State of Wisconsin
Office of the Governor

Anthony S. Earl

July, 1985

Form follows function: that is what modern architects say, and it is also true of state government in Wisconsin. If the ideals of good government have approached perfection in our state — a state of pioneering legislation and scrupulously clean public administration — it is, in part, because we have adopted a form of governing which has lent itself to progressive ideas.

In this Blue Book, Dr. H. Rupert Theobald, chief of the Wisconsin State Legislative Reference Bureau, offers us a comprehensive guide to the rules and procedures of governing which have helped to make Wisconsin the forward-looking state that it is. One could not ask for a steadier or more helpful guide than Dr. Theobald, and his essay may be considered a classic of its kind.

But it is also timely. Wisconsin now faces a crucial period of change. Its competition and opportunities have become global. The pressures on the state to excel in education and expand in opportunity have never been more compelling. Wisconsin must change today to meet the challenge of tomorrow.

My administration has restored Wisconsin's solvency, improved the tax climate and challenged "business as usual" in a host of ways. It has also respected the dignity of the individual, fought poverty and discrimination, rewritten the economic rules of the health care industry and crafted the most far-reaching reform of the personal income tax since its inception here in 1911.

We have known the rules of government, and the rules have made us free to do the right and timely thing for Wisconsin. I hope all who read this Blue Book will come away with a clear sense of how form, function and freedom interact for the betterment of all our people.

Sincerely,

Anthony S. Earl
GOVERNOR

INTRODUCTION

What is a "blue book"? Although the phrase is used in several contexts, the appropriate definition for our purposes is: "a book of specialized information often published under government auspices". Within the scope of that definition, the Wisconsin Blue Book has evolved from an 1853 manual containing the rules of the Assembly "together with such statistical matter as .... will be useful", into a comprehensive volume of detailed information about the state government of Wisconsin. It was officially designated the "Blue Book" in 1879.

In recent decades, changes in the Blue Book have been significant, with the 1968 and 1970 editions particularly notable. Prior to 1968, state departments were listed alphabetically. While this made it easy to locate a particular agency description, it did nothing to aid the reader in understanding the interrelatedness of various departments and the scope of the state's functions. In 1967 the Legislature enacted a major reorganization of state government. One of its side effects was to make it practical to group state agencies by function, thus enabling the reader to better comprehend the nature and tasks of the government. Reorganization also standardized departmental structure and nomenclature, permitting us to show the same data for each department in a comparatively uniform fashion.

If the 1968 book made it easier to grasp the main themes of the state government's activities, the 1970 edition took a giant step toward summarizing those activities, again so that you, the reader, can visualize the overarching themes of the government. That edition brought to the book the Framework of Wisconsin Government, the profiles of each branch, and the accomplishments of each through the summary of legislation enacted by the Legislature, the accomplishments of individual agencies in the executive branch, and the summary of significant Supreme Court decisions.

An organization chart of each state agency first appeared in the 1973 Blue Book, adding a more pictorial aspect to agency descriptions.

Over the years the size of the Statistics Section has gradually increased, as we have tried to present a picture of the state through statistics.

1966 saw the inclusion of biennial budget and employment data for each department, and — more handsomely — began the tradition of 4-color covers. Since that time, Blue Book covers have featured state symbols and Capitol interiors, but — most frequently — the State Capitol itself. This year's cover again shows Wisconsin's magnificent Capitol, flanked by the spectacular floral displays created by landscape architect Michael Stark.

Changes in the Blue Book, of course, have not only been substantive, but have reflected the revolution that has occurred in the printing of the book. The appearance of the book is vastly different today from that of 30 years ago. The staff of the Department of Administration's WISCOMP (photocomposition) Section have been active colleagues in giving the Blue Book an up-to-date look.

All these changes have been designed ultimately to help the readers more readily understand their state government. Since "the past is prologue", past changes augur future changes as government and technology change. Again, what is a blue book? What our Blue Book is and what it will become depends upon the constantly changing government itself, and government changes reflect changes in society, that is, in the people of our state and nation.

Patricia V. Robbins, Deputy Chief

*Wisconsin's congressional districts based on the results of the 1980 Census of Population are established by Chapter 154, Laws of 1981, as affected by Chapter 155, Laws of 1981. A correction note in U.S. Census publication, PC80-1-B51 (p. 6; published August 1982), shows a 1980 Wisconsin population of "4,705,642". However, all redistricting is based on information furnished to the states under federal P.L. 94-171. For Wisconsin, the tape received on 3/23/81 showed a statewide population of "4,705,335". On 11/16/81, the Census Bureau certified corrections bringing the total to "4,705,767"; on 5/24/82, to "4,705,521". Since that is the final corrected figure certified by the Census Bureau to the Wisconsin Secretary of State, all redistricting, including the legislative districts promulgated on 6/17/82 by the U.S. Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin, is based on a statewide total of "4,705,521".

RULES AND RULINGS

Parliamentary Procedure from the Wisconsin Perspective

Dr. H. Rupert Theobald
Chief, Legislative Reference Bureau

Introduction

In a democratic society, decisions are made under rules of parliamentary procedure. This feature article reviews parliamentary procedure from the Wisconsin perspective. It is hoped that it will be widely read in Wisconsin schools, so that the Wisconsin Blue Book will again prove "useful for civics classes in schools" as directed by Section 35.24 (1) (a) of the statutes. The author also hopes that those who read this feature article will share his pride in being a part of this unusual state.

The Wisconsin Legislature is often cited as a model among state legislatures, not only because many innovative ideas were first enacted into law in this state, but also because of the comprehensive and internally consistent quality of the Wisconsin law product. There are many reasons why this should be so. Such reasons may include the heritage and traditions of the people of Wisconsin and their unshakable faith that good government and useful education improve the quality of life. Such reasons may also include the rational procedures under which Wisconsin government, at all levels, goes about its business in the public interest.

If the Wisconsin Legislature is a leader among state legislatures, the credit must go to the presiding officers who have guided the law-making process since the Territory of Wisconsin was founded in 1836 and the State was born in 1848, and to the men and women who have served in the Wisconsin Legislature during all that time. Our Legislature operates under rules of procedure based on precedent. Each new generation has faced new problems and, in trying to find solutions, has found itself in situations requiring new decisions. Each succeeding generation has built upon the experiences of its predecessors. By codifying parliamentary decisions of precedential value, each new Legislature has been able to refine and improve the rules of procedure.

Having been first so many times, the Wisconsin Legislature early recognized the opportunities of the computer age for procedures improvement. Beginning with the text of the 1965 Wisconsin Statutes, the laws were translated into machine-readable form to assist legal research. In the 2 decades that followed, a bill-typing system expanded to include subject and author indexes to legislation, bill histories, legislative journals, research reports and other applications (including the preparation of the Wisconsin Blue Book). Two years ago, this author discovered that the computer records prepared to typeset the daily Journals of the Senate and Assembly had been saved on tape, beginning with the 1973 Senate Journal and the 1975 Assembly Journal. For the period covered, the tapes made it possible to find every ruling on a point of order and every "parliamentary inquiry" requesting the presiding officer to explain a legislative rule or procedure, and how the knowledge gained from the rulings and explanations was incorporated into the rules of the Wisconsin Legislature.

As to the rulings, 2 types can be distinguished: 1) rulings documented by the presiding officer in writing after consultation of precedents and standard sources (the presiding officer's written decision is printed in the Journal); and 2) on-the-spot rulings which merely state that the point of order was held "well taken" or "not well taken" because the issue was already covered by a codified rule. For each on-the-spot ruling made during the sessions of the 1979, 1981 and 1983 Legislatures, this author then researched the issues raised by the point of order and the codified rules on which the decision was based, and wrote a note explaining the circumstances.

The author is indebted to former Speaker Ed Jackamonis, Senate President Fred Risser and Speaker Tom Loftus for their assistance and helpful suggestions, and for the time they took to review the notes and manuscript for completeness and accuracy. Many others were consulted; among them, the counsel and experience of Dick White and Michael Youngman (Speaker's staff), of Robert P. Knowles (Senate President pro tem., 1967 to 1974), and of Norman C. Anderson (Assembly Speaker, 1972 to 1976), were particularly appreciated. However, the author alone is responsible for the opinions and conclusions found in this article.

Government by Consent of the Governed

As a system of government, democracy grows from the consent of the governed. During 1984, grass roots revolts in Massachusetts and California — by initiative petition and referendum — to reduce the parliamentary freedom of their state legislatures appear to indicate that the governed have withdrawn some of their consent. In both states, the initiatives attempted to supersede rules of legislative procedure by statute law; in both states, the initiated law was found to be in violation of the common constitutional guarantee that each house of a state legislature may determine the rules of its own proceedings.

In a legislature, proceedings remain productive only when all members ultimately accept the rectitude of their self-imposed rules and of the chair's decisions thereunder. Do the proceedings of the Wisconsin Legislature suffer from the same alleged inequities that gave rise to the initiatives in Massachusetts and California?

This article is the result of a review of the rules of the Wisconsin Legislature, and of the rulings interpreting those rules made by presiding officers during the last 10 years. In Wisconsin, every "reform" sought without success in the other 2 states either is part of today's legislative procedures or, reviewed and debated in open forum, could not support its claimed benefits. Judging from the experience of the past decade, the self-imposed rules governing the procedures of the Wisconsin Legislature provide a sound basis for the continued flourishing of representative democracy in the State of Wisconsin.

Rules of legislative procedure

In the second sentence of Section 5 of Article I, the Constitution of the United States proclaims that, in the U.S. Congress, "each house may determine the rules of its proceedings". This is a fundamental principle, basic to a democratic society in which a doctrine of separation of powers protects the right of each coequal branch of government to regulate its own conduct.

With one exception, the power to make rules to govern its own proceedings is today specifically granted by the state constitution to each house of every state legislature (the constitution of North Carolina is silent on the subject).

In our state, the grant of power is stated in Section 8 of Article IV of the Wisconsin Constitution, in words which echo the federal statement: "each house may determine the rules of its own proceedings". Apparently, permitting each house to set its own rules was an issue so well settled that the grant was included in our state constitution without debate. If there was any discussion at all, it is not recorded in Milo M. Quaife's comprehensive, 4-volume, constitutional series of the Wisconsin Historical Collections published by the State Historical Society.

Except for the change from mandatory to permissive (which the committee may have considered a stylistic change), the Wisconsin phrasing has remained unchanged since it was first proposed by the Committee on Constitution and Organization of the Legislature on October 21, 1846, at Wisconsin's first constitutional convention, to read: "each house shall determine the rules of its proceedings". The permissive style had already been used in the federal model; its Wisconsin adoption subsequently enabled the use of house rules, or joint rules, or a combination of both, as desired by each legislature.

Beyond the challenge of any other body or tribunal

As well accepted as the principle is today that "each house may determine the rules of its own proceedings", the 1777 Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union did not mention a procedural rule-making power. Some very basic rules were prescribed in the concluding paragraphs of Article 9: a quorum for the conduct of business required a majority of the states, and any delegate could ask for a roll call vote.

To permit each house to determine its own rules of procedure is a natural outgrowth of the premises of "separation of powers" and "checks and balances" embodied in the Constitution of the United States. It appears to have been adopted without controversy. The grant of internal rule-making power to the 2 branches of the national legislature was not discussed in the Federalist Papers essays written by Alexander Hamilton, James Madison and John Jay in support of state ratification of the new U.S. Constitution.

Thomas Jefferson, in Section I [1-b] of his famous Manual of Parliamentary Practice, does not comment on the power given each house of Congress to make its own rules of proceedings. Jefferson quotes with approval from Mr. Hatsel (a commentator on English parliamentary practice) that the observance of rules may be more important than the specific content of the rules:

And whether these forms be in all cases the most rational or not, is really not of so great importance. It is much more material that there should be a rule to go by, than what that rule is; that there may be a uniformity of proceeding in business not subject to the caprice of the Speaker or captiousness of the members. It is very material that order, decency, and regularity be preserved in a dignified public body.

The power of each house of Congress to determine the rules of its own proceedings has been litigated only once, and in that case the method of establishing the presence of a quorum (i.e., a ruling by the presiding officer) rather than a rule of the House of Representatives was challenged. The case was United States v. Ballin, 144 U.S. 1 (1892). On page 5, the court said:

The Constitution empowers each house to determine its rules of proceedings. It may not by its rules ignore constitutional restraints or violate fundamental rights, and there should be a reasonable relation between the mode or method of proceeding established by the rule and the result which is sought to be attained. But within these limitations all matters of method are open to the determination of the house .... The power to make rules is not one which once exercised is exhausted. It is a continuous power, always subject to be exercised by the house, and within the limitations suggested, absolute and beyond the challenge of any other body or tribunal.

According to the annotated “analysis and interpretation” of the U.S. Constitution published in 1973 by the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress (pocket part to July 1980), only 2 other cases have touched on the power of Congress to govern its proceedings under its own rules. In United States v. Smith, 286 U.S. 6 (1932), the court held that a congressional rule affecting private rights was a proper subject for judicial construction. The Senate’s attempt to reconsider its confirmation of a person nominated by the President as chairman of the Federal Power Commission was not warranted by the rules of the Senate and could not deprive the appointee of his title to the office. In Christoffel v. United States, 388 U.S. 84 (1949), a “divided court upset a conviction for perjury in the district courts of one who had denied under oath before a House committee any affiliation with Communism. The reversal was based on the ground that, inasmuch as a quorum of the committee, while present at the outset, was not present at the time of the alleged perjury, testimony” was not given before a “competent tribunal” because the committee was not properly constituted at the time of the testimony.

We will not intermeddle in .... purely legislative concerns

Quite in contrast to the scarcity of U.S. Supreme Court rulings construing the supremacy of the U.S. Congress over its internal rules of procedure, the Wisconsin Supreme Court has clearly expressed on a number of occasions that it will not investigate the Legislature’s compliance, or the compliance of either house of the Legislature, with the internal rules of procedure of the Legislature or of one house — as long as the law passed was treated by the respective houses in accordance with all applicable constitutional requirements.

In the recent case of State ex rel. La Follette v. Stitt, 114 Wis.2d 358 (1983), the court stated, at p. 364:

....this court will not determine whether internal operating rules or procedural statutes have been complied with by the legislature in the course of its enactments .... we will not intermeddle in what we view, in the absence of constitutional directives to the contrary, to be purely legislative concerns....

Courts are reluctant to inquire into whether the legislature has complied with legislatively prescribed formalities in enacting a statute. This reluctance stems from separation of power and comity concepts, plus the need for finality and certainty regarding the status of a statute [citing Baker v. Carr, 369 U.S. 186, 215 (1962)]....

If the legislature fails to follow self-adopted procedural rules in enacting legislation, and such rules are not mandated by the constitution, courts will not intervene to declare the legislation invalid. The rationale is that failure to follow such procedural rules amounts to an implied ad hoc repeal of such rules.

The Stitt case also quoted Sutherland’s Statutory Construction, volume 1 (4th ed.) sec. 7.04 at page 264:

The decisions are nearly unanimous in holding that an act cannot be declared invalid for failure of the house to observe its own rules. Courts will not inquire whether such rules have been observed in the passage of the act. Likewise, the legislature by statute or joint resolution cannot bind or restrict itself or its successors as to the procedure to be followed in the passage of legislation.

“Wisconsin”, said the court in Stitt, “has long followed this general rule”. For instance, the Wisconsin Supreme Court held in 1891 (McDonald v. State, 80 Wis. 407, 411-412) that “no inquiry will be permitted to ascertain whether the two houses have or have not complied strictly with their own rules in their procedure on the bill, intermediate its introduction and final passage”.

In 1923, in State v. P. Lorillard Co., 181 Wis. 347 (at page 372), the question was:

....whether sec. 13.06, [1921] Stats., which required the legislature to refer appropriation bills to the joint committee on finance before passage, meant that such bills had to be referred by each house before final passage. This court, in rejecting the argument that each house had to refer the proposal, pointed out that there was no constitutional requirement involved and moreover, that the statute as written did not require reference by each house. This court stated: “This is a question of policy for legislative, not judicial, determination.”

Similarly, the Wisconsin Supreme Court ruled in 1968, in Outagamie County v. Smith, 38 Wis.2d 24, 41, that:

This court will not interfere with the conduct of legislative affairs in the absence of a constitutional mandate to do so or unless either its procedures or end result constitutes a deprivation of constitutionally guaranteed rights. Short of such deprivations which give this court jurisdiction, recourse against legislative errors, nonfeasance or questionable procedure is by political action only.

In only one case, State ex rel. General Motors Corp. v. Oak Creek, 49 Wis.2d 299, 329 (1971), had the Wisconsin Supreme Court ever implied that a statute might be invalid because the Legislature failed to comply with the mandate of a legislative procedure rule expressed as a statute. Said the court in the Stitt case (at page 368):

....Because this dicta is inconsistent with the uniform holding of prior Wisconsin cases and the general rule which limits a court’s authority to invalidate legislation only for constitutional violations, we withdraw this language in the Oak Creek case and expressly disavow any implication that this court will invalidate legislation when it finds the legislature has violated a procedural statutory provision in passing an act.

Judicial reluctance to inquire into legislative adherence to legislative rules must not be misunderstood. Clearly, it does not mean that a legislature need not comply with its own rules. It merely means that the courts will not force a legislature to observe its own rules of procedure (unless failure to observe the rule violates a constitutional requirement).

When Section 8 of Article IV of the Wisconsin Constitution provides that “each house may determine the rules of its own proceedings” it not only grants to the Wisconsin Legislature a power to make rules, but also places on the Legislature itself the burden of seeing that the rules are observed.

Legislative rules not subject to lawmaking initiative

On December 14, 1983, the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts ruled, in Paisner v. Attorney General, 458 N.E.2d 734 (Mass. 1983) that the constitutional power of each house of the legislature (in Massachusetts, “General Court”) is “unicameral” and distinct from the legislature’s “bicameral” power to make a law.

Not decided was the question of whether the people could have used the power of initiative to amend the constitution itself. In rescinding to the people of Massachusetts a lawmaking power by popular initiative, the Massachusetts Constitution prohibits religion, certain fiscal laws, and some basic constitutional rights, as topics for "constitutional amendments and laws" which may be enacted by referendum. The unicameral rule-making power granted to each house of the Massachusetts legislature is not among the protected basic rights for which change by initiative and referendum is expressly prohibited.

At issue was a proposed initiative to create a statute law on the procedures for: 1) nomination of presiding officers; 2) appointment of majority and minority floor leaders; 3) nomination, approval, and election of committee chairpersons; 4) selection of committee members; 5) reports by committees; 6) discharge of legislative matters by petition; 7) approval and signing of favorable committee reports; 8) recording of committee votes under certain circumstances; 9) public notice of committee sessions; 10) a mandatory public hearing on every bill; 11) printing of daily calendars, bills, and roll calls; 12) creating a committee on legislative administration and budget; and 13) salary differentials for legislative leaders.

Finding that the people's power by initiative and referendum to make a "law" was coextensive with the legislature's power to enact a law by bicameral action, the court held (at p. 739):

....each branch of each successive Legislature may proceed to make rules without seeking concurrence or approval of the other branch, or of the executive, and without being bound by action taken by an earlier Legislature.

....the Commonwealth has statutes which directly relate to the internal proceedings of the two Houses .... obviously accomplished by the voluntary participation of each of the two Houses. Thus each House was essentially engaged in its rule-making function.

....procedural statutes are not binding upon the Houses; consequently they are not laws in the [constitutional] sense .... Either branch, under its exclusive rule-making constitutional prerogatives, is free to disregard or supersede such statutes by unicameral action.

....Where internal proceedings are concerned, future legislative sessions cannot be bound by an action of the [legislature. The] discretion to determine the method of procedure cannot under the Constitution (Part II, c. 1, sec. 2, art. 7, and Part II, c. 1, sec. 3, art. 10) be abrogated by an action taken by an earlier Legislature.

The court concluded that the initiative petition, because it attempted to use statute law to establish rules for future legislative sessions, claimed a power for the people which was greater than that of the legislature. This was "clearly wrong". The power to make rules to govern its internal conduct is a unicameral power granted exclusively to each house of the legislature. Consequently, the initiative petition did not propose a "law" and was "not a proper subject for the popular initiative".

In December 1983, the press seems to have considered the Paisner case a local Massachusetts issue, of interest mainly to the New England area. By contrast, California's Proposition 24 of June 1984, the "Gann Initiative" to reduce the power of the legislative leadership, received a great deal of national attention.

One of the reasons for this attention was the personality of Paul Gann. "Mr. Gann", wrote the Christian Science Monitor of June 11, 1984, "is the crusty populist and lobbyist-at-large who teamed with Howard Jarvis to sponsor Proposition 13 in 1978, launching a national wave of tax-cutting, and Proposition 8 in 1982, the country's most sweeping get-tough-on-criminals measure."

Like the earlier Massachusetts initiative, Gann's "legislative reform act" addressed many issues concerning the power of each house to adopt rules to govern its own proceedings. Beyond that, however, the California initiative proposed to cut the legislature's budget for 1984-85 staff and expenses to 70% of the 1983-84 level ($141 million). To the voting public, commented the Monitor, "political arcana probably captures few imaginations. It was more likely the chance to cut a politician's budget that won over the public." The first time many voters encountered Proposition 24 may have been in the voting booth and, at that point, they "saw it as a money-saving measure without understanding all the political intricacies."

Aside from cost cutting and "political arcana", it is likely that Proposition 24 had partisan political overtones and was aimed directly at the power of Democrat Willie Brown, the speaker of the California Assembly. "The initiative was written by a small group of Republican assemblymen who found themselves, they thought, completely stripped of power by a Democratic majority", claimed the California Journal of October 1984. Paul Gann, himself, had in 1980 been an unsuccessful Republican candidate for the U.S. Congress. Whatever the background, the votes on Proposition 24 in the June 1984 election were 53% to 47% in its favor.

Clark McKinley, reporting from Sacramento for United Press International on November 29, 1984, gave the following overview of the initiative's content:

A reduction in the Legislature's appropriations by 30 percent, or $37 million in 1984-85.

A one-vote majority maximum on the Assembly and Senate Rules Committees for the prevailing party, which in these days is the Democratic Party. The two housekeeping committees are routinely used by Democrats to control legislation, pay bills, make contracts and hire and fire aides.

Restriction of membership on other legislative committees in proportion to the party's numbers in the Senate and Assembly.

Approval by two-thirds vote of any new rules, the establishment of new committees, appointments by the Assembly speaker and disbursement of legislative money.

The UPI story continued: "The measure sharply curtailed the powers presently wielded by Assembly Speaker Willie Brown, D-San Francisco, who virtually runs the Assembly. Because the Senate is organized differently than the Assembly, with the Senate Rules Committee holding much of the power, the Senate's top leader, David Roberti, D-Los Angeles, was less directly affected .... By requiring a two-thirds vote on rules changes, it allowed the Republican minority to effectively counter Democrats who hold a 25-15 edge in the Senate and a 47-33 advantage in the Assembly."

Two former speakers of the California Assembly — one of them a Republican — were quoted in the same UPI story. Their assessment was less partisan. As former speakers, they were concerned about the future of the legislature as an institution; they pointed out that the two-thirds vote requirement

“changes the rules by which the Legislature is governed so that any minority ... has the power to prevent the Legislature from legislating.”

The initial court challenge of Proposition 24 was turned down by the California State Supreme Court on June 20, 1984. The vote on the initiative had not yet been certified. In order to challenge the measure on constitutional grounds, the law first had to take effect. The next action was filed on October 23 in the Sacramento superior court. This suit was brought by the backers of Proposition 24, to seek full implementation of the initiative.

Judge James Ford, in an oral decision given November 29, 1984, ruled Proposition 24 unconstitutional. As reported by the wire services, Judge Ford noted that: “It’s obvious Proposition 24 is the popular will of the people of this state. There is no question about that. [But] that will, however popular, must bow to the Constitution.” According to UPI, Judge Ford held that there was only one issue: “whether the Legislative Reform Act is in violation of the constitutional right of the Legislature to” choose its own officers and adopt rules for its proceedings. “The mere fact that a statutory initiative sets rules forth does not necessarily make the rules law.”

According to the Associated Press, the judge “threw out the entire initiative, including the 30-percent budget cut, despite pleas by Gann’s attorney that the cut could be upheld even if the rest [of the law] was not”. Said Judge Ford: “The Legislative Reform Act is unconstitutional, is void and has no force and effect.” Speaker Willie Brown and Senate President pro tem Roberti, on the other hand, were mindful of the political implications. Both, as reported by UPI, immediately announced that “in keeping with the public’s expression there [are] no plans to restore the $21.2 million budget cut in the Assembly and $15.8 million in the Senate.”

Majority rule: the cornerstone of democracy

William Safire, the nationally syndicated columnist of the New York Times, on the occasion of the 1985 anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, attributed Lincoln’s preeminence in American history to the president’s preservation of democratic government by majority rule. Safire’s column was reprinted in the Wisconsin State Journal of February 12, 1985. Lincoln, wrote Mr. Safire:

...held a central idea: ... that the essence of democracy was majority rule.

If the losers in an election could pull out and set up shop for themselves, the result would not be independence and freedom but a never-ending cycle of subdivision and anarchy.

...majority rule makes the United States the most stable polity in the world. After the closest, most bitterly divisive elections, the power passes majestically and peacefully — as if there were no other way....

We are a superpower today not because we are 50 states, but because we are a democracy. We are a democracy, and the last best hope of the earth, because we have enshrined majority rule.

That is the difference Lincoln made. That is why we celebrate his birthday.

Majority rule is “enshrined” in American democracy. Thomas Jefferson already expressed it as a simple declaratory sentence: “The voice of the majority decides” (Jefferson’s Manual, Section XLI [41-m]). Indeed, Jefferson quoted the earlier English writer Hatsell to the effect that the rules of parliamentary procedure are the direct result of the principle of majority rule:

....that as it is always in the power of the majority, by their numbers, to stop any improper measures proposed on the part of their opponents, the only weapons by which the minority can defend themselves against similar attempts from those in power are the forms and rules of proceeding which have been adopted as they were found necessary, from time to time, and are become the law of the House, by a strict adherence to which the weaker party can only be protected from those irregularities and abuses which these forms were intended to check and which the wantonness of power is but too often apt to suggest to large and successful majorities. (Jefferson's Manual, Section I [1-a])

The procedures handbook quoted by parliamentarians at every level of American society, Robert's Rules of Order, in its first section (page 3) calls majority rule the "basic principle of decision in a deliberative assembly":

...to become the act or choice of the body, a proposition must be adopted by a majority vote; that is, direct approval must be registered by more than half of the members present and voting on the particular matter, in a regular or properly called meeting at which the necessary minimum number of members, known as the quorum, is present.

Paul Mason, the long-time parliamentarian of the California state Senate, calls majority rule "a fundamental and seemingly universal principle". In Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure, all of Section 50 is a discussion of "majority control":

1. A fundamental and seemingly universal principle is that at least a majority vote is required to make decisions for a group. It would seem in fact that no other rule would be capable of application, for to require more than a majority to reach any decision confers on less than a majority the power to block or prevent a decision. If powers are given to a minority the question would immediately arise — to what minority is the authority given? In any group there can be but one majority, but there may be many different minorities. The requirement of a majority to take an action is not in any sense an arbitrary rule but is a fundamental principle. The only deviation from this rule is that sometimes a plurality, under a special rule, is permitted to elect.

2. The power which establishes a public body can require the vote of more than a majority to take certain actions, but unless more is clearly required a majority can take any action which the body has the power to take.

3. In public bodies without a definite membership, like town meetings, if notice of a meeting has been properly given then the members who attend the meeting can act for the entire group.

For the Wisconsin Legislature, the principle of majority rule has been codified as a joint rule:

JOINT RULE 12. Required vote total. (1) Unless a different and higher total vote is required by the state constitution for a specific action, all questions are decided by a majority of a quorum.

Wisconsin's joint rule is of relatively recent origin. It was enacted by 1977 Assembly Joint Resolution 23 as part of a general overhaul of the joint rules because, "enshrined" or not, the principle of majority is not always as well understood as it should be. In fact, an old requirement, self-imposed by the legislature, survived even the codification of the majority rule principle. Joint Rule 96 (1) continued to say:

No standing joint rule shall be rescinded or changed except by joint resolution adopted by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present but not less than a majority of the actual membership of each house.

Section 22, paragraph 2, of Mason's Manual, and sec. 512, par. 6, of the same authority, clearly point out that a two-thirds vote requirement not imposed by the state's constitution only prevails because the majority voluntarily pledges itself not to act unless it obtains the approval of two-thirds of the membership:

[Section 22] 2. A majority does not have power to make a rule which cannot be modified or repealed by a majority. If a majority of an official public body has authority in the first instance to pass a rule, it has authority to annul or repeal the same rule. Rules which can be adopted by a majority vote can be repealed or annulled by the same vote, even a rule which provides that no rule can be repealed or amended without a vote greater than a majority.

[Section 512] 6. A deliberative body, whether a state legislature, city council, or administrative board, cannot by its own act or rule require a two-thirds vote to take any action where the constitution or controlling authority requires only a majority vote. Duties and responsibilities imposed on a public body are, of necessity, to be exercised by a majority of that body unless otherwise provided by the power establishing the body. To require a two-thirds vote, for example, to take any action would be to give to one-third of the members the power to defeat the action and amount to a delegation of the powers of the body to a minority.

Clearly, Paul Mason's conclusion is incontrovertible. Majority rule is the essence of democracy. Why, then, is that fundamental truth so alien to the "good government" reformers? Their pet idea has not been heard (so they say); they circulate a petition; they let "the people" decide — and the very basic principle of democracy, majority rule, is no more because an advocate of reform thought decisions by two-thirds votes were a good idea.

Whatever faults advocates of "direct" democracy perceive in representative government, lack of information should not, in fairness, be among them. Citizens have their own problems. The media does a creditable job offering to readers and listeners reliable information on which informed decisions can be based, but many voters just do not have the time to absorb all that information in addition to whatever other news they need to know for survival in a competitive world.

The elected representatives of the people, on the other hand, are responsible for making informed decisions on political issues. They will digest all of the media information and, in addition, will seek out whatever else they find necessary to make each decision. But, when the time to make the decision comes, the decision makers must be treated as equals. Shifting minorities cannot be invested with veto power. Only the informed consensus of a majority can ultimately guarantee the continued flourishing of democratic government.

Sources of Legislative Rules

Many years ago, the story goes, there was a democratic society with representative government. That society, the story continues, had great respect for ideas; especially for ideas expressed as proposals to be considered by its law-making assembly. So that ideas could flourish, nobody ever killed a proposal.

While the ancient assembly debated a proposal, the author was placed on the table (a noose around the neck kept him on his toes). Then came the vote. If the proposal passed, admiring colleagues lifted the author to their shoulders and carried him around the legislative halls. If the proposal failed to pass, dismayed colleagues paraded the table instead.

All ideas lived, but after a while there was a shortage of authors. It comes as no surprise that the ancient assembly's custom did not become one of the inherited procedures of modern lawmaking.

Tradition

The dictionary tells us that "tradition" means the past customs and usages which influence or govern present acts or practices. As regards rules of parliamentary procedure, tradition was firmly in place on October 25, 1836, when the Legislative Assembly for the brand-new Territory of Wisconsin held its first meeting at Belmont, then in the County of Iowa.

The area from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi river had been recognized as a part of the United States in the "second Treaty of Paris" of 1783, and was successively governed under the Northwest Ordinance of 1787, the Northwest Territory of 1789, the Indiana Territory of 1800 (in 1802 William Henry Harrison, then Governor of Indiana, appointed Robert Dickson of Prairie Du Chien justice of the peace for the area, and 3 other residents of that village to be militia officers), the Illinois Territory of 1809 and, beginning in 1818, the Michigan Territory (which had been created in 1805). When the Wisconsin Territory was formed in 1836, representative government and, with that, parliamentary procedures were part of the inherited tradition.

Right from the start, the Wisconsin Territory had a bicameral legislature: a 13-member Council and a 26-member House of Representatives (for the Northwest, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan territories, the lawmaking power had been vested in a single-chamber Legislative Council). Four of the first Council's 13 members had served in the "rump council" for the western lands of the Michigan Territory which had met in Green Bay in January 1836: Gilbert Knapp of Milwaukee, James R. Vineyard of Iowa, and Joseph B. Teas and Jeremiah Smith of Des Moines county.

The Council convened on Tuesday, October 25, 1836. The election was already canvassed because the proclamation by Governor Henry Dodge, to convene the Territorial Legislature, named the duly elected members: 2 each from the Counties of Brown and Milwaukee; and 3 each from the Counties of Iowa, Du Buque and Des Moines. Somebody — the journal does not tell us who — read the proclamation and called the roll. The journal reports the presence of a quorum, the election of officers and: "On motion of Mr. Knapp, Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to draft standing rules for the Council" (all of the words highlighted in this paragraph, still in use today, appeared in the journal of the Council's opening session).

Overnight, the committee proposed the following rules based, no doubt, on the recorded rules of the Michigan Legislative Council. Of the drafting committee's 3 members two, Knapp and Vineyard, had served in Green Bay. Within 24 hours after its first meeting, the Council had adopted the rules, had considered a resolution "That thirty copies of the Rules be printed for the use of the members of the Council", had amended the resolution "by striking out 'thirty' and inserting 'fifty'", had "accepted" the amendment and had "adopted" the resolution. Both "regulations" (today called "orders of business") and "rules" were established:

REGULATIONS FOR THE DAILY TRANSACTION OF BUSINESS.

After the journal is read, and the Council is open for business, the following order will govern:

- 1st.--Petitions or Memorials to be offered.
- 2nd.--Resolutions.
- 3rd.--Reports of Committees.
- 4th.--Bills, Resolutions and communications on the President's table.
- 5th.--Bills and Resolutions ready for a second reading.
- 6th.--Bills on their passage.
- 7th.--Reports in possession of the Council, which offer grounds for a bill, are to be taken up, that the bill may be ordered in.
- 8th.--Bills or other matters before the Council, and unfinished the preceding day.
- 9th.--These matters being despatched, for expediting business, the general file of bills and other papers are then taken up, agreeably to their first introduction to the Council.

Acting just as speedily as the Council, the 1836 House adopted regulations (order of business) and rules at the same time, substituting "speaker" for "president" and "house" for "council" where appropriate. With one important difference, the orders of business adopted by the 1836 legislature of the Wisconsin Territory are similar to the sequence still followed today. In 1836, unfinished business from prior calendars was to be handled after completion of the business on today's calendar; today, unfinished business must be completed before current business is taken up.

The Territorial Council adopted 42 rules numbered, in the fashion of the time, by roman numerals from "I" to "XLII":

STANDING RULES.

1. The Council shall choose by ballot one of their own number to occupy the Chair. He shall be styled President of the Council. He shall hold his office during one session of the Council. He shall take the Chair at the hour to which the Council is adjourned, and call the members to order; and, if a quorum be present, he shall direct the minutes of the preceding day to be read, and mistakes, if any, corrected. He shall preserve order and decorum, and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Council. In committee of the whole he shall call some member to the chair, and may debate any question before the committee; but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment. He shall, unless otherwise directed by the Council, appoint all committees. He shall vote on a call of the yeas and nays. In the absence of the President, the Council shall appoint a President pro tem.

Rule 1 of the 1836 Wisconsin Council is amazing. Not only does it already provide for an appeal from a ruling of the Chair, but the words "such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment" can still be found, without change and 150 years later, in Rule 2 (3) of the 1985 Wisconsin Senate and Rule 4 (3) of the 1985 Wisconsin Assembly!

2. Any member may have a call of the Council, and have absent members sent for.
3. All questions shall be put in this form: "You who are of the opinion (as the case may be) say, Aye." "Those of the contrary opinion say, No;" and in doubtful cases any member may call for a division.
4. When a motion is made and seconded it shall be stated by the member, or read by the Secretary, previous to debate. If any member require it, all motions (except to adjourn, postpone or commit,) shall be reduced to writing. Any motion may be withdrawn by consent of the Council, before decision or amendment.
5. Every member present, when a question is put, shall vote, unless the Council shall, for special cause, excuse him.

The concept that every member present must vote unless excused is simply too complicated to be invented by a drafting committee overnight; even by 1836, that rule had to be the result of a precedent which was codified into a standing rule. Although the wording has changed, Rule 5 of the 1836 Wisconsin Council continues, 150 years later, as 1985 Senate Rule 73 (1) and Assembly Rule 77.

6. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, and be decided without debate.

A simple motion to adjourn remains "always in order" to this day [1985 S. Rule 64, A. Rule 70 (1)] and is still nondebateable (S. Rule 68, A. Rule 67).

Rule 7 of the 1836 Council read: "When a member is about to speak, he shall rise and address himself to the President; and when a member is speaking, no member shall pass between him and the Chair." For the 1836 Assembly, the same topics were covered by 3 rules:

VII. When a member is about to speak in debate or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to "Mr. Speaker," and shall confine himself to the question under debate and avoid personality.

VIII. When two or more members happen to rise at once, the Speaker shall name the member who is first to speak.

IX. Whilst the Speaker is putting any question or addressing the house, none shall walk out of or across the House; nor in such case, or when a member is speaking, shall entertain private discourse; nor, whilst a member is speaking, shall pass between him and the Chair.

House Rule VII of 1836 appears to have been based on Section XVII [17-k] of Jefferson's Manual (available since 1802), which explained that the "consequence of a measure may be reprobated in strong terms, but to arraign the motives of those who propose to advocate it is a personality, and against order", and House Rule VIII on paragraph [17-c] of Jefferson. Council Rules 8 to 30 of 1836, copied below, corresponded to Rules 10 to 32 of the House:

8. No member shall speak more than twice on any question, without leave of the Council.

9. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received, unless to postpone, to amend, to take the previous question, to commit, or to adjourn.

10. The previous question shall be put in these words: "Shall the main question be now put?" and it shall be admitted on the demand of any member, and until decided shall preclude all amendments under debate, of the main question.

11. Any member may call for a division of the question, when the same will admit thereof.

12. No committees shall absent themselves from the Council chamber by reason of their appointment, during the sitting of the Council, without special leave.

Council Rule 12 (House Rule 14) provides another example illustrating how today's rules, in many cases, are the result of tradition; the same concept is expressed in 1985 Senate Rule 23 and Assembly Rule 12.

13. Every bill shall be introduced by motion for leave, or by order of the House on the report of a committee; and in either case a committee to prepare the same shall be appointed. In cases of a general nature, one day's notice at least shall be given, of the motion to bring in a bill.

14. Every bill shall receive three several readings previous to its passage; but no bill shall have its second and third readings on the same day, without special order of the Council.

15. The first reading of a bill shall be for information, and if objections be made to it, the question shall be, "Shall the bill be rejected?" If no objections be made, or the question to reject be lost, the bill shall go to its second reading without further question.

16. All bills, on a second reading, shall be considered by the Council in committee of the whole, before it shall be taken up and considered by the Council. The final question upon every bill or resolution that requires three readings previous to being passed, shall be, "whether it shall be engrossed and read a third time?" No bill or resolution that requires three readings shall be committed or amended until it shall have been twice read.

17. When a question is lost on engrossing a bill for a third reading on a particular day, it shall not preclude a question to engross it for a third reading on a different day; nor shall any subject be a second time reconsidered without the consent of the Council. On the third reading of the bill or resolution, no amendment (except to fill blanks) shall be received, except by unanimous consent of the members present.

18. When a bill is engrossed, the President shall, at the time previously appointed by the Council, announce it as ready for a third reading, without a question.

19. A bill or resolution may be committed at any time previous to its passage; if any amendment be reported upon such commitment, by any other than a committee of the whole, the bill shall be again read a second time and considered as in committee of the whole, and the question for its engrossment and third reading again put.

20. In filling blanks, the largest sum and longest time shall be first put.

21. When the Council is equally divided, in such case the question shall be lost.

22. When a motion or question has been once made and carried in the affirmative or negative, it shall be in order for any member of the majority to move for the reconsideration thereof, on the same or the succeeding day.

Although "reconsideration" was already covered by an 1836 rule, the intervening 150 years have not reduced the controversy of the procedure. Motions for reconsideration remain among the tactics most frequently challenged on point of order.

23. All acts, addresses and resolutions, shall be signed by the President, and all writs, warrants, and subpoenas, issued by order of the Council, shall be under his hand and seal attested by the Secretary.

24. Petitions, memorials, and other papers, addressed to the Council, shall be presented by any member in his place; a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made verbally by the member introducing the same, and shall not be debated or decided on the day of their being first read, unless where the Council shall direct otherwise; but shall lie on the table (to be taken up in the order they were read,) or be referred, on motion, to a committee.

25. After a bill shall have passed the Council, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Council, so far to alter the title of the bill as to strike out the words, "A Bill" and insert in lieu thereof the words, "An Act," it shall then be duly enrolled; after which, it shall be examined by a standing committee for that purpose, who shall carefully compare the enrollment with the engrossed bill, and correcting any errors that may be discovered in the enrolled bill, shall make their report forthwith to the Council.

26. After examination and report, each bill shall be signed by the President of the Council, and by him presented to the Governor for his approbation; the day of presentation shall be entered on the journal.

27. A Secretary, Recording, Engrossing and an Enrolling clerk, shall be appointed by a ballot, to hold their places during the pleasure of the Council. They shall take an oath for the true and faithful discharge of their respective duties in office. The Secretary shall keep a correct journal of the daily proceedings, and perform such other duties as shall appertain to him as Secretary. He shall let no journal, records, accounts, or papers, be taken from the table or out of his custody, other than by the regular mode of business of the Council; and if any papers in his charge shall be missing, he shall make report to the President, that it may be inquired into. It shall be the duty of the Recording Clerk to record the journal of the proceedings agreeably to the original furnished him by the Secretary. It shall be the duty of the Engrossing Clerk to engross all bills, and of the Enrolling Clerk, to transcribe, copy and enroll the same. The Secretary and Clerks, in the discharge of their duties, shall be subject to the direction of the President of the Council.

28. A Sergeant-at-Arms, Doorkeeper, Messenger and Assistant Messenger, shall be appointed by ballot, to hold their offices during the pleasure of the Council, whose duty it shall be to attend the Council during its sitting, and to execute the commands of the President and Council from time to time. They shall take an oath truly and faithfully to discharge their respective duties in office.

29. When a message shall be sent from the Governor to the Council, it shall be communicated to the Chair by the person by whom it may be sent.

30. No person shall be elected to any office created by these rules, unless he shall receive a majority of the whole number of votes given by the members of the Council.

The next 4 rules adopted by the 1836 Council reflect its participation in the appointment process, which was not shared by the House. Even today, Governor's nominations are reviewed only by the Senate, to become appointments with Senate advice and consent:

31. When nominations shall be made in writing by the Governor of the Territory, to the Council, a future day shall be assigned, unless the Council unanimously direct otherwise, for taking them into consideration.

32. It shall be the duty of the members and officers of the Council to keep all information or remarks touching or concerning the character or qualifications of any person nominated by the Governor to office, inviolably secret; also the proceedings and business of the Council when in executive session.

33. Before acting on confidential or executive business, the Council shall be cleared, by direction of the President, of all persons except the Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms.

34. The proceedings of the Council, when they shall act in their executive capacity, shall be kept in separate and distinct books; and no part of the executive journal shall be published but by special order.

The prohibition of newspaper reading during session — 1836 Council Rule 35 and House Rule 33 — continues to this day as Senate Rule 8 (4) and Assembly Rule 26 (3). But, the rules of the 1985 Wisconsin Legislature also recognize that newspapers are sometimes the most convenient source of information on a subject under debate. Today, both houses [S. Rule 56, A. Rule 59 (3)] recognize the occasional need to read from “printed matter” in debate.

35. No member or officer of the Council shall be permitted to read the newspapers within the bar of the Council, while the Council is in session.

Council Rules 36 to 38 of 1836 were identical to House Rules 34 to 36:

36. The President of the Council is authorized and required to administer all oaths prescribed by these rules.

37. Every resolution read by the Secretary, by direction of a member, shall be considered to be before the Council. And the question to adopt or reject, may be immediately put on such resolutions, unless upon motion of a member, the same may be laid on the table.

38. It shall be competent for any member, when a question is taken, to call for the ayes and noes, which shall be recorded by the Secretary, if required.

Council Rule 39 of 1836 permitted the standing rules of the Council to “be rescinded or suspended .... by a vote of three-fourths of the members present”. The House version, Rule 37, requiring public notice and two-thirds votes, came much closer to current practice:

House Rule 37. No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without one day’s notice being given of the motion therefor. Nor shall any rules be suspended except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present. — Nor shall the order of business, as established by the rules of the House, be postponed or changed, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present.

Two more 1836 rules, Council Rules 40 and 41 and House Rules 38 and 39, were identical (and each referred to “House” in the first rule):

40. All bills brought into the House by any member or committee, shall be endorsed with the name of the member or committee bringing in the same.

41. When a member shall be called to order, he shall sit down until the President shall have determined whether he is in order or not; and every question of order shall be decided by the President, subject to an appeal to the Council by any two members; and if a member be called to order for words spoken, the exceptionable words shall be immediately taken down in writing, that the President and Council may be better enabled to judge of the matter.

The final rule of each 1836 house was entirely different. For the Council, Rule 42 specified persons (other than members of the Council) “entitled to seats within the bar” of the Council. For the House, Rule 40 established 10 a.m. as the standard meeting time for each legislative business day:

Council Rule 42. The following officers and persons present at any time during the sitting of the Council, shall be entitled to seats within the bar: The Governor, Secretary, Attorney General of the Territory, Judges of the Supreme Court, Members of Congress, former Members of the Legislative Council of the Territory, and Members of State Legislature.

House Rule 40. The stated time of meeting for the transaction of business shall be 10 o’clock, A.M.

The next legislature convened in Burlington (Des Moines county was part of the Wisconsin Territory) on November 6, 1837. By then, the orders of business and standing rules enacted in 1836 had, themselves, become tradition. For instance, the Journal of the House of Representatives recorded on November 7 (page 5): .... “it was Resolved, That the standing rules of the House, of last session, be adopted, until others are prepared and adopted”. The 1837 House Rules were adopted 2 days later; a new Rule 19 (1836 House Rules 19 to 39 became 20 to 40, old 40 became new 42) concerned the reading, at length, of amendments adopted in committee of the whole; and 1837 House Rule 41 for the first time enumerated the standing committees:

The Standing committees of the House shall consist of five members each, and be as follows:

- On the Judiciary.
- On Schools.
- On Internal Improvements.
- On Militia.

- On Finances of the Territory.
- On Corporations.
- On Claims.
- On Enrolled Bills.
- On Expenses.
- On Agriculture and Manufactures.

The practice whereby each new legislature adopts the rules in force at the final adjournment of the preceding legislature as the rules of the current session "until others are prepared and adopted" has itself become a tradition. Apparently, it was observed without fail until 1971. In that session, the Senate never did adopt rules but observed the rules adopted in 1969 and amended one of them (1971 Senate Resolution 13).

In the interim between the 1959 and 1961 Sessions of the Wisconsin Legislature, a Rules and Manual Revision Committee of the Assembly reviewed the standing rules and proposed a revised set, which was later printed as a pamphlet and adopted as an attachment to 1961 Assembly Resolution 28. Among other changes, the 1961 resolution created a new rule which, according to an explanatory note by the interim committee, "incorporates the precedent that the rules of the previous session remain in force at the beginning of a succeeding regular session until changed or amended by such regular session":

CONTINUITY OF ASSEMBLY RULES. The rules of the assembly shall remain in effect until amended or rescinded by the assembly. At the beginning of a new biennial session, the rules of the assembly in effect at the conclusion of the preceding regular session shall remain in force until superseded by assembly rules adopted in the new session of the legislature.

The new rule notwithstanding, both houses continued to adopt resolutions early in each session to continue the rules of the previous session. A recent example was 1975 Assembly Resolution 7:

SECTION 1. The rules of the assembly, in force at the conclusion of the 1973 regular session, are hereby adopted to constitute the rules of the assembly for the 1975 regular session.

Analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau. Under assembly rule 95, the rules of the preceding session are presumed to be in force at the beginning of the next succeeding regular session but, because section 8 of article IV of the Wisconsin constitution authorizes each house to "determine the rules of its own proceedings", the continuing validity of the assembly rules throughout the 1975 session would be in doubt without specific affirmative action by the 1975 assembly.

The Senate waited until 1977 (Senate Resolution 2) to create a rule on "continuity of senate rules". On the other hand, the Senate did begin each new session observing the rules inherited from the last preceding senate. It can be argued, for instance, that the 1971 Senate tacitly accepted all of the 1969 Senate rules when it amended one of the rules without ever adopting the entire Senate rule book.

If there was ever a doubt that tradition binds a legislative body just as effectively as periodic readoption of rules, that doubt was laid to rest in a ruling by Lieutenant Governor Martin J. Schreiber as president of the Senate, given on January 24, 1973:

The analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau of Senate Resolution 7 as submitted by Senators Johnson and Knowles sets forth "the rules of the Wisconsin Senate were last adopted by the Senate in 1969. During the 1971 regular session, the Senate rules were observed and Senate Rule 41 (1) was specifically amended by 1971 Senate Resolution 13, but no formal action was taken to adopt the Senate rules.

"The resolution provides for the formal adoption of the Senate rules by the 1973 Wisconsin Senate. Many rules are continued; i.e. adopted in the form in which they were observed at the conclusion of the 1971 regular session. A few rules are new, and several others are amended based on the text observed in 1971".

This analysis of the proposed rule changes as supplied by the Legislative Reference Bureau and submitted by Senators Johnson and Knowles clearly sets forth the position of the Senators as what, in fact, the situation was when no new rules were adopted for the 1971 legislative session — that situation being that the Senate would continue to operate under the "old" rules until new rules were adopted.

It is difficult to dispute the analysis of the Legislative Reference Bureau as submitted by Senators Johnson and Knowles that the 1969 rules carried over in force and effect in the 1971 session until new rules were adopted. Upon any organization of the legislative session there must and should be rules to establish method, procedure, and decorum to allow the legislative body to function. Based on precedence, then, the rules of the last legislative session would therefore be in full force and effect until new rules are created or old rules amended. Should this not be the case, and should any Senator have not thought this to be the case, he would have been heard to object to the following of the orders of business, to the introduction of legislation, to the introduction of resolutions, to the very seating of the Senate body itself.

Interpretation and precedent

While the ancestry of some legislative rules can be traced into history until the origins are hidden somewhere in tradition, many legislative rules or rule changes are attributable directly to interpretation and precedent. The "continuity rule" was such an example. Others can readily be found in the resolutions affecting the rules of the Wisconsin Senate and Assembly during the past decade.

In its 1973 rules readoption by Assembly Resolution 7, the Assembly created the following rule:

If a motion to withdraw a proposal from a committee has been made and failed adoption, all subsequent motions to withdraw the proposal from that committee require a two-thirds affirmative vote and shall be decided without debate....

Later that year (Assembly Journal, 10/17/73, page 2760), Madison Representative Ed Nager inquired of the chair whether a bill, having failed to be withdrawn from committee and referred to calendar (two-thirds vote required), would forever after require a two-thirds vote to be withdrawn from that committee. Speaker Norman C. Anderson explained the rule:

...its purpose was to discourage repeated motions on successive days to withdraw bills from committee and to eliminate much of the debate which accompanied such motions while, at the same time, allowing at least one bona fide attempt to withdraw a bill from committee by majority vote after the bill has been in committee for 21 days.

Although the language of the rule does not attempt to describe the particular motions that would be included in motions to "withdraw a proposal from a committee", the chair feels compelled to make a distinction. If a distinction is not made between a motion to withdraw a bill from committee that requires a suspension of the rules from a motion to withdraw a bill from committee that does not require a suspension of the rules, the opponents of a proposal could prevent the Assembly from ever having the opportunity to withdraw a bill from committee by a simple majority vote except by a withdrawal petition....

Thus, a motion to withdraw a bill from committee and refer it to the calendar, assuming that the bill has been in committee for 21 days, will require a simple majority vote, provided that the motion is made in accordance with [the applicable rule] and further provided that it has not been previously made. Thereafter, in accordance with [the rule here discussed], any motion to withdraw the bill and place it on the calendar would require a two-thirds vote.

A motion to withdraw a bill from committee and take it up immediately, or to withdraw a bill and accomplish some other action which would require suspension of the rules will not exhaust the single opportunity contemplated by [the rule here discussed] to withdraw a bill from committee and place it on the calendar by a simple majority vote at least one time.

When the Assembly changed the text of the rule in its 1979 rules adoption (Assembly Resolution 7), the change was specifically attributed to the 1973 precedent that unsuccessful attempts to withdraw and refer a proposal "under suspension of the rules [two-thirds vote] do not destroy the opportunity for one motion to withdraw a proposal from committee" by majority vote:

If Once a motion to withdraw a proposal from a committee ~~is made and which requires a majority vote~~ fails, all subsequent motions to withdraw that proposal from the same committee shall require a two-thirds majority for adoption. ~~Such motions and~~ shall be decided without debate.

The following 1963 ruling by Speaker Robert D. Haase (Assembly Journal, 4/4/63, page 488), itself a refinement of a 1959 ruling by Speaker George Molinaro, was the basis not only for the creation of a new rule in 1963 (Assembly Resolution 38), but was referred to again in 1979 (Assembly Resolution 7) to clarify the rule created in 1963:

The 1963 ruling (excerpt): .... it is the custom of the assembly to honor the recommendations of the standing committee by taking action on its recommendation .... If a proposal is recommended for indefinite postponement and an amendment is offered from the floor or revived, the first question is on the adoption of the amendment and the first action on the proposal itself [said Speaker Molinaro] is still indefinite postponement....

The Chair [Speaker Haase] concurs in the opinion of [Rep. Glen E. Pommerening, Milwaukee-20] that the assembly intends to pass a measure which they amend in the face of a recommendation to indefinitely postpone. To ignore this very obvious gesture is to neglect the basic precept of the legislative process, namely to expedite legislation. We must take the action of the assembly at its face value, and the adoption of the amendment appears to demonstrate that the assembly desires to pass the bill.

The adoption of a floor amendment gives a proposal a new lease on life. Defeat of the measure can still be accomplished by a specific motion.

Text of the 1963 rule. When the Assembly acts upon the recommendation of a Standing Committee, the question conforms to the recommendation of the committee; except that if the recommendation of a committee is adverse and an amendment is introduced from the floor and adopted, the question shall be stated in the affirmative.

The Reference Bureau's analysis of 1979 Assembly Resolution 7 explained the further rule change: "Reversal of the question, from adverse to positive and as the result of the adoption of a new amendment, occurs not only when a negative question was recommended by the committee, but also when the motion for adverse disposition was offered from the floor. In addition, the amended rule picks up a ruling by Speaker Haase .... that a new amendment may not only be an amendment offered after the motion for adverse disposition was made by the committee or from the floor, but may also be an amendment revived from the floor.

Text of the 1979 amendment. ~~If~~ When the committee recommendation ~~was~~ <sup>is</sup> adverse ~~but or when the motion for adverse disposition is offered from the floor, and an amendment is thereafter~~ subsequently offered and adopted, or revived and adopted, the main question on the proposal shall be stated in the affirmative.

One additional example should serve to fully illustrate the premise that the rules of a legislature are, in large measure, based on interpretation and precedent. In 1967, Wisconsin reorganized the executive branch of its government. Almost 100 separate units, vaguely responsible to the governor, were reorganized into a rational design of 4 constitutional offices, 14 administrative departments and 14 independent agencies.

Typically, legislation of such scope is passed only after a committee of conference makes significant compromises to satisfy the unreconciled goals of the 2 houses. Sometimes, compromise can be achieved only when the conference committee adds to the proposal new aspects which had not been discussed by either house.

In the case of the 1967 government reorganization act, the differences between the 2 houses were progressively reduced by sending the bill — 1967 Senate Bill 55 — back and forth between the 2 houses 5 times. After initial review of the bill by the Joint Committee on Finance, which brought in a substitute amendment, the proposal was amended in the Senate by 14 simple amendments, of which 2 had themselves been amended. The Assembly, concurring in the Senate's version, did so only after adopting another 13 simple amendments (including 2 amended amendments).

Ultimately there was, indeed, a conference committee — but by that time the plan had been so thoroughly discussed in the 2 houses that the conference committee needed to review only the limited area covered by 3 of the simple amendments, and was able to carry out its entire assignment in one brief lunch-hour meeting (reorganization became Chapter 75, Laws of 1967).

The achievement was made possible by the then novel interpretation that, in the receiving house, an amendment received from the other house is to be treated as a main proposition. Usually, rules prohibit consideration of an amendment “in the 3rd degree”: an amendment to an amendment to an amendment to a proposal or substitute.

For 1967 Senate Bill 55, the Senate resolved one of the areas of disagreement by adopting “Senate Amendment 1 to Senate Amendment 1 to Assembly Amendment 6” and passing “Senate amendment 1 to Assembly Amendment 6” as so amended. The Assembly made a further change by:

ASSEMBLY AMENDMENT 1,
TO SENATE AMENDMENT 1,
TO ASSEMBLY AMENDMENT 6,
TO SENATE BILL 55

The Senate concurred in the Assembly amendment on June 27, 1967, completing the process.

After the procedure was used again in passing the Budget Review Act (Chapter 418) of the 1977 Legislature — the Senate adopted “Senate Amendment 7, to Assembly Amendment 17, to Senate Amendment 1, to Assembly Bill 1220” — the Senate, on January 3, 1979, codified the procedure as a stated exception to Senate Rule 51, “Amendment in the 3rd degree prohibited”.

Senate Rule 51. Amendment in the 3rd degree prohibited. In order to prevent confusion, amendments beyond the degree of an amendment to an amendment to the main proposition are prohibited. For the purposes of this rule any substitute amendment, and any assembly amendment to a senate proposal or amendment, shall be considered as a main proposition.

In the Assembly, Speaker Edward G. Jackamonis had ruled on March 28, 1978 (Assembly Journal, page 4047), that:

....the Wisconsin Constitution grants to each house of the Legislature the power to establish its own rules of procedure. It follows, then, that assembly rules can only, and are intended to only, govern the proceedings of this house. Applying this principle to [the assembly’s rule on germaneness], it further follows that this rule is intended to govern only the admissibility of Assembly amendments to proposals under consideration in the Assembly. This conclusion about the scope of the rule’s applicability is also suggested by language found in the rule itself. Section (2) of the rule states that questions of germaneness raised under this rule “shall apply only to amendments originating in the Assembly”.

....Since [the assembly’s rule on germaneness] as a whole is intended to govern only Assembly consideration of Assembly amendments, it seems reasonable to assume that where the rule refers to actions taken on amendments (such as “adoption”) it likewise is intended to refer only to Assembly actions on such amendments. To construe this provision of the rule more broadly to prohibit the consideration of any Assembly amendment which would negate the effect of a previously adopted Senate amendment to the same proposal would be to interpret this rule in a way which could significantly restrict the ability of this house to disagree with Senate actions. The Chair can think of no plausible reason for so restricting the Assembly’s authority and, for this reason, concludes that no such effect was ever intended.

....According to Assembly Rule 97 (61), the term “proposal” is a general term which refers to any proposition put before the Assembly for a determination. Since the only matter concerning Assembly Bill 321 which is presently before this house for a determination is Senate Amendment 1, in the opinion of the Chair, it is this amendment, not the bill itself, which must be viewed as the “proposal” contemplated by [the assembly’s rule on germaneness].

....The purpose of the proposal before us (Senate Amendment 1) is to delete certain language from Assembly Bill 321. The purpose of Assembly Amendment 1 to Senate Amendment 1 is to insert language in that proposal which is very similar to the language it would otherwise delete from the Assembly Bill. Consequently, in the opinion of the Chair, the intent of the Assembly amendment is to accomplish a purpose considerably different from the purpose of the proposal to which it relates.

....in the case of an Assembly Bill amended and returned by the Senate, “proposal” .... means the Senate amendment or amendments.

Supported by the procedure followed in the enactment of the Government Reorganization Act of 1967 and the Budget Review Act of the 1977 Legislature, and by Speaker Jackamonis’ 1978 interpretation of the Assembly’s rule on germaneness of amendments, the Assembly, on February 28, 1979, added this exception to Assembly Rule 52, “Offering amendments”:

(2) (b) Senate amendments presented to the assembly for concurrence are proposals for purposes of this rule and, therefore, an amendment to a simple amendment to a senate amendment is in order.

Innovation

When it comes to legislative rules of procedure, few changes are true innovations in the sense that nothing like it was ever proposed before. Many of the proposed innovations come from well-meaning outsiders who may not fully understand the traditions and rationale of existing legislative practices.

Thus, when an innovation comes along that not only fits well into existing legislative procedures but also improves the effectiveness and harmony of the lawmaking process, it is truly remarkable. One such innovation was proposed in 1975 by Senator Fred A. Risser.

The Senator is himself unusual, the 4th generation of his family (and the 4th political party) to serve in the Wisconsin Legislature. A Democrat, Sen. Fred A. Risser was first elected to the Assembly in 1956 and served as the Assembly chairperson of the Joint Committee on Finance in 1959. Since 1962, he has been elected to the Senate and has served as assistant minority leader (1965), minority leader (1967-73), President pro tempore (1975-79) and as President of the Senate since April of 1979.

Senator Risser's great-grandfather, Col. Clement Warner, served as a Unionist member of the Senate in 1867 and 1868, and as a member of the Assembly in 1883. His grandfather, Ernest Warner (for whom Madison's Warner Park is named), served in the Assembly in the 1905 Session as a Republican. Senator Fred A. Risser's father, Fred E. Risser, served in the Senate as a Progressive, from 1937 to 1948.

When Sen. Risser proposed his innovation in 1975, it was based not only on his own observations in 18 years of legislative service, but was backed by the political traditions of 4 generations. What did Sen. Risser propose?

Like many other rule books (e.g.; Mason's Manual, sec. 187; Robert's Rules of Order, chart), the 1973 Rules of the Wisconsin Senate contained a recital — expressed as a rule — of the rank order of motions. Senator Risser had the idea to add to the simple listing a brief explanation of the nature of each motion, and a reference to the specific rule which further explains each motion. The plan was enacted as part of 1975 Senate Resolution 2; today, the Senate rule reads as follows:

MOTIONS IN ORDER DURING DEBATE. (1) When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received except:

(a) To adjourn (not debatable or amendable, member must have floor to make motion, see rules 64 and 68).

(b) To adjourn to a fixed time (not debatable; amendable only as to time, see rules 64 and 68).

(c) To raise a call (not debatable or amendable, carried by majority vote of the members present, see rules 68 and 85 (5)).

(d) Personal privilege (not debatable, subject to time limit imposed by president, see rule 60).

(e) To recess (debatable only as to length of recess, see rules 64 and 68).

(f) To lay on table (not debatable, returns matter to committee on senate organization, see rules 18, 65 and 68).

(g) For the previous question (not debatable but amendable to establish time limit for debate, see rules 68 and 77).

(h) For the current question (not debatable but amendable to establish time limit for debate, see rules 68 and 77).

(i) To postpone to a day certain (debatable, may not be renewed on same day unless matter has advanced to subsequent stage or has been changed by amendment, see rule 66).

(j) To refer to a standing committee (debatable, in order at any time prior to passage, see rule 41).

(k) To refer to a special committee (debatable, in order at any time prior to passage, see rule 41).

(m) To postpone indefinitely, to reject or to nonconcur, as applicable (debatable, takes precedence over corresponding motion to approve, see rule 55).

(n) To amend (debatable, must be germane, see rules 50 and 53).

(2) These several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they stand arranged in this rule.

In 1979 (Assembly Resolution 7) the Assembly not only adopted a similar rule, but Speaker Ed Jackamonis added an additional rule to list and reference privileged, subsidiary and incidental motions:

PRIVILEGED AND SUBSIDIARY MOTIONS AND REQUESTS DURING DEBATE. (1) When a main question is under debate the following privileged motions and requests are in order if appropriate under the rules governing motions, requests and proposals:

(a) To suspend the rules [rule 90].

(b) To request a call of the assembly [rule 83].

(c) To adjourn [rule 70].

(d) To adjourn to a fixed time [rule 70].

(e) To lift a call of the assembly [rule 87].

(f) To recess.

(g) To raise a question of assembly privilege [rule 61 (1)].

(h) To raise a question of personal privilege [rule 61 (2)].

(i) To introduce and ask consideration of a privileged resolution [rules 33 and 43].

(2) When a main question is under debate the following subsidiary motions are in order if appropriate under the rules governing motions and proposals:

(a) To lay on or take from the table [rule 74].

(b) To end debate [rule 71].

(c) To postpone to a day or time certain [rule 72].

(d) To refer to a standing committee [rule 72].

(e) To refer to a special committee [rules 10 and 72].

(f) To revive an amendment [rule 18 (3)].

(g) To amend, if the proposal or motion is amendable [rules 18, 52 to 55 and 70 (2) and (4)].

(h) To postpone indefinitely, reject or nonconcur in a proposal [rules 49 and 72].

(3) The motions and requests listed in subs. (1) and (2) have precedence in the order in which they are listed. While any motion or request is pending, motions or requests of the same or lower precedence are not in order, except that:

(a) Amendments may be offered while other amendments are under consideration;

(b) Amendments to amendable motions are in order as long as no question of higher precedence is pending; and

(c) Any amendment may be rejected or tabled.

(4) If any motion is made while no other question is before the assembly, or is made subject to qualifications not specifically authorized in these rules, such motion loses its precedence and becomes a main motion, subject to the rules that apply to main motions.

(5) The right of members to debate a question and make motions and requests relating thereto ceases when the presiding officer has called for the "ayes" or directed the chief clerk to open the roll.

INCIDENTAL MOTIONS, REQUESTS AND QUESTIONS DURING DEBATE. (1) In addition to the motions and requests listed in [(1) and (2) of the preceding rule], and subject to the limitations imposed by other rules, the following incidental motions, requests and questions are in order while a proposal or question is under debate:

- (a) A point of order and appeal therefrom [rule 62].
  - (b) A question of quorum [rule 30].
  - (c) A request that a member be called to order [rule 58].
  - (d) A parliamentary inquiry.
  - (e) A request or motion for a leave of absence [rule 27].
  - (f) A request or motion by the maker of a pending motion that it be withdrawn, provided that rule 73 (7) does not apply.
  - (g) A request or motion by the author of a pending amendment that it be withdrawn and returned to the author.
  - (h) A request or motion to be excused from voting for special cause [rule 77].
  - (i) A request for a roll call vote when one is not required [rule 76 (3)].
  - (j) A request for a division of a question [rule 80].
  - (k) A request that a member yield to a question [rule 57].
  - (L) The entering of a motion to reconsider an amendment [rule 73].
- (2) The motions, requests and questions listed in sub. (1) have no order of precedence, can be initiated at any time they are timely, and shall be disposed of before any question to which they relate is returned to or any other incidental motion, request or question is entertained.

It is interesting to note that the rank order of motions is not identical for the 2 houses of the Wisconsin Legislature. In 1981 (Senate Resolution 2) the Senate changed its rule so that a motion for adverse disposition — postpone indefinitely, reject, nonconcur — outranks a motion to amend. Because both motions are debatable, the first impression might be that the change probably makes no difference: anybody opposed to adverse disposal of a pending proposition will point out that there is a pending amendment, and claim that adoption of the amendment will so improve the proposal that adverse disposition then becomes inappropriate.

In practice, there is a significant difference: the Wisconsin Legislature may be one of the champion amenders in the nation. Members often prepare amendments in advance but, for tactical reasons, do not reveal their existence to the standing committee to which the proposal was referred. During the debate on second reading, members can use special blanks to write “floor amendments” on the spot. As a result, many amendments may be pending at the same time.

Under the Senate’s rank order of motions, a senator can move adverse disposition of a bill to test the ultimate outcome. If the motion fails, each individual amendment will be debated even though the bill may still die in the end; if the motion carries, the bill did not have much support to begin with and futile debate has been avoided.

This is not to say that the Assembly’s rank order unavoidably results in debate of every pending amendment. It only means that the precedence of the Assembly’s motion to amend precludes, until the last amendment has been dealt with, adverse disposal of the bill under consideration.

Organizing the Legislature

On the 13th day of March in the year 1848, the second Monday of that month, the people of the Wisconsin Territory went to the polls and ratified the state's constitution. Although the vote — “yes” 16,799, “no” 6,384 — was strongly in favor of the new Wisconsin Constitution, the voter turnout was disappointing. Only 11 months earlier, a proposed constitution had been rejected “yes” 14,119 to “no” 30,231.

The Wisconsin Constitution was given 13 articles intended to be permanent and one more, Article XIV (“Schedule”), dealing with the transition from territorial status to statehood. Many of the sections of Article XIV were repealed in November of 1982 as part of an effort to modernize the Wisconsin Constitution's text and to rid the document of obsolete provisions. Among the provisions of Article XIV repealed in 1982 was Section 11.

Officers

We take it for granted that the state Senate's presiding officer is the President of the Senate, and the Assembly's presiding officer is the Speaker of the Assembly but, in fact, the only constitutional requirement to use those designations had been implied by Section 11 of Article XIV:

FIRST ELECTIONS. ....The returns of election for state officers and members of congress shall be certified and transmitted to the speaker of the assembly, at the seat of government .... and as soon as the legislature shall be organized the speaker of the assembly and the president of the senate shall, in the presence of both houses, examine the returns and declare who are duly elected....

Section 6 of Article XIII of the Wisconsin Constitution, entitled “legislative officers”, only deals with the 2 officers elected by each house from outside its membership:

The elective officers of the legislature, other than the presiding officers, shall be a chief clerk and a sergeant at arms, to be elected by each house.

The earlier requirement that the Lieutenant Governor serve as president of the Senate was repealed in April of 1979. Today, Section 9 of Article IV of the Wisconsin Constitution, entitled “officers”, is simple and direct: “Each house shall choose its presiding officers from its own members.”

Under Senate Rule 1, the Senate elects one of the senators to serve as President of the Senate to “represent and stand for the senate, declaring its will, and in all things obeying its command”. Senate Rule 20 (2) (k) enumerates the majority and minority party officers of the Senate who, together with the President of the Senate, constitute the Committee on Senate Organization:

....the majority leader as chairperson, president, assistant majority leader, minority leader and assistant minority leader.

In the Assembly, Rule 1 requires the election of both a Speaker of the Assembly and a Speaker pro tempore, and Assembly Rule 9 (3) adds the officers chosen by the political party caucuses to make up the Committee on Assembly Organization:

....the speaker, majority leader, assistant majority leader, speaker pro tempore, majority caucus chairperson, minority leader, assistant minority leader and minority caucus chairperson.

The party officers are selected by caucuses of the legislative parties sometime after the results of the November election are known. The President of the Senate, the Speaker of the Assembly, the Speaker pro tempore, the Chief Clerk of each house, and the Sergeant at Arms of each house are elected by the respective houses when the Legislature meets to organize for its biennial session on the first Monday in January of the odd-numbered year. The election of officers is by roll call vote and the votes are entered into the journals (Art. IV, Sec. 30, Wis. Const.).

Historically, both parties nominated candidates for each office. The vote was along party lines and the outcome a foregone conclusion. In 1973, the Senate found a better way: list and elect or acknowledge all of the officers in one single resolution adopted by a roll call vote. The 1973 resolution was Senate Resolution 3; the Senate has used that approach every 2 years since that time. In its 1985 version (Senate Resolution 1), the selection of Senate officers was expressed by the following phrase:

OFFICERS OF THE 1985-86 SENATE LISTED. The following persons are the officers of the 1985-86 senate, as elected by the senate through the adoption of this resolution or as previously designated by the respective party caucuses:

In the Assembly, the journal records a separate vote on the election of each Assembly officer: the Speaker of the Assembly, the Speaker pro tempore, the Chief Clerk, and the Sergeant at Arms. Usually, roll call votes of the 99-member Assembly are rapidly recorded by the use of a voting machine:

Assembly Rule 76 VOTING. (1) Unless otherwise required by the state constitution, by law, or by legislative rule, all questions shall be decided by a majority of a quorum.

(2) Unless a roll call vote is required by the state constitution, by law, or by legislative rule, any question before the assembly may be decided by voice vote. The presiding officer shall decide and announce the outcome of each voice vote and, when so announced, the decision of the presiding officer is final.

(3) A roll call vote shall be taken when the recording of the "ayes" and "noes" is required by the state constitution, by law, or by legislative rule, when deemed desirable by the presiding officer, or when requested by a member with the support of 15 seconds.

(4) When the voting machine is available, the machine shall be used to record the "ayes" and "noes". When the voting machine is not available, the chief clerk shall call and tally the roll. On all roll call votes, the record produced by the voting machine or the chief clerk's tally shall be official and final.

(5) Only the members present in the assembly chamber may vote.

(6) .... [(6) to (9) omitted.]

The Wisconsin Assembly has used a voting machine to record its roll calls since 1917. It was the first house of a state legislature to install a voting machine. However, on the first day of the new biennial session the voting machine still shows the names of the members of the preceding Assembly and the elections roll calls have been called and tallied one representative at a time. The Assembly leaders of the majority party and the minority party developed a more efficient procedure in 1985.

It was a propitious time for the new approach. Organizing for the 1985-1986 biennial session, the senior member of the majority caucus, Democrat

Cletus Vanderperren from the Town of Pittsfield in Brown county nominated the Speaker of the 1983 Assembly, Representative Thomas A. Loftus of Sun Prairie, for Speaker of the 1985 Assembly. The minority leader, Representative Tommy G. Thompson (Rep., Elroy), nominated the dean of the 1985 Assembly, Republican Earl F. McEssy of Fond du Lac. What came next may be unprecedented: so high was the respect and affection of the Assembly for its 1983 Speaker that Representative McEssy declined the nomination and the minority leader "asked unanimous consent that all members of the assembly be recorded as voting for Representative Loftus for the position of speaker of the assembly" for a second term (Assembly Journal 1/7/85, page 6).

The election of the Speaker pro tempore followed. As expected, all 52 Democrat members of the Assembly voted for Representative David E. Clarenbach of Madison and the 46 Republican members present (one was absent) voted for Representative Richard A. Matty of Stephenson in Marinette County. That roll was taken. The majority leader, Democrat Dismas Becker of Milwaukee, requested and received "unanimous consent that the vote for" Chief Clerk and, subsequently, Sergeant at Arms, "be recorded as being identical to the vote for" Speaker pro tempore.

Committees

California's June 1984 "Gann Initiative", which the court invalidated as an unconstitutional interference with the rule-making power of each house of the Legislature, would have forced the California Legislature to provide for a "one-vote majority maximum on the Assembly and Senate Rules Committees for the prevailing party" and restricted "membership on other legislative committees in proportion to the party's numbers in the Senate and Assembly" (UPI wire service, 11/29/84).

The rules committees of the California Legislature appear to be the committees charged with scheduling legislation for floor action. In the Wisconsin Senate, that duty is vested in the 5-member Committee on Senate Organization. Consisting of the President of the Senate and the majority and minority floor leaders and assistant leaders, the Wisconsin committee has had Mr. Gann's "one vote majority maximum ....for the prevailing party" since the committee was created in 1963. The Committee on Senate Organization not only schedules legislation for floor action; it also makes, subject to confirmation by vote of the entire Senate, all nominations of senators for committee membership. Senator Gaylord Nelson, a Democrat and a member of the Senate's minority since 1949, amended the rules-adoption resolution in 1957 so that, in "the case of any minority party, assignments [for committee membership nomination] shall be made by the senate group of that party." The concept has been a part of the Senate rules ever since.

At the time, Senate rules limited each senator to membership "on one and only one" of the standing committees. By 1957 Senate Resolution 6, Senator Henry W. Maier of Milwaukee and the 9 other Democrat members of the 1957 Senate attempted to further amend the rules to require, perhaps for the first time in Wisconsin history, something akin to proportional representation on legislative standing committees:

....and each political party represented in the senate shall have at least one member on every such committee if the total membership of such party in the senate is sufficient to allow for one member on every such committee.

The President of the Senate, Lieutenant Governor Warren P. Knowles, announced that adopting the resolution, being an amendment of the Senate rules already adopted, according to those rules required a two-thirds vote for adoption. Senator Nelson (Senate Journal 1/9/57, page 11) rose to a point of parliamentary inquiry whether, under his amendment adopted earlier:

....the members of standing committees proposed by the minority party would be binding upon the committee on Committees.

The president held that when such report by the committee on Committees is presented to the senate, it would still be subject to approval by the senate on the question of the adoption of the committee's report.

In the Assembly, the 8-member Committee on Assembly Organization is split 5 to 3 between majority party and minority party. The committee deals with the internal management of the Assembly. The 9-member Committee on Rules, which is the calendar-scheduling committee, has a 6 to 3 split. By statute, each house appoints (under its own appointment procedures) 8 members to the Joint Committee on Finance; for 1985, the Senate appointed 6 Democrats and 2 Republicans while the Assembly appointed 5 Democrats and 3 Republicans. For all other standing committees of the Assembly, Assembly Rule 9 (2) provides:

(a) The total number of members on each committee (unless specified by statute or joint rule) and the allocation of such number between members of the majority and minority party shall be determined by the speaker.

(b) The speaker shall make all committee appointments of members of the majority party, and the first-named person of each standing committee shall be the chairperson and the second-named person shall be the vice chairperson.

(c) The speaker shall make all committee appointments of members of the minority party as nominated by the minority leader, and the first-nominated minority member of each standing committee shall be the ranking minority member of that committee.

The concepts of a "ranking minority member" on each standing committee, and of appointing minority party members to standing committees as nominated by the minority leader, were first written into the Assembly rules by 1973 Assembly Resolution 18. They were based on the experience of the 1960s when Democrats and Republicans seemed to trade the house majority from session to session:

Session	Democrat	Republican
1959	55	45
1961	45	55
1963	46	53
1965	52	48
1967	47	53

During that period, last session's committee chairperson typically became this session's ranking minority member, and vice versa, so that there was some continuity of expertise on each standing committee.

In 1973, when Speaker Noman C. Anderson announced his committee appointments to the Assembly, the Speaker entered the following statement into the record:

I would like to make it a matter of record, in the hope that it will become a precedent for future sessions and speakers to follow, that I have honored the requests of the minority leadership in making committee assignments. Representative Shabaz [the minority leader] furnished me with a list of requested assignments to Standing Committees and I have honored all such requests without exception. In some instances, particularly with minor committees, no suggestions were made and in those instances I made my own appointments. (Assembly Journal 1/5/73, page 96)

In November of 1966, the Wisconsin Legislature hired the Eagleton Institute of Politics, associated with Rutgers University in New Jersey, to look at improving Wisconsin legislative procedures and services. Two years later, the institute submitted its report, "Strengthening the Wisconsin Legislature". Part I of the report, "Legislative Committees" was developed by Eagleton researchers Alan Chartok and Max Berking in cooperation with a subcommittee of the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization, the Subcommittee on Staffing and Committee Procedures consisting of Senators Robert W. Warren, Martin J. Schreiber and Walter John Chilsen and Representatives Norbert Nuttelman, Alvin J. Baldus and Mark G. Lipscomb. On page I-75 of the report, Eagleton and the subcommittee recommended that:

Each committee reflect, as close as possible and with fractions resolved in favor of the majority party, the political composition of the house in which it is located.

In drafts prepared for 1969 consideration, that text was proposed as an amendment to the "general provisions on legislative committees", codified in section 13.45 of the statutes, as well as to the standing rules of the Senate and Assembly. None of the drafts was introduced, but the assembly members of the subcommittee later offered, as 1969 Assembly Resolution 37, a revision of the Assembly's standing committee structure which contained the proportional representation proposal. The 1969 resolution died without floor action.

Since that time, proportional representation on committees has been offered for consideration many times, both in separate proposals and in the form of amendments to the biennial resolutions readopting the rules of each house. Each time, proportional representation on committees has been debated; each time, it has been voted down.

Paul Gann's California proposal to appoint the members of standing committees "in proportion to the party's numbers in the Senate and Assembly" was nothing new; at least, it was not new to Wisconsin. Perhaps the time has come, once and for all, to put this reform idea to rest. It has been studied, analyzed, sometimes modified, evaluated for its merits, debated, and voted down more times than anyone cares to remember.

The majority rules. If the majority wants to enact the proposal, it will do so, but the other side of the coin is responsibility. The majority, because it rules, is held responsible for all actions. Political responsibility is indivisible, the doctrine of “contributory negligence” does not apply. No matter how it tries to “share the blame”, the majority cannot delegate a part of that responsibility to the minority and the minority, if it tries to share the power of decision making, will forfeit the sanctuary of its “opposition” status.

The session schedule

As recently as 1951, the Legislature met in Madison for 5 months, every other year. Today, while the law says that the Legislature “shall meet annually (sec. 13.02, stats.), the session pattern should be more accurately described as a “continual” session beginning on the first Monday of January in the odd-numbered year and alternating, throughout the biennium, periods of floor activity with periods of committee activity. During floorperiods, “calendars” listing a workday’s business may be printed for days from Monday through Friday. Actual floor sessions are in most cases held only on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

To interrupt a floorperiod for more than 3 days requires the agreement of both houses (Sec. 10, Art. IV, Wis. Const.) but, since the Wisconsin Constitution excludes Sundays from the Governor’s 6-day period to review legislation, Sundays have also been excluded, since 1975, from tallying weekend breaks in the floorperiod.

As amended in 1881, when the Legislature had changed from annual to biennial sessions, Section 11 of Article IV of the Wisconsin Constitution provided:

MEETING OF LEGISLATURE. The legislature shall meet at the seat of government at such time as shall be provided by law, once in two years, and no oftener, unless convened by the governor, in special session, and when so convened no business shall be transacted except as shall be necessary to accomplish the special purposes for which it was convened.

By tradition and law, the legislative session began at noon on the second Wednesday of January in each odd-numbered year. Sometime between June and mid-July, the job was done. The Legislature adjourned sine die for the biennium; if anything urgent came up after the final adjournment, the governor could always call a special session. Somewhere back in the Constitution (Sec. 1 of Art. XIII) it said that the “political year for the state of Wisconsin shall commence on the First Monday of January” in each year, but that did not seem to matter much.

After November 4, 1958, it mattered a lot. Democrat Gaylord A. Nelson had been elected Governor. In those days, Wisconsin Governors served 2-year terms; Gaylord Nelson was reelected in 1960 and followed by Democrat John W. Reynolds in 1962. Republican Warren P. Knowles was first elected Governor in 1964 and served for 6 years; he was followed by Democrat Patrick J. Lucey who served from 1971 to 1977. Almost through that entire period (ending in January 1975) the Senate had Republican majorities.

At issue was the power of appointment. For significant appointive positions the Governor’s power is limited to submitting nominations to the Senate. As long as the Legislature remains in regular session, appointments require the advice and consent of the Senate. Following legislative adjournment sine die, and, it was assumed, until the next Legislature convened on the second Wednesday of January, the Governor could make interim appointments without legislative review. The 1961 Legislature (on 1/9/63) and the 1963 Legislature (on 1/13/65) held one-hour meetings on the date of convening for the next Legislature so as not to relinquish Senate review of appointments.

In State ex rel. Thomson v. Gibson, 22 Wis. 2d 275 (1964), the Wisconsin Supreme Court ruled that a temporary adjournment of the Legislature, from August 6 to November 4, 1963, was a "recess" which did not terminate the "once in two years, and no oftener" biennial session period of the legislature (p. 289) and that "one single session may be interrupted by recesses, and validly continue after a recess as long as such recesses can reasonably be said to be taken for a proper legislative purpose" (p. 290). That understanding was codified by a constitutional amendment approved by the voters in April 1968. Since then, Section 11 of Article IV of the Constitution says that the "legislature shall meet at the seat of government at such time as shall be provided by law".

The 1961 Legislature was the first to use a recess resolution permitting the regular session to resume earlier than the enacted reconvening date. As originally proposed (1961 Assembly Joint Resolution 147) by Majority Leader Robert D. Haase and Representative J. Curtis McKay, the President pro tempore of the Senate and the Speaker of the Assembly, acting jointly, could have reassembled the Legislature if "legislative expediency warrants" the earlier restart. The Senate substituted the approach suggested by Senator Jerris Leonard:

That, upon the petition of the majority of the members of each house of the legislature filed with the respective chief clerks, the presiding officers of the respective houses shall notify the members of their respective houses that the legislature will reassemble before January 9, 1963, on the date specified in the petition....

In 1969, recess resolution SJR-105 added that the organization committees of the 2 houses could also cause a floor session to resume in advance of the scheduled reconvening date.

In August of 1966, Attorney General Bronson C. La Follette ruled that the traditional time for the meeting of the new Legislature (at noon on the second Wednesday of January in the odd-numbered year) "has nothing to do with the term of office of such legislators"; 55 Wis. O.A.G. 160, 170. Section 1 of Article XIII of the state Constitution clearly ended legislative terms with the beginning of the "first Monday of January". Based on that ruling the final meeting of the 1965 Legislature, by 1965 Assembly Joint Resolution 163 scheduled for "Wednesday, January 11, 1967, at 11 a.m.", never took place. The 1967 Legislature became the last to convene on the second January Wednesday; by Chapter 187, Laws of 1967, the time for convening was changed to "the first Monday of January, in each odd-numbered year, at 2 p.m." (sec. 13.02 (1), stats.) to follow right after the traditional noon-time ceremony to swear in the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State and State Treasurer.

In a way, 1965 AJR-163 was Wisconsin's first session schedule. The joint resolution was offered by the Assembly Majority Leader, Democrat Frank L. Nikolay of Abbotsford. It provided for alternating periods of floor activity with recess periods during which standing committees continued to operate and, "on petition signed by a majority of the members elected to each house", permitted floor sessions to resume in advance of the scheduled reconvening date. The 1967 Legislature used 5 joint resolutions to recess for 3 weeks in March, for a long Memorial Day weekend, from the end of July until the middle of October, from November 16 until December 5, and from December 16, 1967, until January 6, 1969. Each recess resolution described legislative activities during the recess in greater detail; the July-October resolution was the first to mention "studies, investigations and reviews" within the customary subject area of each standing committee, on "any matter which may then be appropriate to legislative inquiry".

When the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization offered its first full-fledged session schedule — 1971 Senate Joint Resolution 21 — the pattern had been pretty much established. The 1971 resolution provided for 3 floor-periods in 1971 and one floorperiod in 1972, to be followed by a 3-day veto review period. Any floorperiod could be extended, and additional floorperiods could be called, on petition of the membership of the 2 houses or as directed by the 2 organization committees. The concept of "extraordinary sessions", limited to the subjects set forth in the instrument extending a floor-period or convening an additional floorperiod, was born. As an important joint resolution, the session schedule is assigned an enrolled number (1971 Senate Joint Resolution 21 became Enrolled Joint Resolution 8) to assure its printing in the Laws of Wisconsin ("session laws") volumes published biennially by the Secretary of State.

New Year's Day, the 4th of July and Christmas Day are legal holidays. Whenever they fall on a Sunday, "the succeeding Monday shall be the legal holiday" (sec. 895.20, stats.). In 1967, New Year's Day had been on Sunday and the state officers were sworn in on the next day — the first Monday of January — even though the law said this day was a legal holiday. In 1973, New Year's Day was the first Monday of January. There were no ceremonies for state officers (they had begun their new 4-year terms in 1971) but the Legislature had to organize pursuant to the 1967 law.

The New Year's holiday is not a good day to conduct business. It is best spent recuperating from the rigors of New Year's Eve celebrations, observing the Rose Bowl parade and watching football's college "bowl" or professional "play-off" games which compete for holiday airtime. It was only natural that the law concerning the Legislature's organization day would be corrected to preserve the traditional New Year's observance, and that the executive branch would agree not to make interim appointments during the protected period (Chapter 24, Laws of 1973):

The legislature shall convene in the capitol on the first Monday of January in each odd-numbered year, at 2 p.m., to take the oath of office, select officers, and do all other things necessary to organize itself for the conduct of its business, but if the first Monday of January falls on January 1 or 2, the actions here required shall be taken on January 3 [sec. 13.02 (1), stats.].

Any appointment made .... on the days specified .... for organization of a new legislature shall be invalid, but may be renewed after the executive office has been officially notified .... that the new legislature has been organized [sec. 17.20 (2), 1973 stats.].

A subsequent law change (by Chapter 418, Laws of 1977) made the second sentence unnecessary and it was deleted. An interim appointment to fill a vacancy, even though the person appointed may begin to serve, is "provisional". If the provisional appointment is later withdrawn by the Governor or rejected by the Senate, the vacancy will be filled in the regular appointment process.

Special and extraordinary sessions

In the first 121 years of statehood, from 1848 through 1968, governors brought the Wisconsin Legislature into special session a total of 24 times. Special sessions may be called by the Governor under Section 11 of Article IV of the Constitution, "and when so convened no business shall be transacted except as shall be necessary to accomplish the special purposes for which it was convened".

During the 121-year period, a special session was called about once in every 5 years, but 2 had been held in 1892 to deal with legislative redistricting; 2 in 1918 to deal with war economy problems and reserve officers training facilities; and 2 again in 1928 to deal with funding problems of public welfare, the state colleges, and charitable and penal institutions.

In 1962, Governor Gaylord Nelson called a special session on legislative and congressional redistricting, to begin at 11 a.m. on June 18. The Governor was a Democrat; Republicans had the majority in both houses: 20 to 13 in the Senate and 55 to 45 in the Assembly. When the Legislature returned to the Capitol on that morning, a majority of the members elected to each house signed a petition "to reassemble .... in accordance with the procedure set forth in Joint Resolution 147, A., of 1961." The Assembly version of the petition set the meeting time for 10:30 a.m.; the Senate version, for 11 a.m. The 1961 Legislature was back in session: in special session on the call of the Governor, and in resumed regular session pursuant to its own petition procedure.

In the Assembly, any possible conflict was quickly resolved. Stating his formal opinion on opening day, Speaker David J. Blanchard ruled that, at the time the point of order (is the Assembly in regular or in special session?) was raised, "the legislature was already in session, and the point of order is now moot and the legislature is now in regular session" (Assembly Journal 6/18/62, page 8). Of course, although he did say "legislature", Speaker Blanchard could only speak for the Assembly. In the Senate, President pro tempore Frank E. Panzer studied the matter overnight, and came to the conclusion that the Senate was both in special and in regular session (Senate Journal 6/19/62, page 14; also pp. 12, 54, 108), "but that the regular session had precedent over a special session". The confusion notwithstanding, both houses considered only matters germane to the special session call until the session again recessed on July 31, 1962.

Excluding the 1962 session, the 24 special sessions of the first 121 years all convened after the final adjournment of the regular session. In the 16 years beginning with 1969, there have been 26 special sessions and the organization committees of the 2 houses convened the Legislature in 2 "extraordinary" sessions (January 1980, December 1982). All were conducted while the regular session continued: the extraordinary sessions, and some of the special sessions, during periods scheduled for committee work; the remaining special sessions concurrently with ongoing floorperiods.

The number of post-1968 special sessions may even be 27: the Senate treated the call by Governor Lee Sherman Dreyfus for April 22, 1982, as supplementary to the call for the special session that had begun on April 6; the Assembly considered it a "Second April 1982 Special Session".

The members of the 1963 Legislature really had no experience with special sessions when Governor John W. Reynolds issued a proclamation on 12/3/63 to convene a special session one week later. Speaker Haase used the week to research the questions that are raised by the convening of a special session while the regular session continues. The result, pages 12 to 16 of the Assembly Journal for 12/10/63, was inserted into the record in response to "parliamentary inquiries" by the majority leader, Rep. Paul R. Alfonsi of Minocqua.

First off, Speaker Haase pointed to a significant difference between the U.S. and the Wisconsin constitutions. In a special session called by the Governor of Wisconsin, the Legislature is limited to the consideration of matters germane to the call. The President "may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them" (Art. II, Sec. 3, U.S. Const.) but cannot limit the purposes for which Congress is convened. Thomas Jefferson concluded from that that, if "convened by the President's proclamation, this must begin a new session, and of course determine the preceding one to have been a session" (Manual, Section LI [51-d]).

....under the Wisconsin constitution the calling of a special session, limiting the legislature to the consideration of matters set out in the call, cannot "determine the preceding one to have been a session" because our constitution does not invest the Governor with the power to adjourn the legislature sine die.

Thus, the chair is of the opinion that the Wisconsin legislature does, indeed, begin "a new session" when it convenes in extraordinary session on the proclamation of the Governor, but only in the sense that this session is separate and distinct from the regular session.

While the legislature stands adjourned to a date specific its regular session has not expired, and it does not so expire by virtue of the Governor's call (page 14) ... a Governor's call of a special session is of no effect on the progress of the regular session which will resume on the date specific previously agreed upon, whether or not the special session be completed by that date. (page 16)

Speaker Haase explained that a governor could not, as stated in the 1963 call, ask a special session to consider a regular session bill. A governor can only describe the topic; the Legislature, meeting in special session, must bring in a new bill identified as a bill of the specific special session and:

....if a law is to be enacted, go through the complete lawmaking cycle. To hold otherwise would be to invest the Governor of Wisconsin with the power to convene in special session only one house of the legislature, and then a situation might well arise at some future date whereby a Governor might call an extraordinary session for the purpose of Assembly action on a proposal already adopted by the senate in regular session. Our constitution does not permit this, and throughout its entire existence as a state, Wisconsin has followed the unbroken precedent of requiring 3 separate readings in each house before a proposal could be validly enacted into law. A special session, being a "new session", will have to abide by that precedent. (page 15)

Looking ahead, Speaker Haase even commented on the status of a special session convened during an ongoing floorperiod of the regular session:

The chair is of the opinion that, while the Wisconsin legislature is in regular session and physically present in the Capitol, a Governor's call of a special session would have the same effect — no more and no less — than any other Governor's message to the legislature received during the ordinary course of a regular session: i.e. to call the legislature's attention to the fact that an extraordinary need for speedy legislative action exists in a particular field. (page 16)

Beset by budget problems, the 1969 Legislature could not agree on a summer recess. The budget passed on August 20; both houses continued with skeleton sessions every 3rd day. It was assumed that business sessions would begin again on October 7.

Governor Knowles called a special session on 20 urban problems to begin at 2 p.m. on September 29. The regular session Assembly Journal for that date is unique:

1:30 p.m.

The speaker in the chair.

The assembly was ready to convene its skeleton session but was unable to do so because the assembly chambers were occupied and the people occupying the chambers refused to vacate.

At 4 p.m., Speaker Froehlich and Majority Leader Alfonsi held another brief skeleton to record the beginning of the Governor's special session, and to adjourn that until 10 a.m. the next day.

On September 30, the Assembly used the entire day to organize for the special session and to debate Assembly Resolution 6, Special Session, by Representative F. James Sensenbrenner (Rep., Shorewood), citing Father "James E. Groppi for contempt of the assembly and directing his commitment to the Dane county jail." On October 1, from 10:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., the Assembly in special session discussed Father Groppi and the "new rules issued by the Department of Administration for admission to the capitol", and the first 2 special session bills were introduced. A skeleton for the regular session was held at 8:31 p.m. On October 2, the Assembly met only in special session; on Friday, October 3, it met in special session from 9 a.m. to 9:55 a.m. and held a regular session skeleton at 10 a.m. On Tuesday (10/7/69), the Assembly met in special session from 10 a.m. until 3:40 p.m., at which time it went into regular session to conduct regular session business. Representative Frederick P. Kessler (Dem., Milwaukee) raised the point of order that:

...a regular session of the legislature may not be convened until the business of a special session called by the Governor has been completed and such special session has adjourned.

Speaker Froehlich ruled that the precedents established by the special sessions of 1962 and 1963 were "clear to the effect that special and regular sessions of the legislature may be conducted alternately". The pattern was set: henceforth, "special session" meant setting aside as much of a lawmaking day as necessary to address the issues proclaimed by the Governor, and to use the remaining lawmaking time for the business of the regular session. Of the 20 urban problems cited in the Governor's call, not one resulted in a special session law (some were later addressed in the regular session); one bill, an appropriation to Marquette School of Medicine, Inc., passed. For the first time, a special session enactment was considered an act of the biennial legislature rather than an act of the specific special session: the Marquette appropriation became "Chapter 185, Laws of 1969".

In 1970, Governor Knowles called a special session for 2 p.m. on December 22, "solely for the purpose of discussing and giving advice and consent to the following gubernatorial appointments requiring confirmation". As Speaker Haase had pointed out, a Wisconsin Governor cannot convene just one house in special session, even though it would have been convenient in this instance. The Assembly had no business to conduct but, just like the Senate, had to act on a number of resolutions to organize the Legislature for the special session:

- A.Res. 1 — relating to the organization of the assembly for the 1970 special session.
- A.Res. 2 — relating to the rules of the assembly in the 1970 special session.
- A.Res. 3 — relating to the assignment of seats for the assembly in the 1970 special session.
- A.Res. 4 — relating to the service of the resident clergy during the 1970 special session.

The Senate, which did have some real business before it, streamlined its procedure by adopting a single resolution to do the whole thing. At 4:05 p.m., the Assembly had its moment: it adopted, 95 to 1, Assembly Joint Resolution 1, "relating to the adjournment sine die of the 1970 special session".

Eight years and 12 special sessions with their own organizing resolutions later, Speaker Jackamonis incorporated the standard rule modifications adopted for each special session into the resolution revising the standing rules for the 1979 regular session (A.Res.7). Four years, 2 extraordinary sessions and 3 organizing resolutions (1979 A.Res.23, S.Res.10; 1981 S.Res.15) later, the rule was amended to cover extraordinary sessions also (1983 A.Res.12) and the Senate adopted a similar rule (1983 S.Res.4):

SPECIAL AND EXTRAORDINARY SESSIONS. Unless otherwise provided by the assembly for a specific special or extraordinary session, the rules of the assembly adopted for the regular session shall, subject to the following modifications, apply to each special session called by the governor and to each extraordinary session called by the assembly and senate organization committees or called by a joint resolution approved by both houses:

- (1) No proposal, or amendment thereto, may be considered by the assembly unless it is germane to the session call or pertains to the organization of the legislature.
- (2) Proposals may be offered for introduction only by the assembly committees on finance, organization or rules, or by the joint committees on employment relations, finance or organization.
- (3) No notice of hearings before committees shall be required other than posting on the legislative bulletin boards, and no schedule of committee activities need be published.

(4) All measures referred to a calendar may be taken up immediately. A printed calendar shall not be required.

(5) No motion to postpone a proposal to a day or time certain shall be allowed.

(6) All motions to reconsider shall be taken up immediately unless a different time is set by majority vote for a specific motion to reconsider.

(7) All motions to advance a proposal to its 3rd reading, and all motions to message a proposal to the other house may be adopted by a majority of the members present and voting.

The Senate special session rule does not mention the motion for reconsideration because, under the regular rules of that house, such motions are routinely "put immediately after pending business of higher precedence is disposed of unless laid over to a future time by majority vote" [1985 S.Rule 67 (4)]. On the other hand, the Senate rule includes one special session requirement not found in the Assembly rule: "Any point of order shall be decided within one hour" [1985 S.Rule 93 (4)].

The June 1980 Special Session was the last for which both houses adopted organizing resolutions, and the Assembly version (A.Res. 1) merely reminded the members that a "special sessions" rule was already a part of the standing rules: "The rules of the assembly adopted during the 1979 regular session are adopted as the rules of the June 1980 special session". Senate Resolution 1 of the May 1982 Special Session became the final resolution to organize the Senate for a special session; the 1983 adoption of Senate Rule 93 made such resolutions obsolete.

The accelerated procedures of a special session apply not only to the ordinary business before each house, but also to a resolution offered by the Assembly Committee on Rules to consider a proposal as a special order of business (Assembly Journal 5/4/82, page 3430):

Representative Thompson [assistant minority leader] rose to the point of order that Assembly Resolution 1, Second April 1982 Special Session, [relating to establishing a special order of business for Tuesday, May 4, 1982] was not properly before the assembly because it did not comply with Assembly Rule 33 (4) and (6) [resolution for special order of business].

The speaker [Jackamonis] ruled that Assembly Resolution 1 was introduced under Assembly Rule 93 and did not need to comply with the requirements of Assembly Rule 33.

Under the terms of the 1973 Session Schedule, the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization was directed to recall the Legislature for a 3-day veto period, within "10 days after the governor's action on all bills", to review vetoes, pending nominations for appointment, and revisor's correction bills. The committee called the session for November 19; Governor Lucey called a special session for the same date for legislative ratification "of the agreement negotiated between the State and the Professional Social Services Unit". By 1973 Assembly Joint Resolution 149, the Legislature integrated the work of the regular and special sessions:

...the business of the November 1974 special session [shall] be treated as a priority item of business during the current floorperiod of the 1973 regular session, and .... the chief clerks of the senate and assembly are instructed to record the action of the November 1974 special session, properly identified, within the journals of the 1973 regular session and [shall add] the history of actions by the November 1974 special session .... to histories and indexes compiled as the bulletin of proceedings for the 1973 regular session.

The records-keeping procedures were further refined in Assembly Joint Resolution 1 of the May 1976 Special Session, offered by Majority Leader Terry A. Willkom (Dem., Chippewa Falls), and were codified into the joint rules by 1973 AJR-23:

BIENNIAL RECORD CONTINUITY; SPECIAL SESSIONS. For each session biennium the chief clerks of the 2 houses and the legislative reference bureau shall, and the executive and secretary of state's office are requested to, treat the legislative documents of the regular session and of any special sessions convened by the governor during that biennium in the following manner:

(1) Drafting requests. The legislative reference bureau shall number all drafting requests received by it in a continuing sequence throughout each legislative biennium.

(2) Bill jackets. When jacketing drafted proposals for consideration in a special session, the legislative reference bureau shall identify each page of the draft, as well as the bill jacket itself, by the month in which a specific special session begins.

(3) Bills and resolutions. For each special session, the chief clerks shall number the bills, joint resolutions or resolutions in a new sequence, beginning with the number "1" for each type of document.

(4) Journals. The daily journals for each special session shall be identified as journals of the legislature meeting in special session, but shall be filed in consecutive order, by date, together with the journals recording the action in regular session throughout the legislative biennium. When the legislature, at different times within a single calendar day, conducts the business of the regular session as well as business under the governor's special session call, the actions may be recorded in a single journal for that day but actions under the special session call shall be clearly identified as actions of the legislature meeting in special session.

(5) Bulletin of proceedings. The history of legislative action on all measures offered in special sessions shall be published in a single chapter for each special session, at the end of the senate and assembly volumes of the bulletin of proceedings. In the subject and author indexes of the index volume, special session legislation shall be indexed, together with regular session legislation, into a single subject- and author-heading sequence.

(6) Session laws. The executive office and the office of the secretary of state are requested to number all session laws enacted throughout a single biennial session period, and whether enacted in regular or in special session, into a single consecutive chapter number sequence.

On January 3, 1980, the Senate Committee on Organization and the Assembly Committee on Organization both met in the Capitol. Each committee voted to convene the Legislature at 10:00 a.m. on 1/22/80 for a one-week extraordinary session "for the purpose of acting on bills relating to crime and energy". Not to be outdone, Governor Dreyfus issued a proclamation on January 15 to convene the Legislature in special session at 9:30 a.m. on 1/22/80 to consider 2 bills relating to crime, and one constitutional amendment and one bill relating to bail. Once again (Assembly Journal 1/22/80, page 1848), a presiding officer had to defend the Legislature's institutional prerogatives against executive encroachment:

Representative Wahner [majority leader] rose to the point of order that the hour of 10:00 A.M. had arrived and, therefore, the assembly was in extraordinary session.

Representative Shabaz [minority leader] stated that the assembly was in special session pursuant to Article IV, Section 11, of the Wisconsin Constitution.

The speaker [Jackamonis] ruled well taken the point of order raised by Representative Wahner that the assembly was in extraordinary session. He ruled that a regular session or an extraordinary session called by the legislature takes precedence over a special session called by the governor and cited two precedents as the basis for his ruling:

1) the June 19, 1962 ruling of senate president pro tempore Panzer and, 2) the December 10, 1963 ruling of assembly speaker Haase.

Representative Shabaz appealed the ruling of the chair.

Representative Shabaz moved that the rules be suspended and that Assembly Bill 1, January 1980 Special Session be withdrawn from the committee on Criminal Justice and Public Safety and taken up at this time.

The speaker [Jackamonis] ruled the motion out of order.

The question was: Shall the decision of the chair stand as the judgment of the assembly?

The roll was taken. [Display of roll call vote omitted; ayes-59, noes-36.] Motion carried.

The assembly recessed the special session and went into extraordinary session pursuant to the speaker's ruling.

In the June 1980 Special Session, the Legislature worked on a constitutional amendment to implement Item "(1)" of Governor Dreyfus' proclamation of 5/22/80, which read: "Amending Section 8 of Article I of the Wisconsin Constitution to authorize the Legislature by statute to permit circuit courts to deny release on bail for a limited period to certain accused persons." The Assembly passed one version, the Senate another. On 6/25/80, the Senate received the conference report and approved it, 26 to 5. In the Assembly, Minority Leader Shabaz raised the point of order that the conference report "was not germane to the special session call as required by Assembly Rule 93 (1)."

Speaker Jackamonis (Assembly Journal 6/25/80, page 3649) agreed. Although the Assembly can suspend its own rules, no legislature can disregard a constitutional limitation. "The speaker ruled the point of order well taken because the language in the conference committee report related to the regulation of bail and was self-executing."

On the next day, Governor Dreyfus issued a supplementary call which amended Item "(1)" of the original call. The new words are underscored:

(1) Amending Section 8 of Article I of the Wisconsin Constitution, relating to revising the right to and conditions of bail and authorizing the Legislature, by law, to permit circuit courts to deny release on bail for a limited period to certain accused persons.

The supplementary call permitted introduction of the conference report as Assembly Joint Resolution 9, June 1980 Special Session, which passed both houses in that special session, was agreed to by the 1981 Legislature (1981 Assembly Joint Resolution 5) and ratified by the people in the April 1981 spring election. The content of the "bail" amendment was complicated, but its submission to the voters by a single question survived a court challenge (Milwaukee Alliance v. Elections Board, 106 Wis. 2d 593, decided March 22, 1982) and, on April 7, 1982, ratification was certified by the Board of State Canvassers.

Daily Sessions

The development of proposals — from idea through drafting to committee review — is, in many respects, the most important part of lawmaking. Nothing ever becomes a law unless it has been placed before the Legislature as a bill, and the substance of the law enacted usually follows the original bill rather closely. Still, the untold hours of preparation do not capture the interest of the general public or of the news media.

When we think of the Legislature, we think of the floor session. We think of the decorum surrounding the exercise of sovereignty in a free society. We think of great debates which, sometimes, become filibusters running late into the night. We think of points of order under the rules of procedure, and the subject is so mysterious to most of us that we tend to dismiss it as parliamentary "maneuvering".

The floor of the Legislature is where the action is.

The orders of business

In a Wisconsin legislative biennium, the drama of the Legislature's floor session is played out on about 100 days of regular session floor activity. About one-half of the floor session days occur in the first 6 months of the odd-numbered year. On some session days, the Legislature meets not only in regular session but, separately, also in special session; for instance, on May 4, 1982, the Assembly published a Journal for the "Eighty-Fifth Regular Session", another for the "April 1982 Special Session" and a third for the "Second April 1982 Special Session".

Legislators represent constituencies. In fact, each legislator is required to reside "in the district which he [or she] may be chosen to represent" (Art. IV, Sec. 6, Wis. Const.). Each legislator must spend considerable time in the home district to stay in touch. To allow for travel time, actual floor sessions are usually held only on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, although a daily calendar of business may be published also for Fridays and Mondays to keep the pending business in its proper sequence.

By tradition, a day of floor session begins with prayer, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Sometimes, a moment of silent meditation takes the prayer's place. The first order of business is the call of the roll. A "quorum" — one more than half of the current membership — must be present to conduct business, "but a lesser number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members" (Art. IV, Sec. 7, Wis. Const.). In each house, a rule requires members to be present on every session day, or to be granted a leave of absence.

In 1963, both houses abolished a separate order of business for "correction of the journal". The few errors remembered were limited to spelling and punctuation; a substantive error can be corrected on motion. Paul Mason, in his Manual of Legislative Procedure (1970 edition, sec. 700) says that a legislature's right to correct its journal "is an inherent right" which does not depend on the constitution or a statute. "Each house of the legislature has the power to correct its journals so as to make them speak the truth at any time before final adjournment."

In Wisconsin, both houses talk of "housekeeping orders" and of orders for the consideration of business. After completion of the housekeeping orders on today's calendar, business still pending from prior calendars (if any) is taken up. On the whole, the housekeeping orders in both houses concern:

(1) Introduction, first reading and reference of: a) resolutions and joint resolutions; and b) bills.

(2) Receipt of communications, including: a) committee reports; b) petitions; c) other communications; and d) messages from the other house. For a proposal already approved by the house, and now returned by the other house with an amendment, consideration of the amendment received from the other house is typically scheduled under the order for receipt of messages so that such amendments will be acted on prior to consideration of the business on today's calendar.

The Assembly has a housekeeping order to consider motions for reconsiderations of earlier votes to pass or concur because, under Assembly Rule 73 (3), any motion to reconsider passage or concurrence goes to the calendar next to be printed unless, when the motion is entered, 2 days have already passed since the original decision was made. The Senate does not need this housekeeping order; its reconsideration motions are taken up immediately but may be "laid over to a future time by a majority vote" [S.Rule 67 (4)].

Both houses also have a housekeeping order "motions may be offered". The placement of that order within the daily calendar makes a significant difference. In the Senate, the order is placed after the completion of today's business, immediately preceding adjournment. In the Assembly, the order occurs before today's business (or any business pending from prior calendars) is taken up. Because the Assembly allows the motion to withdraw a proposal from a standing committee only "on the first day in any week on which the call of the roll is taken under the first order of business" [A.Rule 15 (2)], the "motions" housekeeping order, on a Tuesday, sometimes takes up considerable time.

The 2 houses also differ on the sequence of the business orders. While both take up consideration of simple resolutions first, in the Senate this is followed by proposals on second reading, with the order for third reading placed last. The Assembly places the third reading order ahead of second reading and amendment; in most cases, second reading and amendment of proposals is the most time-consuming order of business.

The conscious distinction between housekeeping orders and business orders probably began with a 1975 statement by Speaker Anderson (Assembly Journal 9/16/75, page 1835) that, under the Assembly rules:

....the Assembly must complete the [housekeeping] orders of the current day's calendar before returning to complete unfinished business under the .... succeeding order of business on previous calendars.

Pursuant to the ruling the speaker stated that the Assembly would proceed to consideration of the proposals under the [housekeeping] orders of business which are on calendars of Tuesday, June 24 to the present.

The summer recess of the 1975 Legislature was from mid-July until September. Before the recess, consideration of the biennial budget took up most of the floor session time. After the recess, much of the time was spent on special orders. By mid-September, the Assembly was way behind on its calendar. The speaker's approach helped it to catch up. In fact, the approach was so successful that both houses have remained current on their calendars during the most recent biennial sessions. The procedure was codified in the 1977 adoption of Assembly rules, and Speaker Loftus improved it in 1983 (Assembly Resolution 12):

Unless otherwise ordered, after completion of the [housekeeping orders] of business on the calendar for the current date, and prior to consideration of the .... succeeding orders on that calendar, unfinished matters entered under orders of business on previous calendars shall be taken up and completed in order by order of business and calendar date.

The revision by Speaker Loftus was significant in that it permits the Assembly, when it begins its session week on Tuesday, to complete all business of one type pending on calendars printed for Friday and Monday, before it proceeds to action on business of another type.

Introduction and reference

Compiling his Manual from English precedent and his own U.S. Senate experience, Thomas Jefferson was so sure that "Every bill shall have three readings previous to its being passed .... which readings shall be on three different days", that he did not even annotate his statement (Sec. XXII [22]). Similarly, the fledgling Senate and House of the new Territory of Wisconsin incorporated the concept into the standing rules on the second day of their existence, October 26, 1836.

Every bill shall receive three several readings previous to its passage; but no bill shall have its second and third readings on the same day, without special order of the [Council; House of Representatives].

Three readings on 3 separate days is an article of faith. It is not written into the Constitution of the United States; it is not found in the Wisconsin Constitution. In fact, it is not required. More to the point, it is not even done! Most likely, reading at length had fallen into disuse even before Walter L. Houser, supervised by a joint committee of senators and representatives, recompiled the "conflicting, contradictory, and complicated" Senate, Assembly and Joint rules of 1895 into the single set of "new rules for the use of the Senate and Assembly" adopted at the beginning of the 1897 Session. "W. L." Houser, of Mondovi, had founded the Buffalo County Herald in 1876. He served as Secretary of State from 1903 to 1907; from 1895 until 1903, he was the Chief Clerk of the Senate.

Bills "of a general nature" had been printed (250 copies) at least since 1860. If every legislator had a copy, reading at length was a waste of time. In any case, Rule 43 of Houser's new rules provided that readings were to be "by title" only (over the years, readings by title became readings of that part of a title known as the "relating clause"):

Every bill shall receive three several readings by title except where otherwise provided previous to its passage, but no bill shall receive its second and third readings on the same day. The first reading of the bill shall be for information, and if objection be made to it, the question shall be, "Shall the bill be rejected?" If no objection be made, or the question to reject lost, the bill shall go to its second reading without further question.

The second part of that rule — first reading and “sudden death” — was of ancient origin. Even Thomas Jefferson already commented that it was unusual for a bill on first reading “to be opposed then, but it may be done, and rejected” (Manual, sec. XXIV [24-b]). By 1913, the Wisconsin Senate revised its rules, and Senate Chief Clerk F. M. Wylie inserted the following note after Senate Rule 40, “Three several readings”. Wylie was an attorney and former newspaper reporter and congressional staffer who had been employed by the Wisconsin Senate in various capacities since 1905.

The practice of first and second readings before reference, coming down from the time when only one copy of the bill was extant, and the question of rejection was put after the first reading, was obsolete in its usefulness long before it was rejected by the Senate, which was not until 1913, although it had been discarded by Congress long prior. In 1913, the [Senate] readings were amended so that the bill is read first time and referred, read second time before further action, and read third time before passage. This places one of each of the readings at one of the times when the bill must be read as an announcement of its being before the Senate, and abolishes unnecessary repetition.

Ancient rules die hard. In the Assembly, the rule permitting a proposal to be defeated on first reading was finally repealed by 1937 Assembly Resolution 48. Speaker Paul R. Alfonsi, the only member of the Progressive Party ever chosen speaker of the Wisconsin Assembly, was one of the authors of the resolution.

Traditions and customs are even more difficult to change. With “sudden death” gone and committee reference after the second reading, first reading served no real purpose until the 1963 revision of the Assembly rules (Assembly Resolution 29) advanced committee referral to first reading and reserved second reading for the consideration of amendments. The resolution was one of many placed before that session as the result of an interim study of legislative procedures by the Legislative Council. Assisted by a grant from the Ford Foundation, the Legislative Council had employed Mr. Paul Mason (author of the Manual of Legislative Procedure) as legislative consultant to the committee conducting the study. The indefatigable Paul Alfonsi (he had returned to the Assembly in 1959 after a 20-year hiatus and, by 1963, was selected majority leader by the Republican caucus) was a member of the committee and, thus, again one of the sponsors of the rule change.

The next major change in the first reading procedure was made by Speaker Jackamonis in 1977 (Assembly Resolution 14). Taking advantage of the new technology of rapid direct copying, the speaker’s new rule replaced first reading with distribution of copies of the referral report:

If copies of a written report by the chief clerk, showing the number, relating clause, and referral of each such proposal, have been distributed to the members .... such distribution shall serve in lieu of first reading by the chief clerk and announcement of referral by the presiding officer, but the content of the report shall be entered in the daily journal under the appropriate order of business.

Informally, President Risser instituted the same procedure for the Senate in 1982. The difference is in the status of a bill’s committee referral. In the Assembly, committee referral of a new proposal is the prerogative of the Speaker (not, of the presiding officer of the moment) and is final. In the Senate, although the President of the Senate proposes the appropriate committee referral for each bill, the Senate can change it. Consequently, the Chief Clerk reads the entire report — number, relating clause and committee referral — to the members under the appropriate order of business. If no objection is made, the new bills are referred as shown on the distributed report. If there is objection, the President of the Senate prevails “unless the senate, on motion, makes a different order in relation” to a specific bill [S.Rule 36 (1)].

Introduction, first reading and committee referral is probably the most tranquil stage in the life of a bill. Checking all of the legislative journals from 1973 to the present, only 2 points of order were found to concern this stage:

In the 1973 Legislature (Senate Journal 3/28/74, page 2628), the Senate received 8 Assembly bills for Senate consideration. For each of the first 7 bills, one of the senators received unanimous consent to place the bill on the table for later disposition. On the 8th bill, 1973 Assembly Bill 1511, “relating to a tax on copper mining”, nobody asked for unanimous consent but the bill was:

Read first time and laid on the table.

Senator Keppler raised the point of order that the chair must refer the assembly bills on the message to some committee.

The chair [Lieut. Gov. Schreiber] referred the bill to the committee on Natural Resources.

The other point of order was more significant. Only a member of the law-making body can place a proposal before the body for its consideration and the chair of a committee, being a member of the lawmaking body, may do so on behalf of the committee. The rules of the Wisconsin Legislature recognize only standing committees and special committees.

Senate Bill 500 of the 1979 Session, “relating to energy resources”, had been introduced “by the Senate Select Committee on Energy” on 1/4/80 during a committee work period. Bill introduction was permitted during the committee work period, but the governing rule limits introduction to legislators, the chair of any standing committee for that committee, and “the chairperson of any special committee .... on behalf of that special committee and within the special committee’s scope”. Nowhere is a “select” committee mentioned. However, while the committee was popularly referred to as the “Select Committee on Energy”, it had been properly established by 1979 Senate Resolution 8 as “a special committee on energy”. The chair, President Risser, ruled the point of order not well taken (Senate Journal 1/23/80, page 1143).

Withdrawing a proposal from committee

Almost nothing gets a member of the Legislature more frustrated than to see his proposal “bottled up” in committee. Almost nothing makes the chairperson of a standing committee more angry than a challenge of the committee’s authority to pick the propitious time to release a proposal for consideration on the floor. Almost without exception, the motion to withdraw a proposal from committee does not bring happiness.

The motion to withdraw has an institutional purpose. Two committee chairs talk it over; the particular proposal will get a more expeditious hearing in the other committee or the bill’s subject complements proposals already in the second committee; the chair of the first committee moves that the bill be withdrawn from the original committee and rereferred to the other committee; the exchange is made. All would be neat and nice, except that the motion is hardly ever used in this manner.

The motion to withdraw has a work flow purpose. In 1947, the Wisconsin Legislature pioneered the use of "fiscal estimates": by putting a price tag on legislation, the Legislature could make a more informed decision. Fiscal estimates are printed and distributed; all members receive copies.

Any bill making an appropriation and any bill increasing or decreasing existing appropriations or state or general local government fiscal liability or revenues shall .... incorporate a reliable estimate of the anticipated change in appropriation authority or state or general local government fiscal liability or revenues .... including .... a projection of such changes in future biennia.... (sec. 13.093, stats.).

The fiscal estimate may reveal that the bill's cost is inconsequential, but the same statutory rule also requires all bills "for the appropriation of money, providing for revenue or relating to taxation" to be referred to the Joint Committee on Finance before final passage. The solution was found in "dipping": every bill is referred as the rule requires but, for bills with a limited fiscal effect, the Finance Committee chair of the referring house may request unanimous consent that the bill be "withdrawn and taken up at this time". Usually, the request is granted and consideration continues.

Dipping is possible only when a bill is before the Senate or Assembly for floor debate, and can be done only by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote because it accelerates consideration of the bill beyond the steps provided in the rules. Similarly, for any bill requiring prepassage referral to the Joint Committee on Finance, a motion to withdraw the bill from another standing committee and to rerefer it to the Finance Committee would be acceleration and require two-thirds.

In most cases, the motion to withdraw is used by a minority fighting for its right to be heard. In this instance, "minority" does not mean a partisan political faction: it refers to the proponents of an idea that is either too unusual or too controversial for the average lawmaker. In many cases, the minority is already looking for a second chance. The proposal was given a public hearing by the standing committee but was not returned to the Legislature.

Very few proposals referred to a standing committee do not receive a public hearing. The chair decides: in the Assembly, "any proposal referred to a committee, and any other business relevant to its title, may at the discretion of the chairperson be scheduled for public hearing" [A.Rule 14 (1)]; in the Senate, "any chairperson who determines to hold a hearing shall schedule the hearing as early in the session as practicable" [S.Rule 25 (1)]. In practice, the bill's sponsor tries to arrange for a public hearing at a convenient time by talking to the chairperson and, if that does not seem to work, by seeking the help of the committee's members. Trying to force floor debate of a measure which has not had a public hearing, by using the motion to withdraw, would be an extreme measure. It is also a risky business.

In the Senate (Rule 41), a motion to withdraw cannot be entered during the week in which a proposal is already scheduled for a public hearing. At any other time, it can be entered under the "motions" order of business and approved by majority vote, but if the first try fails all subsequent motions to withdraw that proposal from the same committee will require a two-thirds majority for approval. The Committee on Senate Organization schedules proposals for floor debate; if the motion to withdraw is from any other committee and is successful, the bill automatically goes to the Organization Committee. Based on Senate precedent, the motion to withdraw a proposal from committee can be entered only under the appropriate order of business (Senate Journal 10/29/81, page 1341):

On Thursday, October 29, 1981, Senator Bablitch asked unanimous consent that Senate Bill 493 be referred to the joint committee on Finance and the bill was so referred.

Before the next bill was called Senator Lorge moved that the bill be withdrawn from the joint committee on Finance and considered immediately.

Senator Bablitch raised the point of order that the motion was not properly before the Senate.

A similar point of order was raised by Senator Sensenbrenner on February 14, 1978. The chair's ruling stated in part:

"The chair recalls that in past sessions, operating under similar rules, motions to withdraw from committee have been made at other times than the eighth order.

"In this case the chair finds no written rule either allowing or forbidding the Senator to make a motion to withdraw from committee at the time he made it. But there is strong precedent this session, enunciated as recently as last week by the majority leader, that motions to withdraw bills from committee will be restricted to the eighth order of business."

A rule change has since moved the order of business "Motions" from the eighth order to the fourteenth order. It is the opinion of the chair [Pres. Risser] that based on this past ruling and our precedent of the past several sessions that the point of order raised by the Senator of the 24th, Senator Bablitch, is well taken, and the motion should be made on the fourteenth order of business.

In the Assembly (Rule 15), a motion to withdraw can only be entered on the first roll call day of the week (Tuesday), but it cannot be entered during the 3-week period beginning with the bill's referral to the standing committee. To do it anyway requires a suspension of the rules, which can be done only by unanimous consent or be a two-thirds vote. After the 3 weeks, the motion can be entered and carried by a simple majority, but if that fails any subsequent motion to withdraw the bill from the same committee again requires a two-thirds vote. The Assembly also provides for an alternate procedure, withdrawal by petition, which "requires the personal signatures of a majority of the assembly's current membership". The Committee on Rules schedules proposals for floor debate; if the motion to withdraw is from any other committee and is successful, the bill is deposited in the Rules Committee.

In both houses, a motion to withdraw which could be decided by majority vote may be placed on the table by majority vote. This protects the right of the majority to have one opportunity, at a time of its own choosing, to withdraw a proposal by majority vote. But, while any other tabled matter "may be taken from the table at any time" (A. Rule 74, S. Rule 65) by majority vote, in the Assembly it has been held that a tabled motion to withdraw can be taken from the table only under the “motions” order of business (Assembly Journal 3/4/80, page 2423):

Representative Merkt moved that [1979] Assembly Joint Resolution 32 [making an application to the Congress of the United States pursuant to article V of the constitution of the United States, for a convention proposing an amendment to the constitution of the United States to protect the life of all human beings, including unborn children at every stage of their biological development] be withdrawn from the committee on Health and Social Services.

Representative Loftus moved that the motion to withdraw Assembly Joint Resolution 32 from the committee on Health and Social Services be laid on the table.

The question was: Shall the motion to withdraw Assembly Joint Resolution 32 from the committee on Health and Social Services be laid on the table? Motion carried.

After completion of the “motions” (8th) order of business, the presiding officer called up the first bill on the calendar of Monday, March 3, 1980, 1979 Senate Bill 62, “relating to adding 2 dental hygienists to the dentistry examining board”. The Senate bill was up for third reading; the Assembly was on the 11th order of business.

Representative Shabaz moved that the motion to withdraw Assembly Joint Resolution 32 from the committee on Health and Social Services be taken from the table.

The speaker [Jackamonis] ruled that the motion required a suspension of the rules and a two-thirds vote.

The question was: Shall the rules be suspended and the motion to withdraw Assembly Joint Resolution 32 from the committee on Health and Social Services be taken from the table?

The roll was taken. [Display of roll call vote omitted; ayes-51, noes-47.] Motion failed [2/3 vote required].

Representative Shabaz rose to the point of order that Assembly Joint Resolution 32 was before the assembly because the previous motion did not require a suspension of the rules and a two-thirds vote.

The speaker ruled the point of order not well taken because the assembly was no longer on the eighth order of business.

Second reading

“The purpose of the second reading stage”, explains Assembly Rule 46 (1), “is to consider amendments and perfect the form and content of proposals”.

Amending to perfect “form and content” — developing a consensus — is the central technique of majority rule. It is an art but, in the institutional framework of a state legislature, it has to be handled like a trade that can be practiced by master craftsmen and women. The topic is so complicated that it deserves a chapter of its own (see Chapter 5). Here, we will look primarily at the Wisconsin Legislature’s success in protecting its most valuable resource, time, by creating an appropriate framework in which ideas can receive optimal consideration. Assembly Rule 46 continues:

(2) After a proposal receives its second reading, the assembly shall consider every amendment to the proposal recommended in the latest committee report on the proposal and any additional amendments offered after such report. If there is no committee report, all amendments shall be considered.

(3) Following action on all pending amendments to an assembly joint resolution proposing a change in the state constitution or to an assembly bill, and the failure of any motion to indefinitely postpone such proposal, the question shall be: “Shall the proposal be ordered engrossed and read a 3rd time?”

(4) Following action on all pending assembly amendments to a senate joint resolution proposing a change in the state constitution or to a senate bill, and the failure of any motion for nonconcurrency, the question shall be: "Shall the proposal be ordered to a 3rd reading?"

