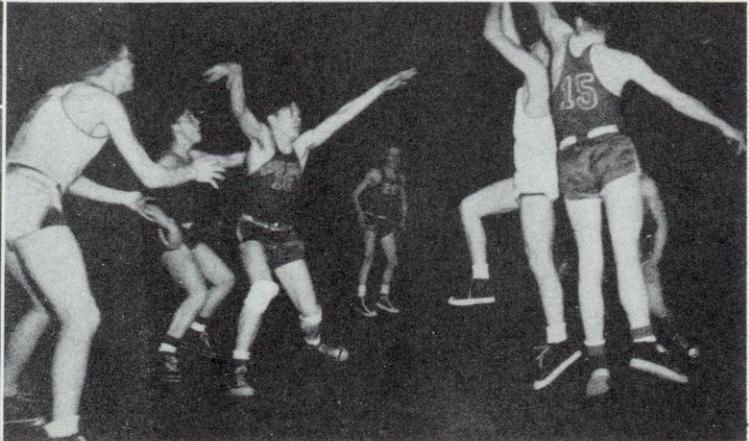

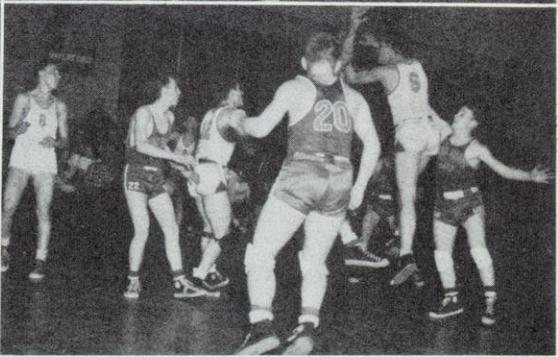

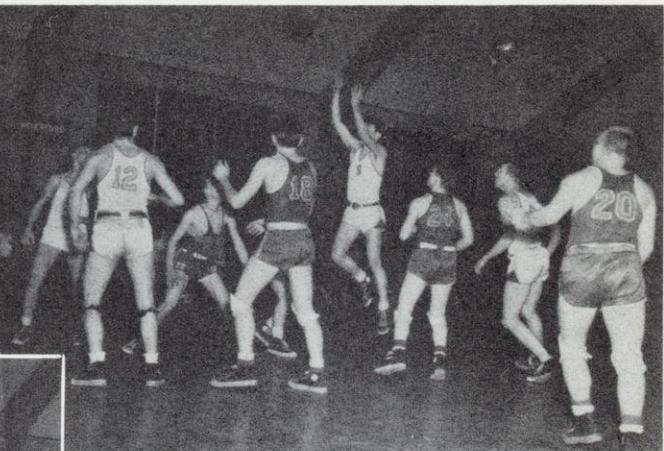

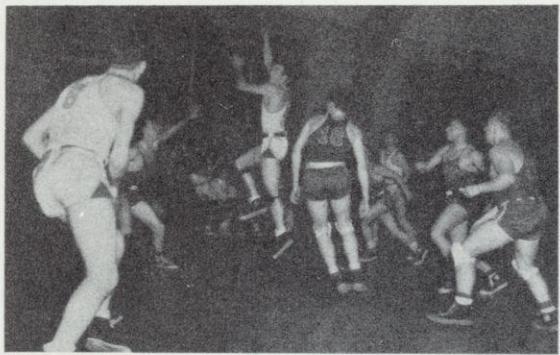

In hopes of obtaining at least a share of the title, the Cubs played host to undefeated Rochester. Although tied at the end of the third quarter, the Cubs lost 29-24. The Cubs journeyed to Mukwonago but lost 23-12. Morgenroth caged 6 points. At home, they met Union Grove and won 26-12. Behling and Kransel led the scoring with 7 and 6.

Climaxing the season, the Cubs met Norris Farm and won 35-29. This entitled them to second place in the conference. Huening and Behling were high with 10 each.

Kneeling: Cahill, Prill, C. Paschen.