(5) Proposals ordered to a 3rd reading shall be placed on the calendar for the 2nd legislative day thereafter under the appropriate 3rd reading order of business.

As recently as 1974, each house placed proposals reported by standing committees, under the appropriate orders of business, on the next calendar to be printed. There was no structured procedure to achieve a manageable workload for floor debate. In the beginning, proposals were considered in the sequence in which they were listed on the printed calendars. Slowly, each house fell behind: today's calendar might be considered tomorrow or, even, sometime next month. As important issues requiring immediate attention were taken from the calendar and considered as special orders, the listing of bills in the printed calendars became less and less a reliable guide of the issues still to be resolved.

A ruling by Lieut. Gov. Patrick J. Lucey illustrates the problem (Senate Journal 5/25/66, page 2346):

....On Tuesday, May 24, the Senate was still on the calendar of Monday, May 2, the day on which the session was reconvened after a recess. The current backlog of pending work and the deliberate pace of the Senate since reconvention make it extremely unlikely that the calendar of Thursday, May 24, would be reached by the date of May 25. Therefore, to set a bill from the calendar of May 24 on special order for May 25 would be to assure its consideration on that day by giving it precedence over other pending matters, clearly a case of expediting important business.

The President holds .... that, because a motion to set a special order is a motion to expedite important business by setting aside the general rules regarding the order of business, it requires a suspension of the rules and, therefore, a two-thirds vote.

The resolution to readopt the Senate rules for the 1975 Session (Senate Resolution 2) changed all that. Sponsored by all 5 members of the 1975 Committee on Senate Organization, the rule changes were truly bipartisan. The initial instructions came from the Vice President of the 1973 Senate, Republican Senator Ernest C. Keppler of Sheboygan, for a working draft to be discussed by the Committee on Senate Organization in November 1974. Senator Risser (Dem., Madison), the incoming President pro tempore, gave additional instructions near the end of December. Final instructions were submitted jointly by the director of the Senate Republican Caucus staff, Atty. James R. Klauser, and Senator Risser. Item "3" of the initial instructions by Senator Keppler provided:

THAT, the Senate Organization Committee have full control over setting the agenda or calendar. When proposals come in on committee reports, the bills would then be referred to the Committee on Senate Organization. The committee would then agree on priority measures and have the authority to set special orders.

In the final version, the scheduling authority of the Committee on Senate Organization was extended to cover not only matters reported by committees, but also matters withdrawn from committees or "placed on table" by the Senate. Expanded several times in the intervening years to cover other contingencies, the text of the central provision [S.Rule 18 (1)] is shown below, and the committee's scheduling authority over matters withdrawn [S.Rule 41 (1) (c)] or tabled [S.Rule 65 (2)] continues:

DAILY CALENDAR. All bills, resolutions, appointments or other business, referred to a committee and reported by it to the senate or withdrawn from it by the senate, all proposals or amendments received from the assembly for senate concurrence, and all reports from conference committees and veto messages received by the senate, shall be placed in the committee on senate organization. Any such business deposited with the chief clerk on a day when the senate does not meet may be placed in the committee on senate organization immediately to permit that committee to schedule such business as expeditiously as possible, but shall be formally received by the senate on its next meeting day. The committee on senate organization shall establish a calendar, grouping together bills, resolutions, appointments or other business according to similar subjects and in an appropriate order, and in such numbers as to constitute a workable and up-to-date calendar schedule. The committee on senate organization shall place a bill, resolution, appointment or other business on the calendar when directed to do so by a majority vote of the senate.

Calendar scheduling worked so well for the 1975 Senate that the Assembly adopted the procedure 2 years later. By 1977 Assembly Resolution 6, the Assembly revamped the Committee on Rules to include the officers of both party caucuses and, in addition to the committee's duties as a standing committee, put the Rules Committee in charge of calendar scheduling.

Whenever the assembly receives a committee's report on a proposal referred to the committee, the presiding officer shall refer the proposal .... to either the next appropriate calendar for second reading or to the committee on rules [for scheduling] unless it is the judgment of the presiding officer that reference of the proposal to the joint committee on finance is required by law or by rule and the presiding officer refers the proposal to that committee [1977 A.Rule 45 (1)].

In its 1977 wording the Assembly rule required the Rules Committee to place all proposals received on second reading calendars printed within 3 weeks from the date of receipt. For proposals received during the last 3 weeks of floor session scheduled for the odd-numbered year, the 3-week period was deemed to end with the calendar for the second day of the first floor-period scheduled for the even-numbered year. For proposals received during the final 3 weeks of the last scheduled floorperiod in the even-numbered year, the period was deemed to end with the floorperiod's scheduled date of adjournment.

All of this was rather complicated. By March 1980, the Assembly had 2 sessions' experience with final floorperiod scheduling. Speaker Jackamonis introduced a resolution to repeal the 3-week limit (Assembly Resolution 24). The resolution passed. Since that time, anything scheduled by the Rules Committee goes on the next printed calendar (2 days hence) or, during the final floor-period, on any calendar selected by the Rules Committee.

Even with calendar scheduling, some proposals cannot be considered on the date for which debate was scheduled. All measures on the calendar are taken up but, for a specific measure (particularly one that comes up late at night), action on that date may be limited to moving it to a future calendar. For important issues, the solution has been "special ordering".

Scheduling the consideration of a proposal as a special order of business at a specified time gives that proposal priority over any business reached at that time under regular orders. In most cases, the special order consideration of a proposal is set at the second reading stage and continues right through engrossment, third reading and messaging to the other house. Sometimes, the consideration of a proposal is set at a later stage; for instance, to consider amendments by the other house or to review a partial veto by the Governor.

Consideration of a proposal may be set as a special order by two-thirds vote of the members, but that is mentioned only in the Senate rules. Usually, Senate special orders are set by the Committee on Senate Organization. In the Assembly, special orders are proposed by the Committee on Rules in the form of a resolution (privileged to be taken up immediately; not amendable; 5 minutes per side limit on debate) which can be adopted by majority vote.

A special order is meant to be taken up on the date and at the time specified. In practice, when the time for a special order arrives, current business usually continues until there is a convenient break point. Then the majority leader or an interested legislator calls the presiding officer's attention to the fact that the time for considering a special order has arrived. In many cases, special orders are set sequentially, but the arrival of the time for considering another special order does not interrupt the ongoing consideration of a special order. The bill scheduled for "10:03 a.m." will be taken up after consideration of the "10:02 a.m." special order has been completed. Adjournment of the legislative day, recess for lunch or dinner, or interruption for any other purpose does not impair the status of a special order; when the session resumes, consideration of the special order continues.

The rules of debate

The Legislature moves by the spoken word. Each step is precisely choreographed by the rules of debate, motions and voting distilled from centuries of tradition, precedent and codification. Debate is limited to the issue before the house. Those opposed may attack the proposition, but no one may impugn the motives of the proponents. The rules of debate are of ancient origin; even Jefferson's Manual (Section XVII) already cited 2 or 3 authorities to make each point. Some of Jefferson's rules continue today:

[17-i] No one is to speak impertinently or beside the question, superfluously, or tediously.

[17-k] No person, in speaking, is to mention a member then present by his name, but to describe him by his seat in the House .... nor .... to digress from the matter to fall upon the person by speaking, reviling, nipping, or unmannerly words against a particular member. The consequences of a measure may be reprobated in strong terms, but to arraign the motives of those who propose to advocate it is a personality, and against order....

In Wisconsin debate, legislators are referred to by district number. After reapportionment, the new numbers take some getting used to — especially, when a new plan takes effect in the middle of a legislative biennium (1983 WisAct 29; sec. 4.004, stats.; and sec. 14 of the act). Since all vacancies after a redistricting are filled from the new districts under their new numbers, continuing members are deemed to represent their districts within the boundaries in which they might seek reelection (72 Wis. O.A.G. 72, 10/4/83). When the 1983

Legislature returned for its fall floorperiod (Assembly Journal 10/4/83, page 360), some members of the Assembly found the new numbers confusing:

Representative T. Thompson moved that the assembly return to using the district numbers in effect at the beginning of the 1983 legislative session.

Speaker Loftus ruled the motion out of order because 1983 Wisconsin Act 29 had taken effect.

Representative T. Thompson moved that the rules be suspended to allow the motion.

Speaker Loftus ruled the motion out of order.

The Legislature has the constitutional power to make rules governing internal proceedings, but allowing the motion could only have added to the confusion (for the balance of the 1983-85 legislative biennium, 2 Assembly and 2 Senate special elections were called after the redistricting date). Thus, while proponents continued to seek a return to the old numbers, the Speaker and the Majority Leader insisted and the Speaker's ruling was upheld on appeal:

Representative R. Travis asked unanimous consent that the last sentence of Assembly Rule 56 (1) [a member is recognized by reference to district number rather than by proper name] be suspended indefinitely. Representative Johnson objected.

Representative R. Travis asked unanimous consent that the last sentence of Assembly Rule 56 (1) be suspended for the October floorperiod. Representative Johnson objected.

Representative R. Travis moved that the last sentence of Assembly Rule 56 (1) be suspended for the October floorperiod.

The question was: Shall the last sentence of Assembly Rule 56 (1) be suspended for the October floorperiod? [Display of roll call vote omitted; ayes-40, noes-58.] Motion failed.

The rules of debate are seldom violated; when they are, the violation is usually limited to someone's failure to stay on the question before the house. Occasionally, the violation is intended. Asked about the following incident sometime later, Speaker Jackamonis thought he recalled that the representative had been engaged in "slow reading of lengthy public documents" (Assembly Journal 6/25/80, page 3640):

Representative Loftus rose to the point of order that Representative Barczak (Dem., West Allis) was using "a procedure" which is dilatory under Assembly Rule 69.

The speaker [Jackamonis] ruled that Representative Barczak's procedure was dilatory because he had publicly stated that his intention was to delay a vote on the bill.

When raising a point of order, a member rises in the assigned seat to seek recognition by the presiding officer. While this goes on, another member has the floor and may be speaking, but "raising a point of order" is one of the authorized interruptions referenced in Assembly Rule 57:

INTERRUPTIONS. (1) Once a member has been recognized and has the floor, the member may speak without interruption unless questions arise which require immediate consideration. Such questions are:

- (a) A question of assembly privilege [A.Rule 61 (1)].
- (b) A question of personal privilege [A.Rule 61 (2)].
- (c) Raising a point of order and appeals therefrom [A.Rule 62].
- (d) Raising a question of quorum [A.Rule 30].
- (e) Rising to make a parliamentary inquiry.
- (f) Rising to ask whether the member who has the floor will yield to a proper question. The member who has the floor may yield to a proper question even if the member obtained the floor for the purpose of making a motion or raising a question which is not debatable.

(g) Calling for a special order of business [A.Rule 32].

(2) At the conclusion of any interruption under sub. (1), the floor returns to the interrupted member unless the question on which the member was speaking is no longer before the assembly.

To call for a division of the question while the Assembly debates an Assembly amendment has also been held an authorized interruption. During the debate on the 1983-85 budget (Assembly Journal 6/17/83, page 270):

Representative Johnson asked unanimous consent for a division of assembly amendment 6 to assembly amendment 4 to Senate Bill 83. Granted.

Representative T. Thompson rose to the point of order that the request for a division was not proper because Representative Johnson did not have the floor and was interrupting a speaker.

The speaker took the point of order under advisement. [Intervening business omitted.]

The speaker [Loftus] ruled Representative Johnson's request for a division of assembly amendment 6 to assembly amendment 4 to Senate Bill 83, while another member was speaking, proper under section 92 [2., (j)] of Mason's Legislative Manual.

Among the rules of debate most helpful to the members of the Wisconsin Legislature are the inventories of motions and requests in order during debate. Assembly Rule 95, "definitions", explains how these terms are traditionally used in deliberations on the floor. Although the rule applies directly only to the Assembly, for most cases it describes also the procedures of the Senate; for the rest, the differences are clearly apparent from the context.

The rule defines a "request" as a "proposed action which does not require a vote because: a) unanimous consent has been asked for; b) the action is required if there are sufficient seconds; or c) the presiding officer has the authority to take or order the action requested". A "motion", on the other hand, calls for a "proposed action requiring assembly approval by a vote". Motions can be "privileged", "incidental", "subsidiary" or "main", and would be taken up in that order:

PRIVILEGED MOTIONS AND REQUESTS: A group of motions and requests relating to basic questions concerning the meetings, organization, rules, rights and duties of the assembly and having the highest precedence for consideration. Privileged motions and requests take precedence over incidental, subsidiary and main questions.

INCIDENTAL MOTIONS AND REQUESTS: A group of motions and requests which generally relate to the proceedings, procedures and subsidiary questions during debate, and which must be disposed of before proceeding to the main question under consideration. Incidental questions have lower precedence than privileged questions but higher precedence than subsidiary and main motions.

SUBSIDIARY MOTIONS: A group of motions which change, or delay or accelerate the consideration of a proposal before the assembly. Subsidiary motions have lower precedence than privileged and incidental questions but higher precedence than main motions.

MAIN MOTIONS AND QUESTIONS: The final affirmative question concerning a proposal during any stage of its consideration or any motion made or question raised when no other matter is before the assembly. Main questions have lower precedence than privileged, incidental and subsidiary questions.

Two rules (S.Rule 63; A.Rule 65) include a ranking, by precedence, of the motions in order during debate. The procedures of the 2 houses are quite similar, but under the Senate rules a motion for adverse disposition of the main question outranks the motion to amend.

PRIVILEGED AND SUBSIDIARY MOTIONS AND REQUESTS DURING DEBATE. (1) When a main question is under debate the following privileged motions and requests are in order if appropriate under the rules governing motions, requests and proposals:

- (a) To suspend the rules [A. Rule 90].
- (b) To request a call of the assembly [A. Rule 83].
- (c) To adjourn [A. Rule 70].
- (d) To adjourn to a fixed time [A. Rule 70].
- (e) To lift a call of the assembly [A. Rule 87].
- (f) To recess.
- (g) To raise a question of assembly privilege [A. Rule 61 (1)].
- (h) To raise a question of personal privilege [A. Rule 61 (2)].
- (i) To introduce and ask consideration of a privileged resolution [A. Rules 33 and 43].

(2) When a main question is under debate the following subsidiary motions are in order if appropriate under the rules governing motions and proposals:

- (a) To lay on or take from the table [A. Rule 74].
- (b) To end debate [A. Rule 71].
- (c) To postpone to a day or time certain [A. Rule 72].
- (d) To refer to a standing committee [A. Rule 72].
- (e) To refer to a special committee [A. Rules 10 and 72].
- (f) To revive an amendment [A. Rule 18 (3)].
- (g) To amend, if the proposal or motion is amendable [A. Rules 18, 52 to 55 and 70 (2) and (4)].
- (h) To postpone indefinitely, reject or nonconcur in a proposal [A. Rules 49 and 72].

(3) The motions and requests listed in subs. (1) and (2) have precedence in the order in which they are listed. While any motion or request is pending, motions or requests of the same or lower precedence are not in order, except that:

- (a) Amendments may be offered while other amendments are under consideration;
- (b) Amendments to amendable motions are in order as long as no question of higher precedence is pending; and
- (c) Any amendment may be rejected or tabled.

(4) If any motion is made while no other question is before the assembly, or is made subject to qualifications not specifically authorized in these rules, such motion loses its precedence and becomes a main motion, subject to the rules that apply to main motions.

(5) The right of members to debate a question and make motions and requests relating thereto ceases when the presiding officer has called for the "ayes" or directed the chief clerk to open the roll.

Incidental motions, requests and questions in order during debate, enumerated in Assembly Rule 66, have no particular rank order compared to each other. However, any incidental motion, request or question must be disposed of before the question returns to the pending incidental or main motion:

- (a) A point of order and appeal therefrom [A. Rule 62].
- (b) A question of quorum [A. Rule 30].
- (c) A request that a member be called to order [A. Rule 58].
- (d) A parliamentary inquiry.
- (e) A request or motion for a leave of absence [A. Rule 27].
- (f) A request or motion by the maker of a pending motion that it be withdrawn, provided that rule 73 (7) [a time limit restricted to entering a motion for reconsideration] does not apply.

(g) A request or motion by the author of a pending amendment that it be withdrawn and returned to the author.

(h) A request or motion to be excused from voting for special cause [A.Rule 77].

(i) A request for a roll call vote when one is not required [A.Rule 76 (3)].

(j) A request for a division of a question [A.Rule 80].

(k) A request that a member yield to a question [A.Rule 57].

(L) The entering of a motion to reconsider an amendment [A.Rule 73].

(2) The motions, requests and questions listed in sub. (1) have no order of precedence, can be initiated at any time they are timely, and shall be disposed of before any question to which they relate is returned to or any other incidental motion, request or question is entertained.

Most of what could happen to a bill, under the motions, requests and questions discussed, would happen on second reading when both proponents and opponents attempt to reshape the treatment of an issue to their liking. In actual practice, such convoluted rules battles seldom occur. For most proposals (bills, joint resolutions or one-house resolutions), the report of the standing committee is positive. It recommends that the proposal be passed as introduced, or as shown by a specific “substitute amendment” which is, actually, a substitute for the proposal itself, or as affected by one or more amendments. The rules do not require that every proposal referred to a standing committee be reported to the referring house. Consequently, few proposals reach the floor with a recommendation not to pass or, because the committee vote was tied, “without recommendation”.

The debate on second reading can be the end of a proposal. Usually, it is not. A bill might be “indefinitely postponed” or referred to a standing committee for further study but, for most, the question: “Shall the bill be ordered engrossed and read a third time?” ends on a happy note.

Developing a Consensus

Many state constitutions impose a “single subject” rule on all legislation. The writers may have expected that this would limit the content of bills, making them easier to understand. Depending on how courts subsequently construed the single subject rule, that may not be the case: a bill “relating to motor vehicles” satisfies the rule in one jurisdiction, while in another jurisdiction a bill concerning “taillights on automobiles and motor-driven cycles” might be considered to address 2 subjects.

A proposal has its own personality

The Wisconsin Constitution applies a single subject rule only to “private or local” (as opposed to “general”) legislation. Section 18 of Article IV reads:

TITLE OF PRIVATE BILLS. No private or local bill which may be passed by the legislature shall embrace more than one subject, and that shall be expressed in the title.

For all other Wisconsin legislation, Joint Rule 52 (1) says that the title must state, “in the fewest words practicable, the subject to which the bill relates” and that the bill “may include 2 or more types of actions and treat both general statutory law and nonstatutory law”.

The U.S. Constitution does not mention a single-subject rule. Thomas Jefferson’s Manual does not mention it. In fact, Section XXXV [35-c] of the manual goes in the opposite direction:

Amendments may be made so as totally to alter the nature of the proposition; and it is a way of getting rid of a proposition by making it bear a sense different from what it was intended by the movers, so that they vote against it themselves. A new bill may be ingrafted, by way of amendment, on the words “Be it enacted,” etc.

Today, authorities frequently cited treat the unique personality of a proposal with more respect. They hold that an amendment must be “closely related to or having bearing on the subject of” the proposition to be affected (Robert’s Rules of Order, at page 109). The question to be answered is whether the amendment “is relevant, appropriate, and in a natural and logical sequence to the subject matter of the original proposal” (Mason’s Manual of Legislative Procedure, sec. 402, par. 2). In 1984, Senate President Risser used Mason’s standards to review the germaneness of a challenged substitute amendment (Senate Journal 3/15/84, page 720):

On Tuesday, March 13, 1984 the Senator from the 4th, Senator Johnston raised the point of order that senate substitute amendment 1 to Senate Bill 500 [relating to extending eligibility for veterans benefits to veterans of United States military action in Lebanon and Grenada] was not germane. Specifically the Senator from the 4th raised the point that section 17 of the amendment relating to special license plates for prisoners of war expanded the scope of the bill. The chair took the point of order under advisement.

Section 17 of the substitute amendment amends section 341.14 (6) of the statutes to add the new veteran benefit group (Lebanon and Grenada) to those already referenced for special Ex-Prisoner of War Plates. Section 341.14 (6) currently provides the special plates for all defined as “Veteran” for state benefits.

Mason’s Manual Section 402 (2) reads as follows: “To determine whether an amendment is germane, the question to be answered is whether the question is relevant, appropriate, and in natural and logical sequence to the subject matter of the original proposal.”

It is the opinion of the chair that it is appropriate and logical to ensure that all veteran benefits are extended to the new group. Therefore the point of order raised by the Senator from the 4th is not well taken and the substitute amendment is germane.

Nature or purpose of proposal not to be changed. Whether something is “relevant, appropriate, and in natural and logical sequence to the subject” is often a matter of opinion. An example was the question of legal notice publication in “shoppers’ guides” (in a small municipality, the local guide may reach more households than the predominant newspaper). In 1983, the Assembly considered a bill to permit publication of a single, combined, noxious weed cutting notice by 2 or more municipalities if they already used the same newspaper for legal notice publication. Shoppers’ guide advocates attempted to add that, alternately, any municipality could publish its own noxious weed cutting notice in the local guide if the newspaper used for legal notice publication reached less than 10% of the households in that municipality.

Speaker Loftus ruled the amendment not germane (Assembly Journal 10/4/83, page 362). In the Wisconsin Legislature, Assembly Rule 54 (1) and Senate Rule 50 (1) both state that an amendment is not germane if it “relates to a different subject”, “is intended to accomplish a different purpose” than the proposal or “would totally alter the nature of the original proposal”. In this case, the original proposal permitted 2 or more municipalities to act jointly under an existing method; permitting a single municipality to act unilaterally under a method not yet authorized related to a different subject.

The amendment discussed in the next precedent did not relate to a different subject, but it would have profoundly changed the nature of the proposal (Senate Journal 2/21/80, page 1382; ruling by President Risser):

On Thursday, February 7, 1980, Senator Adelman raised the point of order that senate amendment 1 to Assembly Bill 813 [relating to revising miscellaneous statutes affecting state administrative procedures] was not germane. The Chair took the point of order under advisement.

Assembly Bill 813 was introduced by request of the Judicial Council to make remedial changes in contested case procedures before state agencies. Senate amendment 1, by contrast, would make changes in agency rule-making procedure by: 1) requiring all agencies to adopt as administrative rules decisions in contested cases at the time they are applied to “persons other than parties to the original contested case”; 2) requiring all agencies to adopt rules establishing a process for determining who are parties to a contested case. In effect, then, this amendment makes changes in rule making while the bill does not have that intent.

Senate Rule 50 (1) states that the senate shall not consider any amendment which, “...is intended to accomplish a different purpose, would require a title essentially different or would totally alter the nature of the original proposal.”

It is the opinion of the Chair that senate amendment 1 would accomplish a different purpose and would alter the nature of the original proposal and therefore the point of order raised by Senator Adelman is well taken.

The reference to a change in the bill’s title occurs in both Senate Rule 50 (1) and Assembly Rule 54 (1). Because of this reference, members sometimes question an amendment’s germaneness when one of its items changes the “relating clause” of the title. That approach is too simplistic. Germaneness must be judged by 3 criteria: the “subject” of the amendment, the “purpose” of the amendment, and the effect of the amendment on the “nature of the proposal”.

This is clearly pointed out in the Assembly’s version of the rule, which holds that an amendment is not germane when its adoption, and the subsequent passage of the proposal, will require “a title for the proposal which is substantially different from the proposal’s original title”. The title should fairly represent the content of the proposal, but it is the proposal’s content rather than the wording of its title which determines germaneness of the amendment (Assembly Journal 5/8/79, page 562; ruling, page 568):

Representative Kedrowski rose to the point of order that assembly substitute amendment 2 to Assembly Bill 245 [relating to the prohibition of the sale, distribution or use of the chemical compound 2, 4, 5 T and providing penalties] was not germane under Assembly Rule 54 (1) because the bill provides for a complete ban but the substitute would allow the sale, use and distribution of pesticides, and therefore, would require a title substantially different from the original proposal. The speaker took the point of order under advisement.

The speaker [Jackamonis] ruled well taken the point of order raised by Representative Kedrowski that assembly substitute amendment 2 to Assembly Bill 245 was not germane because provisions of the substitute requiring permits for and regulating applications of pesticides would require a title substantially different from the original title.

On the other hand, the original title of 1981 Senate Bill 407 may have been too restrictive: "relating to establishing a homeownership mortgage loan program in the department of development".... Wisconsin did not have a general homeownership mortgage loan program backed by the state; the objective of the proposal was to establish the program. Senate Substitute Amendment 2 placed financial administration of the program in a Wisconsin Housing Finance Authority. The substitute was challenged because the new title reflected the program responsibility change. Senate President Risser allowed the substitute. Under Senate Rule 50 (9), "new material added which does not affect the subject or purpose" of the bill is a matter of detail and is germane.

Perhaps nothing joins the issue of safeguarding the nature of the proposal more clearly than the attempt to substitute the study of a problem for a bill proposing to take care of the problem. Two Senate presiding officers (Lieut. Gov. Warren P. Knowles in 1955 (Senate Journal 6/20/55, page 1520) and President pro tem. Frank E. Panzer in 1963 (Senate Journal 7/18/63, page 1620), contended that the "subject" of a proposal should be understood in its broadest possible sense and allowed the study substitutes. In 1955, the study substitute was adopted but the bill failed in the Assembly; in 1963, the study substitute was rejected and the bill (requiring use of biodegradable detergents) went on to become Chapter 434, Laws of 1963. In 1984, Senate President Risser ruled (Senate Journal 3/28/84, page 801) that a proposed substitution of study, for action, was not germane. The bill (1983 AB-58) related to "eligibility of employees affected by lockouts for unemployment compensation benefits"; the substitute (S.Sub.1) would have directed the Council on Unemployment Compensation to study "the question of eligibility of employees affected by lockouts for unemployment compensation benefits".

The 1955 and 1963 rulings, because they considered only the broad subject of the proposal, came to the wrong conclusion. In the 1984 instance, the bill proposed to decide an issue by making locked-out employees eligible for unemployment compensation. The immediate impact of the study substitute was to maintain the status quo; the same result could be reached by failure to enact the bill. Senator Robert P. Knowles, the President pro tem. from 1967 to 1974, frequently admonished his colleagues that the Senate should not "do by indirection that which can be done directly under the rules". Changing the nature of a proposal from action to study deprives the proponents of their right to be heard. If it is the majority consensus that further study, rather than immediate action, is the proper way to deal with the problem, then the correct approach is to return to bill to committee (perhaps followed by a joint resolution requesting an interim study of the issue addressed by the bill).

None of this applied to 1983 Assembly Bill 58. The Assembly vote on passage (62 to 35) indicated that the representatives felt they had sufficient information to make a decision. When the Senate concurred on a voice vote, the issue of granting unemployment compensation to employees affected by lockouts was settled. The bill became 1983 WisAct 468.

The substance of a repeal cannot be amended. As troublesome as germaneness questions raised by amendments to a "repealer bill" may be to modern legislatures, the problem was not mentioned by Thomas Jefferson. Perhaps the Congress of the young Nation only needed to create more laws to better define rights and obligations of citizens, and was not yet faced with the problem of repealing laws alleged to have outlived their usefulness. According to Black's Law Dictionary (West Publishing, ed. 1979):

"Repeal" of a law means its complete abrogation by the enactment of a subsequent statute, whereas the "amendment" of a statute means an alteration in the law already existing, leaving some part of the original law still standing.

The traditional notion that a repealer bill cannot be amended had to be revised as statute law became ever more interrelated. For the Wisconsin Legislature, Senate Rule 50 (5) and Assembly Rule 54 (3) (d) and (4) (f) deal with germaneness of amendments to repealer bills:

S.Rule 50 (5) An amendment repealing a section amended by the original proposal or amending a section repealed by the original proposal except to change the effective date, or striking out all new material in the original proposal is not germane....

A.Rule 54 (3) Assembly amendments which are not germane include:

(d) An amendment: 1) amending a statute or session law when the purpose of the proposal is limited to repealing such law; or 2) repealing a statute or session law when the purpose of the proposal is limited to amending such law.

(4) Amendments which are germane include:

(f) An amendment which changes the effective date of a repeal, reduces the scope of a repeal or adds a short-term nonstatutory transitional provision to facilitate a repeal.

The wording of the Assembly rule reflects several rulings made during the Assembly's debate of 1977 Senate Bill 294. The bill proposed to create an act "relating to management, discipline and release of certain veterans, patients and probationers, and granting rule-making authority". According to the analysis by the Legislative Reference Bureau:

This bill removes the exception from the definition of "rule" which concerns the action or inaction of a state agency with respect to the management, discipline or release of persons who are members of the Wisconsin Veterans Home, who are committed to a state institution or to the department of health and social services, or who are placed on probation. The effect is to require agencies to make rules with respect to such subjects if they adopt a statement of general policy or an interpretation of a statute (other than in a specific case). Another effect is to authorize agencies to adopt rules on such subjects interpreting the law, prescribing forms and procedures for its implementation and formalizing general policies which are within their discretion.

The complicated, interrelated, effects of the proposed repeal could not be discovered in the text of the bill itself. That text consisted of a single section, displayed on a single line:

"SECTION 1. 227.01 (11) (h) of the statutes is repealed."

Assembly Amendment 1 proposed to delay the effective date by 6 months; the amendment was challenged (Assembly Journal 3/8/78, page 3467), ruled valid, adopted and concurred in to become part of Chapter 306, Laws of 1977. A.Amdt.2 (rule-making procedure) was ruled "not germane" because one of its provisions expanded the scope of the proposal. A.Amdt.3, which addressed the particularized detail of rule making in the area previously covered by the exception, was ruled valid; a vote to reject the amendment failed 48 to 50 but a subsequent vote to table the amendment carried 52 to 46.

On October 21, 1981, when the Assembly debated Senate Bill 411, Minority Leader John Shabaz raised the point of order that Assembly Amendment 1 to the bill was not germane. The bill, "relating to extending the existence of the fertilizer research council", had been introduced on May 19 to repeal a session law (enacted as part of the 1978 budget review act) which, in turn, as of 7/1/81 repealed the 2 statutes pertaining to the Fertilizer Research Council. On the face of it, the challenge was justified because the Assembly rule prohibits "amending a statute or session law when the purpose of the proposal is limited to repealing such law". The body of the bill, consisting of a single section, dealt only with the repeal of the session law; the amendment proposed to replace the session law repeal with the creation of 2 statutes.

In judging the germaneness of an amendment, the overriding concern has to be the "nature" of the proposal: in this case, to extend the existence of a statutory agency. A timely repeal of the repealing session law would have preserved the 2 Fertilizer Council statutes, but the July deadline was not met. Now, the 2 statutes were gone. Consequently, by 10/21/81 the original approach of the proposal could no longer accomplish the intended purpose.

The doctrine that "no law repealed by a subsequent act of the legislature is revived or affected by the repeal of such repealing act" is so well settled in Wisconsin that it has been codified as a general law [s. 990.03 (1), stats]. Speaker Jackamonis (Assembly Journal 10/21/81, page 1387) ruled that the amendment to (again) create sections 15.137 (5) and 94.64 (8m) (b) of the statutes was germane. Although it reached the desired goal in a different manner, the amendment accomplished the same purpose as the original bill. The Senate agreed, and the amended bill became Chapter 57 of the Laws of 1981.

In recent years, state legislatures have used "sunsets" in an effort to review the affected law after a number of years. The 1977 Legislature enacted a law mandating "final and binding arbitration" for impasse resolution in municipal collective bargaining; unless continued by a later legislature, that law was to sunset on 10/31/81. The 1981 Legislature faced 3 choices: it could permit the sunset to take effect, it could postpone the sunset to a later date, or it could repeal the sunset. The bill considered — 1981 Assembly Bill 320 — chose the third alternative. It proposed to repeal the sunset, thereby making mediation-arbitration permanent.

Each house, in turn, was faced with a substitute amendment merely delaying the sunset, by 4 years, to 10/31/85. Speaker Jackamonis (Assembly Journal 5/7/81, page 466) held that approach "not germane under Assembly Rule 54 (3) (d) 1". In the Senate, both Majority Leader William A. Bablitch (Dem., Stevens Point) and assistant Minority Leader Donald J. Hanaway (Rep., De Pere) challenged the validity of amending this particular bill to postpone the sunset. The ruling by Senate President Risser (Senate Journal 5/21/81, page 453) agreed, stating the following reasons:

It is the chair's opinion that Senate Rule 50 (5) is the prevailing rule as pointed out by both Senator Bablitch and Senator Hanaway.

The rule in part states that an amendment amending a section repealed by the original proposal is not germane.

Senate substitute amendment 1 attempts to amend a section repealed by Assembly Bill 320 [relating to eliminating the expiration date for collective bargaining impasse resolution procedures for local government employees other than law enforcement and fire fighting personnel]. The substitute amendment is attempting to change the intent of the bill and is therefore not germane.

Therefore, the point of order is well taken.

The bill to make mediation-arbitration permanent passed both houses. One week later, Governor Lee Sherman Dreyfus had vetoed it, "because the binding arbitration law is unacceptable to me without a sunset provision.... I will sign legislation which continues the substance of the current law and which contains a responsible sunset provision" (Assembly Journal 6/2/81, page 590). The issue was resolved in the budget bill. Sections 1322e-h and 1841m of Chapter 20, Laws of 1981, extended the sunset to July 1, 1987.

Expanding the scope of a proposal is not permitted. In placing a proposal before the Legislature, the author determines the extent to which he, or she, wants to address the problem. That limitation is known as the "scope" of the proposal. Any other legislator wishing to deal with the problem on a broader basis is free to introduce a different proposal, but the rules protect the right of the first author to determine the scope of the original proposal.

Under Wisconsin Senate Rule 50, "an amendment limiting the scope of the proposal is germane" [sub. (7)] and "new material added which does not affect the subject or purpose" of the proposal is a matter of detail and is germane [sub. (9)]. Assembly Rule 54 says that an "amendment which substantially expands the scope of the proposal" is not germane [sub. (3) (f)], while an "amendment relating only to particularized details" is germane [sub. (4) (e)].

The endorsement of amendments limiting the proposal's scope, by Senate Rule 50, implies the prohibition of amendments to expand the scope. Senate President Risser pointed this out in ruling on a point of order concerning 1979 Senate Bill 189, "relating to collective bargaining units consisting of supervisors". Both the bill and the substitute amendment contained an exception limited to the Milwaukee school system. The amendment proposed to make the exception available to all "school district professional employees" at the management level (Senate Journal 2/19/80, page 1390):

Earlier today Senator Harnisch [Dem., Neillsville] raised the point of order that senate amendment 1 to senate substitute amendment 1 to Senate Bill 189 was not germane. The Chair took the point of order under advisement.

Senate amendment 1 to senate substitute amendment 1 would expand the scope of the bill to the entire state. Senate Rule 50 (7) states only amendments limiting the scope of a proposal are germane. Therefore it is the opinion of the Chair that the point of order raised by Senator Harnisch is well taken.

The rules of germaneness are not self-executing. They come into play only when debate of the proposal is interrupted by a point of order. As a matter of courtesy, expanding amendments are seldom challenged when they are offered by the bill's author or recommended in the standing committee's report. Based on information received after the bill was introduced, such amendments tend to represent a better solution to the problem.

When there is a point of order challenging the content of an amendment as a substantial expansion of scope, the conflict is usually quite obvious. For instance, in the 1983 Session (Assembly Journal 3/21/84, page 1005), Representative Calvin Potter (Dem., Kohler):

....rose to the point of order that assembly amendment 1 to Senate Bill 281 was not germane under Assembly Rule (3) (f) [substantial expansion of scope].

The chair [Rep. Clarenbach, Speaker pro tem.] ruled the point of order well taken.

The bill was limited to "authorizing credit unions to act as depositories for public funds and designating the higher education corporation as a public depositor". The amendment proposed to direct the commissioner of credit unions, together with the departments of justice and administration, to prepare draft legislation authorizing the conversion of credit unions into state-chartered banks.

On the other hand, an apparent expansion of scope may, in reality, be a necessary limitation. This is illustrated by the following point of order concerning an amendment to 1979 Assembly Joint Resolution 99. The proposal dealt with the county sheriff, but the amendment also mentioned "coroner, register of deeds or district attorney" (Assembly Journal 3/4/80, page 2435):

Representative Shabaz rose to the point of order that assembly amendment 1 to Assembly Joint Resolution 99 [relating to county responsibility for the acts of the sheriff] was not germane under Assembly Rule 54 (3) (f).

The speaker [Jackamonis] ruled the point of order not well taken.

In deleting the "acts of sheriff" county responsibility phrase from Section 4 of Article VI of the constitution in sub. (3), the constitutional amendment also did some revision work in subs. (4) and (5) so that the Governor's power to fill county officer vacancies would be limited to "county offices filled by election", thus excluding county offices filled by appointment by the county board (none of which had existed in 1848).

At the public hearing on the proposal, it was learned that even the proposed limitation was too broad. Vacancies in county judicial offices and in the office of county executive were already covered by different arrangements. The amendment limited (rather than expanded) the scope of the proposal by substituting "in the offices of sheriff, coroner, register of deeds or district attorney" for "in county offices filled by election".

Wisconsin rules do not permit "riders". The U.S. Congress has its own ways. The congressional "rider" — an amendment attaching unrelated material to a bill which the President (presumably) is anxious to sign into law — may serve political reality in the Washington sense but violates the common rule that an amendment "relating to a specific subject or to a general class is not germane to a bill relating to a different specific subject".

It is interesting to note that Thomas Jefferson (Section XL [40-g]) thought a rider had an entirely different purpose. Jefferson's rider would today be called a "trailer bill" and become a separate act. For Jefferson, a rider was a last-minute amendment used to correct an error in a bill otherwise approved for final passage:

When an essential provision has been omitted, rather than erase the bill and render it suspicious they add a clause on a separate paper, engrossed and called a rider, which is read and put to the question three times .... Every one is at liberty to bring in a rider without asking leave.

An amendment that takes a proposal not likely to be enacted during the current session, and attempts to incorporate it into the bill before the house, is a real "rider". Usually, but not in every case, the rule violation is quickly found out. The challenger cites Senate Rule 50 (6) or (7), or Assembly Rule 54 (3) (a) or (b). The presiding officer holds the point of order "well taken". Here are some examples of such quick rulings, found in the Journals of the 1983 Legislature:

Senate Journal 5/3/83, page 184: both 1983 Senate Bill 91 and Senate Substitute Amendment 1 were limited to penalties for conducting animal fights. Senate Amendment 1 to the substitute directed the regents of the University of Wisconsin to adopt rules concerning humane treatment of animals used in scientific research.

On the same page, 1983 Assembly Bill 141 was limited to a specific medium security correctional institution in Milwaukee. Senate Amendment 8 attempted to include an institution in Oshkosh.

Assembly Journal 10/28/83, page 570: Senate Bill 2 of the October 1983 Special Session dealt with state assistance to communities faced with plant closings. Assembly Amendment 1 proposed to add an "incentive for employe-owned businesses".

Senate Journal 3/15/84, page 721: 1983 Senate Bill 180 related to the use of salt for snow removal on highways. Senate Amendment 5 to Senate Substitute Amendment 1 proposed to authorize the use of studded snow tires for school buses.

Assembly Journal 3/27/84, p. 1048: 1983 Assembly Bill 602 was developed and introduced by the Legislative Council. The bill dealt with only one issue: "requiring counties to provide sanitarian services". Assembly Substitute Amendment 1 dealt with 2 separable issues which, though related, were not so interrelated that one could not be treated without treating the other.

The first issue was the same as the bill but the scope was limited to "counties having a population of 200,000 or more". The second issue (identical to 1983 AB-835) authorized "town boards of health to perform additional functions". While restricting of the proposed sanitarian issue to populous counties was a limitation of scope authorized under A. Rule 54 (4) (c), the ingrafting of the town boards issue attempted to add one individual issue to another in violation of A. Rule 54 (3) (a) and (f) [substantial expansion of scope].

Senate Journal 4/3/84, page 827: 1983 Assembly Joint Resolution 66, requested the Legislative Council to study the farm training programs offered by Vocational, Technical and Adult Education districts. Senate Amendment 1 attempted to attach a different specific subject: a study of UW extension committees on agriculture and extension education.

Assembly Journal 4/5/84, page 1167: 1983 Senate Bill 550 related "to increasing the scope of authority of redevelopment authorities to eliminate blight and clear slums and to redefining 'blighted area' for the purposes of redevelopment authorities and tax incremental financing". Assembly Amendment 1 proposed to ingraft into the bill 1983 AB-113, "relating to establishing enterprise zones and creating income tax benefits and other benefits in respect to them and granting rule-making authority", which, 14 months after its introduction, still had not left the Joint Survey Committee on Tax Exemptions.

Considering only the subject, the amendment was a rider in violation of A.Rule 54 (3) (a): one individual proposition amending another individual proposition. Considering also the status of 1983 AB-113, the amendment tried to circumvent A.Rule 15 (1) (a): no bill may be withdrawn from a joint survey committee.

Not all rider amendments are unmasked that easily. As the 2 rulings below indicate, Senate President Risser needed some study time before he was satisfied that the proposed amendments violated the Senate rules:

On Wednesday, March 21, 1984 the Senator from the 11th, Senator Davis, raised a point of order that senate substitute amendment 1 to Assembly Bill 500 was nongermane. The chair took the point of order under advisement.

Assembly Bill 500 relates to the vote requirements to terminate the operations of a drainage district. Senate substitute amendment 1 adds language relating to the organization of a drainage district in that it sets new requirements on the DNR and the boards in relation to review and reports on activities of drainage districts. It is the opinion of the chair that the senate substitute amendment adds language relating to a different specific subject than the original bill, that it expands and not limits the scope of the original proposal and therefore in accordance with Senate Rule 50 (1), (2) and (7), it is the opinion of the Chair that the amendment is not germane and the point of order raised by the Senator from the 11th, Senator Davis, is well taken.

Yesterday the Senator from the 21st, Senator Strohl, raised the point of order that senate amendment 1 to Assembly Bill 217 was not germane. The chair took the point under advisement.

Senate amendment 1 would amend Subchapter III of Chapter 655 of the Statutes relating to Insurance Provisions for Health Care Liability. Assembly Bill 217 relates to the Patients Compensation Panels and does not deal with the insurance provisions. Therefore it is the opinion of the chair that senate amendment 1 relates to a different specific subject than that of Assembly Bill 217 and in accordance with Senate Rule 50 (7), the amendment is not germane and the point of order raised by the Senator of the 21st, Senator Strohl, is well taken.

Finding the right approach

For each amendment that attempts to subvert the substance and purpose of the proposal or to sneak in a rider, there are a dozen that do what amendments are supposed to do: perfect the form and content of proposals. So far, only the offenders have been discussed. That might create the wrong impression. Based on the decisions of presiding officers over many decades, the germaneness rules of the Wisconsin Senate and Assembly today specifically identify several types of amendments which are allowed because they improve the bill on its way to enactment.

Lawmaking is serious business. Whatever the Legislature enacts will impact on society for many years to come. Still, lawmaking cannot be all seriousness: even if the issues are serious, there can be some lighter moments. In 1982, the Assembly debated 1981 Assembly Bill 615, "relating to employes' right to know regarding toxic substances and infectious agents". Representative Thomas A. Loftus (his district includes the City of Stoughton, the center of Wisconsin's Norwegian settlements) offered Assembly Amendment 34: "Toxic substance does not mean lutefisk". There was objection; somebody felt that the amendment was ludicrous and dilatory. Speaker Jackamonis ruled the point of order not well taken (Assembly Journal 3/11/82, page 2663). Rumor has it that the Speaker ruled the amendment proper in the following words: "This amendment may be lutefisk, but it was not offered for the purpose of delay".

Lutefisk, a Norwegian delicacy, is prepared by soaking whitefish in lye (considered a toxic substance under federal standards). The bill had dealt with all "toxic substances and infectious agents". The amendment creating an exception for lutefisk limited the scope of the proposal. Amendments to limit the scope of a proposal are permitted; the exception was enacted as Section 101.58 (2) (j) 2.f of the statutes.

Same purpose accomplished in different manner. In the Assembly debate of the "Clean Indoor Air Act", Assembly Amendment 1 to 1981 Senate Bill 80 proposed to include both "private offices" and retail establishments in the prohibited areas for which smoking could be permitted by the posting of SMOKING ALLOWED signs. Rep. Tommy Thompson (Rep., Elroy), the assistant Minority Leader, challenged the amendment as a "substantial expansion of scope". As received from the Senate, stores or offices were not mentioned in the enumeration of places for which the "no smoking" rule could be set aside by special posting. Further study showed, however, that the Senate version listed all "offices" and retail establishments as places where smoking was allowed. Representative John O. Norquist was in the chair; he ruled that the amendment accomplished the same purpose as the bill, and that the apparent difference between the bill and the amendment was merely a matter of "particularized detail".

An amendment accomplishing the proposal's purpose in a different manner is germane [A.Rule 54 (4) (b)]. It is easy to agree with the premise of this rule: since the amendment pursues the same purpose, it will not "totally alter the nature" of the proposal [S.Rule 50 (1)]. On the other hand, attempting to recognize the premise in an individual amendment can be rather frustrating. A visitor trying to understand the Senate's debate on March 21, 1974, was relieved to hear Senator Gerald D. Lorge's (Rep., Bear Creek) comment regarding such an amendment: "The bill does absolutely nothing. However, I think we should have a chance to look at the amendment because that might do something!"

A different bill — 1983 Assembly Bill 260, relating to "changing the legal drinking age" — clearly did something. It proposed to change the drinking age (it was 18). In the Senate, 2 amendments were challenged and ruled germane by the Chair; both sought to accomplish the same purpose in a different manner. As received from the Assembly, the bill contained a uniform drinking age of 19. Senate Amendment 2 attempted to deal with "border hopping" beer drinkers from neighboring states (their drinking age was 21) by limiting the proposed minimum age of 19 to Wisconsinites and requiring, for residents of any other state, a minimum age of 19 or the higher minimum age set by the home state. Senate Amendment 6 considered high school drinking the problem to be resolved by the bill; it proposed to retain the drinking age at 18 but to delay to August 15 the legal drinking date for persons with an earlier birthdate so as to postpone actual drinking until after graduation.

In one very complicated case, Speaker Jackamonis ended a ruling with the comment that the Assembly "should not be precluded" from considering the challenged substitute amendment. As far as he could see, the substitute did accomplish "the same purpose as the original, however in a different fashion" (Assembly Journal 3/25/82, page 2976). The Assembly also was not sure: a later vote to reject the substitute failed 42 to 52; several representatives offered an amendment to the substitute and then received unanimous consent to withdraw it; and a 48 to 46 vote placed the substitute on the table to permit the Assembly to work on the bill itself.

During the debate on Senate Bill 70 [relating to payment of contractors under public works contracts], Representative Loftus raised the point of order that Assembly Substitute Amendment 2 to that measure was not germane under Assembly Rule 54 (3) (f). That rule provides that an amendment is not germane if it substantially expands the scope of the proposal.

As passed by the Senate, SB-70 establishes provisions governing periodic payment to contractors under public works contracts. That proposal would require public works contracts to specify the day of the month on which each monthly estimate is to be provided by the contractor and the name of the person to whom it is to be delivered. Payment to the contractor is due 30 days after the estimate is received and the final payment under the contract is to be made within 60 days after completion of the project. The proposal also specifies the percentage of each periodic payment which may be retained to assure prompt and adequate completion of the project.

Assembly Substitute Amendment 2 to SB-70 also relates to the periodic payment of contractors under public works contracts. However, instead of mandating the specific provisions which must be included in contracts governing these periodic payments, the substitute provides permissive authority for the state and other public bodies to include their own provisions which govern periodic payments. The scope of both proposals is the same. Both are limited in their extent and application to the subject of contracts providing for periodic payment; while the specific provisions of each are obviously different, the substitute does not address a broader area than does the senate version and consequently does not run afoul of Assembly Rule 54 (3) (f).

In addition, the substitute amendment is germane under the provisions of Assembly Rule 54 (4) (b), as an amendment which accomplishes the same purpose as the original proposal in a different manner. The purpose of SB-70 is to specify provisions which must be included in public works contracts. As was pointed out by Rep. Plewa in discussion concerning the point of order, SB-70 establishes: (1) a maximum percentage of each periodic payment which the public body may retain; and (2) establishes a maximum length of time within which the public body must make payment. However, under the original proposal the state or municipality retains a considerable amount of flexibility and may elect not to retain anything out of each periodic payment or may retain less than 5% of each payment as the work progresses. In addition, the contract may provide for partial payment as the work progresses. In addition, the contract may provide for partial payments within any time period shorter than 30 days and may provide for final payment within any time period less than 60 days. Thus, under the main proposal, the discretion of the state or municipality to specify such provisions in the public works contracts is maintained although limited.

Similarly, Assembly Substitute Amendment 2 to SB-70 authorizes municipalities to include provisions within their public works contracts which govern periodic payments. It details the type of provisions which may be included, while removing the limitations contained in SB-70. It therefore accomplishes the same purpose as the original, however in a different fashion.

While Representative Loftus also raised the point that Assembly Substitute Amendment 2 expanded the scope of the main proposal because it newly amended secs. 59.96 (6) (m) and 62.15 (10), I would note that the senate version also addresses these sections in making cross-reference changes under sec. 4 of that bill. The changes which Assembly Substitute Amendment 2 makes in those sections of the statutes are really unnecessary to accomplish the intent of the substitute and were only technical modifications made by the drafter similar to the cross-reference changes of SB-70. Provisions contained in a contract under Assembly Substitute Amendment 2 relating to periodic payments would continue to apply to contracts under 59.96 (6) (m) and 62.15 (10) in the same fashion as would the provisions established by SB-70. This is merely a particularized detail contained in the amendment which under Rule 54 (4) (e) would not cause the amendment to be nongermane.

In sum, I believe that Assembly Substitute Amendment 2 to SB-70 is germane under Assembly Rule 54 (4) (b) as an amendment which accomplishes the same purpose as the original proposal although in a different manner and the different provisions of the two proposals are nothing more than particularized details acceptable under Assembly Rule 54 (4) (e). As a result, the assembly should not be precluded by Assembly Rule 54 (1) from considering it.

Appropriation to implement intent. Under the rules of both houses, an amendment is germane if it adds "appropriations necessary to fulfill the original intent of the proposal" [A. Rule 54 (4) (d)]. Senate Rule 50 (8) describes the circumstances in more detail:

Amendments proposing methods of raising revenues are germane to appropriation measures and amendments proposing appropriations are germane to revenue measures. Amendments adding appropriation measures necessary to fulfill the original intent of a proposal are germane.

An unusual example of a revenue amendment attached to an appropriation measure can be found in the enactment of the 1971 Executive Budget — even if the amendment was not treated as a separate document. The original budget proposal (1971 AB-414) ended in a stalemate which remained unresolved into October. Republican senators offered a 12-page, bare-bones, budget (1971 SB-805) and passed it in 4 days. Representative Norman C. Anderson (Dem., Madison), the Speaker of the Assembly, and Representative Anthony S. Earl (Dem., Wausau), the Majority Leader, developed Assembly Sub. Amdt. 1 which, at 247 pages, had the dimensions of a real budget bill. The key to impasse resolution was a lengthy revenue amendment which was "tacked on", literally, to the substitute. Instead of showing the notation "(End)" on the last line of page 247, the substitute was corrected to read "MORE"; the 39 pages of "1971 LRB-7890/1" were attached with roofing nails to be a physical part of the substitute; and the package, with only one amendment by the Senate, was agreed to by both houses.

Pro and con: splitting the difference

If majority rule is the cornerstone of democracy, then the techniques for developing a consensus are the mortar to hold this cornerstone firmly in place. "Splitting the difference" may be the most important technique; progress is measured by the reduction of the disagreement between opposing viewpoints.

In parliamentary parlance and the language of state legislatures, "splitting the difference" is governed by the rules of "germaneness". The proponents initially make their case by offering a proposal for consideration. The opponents may want to kill the proposal altogether.

If anything is to pass, it must be somewhere between the "everything" of the proposal, and the "nothing" of killing the proposal. Whatever passes cannot be "everything" plus something more. To allow the "something more" might not be fair to a proposal's author because he, or she, may not wish to be associated with the addition.

Limiting the scope of the proposal is permitted. Although amendments to limit the scope of a proposal are expressly permitted under Assembly Rule 54 (4) (c) and Senate Rule 50 (7), when an amendment limits the bill so much as to change its nature the presiding officer may be put in a quandary. The proposed change in a bear hunting bill had that effect (Senate Journal 1/31/78, page 1598):

Earlier today Senator Murphy raised the point of order that senate amendment 4 to Senate Bill 554 was not germane. The chair took the point of order under advisement.

Senate Bill 554 relates to "using dogs to hunt bear, requiring bear hunters to wear a back tag and providing a penalty." The bill would, among other things, allow licensed bear hunters to hunt bear with a dog (or dogs), but only after obtaining a permit from the Department of Natural Resources.

Only one permit may be issued per hunter which covers the use of no more than 6 dogs, as the bill was originally drafted. However no hunter or group of hunters may use more than 6 dogs while hunting bear.

Senate amendment 4, introduced by Senator Theno, seeks to entirely prohibit hunters from using dogs to hunt bear.

In this case the chair went to Mason's Manual, Section 402, paragraphs 3 and 6, which the chair believes has some application in this instance.

Paragraph 3 says: "To be germane, the amendment is required only to relate to the same subject. It may entirely change the effect of the motion or measure and still be germane to the subject."

Paragraph 6 says: "No independent new question can be introduced under cover of an amendment. But an amendment may be in conflict with the spirit of the original motion, and still be germane and, therefore, in order.

Senate amendment 4 does not relate to a different subject since it deals with dogs and bear hunting, as does the bill. Whether senate amendment 4 is intended to accomplish a different purpose or would require a title essentially different is questionable.

The question of germaneness has been described by past chairs as "at best a judgment call" ('73, 224). In this case it is the judgment of the chair that senate amendment 4 is germane.

FRED A. RISSER
President Pro Tempore

The problem with a bill on synchronized traffic signals was similar. The bill was 1981 Assembly Bill 622, "relating to synchronizing traffic control signals on through highways in municipalities over 25,000 population". As introduced, the bill required synchronized traffic signals on through highways in municipalities over 25,000 (22 cities and one village had that 1980 population). The author, Representative Gus G. Menos (Dem., Brown Deer), offered Assembly Amendment 1, increasing the minimum population to 50,000. A rural legislator proposed to amend the amendment to "500,000"; only the City of Milwaukee fits that criterion. The further limitation failed; "50,000" was adopted so that the bill required synchronized signals in the 14 largest cities.

Assembly amendment 2 was offered. By changing "shall synchronize" to "may synchronize", it affected the nature of the bill and the amendment was challenged. Mandatory or optional, the amended bill would still deal with synchronized traffic signals on through highways. The amendment did not "relate to a different subject", "accomplish a different purpose", or "require a title for the proposal which is substantially different". Speaker Jackamonis (Assembly Journal 10/23/81, page 1467) ruled the point of order not well taken.

Amending an amendment. Like any other amendment, an amendment to an amendment must observe the rules of germaneness with regard to the parent proposal or substitute to which it is addressed. There are further requirements because, in a way, the targeted amendment now stands in place of the parent proposal. An amendment to an amendment must be germane to both the amendment and the original proposal [A.Rule 54 (5), S.Rule 50 (4)].

The rule requiring an amendment to an amendment to be germane to the bill as well as to the amendment was cited by Senate President Risser (Senate Journal 3/2/82, page 1611) in agreeing with a point of order by Senator Susan Shan-non Engleiter (Rep., Menomonee Falls):

On Tuesday, March 2, 1982 the senator from the 33rd, Senator Engleiter, raised the point of order that senate amendment 1 to assembly amendment 1 to Senate Bill 519 [relating to the reorganization of city school districts into common or unified districts] was not germane. The chair took the point of order under advisement.

Assembly amendment 1 to Senate Bill 519 clarifies the action to be taken by the Fiscal Board or Common Council in the event an action has been taken by the electorate or the School Board to reorganize the city school district.

Senate amendment 1 to assembly amendment 1 proposes a new procedure to permit the Fiscal Board, Common Council or the electorate to retain the city school district by referendum and prohibit further action by the Fiscal Board or Common Council. Although the proposition would be germane to the bill it does appear to accomplish a different purpose than that of assembly amendment 1, and expand the scope thereof. Therefore it is the opinion of the chair that senate amendment 1 to assembly amendment 1 is not germane and the point of order raised by the senator from the 33rd, Senator Engleiter, is well taken.

The further amendment must not substantially change the nature or expand the scope of the target amendment. The further amendment may not introduce a different individual proposition or try to substitute a general proposition if the target amendment is comprised of one individual proposition. The further amendment is permitted to change the target amendment so as to accomplish its purpose in a different manner, or to limit the scope of the target amendment.

In the 1983 Assembly debate on Senate changes in the budget bill, 2 amendments did not meet these requirements. The budget bill was Senate Bill 83; the Assembly had already concurred with amendments. One of the amendments adopted was Assembly Amendment 4 which, containing 486 items, was itself a compilation of many different amendments representing the Assembly's compromise offer. The Senate concurred in the Assembly amendment with a counter offer reducing the area of disagreement between the 2 houses: Senate Amendment 1 to AA-4, a compiled amendment containing 122 items.

Now, the Assembly considered Assembly Amendments 5 and 6 to SA-1 to AA-4 to SB-83. Each time the Majority Leader, Representative Gary K. Johnson (Dem., Beloit), raised a point of order that the amendment represented one individual proposition amending another individual proposition and expanded the scope of the "proposal" (Senate Amendment 1); each time, Speaker pro tem. Clarenbach "ruled the point of order well taken" (Assembly Journal 6/23/83, page 286).

Assembly Amendment 5 had 2 items; neither addressed one of the 122 issues raised by SA-1 to AA-4 to SB-83. The first item was particularly ambitious: reaching beyond the 2 levels of prior compromise, it attempted to achieve a change in the bill itself. The second item merely reached beyond the Senate amendment to insert, after the fact, a 6/30/85 sunset for a tax increase contained in the compromise offer (AA-4) to which the Assembly had agreed earlier.

The single item of Assembly Amendment 6 again proposed to change the bill itself. Though germane to the bill as originally received from the Senate, the proposition of AA-6 did not pertain to any of the 122 items contained in the Senate compromise offer (SA-1 to AA-4) nor to the 486 items of the earlier Assembly compromise (AA-4).

Budget and other multi-issue bills

The comprehensiveness of Wisconsin's executive budget bill is unusual. It may be unique among the states. In its most recent version, the budget bill comprises 800 pages: 1985 Assembly Bill 85, "relating to state finances and appropriations, constituting the executive budget bill of the 1985 legislature, and making appropriations". For nearly 2 decades, budget bills have covered not only the state's general fund, but have included the highway, natural resources and miscellaneous segregated funds. Early in that period, Wisconsin budgets were converted from "line items" of salaries and purchases to "programs" representing the objectives to be achieved by each expenditure. The state Constitution requires the Legislature to impose taxes creating sufficient revenue "to defray the estimated expenses of the state for each year" (Art. VIII, Sec. 5); to facilitate keeping the budget in balance all recent budget bills have included revenue adjustments.

Of the 800 pages in 1985 AB-85, a 100-page "schedule" sets forth the dollar amounts to be appropriated for the fiscal biennium, 2 short tables furnish a biennial overview of the effect of appropriations and anticipated revenues on the general fund and of state borrowing, and 58 pages are used to display the required changes in the appropriations statutes. The remainder, 637 pages, concerns proposed changes in what state government does and adjustments in the tax structure to pay for it all. It is the administration program for the 24-month period of the fiscal biennium which begins on July 1, 1985, and runs through June 30, 1987.

Biennial budgeting and annual review. If the U.S. Congress fails to meet the deadline for enacting the new federal budget, there is great consternation. Both houses work late into the night to enact emergency appropriation bills continuing the operation of the government for another 2 or 3 weeks. Rider amendments are common; unlike the Wisconsin Governor, the U.S. President does not have the power to approve an appropriation bill in part and veto the rest.

As the date for the beginning of the new fiscal year comes closer, the Wisconsin Legislature also works late into the night trying to meet the budget deadline. However, while missing the deadline may cause cash flow problems creating the appearance that Wisconsin government has run out of money, the state does not run out of budget. A statute enacted by Chapter 251, Laws of 1953, permits Wisconsin government to continue at the level of the preceding biennium:

20.002. GENERAL APPROPRIATION PROVISIONS. (1) Effective period of appropriations. ...If the legislature does not amend or eliminate any existing appropriation on or before July 1 of the odd-numbered years, such existing appropriations provided for the previous fiscal year shall be in effect in the new fiscal year and all subsequent fiscal years until amended or eliminated by the legislature....

The budget cycle runs 36 month, from the beginning of budget preparation to the end of budget execution. The 2 main revenue sources for state government operations — a graduated state income tax and a retail sales tax — both fluctuate with the economy and even the most scientific revenue predictions tend to become unreliable toward the end of the period. In 1967 Minority Leader Robert T. Huber (Dem., West Allis, who served as Speaker in 1965 and 1971) thought Wisconsin should go to an annual budget. His amendment was rejected (AA-2 to ASA-1 to AB-99). The Huber amendment deleted from the budget bill “the dollar amounts in the column headed 1968-69” and proposed a statutory rule to continue every legislative session from the odd-numbered year to the:

....second Tuesday of April in the even-numbered year. No legislature shall adjourn sine die until it has provided or reviewed the dollar amount required for the operation of state government at the continued session.

By the second week in June, both houses had agreed on the 1967-69 budget. Governor Knowles approved it without a single partial veto. A budget trailer bill (1967 SB-445) “to adjust certain appropriations and responsibilities involving state government operations” passed the Senate but died without floor action in the Assembly in spite of a formal opinion by Attorney General La Follette (Senate Journal 10/17/67, page 1406) that such appropriation adjustments “would probably be constitutional as an exercise of the broad prerogative which the legislature possesses under the constitution in regard to fiscal and budgetary procedures”.

The 1969-71 budget was 7 weeks late (it passed August 19). Although Governor Knowles vetoed parts of the budget, the partial vetoes were never taken up for legislative review. Again, there was a budget trailer bill (1969 SB-642); it was tabled in the Assembly on 11/12/69 without further action. Chapter 125 of the Laws of 1971 enacted a statute inviting the Governor to submit a budget review bill for legislative consideration in the even-numbered year:

16.475 If the governor determines that the implementation of budget priorities or the fiscal condition of the state requires adjustments in expenditures or revenues, he shall .... submit his recommendations in bill form to the joint committee on finance which shall introduce the bill without change in either house....

The expectation was that budget review bills would be limited to the fine tuning required by changing conditions. Nobody suspected the extent to which the process would expand. The very first budget review bill, 1971 AB-1477, ran 93 pages. When the Senate nonconcurrent, a new (130-page) version was introduced as 1971 AB-1610. It passed, was vetoed in part, and the rest became Chap. 215, Laws of 1971. By 1980, the budget review bill (1979 AB-1180) had reached 458 pages; it was one of the longest bills ever placed before the Legislature. In the 1981-83 budget act (Chap. 27, Laws of 1981), the Legislature repealed the budget review statute to put an end to the procedure.

Inviting the Governor, and his executive departments, to think of new ways to change the budget in midstream is a proposition quite different from dealing with fiscal emergencies when they arise. The 1980s began with a recession; the first law enacted by the 1981 Legislature had to make additional changes in the outgoing 1979-81 budget. The new 1981-83 budget was barely 4 months old when Chapters 61 and 93, Laws of 1981, adjusted shared revenue payments and restricted government spending; both were enacted in the November 1981 Special Session. Additional changes followed in April 1981, enacted as Chapter 317. Having repealed the budget review statute, the 1981 Legislature was forced to respond to economic conditions with 4 budget adjustment acts.

The next session did not start much better. Senate Bill 1 of the January 1983 Special Session increased the cigarette tax and the general sales tax (1983 WisAct 2), and 1983 Assembly Bill 104 authorized short-term operating notes (1983 WisAct 3) to overcome a cash flow problem. The 1983-85 budget act was enacted by July 1 (1983 WisAct 27). By 1984, the economy had improved and a fairly short budget adjustment act, enacted in April 1984 (1983 WisAct 212), responded to happier revenue projections.

The budget bill. To the degree that procedural questions can be separated from policy questions, a significant difference distinguishes the budget review bills of the 1970s from the budget adjustment bills of the 1980s. The traditional title of a budget bill, referring to "diverse other changes", indicated no limits. For 1983 Senate Bill 83 (1983 WisAct 27), it read:

AN ACT to amend and revise chapter 20 of the statutes, and to make diverse other changes in the statutes, relating to state finances and appropriations, constituting the executive budget bill of the 1983 legislature, and making appropriations.

For the 1985 budget bill (Assembly Bill 85), the title has become even less descriptive:

AN ACT relating to state finances and appropriations, constituting the executive budget bill of the 1985 legislature, and making appropriations.

The title of the final budget review bill (1979 AB-1180; Chap. 221, Laws of 1979), merely echoed the title of budget bills:

AN ACT to amend and revise chapter 20 of the statutes, and to make diverse other changes in the statutes, relating to state finances and appropriations, constituting the 1980 budget review bill and making appropriations.

A budget review bill was an omnibus bill, affecting the whole range of state lawmaking. Budget adjustment bills, while they may deal with numerous issues, are clearly limited by the issues specified. The title of the 1984 budget adjustment act (1983 Senate Bill 663; enacted as 1983 WisAct 212), enumerating 9 distinct issue areas plus derivative penalties and appropriations, illustrates the difference:

AN ACT relating to the individual and corporate surtaxes,
 the homestead credit,
 the required general fund balance, reducing the bonding authority for highway projects, income tax exemptions, income and franchise tax deductions for intercorporate dividends and for insurers' loss carry-backs, property tax statements,
 the definition of the internal revenue code for purposes of the income, franchise, inheritance and minimum taxes, required health insurance coverage, income tax exemptions, utility taxes on telephone companies, decreasing the primary guaranteed valuation, providing penalties and making an appropriation.

For the former budget review bills and for any comprehensive budget bill, determining the germaneness of an amendment can be a frustrating — almost futile — task. For germaneness questions on amendments to a budget adjustment bill and to other multi-issue bills, the issues enumerated in the title are a convenient starting point.

Multi-issue bills. The “nature” of a multi-issue bill is the sum of the issues covered by the bill. The nature of each issue is, of course, determined by the law text contained in the bill, but the description of the issue in the relating clause should be a fair representation of that text.

A multi-issue bill is one bill and, as is permitted for any other bill, the scope of a multi-issue bill can be narrowed by amendment even if that means deleting one or more of the covered issues in their entirety. On the other hand, for a multi-issue bill the rule against substantial alteration of the nature of a proposal can be applied, individually, to each of the issues contained in the bill. Amendments proposed to the 1984 budget adjustment act — the 9 issues covered are displayed above — illustrate the difference.

Senate Majority Leader Timothy F. Cullen (Dem., Janesville) raised the point of order that Senate Substitute Amendment 2 to 1983 Senate Bill 663 was not germane. Senate President Risser “ruled the point of order well taken” (Senate Journal 3/13/84, page 706). The substitute dealt with 4 issues. A substitute amendment for a 9-issue bill, limited to 4 of the issues contained in the bill, would have been held germane as a proper limitation of scope, but that did not apply here. The bill was popularly known as the "Budget Surplus Adjustment Bill"; the 4 issues contained in the substitute, though themselves attempts to adjust the budget surplus, each differed from the 9 specific proposals of the original bill. Senate Substitute Amendment 2 dealt with "the corporate surtax, the individual surtax, the gift tax and inheritance tax exemptions for class A distributees, and the rates for the individual income tax".

The Senate considered 20 amendments to the bill; 5 were adopted, 2 failed adoption, 9 were discussed and placed on the table, and 4 were challenged and ruled not germane (Senate Journal 3/13/84, pages 706 to 709):

Senate amendment 11 [accelerated distribution of shared revenues] offered by Senators Engeleiter, Harsdorf, Chilsen, Ellis, Theno, Lorman, Davis and Lasee.

The question was: Adoption of senate amendment 11?

Senator Kleczka raised the point of order that senate amendment 11 was not germane.

The chair ruled the point of order well taken.

Senate amendment 14 [exempting raffle tickets from sales tax] offered by Senators Harsdorf and Engeleiter.

The question was: Adoption of senate amendment 14?

Senator Kleczka raised the point of order that senate amendment 14 was not germane.

The chair ruled the point of order well taken.

Senate amendment 19 [UW faculty salaries] offered by Senator Harsdorf.

The question was: Adoption of senate amendment 19?

Senator Kleczka raised the point of order that senate amendment 19 was not germane.

The chair ruled the point of order well taken.

Senate amendment 20 [increasing the state property tax credit] offered by Senators Harsdorf, Ellis, Engeleiter, Davis and Theno.

The question was: Adoption of senate amendment 20?

Senator Kleczka raised the point of order that senate amendment 20 was not germane.

The chair ruled the point of order well taken.

When an amendment proposes to amend an amendment or substitute, germaneness is determined not only by the substance and purpose of the original bill, but also by the nature of the substitute or target amendment proposed to be amended. In March 1980, the Assembly considered a multi-issue bill concerning the state's highway program (1979 AB-1285). The title identified 7 substantive issue areas, plus derivative rule-making authority and an appropriation:

increasing the excise tax on motor fuel and special fuel, adjusting the appropriations for connecting highways, swing and lift bridges and highway maintenance, increasing automobile registration fees and other transportation fees, imposing vehicle permit fees based on the excess size and weight of the vehicle, changing the computation of the cost factor for local transportation aids, authorizing the contracting of public debt for highway construction, providing inflationary supplements for department of transportation appropriations, granting rule-making authority and making an appropriation.

Assembly Substitute Amendment 1 was before the Assembly. The substitute was limited to the first and 4th of the substantive issues found in the original bill: "increasing the excise tax on motor fuel and special fuel", and "imposing vehicle permit fees based on the excess size and weight of the vehicle".

Representative Gary K. Johnson (Dem., Beloit), the Majority Leader, referred to Assembly Rule 54 (5) in challenging the germaneness of Assembly Amendment 8 to the substitute (Assembly Journal 3/25/80, page 3068). The rule requires an amendment to a substitute amendment to be germane to the substitute as well as to the original bill. Amendment 8 proposed to reinsert into the substitute the 5th issue contained in the original bill: "changing the computation of the cost factor for local transportation aids". Speaker Jack-amonis ruled the point of order well taken. Even though the amendment consisted of text found in the original bill, its adoption would have been a substantial expansion of the scope of the substitute in violation of Assembly Rule 54 (3) (f).

Assembly Amendment 10 also dealt with changing the cost factor for local transportation aids, although in a different manner. Again, Majority Leader Johnson rose: the amendment, although perhaps germane to the original proposal, expanded the scope of the substitute. Again, the "chair ruled the point of order well taken".

Special sessions — special limits. When the Legislature considers a proposal in regular session, the lawmaking power of the Legislature is subject only to restrictions imposed by the Constitution and laws of the United States, by the Wisconsin Constitution, and by the rules of procedure enacted by the Legislature itself. Still, even in regular session the nature of each bill establishes substantive limits which amendments are not supposed to expand, and any multi-issue bill set its own agenda.

When the Legislature meets in special session convened upon the call of the Governor, or in extraordinary session convened under the rules of the Legislature by petition of a majority of the members elected to each house or as directed by a majority of the members of the Committee on Organization in each house, the extent of the lawmaking power is defined by the instrument convening the session.

In special or extraordinary session, no bill can be introduced unless it stays within the limits set by the call. No amendment can be adopted unless the bill, as affected by the amendment, remains within the agenda set by the call.

As illustrated by the following point of order raised during the October 1983 Special Session, it is sometimes not easy to remain within the limits "necessary to accomplish the special purposes" (Sec. 11, Art. IV, Wis. Const.) for which a special or extraordinary session has been convened.

On 10/27/83 (Assembly Journal, page 551), the Assembly debated Assembly Bill 7 of the October 1983 Special Session, a multi-issue bill "relating to taxation of milk assessments and refunds of them, garnishment of the proceeds from the sale of agricultural products, use of nondairy products in state and municipal buildings prohibited, distribution of cheese at tourist information centers, foreclosure by advertisement, promotion of Wisconsin products, dissolution of a consent order regarding dairy advertising and granting rule-making authority". The majority leader, Representative Gary K. Johnson (Dem., Beloit), raised the point of order that Assembly Amendment 14 "was not germane under Assembly Rule 93 (1)". That rule incorporates the constitutional restriction.

Assembly Amendment 14, to replace the inheritance tax with an estate tax, dealt with an issue important to many members of the Legislature but not mentioned in the Governor's call. Speaker Loftus "ruled the point of order well taken".

Representative John L. Merkt (Rep., Mequon) moved that Assembly Rule 93 be suspended.

The speaker ruled the motion out of order under Article IV, Section 11 of the Wisconsin Constitution.

Representative Merkt appealed the decision of the chair on the germaneness of assembly amendment 14 to Assembly Bill 7, October 1983 Special Session.

Representative Merkt asked unanimous consent to withdraw his appeal.

Granted.

Why did Representative Merkt withdraw his appeal of the speaker's ruling? Quite obviously, because he would never intentionally disregard the Legislature's obligations under the state constitution. A rule can be suspended; the constitution cannot. The issues raised by the inheritance tax could be reviewed in regular session (in April 1984, the Legislature enacted 1983 WisAct 194 which raised the inheritance tax exemption, for close relatives, in 2 steps from $10,000 to $50,000).

The issue raised by Representative Thomas J. Crawford (Dem., Milwaukee) on the next day was more involved; it required Speaker Loftus to reconcile 2 different directives of the constitution (Assembly Journal 10/28/83, page 571). Assembly Bill 5 of the October 1983 Special Session had passed the Assembly and the Senate had concurred with an amendment. Inter-house comity, expressed already in Jefferson's Manual (e.g., sections 3-p, 17-s), assumes that the other house complies with all constitutional requirements.

Representative Crawford rose to the point of order that senate amendment 2 .... was not germane under Assembly Rule 93 (1) [in special session, amendment must fit within call] and Article IV, Section 11 [special session limited to purposes for which convened], of the Wisconsin Constitution.

The speaker ruled that, based on past precedents and Article IV, Section 8 [each house determines own rules] of the Wisconsin Constitution, he could not rule on the germaneness of senate amendments. The point of order was ruled not well taken.

In the May 1982 Special Session, an amendment to Assembly Resolution 1 highlighted another limitation of the Legislature's power when acting under the special session call. The resolution requested the Governor to expand the call to include a proposal relating to restriction of abortions in public hospitals. The resolution was proper; regardless of the special session agenda, each house can deal with propositions pertaining to the operation of the Legislature during the special session. This has been recognized many times, and is codified in Assembly Rule 93 (1).

Assembly Amendment 1 tried to change the resolution so that it became a request for an extraordinary session on the same subject, to be called by the Committee on Organization of each house. The amendment was not proper; if adopted, the resolution would no longer pertain to the business of the special session or to the organization of the Legislature during the special session. Representative Loftus challenged the amendment, and Speaker Jack-amonis ruled it “not germane” under Assembly Rule 54 (1) [nature of proposal changed] and Assembly Rule 93 (1) [germaneness to special session call].

Sometimes, rules protect the majority

In many cases, the standing rules of the Legislature serve to protect the minority. In a few cases, they protect the majority. When an issue has been reviewed in detail and the proposed solution has been rejected, the majority does not have to consider it again in the current biennial session. When an amendment has been adopted to change a proposal so that it reflects the will of the majority, the losers are not entitled to consideration of a later amendment negating the change.

When amendments are discouraged. For some unusual proposals — identified in the rules — amendments are discouraged. The subject matter of such proposals, experience has shown, is fragile, perishable, delicate. Substantive amendments proposed in the heat of debate will only make things worse. If the proposed solution is not acceptable, it is more prudent to reject the current version and wait for the original source to present a better approach. Under such conditions, there is no reason why a minority should be permitted to subject the majority to hours of debate.

In the Assembly, resolutions offered by the Committee on Rules are used to schedule special orders and, under Assembly Rule 33 (2), such resolutions are not amendable. The leadership of both parties is represented on the Committee on Rules. If the time for consideration of the special business, or any other aspect of the resolution, does not reflect the consensus of a majority of the members of the Assembly, the resolution can be rejected and the committee can propose a different solution.

In one instance, the Wisconsin Constitution imposes a limitation on the Legislature’s freedom to make substantive changes. Two successive Legislatures must agree to the identical text before the proposed constitution change can be submitted to the people for ratification (Art. XII, Sec. 1, Wis. Const.). If the constitution change proposed by the preceding Legislature is now unacceptable, the current legislature cannot approve it on “second consideration”. Any deviation from the constitution change proposed by the last Legislature reverts the proposal to “first consideration”.

Joint Rule 55. CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS. (1) Every joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution introduced for the purpose of a first approval shall, in the closing paragraph, refer such proposed amendment to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election. Every joint resolution proposing the 2nd legislative approval of an amendment to the constitution shall, in the closing paragraph, provide for submission of the amendment to the people in accordance with section 1 of article XII of the constitution.

(2) The text of a proposed constitutional amendment is not subject to change when a joint resolution submits such text for "2nd consideration" after the proposal was adopted on "first consideration" by the last preceding legislature, unless appropriate changes are made to revert the status of the constitutional amendment to "first consideration".

(a) While the constitutional amendment has "2nd consideration" status, only the relating clause and those paragraphs of the joint resolution pertaining to the ballot question and to the date of submission to the voters may be changed by amendment.

(b) Because any change in the text of a proposed constitutional amendment before the senate or assembly for "2nd consideration" reverts that proposed amendment to "first consideration" status, any such change shall be presented to the senate or assembly in the form of a substitute amendment which, in its title, its resolving clauses, and its instructions for transmittal to the next succeeding legislature, properly sets forth the resultant "first consideration" status of the proposed constitution text.

In the Senate, Rule 50 (11) warns that an "amendment to a joint resolution approving an amendment to the federal constitution is not in order". The reminder is, perhaps, too broad. The constitution text submitted by the Congress to the state legislatures for ratification must be accepted or rejected without change, but the surrounding "service text" (indicating Wisconsin assent to the proposal) can be improved until it truly represents the majority view of this state. Senate Rule 50 (10) shows the distinction:

Amendments to a revision bill are germane, but amendments to a revisor's correction bill are germane only if they make corrections and do not add new substantive material.

Working with the Law Revision Committee of the Legislative Council, the Revisor of Statutes prepares 2 types of bills. "Correction" bills reconcile unintended conflicts resulting from 2 or more acts enacted by the same Legislature, correct references, make terminology changes, renumber for better location and delete language which is clearly obsolete. "Revision" bills modernize existing law by eliminating defects, ambiguities, conflicts and obsolete or unconstitutional provisions. The revision may incorporate phrases needed to deal with new or changed conditions and may include substantive changes. In many cases, revision bills are today prepared by Legislative Council interim committees on specific subjects.

Another example of legislation which really cannot be improved by amendment is found in the bills to implement the expenditure-related provisions of labor contracts, negotiated by the state with state employe unions and already ratified by the affected unions and the Legislature's Joint Committee on Employment Relations. If the negotiated settlement is unacceptable to the Legislature the outside contract, rather than the legislation supporting it, has to be changed. Under section 111.92 (1) of the statutes:

Tentative agreements reached between the department of employment relations, acting for the executive branch, and any certified labor organization shall, after official ratification by the labor organization, be submitted to the joint committee on employment relations, which shall hold a public hearing before determining its approval or disapproval. If the committee approves the tentative agreement, it shall introduce in a bill or companion bills, to be put on the calendar or referred to the appropriate scheduling committee of each house, that portion of the tentative agreement which requires legislative action for implementation, such as salary and wage adjustments, changes in fringe benefits, and any proposed amendments, deletions or additions to existing law .... The committee shall accompany the introduction of such proposed legislation with a message that informs the legislature of the committee's concurrence with the matters under consideration and which recommends the passage of such legislation without change .... If the legislature does not adopt without change that portion of the tentative agreement introduced by the joint committee on employment relations, the tentative agreement shall be returned to the parties for negotiation.

A bill introduced by the Joint Committee for Review of Administrative Rules (JCRAR) to support the committee's objection to promulgation of a proposed administrative rule is of similar sensitivity. The authority of administrative agencies to promulgate administrative rules in interpretation of the law, and the authority of the JCRAR to suspend promulgation of a proposed rule or part of a rule, are both strictly limited by chapter 227 of the statutes, "administrative procedure and review". Among other reasons, JCRAR can suspend a proposed rule when it finds that the rule is arbitrary and capricious or imposes an undue hardship, that it lacks adequate statutory authority, or that it fails to comply with legislative intent. Rule suspension must be followed by a bill to clarify the law so that the statutes will clearly express the JCRAR's understanding of the issue and yet, not interfere with administrative rule making generally.

This was illustrated by the following point of order concerning 1981 Senate Bill 359. The Department of Transportation had proposed a rule to assess 2 demerit points for driving a vehicle without a valid driver's license in the immediate possession of the driver, and to increase from 2 to 3 demerit points the consequence of driving a vehicle with a defective or improper speedometer. In its report accompanying the bill, JCRAR explained that it was a "relatively innocuous offense" for a properly licensed driver to drive a vehicle without having the license along and that, "because it believes that most speedometers are somewhat faulty", the demerit points should not be raised. Assembly Amendment 1 proposed to enact the existing scale of demerit points as statutory law. When Representative Loftus challenged the amendment (Assembly Journal 6/9/81, page 629), Speaker Jackamonis:

....ruled the amendment not germane under Assembly Rule 54 (3) (f) [substantial expansion of scope] and the point of order well taken. The speaker stated that amendments, which might otherwise be germane to the bill, are not germane in this case because of the limited scope of Senate Bill 359. The bill was introduced pursuant to section 227.018 (5) (e) of the Wisconsin Statutes to fulfill the statutory purpose of ratifying the action of the Joint Committee for Review of Administrative Rules.

The JCRAR suspension bill, enacted into law, assures that the department's false interpretation of the law (as evidenced by the suspended rule) will not occur again.

On the other hand, if enactment of the bill fails, it does not require a change in statute law to permit departmental promulgation of the proposed rule. If a legislator still feels that the existing law should be changed to clearly support the proposed rule, a bill to implement that objective can be introduced, but the suspension bill is not the proper vehicle for that purpose.

Avoiding unnecessary repetition. Sometimes it does not seem that way but second reading — that stage in the consideration of a proposal in which amendments may be offered — must come to an end. The house has listened to all of the arguments. Some amendments have found majority support and are now part of the proposal; other amendments, lacking majority support, have failed. Everybody is tired. Unless there is a successful motion to reconsider the vote by which an amendment has failed, the majority should not be required (during the consideration of the same bill) to listen one more time to the same arguments in support of an identical or substantially similar amendment.

In both houses, the rules say that an amendment identical to one already considered on the same bill and not adopted is not germane, but only the Assembly rule applies the restriction also to "substantially similar" amendments.

[S.Rule 50] (6) ....An identical amendment or an amendment identical in effect to one previously rejected as another amendment to the same bill .... is not germane, but such amendments are germane if not identical with prior rejected amendments to the same bill.

[A.Rule 54] (3) Assembly amendments which are not germane include: .... (c) An amendment substantially similar to an amendment already acted upon.

The rules of both houses also protect the majority against harrassment by identical bills. Once the house has decided an issue by rejecting the bill proposing to deal with it, the house does not have to consider another bill originating in the same house and offering the same solution. The Assembly rule enumerates the consequences of "adverse disposition" in detail; the entire text is reproduced below:

[S.Rule 33] (2) No bill or resolution identical with one already rejected shall be introduced, but this rule shall not bar the consideration of an assembly bill or joint resolution on the ground of its being identical with a senate bill or resolution previously rejected by the senate, nor shall any bill or resolution be barred on the grounds of repealing a former act of the same session.

[A.Rule 49] ADVERSE AND FINAL DISPOSITION. (1) Unless reconsidered under rule 73, a proposal, or an amendment as it affects a proposal, is adversely and finally disposed of for the biennial session of the legislature by any of the following results:

- (a) Indefinite postponement (assembly bills).
- (b) Rejection (assembly amendments, assembly resolutions and assembly joint resolutions).
- (c) Nonconcurrence (senate bills and senate joint resolutions).
- (d) Failure to be ordered engrossed (assembly bills).
- (e) Failure to be ordered to a 3rd reading (senate bills).
- (f) Failure of passage (assembly bills).
- (g) Failure of concurrence (senate bills and joint resolutions).
- (h) Failure to pass notwithstanding the objections of the governor.

(2) Once an assembly proposal has been adversely disposed of, another assembly proposal identical or substantially similar in nature but not more limited in scope shall not be considered by the assembly in that biennial session.

If one house rejects a bill and, subsequently, receives an identical bill introduced in and passed by the other house, that bill will be considered. It is considered not only because interhouse courtesy requires it but, more to the point, because the later passage by the other house makes it likely that new information set the stage for a different decision. The rules cited are intended only to protect the majority against having to consider the same issue over and over again. They are not meant to prevent further consideration when a majority concludes that new information requires a review of the earlier position.

Following this reasoning, even a substantially similar amendment to the same bill can be considered. A 1975 ruling by Speaker Norman Anderson made that point (Assembly Journal 5/21/75, page 929):

....However, whether something is the same or different is a matter of judgment.

Obviously, there is a difference of opinion between [the members raising the point of order] and, I suspect, a majority of the people in this house. It may be that the difference is modest, but in the judgment of the chair, a significant difference. In any event, sufficient to take it outside the rule and accordingly the chair rules the point of order not well taken.

I might further go on to say .... it is always useful to consider what the purpose of the rule is in interpreting the rule. The rule should not be used to achieve a different purpose than that for which it is originally enacted. The purpose of it is to prevent repeated unnecessary consideration of the same subject matter once a conscious determination has been made in this house. There is no member of this house that is unaware of the fact that the result of the vote last evening, at least in the case of 4 members of this house on both sides of the issue — 3 on one and 1 on the other, turned out to be a mistake and therefore the result was different than that the members intended — at least those 4. And had they voted the way they intended to vote and tried to vote, the result would have been different.

I am persuaded that this amendment is significantly different on its own, even if that were not true, but I remind the Gentleman that the purpose for which the rule was adopted in the first place is not violated by the chair ruling even if I was wrong on the merits.

The decision stands. It seems to be fairly well settled that an amendment negating the effect of an amendment to the same proposition previously adopted by the house is not germane. The principle has been codified as Wisconsin Assembly Rule 54 (3) (e). When the majority decides an issue by the adoption of an amendment, it should not have to submit itself to continuing debate on amendments to undo (negate) that decision.

Paul Mason's Manual of Legislative procedure (1970 edition, sec. 401, par. 4) holds that an "amendment which would put before the house a question identical with one previously decided by the house during the session, whether in an affirmative or negative form, is not in order." Robert's Rules of Order, at page 115, says that an amendment would be improper if it is "contrary to" an amendment previously decided by the house during the same session. The underlying assumption appears to be that using an amendment to undo an earlier decision might lead to confusion; the same result can be reached through reconsideration of the action on the earlier amendment.

Wisconsin Senate Rule 50 (5), on the other hand, contains the statement that "an amendment restoring a proposal to its original form .... is germane." In the past 10 years, no decision by a Senate presiding officer has cited the phrase, which seems to be based on the codification of a ruling by Lieut. Gov. Thomas J. O'Malley in 1933 (cited in the 1953 Senate Manual as Senate Precedent 56.20). If that is the case, the phrase may not mean what it says. The significance of the ruling was that an amendment cannot be challenged because the text it proposes to insert is legally redundant.

In the Special Session of December 1933 the Wisconsin Legislature, implementing the repeal of prohibition, considered Senate Bill 1, "relating to the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, levying an occupational tax thereon and on certain fermented malt beverages, [and] creating the Wisconsin liquor control commission". The bill proposed creation of a statute permitting the commission to "appoint a secretary and such other officers, attorneys, assistants, experts, accountants, chemists, agents, clerks, and employes, and at such compensation, as it deems from time to time necessary or desirable in carrying out the provisions of this chapter". Senate Amendment 14 said that: "All such employes shall be subject to the provisions of chapter 16" (the classified civil service). Amendment 1 to SA-14 reversed the instruction to "shall not", placing the employes outside the classified civil service law. The bill history shows that the change to "shall not" was later accepted by the Senate but that SA-14, as changed, was rejected. The sequence of events suggests that, under 1933 statutes, the employes of the Liquor Control Commission would be outside the classified service unless the phrase to bring them into the classified service was made a part of the proposed law.

The point of order was raised (Senate Journal 12/19/33, page 92) "that amendment No. 1, S., to amendment No. 14, S., could not be considered in order as its adoption would restore the bill to its original form", and Lieut. Gov. O'Malley disagreed. The journal record of the point was poorly worded: to restore something to its original form implies that it had assumed a different form in the intervening time. That was not the case here.

The point of order was raised by Senator Orland S. Loomis (Rep., Mauston). He was the President pro tem. of the 1933 Senate (as the candidate of the Progressive Party, he was elected Governor in 1942 but died prior to inauguration). Senator Loomis was an attorney. As an attorney, he probably argued that adding the civil service phrase, after changing it to "shall not", was redundant: the original form of the bill (saying nothing about civil service status) had the same legal effect.

In today's lawmaking, a rule prohibiting the use of an amendment to undo an earlier amendment probably has limited application. Comprehensive bills deal with interrelated problems and the debate on amendments may go on for hours or even days. An amendment adopted early in the debate to make a change in the approach to problem "A" may have to be superseded later in the day by an amendment concerning problem "B", and the later amendment will be held germane because, as to problem "A", it accomplishes the bill's purpose in a different manner. Amendments to 1979 Assembly Bill 367, "relating to increasing marriage license application and related fees", illustrate the sequence: 1) the bill proposed to increase the fee for a marriage license from $4.50 to $9.50 without affecting the state's share of the fee ($1.50 per license); 2) A.Amdt.4 was adopted authorizing each county to set its own fee subject to a $9.50 maximum and the $1.50 state share; and 3) A.Amdt.5 proposed to abolish both the state share and the $9.50 maximum.

Assembly Amendment 5 to 1979 Assembly Bill 367 was challenged as negating the effect of Assembly Amendment 4. Speaker Jackamonis (Assembly Journal 2/21/80, page 2329) "ruled the point of order not well taken". The later amendment did not reverse the decision on marriage license fees set by county boards. Removing the maximum limit, and abolishing the state share, concerned only the detail of county board fee setting.

Like any other germaneness rule, the rule prohibiting one amendment from negating another amendment applies only to amendments in the same house. In 1978, Representative Marlin D. Schneider (Dem., Wisconsin Rapids) raised a point of order that an Assembly amendment to a Senate amendment to an Assembly bill was not germane because it negated the effect of the Senate amendment and expanded the scope of the bill. Speaker Jack-amonis (Assembly Journal 3/28/78, page 3393, at pages 4046-47) used the point of order to write an extensive research opinion concerning the Assembly's rules on germaneness. With regard to the effect of an Assembly amendment on changes made by the Senate in an Assembly bill, the Speaker wrote:

....the Wisconsin Constitution grants to each house of the Legislature the power to establish its own rules of procedure. It follows, then, that Assembly rules can only, and are intended to only, govern the proceedings of this house. Applying this principle to [the germaneness rule], it further follows that this rule is intended to govern only the admissibility of Assembly amendments to proposals under consideration in the Assembly. This conclusion about the scope of the rule's applicability is also suggested by language found in the rule itself. Section (2) of the rule states that questions of germaneness raised under this rule "shall apply only to amendments originating in the Assembly"....

Assembly Rule [54] (3) (e) provides that an amendment is not germane if it "negates the effect of another amendment previously adopted." Since Assembly Rule [54] as a whole is intended to govern only Assembly consideration of Assembly amendments, it seems reasonable to assume that where the rule refers to actions taken on amendments (such as "adoption") it likewise is intended to refer only to Assembly actions on such amendments. To construe this provision of the rule more broadly to prohibit the consideration of any Assembly amendment which would negate the effect of a previously adopted Senate amendment to the same proposal would be to interpret this rule in a way which could significantly restrict the ability of this house to disagree with Senate actions. The Chair can think of no plausible reason for so restricting the Assembly's authority and, for this reason, concludes that no such effect was ever intended. Instead of such a broad, far-reaching construction, the Chair believes the underlying intent of this portion of Assembly Rule [54] is much simpler and the same as that cited in previous rulings on Assembly Rule [54] (3) (c): to prevent the repeated consideration of amendments to a particular proposal which deal with the same issue, once the Assembly has made a conscious decision concerning the issue.

Final Legislative Steps

As strange as it may seem, the Wisconsin Legislature has never "killed" a bill. Many bills die, of course, but in the formal language of legislative procedure the cause has been "indefinite postponement" or "nonconcurrence", "failed to order to a 3rd reading" or "failed to pass" or, sometimes, "no further action" because the Legislature ran out of time. The terminology of legislative procedure has a precise term for every action by which a proposal lives or dies. The following definitions are given in Assembly Rule 95:

Adoption: Approval of a motion, simple resolution, or joint resolution.

Rejection: An action by which an amendment or resolution is adversely and finally disposed of for the biennial session of the legislature.

Passage: Final assembly approval of an assembly joint resolution proposing to amend the constitution or of an assembly bill.

Indefinite postponement: A motion to kill a proposal for a legislative session in its house of origin.

Concurrence: The action by which one house agrees to a proposal or action of the other house.

Nonconcurrence: The refusal of one house to agree to a proposal or action of the other.

Third reading and passage

In parliamentary theory, the issues raised by amendments to a proposal are distinct from the merits of the proposal itself. On 2nd reading, each house reviews amendments and, by the selective adoption or rejection of various amendments, improves the bill overall. Debate is limited to the amendments, and while it may be impossible to discuss an amendment without touching on the bill as well, the overall debate concerning the merits of the proposal has to wait until the 3rd reading stage.

In practice, each Legislature considers a large number of proposals that are noncontroversial. Some are passed as originally introduced. For others, the original author or the committee which considered the proposal has brought in a substitute amendment to fix some things overlooked in the original proposal and, as shown by the substitute amendment, the proposal passes without further change. In most of these cases the majority leader, immediately following the vote to engross the proposal, asks and receives unanimous consent to suspend the rules so that the proposal can be given its third reading at that time. Following that, the majority leader suspends the rules one more time so that the action on the proposal can be immediately messaged to the other house. When the proposal is noncontroversial, there is no reason for delay.

The standing rules, on the other hand, are concerned with the orderly transaction of business, even if the issues considered are controversial. Senate Rule 35 and Assembly Rule 40 (1), requiring 3 readings of proposals, both provide that each reading must be on a different day. In addition, the rules governing the motion for reconsideration (Senate Rule 67; Assembly Rule 73) also provide that any reconsideration of the vote by which the proposal was passed will be on a day other than the day of that vote.

When the amendments on a proposal have been debated and the question: "shall the proposal be ordered engrossed and read the 3rd time?" has been answered in the affirmative, third reading consideration of the proposal (unless taken up immediately under suspension of the rules) automatically goes to a future calendar. The delay provides time for further reflection. Opponents will have one more opportunity to state their case. Proponents can review the proposal one more time before the vote on passage.

In the Senate, third reading of the bill will be on the calendar for the Senate's next business day even if the the vote on engrossment was taken too late to insert third reading on the printed calendar for that day. If there was a question concerning placement on the calendar for the next day in 1975, the question was clarified by a 1977 ruling and codified in the 1979 adoption of the Senate rules (Senate Rule 18 (5)):

Senator Whittow moved that the bill be considered for final action at this time.

The ayes and noes were required and the vote was: [Display of roll call vote omitted; ayes-20, noes-12.] Less than two-thirds having voted in the affirmative the motion did not prevail.

Senator Whittow raised the point of order that since the rules were not suspended that Senate Bill 120 would be placed on the second day's printed calendar.

The chair took the point of order under advisement.

[Ruling on the point of order; Senate Journal 4/22/75, p. 546]:

On April 16, 1975, Senator Whittow raised the point of order that since the rules were not suspended to order an immediate third reading of Senate Bill 120 that the bill should be placed on the second day's printed calendar.

The chair took the point of order under advisement.

Senate Rule 35 relating to separate readings and Senate Rule 18 (2) relating to the Daily Calendar cover this question:

Senate Rule 35 reads: "Every bill, and every joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution, shall receive three separate readings by title previous to its passage except where otherwise provided but shall not receive two readings on the same day."

Senate Rule 18 (2) reads: "The printed calendar shall be furnished to members before such a calendar is acted upon and shall provide at least 24 hours [now 18 hours] notice of matters to be taken up on the next session day. The printed calendar shall not be changed within that period."

In order to be consistent with the language and intent of the rules cited, it is the chair's opinion that when a measure is ordered to a third reading, it is automatically placed on the 13th order of business on the next calendar to be printed.

Respectfully submitted,

FRED A. RISSER

President pro tempore

Two years later, a similar point of order challenged the Chief Clerk's authority to add business to the appropriate third reading calendar. According to the challenger only the Committee on Senate Organization, as the calendar scheduling committee, had that authority. The ruling reaffirmed that "Senate rules have always required bills ready for third reading to be placed on the next calendar" and that this placement was not limited by the 18-hour rule (Senate Rule 18 (2)) for distribution of the printed calendar showing the measures scheduled by the Committee on Senate Organization:

Senator Sensenbrenner raised the point of order that pursuant to Senate Rule 18 (2) there was insufficient notice given and Assembly Bill 664 was not properly before the senate.

The chair took the point of order under advisement.

Earlier today the Senator from the 4th, Senator Sensenbrenner, raised the point of order that Assembly Bill 664 [relating to campaign financing, creating a clean election campaign fund, granting rule-making authority, making appropriations and providing penalties] was not properly before the Senate. He argued that placing Assembly Bill 664 under the 9th order on the calendar of September 28 for final reading was in violation of Senate Rule 18 (2). He claimed that the Senate Organization Committee was required by Senate Rule 18 (2) to provide at least 18 hours notice of matters to be taken up by the Senate and that such notice had not been provided in this case.

Senate Rule 18 (1) makes it clear that the scheduling authority of the Senate organization committee extends to many matters. Senate organization's scheduling authority does not extend, however, to bills, resolutions or other business which Senate rules or precedent clearly provide shall be handled in another manner.

Although current Senate rules do not address the present question directly, old Senate rules are explicit on the subject and at least one recent ruling of the chair reaffirms the well-known rule that legislation ordered to a third reading but not considered for final action on that day will be placed on the next calendar.

A good example of the old Senate Rule can be found in the 1957 Senate manual. Senate Rule 38 reads in part: "Each bill or resolution ordered engrossed and read a third time shall be delivered .... to the chief clerk, who shall .... place it upon the next calendar 'ready for third reading'." This language was dropped from the rules after 1965.

The most recent and direct ruling on the subject can be found in the Senate Journal of April 22, 1975, on page 547 where the chair correctly ruled that in order to be consistent with the language and intent of the rules, a measure ordered to a third reading is automatically placed on the next calendar to be printed.

There are other instances where the Senate rules dictate what must happen to legislation. Senate Rule 18 (4), for example, requires that unfinished calendars be carried over and taken up between the 9th and 10th order on the next calendar. Senate Rule 17 (3) provides that special orders once established shall continue to be special orders, and when laid over under the rules shall be special orders on their proper calendar. These matters are clearly not within the scheduling authority of Senate Organization.

Since Senate rules have always required bills ready for third reading to be placed on the next calendar, Senate rules do not require special notice of such placement. Therefore no Senate rules have been violated and the point of order raised by the Senator from the 4th is not well taken.

FRED A. RISSER

In the Assembly, third reading of the proposal will be added to the calendar to be printed: if the vote on engrossment was taken on day "1", representatives on day "2" receive a calendar for day "3" showing that the third reading of the proposal has been scheduled under the appropriate order of business for that day.

The third reading is required for bills to be enacted into law. It is not required to adopt or concur in a joint resolution including a joint resolution to establish or change a joint rule (e.g., the biennial joint resolution to establish the session schedule), but is required to pass or concur in a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Wisconsin Constitution or proposing to ratify an amendment to the Constitution of the United States. A third reading is not required to adopt a simple (one house) resolution, including a resolution to establish or change a rule of that house.

Voting

There are at least 4 different ways in which a legislature could vote. Only 2 ways, the voice vote and the roll call vote, are used in Wisconsin.

The average citizen, when voting in a general election, casts a secret ballot. The secret ballot is not used in the Wisconsin Legislature. The state Constitution requires the Legislature to elect its officers by roll call vote entered in the journals (Art. IV, Sec. 30, Wis. Const.). Using a secret ballot in the Legislature would violate the spirit of the "open meetings law" (secs. 19.81 to 19.98, stats.), and would run counter to the many instructions in the Wisconsin Constitution which require the doors of the Legislature to be open to the public (Art. IV, Sec. 10) or require specific questions to be decided by roll call votes with the "ayes" and "noes" entered in the journals.

In revising its house rules near the end of the 1961 Session (Assembly Resolution 28), the Assembly abolished a rule which allowed any member, when the outcome of a voice vote was in doubt, to call for a division of the house. In the Senate, directing a division to ascertain the outcome of a voice vote had been the prerogative of the presiding officer; that rule was abolished in the readoption of the Senate rules for the 1979 Session (Senate Resolution 2). In such a division, the outcome was decided by a show of hands (and counting), or standing up (and counting), or filing past tellers (and counting). Although division provided an accurate numeric outcome without recording how the individual member voted, it fell into disuse because of the time-consuming confusion created by a division. A roll call is faster.

The usual method of voting in the Wisconsin Legislature — particularly in deciding the less controversial questions — is the voice vote. The presiding officer calls for the "ayes" and "noes". In most cases, the response of one side clearly outweighs the other and the Chair announces the outcome: "The 'ayes' have it"; or, "the 'noes' have it". Sometimes, the Chair may feel that the apparent result of a voice vote does not reflect the will of the majority. In such a case, the Chair might first announce: "The ayes appear to have it", allowing any member of the house to request (and, with the concurrence of one-sixth of those present, obtain) a roll call on the question before the Chair announces the outcome of the voice vote. If the Chair's tentative announcement does not elicit a response from the floor, the question is deemed decided. The chair announces: "The 'ayes' have it." In both houses, the rules permit the Chair to order a roll call for any vote. Thus, when the result of a voice vote is really unclear, the Chair will often say: "The Chair is in doubt. The Clerk will call the roll."

All bills dealing with taxes or public finances require a roll call vote on passage or concurrence (Art. VIII, Sec. 8, Wis. Const.). Similarly, the final vote by each house on a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Wisconsin Constitution must be a roll call vote (Art. XII, Sec. 1, Wis. Const.).

Whenever the Wisconsin Constitution specifies that an issue can be decided only by a qualified majority of the members elected to each house, a roll call vote is required. Such issues include the approval of any bill to grant increased retirement benefits (three-fourths; Art. IV, Sec. 26), the expulsion from the Legislature of a member by the house in which the member serves (two-thirds; Art. IV, Sec. 8), removal of a justice or judge from office by address of the Legislature (two-thirds; Art. VII, Sec. 13), overriding the Governor's veto of a bill or partial veto of an appropriation bill (two-thirds; Art. V, Sec. 10), the judgment of the Senate when trying an impeachment (two-thirds; Art. VII, Sec. 1) and the vote of the Assembly to impeach (majority; Art. VII, Sec. 1).

The vote to decide any other issue must be a roll call vote, with the "ayes" and "noes" entered in the journals, when a roll call is demanded by one sixth of the members present (Art. IV, Sec. 20, Wis. Const.; Senate Rule 72 (1)) but the Assembly rule (Assembly Rule 76 (3)) specifies that a member's request for a roll call must be seconded by at least 15 other members to make the roll call mandatory. When a roll call has been ordered, every member present must vote unless excused for special cause before the roll call begins. The option is seldom used. In 1975 (Assembly Journal 4/22/75, page 610):

Representative Dorff rose to the point of order that Representative Matty should excuse himself from voting [on Assembly Bill 73, relating to deer hunting party permits and providing a penalty] under Assembly Rule [77] because he is an officer of the Wisconsin Conservation Congress.

The speaker [Anderson] ruled the point of order not well taken.

To vote in the Senate, "members shall remain in their seats" (Senate Rule 72 (2)) while the Chief Clerk calls the roll. Each Senator responds "aye" or "no" as the roll is called. If a Senator, whose name has already been called, enters the Senate Chamber after the roll call begins, the Chief Clerk will first complete the roll call in alphabetical order from "Adelman" to "Mr. President" before returning to the name of the late arrival.

In former times, the Senate roll call on passage or concurrence was sometimes abused as an additional opportunity for speech making. A Senator announced, "I would like to explain my vote", and discuss the issues all over again. That practice ended with the bipartisan Senate rule revision of 1975 (Senate Resolution 2), when the Senate adopted the following rule:

EXPLANATION OF VOTE NOT ALLOWED. Explanation by a member of his or her vote, at the time of the calling of the member's name, shall not be allowed.

In the Assembly, all members present in the Assembly Chamber may vote (Assembly Rule 76 (5)), and the Assembly Chamber is defined as the "entire area west of the easternmost doors [wrought iron gates] of the assembly, including the visitors' galleries" (Assembly Rule 95 (6)).

[Assembly Rule 76] (6) During a roll call vote, any member may raise the point of order that a member appears to be absent from the chamber but is shown as voting according to the roll call display boards. If the presiding officer rules the point of order "well taken", the vote of the absent member shall not be recorded.

Both houses permit members who were absent when a vote was taken to file a statement with the Chief Clerk showing how they would have voted had they been present (Assembly Rule 76 (8); Senate Rule 75), and the statement will be printed in the journal. This is merely a courtesy to the member. It does not change the outcome of the roll call vote.

The Assembly also permits a representative who will be absent at a future time to "pair" with another representative on the opposite side of the issue (Assembly Rule 79). The other representative may be present at the time of the vote; if he votes, the pair is invalidated. If both members signing the pair are present when the vote is taken, each must vote unless excused for special cause (Assembly Rule 77). Like the journal record of "how the member would have voted if present", pairs merely record the representatives' positions on the issue but the pair is not counted among the votes cast. The Senate abolished pairing in its major rule revision of 1975 (Senate Resolution 2).

The motion for reconsideration

On second reading, the debate was concentrated on amendments. When it was over, a majority of the members favored the revisions made and voted “yes” on the question: “shall the bill be ordered engrossed and read the third time?” On third reading, proponents and opponents argued the merits of the proposal itself. Again, proponents outnumbered opponents; they defeated the question: “shall the bill be indefinitely postponed?” and went on to carry the next question: “this bill having been read 3 several times, shall the bill pass?” The fight seemed over. On the second day after passage, the bill would go to the other house for concurrence, safely on its way to becoming a law. It was time to adjourn for the day, forget about the acrimony of today’s debates and prepare for the issues facing the house on tomorrow’s calendar.

The sense of relief felt by the proponents was premature. Overnight, one of the proponents began to discuss the bill in a newsletter to his constituents and, suddenly, thought of a possible side effect never even mentioned in the debate. This morning, the concerned legislator talked to others who had shown a strong interest in the bill. Some seemed to share his concerns and so, at the opportune time, the legislator rose in his assigned place to gain recognition from the chair. Having been recognized, the legislator offered a motion: “that the vote by which the bill was passed be reconsidered”. There were sufficient seconds. Now, a vote would be taken to review the earlier action.

The motion to reconsider an earlier action can be offered only by a member who voted with the side prevailing on the question. It is not unheard of that an opponent will switch his vote at the last moment to gain, by voting with the prevailing side, the right to move reconsideration and the opportunity to state the views of the opponents one more time. Near the scheduled end of a session, timing is everything. Any delay may prevent a further advancement of the proposal.

The rules governing the motion for reconsideration — Senate Rule 67 and Assembly Rule 73 — are the most complicated rules in the rule books of the Wisconsin Legislature. Although the purpose of the motion is the same for both houses, the details differ. Reconsideration clearly illustrates the unicameral aspect of the Legislature’s rule-making power under Section 7 of Article IV of the Wisconsin Constitution: “Each house may determine the rules of its own proceedings”....

Applicability of reconsideration. Under the Senate rule, the motion for reconsideration may be applied to Senate action on any “question”, except actions on “executive vetoes or appointments” or “any motion to suspend the rules”. The vote to reject a conference report may be reconsidered (Senate Journal 7/24/73, page 1408). A 1975 ruling by Lieut. Gov. Martin J. Schreiber made it clear that “reconsideration of procedural motions is out of order” (Senate Journal 6/25/75, page 990). In 1982, President Risser went into more detail (Senate Journal 3/25/82, page 1841):

On Wednesday, March 24, 1982 the Senator from the 3rd [Sen. Gerald D. Kleczka; Dem., Milwaukee] raised the point of order that the motion to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill 789 was referred to the committee on Aging, Business and Financial Institutions and Transportation made by the Senator from the 9th [Sen. James P. Moody; Dem., Milwaukee] was not proper.

On page 991, Journal of the Senate, June 25, 1975, the chair ruled that a motion to withdraw a matter from committee was not subject to reconsideration.

Section 390, paragraph 2, Mason's Manual reads: The motion to refer to committee may not be reconsidered but the matter referred to committee may be withdrawn.

Section 456 of Mason's Manual reads in part: Under the rules of parliamentary law, the procedural motions, such as to recess, to lay on the table and to refer to committee are not subject to reconsideration.

Therefore, it is the opinion of the chair that the motion is not proper and the point of order raised by the Senator from the 3rd, Senator Kleczka, is well taken.

Under the Assembly rule, use of the motion for reconsideration is limited to 1) final Assembly decisions on amendments; and 2) final Assembly decisions on proposals made at the conclusion of any given stage of a proposal's consideration. While that wording would seem to exclude applying the motion to any other question, the Assembly rule specifically mentions that reconsideration cannot be moved on: 1) the Assembly's approval of a conference committee report; and 2) the Assembly's decision on a veto. In 1977, when the Assembly erroneously used a voice vote to pass a bill requiring a roll call vote, a request to expunge that action was objected to and the motion for reconsideration was used to return to the question and take the proper vote (Assembly Journal 5/10/77, page 918). On the other hand, a motion to reconsider engrossment was challenged one year later as "not properly before the Assembly" when it was learned that 2 amendments had not been disposed of (Assembly Journal 3/23/78, page 3992), and the Minority Leader (Rep. John C. Shabaz; Rep., New Berlin) received unanimous consent "that the record on engrossment .... be expunged". While rejection of a conference report is equivalent to adverse disposition of a proposal (which can be reconsidered), receding from the Assembly's position on an amendment nonconcurring in by the Senate is the equivalent of reconsidering the earlier action and procedural (Assembly Journal 2/17/77, page 311).

The action on a motion to reconsider cannot, itself, be reconsidered (Assembly Rule 73 (5)). If the motion fails, the decision on the question proposed to be reconsidered is final. If reconsideration carries, the reconsidered question is again before the house. Unless the reconsidered question is set aside by any other motion appropriate at that time, there is a new vote on the reconsidered question and the motion for reconsideration can be applied to the outcome of that vote (Assembly Journal 3/6/80, page 2504).

When the motion for reconsideration is used to return a bill to the amendable stage, there may be several consecutive reconsiderations (Assembly Journal 3/7/78, page 3428): 1) to reconsider passage; 2) to reconsider engrossment; and, perhaps, 3) to reconsider the vote on a specified amendment. In the Assembly, Assembly Rule 73 (9) authorizes the maker of a motion returning the bill to the amendable stage to "offer one new amendment to that proposal for introduction and distribution to the members".

When a joint resolution has been used to recall a bill from the other house or from the Governor for further action, Senate Rule 67 (7) requires reconsideration motions to return the bill to the appropriate stage. Assembly Rule 73 (8) streamlines the process:

The adoption by both houses of a joint resolution returning a proposal to the assembly for further action returns the proposal to the stage specified in the resolution. The adoption of a motion for reconsideration shall not be required to reach that stage.

Making a reconsideration motion. The motion for reconsideration may be made by any member who voted with the prevailing side or, in the case of a voice vote or tied vote, by any member not recorded absent when the vote was taken (Assembly Journal 3/7/78, page 3404). If the question requires a decision by a qualified majority and fails, the prevailing side is the minority (Senate Journal 2/13/74, page 2172; 4/2/80, page 1828). To make the motion, the member must be recognized by the presiding officer.

In the Senate, the motion may be offered on the day the vote was taken or on “the next succeeding legislative day and it shall be received under any order of business” (Senate Rule 67 (3)). A senator may make a reconsideration motion even while the Senate has already begun the last order of business for the day, “adjournment” (Senate Journal 4/23/75, page 591). If reconsideration is otherwise still timely and in order, a senator may move to reconsider an amendment “notwithstanding the bill’s advancement to a 3rd reading”, and may move to reconsider that advancement “notwithstanding the suspension of the rules to take final action” (Senate Rule 67 (6)). Even if the normal time for entering a motion to reconsider an amendment has expired, the motion may still be entered when unanimous consent was granted to return the bill to the amendable stage (Senate Journal 3/30/78, page 2223).

In the 99-member Assembly, the legislative day already seems too short to permit each member to speak on every issue. To conserve time for debate, reconsideration motions can be made only at precise points in the consideration of the proposal:

Assembly Rule 73 (2)(a) A motion to reconsider any decision other than passage or concurrence may only be entered after the question to which it relates has been decided and must be entered either: 1) before the title of the next proposal is read by the clerk, the next order of business is announced by the presiding officer, or other business is begun; or 2) on the 8th order of business on the next roll call day.

(3)(a) A motion for reconsideration of the vote by which a proposal is passed or concurred in may be entered: 1) before the title of the next proposal is read by the clerk, the next order of business is announced by the presiding officer, or other business is begun; or 2) on the roll call day following the day on which the proposal was passed or concurred in....

The precise moment for entering a motion for reconsideration is quickly gone. The motion to reconsider passage has been held timely when the passage vote was followed by an unsuccessful vote to suspend the rules and message immediately (Assembly Journal 9/23/75, page 1973) and when the engrossment vote was followed by an unsuccessful vote to suspend the rules and begin third reading (Assembly Journal 2/11/76, page 2534). On the other hand, when there was a successful rule-suspension vote to begin third reading, entering a motion to reconsider engrossment was no longer timely (Assembly Journal 3/21/84, page 1005).

A motion to reconsider the Assembly action on an amendment to a substitute amendment may be entered immediately following the vote to adopt the substitute (Assembly Journal 6/28/79, page 1006):

On June 5, 1979 (Assembly Journal, page 704) Representative Shabaz raised the point of order that the motion for reconsideration of assembly amendment 2 to assembly amendment 1 to assembly substitute amendment 1 to Assembly Bill 275 [relating to authorization of Wisconsin credit unions to do business in other states and of foreign credit unions to do business in Wisconsin, and granting rule-making authority] was not timely under Assembly Rule 73 (2).

The speaker [Jackamonis] ruled the point of order not well taken because Assembly Rule 73 (2) provides that motions to reconsider final actions on amendments may be entered (1) at any time after such action is taken, on the day the action is taken, while the proposal to which the amendment relates is before the assembly during the second reading stage of consideration; (2) immediately following completion of the second reading stage of the proposal to which it relates if that stage is completed on the same day; (3) during the eighth order of business on the same day the action was taken; and (4) during the eighth order of business on the first legislative day on which a roll call is taken following the day on which the action is taken.

Entering a motion to reconsider the vote by which an Assembly resolution changing the Assembly rules has been adopted does not impair the effectiveness of that resolution. The new text of the rules is in effect — just like a law remains in effect while a bill to repeal the law is pending. The point was argued many times in prior sessions (Assembly Journal 5/1/73, page 1204); the creation of Assembly Rule 73 (10) in 1977 settled the issue.

Withdrawing a reconsideration motion. Once a motion for reconsideration has been entered, the maker of the motion can still withdraw the motion, but only while it remains timely for another member to renew the motion. While this may suggest a lack of decisiveness on the part of the maker, indecision is in the nature of the motion.

It must be remembered that, to move reconsideration, the mover must have voted with the side prevailing on the question and that, to enter the motion, one-sixth of the current membership of the house must support it. As to the mover, earlier concerns may be allayed by information received before the reconsideration motion comes to a vote; as to those who seconded the motion, they may still want to review the questioned decision even if the maker of the motion is now satisfied. Here is an example from the 1973 Session (Senate Journal 3/29/74, page 2696):

The question was: Reconsideration of the vote by which Assembly Bill 23 [relating to eliminating distinctions based on sex in the statutes] was concurred in?

Senator [Fred A. Risser; Dem., Madison] moved a call of the senate. [Display of roll call omitted; present-32, absent-0, with leave-1.]

Senator [Douglas La Follette; Dem., Kenosha] asked unanimous consent that his motion for reconsideration be withdrawn. Senator [James D. Swan; Rep., Elkhorn] objected.

[Point of order:]

Senator [Robert P. Knowles; Rep., New Richmond] raised the point of order that the rules provide that a senator can withdraw his motion any time, provided it is within the proper time limit.

The chair [Lieut. Gov. Martin J. Schreiber] ruled the point of order well taken.

Senator La Follette withdrew his motion for reconsideration.

Senator [Clifford W. Krueger; Rep., Merrill] moved reconsideration of the vote by which Assembly Bill 23 was concurred in.

Once the time for entering a motion for reconsideration has expired, the maker of the motion no longer has a right to withdraw the pending reconsideration motion (Assembly Journal 3/6/84, page 845), but withdrawing the motion may be permitted by unanimous consent (Assembly Journal 5/5/81, page 444). The rules of both houses agree this far. In addition, Senate Rule 67 (8) allows late withdrawal "by consent of or action by the senate".

Time for considering the motion. In the Senate, a motion for reconsideration is taken up immediately unless consideration is postponed or the motion is tabled. Tabled of the motion is only a temporary disposition; the motion may be taken from the table at any time by order of the Senate.

In 1978, Senate President pro tem. Risser used a point of order by the Majority Leader, Sen. William A. Bablitch (Dem., Stevens Point), to explain the Senate practice under a reconsideration motion (Senate Journal 3/7/78, page 1893). As a part of his written opinion, Sen. Risser expressed the hope that the result would be "a clearer understanding of proper reconsideration procedure", and reminded the Senate that "it is always helpful to remember that any kind of procedural strategy is allowed if the rules are suspended. Sometimes action which is obviously improper under the rules is questioned, but turns out to have been taken only as the result of a successful unanimous consent request.

On Tuesday, February 21, 1978, the Senate failed to concur in Assembly Bill 814 [relating to restrictions on volume discounts to retailers from wholesalers of malt beverages and liquors and providing a penalty]. At the conclusion of the day's session Senator [James T. Flynn; Dem., Milwaukee] moved to reconsider that vote. Senator Bablitch moved to table the reconsideration motion and raised a point of order relative to Senate rules and procedure on motions for reconsideration.

[The Senate rule] states: "A motion to reconsider shall be put immediately unless it is laid over to a future time by majority vote" [and] "The motion for reconsideration may be laid on the table without debate."

These rules set forth the three basic procedural alternatives available once a motion for reconsideration has been made. Each can be decided by majority vote any time after pending business or motions of higher precedence are disposed of.

- 1—Put the question immediately and vote the motion up or down....
- 2—Move to lay the reconsideration motion over to a future time (later on that day's calendar or to a future calendar)....
- 3—Move to lay the reconsideration motion on the table.... This motion, if successful, would have the effect of disposing of the reconsideration motion temporarily and the motion could be taken from the table at any time by majority vote.

Mason's Manual, sec. 472 (2) states that "when a motion to reconsider is laid on the table or postponed definitely, the question to be reconsidered and all adhering questions go with it." Senate Rule 41 (2) clearly prohibits referring a motion to reconsider to committee.

....A motion to reconsider is unusual in that the making of the motion has a higher rank than its consideration. Making a motion to reconsider is accorded a high priority by Senate Rule 67 (3) which states that "the motion for reconsideration .... shall be received under any order of business," and Mason's Manual sec. 92 (3) which lists the making of a reconsideration motion as one of the few circumstances under which a member may interrupt a speaker. Consideration of a motion to reconsider, however, must wait until pending business or motions of higher precedence are disposed of.

Mason's Manual sec. 469 (3) states that "when reconsideration is moved while another subject is before the house, it cannot interrupt the pending business".... Mason's sec. 465, suggests the following procedure when a motion to reconsider is made while other business is before the house: .... "the presiding officer repeats the motion (to reconsider) and it is recorded in the minutes, and the house proceeds to the business which was interrupted by the motion." Mason's sec. 469 (3) states that "as soon as (the pending) business has been disposed of, the reconsideration may be called up"....

Consideration of a motion to reconsider must also wait until motions of higher precedence are disposed of. Unfortunately our Senate rules do not specify which motions have a higher precedence. Sec. 469 (1) of Mason's Manual however, states that "consideration (of motions to reconsider) has only the rank of the motion to be reconsidered." Our rules do specify that "reconsideration of amendments .... shall have the same priority as to order of action as to amend under rule 63."

When consideration of the motion to reconsider does come before the body, either "immediately", at the future time to which it is laid over, or when it is taken off the table, Senate Rule 67 (1) states that "the motion for reconsideration shall be subject to all rules governing debate as apply to the question which it is moved to reconsider."

If a motion to reconsider is rejected, the original decision of the body is sustained. Senate Rule 67 [9] states that "such motion having been put and lost shall not be renewed." Mason's Manual sec. 457 (2) states that "to prevent abuse of the motion to reconsider, the same question cannot be reconsidered a second time."

If the motion to reconsider is adopted however, the vote on the question which has been reconsidered "is canceled as completely as though it had never been taken," [Mason's sec. 467 (1)] and "the question immediately recurs upon the question reconsidered." [Mason's sec. 467 (3)].

At this point the reconsidered question can be put, or other motions which are proper may be offered.

When the question reconsidered is passage or concurrence of a bill, a motion frequently offered at this point is reference to committee or tabling of the bill. Such motions are proper.

If the bill is referred to a standing committee or tabled, then the bill is also automatically returned to the 2nd reading or amendable stage.

When the bill is reported back out of committee the question is "shall the bill be ordered to a third reading," not "shall the bill pass" or "shall the bill be concurred in."

President Risser's quote from Mason's Manual of Legislative Procedure that, upon reconsideration, the prior vote is canceled and "the question immediately recurs upon the question reconsidered" means that the question of the reconsidered vote is again the question before the Senate. It does not follow that there has to be another vote on that question: any motion appropriate when the question was initially pending is again appropriate.

In the Assembly, reconsideration of the vote by which an Assembly proposal was passed or a Senate proposal was concurred in comes up at least 2 days after that decision, while any other reconsideration (engrossment of proposal, adoption or rejection of amendment) comes up when further consideration of the proposal is next scheduled (Assembly Journal 3/24/76, page 3598). When there are motions to reconsider both engrossment and the adoption of an amendment, the motions are taken up consecutively even if the motion to reconsider the amendment's adoption was entered on a later date (Assembly Journal 5/24/77, page 1976). The detail of the procedure is codified in the Assembly rules; note that in special or extraordinary sessions the Assembly takes up consideration of a reconsideration motion similar to the Senate procedure:

Assembly Rule 73. RECONSIDERING. (2)(b) For any decision other than passage or concurrence, the motion for reconsideration shall be considered when the proposal is next regularly scheduled for consideration.

(3)(a) ....Any motion to reconsider passage or concurrence shall be taken up immediately if the roll call day on which it is entered is already the 2nd or a later actual day following the vote on passage or concurrence, but consideration of any other motion for reconsideration of passage or concurrence, entered on the roll call day following the day on which the proposal was passed or concurred in, shall be laid over and placed on the calendar for the first legislative day which occurs at least 2 calendar days after the decision was made.

(b) On the final legislative day of the last scheduled floorperiod preceding the veto review session in any legislative biennium, any pending motion to reconsider shall be taken up on the 7th order of business on that day. Any motion to reconsider entered subsequently may be taken up at any time on such day by majority vote.

(4)(a) A motion to reconsider the decision on an amendment shall be placed on the same calendar as the motion to reconsider the final 2nd reading stage decision on the proposal to which the amendment relates, regardless of when made. The failure of any printed calendar to show any such motion to reconsider a decision on an amendment shall not prevent the consideration of such motion under the proper order of business on that calendar day.

(b) Reconsideration of decisions on amendments shall follow the sequence in rule 55 for consideration of amendments.

(c) No motion to reconsider a decision on any amendment shall be considered unless the final decision on the proposal at the end of the 2nd reading stage is reconsidered, returning the proposal to the amendable stage.

Assembly Rule 93. SPECIAL AND EXTRAORDINARY SESSIONS. (6) All motions to reconsider shall be taken up immediately unless a different time is set by majority vote for a specific motion to reconsider.

The proper time for considering a motion for reconsideration became an issue in 1984. On Tuesday, 3/13/84, the Assembly concurred (with amendments) in Senate Substitute Amendment 1 to 1983 Assembly Bill 200, "relating to establishing a system of marital property shared by husband and wife and providing penalties". On Wednesday, 3/14/84, a motion was entered to reconsider that vote of concurrence. On Thursday, 3/15/84, the point of order was raised that this motion for reconsideration should be scheduled for consideration on the calendar for Friday, 3/16/84 (Assembly Journal 3/15/84, page 963). Speaker Thomas A. Loftus (Dem., Sun Prairie) was able to point to the Assembly rule to show that the reconsideration motion was properly scheduled for the second day after concurrence:

Representative T. Thompson rose to the point of order that Assembly Bill 200 was not properly before the assembly under Assembly Rule 73, and should be on the calendar of Friday, March 16 rather than the calendar of Thursday, March 15.

The speaker took the point of order under advisement.

The speaker ruled that Assembly Bill 200 was properly placed on the calendar of Thursday, March 15 under Assembly Rule 73 (3)(a) because the "decision" on concurrence in senate substitute amendment 1, which in effect was concurrence in the bill, was made on Tuesday, March 13. The speaker ruled the point of order not well taken.

When an Assembly bill has been amended in the Senate and is before the Assembly for concurrence in the Senate amendment, the Assembly's vote is a further "concurrence" bringing the proposal closer to its final passage. This concurrence vote is no different from an Assembly vote to concur in a Senate proposal. It is the last step to be taken by the Assembly at that stage; barring a motion for reconsideration, there is no further action to be taken by the Assembly. Any motion to reconsider the vote by which the Assembly concurs in a Senate amendment to a proposal or amendment originating in the Assembly is a vote to reconsider "concurrence" within the meaning of Assembly Rule 73 (3)(a), and must be placed on the calendar for the first legislative day which occurs at least 2 calendar days after the decision was made. Since the Assembly's decision to concur in Senate Substitute Amendment 1 to 1983 Assembly Bill 200 was made on 3/13/84, the motion to reconsider that vote had to be placed on the calendar for Thursday, 3/15/1984.

When an Assembly motion to reconsider concerns any action other than passage or concurrence, consideration of the motion comes up when the proposal is next regularly scheduled for consideration (Assembly Journal 4/25/85, pages 118-119):

Representative T. Thompson [the minority leader] rose to the point of order that, under Assembly Rule 73, [1985] Senate Bill 76 [relating to various changes in the unemployment compensation law, providing for a study, granting rule-making authority and making appropriations] should not be before the assembly, but should instead be on the calendar of Monday, April 29, because a motion to reconsider the vote by which Senate Bill 76 was ordered to a third reading was offered by Representative [David E. Paulson; Rep., Amery] today.

The speaker took the point of order under advisement.

The speaker [Loftus] ruled the point of order raised by Representative T. Thompson not well taken because Senate Bill 76 was properly before the assembly under Assembly Rule 73 (2)(b). The speaker ruled that, pursuant to Assembly Rule 46 (5), Senate Bill 76, which was ordered to a third reading on Tuesday, April 23, was appropriately placed on the printed calendar of Thursday, April 25 under the eleventh order of business (third reading of senate bills). The speaker further ruled that a subsequent motion for reconsideration did not delay consideration of the bill beyond the time when it is "next regularly scheduled for consideration", but only served to put the question of reconsideration before the assembly.

Conference procedures

Unlike most other states and the U.S. Congress, the Wisconsin Legislature seldom has to appoint a conference committee to resolve the remaining differences when both houses adopt different versions of the same proposal. The reason is, of course, the well-accepted use of consecutive amendments between the houses, widening the area of agreement and reducing the dispute with each successive step.

The 5 Wisconsin Legislatures from 1975-76 through 1983-84 considered 10,306 bills and enacted 2,189 laws. During that entire 10-year period, only 55 conference committees were appointed to consider bills (see table). Each conference committee considered a single bill. Of the 55 bills considered by conference committees, 45 became law. For 3 of the bills, both houses approved the report of the conference committee but the proposals were vetoed by the Governor (one veto was not even taken up; the other 2 were sustained). In 3 cases, although the conference committees each submitted a report, the reports were not approved by the Assembly although 2 had been approved by the Senate. Only 4 conference committees failed to submit a report; of these, one had been appointed in the 1975-76 Regular Session and ran out of time but its recommendations became the basis for the revision of the open meetings law enacted in the June 1976 Special Session (Chapter 426, Laws of 1975).

The same 5 Legislatures also considered 1,070 joint resolutions. Of those agreed to by both houses, 261 were enrolled and published in the session laws. Only 2 joint resolutions (both proposed constitutional amendments) went to conference committees (see table).

Although the enactment of the biennial budget is usually the most controversial issue facing the Wisconsin Legislature, during the entire 10-year period only the budget bill of 1973, the budget review bill of 1974 and one of the 1981 budget adjustment bills went to conference committee. For all other budget, budget review and budget adjustment bills, the 5 Legislatures, using consecutive amendments between the houses, were able to reduce the remaining differences until both houses had agreed on one common version.

In most cases, conference committees of the Wisconsin Legislature are appointed under Joint Rule 3, which was last reenacted by the 1979 Legislature. Such committees consist of 3 members from each house. Occasionally, the Legislature has established a conference committee by passing a joint resolution setting aside parts of the rule to permit the appointment of additional members or to specify the political composition of the delegation from each house.

Sometimes, conferees have been appointed by one house immediately following a vote to nonconcur in an amendment received from the other house, even though the other house may still recede from its position on the amendment. More frequently, conferees are appointed only after the house originating the disputed amendment votes to adhere. This was the procedure followed in passing 1984 Assembly Bill 401, "relating to vocational rehabilitation of handicapped persons".... The Assembly nonconcurred in Senate Amendment 2; the Senate adhered to its position and appointed conferees; the Assembly, by voting to recede from its earlier position, in fact concurred in the amendment. With that action, a conference was no longer needed: both houses had agreed on all particulars of the proposal and the bill was on its way to the Governor (1983 WisAct 435).

Usually, the conference delegates appointed by each house have voted for the position of that house on every roll call. Jefferson's Manual, Section XXVI [26-b], is often cited to support the contention that a member who supports the bill may be appointed to the conference committee even if that member has disagreed with the house position on some particular, and Section XLV [45-d] is cited as limiting the scope of the conference:

[26-b] Those who take exceptions to some particulars in the bill are to be of the committee, but none who speak directly against the body of the bill; for he that would totally destroy will not amend it; or, as is said, the child is not to be put to a nurse that cares not for it....

[45-d] ....it is unparliamentary to strike out, at a conference, anything in a bill which hath been agreed and passed by both Houses.

However, the text of Joint Rule 3 (1) is more an example of how a conference committee might proceed than it is a rule restricting the committee's authority to negotiate:

The joint committee shall, at a convenient hour agreed upon, meet and state to each other, verbally or in writing, the reason of their respective houses for or against the disagreement, and confer thereon, and shall report to their respective houses such agreement as they may arrive at, if any, by the vote of at least 2 of the members of the committee representing each house.

Trying to resolve the differences between the houses by a conference is a measure of last resort: as long as it is possible to come closer to agreement by amending an amendment received from the other house within the confines of the rules of germaneness, that will be the preferred approach. Consequently, the conference often must take a fresh look at the problem and, Jefferson notwithstanding, delete a part of the text already agreed to by both houses in order to develop a different solution.

When the conferees have reached agreement, they submit a report reciting the action required in each house to return the proposal to the stage at which the compromise solution can be added. Attached to the report may be an amendment or substitute amendment which sets forth language changes required in the proposal to implement the compromise.

Joint Rule 3 (2) When the conference committee has reached agreement the report shall be first presented, if a senate bill or joint resolution, to the assembly and, if an assembly bill or joint resolution, to the senate. The vote by each house on the conference report constitutes final action on the proposal.

(3) Approval of the conference report by a roll call vote in each house sufficient to constitute final passage of the proposal shall be final passage of the bill or joint resolution in the form and with the changes proposed by the report.

When a conference report is before the house, the question is approval or rejection of the report and that single vote carries with it any amendment or substitute amendment attached to the report. Since there is no separate vote on the legislation submitted with the conference report, such legislation is never directly before the house and its germaneness cannot be challenged by a point of order. By adopting the report, the legislature approves the manner in which the conference committee has used its authority (Senate Journal 4/6/84, page 874):

The question was: Adoption of the Committee of Conference Report [on Assembly Bill 706, relating to the financial assistance program for septic tank replacement and rehabilitation]?

Senator Lee raised the point of order that the Committee of Conference Report was not germane.

The chair [Pres. Risser] ruled the point of order not well taken.

The legislation attached to the conference report included provisions dealing with the mound system permit program administered by the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations. Had this been a regular substitute amendment, it might have been held a nongermane expansion of the scope of the proposal which was limited to the septic tank program administered by the Department of Natural Resources. Since only the conference report was before the Senate, President Risser had to rule that the chair could not reach the substitute, but that the Senate's vote on the report would decide the issue. The Senate adopted the conference report 27 to 5.

The situation was different in the case of the revision of the right to bail considered in the June 1980 Special Session, when Assembly Minority Leader John Shabaz and Speaker Ed Jackamonis both agreed that the version submitted by the conference committee and already approved by the Senate violated the constitutional restriction that the business of the special session may not exceed the "special purposes" (Art. IV, Sec. 11, Wis. Const.) for which the session was convened (Assembly Journal 6/25/80, page 3649). Governor Dreyfus issued a supplementary call and the conference committee's proposal, reintroduced as a new joint resolution complying with the call as expanded, was passed.

When the joint rule says that the "vote by each house on the conference report constitutes final action on the proposal", it really means only positive action. Approval of the conference report by the first house returns the bill to the house of origin. Approval of the conference report by the house of bill origin sends the bill to the Legislative Reference Bureau for enrolling. On the other hand, rejection of a conference report does not have to be final action. The rejection could be reconsidered (see Assembly Rule 73 (1)(b)).

Vetoes and Veto Review

Even after a bill has been agreed to by both houses of the Legislature, it is not a law. The bill must be either approved by the Governor (an unsigned bill can become law if the Governor fails to act within the prescribed time and the Legislature is still in session) or, having been vetoed, passed by a two-thirds vote of each house over the Governor's veto.

[Article V, Section 10] ....If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within six days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Gubernatorial review

The 6-day period starts from the delivery of the enrolled bill to the Office of the Governor and not, as is the case in some other jurisdictions, from the date of final legislative concurrence in the proposal. By tradition, the Chief Clerk of each house presents enrolled bills to the executive office as requested by the Governor. In recent years, the Legislature's biennial "session schedules" have imposed deadlines for bill presentation. Under the schedule governing the 1985-86 biennium, enacted by 1985 Assembly Joint Resolution 1, such deadlines are: August 30, 1985, for bills passed to August 9; November 15, 1985 (to 11/8/85); April 25, 1986 (to 4/18/86); and June 6, 1986 (to 5/30/86).

Under the Wisconsin Constitution, the Governor has "six days (Sundays excepted)" to return a vetoed bill with his objections while the Legislature is in session. A 1949 ruling by Lieut. Gov. George M. Smith as president of the Senate concerned that time limit and remains important today. A bill had been presented to the Governor's Office at 1:30 p.m. on one Friday and was returned to the Senate with the Governor's objections at 3:55 p.m. on the next Friday. There was a point of order that this exceeded the 6-day (Sundays excepted) limit. Lieutenant Governor Smith, citing a 1912 opinion of the Wisconsin Attorney General and Corpus Juris, ruled that, where a certain number of days is prescribed, "such days are to be computed by excluding the day on which the bill was received and including the last day" (Senate Journal 7/7/49, page 1669). Consequently, the entire calendar day of the 6-day period's last day was a part of the time limit, and the bill was validly returned.

In 1977, after Governor Patrick J. Lucey had signed the budget bill (Senate Bill 77; Chapter 29, Laws of 1977) but before the written objections supporting his partial vetoes were deposited in the Senate and before the 6-day limit had expired, it was discovered that the official copy of the bill showed as vetoed a part of the bill which the Governor had not intended to veto. At the time, the full text of each new law had to be published in the Wisconsin State Journal (the unintended veto had already been typeset for printing). Governor Lucey was out of town but flew back to Madison and again signed the affected part, changing the notation from "vetoed in part" to "not vetoed". The part not vetoed was separately published with the appropriate legal notice by Secretary of State Douglas J. La Follette on page 2 of section 1 of the Wisconsin State Journal of June 29, 1977, together with a news story explaining the mix-up. The same text earlier typeset as vetoed remained on page 15 of the newspaper's budget publication supplement but was overprinted with the notation "not vetoed". The revision remained unchallenged and, consequently, page 205 of the bound 1977 Session Laws displays "SECTION 799g" without any notation.

On the other hand, once the Governor has delivered his written objections supporting a partial veto to the house in which the bill originated, by that delivery the Governor has "put the bill beyond his own reach" and is "no longer in a position to reconsider or revise his previous partial approval and partial disapproval of the bill. The Governor by the delivery and by his own statement to the Legislature terminated his time for deliberation on the bill" (Klecicka, at page 701).

It has even been held that errors in a Governor's written objections, discovered after their deposit in the bill's house of origin, are beyond the Governor's reach to correct. The 1981 message by Governor Lee Sherman Dreyfus, objecting to parts of the budget bill, was said to contain "at least 140 SECTIONS of the bill purportedly vetoed but not referenced in the message, objections which are irrelevant to the SECTIONS cited, typographical errors in the list of SECTIONS cited in many items and miscellaneous other problems" (Assembly Journal 9/25/81, page 1008). Speaker Ed Jackamonis asked Attorney General Bronson La Follette to advise him on the effect of these discrepancies. The Attorney General agreed that there were many problems and, in his formal opinion, advised that a Governor's veto message cannot be changed after it has been deposited in the bill's house of origin (70 Wis. O.A.G. 189):

....In some cases sections were listed as vetoed in the Governor's message which were not marked as vetoed on the Act deposited with the Secretary of State. In other cases sections were marked on the Act as having been vetoed which were not mentioned in the Governor's message to the Legislature. On or about August 4, 1981, the Governor submitted an amended message to the Legislature seeking to correct or clarify many of the errors or omissions of the original message.

The Governor's attempt to correct or clarify with an amended message in my opinion is completely ineffective. Not only had the Governor put the bill beyond his reach with the first message and deposit with the Secretary of State, but the six-day limitation for veto action imposed by the Constitution had also run.

In 1974, Governor Lucey allowed 1973 Senate Bill 338, "relating to exemptions from civil liability for refusal to perform abortions", to become law without his signature. The Senate Chief Clerk noted in the journal (Senate Journal 1/21/74, page 2001) that the bill was: "Deposited in the office of the Secretary of State pursuant to Article V, Section 10 of the Constitution, on Monday, January 21, 1974. Chapter No. 159" (Laws of 1973).

In returning the unsigned bill to the Senate, Governor Lucey had taken the unusual step of providing a written statement of his reasons (Senate Journal, page 1999):

The issues raised by Senate Bill 338 include some of the most deeply-felt and strongly argued moral and political questions of our time .... I personally believe abortion to be morally wrong. As Governor of Wisconsin, however, I recognize that many citizens of this State do not share this viewpoint, and that the Supreme Court has confirmed the constitutionality of their position.

....The legal and health care policy questions raised by this bill caused me to seriously consider its veto. I decided against this course of action only after becoming convinced that a veto would not eliminate existing hospital restrictions against abortion or sterilization nor prevent the adoption of such prohibitions by additional health care institutions. The bill merely permits, but does not require such prohibitions. Thus, the validity of such prohibitions — whether or not adopted under the provisions of Senate Bill 338 — becomes a question for the courts. But because of the serious reservations I have about the legality and wisdom of certain parts of this bill, I have withheld my formal approval of the measure.

Respectfully submitted,
PATRICK J. LUCEY
Governor

January 21, 1974, was a day on which the Legislature was in one of its committee work periods. Floorperiod IV, scheduled by 1973 Enrolled Joint Resolution 4, would begin on January 29. There had not been a final (sine die) adjournment of the Legislature. Although the Constitution still provides for a "pocket veto" when the Legislature, by final adjournment, prevents the return of the bill from the Governor's office to the house of origin, it is unlikely that a pocket veto can ever occur. Since 1961, each Wisconsin Legislature has conducted scheduled sessions and committee periods throughout the entire 24-month period of the biennium.

Most enrolled bills presented to the Governor for approval are signed into law. Usually, there is a signing ceremony attended by the press, the principal sponsors of the proposal and other persons interested in the new law.

The partial veto

Another method of becoming law applies only to appropriation bills. The Governor can approve an appropriation bill in part, and the part approved becomes a law. The Governor's written objections to the remainder are returned to the house in which the bill originated, for consideration by the Legislature.

It is often said that a Wisconsin Governor, in approving an appropriation bill in part, has exercised an "item veto" power. That designation implies that appropriation bills consist of distinguishable items and that, in approving the bill in part, the Governor has vetoed one or more of such items. Sometimes, the claim is made that an item of an appropriation bill consists of a dollar amount appropriated in the bill and includes the conditions, if any, imposed upon the expenditure of that amount. While all of this may be true in many states, it does not apply under the Wisconsin Constitution.

The absence of any reference to "item" in the veto provision of the Wisconsin Constitution is of great significance. In the neighboring state of Iowa, for instance, the constitution was amended in 1967 to include the phrasing (Art. III, Sec. 16) that:

The governor may approve appropriation bills in whole or in part and may disapprove any item of an appropriation bill; and the part approved shall become a law. Any item of an appropriation bill disapproved by the governor shall be returned .... Any such item of an appropriation bill may be enacted into law notwithstanding the governor's objections, in the same manner as provided for other bills.

In Rush v. Ray, 362 N.W.2d 479 (Iowa 1985), the Supreme Court of the State of Iowa distinguished "items, which are subject to veto, from provisos or conditions inseparably connected to an appropriation, which are not subject to veto". Referring to other decisions, the Iowa court explained that an "item" is "something that may be taken out of a bill without affecting its other purposes and provisions. It is something that can be lifted bodily from it rather than cut out. No damage can be done to the surrounding legislative tissue, nor should any scar tissue result therefrom" (at page 481).

In Wisconsin, the constitutional power to approve an appropriation bill in "part" was granted to the Governor by a constitutional amendment, proposed and agreed to by the Legislatures of 1927 (Senate Joint Resolution 35) and 1929 (Senate Joint Resolution 40), which was ratified by the people in the general election of November 1930. Although a footnote in the 1931 Wisconsin Blue Book (page 583) says that the new power "allows the Governor to veto single items in appropriation bills", the official certificate by the Secretary of State published in the 1931 Session Laws (page 960) to record the amendment's ratification does not mention an "item" veto but refers to the amendment as relating "to approval by the Governor of appropriation bills in part".

[Art. V, Wis. Const., as amended Nov. 1930] Governor to approve or veto bills; proceedings on veto. SECTION 10. Every bill which shall have passed the legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon the journal and proceed to reconsider it. Appropriation bills may be approved in whole or in part by the governor, and the part approved shall become law, and the part objected to shall be returned in the same manner as provided for other bills. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members present shall agree to pass the bill, or the part of the bill objected to, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for or against the bill or the part of the bill objected to, shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within six days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

The Wisconsin Governor's power to approve appropriation bills in part has been construed in 5 major cases decided by the Wisconsin Supreme Court: State ex rel. Wisconsin Telephone Co. v. Henry, 218 Wis. 302 (1935); State ex rel. Finnegan v. Dammann, 220 Wis. 143 (1936); State ex rel. Martin v. Zimmerman, 233 Wis. 442 (1940); State ex rel. Sundby v. Adamany, 71 Wis.2d 118 (1976); and State ex rel. Kleczka v. Conta, 82 Wis.2d 679 (1978).

In Henry, the court held that the Governor's power to disassemble legislation by the partial veto was as broad as the Legislature's power initially to join the legislation into a single bill. Finnegan emphasized that the bill upon which the partial veto power is exercised must contain an appropriation within its 4 corners, rather than merely affecting another law which contains an appropriation. In Martin, the court made it clear that: 1) the partial veto power may be used to veto any part of an appropriation bill even if the part vetoed is not an appropriation; and 2) the part of an appropriation bill surviving a Governor's partial veto must be an enactment which could have been passed initially by the Legislature in the valid exercise of its law-making power and is a complete and workable law. In Sundby, the court recognized that any partial veto will affect or change the policy set forth by the Legislature in the enrolled bill. In Kleczka, the court set aside as "dicta" (a statement construing a legal point not at issue in the case) any implication in the earlier cases that a legislative proviso or condition on an appropriation was inseverable from the appropriation and subject to partial veto only when the appropriation itself was vetoed.

The Kleczka case concerned 1977 Assembly Bill 664, "relating to campaign financing, creating an election campaign fund, granting rule-making authority, making appropriations and providing penalties". The part of the bill approved by the Governor became Chapter 107, Laws of 1977. The enrolled bill appropriated to the election campaign fund any moneys raised from a $1 voluntary add-on to a taxpayer's liability under the state's individual income tax. The partial veto by Governor Martin J. Schreiber had the effect of replacing this voluntary add-on with an election by the taxpayer to direct that the $1 be paid from tax revenues in the state's general fund. In presenting the case, it had been argued that funding by voluntary, add-on, contributions was a proviso or condition upon which the appropriation depended, and that such a proviso or condition was inseverable from the appropriation itself.

Here is how the Wisconsin Supreme court, in the Kleczka case, summarized the partial veto power granted by Article V, Section 10, of the Wisconsin Constitution (pages 704 to 715):

...the Legislature cannot, by a statement incorporated in the legislation, frustrate the Governor's partial-veto power by declaring that certain portions of a bill are inseverable....

Severability is indeed the test of the Governor's constitutional authority to partially veto a bill, but the test of severability is that established by the Wisconsin court and not by courts which operate under a different constitution....

We conclude that the test of severability has clearly and repeatedly been stated by this court to be simply that what remains be a complete and workable law. The power of the Governor to disassemble the law is coextensive with the power of the Legislature to assemble its provisions initially ... because the Governor's power to veto is coextensive with the Legislature's power to enact laws initially, a Governor's partial veto may, and usually will, change the policy of the law....

No provision of art. V, sec. 10, of the Constitution limits the Governor's authority to veto appropriations because of any legislatively imposed conditions.... Under the Wisconsin Constitution, the Governor may exercise his partial-veto power by removing provisos and conditions to an appropriation so long as the net result of the partial veto is a complete, entire, and workable bill which the Legislature itself could have passed in the first instance.

Legislative veto consideration

Any bill vetoed by the Governor is returned to the house of origin with the Governor's written objections, and any appropriation bill vetoed in part is deposited in the office of the Secretary of State but the Governor's written objections are delivered to the bill's house of origin. The Constitution says that the Legislature "shall proceed to reconsider" the vetoed bill or part of a bill. This does not mean that floor consideration of the veto is necessarily priority business.

For most vetoes, consideration is held over to the "veto review" session. The veto review session is the final floorperiod scheduled for the even-numbered years and its business is limited to the consideration of vetoes and correction or revision bills prepared by the Revisor of Statutes. For some vetoed bills, the veto is allowed to stand by not scheduling it for a vote. For some important bills, veto review action is scheduled immediately. When Governor Lucey resigned in the summer of 1977 to assume the post of U.S. Ambassador to Mexico, he convened a special session for June 30 "solely for the purpose of considering and acting upon the partial vetoes of 1977 Senate Bill 77", the state budget for the 1977-79 fiscal biennium beginning on July 1, 1977.

It takes two-thirds of the members present (and constituting a quorum) in each house to pass a vetoed bill "notwithstanding the Governor's objections". In both houses, the rules prohibit reconsideration of house action on a veto (Senate Rule 67 (7); Assembly Rule 73 (1)). In both houses, consideration of vetoes appears on a daily calendar under the "housekeeping" orders of business which must be completed on each legislative day before regular "2nd reading" and "3rd reading" business can be taken up.

In the Senate, veto messages received from the Governor are placed in the Committee on Senate Organization for calendar scheduling (Senate Rule 18 (1)) but may not be referred to any other committee (Senate Rule 41 (2)). The prohibition against committee referral of vetoes first appeared in the Senate rules of 1955.

In the Assembly, a partial veto of 1977 Senate Bill 111, relating to "taxation of metalliferous mining" (etc.), was referred to the Committee on Revenue on September 30, 1977, on the unanimous consent request by Rep. Marlin D. Schneider (Dem., Wisconsin Rapids). This may have been the first veto ever referred to a standing committee. The referral offered an opportunity of obtaining better information concerning the issues raised by the partial veto and the consequences of a possible veto override. The Committee on Revenue reviewed the matter and, by a vote of 7 to 5, recommended that the partial veto concerning "net proceeds tax rates" be passed notwithstanding the objections of the Governor (Assembly Journal 1/18/78, page 2672).

Veto referral to standing committees was incorporated into the Assembly rules in 1979 (Assembly Resolution 7) and, from the beginning, the Committee on Rules was permitted to schedule Assembly review of a veto even if the standing committee had not submitted a report. In the 1981 Session, the veto review procedure was further refined by Assembly Resolution 21.

Assembly Rule 24. COMMITTEE ON RULES. (5) Any veto referred to committee may be referred by the committee on rules to a calendar of a regularly scheduled floorperiod or veto review session.

Assembly Rule 44. VETOES. (1) Upon the receipt of a message from the governor that an assembly proposal has been vetoed in whole or in part, or of a senate message that the senate has passed a vetoed senate proposal or senate proposal vetoed in part, the speaker shall refer the veto to the calendar for the 2nd legislative day thereafter, or to the committee on rules for calendar scheduling, or to a standing committee for review and report.

(2) Notwithstanding the referral of a veto to a standing committee, the committee on rules may schedule the veto for assembly action. When so scheduled, the veto shall be before the assembly and may be passed notwithstanding the objections of the governor even if the standing committee has not submitted its report.

Assembly Rule 80. DIVISION OF THE QUESTION. (5) When a bill has been vetoed in part and the assembly considers a specific item for passage notwithstanding the objections of the governor, any member may request that the item be divided. The item may be divided on request by a member if:

(a) The request proposes to so divide the item that each separate proposition, if passed notwithstanding the objections of the governor, will result in a complete and workable law regardless of the action taken on any other part of the original item.

(b) It is the opinion of the chair that the item involves distinct and independent propositions capable of division and that the division will not be unduly complex.

(6) When a bill has been vetoed in part the committee on rules may .... propose to schedule a specific item as a special order. When appropriate, the resolution may divide the item into one or more independent propositions and dependent propositions. The proposed division must include at least one separate proposition which, if passed notwithstanding the objections of the governor, will result in a complete and workable law regardless of the action taken on any other part of the original item. The chair shall first put the question on any such independent proposition. The question on any proposition dependent thereon shall be put only if the independent proposition has been passed notwithstanding the objections of the governor.

The Legislature cannot amend — in the sense of adding new text or removing text previously agreed to by both houses — a bill vetoed by the Governor or returned by the Governor approved in part and vetoed in part. If a further change seems appropriate, it must be enacted by an additional law. The proposal to make the further change is called a "trailer bill". If an entire bill was vetoed, the bill must fall, or be enacted notwithstanding the Governor's objections, as previously enrolled.

If the Governor approves a bill in part and returns the remainder with his written objections, the part approved has already become law. Again, the Legislature cannot, for the part or parts objected to by the Governor, use amendments to add new text or remove text previously agreed to by both houses. However, while it is not possible to amend the vetoed parts, it is permitted to divide the question so as to sustain the Governor's objections on one half of the part vetoed while overriding the Governor on the other half. This derives from the principle, enunciated in the Sundby case and reaffirmed in the Kleczka case, that the "power of the Governor to disassemble the law is coextensive with the power of the Legislature to assemble its provisions initially".

For each bill vetoed or vetoed in part, the Governor's written objections are printed, in full, in the journal of the house in which the vetoed bill originated. Each veto message is printed in the journal for the day on which the message is received. In 1953, the Legislative Reference Bureau began the practice of publishing a consolidated veto review bulletin containing all veto messages; since 1977, these bulletins have contained not only the text of the Governor's written objections but also a replica of the bill sections affected by each objection (for each partial veto, the 1981 bulletin on Assembly Bill 66, the budget bill, also contained the Speaker's referral and the Legislative Fiscal Bureau analysis of the veto's effect).

For bills vetoed in part the practice developed, over the years, to identify by a unique number each issue separately headlined in the Governor's written objections. Sometimes, the pieces so identified have been referred to as "items" although "parts" would have been a better designation under the Wisconsin Constitution. The Assembly had assigned such numbers to facilitate the review of Governor Lucey's 40 objections to 1975 Assembly Bill 222 (budget act). One of the objections, headlined "state aids for 51.42/437 boards", was internally structured into 5 paragraphs, of which the first 3 dealt with state aids for inpatient care and the last 2 with chronically mentally ill patients.

In voting on the objection, the Assembly took separate votes on "Item no. 14, part 1" and "Item no. 14, part 2" and passed both parts (Assembly Journal 9/17/75, page 1873). In the Senate, the Governor's objections were sustained on "Part 1 of section 417L" but were overruled on "Part 2 of section 417L" (Senate Journal 9/23/75, page 1357). This may have been the first example of the Legislature's use of its coextensive power to disassemble the Governor's written objections to a bill vetoed in part.

The 1977 review of the 1977 budget bill (Senate Bill 77), resulted in 3 split overrides. For 2, identified in the bill history as "Item I-D (part one)" and "Item V-D (part one)", there had been a simple division while the first half of the 3rd split was divided a second time: only "Item VI-C (part one of part 2)" became law notwithstanding the Governor's objections.

With the 1981 creation of Assembly Rule 80 (5), permitting a further division of the Governor's partial vetoes became part of the codified procedures of the Legislature. In 1983 Representative Tom Loftus, the Speaker, "requested a division of vetoed Item 2-J of Senate Bill 83", the budget act (Assembly Journal 7/13/83, page 301). The request was granted and "2-J" was divided so that the first part comprised those pieces of the Governor's objections which had the effect of making the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board advisory to the Department of Health and Social Services, and the second part dealt with the funding for the program and the duties of the board:

Part 1: Sections 41s, 43s, 1001s [only 48.982 (1)(b)], 2057 (8), 2201 (20)(j), 2201 (32)(h), 2201 (42)(f)

Part 2: Sections 121, 317s, 643c, balance of 1001s, 1167m, 2057 (9)

In the enrolled bill, both houses of the Legislature had agreed to make the board a semi-independent unit attached to the Department of Administration for administrative purposes. To effectuate a reallocation of the board to the Department of Health and Social Services, Governor Earl had contracted the numerical designation of a statute from "15.105 (16)" to "15.11", and had extracted some phrases from adjoining paragraphs to compose an abridged statute text. That much single-digit and partial-phrase vetoing apparently did not offend the Assembly: 92 representatives voted to sustain the veto.

On the second part (funding and duties) of Item 2-J, 94 representatives voted to override and only 4 voted to sustain, so that the parts identified by the Speaker became law. In the volumes of the session laws published by the Secretary of State (Laws of Wisconsin 1983), each of the pieces identified in the second part of the Speaker's request carried the notation "partial veto overruled": see pages 135, 179, 225, 309 to 311, 367 and 597.

Too much veto creativity?

In another partial veto of 1983 Senate Bill 83, the veto pen's recombinant creative writing attempted to go even further. This was Item 3-K, entitled: "waste flow control — PSC role", in which single letters, from unrelated words, were saved to create new words intended to have the force of law. As vetoed, the sentence would have ended with the words "determination under ch. 68."

To achieve this result, the partial veto proposed to reduce a paragraph, consisting of 121 words organized into 5 sentences, into a one-sentence paragraph of 22 words. The largest portion was a 19-word phrase saved from the beginning of the first sentence. Sentences 2 and 3 were vetoed in their entirety. From the 4th sentence, only the word "under" was saved. From the 5th sentence, one letter each was saved from 2 different words; a period and 2 numerals were saved from a statute reference, and the concluding period was saved to end the intended sentence. As shown below, words and letters vetoed are in plain type, while those which the veto meant to enact into law are in bold face type:

[144.794 (9)(b)] Any person adversely affected by the municipality's determination concerning best public interest under sub. (8) may appeal the determination to the commission. The commission shall investigate the matter and if there appears grounds for the appeal, the commission shall conduct a review hearing after at least 10 days' notice to the person and the municipality. After the review hearing, the commission shall issue a decision on the validity of the municipal determination concerning best public interest. In issuing this decision, the commission shall decide if there is sufficient evidence on the record to support the municipal determination under sub. (8). The commission shall bill any expense attributable to investigations and proceedings under this paragraph to the municipality under s. 196.85 (1).

Speaker Thomas A. Loftus, in an address to the Wisconsin Political Science Association on the campus of UW-Platteville on October 12, 1984, provided the following account of the Legislature's reaction to Item 3-K:

....Governor Earl vetoed procedures for PSC review of municipal recycling decisions, modifying the right to appeal PSC decisions by dropping most of a paragraph except the word "under", two letters from other words, and two digits and a decimal point, to create an entirely new legal reference.

Those of us in the Legislature were quite angry at the time over this abuse of the partial veto authority.

Here we had a situation where the Governor kept words and numbers from eight different lines of otherwise vetoed language to create a new law.

During our Democratic caucus on the day when we were considering these item vetoes I had suggested, although somewhat facetiously, to carry this abuse one step further.... if the Governor's power to partially veto is coextensive with the Legislature's power to enact policy initially, then it must also be held that the Legislature's power to override these vetoes is coextensive with the Governor's power to veto initially.

At least, that's how the logic goes.... my proposal was to partially override the partial veto, leaving letters that would form the sentence:

"THE VETO OF PARTS OF WORDS IS A TRAVESTY."

It was my plan to partially override the partial veto, and then to override the rest of the veto on the next motion. Once on the Assembly floor, however, I stopped short of making the motions. Two wrongs don't make a right.

So as to be able to participate in the veto debate, Speaker Loftus had relinquished the podium to the Speaker pro tempore, Representative David Clarenbach. Now, as Representative Loftus, the Speaker moved the conventional question: "Shall vetoed Item 3-K be passed notwithstanding the objections of the Governor?" The Assembly responded with an unconventional, unanimous and bipartisan vote: all 95 members present voted to override the veto.

Reporting the incident for the Milwaukee Journal, Charles E. Friederich commented on the next day that the Legislature had:

....sent Earl and future Governors a message: Don't go too far in rewriting what the Legislature has written....

Aides of Earl said the Governor had received the message sent by the lawmakers, and understands it.

"The Legislature has clearly expressed itself on this," said Harold Bergan, Earl's chief policy aide. "It [the pick-a-letter veto] is not something that we will undertake again very soon."

Laws Must Be Published

Once a bill becomes a law it is outside the legislative arena and, consequently, beyond the reach of the rules and rulings discussed in this article. Still, our discussion would be incomplete without an epilogue to review what comes next: under Article IV, Section 17, of the Wisconsin Constitution, each new law must be published before it becomes effective:

ENACTMENT OF LAWS. (1) The style of all laws of the state shall be "The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:".

(2) No law shall be enacted except by bill. No law shall be in force until published.

(3) The legislature shall provide by law for the speedy publication of all laws.

Any bill which becomes a law is assigned an act number. The acts, whether enacted in regular or special session, are numbered into a single consecutive sequence beginning with the number "1" for each legislative biennium. Section 35.095 (2)(a) of the statutes provides:

....An act enacted by the governor's approval shall be numbered by the governor at the time of approval. An act enacted either by passage over the governor's veto or by the governor's failure to act upon it within the time limit shall be numbered immediately by the chief clerk of the house of origin.

If an entire vetoed bill becomes law by the requisite two-thirds votes of the 2 houses, it is assigned its own act number. The most recent examples occurred in 1982 when the 1981 Legislature overruled 2 vetoes by Governor Dreyfus: 1981 Assembly Bill 816 (relating to the establishment or relocation of motor vehicle dealerships and providing a penalty) became Chapter 382, and Assembly Bill 1086 (relating to covering equipment and supplies for treatment of diabetes under the state health insurance plan) became Chapter 381, Laws of 1981.

If an appropriation bill has been approved in part and vetoed in part, the part approved has already been assigned an act number when the partial vetoes are reviewed. Any part of the appropriation bill enacted into law notwithstanding the Governor's objections supplements that same act (it is not assigned a separate act number).

The act, with the number assigned, is deposited in the Office of the Secretary of State. The next step is publication. By contract, a newspaper of general circulation is used to publish the official notices of the State of Wisconsin, including the Secretary of State's notices that copies of a new law are available in the Legislative Document Room in the State Capitol. Beginning on May 25, 1984, the state's official notices have been published in the Milwaukee Sentinel under a contract awarded, after public bidding, by the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization. Before that date, Madison's Wisconsin State Journal had been used as the official paper for many years.

Technology has had an impact on the publication of laws. The Wisconsin statutes were first translated into machine-readable form for computerized text searching beginning in 1965. Sometime in 1969, the Legislative Reference Bureau started using a computerized text processing system to prepare bills for the Legislature. In 1970, when the laws enacted during the biennial session of the 1969 Legislature had been merged into the computer's statute data base by the Revisor of Statutes, the Revisor used that data base for type generating. The biennial statute edition identified as Wisconsin Statutes 1969 (because it contains the changes made by the 1969 Legislature) became the first edition fully typeset by computer.

Until 1965, all legislative documents had been printed using plates made from lead type. Beginning with the 1965 Session — even before legislative text processing was computerized — bills, joint resolutions, resolutions and amendments were reproduced photo-offset from camera-ready copy typed in the Legislative Reference Bureau. After a while, some of that camera-ready copy was edited to be reused, with all adopted amendments incorporated into the text of the original bill, in publishing “slip law” pamphlet copies of each new act. Computerization of legislative text processing only served to refine the process. Beginning with the 1971 Session, the computer-stored records of bills and amendments have been used to typeset not only the slip laws, but also the text required for newspaper publication of new acts and for the biennial publication, by the Secretary of State, of the Laws of Wisconsin enacted by the most recent Legislature.

Chapter 372, Laws of 1981, made a number of significant changes in law publication. The act was published on May 10, 1982. Under Section 991.11 of the statutes, every act (and every portion of an act enacted by the legislature over the governor's partial veto) which does not expressly prescribe the time when it takes effect shall take effect on the day after its date of publication as designated by the Secretary of State. The date of publication may not be more than 10 working days after the “date of enactment”, which means “the day on which a bill becomes an act through approval by the governor, passage over the governor's veto or failure of the governor to act on it or the day on which a portion of a bill which has been vetoed in part is enacted over the governor's partial veto” (sec. 35.095 (1)(a), stats.). Chapter 372, Laws of 1981, did not specify a delayed effective date; consequently, it took effect with the beginning of May 11, 1982.

Until that date, the full text of each new act had been published as a legal notice. From that date on, only a notice of availability has been published as a legal notice. The actual publication of the act, satisfying the constitutional formula that “no law shall be in force until published”, occurs by making copies of the act (as a slip law pamphlet) available in the Legislative Document Room on the date specified by the Secretary of State.

Chapter 372, Laws of 1981, also made an improvement in the confusing designations used in legal text structure. Through 1982, both the “statutes” representing the compiled integration of all active general law and the “session laws” consisting of the laws enacted by a biennial Legislature were organized into “chapters”. Beginning with the 1983 Session, each new law has been designated as a “Wisconsin Act” (contracted to “WisAct” in most references). Senate Bill 2 of the January 1983 Special Session, “relating to the authorized date for a special election to fill a vacancy in the senate from the 12th senate district in 1983”, became the first law using the new nomenclature: “1983 WisAct 1”.

Internally, bills and acts are structured into "SECTIONS" (always in capital letters), while chapters of the statutes are divided into "sections" which may be further divided into subsections, paragraphs and subdivisions.

The frequently used term "session law" also has several meanings. When a joint resolution is "printed in the session laws", the reference is to the biennial compilation of the new Wisconsin Acts published by the Secretary of State under the title Laws of Wisconsin. When a citizen requests a copy of a session law, what is desired is usually a copy of the "slip law" pamphlet for a specific Wisconsin Act. Within any bill or act, most of the parts are referenced to statute numbers, indicating that such parts will be incorporated into the statutes. The remaining parts deal with nonstatutory law. The provision for a delayed effective date, found at the end of many Wisconsin Acts, is a nonstatutory session law provision. Many lawyers — old habits die hard — continue to call nonstatutory law "session law".

Nonstatutory session law is just as legally binding as statute law. In 1983, Assembly Joint Resolution 103 (it proposed to revise the joint rules of the Legislature but was not enacted), clearly distinguished the 2 types of law:

INCORPORATION OF LAW INTO THE STATUTES. (1) It is the policy of this state that law of continuing application shall be incorporated into the statutes. The assignment of statute numbering to any part of a bill shall be deemed indicative of a legislative intent that this text be printed in the statutes.

(2) In general, provisions of the following types need not be incorporated into the statutes:

(a) An increase or decrease in the amount of an already existing statutory sum certain appropriation, but the dollar amount by which the existing appropriation is increased or decreased shall be reflected in the total of that appropriation as shown in the printed statutes in the schedule under section 20.005 (3) of the statutes.

(b) A conveyance of real property or rights or interests in it to or from the state or its subdivisions.

(c) A declaration of intent or purpose.

(d) A provision directing or requesting that a limited-term study be conducted.

(e) A creation of a committee as defined in section 15.01 (3) of the statutes.

(f) A ratification of a collective bargaining agreement for state employees.

(g) An addition to, deletion from or change in the authorized state building program.

(h) A position authorization.

(g) An addition to, deletion from or change in the authorized state trunk highway system.

(j) An amendment to an existing nonstatutory provision.

(k) A transitional provision intended to be of temporary application, not extending beyond July 1 of the even-numbered year of the next biennial session of the legislature.

(L) A provision affecting the timing of application or nonapplication of a law, not extending beyond July 1 of the even-numbered year of the next biennial session of the legislature.

(m) Any other provision which is narrow in scope and intended to be of temporary application.

Incorporating the new laws enacted by each Legislature into the statute data base, and publishing the compiled statutes, is the responsibility of the Revisor of Statutes. Four times in the history of the State of Wisconsin, the compiled statutes were themselves enacted into law. Those were the editions of 1849, 1858, 1878 and 1898. Since 1911, the statutes have been published every 2 years. The most current edition is styled Wisconsin Statutes 1983-84 because it incorporates all changes in the statutes made by the 1983 Legislature in 1983 and 1984. Thus, the current Wisconsin statutes are really the statutes of 1898, as affected by subsequent legislative action.

The Legislature's changes do not just add more text to the statutes. In many cases, a new enactment merely replaces some of the words in an existing statute so that the law remains useful as conditions change. In some cases, entire chapters of the statutes are revised to make them more understandable. Sometimes, old statutes are repealed. The result is that, although the printed session laws usually run more than 1,600 pages, the printed statute books have increased only about 75 pages every 2 years.

In some cases, the legal work performed by the Revisor becomes rather difficult. For instance, Section 13.93 (2)(c) of the statutes instructs the Revisor how to reconcile 2 or more acts affecting the same statute:

....In preparing each edition, if 2 or more acts of a legislative session affect the same statutory unit without taking cognizance of the effect thereon of the other acts and if the revisor finds that there is no mutual inconsistency in the changes made by each such act, he shall incorporate the changes made by each act into the text of the statutory unit and document the incorporation in a note to the section. For each such incorporation, the revisor shall include in a correction bill a provision formally validating the incorporation....

At other times, the work is mostly time consuming as, for instance, in the Revisor's ongoing effort begun in 1975 to assure that the statutes of this state reflect the equal status before the law of men and women. Section 13.93 (1)(m) of the statutes says that the Revisor must:

....whenever any statute is affected by any act of the legislature, and may, at the revisor's discretion, ensure that the statutory language does not discriminate on the basis of sex by making the following corrections, which shall have no substantive effect:

1. Delete any masculine or feminine pronoun or adjective, except where the statute clearly applies to one sex only, and replace it, if necessary, with terminology which does not discriminate on the basis of sex.
2. Replace words of male or female gender, such as man, wife and widow, with terms such as person, spouse and surviving spouse, except where the statute clearly applies to one sex only.
3. Make other corrections to remove from the statutes or to replace terminology which discriminates on the basis of sex.

In every case, text changes made by the Revisor of Statutes are set forth in bill form, reviewed by the Law Revision Committee of the Legislative Council, and introduced in the Legislature by that committee to be validated by enactment into law. Despite this careful documentation and validation, despite photo-composition using the Legislature's original electronic records in preparing the session laws for publication by the Secretary of State, and despite the Revisor's untold research hours to make the published Wisconsin Statutes as accurate as possible, mistakes can happen. Section 990.07 of the statutes, entitled "evidence", says that the published statute and session law volumes are prima facie evidence — that is, evidence which is accepted as true "at first sight" — but that the original acts of the Legislature are the final authority:

The Wisconsin statutes as prepared [for publication] shall be prima facie evidence in all courts and proceedings as [official publications of the state]; but they shall not preclude reference to, nor control, in case of any discrepancy, any original act of the legislature; and the certified volumes of session laws [published by the Secretary of State] shall also and in the same degree be prima facie evidence in all courts and proceedings.

Even accuracy of publication and ultimate reliance on the original acts of the Legislature sometimes are not enough. It is one of the duties of the Revisor of Statutes to review all opinions published by the Wisconsin Attorney General, all reported decisions of Wisconsin courts, and each federal court decision involving Wisconsin law and to submit a report to the Law Revision Committee before August 1 of each even-numbered year "in which Wisconsin statutes or session laws are stated to be in conflict, ambiguous, anachronistic, unconstitutional or otherwise in need of revision" (sec. 13.93 (2)(d), stats.). Here are some examples of such challenges from the Revisor's report to the Law Revision Committee, dated July 31, 1984:

In the case of Noranda Exploration, Inc. v. Ostrom, 113 Wis.2d 612 (1983), the Wisconsin Supreme Court raised the question of due process and concluded that those parts of statute section 107.15 which require "disclosure to the public of confidential mining exploration data and core samples, amount to an unconstitutional taking of private property without just compensation" (at page 630).

Section 3 (1) of Article VII of the Wisconsin Constitution vests in the state's Supreme Court a "superintending and administrative authority over all courts". In a decision entitled In Matter of Complaint Against Grady, 118 Wis.2d 762 (1984), the court referred to that provision and held, at page 783, that the "setting and enforcement of time periods for judges to decide cases lies within an area of authority exclusively reposed in the judicial branch of government. Section 757.025, Stats., is an intrusion by the legislature into the exclusively judicial area of judicial decision-making and, as such, is unconstitutional". As an appendix to the decision, the court promulgated Supreme Court Rule SCR 70.36. Both the challenged law and the court rule require a judge to decide in 90 days, unless excused for sickness or other reason, each matter submitted to the judge "in final form". The difference is in the consequence: under the statute, the salary of an offending judge was to be withheld; under the court rule, the judge's assignment may be changed, the Director of State Courts may start a contempt proceeding against the judge, and the Judicial Commission may investigate the judge for possible misconduct.

In an opinion to the corporation counsel for Eau Claire County (72 Wis. O.A.G. 49, 1983), the Attorney General found that the phrase "expends for a library fund during the year", as used in Section 43.64 (2) of the statutes, could raise questions of legal construction. Based on the statute's history, the Attorney General concluded that the phrase meant actual expenditures for the library fund during the current year. "It is evident from this dissertation", suggested the Attorney General (at page 54), "that section 43.64 (2) needs legislative attention".

Federal preemption, preventing the state from regulating something regulated by federal law, was the issue in the final case here cited, Gould v. Wis.

Dept. of Industry, Labor and H. Rel., 576 F.Supp. 1290 (1983). The United States District Court for the Western District of Wisconsin (located in Madison) held that "Wis. Stats. ss. 101.245 and 16.75 (8) (1981) are preempted by the federal labor laws and thus unconstitutional under the Supremacy Clause of Article VI of the United States Constitution". The statutes set aside by the federal court barred an employer from doing business with the State of Wisconsin if the employer has had 3 or more adverse findings by the National Labor Relations Board which have been confirmed by the federal Court of Appeals.

WISCONSIN CONSTITUTION

As amended through November 1982 *

PREAMBLE

We, the people of Wisconsin, grateful to Almighty God for our freedom, in order to secure its blessings, form a more perfect government, insure domestic tranquility and promote the general welfare, do establish this constitution.

ARTICLE I. DECLARATION OF RIGHTS

Equality; inherent rights. SECTION 1. [As amended November 1982] All people are born equally free and independent, and have certain inherent rights; among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; to serve these rights, governments are instituted, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. [1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May '82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1]

Equality; inherent rights. SECTION 1. [Original form] All men are born equally free and independent, and have certain inherent rights; among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Slavery prohibited. SECTION 2. There shall be neither slavery, nor involuntary servitude in this state, otherwise than for the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

Free speech; libel. SECTION 3. Every person may freely speak, write and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right, and no laws shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech or of the press. In all criminal prosecutions or indictments for libel, the truth may be given in evidence, and if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous be true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted; and the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the fact.

Right to assemble and petition. SECTION 4. The right of the people peaceably to assemble, to consult for the common good, and to petition the government, or any department thereof, shall never be abridged.

Trial by jury; verdict in civil cases. SECTION 5. [As amended November 1922] The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and shall extend to all cases at law without regard to the amount in controversy; but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases in the manner prescribed by law. Provided, however, that the legislature may, from time to time, by statute provide that a valid verdict, in civil cases, may be based on the votes of a specified number of the jury, not less than five-sixths thereof. [1919 AJR-26; 1921 AJR-14; 1921 c. 504]

Trial by jury. SECTION 5. [Original form] The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate; and shall extend to all cases at law, without regard to the amount in controversy; but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases, in the manner prescribed by law.

Excessive bail; cruel punishments. SECTION 6. Excessive bail shall not be required nor shall excessive fines be imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

* Present provisions of the constitution are printed in 8-point type running the full width of the page, and previous forms (if any) follow each active provision in 6-point type set in two columns. Any section not followed by 2-column text is still in the form ratified by the people of Wisconsin when they adopted the Wisconsin Constitution on March 13 of 1848.

The full text of additional constitutional amendments ratified in the election of April 1983 — if any — will be shown in the INDEX volume of the Legislature's weekly Bulletin of Proceedings.

Rights of accused. SECTION 7. In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to be heard by himself and counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him; to meet the witnesses face to face; to have compulsory process to compel the attendance of witnesses in his behalf; and in prosecution by indictment, or information, to a speedy public trial by an impartial jury of the county or district wherein the offense shall have been committed; which county or district shall have been previously ascertained by law.

Prosecutions; double jeopardy; self-incrimination; bail; habeas corpus. SECTION 8. [As amended per certification of the Board of State Canvassers dated April 7, 1982] (1) No person may be held to answer for a criminal offense without due process of law, and no person for the same offense may be put twice in jeopardy of punishment, nor may be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself or herself.

(2) All persons, before conviction, shall be eligible for release under reasonable conditions designed to assure their appearance in court, protect members of the community from serious bodily harm or prevent the intimidation of witnesses. Monetary conditions of release may be imposed at or after the initial appearance only upon a finding that there is a reasonable basis to believe that the conditions are necessary to assure appearance in court. The legislature may authorize, by law, courts to revoke a person's release for a violation of a condition of release.

(3) The legislature may by law authorize, but may not require, circuit courts to deny release for a period not to exceed 10 days prior to the hearing required under this subsection to a person who is accused of committing a murder punishable by life imprisonment or a sexual assault punishable by a maximum imprisonment of 20 years, or who is accused of committing or attempting to commit a felony involving serious bodily harm to another or the threat of serious bodily harm to another and who has a previous conviction for committing or attempting to commit a felony involving serious bodily harm to another or the threat of serious bodily harm to another. The legislature may authorize by law, but may not require, circuit courts to continue to deny release to those accused persons for an additional period not to exceed 60 days following the hearing required under this subsection, if there is a requirement that there be a finding by the court based on clear and convincing evidence presented at a hearing that the accused committed the felony and a requirement that there be a finding by the court that available conditions of release will not adequately protect members of the community from serious bodily harm or prevent intimidation of witnesses. Any law enacted under this subsection shall be specific, limited and reasonable. In determining the 10-day and 60-day periods, the court shall omit any period of time found by the court to result from a delay caused by the defendant or a continuance granted which was initiated by the defendant.

(4) The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety requires it. [June 1980 Spec.Sess. AJR-9; 1981 AJR-5]

Prosecutions; second jeopardy; self-incrimination; bail; habeas corpus. SECTION 8. [As amended November 1870] No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense without due process of law, and no person for the same offense shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself. All persons shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offenses when the proof is evident or the presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it. [1869 AJR-6; 1870 SJR-3; 1870 c. 118]

Criminal procedure. SECTION 8. [Original form] No person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense, unless on the presentment, or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases of impeachment, or in cases cognizable by justices of the peace, or arising in the army or navy, or in the militia when in actual service in time of war, or public danger; and no person for the same offense shall be put twice in jeopardy of punishment, nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself; all persons shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties except for capital offenses when the proof is evident, or the presumption great; and the privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended unless when, in cases of rebellion, or invasion, the public safety may require.

Remedy for wrongs. SECTION 9. Every person is entitled to a certain remedy in the laws for all injuries, or wrongs which he may receive in his person, property, or character; he ought to obtain justice freely, and without being obliged to purchase it, completely and without denial, promptly and without delay, conformably to the laws.

Treason. SECTION 10. Treason against the state shall consist only in levying war against the same, or in adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

Searches and seizures. SECTION 11. The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects against unreasonable searches and seizures shall not be violated; and no warrant shall issue but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched and the persons or things to be seized.

Attainder; ex post facto; contracts. SECTION 12. No bill of attainder, ex post facto law, nor any law impairing the obligation of contracts, shall ever be passed, and no conviction shall work corruption of blood or forfeiture of estate.

Private property for public use. SECTION 13. The property of no person shall be taken for public use without just compensation therefor.

Feudal tenures; leases; alienation. SECTION 14. All lands within the state are declared to be allodial, and feudal tenures are prohibited. Leases and grants of agricultural land for a longer term than fifteen years in which rent or service of any kind shall be reserved, and all fines and like restraints upon alienation reserved in any grant of land, hereafter made, are declared to be void.

Equal property rights for aliens and citizens. SECTION 15. No distinction shall ever be made by law between resident aliens and citizens, in reference to the possession, enjoyment or descent of property.

Imprisonment for debt. SECTION 16. No person shall be imprisoned for debt arising out of or founded on a contract, expressed or implied.

Exemption of property of debtors. SECTION 17. The privilege of the debtor to enjoy the necessary comforts of life shall be recognized by wholesome laws, exempting a reasonable amount of property from seizure or sale for the payment of any debt or liability hereafter contracted.

Freedom of worship; liberty of conscience; state religion; public funds. SECTION 18. [As amended November 1982] The right of every person to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of conscience shall never be infringed; nor shall any person be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry, without consent; nor shall any control of, or interference with, the rights of conscience be permitted, or any preference be given by law to any religious establishments or modes of worship; nor shall any money be drawn from the treasury for the benefit of religious societies, or religious or theological seminaries. [1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May 82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1]

Freedom of worship; liberty of conscience; state religion; public funds. SECTION 18. [Original form] The right of every man to worship Almighty God according to the dictates of his own conscience shall never be infringed; nor shall any man be compelled to attend, erect or support any place of worship, or to maintain any ministry, against his consent; nor shall any control of, or interference with, the rights of conscience be permitted, or any preference be given by law to any religious establishments or modes of worship; nor shall any money be drawn from the treasury for the benefit of religious societies, or religious or theological seminaries.

Religious tests prohibited. SECTION 19. No religious tests shall ever be required as a qualification for any office of public trust under the state, and no person shall be rendered incompetent to give evidence in any court of law or equity in consequence of his opinions on the subject of religion.

Military subordinate to civil power. SECTION 20. The military shall be in strict subordination to the civil power.

Rights of suitors. SECTION 21. [As amended April 1977] (1) Writs of error shall never be prohibited, and shall be issued by such courts as the legislature designates by law.

(2) In any court of this state, any suitor may prosecute or defend his suit either in his own proper person or by an attorney of the suitor's choice. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Writs of error. SECTION 21. [Original form] Writs of error shall never be prohibited by law.

Maintenance of free government. SECTION 22. The blessings of a free government can only be maintained by a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, frugality and virtue, and by frequent recurrence to fundamental principles.

Transportation of school children. SECTION 23. [As created April 1967] Nothing in this constitution shall prohibit the legislature from providing for the safety and welfare of children by providing for the transportation of children to and from any parochial or private school or institution of learning. [1965 AJR-70; 1967 AJR-7]

Use of school buildings. SECTION 24. [As created April 1972] Nothing in this constitution shall prohibit the legislature from authorizing, by law, the use of public school buildings by civic, religious or charitable organizations during nonschool hours upon payment by the organization to the school district of reasonable compensation for such use. [1969 AJR-74; 1971 AJR-10]

ARTICLE II. BOUNDARIES

State boundary. SECTION 1. It is hereby ordained and declared that the state of Wisconsin doth consent and accept of the boundaries prescribed in the act of congress entitled "An act to enable the people of Wisconsin territory to form a constitution and state government, and for the admission of such state into the Union," approved August sixth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-six, to wit: Beginning at the northeast corner of the state of Illinois — that is to say, at a point in the center of Lake Michigan where the line of forty-two degrees and thirty minutes of north latitude crosses the same; thence running with the boundary line of the state of Michigan, through Lake Michigan, Green Bay, to the mouth of the Menominee river; thence up the channel of the said river to the Brule river; thence up said last-mentioned river to Lake Brule; thence along the southern shore of Lake Brule in a direct line to the center of the channel between Middle and South Islands, in the Lake of the Desert; thence in a direct line to the head waters of the Montreal river, as marked upon the survey made by Captain Cram; thence down the main channel of the Montreal river to the middle of Lake Superior; thence through the center of Lake Superior to the mouth of the St. Louis river; thence up the main channel of said river to the first rapids in the same, above the Indian village, according to Nicollet's map; thence due south to the main branch of the river St. Croix; thence down the main channel of said river to the Mississippi; thence down the center of the main channel of that river to the northwest corner of the state of Illinois; thence due east with the northern boundary of the state of Illinois to the place of beginning, as established by "An act to enable the people of the Illinois territory to form a constitution and state government, and for the admission of such state into the Union on an equal footing with the original states," approved April 18th, 1818.

Alternate boundary. [An additional paragraph, adopted by the convention as part of Art. II, sec. 1, was rejected by the act which admitted Wisconsin into the Union (9 U.S. Stat. Ch. L, pp. 233-235)]:

Provided, however, that the following alteration of the foresaid boundary be, and hereby is proposed to the congress of the United States as the preference of the state of Wisconsin, and if the same shall be assented and agreed to by the congress of the United States, then the same shall be and forever remain obligatory on the state of Wisconsin, viz.: Leaving the aforesaid boundary line at the foot of the rapids of the St. Louis river; thence in a direct line, bearing south-westerly, to the mouth of the Iskodewabo, or Rum river, where the same empties into the Mississippi river, thence down the main channel of said Mississippi river as prescribed in the aforesaid boundary.

Enabling act accepted. SECTION 2. [As amended April 1951] The propositions contained in the act of congress are hereby accepted, ratified and confirmed, and shall remain irrevocable without the consent of the United States; and it is hereby ordained that this state shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, nor with any regulations congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to bona fide purchasers thereof; and in no case shall nonresident proprietors be taxed higher than residents. Provided, that nothing in this constitution, or in the act of congress aforesaid, shall in any manner prejudice or affect the right of the state of Wisconsin to 500,000 acres of land granted to said state, and to be hereafter selected and located and under the act of congress entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and grant pre-emption rights," approved September fourth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-one. [1949 AJR-64; 1951 AJR-7]

Enabling act accepted. SECTION 2. [Original form] The propositions contained in the act of congress are hereby accepted, ratified and confirmed, and shall remain irrevocable without the consent of the United States; and it is hereby ordained that this state shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, nor with any regulations congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to bona fide purchasers thereof; and no tax shall be imposed on land the property of the United States; and in no case shall nonresident proprietors be taxed higher than residents. Provided, that nothing in this constitution, or in the act of congress aforesaid, shall in any manner prejudice or affect the right of the state of Wisconsin to five hundred thousand acres of land granted to said state, and to be hereafter selected and located by and under the act of congress entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and grant pre-emption rights," approved September fourth, one thousand eight hundred and forty-one.

ARTICLE III.
SUFFRAGE

Electors. SECTION 1. [As amended November 1934] Every person, of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, belonging to either of the following classes, who shall have resided in the state for one year next preceding any election, and in the election district where he offers to vote such time as may be prescribed by the legislature, not exceeding thirty days, shall be deemed a qualified elector at such election:

- (1) Citizens of the United States.
- (2) Persons of Indian blood, who have once been declared by law of congress to be citizens of the United States, any subsequent law of congress to the contrary notwithstanding.
- (3) The legislature may at any time extend, by law, the right of suffrage to persons not herein enumerated; but no such law shall be in force until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the people at a general election, and approved by a majority of all the votes cast on that question at such election; and provided further, that the legislature may provide for the registration of electors, and prescribe proper rules and regulations therefor. [1931 AJR-52; 1933 SJR-74]

Termination of voting by resident aliens. [Subdivision 2 (of the text adopted in 1882), as amended November 1908] 2. Persons of foreign birth who, prior to the first day of December, A.D. 1908, shall have declared their intentions to become citizens conformable to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization, provided that the rights hereby granted to such persons shall cease on the first day of December, A.D. 1912. [1905 AJR-16; 1907 AJR-47; 1907 c. 661]

Qualifications of electors. SECTION 1. [As amended November 1882] Every male person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, belonging to either of the following classes, who shall have resided in the state for one year next preceding any election, and in the election district where he offers to vote such time as may be prescribed by the legislature not exceeding thirty days shall be deemed a qualified elector at such election.

1. Citizens of the United States.
2. Persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens, conformably to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization.
3. Persons of Indian blood who have once been declared by law of congress to be citizens of the United States, any subsequent law of congress to the contrary notwithstanding.
4. Civilized persons of Indian descent not members of any tribe; provided that the legislature may at any time extend, by law, the right of suffrage to persons not herein enumerated, but no such law shall be in force until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the people at a general election, and approved by a majority of all the votes cast at such election; and provided further, that in incorporated cities and villages, the legislature may provide for the registration of electors and prescribe proper rules and regulations therefor. [1881 AJR-26; 1882 SJR-18; 1882 c. 272]

Equal suffrage to colored persons. In Gillespie v. Palmer, 20 Wis. (1866) 544, the Wisconsin Supreme Court ruled that Chapter 137, Laws of 1849, extending equal suffrage to colored persons, was approved by the voters on November 6, 1849.

Qualifications of electors. SECTION 1. [Original form] Every male person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards belonging to either of the following classes, who shall have resided in the state for one year next preceding any election, shall be deemed a qualified elector at such election:

[First.] White citizens of the United States.

[Second.] White persons of foreign birth who shall have declared their intention to become citizens, conformably to the laws of the United States on the subject of naturalization.

[Third.] Persons of Indian blood who have once been declared by law of congress to be citizens of the United States, any subsequent law of congress to the contrary notwithstanding.

[Fourth.] Civilized persons of Indian descent, not members of any tribe. Provided, that the legislature may at any time extend, by law, the right of suffrage to persons not herein enumerated, but no such law shall be in force until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the people at a general election, and approved by a majority of all the votes cast at such election.

Who not electors. SECTION 2. No person under guardianship, non compos mentis or insane shall be qualified to vote at any election; nor shall any person convicted of treason or felony be qualified to vote at any election unless restored to civil rights.

Votes to be by ballot. SECTION 3. All votes shall be given by ballot except for such township officers as may by law be directed or allowed to be otherwise chosen.

Residence saved. SECTION 4. No person shall be deemed to have lost his residence in this state by reason of his absence on business of the United States or of this state.

Military stationing does not confer residence. SECTION 5. No soldier, seaman or marine in the army or navy of the United States shall be deemed a resident of this state in consequence of being stationed within the same.

Exclusion from suffrage. SECTION 6. Laws may be passed excluding from the right of suffrage all persons who have been or may be convicted of bribery or larceny, or of any infamous crime, and depriving every person who shall make or become directly or indirectly interested in any bet or wager depending upon the result of any election from the right to vote at such election.

ARTICLE IV.
LEGISLATIVE

Legislative power. SECTION 1. The legislative power shall be vested in a senate and assembly.

Legislature, how constituted. SECTION 2. The number of the members of the assembly shall never be less than fifty-four nor more than one hundred. The senate shall consist of a number not more than one-third nor less than one-fourth of the number of the members of the assembly.

Apportionment. SECTION 3. [As amended November 1982] At its first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall apportion and district anew the members of the senate and assembly, according to the number of inhabitants. [1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1]

Apportionment. SECTION 3. [As amended November 1962] At their first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall apportion and district anew the members of the senate and assembly, according to the number of inhabitants, excluding soldiers, and officers of the United States army and navy. [1959 SJR-12; 1961 SJR-11]

Senate district area factor. SECTIONS 3, 4 and 5. [Approved by voters April 1953] An amendment to Art. IV, secs. 3, 4, 5, relating to senate apportionment based on area and population, was approved by 1951 SJR-50 and 1953 AJR-7. However, the Supreme Court held the amendment not validly submitted to the voters in State ex rel. Thomson v. Zimmerman, 264 W. 644, 60 NW (2d) 416.

Apportionment. SECTION 3. [As amended November 1910] At their first session after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall apportion and district anew the members of the senate and assembly, according to the number of inhabitants, excluding Indians not taxed, soldiers, and officers of the United States army and navy. [1907 SJR-18; 1909 SJR-35; 1909 c. 478]

Census and apportionment. SECTION 3. [Original form] The legislature shall provide by law for an enumeration of the inhabitants of the state in the year one thousand eight hundred and fifty-five, and at the end of every ten years thereafter; and at their first session after such enumeration, and also after each enumeration made by the authority of the United States, the legislature shall apportion and district anew the members of the senate and assembly, according to the number of inhabitants, excluding Indians not taxed, and soldiers and officers of the United States army and navy.

Representatives to the assembly, how chosen. SECTION 4. [As amended November 1982] The members of the assembly shall be chosen biennially, by single districts, on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November in even-numbered years, by the qualified electors of the several districts, such districts to be bounded by county, precinct, town or ward lines, to consist of contiguous territory and be in as compact form as practicable. [1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1]

Representatives to the assembly, how chosen. SECTION 4. [As amended November 1881] The members of the assembly shall be chosen biennially, by single districts, on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November after the adoption of this amendment, by the qualified electors of the several districts, such districts to be bounded by county, precinct, town or ward lines, to consist of contiguous territory and be in as compact form as practicable. [1880 SJR-9; 1881 AJR-7; 1881 c. 262]

Senators, how chosen. SECTION 5. [As amended November 1982] The senators shall be elected by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time and in the same manner as members of the assembly are required to be chosen; and no assembly district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate districts shall be numbered in the regular series, and the senators shall be chosen alternately from the odd and even-numbered districts for the term of 4 years. [1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1]

Senators, how chosen. SECTION 5. [As amended November 1881] The senators shall be elected by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time and in the same manner as members of the assembly are required to be chosen, and no assembly district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate districts shall be numbered in the regular series, and the senators shall be chosen alternately from the odd and even-numbered districts. The senators elected or holding over at the time of the adoption of this amendment shall continue in office till their successors are duly elected and qualified; and after the adoption of this amendment all senators shall be chosen for the term of four years. [1880 SJR-9; 1881 AJR-7; 1881 c. 262]

Assemblymen, how chosen. SECTION 4. [Original form] The members of the assembly shall be chosen annually by single districts, on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday of November, by the qualified electors of the several districts. Such districts to be bounded by county, precinct, town, or ward lines, to consist of contiguous territory, and be in as compact form as practicable.

Senators, how chosen. SECTION 5. [Original form] The senators shall be chosen by single districts of convenient contiguous territory, at the same time and in the same manner as members of the assembly are required to be chosen, and no assembly district shall be divided in the formation of a senate district. The senate districts shall be numbered in regular series, and the senators chosen by the odd-numbered districts shall go out of office at the expiration of the first year, and the senators chosen by the even-numbered districts shall go out of office at the expiration of the second year, and thereafter the senators shall be chosen for the term of two years.

Qualifications of legislators. SECTION 6. No person shall be eligible to the legislature who shall not have resided one year within the state, and be a qualified elector in the district which he may be chosen to represent.

Organization of legislature; quorum; compulsory attendance. SECTION 7. Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members; and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business, but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner under such penalties as each house may provide.

Rules; contempts; expulsion. SECTION 8. Each house may determine the rules of its own proceedings, punish for contempt and disorderly behavior, and with the concurrence of two-thirds of all the members elected, expel a member; but no member shall be expelled a second time for the same cause.

Officers. SECTION 9. [As amended April 1979] Each house shall choose its presiding officers from its own members. [1977 SJR-51; 1979 SJR-1]

Officers. SECTION 9. [Original form] Each house shall choose its own officers, and the senate shall choose a temporary president when the lieutenant governor shall not attend as president, or shall act as governor.

Journals; open doors; adjournments. SECTION 10. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings and publish the same, except such parts as require secrecy. The doors of each house shall be kept open except when the public welfare shall require secrecy. Neither house shall, without consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days.

Meeting of legislature. SECTION 11. [As amended April 1968] The legislature shall meet at the seat of government at such time as shall be provided by law, unless convened by the governor in special session, and when so convened no business shall be transacted except as shall be necessary to accomplish the special purposes for which it was convened. [1965 AJR-5; 1967 AJR-15]

Meeting of legislature. SECTION 11. [As amended November 1881] The legislature shall meet at the seat of government at such time as shall be provided by law, once in two years, and no oftener, unless convened by the governor, in special session, and when so convened no business shall be transacted except as shall be necessary to accomplish the special purposes for which it was convened. [1880 SJR-9; 1881 AJR-7; 1881 c. 262]

Place and time of meeting. SECTION 11. [Original form] The legislature shall meet at the seat of government, at such time as shall be provided by law, once in each year and not oftener, unless convened by the governor.

Ineligibility of legislators to office. SECTION 12. No member of the legislature shall, during the term for which he was elected, be appointed or elected to any civil office in the state, which shall have been created, or the emoluments of which shall have been increased, during the term for which he was elected.

Ineligibility of federal officers. SECTION 13. [As amended April 1966] No person being a member of congress, or holding any military or civil office under the United States, shall be eligible to a seat in the legislature; and if any person shall, after his election as a member of the legislature, be elected to congress, or be appointed to any office, civil or military, under the government of the United States, his acceptance thereof shall vacate his seat. This restriction shall not prohibit a legislator from accepting short periods of active duty as a member of the reserve or from serving in the armed forces during any emergency declared by the executive. [1963 SJR-24; 1965 SJR-15]

Ineligibility of federal officers. SECTION 13. [Original form] No person being a member of congress, or holding any military or civil office under the United States, shall be eligible to a seat in the legislature; and if any person shall, after his election as a member of the legislature, be elected to congress, or be appointed to any office, civil or military, under the government of the United States, his acceptance thereof shall vacate his seat.

Filling vacancies. SECTION 14. The governor shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies as may occur in either house of the legislature.

Exemption from arrest and civil process. SECTION 15. Members of the legislature shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest; nor shall they be subject to any civil process, during the session of the legislature, nor for fifteen days next before the commencement and after the termination of each session.

Privilege in debate. SECTION 16. No member of the legislature shall be liable in any civil action, or criminal prosecution whatever, for words spoken in debate.

Enactment of laws. SECTION 17. [As amended April 1977] (1) The style of all laws of the state shall be "The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:"

(2) No law shall be enacted except by bill. No law shall be in force until published.

(3) The legislature shall provide by law for the speedy publication of all laws. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Style of laws; bills. SECTION 17. [Original form] The style of the laws of the state shall be "The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly, do enact as follows:" and no law shall be enacted except by bill.

Title of private bills. SECTION 18. No private or local bill which may be passed by the legislature shall embrace more than one subject, and that shall be expressed in the title.

Origin of bills. SECTION 19. Any bill may originate in either house of the legislature, and a bill passed by one house may be amended by the other.

Yeas and nays. SECTION 20. The yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the request of one-sixth of those present, be entered on the journal.

SECTION 21. [Repealed. 1927 SJR-61; 1929 SJR-7; vote April 1929]

Compensation of members. SECTION 21. [As amended November 1881] Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services, for and during a regular session, the sum of five hundred dollars, and ten cents for every mile he shall travel in going to and returning from the place of meeting of the legislature on the most usual route. In case of an extra session of the legislature, no additional compensation shall be allowed to any member thereof, either directly or indirectly, except for mileage to be computed at the same rate as for a regular session. No stationery, newspapers, postage or other prerequisite except the salary and mileage above provided, shall be received from the state by any member of the legislature for his services, or in any other manner as such member. [1880 SJR-9; 1881 AJR-7; 1881 c. 262]

Compensation of members. SECTION 21. [As amended November 1867] Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services three hundred and fifty dollars per annum and ten cents for every mile he shall travel in going to and returning from the place of the meeting of the legislature on the most usual route. In case of an extra session of the legislature no additional compensation shall be allowed to any member thereof either directly or indirectly. [1865 SJR-26; 1866 SJR-16; 1867 c. 25]

Compensation of members. SECTION 21. [Original form] Each member of the legislature shall receive for his services two dollars and fifty cents for each day's attendance during the session, and ten cents for every mile he shall travel in going to and returning from the place of the meeting of the legislature, on the most usual route.

Powers of county boards. SECTION 22. The legislature may confer upon the boards of supervisors of the several counties of the state such powers of a local, legislative and administrative character as they shall from time to time prescribe.

Town and county government. SECTION 23. [As amended April 1972] The legislature shall establish but one system of town government, which shall be as nearly uniform as practicable, but the legislature may provide for the election at large once in every 4 years of a chief executive officer in any county with such powers of an administrative character as they may from time to time prescribe in accordance with this section and shall establish one or more systems of county government. [1969 SJR-58; 1971 SJR-4]

Uniform town and county government. SECTION 23. [As amended April 1969] The legislature shall establish but one system of town and county government, which shall be as nearly uniform as practicable, except that the requirement of uniformity shall not apply to the administrative means of exercising powers of a local legislative character conferred by section 22 upon the boards of supervisors of the several counties; but the legislature may provide for the election at large once in every 4 years of a chief executive officer in any county with such powers of an administrative character as they may from time to time prescribe in accordance with this section. [1967 AJR-18; 1969 SJR-8]

Uniform town and county government. SECTION 23. [As amended November 1962] The legislature shall establish but one system of town and county government, which shall be as nearly uniform as practicable; but the legislature may provide for the election at large once in every four years of a chief executive officer in any county having a population of five hundred thousand or more with such powers of an administrative character as they may from time to time prescribe in accordance with this section. [1959 AJR-121; 1961 AJR-61]

Uniform town and county government. SECTION 23. [Original form] The legislature shall establish but one system of town and county government, which shall be as nearly uniform as practicable.

Chief executive officer to approve or veto resolutions or ordinances; proceedings on veto. SECTION 23a. [As amended April 1969] Every resolution or ordinance passed by the county board in any county shall, before it becomes effective, be presented to the chief executive officer. If he approves, he shall sign it; if not, he shall return it with his objections, which objections shall be entered at large upon the journal and the board shall proceed to reconsider the matter. Appropriations may be approved in whole or in part by the chief executive officer and the part approved shall become law, and the part objected to shall be returned in the same manner as provided for in other resolutions or ordinances. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members-elect of the county board agree to pass the resolution or ordinance or the part of the resolution or ordinance objected to, it shall become effective on the date prescribed but not earlier than the date of passage following reconsideration. In all such cases, the votes of the members of the county board shall be determined by ayes and noes and the names of the members voting for or against the resolution or ordinance or the part thereof objected to shall be entered on the journal. If any resolution or ordinance is not returned by the chief executive officer to the county board at its first meeting occurring not less than 6 days, Sundays excepted, after it has been presented to him, it shall become effective unless the county board has recessed or adjourned for a period in excess of 60 days, in which case it shall not be effective without his approval. [1967 AJR-18; 1969 SJR-8]

Chief executive officer to approve or veto resolutions or ordinances; proceedings on veto. SECTION 23a. [Created November 1962] Every resolution or ordinance passed by the county board in any county having a population of five hundred thousand or more shall, before it becomes effective, be presented to the chief executive officer. If he approves, he shall sign it; if not, he shall return it with his objections, which objections shall be entered at large upon the journal and the board shall proceed to reconsider the matter. Appropriations may be approved in whole or in part by the chief executive officer and the part approved shall become law, and the part objected to shall be returned in the same manner as provided for in other resolutions or ordinances. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members-elect of the county board agree to pass the resolution or ordinance or the part of the resolution or ordinance objected to, it shall become effective on the date prescribed but not earlier than the date of passage following reconsideration. In all such cases, the votes of the members of the county board shall be determined by ayes and nays and the names of the members voting for or against the resolution or ordinance or the part thereof objected to shall be entered on the journal. If any resolution or ordinance is not returned by the chief executive officer to the county board at its first meeting occurring not less than six days, Sundays excepted, after it has been presented to him, it shall become effective unless the county board has recessed or adjourned for a period in excess of sixty days, in which case it shall not be effective without his approval. [1959 AJR-121; 1961 AJR-61]

Lotteries and divorces. SECTION 24. [As amended April 1977] The legislature shall never authorize any lottery or grant any divorce.

(1) The legislature may authorize bingo games licensed by the state, and operated by religious, charitable, service, fraternal or veterans' organizations or those to which contributions are deductible for federal or state income tax purposes. All profits must inure to the licensed organization and no salaries, fees or profits shall be paid to any other organization or person.

(2) The legislature may authorize raffle games licensed by the state, and operated by local religious, charitable, service, fraternal or veterans' organizations or those to which contributions are deductible for federal or state income tax purposes. The legislature shall limit the number of raffles conducted by any such organization. All profits must inure to the licensed local organization and no salaries, fees or profits shall be paid to any other organization or person.

(3) Except as the legislature may provide otherwise, the following activities do not constitute consideration as an element of a lottery:

(a) To listen to or watch a television or radio program.

(b) To fill out a coupon or entry blank, whether or not proof of purchase is required.

(c) To visit a mercantile establishment or other place without being required to make a purchase or pay an admittance fee. [1975 AJR-43; 1977 AJR-10]

Lotteries and divorces. SECTION 24. [As amended April 1973] The legislature shall never authorize any lottery, or grant any divorce, but may authorize bingo games licensed by the state, and operated by religious, charitable, service, fraternal or veterans' organizations or those to which contributions are deductible for federal or state income tax purposes. All profits must inure to the licensed organization and no salaries, fees or profits shall be paid to any other organization or person. Except as the legislature may provide otherwise, to listen to or watch a television or radio program, to fill out a coupon or entry blank, whether or not proof of purchase is required, or to visit a mercantile establishment or other place without being required to make a purchase or pay an admittance fee does not constitute consideration as an element of a lottery. [1971 SJR-13; 1973 AJR-6]

Lotteries and divorces. SECTION 24. [As amended April 1965] The legislature shall never authorize any lottery, or grant any divorce. Except as the legislature may provide otherwise, to listen to or watch a television or radio program, to fill out a coupon or entry blank, whether or not proof of purchase is required, or to visit a mercantile establishment or other place without being required to make a purchase or pay an admittance fee does not constitute consideration as an element of a lottery. [1963 SJR-42; 1965 SJR-13]

Lotteries and divorces. SECTION 24. [Original form] The legislature shall never authorize any lottery, or grant any divorce.

Stationery and printing. SECTION 25. The legislature shall provide by law that all stationery required for the use of the state, and all printing authorized and required by them to be done for their use, or for the state, shall be let by contract to the lowest bidder, but the legislature may establish a maximum price; no member of the legislature or other state officer shall be interested, either directly or indirectly, in any such contract.

Extra compensation; salary change. SECTION 26. [As amended April 1977] The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant or contractor, after the services shall have been rendered or the contract entered into; nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased or diminished during his term of office except that when any increase or decrease provided by the legislature in the compensation of the justices of the supreme court or judges of any court of record shall become effective as to any such justice or judge, it shall be effective from such date as to each of such justices or judges. This section shall not apply to increased benefits for persons who have been or shall be granted benefits of any kind under a retirement system when such increased benefits are provided by a legislative act passed on a call of ayes and noes by a three-fourths vote of all the members elected to both houses of the legislature, which act shall provide for sufficient state funds to cover the costs of the increased benefits. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Extra compensation; salary change. SECTION 26. [As amended April 1974] The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant or contractor, after the services shall have been rendered or the contract entered into; nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased or diminished during his term of office except that when any increase or decrease provided by the legislature in the compensation of the justices of the supreme court, or judges of the circuit court shall become effective as to any such justice or judge, it shall become effective from such date as to each of such justices or judges. This section shall not apply to increased benefits for persons who have been or shall be granted benefits of any kind under a retirement system when such increased benefits are provided by a legislative act passed on a call of ayes and noes by a three-fourths vote of all the members elected to both houses of the legislature, which act shall provide for sufficient state funds to cover the costs of the increased benefits. [1971 SJR-3; 1973 SJR-15]

Extra compensation; salary change. SECTION 26. [As amended April 1967] The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant or contractor, after the services shall have been rendered or the contract entered into; nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased or diminished during his term of office except that when any increase or decrease provided by the legislature in the compensation of the justices of the supreme court, or judges of the circuit court shall become effective as to any such justice or judge, it shall be effective from such date as to each of such justices or judges. This section shall not apply to increased benefits for teachers under a teachers' retirement system when such increased benefits are provided by a legislative act passed on a call of ayes and noes by a three-fourths vote of all the members elected to both houses of the legislature. [1965 AJR-162; 1967 AJR-17]

Extra compensation; salary change. SECTION 26. [As amended April 1956] The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant or contractor, after the services shall have been rendered or the contract entered into; nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased or diminished during his term of office. This section shall not apply to increased benefits for teachers under a teachers' retirement system when such increased benefits are provided by a legislative act passed on a call of ayes and noes by a three-fourths vote of all the members elected to both houses of the legislature. [1953 SJR-21; 1955 SJR-8]

Extra compensation; salary change. SECTION 26. [Original form] The legislature shall never grant any extra compensation to any public officer, agent, servant or contractor after the services shall have been rendered or the contract entered into; nor shall the compensation of any public officer be increased or diminished during his term of office.

Suits against state. SECTION 27. The legislature shall direct by law in what manner and in what courts suits may be brought against the state.

Oath of office. SECTION 28. Members of the legislature, and all officers, executive and judicial, except such inferior officers as may be by law exempted, shall before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe an oath or affirmation to support the constitution of the United States and the constitution of the state of Wisconsin, and faithfully to discharge the duties of their respective offices to the best of their ability.

Militia. SECTION 29. The legislature shall determine what persons shall constitute the militia of the state, and may provide for organizing and disciplining the same in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

Elections by legislature. SECTION 30. [As amended November 1982] All elections made by the legislature shall be by roll call vote entered in the journals. [1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May 82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1]

Elections by legislature. SECTION 30. [Original form] In all elections to be made by the legislature the members thereof shall vote viva voce, and their votes shall be entered on the journal.

Special and private laws prohibited. SECTION 31. [As amended November 1892] The legislature is prohibited from enacting any special or private laws in the following cases:

- 1st. For changing the name of persons or constituting one person the heir at law of another.
- 2nd. For laying out, opening or altering highways, except in cases of state roads extending into more than one county, and military roads to aid in the construction of which lands may be granted by congress.
- 3rd. For authorizing persons to keep ferries across streams at points wholly within this state.
- 4th. For authorizing the sale or mortgage of real or personal property of minors or others under disability.
- 5th. For locating or changing any county seat.
- 6th. For assessment or collection of taxes or for extending the time for the collection thereof.
- 7th. For granting corporate powers or privileges, except to cities.
- 8th. For authorizing the apportionment of any part of the school fund.
- 9th. For incorporating any city, town or village, or to amend the charter thereof. [1889 SJR-13; 1891 SJR-13; 1891 c. 362]

Special or private laws. SECTION 31. [Created November 1871] The legislature is prohibited from enacting any special or private laws in the following cases:

- 1st. For changing the name of persons or constituting one person the heir-at-law of another.
- 2nd. For laying out, opening or altering highways, except in cases of state roads extending into more than one county, and military roads to aid in the construction of which lands may be granted by congress.
- 3rd. For authorizing persons to keep ferries across streams at points wholly within this state.

4th. For authorizing the sale or mortgage of real or personal property of minors or others under disability.

- 5th. For locating or changing any county seat.
- 6th. For assessment or collection of taxes or for extending the time for the collection thereof.
- 7th. For granting corporate powers or privileges, except to cities.
- 8th. For authorizing the apportionment of any part of the school fund.
- 9th. For incorporating any town or village or to amend the charter thereof. [1870 SJR-14; 1871 AJR-29; 1871 c. 122]

General laws on enumerated subjects. SECTION 32. [Created November 1871] The legislature shall provide general laws for the transaction of any business that may be prohibited by section thirty-one of this article, and all such laws shall be uniform in their operation throughout the state. [1870 SJR-14; 1871 AJR-29; 1871 c. 122]

Auditing of state accounts. SECTION 33. [Created November 1946] The legislature shall provide for the auditing of state accounts and may establish such offices and prescribe such duties for the same as it shall deem necessary. [1943 SJR-35; 1945 SJR-24]

Continuity of civil government. SECTION 34. [Created April 1961] The legislature, in order to ensure continuity of state and local governmental operations in periods of emergency resulting from enemy action in the form of an attack, shall (1) forthwith provide for prompt and temporary succession to the powers and duties of public offices, of whatever nature and whether filled by election or appointment, the incumbents of which may become unavailable for carrying on the powers and duties of such offices, and (2) adopt such other measures as may be necessary and proper for attaining the objectives of the section. [1959 AJR-48; 1961 SJR-1]

ARTICLE V. EXECUTIVE

Governor; lieutenant governor; term. SECTION 1. [As amended April 1979] The executive power shall be vested in a governor who shall hold office for 4 years; a lieutenant governor shall be elected at the same time and for the same term. [1977 SJR-51; 1979 SJR-1]

Governor; lieutenant governor; term. SECTION 1. [Original form] The executive power shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for two years; a lieutenant governor shall be elected at the same time, and for the same term.

SECTION 1m. [Repealed. 1977 SJR-51; 1979 SJR-1; vote April 1979]

Governor; 4-year term. SECTION 1m. [Created April 1967] Notwithstanding section 1, beginning with the general election in 1970 and every four years thereafter, there shall be elected a governor to hold office for a term of four years. [1965 AJR-4; 1967 AJR-9 and SJR-12]

SECTION 1n. [Repealed. 1977 SJR-51; 1979 SJR-1; vote April 1979]

Lieutenant governor; 4-year term. SECTION 1n. [Created April 1967] Notwithstanding section 1, beginning with the general election in 1970 and every four years thereafter, there shall be elected a lieutenant governor to hold office for a term of four years. [1965 AJR-4; 1967 AJR-9 and SJR-12]

Eligibility. SECTION 2. No person except a citizen of the United States and a qualified elector of the state shall be eligible to the office of governor or lieutenant governor.

Election. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1967] The governor and lieutenant governor shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state at the times and places of choosing members of the legislature. They shall be chosen jointly, by the casting by each voter of a single vote applicable to both offices beginning with the general election in 1970. The persons respectively having the highest number of votes cast jointly for them for governor and lieutenant governor shall be elected; but in case two or more slates shall have an equal and the highest number of votes for governor and lieutenant governor, the two houses of the legislature, at its next annual session shall forthwith, by joint ballot, choose one of the slates so having an equal and the highest number of votes for governor and lieutenant governor. The returns of election for governor and lieutenant governor shall be made in such manner as shall be provided by law. [1965 AJR-3; 1967 AJR-8 and SJR-11]

Election. SECTION 3. [Original form] The governor and lieutenant governor shall be elected by the qualified electors of the state at the times and places of choosing members of the legislature. The persons respectively having the highest number of votes for governor and lieutenant governor shall be elected; but in case two or more shall have an equal and the highest number of votes for governor, or lieutenant governor, the two houses of the legislature, at its next annual session shall forthwith, by joint ballot, choose one of the persons so having an equal and the highest number of votes for governor, or lieutenant governor. The returns of election for governor and lieutenant governor shall be made in such manner as shall be provided by law.

Powers and duties. SECTION 4. The governor shall be commander in chief of the military and naval forces of the state. He shall have power to convene the legislature on extraordinary occasions, and in case of invasion, or danger from the prevalence of contagious disease at the seat of government, he may convene them at any other suitable place within the state. He shall communicate to the legislature, at every session, the condition of the state, and recommend such matters to them for their consideration as he may deem expedient. He shall transact all necessary business with the officers of the government, civil and military. He shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

Compensation of governor. SECTION 5. [As amended November 1926] The governor shall receive, during his continuance in office, an annual compensation of not less than five thousand dollars, to be fixed by law, which shall be in full for all traveling or other expenses incident to his duties. The compensation prescribed for governor immediately prior to the adoption of this amendment shall continue in force until changed by the legislature in a manner consistent with the other provisions of this constitution. [1923 AJR-88; 1925 AJR-50; 1925 c. 413]

Compensation of governor. SECTION 5. [As amended November 1869] The governor shall receive during his continuance in office, an annual compensation of five thousand dollars which shall be in full for all traveling or other expenses incident to his duties. [1868 AJR-13; 1869 SJR-6; 1869 c. 186]

Compensation of governor. SECTION 5. [Original form] The governor shall receive during his continuance in office, an annual compensation of one thousand two hundred and fifty dollars.

Pardoning power. SECTION 6. The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, after conviction, for all offenses, except treason and cases of impeachment, upon such conditions and with such restrictions and limitations as he may think proper, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law relative to the manner of applying for pardons. Upon conviction for treason he shall have the power to suspend the execution of the sentence until the case shall be reported to the legislature at its next meeting, when the legislature shall either pardon, or commute the sentence, direct the execution of the sentence, or grant a further reprieve. He shall annually communicate to the legislature each case of reprieve, commutation or pardon granted, stating the name of the convict, the crime of which he was convicted, the sentence and its date, and the date of the commutation, pardon or reprieve with his reasons for granting the same.

Lieutenant governor, when governor. SECTION 7. [As amended April 1979] (1) Upon the governor's death, resignation or removal from office, the lieutenant governor shall become governor for the balance of the unexpired term.

(2) If the governor is absent from this state, impeached, or from mental or physical disease, becomes incapable of performing the duties of the office, the lieutenant governor shall serve as acting governor for the balance of the unexpired term or until the governor returns, the disability ceases or the impeachment is vacated. But when the governor, with the consent of the legislature, shall be out of this state in time of war at the head of the state's military force, the governor shall continue as commander in chief of the military force. [1977 SJR-51; 1979 SJR-1]

Lieutenant governor, when governor. SECTION 7. [Original form] In case of the impeachment of the governor, or his removal from office, death, inability from mental or physical disease, resignation, or absence from the state, the powers and duties of the office shall devolve upon the lieutenant governor for the residue of the term or until the governor, absent or impeached, shall have returned, or the disability shall cease. But when the governor shall, with the consent of the legislature, be out of the state in time of war, at the head of the military force thereof, he shall continue commander in chief of the military force of the state.

Secretary of state, when governor. SECTION 8. [As amended April 1979] (1) If there is a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor and the governor dies, resigns or is removed from office, the secretary of state shall become governor for the balance of the unexpired term.

(2) If there is a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor and the governor is absent from this state, impeached, or from mental or physical disease becomes incapable of performing the duties of the office, the secretary of state shall serve as acting governor for the balance of the unexpired term or until the governor returns, the disability ceases or the impeachment is vacated. [1977 SJR-51; 1979 SJR-1]

Lieutenant governor president of senate; when secretary of state to be governor. SECTION 8. [Original form] The lieutenant governor shall be president of the senate, but shall have only a casting vote therein. If, during a vacancy in the office of the governor, the lieutenant governor shall be impeached, displaced, resign, die, or from mental or physical disease become incapable of performing the duties of his office, or be absent from the state, the secretary of state shall act as governor until the vacancy shall be filled or the disability shall cease.

Compensation of lieutenant governor. SECTION 9. [As amended November 1869] The lieutenant governor shall receive during his continuance in office an annual compensation of one thousand dollars. [1868 AJR-13; 1869 SJR-6; 1869 c. 186]

Compensation of lieutenant governor. SECTION 9. [Original form] The lieutenant governor shall receive double the per diem allowance of members of the senate, for every day's attendance as president of the senate, and the same mileage as shall be allowed to members of the legislature.

Governor to approve or veto bills; proceedings on veto. SECTION 10. [As amended November 1930] Every bill which shall have passed the legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon the journal and proceed to reconsider it. Appropriation bills may be approved in whole or in part by the governor, and the part approved shall become law, and the part objected to shall be returned in the same manner as provided for other bills. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members present shall agree to pass the bill, or the part of the bill objected to, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for or against the bill or the part of the bill objected to, shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within six days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law. [1927 SJR-35; 1929 SJR-40]

Approval of bills. SECTION 10. [As amended November 1908] Every bill which shall have passed the legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon the journal and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration, two-thirds of the members present shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for or against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within six days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law. [1905 AJR-45; 1907 AJR-46; 1907 c. 661]

Approval of bills. SECTION 10. [Original form] Every bill which shall have passed the legislature shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor; if he approve, he shall sign it, but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon the journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If, after such reconsideration two-thirds of the members present shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two-thirds of the members present, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the members voting for or against the bill, shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the governor within three days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, unless the legislature shall, by their adjournment, prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

ARTICLE VI. ADMINISTRATIVE

Secretary of state. SECTION 2. [Original form] The secretary of state shall keep a fair record of the official acts of the legislature and executive department of the state, and shall, when required, lay the same and all matters relative thereto, before either branch of the legislature. He shall be ex officio auditor, and shall perform such other duties as shall be assigned him by law. He shall receive as a compensation for his services yearly, such sum as shall be provided by law, and shall keep his office at the seat of government.

Treasurer and attorney general; duties, compensation. SECTION 3. The powers, duties and compensation of the treasurer and attorney general shall be prescribed by law.

County officers; election, terms, removal; vacancies. SECTION 4. [As amended April 1982] (1) Sheriffs, coroners, registers of deeds, district attorneys, and all other elected county officers except judicial officers and chief executive officers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every 2 years.

(2) The offices of coroner and surveyor in counties having a population of 500,000 or more are abolished. Counties not having a population of 500,000 shall have the option of retaining the elective office of coroner or instituting a medical examiner system. Two or more counties may institute a joint medical examiner system.

(3) Sheriffs shall hold no other office. Sheriffs may be required by law to renew their security from time to time, and in default of giving such new security their office shall be deemed vacant.

(4) The governor may remove any elected county officer mentioned in this section, giving to the officer a copy of the charges and an opportunity of being heard.

(5) All vacancies in the offices of sheriff, coroner, register of deeds or district attorney shall be filled by appointment. The person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold office only for the unexpired portion of the term to which appointed and until a successor shall be elected and qualified. [1979 AJR-99; 1981 AJR-7]

sen by the electors of the respective counties once in every two years. The offices of coroner and surveyor in counties having a population of 500,000 or more are abolished. Counties not having a population of 500,000 shall have the option of retaining the elective office of coroner or instituting a medical examiner system. Two or more counties may institute a joint medical examiner system. Sheriffs shall hold no other office; they may be required by law to renew their security from time to time, and in default of giving such new security their office shall be deemed vacant, but the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, giving to such a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. All vacancies shall be filled by appointment, and the person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold only for the unexpired portion of the term to which he shall be appointed and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. [1969 SJR-63; 1971 SJR-38]

County officers; election, terms, removal; vacancies. SECTION 4. [As amended April 1967] Sheriffs, coroners, registers of deeds, district attorneys, and all other county officers except judicial officers and chief executive officers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every two years. The offices of coroner and surveyor in counties having a population of 500,000 or more are abolished at the conclusion of the terms of office during which this amendment is adopted. Sheriffs shall hold no other office; they may be required by law to renew their security from time to time, and in default of giving such new security their office shall be deemed vacant, but the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, giving to such a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. All vacancies shall be filled by appointment, and the person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold only for the unexpired portion of the term to which he shall be appointed and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. [1965 AJR-72; 1967 SJR-7]

County officers; election, terms, removal; vacancies. SECTION 4. [As amended April 1965] Sheriffs, coroners, register of deeds, district attorneys, and all other county officers except judicial officers and chief executive officers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every two years. The offices of coroner and surveyor in counties having a population of 500,000 or more are abolished at the conclusion of the terms of office during which this amendment is adopted. Sheriffs shall hold no other office, and shall not serve more than two terms or parts thereof in succession; they may be required by law to renew their security from time to time, and in default of giving such new security their office shall be deemed vacant, but the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, giving to such a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. All vacancies shall be filled by appointment, and the person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold only for the unexpired portion of the term to which he shall be appointed and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. [1963 AJR-14; 1965 SJR-17]

County officers; election, terms, removal; vacancies. SECTION 4. [As amended November 1962] Sheriffs, coroners, registers of deeds, district attorneys, and all other county officers except judicial officers and chief executive officers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every two years. Sheriffs shall hold no other office, and shall not serve more than two terms or parts thereof in succession; they may be required by law to renew their security from time to time, and in default of giving such new security their office shall be deemed vacant, but the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, giving to such a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. All vacancies shall be filled by appointment, and the person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold only for the unexpired portion of the term to which he shall be appointed and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. [1959 AJR-121; 1961 AJR-61]

County officers; election, terms, removal; vacancies. SECTION 4. [As amended April 1929] Sheriffs, coroners, registers of deeds, district attorneys, and all other county officers except judicial officers, shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties once in every two years. Sheriffs shall hold no other office, and shall not serve more than two terms or parts thereof in succession; they may be required by law to renew their security from time to time, and in default of giving such new security their office shall be deemed vacant, but the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, giving to such a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. All vacancies shall be filled by appointment, and the person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold only for the unexpired portion of the term to which he shall be appointed and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. [1927 AJR-8; 1929 AJR-8]

County officers. SECTION 4. [As amended November 1882] Sheriffs, coroners, registers of deeds, district attorneys, and all other county officers, except judicial officers shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties, once in every two years. Sheriffs shall hold no other office and be ineligible for two years next succeeding the termination of their offices; they may be required by law to renew their security from time to time, and in default of giving such new security their office shall be deemed vacant, but the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, giving to such a copy of the charges against him and an opportunity of being heard in his defense. All vacancies shall be filled by appointment and the person appointed to fill a vacancy shall hold only for the unexpired portion of the term to which he shall be appointed, and until his successor shall be elected and qualified. [1881 AJR-16; 1882 SJR-20; 1882 c. 290]

County officers. SECTION 4. [Original form] Sheriffs, coroners, registers of deeds and district attorneys shall be chosen by the electors of the respective counties, once in every two years, and as often as vacancies shall happen; sheriffs shall hold no other office, and be ineligible for two years next succeeding the termination of their offices. They may be required by law, to renew their security from time to time; and in default of giving such new security, their offices shall be deemed vacant. But the county shall never be made responsible for the acts of the sheriff. The governor may remove any officer in this section mentioned, giving to such officer a copy of the charges against him, and an opportunity of being heard in his defence.

ARTICLE VII. JUDICIARY

Impeachment; trial. SECTION 1. [As amended November 1932] The court for the trial of impeachments shall be composed of the senate. The assembly shall have the power of impeaching all civil officers of this state for corrupt conduct in office, or for crimes and misdemeanors; but a majority of all the members elected shall concur in an impeachment. On the trial of an impeachment against the governor, the lieutenant governor shall not act as a member of the court. No judicial officer shall exercise his office, after he shall have been impeached, until his acquittal. Before the trial of an impeachment the members of the court shall take an oath or affirmation truly and impartially to try the impeachment according to evidence; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, or removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, profit or trust under the state; but the party impeached shall be liable to indictment, trial and punishment according to law. [1929 SJR-103; 1931 SJR-8]

Impeachments. SECTION 1. [Original form] The court for the trial of impeachments shall be composed of the senate. The house of representatives shall have the power of impeaching all civil officers of this state, for corrupt conduct in office, or for crimes and misdemeanors; but a majority of all the members elected shall concur in an impeachment. On the trial of an impeachment against the governor, the lieutenant governor shall not act as a member of the court. No judicial officer shall exercise his office, after he shall have been impeached, until his acquittal. Before the trial of an impeachment, the members of the court shall take an oath or affirmation, truly and impartially to try the impeachment according to evidence; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present. Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, or removal from office and disqualification to hold any office of honor, profit or trust under the state; but the party impeached shall be liable to indictment, trial and punishment according to law.

Court system. SECTION 2. [As amended April 1977] The judicial power of this state shall be vested in a unified court system consisting of one supreme court, a court of appeals, a circuit court, such trial courts of general uniform statewide jurisdiction as the legislature may create by law, and a municipal court if authorized by the legislature under section 14. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Judicial power, where vested. SECTION 2. [As amended April 1966] The judicial power of this state, both as to matters of law and equity, shall be vested in a supreme court, circuit courts, and courts of probate. The legislature may also vest such jurisdiction as shall be deemed necessary in municipal courts, and may authorize the establishment of inferior courts in the several counties, cities, villages or towns, with limited civil and criminal jurisdiction. Provided, that the jurisdiction which may be vested in municipal courts shall not exceed in their respective municipalities that of circuit courts in their respective circuits as prescribed in this constitution; and that the legislature shall provide as well for the election of judges of the municipal courts as of the judges of inferior courts, by the qualified electors of the respective jurisdictions. The term of office of the judges of the said municipal and inferior courts shall not be longer than that of the judges of the circuit courts. [1963 SJR-32; 1965 SJR-26]

Judicial power, where vested. SECTION 2. [Original form] The judicial power of this state, both as to matters of law and equity, shall be vested in a supreme court, circuit courts, courts of probate, and in justices of the peace. The legislature may also vest such jurisdiction as shall be deemed necessary in municipal courts, and shall have power to establish inferior courts in the several counties, with limited civil and criminal jurisdiction. Provided, that the jurisdiction which may be vested in municipal courts shall not exceed in their respective municipalities that of circuit courts in their respective circuits as prescribed in this constitution; and that the legislature shall provide as well for the election of judges of the municipal courts as of the judges of inferior courts, by the qualified electors of the respective jurisdictions. The term of office of the judges of the said municipal and inferior courts shall not be longer than that of the judges of the circuit courts.

Supreme court: jurisdiction. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1977] (1) The supreme court shall have superintending and administrative authority over all courts.

(2) The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction over all courts and may hear original actions and proceedings. The supreme court may issue all writs necessary in aid of its jurisdiction.

(3) The supreme court may review judgments and orders of the court of appeals, may remove cases from the court of appeals and may accept cases on certification by the court of appeals. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Supreme court, jurisdiction. SECTION 3. [Original form] The supreme court, except in cases otherwise provided in this constitution, shall have appellate jurisdiction only, which shall be coextensive with the state; but in no case removed to the supreme court shall a trial by jury be allowed.

The supreme court shall have a general superintending control over all inferior courts; it shall have power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, injunction, quo warranto, certiorari, and other original and remedial writs, and to hear and determine the same.

Supreme court: election, chief justice, court system administration. SECTION 4. [As amended April 1977] (1) The supreme court shall have 7 members who shall be known as justices of the supreme court. Justices shall be elected for 10-year terms of office commencing with the August 1 next succeeding the election. Only one justice may be elected in any year. Any 4 justices shall constitute a quorum for the conduct of the court's business.

(2) The justice having been longest a continuous member of said court, or in case 2 or more such justices shall have served for the same length of time, the justice whose term first expires, shall be the chief justice. The justice so designated as chief justice may, irrevocably, decline to serve as chief justice or resign as chief justice but continue to serve as a justice of the supreme court.

(3) The chief justice of the supreme court shall be the administrative head of the judicial system and shall exercise this administrative authority pursuant to procedures adopted by the supreme court. The chief justice may assign any judge of a court of record to aid in the proper disposition of judicial business in any court of record except the supreme court. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Supreme court justices; term; election; quorum. SECTION 1 [4]. [As amended April 1903] The chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court shall be severally known as the justices of said court, with the same terms of office of ten years respectively as now provided. The supreme court shall consist of seven justices, any four of whom shall be a quorum, to be elected as now provided, not more than one each year. The justice having been longest a continuous member of said court, or in case two or more such senior justices shall have served for the same length of time, then the one whose commission first expires shall be ex officio, the chief justice. [1901 AJR-33; 1903 AJR-5; 1903 c. 10]

Supreme court, how constituted. SECTION 1 [4]. [As amended April 1889] The chief justice and associate justices of the supreme court shall be severally known as justices of said court with the same terms of office, respectively, as now provided. The supreme court shall consist of five justices (any three of whom shall be a quorum), to be elected as now provided. The justice having been longest a continuous member of the court (or in case two or more of such senior justices having served for the same length of time, then the one whose commission first expires), shall be ex officio the chief justice. [1887 SJR-19; 1889 AJR-7; 1889 c. 22]

Supreme court, how constituted. SECTION 4. [As amended November 1877] The supreme court shall consist of one chief justice and four associate justices, to be elected by the qualified electors of the state. The legislature shall at its first session after the adoption of this amendment provide by law for the election of two associate justices of said court to hold their offices respectively for terms ending two and four years respectively after the end of the term of the justice of the said court, then last to expire. And thereafter the chief justice and associate justices of the said court shall be elected and hold their offices respectively for the term of ten years. [1876 SJR-16; 1877 SJR-2; 1877 c. 48]

Supreme court, how constituted. SECTION 4. [Original form] For the term of five years, and thereafter until the legislature shall otherwise provide, the judges of the several circuit courts, shall be judges of the supreme court, four of whom shall constitute a quorum, and the concurrence of a majority of the judges present shall be necessary to a decision. The legislature shall have power, if they should think it expedient and necessary to provide by law, for the organization of a separate supreme court, with the jurisdiction and powers prescribed in this constitution, to consist of one chief justice, and two associate justices, to be elected by the qualified electors of the state, at such time and in such manner as the legislature may provide. The separate supreme court when so organized, shall not be changed or discontinued by the legislature; the judges thereof shall be so classified that but one of them shall go out of office at the same time; and their term of office shall be the same as is provided for the judges of the circuit court. And whenever the legislature may consider it necessary to establish a separate supreme court, they shall have power to reduce the number of circuit court judges to four, and subdivide the judicial circuits, but no such subdivision or reduction shall take effect until after the expiration of the term of some one of said judges, or till a vacancy occur by some other means.

SECTION 5. [Repealed. 1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9; vote April 1977]

Judicial circuits. SECTION 5. [Original form] The state shall be divided into five judicial circuits, to be composed as follows: The first circuit shall comprise the counties of Racine, Walworth, Rock and Green; the second circuit, the counties of Milwaukee, Waukesha, Jefferson and Dane; the third circuit, the counties of Washington, Dodge, Columbia, Marquette, Sauk and Portage; the fourth circuit, the counties of Brown, Manitowoc, Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Winnebago and Calumet; and the fifth circuit shall comprise the counties of Iowa, LaFayette, Grant, Crawford and St. Croix; and the county of Richland shall be attached to Iowa, the county of Chippewa to the county of Crawford, and the county of La Pointe to the county of St. Croix, for judicial purposes, until otherwise provided by the legislature.

Court of appeals. SECTION 5. [Created April 1977] [1] The legislature shall by law combine the judicial circuits of the state into one or more districts for the court of appeals and shall designate in each district the locations where the appeals court shall sit for the convenience of litigants.

(2) For each district of the appeals court there shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the district one or more appeals judges as prescribed by law, who shall sit as prescribed by law. Appeals judges shall be elected for 6-year terms and shall reside in the district from which elected. No alteration of district or circuit boundaries shall have the effect of removing an appeals judge from office during the judge's term. In case of an increase in the number of appeals judges, the first judge or judges shall be elected for full terms unless the legislature prescribes a shorter initial term for staggering of terms.

(3) The appeals court shall have such appellate jurisdiction in the district, including jurisdiction to review administrative proceedings, as the legislature may provide by law, but shall have no original jurisdiction other than by prerogative writ. The appeals court may issue all writs necessary in aid of its jurisdiction and shall have supervisory authority over all actions and proceedings in the courts in the districts. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Circuit court: boundaries. SECTION 6. [As amended April 1977] The legislature shall prescribe by law the number of judicial circuits, making them as compact and convenient as practicable, and bounding them by county lines. No alteration of circuit boundaries shall have the effect of removing a circuit judge from office during the judge's term. In case of an increase of circuits, the first judge or judges shall be elected. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Alteration of circuits. SECTION 6. [Original form] The legislature may alter the limits or increase the number of circuits, making them as compact and convenient as practicable, and bounding them by county lines; but no such alteration or increase shall have the effect to remove a judge from office. In case of an increase of circuits, the judge or judges shall be elected as provided in this constitution and receive a salary of not less than that herein provided for judges of the circuit court.

Circuit court: election. SECTION 7. [As amended April 1977] For each circuit there shall be chosen by the qualified electors thereof one or more circuit judges as prescribed by law. Circuit judges shall be elected for 6-year terms and shall reside in the circuit from which elected. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Circuit judges; election, eligibility, term, salary. SECTION 7. [As amended November 1924] For each circuit there shall be chosen by the qualified electors thereof one circuit judge, except that in any circuit in which there is a county that had a population in excess of eighty-five thousand, according to the last state or United States census, the legislature may, from time to time, authorize additional circuit judges to be chosen. Every circuit judge shall reside in the circuit from which he is elected, and shall hold his office for such term and receive such compensation as the legislature shall prescribe. [1921 SJR-24; 1923 SJR-27; 1923 c. 408]

Circuit judges, election. SECTION 7. [As amended April 1897] For each circuit there shall be chosen by the qualified electors thereof, one circuit judge, except that in any circuit composed of one county only, which county shall contain a population, according to the last state or United States census, of one hundred thousand inhabitants or over, the legislature may from time to time authorize additional circuit judges to be chosen. Every circuit judge shall reside in the circuit from which he is elected and shall hold his office for such term and receive such compensation as the legislature shall prescribe. [1895 SJR-9; 1897 SJR-10; 1897 c. 69]

Circuit judges, election. SECTION 7. [Original form] For each circuit there shall be a judge chosen by the qualified electors therein, who shall hold his office as is provided in this constitution, and until his successor shall be chosen and qualified; and after he shall have been elected, he shall reside in the circuit for which he was elected. One of said judges shall be designated as chief justice in such manner as the legislature shall provide. And the legislature shall at its first session provide by law as well for the election of, as for classifying the judges of the circuit court to be elected under this constitution, in such manner that one of said judges shall go out of office in two years, one in three years, one in four years, one in five years and one in six years, and thereafter the judge elected to fill the office shall hold the same for six years.

Circuit court: jurisdiction. SECTION 8. [As amended April 1977] Except as otherwise provided by law, the circuit court shall have original jurisdiction in all matters civil and criminal within this state and such appellate jurisdiction in the circuit as the legislature may prescribe by law. The circuit court may issue all writs necessary in aid of its jurisdiction. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Circuit court, jurisdiction. SECTION 8. [Original form] The circuit courts shall have original jurisdiction in all matters civil and criminal within this state, not excepted in this constitution, and not hereafter prohibited by law; and appellate jurisdiction from all inferior courts and tribunals, and a supervisory control over the same. They shall also have the power to issue writs of habeas corpus, mandamus, injunction, quo warranto, certiorari, and all other writs necessary to carry into effect their orders, judgments and decrees, and give them a general control over inferior courts and jurisdictions.

Judicial elections, vacancies. SECTION 9. [As amended April 1977] When a vacancy occurs in the office of justice of the supreme court or judge of any court of record, the vacancy shall be filled by appointment by the governor, which shall continue until a successor is elected and qualified. There shall be no election for a justice or judge at the partisan general election for state or county officers, nor within 30 days either before or after such election. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Vacancies; judicial elections. SECTION 9. [As amended April 1953] When a vacancy shall happen in the office of judge of the supreme or circuit courts, such vacancy shall be filled by an appointment of the governor, which shall continue until a successor is elected and qualified; and a supreme court justice when so elected shall hold his office for a term of 10 years and a circuit judge when so elected shall hold his office for such term as the legislature prescribes for circuit judges elected under section seven of this article. There shall be no election for a judge or judges at any general election for state or county officers, nor within 30 days either before or after such election. [1951 SJR-3; 1953 SJR-5]

Vacancies; judicial elections. SECTION 9. [Original form] When a vacancy shall happen in the office of judge of the supreme or circuit courts, such vacancy shall be filled by an appointment of the governor, which shall continue until a successor is elected and qualified; and when elected such successor shall hold his office the residue of the unexpired term. There shall be no election for a judge or judges at any general election for state or county officers, nor within thirty days either before or after such election.

Judges: eligibility to office. SECTION 10. [As amended April 1977] (1) No justice of the supreme court or judge of any court of record shall hold any other office of public trust, except a judicial office, during the term for which elected. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge who shall not, at the time of election or appointment, be a qualified elector within the jurisdiction for which chosen.

(2) Justices of the supreme court and judges of the courts of record shall receive such compensation as the legislature may authorize by law, but may not receive fees of office. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Compensation and qualifications of judges. SECTION 10. [As amended November 1912] Each of the judges of the supreme and circuit courts shall receive a salary, payable at such time as the legislature shall fix, of not less than one thousand five hundred dollars annually; they shall receive no fees of office, or other compensation than their salary; they shall hold no office of public trust, except a judicial office, during the term for which they are respectively elected, and all votes for either of them for any office, except a judicial office, given by the legislature or the people, shall be void. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge who shall not, at the time of his election, be a citizen of the United States and have attained the age of twenty-five years, and be a qualified elector within the jurisdiction for which he may be chosen. [1909 AJR-36; 1911 AJR-26; 1911 c. 665]

Terms of courts; change of judges. SECTION 11. [Original form] The supreme court shall hold at least one term annually, at the seat of government of the state, at such time as shall be provided by law. And the legislature may provide for holding other terms and at other places when they may deem it necessary. A circuit court shall be held at least twice in each year in each county of this state organized for judicial purposes. The judges of the circuit court may hold courts for each other, and shall do so when required by law.

Compensation and qualifications of judges. SECTION 10. [Original form] Each of the judges of the supreme and circuit courts shall receive a salary, payable quarterly, of not less than one thousand five hundred dollars annually; they shall receive no fees of office, or other compensation than their salaries; they shall hold no office of public trust, except a judicial office, during the term for which they are respectively elected, and all votes for either of them for any office, except a judicial office, given by the legislature or the people, shall be void. No person shall be eligible to the office of judge, who shall not, at the time of his election, be a citizen of the United States, and have attained the age of twenty-five years, and be a qualified elector within the jurisdiction for which he may be chosen.

Disciplinary proceedings. SECTION 11. [Created April 1977] Each justice or judge shall be subject to reprimand, censure, suspension, removal for cause or for disability, by the supreme court pursuant to procedures established by the legislature by law. No justice or judge removed for cause shall be eligible for reappointment or temporary service. This section is alternative to, and cumulative with, the methods of removal provided in sections 1 and 13 of this article and section 12 of article XIII. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Clerks of circuit and supreme courts. SECTION 12. [As amended November 1882] There shall be a clerk of the circuit court chosen in each county organized for judicial purposes by the qualified electors thereof, who shall hold his office for two years, subject to removal as shall be provided by law; in case of a vacancy, the judge of the circuit court shall have power to appoint a clerk until the vacancy shall be filled by an election; the clerk thus elected or appointed shall give such security as the legislature may require. The supreme court shall appoint its own clerk, and a clerk of the circuit court may be appointed a clerk of the supreme court. [1881 AJR-16; 1882 SJR-20; 1882 c. 290]

Clerks of courts. SECTION 12. [Original form] There shall be a clerk of the circuit court chosen in each county organized for judicial purposes, by the qualified electors thereof, who shall hold his office for two years, subject to removal, as shall be provided by law. In case of a vacancy, the judge of the circuit court shall have the power to appoint a clerk until the vacancy shall be filled by an election. The clerk thus elected or appointed shall give such security as the legislature may require; and when elected shall hold his office for a full term. The supreme court shall appoint its own clerk, and the clerk of a circuit court may be appointed clerk of the supreme court.

Justices and judges: removal by address. SECTION 13. [As amended April 1977] Any justice or judge may be removed from office by address of both houses of the legislature, if two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concur therein, but no removal shall be made by virtue of this section unless the justice or judge complained of is served with a copy of the charges, as the ground of address, and has had an opportunity of being heard. On the question of removal, the ayes and noes shall be entered on the journals. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Removal of judges. SECTION 13. [As amended April 1974] Any judge of the supreme, circuit, county or municipal court may be removed from office by address of both houses of the legislature, if two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concur therein, but no removal shall be made by virtue of this section unless the judge complained of shall have been served with a copy of the charges against him, as the ground of address, and shall have had an opportunity of being heard in his defense. On the question of removal, the ayes and noes shall be entered on the journals. [1971 AJR-31; 1973 AJR-55]

Removal of judges. SECTION 13. [Original form] Any judge of the supreme or circuit court may be removed from office by address of both houses of the legislature, if two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concur therein, but no removal shall be made by virtue of this section unless the judge complained of shall have been served with a copy of the charges against him, as the ground of address, and shall have had an opportunity of being heard in his defense. On the question of removal, the ayes and noes shall be entered on the journals.

Municipal court. SECTION 14. [As amended April 1977] The legislature by law may authorize each city, village and town to establish a municipal court. All municipal courts shall have uniform jurisdiction limited to actions and proceedings arising under ordinances of the municipality in which established. Judges of municipal courts may receive such compensation as provided by the municipality in which established, but may not receive fees of office. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Judges of probate. SECTION 14. [Original form] There shall be chosen in each county, by the qualified electors thereof, a judge of probate, who shall hold his office for two years and until his successor shall be elected and qualified, and whose jurisdiction, powers and duties shall be prescribed by law. Provided, however, that the legislature shall have power to abolish the office of judge of probate in any county, and to confer probate powers upon such inferior courts as may be established in said county.

Justices of the peace. SECTION 15. [As amended April 1945] The electors of the several towns at their annual town meeting, and the electors of cities and villages at their charter elections except in cities of the first class, shall, in such manner as the legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be for 2 years and until their successors in office shall be elected and qualified. In case of an election to fill a vacancy occurring before the expiration of a full term, the justice elected shall hold for the residue of the unexpired term. Their number and classification shall be regulated by law. And the tenure of 2 years shall in no wise interfere with the classification in the first instance. The justices thus elected shall have such civil and criminal jurisdiction as shall be prescribed by law. [1943 SJR-9; 1945 SJR-6]

Justices of the peace. SECTION 15. [Original form] The electors of the several towns, at their annual town meeting, and the electors of cities and villages, at their charter elections, shall in such manner as the legislature may direct, elect justices of the peace, whose term of office shall be for two years, and until their successors in office shall be elected and qualified. In case of an election to fill a vacancy, occurring before the expiration of a full term, the justice elected shall hold for the residue of the unexpired term. Their number and classification shall be regulated by law. And the tenure of two years shall in no wise interfere with the classification in the first instance. The justices, thus elected, shall have such civil and criminal jurisdiction as shall be prescribed by law.

Tribunals of conciliation. SECTION 16. [Original form] The legislature shall pass laws for the regulation of tribunals of conciliation, defining their powers and duties. Such tribunals may be established in and for any township, and shall have power to render judgment to be obligatory on the parties when they shall voluntarily submit their matter in difference to arbitration, and agree to abide the judgment or assent thereto in writing.

SECTION 17. [Repealed. 1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9; vote April 1977]

Style of writs; indictments. SECTION 17. [Original form] The style of all writs and process shall be, "The state of Wisconsin;" all criminal prosecutions shall be carried on in the name and by the authority of the same, and all indictments shall conclude against the peace and dignity of the state.

SECTION 18. [Repealed. 1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9; vote April 1977]

Suit tax. SECTION 18. [Original form] The legislature shall impose a tax on all civil suits commenced or prosecuted in the municipal, inferior or circuit courts, which shall constitute a fund to be applied toward the payment of the salary of judges.

SECTION 19. [Repealed. 1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9; vote April 1977]

Testimony in equity suits; master in chancery. SECTION 19. [Original form] The testimony in causes in equity shall be taken in like manner as in cases at law, and the office of master in chancery is hereby prohibited.

SECTION 20. [Repealed. 1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9; vote April 1977] See Art. I, sec. 21.

Rights of suitors. SECTION 20. [Original form] Any suitor, in any court of this state, shall have the right to prosecute or defend his suit either in his own proper person, or by an attorney or agent of his choice.

SECTION 21. [Repealed. 1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9; vote April 1977] See Art. IV, sec. 17.

Publication of laws and decisions. SECTION 21. [Original form] The legislature shall provide by law for the speedy publication of all statute laws, and of such judicial decisions, made within the state, as may be deemed expedient. And no general law shall be in force until published.

SECTION 22. [Repealed. 1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9; vote April 1977]

Commissioners to revise code of practice. SECTION 22. [Original form] The legislature, at its first session after the adoption of this constitution, shall provide for the appointment of three commissioners, whose duty it shall be to inquire into, revise and simplify the rules of practice, pleadings, forms and proceedings, and arrange a system adapted to the courts of record of this state, and report the same to the legislature, subject to their modification and adoption; and such commission shall terminate upon the rendering of the report, unless otherwise provided by law.

SECTION 23. [Repealed. 1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9; vote April 1977]

Court commissioners. SECTION 23. [Original form] The legislature may provide for the appointment of one or more persons in each organized county, and may vest in such persons such judicial powers as shall be prescribed by law. Provided, that said power shall not exceed that of a judge of a circuit court at chambers.

Justices and judges: eligibility for office; retirement. SECTION 24. [As amended April 1977] (1) To be eligible for the office of supreme court justice or judge of any court of record, a person must be an attorney licensed to practice law in this state and have been so licensed for 5 years immediately prior to election or appointment.

(2) Unless assigned temporary service under subsection (3), no person may serve as a supreme court justice or judge of a court of record beyond the July 31 following the date on which such person attains that age, of not less than 70 years, which the legislature shall prescribe by law.

(3) A person who has served as a supreme court justice or judge of a court of record may, as provided by law, serve as a judge of any court of record except the supreme court on a temporary basis if assigned by the chief justice of the supreme court. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

Retirement and eligibility for office of justices and circuit judges. SECTION 24. [As amended April 1968] No person seventy years of age or over may take office as a supreme court justice or circuit judge. No person may take or hold such office unless he is licensed to practice law in this state and has been so licensed for five years immediately prior to his election or appointment. No supreme court justice or circuit judge may serve beyond the July 31 following the date on which he attains the age of seventy. A person who has served eight or more years as a supreme court justice or circuit judge may serve temporarily, on appointment by the chief justice of the supreme court or by any associate justice designated by the supreme court, as a judge of a circuit court, under such general laws as the legislature may enact. [1965 SJR-36; 1967 SJR-96]

Retirement and eligibility for office of justices and circuit judges. SECTION 24. [Created April 1955] No person seventy years of age or over may take office as a supreme court justice or circuit judge. No person may take or hold such office unless he is licensed to practice law in this state and has been so licensed for five years immediately prior to his election or appointment. No supreme court justice or circuit judge may serve beyond the end of the month in which he attains the age of seventy, but any such justice or judge may complete the term in which he is serving or to which he has been elected when this section takes effect. Any person retired under the provisions of this section may, at the request of the chief justice of the supreme court, serve temporarily as a circuit judge and shall be compensated as the legislature provides. This section shall take effect on July first following the referendum at which it is approved. [1953 SJR-6; 1955 SJR-10]

FINANCE

Rule of taxation uniform; income, privilege and occupation taxes. SECTION 1. [As amended April 1974] The rule of taxation shall be uniform but the legislature may empower cities, villages or towns to collect and return taxes on real estate located therein by optional methods. Taxes shall be levied upon such property with such classifications as to forests and minerals including or separate or severed from the land, as the legislature shall prescribe. Taxation of agricultural land and undeveloped land, both as defined by law, need not be uniform with the taxation of each other nor with the taxation of other real property. Taxation of merchants' stock-in-trade, manufacturers' materials and finished products, and livestock need not be uniform with the taxation of real property and other personal property, but the taxation of all such merchants' stock-in-trade, manufacturers' materials and finished products and livestock shall be uniform, except that the legislature may provide that the value thereof shall be determined on an average basis. Taxes may also be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and reasonable exemptions may be provided. [1971 AJR-2; 1973 AJR-1]

Rule of taxation uniform; income, privilege and occupation taxes. SECTION 1. [As amended April 1961] The rule of taxation shall be uniform but the legislature may empower cities, villages or towns to collect and return taxes on real estate located therein by optional methods. Taxes shall be levied upon such property with such classifications as to forests and minerals including or separate or severed from the land, as the legislature shall prescribe. Taxation of merchants' stock-in-trade, manufacturers' materials and finished products, and livestock need not be uniform with the taxation of real property and other personal property, but the taxation of all such merchants' stock-in-trade, manufacturers' materials and finished products and livestock shall be uniform, except that the legislature may provide that the value thereof shall be determined on an average basis. Taxes may also be imposed on incomes; privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and reasonable exemptions may be provided. [1959 AJR-120; 1961 SJR-34]

Rule of taxation uniform; income, privilege and occupation taxes. SECTION 1. [As amended April 1941]. The rule of taxation shall be uniform but the legislature may empower cities, villages or towns to collect and return taxes on real estate located therein by optional methods. Taxes shall be levied upon such property with such classifications as to forests and minerals including or separate or severed from the land, as the legislature shall prescribe. Taxes may also be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and reasonable exemptions may be provided. [1939 AJR-37; 1941 AJR-15]

Rules of taxation; income taxes. SECTION 1. [As amended April 1927] The rule of taxation shall be uniform, and taxes shall be levied upon such property with such classifications as to forests and minerals, including or separate or severed from the land, as the legislature shall prescribe. Taxes may also be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and reasonable exemptions may be provided. [1925 AJR-51; 1927 AJR-3]

Uniform rule of taxation; income tax. SECTION 1. [As amended November 1908] The rule of taxation shall be uniform, and taxes shall be levied upon such property as the legislature shall prescribe. Taxes may also be imposed on incomes, privileges and occupations, which taxes may be graduated and progressive, and reasonable exemptions may be provided. [1905 AJR-12; 1907 SJR-19; 1907 c. 661]

Uniform rule of taxation. SECTION 1. [Original form] The rule of taxation shall be uniform, and taxes shall be levied upon such property as the legislature shall prescribe.

Appropriation; limitation. SECTION 2. [As amended November 1877] No money shall be paid out of the treasury except in pursuance of an appropriation by law. No appropriation shall be made for the payment of any claim against the state except claims of the United States and judgments, unless filed within six years after the claim accrued. [1876 SJR-14; 1877 SJR-5; 1877 c. 158]

Appropriations. SECTION 2. [Original form] No money shall be paid out of the treasury, except in pursuance of an appropriation by law.

Credit of state. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1975] Except as provided in s. 7 (2) (a), the credit of the state shall never be given, or loaned, in aid of any individual, association or corporation. [1973 AJR-145; 1975 AJR-1]

Credit of state. SECTION 3. [Original form] The credit of the state shall never be given, or loaned, in aid of any individual, association or corporation.

Contracting state debts. SECTION 4. The state shall never contract any public debt except in the cases and manner herein provided.

Annual tax levy to equal expenses. SECTION 5. The legislature shall provide for an annual tax sufficient to defray the estimated expenses of the state for each year, and whenever the expenses of any year shall exceed the income, the legislature shall provide for levying a tax for the ensuing year, sufficient, with other sources of income, to pay the deficiency as well as the estimated expenses of such ensuing year.