The fighting nine from Waterford came through with two wins and four losses in the 1949 season. The Wolverines started the season strong by winning two of the first three games. The first game was a no-hitter pitched by Sylvester Krautkramer, with the Union Grove pitcher allowing only one hit. The final score was 4 to 1. Waterford lost the second game to Rochester in extra innings. In the ninth inning, with a man on second and third, Taylor hit a line-drive to Rintleman, who dropped the ball to allow the winning run to score. The final count was 5 to 4 in Rochester's favor. A week later Waterford came back to trounce Norris 7 to 5 in a game which Waterford went on a hitting spree.

From here on to the finish of the season, Waterford had some trouble getting back into the win column. The next game was lost to Mukwonago 10 to 6. Waterford then went to East Troy to lose 6 to 5 after coming from behind only to be outscored by East Troy. In the last game of the season, the Waterford team was beaten by Wilmot, 8 to 0.

The team for the 1949 season was made up of the following players: first base, Glen Droses; second base, Don Lewis; short stop, Jim Buenger; third base, Don Rintleman; catcher, Gene Daugherty; pitcher, Sylvester Krautkramer, and also captain of the team; left field, Larry Krautkramer; center, Clarence Barthel; and in right was Walter Hansen. Some of the substitutes who saw action were Bob Cahill, Don Prill, Bill Rademacher, Charles Paschen, Gene Ranke, and Harry Ranke.

Class Prophecy

The crystal ball revealed many promising careers among the Seniors of 1950.

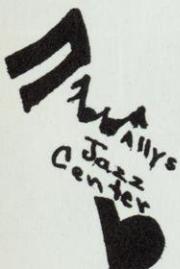

For instance, Larry Hall is going to compete with Bob Hope as comedian of Hollywood. But he isn't the only one in Hollywood. Betty Allen and Dick Johnson will be there, too, as an actress and an actor. Joanne Kolm is going to be a cover girl and Marilyn Kipp, a TV star.

George Laux will own a night club in Hollywood and Vine and Gerry Allard will be employed as cigarette salesgirls.

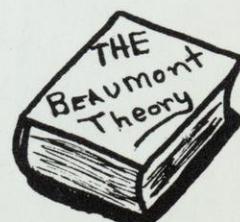

When we come to more serious things of life, we see Diana Kellner as an artist; Mary Beaumont, an author; Gloria Mayer, an interior decorator; Shirley Rath, president of Whitewater State Teachers' College; Marilyn Brown and Jean Alleman are librarians; and Elaine Clausen is a Home Economics teacher.

To liven things up a bit Wally Hansen will turn Medly's into a jazz center; Dick Gross will ride in the motorcycle races at the Worlds Fair; Larry Greil will invent paper airplanes equipped with radar; and Joan Alby will be a rich fortune teller.

When we go to church we will see Gerald Brooks. He was found to be the reincarnation of some ancient Tibetan llama and was converted. Joyce Callen will own a chain of restaurants, and Clarence Barthel will be the baker.

Herbie Lindner will manufacture bubble gum, and we will find Dick Gehrand as his salesman. Don Leighton will paint the signs for advertising.

When Jean Sheard is Secretary to the Admiral of a Fleet, she will send important news to Waterford and Irene Mitsch will publish it in the Waterford Post, of which she is the editor.

Delores Bothe and Irene Kojis will be on a famous square dance team and they will be accompanied by Irene Schwarz, a nationally known pianist. Joan Wiesenthal is Irene's teacher.

Bill Rademacker is a dress designer, and his wife, Joyce Siebers, is his model.

Charles Paschen, who will invent a cure for freckles, will be a famous chemist, and Don Kramer will be the doctor at the hospital of which Gerry Sleik is superintendent.

Roger Roepke will compose an invisible textbook, while Ernie Curnow is a Professor of Relaxation.

Nancy Doyle, Marjorie Sorenson, and Mary Popp, as housewives, will often visit Betty Dillar in her own Beauty Shop.

We can't leave Don Prill and Ralph Huelskamp out of this, even if they are bachelors.

Jim Buenger will be the Daniel Webster of the 20th century and Everett Hegemann will build dog houses, his millions being made through this project.

We do not see any more futures in the crystal ball, so we will finish saying the best of luck to you and your careers.