Public debt for extraordinary expense; taxation. SECTION 6. For the purpose of defraying extraordinary expenditures the state may contract public debts (but such debts shall never in the aggregate exceed one hundred thousand dollars). Every such debt shall be authorized by law, for some purpose or purposes to be distinctly specified therein; and the vote of a majority of all the members elected to each house, to be taken by yeas and nays, shall be necessary to the passage of such law; and every such law shall provide for levying an annual tax sufficient to pay the annual interest of such debt and the principal within five years from the passage of such law, and shall specially appropriate the proceeds of such taxes to the payment of such principal and interest; and such appropriation shall not be repealed, nor the taxes be postponed or diminished, until the principal and interest of such debt shall have been wholly paid.

Public debt for public defense; bonding for public purposes. SECTION 7. [As amended April 1975] (1) The legislature may also borrow money to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the state in time of war; but the money thus raised shall be applied exclusively to the object for which the loan was authorized, or to the repayment of the debt thereby created.

(2) Any other provision of this constitution to the contrary notwithstanding:

(a) The state may contract public debt and pledges to the payment thereof its full faith, credit and taxing power:

1. To acquire, construct, develop, extend, enlarge or improve land, waters, property, highways, buildings, equipment or facilities for public purposes.

2. To make funds available for veterans' housing loans.

(b) The aggregate public debt contracted by the state in any calendar year pursuant to paragraph (a) shall not exceed an amount equal to the lesser of:

1. Three-fourths of one per centum of the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state; or

2. Five per centum of the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state less the sum of: a. the aggregate public debt of the state contracted pursuant to this section outstanding as of January 1 of such calendar year after subtracting therefrom the amount of sinking funds on hand on January 1 of such calendar year which are applicable exclusively to repayment of such outstanding public debt and, b. the outstanding indebtedness as of January 1 of such calendar year of any entity of the type described in paragraph (d) to the extent that such indebtedness is supported by or payable from payments out of the treasury of the state.

(c) The state may contract public debt, without limit, to fund or refund the whole or any part of any public debt contracted pursuant to paragraph (a), including any premium payable with respect thereto and any interest to accrue thereon, or to fund or refund the whole or any part of any indebtedness incurred prior to January 1, 1972, by any entity of the type described in paragraph (d), including any premium payable with respect thereto and any interest to accrue thereon.

(d) No money shall be paid out of the treasury, with respect to any lease, sublease or other agreement entered into after January 1, 1971, to the Wisconsin State Agencies Building Corporation, Wisconsin State Colleges Building Corporation, Wisconsin State Public Building Corporation, Wisconsin University Building Corporation or any similar entity existing or operating for similar purposes pursuant to which such nonprofit corporation or such other entity undertakes to finance or provide a facility for use or occupancy by the state or an agency, department or instrumentality thereof.

(e) The legislature shall prescribe all matters relating to the contracting of public debt pursuant to paragraph (a), including: the public purposes for which public debt may be contracted; by vote of a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses of the legislature, the amount of public debt which may be contracted for any class of such purposes; the public debt or other indebtedness which may be funded or refunded; the kinds of notes, bonds or other evidence of public debt which may be issued by the state; and the manner in which the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state shall be determined.

(f) The full faith, credit and taxing power of the state are pledged to the payment of all public debt created on behalf of the state pursuant to this section and the legislature shall provide by appropriation for the payment of the interest upon and instalments of principal of all such public debt as the same falls due, but, in any event, suit may be brought against the state to compel such payment.

(g) At any time after January 1, 1972, by vote of a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses of the legislature, the legislature may declare that an emergency exists and submit to the people a proposal to authorize the state to contract a specific amount of public debt for a purpose specified in such proposal, without regard to the limit provided in paragraph (b). Any such authorization shall be effective if approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon. Public debt contracted pursuant to such authorization shall thereafter be deemed to have been contracted pursuant to paragraph (a), but neither such public debt nor any public debt contracted to fund or refund such public debt shall be considered in computing the debt limit provided in paragraph (b). Not more than one such authorization shall be thus made in any 2-year period. [1973 AJR-145; 1975 AJR-1]

Public debt for public defense; bonding for public purposes. SECTION 7. [As amended April 1969] (1) The legislature may also borrow money to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the state in time of war; but the money thus raised shall be applied exclusively to the object for which the loan was authorized, or to the repayment of the debt thereby created.

(2) Any other provision of this constitution to the contrary notwithstanding:

(a) The state may contract public debt and pledges to the payment thereof its full faith, credit and taxing power to acquire, construct, develop, extend, enlarge or improve land, waters, property, highways, buildings, equipment or facilities for public purposes.

(b) The aggregate public debt contracted by the state in any calendar year pursuant to paragraph (a) shall not exceed an amount equal to the lesser of:

1. Three-fourths of one per centum of the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state; or

2. Five per centum of the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state less the sum of: a. the aggregate public debt of the state contracted pursuant to this section outstanding as of January 1 of such calendar year after subtracting therefrom the amount of sinking funds on hand on January 1 of such calendar year which are applicable exclusively to repayment of such outstanding public debt and, b. the outstanding indebtedness as of January 1 of such calendar year of any entity of the type described in paragraph (d) to the extent that such indebtedness is supported by or payable from payments out of the treasury of the state.

(c) The state may contract public debt, without limit, to fund or refund the whole or any part of any public debt contracted pursuant to paragraph (a), including any premium payable with respect thereto and any interest to accrue thereon, or to fund or refund the whole or any part of any indebtedness incurred prior to January 1, 1972, by any entity of the type described in paragraph (d), including any premium payable with respect thereto and any interest to accrue thereon.

(d) No money shall be paid out of the treasury, with respect to any lease, sublease or other agreement entered into after January 1, 1971, to the Wisconsin State Agencies Building Corporation, Wisconsin State Colleges Building Corporation, Wisconsin State Public Building Corporation, Wisconsin University Building Corporation or any similar entity existing or operating for similar purposes pursuant to which such nonprofit corporation or such other entity undertakes to finance or provide a facility for use or occupancy by the state or an agency, department or instrumentality thereof.

(e) The legislature shall prescribe all matters relating to the contracting of public debt pursuant to paragraph (a), including: the public purposes for which public debt may be contracted; by vote of a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses of the legislature, the amount of public debt which may be contracted for any class of such purposes; the public debt or other indebtedness which may be funded or refunded; the kinds of notes, bonds or other evidence of public debt which may be issued by the state; and the manner in which the aggregate value of all taxable property in the state shall be determined.

(f) The full faith, credit and taxing power of the state are pledged to the payment of all public debt created on behalf of the state pursuant to this section and the legislature shall provide by appropriation for the payment of the interest upon and instalments of principal of all such public debt as the same falls due, but, in any event, suit may be brought against the state to compel such payment.

(g) At any time after January 1, 1972, by vote of a majority of the members elected to each of the 2 houses of the

Vote on fiscal bills; quorum. SECTION 8. On the passage in either house of the legislature of any law which imposes, continues or renews a tax, or creates a debt or charge, or makes, continues or renews an appropriation of public or trust money, or releases, discharges or commutes a claim or demand of the state, the question shall be taken by yeas and nays, which shall be duly entered on the journal; and three-fifths of all the members elected to such house shall in all such cases be required to constitute a quorum therein.

Evidences of public debt. SECTION 9. No scrip, certificate, or other evidence of state debt, whatsoever, shall be issued, except for such debts as are authorized by the sixth and seventh sections of this article.

Internal improvements. SECTION 10. [As amended April 1968] The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the state may carry on such particular works and shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion. Provided, that the state may appropriate money in the treasury or to be thereafter raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways or the development, improvement and construction of airports or other aeronautical projects or the acquisition, improvement or construction of veterans' housing or the improvement of port facilities. Provided, that the state may appropriate moneys for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and developing the forests of the state; of the moneys appropriated under the authority of this section in any one year an amount not to exceed two-tenths of one mill of the taxable property of the state as determined by the last preceding state assessment may be raised by a tax on property. [1965 SJR-28; 1967 SJR-18]

Internal improvements. SECTION 10. [As amended April 1960] The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the state may carry on such particular works and shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion. Provided, that the state may appropriate money in the treasury or to be thereafter raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways or the development, improvement and construction of airports or other aeronautical projects or the acquisition, improvement or construction of veterans' housing or the improvement of port facilities. Provided, that the state may appropriate moneys for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and developing the forests of the state; but there shall not be appropriated under the authority of this section in any one year an amount to exceed two-tenths of one mill of the taxable property, the legislature may declare that an emergency exists and submit to the people a proposal to authorize the state to contract a specific amount of public debt for a purpose specified in such proposal, without regard to the limit provided in paragraph (b). Any such authorization shall be effective if approved by a majority of the electors voting thereon. Public debt contracted pursuant to such authorization shall thereafter be deemed to have been contracted pursuant to paragraph (a), but neither such public debt nor any public debt contracted to fund or refund such public debt shall be considered in computing the debt limit provided in paragraph (b). Not more than one such authorization shall be thus made in any 2-year period. [1967 AJR-1; 1969 AJR-1]

Public debt for public defense. SECTION 7. [Original form] The legislature may also borrow money to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the state in time of war; but the money thus raised shall be applied exclusively to the object for which the loan was authorized, or to the repayment of the debt thereby created.

Internal improvements. SECTION 10. [As amended April 1949] The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the state may carry on such particular works and shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion. Provided, that the state may appropriate money in the treasury or to be thereafter raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways or the development, improvement and construction of airports or other aeronautical projects or the acquisition, improvement or construction of veterans' housing. Provided, that the state may appropriate moneys for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and developing the forests of the state; but there shall not be appropriated under the authority of this section in any one year an amount to exceed two-tenths of one mill of the taxable property of the state as determined by the last preceding state assessment. [1948 Spec.Sess. SJR-2; 1949 SJR-5]

Internal improvements. SECTION 10. [As amended April 1945] The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the state may carry on such particular works, and shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion. Provided, that the state may appropriate money in the treasury or to be thereafter raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways or the development, improvement and construction of airports or other aeronautical projects. Provided, that the state may appropriate moneys for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and developing the forests of the state; but there shall not be appropriated under the authority of this section in any one year an amount to exceed two-tenths of one mill of the taxable property of the state as determined by the last preceding state assessment. [1943 SJR-16; 1945 SJR-7]

Internal improvements. SECTION 10. [As amended November 1924] The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works; but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvement, the state may carry on such particular works, and shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion. Provided, that the state may appropriate money in the treasury or to be thereafter raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways. Provided, that the state may appropriate moneys for the purpose of acquiring, preserving and developing the forests of the state; but there shall not be appropriated under the authority of this section in any one year an amount to exceed two-tenths of one mill of the taxable property of the state as determined by the last preceding state assessment. [1921 SJR-30; 1923 AJR-70; 1923 c. 289]

Water power and forests. SECTION 10. [Approved by voters November 1910] An amendment to Art. VIII, sec. 10, authorizing a state property tax of two-tenths of one mill to finance appropriations for acquisition and development of water power and forests was approved by 1907 SJR-43. There was no "second consideration" resolution but 1909 SB-553 enacted the proposal into law as Chap. 514, Laws of 1909. The procedure was declared invalid by the Supreme Court in State ex rel. Owen v. Donald, 160 W 21, 151 NW 331.

Public highways. [As amended November 1908, a new sentence was added at the end of the section] Provided, that the state may appropriate money in the treasury or to be thereafter raised by taxation for the construction or improvement of public highways. [1905 SJR-14; 1907 SJR-22; 1907 c. 238]

Internal improvements. SECTION 10. [Original form] The state shall never contract any debt for works of internal improvement, or be a party in carrying on such works, but whenever grants of land or other property shall have been made to the state, especially dedicated by the grant to particular works of internal improvements, the state may carry on such particular works, and shall devote thereto the avails of such grants, and may pledge or appropriate the revenues derived from such works in aid of their completion.

ARTICLE IX.

EMINENT DOMAIN AND PROPERTY OF THE STATE

Jurisdiction on rivers and lakes; navigable waters. SECTION 1. The state shall have concurrent jurisdiction on all rivers and lakes bordering on this state so far as such rivers or lakes shall form a common boundary to the state and any other state or territory now or hereafter to be formed, and bounded by the same; and the river Mississippi and the navigable waters leading into the Mississippi and St. Lawrence, and the carrying places between the same, shall be common highways and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of the state as to the citizens of the United States, without any tax, impost or duty therefor.

Territorial property. SECTION 2. The title to all lands and other property which have accrued to the territory of Wisconsin by grant, gift, purchase, forfeiture, escheat or otherwise shall vest in the state of Wisconsin.

Ultimate property in lands; escheats. SECTION 3. The people of the state, in their right of sovereignty, are declared to possess the ultimate property, in and to all lands within the jurisdiction of the state; and all lands the title to which shall fall from a defect of heirs shall revert or escheat to the people.

ARTICLE X. EDUCATION

Superintendent of public instruction. SECTION 1. [As amended November 1982] The supervision of public instruction shall be vested in a state superintendent and such other officers as the legislature shall direct; and their qualifications, powers, duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law. The state superintendent shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the state at the same time and in the same manner as members of the supreme court, and shall hold office for 4 years from the succeeding first Monday in July. The term of office, time and manner of electing or appointing all other officers of supervision of public instruction shall be fixed by law. [1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May '82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1]

Superintendent of public instruction. SECTION 1. [As amended November 1902] The supervision of public instruction shall be vested in a state superintendent and such other officers as the legislature shall direct; and their qualifications, powers, duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law. The state superintendent shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the state at the same time and in the same manner as members of the supreme court, and shall hold his office for four years from the succeeding first Monday in July. The state superintendent chosen at the general election in November, 1902, shall hold and continue in his office until the first Monday in July, 1905, and his successor shall be chosen at the time of the judicial election in April, 1905. The term of office, time and manner of electing or appointing all other officers of supervision of public instruction shall be fixed by law. [1899 SJR-21; 1901 SJR-24; 1901 c. 258]

Superintendent of public instruction. SECTION 1. [Original form] The supervision of public instruction shall be vested in a state superintendent, and such other officers as the legislature shall direct. The state superintendent shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the state, in such manner as the legislature shall provide; his powers, duties and compensation shall be prescribed by law. Provided, that his compensation shall not exceed the sum of twelve hundred dollars annually.

School fund created; income applied. SECTION 2. [As amended November 1982] The proceeds of all lands that have been or hereafter may be granted by the United States to this state for educational purposes (except the lands heretofore granted for the purpose of a university) and all moneys and the clear proceeds of all property that may accrue to the state by forfeiture or escheat; and the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several counties for any breach of the penal laws, and all moneys arising from any grant to the state where the purposes of such grant are not specified, and the 500,000 acres of land to which the state is entitled by the provisions of an act of congress, entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands and to grant pre-emption rights," approved September 4, 1841; and also the 5 percent of the net proceeds of the public lands to which the state shall become entitled on admission into the union (if congress shall consent to such appropriation of the 2 grants last mentioned) shall be set apart as a separate fund to be called "the school fund," the interest of which and all other revenues derived from the school lands shall be exclusively applied to the following objects, to wit:

(1) To the support and maintenance of common schools, in each school district, and the purchase of suitable libraries and apparatus therefor.

(2) The residue shall be appropriated to the support and maintenance of academies and normal schools, and suitable libraries and apparatus therefor. [1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1]

School fund created; income applied. SECTION 2. [Original form] The proceeds of all lands that have been or hereafter may be granted by the United States to this state for educational purposes (except the lands heretofore granted for the purpose of a university) and all moneys and the clear proceeds of all property that may accrue to the state by forfeiture or escheat, and all moneys which may be paid as an equivalent for exemption from military duty; and the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several counties for any breach of the penal laws, and all moneys arising from any grant to the state where the purposes of such grant are not specified, and the five hundred thousand acres of land to which the state is entitled by the provisions of an act of congress, entitled "An act to appropriate the proceeds of the sales of the public lands and to grant pre-emption rights," approved the fourth day of September, one thousand eight hundred and forty-one; and also the five per centum of the net proceeds of the public lands to which the state shall become entitled on her admission into the union (if congress shall consent to such appropriation of the two grants last mentioned) shall be set apart as a separate fund to be called "the school fund," the interest of which and all other revenues derived from the school lands shall be exclusively applied to the following objects, to wit:

1. To the support and maintenance of common schools, in each school district, and the purchase of suitable libraries and apparatus therefor.

2. The residue shall be appropriated to the support and maintenance of academies and normal schools, and suitable libraries and apparatus therefor.

District schools; tuition; sectarian instruction; released time. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1972] The legislature shall provide by law for the establishment of district schools, which shall be as nearly uniform as practicable; and such schools shall be free and without charge for tuition to all children between the ages of 4 and 20 years; and no sectarian instruction shall be allowed therein; but the legislature by law may, for the purpose of religious instruction outside the district schools, authorize the release of students during regular school hours. [1969 AJR-41; 1971 AJR-17]

District schools; tuition; sectarian instruction. SECTION 3. [Original form] The legislature shall provide by law for the establishment of district schools, which shall be as nearly uniform as practicable; and such schools shall be free and without charge for tuition to all children between the ages of four and twenty years; and no sectarian instruction shall be allowed therein.

Annual school tax. SECTION 4. Each town and city shall be required to raise by tax, annually, for the support of common schools therein, a sum not less than one-half the amount received by such town or city respectively for school purposes from the income of the school fund.

Income of school fund. SECTION 5. Provision shall be made by law for the distribution of the income of the school fund among the several towns and cities of the state for the support of common schools therein, in some just proportion to the number of children and youth resident therein between the ages of four and twenty years, and no appropriation shall be made from the school fund to any city or town for the year in which said city or town shall fail to raise such tax; nor to any school district for the year in which a school shall not be maintained at least three months.

State university; support. SECTION 6. Provision shall be made by law for the establishment of a state university at or near the seat of state government, and for connecting with the same, from time to time, such colleges in different parts of the state as the interests of education may require. The proceeds of all lands that have been or may hereafter be granted by the United States to the state for the support of a university shall be and remain a perpetual fund to be called "the university fund," the interest of which shall be appropriated to the support of the state university, and no sectarian instruction shall be allowed in such university.

Commissioners of public lands. SECTION 7. The secretary of state, treasurer and attorney general, shall constitute a board of commissioners for the sale of the school and university lands and for the investment of the funds arising therefrom. Any two of said commissioners shall be a quorum for the transaction of all business pertaining to the duties of their office.

Sale of public lands. SECTION 8. Provision shall be made by law for the sale of all school and university lands after they shall have been appraised; and when any portion of such lands shall be sold and the purchase money shall not be paid at the time of the sale, the commissioners shall take security by mortgage upon the lands sold for the sum remaining unpaid, with seven per cent interest thereon, payable annually at the office of the treasurer. The commissioners shall be authorized to execute a good and sufficient conveyance to all purchasers of such lands, and to discharge any mortgages taken as security, when the sum due thereon shall have been paid. The commissioners shall have power to withhold from sale any portion of such lands when they shall deem it expedient, and shall invest all moneys arising from the sale of such lands, as well as all other university and school funds, in such manner as the legislature shall provide, and shall give such security for the faithful performance of their duties as may be required by law.

ARTICLE XI. CORPORATIONS

Corporations; how formed. SECTION 1. [As amended April 1981] Corporations without banking powers or privileges may be formed under general laws, but shall not be created by special act, except for municipal purposes. All general laws or special acts enacted under the provisions of this section may be altered or repealed by the legislature at any time after their passage. [1979 AJR-53; 1981 AJR-13]

Corporations; how formed. SECTION 1. [Original form] Corporations without banking powers or privileges may be formed under general laws, but shall not be created by special act, except for municipal purposes, and in cases where, in the judgment of the legislature, the objects of the corporation cannot be attained under general laws. All general laws or special acts enacted under the provisions of this section may be altered or repealed by the legislature at any time after their passage.

Property taken by municipality. SECTION 2. [As amended April 1961] No municipal corporation shall take private property for public use, against the consent of the owner, without the necessity thereof being first established in the manner prescribed by the legislature. [1959 AJR-22; 1961 SJR-8]

Property taken by municipality. SECTION 2. [Original form] No municipal corporation shall take private property for public use, against the consent of the owner, without the necessity thereof being first established by the verdict of a jury.

Municipal home rule; debt limit; tax to pay debt. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1981] (1) Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law may determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of statewide concern as with uniformity shall affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature.

(2) No county, city, town, village, school district, sewerage district or other municipal corporation may become indebted in an amount that exceeds an allowable percentage of the taxable property located therein equalized for state purposes as provided by the legislature. In all cases the allowable percentage shall be 5 percent except as specified in pars. (a) and (b):

(a) For any city authorized to issue bonds for school purposes, an additional 10 percent shall be permitted for school purposes only, and in such cases the territory attached to the city for school purposes shall be included in the total taxable property supporting the bonds issued for school purposes.

(b) For any school district which offers no less than grades one to 12 and which at the time of incurring such debt is eligible for the highest level of school aids, 10 percent shall be permitted.

(3) Any county, city, town, village, school district, sewerage district or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness under sub. (2) shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within 20 years from the time of contracting the same.

(4) When indebtedness under sub. (2) is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties or sewerage districts having a population of 150,000 or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, or to purchase, acquire, construct, extend, add to or improve a sewage collection or treatment system which services all or a part of such city or county, the city, county or sewerage district incurring the indebtedness shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding 50 years from the time of contracting the same.

(5) An indebtedness created for the purpose of purchasing, acquiring, leasing, constructing, extending, adding to, improving, conducting, controlling, operating or managing a public utility of a town, village, city or special district, and secured solely by the property or income of such public utility, and whereby no municipal liability is created, shall not be considered an indebtedness of such town, village, city or special district, and shall not be included in arriving at the debt limitation under sub. (2). [1979 SJR-28; 1981 SJR-5]

Municipal home rule; debt limit; tax to pay debt. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1966] Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law are hereby empowered, to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of state-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature. No county, city, town, village, school district or other municipal corporation may become indebted in an amount that exceeds an allowable percentage of the taxable property located therein equalized for state purposes as provided by the legislature. In all cases the allowable percentage shall be five per centum except as follows: (a) For any city authorized to issue bonds for school purposes, an additional ten per centum shall be permitted for school purposes only, and in such cases the territory attached to the city for school purposes shall be included in the total taxable property supporting the bonds issued for school purposes. (b) For any school district which offers no less than grades one to twelve and which at the time of incurring such debt is eligible for the highest level of school aids, ten per centum shall be permitted. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same. An indebtedness created for the purpose of purchasing, acquiring, leasing, constructing, extending, adding to, improving, conducting, controlling, operating or managing a public utility of a town, village, city or special district, and secured solely by the property or income of such public utility, and whereby no municipal liability is created, shall not be considered an indebtedness of such town, village, city or special district, and shall not be included in arriving at such debt limitation. [1963 SJR-59; 1965 AJR-10]

Municipal home rule; debt limit; tax to pay debt. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1963] Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law are hereby empowered, to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of state-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature. No county, city, town, village, school district or other municipal corporation may become indebted in an amount that exceeds an allowable percentage of the taxable property located therein equalized for state purposes as provided by the legislature. In all cases the allowable percentage shall be five per centum except as follows: (a) For any city authorized to issue bonds for school purposes, an additional ten per centum shall be permitted for school purposes only, and in such cases the territory attached to the city for school purposes shall be included in the total taxable property supporting the bonds issued for school purposes. (b) For any school district which offers no less than grades one to twelve and which at the time of incurring such debt is eligible for the highest level of school aids, ten per centum shall be permitted. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same. An indebtedness created for the purpose of purchasing, acquiring, leasing, constructing, extending, adding to, improving, conducting, controlling, operating or managing a public utility of a town, village or city, and secured solely by the property or income of such public utility, and whereby no municipal liability is created, shall not be considered an indebtedness of such town, village or city, and shall not be included in arriving at such five or eight per centum debt limitation. [1961 AJR-92; 1963 AJR-19]

Municipal home rule; debt limit; tax to pay debt. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1961] Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law are hereby empowered, to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of state-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature. No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained, other than for school districts and counties having a population of 500,000 or over, by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness and for school districts and counties having a population of 500,000 or over by the value of such property as equalized for state purposes; except that for any city which is authorized to issue bonds for school purposes the total indebtedness of such city shall not exceed in the aggregate eight per centum of the value of such property as equalized for state purposes and except that for any school district offering no less than grades one to twelve and which is at the time of incurring such debt eligible for the highest level of school aids, the total indebtedness of such school district shall not exceed ten per centum of the value of such property as equalized for state purposes; the manner and method of determining such equalization for state purposes to be provided by the legislature. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same. An indebtedness created for the purpose of purchasing, acquiring, leasing, constructing, extending, adding to, improving, conducting, controlling, operating or managing a public utility of a town, village or city, and secured solely by the property or income of such public utility, and whereby no municipal liability is created, shall not be considered an indebtedness of such town, village or city, and shall not be included in arriving at such five or eight per centum debt limitation. [1959 SJR-6; 1961 AJR-1]

Municipal home rule; debt limit; tax to pay debt. SECTION 3. [As amended November 1960] Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law are hereby empowered, to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of state-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature. No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained, other than for school districts and counties having a population of 500,000 or over, by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness and for school districts and counties having a population of 500,000 or over by the value of such property as equalized for state purposes; except that for any city which is authorized to issue bonds for school purposes the total indebtedness of such city shall not exceed in the aggregate eight per centum of the value of such property as equalized for state purposes; the manner and method of determining such equalization for state purposes to be provided by the legislature. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same. Providing, that an indebtedness created for the purpose of purchasing, acquiring, leasing, constructing, extending, adding to, improving, conducting, controlling, operating or managing a public utility of a town, village or city, and secured solely by the property or income of such public utility, and whereby no municipal liability is created, shall not be considered an indebtedness of such town, village or city, and shall not be included in arriving at such five or eight per centum debt limitation. [1957 SJR-47; 1959 SJR-53]

Municipal home rule; debt limit; tax to pay debt. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1955] Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law are hereby empowered, to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of state-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature. No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained, other than for school district, by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness and for school districts by the value of such property as equalized for state purposes; except that for any city which is authorized to issue bonds for school purposes the total indebtedness of such city shall not exceed in the aggregate eight per centum of the value of such property as equalized for state purposes; the manner and method of determining such equalization for state purposes to be provided by the legislature. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same. Providing, that an indebtedness created for the purpose of purchasing, acquiring, leasing, constructing, extending, adding to, improving, conducting, controlling, operating or managing a public utility of a town, village or city, and secured solely by the property or income of such public utility, and whereby no municipal liability is created, shall not be considered an indebtedness of such town, village or city, and shall not be included in arriving at such five or eight per centum debt limitation. [1953 SJR-17; 1955 AJR-18]

Municipal home rule; debt limit; tax to pay debt. SECTION 3. [As amended April 1951] Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law are hereby empowered, to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of state-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature. No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding 5 per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness; except that for any city which is authorized to issue bonds for school purposes the total indebtedness of such city shall not exceed in the aggregate 8 per centum of the value of such property. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within 20 years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of 150,000 or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding 50 years from the time of contracting the same. Providing, that an indebtedness created for the purpose of purchasing, acquiring, leasing, constructing, extending, adding to, improving, conducting, controlling, operating or managing a public utility of a town, village or city, and secured solely by the property or income of such public utility, and whereby no municipal liability is created, shall not be considered an indebtedness of such town, village or city, and shall not be included in arriving at such 5 or 8 per centum debt limitation. [1949 SJR-11; 1951 SJR-9]

Municipal home rule; debt limit; tax to pay debt. SECTION 3. [As amended November 1932] Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law are hereby empowered, to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of state-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature. No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same. Providing, that an indebtedness created for the purpose of purchasing, acquiring, leasing, constructing, extending, adding to, improving, conducting, controlling, operating or managing a public utility of a town, village or city, and secured solely by the property or income of such public utility, and whereby no municipal liability is created, shall not be considered an indebtedness of such town, village or city, and shall not be included in arriving at such five per centum debt limitation. Municipal home rule; debt limit; tax to pay debt. SECTION 3. [As amended November 1924] Cities and villages organized pursuant to state law are hereby empowered, to determine their local affairs and government, subject only to this constitution and to such enactments of the legislature of state-wide concern as shall with uniformity affect every city or every village. The method of such determination shall be prescribed by the legislature. No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same. [1921 SJR-5; 1923 SJR-18; 1923 c. 203]

Organization of cities and villages. SECTION 3. [As amended November 1912] It shall be the duty of the legislature, and they are hereby empowered to provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages, and to restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts, and loaning their credit, so as to prevent abuses in assessments and taxation, and in contracting debts by such municipal corporations. No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount, including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein, to be ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness. Any county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall, before or at the time of doing so, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same; except that when such indebtedness is incurred in the acquisition of lands by cities, or by counties having a population of one hundred fifty thousand or over, for public, municipal purposes, or for the permanent improvement thereof, the city or county incurring the same shall, before or at the time of so doing, provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on such debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within a period not exceeding fifty years from the time of contracting the same. [1909 SJR-32; 1911 SJR-26; 1911 c. 665]

Municipal debt limit. [An amendment approved by the voters in November 1874 added two new paragraphs at the end of the section]

No county, city, town, village, school district, or other municipal corporation shall be allowed to become indebted in any manner or for any purpose to any amount including existing indebtedness, in the aggregate exceeding five per centum on the value of the taxable property therein to be ascertained by the last assessment for state and county taxes previous to the incurring of such indebtedness.

Any county, city, town, village, school district or other municipal corporation incurring any indebtedness as aforesaid, shall before or at the time of doing so provide for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest on said debt as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal thereof within twenty years from the time of contracting the same. [1872 AJR-17; 1873 SJR-6; 1874 c. 37]

Organization of cities and villages. SECTION 3. [Original form] It shall be the duty of the legislature, and they are hereby empowered, to provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages, and to restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts and loaning their credit, so as to prevent abuses in assessments and taxation, and in contracting debts by such municipal corporations.

Acquisition of lands by state and subdivisions; sale of excess. SECTION 3a. [As amended April 3, 1956] The state or any of its counties, cities, towns or villages may acquire by gift, dedication, purchase, or condemnation lands for establishing, laying out, widening, enlarging, extending, and maintaining memorial grounds, streets, highways, squares, parkways, boulevards, parks, playgrounds, sites for public buildings, and reservations in and about and along and leading to any or all of the same; and after the establishment, layout, and completion of such improvements, may convey any such real estate thus acquired and not necessary for such improvements, with reservations concerning the future use and occupation of such real estate, so as to protect such public works and improvements, and their environs, and to preserve the view, appearance, light, air, and usefulness of such public works. If the governing body of a county, city, town or village elects to accept a gift or dedication of land made on condition that the land be devoted to a special purpose and the condition subsequently becomes impossible or impracticable, such governing body may by resolution or ordinance enacted by a two-thirds vote of its members elect either to grant the land back to the donor or dedicator or his heirs or accept from the donor or dedicator or his heirs a grant relieving the county, city, town or village of the condition; however, if the donor or dedicator or his heirs are unknown or cannot be found, such resolution or ordinance may provide for the commencement of proceedings in the manner and in the courts as the legislature shall designate for the purpose of relieving the county, city, town or village from the condition of the gift or dedication. [1953 SJR-29; 1955 SJR-9]

Acquisition of lands by state and cities; sale of excess. SECTION 3a. [Created November 1912] The state or any of its cities may acquire by gift, purchase, or condemnation lands for establishing, laying out, widening, enlarging, extending, and maintaining memorial grounds, streets, squares, parkways, boulevards, parks, playgrounds, sites for public buildings, and reservations in and about and along and leading to any or all of the same; and after the establishment, layout, and completion of such improvements, may convey any such real estate thus acquired and not necessary for such improvements, with reservations concerning the future use and occupation of such real estate, so as to protect such public works and improvements, and their environs, and to preserve the view, appearance, light, air, and usefulness of such public works. [1909 SJR-63; 1911 SJR-25; 1911 c. 665]

SECTION 4. [Repealed. 1899 AJR-16; 1901 SJR-25; 1901 c. 73; vote November 1902]

Legislature prohibited from incorporating banks. SECTION 4. [Original form] The legislature shall not have power to create, authorize or incorporate, by any general, or special law, any bank, or banking power or privilege, or any institution or corporation having any banking power or privilege whatever, except as provided in this article.

SECTION 5. [Repealed. 1899 AJR-16; 1901 SJR-25; 1901 c. 73; vote November 1902]

Referendum on banking laws. SECTION 5. [Original form] The legislature may submit to the voters, at any general election, the question of "bank," or "no bank," and if at any such election a number of votes equal to a majority of all the votes cast at such election on that subject shall be in favor of banks, then the legislature shall have power to grant bank charters, or to pass a general banking law, with such restrictions and under such regulations as they may deem expedient and proper for the security of the bill holders. Provided, that no such grant or law shall have any force or effect until the same shall have been submitted to a vote of the electors of the state, at some general election, and been approved by a majority of the votes cast on that subject at such election.

General banking law. SECTION 4. [As amended April 1981] The legislature may enact a general banking law for the creation of banks, and for the regulation and supervision of the banking business. [1979 AJR-53; 1981 AJR-13]

General banking law. SECTION 4. [Created November 1902. This section was proposed and adopted as a substitute for sections 4 and 5 of this article, above.] The legislature shall have power to enact a general banking law for the creation of banks, and for the regulation and supervision of the banking business, provided that the vote of two-thirds of all the members elected to each house, to be taken by yeas and nays, be in favor of the passage of such law. [1899 AJR-16; 1901 SJR-25; 1901 c. 73]

ARTICLE XII. AMENDMENTS

Constitutional amendments. SECTION 1. Any amendment or amendments to this constitution may be proposed in either house of the legislature, and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election, and shall be published for three months previous to the time of holding such election; and if, in the legislature so next chosen, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the legislature to submit such proposed amendment or amendments to the people in such manner and at such time as the legislature shall prescribe; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments by a majority of the electors voting thereon, such amendment or amendments shall become part of the constitution; provided that if more than one amendment be submitted, they shall be submitted in such manner that the people may vote for or against such amendment separately.

Constitutional conventions. SECTION 2. If at any time a majority of the senate and assembly shall deem it necessary to call a convention to revise or change this constitution, they shall recommend to the electors to vote for or against a convention at the next election for members of the legislature. And if it shall appear that a majority of the electors voting thereon have voted for a convention, the legislature shall, at its next session, provide for calling such convention.

ARTICLE XIII. MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

Political year; elections. SECTION 1. [As amended November 1884] The political year for the state of Wisconsin shall commence on the first Monday in January in each year, and the general election shall be holden on the Tuesday next succeeding the first Monday in November. The first general election for all state and county officers, except judicial officers, after the adoption of this amendment, shall be holden in the year A.D. 1884, and thereafter the general election shall be held biennially. All state, county or other officers elected at the general election in the year 1881, and whose term of office would otherwise expire on the first Monday of January in the year 1884, shall hold and continue in such offices respectively until the first Monday in January in the year 1885. [1881 AJR-16; 1882 SJR-20; 1882 c. 290]

Political year; general election. SECTION 1. [Original form] The political year for the state of Wisconsin shall commence on the first Monday in January in each year, and the general election shall be holden on the Tuesday succeeding the first Monday in November in each year.

SECTION 2. [Repealed. 1973 SJR-6; 1975 SJR-4; vote April 1975]

Dueling. SECTION 2. [Original form] Any inhabitant of this state who may hereafter be engaged, either directly or indirectly, in a duel, either as principal or accessory, shall forever be disqualified as an elector, and from holding any office under the constitution and laws of this state, and may be punished in such other manner as shall be prescribed by law.

Eligibility to office. SECTION 3. No member of congress, nor any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States (postmasters excepted) or under any foreign power; no person convicted of any infamous crime in any court within the United States; and no person being a defaulter to the United States or to this state, or to any county or town therein, or to any state or territory within the United States, shall be eligible to any office of trust, profit or honor in this state.

Great seal. SECTION 4. It shall be the duty of the legislature to provide a great seal for the state, which shall be kept by the secretary of state, and all official acts of the governor, his approbation of the laws excepted, shall be thereby authenticated.

Residents on Indian lands, where to vote. SECTION 5. All persons residing upon Indian lands, within any county of the state, and qualified to exercise the right of suffrage under the constitution, shall be entitled to vote at the polls which may be held nearest their residence, for state, United States or county officers. Provided, that no person shall vote for county officers out of the county in which he resides.

Legislative officers. SECTION 6. The elective officers of the legislature, other than the presiding officers, shall be a chief clerk and a sergeant at arms, to be elected by each house.

Division of counties. SECTION 7. No county with an area of nine hundred square miles or less shall be divided or have any part stricken therefrom, without submitting the question to a vote of the people of the county, nor unless a majority of all the legal voters of the county voting on the question shall vote for the same.

Removal of county seats. SECTION 8. No county seat shall be removed until the point to which it is proposed to be removed shall be fixed by law, and a majority of the voters of the county voting on the question shall have voted in favor of its removal to such point.

Election or appointment of statutory officers. SECTION 9. All county officers whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution shall be elected by the electors of the respective counties, or appointed by the boards of supervisors, or other county authorities, as the legislature shall direct. All city, town and village officers whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution shall be elected by the electors of such cities, towns and villages, or of some division thereof, or appointed by such authorities thereof as the legislature shall designate for that purpose. All other officers whose election or appointment is not provided for by this constitution, and all officers whose offices may hereafter be created by law, shall be elected by the people or appointed, as the legislature may direct.

Vacancies in office. SECTION 10. [As amended April 1979] (1) The legislature may declare the cases in which any office shall be deemed vacant, and also the manner of filling the vacancy, where no provision is made for that purpose in this constitution.

(2) Whenever there is a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor, the governor shall nominate a successor to serve for the balance of the unexpired term, who shall take office after confirmation by the senate and by the assembly. [1977 SJR-51; 1979 SJR-1]

Vacancies in office. SECTION 10. [Original form] The legislature may declare the cases in which any office shall be deemed vacant, and also the manner of filling the vacancy, where no provision is made for that purpose in this constitution.

Passes, franks and privileges. SECTION 11. [As amended November 1936] No person, association, copartnership, or corporation, shall promise, offer or give, for any purpose, to any political committee, or any member or employe thereof, to any candidate for, or incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws, or under any ordinance of any town or municipality, of this state, or to any person at the request or for the advantage of all or any of them, any free pass or frank, or any privilege withheld from any person, for the traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication.

No political committee, and no member or employe thereof, no candidate for and no incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws, or under any ordinance of any town or municipality of this state, shall ask for, or accept, from any person, association, copartnership, or corporation, or use, in any manner, or for any purpose, any free pass or frank, or any privilege withheld from any person, for the traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication.

Any violation of any of the above provisions shall be bribery and punished as provided by law, and if any officer or any member of the legislature be guilty thereof, his office shall become vacant.

No person within the purview of this act shall be privileged from testifying in relation to anything therein prohibited; and no person having so testified shall be liable to any prosecution or punishment for any offense concerning which he was required to give his testimony or produce any documentary evidence.

Notaries public and regular employes of a railroad or other public utilities who are candidates for or hold public offices for which the annual compensation is not more than three hundred dollars to whom no passes or privileges are extended beyond those which are extended to other regular employees of such corporations are excepted from the provisions of this section.

Free passes forbidden. SECTION 11. [Created November 1902] No person, association, co-partnership, or corporation, shall promise, offer or give, for any purpose, to any political committee, or any member or employee thereof, to any candidate for, or incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws, or under any ordinance of any town or municipality, of this state, or to any person at the request or for the advantage of all or any of them, any free pass or frank, or any privilege withheld from any person, for the traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication.

No political committee, and no member or employee thereof, no candidate for and no incumbent of any office or position under the constitution or laws, or under any ordinance of any town or municipality of this state, shall ask for, or accept, from any person, association, co-partnership, or corporation, or use, in any manner, or for any purpose, any free pass or frank, or any privilege withheld from any person, for the traveling accommodation or transportation of any person or property, or the transmission of any message or communication.

Any violation of any of the above provisions shall be bribery and punished as provided by law, and if any officer or any member of the legislature be guilty thereof, his office shall become vacant.

No person within the purview of this act shall be privileged from testifying in relation to anything therein prohibited; and no person having so testified shall be liable to any prosecution or punishment for any offense concerning which he was required to give his testimony or produce any documentary evidence.

The railroad commissioner and his deputy in the discharge of duty are excepted from the provisions of this amendment. [1899 SJR-12; 1901 AJR-8; 1901 c. 437]

Recall of elective officers. SECTION 12. [As amended April 1981] The qualified electors of the state, of any congressional, judicial or legislative district or of any county may petition for the recall of any incumbent elective officer after the first year of the term for which the incumbent was elected, by filing a petition with the filing officer with whom the nomination petition to the office in the primary is filed, demanding the recall of the incumbent.

(1) The recall petition shall be signed by electors equaling at least twenty-five percent of the vote cast for the office of governor at the last preceding election, in the state, county or district which the incumbent represents.

(2) The filing officer with whom the recall petition is filed shall call a recall election for the Tuesday of the 6th week after the date of filing the petition or, if that Tuesday is a legal holiday, on the first day after that Tuesday which is not a legal holiday.

(3) The incumbent shall continue to perform the duties of the office until the recall election results are officially declared.

(4) Unless the incumbent declines within 10 days after the filing of the petition, the incumbent shall without filing be deemed to have filed for the recall election. Other candidates may file for the office in the manner provided by law for special elections. For the purpose of conducting elections under this section:

(a) When more than 2 persons compete for a nonpartisan office, a recall primary shall be held. The 2 persons receiving the highest number of votes in the recall primary shall be the 2 candidates in the recall election, except that if any candidate receives a majority of the total number of votes cast in the recall primary, that candidate shall assume the office for the remainder of the term and a recall election shall not be held.

(b) For any partisan office, a recall primary shall be held for each political party which is by law entitled to a separate ballot and from which more than one candidate competes for the party's nomination in the recall election. The person receiving the highest number of votes in the recall primary for each political party shall be that party's candidate in the recall election. Independent candidates and candidates representing political parties not entitled by law to a separate ballot shall be shown on the ballot for the recall election only.

(c) When a recall primary is required, the date specified under sub. (2) shall be the date of the recall primary and the recall election shall be held on the Tuesday of the 4th week after the recall primary or, if that Tuesday is a legal holiday, on the first day after that Tuesday which is not a legal holiday.

(5) The person who receives the highest number of votes in the recall election shall be elected for the remainder of the term.

(6) After one such petition and recall election, no further recall petition shall be filed against the same officer during the term for which he was elected.

(7) This section shall be self-executing and mandatory. Laws may be enacted to facilitate its operation but no law shall be enacted to hamper, restrict or impair the right of recall. [1979 SJR-5; 1981 SJR-2]

Recall of elective officers. SECTION 12. [Created November 1926] The qualified electors of the state or of any county or of any congressional, judicial or legislative district may petition for the recall of any elective officer after the first year of the term for which he was elected, by filing a petition with the officer with whom the petition for nomination to such office in the primary election is filed, demanding the recall of such officer. Such petition shall be signed by electors equal in number to at least twenty-five per cent of the vote cast for the office of governor at the last preceding election, in the state, county or district from which such officer is to be recalled. The officer with whom such petition is filed shall call a special election to be held not less than forty nor more than forty-five days from the filing of such petition. The officer against whom such petition has been filed shall continue to perform the duties of his office until the result of such special election shall have been officially declared. Other candidates for such office may be nominated in the manner as is provided by law in primary elections. The candidate who shall receive the highest number of votes shall be deemed elected for the remainder of the term. The name of the candidate against whom the recall petition is filed shall go on the ticket unless he resigns within ten days after the filing of the petition. After one such petition and special election, no further recall petition shall be filed against the same officer during the term for which he was elected. This article shall be self-executing and all of its provisions shall be treated as mandatory. Laws may be enacted to facilitate its operation, but no law shall be enacted to hamper, restrict or impair the right of recall. [1923 SJR-39; 1925 SJR-12; 1925 c. 270]

ARTICLE XIV. SCHEDULE

Effect of change from territory to state. SECTION 1. That no inconvenience may arise by reason of a change from a territorial to a permanent state government, it is declared that all rights, actions, prosecutions, judgments, claims and contracts, as well of individuals as of bodies corporate, shall continue as if no such change had taken place; and all process which may be issued under the authority of the territory of Wisconsin previous to its admission into the union of the United States shall be as valid as if issued in the name of the state.

Territorial laws continued. SECTION 2. All laws now in force in the territory of Wisconsin which are not repugnant to this constitution shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitation or be altered or repealed by the legislature.

SECTION 3. [Repealed. 1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1; vote November 1982]

Territorial fines accrue to state. SECTION 3. [Original form] All fines, penalties, or forfeitures accruing to the territory of Wisconsin shall enure to the use of the state.

Rights of action and prosecution saved. SECTION 4. [Original form] All recognizances heretofore taken, or which may be taken before the change from territorial to a permanent state government, shall remain valid, and shall pass to and may be prosecuted in the name of the state; and all bonds executed to the governor of the territory, or to any other officer or court in his or their official capacity, shall pass to the governor or state authority and their successors in office, for the uses therein respectively expressed, and may be sued for and recovered accordingly; and all the estate, or property, real, personal or mixed, and all judgments, bonds, specialties, choses in action and claims or debts of whatsoever description of the territory of Wisconsin, shall enure to and vest in the state of Wisconsin, and may be sued for and recovered in the same manner and to the same extent by the state of Wisconsin as the same could have been by the territory of Wisconsin. All criminal prosecutions and penal actions which may have arisen, or which may arise before the change from a territorial to a state government, and which shall then be pending, shall be prosecuted to judgment and execution in the name of the state. All offenses committed against the laws of the territory of Wisconsin before the change from a territorial to a state government, and which shall not be prosecuted before such change, may be prosecuted in the name and by the authority of the state of Wisconsin with like effect as though such change had not taken place; and all penalties incurred shall remain the same as if this constitution had not been adopted. All actions at law and suits in equity which may be pending in any of the courts of the territory of Wisconsin at the time of the change from a territorial to a state government may be continued and transferred to any court of the state which shall have jurisdiction of the subject matter thereof.

Existing officers hold over. SECTION 5. [Original form] All officers, civil and military, now holding their offices under the authority of the United States or of the territory of Wisconsin shall continue to hold and exercise their respective offices until they shall be superseded by the authority of the state.

SECTION 6. [Repealed. 1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1; vote November 1982]

Seat of government. SECTION 6. [Original form] The first session of the legislature of the state of Wisconsin shall commence on the first Monday in June next, and shall be held at the village of Madison, which shall be and remain the seat of government until otherwise provided by law.

SECTION 7. [Repealed. 1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1; vote November 1982]

Local officers hold over. SECTION 7. [Original form] All county, precinct, and township officers shall continue to hold their respective offices, unless removed by the competent authority, until the legislature shall, in conformity with the provisions of this constitution, provide for the holding of elections to fill such offices respectively.

SECTION 8. [Repealed. 1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1; vote November 1982]

Copy of constitution for president. SECTION 8. [Original form] The president of this convention shall, immediately after its adjournment, cause a fair copy of this constitution, together with a copy of the act of the legislature of this territory, entitled "An act in relation to the formation of a state government in Wisconsin, and to change the time of holding the annual session of the legislature," approved October 27, 1847, providing for the calling of this convention, and also a copy of so much of the last census of this territory as exhibits the number of its inhabitants, to be forwarded to the president of the United States to be laid before the congress of the United States at its present session.

Ratification of constitution; election of officers. SECTION 9. [Original form] This constitution shall be submitted at an election to be held on the second Monday in March next, for ratification or rejection, to all white male persons of the age of twenty-one years or upwards, who shall then be residents of this territory and citizens of the United States, or shall have declared their intention to become such in conformity with the laws of congress on the subject of naturalization; and all persons having such qualifications shall be entitled to vote for or against the adoption of this constitution, and for all officers first elected under it. And if the constitution be ratified by the said electors it shall become the constitution of the state of Wisconsin. On such of the ballots as are for the constitution shall be written or printed the word "yes," and on such as are against the constitution the word "no." The election shall be conducted in the manner now prescribed by law, and the returns made by the clerks of the boards of supervisors or county commissioners (as the case may be) to the governor of the territory at any time before the tenth day of April next. And in the event of the ratification of this constitution by a majority of all the votes given, it shall be the duty of the governor of this territory to make proclamation of the same, and to transmit a digest of the returns to the senate and assembly of the state on the first day of their session. An election shall be held for governor, lieutenant governor, treasurer, attorney-general, members of the state legislature, and members of congress, on the second Monday of May next; and no other for further notice of such election shall be required.

Congressional apportionment. SECTION 10. [Original form] Two members of congress shall also be elected on the second Monday of May next; and until otherwise provided by law, the counties of Milwaukee, Waukesha, Jefferson, Racine, Walworth, Rock and Green, shall constitute the first congressional district, and elect one member; and the counties of Washington, Sheboygan, Manitowoc, Calumet, Brown, Winnebago, Fond du Lac, Marquette, Sauk, Portage, Columbia, Dodge, Dane, Iowa, LaFayette, Grant, Richland, Crawford, Chippewa, St. Croix and La Pointe, shall constitute the second congressional district, and shall elect one member.

First elections. SECTION 11. [Original form] The several elections provided for in this article shall be conducted according to the existing laws of the territory; provided, that no elector shall be entitled to vote except in the town, ward or precinct where he resides. The returns of election for senators and members of assembly shall be transmitted to the clerk of the board of supervisors or county commissioners, as the case may be; and the votes shall be canvassed and certificates of election issued as now provided by law. In the first senatorial district the returns of the election for senator shall be made to the proper officer in the county of Brown; in the second senatorial district to the proper officer in the county of Columbia; in the third senatorial district to the proper officer in the county of Crawford; in the fourth senatorial district to the proper officer in the county of Fond du Lac; and in the fifth senatorial district to the proper officer in the county of Iowa. The returns of election for state officers and members of congress shall be certified and transmitted to the speaker of the assembly, at the seat of government, in the same manner as the vote for delegate to congress are required to be certified and returned by the laws of the territory of Wisconsin, to the secretary of said territory, and in such time that they may be received on the first Monday in June next; and as soon as the legislature shall be organized the speaker of the assembly and the president of the senate shall, in the presence of both houses, examine the returns and declare who are duly elected to fill the several offices hereinbefore mentioned, and give to each of the persons elected a certificate of his election.

Legislative apportionment. SECTION 12. [Original form] Until there shall be a new apportionment, the senators and members of the assembly shall be apportioned among the several districts, as hereinafter mentioned, and each district shall be entitled to elect one senator or member of the assembly, as the case may be. [Enumeration of districts omitted as obsolete: see R.S. 1849 pp. 40-43; R.S. 1858 pp. 49-53]

Common law continued in force. SECTION 13. Such parts of the common law as are now in force in the territory of Wisconsin, not inconsistent with this constitution, shall be and continue part of the law of this state until altered or suspended by the legislature.

SECTION 14. [Repealed. 1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1; vote November 1982]

Officers, when to enter on duties. SECTION 14. [Original form] The senators first elected in the even-numbered senate districts, the governor, lieutenant governor and other state officers first elected under this constitution, shall enter upon the duties of their respective offices on the first Monday of June next, and shall continue in office for one year from the first Monday of January next; the senators first elected in the odd-numbered senate districts, and the members of the assembly first elected, shall enter upon their duties respectively on the first Monday of June next, and shall continue in office until the first Monday in January next.

SECTION 15. [Repealed. 1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1; vote November 1982]

Oath of office. SECTION 15. [Original form] The oath of office may be administered by any judge or justice of the peace until the legislature shall otherwise direct.

Implementing revised structure of judicial branch. SECTION 16. [As affected November 1982] (1), (2), (3) and (5) [Repealed]

(4) [Amended] The terms of office of justices of the supreme court serving on August 1, 1978, shall expire on the July 31 next preceding the first Monday in January on which such terms would otherwise have expired, but such advancement of the date of term expiration shall not impair any retirement rights vested in any such justice if the term had expired on the first Monday in January. [1979 AJR-76; 1981 AJR-35; submit: May'82 Spec.Sess. AJR-1]

Implementing revised structure of judicial branch. SECTION 16. [Created April 1977] (1) The 1975/1977 amendment relating to a revised structure of the judicial branch shall take effect on August 1 of the year following the year of ratification by the voters.

(2) All county courts and the branches thereof in existence on the effective date of this amendment shall, as trial courts of general uniform statewide jurisdiction, continue after such effective date with the same jurisdiction, powers and duties conferred by law upon such courts and the branches and judges thereof until the legislature by law alters or abolishes such county courts and their jurisdiction, powers and duties.

(3) Subject to the jurisdiction established in section 14 of article VII, municipal courts and municipal court judges shall continue after the effective date of this amendment with the same jurisdiction, powers and duties as conferred upon such courts and judges as of the effective date until the legislature acts under sections 2 and 14 of article VII to alter or abolish such municipal courts and their jurisdiction, powers and duties.

(4) The terms of office of justices of the supreme court serving on the effective date shall expire on the July 31 next preceding the first Monday in January on which such terms would otherwise have expired, but such advancement of the date of term expiration shall not impair any retirement rights vested in any such justice if the term had expired on the first Monday in January.

(5) Prior to the effective date of this amendment the legislature shall by law establish one or more appeals court districts, provide for the election of appeals judges in such districts, and determine the jurisdiction of the court of appeals under section 21 of article I and section 5 of article VII as affected by this amendment, so that the court of appeals shall become operative on the effective date. [1975 AJR-11; 1977 SJR-9]

SUMMARY—CHANGING THE WISCONSIN CONSTITUTION

The procedure for amending the Wisconsin Constitution is different from enacting a bill. To amend the Wisconsin Constitution, it is necessary for 2 consecutive Wisconsin Legislatures to adopt an identical amendment (known as "first consideration" and "second consideration") and for a majority of the electorate to ratify the amendment at a subsequent election. See Art XII, Sec. 1. Since the adoption of the Wisconsin Constitution in 1848, the electorate has voted 118 out of 160 times to amend a total of 99 sections of the Constitution (excluding the same vote for more than one item, but including a vote that was later resubmitted by the Legislature and 2 votes declared invalid by the courts). The Wisconsin Legislature adopted 137 acts or joint resolutions to submit these changes to the electorate.

SUMMARY — STATEWIDE REFERENDA ELECTIONS

Excluding measures involving amendments to the state constitution, statewide referenda are submitted to the electorate by the Wisconsin Legislature for the following purposes: 1) to ratify a law extending the right of suffrage, a constitutional requirement; 2) to make the effectiveness of a law contingent on ratification; and 3) to seek the opinion of the electorate through an advisory referendum.

Since the establishment of statehood in 1848, the Wisconsin Legislature has sent 47 questions to the Wisconsin electorate in referendum form through the passage of 44 acts or joint resolutions. Of these 47 questions, the electorate has approved 31.

During territorial times, the territorial legislature sent 4 questions to the electorate. Of these 4 questions, 2 were passed: to allow for the formation of a state government and the ratification of the state constitution.

THE FRAMEWORK OF WISCONSIN GOVERNMENT

Government At A Glance

Every state in the Union is guaranteed "a Republican Form of Government" by the United States Constitution in Section 4 of Article IV. As used in this context, "republican" means "representative" — a people governing themselves through their representatives.

Like the Federal Government itself and all the other state governments, the State of Wisconsin carries out this pledge through the traditional 3 branches: legislative, executive and judicial. The legislative branch consists of the Wisconsin Legislature (the Senate and the Assembly), in which is vested the legislative power, and its subordinate service agencies. The executive branch is under the direction of the governor, in whom is vested the executive power. The governor is assisted by 5 elected constitutional officers plus 15 departments (including the 2 headed by the state superintendent of public instruction and the attorney general), 18 independent agencies and 3 authorities created by statute. The judicial branch consists of a Supreme Court with 7 justices, a Court of Appeals, circuit courts and "inferior courts" (other trial courts and municipal courts) created by statute law. For details of each branch, see the Profiles in the sections on "Legislative", "Executive", and "Judicial".

Becoming the 30th State

From Wilderness to Statehood. Wisconsin became a territory in 1836 and a state in 1848.

As the result of the Marquette-Joliet exploration of 1673, the area was in the French sphere of influence. In 1763, at the end of the French and Indian Wars, it was ceded to England. In the second Treaty of Paris in 1783, the British not only gave formal recognition to the independence of the United States, they also ceded to the new nation the territory including Wisconsin. However, actual English control of the area did not end until the conclusion of the War of 1812. As part of the United States, Wisconsin was successively governed by the Northwest Ordinance of 1787, the laws of the Indiana Territory, the Illinois Territory, the Michigan Territory and, finally, the Wisconsin Territory.

On August 6, 1846, the Congress of the United States authorized the people living in what was then called the Territory of Wisconsin "to form a constitution and State government, for the purpose of being admitted into the Union". Based on this enabling act, the Wisconsin people called a constitutional convention to draft a fundamental law for the government of their state. The convention submitted its draft constitution to the people in April of 1847, but this first draft was rejected by the voters. Only 14,119 votes were cast for the proposed constitution, while 30,231 votes were cast against it.

A second draft, submitted in March of 1848, was ratified by a vote of 16,799 "for" and 6,384 "against". The constitution then adopted has remained the Wisconsin Constitution to this day; however, in the intervening years the electorate has voted 118 out of 160 times to change or repeal a total of 99 sections of the Constitution (excluding the same vote for more than one item, but including a vote that was later resubmitted and 2 votes declared invalid).

Wisconsin became a state on May 29, 1848, the 30th state to be admitted to the Union.

State Powers and Duties. According to the Wisconsin enabling act passed by the U.S. Congress in 1846, Wisconsin became a state "on an equal footing with the original States in all respects whatsoever". The original 13 states, "in order to form a more perfect Union" by ratifying the U.S. Constitution, had delegated certain powers to the Federal Government; when Wisconsin became a state it consented, by becoming a state, to the same delegation of a portion of its sovereign powers to Washington. Thus, from the moment of its birth, the State of Wisconsin — its people, its lawmaking bodies, its administrative machinery, its courts — were subject to the provisions of the U. S. Constitution and to the express prohibitions of Article I, Section 10, of that document. These prohibitions primarily concerned coining money, taxing imports and exports, making agreements with other states and with foreign countries, and waging war. Specifically:

"No state shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Confederation; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; coin Money; emit Bills of Credit; make any Thing but gold and Silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracts, or grant any Title of Nobility.

"No State shall, without the Consent of the Congress, lay any Imposts or Duties on Imports or Exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection Laws; and the net Produce of all Duties and Imposts, laid by any State on Imports or Exports, shall be for the Use of the Treasury of the United States; and all such Laws shall be subject to the Revision, and Control of the Congress.

"No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any duty of Tonnage, keep Troops, or Ships of War in time of Peace, enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of delay".

These prohibitions are absolute. In addition, there are a number of other areas, enumerated in Section 8 of Article I of the U.S. Constitution, in which the original states told the U.S. Congress to act. Among these are the regulation of interstate and foreign commerce, the maintenance of armed forces and the declaration of war, the coinage of money, the imposition and collection of taxes, the establishment of a postal system, and the granting of patents and copyrights. Congress also has power to "make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers" and all other powers vested in the government of the United States. Since all states admitted to the Union after it was formed by the original 13 states are on an equal footing with the original states, any restriction on the sovereignty of the original states also applies to all other states. But, in all areas in which the states did not delegate their sovereign powers to the Federal Government they remain sovereign, and this was specified in the Tenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution:

"The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States, respectively, or to the people".

Although the powers delegated to the Federal Government and the powers reserved to the states are neatly delineated in the United States Constitution and seem clear-cut, in practice it has not turned out to be that simple. Many powers are exercised concurrently by the Federal Government and the states. Through judicial interpretation, the powers exercised by Congress have been greatly expanded to include practically every topic once considered reserved to the states.

The Many Sources of State Law

The Pilgrim Fathers, landing at Plymouth Rock, adopted the brief Mayflower Compact to govern their settlement. As the needs for government have become more complicated, the legal framework in which governments operate has become more detailed.

Actually, even the Pilgrim Fathers did not start in a legal vacuum. They had brought with them a European, Anglo-Saxon legal heritage, the origins of which are lost in antiquity. The law continued to develop in the American colonies. It moved inland from the Atlantic coast as the frontier advanced to the west.

When the first Wisconsin territorial legislature met in Belmont in 1836, it passed a law:

.... "that the existing laws of Michigan, as declared in full force in this territory by the act of congress organizing the territory of Wisconsin, be taken and construed liberally and beneficially, for the purpose of giving the said laws full force and effect, according to the true intent and meaning thereof".

The Wisconsin Constitution continued the laws of the Territory of Wisconsin, by providing in Section 2 of Article XIV:

"All laws now in force in the territory of Wisconsin which are not repugnant to this constitution shall remain in force until they expire by their own limitation or be altered or repealed by the legislature".

In addition to the U.S. Constitution and the Wisconsin Constitution, the government of the State of Wisconsin today is regulated by the laws contained in over 5,500 pages of Wisconsin Statutes. And, even this body of law is not detailed enough. The Wisconsin Legislature has found — and this experience is shared by all other states — that there are some areas which are so technical and so complicated that the detailed implementation must be left to the specialists charged with administering the law. To make this possible, the law invests certain administrative agencies with rule-making power.

In spite of all the detail of modern law, there are still areas not adequately covered or in which reasonable men cannot agree on the proper interpretation of several seemingly conflicting provisions. In these areas, the formal law is further implemented by courts or administrative commissions which, through their formal written decisions, explain the meaning of specific portions of the Constitution and of the statutes in great detail. Thus, while the current annotated text of our Wisconsin Constitution occupies only 40 pages, and the statutes, 3 volumes, the published opinions of the Wisconsin Supreme Court fill shelf upon shelf with the continuing volumes of the Supreme Court's Wisconsin Reports.

Making State Government Work

Frequently it is said that in our state government of 3 branches the legislative branch makes the law or sets the public policy, the executive branch carries out— or executes — the law, and the judicial branch interprets the law. This very simple description of state government, like so many simple descriptions, tells only half the story. Actually, all 3 branches have a part in determining what the law is, setting public policy, and seeing to it that the laws are faithfully administered.

“Public policy” is closely related to “law” — all law is the formal expression of public policy but not everything that might be considered public policy has already been incorporated into law. When we think of “law”, we usually tend to regard it as something restrictive — a rule by which certain actions are prohibited. This aspect does exist, of course, but it is the effect of law and not the reason for the existence of law.

Laws govern our democratic society to give the greatest freedom to the greatest number, and the only manner in which this can be achieved is by the establishment of a firm set of rules which tell every citizen the precise limits of his rights and obligations.

Where Does Public Policy Come From? Since the formal responsibility for enacting new laws lies in the Legislature with the concurrence of the governor, the legislators and the governor are prime sources of public policy. Proposed public policy cannot become law without their volition. Every member of the Legislature has the right to introduce bills proposing new laws, joint resolutions proposing constitutional amendments, or simple and joint resolutions dealing with other matters; each legislator also has the right to offer amendments to proposals placed before the Legislature by other members.

Within the executive branch, the governor has been assigned constitutional functions in the development of formal public policy. The governor is required to “communicate to the legislature, at every session, the condition of the state, and recommend such matters .... for their consideration as he may deem expedient”. This he does in his state-of-the-state message and in special messages devoted to particular problems that he may send to the Legislature from time to time during the course of the session. If the governor feels that a particular problem of the state needs immediate legislative attention, he may even call the Legislature into special session. Moreover, all proposed new laws passed by the Legislature must be approved by the governor (or passed over his veto, which requires a two-thirds vote in each house) before they can become effective. This veto power invests the governor with a great deal of control over the program content of any new law. Once a new proposal has become law, the governor, as the chief executive officer of the state, participates in the implementation and refinement of public policy on a day-to-day basis. The governor “shall expedite all such measures as may be resolved upon by the legislature, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed”.

Even the judicial branch has an official role to play in the development of public policy. Although courts have no official lawmaking function, they do have to resolve conflicts and clear up misunderstandings of the existing law; that is, they interpret the law and tell us what it really means. Sometimes such interpretation results in a considerably different understanding of the law and its effect on public policy than was originally considered.

From the above we see who is responsible for enacting policy, but this does not necessarily tell us from where the ideas for such policy come. What are the sources of inspiration for public policy? Where does the governor get the ideas he recommends and a legislator the idea for the bill he or she introduces?

You, the general public, the citizens of this state, constitute the major source of ideas for new legislation. As a result of the problems you run across in your communities, you may talk to or write to your legislator or to the governor. If you think that greater property tax relief is needed, that a higher drinking age would decrease automobile accidents, or that the business climate could be improved, you may decide "there ought to be a law". You may write a letter to the editor, you may "buttonhole" your representative or senator, or you may tell the governor about it the next time he is visiting in your city. An association to which you belong may send a lobbyist to Madison to persuade a legislator to introduce a bill and to explain the matter at legislative hearings.

The state agencies, while administering current programs established by law, become another primary source of ideas for public policy. In the normal course of their activities, departments are in a natural position to see how the policies are working and whether they need to be changed, expanded or abandoned altogether. As they experience the problems involved in administering a program, departments can also see the effects of that program. As a result, the governor may hold cabinet meetings for discussion of the problems of the state departments, and department heads are frequently invited to contribute expert information at legislative hearings.

When the Legislature is faced with a difficult — and probably controversial — problem, it frequently decides to make an interim research study in an effort to find a solution to the problem. Therefore, even when the Legislature is not in actual floor session many legislative committees are hard at work gathering information, exploring available alternatives, and reaching a decision on the best way of solving the problem. Such committees may also have public members who are experts in the area under study. The governor may also appoint task forces to study various problems and make recommendations for new legislation.

Other useful sources of information on possible solutions to current issues are contemporary legislation of other states, ideas developed by the Federal Government — either by federal departments, Congress or special study commissions — and by private foundations or associations which conduct research on particular problems. Through studies issued by the legislative service agencies, through relevant publications, and by attendance at interstate conferences, legislators find out about innovations developed in other jurisdictions that might be emulated by this state. New ideas spread rapidly, and every state likes to come up with a unique problem solution that might serve as a model for other states.

The Budget Process. When we know what the public policy is in a particular field, we still have to ask "how much", or "how extensive", or "how often". Here we enter the field of dollars and cents, and frequently the amount of funds available will serve to establish a limit on the extent of the program which, as a matter of public policy, we have already decided to undertake. This is the field of the budget.

The biennial budget constitutes the most detailed review that public policy is regularly subjected to. Here, the governor and the Legislature assess the effectiveness of past performance. Here, state government makes the detailed plans for its future. The budget process is an example of how many people must cooperate and of how much information is required before public policy can be firmly established.

The State of Wisconsin employs a budget method called program budgeting. Instead of allocating specific sums for personnel, supplies, and capital equipment, program budgeting tries to determine how much is being spent for the various functions — or programs — of state government. The budget, as enacted, contains an itemized listing of appropriations allocated for each program carried on by a department or other state agency.

Each biennium the departments of state government submit to the Department of Administration estimates of how much it will cost in the next 2 years to continue their existing programs. They also compile information to show how existing programs could be improved. The department's Division of State Executive Budget and Planning compiles this data for the state budget report and gives it to the governor or to the governor-elect. Following a gubernatorial election, and also in the fall of any other even-numbered year, the governor or governor-elect reviews these estimates and may hold a hearing on any department's budget request, at which department heads and interested citizens may be heard. The division assists the governor in this process. The new legislature convenes the following January. On or before the last Tuesday in January, the governor delivers the budget message to the Legislature, together with the state budget report and the executive budget bill, which is introduced by the Joint Committee on Finance at his request. The biennial budget for 1985-87 consisted of 5 parts: the "Governor's Budget Message", the "Executive Budget, Book I" and "Executive Budget, Book II", the "Budget in Brief", the "Executive Budget Policy Issue Papers", and the "Summary of Tax Exemption Devices".

The bill is then referred to the Joint Committee on Finance, which holds its own hearings on departmental requests. When its hearings are completed, the committee reports the bill out in the form of a substitute amendment, and from then on the bill follows the normal legislative procedure through both houses of the Legislature. Before passage, the budget bill may be amended many times during its course through the 2 houses. When passed, it is submitted to the governor for approval. He may either sign the measure, veto it in its entirety (this would probably not happen in the case of a budget bill), or — since this is an appropriation bill — veto it in part (item veto).

Increasing Services. Wisconsin has been a state for over 130 years. In 1848, the needs for state government services were relatively simple — in his annual report of 1849, the Secretary of State reported payments to only 14 people (including the 6 constitutional officers) performing functions for the State of Wisconsin comparable to today's executive branch. In April 1985 full-time employes numbered over 53,000 with another 11,000 plus serving in part-time, seasonal, project, and graduate assistance positions.

This growth is not necessarily inherent in government — even though it is often alleged that any bureaucracy will grow as long as it is permitted to grow — this growth is primarily the result of the ever-increasing size, development and complexity of the society in which we live. Time was when many did not have the opportunity to learn the "3Rs"; today, over 196,000 students are enrolled full time or part time in the public and private universities and colleges in Wisconsin and over 460,000 are enrolled in all types of vocational school programs (about 74,000 opening fall enrollment). Time was when the "Watertown Plank Road" constituted an unequaled technological advancement over the muddy wagon trails of the day — in 1984, the State of Wisconsin contained 96 publicly operated airports and 108.09 thousand miles of highways and streets, of which 74% was paved with bituminous or higher, while its railroad mileage totaled 4,595. As recently as 1900, the average U.S. life expectancy at birth was 47.3 years — by 1983 (preliminary) it had reached 74.7 (71.0 years for males and 78.3 for females) and is likely to go higher. As the population increases and lives longer, the need for governmental services may increase rather than diminish. We are faced with the problems of educational improvement, mature industries and economic development, revenue distribution, transportation needs, health care, and environmental pollution — there cannot be a complete catalog because each succeeding day brings new problems and every new generation has to face up to them.

New factors have entered the picture, however, and a countertrend may have begun. The postwar baby boom has ended; enrollments are declining on the elementary school level. At the same time, there appears to be a protest against ever-increasing taxes and fear of the effect of taxes on attracting and keeping industry, forcing governments to examine their services more closely. Services may decline instead of increase or may increase less rapidly than in recent years.

Structural Changes. Although the framework of Wisconsin government remains substantially as provided by the Constitution, the size of government has vastly increased with the development of the state. Obviously, the principle of the division of power among the 3 branches within the state government is a concept firmly rooted in the American system. Within the framework, however, change is constantly occurring in the allocation of functions among the agencies of the executive branch of the state government, in the organization and operation of agencies of the legislative branch, and in the type and number of courts in the judicial branch. Judicial reorganization amendments to the Wisconsin Constitution were ratified by the electorate in April 1977 and were implemented in 1978 by the Legislature.

Local Units of Government

In order to carry out its numerous responsibilities, every state has created subordinate units. These subordinate units are the creation of state law and may be abolished by state law, or changed, or given increased powers and duties. In Wisconsin, these subordinate units of government consist of counties, towns, villages, cities, school districts, and special districts. Each unit, within the limits established by state law, has the power to tax and to make legally binding rules for the government of its own affairs.

Counties. Wisconsin has 72 counties. Together, they comprise the entire territory of the state. The government of each county is located in a municipality in the county called the county seat and in a building called the county courthouse. Our state constitution does not invest the county with home rule powers — the Wisconsin Statutes contain a long and detailed listing of the powers and duties of Wisconsin counties. The county governing board is the board of supervisors. County boards vary in membership from 6 to 46, but on each board every supervisor represents as nearly as practicable an equal number of inhabitants. Elected county officials include the members of the county board and such administrative officers as district attorney, sheriff, clerk, treasurer, coroner, register of deeds, and clerk of circuit courts. They are elected for 2-year terms except Milwaukee County Board supervisors, who serve 4-year terms. Counties may substitute a county medical examiner system for a coroner and may employ a registered land surveyor in lieu of electing a surveyor; but Milwaukee County may not elect a coroner or surveyor. Counties may also have an elected county executive, who serves a 4-year term. Eight counties have an elected executive, while 10 have an appointed administrator or similar official.

Cities and Villages. In Wisconsin, cities and villages are incorporated under general law. Based on a constitutional amendment ratified in 1924, they have home rule powers to determine their local affairs. There are 581 such municipal corporations, including 189 cities and 393 villages. Minimum population for incorporation as a village is 150 persons, and for a city 1,000 persons, but unincorporated settlements exceeding the minimum population are not required to become municipal corporations. The basic responsibility for the government of each city or village is vested in its governing body; in a city, this body may be a common council or a commission and in a village the governing body is the village board. There are 3 forms of executive organizations of city government: mayor-council, council-manager, and commission. Only 11 cities operate under a council-manager system; none is operating under a commission. In villages the executive power is administered by the village president, who presides over the board but cannot veto its actions.

Towns. Town governments are found in all areas of Wisconsin except within the corporate boundaries of cities and villages. Wisconsin has 1,267 towns (including the county of Menominee, which is also designated a town). Towns have no powers other than those granted by the Wisconsin statutes. In addition to local road maintenance, Wisconsin town governments carry out a variety of functions and, in some instances, even undertake urban-type services, usually through town-established sanitary and utility districts. The governing body is the town board composed of 3 supervisors, who are elected biennially at the town meeting. If a board is authorized to exercise village powers, it may have up to 5 members with staggered terms. The position of town supervisor is largely administrative; supervisors carry out the policies set at the annual town meeting held on the second Tuesday of April or another date set by the electors. The town board chairperson has a number of executive powers and duties. The town board may also create the position of town administrator.

School Districts. There are 432 school districts in Wisconsin. These are special units of government organized to carry out a single function, the operation of the public schools. Each district is run by an elected school board, which appoints the administrators of the system.

Special Districts. In addition to school districts, special districts are also created in Wisconsin to carry out functions which are strictly local in nature, involving no state-level agency. Each special district seeks to solve a specific problem or perform a specific function, usually across municipal boundaries. Special districts are corporate bodies, may sue and be sued, levy taxes and special assessments, spend money, and may acquire property. Some special districts are designed to be permanent; others are temporary. Because of the single function of each district, organization and operational staffing are relatively simple.

Although there is no exact count of the number of special districts in the state, the Bureau of the Census set the 1982 figure at 265. This includes public inland lake protection and rehabilitation districts, metropolitan sewerage districts, county drainage boards, drainage districts that are independent of county drainage boards, housing and community development authorities, and a single municipal electric company. Town sanitary districts and dependent lake and rehabilitation districts are not included in the Census count. Using different criteria, the Wisconsin Department of Revenue totalled 437, including 7 sewer districts, 300 sanitary districts, and 130 lake districts.

LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

A PROFILE OF THE LEGISLATIVE BRANCH

In Brief. The legislative branch of the Wisconsin state government consists of the bicameral Wisconsin Legislature comprising the Senate and Assembly, the staff employed by each house, and the legislative committees and service agencies which the legislature has created. The Wisconsin Legislature makes policy by enactment of laws, while its service agencies assist it by carrying out research, bill drafting, auditing, statute editing, and housekeeping functions on its behalf. Each legislature covers 2 years. The 1985 Legislature is the 87th Wisconsin Legislature.

U.S. Constitution Both Restricts and Grants Legislative Powers. In the discussion of the framework of Wisconsin government, it was noted that the United States Constitution guarantees each state a republican form of government, that it specifically prohibits a state from doing certain things (such as making treaties, coining money, and imposing import or export duties), and that it gives certain powers exclusively to the Congress of the United States (power to legislate with regard to foreign affairs, interstate and foreign commerce, the postal system, coinage of money, and patents and copyrights).

After prohibiting these powers to the states and delegating specified powers to Congress, the United States Constitution reserves all other powers to the states or to the people.

Wisconsin Constitution Grants Legislature Powers With Few Restrictions. Under the system of separation of powers in effect in this nation, the power to determine the state's policies and programs lies primarily in the legislative branch of state government. The broad sweep of legislative power to enact laws can be seen from the Wisconsin Constitution's provision, "The legislative power shall be vested in a senate and assembly." There are few limitations on this power. The legislature must provide as uniform a system of town government as practicable, cannot authorize a lottery (with very limited exceptions) or grant a divorce, and cannot enact private or special laws on certain subjects. In addition, no legislation may be enacted that would infringe on the citizen's rights under the Declaration of Rights of the Wisconsin Constitution. Otherwise, except for the framework provided by the constitution, the legislature has wide latitude in the field of legislation.

A different kind of restriction on its powers is provided by the right of the governor to veto legislation, which may then only be enacted by an overriding vote of two-thirds in both houses.

Biennial Sessions: 33 Senators Serve 4-Year Terms; 99 Representatives Serve 2-Year Terms. Since its adoption on March 13, 1848, the Wisconsin Constitution has provided that the membership of the Assembly shall be not less than 54 nor more than 100, while the memberships of the Senate shall consist of not more than one-third nor less than one-fourth of the number of Assembly members. The first legislature numbered 85 members (19 senators and 66 assemblymen). This figure prevailed until 1853, when the membership was increased to 107 (25 senators, 82 assemblymen). Beginning with the 1858 Legislature, 30 senators and 97 assemblymen constituted the 127-member legislature. This lasted until the legislature became a 133-member body in 1862, when the number of senators was increased to 33 and assemblymen to 100. Because of the 1972 reapportionment, the number of representatives was reduced to 99 beginning with the 1973 Legislature. (As a result of a 1969 law, the members of the Assembly are today known as representatives to the Assembly).

In the beginning, representatives served for terms of a single year's duration, while senators served 2-year terms. By constitutional amendment adopted in 1881, the terms were changed to 2 and 4 years respectively, while the legislature went from annual to biennial sessions at the same time. Under authorization of a constitutional amendment adopted in 1968, the legislature holds continuous sessions under a biennial session schedule (the terms of office remain the same); thus, the 1985 Legislature holds sessions in 1985 and 1986.

Number of Positions 1985 Legislature: Senate: 33 members, 220.00 employees; Assembly: 99 members, 228.75 employees.

Total Budget 1983-85: $35,748,300.

Statutory Reference: Article IV, Wisconsin Constitution; Chapter 13, Subchapter I, Statutes.

Election of Legislators. At the general election in November of the even-numbered years, the voters of Wisconsin elect the entire membership of the Assembly and one-half the membership of the Senate. These legislators-elect assume office in January, when — together with the “holdover” senators who still have another 2 years to serve of their 4-year terms — they convene at the State Capitol in Madison to begin the next legislative session. As elected officials, the lawmakers act as the representatives of the people. Therefore, as every bill introduced in the legislature states, “The people of the state of Wisconsin, represented in senate and assembly ....” make the laws.

In our state, all members of the legislature are elected from single-member districts. These districts are reshaped following the publication of each decennial federal census “according to the number of inhabitants.” Reapportioning itself is one of the constitutional duties of the legislature. Both houses of the Wisconsin Legislature have been apportioned according to population from the beginning of the state, long before the U.S. Supreme Court decided that all states must follow this practice.

WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE***

*Committee structure as of June 1985

The 33 senators are elected for 4-year terms from single-member districts numbered from 1 to 33. The 16 senators representing even-numbered districts are elected in the even-numbered years in which the presidential elections occur. The 17 senators who represent odd-numbered districts are elected in the even-numbered years in which gubernatorial elections occur.

All representatives to the Assembly are elected biennially in the November general election. From 1862 to 1971 the Assembly had 100 members. Our Wisconsin Constitution, however, requires Senate districts to consist of whole Assembly districts, and the equal protection guarantee of the U.S. Constitution requires districts to be equal in their number of inhabitants. Beginning with the election in 1972, the 99 members of the Assembly have been elected from Assembly districts grouped, 3 each, into the 33 Senate districts.

Members of the Wisconsin Legislature are elected on a partisan basis. All elections to fill legislative vacancies are for the remainder of the unexpired term. Midterm vacancies may be filled only through special elections called by the governor. Beginning with the first general elections after redistricting, Senate midterm vacancies are filled from the new districts.

Under the campaign finance reporting law enacted by the 1973 Legislature, candidates for the legislature as well as for other public offices are required to make full, detailed disclosure of campaign contributions and expenditures to the Elections Board, created by the same law, and are limited in the amounts of such contributions received and expenditures made. 1977 law authorized legislative candidates, as well as candidates for statewide executive and judicial office, to receive money from a state campaign fund (based on revenues from a $1 check-off of state income taxes) provided they accept specific spending and contribution limits, receive a certain number of votes in the primary, and raise a specified initial amount of private contributions.

Like other public officials, under the code of ethics provisions of Sections 19.41 to 19.58 of the Wisconsin Statutes, legislators and candidates must file a financial statement of their economic interests with the state Ethics Board.

Political Parties In The Legislative Process. Partisan political organization is an integral part of the Wisconsin legislative process. Over the long pull, most Wisconsin legislators have been members of either the Democratic or the Republican Party; since 1949 all legislators have been affiliated with one of these 2 political parties. The strongest representation of other parties was between 1911 and 1937, when there were one or more Socialists in the legislature, and between 1933 and 1947, when the Progressives maintained an independent party. In fact, in 1937 the Progressive Party had a plurality in both houses.

In the legislature party organization is maintained through the party caucus. In each house, the members of a political party combine to form that party's caucus; occasionally the caucuses of both houses will meet in joint caucus. A party caucus is organized largely for the purpose of determining and putting into effect a unified attitude toward a particular measure, or group of measures, under consideration. Caucus meetings may be held at regular intervals, such as daily, or whenever the caucus is convened by the party leaders. A caucus meeting is held shortly after the general election — several weeks prior to the opening of the session — to select candidates for the house offices.

Legislative Officers Are Elected In Each House. As a result of the constitutional amendment ratified by the voters in April 1979, the lieutenant governor no longer is president of the Senate; the Senate selects its president from among its members. The president is the manager of Senate business as authorized by the Senate Rules or by the Committee on Senate Organization. The corresponding officer in the Assembly is the speaker, who is a representative chosen by the members. The speaker presides over the Assembly, supervises all other officers, and appoints committees. When the president of the Senate is absent or unable to preside, the assistant majority leader may preside as substitute president; in the Assembly the corresponding officer is the speaker pro tempore. The other officers are a chief clerk and a sergeant at arms in each house, elected by the members from outside the membership. The chief clerk serves as the clerk of the house when it is in session and supervises the preparation of legislative records. The chief clerk is the chief administrative officer for the house, works with the committee on organization and under the direction of the presiding officer, and generally supervises personnel functions. The sergeant at arms maintains order in and about the chamber and supervises the messengers. The 1967 Senate had an additional officer, president emeritus, while the 1973 Senate created the office of vice president of the Senate, and the Senate created the post of Senate president pro tempore in 1981 and 1983.

Both parties nominate candidates for president of the Senate, speaker and speaker pro tempore of the Assembly, and for chief clerk and sergeant at arms of both houses. The positions are usually held by the nominees of the majority party.

In each house each party has a floor leader and assistant floor leader (called "majority leader," "minority leader," etc.). To a varying degree, these party officers coordinate and direct the activities of the party members during the daily sessions. No effort is made to secure party uniformity on every measure under consideration. It is highly doubtful that the individualistic legislators of Wisconsin would ever submit to the very stringent party controls exercised in some states. Assembly rules specifically require election of caucus chairpersons, while the Senate has caucus chairpersons but does not provide for them in its rules.

Legislative Compensation. Each member of the 1985 Legislature, except holdover senators, receives a salary of $27,202 per year, which cannot be changed during his or her term of office. The process for setting legislative salaries requires the secretary of employment relations to submit proposed changes in the compensation plan for elected officials to the Joint Committee on Employment Relations. If approved by the committee, the plan goes into effect for subsequently elected legislators. The salary of the chief clerks and of the sergeants at arms of the 2 houses is set by the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization within a range established under civil service procedures. Members of the legislature, the chief clerks and the sergeants at arms are also entitled, for each day on which they attend a legislative session in Madison (if they certify by affidavits that they have established temporary residence in the capital), to an allowance of not exceeding $41.63 per day for living expenses (or one-half the amount if they choose not to establish a temporary residence at the state capital) and are reimbursed for one weekly round trip from the Capitol to their home towns. Legislators also receive interim expense allowances for postage and clerical assistance ($25 for representatives and $75 for senators) for each month during which the legislature is in session 3 days or less, and are reimbursed for expenses while serving as legislative members of any state or interstate agency, or incurred while specifically authorized to attend meetings of such agencies.

Legislative Sessions. The members of each new legislature convene in the Capitol at 2 p.m. on the first Monday in January of each odd-numbered year to take the oath of office, select officers, and organize for business. A week later — on the first Tuesday after January 8 at 2 p.m. — the regular session begins. These regular sessions usually continue about 6 months. In 13 of the 15 sessions from 1943 through 1968 the legislature recessed for a few months after completion of most of its work. It reconvened later to consider vetoes and appointments, react to revised fiscal estimates, correct errors in legislative measures, act on measures on which action had not been completed, and to deal with significant problems arising since the last meeting. These so-called adjourned sessions were not considered separate sessions but, rather, were separate “floorperiods” of the same biennial continuous session.

Beginning with the 1971 Legislature, however, annual sessions were formally inaugurated by law, which specified that the regular sessions are to begin in January of each year. Thus, in response to the constitutional amendment adopted in 1968, the 1971 Legislature became the first to put a continuous biennial session into an annual session pattern. Early in each biennium the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization develops a work schedule for the 2-year period and submits it to the legislature in the form of a joint resolution. The 1985-87 session of the 1985 Legislature has been structured into 6 floorperiods interspersed by periods of committee work. An adjournment meeting of each legislature is usually held immediately prior to the convening of the next legislature.

Traditionally, when the legislature completed its work for the biennium it adjourned sine die; that is, the session was over, and the legislature could not return unless called into special session by the governor. Since 1961, however, a procedure has been followed which permits the legislature, adjourned to a specified date (usually an hour or so before the convening of the next legislature), to call itself back into extraordinary session at an earlier date (on petition of a majority of the members of each house or by a majority of the members of the organization committee of each house).

During the regular session, the legislature may act upon any subject within the functions of the state government. The governor, however, may call special sessions, which can act only upon matters specifically mentioned in the governor's call. There have been 51 special sessions since 1848. The longest special session lasted 2-1/2 months. It is also possible for a regular session and a special session to run concurrently, and this has occurred several times. In January 1980 a special session and an extraordinary session (the legislature calling itself into session) were held simultaneously. Because special sessions may occur at any time during the legislative biennium, enactments resulting from a special session are now numbered into the regular sequence of biennial enactments.

Meetings of the respective houses of the legislature are held in the Senate and Assembly Chambers in the State Capitol. Under rules of the houses, daily sessions are held, which, unless otherwise ordered, begin at 10 a.m. for the Senate and 9 a.m. for the Assembly (but 10 a.m. on the first legislative day of the week) and usually last until noon or a little later. Afternoons are usually devoted to committee hearings or a combination of hearings and late afternoon sessions. Frequently, however, the houses begin work earlier than 10 a.m.. The usual schedule is for the legislature to meet Tuesdays through Thursdays of each week. Toward the end of most floorperiods the houses meet almost continuously during the mornings and afternoons Monday through Friday and hold frequent evening or night sessions.

From the foregoing, you may have noticed the different ways the word "session" is used. The "legislative session" usually refers to the 2-year period that comprises a particular legislature. If the legislature is "not in session", it may mean that it is in an interim period between floorperiods. If the Senate or Assembly is "not in session", however, it may mean that the house has adjourned for the day. On the other hand, it could also mean that it has recessed until a later hour of the same day.

Session Records Are the Tools of the Trade. Each house of the legislature keeps a record of its actions known as the Journal. This record differs from the federal Congressional Record in that it does not provide an account — either verbatim or abbreviated — of speeches given and debates conducted on the floor of the house. It is, instead, an outline record of the business before the house, including procedural actions taken on all measures considered on that particular day, roll call votes, communications received from the governor and from the other house, special committee reports, and miscellaneous other items.

The Bulletin of Proceedings is issued every week during the session. One part contains the record to date on proposals (bills, joint resolutions and resolutions) originating in the Senate, together with a record of governor's appointments requiring Senate confirmation. Another part is the record of action to date on proposals originating in the Assembly. These parts also list the petitions received by each house. A third part contains a subject and author index to all legislation introduced, a subject index to the legislative journals, an alphabetical listing of all registered lobbyists and their areas of interest, a subject index to new laws, a numeric listing of the statute sections affected by new enactments, and the complete text of constitution sections changed since the most recent publication of the Wisconsin Statutes. A fourth part lists action on and a subject index to administrative rules.

Although no verbatim record is kept of committee hearings, a record is kept of the names of the persons appearing at committee hearings to testify for or against a bill, together with any lobbying groups they may represent. After the session this record is filed in the Office of the Secretary of State together with the bill and the votes thereon. Beginning with the 1953 session, copies of the committee appearance records have also been filed in the Legislative Reference Bureau.

Each week during the session the chief clerks jointly issue a Weekly Schedule of Committee Activities, listing the business scheduled to be heard by the various committees during the com-

<sup>8</sup>Because the 1969 regular and SS ran concurrently, they frequently met on the same day. Each is counted as a separate "meeting day". The Senate adjourned the SS 11/15/69; Assembly, 1/17/70.

ing week together with the time and place of the hearings. Each house also issues daily Calendars indicating the business to be taken up on that day.

The above publications are always on file in the Legislative Reference Bureau for perusal by interested visitors to the Capitol. Numerous libraries throughout the state also receive these publications. Individuals may subscribe to them in total or in part at the beginning of a legislative session for a fee through the Senate Chief Clerk, P.O. Box 7882, State Capitol, Madison 53707-7882 (see table in this section for details).

Standing Committees Examine Proposed Legislation. The work of each house of the legislature is carried on to a great extent in committees. The Senate has 14 standing committees, the Assembly has 30 standing committees, and both houses together have 8 joint standing committees and 3 joint research committees.

True standing committees, which are provided for in the rules of each house, are composed only of legislators and are operative throughout the legislative biennium to hold public hearings on the measures introduced in the legislature. Each committee is concerned with one or more broad subject matter areas of state government, and may conduct studies, investigations and reviews within its areas of concern. Legislative committees may also appoint subcommittees or "study groups".

LEGISLATIVE SERVICE
1985-86 Session

To help citizens keep abreast of current legislative action, a special legislative service is available from the state on a subscription basis. The complete service is comprised of 6 individual parts. Any one of the 6 component parts may be ordered separately. The legislative service is on a limited subscription basis and many of its parts become filled as the session proceeds. As the subscriptions are filled, it is sometimes impossible to obtain all parts of the service; but some parts may still be available.

Ordering the service — To obtain all or part of the legislative service, send check or money order, payable to "State of Wisconsin", to: Senate Chief Clerk, P.O. Box 7882, State Capitol, Madison 53707-7882.

Concerning the service — If you have any problems or questions concerning the service, contact:

Legislative Document Room, Room B-18 North, State Capitol, Madison, Wisconsin 53702; telephone — (608) 266-2515.

Explanation of parts of the service:

Bills, joint resolutions and amendments are the text of each as introduced.

Acts are slip laws of the enacted bills in their final form, incorporating all adopted amendments, signed by the Governor or passed over the Governor's veto, and numbered.

Bulletins of Proceedings are a cumulative record of action taken on bills, joint resolutions and amendments by both houses. They are issued weekly or at other intervals after the third week of the session. Bulletins include a subject index to all legislation, as well as the status of each measure. Since the bulletins are cumulative, previous issues may be discarded when new issues are received.

Committee schedules give the schedule of hearings for a week and are issued on the Thursday before the week in which the hearings are to be held.

The Journals are a daily record of the business conducted in each house but are not a verbatim account. The journals furnished by this service include both the preliminary editions (published on the morning after the legislative day covered by the journal — on yellow paper for Senate Journals and on green paper for Assembly Journals) and the final corrected and reprinted copies (on white paper — distributed two or three weeks later).

Representative Cletus Vanderperren (foreground) presents testimony at a public hearing held by the Assembly Committee on Education on delaying school openings until after Labor Day. Committee members include Representatives Wilfrid Turba, Randall Radtke, Dwight York, Margaret Lewis and Timothy Weeden (photo courtesy of Assembly Republican Caucus).

In the Senate, appointments to standing committees are made by the Senate upon nomination by the Committee on Senate Organization, but the proposed nominations of specific members of the minority party are made by the Senate group of that party. Senate rules require that each senator must serve on at least one committee, and the number of members of each committee is set by rule. The exception to this method of appointment is the Committee on Senate Organization, composed ex officio of the majority leader as chairperson, president, minority leader, and assistant majority and minority leaders.

The speaker of the Assembly determines the number of members of each committee and the division of membership between the majority and minority party. Under Assembly rules, the speaker appoints the majority party committee members directly, and appoints the minority party committee members upon nomination by the Assembly minority leader. The Committee on Assembly Organization, however, consists of the speaker, majority and minority leaders, assistant majority and minority leaders, speaker pro tempore, and the chairpersons of the majority and minority caucuses. Customarily, every member serves on at least one committee, although the rules are silent on the distribution of committee assignments. The speaker may appoint himself to one or more standing committees and is a nonvoting member of all others.

Joint standing committees are usually formed somewhat differently. The Committee on Finance in each house together constitute the Joint Committee on Finance, the Committee on Audit in each house comprise the Joint Audit Committee (but there must be 2 majority and 2 minority members from each house), and the Committee for Review of Administrative Rules in each house together constitute the Joint Committee. Two committees have only ex officio members: The Joint Committee on Legislative Organization is composed of the speaker of the Assembly, the president of the Senate, the majority and minority leaders of each house and the assistant majority and minority leaders of each house; while the Joint Committee on Employment Relations is composed of the Assembly speaker, Senate president, majority and minority leaders of each house, plus the cochairpersons of the Joint Committee on Finance. The survey committees — Debt Management, Retirement Systems, and Tax Exemptions — include nonlegislative members. Among the joint research committees, the Legislative Council's membership is partly ex officio and partly appointed as are standing committees, while the Retirement Research Committee is comprised of the members of the Joint Survey Committee on Retirement Systems and of nonlegislative members. The Joint Committee on State-Supported Programs consists only of legislative members.

Special Committees Are Temporary. In addition to the standing committees, special committees may be appointed during a legislative session to study specific problems or conduct designated investigations and to report before the conclusion of the session.

Prior to 1947 interim committees were usually created each session to investigate particular subjects. They functioned between legislative sessions and reported their findings and recommendations to the next legislature. Since 1947, almost all studies have been referred to the Legislative Council, which coordinates the study and investigation program. The council may appoint committees to study specific matters and may appoint committees which parallel the standing committee structure. These latter committees usually comprise the membership of the standing committees in the respective houses plus several public members. The 1985-86 session schedule provides that the May 27 to December 31, 1986 period be set aside for the work of interim committees.

Employes of the Legislature. Each house of the legislature has staff services, managed by the chief clerk and the sergeant at arms of that house under the supervision of the Committee on Senate Organization and the speaker of the Assembly, respectively. These staff services are directly related to the legislative procedures in that house. Senate and Assembly employes are in the unclassified service. All employes of the 2 houses are paid in accordance with the compensation and classification plan for legislative employes in the classified civil service within ranges approved by the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization.

HOW A BILL BECOMES A LAW

Legislation. The process of deciding policy and enacting it into law is carried out by the legislature through the passage of bills, joint resolutions and "simple" (one house) resolutions. The purpose of a bill is to enact a law. A bill usually amends, creates, repeals, renumbers, rennumbers and amends, or repeals and recreates a section of the Wisconsin Statutes. The overwhelming proportion of measures introduced in the legislature consists of bills. Bills must go through both houses of the legislature and be signed by the governor before they become law. Joint resolutions, which do not require the governor's signature, may be introduced either for the purpose of amending the constitution — the major purpose of such resolutions — or for a variety of miscellaneous reasons, such as offering condolences or congratulations to individuals or expressing the opinion of the legislature on a given subject. Simple resolutions are those adopted by only one house and may be for such purposes as organizing the house at the beginning of the session or asking the attorney general for a legal opinion on a bill.

Introducing A Bill. The progress of a bill through the Wisconsin Legislature begins with the introduction of a bill by one or more authors (members of the house of introduction) and possibly cosponsors (members of the other house), or by a legislative committee. No one else may introduce a bill (the executive budget bill, however, is by law introduced by the Joint Committee on Finance without change). Although a bill may be introduced in either house of the legislature by members of that house with cosponsors from the other house, sometimes identical bills are introduced in both houses. Whichever way it is done, each measure must go through the regular procedures and be passed by the house of origin before it can go to the other house, where the process is repeated.

Fiscal Estimates and Bill Analyses. On a routine basis the members of the Wisconsin Legislature are supplied with certain factual information regarding every measure introduced. In 1953, Wisconsin pioneered "fiscal notes" to legislation, a procedure which has been widely copied by other states. Fiscal estimates put a price tag on legislation — every measure which increases or decreases state or local government revenues or expenditures must be accompanied by a reliable estimate of its short-range and long-range fiscal effects.

Most of the fiscal estimates are prepared by the agency which would ultimately administer the program if the measure is enacted into law. In the two highly technical areas of public retirement systems and of tax exemptions, the fiscal estimates are prepared by a joint survey committee of legislators and others who, together with their own research assistants, evaluate not only the fiscal effect of a proposal, but also its legality under state and federal law and its desirability as a matter of continuing public policy. All bills bearing fiscal estimates must be referred to the Joint Committee on Finance before they can be enacted into law.

Since 1967, the Legislative Reference Bureau has prepared an analysis of each proposal introduced in the legislature. The analysis explains, in layman's language, what the existing law is and how it will change if the measure becomes the law of Wisconsin. The analysis is printed in the bill immediately following the title.

First Reading. Upon introduction, each proposal is given a bill, joint resolution or resolution number by the chief clerk and "read the first time". First reading consists of the reading of the proposal's title by the chief clerk. Immediately after the title is read, the presiding officer refers the proposal to a standing committee for review. In the Assembly, copies of a written report showing the number and relating clause of proposals offered for introduction, together with the speaker's notation of committee referral, may be distributed to the representatives prior to the daily order of business known as "first reading". Such distribution takes the place of first reading. Printed copies of each bill, joint resolution or resolution are available for distribution on the morning of the business day following the day of introduction.

A Hearing Is Held. At the discretion of the chairperson, the standing committee to which a proposal is referred may schedule and hold a hearing on the proposal. All committee proceedings are open to the general public. If a hearing is held, anyone may appear to speak, or register, in favor of or against a measure. The committee then decides whether to return the proposal to the house of origin with a favorable or adverse recommendation (it may return the proposal "without recommendation" only if the vote is tied). The committee may also recommend the bill in an amended form. The committee's decision is contained in a very brief report to the house. The following is a 1985 example of a committee report to the Assembly from the Journal of the Assembly, April 25, 1985:

The committee on Highways reports and recommends:

Assembly Bill 90

Relating to license plates for antique motor vehicles.

Adoption of assembly amendment 1:

Ayes, (11) Noes: (0)

Passage: Ayes: (11) Noes: (0)

To committee on Rules.

CLETUS VANDERPERREN

Chairperson

Measures before a committee are to be taken up as soon as possible, with the scheduling of committee hearings determined by the chairperson. A committee is allowed a reasonable period of time to consider matters referred to it. After 21 days, any proposal that has not been reported out of an Assembly committee may be withdrawn on a motion or petition by majority vote of the Assembly. In the Senate, a proposal may be withdrawn from committee at any time by majority vote, but if the attempt is unsuccessful, all subsequent motions to withdraw the same proposal require a two-thirds vote.

To Calendar. Both houses of the Wisconsin Legislature have adopted a procedure for systematic calendar scheduling of proposals. In the Senate, all proposals reported by standing committees are referred to the Committee on Senate Organization; in the Assembly, they are referred to the Committee on Rules. These two committees schedule all business for floor debate.

Second Reading. When a bill is reached on the calendar, it is given a second reading by title. The question before the house becomes: "Shall the proposal be ordered engrossed and read a third time?" At this state of the proceedings amendments to the bill may be considered. Amendments to a bill may be offered at any time prior to engrossment. A simple amendment would make changes in the bill, while a substitute amendment would completely replace the original bill. Before a vote is taken on the question of engrossment, the amendments are debated and voted on. Engrossment is the incorporating of all adopted amendments and all approved technical corrections in a proposal in the house of origin. The rules of both houses require rescheduling of the proposal after engrossment. This would allow time for reconsideration of the vote by which the proposal was ordered engrossed. However, in many cases the rules are suspended (by unanimous consent or by a two-thirds vote) so that second reading and third reading can occur on the same legislative day.

Third Reading. The purpose of the third reading is to make a final decision on a proposal. After third reading, the question becomes: "Shall the bill pass?" The bill can again be debated at this point, but it is not subject to amendment. The bill may be passed by voice vote or by roll call (in the Assembly an electric roll call machine is used); on some types of proposals a roll call vote is required.

To Second House. If the bill passes, it is messaged to the other house, where it goes through substantially the same procedure as in the first house. However, in the second house the bill is often referred directly to the calendar instead of to a standing committee. If the bill is concurred in by the second house, whether with or without additional amendments, it is messaged back to the house of origin. If no amendments were added to the bill by the second house, the first house is ready to enroll it, that is, to direct the Legislative Reference Bureau to prepare a clean copy of the text agreed to by both houses.

Amendments In The Second House. If the second house concurred with amendments, these must first be voted upon in the house of origin. If any amendments are rejected or further amended by the latter, the bill could again go back to the other house; or a conference committee, made up of members representing each house, could be appointed to iron out the differences between the Senate-passed version and the Assembly-passed version. When both houses have agreed on the identical bill and amendments, the Legislative Reference Bureau enrolls it for the house of origin (that is, incorporates any amendments and corrections approved by both houses, producing a "clean" text), the official copy is signed by the chief clerks of both houses and by the speaker if it is an Assembly bill, and the bill is sent to the governor.

Each session, less than one-fourth of the bills introduced pass both houses. The remainder fail for a variety of reason and as the result of a variety of actions — the house of origin may vote to "indefinitely postpone" or "table" and then never take it up again, the second house may vote to "nonconcur" or concur with amendments unacceptable to the house of origin, or in some isolated cases the proposal may never be reported out of committee.

The Governor Signs or Vetoes a Bill. The governor has 6 days (excluding Sundays) in which to approve or veto a bill. He can either 1) sign a bill, in which case it becomes law; 2) fail to sign it within 6 days, whereby — if the legislature is still in session — it would become law without his signature; 3) veto it in whole or, if an appropriation bill, in part; or 4) if the legislature has adjourned sine die, fail to sign it within 6 days, thus killing the bill (a so-called pocket veto). Since the legislature usually does not adjourn until the next legislature convenes, the pocket veto is no longer used. Bills are not sent to the governor immediately following passage, but are sent in an orderly manner when called for by his office. The legislative session schedule, however, provides deadlines following each floorperiod when bills must be sent to the governor, and provides a specific floorperiod for final review by the legislature of the governor's vetoes.

If the governor vetoes a bill, he returns it to the house of origin together with his objections to the measure. That house may pass the bill over his veto (overrule the veto), but it requires a two-thirds vote to do so. If this is done, it goes to the other house, and again a two-thirds vote is necessary for passage. It then becomes law in spite of the governor's veto. If either house fails to muster the sufficient number of votes, the bill dies, and the governor's veto is said to be sustained.

Session Laws. After passage, the bill is assigned an act number (that is, each enacted bill is numbered in consecutive order of enactment), and its number and title are printed in the Milwaukee Sentinel, a newspaper which, for purposes of publication of the laws, has been designated the official state paper. The day after publication, the act takes effect unless the final clause of the law's text specifies another effective date. The acts also become available in printed slip copies and are ultimately bound into a volume of session laws called Laws of Wisconsin, which are the laws enacted by that particular biennial legislature. These laws are then incorporated by the revisor of statutes into the edition of the Wisconsin Statutes for that legislative biennium. Thus, the edition identified as the 1983-84 Wisconsin Statutes includes all changes made by the laws enacted by the 1983 Wisconsin Legislature: all sections of the statutes that were repealed have been deleted, all sections that have been amended are printed in their new version, all sections that have been created have been inserted in their proper order in the statutes.

A Note on Parliamentary Procedure. Very briefly and very generally, that is how a bill becomes a law in Wisconsin, and a substantially similar procedure is followed by all states except Nebraska, which has a single-house, or unicameral, legislature.

The procedure, of course, is more detailed and complex than is explained here. The detailed rules of parliamentary procedure followed by each house are printed in the Senate Manual and Assembly Manual, and for particularly difficult situations the presiding officer of each house has access to such standard sources of parliamentary law as Mason's Manual and Hind's and Cannon's Precedents of the U.S. House of Representatives. The rules of each house are usually adopted by that house for each session in the form of a simple resolution. Together the two houses also adopt joint rules, which deal with the relations between the two houses and with clerical proceedings common to both.

The parliamentary process often seems unduly complex and cumbersome to the onlooker. It has, however, slowly evolved over many generations, and much current usage is based on rules devised by Thomas Jefferson for the Congress of the United States. The process is designed to protect the minority in its right to urge its viewpoint, to promote careful deliberation and consideration of all legislation, and, thus, to prevent hasty, ill-considered legislation.

LEGISLATIVE SERVICE AGENCIES

A number of legislative service agencies have been established over the years to help the legislature with its work. The service agencies provide information and research, bill drafting services, statute revision, and auditing.

Statutory Committees. Several statutory committees exist to study particular matters and make recommendations thereon to the legislature. They consist either entirely of legislators or of legislators and a few other state officers. The Joint Committee for Review of Administrative Rules studies and makes recommendations with regard to rules promulgated by state agencies; the Joint Audit Committee advises the Legislative Audit Bureau; the Joint Committee on Employment Relations approves state pay plans and introduces bills necessary to carry out labor agreements; the Joint Committee on Finance reviews the budget and other spending measures; and the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization supervises 4 service bureaus. The Joint Survey Committee on Debt Management advises the legislature on the coordination of activities of state agencies and authorities issuing debt; the Joint Survey Committee on Retirement Systems and the Retirement Research Committee review proposed retirement legislation; and the Joint Survey Committee on Tax Exemptions makes recommendations with regard to proposals exempting property or persons from taxation. The Legislative Council directs the work of interim study committees; and the Joint Legislative State Supported Programs Study and Advisory Committee visits and makes recommendations concerning the various institutions, programs and organizations of the state. The state Building Commission coordinates and plans the state's building program; the Transportation Projects Commission reviews and recommends highway projects; and the Commission on Uniform State Laws advises the legislature concerning model and uniform laws.

Bureaus and Council Staff. The Joint Committee on Legislative Organization supervises the activities of 4 bureaus: the Legislative Audit Bureau, which conducts fiscal post-audits of all state agency accounts and audits agency activities on the basis of program performance in line with legislative intent; the Legislative Fiscal Bureau, which assists the Joint Committee on Finance in fiscal and budgetary matters; the Legislative Reference Bureau, which drafts legislation, publishes the Wisconsin Blue Book and carries on reference, research, and library functions for the legislature; and the Revisor of Statutes Bureau, which edits the Wisconsin Statutes and the Administrative Code and prepares revision and correction bills.

The Legislative Council supervises a staff which performs research for the interim study committees and for standing committees.

SS-Special Session. Special Sessions with no vetoes: 1933, 1946, 1948, 1958, 1963, 1969, 1971, 1974 (Nov.), 1976 (May and Sept.), 1977 (June), 1978 (June and Dec.).

<sup>2</sup>Includes "pocket" vetoes: 1937 - 5; 1941 - 13; 1943 - 4; 1951 - 14; 1955 - 10; 1957 - 1; 1973 SS - 1. A "pocket" veto is used after the legislature has adjourned sine die and has no opportunity to sustain or override the veto (see Article V, Section 10, Wisconsin Constitution).

*Prior to the enactment of 1983 WisAct 29, legislative districts were reapportioned by order of the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Wisconsin, June 17, 1982. The court plan governed the November 1982 general election for all members of the Assembly and 17 members of the Senate, and 5 special elections to 3 Senate seats and 2 Assembly seats. (See pages 253-54 of the 1983 Blue Book for population data for the court plan reapportionment). Since July 1983, WisAct 29 has governed all legislative elections.

SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT LEGISLATION 1983 WISCONSIN LEGISLATURE

The Legal Section
LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

INTRODUCTION

This summary provides an overview of legislation enacted by the 1983 Legislature. Legislation is divided according to subject matter; beneath each subject heading the acts of the Legislature are individually described. The biennial budget act (Act 27), which affects many different areas of state law, is described separately under the appropriate subject headings rather than under a heading devoted exclusively to the budget. The more important enrolled joint resolutions are also summarized.

The 1983 Legislature took its oath of office on January 3, 1983. Its regular session was organized into 5 floorperiods:

- I — February 8 to February 18, 1983
- II — April 12 to June 30, 1983
- III — October 4 to October 28, 1983
- IV — January 31 to April 6, 1984
- V — May 22 to May 24, 1984

In addition to these floorperiods, the Governor called the following special sessions, resulting in the acts indicated:

Special Session	Acts	Subject
January 4-6, 1983	Act 1 .....	Special election for the 12th Senate District
	Act 2 .....	Cigarette, sales and use tax rates
April 12-14, 1983	Act 8 .....	Unemployment compensation
July 11-14, 1983	Act 28 .....	Motor fuel tax liability
	Act 29 .....	Reapportionment
	Act 30 .....	State employees' benefits
	Act 31 .....	Tax incremental finance joint review boards
October 18-28, 1983	Act 82 .....	Homeownership mortgage loan program
	Act 83 .....	Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority
	Act 84 .....	Economic adjustment program
	Act 85 .....	Exemption from state approval for innovative medical technology
	Act 86 .....	Promotion of foreign investment
	Act 87 .....	Exemptions from and fees for securities registration
	Act 88 .....	Personal property tax exemption for logging equipment
	Act 89 .....	Jurisdiction to tax foreign corporations
	Act 90 .....	Consideration for small businesses in rule making
	Act 91 .....	Permit information center
Act 92 .....	Agricultural products
Feb. 2-Mar. 22, 1984		None

Special Session	Acts	Subject
May 22-24, 1984	Act 540 .....	Definition of domestic abuse
	Act 541 .....	Penalty for computer crimes
	Act 542 .....	Inspection of nursing home payroll records
	Act 543 .....	Midwest Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact
	Act 544 .....	Nonsubstantive corrections in administrative rules
	Act 545 .....	Financial assistance program for septic system replacement
	Act 546 .....	Group deer hunting
	Act 547 .....	Technology development fund grants
	Act 548 .....	Elwin C. Donaldson claim
	Act 549 .....	Election districts for party committeemen
	Act 550 .....	Shared revenue adjustments

The 1983 Legislature enacted 550 acts through June 1, 1984, compared to 394 acts enacted by the 1981 Legislature. Acts ranged in length from only a few words to over 326,300 words estimated for Act 27 (the biennial budget act). The number of bills introduced decreased to 1,935, compared to 2,010 in the previous session. Of the bills introduced, 1,198 originated in the Assembly and 737 originated in the Senate. The 1983 Legislature enacted 28.4% of the bills introduced, compared to 19.6% enacted by the 1981 Legislature. In addition, the ideas contained in many unenacted bills were, in the legislative process, grafted onto other proposals. These figures do not tell the entire story; many bills were redrafted a number of times prior to introduction and many bills had one or more complete substitute versions. The Legislative Reference Bureau received 14,229 drafting requests during the 1983-84 session compared to 14,487 drafting requests received during the 1981-82 session. Of the bills, joint resolutions and resolutions drafted by the Legislative Reference Bureau during the 1983-84 session, approximately 46% were introduced.

Governor Anthony Earl vetoed 3 bills in their entirety during the 1983-84 session, down from 11 totally vetoed bills in the 1981-82 session. The Governor vetoed parts of 11 appropriation bills, identical to the number of bills partially vetoed in the prior session. The Legislature overrode several of the partial vetoes in Act 27.

HIGHLIGHTS

Agriculture

Act 261 (AB-399) grants to the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection general rule-making authority over all phases of food production, handling and sales. The act clarifies and broadens the food law enforcement authority of DATCP as follows:

1. An agent of DATCP may inspect any facility, vehicle or room holding or transporting foods for sale, secure food samples and examine evidence.

2. DATCP may hold food believed to be misbranded or adulterated under an extended 14-day holding order in addition to the 14-day holding order previously permissible. If this food is found dangerous to public health, DATCP may order it disposed of, following 30 days' notice.

3. DATCP may order the correction of a piece of equipment, a facility or a practice violating the food laws.

4. DATCP may suspend certain food production licenses or permits without prior notice or hearing if the production requirements are violated and a serious danger to public health exists.

The act also requires any person operating an establishment that reconditions or salvages distressed food for sale or use as food to obtain a food processing plant license from DATCP, with certain exceptions. Distressed food is food that has been damaged or may have been made unsafe during handling or shipping or the label of which has been lost or defaced.

Act 451 (SB-391) provides that a person may kill a dog only after other restraining actions have failed or if immediate action is necessary and if the dog threatens serious bodily harm to either a person or livestock, dogs or cats belonging to the person, on the person's property. A conservation warden or other officer may kill a dog if immediate action is necessary to protect deer or game birds from injury or death. Under the act, a dog's owner is liable for damage caused by a dog. The act creates standards under which the state or a municipality may obtain a court order to kill a dog. A person unlawfully killing a dog is liable to the dog's owner for double damages, is subject to penalties, and may be prosecuted for mistreatment.

The act requires a municipality's board or council to prescribe humane officers' duties in enforcing the rabies control program and dog laws.

The act changes several requirements concerning rabies vaccination ordinances, requires that surplus funds in excess of $1,000 from the dog license tax be paid to the county humane society or organization providing a pound, if such exist in the county, and directs a county board to allow from the dog license tax fund fair market value as the award amount of a successful claim for damages brought by the owner of any livestock or ranch mink injured by a dog.

Beverages

Act 74 (AB-260) makes a number of changes in the laws relating to the use of alcohol beverages, including:

1. The act raises from 18 to 19 the age at which a person may legally purchase, procure, possess or consume alcohol beverages or obtain an alcohol beverage license or permit.
2. The act changes the penalties applicable to underage persons (those under 19 years of age) for violating any law relating to alcohol beverages or the use of false identification to include increased civil forfeitures, suspension or revocation of the person's motor vehicle operating privilege and participation in a supervised work program.
3. The act prohibits an underage person with any level of blood alcohol concentration from operating a motor vehicle and provides a 3-month suspension of the person's operating privilege for a violation.
4. The act prohibits the possession or consumption of alcohol beverages by underage persons. Former law prohibited possession or consumption in public. The act provides exceptions for certain employes and retains the existing exception permitting consumption of fermented malt beverages by underage persons accompanied by a parent, spouse or guardian.
5. The act provides for the confidentiality of records relating to the revocation or suspension of an underage person's motor vehicle operating privilege as a penalty for a violation of the alcohol beverage laws.
6. The act permits a district attorney to prosecute an alleged violation of the alcohol beverage laws by a minor in a court of civil and criminal jurisdiction after the action is dismissed by a court exercising jurisdiction under the children's code.

The provisions of the act do not apply to any person who has attained the age of 18 years on July 1, 1984.

Act 472 (AB-169) prohibits an adult from knowingly permitting or failing to take action to prevent the illegal consumption of alcohol beverages by persons under the legal drinking age on premises owned by the adult or under his or her control. The act also prohibits adults from intentionally encouraging an underage person to violate any law regulating the possession and consumption of alcohol beverages by underage persons, the presence of underage persons on licensed premises or proof of age for obtaining alcohol beverages.

Business and Consumer Law

Act 48 (AB-16), the "lemon law," permits a consumer to obtain a replacement or a refund for a defective motor vehicle under certain circumstances. The act applies only to new motor vehicles sold in Wisconsin on or after November 3, 1983.

The act applies only if the defect in the motor vehicle is covered by express warranty and only if the defect substantially impairs the use, value or safety of the motor vehicle and is not the result of abuse, neglect or unauthorized modification by the consumer. The consumer must report the defect to the manufacturer or one of its dealers and must make the motor vehicle available for repair within one year after the consumer first receives the motor vehicle or before the expiration of the express warranty, whichever is sooner. If within the same time period the defect is reported and the motor vehicle is made available for repair 4 times or the motor vehicle is out of service for a total of 30 days because of any defects covered by express warranty, the manufacturer must, at the option of the consumer, provide a replacement or a refund for the motor vehicle.

A consumer may not obtain a replacement or refund unless the consumer first resorts to a dispute settlement procedure, if a procedure is available to the consumer and if the procedure complies with certain federal regulations or is at least as consumer protective as a procedure that complies with the federal regulations.

Acts 81 and 83 (AB-451 and Oct. 1983 Spec. Sess. AB-6) authorize the Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority (formerly the Wisconsin Housing Finance Authority) to issue bonds and notes to fund export and economic development loans. WHEDA may issue $50,000,000 in bonds and notes for export loans and $95,000,000 in bonds and notes for eco-conomic development loans. WHEDA may not issue bonds or notes after June 30, 1986, except to refund outstanding bonds and notes.

Act 81 authorizes WHEDA to lend bond proceeds to export trade companies and financial institutions which must use the funds to make loans to finance the sale of Wisconsin exports. These exports must be producer or consumer goods, commodities or services having a majority of their export value produced in Wisconsin. WHEDA may fund export loans only if the export trade companies and financial institutions assume full responsibility for repayment of loans and obtain insurance against default and only if similar financing for the export sales is not available from other sources.

The Department of Development must certify compliance with certain other conditions and must consult DATCP prior to certifying compliance if a loan will finance the sale of agricultural commodities. These conditions include requirements that the export sales will serve to maintain or increase employment in this state, that preference has been given to smaller exporters and that limits on the amounts and terms of loans have been complied with.

Act 83 authorizes WHEDA to lend bond proceeds to financial institutions which must use the funds to make loans to finance economic development projects. Economic development projects include the purchase of land, plants and equipment for certain facilities used for manufacturing, headquarters, storage or distribution, retail sales, research and development, recreation and tourism and production of raw agricultural commodities. Economic development projects also include research and development activities performed by manufacturing firms.

WHEDA may fund economic development loans only if preference is given to businesses primarily owned or controlled by women or minorities and to small businesses and certain new businesses, limits on the amounts of loans are complied with and the loans will not refinance loans to businesses that have participated in tax incremental financing districts. WHEDA must also consider the extent to which the economic development projects will maintain or increase employment in this state, will contribute to Wisconsin's economic growth and the well-being of its residents, whether the projects will be located in areas of high unemployment or low average income, the number of participating financial institutions and whether the projects would not otherwise occur.

DOD must certify compliance with certain conditions, including requirements that the projects maintain or expand employment, that the projects be located in Wisconsin, that similar financing is not available from other sources, that the authority will not assume primary risk for the loans, that the loans will not refinance existing debt except to finance business expansion or job creation and that the businesses receiving the loans have gross annual sales of $35,000,000 or less.

Act 86 (Oct. 1983 Spec. Sess. SB-4) directs DOD, in consultation with DATCP, to develop and implement a plan to promote Wisconsin exports and foreign investment in Wisconsin. The plan may provide for establishment of foreign trade offices, participation in trade fairs and preparation of market research. DOD must submit the plan to the Joint Committee on Finance for approval. The committee may amend the plan prior to approving it.

Act 91 (Oct. 1983 Spec. Sess. AB-5) creates a Permit Information Center in DOD. The center provides information to businesses on permits required in Wisconsin, criteria applied in approving permit applications and the time periods within which determinations on permit applications will be made. The center may also provide permit applications and arrange meetings with agencies that issue permits. Upon request, the center must check and report back on the status of submitted permit applications and must attempt to resolve misunderstandings and mitigate delays in the permit application process. The act also directs the center to monitor the permit application process to ensure that permits are granted as quickly as possible.

The act requires that every rule promulgated by an agency which includes a requirement for a business to obtain a permit specify the number of business days within which the agency will review and make determinations on permit applications and requires agencies to submit reports to the Permit Information Center on every occasion the agencies fail to make their determinations within the time periods specified.

Domestic Relations

Act 27 (SB-83) substantially changes the laws governing child and spousal support collection. The act authorizes the Department of Health and Social Services to contract with up to 10 counties in this state to require immediately effective wage assignments for support obligations, unless payers show extraordinary circumstances preventing payment or provide security for payment. This automatic wage assignment pilot program lasts until June 30, 1987, or the effective date of the 1987-89 biennial budget act, whichever is later. In all other counties, until June 30, 1987, or the 1987-89 budget effective date, wage assignment may take effect following a hearing held after a payment becomes 10 days late. After June 30, 1987, or the 1987-89 biennial budget act effective date, whichever is later, automatic wage assignments are instituted in all counties unless payers show extraordinary circumstances or pay security.

The act directs DHSS to adopt a standard for determining a child support obligation based on a percentage of the gross income of either or both parents. A court may order child support in an amount determined using the percentage standard, instead of ordering a fixed sum. The act directs payment of interest at 1.5% per month on unpaid support, and clarifies the mechanisms available to enforce payment of child support obligations.

The act permits DHSS and counties, in administering support collection programs, to contract with attorneys, collection agencies or other persons to enforce and collect support obligations. It changes the laws relating to the tax intercept and unemployment compensation programs used to collect unpaid support obligations (see also Act 384). It also permits the state or its designee to recover from the support obligor for support collection services provided to the obligee.

Act 186 (AB-200), the "marital property reform" law, creates a new system of property rights applicable to property owned by spouses during a marriage. The new system is based upon community property principles, whereas previous law embodied the common law property approach. Under the new system, much of the property of one or both spouses is "marital property" and is subject to the property interests and control rights of both husband and wife.

The act describes the classification, management and control of spousal property, the satisfaction of spousal debts and the treatment of credit transactions with married persons. It permits spouses to enter into marital property agreements with one another, and provides interspousal remedies for a spouse's injury to or misuse of certain spousal property. It also changes laws relating to dissolution of marriage, taxation and probate to reflect the new property system. The act takes effect on January 1, 1986.

Education

Act 411 (SB-600) establishes high school graduation requirements. The act provides that, beginning September 1, 1988, a school board may not grant a high school diploma to any pupil unless the pupil has earned, in grades 9 to 12, at least 4 credits of English, 3 credits of social studies, 2 credits of mathematics, 2 credits of science, 0.5 credit of computer science, 1.5 credits of physical education and 0.5 credit of health education. The act requires the State Superintendent of Public Instruction to adopt policies to accommodate pupils with exceptional educational interests, needs or requirements.

Act 412 (AB-1018) abolishes school curriculum requirements and substitutes various educational goals and expectations relating to academic skills and knowledge, vocational skills, citizenship and personal development.

Act 512 (AB-887) establishes criteria for defining private schools and home-based private educational programs for the purposes of the compulsory school attendance law. The act provides that an institution is a private school if the primary purpose of its educational program is to provide private or religious-based education and if its educational program is privately controlled, provides at least 875 hours of instruction each school year, provides a sequentially progressive curriculum of fundamental instruction in reading, language arts, mathematics, social studies, science and health, is not operated to avoid the compulsory school attendance law and if the pupils in the program return annually to the homes of their parents or guardians for 2 months of summer vacation or the institution is licensed as a child-caring institution by DHSS. Instruction in a home-based private educational program may be substituted for attendance at a public or private school only if the program meets all of the above criteria.

Elections

Act 51 (AB-40) permits candidates in special elections to receive state grants from the Wisconsin election campaign fund. The fund is comprised of general tax revenues derived from taxpayer designations on income tax returns. Grants may be obtained to finance campaigns for Representative to the Assembly, state Senator, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, Attorney General and State Superintendent of Public Instruction. Qualification procedure and funding are similar to that previously provided for spring and general elections. Under the act, a candidate of a recognized political party may qualify for a preelection grant if the candidate of that party for the same office received at least 6% of the total vote cast at the preceding general election; any other candidate for a partisan office may qualify for a postelection grant if he or she receives at least 6% of the total vote cast at the special election.

Act 183 (AB-694) makes a variety of changes in canvassing and recount procedures. The act provides for the separation of absentee ballots from other ballots when ballots are counted or recounted and ballots must be drawn out because the number of ballots exceeds the number of voters. It specifies procedures which local boards of canvassers must follow in making original canvasses and recounts. It permits recount petitions to be amended under certain conditions, increases recount fees and redefines the circumstances under which the fees apply, permits adjustment of vote totals during recounts under certain circumstances and clarifies the standard for review of court appeals of recounts. It provides that the recount appeal procedure is the exclusive judicial remedy for testing the right to hold an elective office due to an alleged irregularity, defect or mistake committed during the voting or canvassing process. It permits the employment of tabulators to assist in recounts and also permits 2 sets of election officials to be employed to work at different times on election day. In addition, the act changes the campaign finance law to provide that no contribution utilized for the payment of expenses incident to a recount is subject to contribution limitations.

Act 484 (AB-540) makes numerous changes in election laws. The act:

1. Creates a procedure for administrative review by the Elections Board of certain decisions, acts or failures to act on the part of local election officials.

2. Changes voter registration list purging (updating) procedure from a procedure in which the assent of the voter is required to remove the voter's name from the list to a procedure in which a voter's name is removed if no response is received when the voter is contacted by mail.

3. Makes changes in qualification requirements and in the procedure for minor parties to obtain a separate ballot or column on the ballot.

4. Permits the presidential preference ballot nominating committee to place on the primary ballot the names of candidates whose candidacy is not generally advocated or recognized on a national basis.

5. Reorganizes statutory political parties and gives them all of the statutory functions of political parties. Formerly, the "voluntary" parties performed some of these functions.

6. Precludes write-in candidates from winning election to a nonpartisan state office if no other candidates' names appear on the official ballot.

7. Makes it a misdemeanor for any person to intimidate or coerce an employe or person receiving payments under a state or local government program for the purpose of obtaining a political contribution or service.

8. Requires school board members in unified school districts that encompass a city having a population of at least 150,000 but not more than 500,000 (Madison) to be elected at large to numbered seats.

9. Abolishes, combines and redesignates certain election official (poll worker) positions.

10. Requires the UW Board of Regents to adopt uniform rules prescribing the times, places and manner in which political campaigning may be conducted in state-owned residence halls.

Act 491 (AB-612) changes the requirement for a petition seeking the recall of a city, village, town or school district official to state "good and sufficient reason" for recall to a requirement to state "cause" for recall. Under the former standard, a petition could be based on an issue of public policy; under the new standard, it is limited to an issue of inefficiency, neglect of duties, official misconduct or malfeasance in office. The act requires that the circulator of a recall petition preregister and file campaign finance reports for the circulation period in addition to the election campaign period as formerly required. It requires a statement of the source to appear on advertisements in recall campaigns and provides standards for determining the validity of recall petitions and signatures thereon. The act also changes the formula for determining the number of signatures required on recall petitions.

Employment

Act 8 (Apr. 1983 Spec. Sess. AB-1) makes various changes in the unemployment compensation (U.C.) law. Under the law, all private employers except nonprofit employers must pay contributions (taxes) on employment covered by the law to support the financing of U.C. benefits and administration of the U.C. program. The act increases the amount of annual wages of each employe that are subject to such taxation. The act also increases tax rates and adjusts tax rates in accordance with the solvency of the reserve fund from which benefits are paid. The act places limitations upon the ability of some employers to shift the costs of benefits for their employes to all employers who pay taxes. The act also makes changes in eligibility for benefits. The act makes it more difficult for employes who voluntarily quit their jobs or who refuse to apply for or accept suitable work or to accept recall by a former employer to regain eligibility for benefits (see also Act 99). It increases the number of weeks of qualifying employment that an employe must have to be eligible for benefits. It decreases the maximum number of weeks of regular state benefits, but provides for extra state benefits during periods of high unemployment. The act indefinitely discontinues the indexing of maximum and minimum benefit rates in accordance with the cost of living and changes benefit eligibility and amounts for employes who are partially unemployed or who are receiving earnings from self-employment (see also Act 168). The act excludes certain direct sellers and service providers from eligibility for U.C. benefits. In addition, the act tightens requirements that claimants be available for and able to work and that claimants register and search for work in order to remain eligible for benefits, and increases penalties for fraudulent claims.

Act 392 (SB-118) makes various changes in the "employees' right-to-know" law, which gives public and private sector employees and employee representatives the right to know about toxic substances, infectious agents and pesticides present in the workplace.

The act requires employers to retain for 30 years a material safety data sheet describing, or a list identifying, any toxic substance present in the workplace, with certain exceptions. An employer who ceases business in this state must provide toxic substance and infectious agent information to the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, to be maintained and provided to employees upon request.

The act permits DILHR to receive and investigate complaints from employees and employee representatives, hold hearings and issue orders concerning violations of the right-to-know law. It also extends certain information responsibilities to agricultural employers and creates certain information requirements regarding pesticides.

Environment

Act 410 (AB-595) creates a comprehensive groundwater protection program. Some of the most important features of the act include the following:

1. The act provides a mechanism for the establishment of enforcement standards and preventive action limits to define when groundwater is being polluted or is threatened with pollution. These standards are established by the Department of Natural Resources in cooperation with other state agencies whose regulatory roles include supervision of products or activities which may affect groundwater quality. Provision for the enforcement of these standards and for groundwater monitoring are also included.

2. The act creates a compensation program for persons whose wells are contaminated. This program may provide compensation for 80% of eligible costs up to a maximum of $9,600.

3. The act creates a laboratory certification program for laboratories which submit certain tests and evaluations to DNR.

4. The act creates a groundwater fund to finance the establishment of groundwater standards, monitoring and certain clean-up activities and creates an environmental repair fund to provide for remedial action at various waste facilities, for hazardous substances spill sites and for the abandoned container program.

5. The act creates several new regulatory programs to control substances and activities which may contaminate groundwater, such as fertilizers, pesticides, highway salt, flammable and combustible liquids, septage and petroleum tanks.

6. The act creates a Fox River Management Commission and a scenic urban waterways program.

Health

Act 27 (SB-83) creates a 3-member Hospital Rate-Setting Commission to replace the voluntary Wisconsin hospital rate review program. An 11-member advisory council is attached to the commission. The act authorizes the commission to establish and enforce maximum rates that a hospital can charge on a prospective basis. The act allows each hospital to request rate changes annually and requires each hospital to submit its proposed financial requirements and any requested information at that time. The act requires the commission to review and evaluate each hospital's proposed financial requirements and rate request in light of a variety of standards, including comparisons with prudently administered hospitals of similar size or providing similar services, the special circumstances of rural hospitals and teaching hospitals, and the past budget and rate experience of the hospital that submits the rate request. The commission may disallow elements of a hospital's proposed financial requirements and must establish maximum rates for the hospital.

The act requires hospitals to charge no more than the maximum rates established by the previous voluntary program beginning July 2, 1983, and to charge no more than the maximum rates established by the commission beginning January 1, 1985.

Act 202 (AB-513) enables an adult person to execute a declaration authorizing the withholding or withdrawal of life-sustaining procedures when the person is in a terminal condition. Life-sustaining procedures do not include medical procedures to alleviate pain or provide nutritional support. A terminal condition is an incurable condition that reasonable medical judgment finds would cause death within 30 days, regardless of the application of life-sustaining procedures. A declaration takes effect on the date of execution and expires 5 years later. A declaration is not valid during the period of a diagnosed pregnancy and may be revoked by the declarant at any time.

The act relieves health care professionals from civil and criminal liability and from charges of unprofessional conduct for actions taken in accordance with the provisions of a declaration. The act provides that the execution or implementation of a declaration does not constitute suicide and that the execution or implementation may not be used to affect the terms or procurement of any life or health insurance policy. The act does not impair or supersede any other legal right or responsibility a person has to withhold or withdraw life-sustaining procedures.

The act makes it a misdemeanor to conceal or damage a person's declaration and a felony to intentionally falsify or forge the declaration of another or to withhold knowledge of a revocation if the action causes life-sustaining procedures to be withheld or withdrawn.

Act 211 (SB-80) prohibits smoking in public conveyances, educational facilities, inpatient health care facilities, indoor movie theaters, public offices, passenger elevators, restaurants with a seating capacity of more than 50 persons, retail establishments, public waiting rooms and any state, county, city, village or town building, with certain exceptions. The exceptions include offices occupied exclusively by smokers, entire rooms or halls used for private functions, prisons, jails and designated smoking areas. The person in charge of an area may designate a smoking area by posting a sign identifying the area as a smoking area. Entire rooms and buildings may be designated smoking areas.

Insurance

Act 27 (SB-83) defines preferred provider plans (PPPs) and health maintenance organizations (HMOs) and regulates the operations of PPPs and HMO plans. PPPs are health care plans that select participating health care providers and provide coverage only for medical, hospital, podiatric and chiropractic care. PPPs may require enrollees to designate primary providers to be used when possible, and may require enrollees to make certain copayments if they obtain care from nonparticipating providers.

HMOs are organizations that select participating providers and provide comprehensive health care services to enrollees. See also Act 321, which modifies the definition of HMOs to include federally qualified HMOs and cooperative associations offering sickness care plans. Enrollees pay periodic predetermined amounts for services provided by participating providers under an HMO plan.

Employers offering a PPP or HMO plan must also offer a substantially equivalent plan that does not select participating providers. The act also required employers with more than 250 employees in Wisconsin to offer at least 2 substantially equivalent health care plans, including a PPP or HMO plan if available in the area of employment ("dual choice" requirement). However, Act 212 repeals this requirement.

Local Law

Act 31 (July 1983 Spec. Sess. SB-1) creates tax incremental finance joint review boards to review proposals by cities or villages for the creation of tax incremental districts. The act requires any city or village seeking to create a tax incremental district or to amend its project plan for an existing district to convene a joint review board. The board consists of representatives chosen by the school district, vocational, technical and adult education district, county and city or village, plus one public member chosen by a majority of the other representatives.

Under the act, no tax incremental district may be created and no project plan may be amended unless the joint review board approves the proposal by a majority vote within 30 days after the resolution authorizing the proposal is adopted. If the joint review board rejects the proposal, it must explain, in writing, why the rejected proposal fails to meet specified criteria.

Act 179 (SB-56) authorizes the Milwaukee Board of Police and Fire Commissioners to prescribe rules for the Milwaukee police and fire departments. The department chiefs may not prescribe rules unless authorized by the board. The board may review the conduct of the departments and give the chiefs written orders for changes, which the mayor may overrule in writing.

Act 207 (AB-1010) permits municipalities greater flexibility in issuing bonds and imposes increased uniformity among different units of local government as to the types of indebtedness issued and the manner of issuance.

The act repeals former law listing specific purposes for which each municipality may issue general obligation bonds and substitutes provisions which permit all municipalities to issue bonds for any project undertaken for a purpose for which the municipality is authorized to act. Municipalities are permitted by the act to treat the refunding of bonds or notes as if it occurs simultaneously with payment of municipal obligations so refunded. In addition, issuance of refunding notes is not subject to referendum requirements and may be for a purpose other than the original issuance. The act repeals former law requiring municipalities to show on each bond issued the full value of the municipality's taxable property and total amount of debt and unifies at 20 years the date by which most long-term municipal obligations must mature. The act deletes the two-thirds and three-fourths vote requirements for adoption of resolutions authorizing bond issuance, modifies notice requirements and simplifies the processes for municipal obligation sale and redemption.

The act changes refunding restrictions on promissory notes to permit refunding without limit if the refunding notes are paid within 20 years after the original promissory note issuance.

The act authorizes a municipality to borrow funds if the bond resolution specifies revenues to be pledged for repayment, total temporary borrowing does not exceed 60% of receipts for that year and the funds are repaid within 18 months. The act permits repeated issuance of refunding notes if repaid within 20 years after the original note issuance.

Under former law, a municipality was required to back a revenue bond with both a pledge of specific revenues and a mortgage lien placed on the public utility. The act makes optional the use of a mortgage lien as security. The act permits a municipality to refund bond anticipation notes with new notes if paid within 10 years after the original note and to issue refunding B bonds, secured by special assessments levied to pay for public improvements, to refund any outstanding issue of special assessment B bonds.

Act 532 (AB-1094) substantially revises town laws. The act reorganizes town meeting powers and authorizes the town meeting to delegate to the town board its general tax levy power, its authority to fix town officer salaries (except board member salaries) and its power to purchase land in the town for town purposes.

The act changes the date of the annual town meeting from the first Tuesday in April to the 2nd Tuesday in April and makes other changes in town meeting procedure.

The act requires town boards to determine the jurisdiction and duties of the town constable and permits town boards to create the position of town administrator. The act gives town boards the authority and duty to prepare and adopt a town budget and also specifies various general executive powers and duties of the town board chairperson.

The act authorizes an alternative claims procedure and the establishment of a board of police and fire commissioners and makes competitive bidding procedures and special assessment laws applicable to town public works. The act makes various changes in town zoning procedures, repeals a requirement that town sanitary district commissioners own property in the district and clarifies town publication and posting requirements.

Military Law

Act 430 (SB-500) extends veterans' benefits to veterans of the recent United States military actions in Lebanon and Grenada.

Public Utilities

Act 27 (SB-83) authorizes the Public Service Commission to pay the costs of a nonutility intervenor in a PSC proceeding if the intervenor's participation is important and financially burdensome for the intervenor.

Act 401 (AB-826) prohibits PSC approval of construction of any new nuclear power plant unless the PSC finds that there is an acceptable place to put nuclear waste from the plant and that the plant is economically more advantageous to ratepayers than other forms of electric power generation.

Retirement

Act 141 (SB-568) revises retirement benefits for employers and employes who participate in the Wisconsin Retirement Fund administered by Department of Employee Trust Funds. The act:

1. Increases the formula factor used in calculating retirement benefits by 0.2% for protective occupation employes, state executives and elected officials, and by 0.3% for all other employes. For police and fire fighters covered under old municipal pension plans, the retirement benefit increases to 55% of final salary.

2. Changes former law which limited the initial monthly payment of retirement benefits to 85% of final salary, plus social security benefits, to a calculation of 65% of final salary, disregarding social security benefits. For fire fighters who do not receive social security, the limitation is 85% of final salary.

3. Modifies the actuarial discount by which benefits are reduced for early retirement to 4.8% for each year the annuity is paid before the normal retirement date.

4. Permits general employes who are at least 62 years of age and have at least 30 years service to retire with full benefits.

5. Changes the former calculation of the amount of additional service credit participants could receive for military service to provide credit of one year of military service, up to a maximum of 4 years, for each 5 years of regular creditable service.

6. Provides employers with a 40-year amortization period during which the benefit increases created by this act are funded.

7. Affects the actuarial assumptions by setting fixed rates upon which the benefits and costs of the system are projected.

8. Gradually reduces, after 1985, the higher formula multiplier for retirement benefits for protective occupation participants who remain in service after age 55.

9. Sets at 5% per year, after 1985, the amount of interest that may be credited to an employe's account.

10. Changes the former normal form of an annuity, for life with a guarantee of 60 payments, to an annuity for life with no guarantee and provides the guaranteed annuity as an option.

11. Requires general employes and protective occupation participants to pay, or have paid for them by their employer, a nonrefundable benefit adjustment contribution of one percent of their earnings.

Shared Revenue

Act 2 (Jan. 1983 Spec. Sess. SB-1) eliminates, for the distribution of the Wisconsin State Property Tax Relief credit program in 1984 and thereafter, the supplement to the program created under former law from revenues generated by one cent of the sales tax in the prior fiscal year. The act does not affect the $75 million supplement for 1983, nor does it affect the base appropriation for the WSPTR credit program.

Act 27 (SB-83) suspends the automatic growth provisions for determining 1984 and 1985 WSPTR credit payments and sets the 1984 payment at $281 million and the 1985 payment at $289.6 million.

The act revises the WSPTR payment schedule so as to distribute all WSPTR funds on the 4th Monday in July.

The act also revises the WSPTR distribution formula. For 1984, $186 million is distributed according to the proportion which a municipality's school levies are of levies statewide; the remaining $95 million WSPTR funds are distributed through additions to the general equalization formula of state aids. For 1985, $229.1 million is distributed according to the proportion of total levies and $60.5 million according to additions to the school aid formula. For 1986 and thereafter, all funds are distributed according to the proportion of total levies.

The act also extends minimum guarantee provisions under which, in 1984, each municipality is guaranteed a tax credit payment equal to at least 75% of its 1983 payment. For 1985 and thereafter, municipalities are guaranteed a current year payment equal to at least 90% of the previous year's payment. The act establishes a maximum growth limit on a municipality's payments, to be set each year at a "floating" level sufficient to generate revenue equal to the sum of minimum guarantee payments.

The act suspends the shared revenue automatic growth provisions and sets the 1983 appropriation at $714.6 million. For 1984, an additional minimum guarantee of $8.6 million is provided, under which each municipality and county is guaranteed the lesser of either 100% of its 1983 payment or the amount which the municipality or county would have received in 1984 if $750.3 million had been distributed. The act also provides that the $8.6 million appropriated for the additional minimum guarantee payments be included in the base for growth in the shared revenue account in the future.

State Employment

Act 409 (AB-240), known as the "whistle-blower law," deals with state employe disclosure of information about improper activities in governmental units. The act tells how a state employe should disclose information about a violation of the law, mismanagement or abuse of authority, substantial waste of public funds or a danger to public health and safety. It tells how a unit of state government should process this information. It prohibits employer retaliation for disclosing information and provides for the Personnel Commission to investigate complaints, hold hearings and issue orders concerning retaliatory disciplinary actions. The act provides a similar cause of action in court for retaliatory discipline of a state employe who exercises the constitutional right to free speech by lawfully disclosing information about improper activities. Neither the administrative nor the court remedy, however, protects persons employed by the Governor, the courts, the Legislature or the legislative service agencies or protects persons in certain administrative or managerial positions and their immediate subordinates.

State Government

Act 3 (AB-104) authorizes the state to issue "operating notes" for financial obligations incurred to meet short-term state operating deficits, with the obligations to be repaid prior to the end of the fiscal year following the one in which the obligations are incurred. The authorization expires on the effective date of the 1985-87 biennial budget act. The act increases, for the period prior to the effective date of the 1985-87 biennial budget act, the total amount of outstanding reallocations which may be effected between state funds and accounts and liberalizes the conditions under which reallocations must be reversed. The act changes the interest rate paid to local governments on delayed state payments. The act also grants, prior to the effective date of the 1985-87 biennial budget act, increased flexibility to the Secretary of the Department of Administration to prorate and establish priority payment schedules for state payments. In addition, the act requires the secretary to submit cash flow plans and reports to the Joint Committee on Finance under certain conditions.

Act 29 (July 1983 Spec. Sess. AB-1) reapportions the Senate and Assembly districts in accordance with the 1980 federal decennial census of population as required by Article IV, Section 3 of the Wisconsin Constitution. The act replaces an apportionment plan placed in effect by order of a federal district court after the Legislature failed to adopt a reapportionment plan during the 1981-82 legislative session. See Wisconsin State AFL-CIO et al. v. Elections Board et al., 543 F. Supp. 630 (E.D., Wis., 1982). The act also provides for preparation, maintenance and distribution of legislative district maps and makes minor changes in county and municipal ward division and districting requirements and effective dates of certain municipal annexations and detachments.

Taxation

Act 2 (Jan. 1983 Spec. Sess. SB-1) makes the sales tax increase to 5% and the increase in the cigarette tax permanent. Under former law the sales tax was scheduled to revert to 4% on June 30, 1983.

Act 27 (SB-83) imposes a surtax of 10% on individual incomes for 1983 and 1984 and extends the 10% corporate income surtax, originally imposed for 1982 and 1983, to 1984 (see also Act 212).

The act suspends the indexing of the brackets for the individual income tax for 1983 to 1985, provides that when indexing resumes 3% of the increase in the consumer price index will be ignored and provides that beginning in 1985 the standard deduction will be indexed.

The act reduces the property tax and rent credit, which is subtracted from income tax liability, from 12% to 10% and makes that percentage apply only to taxes and rent paid on principal dwellings.

The act disallows accelerated depreciation on property located outside this state.

The act replaces the tax on the value of the property of light, heat and power companies with a tax on their gross revenues, and the act changes the payment schedule for the tax on certain utilities.

The act increases the rates for the motor fuel and special fuel taxes from 13 cents per gallon to 15 cents per gallon on August 1, 1983, and to 16 cents per gallon on July 1, 1984. The act also provides that annually on April 1, beginning in 1985, those rates will be indexed.

Act 194 (AB-1152) increases the gift tax and inheritance tax exemptions for children, grandchildren, parents, grandparents, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law from $10,000 to $25,000 immediately and to $50,000 on July 1, 1985, and increases the annual gift tax exemption from $3,000 to $10,000.

Act 212 (SB-663) provides that the individual and corporate surtaxes imposed in Act 27 will not be imposed for 1984 or thereafter. The act also makes various changes in the homestead credit program that increase payments to claimants, including a one-time payment equal to 25% of the 1984 credit.

Transportation

Act 27 (SB-83) establishes a 9-member Transportation Projects Commission to review major highway development projects proposed by the Department of Transportation prior to construction. The commission consists of the Governor, 2 citizen members, 3 Senators and 3 Representatives to the Assembly. The 2 major political parties in each house must be represented in the membership. The commission reports its recommendations on projects to the Governor and the Legislature early in the biennial budget process. The act also directs the commission to develop a new major highway projects definition for use in future planning; the current definition covers the continuous relocation of a highway segment 2.5 miles or more in length, addition of traffic lanes 2.5 miles or more in length, or unusually high cost. The act permits DOT to proceed with construction of 12 major highway projects during the 1983-85 biennium and requires that all future major highway projects be submitted to the commission for its report and recommendations and enumerated in the statutes prior to construction.

Act 78 (SB-321) brings Wisconsin law into compliance with provisions of the federal Surface Transportation Assistance Act of 1982 and the U.S. Department of Transportation appropriations bill on state regulation of truck size. The act increases the maximum vehicle width limit from 8 feet to 8 feet 6 inches unless the Secretary of the Wisconsin Department of Transportation posts other width restrictions on particular highways or bridges for safety reasons. The act also makes the following changes in vehicle length limits:

1. Removes overall length limits on tractor-semitrailer combinations, including auto-carriers and double bottoms (combinations of a tractor and 2 semitrailers or a tractor, semitrailer and trailer) operated on the interstate or other highways designated by the U.S. Secretary of Transportation. The act establishes a 66-foot length limit for auto-carriers and a 60-foot overall length limit for other combinations of 2 vehicles on other highways.

2. Eliminates Wisconsin's previous 40-foot length limit for truck tractors or road tractors operated in combination with a semitrailer or as part of a double bottom on designated highways and establishes a maximum length of 28 feet 6 inches for trailers or semitrailers operated as part of a double bottom on designated highways.

3. Allows double bottom vehicles to operate without a permit and with no overall length limits on designated highways. Double bottom milk trucks up to 60 feet long may be operated on other highways.

Trusts and Estates; Probate

Act 376 (AB-893) creates and provides forms for 2 types of wills: the Wisconsin basic will and the Wisconsin basic will with trust. A person may execute a will by filling in the applicable blanks, boxes or lines in the basic will or the basic will with trust, signing the will and having it properly witnessed.

MAJOR PROPOSALS THAT FAILED TO PASS*Beverages

Senate Bill 2 and Assembly Bill 875 would have raised the legal drinking age for a resident of a state bordering Wisconsin to the legal drinking age in the person's state of residence.

Business and Consumer Law

Assembly Bill 951 would have extended the limits on interest rates applicable to consumer loans. Under existing law, most interest rates will be deregulated from November 1, 1984, through October 31, 1987.

Assembly Bill 1086 and Senate Bill 610 would have revised the laws regulating the organization and operations of cooperative associations.

Correctional System

Assembly Bill 320 would have created a separate Department of Corrections.

Crimes

Senate Bills 114 and 256 would have revised the state's obscenity law that was held invalid by the Wisconsin Supreme Court.

Domestic Relations

Senate Bill 353 would have changed the child custody and visitation laws to make joint custody more common.

Education

Assembly Bills 62, 208 and 361 and Senate Bill 653 would have prohibited the UW System, the VTAE schools or the public elementary and secondary schools from beginning the fall semester until after Labor Day.

Elections

Assembly Bill 69 and Senate Bill 681 would have made numerous changes in the campaign finance law.

Assembly Bill 360 and Senate Bill 201 would have permitted political parties to request a separate presidential primary for delegate selection purposes.

Assembly Bill 868 would have created a fund to provide state grants for congressional campaigns.

Employment

Assembly Bill 76 and Senate Bill 55 would have covered UW graduate student assistants under the state employment labor relations act.

Assembly Bill 282 and Senate Bill 174 would have covered UW faculty and academic staff under the state employment labor relations act.

Environment

Senate Bill 87 would have removed the annual limitation on the number of mound private sewage systems which may be installed in this state.

Assembly Bill 840 would have required a deposit on beverage containers for beer and soda sold in this state in glass, plastic and metal containers.

Financial Institutions

Assembly Bill 800 and Senate Bill 534 would have authorized certain interstate acquisitions of banks and bank holding companies.

Health

Assembly Bill 148 would have prohibited abortions in hospitals or other facilities owned by any governmental unit unless it was the only means available to prevent the death of the pregnant woman and if every reasonable effort was made to preserve the life and health of both the pregnant woman and the fetus.

Insurance

Assembly Bill 815 and Senate Bills 471 and 634 would have required health insurance plans, including health maintenance and preferred provider plans, to permit dentists, optometrists, pharmacists and podiatrists to participate in the plans under certain circumstances.

Assembly Bill 824 and Senate Bill 415 would have required health insurance plans, including health maintenance and preferred provider plans, to permit chiropractors to participate in the plans under certain circumstances.

Assembly Bill 903 and Senate Bill 507 would have imposed regulation by the Commissioner of Insurance on health care coverage plan administrators and principals.

Local Law

Senate Bill 462 would have created a state Boundary Review Board in the Department of Development and a boundary review board in each county and would have made various changes in annexation and incorporation procedures.

Assembly Bill 577 would have prohibited counties, cities, villages, towns and public school districts from requiring their employees to be residents.

Natural Resources

Senate Bill 546 would have revised laws related to commercial fishing and fish dealers.

Assembly Bill 545 proposed a comprehensive system for the registration and regulation of all-terrain vehicles.

Public Utilities

Oct. 1983 Spec. Sess. Senate Bill 5 would have substantially affected PSC authority to regulate the formation and operation of public utility holding companies.

Shared Revenue

Assembly Bill 1160 would have established a fund to supplement the WSPTR program from the cash balance of general revenues at the end of each biennium, less a one percent contingency reserve amount.

State Government

Assembly Bill 837 and Senate Bill 487 would have made numerous changes in the law regulating the practice of lobbying.

Assembly Bill 980 would have created a state economic stabilization fund with moneys reserved for use during periods of reduced state revenues.

Assembly Bill 1146 would have substantially rewritten state vital statistics laws.

Taxation

Senate Bills 664, 674, 702 and 710 would have revised the rates and brackets for the income and franchise taxes.

Assembly Bills 11, 684, 763 and 1021 and Senate Bills 64, 186, 469 and 674 would have discontinued the inheritance and gift taxes.

Transportation

Senate Bill 180 would have required a reduction in the amount of salt applied to highways during the winter driving period.

Senate Bill 327 would have required resident owners and operators of motor vehicles to either carry motor vehicle liability insurance or provide a bond to assure financial responsibility for the operation of a motor vehicle.

JOINT STANDING COMMITTEES

Since the following committees are statutory, they are included in the description of statutory legislative committees and legislative service agencies: Joint Committee for Review of Administrative Rules, Joint Audit Committee, Joint Survey Committee on Debt Management, Joint Committee on Employment Relations, Joint Committee on Finance, Joint Committee on Legislative Organization, Joint Survey Committee on Retirement Systems, and the Joint Survey Committee on Tax Exemptions.

SPECIAL LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEES

COMMITTEES CREATED BY THE 1985 LEGISLATURE:

Future of the University, Select Committee on the — LOFTUS, chairperson; T. THOMPSON, vice chairperson; BECKER, MEDINGER, R. TRAVIS.

Created by: 1985 Assembly Resolution 2.

The committee will function until June 28, 1985, or the date of final passage of the executive budget bill by both houses, whichever is later.

STATUTORY LEGISLATIVE COMMITTEES AND LEGISLATIVE SERVICE AGENCIES

Joint Committee for Review of ADMINISTRATIVE RULES

Members: SENATOR PLEWA, REPRESENTATIVE BRIST, cochairpersons; SENATORS NORQUIST, KINCAID, KREUL, RUDE; REPRESENTATIVES HOLSCHBACH, BLACK, COWLES, WELCH.

Committee Staff: DAVID CIESLEWICZ, 266-7505; CATHLEEN COTTER, 266-1194.

Mailing Address: Senator Plewa, Room 337 South, State Capitol, P.O. Box 7882, Madison 53707-7882; Representative Brist, Room 10 West, State Capitol, P.O. Box 8952, Madison 53708-8952.

Telephone: Senator Plewa, (608) 266-7505; Representative Brist, (608) 266-1194.

Publications: 1983-84 Biennial Report (also 1981-82, 1979-80, 1977-78).

Statutory Reference: Section 13.56.

History: The Joint Committee for Review of Administrative Rules was created as a special joint legislative committee in 1955, and the membership was enlarged by Chapter 659, Laws of 1965, and by Chapter 29, Laws of 1977. Its powers were significantly expanded by Chapter 34, Laws of 1979.

Organization: The committee consists of 5 senators and 5 representatives appointed as standing committees. The 2 major political parties shall be represented in the membership from each house. The committee is chaired by one member of each house selected by the majority party of that house. The committee meets at the call of one of its cochairpersons.

Functions: The committee's function is to promote adequate and proper rules, statements of general policy, interpretations of statutes by state agencies, and an understanding on the part of the public respecting such rules. The committee may direct an agency to promulgate emergency rules when the committee determines that a statement of policy or an interpretation of a statute is a rule. It may hold public hearings to investigate complaints with respect to rules and portions of rules and may suspend a rule in whole or in part, but when it does so it must introduce a bill in each house to repeal the rule or the parts suspended. If these bills are defeated, the rule stands and may not be suspended again. If one of the bills is enacted, the rule is thereby repealed and shall not be promulgated again unless authorized by law. In addition, the committee may require an agency to hold a public hearing on recommendations made as a result of an investigation of a complaint and to report back to the committee within a specified time.

The committee must also act in the rule-making process to review a proposed rule if another legislative standing committee has formally objected to a proposed rule or a portion of a proposed rule. The committee is then required to hold a public hearing and may either uphold the standing committee, or reverse the standing committee's action. If the committee supports a standing committee's objection, the agency may not adopt the rule and the committee must introduce a bill in each house to support its action. If one of these bills is enacted into law, the agency may not adopt the rule unless authorized to do so by some future law. If the bills fail to pass, the agency may adopt the rule. Once the rule is adopted, the committee has the power to suspend it as discussed above.

With the emergence of a more full-time legislature, this committee has become active in legislative oversight activities. The committee acts as an ombudsman, handling constituent complaints about agencies or rules forwarded by legislators or directly by citizens. Its more traditional rule review functions have expanded to include general problem solving, negotiation, rule modification, rule development or introduction of legislation. This committee was one of the first of its kind in the country and is a model being copied by various states.

The committee also receives notice of all declaratory judgment actions respecting rules and may intervene in any of those actions with the consent of the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization.

The committee prepares and submits a biennial report to the governor and the legislature containing its recommendations.

Joint AUDIT COMMITTEE

Members: SENATOR ANDREA, REPRESENTATIVE WINEKE, cochairpersons; SENATORS LEE, LASEE, LEEAN; REPRESENTATIVES NOTESTEIN, SCHULTZ, SCHNEIDERS.

Mailing Address: Senator Andrea, Room 4 South, State Capitol, P.O. Box 7882, Madison 53707-7882; Representative Wineke, Room 106 West, State Capitol, P.O. Box 8953, Madison 53708-8953.

Telephone: Senator Andrea, (608) 267-8979; Representative Wineke, (608) 266-3520.

History: The Joint Audit Committee was created by Chapter 224, Laws of 1975.

Organization: The committee consists of 2 majority party and 2 minority party senators and 2 majority party and 2 minority party representatives, appointed as are members of standing committees at the commencement of each legislative term. Each house designates a cochairperson.

Functions: The committee, subject to general supervision of the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization, has the responsibility of advising the Legislative Audit Bureau. The committee may:

1. Evaluate the qualifications of candidates for state auditor and make recommendations to the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization.
2. Review reports of the bureau and confer with the auditor, other legislative committees and agencies audited.
3. Refer to the legislature or to an appropriate standing committee information that warrants action, request information from such a committee on action taken, and seek advice of an appropriate standing committee on program portions of an audit.

When a postaudit report cites various deficiencies, the head of the agency shall report to the audit committee of remedial actions taken. If the information is not forthcoming, the committee may report the matter to the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization and to the appropriate standing committees. The audit committee may also propose corrective action to remedy undesirable practices. The audit committee may hold hearings on postaudit reports, may request the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization to investigate any matter within the scope of a postaudit conducted by the bureau, and may request investigation of any matter relative to the revenues and expenditures as well as the fiscal and performance activities of a state agency.

BUILDING COMMISSION

Members: GOVERNOR ANTHONY S. EARL, chairperson; SENATORS RISSER, VAN SISTINE, THENO; REPRESENTATIVES SHOEMAKER, TESMER, J. YOUNG; MARSHALL ERDMAN (citizen member); DORIS HANSON (secretary of administration), RALPH D. CULBERTSON (head of the engineering function, Department of Administration), Gerald D. Germanson (ranking architect, Department of Administration) (nonvoting, advisory members).

Secretary: BARRY WANNER, administrator, Division of State Facilities Management.

Mailing Address: 8th Floor, General Executive Facility II, 101 South Webster Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-1855.

Total Budget 1983-85: $34,173,200 (including bond revenue amounts, building trust fund expenditures and debt service payments for state office buildings).

Statutory Reference: Section 13.48 (2).

History: The State of Wisconsin Building Commission was created by Chapter 563, Laws of 1949. Another 1949 law (Chapter 604) gave the commission authority to organize a nonprofit-sharing corporation (the Wisconsin State Public Building Corporation) to construct public buildings, while Chapter 267, Laws of 1961, authorized financing of public welfare buildings by nonprofit corporations. This resulted in the creation of the Wisconsin State Agencies Building Corporation. Additional powers were given to the commission in 1957 for financing university and state college academic buildings (Chapter 593).

An amendment to the constitution as implemented by Chapter 259, Laws of 1969, providing for direct state borrowing, has terminated the future use of the various building corporations and enlarges the powers of the commission to finance capital facilities for all state agencies.

A separate State Bond Board, including 4 members of the Building Commission, was established by Chapter 259 to supervise the contracting of state debt. However, Chapter 90, Laws of 1973, abolished the State Bond Board and transferred the duties and responsibilities to the Building Commission. The duties include supervision of all matters relating to the contracting of public debt and revenue obligations, and the issuance of all evidences of indebtedness therefore.

Organization: The commission consists of the governor, who shall be chairperson, one citizen member appointed by and serving at the pleasure of the governor, and 3 legislators from each house appointed as are standing committees. One legislator from each house shall be a member of the Legislative State Supported Programs Study and Advisory Committee. The 2 major political parties shall be represented in the membership from each house. The secretary of administration, the head of the engineering function and the ranking architect in the Department of Administration shall be nonvoting, advisory members. Terms of legislative members expire on the second Wednesday in January of the odd-numbered years.

Functions: The commission was created to coordinate the state building program and to establish a long-range plan for development of the state's physical plant. It is the duty of the commission to determine projects to be incorporated into a long-range program and recommend to the legislature a biennial building program, including the amounts for projects which must be appropriated. The commission oversees all state construction except highway development. The commission may also authorize the expenditure of sums from the State Building Trust Fund, which is used for construction, remodeling and maintenance of facilities and planning of future development. The commission is also the only state body which can authorize state debt. Therefore, all transactions for the sale of any instruments which result in a state debt liability must be approved by official resolution of the Building Commission.

Joint Survey Committee on DEBT MANAGEMENT

Members: SENATOR RISSER, REPRESENTATIVE ANTARAMIAN, cochairpersons; DONALD A. SMART (citizen member), secretary; SENATOR CHVALA, SENATOR CHILSEN, REPRESENTATIVE D. TRAVIS, REPRESENTATIVE COWLES; JULIANNA EBERT, RICHARD GEORGE (citizen members).

Mailing Address: Senator Risser, Room 235 South, State Capitol, P.O. Box 7882, Madison 53707-7882; Representative Antaramian, Room 103 West, State Capitol, P.O. Box 8953, Madison 53708-8953.

Telephone: Senator Risser, (608) 266-1627; Representative Antaramian, (608) 266-0455.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.49.

History: The Joint Survey Committee on Debt Management was created by Chapter 317, Laws of 1977.

Organization: The committee is composed of 9 members: 3 senators and 3 representatives chosen as are standing committees, except that one member from each house shall also be a member of the state Building Commission, one from each house shall also be a member of the Joint Committee on Finance, and the 2 major political parties shall be represented in the membership from each house; and 3 members appointed by the governor, at least 2 of whom shall be experienced in or familiar with public debt management, public finance or municipal bond underwriting.

Officers are a Senate chairperson and vice chairperson, an Assembly chairperson and vice chairperson, and a secretary elected by the committee from among its nonlegislative members.

Functions: The purpose of the committee is to advise the legislature on coordinating the activities of state agencies and independent authorities issuing debt. The committee:

1. Determines the desirable amounts and forms of debt and revenue obligations to be authorized and the financial condition of the state agency or independent entity issuing the debt or revenue obligation.
2. Reviews all legislative proposals relating to the issuing of debt and revenue obligations or the use of the proceeds and advises the legislature thereon.

3. Reviews all legislative proposals relating to the authority of an independent entity to issue debt or revenue obligations or which would create a new authority with such powers.
4. Reviews the operational relationship between independent authorities and state agencies having program responsibilities in the same area.
5. Holds hearings and makes investigations.
6. Requires each agency or independent entity authorized to issue debt or revenue obligations to submit financial plans or reports.
7. Prepares such long-term financial plans relating to state debt, revenue obligations and other indirect debt as may be in the best interests of the state.
8. Submits a report as an appendix to any bill which relates to the authorization to issue state debt or revenue obligations, debt of independent state authorities, or for the authorization of new entities having the power to issue debt to finance a statewide public purpose. Such bills must be referred to the committee upon introduction instead of to a standing committee and shall not be considered in either house until the committee has submitted its report giving its opinion on the fiscal effect of the proposal on the state's or local government's ability to issue debt and revenue obligations, the appropriateness of the proposal in relation to the state's and local government's debt policies and the desirability of the proposal as a matter of public policy.

Joint Committee on EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS

Members: SENATOR RISSER (president of the Senate), REPRESENTATIVE LOFTUS (speaker of the Assembly), cochairpersons; SENATOR CULLEN, REPRESENTATIVE BECKER (majority leaders); SENATOR ENGELEITER, REPRESENTATIVE T. THOMPSON (minority leaders); SENATOR GEORGE, REPRESENTATIVE SCHNEIDER (cochairpersons, Joint Committee on Finance).

Mailing Address: Senator Risser, Room 235 South, State Capitol, P.O. Box 7882, Madison 53707-7882; Representative Loftus, Room 211 West, State Capitol, P.O. Box 8952, Madison 53708-8952.

Telephone: Senator Risser, (608) 266-1627; Representative Loftus, (608) 266-3387.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.1111.

History: The Joint Committee on Employment Relations was created by Chapter 270, Laws of 1971.

Organization: The committee is a permanent joint legislative committee comprised of 8 ex officio members: the president of the Senate, the speaker of the Assembly, the Senate and the Assembly majority and minority leaders, and the Senate and Assembly cochairpersons of the Joint Committee on Finance.

Functions: The committee is charged with a number of responsibilities related to state employment relations. Any changes in the general state compensation plan, including the individual salary schedules, proposed by the secretary of the Department of Employment Relations must be submitted by the secretary to the committee for its approval. After a public hearing on the proposal, which is required by statute, the committee may approve or modify the secretary's proposal. Any modification by the committee of the proposed changes submitted by the secretary is subject to veto by the governor and, if vetoed, may be overridden by a vote of 6 members of the committee. The approved proposal (as may be modified by the committee) together with the unchanged provisions of the current compensation plan then becomes the official compensation plan until further modified. Those parts of the proposed compensation plan changes which require legislative action for implementation, when approved by the committee, must be introduced by the committee in companion bills, and these bills must be placed on the calendar. While parts of these bills may be referred to appropriate legislative committees for advisory recommendations, the committee is required to accompany the introduction of these bills with a recommendation for passage of the legislation without change. Since the advent of collective bargaining for certain groups of state employees in the classified service, the secretary of employment relations' recommendations for proposed changes in the state compensation plan, insofar as it relates to providing general wage increases for employes, apply only to nonrepresented classified employes and is generally referred to as the nonrepresented pay plan.

Wage increases for most of the unclassified employes (faculty and academic staff) at the University of Wisconsin are not covered by the provisions of the nonrepresented pay plan but are included in a separate proposal generally referred to as the faculty and academic staff pay plan. The secretary of the Department of Employment Relations, after receiving recommendations from the UW Board of Regents, is required to also submit to the committee a separate proposal for adjusting the compensation and benefits of such employes. Upon submittal to the committee, this proposal is handled in the same manner as is the pay plan for nonrepresented classified employes.

The committee is also responsible for approving wage increases for represented state employes. The committee is specifically assigned the duty of approving or disapproving all tentative agreements reached between the Department of Employment Relations (representing the state) and any certified labor organization representing state employes. Any tentative agreement must first be ratified by the union. Following ratification, the committee is required to hold a public hearing on the tentative agreement. Subsequent to the hearing the committee may approve or disapprove the tentative agreement. If the committee does not approve the tentative agreement, the agreement must be returned to the bargaining parties for renegotiation. If the committee approves the agreement, the statutes require that those portions of a tentative agreement which require legislative action for implementation must be introduced by the committee in a bill or companion bills and the bill or bills must be put on the calendar or referred to the scheduling committee of the house. While parts of these bills may be referred to appropriate legislative committees for advisory recommendations, the committee is required to accompany the introduction of these bills with a recommendation for passage of the legislation without change. If the Legislature does not adopt the legislation as recommended by the committee without change, the tentative agreement must be returned to the bargaining parties for renegotiation.

The committee is also assigned the responsibility of approving the reimbursement rates for employes' use of personal automobiles, airplanes or motorcycles on state business. The Department of Employment Relations is required to submit recommended rates to the committee every biennium for its approval. One other related duty of the committee is to consider, in the same manner as the nonrepresented classified employes pay plan is considered, uniform travel schedule amounts for state officers and employes as well as dollar amounts for reimbursement of moving costs and payment for required uniforms or protective clothing (except those covered by collective bargaining agreements). As with the nonrepresented classified employes pay plan, the secretary of the Department of Employment Relations is responsible for submitting recommendations regarding such amounts to the committee for its consideration. The committee is also responsible for approving the recommendations of the secretary as to the assignment of unclassified division administrator positions to executive salary group ranges.

Telephone: Senator George, (608) 266-2500; Representative Schneider (608) 266-0215.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.09.

History: The Joint Committee on Finance was created by Chapter 6, Laws of 1911.

Organization: The committee is a joint standing committee composed of 8 senators and 8 representatives appointed as are standing committees. A Senate member and an Assembly member are designated as cochairpersons of the committee.

Functions: Any bill introduced in either house of the legislature appropriating money, providing for revenue or relating to taxation must be referred to the Joint Committee on Finance before being passed. Further, a bill which must be introduced — the biennial budget bill recommended by the governor — is introduced by the Joint Committee on Finance and then referred to the committee for detailed consideration. After a series of public hearings on the bill, the committee considers it in a number of executive sessions culminating in the committee-recommended version of the biennial budget bill. The committee-recommended version of the bill is then considered by the two houses of the Legislature in the course of adopting the biennial budget.

In addition to these major responsibilities, the committee also has a number of other related responsibilities, including the following:

1. The committee is required to hold regular quarterly meetings for consideration of agency requests for supplementation of their budgets — such supplementation is to be conditioned on a finding that: a) an emergency exists, b) no funds are available for such purposes, and c) the purposes for which the supplemental appropriation is requested have been authorized or directed by the Legislature.
2. The committee may also transfer funds between existing appropriations and may increase or decrease positions from the number authorized by the Legislature in the budget or through separate legislation.
3. The committee is also empowered to reduce certain state agency appropriations as an emergency measure when necessitated by a decrease in state revenues.
4. The committee introduces — when required — the necessary legislation to provide for: a) the payment of claims against the state, b) the resolution of uncollectible shortages, or c) funding sufficient to restore any of the Housing and Economic Development Authority's capital reserve funds to the required level when such appropriation is certified as being necessary by the chairperson of the authority.
5. The committee is also responsible for the final approval of a variety of fiscal or fiscally related items, including: a) rental rates for state-owned employe housing; b) budgets for special and executive committees created by statute or executive order; c) general gifts, grants and bequests to the state, including specifying the state agency to carry out the purposes of the conveyance if none is so designated; d) Higher Educational Aids Board sale, conveyance or repurchase of student loans; e) interstate agreements regarding remission of nonresident tuition at institutions of higher education; f) level of state supplemental payments for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) recipients; g) agreements between the state and the federal government for federal administration of state supplemental payments to SSI; h) reimbursement formula for medical assistance payments to nursing homes; i) guidelines and annual allocations for payments for the municipal services program; j) annual assessment rate for recovery of administrative expenses of state worker's compensation program; k) budget for nonincumbent, newly elected governor for staff and office expenses prior to inauguration; L) transfer of federal monies between block grants; m) State Building Commission's proposed sale or transfer of any surplus land having a fair market value of $20,000 or more; n) requests from the Department of Administration (DOA) for issuance of operating notes by the State Building Commission; o) agency plans to correct program revenue or segregated revenue deficit balances; p) any proposal by DOA to prorate state payments or establish priority payment schedules due to balances in any state fund being insufficient to meet required payments; q) state plan for the use of federal funds for the low-income energy assistance program prepared by the Department of Health and Social Services (DH&SS) and reports prepared by the department for the use of federal social services block grant funds; r) final general fund condition statement and summary of appropriations prepared by DOA for printing in the biennial edition of the Wisconsin Statutes; s) the purchase, lease or construction of additional correctional facilities; t) any interstate corrections compact submitted by DH&SS; u) any rate system proposed by the Hospital Rate-Setting Commission which would define rates as aggregate charges based on case mix measures; v) upon request from the Department of Transportation, the redesignation of any reconditioning, reconstruction or resurfacing project as a major highway project; w) with regard to the Wisconsin Housing and Economic Development Authority's annual plan for expenditure of any surplus funds and any parts of such plan which are objected to by a standing committee of the legislature designated to review such plan, the Joint Committee on Finance may concur in the standing committee's objections, modify the plan's objected-to parts, or approve the plan's objected-to parts notwithstanding the standing committee's objections; x) with regard to the Department of Development's biennial state housing plan and any parts of such plan which are objected to by a standing committee of the legislature designated to review such a plan, the Joint Committee on Finance may concur in the standing committee's objections, modify the plan's objected-to parts, or approve the plan's objected-to parts notwithstanding the standing committee's objections.

6. The committee is also statutorily empowered to inquire into the operations of any state agency to determine better methods, systems or procedures for improving state government operations.
7. The committee is also responsible for receiving a variety of statutorily required reports. The reports are enumerated in Section 13.09 (4) of the statutes.

Executive Secretary: BONNIE REESE.

Chief Staff Attorney: DAVID J. STUTE.

Legislative Council Rules Clearinghouse: RONALD SKLANSKY, director; RICHARD SWEET, assistant director.

Mailing Address: Room 147 North, State Capitol, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-1304.

Publications: General Report of the Legislative Council to the 1985 Legislature; Digest of Council Bills in 1985 Session; Directory of 1985-86 Legislative Council Committees; Rules Clearinghouse Reports; reports on substantive issues considered by council committees (available from the council); staff memoranda, briefs, working documents and other miscellaneous materials (on file at council office).

Number of Employees: 35.17.

Total Budget 1983-85: $2,420,300.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.81-13.83, 13.91.

History: The Legislative Council was created by Chapter 444, Laws of 1947, and the first council was organized late that year, with 12 members. Later laws increased the membership, and Chapter 659, Laws of 1965, made it 19.

Organization: The council is composed of the speaker and deputy speaker of the Assembly, the president of the Senate, the Senate and Assembly majority and minority leaders, the 2 cochairpersons of and the ranking minority member from each house on the Joint Committee on Finance, and 3 senators and 5 representatives appointed as are standing committees in each house. Terms of appointive members expire on May 1 of each odd-numbered year.

The council operates through a committee system. Some committees are set by statute, others are created by the council.

Functions: The original purpose of the Legislative Council was to give careful study and consideration to various problems of government and then present the results to the legislature. Some studies are referred directly by the legislature to the council by enactment of a law or passage of a joint resolution, while others are initiated by the council. Advisory committees and subcommittees to council committees submit their findings and recommendations to their parent council committees. The council committees submit their reports, together with legislative proposals to carry out their recommendations, to the Legislative Council for approval. Those proposals which are approved by a majority vote (10) of the membership of the council are introduced in the legislature. Since 1967, the Legislative Council staff has worked directly with the substantive standing committees in both houses by providing professional legal counsel and science and research analyst staff to the standing committees. Also, the staff provides individual legislators with legal, scientific and policy research on legislative matters.

As a result of the 1982-83 study committee work, 46 proposals and joint resolutions were recommended by the Legislative Council for introduction in the 1983 Legislature. Of these proposals, 32 were enacted (24 of the original bills were enacted and 8 were enacted as part of other legislation), and 14 were not enacted. Major enactments included proposals relating to elderly abuse, acid rain, alien land ownership, groundwater management, public health needs, close corporations and revision of town laws.

In addition, the council's Law Revision Committee directly introduced 21 bills and joint resolutions in the 1983 Legislature. Of these proposals, 17 were adopted and 4 were not enacted. These enactments included remedial legislation and revisor correction bills.

To date (May 1985), 12 of the 1984-85 study committees have submitted reports to the council. The council has approved for introduction 16 proposals.

The Legislative Council staff serves the council, all of its study committees, and several statutory committees. During legislative sessions, the staff provides professional legal counsel and analyst staff assistance to all of the substantive standing committees. The council staff also functions as the Rules Clearinghouse for review of all proposed administrative rules and assists the standing committees in their oversight of the rule-making process.

Acid Rain, Special Committee on

Members: SENATOR STROHL, chairperson; REPRESENTATIVE CRAWFORD, vice chairperson; REPRESENTATIVE RADTKE, secretary; SENATORS HARSDORF, OTTE; REPRESENTATIVES BELL (appointed 3/85), HOLPERIN (appointed 3/85), JARONITZKY (term expired 1/85), NEUBAUER (resigned 3/85), TURBA (appointed 3/85); LOREN ANDERSON, ROBERT ELLIKER, MERLIN HORN, RICHELLE LISSE, PAT WOLFF, WILLIAM ZABOR (public members).

The committee consists of 3 senators, 5 representatives and 6 public members.

The committee, established by the Legislative Council on May 27, 1982, is directed, pursuant to a March 2, 1982 letter from Senator Strohl and others, to conduct an extensive and intensive review of all relevant research, data and available information relating to acid deposition in Wisconsin; including an examination of the causes and effects of acid deposition and methods and costs of controlling acid deposition, including an examination of the recommendations of the National Commission on Air Quality, and any proposed amendments to the Federal Clean Air Act now being considered by Congress. The committee was originally directed to report to the Legislative Council by January 27, 1983; the date was subsequently extended to October 1, 1983. It is anticipated that the committee will report in mid-1985.

SWANSON, JAY B. WALTERS (public members).

The committee consists of 5 senators, 5 representatives and 11 public members.

The committee, established by the Legislative Council by a May 8, 1984 mail ballot, is directed, pursuant to SEC. 1 of Assembly Substitute Amendment 2 to 1983 Assembly Bill 800, to conduct a study of the advisability of permitting bank holding companies in other states to acquire banks and bank holding companies in this state. The committee is directed to examine what have been the effects of such acquisitions in other states and what such effects are likely to be in the future, including any differential effects between those states which permit only interregional acquisitions and those which permit nation-wide interstate acquisitions. The committee shall examine the actual and projected economic effects of such acquisitions in other states and the likely economic effects in Wisconsin of permitting such acquisitions, including: a) any resulting increase or decrease in the supply of in-state capital and the beneficial effects of any increase; b) any effects on the rights and interests of shareholders of acquired banks and bank holding companies; c) any additional economic effects resulting from permitting acquisitions by out-of-state bank holding companies in addition to other entities previously or currently permitted to acquire in-state banks and bank holding companies; d) any effects on Wisconsin banks and bank holding companies of acquisitions by them of banks and bank holding companies in other states; e) any effects of promoting competition in the banking industry; f) any differential effects of permitting acquisitions only on a reciprocal basis and of permitting acquisitions without such restriction. If necessary, the committee may also examine whether the removal of any other existing restrictions on the banking industry in Wisconsin would have any beneficial effects on the economy of this state. The committee is directed to report to the council by January 15, 1985. The special committee completed its assignment January 24, 1985.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.94.

History: The Legislative Audit Bureau was created as a bureau in the legislative branch, under the jurisdiction of the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization, by Chapter 659, Laws of 1965. A Joint Legislative Audit Committee was created by Chapter 224, Laws of 1975. Prior to the creation of the Legislative Audit Bureau, its functions had been performed by the Department of State Audit, which was created by Chapter 9, Laws of 1947, and dissolved by Chapter 659, Laws of 1965.

Organization: The director of the bureau is the state auditor, appointed by the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization, which is the policy-making board for the Legislative Audit Bureau. The Joint Legislative Audit Committee has advisory responsibilities for the bureau, subject to general supervision of the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization.

Functions:

1. Conduct postaudits of the accounts of every state department, board, commission, independent agency or authority at least once every 5 years to assure that all financial transactions have been made in a legal and proper manner. This includes authority to audit all bodies created by the legislature in the legislative or judicial branch and any public body corporate and politic created by the legislature. The state auditor may contract with outside audit groups to conduct such audits when he deems it advisable to do so.
2. Review the performance and impact of various state agency programs to determine whether the department carried out the policy of the legislature and governor. This function ranges from examinations of economy and efficiency in government to evaluations of program results and policy impacts. This information provides the legislature with timely evaluations of state programs which may be in need of revision, modification, or reduction as a result of changing public priorities and fiscal limitations.
3. Biennially audit the books and accounts of the State Treasurer, the central accounting records of the Department of Administration, the Wisconsin Investment Board, Employee Trust Funds, the expenditures from the state appropriation to the Medical College of Wisconsin, and the expenditures under the Higher Educational Aids Board contract for dental education services.
4. Annually audit the Capital Improvement Fund and the Bond Security and Redemption Fund.
5. Audit the records of providers of medical assistance under Chapter 49, Wis. Stats.; and corporations, institutions, associations, or other organizations which receive more than 50% of their annual budget from appropriations made by state law. The audits will be made when the state auditor deems it advisable or when so directed and shall cover only those records and operations which pertain to the receipt, disbursement or other handling of appropriations made by state law.
6. Provide auditing services at the direction of the Elections Board.
7. Make such special examination of the accounts and financial transactions of any department or officer as the governor or legislature directs.

8. At least once every 3 years, perform a financial audit of the state life insurance fund, the local property insurance fund and the patients compensation fund.
9. Certify to the State Treasurer the balance in the treasury when he came into office and upon leaving office.
10. Require each department to file annually with the bureau a report on all receivables due the state.
11. Disseminate information concerning department accounting, auditing and fiscal matters.
12. Prepare a biennial report of its activities.

Number of Employees: 33.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $2,242,600.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.95.

History: The Legislative Fiscal Bureau was created by Chapter 154, Laws of 1969. The original establishment of a legislative fiscal staff resulted from a recommendation of the legislative improvement program initiated by Chapter 686, Laws of 1961. From 1963 to 1968, the fiscal staff (known then as the Legislative Budget Staff) was financed jointly by the Ford Foundation and the State of Wisconsin as part of a 6-year legislative improvement program grant.

Responsibility for supervision of the improvement program and, therefore, the fiscal staff was vested in the Legislative Programs Study Committee. In February 1968 the committee redesignated the Legislative Budget Staff the Legislative Fiscal Bureau, spelled out the functions of the bureau and subsequently sought specific statutory authorization.

Chapter 215, Laws of 1971, repealed the Legislative Programs Study Committee and transferred the responsibility for the supervision of the bureau to the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization.

Organization: The Joint Committee on Legislative Organization, as the policy-making board for the Legislative Fiscal Bureau, is responsible for setting general policy for the bureau and for selecting its director. The bureau serves as staff to the Joint Committee on Finance and provides fiscal information services to other standing committees and to any legislator requesting such services.

Functions:

1. Develop and make available to the legislature and its standing, procedural, special or statutory legislative committees, such fiscal information as will assist the legislature or any legislative committee in its deliberations, and may recommend alternatives to the legislature and to any legislative committee concerning: a) the state budget and its long-range implications for every state fund, and b) the revenues and expenditures of the state.
  2. Perform fiscal and program analysis for the legislature and its appropriate committees.
  3. Review existing and proposed programs and present such alternatives to the governor's recommended programs and budgets as will assist the legislature or its appropriate committees.
  4. Review and evaluate requests for appropriations, including proposed plans and policies related to such requests, and make recommendations to the Joint Committee on Finance and the legislature in relation thereto.
  5. At the direction of the legislature or its appropriate committees, or on its own initiative, conduct such other studies and perform such other duties as the legislature, its committees and members may require in dealing with the financial affairs of the state.
  6. Attend all meetings of the Joint Finance Committee.

Number of Employees: 45.72.

Total Budget 1983-85: $2,609,900.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.92.

History: The Legislative Reference Bureau was created by Chapter 168, Laws of 1901, as part of the Free Library Commission, and was assigned responsibility for legislative bill drafting by Chapter 508, Laws of 1907. It came to be known as the Legislative Reference Library, which was its official name until 1963. Chapter 149, Laws of 1963, renamed it a bureau and transferred it to the legislative branch under the direction of the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization.

Organization: The bureau is headed by a chief selected under the classified service by the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization. The joint committee is the policy-making body for the bureau.

Functions:

1. Collect, index and make available in the most suitable form to legislators, other public officials, students of government and citizens generally, information relating to governmental subjects which will aid the legislature and others in the performance of their duties.
2. Prepare and publish studies and reports on matters of concern to legislators and others.
3. Draft legislation for legislators and others authorized to utilize such services. Prepare in the proper form all legislation introduced.
4. Prepare a bill analysis for each bill and for every substantive resolution or joint resolution.
5. As a service to the chief clerks, enroll all bills passed by the legislature.
6. Maintain a collection of public documents of Wisconsin, other states and the federal government.
7. Maintain the drafting records of legislation introduced and utilize such records to provide information on legislative intent.
8. Carry out loan and exchange arrangements with other states.
9. Prepare copy for and edit the Wisconsin Blue Book.
10. Coordinate and administer the scheduling and use of computer programs and machine time to facilitate the use of computers and other modern office machines by the legislative branch.
11. In cooperation with the revisor of statutes, compile and publish the subject index to session laws and the table of statute sections affected.
12. Provide for the processing and printing of all legislative proposals and amendments.
13. Compile and publish the subject and author index to legislation and legislative journals.
14. In cooperation with the secretary of state, publish the bound volumes of session laws.
15. Cooperate with the revisor of statutes in systematically examining and revising the statutes and session laws.
16. After each federal census of population, prepare street and ward maps of municipalities to show boundary lines of congressional and legislative districts based on that census.
17. The chief is an ex officio member of the Commission on Uniform State Laws.

REVISOR OF STATUTES BUREAU

Revisor of Statutes: ORLAN L. PRESTEGARD.

Assistant Revisors, Statutes: DOLORES TOPP THIMKE, BRUCE E. MUNSON.

Assistant Revisor, Administrative Code: GARY L. POULSON.

Mailing Address: Room 411 West, State Capitol, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-2011.

Publications: Wisconsin Statutes; Wisconsin Annotations; Wisconsin Administrative Code and Register; Wisconsin Town Law Forms.

Number of Employees: 9.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $596,800.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.93.

History: Wisconsin was the first state to adopt a plan for continuous revision of its statutes (Chapter 546, Laws of 1909). A major function, the editing and distribution of the Wisconsin Administrative Code and Register, was acquired in 1955, but the responsibility for sale and distribution was transferred in 1963 to the Department of Administration.

Organization: Until 1963 the revisor was appointed for a term of 2 years by the trustees of the State Library. Chapter 149, Laws of 1963, put the office under civil service, changed the name to Statutory Revision Bureau, and placed it under the supervision of the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization. Chapter 659, Laws of 1965, renamed it Revisor of Statutes Bureau.

Functions:

1. Edit the biennial editions of the Wisconsin Statutes.
2. Prepare revision and correction bills for introduction in the legislature.
3. Summarize Supreme Court decisions, decisions of the Court of Appeals and attorney general's opinions construing statutes and print them either in a separate volume (Wisconsin Annotations) or in the current edition of the statutes.
4. Prepare copy for a pamphlet entitled "Wisconsin Town Law Forms". These forms are for the use of town officials in administering statutes relating to town government.
5. Assist the Legislative Reference Bureau in compiling the subject index to session laws and the table of statutes sections affected.
6. Edit the Wisconsin Administrative Code.
7. Prepare the Wisconsin Administrative Register.
8. Report to the Law Revision Committee of the Legislative Council those reported opinions of the attorney general and those reported decisions of any federal district court, or any state or federal appellate court, in which Wisconsin statutes or session laws are stated to be in conflict, ambiguous, anachronistic, unconstitutional or otherwise in need of revision.
9. Present to the Law Revision Committee bills that eliminate defects, anachronisms, conflicts, ambiguities and unconstitutional or obsolete provisions of the Wisconsin Statutes prepared as a result of a systematic examination of the statutes and session laws.
10. Administer the payments for the costs of certain publications.
11. The revisor of statutes serves as a member of the Judicial Council, a member of the Wisconsin Commission on Uniform State Laws and is the nonvoting secretary of the Joint Committee for the Review of Administrative Rules.

GATES (secretary of employe trust funds), MARVIN VAN CLEAVE (designee of commissioner of insurance); WARREN M. SCHMIDT (Attorney General's appointee), RICHARD L. OLSON (appointed by Governor).

Research Director: BLAIR L. TESTIN.

Mailing Address: Room 316, 110 E. Main Street, Madison 53703.

Telephone: (608) 266-3019.

Publications: Reports on retirement bills and amendments thereto, introduced in the 1985 Legislature, are printed as appendices to such measures and attached thereto. A summary compilation of such reports is issued at the end of each legislative session.

Number of Employees: 3.00 (includes Retirement Research Committee).

Total Budget 1983-85: $210,600 (includes Retirement Research Committee).

Statutory Reference: Section 13.50.

History: The Joint Survey Committee on Retirement Systems was created by Chapter 376, Laws of 1947. Major changes in the law were made by Chapter 395, Laws of 1959; Chapter 659, Laws of 1965; Chapter 249, Laws of 1975; and Chapter 96, Laws of 1981.

Organization: The committee consists of 10 members: 2 majority party senators, one minority party senator, 2 majority party representatives, one minority party representative, appointed as are standing committees; an assistant attorney general appointed by the attorney general; the commissioner of insurance or a staff actuary designated by the commissioner; a public member appointed by the governor; and the secretary of employe trust funds. Terms are for 4 years. The committee employs a research director and staff under the classified service.

Functions:

The committee analyzes all proposed legislation creating or modifying any system for, or making any provision for, the retirement of or payment of pensions to public officers or employes. The committee submits a written report pertaining to the purpose of the bill, the probable costs, the actuarial effect, the desirability of such proposal as a matter of public policy, and a recommendation which shall be attached to the proposal as an appendix.

Joint Legislative STATE SUPPORTED PROGRAMS STUDY AND ADVISORY COMMITTEE

Members: SENATOR VAN SISTINE, REPRESENTATIVE VANDERPERREN, cochairpersons; REPRESENTATIVE MENOS, Assembly vice chairperson; SENATORS FEINGOLD, PLEWA, LASEE, KREUL; REPRESENTATIVES SWOBODA, TESMER, BRADLEY, WIMMER.

Mailing Address: Senator Van Sistine, Room 12 South; Representative Vanderperren, Room 23 North, State Capitol, Madison 53702.

Telephone: Senator Van Sistine, (608) 266-5670; Representative Vanderperren, (608) 266-0616.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.47.

History: Chapter 266, Laws of 1973, renamed the Committee to Visit State Properties to be the Joint Legislative State Supported Programs Study and Advisory Committee and expanded its duties. The Committee to Visit State Properties can be traced back to a similar committee created in 1881, which remained in operation until 1927. The Committee to Visit State Institutions, created in 1947 by Chapter 525, was directed to inspect buildings, equipment, lands and management of institutions. It consisted of 7 members until 1965, when the membership was increased to 11. Another committee, the Committee on Physical Plant Maintenance, with 3 members, was charged with various duties relating to the State Capitol and State Office Building, including assessing the state of repair, maintenance and housekeeping of these buildings and studying legislative space requirements.

Chapter 659, Laws of 1965, merged the 2 committees and provided that the successor committee, the Committee to Visit State Properties, assume the functions of the 2 previously existing committees. In 1973 it became the present committee.

Organization: The committee has a membership of 5 senators and 6 representatives, appointed as are the members of standing committees in their respective houses. The 2 major political parties shall be represented in the membership from each house. Section 13.48 (2) of the statutes specifies that one legislative member of the Building Commission from each house shall be a member of the committee. The committee meets when the legislature is not in actual session. Staff assistance is provided by the Legislative Council staff.

Functions: The committee is directed to "visit all institutions and office buildings owned or leased by the state and the capitol building and inspect the grounds and the buildings thereon." It "shall thoroughly inspect the state buildings or grounds and shall have free access to any part of such state buildings or the surrounding grounds and all persons therein in order to make such examination as it sees fit of the conditions found."

Under the 1973 law, the committee may also visit institutions, programs or organizations which receive state financial support.

Joint Survey Committee on TAX EXEMPTIONS

Members: SENATOR CZARNEZKI, REPRESENTATIVE WOOD, cochairpersons; SENATORS NORQUIST, LEEAN; REPRESENTATIVES NEUBAUER, MERKT; JOHN LAABS (designee of secretary of revenue); JOHN J. GLINSKI (appointed by Attorney General), MARIE A. SIEKER (appointed by Governor).

Mailing Address: Legislative Council, Room 147 North, State Capitol, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-1304.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.52.

History: The Joint Survey Committee on Tax Exemptions was created by Chapter 153, Laws of 1963, as a permanent statutory committee. Its membership was revised by Chapter 163, Laws of 1973, effective February 22, 1974, and by Chapter 215, Laws of 1975, effective April 24, 1976.

Organization: The 9-member committee is comprised of 3 senators and 3 representatives appointed as are the members of standing committees in their respective houses (2 from the majority party and one from the minority party in each house), a representative of the Department of Justice appointed by the attorney general, the secretary of revenue or the secretary's designee, and a public member appointed by the governor by January 15 of each odd-numbered year who is familiar with tax problems. The officers of the committee are an Assembly and a Senate chairperson and vice chairperson, appointed as are chairpersons in the respective houses; and a secretary, elected by the members from among its nonlegislator members. Terms expire on January 15 of the odd-numbered years, and each member shall serve until a successor is appointed and qualified. The committee may employ such personnel as is necessary; any intermittent employment of professional, technical or research personnel may be made outside the classified service. Staff assistance is provided by the Legislative Council.

Functions: The purpose of the committee is to provide the legislature with its considered opinion of the legality, fiscal effect, and desirability of each legislative proposal which would modify laws or create new laws relating to the exemption of property or persons from any state or local taxes or special assessments. To carry out its function, it is empowered to make investigations and hold hearings. Any measure, except the executive budget bill, introduced in the legislature relating to the exemption of property or persons from a tax shall be immediately referred to the committee, which must submit its written report before the proposal may be considered by either house. If a budget bill contains a tax exemption, the bill is referred simultaneously to the Joint Committee on Finance and the Joint Survey Committee. The committee must prepare a written report on tax exemptions contained in the executive budget bill within 60 days. The report is printed as an appendix to the bill.

Commission on UNIFORM STATE LAWS

Members: JUSTICE WILLIAM G. CALLOW (public member), chairperson; REPRESENTATIVE CRAWFORD, vice chairperson; ORLAN L. PRESTEGARD (revisor of statutes), secretary; SHAUN P. HAAS (designee of executive secretary, Legislative Council), PETER DYKMAN (designee of chief, Legislative Reference Bureau); SENATORS GEORGE, DAVIS; REPRESENTATIVE PROSSER; LAWRENCE J. BUGGE (public member).

Mailing Address: Revisor of Statutes Bureau, Room 411 West, State Capitol, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-2011.

Total Budget 1983-85: $35,200.

Statutory Reference: Section 13.55.

History: The Commission on Uniform State Laws was originally created by Chapter 83, Laws of 1893, which authorized the governor to appoint 3 members as the Commission for the Promotion of Uniformity of Legislation in the United States. In 1931, Chapter 67, Sec. 150, designated the revisor of statutes as the sole Wisconsin commissioner. The composition was again changed by Chapter 173, Laws of 1941, to add the chief of the Legislative Reference Bureau as a commissioner. The commission was created in its present form and the membership expanded to include 2 members of the State Bar appointed by the governor by Chapter 312, Laws of 1957. Chapter 135, Laws of 1959, added the executive secretary of the Legislative Council as a member. Chapter 294, Laws of 1979, effective January 1, 1981, added 4 legislative members and deleted the requirement that the members appointed by the governor be members of the State Bar.

Organization: The 9-member commission consists of 2 senators and 2 representatives to the Assembly from the 2 major parties appointed as are members of the standing committees for 2-year terms, 2 public members appointed by the governor for 4-year terms, the chief of the Legislative Reference Bureau or a designee, the executive secretary of the Legislative Council or a designee and the revisor of statutes.

Functions: The commission is authorized to advise the legislature with regard to uniform laws and model laws. Each commissioner may attend the annual meeting of the Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, examine subjects on which uniformity of legislation is desirable, ascertain the best methods to effect uniformity, cooperate with commissioners in other states in preparing uniform acts, and prepare bills adapting such uniform acts to the laws of Wisconsin for introduction in the legislature. The commission reports biennially to the Law Revision Committee of the Legislative Council.

EXECUTIVE BRANCH

---

A PROFILE OF THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH

Structure of the Executive Branch

The “republican form of government” guaranteed to every state by the U.S. Constitution led to the separation of powers within state government among the legislative, the executive, and the judicial branches of government. The legislative branch, discussed in the preceding section, has the broad objective of determining new or changed policies and programs, and of reviewing performance for policies and programs previously authorized; the executive branch carries out these programs and policies; and the judicial branch has responsibility for the adjudication of any conflicts which might arise from the interpretation or application of the laws. It is a traditional concept of American government that the three branches are to function separately, without intermingling of authority, except as specifically provided by law.

Government Has Become Complicated. “The executive branch carries out these programs and policies” — how neatly this can be stated, and how simple it could be structured when our state’s constitution was ratified by the people of Wisconsin in 1848. In their constitution, the people provided for a governor elected to represent them at the seat of government and to see that the laws were faithfully executed. They provided for a lieutenant government to become governor in case there was a vacancy in the governor’s office, and made him president of the Senate so that there would be some liaison with the legislative branch. They created an office of state treasurer to handle all the state’s fiscal affairs: to collect the tax monies coming in and to pay all the bills arising out of the operation of state government. In deciding to elect a secretary of state, they provided for just about all the “administration” needed in 1848: a small office to carry on the correspondence between the state government in Madison, the citizens back home, the municipalities, and the federal government, and to keep the written records of all Wisconsin state government transactions. If the governor or the legislature needed legal advice, an attorney general, elected by the people, would take care of the matter. If the people back home wanted advice on how to run a school system, a state superintendent of public instruction, elected statewide, could provide all the advice necessary.

Perhaps state government never really was as simple as the constitution’s basic outline would lead one to believe. Emphatically, it is not that simple today. The Wisconsin Committee on the Reorganization of the Executive Branch, reporting to the 1967 Legislature, came to the conclusion that modern government could no longer be neatly divided into precise “legislative”, “executive” and “judicial” domains. In many instances the subjects of legislation had become so complicated and full of technical detail, that the legislature agreed to leave the detailed implementation of a law to the executive branch by granting “rule-making” authority to an administrative agency. At the same time, so as to free the judicial branch from the same staggering load of technical detail, these administrative agencies were given “quasi-judicial” powers. Said the reorganization committee:

.... “the complexity of modern life has required the delegation of substantial rule-making and quasi-judicial authority to administrative regulatory agencies of the state government. Some of these regulatory agencies, engaged primarily in the supervision of private business activities, are intended to be relatively independent from executive control.”

Reorganization 1967. By the time the reorganization committee ended its studies in January 1967, it had concluded that there were 85 state agencies comprising the executive branch of the Wisconsin state government. Since the Wisconsin Constitution vests the executive power in the governor, the governor holds the ultimate responsibility for state administration. However, the proliferation of state agencies over the years had made it increasingly impossible for a governor to exercise effective executive authority. Many of the agencies had no direct relationship to the governor. The purpose of reorganization was to integrate agencies on a functional basis, thus providing a less unwieldy and more efficient structure which would be more responsive to the chief executive and, consequently, to the people.

When the committee's recommendations were enacted into law by the 1967 Wisconsin Legislature, the structure was considerably altered and the number of agencies drastically reduced from 85 to 32. The executive branch was reorganized to include 4 constitutional offices, 14 operating departments (including 2 headed by constitutional officers), and 14 independent agencies.

State Government Today. Like everything else, state government does not remain static. Reorganization is an ever-continuing process. New state agencies have been created, while others have been abolished by the legislature since the 1967 reorganization. In addition to the same 4 constitutional offices, there are now 15 operating departments, 18 independent agencies, and 3 authorities.

Since the 1967 reorganization, the Grain and Warehouse Commission and the Coordinating Council for Higher Education have been abolished, with a unit of the latter becoming a separate agency as the Education Communications Board. The University of Wisconsin and the State University System were merged to become the University of Wisconsin System, while the Department of Local Affairs and Development and the Department of Business Development (previously established from part of the former) were merged in 1980 to form the Department of Development. The following agencies were established with functions previously performed by a still-existing agency: the Office of the Commissioner of Credit Unions (from the Office of the Commissioner of Banking), the Elections Board (from the Office of the Secretary of State), the Department of Employment Relations, the Personnel Board, and the Personnel Commission (from the Department of Administration). The Drug Abuse Control Commission was created independently in 1969, but placed in the Office of the Governor in 1971 and is now called the State Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse. The Council on Aging in the Department of Health and Social Services became the independent Board on Aging, but in 1981 was attached to the Department of Administration for administrative purposes as the Board on Aging and Long-Term Care. The Office of the State Public Defender became an independent agency in the executive branch when it was transferred in 1977 from the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court. The Ethics Board was created in 1973 as a new independent agency.

Four authorities have been created: the Housing Finance Authority in 1971 (renamed the Housing and Economic Development Authority in 1983), the Health Facilities Authority in 1973, the Community Development Finance Authority in 1981, and the Solid Waste Recycling Authority, which was created in 1973 but abolished in 1983.

Thus, as a result of the various changes between 1967 and 1983, there has been a net increase of one department (from 14 to 15), a net increase of 4 independent agencies (14 to 18), and the creation of 3 authorities.

Constitutional Officers. The constitutional officers, whether they maintain independent offices or function as heads of departments, are elected by the voters. Their number has remained constant since the adoption of the constitution in 1848. They include the governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, and state treasurer, all of whom head offices, and the attorney general and superintendent of public instruction, who head departments. Beginning with the elections in 1970, the terms of office of all constitutional officers are 4 years. Formerly, only the state superintendent held a 4-year term.

Departments. A "department" means the principal administrative agency within the executive branch, but does not include the independent agencies, which frequently have quasi-judicial functions. Departments are organized into divisions as the major subunit, which are headed by administrators. Each division, in turn, is divided into bureaus, headed by directors, and bureaus may include sections and — smallest of all — units.

Of the 15 administrative departments, the Department of Justice and the Department of Public Instruction are headed by the attorney general and the superintendent of public instruction respectively. Eight departments are each headed by a single secretary, who is nominated by the governor and with the advice and consent of the Senate appointed: Administration; Development; Employment Relations; Health and Social Services; Industry, Labor and Human Relations; Regulation and Licensing; Revenue; and Transportation. The Department of Military Affairs is headed by the adjutant general, who is appointed by the governor alone for a 5-year term. The remaining 4 departments are each headed by a part-time board, which appoints the secretary to serve at its pleasure. The departments under part-time boards are Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection; Employee Trust Funds; Natural Resources; and Veterans Affairs.

Secretaries appointed by the governor serve at his pleasure, except that the secretary of regulation and licensing serves a 6-year term expiring on March 1 of an odd-numbered year. Members of boards supervising departments are appointed by the governor with Senate consent for fixed terms expiring on May 1 of odd-numbered years.

Independent Agencies. In addition to constitutional offices and administrative departments, there are 18 units of the executive branch which have been specifically designated as independent agencies. They either have quasi-judicial functions or are concerned with the higher educational institutions. Five of the independent agencies are each headed by a single commissioner — the Offices of the Commissioners of Banking, Credit Unions, Insurance, Savings and Loan, and Securities. Except for the commissioner of insurance, who serves a 4-year term, commissioners are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for terms of 6 years expiring on March 1 of the odd-numbered years. Three independent agencies are headed by full-time commissions — the Employment Relations Commission, the Personnel Commission, and the Public Service Commission. These, too, are appointed by the governor with Senate consent for staggered terms of 6 years expiring on March 1 of the odd-numbered years, excepting the Personnel Commission, whose members serve 5-year terms.

Finally, 10 of the independent agencies are headed by part-time boards: the Elections Board, the Ethics Board, the Investment Board, the Personnel Board, the Public Defender Board, and the educational agencies — the Educational Communications Board, the Higher Educational Aids Board, the State Historical Society, the University of Wisconsin System, and the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education. With 3 exceptions, these boards are appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate, although several also have some ex officio members. The exceptions are the State Historical Society, whose Board of Curators, although including gubernatorially appointed and legislative members, is primarily selected as provided in its bylaws; the Higher Educational Aids Board, which does not require Senate confirmation; and the Elections Board, whose members are appointed upon designation by certain officials. The number of members and the length of the term varies from board to board, although the Higher Educational Aids Board serve at the pleasure of the governor. Terms on these boards expire on May 1; Personnel Board terms, however, expire on July 1.

Authorities. The Community Development Finance Authority, Housing and Economic Development Authority, and the Health Facilities Authority are corporate public bodies created by the legislature for specific purposes and are authorized to issue bonds. Although they are agencies of government, they operate outside the regular structure of government and are intended to be financially self-sufficient. Members are appointed by the governor with Senate consent, but the Housing Finance Authority also has ex officio members, and the Housing and Economic Development Authority includes an ex officio member and 4 legislative members. Terms are for 4 years on the Housing and Economic Development Authority, for 5 years on the Community Development Finance Authority, and for 7 years on the Health Facilities Authority.

Attached Boards, Councils, Committees. Many departments and agencies have attached boards or subordinate boards, councils and committees within them to carry out specific tasks or to act in an advisory capacity. The 1967 reorganization act regularized the nomenclature and spelled out the differences in these units. Thus, a board is a "part-time body functioning as the policy-making unit for a department or independent agency or a part-time body with policy-making or quasi-judicial powers". An examining board is a "part-time body which sets standards of professional competence and conduct for the profession under its supervision, prepares, conducts and grades the examinations of prospective new practitioners, grants licenses, investigates complaints of alleged unprofessional conduct and performs other functions assigned to it by law". A council, on the other hand, is defined as a "part-time body appointed to function on a continuing basis for the study, and recommendation of solutions and policy alternatives, of the problems arising in a specified functional area of state government"; while a committee is considered to be a "part-time body appointed to study a specific problem and to recommend a solution or policy alternative with respect to that problem, and intended to terminate on the completion of its assignment".

Boards are always specifically created by law. Councils and committees may be created by law, but each agency head may also create and appoint such councils or committees as the operation of his or her department or independent agency requires.

Certain boards, commissions and divisions which had formerly either been independent or subsidiary to another agency were, under the 1967 reorganization, attached to new agencies as distinct units of the new agencies. They continue to exercise their statutory powers independently of the head of the department or independent agency, but the latter usually supervises budgeting, program coordination and related management functions for these units. The number of such units has been increasing so that currently they comprise 26 boards, 5 commissions (including 1 inactive), 3 divisions, 5 councils, and 2 offices.

The Executive Power. We said that the constitution vests the executive power in the governor. By making the heads of additional major departments subject to direct appointment by the governor, the 1967 reorganization of the executive branch increased the governor's executive authority. 1975 legislation added the Department of Health and Social Services to the direct appointment group by abolishing its governing board, while 1977 legislation added the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations — making the Labor and Industry Review Commission an independent unit of the department — and created the new Department of Employment Relations. The heads of 4 departments and 10 independent agencies, however, still remain separated from direct gubernatorial supervision through the interposition of governing boards; while members of 3 commissions serve staggered terms and 2 departments are headed by elected constitutional officers. The governor, of course, appoints most board members, but since they serve staggered terms, a governor must serve for at least one 4-year term to appoint a majority of the typical board. The commission is usually used to head quasi-judicial agencies, while a board heads most educational agencies.

It is still a matter of considerable debate whether or not all or almost all of the department heads should be directly appointed by a governor. Although public administration theory has long held that a governor cannot, in fact, be the chief executive if he lacks the authority to hold department heads directly accountable to him without an intervening board, the original purpose of a board was to insulate a department from politics, enabling its head and staff to develop expertise and a sense of professionalism in their operations. To date, Wisconsin has not opted completely for one system or the other, although the trend has been toward single-headed departments.

Civil Service. One of the outstanding characteristics of Wisconsin state government is its civil service merit system. Wisconsin was one of the early states to adopt such a system, doing so in 1905. Civil service, which has been defined to mean all offices and positions of trust or employment in the state government, is divided into the classified and the unclassified service. The unclassified service includes all officers elected by the people, all officers and employees appointed by the governor, certain officials of the State Historical Society, the instructional staffs of the University of Wisconsin System, most division administrators, deputies and executive assistants to certain agency heads, boys and girls in youth camps and certain others specifically exempted by statutes; legislative officers, employees and designated agencies; and Supreme Court employees.

The classified service, which comprises the overwhelming majority of state employees, includes all other personnel. Appointments and promotions in the classified service are made on the basis of merit, ascertained — as far as possible — by competitive examination.

Not only was Wisconsin one of the first states to adopt a merit system, but it has generally been considered to have one of the strongest such systems. That is, only a small part of the total state personnel does not come under the system, and those who do not are generally omitted for logical reasons.

Salaries. All positions in the civil service are classified so that positions in which the incumbents have similar duties, responsibilities and qualifications are placed in the same category and are paid on the same basis. Each such class may contain grades, with a salary range for each grade. Each salary range contains a minimum and maximum for that position. The secretary of the Department of Employment Relations establishes salary schedules and ranges (the compensation plan) each biennium for classified employees not covered by collective bargaining agreements. The Joint Committee on Employment Relations may modify the plan, but such modifications are subject to the governor's veto, which may be overridden by the vote of 6 members of the committee. Some provisions of the compensation plan approved by the committee may require legislative action for implementation, including changes in fringe benefits and other changes in laws. In 1984 Governor Earl created the Task Force on Comparable Worth to study the civil service classification system. In its 1985 budget measure, the Joint Committee on Finance reserved $9.1 million for the 1986-87 fiscal year to correct pay inequities based on gender or race.

State employes may join labor unions and engage in collective bargaining, but are prohibited by state law from striking. Collectively bargained agreements reached between the Department of Employment Relations and labor organizations are also submitted to the joint committee, which, if approved, are submitted to the legislature in companion bills for approval of salaries, fringe benefit changes, and other changes in the law. If the committee or legislature does not approve the agreement, it is returned for renegotiation.

Agency heads are, under the law, systematically placed in one of 10 groups, and each group is assigned a salary range. The dollar value for the salary range minimum and maximum for each group is determined in the same manner as for the positions in the classified service. Salaries of elected constitutional officers are set at varying points of their ranges.

Number of State Employees. The increasing size and complexity of state government is reflected in the number of employes. While a total of 1,924 people worked for Wisconsin state government in 1906, in December 1984, state employment amounted to 63,771 employes, of whom 35,818 were permanent classified, 17,528 were unclassified (primarily teaching employes and academic staff of the University of Wisconsin System), 5,486 were U.W. graduate assistants and others, 3,910 were limited term employes, 236 were seasonal, and 793 were project employes. Limited term employes represent a form of classified service, but are temporary employes who do not have civil service tenure and benefits.

State Government's Physical Plant. The first Capitol in Madison in the days of the Wisconsin Territory cost somewhat over $60,000. Erected in 1837, it was replaced by a bigger structure around 1860, which in turn was replaced by a greatly enlarged building around 1884. When that building was extensively damaged by fire in 1904, construction of the current Capitol began. The present Capitol was completed in 1917, at a total cost of $7,258,763.75.

Today, the agencies of state government in Madison are housed in the Capitol, the 5 state office buildings near Capitol Square on Wilson Street, East and West Washington Avenue, and South Webster, and the Hill Farms State Office Complex on the far west side of the city, but still have to rent additional quarters from private landlords. Nor does this complete the catalog of buildings needed for Wisconsin state government: there is the imposing Milwaukee State Office Building; there are other, smaller state office buildings in La Crosse, Eau Claire and Wisconsin Rapids; and there are district offices maintained throughout the state for the field organization of many of the operating departments.

So far, we have talked only about office buildings. In addition, there are also the educational, correctional and mental institutions maintained by the state. The University of Wisconsin System has its main campus in Madison (1984-85 enrollment 44,218), and its second largest campus at Milwaukee (1984-85 enrollment 26,464). In addition, the system maintains campuses at Eau Claire, La Crosse, Menomonie (Stout), Oshkosh, Platteville, River Falls, Stevens Point, Superior and Whitewater (comprising the former Wisconsin State University system); the Parkside campus, which serves Racine and Kenosha Counties; and the Green Bay campus, which serves the northeastern area of the state. Two-year extension centers (in buildings financed by the respective municipalities) are maintained in Baraboo, (Baraboo-Sauk County) Fond du Lac, Janesville (Rock County), Manitowoc, Marinette, Marshfield (Marshfield-Wood County), Menasha (Fox Valley), Rice Lake (Barron County), Richland Center (Richland County), Sheboygan, Waukesha, Wausau (Marathon County), and West Bend (Washington County). For the entire university system, the total 1984-85 enrollment was 162,010.

The state's correctional facilities consist of: Waupun Correctional Institution (penitentiary for men), the Dodge Correctional Institution, Taycheedah Correctional Institution (penitentiary for women), Green Bay Correctional Institution (penitentiary); Kettle Moraine Correctional Institution at Plymouth, Fox Lake Correctional Institution (medium security penitentiaries); Oakhill Correctional Institution at Oregon (minimum security penitentiary); the Wisconsin Correctional Camp System at Oregon (comprising several camps); the Ethan Allan School at Wales, the Lincoln Hills School at Irma; and the Wisconsin Resource Center at Winnebago. Columbia (at Portage) and Oshkosh Correctional Institutions are under construction and scheduled for 1986 openings.

Through the Department of Health and Social Services, the State of Wisconsin operates 5 institutions for the care and treatment of the mentally ill and mentally retarded. The institutions are the Mental Health Institute-Mendota at Madison and the Mental Health Institute-Winnebago at Winnebago; the Central Wisconsin Center for the Developmentally Disabled at Madison, the Northern Wisconsin Center for the Developmentally Disabled at Chippewa Falls, and the Southern Wisconsin Center for the Developmentally Disabled at Union Grove.

At Janesville, the state maintains a school which offers special training to visually handicapped and blind persons; at Delavan, a similar school is maintained for the hard of hearing and for the deaf.

The state also maintains the Wisconsin Veterans Home at King in Waupaca County. This is a home for Wisconsin veterans of all wars who are 50 years old or older and are permanently disabled and unable to secure adequate care from the federal government. Under certain conditions spouses, surviving spouses or parents of veterans are also admitted to the Veterans Home.

The Building Program. In the past several decades, providing adequate building space for Wisconsin state services has seemed a never-ending problem of space facilities not catching up to expanding state services. For many generations, the state had been able to add to its physical plant without much thought to eventual replacement. In the depression of the 1930s the state could not afford an extensive building program; during the years of World War II the state had the revenues but could not obtain the materials and the labor necessary to construct new buildings.

In 1943, the State of Wisconsin began to plan for a building program to begin at the end of the war. Even more important, perhaps, was the action of the 1943 Legislature which set aside a certain portion of the state's revenues to form the Postwar Construction and Improvement Fund. In 1949, the Legislature added the State Building Trust Fund, specifically designed to prepare for the replacement of obsolete structures.

None of the planning and none of the saving of state funds for new and replacement building were equal to the "population explosion" which followed the war and which was followed by correspondingly increasing demands for governmental services. Wisconsin's population increased from 3,137,587 in 1940 to 4,705,642 in 1980.

From the early 1950s until the 1972-73 school year, there were more children in the public schools than ever before. By 1960, these children began reaching college. In addition, there have been more people in our mental and correctional institutions.

Wisconsin long had a proud tradition of financing all its state construction projects out of current revenues and accumulated savings. In fact, our forefathers limited Wisconsin state government to a constitutional state debt — other than "to repel invasion, suppress insurrection or defend the state in time of war" — of $100,000. Wisconsin had begun its savings program for postwar construction in 1943, and the money accumulated, supplemented by generous boosts from current revenues, resulted in a construction program of nearly $192 million from 1949 through 1965. It was not enough.

The state had to find other ways to finance additional construction. The 1953 Legislature passed a law which authorized private corporations to issue bonds, secured by future office rentals, for the purpose of building facilities for the state. In the celebrated case of State ex rel. Thomson v. Giessel, 267 Wis. 331, decided in 1954, the Wisconsin Supreme Court held:

"Where the objective of a lease of an addition to the state office building by the state from the Wisconsin State Public Building Corporation, a private corporation, was to benefit the state, and the arrangement was one highly advantageous to the state, the obligation of the state to pay future rentals to the corporation until the corporation's loan to provide funds with which to construct the new addition should be paid, thereby enabling the corporation to obtain the loan, did not constitute giving or loaning the credit of the state for the benefit of the corporation in violation of the provision in sec. 3, art. VIII, const., prohibiting the giving or loaning of the credit of the state in aid of any individual, association or corporation".

This decision opened the way, as long as the bonds were not issued by the state itself, for bond financing of buildings required by the state. In the press, the new instrumentalities created to provide office buildings for the state, or dormitories for the state universities, were quickly dubbed "dummy corporations". This somewhat derogatory term notwithstanding, the building corporations were a real boon to the State of Wisconsin at a time when current revenues proved insufficient to provide the facilities required for a rapidly expanding population and to keep abreast of an increasing demand for public services.

Corporation borrowing for the purpose of state building began right after the 1954 decision. In the 1955-57 biennium, corporation borrowing added about $17 million to the funds available for state building construction; by August 1974, all corporation debt stood at $359.3 million.

In 1969 the use of "dummy corporations" was terminated following the adoption of a constitutional amendment allowing the state to contract direct debt. Subsequent legislation created a state Bond Board to administer and approve all matters relating to the incurrence of debt backed by the full faith and credit of the state. The board was abolished and the function was transferred to the state Building Commission in 1973. By February 1985 the total state indebtedness was over $2 billion.

Functions of the Executive Branch

So far we have talked about how the executive branch is organized and operated. But what does the government do? What services does it provide to you, the taxpayer? Following a practice used in the state budget, the services that the state provides its citizens are grouped herein into several broad functional areas, namely, commerce, education, environmental resources, human relations and resources, and general functions. These subject categories are also used in the detailed departmental descriptions of the executive branch agencies, because this seems a most helpful way of grasping the total panorama of activities performed by state government. Inevitably, there are some departmental activities that fit into more than one of the categories, so that some categorizations may seem arbitrary. Please bear in mind that the categories selected merely represent one choice among alternatives.

Governor and Lieutenant Governor. The governor and the lieutenant governor could very properly be classified under the general functions of the executive branch. Since the governor, however, is the repository of "the executive power" and occupies a supervisory function over the entire executive branch, it seems preferable to consider the functions of the Office of the Governor separately.

The governor is the chief executive officer of the state and, as such, represents all the people of the state. Administratively, his authority is exercised through his appointing power, through consultation with department heads — individually and in cabinet meetings — and through the executive budget. The governor's influence on the legislative process comes both through the biennial budget, which he submits to the legislature with recommendations in the form of a bill, through his state-of-the-state message and special messages to the legislature on topics of urgent or desirable legislative action, and through his power to veto legislation. He appoints numerous committees or task forces to study state problems and make recommendations for legislative action. The governor's office is a channel for receiving complaints and suggestions on state affairs. In addition, in his various speaking engagements around the state, the governor is also kept informed of current problems and, in turn, informs the people of current problems.

The lieutenant governor, like the vice president of the United States, is the stand-by who assumes the governorship in the event of the governor's death, incapacitation, or absence from the state. The governor may assign the lieutenant governor additional duties, such as coordinating certain state services or representing him on any board, commission or committee on which the governor is an ex officio member or on a nonstatutory committee or intergovernmental body. Governor Earl is the first governor to appoint the lieutenant governor to serve simultaneously as head of a state department. He appointed Lt. Gov. Flynn secretary of the Department of Development.

Commerce. While the regulation of interstate commerce is specifically delegated to Congress by the United States Constitution, regulating intrastate commerce is the province of the states. The 2 areas, of course, are not that clearly divided between the two jurisdictions. Over the years the U.S. Supreme Court has greatly broadened the meaning of the "commerce clause" in the federal constitution. There is overlapping of activities, including the dual exercise of authority; in short, there is an intricate interrelationship between the federal government and the states in the performance of the function known as commerce. Nevertheless, in spite of the fact that there is very little nowadays that has not been interpreted to be interstate commerce, considerable power over commerce continues to be exercised by the states.

If we understand commerce as involving trade in goods, services and commercial paper, as well as transportation and communication, we can readily envision the scope of this area of state concern. The state's interest in this field lies in regulating the conduct of commercial transactions. The primary objective of such regulation is to protect the public as consumers of agricultural products and manufactured goods and services and as participants in financial transactions and to maintain a stable, orderly market for the carrying out of these activities.

How does the state protect the consumer of goods and services? One way is to inspect the raw products and the conditions under which they are grown. Thus, cattle are inspected for infectious diseases, research is carried on in animal and plant diseases, fruits and vegetables are graded for marketing, standards are set for the contents of processed food. The hamburger and the butter you buy at the grocery are the end products of explicit standards set forth either in the Wisconsin Statutes or in departmental regulations.

Another way of protecting the consumer of goods and services is through the licensing of various trades and professions. Generally, these trades and professions involve practitioners whose activities affect the health of individuals, such as doctors and nurses, or on matters where it is considered of importance for public safety to make certain that the practitioner is competent, such as architects and engineers.

The state also protects the consumer by maintaining an orderly market in which to conduct business. This may be done by specifying methods of fair competition, by regulating the rates that public utilities may charge for their services, by setting standards for the operation of banks, savings and loan companies and credit unions to protect depositors, or by regulating the sale of securities and insurance.

The state agencies in the field of commerce include: the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, which is concerned with the conditions of the growth and processing of food and with fair trade practices in general; the Department of Regulation and Licensing, which provides services for a variety of examining boards in the various trades and professions and directly regulates several activities; the Offices of the Commissioners of Banking, Credit Unions, Savings and Loan, Securities, and Insurance, which regulate the several types of financial institutions; the Public Service Commission, which regulates the rates and services offered by public utilities (heat, light, power and water companies); and the Department of Development, which promotes community and economic development throughout the state and is concerned with local-state-federal relations.

Education. Realizing how vital the education function of the state is, the drafters included in the Wisconsin Constitution an article on education. Provision was made for the establishment of local school districts and the free education therein of all children in the state. Each town and city was required to support such schools through taxation, and some state assistance was provided through a school fund. The constitution further decreed that provision should be made by law for the establishment of a state university and colleges throughout the state as needed.

From this groundwork evolved our present educational system. Under this system 767,542 students attended the public elementary and secondary schools in 1984-85; the 1984 fall enrollment in the University of Wisconsin System reached 162,010; while the vocational school system was 73,941. Total expenditures for public education in the 1983-84 fiscal year were over $4 billion.

There are 432 school districts in the state, which administer the elementary and secondary schools within those districts. Twelve cooperative educational service agencies furnish support activities to the districts. A 1965 law required that by 1970 the entire state be divided into vocational, technical and adult education districts. Although Wisconsin was a pioneer in the establishment of vocational schools, some areas of the state did not have access to them. Under the 1965 law this changed, and such education is now available to everyone. There are 16 such districts. The elementary and secondary schools and the schools of vocational, technical and adult education are operated by district boards, but a state level agency functions in each case to supervise the system. The state Department of Public Instruction, headed by the state superintendent, supervises the former; the state Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education supervises the latter.

Except for the vocational system, the state directly operates the institutions in the field of higher education. The 1971 Legislature, by Chapter 100, Laws of 1971, integrated Wisconsin's publicly financed institutions of higher education into a single University of Wisconsin System. These comprise the former University of Wisconsin and the State Universities. In addition to its central campuses in Madison — the largest campus in the state — and Milwaukee, the system includes the 11 other degree-granting institutions providing 4-year courses of study, and 13 center system campuses providing 2-year courses. State monies also contribute to the support of the Medical College of Wisconsin, Inc. (formerly the Medical School of Marquette University).

Three other agencies are concerned with the education function of the state — the Higher Educational Aids Board, the Educational Communications Board and the State Historical Society. The first-named administers federal and state programs for student financial assistance. The Communications Board operates the state FM radio network and educational television network. The Historical Society maintains the state historical library, museum and various historical sites.

Environmental Resources. Another array of state functions is brought together under the category of environmental resources. Just what is meant by this? In the context used here, environmental resources refer to the functions of those state agencies that affect the natural resources of the state; that is, they may protect, develop, or modify in some way the land, forests, waters, air or minerals of the state. As we said at the beginning of our presentation, there is a certain amount of arbitrariness in assigning an agency to a category. The Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, for example, which is certainly concerned with the conditions of the soil and water, has been placed in the commerce category, while the Department of Transportation, which also relates to commerce, has been placed in environmental resources.

Only 2 state agencies — Transportation and the Department of Natural Resources — are discussed in this category, but these are concerned with some of the most important functions of state government.

From a wilderness inhabited by 305,391 people in 1850 the state has grown into a complex society with a 1980 population of 4,705,642. People are responsible for vast changes in a landscape. Although most of Wisconsin is not densely populated and the state has a comparatively large amount of open space, even here we encounter serious problems of environmental pollution, and such problems seem to increase with population growth and improved living standards.

Once, pioneers could come to a wilderness, clear the land, cut the forests, and hunt and fish with little thought of any damage they might be doing to the soil, the streams, or the wildlife. Now, every state must take firm steps to protect its resources from destruction or, indeed, from extinction. Municipalities and industries must be prevented from dumping untreated sewage or industrial wastes into the lakes and streams; smokestacks and automobile exhausts must be prevented from polluting the air; parks and forests must be maintained both to preserve unusual phenomena of nature and to provide the public with recreational and educational opportunities; private forest owners must observe scientific conservation practices so that new growth may replace cut timber; hunting and fishing limits must be set and hunters and fishermen licensed to preserve the fish and wildlife from extinctive practices; farming procedures must be such as to preserve the quality and stability of the soil and the quality of groundwater.

Governmental activities for preserving and protecting our natural resources are largely the province of the Department of Natural Resources, but the Department of Agriculture, Trade

*Wisconsin taxpayers may donate to the Endangered Resources Fund through a checkoff on their income tax form. and Consumer Protection and the Land Conservation Board attached to it are also actively involved.

Resources must not only be preserved, they must be used, both in earning a living and in the recreation of the people. They must be developed and consumed for a multitude of purposes. Timber must be used in the housing and paper industries, land must be cultivated for crops or used for grazing, minerals must be extracted for industrial use, and scenic areas must be preserved for campsites, resorts and ski areas. For all these aspects of environmental control, the Department of Natural Resources was authorized a budget of over $380 million for the 1983-85 biennium.

In addition — and to an ever increasing degree — the land is cut up by highways. With the tremendous growth in the number of automobiles and trucks, sizable amounts of land have been taken away from housing in the cities and from cultivation in the country to handle the traffic. The freeway in the city and the interstate highway in the country exercise an enormous impact on the use and development of the surrounding land. They affect where people live, where they work, and where they play. Highways and city streets must be planned with great foresight not only to weigh how well they will handle the flow of traffic, but to determine what effects they will have on people's lives.

The state's elaborate system of highways consists of interstate highways, financed from federal and state funds, and of state highways, county trunk highways, town roads, city and village streets, and park and forest roads. Closely connected with the highway building and maintenance functions of the state government and the aid granted to local units for streets and highways are the objects for which these roads are built — the motor vehicle and its occupants.

While the state is concerned with the building and maintenance of an adequate number of roads of certain standards to meet the traffic demands, it is also very much concerned with the safety and convenience of the people who are using those roads. Almost 3.5 million vehicles are registered each year, and over 3 million drivers are licensed. With 735 traffic fatalities in 1983 — and comparable figures in prior years — traffic safety is of constant concern.

The state must see to it that the drivers know the laws, are physically fit to drive, and have the required driving skills. It keeps track of the accident rate of drivers through a point system and removes those who prove hazardous to themselves and to others. It collects taxes to pay for highway construction and maintenance, for the policing of the highways, and for the enforcement of driver and vehicle standards. In addition to its highway concerns, the state is concerned with the development of aviation and of airports in the state and with the preservation of mass transit and of railroad transportation facilities. The state programs for all modes of transportation, including aeronautics, railroads and aid to urban mass transit, are the province of the Department of Transportation. To perform these functions, the Department of Transportation was authorized to spend over $1.6 billion for the 1983-85 biennium.

Human Relations and Resources. In addition to dealing with the natural environment, the state must also deal with the human environment. The increase in population that affects the quality of the land, the water and the air resources also has an increasingly complex effect on the people themselves and their relations to each other and to the state. The inhabitants of a state are its prime resource, and a state must look after their general welfare and insure peaceable relations among them.

For these reasons the departments that have been brought together in this category are concerned with people — their health, their living standards, their safety, and their working relationships with each other.

How does the state protect the health of its citizens? In the early days of the state, public health was primarily concerned with preventing the spread of communicable diseases. Now, public health covers the prevention and detection of disease, health education programs, assistance in hospital construction, and maintenance of institutions for the care and treatment of the mentally handicapped. Records of birth, marriage, divorce, and death are on file with the state.

In addition to health activities, financial services for dependent children and a broad range of social services for the aged, the handicapped, and children are primarily the work of the Department of Health and Social Services.

In his or her capacity as a worker, the individual comes in contact with the state in many ways. Minimum wages and maximum hours are set by law. If a worker is injured on the job, state worker's compensation comes to the rescue; if a worker loses his job, he is aided by unemployment compensation. If a worker is seeking a job, the state (in partnership with the federal government) provides a job service to help him find one or to acquire the skills necessary for employment. If a worker cannot obtain a job and suspects that he is being discriminated against because of age, race, creed, color, handicap, marital status, sex, national origin, ancestry, arrest record or conviction record, the state will investigate the matter. The state's agent in protecting and assisting the worker is the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations. The state also mediates or arbitrates labor disputes between workers and their employers, which is the task of the Employment Relations Commission.

If the individual is a veteran, the State of Wisconsin has loan programs to help him acquire a home, business or education. These programs are the province of the Department of Veterans Affairs.

To promote the general welfare of its citizens and insure peaceable relations among them, the state must not only protect their health and their ability to earn a living, but must also protect them from lawless elements in society by maintaining those conditions of stability and order necessary for a well-functioning society. Law enforcement is largely a local matter, but the state's Department of Health and Social Services is responsible for segregating convicted criminals in its penal institutions and rehabilitating them for eventual return to society. The Office of the State Public Defender represents indigents in trial and post-conviction legal proceedings. The Department of Justice furnishes legal services to state agencies and provides technical assistance to local law enforcement agencies. It also enforces state laws against gambling, arson, prostitution and narcotic drugs.

The state also provides an armed military force to protect the populace in times of state or national emergencies, natural or manmade, and to supplement the federal armed forces in time of war. These activities come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Military Affairs.

General Executive Functions. The state government exists to perform services that are considered necessary for the well-being of the people and the progress of the state. Such services are called line services. Thus, if a state agency maintains a state park in which you may camp, requires a physician to obtain a license before practicing in this state, or provides you with information on job opportunities, it is directly carrying out the functions for which it was created.

In order to perform these direct functions, however, it must also perform indirect — or staff — functions. These are necessary to help the state perform its line functions. Thus, the state must have an agency to supervise the hiring of personnel to carry out the state's tasks. It must provide space and equipment, salaries and a retirement system for that personnel. It must lay and collect taxes to support its activities and must manage such state funds. It must see to it that the state funds are spent according to law. It must evaluate the needs of each department so that the department can perform its assigned tasks and prepare for future needs, both to carry out present functions and anticipated functions likely to arise from future events.

Each line agency must contain within itself some staff functions; there must be employes to hire personnel, to maintain personnel and agency expenditure records, to prepare the agency budget, and to order and manage supplies. In large departments, an entire division may be required to perform staff functions.

Some agencies perform staff functions almost exclusively. The Department of Administration, for example, is called the "housekeeping" department of the state. Its duties include state budgeting, preauditing, engineering and facilities management, state planning, data processing, and emergency government functions. The Department of Employment Relations operates the state's civil service system and is assisted by the Personnel Board and the Personnel Commission. The Ethics Board administers a code of ethics for state public officials. The Department of Revenue is another strictly staff-type agency. It collects the taxes levied by state law, distributes that part of the revenue that is to be returned to the local units of government, and calculates the equalized value of the property that has been assessed by local government. Still another staff agency is the Department of Employee Trust Funds, which manages the retirement systems of the state. Whether it be your local city garbage collector, your teacher, a conservation warden, or a word processor in the Department of Health and Social Services, all are covered under a state retirement plan. At any one time the state must have large sums of money on hand in its various funds to meet its obligations. The Investment Board invests these funds in stocks, bonds and real estate in order to make the best use of the funds, and have them earn the maximum amount of interest possible while waiting to be used by the state. The Office of the State Treasurer processes the receipt and disbursement of these monies. Functions of the Office of the Secretary of State include registering lobbyists, keeping various state records, affixing the state seal on certain records to authenticate them, and chartering corporations. The State Elections Board oversees the election processes of the state, monitoring campaign expenditures and keeping election records. The Community Development Finance Authority, Health Facilities Authority and Housing and Economic Development Authority are authorized to issue bonds to assist in promoting their respective functions.

Thus it can be seen that state government touches our lives at many points. In the course of any one day, each resident is helped or restrained by state government in innumerable ways. The rates for the gas you use to heat your house and the electricity you use to light it were approved by the state; the street you traveled to work on was probably built with state aid; your labor contract may have been written according to the standards of fair labor practices determined by the state; the milk you drank today was processed at a dairy maintained according to state regulations and the restaurant you dined in last night was inspected under state standards; the beautician who styled your hair was licensed by the state; the bank where you have your account and the savings and loan where you have your mortgage may be regulated by the state; you may watch a television program this evening on a state television station or drive a snowmobile registered with the state; and you go to sleep at night on a mattress labeled and sold as required by state law. ## RECENT ACCOMPLISHMENTS EXECUTIVE BRANCH, WISCONSIN STATE GOVERNMENT

What has the state government of Wisconsin achieved in the last 2 years? While other sections of this book explain what the government does, this section gives the state agencies the opportunity to inform the citizens of what they have accomplished toward carrying out their goals.

Functional Area: Commerce

The commerce function of the state government comprises the promotion of economic development and the regulation of commercial transactions, utilities, and trades and professions in order to protect the consumer.

During 1983 and 1984, the DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, TRADE AND CONSUMER PROTECTION revised and updated several chapters of the Wisconsin Administrative Code: AG 32 (Retail Food Establishments), revised AG 39 (Bakeries and Confectionaries), revised AG 85 (Butter Grades and Labeling), developed a new standard of identity for baby Swiss cheese which will create a new AG 89, and began a major revision of AG 107 (Sampling and Testing of Milk and Cream).

State meat inspection regulations were strengthened in areas of humane handling of animals, condemnation of abnormal animals and disposal of meat unfit for food purposes. U.S. Department of Agriculture review teams reported that the state meat inspection program was acceptable on 98.6% of all items reviewed during the 1983-84 period.

A major goal was achieved when Wisconsin was declared Brucellosis-free by the USDA. AG 10.37 of the code was adopted, allowing for a voluntary classification of cattle herds for paratuberculosis status (Johne's Disease) and an achievable documented free status. A swine pseudorabies control, eradication and indemnification program was developed in Section 95.27 of the statutes.

During 1983, the Plant Industry Division was reorganized and renamed the Agricultural Resource Management Division. Previous bureaus of plant protection and regulatory services were combined and renamed as the Bureau of Plant Industry. The Land Resources Unit, which had been attached to the secretary's office, was transferred to the new division and raised to bureau status to include farmland preservation, soil and water conservation, animal waste management and environmental assessment programs. AG 160 implemented a new statewide erosion control program and AG 165 established procedures for the Farmers Fund, which provides grants to farmers to prevent water pollution from animal waste sources. Both programs will be administered by county land conservation departments and will require county plans.

Under Chapter 96 of the statutes (Agricultural Marketing Act), marketing orders have been established for milk, corn, soybeans, cranberries, mint and red tart cherries. AG 151 was implemented for quality control of Wisconsin grown potatoes. The department made a major thrust in developing opportunities and promoting Wisconsin agricultural products in Asia, the Caribbean basin, South America and other key international markets.

In calendar years 1983 and 1984, the STATE FAIR PARK BOARD continued to achieve its statutory goals of providing year-round entertainment and services to the people of Wisconsin while remaining self-supporting and using no tax dollars.

Toward this end, State Fair Park rents its facilities to independent off-season event promoters. The number of events and event days (number of days an event runs) increases each year. In fiscal year 1982-83, there were 144 events lasting 859 event days (there can be as many as 5 events using State Fair Park buildings on any given weekend). In fiscal year 1983-84, there were 155 events and 908 event days.

Attendance at off-season events surpassed fair attendance for the first time in fiscal 1981-82, and this trend continued in the last 2 years. In fiscal year 1982-83, non-fair event attendance was 1,106,026 vs. 1982 Fair attendance of 881,350, and in fiscal year 1983-84, those figures were 1,043,375 vs. 1983 Fair attendance of 893,947.

Annual gross income for State Fair Park has increased as dramatically as the number of events. In fiscal year 1982-83, the gross income was $6,726,618, and in fiscal year 1983-84, it passed the $7 million mark at $7,205,389. The gross income reached the $6 million mark only 2 years earlier in fiscal year 1981-82.

All "profits" of State Fair Park are put into a capital improvements fund used for construction and maintenance. In 1983 and 1984, these funds were used for a new Recreational Vehicle Park and a new roof on one of the exhibit buildings. In late 1984, construction began on a new stage and park area to be ready for the 1985 Fair, August 1-11.

The DEPARTMENT OF DEVELOPMENT played a major role in the passage and implementation of legislation enacted by the 1983 Legislature which fosters economic growth and development and promotes such objectives as business expansion, retention and attraction; international trade and investment; job creation; housing assistance and rehabilitation; and public-private sector cooperation.

In addition to the departmental programs that were established as a result of 1983 legislation, other noteworthy program efforts included:

1. Mentor Program — This program was established in 1983 to assist small businesses and businesses new to exporting to participate effectively in international markets. The mentor firm provides up to 100 hours of free counseling to the selected firm.

2. Commercial Attaches — This program expands the presence of the State of Wisconsin in as many countries as possible to promote trade as well as investment in the state. In the short span of 2 years, the network of honorary commercial attaches already has expanded to include representatives in 15 countries.

3. Wisconsin MESBIC — The department promoted the creation of the Wisconsin Minority Enterprise Small Business Investment Company (MESBIC) to provide capital to qualifying minority businesses. By late 1983, the MESBIC obtained over $1 million in commitments from private investors to purchase its common stock.

4. Minority Marketplace — Each year the department organizes an event called "the Marketplace" to help minority business owners gain direct access to buyers and purchasing agents. Recently, participating minority firms reported a total of $2.3 million in contracts awarded.

5. Small Cities Community Development Block Grants — In April 1984, the department awarded approximately $25 million to 45 localities under the federal Small Cities Community Development Block Grant Program. About $8 million was for economic development efforts. The remaining funds were for housing and public facilities projects.

6. Housing and Neighborhood Conservation Program — This program enables low- and moderate-income Wisconsin homeowners to repair and upgrade their properties by making available low-interest home improvement loans at below-market interest rates through private lending institutions. In the past 2 years, over 800 loans were made totalling nearly $6.7 million.

7. Job Generation Study — In December 1984, the department released the executive summary of the Wisconsin Job Generation study, which examined the dynamics of job creation in Wisconsin between 1969 and 1981. Some major conclusions included: firms with 20 or less employees dominate the job generation process; entrepreneurial enterprises are the key to the performance of very small firms; the vast majority of job gains come from the expansion of existing Wisconsin businesses; and Wisconsin-owned businesses dominate the job creation process.

The OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF INSURANCE is actively involved in efforts to contain health care costs in Wisconsin by: removing statutory impediments to the development of cost-efficient alternative health care delivery systems; monitoring cost containment initiatives by traditional insurers; and preparing public information materials to help consumers make informed choices among available health care plans.

Other activities include:

Participating in nationwide efforts to protect policyholders who bought annuities from insurance affiliates of the Baldwin-United Corporation. Wisconsin chaired the Baldwin-United Options Committee, whose mission was to assist in the development of a rehabilitation plan acceptable to the regulators of other states. Commissioner Thomas Fox also chairs a special Masters Commission established by the rehabilitation courts to oversee the sale of Mortgage Guarantee Insurance (MGIC), a Wisconsin domiciled company purchased by Baldwin-United in 1982.

Adopting rules relating to unisex nonforfeiture values in life insurance policies, municipal bond insurance, preferred provider plans, minimum surplus requirements for town mutuals, and contracting for Patients Compensation Fund services.

Reorganizing the agency by merging the Bureau of Rates and Forms and the Bureau of Complaints and Market Conduct to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the agency.

The PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION has increased its emphasis on consumers, directing utilities to expand customer services and to enlarge their weatherization programs for low-income customers. The commission continues to stress alternative energy sources and conservation as ways to insure adequate energy supplies at reasonable prices. In line with those goals, the PSC has moved to develop long-term planning capabilities to determine Wisconsin's future needs and the best ways to meet them. As utilities conclude their electric generation construction cycle, the commission is evaluating its policies in response to slowed consumer demand.

Whenever possible, the commission has pursued the lowering or stabilization of energy rates. The PSC also has worked to ameliorate the effects of telephone deregulation on the state.

Administratively, the PSC is increasing its use of data-processing methods to improve analytic and decision-making processes and to increase efficiency.

The DEPARTMENT OF REGULATION AND LICENSING conducted a study of its license fee structure in response to a 1983-85 Biennial Budget Act directive. The department submitted its findings and recommendations to the Legislature in July 1984. The study analyzed fees that financed occupational regulation in the state and examined costs of various regulatory activities such as examinations and enforcement. The collective experience of the department's and the examining boards' regulatory efforts under various funding mechanisms was reviewed. Surveys of licensees and other interested parties were conducted. A draft report was prepared and distributed. The report concluded with a recommendation that the fee schedule be changed to reflect variable costs in examinations and enforcement.

In relation to examining board composition, the department obtained passage of legislation to increase the number of public members from one to 2 on all boards, effective May 1984.

The department began a comprehensive revision of the administrative rules regulating boxing in 1983. An advisory committee was appointed to assist with the boxing revision. The advisory committee was comprised of professional and medical experts. Six public hearings were held around the state. The proposed rules were designed to strengthen boxing safety measures while upholding the integrity of the sport.

During 1984, the department began a study to evaluate methods of ensuring continuing competency. The study emanated from a recommendation submitted by the Health Professions Regulatory Review Task Force. The intent of the study is to review recent national developments in mandatory continuing education and Wisconsin's experience with mandatory continuing education as a requirement of license renewal.

Other departmental accomplishments include: training workshops for board members; publication of the Regulatory Digest, which contains special information to licensees, statutory and administrative code revisions and board disciplinary actions; publication of a Directory of Board Member Appointments; and an office automation conversion project.

The OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF SAVINGS AND LOAN has continued the expansion of its automated examination system with the development of a computerized data base of financial information governing state-chartered savings and loan associations in Wisconsin. A restructuring of the examination and supervision functions has been instituted to utilize off-site monitoring of conditions and activities of savings and loan associations. This permits earlier detection of adverse financial trends or the occurrence of unusual activities. Correspondingly, the frequency and scope of the on-site examination has been adjusted to respond to problems identified through the monitoring process. As a result, the examinations are more timely and occur on the basis of a determined need.

The census tract lending analysis system has been expanded to cover all of the standard metropolitan statistical areas in Wisconsin and provide information on all loans made in designated low income and minority population tracts. The mortgage lending analysis system has been updated to keep pace with constant changes occurring in the lending field and phase 3 of the system has now been implemented. This will provide for off-site analysis of all consumer loan transactions to provide a better understanding of lending trends within the industry.

Most of the recent rulemaking has been designed to give state-chartered savings and loan associations the same powers granted to federal associations by legislation at the federal level. There was an emergency order to allow state-chartered savings and loan associations to provide money market accounts for savers, and new trust power authorities were provided by rule. Most recently, funds availability rules have been promulgated, which will require all state-chartered savings and loan associations to disclose all check hold policies to their customers. A consumer can then more rationally determine the financial institution he will deal with.

The legislative program of the OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF SECURITIES, enacted by the 1983 Wisconsin Legislature, amended the Wisconsin Uniform Securities Law and the Wisconsin Franchise Investment Law (1983 Wisconsin Act 216), and the Wisconsin Corporate Take-Over Law (1983 Wisconsin Act 200).

During 1983-84, the Commissioner appointed 2 advisory committees. The Advisory Committee on Economic Issues was appointed to advise the commissioner of securities periodically on economic issues in Wisconsin that may be affected by the laws or policies that the agency administers. The Citizen Advisory Committee on 1983 Wisconsin Act 200 was appointed to advise the commissioner if there are ambiguities in the statutory language of the act that need to be clarified, if changes in the Wisconsin Business Corporation Law are procedurally consistent with other provisions of the chapter and with the Close Corporation Law, and if there are recent judicial decisions that may affect one or more provisions of the act.

Based on the 1982 study of the record-keeping needs of the office, the agency in 1984 implemented a computerized electronic office and word-processing system. This new system has greatly enhanced and expedited the word and data-processing functions of the office.

In 1983, the Office of the Commissioner of Securities joined the CRD (Central Registration Depository) system, which is a computer procedure for processing the registration applications of various categories of securities personnel employed by or associated with broker-dealers situated across the nation. This system was jointly conceived by the NASD (National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc.) and NASAA (North American Securities Administrators Association, Inc.), an association including securities administrators from all 50 states.

Functional Area: Education

The education function embraces the supervision of local elementary and secondary school districts and the administration of higher education, higher educational aids, historical preservation and research, and educational radio and television.

During the 1983-85 biennium, the EDUCATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS BOARD authorized construction of television translators to improve public TV reception in a number of the remaining fringe areas. In public radio, successful efforts were initiated to avoid overlapping of public radio service and to strengthen the complementary radio programming concept of offering news and information, primarily on the AM band, and music and arts on FM stations. A special accomplishment was the planning, in association with the private sector, of a statewide ITFS (Instructional Television Fixed Service) system, which would offer educational and informational opportunities for business and industry, schools, hospitals and other agencies in 13 communities throughout Wisconsin. In the course of the biennium, the agency experienced substantial increases in its audiences for both instructional and public broadcasting, as well as in individual and corporate contributions.

In accord with its mission to collect, preserve and disseminate the history of Wisconsin, the Midwest and the nation, the STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY OF WISCONSIN made giant strides toward the opening of its new museum facility at 30 North Carroll Street on Madison's Capitol Concourse. The exterior of the building was remodeled, and work commenced on remodeling the interior to accommodate new and more extensive exhibits. Improved climate control will provide a stable environment for the many prized artifacts in the collection. The basement and first 2 floors of the museum are scheduled to be opened in 1986, with work continuing on the third and fourth floors during the 1985-87 biennium.

Other accomplishments of the museum included: development and installation of 13 major and 31 minor exhibits; initiation of a 9-month storyteller-in-residence program; acquisition of many new items; increased use of volunteers as museum docents and assistants; and increased emphasis of public programs, including lectures, films, demonstrations and festivals.

The Historic Preservation Division secured federal preservation grant funds to identify and document prehistoric and historic properties throughout Wisconsin. It identified 9,940 such properties and nominated 207 entries — representing approximately 700 properties — to the National Register of Historic Places.

Subgrant assistance to rehabilitate 16 historic buildings and to conduct 20 historic and prehistoric surveys was provided by Historic Preservation, which also authorized 60 historic, income-producing buildings to become eligible for 25 percent federal investment tax credits. It also reviewed 3,150 federally assisted or permitted projects in Wisconsin for compliance with federal historic preservation regulations.

The library continued to use grants from various sources to improve the accessibility of its collections to the public. It continued to participate in a nationwide pilot project to catalog newspapers from its extensive holdings -second only to the Library of Congress — in a national computerized bibliographic data base. Grants will also permit staff to add to the data base the library's records of books and microforms acquired from 1971 to 1977 as part of a continuing project to computerize the library's entire card catalog.

As a result of previous grants, the library produced 3 works detailing Native American publications: Native American Periodicals and Newspapers, 1828-1982 (Greenwood Press, 1984); Index to Wisconsin Native American Periodicals, 1897-1981 (Greenwood Press, 1983); and the The Native American Press in Wisconsin and the Nation (University of Wisconsin School of Library and Information Studies, 1983).

Total reference requests and questions answered by staff during 1983-84 increased by 19 percent from the previous 2-year period, and the total material loaned to users directly or through interlibrary loan increased by 32 percent. The library also received the prestigious John Sessions Award from the American Library Association in recognition of significant contributions to the history of labor and workers.

Archives added more than 5,000 cubic feet of records (approximately 5.5 million documents) to the existing collection of more than 76,000 cubic feet. More than 7,000 researchers, including more than 400 from out of state, were served in the Archives reading room in response to 20,000 requests for material. More than 7,000 mail and telephone requests were answered as well.

Archives also produced 2 important publications: Social Action Collections at the State Historical Society of Wisconsin: A Guide, a finding aid describing one of the society's significant bodies of contemporary material; and Planning to Preserve Wisconsin's History: The Archival Perspective, the culmination of an extensive study of the state's historical records programs.

Advances were also made in managing archival holdings through a project to develop an automated system for archival control. Progress was also made in the processing of contemporary political records, including the preparation for use by researchers of nearly 500 cubic feet of records in the Henry Reuss collection, housed in the Area Research Center at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

The Office of Local History increased its affiliated local historical societies from 182 to 192. It also completed a 6-1/2 hour instructional videotape series on preparation of interpretive exhibits.

Local History received national recognition through an award of merit from the American Association for State and Local History for an exhibit entitled "Beginnings," depicting the origins of 8 Wisconsin communities.

The Division of Historic Sites greatly improved the interpretive program at its 6 historic sites. The number of special events held during the annual sites season was increased; new research was completed that will allow more authenticity in various special events; special Christmas events were held at Villa Louis and Old Wade House; and additional research was done on several buildings at Old World Wisconsin.

New opportunities for a better interpretive program at Old Wade House arose with the rediscovery in July 1984 of an original set of innkeeper's account books maintained by Sylvanus Wade, builder and proprietor of Wade House. These have yielded new information about the role the stagecoach inn played in the history of east-central Wisconsin.

Additional improvements in the sites program include: the beginning of a project to install tape playback units in the machinery sheds at Stonefield Village, site of the state Farm Museum; the development of new fourth-grade educational materials for most sites; and a campaign to expand awareness about educational uses of the sites.

During the 1983 and 1984 fiscal years, the DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION continued in its efforts to build upon the excellence that has been established for Wisconsin's public elementary and secondary schools to meet the needs of this state for the education of its young people. Initiatives were developed for expanded programs for children at risk, for a sustained focus on effective schools statewide, for professional development of staff and for employment and vocational education program development.

Progress continues with the voluntary competency testing program established in 1982. Based on a partnership between the state and local school districts and stressing curriculum development and local school district identification of learning objectives, the program allows for local development of tests in the required areas of reading, math and language arts at 3 grade levels. A computerized test item bank for district use in construction of tests became operational in the fall of 1984. By the end of the 1985-87 biennium, the test bank will contain 40,000 test items. Approximately one-third of the state's school districts are participating in the program.

Superintendent Grover's task force on teaching and teacher education called for measures to assure that Wisconsin will have an adequate supply of quality teachers for future generations. Proposals for higher school of education admission standards, basic skills tests for new teachers, higher minimum salaries, greater recognition for the teaching profession and better practical training both before and after entering teaching are being readied for implementation. The career ladder concept is being investigated further through a pilot project in several school districts around the state.

By reorganizing, the department has directed pupil services efforts toward children who are experiencing social and community adjustment problems. Emphasis is being placed on addressing problems which prevent children from learning and place them in a position of being at risk in terms of their future success. Expanded assistance has been given to school districts for the implementation of alcohol and other drug abuse prevention and intervention programs, as well as for alcohol and traffic safety programs and for truancy and school dropout prevention programs.

Summer camps — Science World, Business World and Arts World — are providing learning and instructional opportunities for both students and teachers. The department is a primary sponsor of Arts and Science Worlds, providing both financial and staff resources; the state superintendent works closely with the Wisconsin Association of Manufacturers and Commerce on Business World.

The first Wisconsin Academic Decathlon was held in February 1984 on a pilot basis. By the fall, almost half the high schools in the state had put together teams for the first round of competition for the 1985 National Academic Decathlon. An equal number of "A," "B," and "C" students make up the teams which compete on 6 tests of academic strength (economics, language and literature, fine arts, mathematics, science, and social studies), 3 demonstrations of communications skills (interview, essay and speech, and a Super Quiz on futurism). Local, regional and state competitions are held to select Wisconsin's entry into the national program.

In partnership with the Parker Pen Company and businesses throughout the state, the department has studied vocational education in the high schools and developed initiatives for education for employment to assure that students coming out of our schools will have the educational and employability skills to make Wisconsin's work force the most skilled and best educated in America.

With the elimination of the life license for certified school personnel, the department implemented the Equivalency Credit Program to insure standards of quality in approved programs of professional in-service activities. An administrator assessment center, begun on a project basis in 1983, is addressing the need for development of a pool of executive talent at the building management level in the elementary and secondary schools. Plans call for the assessment each year of 72 assistant principals and teachers with degrees in administration.

Joint projects with the University of Wisconsin System have been initiated in the specific areas of preparing students for college and recruitment and retention of minority youth for higher education. Information outlining expectations of students entering college is distributed to 8th graders and their parents each year to enable students to plan their high school programs.

The State Superintendent's task force on library legislation recommended a more equitable formula for public library system funding and a new state aid proposal to strengthen local and countywide library services. Other issues addressed were certification of library personnel, school library media services, and services to special users and the institutionalized.

Cooperative sharing among school districts was streamlined and revitalized by the reorganization of the original 19 cooperative educational service agencies (CESAs) into 12 units. The department has made a commitment to work with the CESAs to provide educational leadership and services.

Since the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) was enacted by the federal government in 1983, Wisconsin has become a leader in the provision of JTPA-funded education and training programs for disadvantaged youth through the secondary schools. In its use of federal funds in all program areas, the department recently underwent a successful audit by the Legislative Audit Bureau.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN SYSTEM enrollments continued to increase and in the fall of 1984 reached a total of 162,156 students. Enrollment at UW-Madison accounted for 44,058 of the total. The UW-Madison also retained its third place national ranking in total funding for research and development. About 90 percent of the $158 million Wisconsin received was competitively won by university scientists from sources other than state funds.

The GEOLOGICAL AND NATURAL HISTORY SURVEY was involved in over 75 projects during the last 2 years. The Geology Section concentrated its efforts on regional and county mapping designed to meet the increasing demand for basic geological information needed to address environmental, mineral, and water resource problems. The surficial mapping program was accelerated in response to the need for this information for groundwater protection and management. A new map of Brown County was published. Bedrock mapping is nearing completion for three-fourths of the state. Three maps covering much of central and northwestern Wisconsin will be published in 1986. A bedrock map and accompanying report were published for Marathon County in 1984.

The subsurface geology program area continued the study of samples collected from water well drilling, producing nearly 500 published logs in 1983-84. A study of the St. Peter formation, a sandstone which serves as a major groundwater source in southern Wisconsin, will be published in 1985.

The Water Resources Section, in cooperation with other agencies, carried out projects in groundwater problem assessment, groundwater resource definition, applied groundwater research, data management, and information and education. Particular emphasis is on county groundwater resource investigations, which provide the basic resource information and interpretation for groundwater management and protection. A major accomplishment was the geographical sorting, filing, and microfilming of approximately 360,000 well logs from household wells, which now provide better subsurface information for mapping, research, and answers for the thousands of "What will I find if I dig here?" questions that the survey answers each year.

Further program emphasis will be on general groundwater education. A new direction in education programs will be on providing technical information and assistance on practical local options for groundwater protection and management to county officials and resource managers.

Outreach and service has been a major part of the Minerals Program at the survey. The heightened interest in Wisconsin's oil and gas potential has led to the publication of a new questions-and-answers brochure addressing this new resource area of concern for Wisconsin's citizens.

A computerized index (MINDEX) has been prepared to allow access to the Wisconsin Mineral Development Atlas — an atlas of over 27,000 drillhole records in the zinc-lead district of southwest Wisconsin.

A new initiative for the section is the preparation of county mineral resource investigations. The first of these is based on the mineral resource appraisal of Walworth County, completed in 1982, and now being rewritten for the lay public and the government officials, planning groups, and other local officials involved with county-based planning and regulation.

A number of technical papers dealing with the management and ecology of aquatic plants have been prepared by the Biology Section during the last 2 years. The section has also been active popularizing some of the unique natural features of the state, such as its publication, "Voyageurs Guide to the Lower Wisconsin River" in 1984.

The Soils Section, in cooperation with other agencies, continued to advance the understanding of soils and to address resource management issues such as land-use/water quality interactions, waste disposal, and revegetation of mining wastes. Current projects respond to needs ranging from the safe disposal of waste in soils to the reclamation of damaged landscapes and to the development of comprehensive and useful classifications and interpretations of soils.

The Climatology Section continued and expanded the archiving of Wisconsin's weather and climate data. It responded to numerous requests for weather records for government and industrial applications, documentation for court cases and insurance claims, and university research and teaching. To provide improved meteorological data for agricultural users, the section has developed and tested a prototype automatic weather station with computerized data retrieval for use at the UW Experimental Farms.

The STATE LABORATORY OF HYGIENE is providing an increasing broad scope of services to meet the health needs of Wisconsin's citizens in areas of contagious and chronic diseases, the environment, and educational outreach programs. The laboratory provides the most up-to-date and sophisticated types of testing to physicians, local health agencies, and the Department of Health and Social Services to detect communicable and chronic diseases including newborn and prenatal screening, testing for sexually transmitted diseases, testing for alpha-fetoprotein, toxic shock syndrome, Legionnaires' disease, and virus surveillance. The laboratory has successfully implemented the "drugs in driving" program in support of highway safety programs and the implied consent statute. In the environmental area, laboratory facilities have been upgraded to provide the most up-to-date testing capabilities including, gas chromatography/mass spectrometry. Tests of environmental samples for organic chemicals, metals, arsenic, pesticides, radioactivity, and other contaminants are provided as the laboratory continues to support the increasingly sophisticated programs of the Department of Natural Resources. The laboratory provides a complete industrial hygiene capability to Wisconsin industries and industrial hygienists including tests for asbestos, organic solvents, and other chemicals. In the outreach area, training programs have provided over 20 courses, as well as bench training and numerous interlaboratory, voluntary quality control programs to Wisconsin hospital personnel.

Functional Area: Environmental Resources

The environmental resources function embraces both the conservation and the development of the environment.

A number of significant accomplishments and major changes in direction by the DEPARTMENT OF NATURAL RESOURCES to better serve the state include the following:

Groundwater protection — The department participated in a legislatively created groundwater law development process that resulted in what many consider to be the most progressive groundwater protection law in the nation. A major department groundwater contamination testing and monitoring program documented the fact that underground water supplies are threatened by pollutants from old dumps and landfills, hazardous spills, improper septage and sludge disposal practices, and excessive pesticide application.

Hunter-landowner relations — A statewide conference and a Natural Resources Board citizen committee gave new direction to the department in an effort to improve relations between landowners and hunters and compensate farmers for wildlife crop damage. Specific improvements were made in the trespass law, hunter training, recognition of outstanding and ethical hunters, and prevention of wildlife damage.

Department-farmer relations — The department created an Office of Rural Issues Coordination to help improve relations with Wisconsin's farming community. A special outreach effort to better understand farmer concerns and help farmers understand department concerns was initiated.

Recycling — The Legislature assigned the department responsibility to promote and oversee recycling in the state. A goal of reducing waste deposited in state landfills by 50% by 1990 was set and a program emphasizing cooperation and local initiatives was established.

Toxic materials management — An accelerated testing program for toxics in the natural environment was commenced. Thousands of samples of air, water, soil, fish and wildlife were taken to document the extent of toxic contamination in the environment. Special emphasis was placed on drinking water and fish sampling. Where necessary, health advisories were issued or enforcement action taken. A major toxics management initiative was prepared for the Legislature.

Pheasant stocking and management — Financed by hunters' license fees, a new pheasant propagation facility was constructed and opened in Poynette. More than 40,000 birds will be stocked annually. In addition, the department launched a demonstration program in Dodge County to emphasize the development and management of wildlife habitat on private lands. If successful, the department intends to place major emphasis on helping private landowners oversee and foster the state's diverse wildlife population.

The DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION achieved landmark legislation in the 1983-85 budget act, indexing the motor fuel tax to stabilize the purchasing power of the primary source of state transportation revenue. In addition, Wisconsin led the way in the successful push for the 1982 federal highway aid bill that assured every state a minimum 85 percent return on federal highway user taxes paid by motorists.

Major renovation and widening of I-90/94 from Madison to Portage during 1984 included innovative recycling of the old concrete as a substitute for aggregate in the new 6-lane road. Other major projects completed included: Hwy. 16 in Waukesha County, Hwy. 51 bypass near Tomahawk, Hwy. 167 in Ozaukee County, Hwy. 18-151 from Dodgeville to Mt. Horeb and Hwy 172 at Green Bay.

The Transportation Projects Commission recommended to the department 10 additional major highway projects for development after 1987, and proposed an ongoing spending level of $42.5 million. The department completed a long-range Year 2000 Highway Plan that would moderately improve state highways on a cost-effective basis.

The Richard I. Bong Memorial Bridge (the U.S. Hwy. 2 bridge) was opened in late 1984 to link Superior, Wisconsin and Duluth, Minnesota. The $70-million project was a joint effort of the 2 states. Named after the World War II flying ace from Poplar, the bridge replaced the old, wooden Arrowhead Bridge, which was to be removed except for a portion to be retained as a fishing pier.

Starting in 1984, urban transit aids were increased from 30 to 35 percent of operating costs. The DOT acquired an additional 117 miles of abandoned rail lines, helped rehabilitate 283 miles of track, funded 5 harbor improvements and stepped up airport development.

The Division of Motor Vehicles began the Wisconsin Vehicle Inspection Program in Ozaukee, Washington, Waukesha, Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha Counties. Initial reports indicate the effort to remove excessive hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide emissions is improving air quality. In addition, the division issued about 1.8 million drivers' licenses and handled more than 5 million vehicle registrations and title transactions per year.

The State Patrol began construction on a new academy at Fort McCoy to replace World War II-vintage facilities that have been used to train recruits as well as other law enforcement officers. The State Patrol also began installation and training for a new alcohol breath test instrument known as the Intoxilyzer 5000.

Highway safety efforts continued to encourage seatbelt usage, to crack down on drunk drivers, and to educate the driving public about the state law requiring child restraints. First reports indicated a dramatic drop in serious injuries among children, and traffic fatalities remained at record low levels during 1982 and 1983, in large part due to the continuing effect of the 55 mph speed limit.

In November 1984, the OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF TRANSPORTATION was certified by the Interstate Commerce Commission to regulate intrastate railroad rates. Through adoption of Administrative Code Chapter TC 5, the office brought Wisconsin standards and procedures for regulating railroad rates, classification rules and practices into conformity with the Interstate Commerce Act. Congress, through passage of "The Staggers Rail Act of 1980" (Public Law 96-448), signified its intent that railroads receive adequate revenues through regulatory encouragement of modal competition, rate flexibility and relaxed rate reasonableness standards.

The decline in highway-railroad grade-crossing accidents has been studied and noted by the office. The decline is due in a large part to the installation of improved protective devices at the crossings. These improvements have been required by the office after thorough investigation.

Functional Area: Human Relations and Resources

The human relations and resources function is concerned with health, welfare, corrections, law enforcement, industrial relations, and military and veterans affairs.

During the last biennium, the Worker's Compensation Division of the DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRY, LABOR AND HUMAN RELATIONS refined its computer system to monitor time frames and determine bottlenecks for disputed cases in order to achieve timely processing, despite rapidly rising caseloads. The division also improved its public information efforts through institution of a quarterly newsletter and participating in a number of seminars held in conjunction with employer and employe groups.

The Equal Rights Division strengthened its fair housing program by establishing a housing testing program in conjunction with the Metropolitan Milwaukee Fair Housing Council in Milwaukee, Dane, Racine and Rock Counties. The division also published "Decision Digest IV", an updated compendium of precedent-setting decisions relevant to Wisconsin anti-discrimination laws. In cooperation with the Governor's Office, the division worked to revitalize the Equal Rights Council, a group which advises the division, governor and legislature, disseminates civil rights information and attempts through discussion and other means to educate the people of the state to a greater understanding, appreciation and practice of human rights for all people.

The Apprenticeship and Training Division participated in a Legislative Audit Bureau review of the apprenticeship program. Based on the report, the division established committees of business, labor, and education representatives to review and address the issues raised in the report.

During the biennium, major law changes were implemented to move the Unemployment Compensation Trust Fund toward solvency. The Unemployment Compensation Division served a record number of claimants and employers in a more timely manner because of increasingly sophisticated computer use.

The federal Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) amended the Wagner-Peyser act and refocused the Job Service Division from a federal-state partnership to a federally financed but state operated labor exchange agency. At the same time, it has provided for greater local government and private sector participation in employment and training planning and programs.

The Safety and Buildings Division experienced a large increase in workload because of the economic recovery in the state. These increases were met through office automation efforts and by establishing and meeting performance standards. Program developments included progress on the Historic and Solar Building Codes, formation of weatherization and electrical inspection programs, and initial publication of the Wisconsin Building Code Report, a service designed to keep builders, engineers and architects informed of changes in and interpretations of the Commercial Building Code.

Key among the accomplishments of the GOVERNOR'S EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING OFFICE during the past year was establishment of an entirely new employment and training service delivery system in the state that saw development of 17 discrete service delivery areas each with a functioning Private Industry Council, grant recipient and administrative organization. The agency established a sophisticated management information system and funded a broad array of employment and training programs while exceeding Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) standards for the percentage of funding used for training.

In the DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE, the Legal Services Division issued 122 formal opinions and received 5,326 new legal cases and investigations during the 1981-83 biennium. Approximately $3 million was returned to Wisconsin from excess profits made by oil companies and over $1 million was returned to citizens through the efforts of the Consumer Protection program. Over $2 million was collected in civil forfeitures and almost $2 million was recovered in overpayments from Medicaid providers.

During the biennium, the Arson Bureau of the Division of Criminal Investigation conducted 649 investigations. Of the 301 cases that were determined to be of criminal origin, over $18.6 million in property damage was involved. The General Investigations Bureau investigated 79 major crime cases. The investigations resulted in the arrests of 27 persons, 17 of which were on charges of first degree murder. The Narcotics and Vice Bureau conducted 909 investigations resulting in the arrests of 432 persons. The White Collar Crimes Bureau obtained 92 convictions, which resulted in fines, forfeitures and restitution totalling $518,000.

In the fiscal year 1983-84, 9,669 cases were received by the Crime Laboratories which resulted in 75,357 exhibits and required 409,715 forensic examinations. Crime Laboratory analysts also provided expert testimony in 542 court proceedings.

In 1983, the Crime Information Bureau handled over 44 million messages generated by the state's law enforcement agencies to the TIME computer system and identified, from the fingerprint identification files, over 700 persons who were arrested but used different names or personal descriptions.

The Training and Standards Bureau provided training for nearly 6,500 law enforcement officers who enrolled in its basic, specialized, and inservice training programs during 1984. It commenced the conversion of training to competency-based instruction, and reimbursed nearly $2.4 million in training expenses for local and state law enforcement agencies.

In the fiscal year 1983-84, the Office of Crime Victim Services reimbursed $1 million to innocent victims of crime in Wisconsin. In addition, 30 district attorneys' offices in Wisconsin were funded by the program for victim/witness assistance.

The DEPARTMENT OF MILITARY AFFAIRS continued to upgrade the training readiness of both Wisconsin Army and Air National Guard units in support of both federal and state missions. This included major categories of training, personnel, facilities and equipment.

In the area of training, the bulk of Wisconsin's Guard units are high priority units. This means early deployment in the event of national emergency, and it is an indicator of how well Wisconsin's units have accomplished training requirements set down by the Department of Defense.

On board strength has remained constant, with the Air National Guard holding at close to 100 percent of its authorized strength and the Army Guard at 95 percent. A national recruiting freeze in 1983 dampened the Army Guard's push towards the 100 percent goal, but steady increases were recorded during the latter months of 1984 and early 1985.

Army Guard accomplishments included the construction and dedication of a new Medford Armory; the 1157th Transportation Company Oshkosh, achieving the national "Best Mess" award; 3 units designated as Rapid Deployment Force, Army; a newly installed microfiche personnel system (first National Guard state), which modernizes the handling of personnel records, making Army Guard and active Army systems compatible for the first time; upgrading the physical fitness of Guard members; continued modernization of Army Guard equipment with the arrival of AH-1 Cobra helicopters as one example; responding to the call of the Governor to aid residents of Barneveld and other counties stricken by tornados; and having the 32nd Infantry Brigade and several other units selected for overseas deployment training in Europe in early 1986.

Air Guard accomplishments included hosting the annual Sentry Independence training exercise at Volk Field involving flying units and others throughout the country; new and improved facilities at bases in Madison and Milwaukee with emphasis on energy conservation; A-10s from the 128th Tactical Fighter Wing in Madison flying nonstop across the Atlantic for training in Europe, a grueling experience for a single seat aircraft with no automatic pilot; air crews of the 128th Air Refueling Group, Milwaukee, continuing their support of the Air Force with its worldwide air refueling mission; and all Air Guard units receiving top ratings from U.S. Air Force inspection teams.

Other accomplishments included the Adjutant General of Wisconsin serving on the Reserve Forces Policy Board reporting direct to the Secretary of Defense and elected as president of The National Guard Association of the United States; hosting the Adjutants General Association of the United States conference in Milwaukee; increased emphasis on recognition of employers who support the Guard and Reserve in Wisconsin; the Wisconsin Legislature passing a distinctive license plate bill for members of the Guard; and continued sponsorship of the Wisconsin Special Olympics athletic programs.

The OFFICE OF THE STATE PUBLIC DEFENDER is mandated to insure that the constitutional and statutorily required rights to counsel are provided to indigent citizens in Wisconsin. Prior to the existence of the State Public Defender, indigency was determined at the county level and varied throughout the state. Attorneys, if appointed, were not available until the client's initial appearance in court. The State Public Defender uses standard indigency criteria throughout the state and monitors such assessments to insure standard application of the criteria. Through a system of jail checks and public awareness, this system now begins prior to the client's initial appearance in court. The State Public Defender provides representation at all phases of legal litigation. During fiscal year 1985, it is estimated that the agency will provide representation to approximately 63,675 clients at the trial level and 1,295 clients at the appellate level.

John B. Ellery retired on April 30, 1985, as secretary of the DEPARTMENT OF VETERANS AFFAIRS, having completed 20 years of state employment. He was succeeded on May 1, 1985, by John J. Maurer of Kenosha.

The department serves an estimated 471,000 veterans living in Wisconsin, including 163,000 Vietnam Era veterans; 99,000 veterans of the Korean Conflict; 202,000 World War II veterans, and 7,000 veterans of World War I.

During calendar years 1983-84, the Wisconsin Veterans Trust Fund provided approximately $11.9 million in benefits to 21,561 Wisconsin veterans and their dependents in the form of low-interest loans and grants. The WISVET Direct Home Loan Program, which is funded through the sale of general obligation bonds, provided 2,872 veterans with first mortgage home loan monies totaling nearly $116 million at mortgage interest rates ranging from 9.2 to 10.3%.

As of December 31, 1984, the department had approved 2,550 economic assistance loans during the 2-year period, totaling $6.1 million. Also approved were: 15,430 part-time study grants, $2.5 million; 2,159 Vietnam Era full-time study grants, $585,000; 332 second mortgage loans, $1.6 million; and 1,090 health care and subsistence grants, totaling $1 million.

During the biennium, the Department of Veterans Affairs joined with the Department of Health and Social Services in conducting a Vietnam Era veterans mortality study to determine whether there have been more deaths among Vietnam Era veterans than among other veterans and the general population, and whether there are unusual patterns in the causes of death.

The initiative taken by the department in response to the out-of-court settlement in the New York State Agent Orange class action suit served as a focal point for a Wall Street Journal editorial entitled, "The Vietnam Buy-off." The Board of Veterans Affairs and the Council on Veterans Programs went on record as opposed to the settlement, and Secretary Ellery spearheaded a resolution, adopted at the 1985 annual national conference of the State Directors of Veterans Affairs, which called upon Judge Jack B. Weinstein to unseal all court records involved in the controversial litigation, so that the information pertaining to Agent Orange could be made public.

The department coordinated Wisconsin participation in "National Salute II" in Washington, D.C., including the activities and events related to the dedication of the "Fighting Men" statute and ceremonies at the Vietnam Veterans Memorial on Veterans Day, November 11, 1984. Secretary Ellery was appointed to the Board of Directors of the Wisconsin Vietnam Veterans Memorial Project.

The department, through the Vietnam Veterans Advisory Council, appointed by the secretary, initiated the development of the Wisconsin Veterans Foundation, in response to a need for an independent, privately governed, nonprofit organization to solicit, receive and administer gifts, grants and bequests for the benefit of Wisconsin veterans and their dependents.

The department dedicated a $7.7 million medical clinic and skilled nursing care facility at the Wisconsin Veterans Home at King, Wisconsin on October 21, 1983. Named "MacArthur Hall", the modern facility provides members at the home with the latest in medical, therapeutic, nursing and pharmaceutical services.

The Wisconsin Civil War Battle Flag Conservation Project continues to be an ongoing and vital endeavor. To date, 29 historically significant Wisconsin Civil War battle flags have been restored.

During the biennium, the department increased its public information output through production and distribution of a video tape on the Wisconsin Veterans Home, and publication and distribution of 2 full color brochures on the home; a general interest magazine, Veterans Affairs In Wisconsin; and updated editions of the department's pamphlets outlining the many benefit programs which it administers.

Functional Area: General Executive Functions

Most state agencies (line agencies) provide services directly to the public. Some agencies, however, (staff agencies) provide administrative or "housekeeping" services to the line agencies. Staff services include budget and personnel activities, managing the state's funds, tax collection and election supervision.

The DEPARTMENT OF ADMINISTRATION developed radiological training courses, presented to over 600 emergency responders, to prepare western Wisconsin for the shipment of nuclear waste by Northern States Power Company.

In an effort to obtain aid for several tornado-stricken Wisconsin counties, DOA directed plans to secure Presidential Disaster Declarations and also administered other assistance programs for the victims.

A 4-year project was developed to create a new State Personnel/Payroll System for the purpose of replacing the currently outdated system with one of increased efficiency of personnel, leave accounting, payroll, and position control functions for 45 agencies.

DOA participated in a 6-month Cash Management Pilot Project to assess equity in the transfer of cash between the state and federal governments. The discovery of several major inequities resulted in monthly savings to the state of approximately $130,000.

To avoid rate increases due to the divestiture of AT&T, DOA successfully completed restructuring the State Telephone System (STS) during 1984, enabling the state to realize telecommunication cost savings conservatively estimated at $2 million annually.

Through outreach efforts and assistance to the Department of Development in certifying 190 businesses as minority firms, the Minority Business Program was responsible for more than doubling state agency expenditures for goods and services from minority business firms--from $2.35 million in 1982-83 to $5.8 million in 1983-84.

Energy conservation improvements were made to 110 Wisconsin schools and hospitals through the administration of $1.5 million in federal grants. The average payback on these investments in terms of energy saved is less than 2.5 years. In 1984, the department also took over the Renewable Energy Refund Program from the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, substantially reducing a backlog of over 500 applications. Over $2 million was issued in refunds for systems which are expected to save the state over $12 million in saved energy over the next 15 years.

After many months of intense coordination with internal program managers and customer agencies, a new General Services Billing System was completed and implemented in 1984.

The state CLAIMS BOARD, attached to the Department of Administration, held 6 meetings in 1983 and 8 in 1984 during which 95 and 113 claims, respectively, were scheduled for decisions by the board. In 1983, the board awarded payment of 45 claims totaling $10,643 and recommended 7 claims to the Legislature for payment totaling $102,549. In 1984, 55 claims were awarded payment by the board amounting to $13,510, and 7 claims were recommended to the Legislature for payment totaling $135,380.

The state ELECTIONS BOARD has developed 2 informational manuals on campaign finance recordkeeping and reporting requirements. The State of Wisconsin Campaign Finance Instruction and Bookkeeping Manual gives candidates information on complying with Wisconsin's campaign finance law and describes a recommended bookkeeping system. The Wisconsin Election Campaign Fund Information and Instruction Manual provides statewide and legislative candidates who seek public funds for their campaigns with information on the procedures and requirements for applying, qualifying and approval of grants. Both manuals contain detailed instructions and copies of completed sample forms.

As a result of several changes in the last legislative session, the Elections Board has revised and developed additional information guides to assist candidates, election officials political committees, and county and municipal clerks in complying with the applicable election and campaign finance laws. The board has also expanded its election and campaign finance education and information program. The staff developed and presented a series of workshops and information meetings throughout the state for clerks, election officials, candidates, and political committee representatives. There were 35 separate presentations on election administration for poll workers, county and municipal clerks. In addition, there were 16 presentations on campaign finance and public funding before the 1984 partisan elections. The staff made several other presentations for political parties and organizations of election officials.

The DEPARTMENT OF EMPLOYE TRUST FUNDS developed and implemented one of the most innovative and successful competitive health insurance programs in the nation. This program combined 3 essential elements to effect a change which has drastically reduced the rate of health care inflation costs to the state and its employees: encouraging the development of health maintenance organizations (HMOs), creating a competitive bidding mechanism for the HMOs premium rates, and tying the employer contribution rate to the lowest cost premium bid.

The number of HMOs available to state employees has increased from 8 in 1979 to over 20 in 1985. Over 65% of the active state employees are enrolled in HMOs, and the rate of increase for health care costs has dropped from 30% and 22% in 1982 and 1983, to 4-1/2 % and 2-1/2% in 1984 and 1985, saving the state millions of dollars in budgeted health care expenditures.

The department has further expanded the availability of HMOs to retired state employees, allowing that group the opportunity to annually choose plans that may be less expensive or provide better benefits.

In 1984, the staff implemented the Benefit Improvement Act (1983 Wisconsin Act 141, effective March 9, 1984), which greatly increased retirement benefits for career public employes in the Wisconsin Retirement System.

A study begun in 1983 by an outside consulting firm to make recommendations for a redesign of department manual and computer systems was completed in 1984. Based on these recommendations, the department will be proceeding into the detail design and actual system conversion phases of this multi-year project.

At the DEPARTMENT OF EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS, several major reorganizations were implemented to make the agency more cohesive and responsive to its statutory responsibilities as a response to increased needs for service in a period of curtailed agency resources.

The first reorganization, the elimination of the Division of Human Resource Services, became necessary when the federal funding essential for many of the division's programs was discontinued. An Office of Employee Development and Training was established to continue statutorily mandated training programs, which had been a function of the division. Other resources of the division were utilized to elevate the former Office of Affirmative Action to division status.

Several units of the department were also significantly modified under 1983 Wisconsin Act 27, which abolished the former Division of Personnel and assigned its functions to either the department secretary or to the administrator of the Division of Merit Recruitment and Selection (DMRS). Classification and compensation functions were assigned to the DER secretary, while recruitment, testing and certification functions were assigned to DMRS.

In addition, the relationship of the Affirmative Action Council to the department was clarified through the enactment of statutory language designating that the council serve in a direct advisory capacity to the DER secretary.

Due to the critical financial situation of the state, DER was faced with severe fiscal constraints in employe compensation/collective bargaining matters during the period. Nevertheless, agreements were achieved with the 12 State Bargaining Unit Representatives, and compensation plans were established for nonrepresented employes that reflected an atmosphere of understanding and cooperation.

The department achieved a major breakthrough in the employe performance evaluation program with the inception and implementation of a statewide system which requires that all state agencies comply with specific standards which stress rating job performance against established objective and measurable performance standards. The system emphasizes ongoing communication between the supervisor and the employe as performance is observed and measured against the established performance standards.

Following receipt of extensive input from appointed task forces and from public hearings conducted in various locations in the state, administrative rules were promulgated by the Secretary, DER, effective on March 1, 1984.

Over 117,000 applicants, the largest annual total in the history of Wisconsin state government, were scheduled to take written examinations during the 1983-84 fiscal year. Also during this period, 960 recruitments to fill vacancies were conducted, and 547 new examinations were developed. Of the permanent classified positions in all state agencies, excluding the UW System, that were filled in the 1983-84 fiscal year, 11.1% were filled by racial and ethnic minorities and 51.6% by women. The number and percentage of racial and ethnic minorities and persons with handicaps have increased in all of the Equal Employment Opportunity Job Categories, while females show increases in the Official/Administrator, Professional, Technical and Protective Services categories.

Assets under management of the INVESTMENT BOARD as of June 30, 1984, totaled just over $10 billion. This represented a 15.5% increase over the amount under management on June 30, 1983. From a level of $2.7 billion in 1975, assets have almost quadrupled in the past 10 years.

Both the Fixed and Variable Retirement Funds performed well relative to their objectives. The objective for the Fixed Retirement Fund is to exceed wage rate growth by 1-1/2% - 2-1/2% per year over long periods of time. This objective is consistent with recently revised retirement plan actuarial assumptions. National wage rate growth is selected rather than the plan-participant wage growth experience because national measures are believed to be more representative of long-term wage trends. Over the 10-year period ending December 1983, the fixed fund income credit growth averaged 8.4% compared with an average wage rate growth of 8.4% and inflation growth of 7.2%.

For the Variable Retirement Fund, the objective is to equal or exceed the S&P-500 Index (with income added). The S&P-500 Index is a broad market measure of intermediate and large company stocks. It is widely regarded as a good measure of average results for larger common stock funds. Over the 10-year period ending December 31, 1983, the variable fund income credit growth averaged 12.2% compared with 11.9% for the S&P-500 Index.

The PERSONNEL BOARD held a number of in-service training sessions about the workings of the Division of Personnel in order to function as a more informed and efficient board.

The board held extensive reviews of, and in October of 1982 gave final approval to, changes in the Administrative Code, Rules of the Administrator, the Division of Personnel.

The board appointed the chairperson of the Personnel Commission.

The board reviewed, modified and approved a number of personnel surveys presented by the Division of Personnel.

The board conducted an extensive recruitment and evaluation of applicants for the position of administrator of the Division of Merit Recruitment and Selection, and presented a list of names to the Governor for his review and final appointment.

The DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE'S basic mission is to collect taxes, pay state aids to local governments and individuals, assist local officials in administering the property tax, and formulate tax policy.

To help formulate fair and effective tax policy, several research projects provided background information on the corporate income tax, the personal income tax, and the inheritance and gift taxes. Work was also completed on the 1983 Tax Model, which is composed of data taken from the tax returns of a scientifically drawn sample of approximately 15,500 taxpayers. A study of recent employment changes in Wisconsin was also conducted.

In the area of state and local financial relations, legislation revising local government borrowing statutes was enacted as a result of work completed by a local government debt management advisory committee. In addition, programs were developed to improve the quality of manufacturing assessment value estimates and to help local assessment districts achieve full market value requirements.

In order to promote improved internal management, a study of the tax appeals process suggested ways to reduce the backlog of cases, and a study of procedures used by other states and the Internal Revenue Service sought fair and effective ways to collect delinquent taxes. In addition, increased efforts were made to meet affirmative action goals, particularly in the professional and supervisory categories. The department also implemented new data and word processing techniques which resulted in improved work and cost savings.

The OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE computerized approximately 150,000 corporation records, which permits more complete and swifter responses to information requests; assumed additional program responsibilities assigned by the Legislature for forming limited partnerships and reviewing nonstock corporation annual reports; and developed a proposal for a statewide Uniform Commercial Code Lien Information System.

The Corporation On-line Registration Information System (CRIS), when fully operational, will provide rapid retrieval and dissemination of corporate information, simplify the completion of annual report forms, and improve office efficiency.

A single filing office for all Wisconsin and licensed foreign limited partnerships was established with the Office of the Secretary of State by 1983 Wisconsin Act 173 in order to provide a central recording office rather than maintaining the previous 72 county offices of record.

In order to provide more complete and current information on nonstock corporations, Chapter 181, Wis. Stats., was revised by 1983 Wisconsin Act 475 to require nonstock corporations to submit annual reports to the Secretary of State beginning in 1986.

The STATE TREASURER'S cash management program has been very successful. A principal feature of a good cash management system is the use of lock boxes for the collection of revenue due the state. The use of lock boxes is simply that payments due the state are directed to a post office lock box rather than to a state office. A bank is authorized to collect and process the revenue on behalf of the state. A lock box collection system accelerates the deposit of money by one to 5 days, with the result that the money received is invested one to 5 days sooner than when lock boxes were not used. Fourteen state agencies now use lock boxes. The state collects 100% of all investment income and over 50% of all other revenue through this system. A mere one-day acceleration increases income by hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Unclaimed property legislation enacted in early 1984 (effective December 31, 1984) will increase revenue by three-fold the next reporting period. The legislation shortened the abandonment period from 10 years to 5 years for banks, insurance companies, and all major businesses reporting lost or forgotten checking and savings accounts, stock certificates, dividend checks, gift certificates and similar property. The legislation also closes several loopholes in the existing law and provides stiff penalties for noncompliance.

The HEALTH FACILITIES AUTHORITY has now completed 29 financings totalling $265,815,000. The authority is also an effective issuer of system-wide debt financings. The authority's bonding limitations have been removed and replaced with the requirement that each project receive Department of Health and Social Services approval.

The HOUSING AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY continued its tradition of providing housing for Wisconsin residents with low and moderate incomes.

During the past 2 years, the authority issued in bonds: $19,999,850 to finance the Housing and Neighborhood Conservation Program; $345,000,955, subsidized by authority contributions of $9,710,000, to finance the Home Ownership Mortgage Loan Program; and $3.1 million to provide financing for 72 federally assisted rental units for low- and moderate-income families.

In 1983 the authority received bonding authority for the Community Housing Alternatives Program, which is designed to keep chronically disabled and frail elderly persons out of institutions by providing low-interest loans for the development of nonmedical, noninstitutional housing alternatives for these special individuals.

The authority was allocated 116 units under the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development's Moderate Rehabilitation Program and now acts as the contract administrator for these units, which are located in Kenosha and Green Bay.

In 1984 the authority created and funded with $2 million of its own resources its Demonstration of Energy Efficient Rehabilitation Program. The program provides short-term loans to nonprofit sponsors to acquire and rehabilitate, with an emphasis on energy conservation, older houses while publicly demonstrating rehabilitation methods and materials. Restored homes are then sold to low- and moderate-income homebuyers.

The authority also created a Historic Building Renovation program to renovate certain historic buildings which are to be used as apartment houses for occupancy by persons and families of low and moderate income.

The authority also began a Small Enterprise Economic Development Program to provide loans to eligible small businesses for the purchase and improvement of land, plant and equipment, for depreciable research and development expenditures, and for the creation and maintenance of jobs associated with these capital improvements and research activities.

In 1985 after receiving an $11 million appropriation to do so, the authority initiated its Credit Relief Outreach Program, which guarantees and subsidizes farm loans for planting or harvesting crops in 1985.

The authority also began 4 housing grant programs for the elderly, disabled, and homeless and for neighborhood revitalization funded with $1.35 million of authority reserves.

Number of Employees: 39.55 (Executive Office and Executive Residence).

Total Budget 1983-85: Office of the Governor, Residence $2,775,300.

Statutory Reference: Article V, Wisconsin Constitution; Subchapter I of Chapter 14, Statutes.

History: As provided by Art. V, Sec. 1, of the Wisconsin Constitution, the governor is the chief executive of the state. In territorial days the governor was an appointee of the president of the United States. The office became elective when Wisconsin achieved statehood. During the Wisconsin constitutional conventions of 1846-48 there was comparatively little debate over the office of governor; the duties to be performed by the chief executive were primarily a matter of tradition, and there was little inclination to depart from it. The questions concerning the governor involved the size of his salary, whether he should be required to reside at the seat of government and the length of his term (one or two years); but the primary question involving his functions related to the veto power. An effort to divest him of this function failed, as did moves to vest the pardoning power in the legislature and to delete the provision permitting the governor to remove county officials from office for cause. A constitutional amendment ratified in 1930 gave the governor power to approve appropriation bills in part (partial veto); and another, ratified in 1967, lengthened the governor's term of office to 4 years beginning in 1971.

Organization: The governor takes office on the first Monday in January following the general election. The governor may appoint such employes as deemed necessary to carry out the duties and responsibilities of the office. Attached to the Office of the Governor are the State Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse and the Citizens Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse. The Health Policy Council is attached to the office but is located in the Department of Health and Social Services. The Governor's Employment and Training Office and the Disability Board are attached to the office for administrative purposes only under Section 15.03 of the statutes.

Agency Responsibility: The governor is the chief executive officer of the State of Wisconsin. As such, he is the representative of all the people of the state and is responsible for safeguarding the public interest. Although his powers are constitutionally limited, the governor's duties have expanded over the years as state government has increased in size and complexity.

State agencies operate under the direction either of individuals, full-time commissions, or part-time boards. Since the governor appoints the heads of 9 departments, the members of 3 full-time commissions and the 6 single commissioners who head offices, and most individuals on citizen boards, one of his major influences on the administration of state government is exercised through the power of appointment. Seven individual agency heads serve at his pleasure: the secretaries of administration; development; employment relations; health and social services; industry, labor and human relations; revenue; and transportation. Since the others serve fixed terms or serve at the pleasure of board members appointed for staggered terms, a governor does not usually have the opportunity to influence the selection of all such officers during a single term of office. However, the lengthening of the gubernatorial term to 4 years, together with reelection, has given the governor more power in this area. In addition, he appoints members of many other boards and councils that exist throughout the government structure. Beyond these appointments, which are specifically provided for by statute, the governor is authorized to appoint, through executive order, special committees or task forces to conduct studies and advise him. Such committees frequently attract experienced men and women in many fields who are willing to donate their time and expertise in the interest of public service.

Should a vacancy occur in the State Senate or the Assembly, the governor calls a special election in accordance with state law. In the case of vacancies in elective county offices, the governor may appoint individuals to serve for the unexpired term; for proven malfeasance, he may dismiss sheriffs, district attorneys, coroners or registers of deeds from office.

The Office of the Governor is comprised of a personal staff who assist the governor in the performance of his executive responsibilities and in his response to the demands of the office. For the purposes of administering state government, the governor mainly functions through the facilities of other departments, most notably the Department of Administration. Through the budget-making process and the cabinet, the governor reviews and directs the activities of all administrative agencies.

The governor also gives policy direction to the state. He plays an important role in the legislative process by advocating major policy changes in his state-of-the-state message and occasional special messages. He may call a special session of the legislature to deal with specific legislation and he may veto an entire bill or, in the case of appropriation measures, parts of a bill. A two-thirds vote of the members present in each house of the legislature is required to overturn vetoes.

As the state's chief administrative officer, the governor must approve the spending of all federal aid grants, state purchasing of lands, and the construction of highways and airports. He also must approve the leasing of lands or buildings for state use and many other such state contracts. The governor may call on the attorney general to act for the protection of the public interest in various legal actions.

The chief executive or his designee serves as an ex officio member of several boards and commissions, including the Building Commission, the Educational Communications Board, the Disability Board, the State Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse, and the Council on Criminal Justice.

The governor has the sole power to exercise executive clemency and grant a pardon, reprieve, or commutation of sentence to an individual convicted of a crime, and to extradite a person charged with a criminal offense. To expedite the pardon process, the Pardon Advisory Board was created in 1980. The board reviews applications for executive clemency and makes recommendations to the governor.

The governor spends a great deal of his time outlining the goals of his administration, sharing ideas and listening to the citizens of the state. Communication with his statewide constituency is vital: talking in person and by phone to private citizens, addressing statewide conferences, speaking to citizen groups, participating in many significant ceremonies throughout the state, issuing proclamations, holding press conferences, and answering thousands of letters all help to keep the governor in close contact with the people. The governor represents the state at some national functions and belongs to national organizations of governors.

GOVERNOR'S COUNCILS

Citizens Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse

Members: EDMUND A. NIX, chairperson; JERRY E. ALEXANDER, ILA ARNDT, RON BREDESON, RICHARD BURTT, M.J. COON, KEN DEFOE, BRENDA FRAZIER, PATRICIA FRIEDEL, VERNA HILL, STEVE HOUSE, DEBORAH JACK, TOMMIE KIDD, KAY KIEFERNDORF, PAUL KOESHALL, JOHN LEWIS, A. BELA MAROTTI, PATRICIA POTTER-EFRON, MICHAEL W. PULS, WILLIAM REINES, ANNE SCHIERL, M.D., MARK STROSAHL, LORETTA WEBSTER, EMILY WEST.

Statutory Reference: Section 14.017 (2m).

The Citizens Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse was created by Chapter 221, Laws of 1979, in the Office of the Governor. It is comprised of from 20 to 30 members appointed by the governor for staggered 4-year terms. Members shall be residents who have a demonstrated professional, research or personal interest in alcohol and other drug abuse problems.

The council 1) advises the governor, legislature and all governmental agencies on the plans, budgets and operations of state alcohol and other drug abuse programs and on other matters referred to the council; 2) encourages public understanding and support of rehabilitative programs; 3) makes recommendations to the State Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse, the state health planning agency and certain other state agencies; and 4) monitors programs that address the needs of state victims of alcohol and other drug abuse and their families.

State Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse

Members: REPRESENTATIVE JOHN D. MEDINGER, chairperson; SENATOR WALTER J. CHILSEN, vice chairperson; SUSAN FREDLUND (designee of State Superintendent of Public Instruction), secretary; PAUL DEMAIN (designee of Governor), JOHN W. CALHOUN (designee of Attorney General), GERALD BORN (designee of secretary of health and social services), PAMELA PLOETZ (designee of chairperson, Pharmacy Examining Board); SENATOR CHARLES J. CHVALA, REPRESENTATIVE JOHN MERKT; JUNE DAHL, M.D. (chairperson, Controlled Substances board); EDMUND A. NIX (chairperson, Citizens Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse); MICHAEL F. EARLY (provider representative).

Statutory Reference: Section 14.017 (2).

The State Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse was originally created by Chapter 384, Laws of 1969, as the Drug Abuse Control Commission. Chapter 219, Laws of 1971, changed its name to the Council on Drug Abuse and placed the council in the Executive Office. It was renamed the Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse by Chapter 370, Laws of 1975, and the State Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse by Chapter 221, Laws of 1979.

The State Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse is comprised of 12 members: the governor, the attorney general, the state superintendent of public instruction, the secretary of health and social services, and the chairperson of the Pharmacy Examining Board, or their designees; 2 members of each house of the legislature, representing both parties in each house and chosen as are standing committees; a representative of the Controlled Substances Board; a consumer representing the public who is elected by the Citizens Council on Alcohol and Other Drug Abuse; and a representative of an organization or agency which is a direct provider of services to alcoholics and other drug abusers.

The council is charged with responsibility to consider all matters concerning abuse prevention. These responsibilities include recommending and coordinating state agencies' abuse control and prevention efforts, and the review of their activities. The council determines the effectiveness of existing programs, recommends improved programming, issues reports to educate people on the dangers of drug abuse, and defines responsibility among state agencies for various alcohol and drug abuse programs. The council is responsible for cooperating with federal agencies, for receiving federal funds, and for recommending the enactment of or changes in appropriate legislation.

Health Policy Council

Members: HAROLD RISTOW (agency representative), chairperson; ROGER BAIRD (at-large member), vice chairperson; MARLENE BARON, JOHN BLAHNIK, JUDITH BLANK, WILLIAM BOYLE, DAVID B. CARLSON, FLORA COHEN, JOHN O. DANIELSON, MICHAEL DAUN, NORMAN GILL, PHYLLIS HUFFMAN, DONALD W. KOLEK, MARILYN McCARTY, PAUL MESZAROS, GEORGE A. MILLION, JOHN R. PETERSEN, M.D., EILEEN TAYLOR, R.N., ARTHA JEAN TOWELL, MARY TURNQUIST, SALVADOR G. DE USABEL (representatives of agencies nominated by agencies); THOMAS ANSFIELD, M.D., ERNEST CELEBRE, DOLORES ECKER, RUTH GEDWARDT, STEPHEN KEARNEY, DAVID KINDIG, M.D., BEN R. LAWTON, M.D., FLORENCE H. MINEAU, NAOMI NASH, EDMUND NIX, KATHLEEN RIVERA, WERNER SCHAEFER, BRADLEY WILSON, JOAN ZIEGER (at-large members); NATHAN GERATHS (designee of U.S. Veterans Administration chief medical director, nonvoting member).

Secretary: JUDY FRYBACK (chief executive officer, state health planning and development agency).

Staff: RUDOLF HABBEN.

Mailing Address: Room 280, Wilson Street State Human Services Building, 1 West Wilson Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-8246.

Statutory Reference: Section 14.017 (3).

Created by Chapter 90, Laws of 1973, and revised by Chapter 39, Laws of 1975, the Health Policy Council is attached to the Office of the Governor, although the staff is located in the Department of Health and Social Services.

Governor Anthony Earl signs 1983 Wisconsin Act 435, which revises the law providing vocational rehabilitation services to disabled citizens (photo courtesy of Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Wisconsin Department of Health and Social Services).

The council advises the governor on health policy, planning and program development. It monitors, reviews and advises the Department of Health and Social Services regarding comprehensive health planning at both state and local levels. The council also serves as the statewide health coordinating council, as required by the National Health Planning and Resources Development Act of 1974 (Public Law 93-641). The council is responsible for preparing and revising the long-range state health plan, and the short-term state health priorities plan.

The council annually reviews any state plan and any application for federal funding that is to be submitted to the federal government; it reviews budgets and coordinates local health planning and development agencies, advises and consults with state agencies charged with carrying out the plans, and makes recommendations to public and private agencies regarding their health programs and planning proposals.

The Health Policy Council is composed of 35 members (not to exceed 50 members); all are appointed by the governor in accordance with statutory requirements and all serve a specified term. The chief executive officer of the state health planning and development agency (in Wisconsin, the secretary of the Department of Health and Social Services) serves as the nonvoting secretary of the council.

INDEPENDENT UNITS ATTACHED FOR BUDGETING, PROGRAM COORDINATION AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

GOVERNOR'S EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING OFFICE

1985 Assembly Bill 85 removes the Governor's Employment and Training Office from the Office of the Governor. See Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations for description.

DISABILITY BOARD

Board: GOVERNOR ANTHONY S. EARL, CHIEF JUSTICE NATHAN S. HEFFERNAN, SENATOR FRED A. RISSER (Senate president), REPRESENTATIVE THOMAS A. LOFTUS (speaker of the Assembly), SENATOR SUSAN S. ENGELEITER (Senate minority leader), REPRESENTATIVE TOMMY THOMPSON (Assembly minority leader), ARNOLD L. BROWN, JR., M.D. (dean, U.W. Medical School).

Statutory Reference: Section 14.015 (1).

The Disability Board was created by Chapter 422, Laws of 1969. It is composed entirely of ex officio members and is attached to the Office of the Governor for administrative purposes under Sec. 15.03 of the statutes.

The Disability Board was created to provide for temporary succession to Wisconsin state government positions in the event of a temporary disability of an elected official (except a legislator). The board determines when a temporary disability exists.

<sup>8</sup>Nominated by the Governor and with the advice and consent of the Senate appointed. Senate confirmation is required for secretaries of departments, members of commissions and commissioners, governing boards, examining boards, and designated other boards.

<sup>1</sup>The Governor also appoints members of intrastate regional agencies and nonstatutory committees which he creates, and makes temporary appointments under Chapter 17 of the Wisconsin Statutes to elected state and county offices when vacancies occur. Under Sec. 21.18 military staff of the Governor is comprised of the adjutant general, 2 deputy adjutant generals, 2 assistant adjutant generals, 2 chief surgeons, not exceeding 5 aides-de-camp, and such other officers as the Governor deems necessary.

<sup>2</sup>In addition to members appointed by the Governor, a board or council frequently has ex officio members, legislators appointed as are standing committees, representatives of state departments selected by department heads, or members of other boards chosen by those boards. For complete membership list, see description of agency in which it is located. Section numbers under each entry in this list refer to sections of the Wisconsin Statutes authorizing appointment of these officers by the Governor.

<sup>4</sup>Terms of commissioners expire on March 1 of an odd-numbered year and are for 6 years (commissioner of insurance serves a 4-year term, members of the Fox River Management Commission serve 3-year terms, and members of the Personnel Commission and Waterways Commission serve 5-year terms); terms of members of governing boards and of attached boards, with a few exceptions, expire on May 1; terms of members of examining boards and of councils expire on July 1.

GOVERNOR'S SPECIAL COMMITTEES

June 1, 1985

The following committees were created or recreated by Governor Anthony S. Earl under his general powers; they are not individually created by statute. Section 14.019 of the statutes provides that "the governor may, by executive order, create nonstatutory committees in such number and with such membership as desired, to conduct such studies and to advise the governor in such matters as directed." Members serve at the pleasure of the governor.

If not terminated sooner, these committees expire automatically on the fourth Monday of January of the year in which a new gubernatorial term of office begins unless the new governor, by executive order, provides for their continued existence. In that event, current members continue to serve unless they resign or until they are replaced with appointees of the new governor. Some of the following committees extend back more than 20 years.

The law also provides that an employe of the Office of the Governor or of the Department of Administration shall be designated by the governor to coordinate the activities of the nonstatutory committees.

Each committee in existence at the time of the general election for a new gubernatorial term shall prepare a final report. The report is to be submitted to the governor, or governor-elect if applicable, before the first Monday in January of the year in which the new gubernatorial term begins. Three copies of each final report and 3 copies of any other report prepared by such committees shall be submitted to the State Historical Society, the Legislative Reference Bureau, and the General Reference and Loan Library in the Department of Public Instruction.

Section 20.505 (3) (a) of the Wisconsin Statutes provides a general appropriation for special and executive committees in the amount of $185,200 for the 1983-84 fiscal year and $235,200 for the 1984-85 fiscal year. In addition, certain committees receive specific state appropriations, and some receive federal grants because they are set up in response to federal program requirements. The governor may allot sums not to exceed $1,000 to any of these committees when necessary. Committee members may receive expenses from this amount; they receive no salary.

The list of the Governor's special committees is followed by a list of miscellaneous groups to which appointments are made both by the Governor and by other groups.

COMMITTEES CREATED BY GOVERNOR EARL

Agriculture, Governor's Special Commission on

Members: HOWARD RICHARDS, cochairperson; GARY ROHDE, cochairperson; VERNON AAROEN, LA VERNE AUSMAN, JIM BRADLEY, RONALD W. CALDWELL, JOHN CARR, LARRY CARSON, LAWRENCE DAHL, DONALD HALDEMAN, REPRESENTATIVE GERVASE HEPHNER, STEWART HUBER, GREG HYER, JEAN KEEGAN, CHARLES F. Governor Earl appointed the commission on February 21, 1985, to consider measures to address the farm credit situation. The committee conducted a series of meetings to make recommendations to the Governor and the Legislature on provisions for loan guarantees, moratoriums on foreclosures, an interest rate buy down, a temporary property tax moratorium, and other matters relating to Wisconsin's agricultural economy.

Asians, Governor's Advisory Council on

Members: ROGER M. AUSTRIA, ASHOK BHARGAVA, S.L. CHEN, CONCEPCION DIANCIN, SAM A. GHANTY, YOUA HER, ALLAN HIDA, REVEREND CHARLES Y. HO, INKEUN JEON, NAO LENG XIONG, TAM C. PHAN, JOHN B. THANH HUNG, LYFU VANG, BOUNTHONG VANGSOULATDA, SUDHAKAR S. WAGLE, BERNARD WONG, DAISY WU, DER XIONG.

Contact person: DANIEL E. WISNIEWSKI, executive secretary to the Governor.

Address: Office of the Governor, Room 115 East, State Capitol, P.O. Box 7863, Madison 53707.

Telephone: (608) 266-7670.

Governor Dreyfus created the council by Executive Order 46 on June 19, 1980. Governor Earl recreated the council and revised the membership in Executive Order 65, September 11, 1984. The council has the responsibility to identify and establish priorities for problem areas and issues in state government and in the Asian community.

The council is to assist the Governor by reporting findings and recommendations on relevant issues to the Governor, Legislature and state agencies. Recommendations of the council were included in a report entitled "Recommendations of the Governor's Ethnic/Minority Advisory Council", May 24, 1982.

Bicycle Coordinating Council, Governor's Advisory

Members: ALICE VAN DEBURG, cochairperson; PHILLIP VAN VALKENBERG, cochairperson; RUTH J. IRVINGS, GORDON O. JENSEN, THERESE MACKEN, REPRESENTATIVE JOHN MANSKE, WENDY MCLEAN, NICHOLAS JOHN MILHAUPT, SENATOR FRED A. RISSER, STANLEY R. SOLHEIM, RONALD L. THOMPSON, JAMES L. TREICHEL, PHILIP J. WINKEL.

Staff: LANG SPICER.

Address: Division of Planning and Budget, Department of Transportation, 4802 Sheboygan Avenue, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-7401.

The council was originally created by Governor Lucey in June 1977 under Executive Order 43. By Executive Order 3, issued on January 20, 1983, Governor Earl recreated the council.

The council considers all matters relating to coordinating the efforts of state agencies in encouraging use of the bicycle as an alternative means of transportation, promoting bicycle safety and education, promoting bicycling as a recreational and tourist activity, and disseminating information on state and federal funding for bicycle programs. The council also reviews the bicycle programs of state agencies, issues reports to the Governor and the Legislature, and makes recommendations concerning pertinent legislation.

The council's annual report was issued on November 24, 1982.

Civil Rights Compliance Task Force

In Executive Order 28, issued on October 25, 1983, Governor Earl assigned civil rights compliance to the Department of Employment Relations. He abolished the task force through Executive Order 70, issued on January 16, 1985.

Coastal Management Council, Wisconsin

Members: THOMAS KLEIN, chairperson; GEORGE BERTEAU, C.D. BESADNY, NANCY BUSSEY, GEORGE EVENSON, TOM GORDON, DORIS HANSON, LOWELL JACKSON, BARBARA LINTON, MARY ANN McNULTY, ROBERT RAGOTZKIE, JAMES ROONEY, SENATOR DANIEL THENO.

Program Manager: WILLIAM BRAH.

Address: Bureau of Energy and Coastal Policy Analysis, Department of Administration, 6th Floor, 101 South Webster Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-3687.

The council was established in Executive Order 49 by Acting Governor Schreiber on October 7, 1977; recreated in Executive Order 2 by Governor Dreyfus on January 22, 1979; revised by Governor Dreyfus in Executive Order 41 on March 25, 1980; recreated by Governor Earl in Executive Order 3 on January 20, 1983; and revised by Governor Earl in Executive Order 62 on August 2, 1984. It succeeded the Coastal Coordinating and Advisory Council appointed by Governor Lucey in late 1974. The new council was created to comply with provisions of the Federal Coastal Zone Management Act of 1972, as amended, and to implement Wisconsin's official Great Lakes Management program, which received federal approval on May 22, 1978.

The council advises the Governor on issues pertaining to the Great Lakes coast and assists in providing policy direction for Wisconsin's coastal management efforts. Members represent the Legislature, state agencies, units of local government, the University of Wisconsin, tribal governments, and citizens.

To provide opportunities for full participation in the program, the Governor urged the council to establish citizens' advisory committees on key issues, to advise the council on decisions affecting the coast.

A council report, "The Great Lakes: A Balanced Approach for the 1980's", was issued on October 8, 1982.

Comparable Worth, Governor's Task Force on

Governor Earl established the task force through Executive order 44 issued on January 25, 1984. The Governor appointed 14 members including representatives from both major political parties and both houses of the Legislature, public and private employers, labor, the Wisconsin Women's Council, personnel and legal fields.

The Governor directed the task force to: 1) review and analyze existing research on comparable worth; 2) research data and programs from other states relating to comparable worth; 3) review the state civil service classification and compensation system; 4) determine and document the extent to which classification and occupational group gender segregation and a disparity between wages paid to men and women exist in state service; 5) recommend to the Governor by May 31, 1984, a budget and staffing plan for a study to develop a system to evaluate state employment using the principle of equal pay for comparable worth.

The Legislature appropriated a budget of $300,000 for the task force in 1983 Wisconsin Act 187, effective April 9, 1984, for the 1983-84 fiscal year.

The task force was further charged with: 1) overseeing the study and testing a pay system using the principle of comparable worth; 2) recommending to the Governor a timetable, budget and legislation necessary to implement a plan to redress any inequities that may exist. The Governor ordered the task force to submit preliminary cost estimates no later than December 14, 1984, and final results and recommendations no later than December 31, 1985.

The task force issued a publication, "For What It's Worth", in September 1984 and May 1985. On December 14, 1984, the task force issued its "Preliminary Report" (a pilot study of job classes and titles) and the "Report on the Pilot Study" by Hallcrest-Craver Associates, made at its request.

Address: Office of the Governor, Room 115 East, State Capitol, P.O. Box 7863, Madison 53707.

Telephone: (608) 266-1212.

Governor Earl established the Task Force on Solid Waste Recycling by Executive Order 20, August 4, 1983. The Governor appointed 15 members, 5 of whom were legislators and the remainder of whom were from the private sector. He also appointed Representative Neubauer as chairperson. The task force was directed to report to the Governor by December 31, 1983, with recommendations for administrative and legislative initiatives to advance recycling in Wisconsin.

The work of the task force was instrumental in the introduction of Assembly Bills 1034 and 1035 by Representative Neubauer. They were enacted in amended form as 1983 Wisconsin Acts 425 and 426, respectively. The committee disbanded on December 31, 1983.

Telephone: (608) 251-7121.

Governor Earl created the Wisconsin Strategic Development Commission in Executive Order 47 on March 12, 1984, and appointed representatives of the public and private sectors.

The commission was directed to study and report on the prospects for private and government initiatives to strengthen the Wisconsin economy in the long term.

Specifically, the commission was to study: 1) the status of the Wisconsin economy; 2) the prospects for individual sectors of that economy; 3) Wisconsin's role in world markets; 4) the state's role in strengthening our economy; 5) the economic position of the state vis-a-vis other states; 6) the business decisions that are most important to the future of the state's economy; and 7) the effect of existing state taxing and spending policies on the future of the state.

The committee has issued several reports, including: "Phase I, the Mark of Progress", issued December 1984; "The Printing and Publishing Industry in Wisconsin", issued December 1984; "Wisconsin State Spending", issued December 13, 1984; and an income tax reform proposal that was recommended to the 1985 Legislature. The commission submitted a final report to the Governor.

Originally created in 1959, the commission was recreated most recently, on January 20, 1983, in Executive Order 3 by Governor Earl. The commission is responsible for sponsoring statewide educational programs concerning the functioning of the United Nations, coordinating Wisconsin's official participation in the annual observance of United Nations Day, and sponsoring statewide and regional conferences on matters affecting the UN. In the last several years, the commission has expanded its programming for classroom teachers on global education. The membership of the commission is drawn from various civic, religious, labor, business, and educational organizations.

The "24th Annual Report of the Wisconsin Governor's Commission on the United Nations, 1983", was issued in March 1984.

Governor Earl established the coordinating committee in Executive Order 48 on March 19, 1984. The Governor gave the committee the responsibility for carrying out the terms of an agreement that established relations of friendship between Wisconsin and Heilongjiang Province of the People's Republic of China, signed by Governor Lee S. Dreyfus and Heilongjiang Governor Chen Lei on October 18, 1982. The agreement stipulates that the two will "promote cooperation and technological exchanges" and "exchange sports, cultural groups and tourists". The committee is charged with working with state agencies to facilitate Wisconsin's contributions to the implementation of the agreement.

The committee hosted a delegation from Heilongjiang Province in January 1985.

Women's Council, Wisconsin

Formerly nonstatutory, the Women's Council was created by 1983 Wisconsin Act 27 as a statutory council, attached to the Department of Administration, with members appointed by the Governor and the Legislature.

The coalition is a private, nonprofit corporation which was designated by Executive Order 44, August 1, 1977, to comply with the requirements of the federal Developmentally Disabled Assistance and Bill of Rights Act (P.L. 94-103). It has the primary mission of developing a statewide advocacy system to promote and protect the legal and human rights of Wisconsin's developmentally disabled citizens. The coalition possesses the authority to utilize all administrative, legal and other appropriate remedies to provide for the protection of these rights. Its board of directors was initially appointed by the Governor, but subsequent members are appointed by the board.

The organization is involved in various forms of advocacy. They are: Supporting Local Citizen Advocacy Programs — one-to-one relationships which develop between volunteer advocates and persons with developmental disabilities; Systems Advocacy — organized efforts at the state and local level to bring about progressive change in the service system for the benefit of people with disabilities; and Individual Legal Advocacy — advocacy by WCA attorneys representing people with developmental disabilities and their families in situations which require specialized knowledge of laws, regulations and constitutional rights.

The Wisconsin Humanities Committee was established in 1972 under the provisions of Public Law 89-209 and is an independent, nonprofit organization. The committee was originally appointed by the National Endowment for the Humanities, but subsequent members are appointed by the committee for 3-year terms. By federal law, the Governor may appoint as many as 4 committee members. Members of the committee include civic leaders, representatives of business, government, labor, professional, cultural and educational institutions, and scholars and teachers in the humanities.

The committee receives funds annually from the National Endowment for the Humanities. It makes grants to support projects which promote the use, understanding, and appreciation of the humanities among out-of-school adults in Wisconsin. Any nonprofit organization or institution may apply to the committee for project support. Applicant organizations must involve scholars with graduate degrees in the humanities in planning and presenting public programs.

The Medical College of Wisconsin, Inc., is a private, nonprofit educational corporation located in Milwaukee. It was a part of Marquette University until September 1967, when it separated itself from the university. In 1969 the Legislature enacted a law providing state aid to the Marquette School of Medicine, Inc., in order to increase the level of physician resources in the state. Chapter 3, Laws of 1969, provided that, as a condition for receiving state aid, one-third of the members of the Board of Trustees are to be appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate for staggered terms of 6 years and first preference in admissions is to be given to Wisconsin residents. The Legislative Audit Bureau conducts biennial postaudits of expenditures made under the state appropriation.

The law also made a token appropriation to test the constitutionality of such funding. In State ex rel. Warren v. Reuter, 44 Wis. 2d 201 (1969), the Wisconsin Supreme Court affirmed the constitutionality of the appropriation. Chapter 185, Laws of 1969, commenced full funding of state support for the school.

On September 21, 1970, the Board of Trustees changed the name of the institution to the Medical College of Wisconsin, Inc.

Effective July 1, 1977, funds appropriated to the college by the state, are based on a per capita formula for an amount for each Wisconsin resident student at the college. In addition, the state appropriates funds to the Medical College to support a family practice graduate medical education program.

OFFICE OF THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Lieutenant Governor and Secretary of the Department of Development: JAMES T. FLYNN.

Executive Assistant: TERI WING-HOFFMAN.

Mailing Address: Room 22 East, State Capitol, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-3516.

Number of Employees: 5.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $381,000.

Statutory Reference: Article V, Sec. 1, 1n, 2, 7, and 8, Wisconsin Constitution; Chapter 14, Subchapter II, Statutes.

History: The Office of Lieutenant Governor was created by the Wisconsin Constitution, Art. V, Sec. 1, which was adopted in 1848.

The Territory of Wisconsin did not have a lieutenant governor. In the event of the death or absence of the governor, the secretary of the territory — forerunner of the later office of secretary of state — was authorized to act as governor. The office of Lieutenant Governor or deputy governor, however, dates back to colonial days, in fact, as far back as 1691. It seemingly evolved from the senior councillor on the Governor's Council in colonial times and in the early period of our national history. It is also said to have similarities to the post of lord chancellor, the presiding office of the English House of Lords.

Both the Wisconsin Constitution of 1846, which was not adopted, and the Constitution of 1848, which was, provided for the office of Lieutenant Governor. This did not happen, however, without some argument. Proposals were made during the second constitutional convention to have a president of the Senate and successor to the governor chosen from the membership, with the secretary of state next in line of succession. This was amended to substitute the speaker for the secretary of state. Objections to the possibility of a person becoming governor who had not been elected by the state as a whole, however, caused reversion to the office of Lieutenant Governor.

In 1979 the electorate ratified a constitutional amendment enabling the Senate to choose its own presiding officer from among its members, thus terminating the lieutenant governor's function as president of the Senate.

Organization: From statehood until 1970 the lieutenant governor was elected in the general election in November in the even-numbered years to serve for a term of 2 years. Beginning with the 1970 election, the lieutenant governor is elected jointly with the governor for a 4-year term by the casting by each voter of a single vote applicable to both offices. He is the second-ranking constitutional officer of the state. His position is comparable on the state level to that of the vice president of the United States on the national level.

Agency Responsibility: If the incumbent governor dies, resigns or is removed from office, the powers and duties of the office of governor devolve upon the lieutenant governor for the remainder of the unexpired term. The lieutenant governor becomes acting governor when the governor is temporarily absent from the state or when it is found that the governor is unable to carry out the duties of his office due to temporary disability.

As the second ranking executive officer of the state, the lieutenant governor may be designated by the governor as his representative on any statutory commission, board or committee on which the governor is entitled to membership. Under such designation, the lieutenant governor performs in the place of the governor and has all authority and responsibility granted by law to the governor with regard to such membership.

The governor may designate the lieutenant governor as his representative on any nonstatutory committee, or on any intergovernmental body created for the purpose of maintaining relationships with the federal government, state governments, regional agencies or local governments.

The governor may designate the lieutenant governor to coordinate state services and programs.

Governor Anthony Earl appointed Lieutenant Governor Flynn to serve also as secretary of the Department of Development.

Total Budget 1983-85: $53,625,100.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.13.

History: The Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection was created by Chapter 479, Laws of 1929, as the Department of Agriculture and Markets and represented a consolidation of several existing agencies.

Proposals to consolidate the various agricultural agencies of the state into one department began in 1925. One of these agencies — the Department of Agriculture established in 1915 — was itself the result of merging several predecessor agencies. Several bills were introduced in the 1925, 1927 and 1929 sessions to accomplish consolidation. In some cases the plan was part of a larger overall governmental reorganization bill. The bill which finally passed dealt exclusively with agricultural reorganization and included all the agricultural agencies. It provided for a commission.

In 1937 the structure was changed when the Legislature created a part-time, policy-making board, which appointed a director to administer the department. This was part of an omnibus reorganization bill sponsored by Governor Philip La Follette.

The name of the department was changed to the Department of Agriculture in 1939, but the structure remained essentially the same. A new law was enacted, however, because the omnibus reorganization act passed by the 1937 special session was repealed.

Chapter 75, Laws of 1967 (the Kellett reorganization law), left the department intact, and Chapter 327, implementing it, created in the department a Council on Locker Plants and a Council on Food Standards appointed by the governor. These councils were formerly advisory committees. Chapter 111, Laws of 1969, abolished the Grain and Warehouse Commission, transferring its functions to the department. The State Fair was removed from the department's jurisdiction in 1961 but was returned as an independent unit in 1971. The Potato Industry Board was created as an independent unit by Chapter 299, Laws of 1973.

Chapter 29, Laws of 1977 (the executive budget act), changed the department name to the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection. The law also changed the composition of the State Board of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection to include one consumer representative and 6 with agricultural backgrounds. It also created Chapter 91 of the statutes, which established a Farmland Preservation and Tax Credit Program to be administered by the department in cooperation with an attached Agricultural Lands Preservation Board. Chapter 87, Laws of 1977, created a Council on Weather Modification in the department, while Chapter 216 abolished the Council on Locker Plants. Chapter 418, Laws of 1977, created the Fertilizer Research Council as a temporary council, but Chapter 57, Laws of 1981, made it permanent. Chapter 121, Laws of 1979, abolished the Council on Food Standards. Chapter 237, Laws of 1981, abolished the Council on Meat Inspection and the Council on Weather Modification. Chapter 346, Laws of 1981, created a Land Conservation Board (effective July 1, 1982) as an independent unit, and abolished the Agricultural Lands Preservation Board (effective July 1, 1983).

Organization: The department is headed by a part-time board of 7 members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for staggered, 6-year terms. The department secretary is appointed by the board.

Three boards, operating independently, are attached to the department for administrative purposes only.

Agency Responsibility: The primary responsibilities of the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection are in 5 major program areas: 1) food and trade regulation, 2) animal and plant health services, 3) marketing services, 4) agricultural assistance, and 5) land conservation.

In addition to the traditional functions of marketing assistance to many segments of agriculture and protection of farm animals and crops from pests and diseases, the department is charged with many regulatory functions. These include licensing, inspection, quarantine, laboratory analysis and consumer protection.

Licensing and inspection cover broad areas. Production and processing of food and agriculturally related commodities must be conducted only in compliance with standards established by law through the issuance of licenses and inspection of licensees to see that standards are maintained. The department sets forth sanitary and composition standards and requires proper labeling of these products. The requirements are enforced by a departmental field inspection staff.

The department's laboratories serve as a technical arm of the department, aiding all divisions in their inspection and enforcement work.

Protection of the consumer is a historic duty of the department — ranging from protection against unwholesome and impure food to protection against deception and fraud in business dealings. The department also has the important role of assuring the accuracy of weights and measures used in all segments of state commerce.

Through the Farmland Preservation Act, the department administers a program designed to preserve valuable farmland by offering tax credits through farmland preservation agreements and county exclusive agricultural zoning ordinances.

Soil and water conservation, erosion control and animal waste management are important department responsibilities.

Unit Functions: The structure of the department is built around 7 divisions, as follows:

The Agricultural Resource Management Division has the primary responsibility for the protection of plants through survey and through control and eradication of pests and diseases. The division also administers enforcement programs for feed, fertilizers, lime, seed, pesticides and weather modification. The division administers a variety of programs aimed at preserving and protecting the state's land resources, and controlling soil erosion and nonpoint source pollution. These programs are administered in cooperation with county and local government units, which are responsible for carrying out programs at the local level.

The Animal Health Division functions to prevent, control and eradicate diseases in domestic animals through field investigation, laboratory analysis, quarantine, and regulatory control.

The Food Division protects the state's food supply, beginning with production and processing and extending through marketing and distribution. Operating under a cooperative state-federal meat inspection agreement, inspection of the slaughtering and processing of meat and poultry is carried out. The division also administers the statewide multiple grading program including butter, cheese and eggs.

The Marketing Division administers grading programs, product promotion, market news and organizational assistance in the field of cooperative marketing. The division is the federally delegated agency to perform inspection and grading, weighing, and protein analysis for all grain moving into export channels at Superior and Milwaukee ports. The division also supervises administration of state aids for county and district fairs.

The Trade and Consumer Protection Division is responsible for regulating trade practices affecting consumers and the business community to assure free and open competition in agricultural as well as general business activities. The division is also responsible for enforcing Wisconsin's product safety statutes and regulations affecting state commerce, that is, accurate weights and measures in all commodities.

The Administration Division is responsible for performing department-wide administrative services including finance, public information, laboratory services, legal services, management services, personnel and statistics.

The Fertilizer Research Council recommends projects to be financed by fertilizer research funds.

Interagency Relationships: In several programs, the Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection works jointly with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). Major areas include collecting and reporting agricultural statistics, the administration of animal disease and plant pest eradication, meat inspection, and livestock, grain, potato and dairy market news. The department also cooperates with the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, has contracts with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration and the USDA, and cooperates with the U.S. Department of the Interior.

The department works closely with other state agencies including the Department of Natural Resources and the Department of Health and Social Services in areas of mutual concern. There is also coordination with the Department of Justice in enforcing a number of trade practice, antitrust, consumer protection and marketing statutes.

Through a pesticide enforcement agreement with the Department of Natural Resources, the two agencies have pooled field forces to enforce pesticide regulations.

Working agreements to eliminate duplication of inspectional efforts are instituted with municipalities, the federal Food and Drug Administration and the U.S. Department of Agriculture in the areas of food and trade regulation and medicated feed inspection.

INDEPENDENT UNITS ATTACHED FOR BUDGETING, PROGRAM COORDINATION AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

LAND CONSERVATION BOARD

Members: BYRON BERG, chairperson; KENNETH LINDQUIST, secretary; ALVIN OTT, JR. (land conservation designees); LA VERNE AUSMAN (secretary of agriculture, trade and consumer protection), PETER MCAVOY (designee of secretary of administration), CARROLL D. BESADNY (secretary of natural resources); ROSS PIERSON, VERA STROUD (public members).

Statutory Reference: Section 15.135 (4).

History: The board was created by Chapter 346, Laws of 1981. The Board of Soil and Water Conservation Districts was abolished effective July 1, 1982, and its duties were transferred to the board. The state's soil and water conservation program was transferred from the University of Wisconsin to the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection. The Agricultural Lands Preservation Board was abolished effective July 1, 1983, and its functions were transferred to the board. The 1983-85 budget act added the DNR secretary to the board.

Organization: The board is attached to the department for administrative purposes. The board is composed of 3 ex officio members: the secretaries of administration, of agriculture, trade and consumer protection, and of natural resources, or their designees; 3 members of county land conservation committees designated biennially by the county land conservation committees at their annual meeting in even-numbered years, appointed for 2-year terms; and 2 public members appointed by the governor for staggered 4-year terms. The board shall have as advisory members representatives of the following agencies: U.S. Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, U.W. College of Agricultural Life Sciences, Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources, and U.W.-Extension.

Functions: The board advises the secretary and department on all matters relating to soil and water conservation and farmland preservation. Except for its farmland preservation duties of certifying county agricultural preservation plans and zoning ordinances, the board is an advisory board to the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection only. The board advises the University of Wisconsin annually on needed research and education programs relating to soil and water conservation; reviews erosion control plans and makes recommendations to the department of approval or disapproval; reviews applications for state aid and makes recommendations to the department for the allocation of funds; and reviews annual and long-range plans and makes recommendations to the department on approval or disapproval of the plans.

POTATO INDUSTRY BOARD

Members: GLEN WOLTER, chairperson; DICK CHILEWSKI, vice chairperson; RON ZALEWSKI, secretary; BOB RODRIGUEZ, treasurer; JOE OKRAY, DAVE REID, NICK SOMERS, BRIAN WEST, TOM WILD (all appointed by secretary of agriculture, trade and consumer protection); ROBERT F. THAYER (designee of secretary of agriculture, trade and consumer protection), RICHARD LOWER (designee of dean, UW-Madison College of Agricultural and Life Sciences).

Statutory Reference: Section 15.135 (2).

History: The board was created by Chapter 299, Laws of 1973.

Organization: The board is composed of 11 members, of which 9 are appointed by the secretary of the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection and 2 are ex officio: the secretary of the department and the dean of the College of Agricultural and Life Sciences at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, or their designees.

Functions: The board may develop programs to stabilize and protect the potato industry and safeguard the interest of potato consumers, cooperate with other public or private agencies engaged in similar programs, conduct studies or cooperate with studies conducted by other institutions relating to the production and marketing of potatoes and their use, and foster the growth of the potato industry.

Telephone: (414) 257-8800 (general).

Publications: WSFP Update (semi-annual newsletter to staff, officials, friends); Premium Books (3 separate books: General, Livestock, and Junior Fair); General Fair (group discount brochure); Recreational Vehicle Park Brochure; Grandstand Entertainment Brochure; Monthly Event Schedule.

Number of Employees: 31.64.

Total Budget 1983-1985: $13,869,700.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.135 (1).

History: The first Wisconsin State Fair was held in Janesville on October 1 and 2, 1851, sponsored by the State Agricultural Society. Between 1851 and 1885, the State Fair bounced around between Janesville, Madison, Watertown, Fond du Lac and Milwaukee.

Milwaukee was the site of the 1886 through 1891 State Fairs. In 1891, because of the success of the fairs in Milwaukee, a permanent site was purchased. The 1892 fair was the first fair held at the new site, which is the State Fair's present location.

Wisconsin's State Agricultural Society operated the fair for the last time in 1897, when a bill creating the State Board of Agriculture was passed.

In 1948, still under the State Board of Agriculture, the 23-day Centennial Exposition was held in lieu of the annual fair and was extremely successful.

The Wisconsin Exposition Department was created in 1961. Management of the fair and the park's year-round operation were removed from the Department of Agriculture and placed under the control of the Exposition Department's 7-member board.

During this period, plans were proposed to relocate the State Fair grounds and little was spent on renovation of the present site.

When state agencies were reorganized in 1967, the Wisconsin Exposition Department became the Wisconsin Exposition Center under the control of the Department of Local Affairs and Development.

Relocation of the fairgrounds was again pushed, with several feasibility studies done and numerous proposals made. Paid attendance began to drop and minimal maintenance was done on the facility.

After the 1971 fair, staff phaseout began for the closing of the state fairgrounds as authorized by legislation.

Chapter 125, Laws of 1971, reopened the fairgrounds. State Fair Park was created under a new 3-member board serving at the pleasure of the governor. State Fair Park was attached to the Department of Agriculture (now Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection) for administrative purposes. Legislation required that the fair remain at its present location and that it continue to be self-supporting.

Between 1972 and 1984, about 11 million dollars has been spent by the State Fair Park Board in the continued renovation of State Fair Park. An additional $2 million plus has been spent by individuals, organizations and corporations in building permanent concessions. Neither park operational nor construction funds have come from taxpayers.

Organization: The State Fair Park Board is composed of 3 members appointed to serve at the pleasure of the governor. The secretary of the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection or a designee serves as nonvoting secretary to the board. The park director is hired by and serves at the pleasure of the board. See Addenda for board changes.

Functions: The board is directed to manage the State Fair Park and supervise or conduct thereat fairs, exhibits or promotional events for agricultural, industrial, educational and recreational purposes; to lease or license the use of any property thereon for other purposes when not needed for the above public purposes; and to charge reasonable rents and fees for use of or attendance at the premises.

The board is also directed to develop new facilities at State Fair Park to provide a permanent location for continuing the tradition of an annual Wisconsin State Fair and to accommodate major sports events, agricultural and industrial expositions, and other programs of civic interest. Development and operation of the new State Fair Park facilities shall be accomplished through the procedures set forth, in a manner which will allow the facilities to be financially self-supporting and which will allow maximum private enterprise involvement consistent with protection of state interests.

Office of the Commissioner of BANKING

Consumer Credit Review Board: Inactive.

Collection Agency Advisory Committee: SHARON J. GRAYKOWSKI, JAMES O. SEIDEL, DONALD A. WAAGE, 2 vacancies.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7876, Madison 53707-7876; location: State Justice Building, Suite 650, 123 West Washington Avenue, Madison 53703.

Telephone: (608) 266-1621.

Publications: Annual Report; Commissioner's Manual for State Banks.

Number of Employees: 89.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $5,952,800.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.55.

History: The regulation of banks was provided for in the Wisconsin Constitution, and such regulation began as early as 1852. A Banking Department was created by Chapter 234, Laws of 1903. When the Kellett reorganization act was enacted in 1967 (Chapter 75), the Banking Department was kept intact, but it was classified as an independent agency and was renamed the Office of the Commissioner of Banking.

Organization: The commissioner of banking is appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for a term of 6 years. The commissioner must have had 5 years practical experience as a bank executive or in a bank supervisory authority. The office is organized into 4 divisions, which are under the direct supervision of the commissioner and deputy commissioner. Nearly two-thirds of the agency staff is employed in the examination of financial institutions regulated by the agency. The in-house staff provides support and review of the field operations and overall administration of the agency.

Agency Responsibility: The commissioner's office administers state laws regulating and supervising banks and consumer credit agencies. These activities include licensing and chartering of branches, banks, loan companies, collection companies and currency exchanges to ensure financial solvency and sound management. In addition, the agency inspects consumer credit licensees to enforce compliance with the laws and regulations governing consumer loan and business practices employed by these businesses. The Wisconsin Consumer Act is also administered by this office. The commissioner establishes departmental policies, promulgates rules, and recommends legislation to provide consistency with changes in the financial services industry and its economies.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF BANKING

BANKING

Unit Functions:

The Banks Division has the responsibility to ensure that state banks prudently invest and safeguard the funds of their depositors. It administers state laws regulating banks and conducts investigations relative to applications for charters of new banks and branches and examines the activities of established banks. The Banking Review Board reviews administrative actions and counsels the commissioner in developing policies, rules and legislation relating to the banking industry.

The Consumer Credit Division administers state laws regulating consumer credit agencies. It licenses and examines all the agencies which come under the jurisdiction of the division. In addition, the division administers the provisions of the Wisconsin Consumer Act. To achieve consumer protection, it processes consumer complaints, reviews merchant contracts, meets with trade and consumer groups, obtains compliance and institutes appropriate legal action against violators when necessary.

Interagency Relationships: The work of the Office of the Commissioner of Banking is closely related to that performed by the Office of the Commissioner of Insurance, the Office of the Commissioner of Savings and Loan and the Office of the Commissioner of Securities. The Office of Consumer Protection in the Department of Justice forwards to this office written complaints from individuals which relate to actions involving banks or consumer credit transactions. The agency assists those complainants in resolving their problems with the financial institution involved when the institution is under the supervision of this office. The agency jointly examines state banks with two federal agencies, namely: Federal Reserve System for its members and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation for insured, nonmember banks.

Office of the Commissioner of CREDIT UNIONS

Commissioner: RICHARD OTTOW (608) 266-0445.

Deputy Commissioner: JOSEPH G. LEMIEUX (608) 266-8892.

Credit Union Review Board: JESSE SANDOVAL, chairperson; KATHERINE BERNDT, vice chairperson; NANCY FLEMING, secretary; JOHN E. MILNER, ROBERT J. WILSON.

Mailing Address: 310 North Midvale Boulevard; P.O. Box 7960, Madison 53707.

Telephone: (608) 266-0438.

Publication: Annual Report on Condition of Credit Unions.

Number of Employees: 26.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $1,802,200.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.59.

History: The Office of the Commissioner of Credit Unions was created by Chapter 193, Laws of 1971, which removed the Credit Union Division from the Office of the Commissioner of Banking, effective June 26, 1972, to create the new agency and provide expanded powers to Wisconsin-chartered credit unions.

Organization: The office is under the direction and supervision of the commissioner, who is appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for a 6-year term expiring on March 1 of an odd-numbered year. The commissioner must have at least 10 years' actual experience either in the operation of a credit union or serving in a credit union supervisory agency.

The Credit Union Review Board consists of 5 members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for staggered 5-year terms. Each member must have at least 5 years' experience in credit union operations.

CREDIT UNIONS

Agency Responsibility: The commissioner of credit unions enforces the laws relating to credit unions, charters new credit unions, and conducts routine and special examinations of credit union books and records.

It is the duty of the Office of the Commissioner of Credit Unions to promote the extension of credit at the lowest possible rates and cooperate with every group of people who may be or may become interested in the formation and development of a credit union in this state for that purpose.

As of December 31, 1984, there were 561 state-chartered credit unions with total assets of $2.4 billion. Individual member savings up to $100,000 in these credit unions are insured by the Wisconsin Credit Union Savings Insurance Corporation, a nonprofit corporation created by Section 186.35, Wisconsin Statutes. This nonprofit corporation was capitalized by Wisconsin-chartered credit unions, which also pay an annual assessment of 1/12 of 1% of member savings at the year-end in order to provide this insurance to their member savings.

The Wisconsin Credit Union Savings Insurance Corporation is under the supervision of the Office of the Commissioner of Credit Unions and receives an annual examination by the agency with the cost thereof paid by the corporation.

The Credit Union Review Board may require the commissioner to submit any of his official actions to the board for its approval. Any rules and regulations issued by the commissioner shall have the prior approval of the Credit Union Review Board.

Interagency Relationships: The work of the Office of the Commissioner of Credit Unions is closely related in nature to that performed by the Office of the Commissioner of Banking, the Office of the Commissioner of Savings and Loan, the Office of the Commissioner of Insurance and, to a lesser extent, the Office of the Commissioner of Securities.

Number of Employees: 132.60.

Total Budget 1983-85: $17,994,000.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.15.

History: Chapter 75, Laws of 1967, which reorganized the executive branch of the Wisconsin state government, created the Department of Local Affairs and Development. As implemented by Chapters 211 and 327, it transferred from the Executive Office to the new department the Bureau of Civil Defense, the Division of State Economic Development and the Office of Economic Opportunity; transferred the local and regional planning function from the Department of Resource Development and attached the Exposition Department (Exposition Center) and the Olympic Sports Commission (now the Olympic Sports Board) to it.

The Wisconsin Office of Economic Opportunity was formed as part of the Department of Resource Development soon after the federal Economic Opportunity Act was passed in 1964. It was transferred to the Executive Office as part of the Division of State Economic Development in August 1966 prior to becoming part of the new Department of Local Affairs and Development.

Chapter 125, Laws of 1971, transferred the Exposition Center (State Fair) and the Olympic Ice Rink out of the Department of Local Affairs and Development. The Exposition Center was transferred to the Department of Agriculture, and the Olympic Ice Rink was transferred to the Department of Natural Resources, then in 1973, to the State Fair Park Board in the Department of Agriculture.

Chapter 321, Laws of 1971, created a Department of Business Development. The Division of Economic Development was transferred from the Department of Local Affairs and Development to form the nucleus of the new department. The Division of Economic Development began in the Executive Office in 1955 as the Division of Industrial Development, was transferred to the Department of Resource Development when it was created in 1959, was transferred back to the Executive Office by Chapter 614, Laws of 1965, and then became part of the Department of Local Affairs and Development under the 1967 reorganization law. It remained there until the 1971 law made it a separate agency. Chapter 39, Laws of 1975, transferred the Division of Tourism from the Department of Natural Resources to the Department of Business Development and created the Council on Tourism.

Chapter 361, Laws of 1979, reunited the Department of Local Affairs and Development and the Department of Business Development to create the Department of Development. A Council on Economic and Community Development was also created. The Division of Emergency Government (originally the Office, then Bureau of Civil Defense) was transferred to the Department of Administration, the housing relocation function to the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, and the weatherization and community action agency assistance functions to the Department of Health and Social Services. Chapter 349, Laws of 1981, created the Council on Housing in the department. 1983 Wisconsin Act 83 created the Council on Economic Development and Export, and 1983 Wisconsin Act 84 created the Council for Economic Adjustment.

Organization: The secretary of the department is appointed by the governor to serve at the governor's pleasure with the advice and consent of the Senate.

The secretary appoints a deputy secretary, executive assistant, and the administrators of the Divisions of Economic and Community Development, Housing and Community Services, Tourism, Policy Development, and Support Services.

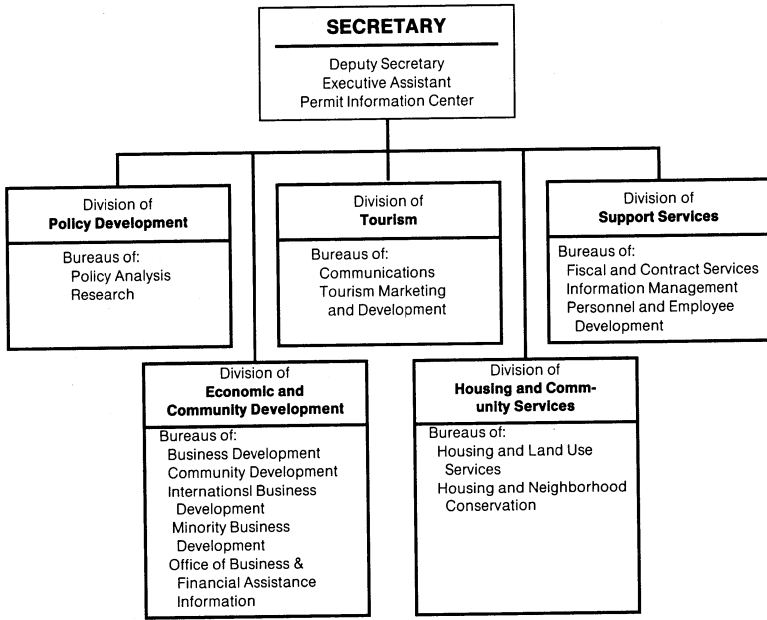

The Council on Housing, the Council on Tourism, the Council on Economic Development and Export, the Council for Economic Adjustment, and the Technology Development Board are in the department, but the board is attached under Sec. 15.03.

Agency Responsibility: The department serves as the state voice of development, with responsibilities in the areas of community and economic development, housing development and rehabilitation, small and minority business assistance, federal-state-local relations, state economic analysis, local and regional planning, industrial attraction, international trade, development of new and innovative approaches to economic and community development, and tourism promotion and development.

Unit Functions:

The Office of the Secretary establishes overall department policy and provides coordination for department programs. The Office of the Secretary includes the Permit Information Center and the administration of the Technology Development and Customized Labor Training Funds.

DEPARTMENT OF DEVELOPMENT

DEVELOPMENT

The Division of Economic and Community Development is the largest program area in the department. Its thrust is to encourage business retention, expansion and attraction to the state; develop new economic growth in the state; provide increased employment opportunities for Wisconsin citizens through increased economic activity; and support and encourage international trade and investment for Wisconsin. The division's bureaus include: the Business Development Bureau, the Community Development Bureau, the Minority Business Development Bureau, and the International Development Bureau (including the Frankfurt, Germany office), which was created in a reorganization of the division in November 1983. The division also includes an Office of Business Information Services.

The Division of Housing and Community Services is responsible for the development and implementation of programs aimed at creating an adequate supply of housing in Wisconsin for citizens at all economic levels including the development of a multiyear comprehensive state housing plan. The division administers grant and loan funds for housing development and services, and maintains a housing data bank. Technical assistance is provided to local communities, agencies and organizations concerned with housing. The division also administers the state's Housing and Neighborhood Conservation Program, which provides low-interest and deferred payment housing improvement loans to low- and moderate-income families, and the Wisconsin Home Ownership Mortgage Law Program. The division also carries out a number of regulatory functions including plat review, agricultural land preservation, and the department functions under the annexation and incorporation laws.

The Division of Policy Development is the department's center for research, planning, policy analysis, federal legislative coordination, and fiscal and economic analysis. The office performs research and policy analysis on legislation, state and federal programs and other issues affecting the economy of the state, localities, housing and development programs. The division is responsible for analyzing data on long-range trends in localities and business and in developing new policies to enhance Wisconsin's economic growth and local government operations.

The Division of Tourism is responsible for overall promotion of the state's tourism industry. Its functions are marketing, advertising and promotion, research and tourism development, tourism industry coordination, and information, which includes the 8 tourist information centers in Chicago, Madison and at entry points on major highways around the state.

The Division of Support Services provides budgetary, personnel, financial, office management, information management and word processing, and general administrative support for the entire department, and also is charged with carrying out affirmative action, employe assistance, and safety programs.

Interagency Relationships: The department cooperates with other state agencies, such as the University of Wisconsin-Extension and with organizations of business leaders and local officials. The department works especially with federal agencies on grant and loan programs.

INDEPENDENT UNIT ATTACHED FOR BUDGETING, PROGRAM COORDINATION AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

Number of Employees: 90.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $23,328,800.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.73.

History: The Insurance Department was created in 1870 (Chapter 56) as a part of the Office of the Secretary of State. In 1878, the department became a separate agency headed by a commissioner. In 1967 (Chapter 75), the Insurance Department was renamed the Office of the Commissioner of Insurance and continued as an independent regulatory agency.

Organization: The commissioner of insurance is appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate for a term of 4 years. The commissioner may appoint a deputy from the unclassified service. The assistant deputy commissioner and all other personnel of the agency are appointed under the classified service rules and regulations. The Office of the Commissioner of Insurance consists of 2 divisions assisted by Legal Counsel.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF INSURANCE

Under the statutes the commissioner may create advisory councils to assist in dealing with regulatory problems. The Property and Casualty Advisory Council, Life and Disability Advisory Council and Financial Advisory Council are currently in existence.

Agency Responsibility: The Office of the Commissioner of Insurance is responsible for the supervision of the insurance industry operating in Wisconsin and for administering the various statutes and administrative rules which regulate the insurance industry. The primary goal of the agency is to protect the best interests of the insurance consumers of Wisconsin — through the development of trade practice regulations, through monitoring and enforcement activities, and through consumer education and outreach efforts. The office carries out its regulatory functions by conducting financial and market conduct examinations; licensing agents; reviewing rates and forms; investigating consumer complaints; and providing consumer education to the residents of Wisconsin. In addition to its regulatory responsibilities, the agency is responsible for administering the operations of the State Life Insurance Fund, the Local Government Property Insurance Fund and the Patients Compensation Fund.

Unit Functions:

The Division of Regulation and Enforcement includes 2 bureaus. The Bureau of Market Regulation provides assistance to consumers in resolving problems with insurers and agents; coordinates educational endeavors with consumers and insurance agents; disseminates information to the public; investigates agent activities; conducts field reviews of insurer marketing practices; prepares enforcement proceedings; and prosecutes offenders. The bureau also is responsible for reviewing the rates, forms and contracts filed with the agency by insurers; determining compliance with applicable laws and rules; initiating appropriate administrative actions; and examining insurer rating procedures and advertising files. The Bureau of Financial Examinations is responsible for the financial solvency surveillance of all insurers licensed to transact business in Wisconsin. Its conducts field audits of domestic insurer operations; monitors the activities of nondomestic insurers; administers insurer rehabilitations and liquidations; audits and collects insurer taxes and fees; and collects and administers the fire department dues program.

The Division of Administrative Services includes 2 bureaus and one office. The Bureau of Funds consists of the 3 segregated funds for which this agency has administrative responsibility: the Local Government Property Insurance Fund, the State Life Insurance Fund and the Patients Compensation Fund. The Local Government Property Insurance Fund provides property insurance protection on properties of local governmental units on an optional basis. The State Life Insurance Fund offers low-cost life insurance protection to Wisconsin residents in amounts not exceeding $10,000 per person. The Patients Compensation Fund provides excess protection to health-care providers against medical malpractice claims.

The Bureau of Staff Services is responsible for all general administrative functions of the agency which include: the administration of the insurance intermediaries testing and licensing program, centralized word processing, data processing, budget, personnel, and clerical support services.

The Office of Policy Analysis researches insurance issues, analyzes legislation, drafts administrative rules, provides staff for legislative advisory councils, and conducts the public information program of the agency.

Interagency Relationships: The Local Government Property Insurance Fund (formerly the State Property Insurance Fund) insures the property of local government units that elect to insure with the fund. The Patients Compensation Fund coordinates activities with the Department of Regulation and Licensing, the agency licensing physicians and nurses. The administration of the fire department dues program involves coordination with the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations and the Department of Revenue. Legal liaison and assistance is provided to the agency by the Department of Justice. The commissioner participates in or is represented on the Group Insurance Board, Wisconsin Retirement Board, Employee Trust Funds Board, Joint Survey Committee on Retirement Systems, Retirement Research Committee, Wisconsin Insurance Security Fund Board, and Health Insurance Risk-Sharing Plan.

Total Budget 1983-85: $11,938,400.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.79.

History: Railroad regulation began with the effective date of Chapter 273, Laws of 1874. The Public Service Commission in somewhat its present form was created by Chapter 362, Laws of 1905, as the Railroad Commission and given more regulatory jurisdiction over railroads. This was extended to include public utilities, both privately and municipally owned, by Chapter 499, Laws of 1907. The name was changed from Railroad Commission to Public Service Commission by Chapter 183, Laws of 1931. Comprehensive motor carrier regulation was added by Chapter 488, Laws of 1933. The Reorganization Act of 1967 (Chapter 75) continued the commission as an independent regulatory agency. Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, transferred transportation regulation to the Transportation Commission.

Organization: The commission is composed of 3 full-time commissioners appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate for staggered 6-year terms. No member may have a financial interest in a public utility, or serve on or under a political party committee. When making an appointment, the governor designates a chairperson. The commission is organized into 6 operating divisions: Accounts and Finance; Administrative Services; Engineering; Examining; Systems Planning, Environmental Review and Consumer Analysis; and Utility Rates. The offices of chief counsel and economist are under the chairperson, who has the overall responsibility for the operations of the commission.

Agency Responsibility: The commission is responsible for the regulation of public utilities as defined in Section 196.01, Wis. Stats., including those municipally owned and operated. The regulation of public utilities is designed to promote reasonably adequate service to the public without undue or unjust discrimination and at rates which are reasonable and just. The commission must review and evaluate the advance plans for proposed facilities filed biennially by all electric utilities (including cooperatives), and conduct research and sponsor demonstration projects relating to the forecasting of demand, pricing structure and power operation and supply. The commission reviews environmental impact statements and conducts studies of long-range energy requirements and supply. The commission also has responsibility in the areas of telecommunications, natural gas and electric power with respect to emergency resource management.

Unit Functions:

The Accounts and Finance Division is responsible for auditing the accounting practices and financial records of public utilities and analyzing their proposed security offerings. It prepares depreciation studies and analyses of cost of capital and rate of return to present as testimony at hearings before the commission. It compiles and publishes statistical studies of financial and operating data of public utilities.

The Engineering Division is concerned with the technical, engineering aspects of utility operations, including adequacy of service, facilities, and safety. It makes valuations of public utility plants and conducts studies of adequacy of electric and gas supply.

The Examining Division schedules and conducts public hearings and prepares a verbatim transcript of testimony taken.

The Division of Systems Planning, Environmental Review and Consumer Analysis prepares environmental impact statements and conducts studies of long-range energy requirements and supply.

The Utility Rates Division analyzes cost and recommends rates and rules for public utilities, conducts cost-of-service studies, designs rate structures, maintains a file of public utility rates and rules, and handles inquiries and complaints.

The Administrative Services Division provides personnel and business management services to the commission, maintains a central records management system, and coordinates the management of data and word processing services.

The Staff Economist acts as a consultant to the commission on economic matters and issues and testifies in rate and rule-making proceedings.

The Chief Counsel advises the commission and staff on legal matters and represents the commission in litigation in state and federal courts and before state and federal administrative agencies.

Interagency Relationships: The commission has several counterparts on the federal level performing regulatory functions. These include the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, and the Securities and Exchange Commission. According to an agreement with the federal Department of Transportation, Office of Pipeline Safety, the commission receives federal aid in enforcing federal and state safety standards on gas utilities operating in Wisconsin. In the areas of utility regulation, the commission has sole jurisdiction on the state level. Related emergency resource management functions assigned to the commission, coordinated by the Department of Administration, include electric power, natural gas and telecommunications.

History: The Department of Regulation and Licensing was created in 1967 by the Reorganization Act (Ch. 75) to offer centralized administrative services to the examining boards which license and regulate certain professions and trades. In addition, the administration of the licensing of private detective agencies and agents, charitable organizations, professional fund raisers and solicitors was transferred from the secretary of state; and the licensing of peddlers, transient merchants and public showmen was transferred from the old Motor Vehicle Department to the new agency. Since 1967, the number of boards attached to the department has fluctuated. Between 1967 and 1979, several new boards were created and 3 boards were transferred to the department from the Department of Health and Social Services. Legislation enacted during the 1979 legislative session eliminated the Watchmaking and Athletic Examining Boards and transferred the Pharmacy Internship Board to the University of Wisconsin. Licensing of peddlers, transient merchants and public showmen has also been eliminated.

Organization: The secretary, nominated by the governor, is appointed with the advice and consent of the Senate to serve at the pleasure of the governor. The secretary appoints the deputy secretary and executive assistant.

Board members are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. Boards have traditionally been composed of members of the regulated profession. In 1975, however, the Legislature passed a measure to add at least one public member to each board composed entirely of professionals. The Legislature also passed a measure in 1984 which added one more public member to each board. Public members are appointed by the governor and must have no ties with the profession they regulate.

Each board elects a chairperson, vice chairperson, and secretary. All board members receive a per diem of $25.

The Board of Nursing appoints Examining Councils on Registered Nurses and Licensed Practical Nurses.

The Medical Examining Board appoints a Physical Therapist Examining Council, Podiatrists Examining Council and 3 members to serve on the 5-member Council on Physician's Assistants.

The Examining Board of Architects, Professional Engineers, Designers and Land Surveyors consists of 4 separate sections, which regulate their respective professions.

The Department of Regulation and Licensing has responsibility for the regulation of real estate practice. The Real Estate Board advises the secretary of the department on matters relating to real estate practice.

Agency Responsibility: The department provides administrative services to the boards. These services include bookkeeping, payroll, accounting, license renewal, preparation of the budget, purchasing, arrangements for meetings and hearings, legal counsel, and the provision of staff. The department also investigates and prosecutes complaints against licensees, assists boards with examination development and administration, and assists with drafting of statute and administrative rule revision requests.

In addition to its responsibility for providing services to the boards, the department is responsible for regulating real estate brokers and salespersons, charitable organizations, boxing, private detectives, bingo and raffles.

The boards are responsible for the licensing and regulation of their respective occupations and professions in the public interest. Within their statutory guidelines, they determine the quality and amount of education and experience needed for licensing, administer and evaluate licensing examinations, and establish standards of professional conduct. They enforce these standards through inspection programs and action on complaints from the public. If they find that a licensee has violated laws or rules of the board, they may limit, suspend or revoke the license or reprimand the licensee.

Unit Functions:

The Division of Business Licensure and Registration provides administrative and technical service to the boards which license and regulate professions in various areas of business. This division includes 3 bureaus: The Bureau of Real Estate licenses and regulates real estate brokers and salespersons and is also responsible for the registration of charitable organizations, professional fundraisers and solicitors, private detectives and private detective agency licensure. The Bureau of Design Professions provides staff services to the Examining Board of Architects, Professional Engineers, Designers and Land Surveyors. The Bureau of Business Professions provides services to the other boards regulating business professions (Accounting Examining Board, Barbers Examining Board, Bingo Control Board, Cosmetology Examining Board, Funeral Directors Examining Board, the regulation of boxing and sparring exhibitions and Nursing Home Administrator Examining Board).

The Division of Enforcement is responsible for investigating complaints against licensees of the boards and the department and for commencing formal disciplinary action against licensees. The division is also responsible for inspecting barber shops, beauty and electrolysis salons, schools of barbering and cosmetology, new drugstores and drugstores upon a change of ownership, and new funeral establishments. Real estate brokers' trust accounts and the financial records of bingo organizations are audited by the division.

The Division of Health Professions and Nursing provides administrative, clerical and technical services to the boards which regulate health care professions. The division includes 2 bureaus: the Bureau of Nursing, which provides services to the Board of Nursing; and the Bureau of Health Professions, which serves all other boards regulating health care providers (Chiropractic Examining Board, Dentistry Examining Board, Hearing Aid Dealers and Fitters Examining Board, Medical Examining Board, Optometry Examining Board, Pharmacy Examining Board, Psychology Examining Board, and Veterinary Examining Board).

The Division of Administrative Services provides the boards and the department with centralized typing, license renewal, examination and legal services, as well as general services such as printing and mailing.

Interagency Relationships: The Medical Examining Board's Advisory Council on Physician's Assistants works in cooperation with the University of Wisconsin Board of Regents in establishing educational programs for physician's assistants at the undergraduate level.

The Pharmacy Examining Board performs regulatory functions in relation to drug handling and distribution by persons within the state, while the federal Food and Drug Administration and Bureau of Narcotic and Dangerous Drugs perform regulatory functions in relation to drug manufacturing and distribution in interstate commerce. The board and the Division of Criminal Investigation in the state Department of Justice have concurrent responsibility for enforcement of state narcotic and dangerous drug laws. The department in its function of registering professional fundraisers and solicitors and charitable organizations and publishing the quarterly financial reports of charitable organizations turns over to the Department of Justice any matter needing investigation.

Mailing Address: Room 502, 131 W. Wilson Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-1821.

Publications: Annual Report on Condition of Wisconsin Savings and Loan Associations; Biennial Report; reprint sections of Wisconsin Statutes and Wisconsin Administrative Code.

Number of Employees: 17.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $1,502,500.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.82.

History: In 1947 (Chapter 411) a separate Savings and Loan Association Department was created. Until that time Wisconsin savings and loans had been under the jurisdiction of the Banking Commission. Renamed the Savings and Loan Department in 1949, and the Office of the Commissioner of Savings and Loan in 1967, the office has continued as an independent regulatory agency.

Organization: The office is under the direction and supervision of the commissioner, who is appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for a 6-year term. The commissioner is required to have 5 years' minimum experience either as an executive officer of a savings and loan association or service in a savings and loan supervisory authority. A deputy commissioner, appointed by the commissioner with the consent of the Savings and Loan Review Board, supervises the operation of the various units within the office. The experience requirement for the deputy commissioner is 3 years.

The 7-member Savings and Loan Review Board is an independent part of the agency. Its members are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate to serve staggered 4-year terms. At least 5 members shall have 10 years' experience in the savings and loan business in this state.

Agency Responsibility: The Office of the Commissioner of Savings and Loan is responsible for the supervision of state-chartered savings and loan associations and the enforcement of Chapter 215, Wisconsin Statutes; the administrative rules pertaining to savings and loan associations; and other laws governing the operation of savings and loan associations.

Unit Functions:

The Administrative Unit coordinates and controls all budget and fiscal operations, prepares agency publications and disseminates information to government, industry and public sectors.

The Examination and Supervision Unit with its field examination staff conducts regular and special examinations of state-chartered savings and loan associations to analyze and evaluate the financial affairs of each association in order to identify adverse trends, weaknesses in the association policies and procedures, and violations of rules and regulations. In conjunction with its examination function, the unit enforces the rules and regulations under which associations operate and institutes corrective action for those matters of supervisory concern identified through the examination process.

The Legal Unit provides day-to-day legal advice in connection with the agency's various unit functions. In addition, the unit conducts agency hearings, drafts agency rules, and handles applications for new charters and branches.

The Management Information Unit provides systems analysis, computer programming, and operational support. Functions include selection of equipment and vendor-supplied software, review of data centers serving the savings and loan industry and consultation on office automation.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF SAVINGS AND LOAN

SAVINGS AND LOAN

The independent Savings and Loan Review Board advises the commissioner and assists in agency rule-making. The board also serves as an appellate body for those wishing to appeal any action taken by the commissioner.

Interagency Relationships: The office works with the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation through the Federal Home Loan Bank Board in conducting joint examinations of state-chartered insured savings and loan associations. The office also works with the Department of Justice, the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, Office of the Commissioner of Credit Unions and the Office of the Commissioner of Banking to resolve consumer complaints involving state-chartered savings and loan associations and to handle other matters of mutual concern.

Number of Employees: 30.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $2,120,600.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.85.

History: The office was created as an independent regulatory agency by Chapter 68, Laws of 1939, and was continued and given its present name by Chapter 75, Laws of 1967. From 1913 until 1939, regulation of securities was under the jurisdiction successively of the Railroad Commission, the Public Service Commission, and the Banking Commission. Wisconsin's first "blue sky" law, regulating the sale of securities for the protection of the investing public, was enacted in 1913. The state securities law was successively revised in 1919, 1933, 1941 and 1969. The Wisconsin Uniform Securities Law was enacted as Chapter 71, Laws of 1969, following a study by the Legislative Council. The present securities law is based on the Uniform Securities Act, which has been adopted in more than two-thirds of the states, and continues Wisconsin's tradition of comprehensive securities regulation. The franchise investment law and the corporate take-over law, which are also administered by the office, were adopted as Chapters 241 and 300, Laws of 1971.

Organization: The office is administered by a commissioner of securities appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate for a term of 6 years. The deputy commissioner serves at the pleasure of the commissioner. All other employes are in the classified service. Each of the 5 functional divisions of the office is supervised by an administrator or supervising attorney.

Agency Responsibility: The commissioner regulates the sale of securities for the protection of the investing public. The commissioner is responsible for registration of securities prior to public sale; licensing and examination of broker-dealers, agents, and investment advisers; investigation of complaints involving the illegal sale of securities; and enforcement of the securities law. The commissioner fulfills a role similar to that of the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission. However, the federal law relating to securities offerings provides only for full disclosure, while the Wisconsin securities law also requires that securities offerings registered for sale in Wisconsin be fair and equitable to investors and not contrary to the public interest. In addition, the commissioner regulates the offer and sale of franchise investments in the state and corporate take-over offers involving target companies located in Wisconsin. The commissioner also renders opinions and answers inquiries of investors concerning registrations and licenses and the interpretation of the securities law.

Unit Functions:

Office of General Counsel is responsible for the rendering of legal advice to the commissioner, deputy commissioner and each division of the agency. It issues formal interpretive and legal opinions relating to securities law matters, opinions confirming the availability of an exemption, and also reviews pre-offering exemption notices. It is also responsible for the preparation of administrative rule revisions and is involved in coordinating statutory revisions.

Enforcement Division investigates suspected violations of the securities and corporate take-over laws, including fraud or misrepresentation in the sale of securities and unethical business practices by licensees; prepares orders prohibiting the sale of unregistered securities and unlawful conduct by securities broker-dealers or investment advisers; and assists the district attorneys of the respective counties and the Department of Justice in the prosecution of securities law violators.

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF SECURITIES

Franchise Investment Division examines applications for registration of franchises to determine that all material disclosures are made and that they meet statutory requirements. It also reviews exemptions from registration, investigates fraudulent and deceptive practices in the sale of franchises, investigates complaints, and enforces the franchise investment law.

Licensing and Regulation Division licenses securities broker-dealers, agents and investment advisers. It conducts examinations of securities agents prior to licensing, and performs periodic field examinations of the books and records of licensed broker-dealers and investment advisers. It recommends the suspension or revocation of licenses upon findings of violations of the securities law. It takes action concerning the improper handling of customers' accounts by licensed broker-dealers.

Securities Registration Division examines applications for registration of securities to determine whether the offerings are fair and equitable to investors and conform to statutory requirements, amends and extends registrations of securities, and reviews and approves exemptions from registration.

Administration Division handles budgetary, purchasing, billing, personnel, and similar administrative functions. The sale of various documents offered by the commissioner's office is also the responsibility of this division. General inquiries and requests for information are referred to this division.

Interagency Relationships: The office works jointly with the Office of the Commissioner of Insurance in registering securities issues involving state-licensed insurance companies and maintains a working relationship with the Commissioner of Banking and Secretary of State. Further, the office works in cooperation with both the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, the National Association of Securities Dealers, and the securities commissioners of other states in the North American Securities Administrators Association, Inc. with a view toward achieving, wherever possible, maximum uniformity in the form and content of registration statements, license applications and reports. Enforcement activities are coordinated with these agencies, the attorney general, and other law enforcement bodies.

Number of Employees: 83.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $17,306,300.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.57.

History: Originally created as the State Radio Council by Chapter 570, Laws of 1945 (a prior nonstatutory Radio Council had existed briefly under the University of Wisconsin), the agency was renamed the Educational Broadcasting Division, under the supervision and direction of the Educational Broadcasting Board, and attached to the Coordinating Council for Higher Education by Chapter 75, Laws of 1967. Chapter 349 of the same year, however, renamed the board as the Educational Communications Board. The board's membership was revised by Chapter 175, Laws of 1969. It was established as an independent agency with further revisions in its board membership by Chapter 100, Laws of 1971.

EDUCATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS BOARD

EDUCATIONAL COMMUNICATIONS

EXECUTIVE BRANCH: EDUCATION

Organization: The Educational Communications Board is comprised of 16 members consisting of the governor, the state superintendent of public instruction, the president of the University of Wisconsin System, the director of the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education or their designees; 8 members appointed for 4-year terms, of whom 4 shall be citizen members and one each shall be representative of private higher education, private or parochial elementary or secondary education, public elementary and secondary education, and a public school board of a district operating elementary and high school grades; and legislative members consisting of one member of the majority membership and one from the minority membership of each house of the legislature, selected the same way as are members appointed to standing committees of these houses.

The board itself operates a committee structure which incorporates the following: 1) Facilities Committee, which makes recommendations on the technical aspects of the construction and operation of broadcast telecommunications technologies and the networks; 2) Programming Committee, which makes recommendations on policy regarding quality and scheduling of programming on the Wisconsin Educational Radio and Television Networks; 3) Executive/Finance Committee, which makes policy recommendations to the board on long-range goals as a basis for board decision making, and on policy related to personnel and budget matters.

Agency Responsibility: The Educational Communications Board, licensee for the Wisconsin Educational Radio and TV Networks, operates a Network Technical Facility, transmitters, translators, microwave interconnects and other related electronic hardware for the delivery of instructional and informational programming to Wisconsin residents. The ECB seeks input from educational organizations and institutions in the state to assist them in fulfilling their needs for radio and television programming and other telecommunication delivery services. The ECB buys or contracts for the production of programs, and schedules them for broadcast on the networks. While most instructional programs are designed for students in the elementary/secondary classroom, an increasing amount of programming is also broadcast for vocational and technical students, students enrolled in institutions of higher education, and adults who wish to continue their education without actively pursuing a certificate or degree. Specifically, the agency:

1. Plans, develops, constructs, operates and maintains the Wisconsin educational radio and television networks;
2. Reviews, advises and coordinates the joint radio and television efforts of educational agencies and institutions;
3. Acts as the central clearinghouse and source of information regarding state educational radio and television;
4. Receives and disburses state, federal, and private funds and engages or contracts for such personnel and facilities as are necessary to carry out the aforementioned duties; and
5. Furnishes leadership in securing adequate funding for statewide joint use of radio and television for educational and cultural purposes.

To carry out these mandates, the agency has built UHF television transmitters in the areas of Green Bay, Menomonie/Eau Claire, La Crosse, Wausau and Park Falls and TV translators in Ellison Bay, River Falls and Bloomington. The ECB holds construction permits for construction of translators in Burnett and Florence Counties. The 8 FM stations of the Wisconsin Educational Radio Network have been upgraded in recent years to improve broadcast transmission quality. The AM station will be upgraded in summer, 1985.

Unit Functions: The TV Network Programming/Operations Division — comprised of 1) TV Network programming, 2) TV fundraising, and 3) regional office services — provides informal instructional and informational programming to the general public. This unit operates two regional offices, one for the Green Bay/Wausau/Park Falls area and another for the Menomonie/La Crosse area. The regional representatives are responsible for station development, providing liaison and coordination with area educational institutions, and promoting and coordinating the production of local programming.

The Programming Unit also seeks funding from listeners, viewers and private funding sources for the purpose of funding and promoting the programming broadcast on the network.

The Educative Services Division provides formal instructional programs and materials to students enrolled in educational institutions of the state.

The Radio Network Programming Division provides informational and cultural programming to the general public over the 9 stations of the Wisconsin Educational Radio Network.

The Engineering Division is responsible for developing, operating and maintaining statewide telecommunication systems used to deliver educational programming, data and related services.

The Administrative Services Division provides planning, financial, personnel, data processing, and other administrative-type services for all other units.

Interagency Relationships: The Educational Communications Board works closely with other educational agencies in the state to develop educational telecommunications systems. To achieve this end, it seeks financial support from various federal agencies and other funding sources.

Number of Employees: 206.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $69,198,500.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.67.

History: The State Commission for Academic Facilities was created in 1963 (Chapter 573) to administer Title I of the Federal Higher Education Facilities Act of 1963 in Wisconsin. In 1965, Chapter 264 gave the commission student financial aid responsibilities and changed its name to the State Commission for Higher Educational Aids. Chapter 75, Laws of 1967, renamed it the Higher Educational Aids Board. In 1967, the board organized the Wisconsin Higher Education Corporation in accord with Sec. 39.33 of the statutes to administer the Guaranteed Student Loan Program. In 1984, the board and corporation separated with an independent board of directors, president, and administrative staff for the corporation under Chapter 181, Wisconsin Statutes.

Organization: The Higher Educational Aids Board is a part-time, independent policy-making board composed of the state superintendent of public instruction and 15 members appointed to serve at the pleasure of the governor. The governor appoints 3 members from the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin and 2 members from the State Board of Vocational, Technical, and Adult Education to represent public education; 5 members who are trustees of independent colleges to represent such independent institutions; and 5 citizen members to represent the general public. The executive secretary is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the governor. Administratively, the agency is composed of the Division of Programs and Policy, the Division of Employment Relations and the Division of Finance.

Agency Responsibility: The Higher Educational Aids Board - whose policies have shaped and guided student financial aid programs since 1965 -is primarily responsible for the management and oversight of the state's student financial aid system affecting students in public and private sector schools, disadvantaged, handicapped, and Native American students, and related activities such as interstate educational compacts, a contract for dental education services and a loan program for students in health fields, in addition to the State Student Loan Program.

Unit Functions: The Division of Programs and Policy recommends and establishes policy to administer the state's student financial aid programs, including Tuition Grants, Wisconsin Higher Education Grants, Indian Student Assistance, Interstate Reciprocity, and State Student Loans. The division also administers the Contract for Dental Education Services and the Wisconsin Health Education Assistance Loan Program.

The Division of Employment Relations administers all personnel and bargaining responsibilities for the board including represented civil service staff on contract to the Wisconsin Higher Education Corporation.

The Division of Finance has fiscal responsibility for the agency's services including budget development and monitoring, general accounting, revenue bond accounting, financial statements, auditing services and purchasing.

Interagency Relationships: The board works with all types of educational institutions and state and federal agencies in the management of grant and loan programs for students in higher educational institutions.

Number of Employees: 148.48.

Total Budget 1983-1985: $15,124,600.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.70.

History: Founded in 1846 and chartered in 1853, the State Historical Society of Wisconsin is the nation's oldest historical society to receive continuing grants of state funds for its purpose of promoting "a wider appreciation of the American heritage with particular emphasis on the collection, advancement, and dissemination of knowledge of the history of Wisconsin and of the West."

The society was made a trustee of the state in 1855. Chapter 75, Laws of 1967, continued the society as an independent agency.

The Historical Markers Council was created as the Historical Markers Commission in 1944, a nonstatutory, ex officio committee. Chapter 192, Laws of 1953, made the committee statutory, while Chapter 75, Laws of 1967, renamed it and transferred it to the Historical Society.

The society's mission was enhanced in Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, so that it would "engage in a comprehensive program of historic preservation" to preserve "the historic, architectural, archeological, and cultural heritage of the state."

Organization: The State Historical Society is both a state agency and a membership organization. The membership, which numbers about 6,000, elects 24 of its members to the Board of Curators, the governing body of the society, under its constitution and bylaws. The governor, the speaker of the Assembly, and the president of the Senate, or their designees, serve as ex officio members of the Board of Curators, and 3 members are appointed by the governor. In this way the society combines the benefits of a democratically based private membership with the publicly supported program, one that attempts to blend the scholarly and the popular aspects of history for the education and enjoyment of the citizens of Wisconsin.

The board selects the director, who is the administrative head of the society.

The Historical Markers Council is comprised of 5 ex officio members. It meets in February in Madison, at which time it chooses its chairperson, and it may also hold special meetings.

Agency Responsibility: From the very beginning, the State Historical Society has actively collected and interpreted the history of Wisconsin in the context of midwestern and American history.

Today, as in the past, the society has a statutory charge to collect and preserve historical and cultural resources relating to Wisconsin, the Midwest, and the nation, and to make them freely available to students, scholars, the citizens of Wisconsin, and the general public. To implement this program, the Board of Curators has established 4 major objectives: 1) maintenance of a major research collection in American history for scholarly research at the university level and at cooperative area research centers at 11 university campuses and Northland College; 2) promotion of an appreciation and understanding of Wisconsin history by operating a museum, historic sites, and a statewide school services program, along with extension of technical services and advice to more than 192 affiliated local historical societies throughout the state; 3) research and publication in Wisconsin and American history and the broadest possible dissemination of this information; and 4) preservation of historic structures and archeological sites through administration of the National Register of Historic Places program in the state.

Unit Functions:

Archives collects, catalogs and makes available primary source materials, including manuscripts, maps, charts, photographs, and other records pertaining to the history of the state and the nation. Collections are particularly strong in the history of labor and the industrialization of America; social action, including civil rights and antiwar movements; mass communications, including journalism, broadcasting, public relations and advertising; and dramatic arts, including the theater, motion pictures and television. Archives is also the official repository for the permanent records of the state and its political subdivisions. Its collections include more than 75,000 cubic feet of records and more than 1,000,000 photographic images.

Editorial is responsible for the editing and publication of all the scholarly and popular materials issued by the society.

Historic Preservation administers a comprehensive program of historic preservation in the state, including — in partnership with the National Park Service — the National Register of Historic Places in Wisconsin. It surveys the state to identify and locate places of architectural, historic, and archeological significance, and nominates them to the National Register; administers federal grants from the Historic Preservation Fund for survey, planning, and rehabilitation and restoration of historic properties; reviews federally funded and licensed projects for their impacts on historic and prehistoric properties; certifies projects for federal income-tax credits to rehabilitate historic income-producing buildings; and certifies local governments to participate directly in state and federal historic preservation programs. It also carries out a statewide educational and informational program on relevant aspects of Wisconsin history and prehistory, and on historic preservation programs.

Historic Sites combines all 6 of the historic sites under one administrator for uniform and improved direction, logistical management and interpretive development. The sites are: Old World Wisconsin at Eagle, Old Wade House at Greenbush, Madeline Island Historical Museum at La Pointe, Villa Louis at Prairie du Chien, Pendarvis at Mineral Point, and Stonefield Village at Cassville. Each site reflects a major theme of Wisconsin's development, such as mining, farming, fur trade, exploration and transportation. They are one means by which Wisconsinites may develop a sense of life as it was in historic Wisconsin. A seventh historic site, Circus World Museum at Baraboo, is operated by the Historic Sites Foundation and offers one of the most exciting and extensive collections of circus memorabilia to be found anywhere.

Library collects, catalogs and makes available information based on the printed and microform materials in the historical collection. The collection consists of more than 230,000 volumes; 450,000 pamphlets; 350,000 government publications and 700,000 reels of microfilm and microform sheets on the history of Wisconsin, the United States and Canada. The library is the official repository for publications of the State of Wisconsin, and its holdings include numerous U.S. government publications as well. Extensive genealogical holdings are also included in the overall collection.

Local History assists more than 192 local affiliated historical societies and museums throughout the state with the legal requirements of incorporation and offers technical assistance and consultation through field visits, workshops, special programs and a newsletter. Under the auspices of the Wisconsin Council for Local History, the state society assists in the organization of regional and state conventions of local societies.

Museum collects and preserves artifacts of historical significance. The free public museum contains exhibits tracing Wisconsin's past from prehistoric to recent times, assembled from the museum's more than 700,000 artifacts. The museum regularly presents public programs for all interests and ages, and museum-school outreach programs and materials extend statewide. In early 1986, as a response to the growth of the collections, the society will open a new state historical museum on the Capitol Concourse (at 30 North Carroll Street), containing new museum exhibits, museum education and public programs, and the museum gift shop.

Administrative Services plans building space needs, handles personnel matters and employe contract administration, supervises property management, insurance, payroll, financial and budgetary matters of the society, supervises clerical services, and manages the physical plant and security of the society headquarters building.

Interagency Relationships: The society director, together with representatives from the Department of Transportation, the Department of Natural Resources, the State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and the Department of Development form the Historical Markers Council, which selects and erects historical markers across the state. Under a cooperative agreement, the society writes the markers' texts and arranges for the production of the markers.

The society's archivist sits as a member of the Public Records and Forms Board, which manages a state records retention program in cooperation with the Department of Administration and other state agencies. The archivist's role in the program is judging the historical value of records slated for destruction and arranging for the storage of historically useful records in the state archives.

The society works closely with the Department of Natural Resources in developing the historical and archeological elements in various state parks and forests. It cooperates with the state Department of Public Instruction in providing materials on Wisconsin history to Wisconsin schools, and with the University Board of Regents in providing resources in American history for university students and faculty members.

Total Budget 1983-85: $2,502,814,700.

Statutory Reference: Article X, Section 1, Wisconsin Constitution; Section 15.37, Statutes.

History: The Department of Public Instruction is under the direction of the state superintendent, an office created by Article X, Sec. 1, of the Wisconsin Constitution and originally established on August 16, 1848. The constitution provides that "The supervision of public instruction shall be vested in a state superintendent and such other officers as the legislature shall direct; and their qualifications, powers, duties and compensations shall be prescribed by law ...."

The statutes of the Territory of Wisconsin adopted in 1838-39 provided for the establishment of common schools. Each town containing 10 families was to constitute a school district, and the voters of each such town were to elect 5 school inspectors whose duties were to examine teachers, visit the schools, and maintain the schoolhouses. There was no territorial agency concerned with education. The convention which produced the Constitution of 1846 provided that the supervision of public instruction should be vested in a state superintendent and such other officers as the legislature might direct. The legislature was to provide for either the election or the appointment of the superintendent and to prescribe that office's powers and duties. Convention debate centered on the need for the office — it was urged that there could be no uniform system of education without a superintendent — and on the method of selection. The election method was finally chosen by the convention.

The Council on Library and Network Development was created in the department by Chapter 347, Laws of 1979, replacing the Council on Library Development and the Council on Public Library Certificates and Standards.

The Council on Exceptional Education was created by Chapter 89, Laws of 1973.

Organization: The superintendent of public instruction is elected in the nonpartisan spring election for a term of 4 years. In addition to holding this constitutional office, the superintendent serves as the head of the Department of Public Instruction (DPI). A deputy state superintendent is appointed to act for the state superintendent in the superintendent's absence. There are 5 assistant state superintendents each of whom is the administrator of a division within the department.

Agency Responsibility: The DPI is charged with the responsibility of providing direction to and supervision of public elementary and secondary education in Wisconsin. This responsibility is implemented through programs and services designed to provide professional supervision of and consultation to local school districts; to supplement local tax resources with state funds in order that all pupils will have equal educational opportunities; to ensure that handicapped children receive an education; to improve, through continuing research and development, curricula and school operations; to provide proper guidance and counseling for all pupils; to develop school and public library resources; and to coordinate and oversee the use of various federal aids.

Unit Functions:

The Division for Handicapped Children and Pupil Services coordinates pupil services activities such as counseling, nursing, psychology, and social work, and administers, monitors, and supervises special education and medical and related services for children with exceptional educational needs. The division is responsible for statewide coordination of local efforts to implement Subchapter V, Chapter 115, Wis. Stats.; P.L. 94-142, the federal Education of All Handicapped Children Act; the federal Education of the Handicapped Act; and for administering parts of Title V of the Social Security Act of 1935. The division also operates the Wisconsin School for the Visually Handicapped and Educational Services Center for the Visually Impaired and the Wisconsin School for the Deaf and Educational Services Center for the Hearing Impaired.

The Division for Instructional Services provides supervisory and consultative services, technical assistance, and resource materials for local school districts. This includes assistance and direction in curriculum development and implementation, instructional methods/strategies, state level pupil testing and local district pupil competency testing, and school improvement. The division administers Career Education Incentive Act funds, the Parker Project, and Youth Initiative Programs, and provides Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA) linkages. The division administers federal programs under the Education Consolidation and Improvement Act — Chapter 1, Civil Rights Act (Title IV), Vocational Education Act, and bilingual education. The division monitors school district compliance with various statutory and code requirements. It is responsible for reviewing programs at colleges and universities which lead to certification to serve in the public schools and for licensing of all public school teachers as well as those private school teachers who wish to be so licensed.

The Division for Library Services administers all state and federal programs related to public and school libraries and to librarians and for library cooperation. The division is organized into 3 bureaus: the Bureau for Library Development, the Bureau for Reference and Loan Services, and the Bureau for Instructional Media and Technology.

The Division for School Financial Resources and Management Services provides for payment of state and federal school aids, financial review of school accounts, budget and finance consultation, and school finance data collection, analysis, and publication. Consultant services are provided in the areas of data processing, school district reorganization, school transportation, private school liaison and home instruction, community education, school facilities, school district long-range finance and asset management, and school district management and planning. The division is responsible for school food and nutrition services, including the national school lunch program, special milk program, nutrition education and training, and donated food distribution. The division's educational opportunity program provides counsel and assistance to disadvantaged students throughout the state who are seeking post-secondary school education and training.

The Division for Management and Budget provides administrative and staff services to the state superintendent and the operating divisions of the department, including financial management, audit, and fiscal systems; legal services; personnel and employment relations; affirmative action; fleet and general office services; word processing services; federal civil rights compliance; management systems and policy development; evaluation services; systems and data processing services; and publications and public information services. The division also is responsible for development of the department biennial budget, administrative rules coordination, bill analyses and fiscal note preparation, maintenance of education statistics, and assistance to local school districts in race desegregation and sex equity.

The Council on the Education of the Blind advises the state superintendent regarding services, problems, and policies affecting the visually handicapped.

The Council on Exceptional Education consults with the state superintendent on programs, policies, and rules relating to the educational needs of exceptional children. The council may report biennially to the legislature on the progress made by special education programs and planning in the state.

The Council on Library and Network Development advises the state superintendent and the administrator of the Division for Library Services in performing their duties in regard to library services.

Interagency Relationships: The department works and cooperates with a variety of federal, state, and local governmental agencies in carrying out its responsibilities. It works with the U.S. Department of Education in carrying out responsibilities under the Education of the Handicapped Act and Education of All Handicapped Children Act, the Education Consolidation and Improvement Act of 1981, the Vocational Education Act, and the Library Services and Construction Act, and with the U.S. Department of Agriculture on the commodity distribution program.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION

American Indian Language and Culture Education Board

COOPERATIVE EDUCATIONAL SERVICE AGENCIES
July 1, 1984

The department maintains continuing liaison with local and school district officials in carrying out financial and other assistance programs to local schools. The department provides information to the Department of Administration, the Legislative Fiscal Bureau, the Department of Natural Resources, and other state agencies on a continuing basis. The department relies on the Department of Revenue for reports of full-value determinations for taxable property throughout the state to determine the amount of state aid to local school districts.

In addition, the department has both direct and intermediate relationships with various federal programs dealing with Indian education, federal aid for impacted areas, and other special educational needs. Close cooperation with the Department of Health and Social Services is essential, especially in regard to services involving certain categories of handicapped, alcohol and other drug abuse, and health preservation, including referral, immunization, and treatment as well as with regard to conditions and circumstances which place at risk students' well being and education.

In implementing the vocational education program in Wisconsin, the department works closely with the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education (VTAE). By joint agreement, a pool of federal vocational education funds has been set aside for the DPI and VTAE system to provide occupational preparation opportunities for 16-to-18-year-old high school students. Partnerships are being expanded and enhanced through the Parker Project and through the prioritization of career education projects which develop linkages with business and industry. Special attention to the development of additional linkages with service deliverers in the community is directed through the department's participation in the federal Job Training Partnership Act. The Parker Project, a joint venture of the DPI and the Parker Pen Company through the Parker Fund of the Janesville Foundation, is designed to make elementary and secondary education and vocational training more relevant for youth entering the world of work.

History: Chapter 100, Laws of 1971, signed into law on October 11, 1971, mandated the merger of Wisconsin's 2 systems of public higher education to form the University of Wisconsin System.

The University of Wisconsin, officially created pursuant to Art. X, Sec. 6, of the State Constitution, implemented by Chapter 20, Laws of 1848, is a land-grant institution, whose establishment and location were decreed by laws enacted by the Territorial Legislature (1836, 1838, 1839).

The origin of the Wisconsin State Universities System was in Chapter 82, Laws of 1857, which provided funds for a normal school system and created the Board of Regents of Normal Schools. The first institution opened at Platteville in 1866, and the ninth, 50 years later at Eau Claire. In 1927 the 9 normal schools were authorized to offer baccalaureate degree programs, becoming state teachers colleges. With the addition of varied liberal arts programs, they became state colleges in 1951 (Chapter 548); and in 1964 their status was changed to that of state universities. Chapter 75 Laws of 1967, renamed the governing body, designating it the Board of Regents of State Universities.

A Merger Implementation Study Committee, established by Chapter 100, was charged with the responsibility of studying the issues and making recommendations by January 31, 1973, to the Board of Regents and the Legislature on consolidating the statutes governing the University of Wisconsin and the Wisconsin State Universities (Chapters 36 and 37, respectively) and on related issues. It completed its work on schedule and forwarded a proposed statutory charter to the Legislature.

Between January 1973 and May 1974, the merger implementation bill went through months of additions and deletions as legislative committees deliberated. However, as approved by the Governor, the bill was essentially the same as the proposition submitted by the Merger Implementation Committee.

On May 21, 1974, the state Legislature passed the final merger implementation bill. The Governor signed the bill and it was published on July 8, recreating Chapter 36 of the statutes and providing a single statutory charter to govern public higher education in Wisconsin.

Organization: Under the historic 1971 merger law, these 2 systems were combined under a single board of regents, creating a complex of 13 universities, 14 two-year centers (now 13) and statewide extension, now serving 160,000 students and ranked as the fifth largest system of higher education in the nation. Each degree-granting institution in the new system is named "University of Wisconsin --", with the location or name following; each two-year campus is called "University of Wisconsin Center --", followed by the location or name. Chapter 100 specified that the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin System would ultimately consist of 16 members, including the state superintendent of public instruction, the president of the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education and 14 citizen members appointed by the governor with approval of the Senate, for staggered 7-year terms. However, during the initial merger period, the system was governed by a 21-member board composed of all but 2 members of both original boards. The number of regents was gradually decreased by term expirations until the official membership limit of 16 was reached on May 1, 1974.

The board is empowered to appoint the president of the University of Wisconsin System, the chancellors of the 13 universities, and the administrative officers of the UW Centers and of University Extension, as well as the deans who head each of the 13 two-year centers.

The system administration is responsible to the president and assists the Board of Regents in establishing policies, reviewing the administration of such policies and planning the programmatic, financial and physical development of the system.

Agency Responsibility: The University System provides postsecondary, undergraduate, academic education for more than 135,000 Wisconsin residents. Graduate and professional education is offered at 11 of the universities, with doctoral programs concentrated at Madison and Milwaukee.

The system's 3 prime areas of responsibility are teaching, service and research. The "Wisconsin Idea" refers to the university's commitment to the state signified by the oft-quoted statement that "The boundaries of the campus are the boundaries of the state". Essentially this means providing education, service and the fruits of research to benefit the citizens of the state. The University System is dedicated to this historic concept under its organization.

Unit Functions:

The Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin System is responsible for establishing policies for governing the system, planning to meet future state needs for collegiate education, and appointing the executive head of the system and the executive heads of each of the institutions in the system, all of whom serve at the pleasure of the board. It sets admission standards and policies, reviews and approves university budgets and establishes the regulatory framework within which the individual units are allowed to operate with as great a degree of autonomy as possible.

The President of the University of Wisconsin System has full executive responsibility for operation and management of the system. He carries out the duties prescribed in the Wisconsin Statutes and implements the policies set forth by the regents. He manages and coordinates the operations of the system administrative offices and the units of the system. He has responsibility for fiscal control, maintaining management-planning information, developing a single budget and coordinating academic program review, evaluation and development on all campuses.

The Executive Vice President is deputy to the president of the system, serves as acting president in his absence, and has administrative responsibility for the functions of the system administrative offices.

The Chancellors are the executive heads of their respective faculties and institutions and are vested with the responsibility of administering board policies under the coordinating direction of the president. They are accountable and report to the president and the board on the operation and administration of their institutions. Subject to board policy, the chancellors, in consultation with their faculties, are responsible for designing curricula and setting degree requirements; determining academic standards and establishing grading systems; defining and administering institutional standards for faculty peer evaluation and screening candidates for appointment, promotion and tenure; recommending individual merit increases; administering associated auxiliary services; and administering all funds, from whatever source, allocated, generated or intended for use of their institutions.

Universities: The universities of the system are grouped into 3 organizational "clusters," based on type of mission. The doctoral cluster includes the University of Wisconsin-Madison and the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. The other 11 universities in the system form the "university cluster." Listed according to size of enrollment in the fall of 1984, they are UW-Oshkosh, UW-Eau Claire, UW-Whitewater, UW-Stevens Point, UW-La Crosse, UW-Stout, UW-Parkside, UW-Platteville, UW-River Falls, UW-Green Bay and UW-Superior. Of these 11 in the "university cluster" category, 2 (UW-Green Bay and UW-Stout) have been designated as "special mission" campuses.

A third organizational grouping, the "outreach cluster," includes 2 components:

The UW Centers, 13 campuses which provide freshman-sophomore instruction designed primarily to facilitate transfer to degree-granting campuses; and

The University of Wisconsin-Extension, which provides degree credit and continuing education in a wide range of areas and extends vital public services to residents throughout Wisconsin as a key means of implementing the celebrated "Wisconsin Idea".

Interagency Relationships: The far-ranging nature of the University System brings it into contact with a wide variety of federal, state and local agencies. Chief among those at the federal level are the Department of Education; the National Science Foundation; the National Aeronautics and Space Administration; the Agency for International Development; the National Institutes of Health; the Nuclear Regulatory Commission; and the Departments of State, Labor, Commerce, Agriculture, Defense, Interior, and Transportation.

The University Hospital and Clinics have a close working relationship with the Veterans Administration Hospital in Madison. Students and interns also spend time in 14 private hospitals in Madison, Milwaukee, Marshfield and La Crosse, with which the Medical School is affiliated.

On the state level, the University System is represented on the Educational Communications Board, which is responsible for planning, coordinating and overseeing public educational radio and television systems and programming. The units of the system cooperate closely with the Higher Educational Aids Board in providing financial aid to students. Since dissolution of the Coordinating Council for Higher Education, the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin System cooperates with the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education in planning new programs and coordinating efforts to meet the educational needs of the state. Other state agencies with which the University System works closely are the Building Commission, the Department of Administration, the State Historical Society, and the following departments: Health and Social Services; Industry, Labor and Human Relations; Justice; Development; Natural Resources; Public Instruction; and Veterans Affairs.

UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN — ASSOCIATED INSTITUTE AND ORGANIZATIONS CREATED BY LAW

WISCONSIN GEOLOGICAL AND NATURAL HISTORY SURVEY

Director and State Geologist: MEREDITH E. OSTROM.

Mailing Address: 3817 Mineral Point Road, Madison 53711.

Telephone: (608) 262-1705.

Publications: Numerous maps and publications on geology, minerals, water, soils and other natural resources. List available on request.

Statutory Reference: Section 36.25 (6).

History: The Geological and Natural History Survey, sponsored primarily by the University of Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts, and Letters, was created in 1897 by act of the Legislature. It was designated a distinct and separate statutory unit assigned the responsibility to "... study the geology, water, soils, plants, fish and animal life of the state and ... (to) ... continue the topographic mapping of the state ...". The survey was initially responsible to an ex officio commission consisting of the governor, the state superintendent of public instruction, the president of the University of Wisconsin, the president of the Commissioners of Fisheries, and the president of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences, Arts, and Letters. In 1931 the administration of the survey was transferred to the Board of Regents of the University of Wisconsin, which was directed to appoint and employ, on the same basis as other members of the faculty, a state geologist, who would perform such functions as provided by law and have charge of such portions of the survey and perform such other duties as the regents might deem advisable. In 1964 the university reorganized and consolidated its extension activities, and the survey became a unit in the new University Extension. In 1966 the survey was assigned as a department to the Division of Economic and Environmental Development of University of Wisconsin-Extension. As part of the 1982 reorganization of University of Wisconsin - Extension, the survey became a special missions unit in the new Division of Cooperative Extension Service.

Organization: The Geological and Natural History Survey is a special missions unit in the University of Wisconsin-Extension Division of Cooperative Extension Service. The state geologist and director is appointed by the Board of Regents on the same basis as university faculty. Internally the survey is subdivided into a Research Programs and Public Service Unit and an Administration, Support Services, and Information Outreach Unit. The Research Programs and Public Service Unit includes Research Support Services and the survey's 6 research subprograms: Geology, Mineral Resources, Water Resources, Soils, Biology, and Climatology. Leadership in each subprogram or section is provided by a section head, appointed by the director. Permanent staff positions consist of the equivalent of 9.37 FTE faculty, 9.13 FTE specialists, and 5.00 FTE classified staff. Fixed term project positions consist of the equivalent of 7.6 FTE specialists. In addition, there are a number of other persons involved in a cooperative cost-sharing program with the U.S. Geological Survey.

Agency Responsibility: The survey has the broad statutory mission to inventory, investigate and analyze Wisconsin's land, water, and other natural resources. It has no regulatory or enforcement responsibilities. Specifically, it is the survey's mission to: 1) function as a repository of records and to develop and gather basic facts, both quantitative and qualitative, on lands, water, and other resources, by investigating the nature, occurrence, distribution, and interrelations of these resources; 2) through research and interpretation develop a usable body of knowledge on these resources; 3) provide information and advice on natural resources to all citizens, government, and industry as the basis for wise resource use and planning through service, publications, correspondence, and conferences; and 4) develop educational materials. The survey also has the responsibility to coordinate the state's topographic mapping, which is done in cooperation with the U.S. Geological Survey with financial support from the state Departments of Transportation and Natural Resources.

The general responsibilities of the survey are to: 1) conduct geologic, water, soil, climatologic, and biologic research and mapping throughout the state, to publish pertinent results, and act as a clearinghouse and repository for information on these subjects; 2) locate and identify areas of high mineral and rock resource potential in all areas of the state and to disseminate this information to all persons; 3) locate and identify areas in which geologic, water, and soils factors influence or should affect man's patterns of use of the earth's land and water resources; 4) provide general information and technical assistance to the public and to the mining industry, particularly in matters of mineral explorations, leasing, and development, and to assist in the advancement of the state's mining industry through public information activities; 5) assist in regulation and taxation of mining by membership on committees and technical assistance to the Wisconsin Departments of Natural Resources; Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection; Transportation; Development; Revenue; and Justice; 6) study, evaluate, and analyze water resources; 7) study soil characteristics as the basis for more useful soil classification for purposes of land use planning; and 8) coordinate and arrange for topographic mapping of the entire state and serve as distributor of the topographic maps.

UW – GEOLOGICAL AND NATURAL HISTORY SURVEY

Unit Functions: The 6 survey and research program areas of the survey are highly interrelated but have specific functions. Each section gathers, analyzes, and interprets data and makes it available in the form of an extensive information and correspondence file and through publications, pamphlets, maps, conferences and answers to requests. The information finds broad application to problems and concerns related to mineral resources, mining, water supply, construction siting, utility routing, waste disposal, pollution, natural hazards, and industrial, municipal, agricultural and recreational development.

The Geology Section conducts geological and geophysical surveys to investigate the character and distribution of rock formations and mineral resources. It gathers and analyzes this information and assists government, private individuals, and industry with its interpretation and utilization.

The Water Resources Section collects and analyzes information on water resources and conducts surveys to determine the quantity and quality of both ground and surface water, investigates specific water resources problems, and helps develop management tools such as digital models of water supply systems. Much of this work is done in cooperation with the DNR and some is done on a 50/50 cost-sharing basis with the U.S. Geological Survey.

The Mineral Resources and Mining Section conducts geological surveys to develop information on the character and distribution of mineral and rock resources as the basis for locating useful deposits. It gathers, analyzes, and stores information on these resources, and assists the public and private individuals and industry in matters relating to minerals and mining.

The Soils Section conducts studies to determine the physical and chemical properties of soils as the basis for improving soil classification and correlation techniques and, thus, increasing the usefulness of detailed soil surveys for purposes of land use planning and management and for agriculture. It also conducts reconnaissance soil surveys and integrates soils information on a statewide basis.

The Biology Section collects and analyzes information on biological resources, conducts surveys to determine their character and distribution, and investigates specific problems.

The Climatology Section collects and analyzes climatologic information and conducts climatologic studies to assist agriculture, industry, environmental agencies, recreation and tourist activities, and educational institutions to the economic benefit of the state.

The Administration, Support Services and Information Outreach Unit includes budgeting and program planning as well as Business Operations, Technical Support Services and Information Outreach.

Interagency Relationships: The Geological and Natural History Survey has cooperative cost-sharing programs with the U.S. Geological Survey in water resources and topographic mapping. It has a statement of agreement with the U.S. Bureau of Mines to provide mineral production and mining information and an assignment to complete an atlas of drilling and mine records in southwest Wisconsin. In addition, the survey has conducted projects on funding from various counties and local units of government, the U.S. Bureau of Mines, the U.S. Department of Energy, and other agencies.

The survey provides information and support to many state agencies. It works in especially close cooperation with the Department of Natural Resources in the production of topographic maps and in the provision of information on water resources, geology, minerals, and soils characteristics as the basis for resource management, regulation, and law enforcement; the Department of Transportation in the production of topographic maps and in provision of information on geology, soils and water conditions as they relate to highway and bridge construction; the Department of Revenue on questions of land and mineral taxation and valuation; the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations on questions of mine safety and employment; the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection on ground water quality and soils characteristics; the Commissioners of Public Lands on questions of mineral rights and exploration and mining leases; the Public Service Commission on questions of utility location and routing and of construction siting; the attorney general on questions of resource occurrence, character, and distribution; and the Department of Development on questions of mineral and water resource potential and development. The survey also works in cooperation with certain of the county and regional planning commissions.

Within the University System the survey works very closely with various extension units and campus departments.

As a unit of UW-Extension the survey participates in and has a strong commitment to educational and informational outreach. This is exemplified by its involvement in statewide extension programs and participation in education networks. The survey works very closely with county resource agents, and through them with county and local government, on specific local problems.

Statutory Reference: Sections 15.915 (2).

U.W. – LABORATORY OF HYGIENE

U.W. – HYGIENE LABORATORY

History: The Laboratory of Hygiene was created by Chapter 344, Laws of 1903, within the University of Wisconsin for teaching and research into public health issues and to function as the official laboratory of the State Board of Health (later Department of Health and Social Services). Under the reorganization act of 1967 (Chapter 75), its administrative committee became the Laboratory of Hygiene Board. The same act extended the laboratory's activities to include services to the Department of Natural Resources. Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, changed the composition of the board.

Organization: The board's members are the president of the University of Wisconsin System; the chancellor of the University of Wisconsin-Madison; the secretary of health and social services and an employe of the Department of Health and Social Services appointed by the secretary; the secretary of natural resources and an employe of the Department of Natural Resources appointed by the secretary; a representative of local public health agencies, but not from the Department of Health and Social Services, appointed by the governor for a 3-year term; or the designees of the ex officio members, none of whom shall be an employe of the laboratory. The director of the laboratory shall serve as a nonvoting member of the board.

The Laboratory of Hygiene Board functions as the focal point for program coordination between the laboratory and agencies it serves, setting priorities so that the laboratory can act in response to agencies' planned objectives and program priorities.

Agency Responsibility: The Laboratory of Hygiene provides complete laboratory services in the areas of water quality, air quality, public health and contagious diseases for appropriate state agencies and local health departments and performs examinations for physicians, health officers, local agencies, private citizens, and resource management officials as necessary for the prevention and control of diseases and environmental hazards which cause concern for public health and environmental quality.

The laboratory offers facilities for teaching and research in the fields of public health and environmental protection.

WISCONSIN PSYCHIATRIC RESEARCH INSTITUTE

Director: JOHN R. MARSHALL, M.D.

Mailing Address: 600 Highland Avenue, Madison 53792.

Telephone: (608) 263-6109.

Publications: Books, book chapters, and articles.

Statutory Reference: Sections 36.25 (12) and 46.044.

History: Originally opened in 1915 at Mendota State Hospital, the institute was transferred in 1925 to the University of Wisconsin.

Organization: The institute is a program of the University of Wisconsin-Madison Center for Health Sciences.

Agency Responsibility: The institute is an interdisciplinary program engaged exclusively in research and training in the mental health fields. It is not a clinical facility and is not directly engaged in patient treatment. Research projects range from those of a basic science nature relevant to psychiatry to applied clinical research. They are published in appropriate scientific journals.

INDEPENDENT UNIT ATTACHED FOR BUDGETING, PROGRAM COORDINATION AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

PHARMACY INTERNSHIP BOARD

Members: MEREDITH NELSON, PAMELA PLOETZ (members of Pharmacy Examining Board appointed by board); CAB A. BOND, AUGUST P. LEMBERGER (UW School of Pharmacy faculty appointed by dean); DANIEL ADAMCZYK, THOMAS POLLARD (members of Wisconsin Pharmaceutical Association appointed by association); FRANCES MARY KERSCHER (public member).

Director: RICHARD KRUMBIEGEL.

Mailing Address: 1336 Chamberlin Hall, University of Wisconsin-Madison, 1150 University Avenue, Madison 53706.

Telephone: (608) 262-3717.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.915 (3).

History: The Pharmacy Internship Board was created originally as the Pharmacy Internship Commission by Chapter 351, Laws of 1965. It was renamed a board and placed under the newly created Department of Regulation and Licensing by Chapter 75, Laws of 1967. In 1979 (Chapter 34) the board was transferred to the University of Wisconsin as an independent agency attached to the university.

Organization: The board consists of 7 members: 2 member of the Pharmacy Examining Board appointed by that board, 2 members of the University of Wisconsin School of Pharmacy faculty appointed by the dean of the school, 2 members appointed by the Wisconsin Pharmaceutical Association, and one public member appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. The members not appointed by the Pharmacy Examining Board serve staggered 5-year terms. The board appoints a full-time director outside the classified service.

Agency Responsibility: The Pharmacy Internship Board plans and supervises the program, appoints a director to administer the program, and determines the fee to be charged to interns under the program. The board may promulgate rules relating to the pharmacy internship program.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.94.

History: The first system of vocational, technical and adult education in the United States was established in Wisconsin in 1911. In that year, the Wisconsin Legislature created the State Board of Industrial Education (Chapter 616). Its purpose was to provide part-time educational opportunities for youth and adults who were not enrolled in the regular schools. Prior to 1911, there had been various efforts to provide for industrial training. In 1907, the Legislature passed a law which permitted any city to maintain a trade school for persons 16 or over as part of its public school system and another which permitted a city to establish a technical school or college under the control of the school board or of a special board.

As a result of the recommendations of an interim committee and of Governor McGovern, the Legislature established a state board in 1911; created the position of assistant for industrial education in the state superintendent's office; provided for the establishment of local boards of industrial education in municipalities of over 5,000 inhabitants which would maintain industrial, commercial, continuation and evening school; and appropriated state aid for these schools.

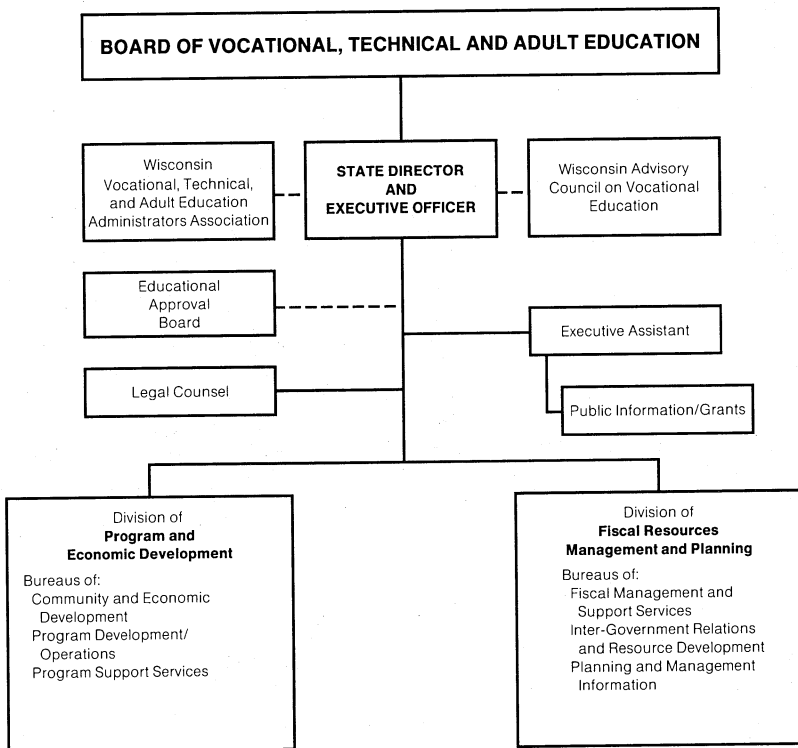

In 1917, the composition of the board was changed, and the board was authorized to employ a director of vocational education, who would replace the state superintendent as executive officer in directing the administration of the law. In 1937 (Chapter 349) the board was renamed the State Board of Vocational and Adult Education, which it remained until Chapter 292, Laws of 1965, made it the State Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education.

Organization: The Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education is composed of 12 members. Three of the members are ex officio (the state superintendent of public instruction or designee, the secretary of industry, labor and human relations or designee, and the president of the University Board of Regents or vice president if designated). Nine of the members are appointed by the governor for staggered 6-year terms. Of these, 3 are employers, 3 are employees, and 3 are farmers. The board employs a director to carry out the administrative functions of the agency. The agency includes 2 divisions, each divided into bureaus, and an Office of State and Federal Affairs.

Agency Responsibility: The Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education establishes policy for the direction of vocational, technical and adult education programs of the state. Through control of federal and state aids, the agency supervises curriculum standards and personnel qualifications for offerings in post high school vocational and technical education including adult basic, manpower training, job skill improvement, apprenticeship-related training, collegiate transfer, some continuation programs, and a number of allied educational activities.

Wisconsin is divided into 16 regional vocational, technical and adult education districts, which include 41 individual campuses. The Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education and its administrative agency play important roles in supervising programs and other aspects of operations of the districts, which serve all areas and all persons in the state.

BOARD OF VOCATIONAL, TECHNICAL AND ADULT EDUCATION

Unit attached for administrative purposes under Sec. 15.03: Educational Approval Board

VOCATIONAL EDUCATION

The local boards and administrations of Wisconsin VTAE districts are responsible for operating schools and programs in the system, and thus constitute the delivery system meeting the needs, interests and abilities of students and the labor market. To further these purposes, the districts are provided consultation, coordination and support services by the State VTAE Board staff.

Districts have unique demographic, geographic and economic characteristics, and programs are tailored to meet local needs within the uniform program standards of the board. Each of the districts has an appointed board composed of 9 members who serve 3-year staggered terms. District boards are composed of 3 employers, 3 employees, a school district administrator, and 2 at-large members. At least 2 of the 9 members must be local elected officials. The district boards are empowered to levy a tax on property, provide for facilities and equipment, contract for instructional services, and appoint a director who serves as chief executive officer for the district.

District directors, as executive heads of their facilities and institutions, are responsible for local administration, including academic standards and grading, hiring instructional staff and other staff, auxiliary services and budget management.

Unit Functions:

The Division of Program and Economic Development includes 3 bureaus.

The Bureau of Program Development and Operations has responsibility for program approval, program audit, program review, program definition, and includes specific focus on the occupational skill areas of agriculture, office education, marketing, home economics (including family and consumer education), health occupations, trade and industry (apprenticeship, fire service, law enforcement, safety, technical education, and vocational education), general education, adult basic education, and environmental education, as well as liaison to secondary schools.

The Bureau of Program Support Services has responsibility for Educational Approval Board liaison, research, curriculum development, professional development, student services (including financial aids), student organizations, educational technology, and program evaluation.

The Bureau of Community and Economic Development has responsibility for personnel certification and audit, federal projects for the handicapped and disadvantaged, adult and continuing education outreach, Job Training and Partnership Act projects, and liaison with business and industry focusing on occupational training and retraining for economic development.

The Division of Finance and Planning develops and coordinates budgeting, planning and policy analysis. It is responsible for facilities development, research, labor market information, legislative analysis, resource development, management information, audit, review of district budgets and policies, and affirmative action. In addition, it provides administrative services including accounting, data processing, purchasing, personnel, word processing, and general office services. Within the division, coordination of solicitation of extramural resources from both the federal government and the private sector is carried out.

Interagency Relationships: The board is designated by state law as the state agency which "shall cooperate with the U.S. Office of Education in execution of the provisions of the U.S. Vocational Education Act and any federal statutes pertaining to vocational, technical and adult education and amendatory or supplementary acts thereto." Federally aided secondary vocational education in Wisconsin is supervised by the Department of Public Instruction under an arrangement with the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education.

In order to ensure appropriate cooperative arrangements in all areas of higher education, the VTAE system maintains a close working relationship with the University of Wisconsin System. Three joint advisory committees have been established in order to keep communication lines open. The Joint Administrative Committee on Continuing Education provides a vehicle for dialogue in order to ensure efficient delivery of educational services and maximize areas of cooperation between the two systems. The Joint Administrative Committee on Academic Programs is a liaison committee serving as a vehicle to provide intersystem planning coordination between the two systems of higher education. A Joint Committee on Facilities has been established and has been quite successful to date in exploring ways of sharing and utilization of campuses.

The agency also cooperates with the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, the Department of Public Instruction, and local Private Industry Councils (PICs) in administering the Job Training Partnership Act in Wisconsin. The agency determines statewide priorities, goals, and objectives for a portion of the funds, and awards grants to VTAE districts to provide training to eligible economically disadvantaged participants in accordance with the priorities.

The state board maintains close working relations with the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction in developing vocational and technical education opportunities for all people in the state, and for facilitating articulation between secondary and postsecondary programs.

The VTAE system and the University of Wisconsin System have also developed a strong commitment to maintain effective administrative cooperation in serving the state's residents. Moreover, the board works effectively with the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations and the Wisconsin Job Service on questions of apprentice training, labor market information, placement services, and other programs and issues.

The board is advised by the Wisconsin Advisory Council on Vocational Education, which evaluates and reports on the VTAE system's educational programs, and assists the board in developing the long-range and annual plans.

Special educational services are provided for the disadvantaged, and an open door admissions policy is mandatory under state law and board policy.

The board and agency also cooperate with many other governmental and educational agencies, local, state and national, having mutual responsibilities.

AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

EDUCATIONAL APPROVAL BOARD

Educational Approval Board: EUGENE LEHRMANN, chairperson; RICHARD SAWICKI, vice chairperson; DONALD L. SNYDER, secretary; RONALD H. LINGREN, MARIAN J. SWOBODA, DAVID VAZQUEZ, WILLIAM R. WALKER.

Executive Secretary: DAVID R. STUCKI, 266-1996.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7874, Madison 53707; location: 310 Price Place.

Telephone: (608) 266-1996.

Publications: A Wisconsin Directory of Private Vocational and Trade Schools (issued several times each year).

Statutory Reference: Section 15.945.

History: The agency was created by Chapter 137, Laws of 1953, as the Governor's Educational Advisory Committee, with the purpose of approving and supervising schools and educational courses for the training of veterans under the various federal laws pertaining to veterans. The committee had existed as a creation of the governor since 1944. Chapter 438, Laws of 1957, authorized the committee to certify private vocational schools which were found by investigation to offer adequate courses, and to establish rules to prevent fraud and misrepresentation in the sale of courses offered by private vocational schools. In 1964, Chapter 568 gave the committee the responsibility for licensing agents (solicitors) for private vocational schools. Chapter 595, Laws of 1965, renamed the agency the Educational Approval Council. The council was attached to the Department of Public Instruction in 1967 by Chapter 214, and was renamed the Educational Approval Board. The Educational Approval Board was transferred to the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education by Chapter 125, Laws of 1971.

Organization: The Educational Approval Board consists of not more than 7 members, who represent state agencies and others interested in educational programs, appointed by the governor to serve at his pleasure. The Educational Approval Board is attached to the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education for administrative purposes only, exercising its functions independently.

Agency Responsibility: The Educational Approval Board has 2 main functions. Under state statutes, it is the designated state agency for the approval of institutional courses for veterans and other eligible persons enrolled under Title 38, United States Code. Courses in institutions located in Wisconsin, whether these institutions are public or private, profit or nonprofit, must be approved by the board before federal benefits will be paid to enrolled veterans. Criteria for approval are established by law and are a part of Title 38, U.S. Code. The second function of the board is the supervision and approval of all private profit schools (except schools of cosmetology), located in Wisconsin or elsewhere, which offer vocational, technical, or degree courses to Wisconsin residents.

Interagency Relationships: The Educational Approval Board receives federal funds, as provided in Sec. 38.51, Wis. Stats., in reimbursement for expenses incurred in approving and supervising courses of instruction for veterans enrolled under Title 38, U.S. Code. The board therefore works closely with the U.S. Veterans Administration. The board also has working relationships with the Federal Trade Commission, the Wisconsin Department of Justice, the Higher Educational Aids Board, and the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection.

History: Although the present Department of Natural Resources, headed by a Natural Resources Board, was created by the Reorganization Act of 1967 (Chapter 75), it was preceded by a considerable number of agencies, each concerned with different but interrelated natural resource responsibilities. The first Forestry Commission was established by the Legislature in 1867, and a Board of Fish Commissioners was established in 1874. The Governor appointed fish wardens in 1885 and game wardens in 1887. A Department of Forestry was organized in 1897 and a State Park Board was created in 1907. A Conservation Commission, with the task of recommending to the governor ways of preserving the state's natural resources, was created in 1911.

Chapter 406, Laws of 1915, created a Conservation Commission of 3 full-time commissioners, which assumed the functions of the Commissioners of Fisheries, Fish and Game Wardens, Board of Forestry and the Park Board. It was succeeded in 1923 (Chapter 118) by a single, full-time Conservation Commissioner.

In 1927 (Chapter 426) the Conservation Commissioner was changed back to a conservation agency headed by a 6-member, but part-time, commission. Under Section 23.09 of the statutes, the new commission was directed "to provide an adequate and flexible system for the protection, development and use of forests, fish and game, lakes, streams, plant life, flowers and other outdoor resources in the state of Wisconsin". The Conservation Commission and department operated under this structure from 1927 to 1967.

NATURAL RESOURCES

EXECUTIVE BRANCH: ENVIRONMENTAL RESOURCES

The Department of Resource Development was created by Chapter 442, Laws of 1959, when the Division of Industrial and Port Development in the Executive Department and the State Planning Division in the Bureau of Engineering were merged. Chapter 614, Laws of 1965, gave the department a major new function — water pollution control.

The 1967 reorganization act brought together closely related, traditional conservation tasks and newly emerging environmental protection responsibilities. It merged the Department of Resource Development with the Wisconsin Conservation Department to form the Department of Natural Resources.

The Scientific Areas Preservation Council (formerly the State Board for the Preservation of Scientific Areas) and the artificial lake creation function of the State Soil and Water Conservation Committee were transferred and merged into the department. The State Geographic Board was terminated and its functions absorbed into the department. The air pollution control function of the Board of Health and the conservation youth camps program of the Department of Public Welfare were also merged into the new department.

Since 1967, departmental divisions have changed and various councils have been attached to the department. The Conservation Congress, a private citizen group which celebrated its 50th anniversary in 1984, was specifically designated to serve the department in an advisory capacity by Chapter 179, Laws of 1971. Statutory advisory councils exist in the following areas: snowmobiles, air pollution, mining, waterways, motorcycle recreation, pesticides, scientific areas, inland lakes, and commercial fishing.

Organization: A 7-member, part-time Natural Resources Board is appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate to provide policy direction for the programs administered by the department. The board appoints a full-time secretary, who serves as the chief executive officer of the department at the pleasure of the board.

The board meets on the fourth Wednesday and Thursday of each month (third Wednesday and Thursday in November and December). From June through September, board meetings are held in different communities around Wisconsin, while October to May meetings are held in Madison. At each summer board meeting and at alternate meetings in Madison, the first hour of the meeting offers Wisconsin residents an opportunity to raise any natural resource or environmental issue with the board. To participate in these citizen question sessions, contact Judy Scullion at least 10 days before the board meeting, DNR, P.O. Box 7921, Madison 53707.

Four functional divisions have the primary responsibility for the department's programs: Enforcement, Environmental Standards, Resource Management, and Management Services.

The field operations of the department are under the direction of 6 district directors, each responsible for the total mission of the department in his or her district. District directors report to the office of the secretary in Madison.

Agency Responsibility: The department is responsible for implementing the laws of the state and, where applicable, laws of the federal government that protect and enhance Wisconsin's natural resources — its air, land, water, wildlife, fish and forests. It is the one agency charged with full responsibility to coordinate the many disciplines and programs necessary to provide for a clean environment and a full range of outdoor recreational opportunities for Wisconsin citizens and visitors.

Unit Functions:

Office of the Secretary: The secretary is responsible for management of the department in accordance with the statutes and the policies of the Natural Resources Board. The Office of the Secretary consists of the secretary, the deputy secretary, and an executive assistant. The following functions also report to that office: Legal Services, Intergovernmental Programs, and Education and Youth Programs.

The Field Districts: Department of Natural Resources field districts are under line control of a single district director, who is directly responsible to the Office of the Secretary. Program control and management of department operations are the main responsibilities of the director. Each of the districts is composed of a grouping of counties sharing common geographic or resource similarities or population focus to make service to the general public more accessible. A good portion of the environmental protection and resource management decision-making process has been localized using decentralized authority vested in the district director.

Through that existing policy concurred with by a recent management consultant report, the 6 districts and 15 area offices maintain much of the department program control in the field. The district directors and area directors are also responsible for staff, properties, equipment and programs, with the Madison central office staff serving in a support capacity to the field and secretary.

Increased emphasis in the area of environmental protection has transferred some of the central office employees to the districts to provide direct program support to the district director and the program in the field. Citizen participation and public information programs are developed locally.

Examples of the increased control of department programs in the field includes decision-making authority in areas including: water regulation permits, environmental impact assessments, land acquisition, land appraisals, just compensation statements, timber sales, chemical control permits for birds doing crop damage, industrial and municipal self-monitoring waste discharge report reviews, wood waste and demolition waste site disposal approvals, conservation aids payments, private fish hatchery permits, land use permits for private use of department lands, and public hunting leases on private lands.

Division of Enforcement: The Division of Enforcement is charged with directing a coordinated program of law enforcement covering all of the DNR's program responsibilities including environmental actions, fish and wildlife violations, water management and zoning matters, air pollution control, and solid waste management. The Bureau of Law Enforcement has planning and coordination responsibilities of all laws and regulations pertaining to the protection, management and use of Wisconsin's natural resources. The bureau designs and conducts hunter, boating and snowmobile safety training classes through the use of citizen volunteers. It also handles all law enforcement recruitment programs. The Bureau of Water Regulation and Zoning manages state surface water levels, the design of dams and other structures in state waters, and plans and supervises shoreland zoning and floodplain regulation. It has an intensive program of helping local units of government protect the lives and property of their citizens through proper floodplain management. The Office of Environmental Enforcement has an overall charge to develop and implement enforcement programs statewide covering air pollution, public and private water supplies, water pollution and solid waste management. The Bureau of Environmental Analysis and Review, formerly the Bureau of Environmental Impact, directs and coordinates compliance with the Wisconsin Environmental Policy Act.

The Division of Environmental Standards plans, supervises and coordinates water quality standards development, water quality planning, water supply, groundwater, toxics management, air pollution control and solid waste management programs. Unlike some states, where the federal government administers environmental programs, Wisconsin has given responsibility to the DNR for air, water, wastewater and solid waste programs. The division helps implement several Wisconsin Fund grant programs for solid waste planning, recycling sewage treatment and nonpoint source water pollution control. Special efforts are being made to encourage Wisconsinites to help DNR protect public health and the environment from toxic and hazardous substances in air, surface waters and in groundwater.

The Division of Resource Management has been given the responsibility by the citizens of this state to take the lead in helping them conserve, protect and manage Wisconsin's outdoor resources in the best interests of all citizens, now and in the future. In providing that leadership, it works closely with and seeks advice from the Wisconsin Conservation Congress, an independent group concerned with matters of resource management and protection, and other citizen groups including those interested in hunter-landowner relations, recreational opportunities provided by the state park system, and the protection of threatened and endangered resources, both plant and animal. Fish and wildlife managers help plan and coordinate the maintenance and improvement of fish and wildlife populations and habitat on both public and private lands. Foresters emphasize the multiple use concept of forest management programs on state and municipal forest lands and assist private woodlot owners and the wood-using industries of the state. Foresters are also charged with preventing and controlling forest fires on both public and private lands. It is the responsibility of the Bureau of Parks and Recreation to plan and coordinate the acquisition, development and operation of the state park and trail systems. The Bureau of Endangered Resources, now totally supported by taxpayers' voluntary contributions on annual income tax forms, is developing a new and increasingly popular program to protect and manage plants, fish, amphibians, reptiles and other wildlife that are not harvested, or are threatened or endangered. The Bureau of Research conducts and coordinates research in various resource and environmental fields. The Office of Lands plans, supervises and coordinates land acquisition programs of the department.

The Division of Management Services provides services in data processing, typing, personnel, affirmative action, word processing, printing, mail and supply, employe assistance information and education.

Interagency Relationships: DNR works closely with state and federal agencies to coordinate programs, produce educational materials, conduct research and provide technical assistance to local governments and individuals on subjects ranging from enhancing wildlife habitat to protecting groundwater.

The department's agreement with the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection (DATCP) to coordinate DNR and DATCP animal waste management and nonpoint pollution programs is typical of the many formal and informal arrangements agencies use to work together. The agreement includes cooperative field work and uniform standards for practices intended to limit water pollution from animal waste or soil erosion and to provide cost-sharing grants to farmers. In addition, DNR and DATCP work with county conservation agencies and federal agencies such as the Soil Conservation Service to coordinate state, federal and local programs in each county.

DNR regulations are often developed after consultation with other agencies. For example, DNR groundwater specialists work with health experts in the Department of Health and Social Services to develop groundwater quality standards designed to protect human health. DNR and other agencies use these standards to guide regulatory programs limiting the use of agricultural and industrial chemicals and disposal of wastes when necessary to protect groundwater quality.

Counties administer shoreland, floodplain and septic tank regulations and the wildlife damage program using state standards. DNR provides technical and financial assistance to counties as they carry out these responsibilities.

Just as counties administer programs using state standards, interagency agreements with the federal Environmental Protection Agency allow DNR to administer the federal water and air pollution control laws in Wisconsin using federal minimum standards.

INDEPENDENT UNITS ATTACHED FOR BUDGETING, PROGRAM COORDINATION AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

WISCONSIN WATERWAYS COMMISSION

Wisconsin Waterways Commission: VERNON BARBER, MARY MORAVEC, 3 vacancies.

Liaison: ERIC P. JENSEN.

Telephone: (608) 266-2359.

Total Budget 1983-85: Program currently not funded.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.345 (1).

History: The Wisconsin Waterways Commission was created by Chapter 274, Laws of 1977. It is currently inactive.

Organization: The commission, which is attached to the Department of Natural Resources for administrative purposes under Section 15.03 of the statutes, is composed of 5 members nominated by the governor and with the advice and consent of the Senate appointed for staggered 5-year terms.

Agency Responsibility: The commission may have studies conducted to determine the need for recreational boating facilities, provide funds to municipalities for recreational boating project development, and recommend rules for promulgation by the department to implement the recreational facilities boating program.

LAKE MICHIGAN COMMERCIAL FISHING BOARD

Lake Michigan Commercial Fishing Board: DANIEL ANDERSON, RICHARD R. JOHNSON, JAMES MARICQUE, GILES PETERSON, GERALD ROUSAR, NANCY SKADDEN, DEAN SWAER.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.345 (3).

History: The Lake Michigan Commercial Fishing Board was created by Chapter 418, Laws of 1977.

Organization: The board, which is attached to the Department of Natural Resources for administrative purposes under Section 15.03 of the statutes, is composed of 7 members appointed by the governor to serve at his pleasure. Members include 5 licensed commercial fishers, one licensed fish dealer, and one state citizen.

Agency Responsibility: The board reviews and considers applications for transfers of commercial fishing licenses and approves or denies these applications based on rules issued by the department. The board also establishes criteria for allotting catch quotas to individual licensees, assigns catch quotas when the department establishes special harvest limits that must be allocated among licensees, and assists the department in establishing criteria for identifying inactive license holders.

LAKE SUPERIOR COMMERCIAL FISHING BOARD

Lake Superior Commercial Fishing Board: RONALD BOUTIN, HARVEY HADLAND, DAVID JOHNSON, LYNN LAITALA, 1 vacancy.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.345 (2).

History: The Lake Superior Commercial Fishing Board was created by Chapter 418, Laws of 1977.

Organization: The board, which is attached to the Department of Natural Resources for administrative purposes under Section 15.03 of the statutes, is composed of 5 members appointed by the governor to serve at his pleasure. The members include 3 licensed commercial fishers, one licensed fish dealer, and one state citizen.

Agency Responsibility: The board reviews and considers applications for transfers of commercial fishing licenses and approves or denies these applications based on rules issued by the department. The board also establishes criteria for allotting individual licensee catch quotas, allots catch quotas when the department establishes special harvest limits that must be allocated among licensees, and assists the department in establishing criteria for identifying inactive license holders.

WISCONSIN CONSERVATION CORPS BOARD

Wisconsin Conservation Corps Board: HAZEL DUEHOLM, EMILY EARLEY, BARBARA FRANK, RAYMOND MOYER, EMIL MUELVER, ROBERT POWLESS, SR., ROGER SABOTA.

Statutory Reference: Section 23.48.

History: The Wisconsin Conservation Corps Board was created by 1983 Wisconsin Act 27.

Organization: The board, which is attached to the Department of Natural Resources for administrative purposes under Section 15.03 of the statutes, is composed of 7 members appointed by the governor to serve staggered 6-year terms. The members are from various areas of the state to provide regional representation.

Agency Responsibility: The board is a policy-making body responsible for establishing program guidelines and implementing the Wisconsin Conservation Corps program. The board staff's duties include the coordination, supervision and implementation of conservation projects and day-to-day administrative functions of the program.

GROUNDWATER COORDINATING COUNCIL

Groundwater Coordinating Council: H. ROBERT FULLER (representative of Governor); ORLO R. EHART (designee of secretary of agriculture, trade and consumer protection), WILLIAM SCHMIDT (designee of secretary of health and social services), ED MCCLAIN (designee of secretary of industry, labor and human relations), LYMAN WIBLE (designee of secretary of natural resources), MEREDITH OSTREM (state geologist), DON JORGENSEN (designee of secretary of transportation), DALLAS PETERSON (designee of president, University of Wisconsin System).

Statutory Reference: Section 15.347 (13).

History: The Groundwater Coordinating Council was created by 1983 Wisconsin Act 410.

Organization: The board is attached to the Department of Natural Resources for administrative purposes under Section 15.03. Members include the secretaries of the Department of Natural Resources, Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, Department of Agriculture, Trade, and Consumer Protection, Department of Health and Social Services, Department of Transportation, the president of the University of Wisconsin System, the state geologist, or their designees, and a representative of the Governor's office.

Members serve 4-year terms and the council meets at least twice yearly.

Agency Responsibility: The council advises and assists state agency efforts to develop nonregulatory groundwater management programs. Member agencies also exchange information on groundwater monitoring, data management, public informational and educational efforts, laboratory analyses, research and available funding for research. The council is also directed to review Wisconsin's groundwater law and assess its implementation in a legislative report due January 1, 1989.

History: The Wisconsin Department of Transportation was created in 1967 by the Reorganization Act (Chapter 75). The units merged into the department were the Highway Commission, originally created by Chapter 337, Laws of 1911, when the Legislature authorized state aid for road building; the former Aeronautics Commission, established by Chapter 513, Laws of 1945 (although the state had actively participated in aeronautics since 1937 through several predecessor agencies); and the former Motor Vehicle Department, created in 1939 when Chapter 410 consolidated functions of several other agencies into one department.

The 1967 Reorganization Act also transferred to the department the Governor's Council on Traffic Law Enforcement, created by Chapter 232, Laws of 1965, and named it the Council on Traffic Law Enforcement.

Chapter 500, Laws of 1969, defined the lines of authority within the department, which was headed by the secretary and consisted of the Division of Aeronautics, the Division of Highways under the Highway Commission, and the Division of Motor Vehicles. Under authority given to the secretary, the department subsequently organized two additional divisions: the Division of

DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION

Unit attached for administrative purposes under Sec. 15.03; Office of Commissioner of Transportation.

TRANSPORTATION

EXECUTIVE BRANCH: ENVIRONMENTAL RESOURCES

Planning and the Division of Business Management, mostly with personnel from the original three.

Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, transferred transportation regulation from the Public Service Commission to an independent Transportation Commission, reconstituted from the Highway Commission, which was attached to the department for administrative purposes; and vested statutory responsibilities and accountability with the department rather than specific divisions, thus providing the secretary with program authority for fulfilling his or her assigned budgetary responsibility.

Chapter 29 also eliminated a statutory requirement for Divisions of Motor Vehicles and Aeronautics, although requiring the department to maintain district offices throughout the state. It eliminated gubernatorially appointed division heads, giving that authority to the secretary and enabling the secretary, with the governor's approval, to organize the department to promote balanced, efficient solutions to transportation problems.

Exercising this authority, the Secretary reorganized the department in December 1977. Continuing, in compliance with statutes, the Secretary on September 15, 1978, announced further restructuring of the department, establishing the current organization.

Chapter 142, Laws of 1973, created the Rustic Roads Board in the department.

Chapter 34, Laws of 1979, transferred the Council on Highway Safety and the highway safety coordination function from the Office of the Governor to the Department of Transportation.

Chapter 347, Laws of 1981, changed the Transportation Commission to the Office of the Commissioner of Transportation, attached to the department under Section 15.03.

Organization: Overall management of the department is the responsibility of the secretary of transportation. The secretary is appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate, serving at the pleasure of the governor.

The Secretary's Office now includes the Council on Traffic Law Enforcement and a Council on Highway Safety, which are appointed by the governor; the Council on Aeronautics, consisting of 5 members, knowledgeable in aeronautics, appointed by the governor for staggered 6-year terms; and the Rustic Roads Board, with members appointed by the secretary in accordance with a statutory formula.

The Secretary's Office also includes an Office of General Counsel, an Office of Transportation Information, and an Office of Transportation Safety. The secretary is now the governor's highway safety representative, and the Wisconsin Office for Transportation Safety functions within the Secretary's Office. Also assigned to the Secretary's Office is the department's affirmative action/equal employment officer, and the Minority Business Programs director.

The secretary's staff includes a deputy secretary and an executive assistant, each appointed by the secretary to serve at his or her pleasure.

The divisions now in the department are: Highways and Transportation Services, Motor Vehicles, State Patrol, Transportation Assistance, Business Management, and Planning and Budget. Each of the divisions is headed by an administrator appointed by the secretary for an indefinite term in keeping with civil service laws adopted by the 1977 Legislature and with the legislative authority for departmental reorganization.

Agency Responsibility: The department is charged by law to protect, promote and plan for all transportation in the state. Major programs assigned to the department by the Legislature include highway, motor vehicle, traffic enforcement, rail, harbor, transit, and aeronautics activities.

Unit Functions:

The Office of the Secretary provides overall direction to the department's programs, concentrating on improving the all-mode aspects of transportation facilities and services in Wisconsin with the goal of providing adequate, efficient, and environmentally sound movement of commodities and people.

The Division of Highways and Transportation Services is responsible for providing executive level direction in the planning, programming, design, real estate acquisition, construction, maintenance and operation of the state trunk and federal aid systems of highways and for other multi-modal transportation facilities under the jurisdiction of the Wisconsin Department of Transport-tation. It is responsible for developing sound engineering, business, economic, and environmental and social practices; for the preparation of specific project plans, specifications and estimates; and for the awarding of engineering and construction contracts. It oversees the administration of approved operations and support functions in its central office and its transportation district field offices, to assure that department policies, processes and procedures and that federal and state law and regulations are properly and uniformly administered. It advises and assists towns, villages, cities and counties with respect to the programming, design, real estate acquisition, construction, maintenance and operation of roads, bridges, airports and other transportation facilities and processes within the jurisdiction of the Wisconsin Department of Transportation, serving as liaison between the department and its operational units as well as with the federal government as required or necessary. It works closely with public and private interest groups to secure input and/or assistance on transportation issues and programs. It will appear before legislative committees and groups to give testimony and advice.

The Division of Motor Vehicles provides for the titling and registration of vehicles, the examining and licensing of drivers, commercial driver school instructors and vehicle sales persons; the licensing of commercial driving schools, vehicle dealers, manufacturers and distributors; the investigation of consumer complaints regarding vehicle sales and fair trade practices; the suspension of vehicle registration; the suspension and revocation of operating privileges of motorists; the suspension and revocation of the licenses of driving instructors and driving schools for proper cause; the administration of Wisconsin's point system, photo driver license program and nondriver identification program; the development and operation of the traffic violation and vehicle registration system; and the operation of the vehicle emissions inspection program. Other objectives include: maintenance of records of titled and registered vehicles, security interests on vehicles and driving records of motor vehicle operators; administration of reciprocal trucking agreements with other states and Canadian provinces; the collection of fees for all licenses, titles, sales taxes, abstracts of records, etc.; and a traffic accident data service to law enforcement officials, highway engineers, traffic safety and public information persons.

The Division of State Patrol was established to promote the safe, efficient and legal movement of persons and property on Wisconsin highways through enforcement of Wisconsin Statutes applicable to highway safety and motor carrier regulation; to protect the lives and property of the citizens of the state through enforcement of the criminal code and as directed by the governor; to provide assistance to local law enforcement agencies through emergency police and communications service and for the annual inspection of Wisconsin's school buses and ambulances. The patrol operates through a network of 7 district offices and provides a law enforcement training academy open to all federal, state, county and local law enforcement officers.

The Division of Transportation Assistance has been established to oversee departmental programs that assist local units of government and the private sector in the provision of transportation facilities and services. The division is a central office organization and has 4 bureaus: Aeronautics, Railroads and Harbors, Transit, and Local Transportation Aids. The bureaus manage local grant and aid programs as well as provide other, related technical and program services (airport and railroad project engineering, for example).

The Division of Business Management is responsible for providing assistance to departmental management by planning and administering programs in the areas of personnel, accounting and auditing, systems and data processing, purchasing, the departmental vehicle fleet, facilities, stores, and other management services.

The Division of Planning and Budget has the responsibility for integrated policy, planning and budget analysis. Its functions include federal-state relations coordination, system planning, policy issue analysis, urban and regional planning, planning methods and forecasts, budget and program analysis, and compilation of transportation information regarding network operations and travel statistics.

The Rustic Roads Board promulgates rules for the rustic roads system, approving or denying local applications for designating a highway as a rustic road.

Interagency Relationships: The Transportation Projects Commission reviews recommendations of the department for construction of major highway projects, defined by the commission as non-Interstate highway reconstruction or reconditioning costing $5 million or more and involving either relocation of 2.5 miles or more, or construction of 4 or more miles of additional lanes to an existing highway. The secretary of transportation is a nonvoting member of the commission. The commission is required to report its recommendations to the governor or governor-elect, the Legislature and its Joint Committee on Finance prior to December 1 in each even-numbered year.

The department works with the U.S. Department of Transportation's Federal Highway Administration, both to fulfill federal requirements for eligibility for matching funds and to participate in joint state-federal highway projects, and — increasingly — in the rapidly broadening considerations of total transportation in which both federal and state interests have been accelerating. It has a similar relationship, for similar reasons, with the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration. It works with the Federal Aviation Administration in receiving and administering federal airport improvement aids and also in broadening considerations in which both federal and state aviation interests are involved. It works with the Urban Mass Transportation Administration and the Federal Railroad Administration on similar bases. On the state level, it cooperates with the Department of Public Instruction in aerospace education, school bus regulation and high school driver training; with the Department of Revenue in the collection of highway and aviation fuel taxes and other user fees, sales taxes on aircraft and ad valorem taxes on railroads and airlines and in the reporting of local highway costs; with the Office of the Transportation Commissioner in regulatory matters of mutual interest; with the Department of Development in matters of industrial development-related transportation, in promotion of vacation and travel services, other travel-recreation assets of the state, permit requirements, and in relocation, housing assistance and land use considerations; with the Department of Natural Resources in establishing highway information centers, environmental analysis, roadside development, state parks roadways, and the conduct of clean air programs; with the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection in studies of transportation impact on agriculture and vehicle, and consumer complaints; with the Department of Health and Social Services in the coordination of transportation services for the elderly and the handicapped; and with the administrators of the Wisconsin Environmental Protection Act in other transportation impacts on state resources.

The department maintains a close working relationship with local governments and the private sector concerning transportation development, traffic enforcement, communications and financial aids.

INDEPENDENT COMMISSION ATTACHED FOR LIMITED ADMINISTRATIVE PURPOSES BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF TRANSPORTATION

Commissioner of Transportation: JOSEPH SWEDA, 267-9861.

Deputy Commissioner: MARY ANN GERRARD, 266-3408.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.465 (1).

OFFICE OF THE COMMISSIONER OF TRANSPORTATION

TRANSPORTATION COMMISSIONER

History: The Transportation Commission became the Office of the Commissioner of Transportation on July 1, 1983, as provided by Chapter 347, Laws of 1981. The Transportation Commission, created by Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, was reconstituted from the Highway Commission in 1978. The latter, created in 1911, became part of the Department of Transportation in 1967.

Organization: The commissioner of transportation is appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate.

The Office of the Commissioner of Transportation is an independent body attached to the Department of Transportation for limited administrative purposes under Section 15.03 of the statutes.

Agency Responsibility: The Office of the Commissioner of Transportation performs quasi-judicial responsibilities for transportation regulation, providing citizens with an independent body for appeals on transportation matters. Beginning January 1, 1978, the former commission assumed the motor carrier regulation and the railroad regulation previously performed by the Public Service Commission. On October 1, 1982, the motor carrier industry was partially deregulated statewide and the commission functions in this area were substantially reduced. The Office of the Commissioner of Transportation continues to conduct hearings on appeals for: reduction of driver license revocation or suspension, driver safety responsibility hearings, auto dealer hearings, and denial, suspension or revocation of a certificate of title. It conducts hearings relating to proposed airport sites, conflicts between state and local regulation of airports, aircraft registration and aircraft dealer certificates. It holds hearings regarding competency of bidders, sign permits, junkyard control, highway right-of-way, closing of a highway, and overlength or overweight vehicle permits. The office also hears appeals on a road's functional classification, appeals on a road's qualifications for "connecting highway" status, and requests for hearings made by the secretary of transportation on transportation plans, policies, goals, priorities, and programs.

Unit Functions:

Motor Carrier Authorities: This unit provides information concerning laws, requirements and procedures pertaining to for-hire carriers operating on the highways of Wisconsin.

Railroad Safety Unit: This unit implements the regulatory aspects of the Wisconsin Statutes and Administrative Code that deal with railroad highway crossings, railroad safety, certain service matters, and other railroad liabilities or responsibilities.

Railroad Tariffs: This unit is responsible for tariff and rate matters, ratemaking, railroad auditing, accounting, cost analysis, railroad assessments and related matters. This work affects rate level and tariff filing procedures for 19 rail carriers operating within Wisconsin and provides information which shippers, carriers and the office use in making transportation decisions.

Regulatory Examining Unit: This unit holds automobile dealer hearings on issues such as denial, suspension or revocation of dealer licenses. It conducts hearings relating to proposed airport sites, sign permits, highway right-of-way, and transportation matters.

Safety Responsibility Unit: This unit conducts hearings on appeals for reduction of driver license revocation or suspension and driver safety responsibility.

Interagency Relationships: The Office of the Commissioner of Transportation is the appellate body to which many appeals from the decisions of the Department of Transportation are taken. The appeals range from automobile dealership cases to driver safety responsibility cases. The office is also in constant contact with the Interstate Commerce Commission concerning changes in the laws affecting motor carriers and railroads. The office also often deals with local units of government when investigating the safety at railroad crossings.

EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS COMMISSION

Commissioners: HERMAN TOROSIAN, chairperson; MARSHALL GRATZ, DANAE DAVIS GORDON.

General Counsel: PETER G. DAVIS.

Staff Director: THOMAS L. YAEGER.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7870, Madison 53707-7870; location: Room 200, 14 West Mifflin Street.

Telephone: (608) 266-1381.

Publications: 1981-83 Biennial Report ($5); Private Digest of Decisions (1/1/82-12/31/83, Vol. VII, $5); State Digest of Decisions (1/1/67-12/31/75, $5).

Number of Employees: 39.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $3,560,800.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.58.

History: The Employment Relations Board was created by Chapter 57, Laws of 1939, to replace previous agencies operating in the field of labor relations. It was renamed the Employment Relations Commission by Chapter 75, Laws of 1967 (Reorganization Act), and designated as an independent agency.

Organization: The commission consists of 3 full-time members nominated by the governor, and with the advice and consent of the Senate appointed, for 6-year terms.

Agency Responsibility: The commission is responsible for furthering collective bargaining and promoting peace in labor relations in the private as well as the public sector of Wisconsin's economy by processing the following types of labor relations cases: election, referendum, complaint, mediation, arbitration, prohibited practices, declaratory ruling, and municipal interest arbitration for municipal employes including law enforcement and fire fighters. Election, referendum, unfair labor and prohibited practice complaints, and interest/arbitration are initiated by the filing of formal documents by employes, employe organizations or employers. The commission has the authority to conduct hearings and elections and referenda to determine bargaining units, collective bargaining representatives and authorization for union security agreements. It also conducts hearings and issues orders in unfair labor and prohibited practices cases, which are subject to review in the state courts; as well as in declaratory ruling proceedings to determine mandatory versus permissive subjects of bargaining. The commission's mediation function is initiated at the request of either an employe organization or the employer or both; or, on occasion, the commission, by its own action or at the request of the governor, will proffer its mediation services to assist in the resolution of labor disputes. Commissioners and staff members, as arbitrators, issue final and binding awards.

Under laws enacted by the 1971 Legislature, the duties of the commission were expanded in the area of public employment relations. The Municipal Employment Relations Act was amended specifically to grant employees the right to bargain collectively with their municipal employers, and the prohibited practices section was enlarged. Two bills were enacted to provide for compulsory arbitration for police and firemen. The State Employment Labor Relations Act was amended to provide for statutory establishment of appropriate collective bargaining units, and the scope of bargaining subjects was enlarged to include, among other things, salaries and fringe benefits. The laws also provided that municipal and state employers and collective bargaining representatives could enter into agency shop agreements. As of January 1, 1978, the commission has been authorized to process final and binding interest arbitration cases involving nonuniformed municipal employees and their employers.

Unit Functions:

The Elections Officer is responsible for the scheduling and conduct of elections and referendums.

The Professional Section is responsible for the conduct of hearings in unfair labor and prohibited practices, election unit/clarification, declaratory and arbitration cases. A professional staff member acts as a trial examiner in unfair labor and prohibited practice cases and issues decisions in his name which are subject to review by the commission. The full commission or any one of the commissioners may also conduct such hearings and issue decisions in the name of the commission or the individual commissioner. Where the individual commissioner issues such a decision, such decision is reviewable by the full commission. In addition, the professional staff and commissioners issue formal arbitration awards, after hearing, and also act as mediators in resolving disputes arising during the negotiation of a collective bargaining agreement. The professional staff, as well as the commissioners, also conduct formal hearings or informal investigations to determine whether the conditions for final and binding interest arbitration exist in municipal negotiations. Such hearings or investigations may be conducted to determine whether the conditions for fact finding exist in state employment negotiations.

EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS COMMISSION

EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS COMMISSION

The Reporting Section records and transcribes verbatim hearings in election, referendum, unfair labor and prohibited practices, arbitration and declaratory ruling cases.

Interagency Relationships: The Employment Relations Commission performs functions on the state level which are similar to the functions of 2 federal agencies — the National Labor Relations Board and the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS). The commission has no jurisdiction over labor relations activity regulated by the National Labor Relations Board. The Labor-Management Relations Act of 1947 established some procedures for state-federal cooperation in mediation cases and directed the FMCS to avoid mediating disputes having only a minor effect on interstate commerce whenever state mediation services are available. Since mediation cases are initiated by employers or employees, rather than by the commission, the determination of whether a state or federal agency is called upon in cases involving interstate commerce is often up to the parties involved. As a matter of policy, the commission avoids involvement in cases being handled by federal agencies.

Although some provisions in Chapters 101 and 103, Wisconsin Statutes, give responsibility for some aspects of labor relations to the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, in practice, the department does not perform functions which overlap those of the commission.

History: The reorganization of state agencies enacted by the Legislature in 1967 (Chapter 75) brought into a new Department of Health and Social Services the previous State Board of Health, organized in 1876, the Department of Public Welfare and the Commission on Aging. The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation was made part of the new department by the budget act passed in the same session.

The evolution of human service activities in Wisconsin has been a long and continual process. For more than 2 decades after becoming a state, Wisconsin met by special legislative enactment each of the separate and various problems relating to the public care, custody, and rehabilitation of the mentally ill; of law violators and delinquents; and of the handicapped, neglected, and dependent. Upon the establishment of each new institution or agency, it made provision quite separately for its government by a board of trustees or managers.

In 1871 there were 6 separate institutions, each with an independent governing authority of one to 15 members. A beginning of coordination was started with the creation of the State Board of Charities and Reform (Chapter 136, Laws of 1871), which, however, had powers principally limited to inspection, visitation, research, and recommendation. To remedy deficiencies in this system, which in time became apparent, the Legislature in 1881 (Chapter 298) created the State Board of Supervision of Wisconsin Charitable, Reformatory, and Penal Institutions, consolidating the several institutional boards but not eliminating the old Board of Charities and Reform. The 2 boards functioned for another 10 years and then were abolished in 1891. In that year the Legislature created the State Board of Control of Wisconsin Reformatory, Charitable, and Penal Institutions (Chapter 221).

During the 1930s the federal government entered the welfare field. When federal and state relief funds were made available, the Public Welfare Department was established by executive order, first within the Industrial Commission in 1935, then as an independent agency in 1936. When the federal Social Security Board was established and the various aid programs — old-age assistance, aid to dependent children and blind pensions — went into effect, the state Pension Department was created by Chapter 554, Laws of 1935, within the Industrial Commission to administer and allot the funds involved. The increase in the number of agencies handling welfare services led to a study by Governor Philip La Follette's Citizens Committee on Public Welfare and the subsequent reorganization of such services by Chapter 9, Laws of Special Session 1937, and by the Governor's Reorganization Orders of 1938. These created the Department of Mental Hygiene, Department of Social Adjustment, and Department of Corrections, each with its own policy-making board. They were short-lived, however, as the 1939 Legislature nullified these provisions, reestablishing the previous agencies. Further studies that year, aimed at unifying all the welfare functions, eventually produced the measure (Chapter 435) creating the Department of Public Welfare. To it were transferred all the functions, powers and duties of the Board of Control, state Pension Department, and Public Welfare Department.

The State Board of Health was created by the Wisconsin Legislature in 1876 (Chapter 366). Public health legislation in Wisconsin, however, dates back to territorial days. The first Territorial Legislature in 1839 provided for the establishment of local boards of health, and other legislation followed. The high death rate from various communicable diseases and the subsequent efforts of medical societies led to the enactment of legislation creating the State Board of Health.

At that time the emphasis in public health work was on the control of communicable diseases through sanitation and quarantine. Over the years the significant causes of illness and death have changed, and many additional responsibilities having to do with promotion of health and prevention of illness and death were assigned to the Board of Health.

The State Commission on Aging had been created by Chapter 581, Laws of 1961, as a result of studies and interest in the problems of the aged population. Its advisory committee, the Interdepartmental Committee on Aging, was set up at the same time, replacing a previous committee established in 1957. In 1971 Chapter 332 replaced the Council on Aging in the department with an independent Board on Aging, but kept the Division on Aging in the department.

The Advisory Radiation Protection Council was created by Chapter 235, Laws of 1963, as part of a general revision of the laws governing regulation of radiation installations.

The Dangerous Substance Control Council was created in the department by Chapter 384, Laws of 1969, and renamed the Controlled Substances Board by Chapter 219, Laws of 1971. In 1971 Chapter 255 created an Automatic Fire Sprinkler System Contractors and Journeymen Examining Council in the department (transferred to the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations in 1980), Chapter 322 created a Council on Developmental Disabilities, and Chapter 217 created a Nursing Home Reimbursement Appeals Board. Chapter 198, Laws of 1973, created in the department the Citizens Advisory Council on Alcoholism (abolished in 1980), while Chapter 321 created the Ambulance Services Examining Council (abolished 1975), and Chapter 322 created an Emergency Medical Services Examining Council. The Council for the Hearing Impaired was created by Chapter 34, Laws of 1979. The Juvenile Correctional Rate Review Council was enacted by Chapter 20, Laws of 1981.

In 1975 a major structural change was made in the department. Under Chapter 39, Laws of 1975, the Board of Health and Social Services was abolished and the secretary is now appointed directly by the governor. Chapter 39 also called for the reorganization of the department by July 1977. A reorganization team, under the direction of the secretary, completed work on the proposed restructuring of the department, and it was approved by the Governor in March 1977. Following his approval, the reorganization process began.

Health planning under Public Law 89-749, the original federal health planning law, began in Wisconsin when the State Board of Health was designated the state health planning agency in 1967. Later that year, the board became part of the Department of Health and Social Services and the new Division of Health created the Bureau of Comprehensive Health Planning. In March 1973, the bureau was reestablished by Governor Lucey in Executive Order No. 53 as the Division of Health Policy and Planning. The order attached the division to the Department of Administration and placed the Health Policy Council in the Executive Office. The division was given statutory recognition and authority by Chapter 90, Laws of 1973, the biennial budget law. The Division on Health Policy and Planning was transferred to the department in January 1976, but was subsequently merged into the Division of Health.

The State Office of Economic Opportunity and the Energy Conservation Section of the Department of Local Affairs and Development were transferred to the Division of Economic Assistance in August 1980, when that department was merged to form a new Department of Development.

Organization: Departmental policies are set by the secretary, who is also the administrative head. The secretary is appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate. The secretary appoints division administrators.

The various major councils in the department are appointed in different ways. Those on health are appointed by the governor.

Agency Responsibility: The Department of Health and Social Services is responsible for providing a full range of services to prevent and treat dependency in its myriad forms and to reduce its impact on individuals and families. The department accomplishes these goals through the provision of services directly to people in communities and in institutions, through the supervision and counseling of local public and voluntary agencies, and through the regulation of certain care providers. Its broad responsibilities span the areas of physical and mental health, services to the aged, corrections, public and medical assistance, children's services, and vocational rehabilitation.

Unit Functions:

The Office of the Secretary is responsible for the overall administration of the department. Reporting directly to this office are the Divisions of Care and Treatment Facilities, Community Services, Corrections, Economic Assistance, Health, Vocational Rehabilitation, Management Services, and Policy and Budget. In addition, several staff services report directly to this office including the Parole Board; Juvenile Offender Review Program; Special Review Board; Office of Legal Counsel; Administrative Hearings; legislative, client services and public affairs; and the Office of Information Systems, which provides departmental data processing services.

The Office of Legal Counsel provides services to the secretary and the department's division administrators. These services include advice concerning the legality of current and proposed program operations and statutory revisions. Services also include appearances in contested matters before administrative agencies, legal settlement appeals in child welfare, tuberculosis sanatorium and mental hospital cases.

The Parole Board, which is comprised of 8 civil service staff and an unclassified chairperson, makes recommendations to the secretary on parole applicants and prepares evaluative reports on executive clemency applications requested by the governor.

The Special Review Board makes recommendations to the secretary concerning the parole of clients committed under the sex crimes law. A majority of the members are not connected with the department.

The Juvenile Offender Review Program reviews initial placements and approves or recommends alternative placements for juveniles in state custody. It also makes release decisions on behalf of the secretary.

The Division of Care and Treatment Facilities administers the state's institutional programs for those persons whose mental and physical needs cannot adequately be met in a community setting. The division is also responsible for monitoring and providing policy direction for the private child-caring institutions within the state.

The division's 6 institutions provide specialized medical, psychological, social and rehabilitative services for persons who are developmentally disabled, mentally ill, or subject to alcohol or drug abuse and who require an institutional placement for care or treatment. The 3 centers for the developmentally disabled provide a full range of institutional programs and support for community alternatives. The 2 mental health institutes provide programs for both civil and criminal patients in need of specialized mental health services and support for community alternatives to placement and treatment. The Wisconsin Resource Center, a prison operated by the division, provides specialized programs for inmates identified to have needs that cannot be adequately met in the Division of Corrections institutions.

The Division of Community Services is responsible for promoting and supporting a system of services designed to help people whose lives are, or may be, adversely affected by age, living situation, mental or physical condition, social or economic circumstance, or inappropriate dependency. The division works with human services and income maintenance agencies, both public and private, to ensure that services of adequate quality are integrated, available, accessible, and efficiently delivered in a safe and humane environment to people throughout the state.

This broad range of program responsibility includes the areas of alcohol and other drug abuse, developmental disabilities, physical handicaps and mental health, visual and hearing impairments, elderly and children, youth and family services, day care, refugee resettlement assistance, minority and American Indian affairs, child support, weatherization and energy assistance, and community-based, long-term support programs. In addition, the division supervises county administration of federal public assistance programs; such as, Aid to Families with Dependent Children, Relief to Needy Indian Persons, Vietnamese and Cuban Refugee Relief, food stamps, and eligibility determination for Medical Assistance. The division is also responsible for determining eligibility for Wisconsin residents applying for Social Security and Supplemental Security Income programs based on disability.

The central office of the division performs policy development, planning, and standard-setting functions. Six regional offices focus on monitoring policy, and providing assistance to communities in planning, budgeting, and delivering a broad range of human and income maintenance services. Both central and regional offices provide support and supervision to counties to assist them in improving their service delivery capacities, and the quality of their services.

DH&SS: DIVISION OF CARE AND TREATMENT FACILITIES*Health and Social Services - CARE AND TREATMENT FACILITIES

The central office is composed of the Bureaus of Community Aids Administration, Community Programs, Economic Assistance, Human Resources, and Social Security Disability Insurance, and the Offices of Internal Operations, Management Information and Program Initiatives.

The Division of Corrections administers an integrated institution and field services program to protect the public from criminal activity and to supervise, rehabilitate, and aid in the reintegration of adult and juvenile offenders committed to the Department of Health and Social Services by the courts. In its treatment of offenders, the division draws upon a maximum use of probation and parole, individualized institutional programs, and a wide range of professional social, educational, employment and clinical services. In accordance with its overall mission and goals, the division maintains and operates 18 correctional facilities and 6 community correctional centers throughout the state. Division personnel provide consultation to the courts and law enforcement agencies.

The Division of Health is responsible for protecting and promoting public health in Wisconsin and assuring that all state residents have access to adequate quality health services with reasonable costs. To fulfill these responsibilities, the division provides planning, coordination and overall direction for health services and facilities throughout the state. Division activities include enforcing state and federal health regulations; promoting preventive health care programs; administering the state capitol expenditure review and medical assistance programs; providing consultation, education and information on general and occupational health topics; preparing and disseminating health statistics; and providing health care services in state correctional institutions.

The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation provides services to help vocationally handicapped individuals obtain and retain employment. Counseling services, aided by medical, psychological, vocational evaluation and training, provide the basis for an Individualized Written Rehabilitation Program for the individual. Individuals who have a physical or mental disability that results in a handicap to employment may receive assistance from the division. The goal is to assist disabled residents of the state who might benefit from the program to become employable and as economically self-sufficient as possible. During 1984 the division placed over 6,500 disabled Wisconsin citizens into jobs and served over 46,500 people who came to the division's 21 field offices for employment assistance.

DH&SS: DIVISION OF VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION*Health and Social Services - VOCATIONAL REHABILITATION

The Division of Management Services provides the staff services for administering and controlling departmental fiscal and other operations. These services include personnel management; management analysis; accounting; collections and assistance to institutions in the areas of purchasing, food service and nutrition; engineering; and space required for regional, district and area offices.

The Division of Policy and Budget is responsible for preparing and implementing department-wide planning, budgeting and evaluation systems. It develops major policy directions (called Human Services Agenda), reviews existing and proposed policies, plans and administrative rules, and develops budget and legislative proposals.

The Office of Information Systems provides data processing services to the department. It also manages the Wilson Street Regional Computing Center, which provides computer services to several other agencies and the Legislature.

The Controlled Substances Board issues rules controlling drugs that have a potential for abuse.

The Nursing Home Reimbursement Appeals Board reviews petitions from nursing homes for modifications to any reimbursement rate for such homes, and makes findings and recommendations.

The Pesticide Review Board recommends to the Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection rules for the protection of persons and property from pesticide hazards, and such rules are not effective until approved by the board.

Interagency Relationships: In carrying out their responsibilities and implementing programs, the separate divisions of the department have established working relationships with other state agencies, with local governmental and voluntary agencies, and with agencies of the federal government.

The Division of Care and Treatment Facilities coordinates with the Department of Public Instruction regarding standards for institutional educators, libraries and librarians, and the administration of educational and special educational programs; with the University of Wisconsin Law School regarding the legal assistance to institutionalized persons program; with the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations regarding building inspection and safety and health code compliance throughout the institutions; and with the Division of Health for patient care standards of both the federal and state nursing home and hospital codes.

The Division of Community Services is responsible for the review and approval of community services, social services, and aging program plans and budgets and for allocating the state's share of funds for these programs. In addition, the division supervises county administration of aid programs for economically disadvantaged individuals.

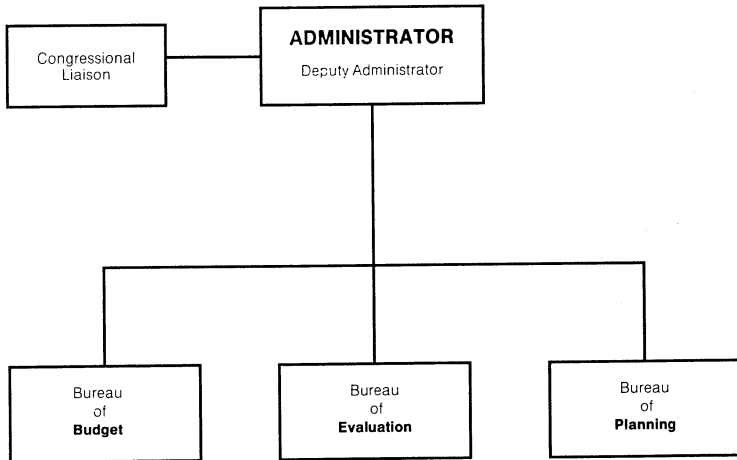

In carrying out these responsibilities and activities, the division maintains a close working relationship with many local, voluntary, state and federal agencies. The division cooperates with units of the University of Wisconsin; the Department of Public Instruction; the Department of Justice; the Department of Industry, Labor, and Human Relations; the Department of Veterans Affairs; and with state voluntary organizations such as the Wisconsin Association for Retarded Citizens, the Wisconsin Association of the Deaf, the Wisconsin Association on Alcoholism and Other Drug Abuse, and the Wisconsin Mental Health Association. On the national level it has close contact with the Administration on Aging in the Office of Human Development; the National Institutes on Mental Health, Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism, and Drug Abuse; the Social Security Administration, the Office of Child Support Enforcement, the Office of Family Assistance, the Social and Rehabilitation Services, and the Division of Developmental Disabilities — all within the Department of Health and Human Services. On the local level the division has a close working relationship with the many social services departments, community services agencies, human services departments, and Native American tribal councils.

Because of the wide scope of its activities, the Division of Corrections works in cooperation with many federal, state, local, and voluntary agencies. On the federal level, the division coordinates with the Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice in the area of grant approval and funding for new and innovative juvenile justice-related programs, and with the Veterans Administration and the Department of Health and Human Services in the area of benefit payments to eligible institutional residents and/or probation and parole clients.

Within the state, the division coordinates with the Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice regarding the planning and granting of statewide programs for the division; with the Department of Administration regarding authorization for remodeling, construction, leasing, augmentation of institutional telecommunications and/or security equipment, and budget reviewing; with the Department of Employment Relations regarding personnel and staffing; with the Department of Public Instruction regarding standards for institutional educators, libraries, and librarians, and the administration of educational and special educational programs; with the Department of Justice, which essentially acts as legal counsel for the division, and regarding the use of the Crime Information Bureau, the multi-network TIME system, and the administration of jailor training institutes; with the University of Wisconsin System regarding the placement of institutional residents or probation and parole clients in college credit courses under the division's study release program, and with the U.W. Law School regarding the legal assistance to institutionalized persons program; with the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education regarding the certification of vocational teachers and vocational classes for eligible institutional residents or probation and parole clients sent to voc-tech centers under the division's study release program; with the Department of Natural Resources regarding the placement of eligible institutional residents or probation and parole clients in DNR projects under the division's work release program; and, with the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations regarding building inspection and safety and health code compliance throughout the institutions and group foster homes, and regarding the counseling of eligible residents or probation and parole clients for employment placement through the department's Job Service staff.

The division cooperates with local units of government by working closely with city and county officials through its jail inspection services, by collecting restitution for city and county localities, and by coordinating with county officials regarding the planning of community-based facilities.

The division cooperates and coordinates with voluntary agencies by division contracting through purchase of services moneys for clinical, supervisory, and special services, such as tutoring and job placement.

The Division of Health interagency relationships include those with the Motor Vehicle Division of the state Department of Transportation, the state and federal Departments of Agriculture, the state Department of Public Instruction, the state Department of Natural Resources, the state Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, the state Department of Justice, the state Laboratory of Hygiene, and the University of Wisconsin. The division also works closely with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, the U.S. Public Health Service, the state Health Systems Agencies, the Health Policy Council, voluntary, nongovernmental health agencies, and local public health agencies.

The Division of Vocational Rehabilitation has developed close working relationships with the Bureau of Handicapped Children, the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations' Worker's Compensation Division and Job Service Division, as well as other public and private social service agencies, and with over 40 private nonprofit rehabilitation facilities across the state. The major portion of the funding of the vocational rehabilitation program is provided by the Rehabilitation Services Administration of the federal Department of Education.

INDEPENDENT UNITS ATTACHED FOR BUDGETING, PROGRAM COORDINATION AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT PREVENTION BOARD

Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board: GOVERNOR ANTHONY S. EARL, BRONSON C. LA FOLLETTE (Attorney General), LINDA REIVITZ (secretary of health and social services), HERBERT J. GROVER (Superintendent of Public Instruction) (or their designees); vacancy (appointed by president of Senate), REPRESENTATIVE JEANNETTE BELL (appointed by speaker of Assembly); STEPHEN BAVOLEK, KAAREN H. BOUTIN, STANLEY ENGLANDER, BARBARA HUG, RICHARD KINCH, SYLVIA L. LONDON, HOLLY NOCKELS, KATHI P. SEIFERT.

Number of Employees: 1.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $100,000.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.195 (4).

History: The Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board was created by 1983 Wisconsin Act 109.

Organization: The board consists of 3 ex officio officers or their designees, one senator appointed by the president of the Senate and one representative appointed by the speaker of the Assembly, and 8 members appointed by the governor for 3-year terms, of whom 6 are appointed on the basis of their knowledge of the subject, one was a victim of abuse, and one is a parent who has received treatment or advice on child abuse. The board is attached to the department under Section 15.03 of the statutes.

Agency Responsibility: The board develops plans for awarding grants to organizations to establish child abuse and neglect prevention programs, monitor applications, recommend changes in state programs to reduce the problems of child abuse and neglect, and promote statewide educational seminars to develop public awareness of the problems.

PRISON INDUSTRIES BOARD

Prison Industries Board: GLENN A. DAVISON, WALTER DICKEY, DORIS HANSON, JOHN LIMA, RICHARD LUCKMAN, CAROL MERRICK, J. ALLEN STOKES (confirmation pending), LYLE TENPAS, CHARLES YOST.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.195 (3m).

History: The Prison Industries Board was created by 1983 Wisconsin Act 27.

Organization: The board consists of 9 members appointed by the governor for 3-year terms. Two members represent private business and industry and 2 represent labor organizations. One member each represents: an ex-offender, the University of Wisconsin System, the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education System, the Department of Health and Social Services, and potential customers of prison industries. The board is attached to the department under Section 15.03 of the statutes.

Agency Responsibility: The board is directed to develop a plan containing recommendations for the manufacture and marketing of prison industries' products and for the provision of prison industries' services. It approves the establishment or closure of prison industries and approves purchases for prison industries.

COUNCIL ON DEVELOPMENTAL DISABILITIES

Council on Developmental Disabilities: PEG OLSEN (appointed by Governor), chairperson; GERALD BORN (designee of secretary of health and social services), CAROL LOBES (designee of secretary of industry, labor and human relations), VICTOR CONTRUCCI (designee of superintendent of public instruction), RITA HOHLSTEIN (designee of president, University of Wisconsin System); OREBA ALEXANDER, KATHLEEN BENDER, DON CANNADY, STEPHEN COPPS, M.D., KAY DEGNAN, JAMES DE ROSS, WALTER DOBRATZ, DENNIS FILIPPELLI, JOSEPH GRUBER, RUTH GULLERUD, WILLIAM KAZEE, CHRIS LINN, RUTH MITCHELL, KAREN REIBETANZ, PH.D., SYLVIA SIPRESS, LUCY STROM (appointed by the Governor).

Executive Director: JAYN J. WITTENMYER.

Mailing Address: Room 344, Wilson Street State Office Building, 1 West Wilson Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-7826.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.197 (11n).

History: The Council on Developmental Disabilities was created within the Department of Health and Social Services by Chapter 322, Laws of 1971. Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, attached it to the department under Sec. 15.03 as a distinct unit, exercising its powers independently of the department, but budgeting, program coordination and related management functions are performed under the supervision of the department head.

Organization: Council members serve staggered 4-year terms. The heads of state agencies providing direct services to the developmentally disabled, specifically the secretary of industry, labor and human relations, the secretary of health and social services, the state superintendent of public instruction, and the president of the University of Wisconsin, designate representatives on the council. The governor appoints members representing public and private nonprofit agencies of the state's political subdivisions that provide direct services, and representatives of nongovernmental agencies and groups concerned with services to the developmentally disabled. At least one-half of the membership shall consist of persons with developmental disabilities or their parents or guardians.

Agency Responsibility: The council advises the department, the legislature and the governor on matters relating to developmental disabilities.

Total Budget 1983-85: $164,815,900.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.22.

History: The Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations evolved from the Wisconsin Bureau of Labor Statistics, created in 1883, and the State Industrial Commission, created in 1911 (Chapter 485). Wisconsin labor law grew directly as a response to the conditions of industrialization of the state which began in the 1880s.

Early legislative action in this area included child labor laws, collection of employment and business statistics, and required factory safety inspections.

The year 1911 marked the beginning of "The Wisconsin Idea" as government and the university developed policies and laws affecting workers and employers. Wisconsin took the national initiative in adjusting labor laws to modern industrial conditions. The state sought administrative solutions following 4 concepts:

(1) The "commission" idea, in which labor laws were administered by politically independent bodies of experts and advisory committees;

(2) The "social insurance" idea, in which costs of correcting some labor problems, such as worker injuries, and later unemployment, were imposed on employers as an inducement to prevent the problems;

(3) Administrative decision making, wherein the legislature and the governor delegated the specifics of administration to the Industrial Commission through the use of administrative rules and adjudication; and

(4) A close tie between state government and the university, in which reforms or changes in laws and programs were stimulated in the academic arena and translated into laws by the governor and the legislature.

Laws enacted in this era included minimum wage, conditions of employment for women and children, free public employment offices, apprenticeship standards, and many job safety regulations. Many of these programs served as models for legislation elsewhere in the country.

In the 1930s, Wisconsin was a leader in the development of the unemployment compensation system (Chapter 20, Laws of Special Session 1931) and issued the first benefit check in the nation in 1936. In the post-war era, Wisconsin enacted legislation in the anti-discrimination field, prohibiting discrimination on the basis of race, sex, creed, national origin, sexual orientation, age, and handicapping condition in employment. Similar laws now protect people in access to housing and public accommodations. In 1967, at the time the present department was formed, such laws were placed within the jurisdiction of the Equal Rights Division.

Other programs added to the department over the years include plumbing and electrical inspections and certifications, regulation of migrant camps, building and energy conservation standards for homes and buildings, and inspection of petroleum products.

Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, changed the administrative structure of the department from a 3-member commission to a secretary who serves at the pleasure of the governor and is a member of the governor's cabinet.

1983 Wisconsin Acts 8, 99, 168 and 388 made major changes in the tax and benefit systems of the unemployment compensation program and revised the structure of the Unemployment Compensation Advisory Council.

1983 Wisconsin Act 391 expanded the prohibition against discrimination in employment to protect all persons over age 40.

Organization: The Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations is headed by a secretary appointed by the governor to serve at his pleasure, with the advice and consent of the Senate. The secretary selects a deputy and executive assistant to serve at his pleasure. The work of the department is carried on through 7 divisions.

There are 12 councils and one committee created by statute in the department, but numerous temporary committees are established by the secretary and the divisions to offer technical and general advice. Members of the Dwelling Code, Equal Rights, and Migrant Labor Councils are appointed by the governor. Members of other councils are appointed by the Labor and Industry Review Commission or by the secretary of industry, labor and human relations.

Agency Responsibility: The department provides a wide range of services to industry and labor in Wisconsin, and seeks to insure the protection of certain human rights. These responsibilities are carried out through the administration of programs and activities to:

Develop and maintain systems for benefit payments to help stabilize the effects of decreased or irregular purchasing power of workers due to unemployment or injury.

Provide opportunities for employers looking for workers and people looking for jobs to promote full employment.

Develop training opportunities to improve job skills of Wisconsin residents to help business and industry meet skilled workforce needs.

Promote compliance to protect the public from discrimination and substandard and dangerous conditions in public and private buildings, housing, and employment.

Unit Functions:

The Apprenticeship and Training Division develops and maintains apprenticeship and other on-the-job training standards to assure a continuing supply of skilled workers for Wisconsin's industries and career training for the state's citizens.

The Employment and Training Policy Division pursues the state's goal of effective and efficient employment and training programs through the development of clear and consistent program policies, provides a strong labor market information program serving state and local needs, and administers programs offering training opportunities to individuals and employers.

The Equal Rights Division promotes compliance with state laws to protect citizens from discrimination in employment, housing and public accommodations; assures that legal provisions for proper hours, conditions of work and payment of wages are met; assures that prevailing wages are paid for state or municipal construction projects and state highway construction; and assures that persons and businesses displaced by public projects receive adequate relocation services and compensation for losses incurred.

The Job Service Division improves the functioning of labor markets through public labor exchange services designed to assist job seekers in finding employment, assists employers in filling jobs, facilitates the match between job seekers and employers, and participates in a system of clearing labor between states.

The Safety and Buildings Division administers and enforces state laws relating to buildings, safety and health, and petroleum to ensure and protect the safety, health and welfare of employees, consumers and the public; promulgates reasonable standards to administer and implement the laws and programs; develops and distributes information to users, consumers and the public about laws, rules and programs; and assures that persons and businesses are provided with prompt service delivery.

The Unemployment Compensation Division administers programs to collect employer taxes and pay benefits to unemployed workers.

The Worker's Compensation Division administers programs to assure the prompt, appropriate delivery of benefits to injured workers by insurers and self-insured employers while encouraging reemployment and rehabilitation as well as promoting the minimization of work-related injuries, illnesses and deaths.

The Administrative Division insures that policy issues are identified and analyzed and that recommendations are appropriate, coordinated and consistent with departmental goals and objectives; develops, analyzes, monitors and evaluates program information and activities; and provides centralized personnel, payroll, financial accounting, administrative services, data processing and office systems.

The Apprenticeship Advisory Council advises the department on matters pertaining to Wisconsin's apprenticeship system.

The Automatic Fire Sprinkler System Contractors and Journeymen Examining Council reviews the content of examinations and advises the department on related matters.

The Council on Child Labor conducts a biennial review of the child labor laws and recommends modifications when needed.

The Construction Wage Rate Council advises the department on the prevailing wage rates for state and municipal construction projects.

The Dwelling Code Council reviews the rules and standards for one- and two-family dwellings and manufactured housing.

The Equal Rights Council advises the legislature and the department on promoting a greater understanding of human rights.

The Fire Prevention Council reviews and recommends changes in rules for fire prevention.

The Labor Standards Council advises the department on regulations and legislation relating to the administration of minimum wage, overtime and other labor standards issues.

The Council on Migrant Labor advises the department and other state officials on matters affecting migrant workers.

The Plumbers Examining Council advises the department on the testing and licensing of plumbers.

The Radiation Protection Council reviews and makes recommendations to both the department and the Department of Health and Social Services regarding radiation protection.

DEPARTMENT OF INDUSTRY, LABOR AND HUMAN RELATIONS

EXECUTIVE BRANCH: HUMAN RELATIONS AND RESOURCES

INDUSTRY, LABOR AND HUMAN RELATIONS

Unit attached for administrative purposes under Sec. 15.03: Labor and Industry Review Commission.

The Self-Insurers Council advises and makes recommendations to the department on matters relating to self-insurance of worker's compensation.

The Council on Unemployment Compensation advises the legislature and the department on unemployment compensation matters.

The Council on Worker's Compensation advises the legislature and the department on worker's compensation matters.

The Mobile Home Advisory Committee reviews the rules and standards for mobile homes and recommends changes when needed. The committee has duties similar to other bodies that are referred to as "councils".

Interagency Relationships: The work of the Safety and Buildings Division is related to the work of other state agencies such as the Department of Health and Social Services and the Department of Natural Resources involved in fire prevention and protection, safety, building standards, inspections, investigations and groundwater protection. The codes issued by the department are also coordinated with those of several other state departments and some local units of government.

In the administration of the prevailing wage law, the department shares jurisdiction with the Department of Transportation.

The Wage and Hour Public Contracts Division of the U.S. Department of Labor performs a similar relationship in enforcing provisions of federal labor laws.

The Apprenticeship and Training Division works closely with the Board of Vocational, Technical and Adult Education and local vocational schools in developing coordinated and comprehensive technical instruction for apprentices. The division also cooperates with other state agencies and with agencies of the federal government in developing programs designed to broaden work skills, improve existing apprenticeship programs and provide on-the-job training.

The Job Service Division assists in administering a variety of employment and training programs with local communities receiving federal funds, and with federal agencies and with other state agencies such as the Department of Health and Social Services.

The Worker's Compensation Division works closely with the Vocational Rehabilitation Division of the Department of Health and Social Services in retraining and reemploying the industrially injured. The division also works with the commissioner of insurance and the Wisconsin Compensation Rating Bureau in regulating worker's compensation carriers.

The Equal Rights Division cooperates with human relations agencies in Wisconsin municipalities, the federal Equal Employment Opportunities Commission, and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to avoid duplication in handling employment and housing discrimination complaints. The division cooperates with the U.S. Department of Labor in determining prevailing wage rates on certain state and municipal public works construction projects.

Enforcement of agency laws and rules, with the exception of unemployment compensation standards, is carried out by the state Justice Department.

LABOR AND INDUSTRY REVIEW COMMISSION

LABOR AND INDUSTRY REVIEW

Number of Employees: 28.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $2,440,600.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.225.

History: Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, abolished the Industry, Labor and Human Relations Commission as part of the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, and established the Labor and Industry Review Commission. Though a separate and distinct unit, the commission receives administrative services through the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations.

Organization: The Labor and Industry Review Commission is a separate and independent unit, directly responsible to the governor for its proposed budget. The commission consists of 3 full-time commissioners nominated by the governor, and with the advice and consent of the Senate appointed, for staggered 6-year terms. The commission selects one of its members to serve as chairperson for a 2-year period.

Agency Responsibility: The commission is a quasi-judicial body which handles petitions for review of Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations' decisions relating to: unemployment compensation, worker's compensation, equal housing, fair employment, and discrimination cases concerning physical condition or developmental disabilities in postsecondary education.

In addition, the commission has responsibility to appoint members to the following statutory councils: Council on Worker's Compensation, Council on Child Labor, Construction Wage Rate Council, Self-Insurers' Council, Wisconsin Apprenticeship Council, and the Labor Standards Council.

Interagency Relationships: Commission decisions are appealable for judicial review in the circuit courts of the state. Enforcement of agency laws and rules is carried out by either the state Justice Department or the commission's legal counsel.

Number of Employees: 426.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $47,988,700.

Statutory Reference: Article VI, Sections 1, 1p and 3, Wisconsin Constitution; Section 15.25, Statutes.

History: Chapter 75, the Reorganization Act of 1967, created the Department of Justice under the direction and supervision of the attorney general. The law transferred the State Crime Laboratory, which was originally created by Chapter 509, Laws of 1947, to the new department. Chapter 234, Laws of 1969, redefined the responsibilities of the Crime Laboratory, renamed the Crime Laboratory Division the Law Enforcement Services Division, and created a Crime Information and Identification Center and a bureau responsible for establishing law enforcement recruitment training and standards.

The Reorganization Act of 1967 also transferred to the new Department of Justice the arson investigation program of the Commissioner of Insurance and criminal investigatory functions of the Beverage and Cigarette Tax Division of the Department of Taxation, which were combined with intelligence functions of the Attorney General's Office to form the Division of Criminal Investigation of the Department of Justice. Chapter 141, Laws of 1969, enlarged the responsibilities and duties of the Division of Criminal Investigation to include enforcement of certain laws related to dangerous drugs, narcotics and organized crime. Chapter 39, Laws of 1975, returned alcohol and tobacco tax enforcement to the Department of Revenue.

The Division of Legal Services was created as a result of the budget bill enacted by the 1965 Legislature and the Reorganization Act of 1967.

Chapter 189, Laws of 1979, transferred the Crime Victim Compensation Program from the Department of Industry, Labor, and Human Relations to the Department of Justice. Chapter 219, Laws of 1979, created a bill of rights for witnesses and victims of crime.

Chapter 34, Laws of 1979, transferred the Division of Trust Lands and Investments from the Department of Natural Resources to the Department of Justice for administrative purposes.

The attorney general is elected on a partisan ballot and serves a 4-year term. The Office of Attorney General is established by Article VI, Section 1, of the Wisconsin Constitution. The office, however, existed prior to statehood. When Wisconsin became a territory in 1836, an attorney general was appointed by the President of the United States and was subject to removal by him. In 1839 a territorial act made the attorney general appointive by the governor with the consent of the Legislative Council for a term of 3 years. Both the Constitution proposed in 1846 and the one adopted in 1848 provided for an elected attorney general serving a term of 2 years. The term was increased to 4 years by a constitutional amendment ratified in 1967.

Organization: The Department of Justice is headed by the attorney general. The department is comprised of the Legal Services Division, the Law Enforcement Services Division, the Division of Criminal Investigation, the Administrative Services Division, and the Office of Crime Victims Services.

In addition, the department has 3 advisory committees or councils. These are the Citizen Advisory Committee to the Public Intervenor, the Crime Victims Council, and the University and Crime Laboratory Cooperation Council. The Law Enforcement Standards Board is attached to the department for the purposes of budgeting and program coordination.

The Division of Trust Lands and Investments was attached to the Department of Justice by Chapter 34, Laws of 1979. It remains, however, under the direction and supervision of the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands, created by the Wisconsin Constitution.

Agency Responsibility: The Department of Justice provides legal representation and advice as well as criminal investigatory and other law enforcement services for the state.

The department provides legal representation in civil cases in which the state, a state agency or an officer or employe of the state is a party. It also handles criminal cases in the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court. When expressly authorized by law or requested to do so by the governor, by either branch of the legislature or by state department heads, the Department of Justice provides legal representation in lower court cases. The department provides legal representation for the various units of state government in proceedings to review their administrative decisions in circuit court, the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court.

The department advises state officers, departments and agencies as to their legal rights and responsibilities.

Written legal opinions are furnished to the governor, either house of the state legislature, state department heads, district attorneys and county corporation counsel on request. Many of these opinions are published and serve as general guidance for state and local government operations.

The department consults and advises the counties' district attorneys and corporation counsel on civil and criminal matters within the jurisdiction of their offices.

Prosecutorial training is also provided for the state's 71 district attorneys and their staff. In addition, a monthly prosecutorial newsletter is circulated and a "hotline" is maintained to provide consultative services to prosecutors while trials are in session.

The criminal investigatory responsibility of the Department of Justice includes investigation of crime that is statewide in nature, importance, or influence; investigation and enforcement of laws pertaining to narcotics and dangerous drugs, gambling, prostitution, and white collar crimes; investigation of fires of known or suspected incendiary origin, bombings and other explosions of suspected criminal origin and, by request, the investigation of fires and explosions resulting in fatalities; and, upon request, assistance to local law enforcement agencies with major criminal cases.

Other law enforcement service responsibilities of the department include providing technical assistance to Wisconsin law enforcement agencies in crime scene processing, and laboratory analyses in areas such as firearms/tool marks comparisons, drug identification, questioned document examination, microanalysis and serology, photography, hardtrace chemistry-physics, toxicology, and the identification of footwear, vehicle tires, fingerprints and palm prints; establishing standards for recruitment and training of police and jail officers; and serving as a central repository for identification and criminal histories. The Transaction Information for the Management of Enforcement (TIME) system allows instant telecommunications access into the crime information files through 342 terminals located in law enforcement jurisdictions throughout the state.

The attorney general is required to appoint an assistant attorney general "public intervenor". The public intervenor is authorized to intervene formally in all water and other resources proceedings where such intervention is needed for the protection of "public rights".

The department is responsible for administering the Crime Victim Compensation Program. The program is designed to reimburse innocent victims of crime for medical expenses, lost wages, funeral expenses, loss of support, and other expenses.

The Department of Justice has the responsibility of administering a program to reimburse counties for the services they provide to the victims and witnesses of crimes.

Unit Functions:

The Division of Legal Services provides legal services to the state, district attorneys and corporation counsel and furnishes requested legal opinions.

In a number of program areas, such as criminal prosecution, consumer protection, and pollution abatement, the attorney general not only enforces laws administered by other regulatory agencies, but initiates investigations and legal prosecutions independently.

The Legal Services Division also provides protection for Wisconsin citizens against fraudulent and deceptive business practices. This is handled by its Consumer Protection Unit through 4 functions: investigation and law enforcement, mediation and resolution of consumer complaints, consumer advocacy and consumer information.

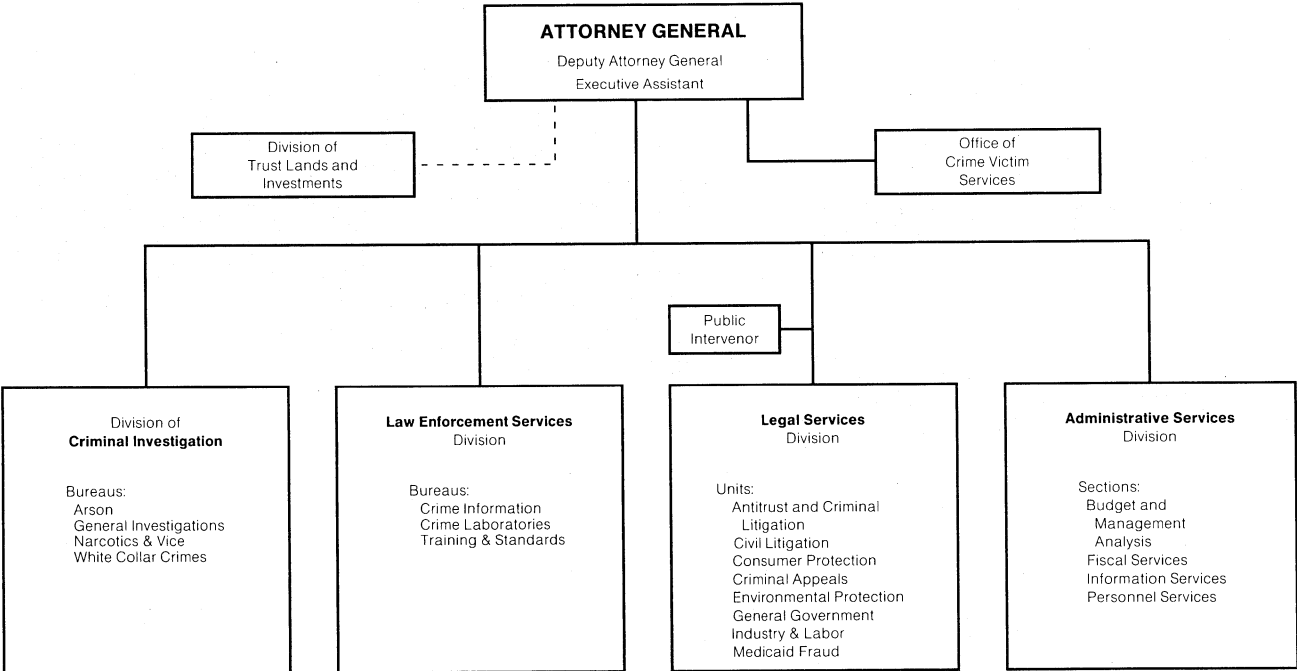

With the aid of federal funding, a Medicaid Fraud Unit investigates and prosecutes Medicaid fraud throughout the state.

The Division of Criminal Investigation is responsible for all criminal investigations that the department is authorized to conduct. The division makes investigations of criminal activities that are statewide in nature, importance, or influence; makes investigations to insure the enforcement of laws concerning gambling and prostitution; investigates organized criminal activity, illicit narcotics and dangerous drug traffic; conducts investigations related to the arson investigative function of the department; investigates white collar crimes; and assists local law enforcement in major cases on request.

The Division of Criminal Investigation (DCI) is divided into 4 bureaus in order to provide more efficient services to the state and local law enforcement agencies in the areas of enforcement and training: the Arson Bureau, the General Investigations Bureau, the Narcotics and Vice Bureau, and the White Collar Crimes Bureau.

Special agents work closely with prosecuting attorneys (either assistant attorneys general or district attorneys) in a cooperative effort to investigate crimes and prosecute criminals successfully.

The White Collar Crimes Bureau investigates public corruption, criminal antitrust and financial crimes. At the request of the governor, this bureau is periodically called upon to conduct Units attached for administrative purposes under Sec. 15.03:

Law Enforcement Standards Board
Division of Trust Lands and Investments

sensitive investigations involving elected and appointed officials, thus providing a necessary check-and-balance function.

A primary function of the General Investigations Bureau is to assist or supplement local law enforcement on major crime cases when requested to do so. Most requests of this nature have been concerned with complex murder investigations and multijurisdictional theft rings. This bureau is also responsible for maintaining an organized crime intelligence capability.

The Narcotics and Vice Bureau performs a large number of drug and vice investigations in conjunction with local law enforcement agencies.

The Arson Bureau is responsible for the investigation of fires of incendiary origin throughout Wisconsin.

The Law Enforcement Services Division provides technical and scientific assistance to state and local law enforcement officers, administers employment and training standards, and acts as a criminal information center for the clearance of information between law enforcement agencies. The Crime Laboratories provide technical and scientific assistance to state and local law enforcement officers in physical evidence analysis. Forensic science services are provided by Crime Laboratories in Madison and Milwaukee. The Milwaukee Laboratory provides services to an 8-county area of southeast Wisconsin; the Madison Laboratory serves the remaining 64 counties. Field assistance is provided to local law enforcement agencies upon request. The laboratories have a field team "on call" 24 hours a day, 7 days a week to respond to requests for assistance at major crime scenes and autopsy examinations. The Crime Information Bureau provides a central repository for identification information, which includes the maintenance of a fingerprint file, to assist criminal justice agencies. It also operates a statewide data communication system having a computer link with the National Crime Information Center (NCIC) of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the National Law Enforcement Telecommunications System (NLETS), the Wisconsin Department of Transportation's motor vehicle and driver license files, the Crime Information Bureau state crime files, and local law enforcement agencies. The bureau also publishes a monthly Law Enforcement Bulletin for distribution to criminal justice agencies. The Training and Standards Bureau insures that the minimum recruitment and training qualifications established by the Law Enforcement Standards Board are met by all new police and jail officers entering law enforcement service at the county, municipal and state level. Nineteen regional recruit academies offer the board's mandated 240 hours certified program, in addition to providing regional in-service and specialized training. Training costs for the mandated basic program are 100 percent reimbursed and other training programs are partially reimbursed depending on program type. Reimbursements are financed through an 11% penalty assessment on all criminal and civil fines and forfeitures except nonmoving traffic violations. The bureau also makes available the services of two legal and one criminalist instructor, operates a 550 print film library, and publishes instructional manuals covering a variety of topics.

The Administrative Services Division provides basic staff services to the other divisions in areas of budget preparation and fiscal control, personnel management, facilities management, mail services, and systems and data processing for management purposes and for record keeping.

The Office of Crime Victim Services provides help to crime victims and witnesses in two ways. The Crime Victim Compensation program provides reimbursement to innocent victims of crime for medical expenses, lost wages, funeral and burial expenses, loss of support, and other expenses incurred by the victim. The department makes awards in the amount of approximately $1,000,000 per year.

The Victim Witness program provides reimbursement to counties for the cost of providing services to help victims and witnesses participating in the criminal justice system. The Department of Justice reimburses 30 counties under this program.

Interagency Relationships: The Department of Justice may be involved with all other state agencies at some time in its role of legal counsel for the state. In addition, some agencies maintain their own legal staffs to provide services of a legal nature, including the understanding and administration of complex laws, acting as hearing examiners in quasi-judicial matters, acting as department or "house" counsel, conducting investigations which may be the basis for instituting or defending judicial proceedings, and acting as an advocate before an administrative agency. These attorneys work with and seek opinions and advice from the Department of Justice.

The department works closely with other agencies in performing its role of criminal investigator. The Division of Criminal Investigation often cooperates with the Office of the Commissioner of Securities, the banking commissioner, and other state agencies when investigations involve violations related to the specialized nature of these offices. This cooperation at all levels enhances the division's ability to fulfill its main mission, which is to supplement and assist local law enforcement.

The Law Enforcement Services Division of the department provides technical assistance to many agencies of state government. The scientific and technical nature of the Crime Laboratories' work has resulted in working arrangements with the University of Wisconsin and Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection. These arrangements provide for joint use of physical facilities and in certain cases the exchange of scientific personnel. The Crime Information Bureau continually coordinates with the Department of Transportation, Department of Health and Social Services, Court Administrator's Office and all other state agencies with law enforcement or criminal justice responsibilities. The Training and Standards Bureau maintains constant liaison with law enforcement agencies and, through a central records system, maintains training records on all Wisconsin law enforcement officers at the basic, specialized and in-service training levels.

INDEPENDENT UNITS ATTACHED FOR BUDGETING, PROGRAM COORDINATION AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

LAW ENFORCEMENT STANDARDS BOARD

Law Enforcement Standards Board: WILLIAM P. WARD (local government), chairperson; JEROME D. LACKE (law enforcement), vice chairperson; BRONSON C. LA FOLLETTE (Attorney General), RICHARD A. FLINTROP (executive director, Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice), RALPH E. CHRISTENSEN (designee of secretary of Department of Natural Resources), JAMES W. VAN SISTINE (designee of secretary of Department of Transportation); RUTH BACHMAN (district attorney); BETSY ANN FISH ALBERTS, JOSEPH P. FANRE, DAVID HASKINS, EDWARD MOFFETT, JOHN E. REIFF (law enforcement); SANDRA HOEH-LYON (local government executive); GRACE E. ARAMSON (public member); H. ERNEST WOODBY (Milwaukee FBI Office, nonvoting).

Statutory Reference: Section 15.255.

History: The Law Enforcement Standards Board was created by Chapter 466, Laws of 1969.

Organization: The board is an independent unit attached to the department under Section 15.03 of the statutes for administrative purposes. It consists of 15 members, of whom 10 are appointed by the governor for staggered 4-year terms (6 representatives of local law enforcement, one of whom must be a chief and one a sheriff; one district attorney, 2 local government representatives; and one public member) and 5 ex officio members, which include the executive director, Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice; the secretary of the Department of Transportation or designee; the Attorney General or designee; secretary of the Department of Natural Resources or designee; and the special agent in charge of the Milwaukee Office for the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Agency Responsibility: The board 1) sets minimum education and training standards for employment of law enforcement and jail officers, 2) certifies persons as being qualified to be officers, 3) establishes minimum curriculum requirements for preparatory courses and programs and recommends minimum curriculum requirements for in-service and advanced courses and programs for training law enforcement recruits, 4) consults with other government agencies regarding the development of law enforcement training schools and courses, 5) conducts and stimulates research to improve law enforcement administration and performance, and 6) evaluates compliance by governmental units. The board appoints a curriculum advisory committee and a training research committee to advise it in the establishment of curriculum requirements.

DIVISION OF TRUST LANDS AND INVESTMENTS

Trust Lands & Investments, Division of: STEPHEN E. GAUGER, secretary.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7857, Madison 53707; location: Room 6, State Justice Building, 123 West Washington Avenue.

Publications: Annual Report (no charge).

Telephone: (608) 266-1370.

Number of Employees: 6.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $492,900.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.253.

History: The Division of Trust Lands and Investments was transferred to the Department of Justice by Chapter 34, Laws of 1979, from the Department of Natural Resources, where it had been placed in 1967. It remains, however, under the direction and supervision of the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands, created by the Wisconsin Constitution.

Organization: The division is attached to the department, but is under the board's direction. The Board of Commissioners of Public Lands is, by Art. X, Sec. 7 of the Constitution, composed of the attorney general, the secretary of state, and the state treasurer.

Agency Responsibility: The division manages and sells the public lands (Article X, Section 7, Wisconsin Constitution; Chapter 24, Statutes) and manages the educational trust funds, which totaled $142.8 million as of June 30, 1984. The division lends these funds to Wisconsin municipalities and school districts for public improvements and other purposes.

Total State Budget 1983-85: $14,693,600.

Total Federal Budget (annual): $70,000,000.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.31.

History: The reorganization bill enacted in 1967 (Chapter 75), created a Department of Military Affairs with the program responsibilities for the Wisconsin National Guard. The Wisconsin State Armory Board was also transferred to the new department and renamed the Armory Board. The Armory Board was abolished in 1973.

The Wisconsin National Guard was established as such by Chapter 208, Laws of 1879, but it was preceded by both a territorial militia and a state militia.

Local militia in this country existed as far back as colonial times. In 1792 federal law required all able-bodied men between 18 and 45 to serve in the militia of their locality. This provision was incorporated into the territorial statutes of Wisconsin. The Wisconsin Constitution (Art. IV, Sec. 29) required the legislature to determine what persons should constitute the militia of the state and provide for its organization and discipline. The Wisconsin Statutes of 1849 specified the procedure for any group of persons to organize themselves into a uniformed company. Officers were to be commissioned by the governor, and a company could apply to the governor for arms or ordnance for use of the company. Chapter 87, Laws of 1858, provided for a more formal organization of the militia of the state. The active militia was to be composed of general and field grade officers together with all legally organized companies. The governor was to be commander in chief of the militia of the state and was to appoint the top officers. He was also to establish a military school of practice to assemble once each year, and all the uniformed companies were required to assemble in their respective military districts for such school. The adjutant general was to be the active, full-time officer of the military organization of the state.

In 1873 (Chapter 202) the state made an appropriation for the militia, constituting its first such direct state support. In 1879 the state militia officially became the Wisconsin National Guard.

Adjutants general existed in Wisconsin from 1836, when the first one was designated an aide to the territorial governor, supervising the everyday affairs of the militia. He gradually acquired more authority until he became head of the military establishments of the state under the governor.

The militia of the various states were established by federal law, but they were state-operated organizations. As a result of the lack of uniformity among the National Guard units which showed up in the Spanish-American War, Congress enacted a law in 1903 to unify the National Guard under federal supervision. This law divided the militia into the organized National Guard unit in each state and the reserve militia. Certain standards were set for the guard and federal aid was granted.

The State Army Board was created by Chapter 271, Laws of 1943. A predecessor board, however, was created in 1919 (Chapter 324). Legislation similar to that establishing the 1943 board was originally passed in 1939 but was vetoed by the Governor. The board was abolished by Chapter 90, Laws of 1973.

Organization: The governor, by statute, is the commander in chief of the Wisconsin National Guard. However, the department is headed by the adjutant general, who serves as chief of staff to the governor. He is appointed by the governor from officers of the Army or Air National Guard of Wisconsin who have had at least 5 years of federally recognized commissioned service in such guard and who have attained at least the rank of lieutenant colonel. The term of office is 5 years.

The physical composition of units of the Wisconsin Army and Air National Guard is as authorized by the secretary of defense.

All officers and enlisted personnel of the guard must qualify under the physical and educational requirements required of personnel of the regular Army or Air Force.

The Wisconsin National Guard is maintained by both the federal and state governments. The federal government provides arms and ammunition, equipment and uniforms, military and support personnel pay, supervision of training, and major outdoor training facilities. The state assumes the obligation of providing personnel, conducting training as required under the National Defense Act, and sharing the cost of constructing, maintaining and operating armories and other military facilities.

Agency Responsibility: The department provides an armed military force (the National Guard) organized, trained, equipped and available for use in state and national emergencies under competent orders. The federal, and prime, mission of the National Guard is to provide trained units to the active Army and Air Force in time of war or national emergency. Its state mission is to assist civil authorities in providing protection of life and property and preserving peace, order and public safety.

Unit Functions: The Adjutant General commands, administers and supervises, through his deputy adjutants general, all National Guard functions in Wisconsin.

Interagency Relationships: The National Guard is maintained by both federal and state governments, and the physical composition of units of the Army and Air Guard is as authorized by the secretary of defense. In time of war or national emergency, the guard may be activated to augment regular forces on active duty. A federal disaster recovery program has placed additional responsibilities on the department. As this program grows, close relationships have been developed, and continue to be developed, with other state agencies that have programs relating to national and state emergencies.

(confirmation pending, to succeed Thomas Jacobson), PATRICIA MCMAHON (confirmation pending, to succeed Margaret Satterthwaite), BRENT SMITH (confirmation pending) (attorney members); JAMES E. CARLEY, VIRGINIA HART (confirmation pending), MARY MACHT.

State Public Defender: RICHARD J. PHELPS.

Deputy State Public Defender: JUDITH P. COLLINS.

Appellate Division: ERIC SCHULENBURG, chief.

Trial Representation Division: MARCUS T. JOHNSON, chief.

Administrative Unit: ARLENE F. BANOUL, administrative officer.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7923, Madison 53707; location: 131 W. Wilson St.

Telephone: (608) 266-0087 (Madison); (414) 224-2978 (Milwaukee).

Number of Employees: 268.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $33,729,700.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.78.

History: The Office of the State Public Defender was created by Chapter 479, Laws of 1965, as an appellate defense program within the Supreme Court's budget. The program was initiated in May 1966, partially financed by a Ford Foundation grant. The Supreme Court appointed the state public defender for a term of 5 years, and the state public defender, in turn, had authority to delegate representation to assistant state public defenders. Indigent defense at the trial court level was a county responsibility. Determination of indigency was the judge's responsibility at the defendant's initial court appearance. After determination of indigency, the judge either appointed private counsel or referred the client to a local public defender office.

Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, the budget act, transferred the public defender program from the Supreme Court to the executive branch as an independent agency called the Office of the State Public Defender under the Public Defender Board. The act provided for gradual implementation of the public defender program at the trial court level.

Chapter 34, Laws of 1979, the budget act, provided funding for the implementation of the statewide public defender program begun under Chapter 29, Laws of 1977. However, the Governor item vetoed the 1980-81 appropriations for the program except the private bar appropriation.

Chapter 356, Laws of 1979, effective July 1, 1980, established a 4-tiered system for the trial representation of indigents--in 25 counties 100% of the cases would be handled by the private bar, in 6 counties 50% of the cases would be handled by the private bar and 50% by staff, in 31 counties 25% of the cases would be handled by the private bar and 75% by staff and in 10 urban counties 15% of the cases would be handled by the private bar and 85% by public defender staff. In 1983-84, staff handled an average of 70% of the trial level cases in the 47 counties the program is in.

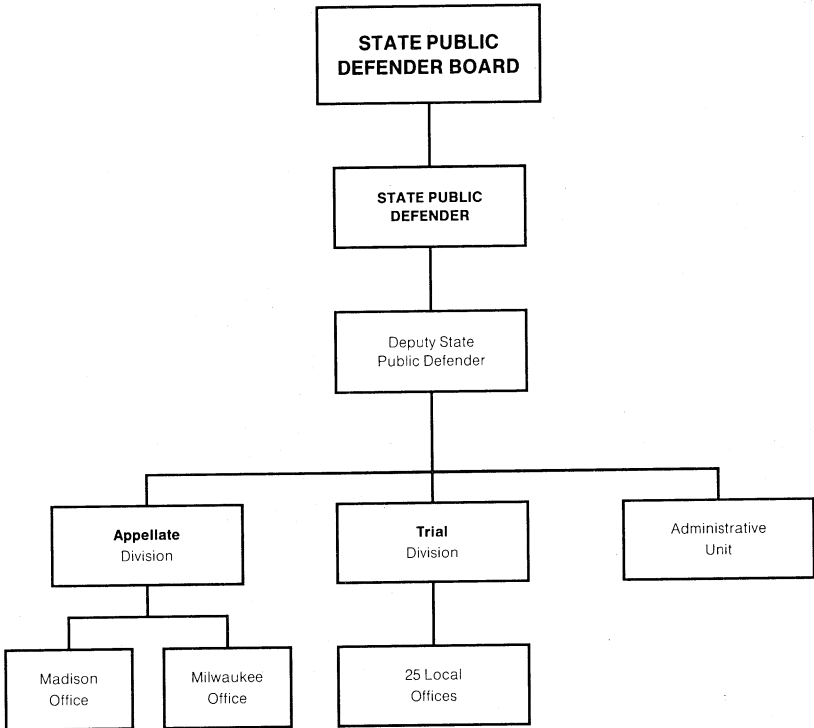

1983 Wisconsin Act 377 authorized additional staff to increase the percentage of the trial level cases handled by staff in the 47 counties the program is currently in from 70% to 75% on average, beginning in 1984-85.

Organization: The Public Defender Board is composed of 9 members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, to serve for staggered 3-year terms. At least 5 members of the board must be members of the State Bar of Wisconsin. The state public defender is appointed to serve at the pleasure of the board.

The Office of the State Public Defender consists of 3 units: the Appellate Division, the Trial Division, and the Administrative Unit.

Agency Responsibility: The board's duties include review and submission of the agency's budget, the promulgation of rules regarding the determination of indigency of persons entitled to be represented, and the promulgation of rules regarding the certification of attorneys for the assigned counsel lists. Rates of compensation for attorneys drawn from the assigned counsel lists are set by statute.

OFFICE OF THE STATE PUBLIC DEFENDER

STATE PUBLIC DEFENDER

The state public defender supervises the operation, activities, policies, and procedures of the Office of the State Public Defender and makes final decisions regarding the handling of cases. The state public defender is also responsible for all indigency determinations and assignment of counsel for persons entitled to counsel.

Unit Functions:

The Appellate Division provides legal representation to indigents in post-conviction or post-commitment proceedings in the trial courts, the appellate courts, or the Supreme Court. The Appellate Division also receives and acts upon complaints from inmates or courts relating to persons confined to state institutions. The Appellate Division provides appellate representation to indigents in all counties. In 1984-85, approximately 84% of these cases are handled by program staff. The remainder are assigned to private attorneys.

The Trial Division provides legal representation at the trial level to indigent persons charged with adult crimes or juvenile offenses, petitioned mentally ill, or involved in family disputes, including paternity actions and the termination of parental rights. Staff of the Trial Division provide representation in 47 counties of the state. On average in these counties, staff provide representation in 75% of the cases. Private attorneys represent indigent clients in the remainder of the cases in these 47 counties and in all cases in the other 25 counties.

The Administrative Unit is responsible for providing staff support services in areas such as personnel, budget preparation, the agency's case management system, fiscal analysis, processing of payments for the private bar, and purchasing.

Interagency Relationships: The Office of the State Public Defender cooperates with other state agencies, including the Department of Administration, Department of Justice, Department of Health and Social Services, Department of Employment Relations and the University of Wisconsin Law School and School of Social Work. In addition, the State Public Defender or his or her designee sits on the Judicial Council and the Sentencing Commission. The office also maintains liaisons with the State Bar of Wisconsin and local bar associations because the office's cases are handled by both staff attorneys and private attorneys.

Memorial Hall Museum, Wisconsin Veterans Home.

Number of Employees: 694.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $296,878,300.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.49.

History: The department was originally created by Chapter 580, Laws of 1945, and represented a consolidation of several predecessor agencies. The Wisconsin Veterans Home (formerly the Grand Army Home for Veterans) has been operating since 1887, originally under the Grand Army of the Republic, and for many years under the adjutant general's office, before responsibility was transferred to the Department of Veterans Affairs upon its creation. Chapter 333, Laws of 1973, changed the name of the Grand Army Home to the Wisconsin Veterans Home.

The Council on Veterans Programs was created as the Veterans Advisory Committee in the department by Chapter 443, Laws of 1943, and renamed by Chapter 327, Laws of 1967.

Chapter 513, Laws of 1961, combined 3 segregated funds into a single operating fund, the Veterans Trust Fund, from which the department funds the loans and grants programs, the claims service and the G.A.R. Memorial Hall.

Organization: The department is headed by a 7-member board appointed by the governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, for terms of 6 years. All members of the Board of Veterans Affairs must be veterans. The administrative powers and duties are exercised by the secretary, appointed by the board to service at its pleasure.

The Council on Veterans Programs is comprised of one representative each from various organizations; members are appointed for one-year terms by the respective organizations.

Agency Responsibility: The department provides health, educational and economic assistance to specified veterans of the armed forces of the United States and their dependents. Included are low-interest purchase, construction and improvement home loans (including mobile home loans); educational loans for the veteran or the veteran's children and the surviving spouses of deceased veterans; economic assistance loans for home repair, business, debt consolidation, etc.; educational grants to Vietnam Era veterans for full-time study at schools of higher education within the state; educational grants to all eligible veterans for part-time study at schools within the state; health care and temporary subsistence grants; counseling, claims service; grants to service organizations that provide services to veterans, incarcerated veterans and recently released veterans; operation of the Wisconsin Veterans Home, the Wisconsin Veterans Memorial Cemetery and a veterans museum, all located at King, Wisconsin; the G.A.R. Memorial Hall located in the State Capitol.

Unit Functions:

The Division of Veterans Programs administers the Bureaus of Housing Loans, Veterans Services, Claims, and Collections.

The Bureau of Housing Loans administers the department's first and second mortgage home loan programs.

The WISVET (first mortgage) Home Loan Program was initiated by Chapter 208, Laws of 1973. The purpose of this program is to provide first mortgage housing loan funds for the purchase or construction of private housing by qualified Wisconsin veterans of modest means. The popular home loan program has been principally financed through the sale by the state of low interest rate general obligation bonds. G.O. bond monies have provided most of the funding for more than $1.3 billion in veterans first mortgage home loans since the program's inception. For a short time (July 1980 through August 1982), the WISVET program was funded by means of revenue bonds, with $77.9 million in mortgage loans having been committed from this source of funding.

In April 1982 the Legislature returned the funding of the WISVET Home Loan Program to general obligation bonding, with authority for another $100 million in mortgage funds. The 1983 budget provided for an additional $100 million in bonding authorization. There were 4 G.O. bond issues, totaling $130 million, which funded the program between August 1982 and March 1984. Mortgage interest rates for these issues ranged from 9.2 to 10.3%. In November 1984, a fund outage occurred when the Building Commission halted further bonding pending resolution of a cashflow problem which had been brought about by an unanticipated decline in mortgage prepayments.

On April 12, 1985, a general obligation bond sale was held which provided $56.7 million with which to finance an estimated 1,400 veterans home loans. The mortgage interest rate was set at 10.6%.

The WISVET Home Loan Program provides qualified Wisconsin veterans with first mortgage, 30-year home loans at a fixed rate of interest. The administrative and loan self-insurance costs of the program have been met from an interest ad-on to the bond rate charged to the veteran borrower. As of December 31, 1984, the department had committed a total of 40,722 WISVET home loans.

The Second Mortgage Home Loan Program, begun in 1947, is now largely used for home improvement and for mobile home purchase. Qualified Wisconsin veterans can obtain a maximum loan of $5,000 at a current interest rate of 3.42%, which includes the required mortgage cancellation life insurance premiums. Since 1947, more than 52,000 loans have been made.

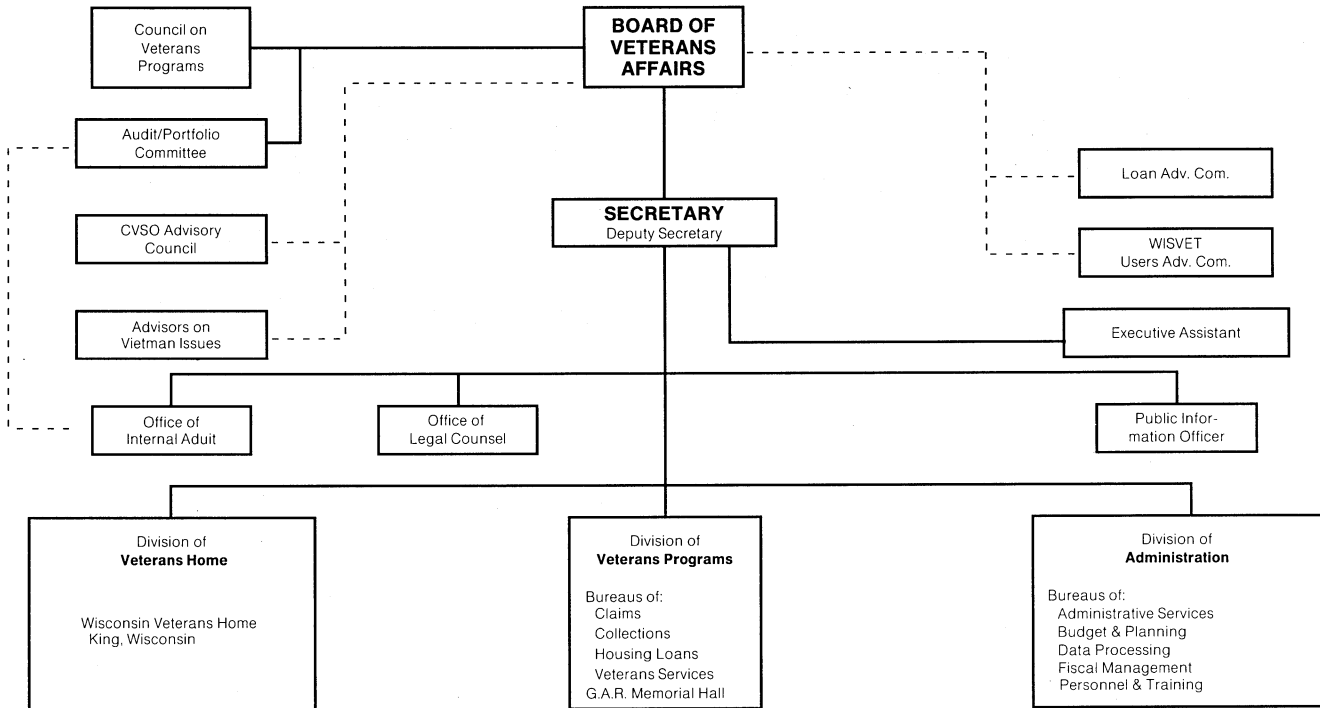

The Bureau of Veterans Services administers the department's Economic Assistance Loan Program and the educational, health and subsistence grant programs.

The Economic Assistance Loan Program permits eligible veterans to borrow up to $3,000 at a 3% annual rate of interest. The loan may be used for education of the veteran or the veteran's children; for the purchase or improvement of business property or for operating capital for a business; for repairs or additions to a veteran's home, including construction of a garage; for agricultural purposes, such as construction of outbuildings, feed and seed purchases, purchase of farm machinery; for debt consolidation; for the purchase of furniture, appliances or fixtures, including carpeting and draperies; for payment of medical, dental or funeral expenses; or for other qualifying purposes. Loans are limited to those veterans who have a combined annual income (veteran and spouse or co-applicant) which does not exceed $18,000 annually, plus $500 for each dependent in excess of 2 dependents. The Economic Assistance Loan Program has provided nearly 80,000 low-interest loans since the program began in 1945.

The Grants Section provides full-time study grants to Vietnam Era veterans of up to $200 for single veterans, and $400 for married veterans or those with dependents, per academic year. The veteran must be a full-time undergraduate student in any college or school in Wisconsin approved by the Wisconsin Higher Educational Aids Board. Part-time study grants are available to all eligible Wisconsin veterans. The grant provides for reimbursement to veterans, upon satisfactory completion, of the costs of tuition, fees and textbooks for part-time study or correspondent courses from most public and private schools in Wisconsin, including all high schools, the VTAE system, the UW system and most private colleges. The Grants Section also administers the National Guard education grant.

The Grants Section also provides temporary, emergency financial aid to the veteran or the veteran's dependents. Subsistence aid may be provided only when there is illness or disability, or during treatment for alcoholism or drug addiction, causing loss of income which results in want or distress, or during period of treatment of the veteran in a Veterans Administration hospital for Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (PTSD), in which case loss of income is not a determining factor for eligibility. Subsistence grant monies must be used for essential budgetary requirements of the veteran (usually limited to payment for food, utilities and mortgage or rent payments). Health care grants are also available to veterans or dependents of veterans for emergency medical treatment or hospitalization only if necessary to prevent want and distress. Assistance in meeting the cost of nonemergency medical treatment may also be provided, but only when prior authorization has been obtained and when government facilities cannot be utilized.

Each county in the state is required to employ a county veterans service officer to provide advice and counsel locally to veterans residing in the county. Although they are county employees, all applications for state veterans benefits and many claims for federal benefits originate through these offices. The department is authorized to pay a service grant to counties which voluntarily agree to meet operating and budget standards developed by the department to improve the level of service to all veterans of the state. Fifty-seven counties now qualify for the grant. The department is also authorized to make grants to organizations which provide counseling for discharge review, incarcerated and recently released veterans.

The Bureau of Claims is co-located with the Veterans Administration regional office at Wood, Wisconsin. The bureau assists veterans in the prosecution of claims against the federal government for compensation, pension, education, back pay or any other problems arising from military service. Representation by the claims office is free of charge to the Wisconsin veteran. The department is authorized to pay claims service grants to veterans organizations providing similar claims service in the VA regional office; 4 such organizations presently qualify for these grants.

The Bureau of Collections is responsible for the collection of delinquent loan accounts, which may involve acquisition, management and sale of property, real and personal. Other responsibilities include inspection and appraisal of real estate which is the subject of loan applications, and servicing of the Veterans Trust Fund portfolio.

G.A.R. Memorial Hall Museum is maintained on the fourth floor of the State Capitol at Madison and is dedicated to Wisconsin veterans of all wars; it is open to the public year-around. The Memorial Hall is a war museum devoted principally to the Civil War and the Spanish-American War; it houses military weapons, artifacts and battle flags. The official replica of the Wisconsin Medal of Honor is on prominent display at the museum. (The original medal is enshrined at Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D.C.).

The Division of Veterans Home administers the Wisconsin Veterans Home at King, Wisconsin. In continuous operation since its founding in 1887 by the Wisconsin Department of the Grand Army of the Republic, the home is located near Waupaca, about 100 miles north of Madison, on Rainbow Lake in the Waupaca "Chain of Lakes". The home has about 700 members, one-quarter of them women. Members receive complete personal, nursing, medical and rehabilitative care.

Facilities at the home include a new clinic and skilled nursing care building, MacArthur Hall, which is named in honor of 3 famous Milwaukeeans: General of the Army Douglas MacArthur; the general's father, Lieutenant General Arthur McArthur, Jr.; and his grandfather, Governor Arthur MacArthur, Sr. Other facilities at the Wisconsin Veterans Home include: cottages for those couples able to care for themselves, chapels, a post office, a theater, bowling alleys and a library. Services include: food service, laundry, social services, recreational and social activities, and religious services.

Membership at the home is open to veterans who have served honorably during a wartime period specified in the Wisconsin statutes. Veterans who are permanently incapacitated due to age or physical disability and those unable to follow any substantially gainful employment, who meet service and residency criteria, and who apply income and resources to the cost of their care to the extent required under Medicaid eligibility standards, may be admitted to the home. The spouses of such veterans may also be admitted to the home.

The home also operates the Wisconsin Veterans Memorial Cemetery. Any member of the home, any honorably discharged veteran of any war who is a resident of the state at the time of death, and any parent or surviving spouse (if application is made within 6 months after the veteran's death) may be buried in the cemetery at King, Wisconsin.

The Division of Administration provides coordinating administrative services to the department, including accounting, fiscal control, personnel services, records management, data processing, budget and planning and stenographic services.

The Council on Veterans Programs studies and presents policy alternatives and recommendations relating to veterans matters to the Board of Veterans Affairs. It is a statutory advisory body which is comprised of representatives of organizations having a direct interest in veterans affairs.

Interagency Relationships: The department coordinates the activities of all state agencies performing functions relating to veterans and their problems, including medical, hospital and other remedial care, placement and training, educational, economic or vocational training of honorably discharged veterans; and maintains a close working relationship with the Veterans Administration regional office, area VA hospitals and county veterans service officers.

Number of Employees: 877.16. (does not include LTEs or individuals working for attached boards and commissions).

Total Budget 1983-85: $126,596,800.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.10.

History: The Department of Administration was created by Chapter 228, Laws of 1959, which abolished the former independent Bureaus of Engineering, Personnel, and Purchases; the Department of Budget and Accounts; and the Division of Departmental Research in the Executive Office. All functions formerly carried on by these agencies were transferred to the new department. Chapter 645, Laws of 1961, separated the Personnel Board from the department in order to give it quasi-judicial review functions.

Chapter 75, Laws of 1967, which reorganized Wisconsin state government, transferred the state comprehensive planning responsibility from the Department of Resource Development to the Department of Administration. In addition, the Claims Board, Personnel Board, Public Records Board, and Tax Appeals Commission were attached to the department for administrative purposes.

Since the 1967 reorganization, other units have been attached to the department for administrative purposes. These include the State Capitol and Executive Residence Board, created by Chapter 183, as amended by Chapter 217, Laws of 1967; the Arts Board, attached to the department by Chapter 333, Laws of 1973; the Depository Selection Board, created by Chapter 418, Laws of 1977; the Board on Aging and Long-Term Care, created by Chapter 20, Laws of 1981; the Radioactive Waste Review Board, created by Chapter 62, Laws of 1981; the Waste Facility Siting Board, created by Chapter 374, Laws of 1981; the Hospital Rate-Setting Commission and the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board, created by 1983 Wisconsin Act 27; and the Sentencing Commission, created by 1983 Wisconsin Act 371. The Public Records Board was expanded to become the Public Records and Forms Board by Chapter 350, Laws of 1981. The Division of Nursing Home Forfeiture Appeals and the Division of Natural Resources Hearings, created by Chapter 418, Laws of 1977, were combined to form the Division of Hearings and Appeals by 1983 Wisconsin Act 27.

Executive Order 36, in September 1976, merged the Office of Emergency Energy Assistance with the State Planning Office to create the Division of State Planning and Energy. Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, confirmed this by authorizing the department, through a system of long-range planning, to promote the development and maximum wise use of the energy, natural, and human resources of the state.

Chapter 196, Laws of 1977, created the Department of Employment Relations, which transferred the Division of Employee Relations to the new department. The Personnel Board was removed from the department, and a full-time Personnel Commission was created.

Within the department are several advisory units. One of these is the State Employees Merit Award Board, created by Chapter 278, Laws of 1953, and now staffed by the department.

Chapter 191, Laws of 1967, created an advisory Council on Printing.

Chapter 419, Laws of 1977, created the Council on Small and Minority Business Opportunities.

Chapter 392, Laws of 1977, created the Emergency Number Systems Board.

Chapter 29, Laws of 1977, authorized the department to establish a Demographic Services Center.

Chapter 361, Laws of 1979, transferred the Division of Emergency Government from the Department of Local Affairs and Development (DLAD) to the department. DLAD's Community Management Services Program was also transferred to the department's Bureau of Technical Assistance in the Division of State Finance and Program Management.

The Division of Emergency Government was originally created as the Office of Civil Defense by Chapter 443, Laws of 1951, although in 1940 Governor Julius Heil had created the Wisconsin Council of Defense by executive order. The office was replaced by the State Council on Civil Defense, enacted by a 1943 law. The council was, in turn, abolished and its functions transferred to the Adjutant General's Department in 1945. In 1950, Governor Oscar Rennebohm appointed the adjutant general as director of civil defense, and the adjutant general retained this dual capacity, as permitted by the new law, for several years.

A State Civil Defense Council was created in 1955 (Chapter 377) to advise the director. Chapter 628, Laws of 1959, changed the Office of Civil Defense into the Bureau of Civil Defense within the Executive Department. In 1967, Chapter 75, as implemented by Chapters 211 and 327, transferred the bureau to the Department of Local Affairs and Development, where it became the Division of Emergency Government. In 1979 it was transferred to the Department of Administration.

Organization: The Department of Administration is administered by a secretary appointed by the governor to serve at his pleasure with the advice and consent of the Senate. The secretary selects an unclassified deputy and executive assistant to serve at his or her pleasure. The department has 8 divisions: Buildings and Grounds, Emergency Government, State Agency Services, State Energy and Coastal Management, State Executive Budget and Planning, State Facilities Management, State Finance and Program Management, and Administrative Services. In addition, several boards, commissions and councils are attached to the department.

The State Employees Merit Award Board is composed of 3 persons, who may be state officers or employes, appointed by the governor for 3-year terms.

The Council on Printing consists of 2 trade association members, 2 persons knowledgeable in graphic communications, and 2 state members. Appointments are made by the secretary for 2-year terms.

The Council on Small and Minority Business Opportunities consists of 11 members appointed by the secretary for 3-year terms. The members are to represent small and minority businesses, handicapped-owned businesses, and rehabilitation centers. One member shall be a consumer and one shall represent the Department of Development.

The Emergency Number Systems Board (9-1-1) consists of 11 members appointed by the governor for staggered, 3-year terms. The board is composed of 3 public members and 8 representatives from emergency services provider groups and telephone common carriers.

The Council on Data Processing consists of the heads of agencies having management responsibility for major data processing centers, a designee of the Joint Committee on Legislative Organization, and the heads of 3 additional state agencies appointed by the secretary of administration.

The Radioactive Waste Policy Council consists of not more than 11 members appointed for 3-year terms by the Radioactive Waste Review Board. The council consists of 11 members, including 9 state agency heads or officials and 2 members with technical expertise in the field.

The Low-Level Radioactive Waste Council consists of 7 members, including 3 public members and 4 legislative members.

The Certification Standards Review Council consists of 9 members appointed for 3-year terms.

Agency Responsibility: Under the direction of the secretary, the department acts as the governor's chief policy advisor and financial manager in preparing Wisconsin's biennial budget. It analyzes administrative and fiscal issues faced by the state and recommends solutions. The department initiates and coordinates statewide planning efforts in energy and coastal management issues.

An equally important function is the department's statutory responsibility for providing and coordinating a wide range of support services to other state agencies. These include procuring services, commodities, and supplies; handling printing requests; developing new information systems; maintaining state-owned facilities; acting as the state's central real estate office; monitoring federal legislation; and administering the state's central payroll operation.

The department's other statutory responsibilities include analyzing and recommending building programs for the State Building Commission, managing those buildings and protecting them from unlawful or unsafe use, administering the state's fleet vehicles, managing the state's liability risk, providing population information and other demographic services, coordinating records management programs among state agencies, and auditing and improving the management of state programs.

Unit Functions:

The Division of Buildings and Grounds is responsible for the operation and maintenance of state office buildings, the State Capitol, and the Executive Residence. The 19 major buildings of the division are divided into 5 complexes, each headed by a building complex manager. The division also includes the State Bureau of Protective Services and the Bureau of Building Management Specialists.

The Division of Emergency Government implements and coordinates statewide programs of emergency preparedness for natural or man-made disaster and also for enemy attack; assists in effecting emergency repairs to, and emergency restoration of, vital public facilities destroyed or damaged by such actions or disasters through coordination of state and federal resources; administers private and public federal disaster and emergency funds; and maintains the state's 24-hour duty officer reporting and response system. The division is also engaged in comprehensive programs of required state and federal emergency planning, training, and education for officials of state and local government, business and industry, and the general public.

The Division of State Agency Services is the statewide policy and management agency for purchasing and contracting in state government as well as for printing, transportation, records management, minority business, and contract compliance. The division supports the administration of state agencies with a variety of services that includes printing composition and production, fleet services, records storage and microfilming, alternative transportation modes for state employes, and property disposition. Major organizational components of the division include the State Bureau of Procurement and the Bureau of General Services.

The Division of State Energy and Coastal Management is the statewide energy and Great Lakes coastal planning and management agency. Primary office functions include advising DOA and the governor on policies for state and regional energy and coastal management, developing and coordinating implementation of emergency energy policies and programs, administering federal energy conservation funds, and development of annual population estimates for Wisconsin municipalities.

Other activities include renewable energy research and grant administration, energy supply and demand forecasting, assisting in the development of proposed state and federal energy legislation, managing energy conservation within state government, directing the coastal management program, and developing energy conservation programs.

The Division of State Executive Budget and Planning provides statewide budget and policy analysis, acts as advisor and staff to the governor in the development of executive budget proposals, and assists agencies in the technical preparation of budget requests.

In addition, the division provides analysis of legislation and prepares or coordinates the fiscal estimates which accompany all expenditure bills.

The division also advises the Building Commission and the Governor in the issuance of state debt.

The division's duties include federal grant review and coordination, demographic research, management and program evaluation, and maintenance of the position management information system and the governor's appointment register. The division's 40 employes are organized into 7 teams along major state functional lines (such as education and environmental resources).

The Division of State Facilities Management has the overall responsibility for developing and carrying out the State Building Program under the policy direction of the State Building Commission and provides the primary staff services to the commission.

Other major functions of the division relate to statewide facilities planning and evaluation, real estate acquisition and leasing services, architectural and engineering design and consultation services, management and field supervision of approved construction projects, and the administration of state architectural-engineering and construction contracts.

The Division of State Finance and Program Management encompasses such typically comptroller functions as central accounting, central payroll, audit and payment of all claims against the state, financial reporting, and such other financial management-type services as cash flow projections, tax levy and special charges to counties, calculation and distribution of quarterly interest earnings from the state's investment pool, monitoring agency internal control procedures, and review of state agency write-off requests. In addition, the division is responsible for such statewide programs as risk management, telecommunications, review of agency requests for computer hardware and software, and effective utilization and management of available computer and other data processing resources. The division operates through its State Bureau of Financial Operations, State Bureau of Technical Assistance, and State Bureau of Information and Telecommunications Management.

The Division of Administrative Services provides support services to the secretary, the divisions and the attached boards for personnel, records and forms management, financial management, printing, purchasing, mail, and management planning. Major functions are to develop management systems to improve department operations, prepare and monitor the department budget, provide analyses and recommendations to the Secretary's Office on policies and procedures that cross division responsibilities, and to perform internal audits of departmental programs. The division functions through the Bureaus of Financial Management, Management Services, and Personnel.

The Office of Computer Services supports the department by providing data processing services, office automation services, computer systems analysis/programming services, special project management services, data entry services, and computer operation services through its computer support teams, its word processing center, its data entry center, and its extensive use and networking of microcomputers, minicomputers, and/or the mainframe computers that are located at one or more regional computer centers. The Emergency Number Systems Board seeks to ensure that every local public agency providing emergency services may establish emergency 9-1-1 telephone systems. The purpose of the program is to make it possible to reach any needed emergency service from any telephone at no cost.

The State Employes Merit Award Board administers an award program to encourage unusual and meritorious suggestions and accomplishments by state employes, thus promoting efficiency and economy in the performance of the functions of state government and a sense of real participation by state employes.

The Certification Standards Review Council is charged with reviewing the laboratory certification and registration program administered by the Department of Natural Resources. In this regard, the council reviews proposed rules and makes recommendations to the DNR concerning the specification of test categories, reference sample testing and standards for certification, registration, suspension and revocation, and other program aspects.

The Council on Data Processing advises the secretary of the Department of Administration on the statewide data processing plan and planning process. The council examines and reviews the plan each biennium and suggests necessary changes.

The Council on Printing confers with the secretary on policies and procedures with respect to the printing activities of the state.

The Radioactive Waste Policy Council provides policy advice to the Radioactive Waste Review Board in the execution of its responsibilities, including such services as the review of proposed federal rules and federal-state agreements.

The Radioactive Waste Technical Council provides technical advice to the Radioactive Waste Review Board.

The Council on Small and Minority Business Opportunities encourages the participation of small and minority businesses in the statewide purchasing program.

Interagency Relationships: The department's functions intimately relate to the internal operations of all state agencies.

INDEPENDENT UNITS ATTACHED FOR BUDGETING, PROGRAM COORDINATION AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

HOSPITAL RATE-SETTING COMMISSION

Hospital Rate-Setting Commission: JOHN C. OESTREICHER, chairperson; STEVEN M. BARNEY, KATHERINE M. KIEDROWSKI.

Staff Director: MARK MOODY.

Chief Legal Counsel: DAVID LUDWIG.

Mailing Address: Room 215, 110 E. Main St., Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-2114.

Number of Employees: 31.00.

Total Budget 1983-1985: $1,056,200.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.105 (15).

History: The Hospital Rate-Setting Commission was created as part of the 1983 biennial budget bill, 1983 Wisconsin Act 27. The laws pertaining to the commission specified that it must adopt rules and commence setting the rates that hospitals in Wisconsin may charge their private pay patients no earlier than January 1, 1985, and no later than July 1, 1985.

The commencement of rate setting by the commission triggered the replacement of the Wisconsin Hospital Rate Review Program. This program, established in 1972, was initially a voluntary organization in which hospitals could choose to participate and whose review recommendations concerning hospital rates were not mandatory. The program consisted of 21 members; its responsibilities were based on an agreement negotiated between the 3 participating sponsors--the

HOSPITAL RATE-SETTING

Wisconsin Hospital Association, Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Wisconsin and the state. 1983 Wisconsin Act 27 revised the powers of the program, prohibiting hospitals from charging rates that exceeded those established by the program. This act also signaled that a mandatory program would be only an interim solution to rising hospital costs, to be supplanted by the Hospital Rate-Setting Commission upon the effective date of the commission's rules.

Organization: Unlike its predecessor, the Hospital Rate Review Program, the Hospital Rate-Setting Commission is an independent agency of the state. Whereas the program was governed by a quasi-public agreement negotiated between its sponsors, the commission is governed by state law. The commission is attached to the Department of Administration for budgeting, program coordination and related management functions.

The Hospital Rate-Setting Commission consists of 3 members appointed by the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Senate, for staggered 6-year terms expiring March 1. All members serve on a full-time basis.

Agency Responsibility: The Hospital Rate-Setting Commission sets the rates that each hospital in Wisconsin may charge its private pay patients. Rates charged to Medicare, Medical Assistance and General Relief patients, however, are not set by the commission. The state Legislature, in creating the commission, instructed it to reduce the rate of hospital cost increases while preserving the quality of health care in the state and taking into account the financial viability of economically and efficiently operated hospitals. Each hospital seeking to increase the total revenue it receives from private pay patients must submit a rate request to the commission for its review and approval. The commission inspects each item that may increase the cost of hospital care and demands justification for that expense from the hospital. In addition, the commission sets the rates each hospital may charge private pay patients for certain specific billable items. The commission can prosecute hospitals that fail to comply with rates it has set.

SENTENCING COMMISSION

Sentencing Commission: BRONSON LA FOLLETTE (Attorney General), LINDA REIVITZ (secretary of health and social services), FRED HINICKLE (chairperson, Parole Board), RICHARD J. PHELPS (state public defender) (ex officio members); VIVI L. DILWEG, MICHAEL B. TORPHY, JR., LEE E. WELLS, JON P. WILCOX (judges nominated by Chief Justice, Supreme Court, appointed by Governor); KRISTIN KOEFFLER (nominee of Senate Majority Leader), REPRESENTATIVE DAVID M. TRAVIS (nominee of Speaker of Assembly), GERALD PETERS (nominee of Senate Minority Leader), REPRESENTATIVE DAVID T. PROSSER, JR. (nominee of Assembly Minority Leader) (all appointed by Governor); PHYLLIS A. BIRMINGHAM, RONALD BRITTON, ROGERICK L. GRIFFIN, SUSAN HALSETH, MARY LIEDTKE (appointed by Governor).

Executive Director: SANDRA SHANE-DUBOW.

Mailing Address: Suite 901, 30 West Mifflin Street, Madison 53703.

Telephone: (608) 267-2437.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.105 (17).

History: The Sentencing Commission was created by 1983 Wisconsin Act 371. It is attached to the Department of Administration under Sec. 15.03 of the statutes. Section 751.13 (4), Wis. Stats., provided that if the Supreme Court did not promulgate an order by September 1, 1984 directing the director of state courts to continue the study of sentencing guidelines initiated by the Sentencing Guidelines Advisory Committee and did not begin preparation of proposed rules, the authority to promulgate rules would transfer to the commission. A Sentencing Council was to become operative if the authority to promulgate rules was not transferred to the commission. Authority has been transferred.

Organization: The commission is composed of 17 members, of whom 4 are ex officio, 4 are circuit judges nominated by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court and appointed by the Governor, 4 are nominated by legislative leaders and appointed by the Governor, and 5 others are appointed by the Governor (one defense attorney, one prosecuting attorney, and 3 others who are not attorneys and who have been victims of felonies or who have demonstrated concern for crime victims). The Governor selects the chairperson.

Agency Responsibility: The commission is directed to promulgate rules providing guidelines for use by judges for sentencing defendants convicted of felonies. Such rules shall be based on sentencing experience in this state and shall set forth recommended sentence lengths; include consideration of previous criminal history, severity of the offense, status relating to incarceration, probation, parole or pretrial release; and include mitigating and aggravating factors and other relevant factors.

Beginning November 1, 1985, courts are directed to take the guidelines into consideration when imposing sentence.

TAX APPEALS COMMISSION

Tax Appeals Commission; JOHN P. MORRIS, chairperson; WILLIAM BRADFORD SMITH, secretary; CATHERINE M. DOYLE, THOMAS R. TIMKEN, MARY K. WAGNER-MALLOY.

Administrative Assistant to the Commission: JOSEPH P. ZIESEL.

Mailing Address: 6th Floor, GEF 2, 101 S. Webster Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-1391.

Number of Employees: 10.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $847,000.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.105 (1).

History: The Tax Appeals Commission was originally created as the 3-member Board of Tax Appeals by Chapter 412, Laws of 1939 (effective September 7, 1939). That law abolished and transferred to the new board the appeals duties of the Tax Commission (which heard appeals of corporations) and of county boards of review (which heard appeals of individuals and fiduciaries). The law established the board as a separate state agency, apart from the tax assessment and collection agency of state government.

The Board of Tax Appeals was renamed the Tax Appeals Commission by Chapter 75, Laws of 1967 (effective August 1, 1967). The commission remained an independent state agency, but was attached to the Department of Administration for budgeting, program coordination and related management functions.

Two additional commissioners were added to the Tax Appeals Commission by Chapter 29, Laws of 1977 (effective July 1, 1977).

Organization: The Tax Appeals Commission consists of 5 members appointed by the governor with Senate consent for staggered 6-year terms expiring March 1. One member is designated by the governor to serve as chairperson for 2 years and serves on a full-time basis; the remaining 4 members serve on a part-time basis. Members are chosen based on their qualifications and experience in tax matters.

Agency Responsibility: The Tax Appeals Commission is independent from the Department of Administration and the Department of Revenue. It hears and determines disputes between persons and the Department of Revenue involving the following taxes: individual income, corporation franchise/income, fiduciary, withholding, gift, sales and use, car line, cigarette use, metalliferous minerals occupation, and floor taxes imposed when the tax rates change for motor fuel, intoxicating liquor, cigarettes and tobacco products. The commission also hears and determines appeals arising under the following tax credits: homestead and farmland preservation. In addition, the commission decides appeals of state assessments of manufacturing property, penalties for late filing by manufactures of the annual standard manufacturing report form, taxation district appeals regarding the relative value of taxable property in taxation districts of a county, real estate transfer fees, telephone license fees, and electric cooperative association license fees.

BOARD ON AGING AND LONG-TERM CARE

Board on Aging and Long-Term Care: EDITH ALLEN, ALFRED HIRSCH, FAYE LAPORTE, THADIS PATTERSON, JACQUELINE PAVELSKI, JOYCE G. POULSEN, GLADYS VOEGTLI.

Executive Director: GEORGE F. POTARACKE.

Mailing Address: Room 17, General Executive Facility 3, 125 S. Webster Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-8944; Milwaukee (414) 224-4386; Wausau (715) 847-5251; Eau Claire (715) 836-3627.

Hotline: (800) - 242-1060.

Publications: Annual Report; Bridge Building; Analysis of a Residents' Council; Musical Beds — Wisconsin's Bedhold Policy; Quarterly Report.

Number of Employees: 8.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $445,700.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.105 (10).

History: The Board on Aging and Long-Term Care was created by Chapters 20 and 182, Laws of 1981, when the Board on Aging and the Governor's Ombudsman Program for the Aging and Disabled were merged.

This merger came as a result of an extensive study prepared for the Joint Committee for Review of Administrative Rules by the Special Subcommittee on Nursing Home Regulation. This places the ombudsman function under the control of a citizens' board and links investigative results to legislative initiatives.

Predecessor agencies include the State Commission on Aging (created by Chapter 581, laws of 1961), which was succeeded in 1967 (Chapters 75 and 327) by the Division on Aging in the Department of Health and Social Services and the Council on Aging. Chapter 332, Laws of 1971, replaced the council with the Board on Aging.

Organization: The Board on Aging and Long-Term Care is comprised of 7 members appointed by the governor and confirmed by the Senate to serve 5-year, staggered terms. At least 4 of these shall be public members who have no financial or other interest or affiliation with any nursing home. The board is attached to the Department of Administration for administrative purposes. The board appoints the executive director from outside the classified system.

Agency Responsibility: The Board on Aging and Long-Term Care through legislative mandate performs the following functions:

(1) The board reports annually to the governor and the legislature, setting forth the scope of the programs developed in the state for providing long-term care for the aged and disabled, findings regarding the state's activities in the field of long-term care for the aged and disabled, recommendations for a more effective and efficient total program, and actions taken by the agencies of the state to carry out the board's recommendations.

(2) The board monitors the development and implementation of federal, state and local laws, regulations, rules, ordinances, and policies that relate to long-term care facilities for the aged and disabled.

(3) As a result of information received while investigating complaints and resolving problems or disputes, the board publishes material that assesses existing inadequacies in federal and state laws, regulations and rules concerning long-term care for the aged and disabled. The board initiates legislation as a means of correcting these inadequacies.

(4) In May 1984, the board assumed responsibility for the Medigap Hotline. The hotline provides information and counseling to Wisconsin residents on health insurance in addition to Medicare, that is, Medicare supplement insurance, hospital indemnity, cancer and nursing home insurance. The hotline also provides information on the Health Insurance Risk Sharing Plan, group insurance continuation and conversion rights, and health maintenance organization plans for Medicare beneficiaries.

Publications: Wisconsin Arts Board Bulletin (a quarterly newsletter); Guides to Programs and Services; Arts and Crafts Fairs Directory; Guidebook for Residencies; Artists Directory; Percent for Art Opportunities Bulletin.

Number of Employees: 10.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $3,003,000.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.105 (8).

History: The Arts Board was created as a statutory agency by Chapter 90, Laws of 1973, and attached to the Department of Administration by Chapter 333, Laws of 1973. It was preceded by a nonstatutory committee, the Governor's Council on the Arts, created in 1963.

Organization: The Arts Board consists of 12 members appointed by the governor for 3-year, staggered terms.

Agency Responsibility: The Legislature directed the Arts Board to: 1) continually study the artistic and cultural activities within the state; 2) assist arts activities in the state; 3) assist communities in creating and developing their own arts programs; and 4) plan and implement funding programs for groups or individuals engaged in the arts.

In carrying out these responsibilities, the Arts Board acts as both a funding agency providing financial support to the arts and a service agency promoting communication and information about the arts.

As a funding agency, the Arts Board assists arts organizations and individual artists through a variety of programs designed to provide broad public access to the arts, strengthen the state's artistic resources, and create opportunities for individuals of exceptional talent. Financial support programs include Organizational and Individual Projects, Artistic Program Support, Pan-Wisconsin, Salary Assistance, Community Projects, Fellowships, Artists-in-Residence, Percent for Art, and the Wisconsin Challenge Grant Program.

ARTS BOARD

ARTS BOARD

As a service agency, the Arts Board assists the interest of Wisconsin's artistic and arts community through an information program which includes workshops, conferences, research projects, and publications. The Arts Board regularly produces and distributes materials on local, state, and national arts activities for both the arts community and the general public.

Number of Employees: 22.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $2,684,100.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.107 (1).

History: The Wisconsin Council on Criminals Justice (WCCJ) was originally created by executive order in 1969 as the state planning agency required by the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA). The council replaced the Governor's Commission on Law Enforcement and Crime and operated within the Department of Justice. In 1971, the council was recreated by executive order and was transferred to the Executive Office. In 1983, Wisconsin Act 27 recreated the council and transferred it to the Department of Administration.

WISCONSIN COUNCIL ON CRIMINAL JUSTICE

CRIMINAL JUSTICE

Organization: The council is attached to the Department of Administration for administrative purposes and consists of no more than 20 members with a recognized interest in and knowledge of criminal justice matters. All members are appointed by the governor and serve at his pleasure. The governor also appoints the executive director.

Agency Responsibility: The Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice (WCCJ) provides direct assistance to local units of government, state agencies and private nonprofit organizations through the provision of technical assistance, the collection and analysis of criminal justice system data, and the award of grants to improve the criminal/juvenile justice system in Wisconsin.

WCCJ's responsibilities include the administration of federal juvenile justice funds (about $850,000 per year), operation of a statistical analysis center, conducting evaluation studies of the juvenile justice system, and the development of policies and strategies to improve the criminal justice system. These responsibilities are coded in Sec. 16.969, Wisconsin Statutes.

The council is responsible for the administration of funds received under the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention Act (JJJPA) of 1974, as amended, and the Justice System Improvement Act (JSIA) of 1979. The council is the FBI-recognized agency for the collection of Uniform Crime Reports (UCR) in Wisconsin. Additionally, the council has received a grant from the United States Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS) to operate a crime statistics and analysis center. That BJS grant of $150,000 per year requires a 50% state match as of April 1, 1985. Effective April 1, 1986, no federal funds will be available. On February 4, 1985, Governor Earl designated the agency to administer the new federal anti-crime initiative, "Justice Assistance Act of 1984". Over $700,000 are available under this act for local units of government. Finally, the WCCJ is the responsible agency for advising the governor and the Legislature on all major issues involving the criminal/juvenile justice system.

The council maintains local community assistance or outreach offices in Spooner, Appleton and Milwaukee for the purpose of providing training and technical assistance to local centers of government and private nonprofit agencies interested in implementing the criminal/juvenile justice system.

Number of Employees: 9.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $1,703,700.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.61.

History: The Elections Board was created by Chapter 334, Laws of 1973. At that time, administration of the state's election laws was transferred from the secretary of state to the board.

Chapter 85, Laws of 1975, created an Elections Advisory Council in the board.

Organization: The Elections Board is composed of persons appointed by the governor for 2-year terms as follows: one person selected by the governor, one member each designated by the chief justice of the Supreme Court, the speaker of the Assembly, the leader of the most numerous party in the Senate, the leader of the second most numerous party in each house of the legislature, and the chief officer of each political party whose candidate for governor received at least 10 percent of the vote in the most recent election.

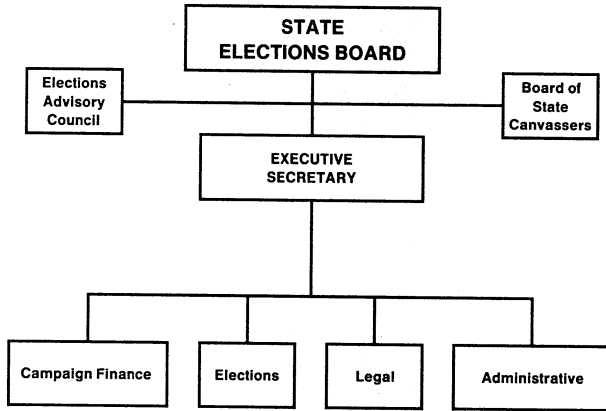

The board employs an executive secretary (unclassified) and a legal counsel and other technical, administrative and support staff as authorized under the classified service. Administrative and supportive services are provided by the Department of Administration, and data processing services are provided by the University of Wisconsin Computing Center.

The Elections Advisory Council consists of 5 county and municipal clerks appointed by the board.

Agency Responsibility: The Elections Board administers the state election and campaign laws, investigates violations of such laws, brings civil actions to collect forfeitures from violators of the law, subpoenas records and violators as necessary and notifies the district attorney or the attorney general of any grounds for civil or criminal prosecution. The board also issues formal opinions upon request and promulgates administrative rules as necessary. The board holds information and training meetings with local election officials to promote uniform election procedures and to emphasize the integrity and importance of the vote of each citizen.

ELECTIONS BOARD

Unit attached for administrative purposes under Sec. 15.03; Board of State Canvassers

ELECTIONS BOARD

The board administers the campaign finance registration and reporting system enacted by the 1973 Legislature to maintain the integrity of elections. The procedures are designed to disclose fully contributions and disbursements made on behalf of every candidate for public office and to place reasonable limitations on contribution activity and on campaign expenditures if the candidate applies for and accepts public financing.

Political parties, committees or groups making or accepting contributions or disbursements or incurring obligations over $25 in a calendar year are required to register and file detailed, verified statements with the appropriate filing officer. Candidates and other individuals making disbursements and accepting contributions are also required to file and report. (In the case of political parties and candidates for state and judicial offices, the Elections Board is the filing officer.) Each party, committee, group or individual subject to this registration requirement is required to make full reports of all contributions, disbursements and obligations unless statutorily exempt from reporting. Nonresident committees or groups making contributions and individuals making disbursements must also register and report. Each candidate must appoint a campaign treasurer and designate one campaign depository, and every committee must appoint a treasurer. The law also sets specific limitations on campaign contributions, and on campaign expenditures if the candidate has applied for and accepts public financing.

Unit Functions:

Board staff is divided into 4 functional units: legal services, campaign finance services, election services, and administrative services.

The Elections Advisory Council promotes communication and cooperation between local election officials and the board, and advises the board in matters pertaining to publications, training, legislation and other matters.

Interagency Relationships: The board interacts on a continuing basis with clerks and election officials of every county, city, village and town in Wisconsin.

Number of Employes: 154.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $30,952,800.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.16.

History: The first statewide teacher retirement law in Wisconsin was enacted by Chapter 323, Laws of 1911, following several years' effort. A pension system for Milwaukee teachers had been authorized in 1909. The statewide program adopted in 1911 was voluntary and required no employer contributions. It was administered by the Board of Trustees of the Teachers' Insurance and Retirement Fund.

In 1921 the first compulsory, joint contributory, statewide system was enacted. Also in 1921 (Chapter 459), the board was abolished, and the Annuity Board was created to administer the state retirement system, operating through 3 retirement boards (Public School, Normal School, and University).

Chapter 491, Laws of 1929, abolished the Annuity Board and created the State Annuity and Investment Board to administer the state teachers' retirement law and invest the retirement funds as well as other state funds.

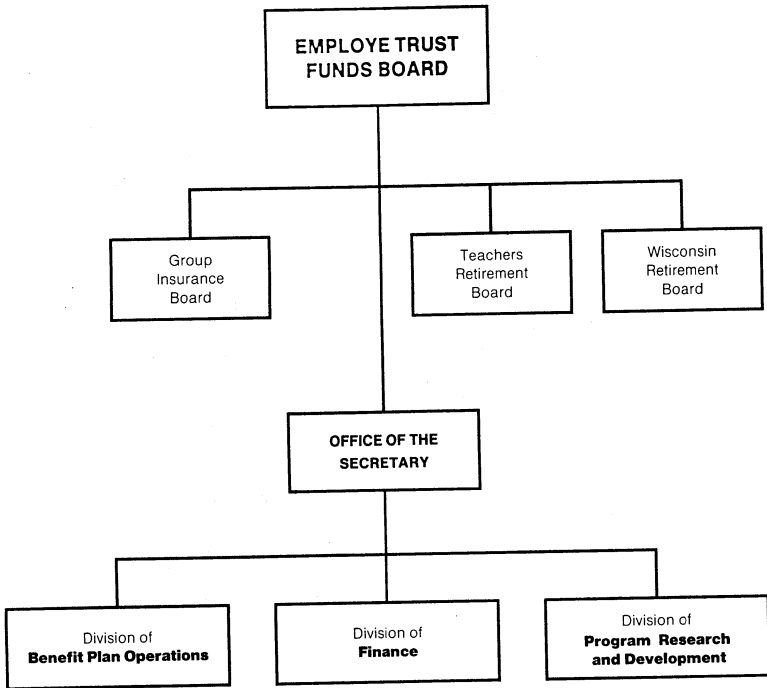

In order to provide retirement coverage for state employes, Chapter 176, Laws of 1943, created the State Employes Retirement System under the Annuity and Investment Board. In the same session, Chapter 175, Laws of 1943, created the Wisconsin Municipal Retirement Fund to provide a general municipal retirement system.

As a result of recommendations by the Joint Interim Committee on Pension and Retirement Plans, Chapter 206, Laws of 1947, closed a number of separate municipal retirement plans and the Conservation Wardens Pension Fund to new entrants and consolidated the Wisconsin Municipal Retirement Fund and the State Employes' Retirement System into the Wisconsin Retirement Fund, under the Wisconsin Retirement Fund Board, effective January 1, 1948. The Wisconsin Retirement Fund thus became the basic retirement program for both state and municipal nonteaching employes throughout the state (except employes of the city and county of Milwaukee).

The State Annuity and Investment Board was abolished in 1951 (Chapter 511). The State Investment Board succeeded to its duties in the investment of state funds (including retirement funds), and the State Retirement System Administration Board succeeded to its duties in the administration of the state retirement system for teachers. It became the State Teachers Retirement Board in 1953 (Chapter 204).

The Group Insurance Board was originally created by Chapter 512, Laws of 1957, as the Group Life Insurance Board to provide a program of group life insurance for state employes.

DEPARTMENT OF EMPLOYE TRUST FUNDS

EMPLOYE TRUST FUNDS

In 1959 (Chapter 211) a group health insurance program was enacted for state employees, and the group life insurance was extended to municipalities (Chapter 412). With the adoption of the group health insurance program in 1959, the name of the board was changed to Group Insurance Board. Chapter 75, Laws of 1967 (Reorganization Act), attached the board to the Department of Employee Trust Funds under Section 15.03.

Chapter 125, Laws of 1971, provided for creation of an income continuation plan (disability insurance) for state employees and the statutory authorization for using unused sick leave credits to pay insurance premiums for health care coverage either for state employees after retirement or for surviving dependents. Both changes became effective in 1972 and are administered by the Group Insurance Board.

Chapter 214, Laws of 1971, gave the Group Insurance Board the authority to initiate any other group insurance plan it found necessary or desirable. This chapter also required group insurance plans not sponsored by the board to receive board approval before they could benefit from payroll deductions from state employees' paychecks.

The Public Employees Social Security Fund was created by Chapters 60 and 631, Laws of 1951, to permit state and local government employees not covered by an existing retirement system to come under social security. As soon as permitted by federal law, 1953 legislation covered all positions under the Wisconsin Retirement Fund excepting firefighters. Pursuant to 1956 federal legislation, the 1957 Legislature enabled other state and municipal retirement systems to divide into 2 groups — one coming under social security, the other declining social security. All new personnel must come under social security.

The executive branch reorganization bill enacted in 1967 (Chapter 75) created the Department of Employee Trust Funds to administer the trust funds described above except that municipal retirement plans which were closed to new entrants in 1947 and the Milwaukee city and county retirement plans for nonteaching employes continued to be administered by the respective municipalities.

In 1973, Chapter 151 merged the Conservation Wardens Pension Fund into the Wisconsin Retirement Fund, Chapter 137 pooled all investments of the several retirement funds into investment trusts, and Chapter 127 provided that the benefits of a person who had coverage under two or more plans could be computed as if all service had been under the same plan.

In 1975, Chapter 280 merged the Wisconsin Retirement Fund, the State Teachers Retirement System and the Milwaukee Teachers Retirement Fund into a new system named the Wisconsin Retirement System under the control of the Employee Trust Funds Board. Chapter 39 transferred responsibility for the old State Employees Retirement System annuitants to the Wisconsin Retirement Fund.

In 1977, Chapter 182 merged local police and fire pension funds, which were previously closed to new entrants in 1947, with the Wisconsin Retirement Fund for administrative purposes and provided for supplemental benefit payments to retired members or surviving spouses previously covered by those plans. Chapter 221 repealed the statutory requirements for the Division of Teachers and the Division of Municipal and State Government.

During 1979-1981 the functional reorganization of the department, in accordance with the legislative intent of Chapter 280, Laws of 1975, was completed. Three divisions were established to perform the duties of the former program-oriented bureaus and divisions.

Chapter 96, Laws of 1981, effective January 1, 1982, completed the merger of the technical benefit provisions of the 3 previously separate retirement funds into the Wisconsin Retirement System.

There is now one retirement system covering eligible teaching and nonteaching employes of the State of Wisconsin and participating public employes.

Chapter 96, Laws of 1981, also gave the Group Insurance Board the authority to contract directly with providers of health care services in lieu of an addition to contracts with insurance companies.

As part of the 1983-1985 biennial budget (1983 Wisconsin Act 27), the Legislature adopted major health care cost containment provisions that affected the health insurance program for state employes. The legislation allowed health maintenance organizations to form on a closed panel basis and changed the way in which the state's contribution toward its employes' health insurance premium is computed. In one year (from 1983 to 1984) participation in HMOs by state employes went from 15% to 67%.

In 1984, legislation was passed (1983 Wisconsin Act 141) which significantly improved the retirement benefits provided to members of the Wisconsin Retirement System. A 1984 comparative study by the Retirement Research Committee after this "Benefit Improvement Bill" became law shows that the Wisconsin Retirement System is now at the approximate median point on the level of benefits provided by all public retirement systems.

Organization: The department is under the policy direction of the Employee Trust Funds Board and operates through 3 divisions and the Office of the Secretary. The Wisconsin Retirement, the Group Insurance, and the Teachers Retirement Boards are boards within the department. The secretary is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the Employee Trust Funds Board, while the deputy secretary is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the secretary.

Agency Responsibility: The department administers retirement, group insurance, deferred compensation, and social security programs for state and municipal employes including teachers.

Unit Functions:

The Employee Trust Funds Board approves or rejects all administrative rules, hears appeals on benefit determinations, coordinates program development, and appoints the departmental secretary.

The Division of Benefit Plan Operations has the responsibility for coordinating and executing the day-to-day operation of the benefit plans and provides records management, data processing, and other central administrative services.

The Division of Finance has the responsibility for developing controls and monitoring the performance of the various systems administered by the Benefit Plan Operations Division, and also provides management information services to the department.

The Division of Program Research and Development is responsible for planning and developing proposals for future benefit program changes, negotiating contracts with insurance companies, deferred compensation administrators and providers and actuarial firms, researching and advising on statutory benefit and coverage requirements, developing administrative rules, and researching and developing other policy and program issues.

Interagency Relationships: The department administers employe benefit plans covering personnel of state and municipal employers throughout the state. Accordingly, it is in frequent contact with state agencies and local governments concerning coverage and reporting problems and is in frequent contact with their personnel officers and employes to explain the benefit programs. The department administers the federal-state contract providing social security coverage for state and local public employes, including resolving coverage questions and collecting and transmitting contributions for public employes in Wisconsin to the federal Social Security Administration.

Number of Employees: 96.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $8,037,500.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.17.

History: Although the Department of Employment Relations was established in 1977, its antecedents extend quite far back in the state government. Wisconsin replaced its Civil Service Commission, created in 1905, by a Bureau of Personnel in 1929 (Chapter 465). A separate Personnel Board was created within the bureau. In 1959 Chapter 228 placed both the board and the bureau within the newly created Department of Administration. In 1961 the board was removed from the department, but was subsequently attached to it for administrative purposes by the 1967 Reorganization Act (Chapter 75). The Department of Employment Relations was created by Chapter 196, Laws of 1977, which essentially transferred the organizational units and functions of the Employee Relations Division (including the Bureaus of Personnel, Collective Bargaining, and Human Resource Services) and the Affirmative Action Office from the Department of Administration to the new department. A statutory Affirmative Action Council was also established in the department, succeeding the former Affirmative Action Executive Commission established by executive order. Under 1983 Wisconsin Act 27, the Affirmative Action Council was made advisory to the secretary. Act 27 also realigned functions of the former Division of Personnel by assignment of classification and compensation responsibility to the secretary and placing recruitment and examination functions under the newly created Division of Merit Recruitment and Selection.

Organization: The Department of Employment Relations is administered by a secretary, who is appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate to serve at the governor's pleasure. The secretary selects a deputy and executive assistant to serve at the secretary's pleasure. The department is organized into 5 divisions: Merit Recruitment and Selection, Classification and Compensation, Collective Bargaining, Affirmative Action, and Administrative Services, and 2 offices: Employee Development and Training, and Legal Services. The Divisions of Classification and Compensation, Collective Bargaining, and Affirmative Action are headed by unclassified division administrators who are appointed by the secretary to serve at his or her pleasure. The administrator of the statutorily created Division of Merit Recruitment and Selection is appointed to a 5-year term by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate, from a register certified by the Personnel Board, which prepares and conducts the examination in accordance with requirements specified for classified positions. All other employees of the department are in the classified service.

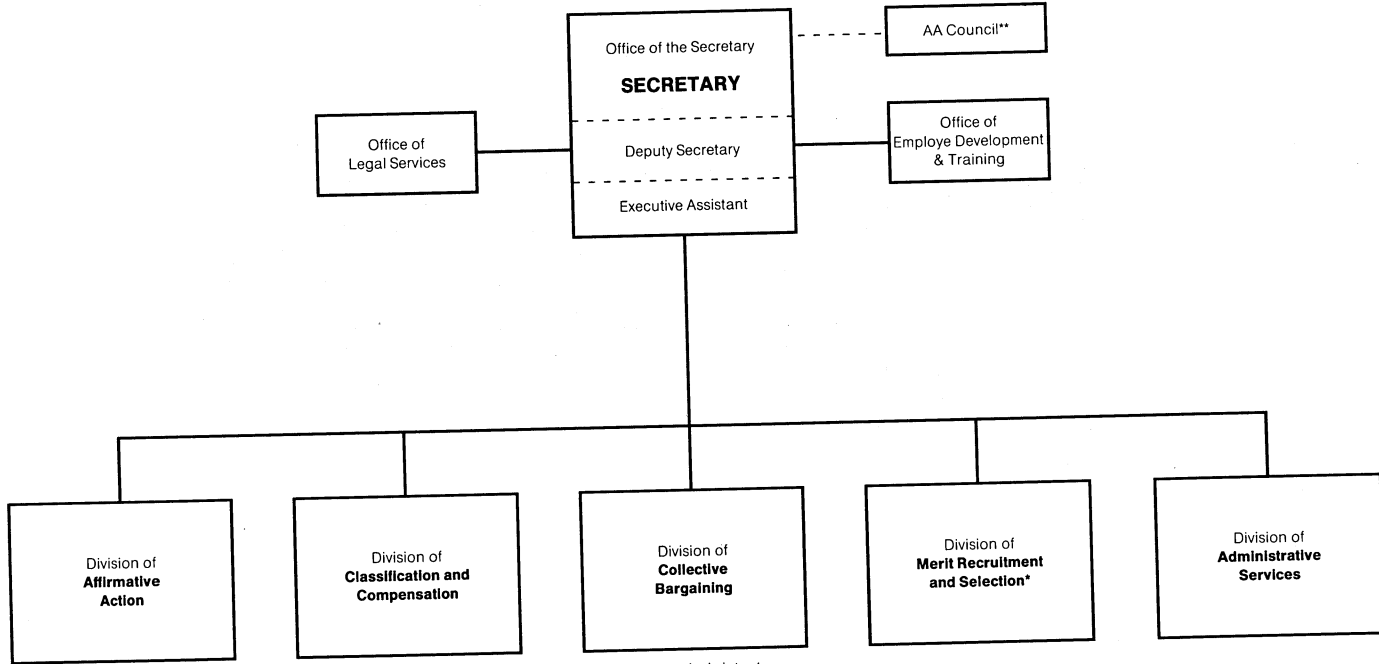

The Council on Affirmative Action consists of 15 members, who serve terms of 3 years. The president of the Senate, speaker of the Assembly, and minority leaders of the Senate and Assembly each appoint one council member. The governor appoints the other 11 members.

Agency Responsibility: Under the overall direction of the secretary, the department is responsible for personnel and employment relations policies and programs for the state government as an employer. The department's primary mandate is to provide state governmental agencies with competent personnel who will furnish state services to citizens as fairly, efficiently and effectively as possible. The department achieves this goal through the administration of a civil service system which assures that jobs are filled on the basis of merit, that the value of employes' work is properly determined, that employe performance and training needs are adequately evaluated so each employe can achieve his or her full potential, and that managers have appropriate personnel management tools to achieve the state's program objectives. In administering the civil service system, the department has the responsibility to carry out the state's equal employment opportunity mandate and, through affirmative action, to correct imbalances in the state's workforce and eliminate the present effects of past discrimination. The department represents the executive branch as an employer in relations under the State Employment Labor Relations Act.

DEPARTMENT OF EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS

EMPLOYMENT RELATIONS DEPARTMENT

EXECUTIVE BRANCH: GENERAL EXECUTIVE FUNCTIONS

* A separate statutorily created division with specified program responsibilities. The administrator of this division is appointed by the governor for a 5-year term under Sec. 15.173, Stats.

** Advisory to the secretary.

Unit Functions: The Secretary's Office provides policy and program direction to the department's divisions and offices.

The Division of Affirmative Action operates an affirmative action program. It provides staff support to the Affirmative Action Council; prepares an annual summary to the governor and the Legislature on agencies' affirmative action program accomplishments, future goals and recommendations; implements equal opportunity/affirmative action executive orders including development of planning standards for the executive agencies, university system, and legislative service agencies; implements handicapped reporting guidelines; provides training and technical assistance, including assistance to internal agency committees, and monitoring of training for new supervisors; and monitors the implementation of state affirmative action plans to ensure agency compliance with the administrative rules and affirmative action plan standards.

The Division of Classification and Compensation conducts ongoing systematic personnel management classification and compensation surveys to ensure equitable and internally consistent pay and benefit programs. The division allocates positions to classifications, assigns classifications to pay ranges, and develops and administers the compensation plan.

The Division of Collective Bargaining represents the executive branch as an employer in negotiations with certified representatives of employes in collective bargaining units. The division negotiates tentative agreements subject to approval by the Joint Committee on Employment Relations and the Legislature, and trains management representatives on contract provisions, contract interpretation, and grievance handling, and represents the state in arbitrations.

The Division of Merit Recruitment and Selection coordinates all recruitment, develops and administers examinations, and establishes recruitment and certification policies which ensure equal opportunity for the state's classified positions. The division shares responsibility with other governmental units and appointing authorities for affirmative action efforts, establishes opportunities for career development, and administers layoffs and the code of ethics. In addition, upon request, the division prepares and administers examinations for local governmental units.

The Division of Administrative Services provides the internal operating functions of the department, including: budgeting; fiscal monitoring and control; accounting; developing and coordinating computerized management information systems; personnel and payroll; conducting organization, management, and policy and planning analysis studies; purchasing; and telecommunications.

The Office of Employee Development and Training formulates and implements policies for the development and training of state government employes. The office provides training in basic supervisory development to state supervisors, coordinates state-sponsored training programs, approves agency training recordkeeping systems, establishes standards for agency training programs, and monitors state agency training programs.

The Office of Legal Services provides advice to the secretary on all legal matters and represents the secretary and the administrator of the Division of Merit Recruitment and Selection on employee appeals to the Personnel Commission.

The Affirmative Action Council serves in a direct advisory capacity to the secretary and works to strengthen the state's programs and performance in equal opportunity and affirmative action by evaluating the progress of affirmative action programs throughout the civil service system, seeking compliance with state and federal regulations, and recommends improvements in the affirmative action efforts of the state. The council also recommends legislation, consults with agency personnel and other interested groups, and conducts hearings.

Interagency Relationships: The department's functions relate extensively to the internal operations of all state agencies.

ETHICS BOARD

Members: DR. THOMAS S. SMITH, chairperson; JAMES R. MORGAN, vice chairperson; MARION C. VISTE, secretary; DOROTHY W. AUSTIN, DIANE CONWAY, FREDDIE L. WRIGHT.

Executive Director: R. ROTH JUDD.

Mailing Address: General Executive Facility 3, 125 South Webster Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-8123.

Publication: Annual Report and Opinions of the Ethics Board.

Number of Employees: 2.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $257,400.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.62.

History: The Ethics Board and the statutes it administers were created by Chapter 90, Laws of 1973. Chapter 277, Laws of 1977, revised virtually every aspect of the Ethics Code by clarifying and strengthening the standards of conduct to which state officials are held, by requiring officials to identify publicly more information about their personal financial interests than had previously been necessary, and by facilitating the code's enforcement. The laws of 1977 also extended the code's provisions to the Supreme Court and to circuit and appellate judges. Chapter 120, Laws of 1979, enhanced local governments' abilities to enforce codes of ethics for their officials. During the 1981 session the Legislature applied the Ethics Code to nonclerical employes of the Wisconsin Housing Finance Authority (now Housing and Economic Development Authority) and members of the Vocational, Technical and Adult Education district boards, as well as to the directors of those boards and to the directors' assistant, associate and deputy district directors (Chapters 269 and 349). The 1983 Legislature extended the Ethics Code's application to municipal judges (1983 Wisconsin Act 27).

Organization: The board consists of 6 members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for staggered 6-year terms. While serving on the board and for one year prior to appointment, no member may have been a member of a political party or a partisan political organization or have been a candidate for partisan office. The board appoints an executive director to oversee the daily administration of the office and to act as attorney-advisor to the board.

ETHICS BOARD

ETHICS BOARD

Agency Responsibility: The board administers the Code of Ethics for Public Officials and Employees and has 3 major responsibilities. It retains for public examination Statements of Economic Interests that must be filed by state public officials and by candidates and nominees for state public office. Secondly, the board, upon request, advises state public officials and those who deal with them on the propriety of matters to which they are or may become parties. Third, the board investigates possible violations of the Ethics Code whenever warranted and, when appropriate, conducts public hearings and imposes civil penalties or refers matters to appropriate district attorneys for criminal prosecutions.

Interagency Relationships: The board deals with offices and agencies in all branches of government both in receiving financial statements and in enforcing the Code of Ethics.

Public Bonds Division: JOHN J. ZWADZICH, investment director, 266-2047.

Special Equities Division: RONALD L. NEDZIELA, investment director, 266-7232.

Administrative Services Division: GERALD T. MAHAFFEY, administrator, 266-2384.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7842, Madison 53707; location: 121 East Wilson Street.

Telephone: (608) 266-2381.

Publication: Annual Report.

Number of Employees: 51.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $4,086,300.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.76.

History: The Investment Board was created by Chapter 511, Laws of 1951, to succeed to the investment functions of the State Annuity and Investment Board and the Board of Deposits. Although state funds had been invested since 1911, the reorganization in 1951 which created the new board enlarged the scope of such investments. The 1967 act (Chapter 75) reorganizing the executive branch of the state government continued the Investment Board as an independent agency.

Chapter 164, Laws of 1975, created a Local Government Pooled-Investment Fund within the State Investment Fund.

STATE OF WISCONSIN INVESTMENT BOARD

INVESTMENT

Organization: The Investment Board is comprised of 7 members or trustees. One member is the secretary of the Department of Administration. Two are participants in the Wisconsin Retirement System; one a teacher appointed by the Teacher Retirement Board, and the other a participant other than a teacher appointed by the Wisconsin Retirement Board. The remaining 4 members are appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate. These 4 members each must have had a minimum of 10 years' investment experience. All appointed board members serve 6-year terms.

Staff is headed by an executive director, who is appointed by the board. There are 8 divisions.

Agency Responsibility: The board is responsible for investing the assets of the Wisconsin Retirement System. For the purpose of investment, the system's assets are divided into 2 funds — a Fixed Retirement Investment Trust and a Variable Retirement Investment Trust. The Fixed Trust Fund is a broadly diversified portfolio of bonds, common stocks, mortgages and real estate holdings. The Variable Trust Fund is primarily invested in common stocks.

In addition, the board invests the assets of the State Life Insurance Fund, the Local Government Property Insurance Fund, the State Historical Society of Wisconsin Trust Fund, and the State Investment Fund.

The State Investment Fund has been established to invest temporary cash balances on a commingled basis in short-term investments. The monies of this fund include retirement funds' cash awaiting permanent investment and monies in 34 other accounts — including the state's General Fund and various agency and department accounts. The State Investment Fund is invested in U.S. Government or U.S. Government agency investments, high quality commercial paper, bank certificates of deposit, and bankers' acceptances.

The Investment Board entered into fiscal 1984 with a total of $8.7 billion under management. It ended the fiscal year with $10.0 billion — a 15.5% increase.

Unit Functions:

The Common Stocks Division regularly buys and sells common stock for both the fixed and variable retirement investment trust funds.

The Legal Division prepares or reviews documentation for transactions when necessary and handles all internal legal work.

The Liquid Asset Division manages the State Investment Fund. This fund is made up of the cash positions of 36 separate accounts, which are pooled for investment purposes. Investments are limited to high quality, highly liquid securities with short maturities.

The Mortgages and Real Estate Division buys and sells real estate and makes mortgage investments.

The Private Placements Division makes individually negotiated long-term loans to a wide range of industries.

The Public Bonds Division regularly purchases and sells marketable bonds, which are the board's largest single class of holding.

The Special Equities Division invests in publicly traded equity securities of small and young companies for both the fixed and variable retirement investment trust funds.

The Administrative Services Division provides support services and maintains financial records for the board and staff.

Interagency Relationships: The board is the state's investment agency. It provides each investment fund with an accounting of the money expended on its behalf. The board's expenses are determined every 6 months and the expenses are prorated and billed in advance to the funds for which investments are made.

Office of The LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

See OFFICE OF THE LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, page 423, for description.

PERSONNEL BOARD

Personnel Board: SANGER B. POWERS, SR., chairperson; MARY L. LINTON, KENNETH J. MERKEL, MARY M. NICK, EUGENE PARKS.

Program Assistant: LORRAINE C. STOLTZFUS.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7855, Madison 53707; location: 149 East Wilson Street.

Telephone: (608) 266-8434.

Number of Employees: 1.

Total Budget 1983-85: $58,200.

Statutory Reference: Sec. 15.77.

History: The Personnel Board dates back to the Civil Service Commission established in 1905, but was created as a board within the Bureau of Personnel when the commission was abolished and the bureau was created in 1929 (Chapter 465). Although the board was placed within the Department of Administration when the department was created in 1959 (Chapter 228), it was subsequently removed in 1961 and then attached for administrative purposes in 1967 (Chapter 75). Chapter 196, Laws of 1977, created the Personnel Board as an independent agency.

Organization: The board is comprised of 5 members who serve staggered 5-year terms. Members are nominated by the governor and appointed with the advice and consent of the Senate. Four of the 5 members shall be nominated one each from a list of 5 names submitted individually by the president of the Senate, the speaker of the Assembly, the minority leader of the Senate, and the minority leader of the Assembly.

Agency Responsibility: The Personnel Board participates in public hearings held by the administrator of the Division of Merit Recruitment and Selection in the rule-making process and reviews and approves proposed rules and amendments of rules of the administrator. The board may also make investigations and hold hearings at the request of interested persons and issue recommendations concerning the enforcement and effect of civil service rules. The board acts in an advisory capacity to the administrator. It may also issue an enforceable order to remand an illegal act.

The board provides the governor with a list of at least 5 names for vacancies on the Personnel Commission, appoints the chairperson of the Personnel Commission, and certifies to the governor a register of candidates for administrator of the Division of Merit Recruitment and Selection. It also prepares and conducts the examination for the administrator position, evaluates the performance of the administrator annually, and advises the governor as to reappointment.

PERSONNEL COMMISSION

Personnel Commission: DENNIS P. MCGILLIGAN, chairperson; LAURIE R. MCCALLUM, DONALD R. MURPHY.

General Counsel: ANTHONY J. THEODORE.

Mailing Address: Second Floor, 121 East Wilson Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-1995.

Publications: Biennial Reports; Digest of Decisions.

Number of Employees: 12.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $850,600.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.80.

History: The Personnel Commission is an independent agency created by Chapter 196, Laws of 1977, to act as an administrative appeals body for certain state employe grievances and equal rights complaints. Formerly these quasi-judicial functions were performed by the Personnel Board, which dates back to the Civil Service Commission, established in 1905, and the Department of Industry, Labor and Human Relations, created in 1967.

Organization: The commission consists of 3 members who serve staggered 5-year terms. The Personnel Board, after a specified personnel selection process, submits at least 5 names to the governor for each vacancy. The governor nominates one of the 5, who is then appointed with the advice and consent of the Senate.

Agency Responsibility: The Personnel Commission has the program responsibilities specified for the commission under Subchapters II and III of Chapter 230 and specifically Section 230.45, Wis. Stats. Under this statutory authority, the commission hears appeals from decisions of the administrator of the Division of Merit Recruitment and Selection and of the secretary of the Department of Employment Relations, appeals from employes denied benefits under the hazardous employment provisions, certain appeals from county personnel administering welfare aids, appeals of certain disciplinary actions involving employes not subject to union contracts, and appeals of certain appointment transactions. The commission processes complaints of discrimination filed against state agencies as employers under the Fair Employment Law as well as complaints alleging retaliation for reporting elder abuse, for disclosing improper governmental activities, or for exercising a right relating to occupational safety and health. It also serves as final step arbiter in a state employe grievance procedure relating to conditions of employment and has statutory authority to review hearing examiners' decisions on certain nonbargainable transactions. The commission's single program structure encompasses all of the commission's functional activities.

Interagency Relationships: The commission, as an adjudicatory body, has direct authority to review specified personnel actions of any state agency. The commission also acts as a deferral agency of the federal Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, primarily for the purpose of avoiding dual processing of discrimination charges filed with both state and federal agencies.

Department of REVENUE

Secretary of Revenue: MICHAEL LEY, 266-1611.

Deputy Secretary: EILEEN MERSHART, 266-1611.

Executive Assistant to the Secretary: JOHN M. LAABS, 266-1611.

Legal Staff: ALLAN P. HUBBARD, chief counsel, 266-2845.

Income, Sales, Inheritance and Excise Tax Division: vacancy, administrator; JACK E. DEYOUNG, assistant administrator, 266-1911.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE

Units attached for administrative purposes under Sec. 15.03: Badger Board
Investment and Local Impact Fund Board

EXECUTIVE BRANCH: GENERAL EXECUTIVE FUNCTIONS

History: Chapter 75, the reorganization act of 1967, renamed the Department of Taxation the Department of Revenue.

As the Department of Taxation, the agency was originally created by Chapter 412, Laws of 1939, but its antecedents go back to at least 1868, when the State Board of Assessments was established to perform the taxing functions of the state. The property tax was then the primary source of state tax revenue. Originally set up to consist of the secretary of state and the members of the state Senate, the board was reorganized in 1873 to consist of 3 constitutional officers. The 1899 Legislature provided for the office of Tax Commissioner to supervise the system of taxation throughout the state. This agency did not replace the Board of Assessment, but the 2 were coordinated when the tax commissioner was made a member and presiding officer of the board. In 1901 the tax commissioner and the 2 assistant commissioners became the State Board of Assessment, replacing altogether the former constitutional officers; while legislation enacted in 1905 combined the 2 agencies into a permanent Tax Commission of 3 members. This arrangement lasted until the commission was abolished by the 1939 Legislature, which replaced it with the Department of Taxation and the Board of Tax Appeals. Related functions of other state agencies were transferred to the Department of Taxation, for example, administration of the motor fuel tax (Chapter 337, Laws of 1943) and of the cigarette taxes, oil inspection, and anti-gambling law (Chapter 17, Laws of 1949).

The responsibility to perform audits of local governmental units (on request) was assigned to the Department of Taxation in 1939. In 1947, when a separate Department of State Audit was created, the municipal audit function was assigned to that new department. However, when the audit department was transferred to the Legislature in 1965, with the creation of the Legislative Audit Bureau, the municipal audit function was attached to the Department of Administration. The municipal audit function was returned to the Department of Revenue by Chapter 125, Laws of 1971, and finally abolished by legislative action in 1983.

To improve manufacturing property assessment techniques and to promote greater tax equity among manufacturing taxpayers, the department has assumed the responsibility of assessing all manufacturing property as provided in Chapter 90, Laws of 1973. The assessment of manufacturing property was previously performed by local assessors.

Chapter 75, the 1967 reorganization act, transferred the alcohol and tobacco enforcement function from the Department of Revenue to the Department of Justice. However, Chapter 39, Laws of 1975, returned this responsibility to the Revenue Department.

Organization: The department is administered by the secretary of revenue, who is appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the senate.

The department consists of 4 divisions under the direction of the secretary and the deputy secretary of revenue. The office of executive assistant to the secretary and the department's legal staff are attached to the secretary's office.

The State Board of Assessors is comprised of the chief of the Assessment of Manufacturing Property Section and such other department members as the secretary of revenue designates.

Agency Responsibility: The Department of Revenue administers all state tax laws except the insurance premiums tax, prepares periodic estimates of state revenues and forecasts of state economic activity, determines equalized value of taxable property, assesses manufacturing property, assists local governments in their assessments of property and provides them with financial management assistance, and administers local financial assistance programs.

Units Functions:

The Legal Staff provides legal counsel and opinions to the secretary, division administrators and staff, and drafts and reviews tax legislation and administrative rules. It also litigates all cases brought before the Tax Appeals Commission, represents the department in other nontax cases before administrative agencies, and coordinates litigation, appeals and requests for formal opinions on tax issues referred to the office of the Attorney General.

The Income, Sales, Inheritance and Excise Tax Division administers and collects taxes under the state income, sales, inheritance and excise tax laws. It also administers the Homestead Credit Program.

The Research and Analysis Division provides overall economic and tax policy development and evaluation for the secretary of revenue, analyzes legislation, prepares revenue estimates, fiscal notes and statistical reports, and conducts research on contemporary revenue policy issues.

The State and Local Finance Division supervises administration of the general property tax by local units of government, establishes equalized value for all local units of government, provides financial management assistance to local units of government, assesses all property of manufacturing establishments and administers the state utility tax. It also administers the state shared revenue and tax credit programs and the general purpose financial reporting requirements for counties and municipalities.

The Administrative Services Division establishes policies and procedures relating to the human and financial resources of the department. It provides centralized support services in the areas of personnel, employe development, data processing, fiscal management, budget and management analysis, procurement, and other management services.

Interagency Relationships: The department's responsibilities place it in frequent contact with other state departments, local units of government, revenue and related agencies in other states, and federal agencies.

INDEPENDENT BOARDS ATTACHED FOR BUDGETING, PROGRAM COORDINATION AND RELATED MANAGEMENT FUNCTIONS BY SECTION 15.03 OF THE STATUTES

BADGER BOARD

Badger Board: GOVERNOR ANTHONY S. EARL, LT. GOV. JAMES T. FLYNN (secretary of development), CARROLL D. BESADNY (secretary of natural resources), MICHAEL LEY (secretary of revenue); BRONSON C. LA FOLLETTE (Attorney General), DOUGLAS LA FOLLETTE (Secretary of State), CHARLES P. SMITH (State Treasurer) (Board of Commissioners of Public Lands).

Statutory Reference: Section 15.435 (2).

History: The board was created by Chapter 86, Laws of 1981.

Organization: The board is comprised of ex officio members.

Agency Responsibility: The board administers the Badger Fund, to which is transferred a maximum of 40 percent of the net proceeds tax on metallic mineral mining, or that portion of the net proceeds tax not distributed to eligible communities under Sec. 70.395 (1) (a), Stats. Any excess over $20 million in the Investment and Local Impact Fund is also transferred to the Badger Fund. Fifty percent of the interest from the moneys in the fund shall be granted to municipalities and counties that apply for capital costs of recreational facilities. The board promulgates rules establishing the criteria under which such grants may be made. Fifty percent of the interest on moneys in the fund are allotted to educational aids.

INVESTMENT AND LOCAL IMPACT FUND BOARD

Investment and Local Impact Fund Board: PAUL KNUTH (public member), chairperson; LT. GOV. JAMES FLYNN (secretary of development), MICHAEL LEY (secretary of revenue); GWINN JOHNSON (nominated by League of Wisconsin Municipalities), ARNOLD GUMPRECHT (nominated by Wisconsin Towns Association); RICHARD MCKNIGHT, MARY L. WIRTH (nominated by Wisconsin Counties Association); LELAND CHENOWETH (nominated by Wisconsin Association of School Boards); KEN GEORGE (nominated by Great Lakes Inter-tribal Council); PETER J. DAVISON, JACK GIOVANONI (public members).

Executive Secretary: ELIZABETH KOHL.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 8933, Madison 53708; location: General Executive Facility 3, 125 South Webster Street, Madison.

Telephone: (608) 266-7235.

Publications: The Mining Investment and Local Impact Fund Board: An Overview; The Local Impact Committee: Some Organizational and Programming Ideas; Wisconsin's Mining Impact Board: How Does It Compare With Similar Programs In Other States?; Guidance For The Use and Management of Mining Impact Funds.

Number of Employees: 1.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $98,400.

Statutory Reference: Section 15.435.

History: The Investment and Local Impact Fund Board was created by Chapter 31, Laws of 1977, to assist local governments in alleviating metallic mining impacts. The creation of the board was part of a comprehensive set of laws to address metallic mineral development. Changes in local government funding and board structure were made through Chapter 86, Laws of 1981.

Organization: The board is attached to the Department of Revenue under Section 15.03 of the statutes. It is composed of the secretaries of development and of revenue or their designees, 3 public members, 2 municipal officials, 2 county officials, one school board member, and one Native American appointed by the governor for staggered 4-year terms. Of the 5 local officials, one of the municipal official members shall be recommended by the League of Wisconsin Municipalities and the other by the Wisconsin Towns Association; the school board member shall be recommended by the Wisconsin Association of School Boards; the 2 county official members shall be recommended by the Wisconsin Counties Association; the Native American member shall be recommended by the Great Lakes Inter-tribal Council and must reside in a municipality where a metallic mineral ore body is located. One local official shall reside in a county or school district, or an adjacent county or school district, where metallic minerals are extracted. One local official must reside in a county or school district, or adjacent county or school district, where metallic mineral development is occurring. Of the 3 public members, one shall be recommended by the town boards in towns in which a metalliferous mineral ore body is known to exist. One member must reside in a town where a metalliferous mineral ore body is located, and another must reside in a county, or an adjacent county, where metallic mineral development is occurring.

An executive secretary serves at the pleasure of the board.

Agency Responsibility: The board exercises jurisdiction over the Investment and Local Impact Fund, which was created to provide funds to provide funds to municipalities to alleviate the costs associated with social, educational, environmental and economic impacts of metalliferous mineral mining incurred prior to, during and after the extraction of minerals. The board certifies to the Department of Administration the amount of funds to be distributed to municipalities from specific taxes collected from the metallic mining industry.

Number of Employees: 35.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $2,435,400.

Statutory Reference: Article VI, Sections 1, and 2, Wisconsin Constitution; Subchapter III of Chapter 14, Statutes.

History: The position of secretary of state was created by the Wisconsin Constitution, Art. VI, Secs. 1 and 2. When the Territory of Wisconsin was organized by an act of Congress in 1836, the act provided for a secretary of the territory to be appointed by the president. This was the forerunner of the secretary of state. During the Constitutional Conventions of 1846-48, the delegates determined that the secretary of state would be a constitutional officer. The constitution requires the secretary of state to maintain the official acts of the legislature and the governor; and to keep the Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin and affix it to all official acts of the governor. Effective December 28, 1969 the Legislature established that the secretary of state would head an office created under Section 14.36, Wis. Stats., and has since assigned the office many additional responsibilities.

Organization: The Office of the Secretary of State is headed by an elected secretary of state. From the beginning of statehood until 1970 the secretary of state was elected in the general election in the even-numbered years for a term of 2 years. Under a constitutional amendment ratified in 1967 and effective since the 1970 election, the secretary of state is elected to serve a 4-year term. The Office of the Secretary of State is organized into 3 operating divisions: the Corporations Division, the Uniform Commercial Code Division, and the Government Records Division. The operating divisions are supported by the Legal Services Office and the Administrative Services Office. To better serve the metropolitan area of Southeastern Wisconsin, an office was established in Milwaukee in 1979.

SECRETARY OF STATE

Agency Responsibility: Under the direction of the secretary of state, the Office of the Secretary of State incorporates Wisconsin businesses and non-stock corporations, forms cooperatives and limited partnerships, qualifies businesses foreign to Wisconsin to do business within the state, processes the annual reports of domestic and foreign corporations, maintains and certifies Uniform Commercial Code documents (records of business indebtedness), issues notaries public commissions, issues notary authentications and apostilles, registers tradenames and trademarks, regulates the activities of lobbyists and their employers, and records annexations and charter ordinances of villages and cities. The secretary of state also serves on the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands and the Badger Board.

Unit Functions:

The Corporations Division examines and files charter documents to form domestic business, service, and statutory close corporations, domestic nonstock corporations, cooperatives, and limited partnerships; licenses foreign business corporations; registers foreign limited partnerships; examines and files documents to amend the charter documents of domestic corporations, foreign corporations, and limited partnerships; and files documents to accomplish mergers, consolidations, and dissolutions. The division administers the program responsibilities assigned primarily under Chapters 179, 180, 181 and 185 of the Wisconsin Statutes, and files annual reports for foreign and domestic corporations and cooperatives. The division also prepares certified copies of the records in its custody, issues certificates relating to the status of organizations, and services inquiries.

The Uniform Commercial Code Division, under Chapter 409 of Wis. Stats., files statements of business indebtedness, maintains a file of the indebtedness statements, provides telephone and written searches of the records, and responds to inquiries concerning UCC documents. The division also files amendments, continuations, assignments, terminations, and releases of the original financing statements, and provides certified copies of all UCC documents.

The Government Records Division administers program responsibilities set forth in approximately 140 sections of the Wis. Stats., including: regulating lobbying activities; publishing legislative acts; recording official acts of the legislature and the governor; filing oaths of office; filing deeds for state lands and buildings; registering tradenames and trademarks; issuing notaries public commissions; issuing notary authentications and apostilles; and recording railroad transactions, annexations, and charter ordinances of villages and cities.

The Administrative Services Office performs financial transactions and provides administrative support for the agency.

The Legal Services Office provides legal assistance to all divisions of the agency.

The Milwaukee Office accepts for filing articles of incorporation, corporate name reservations, and Uniform Commercial Code documents. The office services requests for uncertified copies of documents located in the Madison central files, distributes available forms, and provides information concerning office-related requirements.

The Operations Manager is responsible for the successful completion of all program responsibilities assigned to the secretary of state.

Interagency Relationships: The Office of the Secretary of State works with county and municipal officials, private enterprises, and individuals to accomplish required filings. The office also coordinates activities with various state agencies to record official acts of the legislature and the governor, forwarding appropriate information to the Department of Military Affairs; provides corporate information to the Department of Regulation and Licensing; prepares deed information for the Departments of Transportation, Development, Public Instruction, Administration, and Revenue; coordinates the publication of state laws with the Legislative Reference Bureau; and forwards lobbying information to the Legislature. The secretary also serves on the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands and is a member of the Badger Board.

Office of the STATE TREASURER

State Treasurer: CHARLES P. SMITH.

Assistant Treasurer: PETER J. NELSON.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7871, Madison 53707; location: Room 134, General Executive Facility 3, 125 S. Webster Street.

Telephone: (608) 266-3711.

Publications: Daily, Monthly and Biennial Reports of the Financial Condition of the State; Quarterly Report on Local Government Pooled Investment Fund.

Number of Employees: 14.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $1,002,000.

Statutory Reference: Article VI, Sections 1, 1n and 3, Wisconsin Constitution; Subchapter IV of Chapter 14, Statutes.

History: The state treasurer is one of the constitutional officers of the state. An elected state treasurer was included in both the abortive 1846 Constitution and in the Constitution as finally adopted in 1848 (Article VI, Section 1). The territorial treasurer, an office created in 1839, had been appointed by the governor, but the state constitutional provision called for his election.

Organization: From statehood through 1968, the state treasurer was elected in the general election held in November of each even-numbered year for a term of 2 years. By constitutional amendment ratified in 1967, however, he was elected for a 4-year term beginning with the 1970 election. The constitution provides that the duties of the office are to be prescribed by law. The assistant treasurer is appointed by and serves at the pleasure of the state treasurer.

OFFICE OF THE STATE TREASURER

STATE TREASURER

Agency Responsibility: The state treasurer is responsible for the custody and disbursement of state moneys. He is responsible for the custody and care of securities representing the investments of the various state funds, as well as securities and money deposited with the state under statutory requirements. He acts as registrar for all general obligation bonds and maintains detailed records for all bonds authorized, issued, and redeemed. He serves as treasurer of the State Investment Board, the University Trust Fund, state retirement funds, and, in addition, serves as a member of the Board of Commissioners of Public Lands, State Board of Canvassers, State Historical Society, Bond Advisory Committee to the Building Commission, and the State Depository Selection Board.

Unit Functions:

Disbursements: The treasurer processes, records and issues the disbursements of the state.

Receipts: The treasurer receives, processes and records the receipts of the state and maintains records on the Local Government Pooled Investment Fund.

Securities: The treasurer has custody of securities, bonds and deposits.

Unclaimed Property: The treasurer receives and maintains custody and records for all property received under the provisions of the uniform unclaimed property act and general escheat laws. The treasurer reviews, and, if necessary, audits, business and corporate records to assure compliance with unclaimed property statutes.

Interagency Relationships: In relation to the receipt and disbursement of state funds, the Office of the State Treasurer performs a service for all state agencies. The state treasurer makes a daily determination for the Investment Board as to funds available for investment purposes. The state treasurer quarterly collects probate fees and monthly collects fines, forfeitures, penalty assessments and court fees. The office makes annual settlement with the county treasurers of taxes and other fees due the state. The state treasurer annually collects from municipal and school district treasurers principal and interest due on loans made to the municipalities by the Land Commission. The state treasurer administers and maintains required records on the Local Government Pooled Investment Fund.

STATE AUTHORITIES

Authorities are bodies public and corporate created for specific purposes and are authorized to issue bonds.

COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT FINANCE AUTHORITY

Board of Directors: REPRESENTATIVE DISMAS BECKER (Assembly majority member), chairperson; JAMES H. SCHLENDER, vice chairperson; CAROL A. BRILL, secretary; ROSALIE TRYON, treasurer; JOHN YINGLING (designee of secretary of development); SENATOR GARY GEORGE (Senate majority member), SENATOR DONALD HANAWAY (Senate minority member), REPRESENTATIVE DUWAYNE JOHNSRUD (Assembly minority member); MARILYN ANDERSON, LUCIO FUENTEZ, STAN GRUSZYNSKI (confirmation pending), RALPH JIRIKOWIC, PHYLLIS SCHIEFFER.

Executive Director: LOUIS FORTIS.

Administrative Director: NANCY BORNSTEIN.

Mailing Address: Suite 312, 14 West Mifflin Street, Madison 53703; field offices: Green Bay, Milwaukee, Racine.

Number of Employees: 10 (not state funded).

Total Budget 1983-85: $418,000 ($150,000 state funded).

Statutory Reference: Section 233.03.

History: The Community Development Finance Authority was created by Chapter 371, Laws of 1981. Principal program operations of the authority began in October 1982.

Organization: The Community Development Finance Authority is a public body corporate and politic organized as a nonprofit corporation. The corporation's board of directors is comprised of 13 members, consisting of 8 public members appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for staggered 5-year terms, the secretary of the Department of Development or a designee, and 2 senators and 2 representatives representing the majority and minority parties in each house and appointed as are standing committees. Four public members shall represent community development corporations, one shall represent organized labor, one shall represent small business, one shall represent employment training programs, and one shall represent private financial institutions.

The governor appoints the executive director of the authority to serve a 2-year term. The executive director and other staff members are employed outside the state civil service system.

Agency Responsibility: The Community Development Finance Authority was established to provide organizational development, economic planning, and business development technical assistance to community development corporations and Indian tribes in Wisconsin's distressed areas in order to facilitate the process of economic growth and development. The authority has created a community development finance company for the purpose of investing funds in community economic development ventures. In carrying out this objective, the authority and the company are receiving contributions and investments from corporations and individuals. In turn, the State of Wisconsin will provide a tax credit incentive for participating corporations and individuals.

Interagency Relationships: The authority works with all levels of government, specifically including the Department of Development, private corporations, and community development corporations, Indian tribes, and community-based women's organizations.

HEALTH FACILITIES AUTHORITY

Members: STEWART W. LAIRD, chairperson; JOY A. MOY, vice chairperson; PAUL L. BROWN, ROBERT E. DURKIN, ALAN E. IDING, ROBERT O. POLLOCK, SISTER MARY CHARLES RYDZEWSKI.

Executive Director: LAWRENCE R. NINES.

Mailing Address: Suite 108, 5721 Odana Road, Madison 53719.

Telephone: (608) 273-8120.

Statutory Reference: Section 231.02.

History: The Health Facilities Authority was created by Chapter 304, Laws of 1973. Principal program operations of the authority began in September 1979 following a favorable decision as to the constitutionality of its enabling legislation on June 29, 1979, by the Wisconsin Supreme Court in State ex. rel. Wisconsin Health Facilities Authority v. John H. Torphy, Secretary, Wisconsin Department of Administration. The authority's first debt was issued in December 1979.

Organization: The Health Facilities Authority is a public body politic and corporate comprising 7 members appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate for staggered 7-year terms. Not more than 4 may be members of the same political party. Annually the governor appoints a member as chairperson and the authority elects one member as vice chairperson.

The executive director and other staff members are employed outside the state civil service system.

Agency Responsibility: The Health Facilities Authority was established to provide assistance and alternative methods of financing to health institutions to aid them in project financings which provide needed health services consistent with the state's health plan. To support this intent, the authority is empowered to issue bonds on behalf of participating health institutions, the interest on which is exempt from federal income taxation. The result is interest rates below those available through conventional financing sources.

The authority may issue bonds to finance any project that has received approval from the Department of Health and Social Services under Ch. 150, Wis. Stats. The authority may issue bonds to refinance outstanding debt of any health facility if that refinancing will result in a reduction in the health facility's rates below the rates which would have otherwise prevailed.

A "project" is a specific health facility work or improvement to be refinanced, acquired, constructed, enlarged, remodeled, renovated, improved, furnished or equipped, or any combination thereof, by the authority. The authority has the power, among other things, to collect rents and revenues for the services furnished by the project, and establish rules for the use of a project. It may designate a participating health facility as its agent for various purposes.

The bonds and notes of the authority are limited obligations of the authority alone and not a debt or liability of the State of Wisconsin. The authority receives no appropriations from the state. The authority imposes fees and charges on participating health institutions for its various programs to sustain its operations.

HOUSING AND ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT AUTHORITY

Members: JAMES T. SYKES, chairperson; MARJORIE KINNEY, vice chairperson; GILBERT G. RIVERA, secretary; DONALD W. SEAHOLM, treasurer; SENATOR JOHN R. PLEWA (Senate majority member), SENATOR RICHARD KREUL (Senate minority member), REPRESENTATIVE JOHN ANTARAMIAN (Assembly majority member), REPRESENTATIVE E. JAMES LADWIG (Assembly minority member); JAMES T. FLYNN (secretary of development); CAROL BRILL, JAMES HILL.

Executive Director: EDWARD G. JACKAMONIS.

Deputy Executive Director: MONICA BURKERT-BRIST.

Assistant Executive Director for Administration: GWEN TORKELSON.

General Counsel: PAUL E. CONRAD.

Chief Financial Officer: LARRY R. METZ.

Director of Architectural and Technical Services: JEROME J. WALKOWSKI.

Director of Economic Development: MARCH SCHWEITZER.

Director of Housing Development: JOHN R. HABECK.

Director of Management Services: vacancy.

Director of Data Processing: JOHN J. SCHAUF.

Credit Relief Outreach Program (Crop) Administrator: MARY ANDERSON.

Grants Administrator: MARTIN E. EVANSON.

Communications Coordinator: vacancy.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 1728, Madison 53701; location: 131 West Wilson Street, Madison.

Telephone: (608) 266-7884.

Publications: Inventory of Federally Assisted Rental Housing — State of Wisconsin; Annual Report; WHEDA Occupancy Handbook; WHEDA Grounds Maintenance Guide.

Number of Employees: 73.00 (not state funded).

Statutory Reference: Section 234.02.

History: The Housing and Economic Development Authority (WHEDA) was created as the Housing Finance Authority by Chapter 287, Laws of 1971. Principal program operations of the authority began in July 1973 following a favorable decision as to the constitutionality of its enabling legislation on June 29, 1973 by the Wisconsin Supreme Court in State Ex. Rel. Warren v. Nusbaum, 59 Wis. 2d 391, 208 N.W. 2d 780 (1973). The authority's first debt issuance occurred in March 1974. In November 1983 (1983 Wisconsin Act 81), Governor Earl signed legislation which broadened the authority's mission to include financing for economic development projects and export sales of Wisconsin products. The name was changed to the Housing and Economic Development Authority to reflect the increased scope.

Organization: WHEDA is a public body corporate and politic consisting of 11 members: 6 public members appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate for staggered 4-year terms expiring on January 1; the secretary of development or a designee; and 2 senators and 2 representatives to the Assembly appointed as are the members of standing committees in their respective houses. The governor appoints a public member as chairperson of the authority for a one-year term. The authority elects a vice chairperson, secretary and treasurer. The executive director is appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate for a 2-year term.

The executive director and other staff members are employed by the authority outside the state civil service system.

Agency Responsibility: WHEDA was established 1) to help alleviate the housing shortage for low- and moderate-income persons and families, and 2) to provide financing for business development loans and export sales of Wisconsin products. To carry out its housing objective, the authority provides rehabilitation, construction and long-term mortgage loans to eligible individuals and to sponsors of housing projects for persons and families of low and moderate income. It is the intention of the Legislature that the authority focus on those not effectively served by the private sector. The authority finances its various housing programs through the issuance of tax-exempt revenue bonds and notes. These notes and bonds are not a debt of the State of Wisconsin.

To carry out its economic development and export sales objectives, the authority is authorized to issue bonds to finance business development loans and to finance export sales of Wisconsin products. It is the intention of the Legislature that the authority focus on maintaining and creating jobs and fostering economic growth in the state.

The authority receives no appropriations from the state for its housing and economic development programs. Fees and other charges for its various programs sustain its operations. On March 22, 1985, Governor Earl signed into law special session legislation authorizing the authority to guarantee and subsidize farm loans for planting or harvesting crops in 1985. For this purpose, $11 million was appropriated to the authority by the Legislature.

Interagency Relationships: In 1974 and 1975, the authority issued $61,945,000 of its revenue bonds to finance 2,024 residential mortgage loans to eligible veterans under the Veterans Housing Loan Program, administered by the Department of Veterans Affairs. In 1981, the authority entered into a Mortgage Purchase and Sale Agreement with the Department of Veterans Affairs to commit $5,556,000 of authority funds to make possible the State of Wisconsin Mortgage Revenue Bonds, Series 1981, the proceeds of which finance veterans housing.

Since 1979, the authority has issued $54,989,850 of its revenue bonds to finance housing rehabilitation loans to be made under the State Housing and Neighborhood Conservation Program, which is administered by the authority in conjunction with the Department of Development. The authority contributed $931,955 of program revenues to subsidize a 1979 bond issue of $9,990,850.

Since 1982, the authority issued $475,000,955 in bonds, subsidized with an authority contribution of $16,510,000 to finance the Home Ownership Mortgage Loan Program, which is administered with the Department of Development.

In 1983, bonding authority for the Community Housing Alternatives Program was transferred from the Health Facilities Authority to the authority. The program is administered by the authority in conjunction with the Department of Health and Social Services.

The authority in 1983 also received bonding authority to finance economic development and export sales programs. The loans in these programs will be subject to certification by the Department of Development.

The authority receives Section 8 rental housing assistance payments funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The authority currently receives and allocates $56,783,077 in annual Section 8 funding to support 14,733 authority-financed units statewide. These funds ensure that income-eligible tenants will pay no more than 30 percent of their income for rent.

The authority coordinates statewide subsidized housing production with both the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Farmers Home Administration.

REGIONAL PLANNING COMMISSIONS

Under Sec. 66.945, which was created by Chapter 466, Laws of 1955, the governor or an official or state agency designated by him, is authorized to create a regional planning commission upon petition of the governing body of a local government unit and the holding of a public hearing on such petition. If the governor finds a need for such a commission and the governing bodies of local units within the proposed region which include over 50 percent of the population and equalized assessed valuation of the region consent, he may create it by order and designate the area and boundaries of its jurisdiction.

When created, a regional planning commission may conduct research studies; make plans for the physical, social and economic development of the region, and adopt such plans as its official recommendation for the region's development; advise local government units on regional planning problems; and act as a coordinating agency for programs of such local units. It is required to adopt a master plan for the physical development of the region.

Membership of a regional plan commission which includes a first class city consists of a member appointed by the county board of each participating county; 2 members appointed by the governor from each participating county, one of whom must be nominated by the county board; and the secretary of development or his designee as nonvoting member.

In regions without a city of the first class, membership is in accordance with resolutions adopted by the governing bodies of a majority of the local units in the region with at least half the population of the region. In the absence of the approval of such local units, the membership is the same as for regions with first class cities if the region lies in more than one county; if the region is entirely within one county, the commission shall consist of 3 members appointed by the county board, 3 members appointed by the governing body of each city of 20,000 or more population (if there are none, the governor appoints one from each city of 5,000 or more population), and 3 at large members appointed by the governor.

When membership has been determined by resolution of the majority of local units in the region, such resolution also sets the length of members' terms; otherwise, terms are for 6 years.

Chapter 225, Laws of 1971, provided that territory within a regional planning commission comprising one county or less may be included in the creation of a multicounty regional planning commission, but the existing commission must then adopt a name other than "regional planning commission".

The following regional planning commissions are currently in existence.

EDUCATION COMMISSION OF THE STATES Wisconsin Delegation

Wisconsin Delegation on the Education Commission of the States: GOVERNOR ANTHONY S. EARL, HERBERT J. GROVER (Superintendent of Public Instruction); SENATOR JOSEPH J. CZARNEZKI, REPRESENTATIVE CALVIN POTTER; DORIS HANSON, DR. ROBERT M. O'NEIL, DR. ROBERT POWLESS (public members).

Mailing Address: Secretary of Administration, Department of Administration, General Executive Facility 2, 101 South Webster Street, Madison 53702; Education Commission of the States, Suite 300, 1860 Lincoln Street, Denver, Colorado 80295.

Telephone: (608) 266-1741.

Statutory Reference: Sections 39.75, 39.76.

History: The Compact for Education was enacted into law and entered into by the State of Wisconsin by Chapter 641, Laws of 1965, and the Wisconsin delegation to the Education Commission of the States was created.

Organization: The delegation is composed of 7 members: the governor and the state superintendent of public instruction, one senator and one representative appointed as are standing committees in the respective houses, and 3 members appointed by the governor. Administration and staff services for the delegation are provided by the Department of Administration.

Functions: The commission was established to maintain close cooperation among executive, legislative, educational and lay leadership on a nationwide basis at the state and local levels; provide a forum for discussing policy alternatives in the education field; provide a clearinghouse of information on educational problems; and facilitate the improvement of state and local educational systems.

GREAT LAKES COMPACT COMMISSION

Members: PETER MCAVOY (state officer member), Wisconsin chairperson; LINDA BOCHERT, GILBERT ERICKSON.

Mailing Address: PETER MCAVOY, Department of Administration, P.O. Box 7864, Madison 53707. Great Lakes Commission: James Fish, Executive Director, Institute of Science and Technology Building, University of Michigan, 2200 Bonisteel Blvd., Ann Arbor, Michigan 48109.

Telephone: (608) 266-1741; Great Lakes Commission: (313) 665-9135.

Publications of the Great Lakes Commission: Bimonthly Great Lakes News Letter; minutes of committee and commission meetings; annual report; special reports and other miscellaneous publications.

Statutory Reference: Section 14.78.

History: The Great Lakes Compact Commission was created by the State of Wisconsin with the ratification of the Great Lakes Basin Compact, Chapter 275, Laws of 1955, as amended by Chapter 441, Laws of 1959, and Chapter 39, Laws of 1975. The consent of Congress to the Great Lakes Basin Compact was granted by P.L. 90-419, July 24, 1966 (82 Stat. 414).

The Great Lakes Commission superseded the Deep Waterways Commission, which had been established to promote the St. Lawrence Seaway project. The functions of the latter were transferred to the new agency.

Originally the Wisconsin Great Lakes Compact Commission had 3 members. The number was increased to 5 by Chapter 441, Laws of 1959, and reduced to 3 by Chapter 39, Laws of 1975.

Organization: The 3 members of the commission are appointed by the governor on the basis of their knowledge of and interest in the problems of the Great Lakes basin. One shall be a state officer or employe, who shall serve for an indefinite term, act as chairperson, and serve on the commission's executive committee. Other members serve 4-year terms. They are reimbursed for expenses only.

Functions: Wisconsin members on the Great Lakes Commission represent the state's interest in carrying out the purposes and functions by the interstate agency. Close liaison is maintained with the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, and with Canadian federal agencies and officials.

The Great Lakes Commission represents and acts on behalf of the 8 Great Lakes states in the pursuit of common goals and the solution to common problems. The commission functions in the areas of environmental quality control, shoreline use and recreation, Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway system navigation and commerce, fisheries and wildlife, and fresh water resources, encompassing environmental quality and regional development as these relate to water quality and water availability. Commissioners act to promote through the commission state interest in the origin, planning, development, promotion and support of state and regional-beneficial programs and activities. The commission presents, supports and promotes these programs throughout the region and particularly to the executive departments and agencies of the federal government and the U.S. Congress.

MIDWEST LOW-LEVEL RADIOACTIVE WASTE COMMISSION

Wisconsin Member: DONALD K. SCHOTT.

Mailing Address: Room 115 East, State Capitol, Madison 53702; Midwest Low-Level Radioactive Waste Commission: Richard Paton, Executive Director, 350 N. Robert Street, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101.

Telephone: (608) 266-1212; Midwest Commission: (612) 293-0126.

Statutory Reference: Sections 14.81, 16.11.

History: The Midwest Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact was ratified and the commission enacted by 1983 Wisconsin Act 393.

Organization: The member of the commission representing Wisconsin is appointed by the governor with the consent of the Senate to serve at the pleasure of the governor. The commission member designates an alternate.

Functions: The Midwest Interstate Low-Level Radioactive Waste Compact is an interstate organization responsible for managing low-level radioactive wastes. Member states are Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio and Wisconsin. Such compacts were provided for and encouraged by the federal Low-Level Radioactive Waste Policy Act.

The commission may: 1) make an agreement for the right to use regional facilities for waste generated outside the region and the right to use facilities outside the region for waste generated within the region; 2) approve the disposal of waste generated within the region at a facility other than a regional facility; 3) appear as an intervenor before any court, board or commission in any matter relating to waste management; and 4) review an emergency closure of a regional facility. The commission is directed to settle disputes between party states regarding the compact and adopt a regional management plan designating host states for the establishment of needed regional facilities.

The Low-Level Radioactive Waste Council, composed of legislative and public members, advises the commissioner representing this state and makes recommendations. The Low-Level Radioactive Waste Technical Advisory Committee is composed of state agency staff persons and advises the commissioner representing this state on technical issues.

Wisconsin Funding 1983-85: $129,400.

Statutory Reference: Section 14.82.

History: The Minnesota-Wisconsin Boundary Area Commission was created by Chapter 274, Laws of 1965, to constitute the representatives of this state on the joint Minnesota-Wisconsin Boundary Area Commission. A boundary area compact between the 2 states was ratified by enactment of this legislation.

Organization: The commission is composed of 5 members appointed by the governor with Senate confirmation for staggered 5-year terms. (Minnesota also appoints 5 members). Members receive no compensation except expenses. To assist the commission there is created a Legislative Advisory Committee, consisting of 4 senators and 6 representatives to the Assembly appointed as are standing committees, and a Technical Advisory Committee, comprising 2 members appointed by the governor and one member each appointed by the board or executive head of the following agencies: Department of Administration, Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection, Department of Health and Social Services, Department of Justice, Department of Development, Department of Natural Resources and the Public Service Commission.

Staff services are provided by 3 full-time personnel employed by the commission.

Functions: The commission represents a joint effort by the States of Wisconsin and Minnesota to conduct studies, develop recommendations and coordinate government actions relating to the present and future protection, use, and development in the public interest, of the lands, river valleys and waters which form the boundary between the 2 states, especially the St. Croix and Mississippi Rivers. The commission provides field services and advisory recommendations to its sponsor states and also serves as the management coordinator for the St. Croix National Scenic Riverways, segments of the National Wild and Scenic Rivers System.

MISSISSIPPI RIVER PARKWAY COMMISSION

Wisconsin Commission: ROY FINLEY (Pierce County), chairperson; WILLIAM BUSH (La Crosse County), vice chairperson; HERBERT J. MESHUN (Pepin County), treasurer; DONNA KREBSBACH (Buffalo County), ROBERT G. VALLEY (Crawford County), vacancy (Grant County), vacancy (La Crosse County), NICK JENSEN (Trempealeau County), ALBERT C. ZABOLIO (Vernon County).

Gubernatorial Secretary: LOWELL B. JACKSON; Executive Secretary: K. SUE GALLAGHER.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7910, Madison 53707-7910; location: Room 120B, Hill Farms State Transportation Building, 4802 Sheboygan Avenue.

Telephone: (608) 266-1113.

Statutory Reference: Section 14.85.

History: The Wisconsin commission is a part of the international Mississippi River Parkway Commission. The commission became statutory with the enactment of Chapter 482, Laws of 1961. Its origin, however was in 1939, when Governor Heil appointed a 10-member committee to cooperate with agencies from other Mississippi River states in planning 2 scenic highways along the banks of the Great River from the Gulf of Mexico to its headwaters at Lake Itasca, Minnesota. The Canadian Government links in with northward branches to join the Trans-Canada Highway near Kenora and westward through Manitoba. The committee was renamed a commission by Chapter 75, Laws of 1967; its membership was changed by Chapter 39, Laws of 1975.

Organization: The commission is composed of a secretary appointed by the governor and 10 members appointed by the county boards of the 8 counties bordering on the Mississippi River. The commission selects its chairperson and may select a secretary for internal affairs, while the gubernatorially appointed secretary is responsible for liaison between the governor, legislature, state Parkway Commission, and national Parkway Commission. Members receive no compensation, but the secretary may be reimbursed for his actual expenses.

Functions: The general purpose of the Mississippi River Parkway Commission is to provide information, guidance, and assistance in the acquisition, restoration, preservation and enhancement of the scenic, historic and recreational assets located along the Mississippi River, and to foster continued economic growth through the maintenance and improvement of the highway transportation corridor along the Mississippi River. The commission assists in coordinating a program for the development of the Great River Parkway in Wisconsin and cooperates with similar commissions in other states and Canadian provinces to develop the road from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico. The Highway Commission in 1967 authorized route study and traffic counts leading to the initial planning for the ultimate route in the state. In 1974 a report was sent to the Federal Highway Administration updating information on the route location and cost estimates of the project. The cost estimate has been updated periodically since 1974. Program implementation is in progress.

JUDICIAL BRANCH

A PROFILE OF THE JUDICIAL BRANCH

Introducing the Court System. For the average citizen the court system is probably the most remote and least understood branch of government. Though his attention may be drawn to the courts by news accounts of controversial cases and by dramatic portrayals of court proceedings on television, his personal involvement with the courts is likely limited to a traffic violation, a divorce proceeding or the settlement of a deceased relative's estate. His experience may lead him to conclude that the judicial system is a complicated maze filled with obscure procedures and language seemingly only half understood by the lawyers and judges themselves.

What may not be readily apparent to him is the tremendous variety and volume of business transacted in our court system. At one time or another almost every aspect of life is touched by the courts. Aside from the duty to try persons accused of criminal law violations, which may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both, the courts must decide civil disputes between private citizens ranging from the routine collection of an overdue charge account to the complex adjudication of an antitrust case involving many millions of dollars and months or even years of costly litigation. The courts also must act as referees between the citizens and their government by deciding what are the permissible limits of governmental power and the extent of an individual's rights and responsibilities.

A judicial system which strives for fairness and justice must be capable of first finding the truth and then deciding disputes under the rule of law. Thus, the courts are the places in which the facts are determined and the rules regulating conduct are interpreted and applied. These rules are derived from a variety of sources including the state and federal constitutions, legislative acts, administrative rules, and custom and experience expressed judicially in the common law, that is, court decisions. This body of law is constantly changing to meet the needs of our increasingly complex society. However, while these changes are often necessary and desirable, the courts have the added responsibility of ensuring that the fundamental principles of our constitutional system are protected and preserved.

How well the judicial branch performs the tasks we assign it depends a great deal on its organization and structure. Because many citizens, lawyers, legislators and judges complained that the judicial process had become so expensive and time-consuming, the court system was substantially reorganized, first in 1959, then in 1977-78.

History of the Court System. The basic powers and framework of the court system in Wisconsin were laid out in Article VII of the Constitution when Wisconsin became a state in 1848. Judicial power was vested in a Supreme Court, circuit courts, courts of probate and justices of the peace. The legislature was granted power to establish inferior courts and municipal courts and, subject to certain limitations, to determine their jurisdiction. By the 1848 constitution, the state was divided into 5 judicial circuit districts. The 5 judges presiding over the circuit courts were to meet at least once a year at Madison as a Supreme Court until the legislature established a Supreme Court as a separate body. In 1853, the present Supreme Court commenced with 3 members — one elected to be chief justice and the other 2 elected to be associate justices. In 1877, the number of associate justices was increased to 4. In 1889, all members of the court were designated as justices and the justice with the longest continuous service was to preside as chief justice — a practice specified in the Wisconsin Constitution to the present day. Since 1903, the number of justices of the Wisconsin Supreme Court has been 7.

Over the next 100 years, the legislature, acting pursuant to constitutional authority, created by statute a large number of courts with varying types of jurisdiction. As a result of all these special laws, there existed no uniformity among the counties in either procedure or jurisdiction. There was overlapping jurisdiction between the different types of courts in a single county, and court procedure in the various courts was not the same. Furthermore, a number of special courts sprang up in heavily urban areas such as Milwaukee County, where the judicial burden was the greatest. By 1958, the legislature had created 29 municipal courts and many inferior courts including 2 superior courts, several small claims courts, and in Milwaukee County a civil court with 6 branches, a district court with 2 branches and a children's court. Police justice courts were also established by municipalities for enforcement of local ordinances; and there were some 1,800 justice of the peace courts, many of which were virtually inactive.

Reorganization of the Courts in 1959. This apparently confused pattern led the 1951 Legislature to direct the Judicial Council to study and make a recommendation for a court reorganization plan. As a result of thorough study, the 1959 Legislature enacted Chapter 315, Laws of 1959, effective January 1962. This law provided for the primary reorganization of the court system. In subsequent sessions the legislature refined this plan by a series of acts.

Under the 1959 law the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court and circuit courts remained unchanged. The most significant change in the reorganization was the abolition of the special statutory courts (municipal, district, superior, civil and small claims). All the separate acts relating to the county courts were repealed, and the county court was reestablished with uniform jurisdiction and procedure throughout the state. Where a special court operated full time and had a full-time judge presiding, a branch of county court was created to absorb and continue its function.

Another important change provided the machinery for the administration of the court system. One of the problems under the old system was that the caseload was uneven — heavy in some areas and light in other areas. Sometimes, too, the workload was not evenly distributed between the judges of a single area. Chapter 315, Laws of 1959, also provided machinery to improve the efficiency of the courts. The chief justice of the Supreme Court was authorized to assign circuit and county judges to serve temporarily in either the circuit or county courts when needed. The 1961 Legislature took one step further and established the office of court administrator (Chapter 261, Laws of 1961).

A third major change in the court system was the abolition of the constitutional justices of the peace. This amendment was ratified by the electorate in the April 1966 election.

As reorganized in 1959, Wisconsin's court system consisted of a Supreme Court, circuit courts, county courts and municipal courts.

Reorganization of the Courts in 1977-78. At the election held on April 5, 1977, the electorate ratified constitutional amendments reorganizing the judicial branch. The central statement outlining the structure of the new system is contained in Article VII, Section 2 of the Constitution.

"The judicial power of this state shall be vested in a unified court system consisting of one supreme court, a court of appeals, a circuit court, such trial courts of general uniform statewide jurisdiction as the legislature may create by law, and a municipal court if authorized by the legislature under section 14".

In the June 1978 Special Session, the Legislature implemented the constitutional amendments by enacting Chapter 449, Laws of 1977, which provides the state with a "single level" trial court system and a court of appeals, and revised authority for the municipal courts.

Structure of the Court System Today. The judicial branch is headed by a Supreme Court of 7 justices elected statewide for terms of 10 years. Although primarily an appellate court for the state, the court of last resort, the Supreme Court also has original jurisdiction for a limited number of cases of statewide concern.

The establishment of the Court of Appeals became effective August 1, 1978. The court consists of 12 court of appeals judges. The state is divided into 4 court of appeals districts with 3 judges elected from each district. All judges are elected for 6-year terms. The "primary" locations for the offices of the court in each district are Milwaukee, Waukesha, Wausau and Madison. The Court of Appeals is given broad jurisdiction to hear appeals from all courts of record. There are no appeals to the Supreme Court as a matter of right. The Supreme Court determines at its discretion which matters it will hear. The Court of Appeals sits in panels of 3 judges to dispose of cases, except in small claims, municipal ordinance violation, traffic regulation violation, mental health, juvenile and misdemeanor cases, which are heard by a single judge unless a request for a 3-judge panel is granted.

Under the reorganization, the circuit court became the "single level" trial court. County courts were abolished and the county judges were denominated as circuit judges and given all the powers, duties and benefits of circuit judges. At the conclusion of each county judge's term, the office of that branch of county court was abolished and a branch of the circuit court was established. Circuit court boundaries were revised so that each county became a circuit with the exception of the following 3 combined county districts: Buffalo-Pepin, Shawano-Menominee, and Forest-Florence. Circuit judges in office as of August 1, 1978, served in the circuit courts for the counties in which they resided. The act created 13 additional judgeships and abolished 4 existing judgeships, providing the state with 190 trial judges rather than the 181 it had previously. Additional judgeships added since have brought the total to 198, but the number will be reduced to 197 when Clerk County's 2 branches are reduced to one.

There are 10 judicial administration districts (previously 14), with the chief judge of each district being appointed by the Supreme Court.

Over 200 municipal courts have been created by cities, villages and towns. Their jurisdiction is limited.

The Selection and Qualification of Judges. Justices of the Supreme Court and judges of the Court of Appeals and the circuit courts are elected on a nonpartisan basis in April. When 3 or more candidates file nomination papers for an office of judge, a primary election is held prior to the April election. All these judges must be less than 70 years old and licensed attorneys. In addition, the Supreme Court justices, Court of Appeals and circuit court judges must have at least 5 years' experience as attorneys to qualify for office. A vacancy in the office of judge is filled by the governor until a successor is elected. In an election held to fill a vacancy, a judge is elected for a full term instead of the remainder of an unexpired term.

The 7 Supreme Court justices are elected at large; the judges of the Court of Appeals and circuit judges are elected in their respective Court of Appeals districts or circuit court districts.

The municipal judges are also elected in April but candidates for these offices need not be attorneys to qualify. They are usually not full-time positions.

Judicial Agencies to Aid the Courts. The courts are aided in their functions by numerous state agencies.

The Supreme Court appoints a director of state courts, the state law librarian, the Board of Attorneys Professional Competence, the Board of Attorneys Professional Responsibility, and the Judicial Education Committee.

Other agencies forming a part of the judicial branch include the Judicial Commission, Judicial Council, the Judicial Conference, and the State Bar of Wisconsin.

Their shared primary concern is to improve the organization, operation, administration and procedures of the state judicial system. Other functional areas of some of these agencies relate to professional standards, judicial ethics, legal research and law reform.

The Court Process in Wisconsin. It should be remembered that there is both a state court system and a federal court system. The state courts adjudicate cases pertaining to state laws. A case may be brought in federal court only if it involves a substantial federal question.

Civil Cases. There are 2 types of cases handled by the courts — civil and criminal. Generally, civil actions involve individual rights. In a civil action, a person may seek a remedy for some wrong done to him. For example, if a person has been injured by another in an automobile accident, he may start a civil action to compel payment for his injuries.

In a typical civil case, an action is brought by a plaintiff against a defendant by the filing of a summons and a complaint with the court. The defendant is served with a copy of the summons and complaint. The summons directs the defendant to serve an answer upon the plaintiff's attorney. Various pretrial proceedings may be gone through, such as pleadings, motions, pretrial conferences and discovery, but if no settlement is reached, a trial ensues. If the parties consent, the trial may be conducted by the court without a jury. Trial by jury, however, is a right granted by both the state and federal constitutions and may be demanded by any person entitled thereto. In a civil case, the jury consists of 6 persons unless a greater number not to exceed 12 is requested. Five-sixths of the jurors must agree on the verdict. The court enters the judgment, which is the determination of the action. The judgment grants relief to the party in whose favor it is rendered.

A final judgment may usually be appealed from the circuit court to the Court of Appeals. A decision by that court is reviewable only upon a petition for review granted by the Supreme Court.

Criminal Cases. In Wisconsin, a crime is conduct prohibited by state law and punishable by fine or imprisonment or both. Crimes are of 2 types — misdemeanors and felonies. A felony is punishable by imprisonment in the state prison; all other crimes are misdemeanors. Usually, misdemeanors have a maximum sentence of one year or less. A crime is an offense against the state and action is brought by the state, not by the individual who might be the victim. A typical criminal action begins with the filing of a criminal complaint with a judge by the district attorney. The complaint states the essential facts constituting the offense charged. The defendant may or may not be arrested at that time. If the defendant has not yet been arrested, the judge may then issue a warrant or, for misdemeanors, a summons to a law enforcement officer to serve on an individual and make the arrest.

Once the defendant is in custody, he or she is taken before a judge and informed of the charges and the right to be represented by a lawyer. Bail may be set at or after this time. If the charge is for a misdemeanor, a trial date is set. If the charge is for a felony, a defendant has a right to a preliminary examination. If the defendant does not waive the preliminary examination, the judge transfers the action to a circuit court for a preliminary examination, which is a hearing before the court to determine probable cause. If probable cause is found at the preliminary examination, the person is bound over for trial.

The district attorney files an information with the court based on the preliminary examination. At this point, the arraignment takes place, at which the defendant enters his plea (guilty, not guilty, no contest, or not guilty by reason of mental disease or defect). Unlike the procedure in civil cases, criminal trials are tried by a jury of 12 unless the defendant waives a jury trial or there is agreement for a lesser number of jurors. Also, the verdict must be unanimous.

After the jury delivers its verdict, a judgment of conviction is entered upon a verdict of guilty and the court determines the sentence. The court may order a pre-sentence investigation before pronouncing sentence.

SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT DECISIONS OF THE SUPREME COURT AND COURT OF APPEALS OF WISCONSIN

October 1982 — September 1984

Bruce Feustel

LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE BUREAU

In Wisconsin, there are 2 appellate courts: the Court of Appeals and the Supreme Court. Appellate cases are heard by the Court of Appeals unless a case "bypasses" that court. There are no appeals to the Supreme Court as a matter of right, but a litigant may petition the Supreme Court to review a decision of the Court of Appeals.

The purpose of these summaries is to show some examples of the issues facing these appellate courts, especially cases in which the courts are breaking new ground, the litigants are representing important competing policy interests, the facts are unusual, the public is greatly affected by the outcome or there is a strong division of opinion among the justices or judges.

The following summaries of appellate decisions are not an attempt to provide a complete report of the precise findings for the cases listed. Rather, the summaries show the variety of issues and problems that the Wisconsin Court of Appeals and the Wisconsin Supreme Court have confronted.

CONSTITUTIONAL LAW

Journalist Privilege — Confidentiality of News Sources

When is a reporter or journalist justified in refusing to name his or her sources or informants? What is the procedure that should be used to determine if and how the journalist should make disclosures? The Supreme Court faced these questions in Green Bay Newspaper v. Circuit Court, 113 Wis. 2d 411 (1983).

In the summer of 1982, the Green Bay Press-Gazette included some news articles regarding an investigation of the death of David Moureau. After the investigation, murder charges were brought against 2 persons. In the course of pretrial motions in the criminal cases, the Circuit Court Judge ordered local news media to submit copies of news articles and transcripts of broadcasts to defendants' lawyers.

When the articles of the Green Bay Press-Gazette were reviewed, the judge subpoenaed the reporters at the request of one of the defendants. The reporters sought to quash (vacate) the subpoena because they had promised confidentiality to their sources and the reporters felt they were privileged to refuse to disclose the sources.

After further motions and hearings, the Circuit Court Judge ordered the reporters to name their sources. When they refused, the judge found them in contempt of court and imposed a $500 fine and a 30-day jail sentence.

The reporters appealed and, upon bypass of the Court of Appeals, the Supreme Court reviewed the case. Justice Day, writing for a unanimous court, noted initially that a journalist has a qualified, not an absolute, privilege to protect confidential sources.

The basis for the journalist privilege is found in Article I, section 3, of the Wisconsin Constitution which provides that:

"Every person may freely speak, write and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right, and no laws shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech or of the press."

The journalist privilege is qualified, however, because there are constitutional and societal reasons which favor disclosure. The right of the journalist to protect confidential sources must be balanced against the right of the criminal defendant to subpoena witnesses who can offer relevant evidence on his or her behalf.

The Supreme Court had never previously decided what the proper procedure was to balance these competing interests. Justice Day described the procedure as a series of steps. The journalist must first show that he or she is entitled to the qualified privilege: that the person is a journalist and that the information was given in confidence.

Next, if a subpoena is challenged, the criminal defendant must show a reasonable probability that the subpoenaed witness has relevant testimony to give which will be favorable to the criminal defendant's case. Additionally, the criminal defendant must investigate other sources for the type of information he or she seeks and show that no reasonable, but less intrusive, sources to get the information exist.

Once the criminal defendant meets the described requirements, a trial court should require an in camera hearing (a session before the judge but closed to the public and the other parties). The reporter must disclose the confidential sources to the judge. Before the judge informs the criminal defendant and the state, the judge must make a new determination that the sources can provide relevant material favorable to the defendant, and determine that the evidence is necessary for the defense. If the criteria are met, the judge should require disclosure of the sources to the defendant and the state.

In relating the facts of the Green Bay Newspaper case to the described procedure, the reporters had established their right to the qualified privilege. They were journalists and had promised their sources confidentiality. The criminal defendants, however, had not made a sufficient showing that the reporters' sources might be favorable to the defense. The contempt order was reversed and the Circuit Court was directed to quash the subpoenas.

Legislative Procedure — Separation of Powers

In State ex rel. La Follette v. Stitt, 114 Wis. 2d 358 (1983), the Wisconsin Attorney General brought an original action in the Supreme Court to determine whether the issuance of certain operating notes, pursuant to 1983 Wisconsin Act 3, constituted an unconstitutional creation of a public debt. One of the issues in the case was whether the Legislature was required to comply with procedures which the Legislature itself had enacted.

The respondents in Stitt argued that neither the Senate nor the Assembly had referred the bill to the Joint Committee on Debt Management, as required by Section 13.49 of the statutes. The respondents felt that this failure to comply with the proper procedure invalidated 1983 Wisconsin Act 3.

The right of the judiciary to review legislative acts has been recognized since Marbury v. Madison, 5 U.S. (1 Cranch) 137, 2L.Ed. 60 (1803). In Stitt, the Supreme Court noted the important considerations present whenever a court reviews matters within the legislature's control and discretion:

"[C]ourts generally consider that the legislature's adherence to the rules or statutes prescribing procedure is a matter entirely within legislative control and discretion, not subject to judicial review unless the legislative procedure is mandated by the constitution." (page 362, citation omitted)

Under the concept of separation of powers, the courts are reluctant to become involved in "purely legislative concerns." If a procedural rule is not constitutionally required, the Supreme Court will view the legislature's failure to follow its own rule as "an implied ad hoc repeal of such rules."

The respondents had noted one Wisconsin case where the Supreme Court had deviated from this general rule. The Supreme Court in Stitt determined that the earlier case had improperly deviated from the general principle and was unnecessary to the holding in that case. The Court expressly disavowed the implication that, absent a constitutional basis, it would invalidate legislation because the Legislature violated a procedural statutory provision in enacting legislation.

As the Court found no constitutional basis for the referral procedure, the Court therefore declined to determine if the Legislature improperly failed to refer the legislation to the Joint Committee on Debt Management. The opinion also went on to examine public debt and delegation of authority questions and held 1983 Wisconsin Act 3 to be constitutional.

School Attendance Law — Void for Vagueness

Wisconsin has a compulsory school attendance law which requires parents or others having control over a child (6 to 18 years of age) to cause the child to attend public or private school regularly. Failure to comply with the requirement can result in a fine, imprisonment or both.

The question raised by State v. Popanz, 112 Wis. 2d 166 (1983), was whether the phrase "private school" is clear enough so that people could understand and obey the law.

In Popanz, the defendant informed the district school administrator that his daughters, who had been in district public schools, would now be enrolled in the Free Thinker School. The defendant then attempted to have the school recognized as a "private school" for purposes of the compulsory school attendance law. There was some correspondence between the defendant and the administrator, but neither side requested that a visitation be made to determine if the Free Thinker School could be properly categorized as a private school.

The administrator and 2 principals requested the Iowa County District Attorney to prosecute the defendant for a violation of the compulsory school attendance law. The Circuit Court found the defendant guilty.

On appeal, the Supreme Court focused on the question of whether the compulsory school attendance law was void for vagueness. The Court noted that the principles of the void-for-vagueness doctrine:

"[S]tem from concepts of procedural due process. Due process requires that the law set forth fair notice of the conduct prohibited or required and proper standards for enforcement of the law and adjudication. Before a court can invalidate a statute on the grounds of vagueness, it must conclude that 'some ambiguity or uncertainty in the gross outlines of the duty imposed or conduct prohibited' appears in the statutes, 'such that one bent on obedience may not discern when the region of proscribed conduct is neared, or such that the trier of fact in ascertaining guilt or innocence is relegated to creating and applying its own standards of culpability rather than applying standards prescribed in the statute or rule.'" (pages 172 and 173, citations omitted)

The issue centered on whether the defendant had fair warning as to what "private school" meant. Neither the statutes nor the Wisconsin Administrative Code defined "private school." The Court could find no official definition or criteria on the subject. Further, the court found that there was no "well settled meaning in common parlance on the decisions of this court." The Court concluded that the term was vague and that the Legislature or its delegated agent should define "private school" so that citizens would not have to guess what the term meant.

The Legislature responded by enacting 1983 Wisconsin Act 512, which established criteria for defining private schools.

Unreasonable Searches — Emergency Doctrine

Both the U.S. Constitution and Wisconsin Constitution provide that people have protection against "unreasonable searches and seizures." In State v. Boggess, 115 Wis. 2d 443 (1983), the Supreme Court examined the validity of the warrantless search by a social worker and a police officer to determine the status of 2 children in a suspected child abuse case. The various opinions of the justices indicated strong disagreements about the proper resolution of this case and the issues it raised.

In Boggess, the defendant sought to have certain evidence suppressed at his trial, claiming that the evidence was obtained as a result of an unreasonable search and seizure. The Circuit Court did not suppress the evidence, and the defendant subsequently was convicted on 3 counts of child abuse. The Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment.

The Supreme Court affirmed the decision of the Court of Appeals by a vote of 6 to 1. Justice Bablitch wrote for the majority, Justice Day wrote a concurring opinion for himself and 2 others and Justice Abrahamson wrote a dissenting opinion.

Justice Bablitch, for the majority, stated the facts of the case. A social worker had received an anonymous call after work hours. The caller indicated that children may have been injured and gave some background information on Mr. Boggess and the children. The social worker then called the intake social worker for that evening, Joan Hammell. Hammell and a law enforcement officer then proceeded to the Boggess' residence. Boggess asked if they had a search warrant and Hammell informed him that they did not need one under the circumstances. Hammell then examined the children, noting assorted wounds and bruises, and she took both the children to the nearest hospital.

In reviewing the improper search question, Justice Bablitch noted first that the social worker and the officer needed a search warrant unless the search was justified under an exception to the warrant requirement. The Court of Appeals had determined that the search fit within the "emergency rule" exception. Under that exception, there is a 2-part test for validity:

"First, the search is invalid unless the searching officer is actually motivated by a perceived need to render aid or assistance. Second, ... until it can be found that a reasonable person under the circumstances would have thought an emergency existed, the search is invalid." (pages 450 and 451, citations omitted)

All parties agreed that the first part of the test had been satisfied. The remaining question in essence was: would a reasonable person believe an emergency existed? Bablitch thought that although the informant was anonymous, the detail of the call indicated that the information was based on personal observation. The caller indicated that he had witnessed bruises on one of the children. Further, the defendant corroborated some of the information before the search occurred. The Supreme Court held that a reasonable person would have believed that, under the totality of circumstances in this case, the immediate entry was necessary to aid the children.

Justice Abrahamson disagreed. She viewed the case as involving "a delicate balance of two cherished values: protecting our children and protecting the family from coercive intervention by government agents." In her analysis, the focus should be on whether the social worker made a mistake by not checking further regarding the anonymous report. Looking at the testimony, Abrahamson thought that the telephone caller did not "convey a sense of immediate need for aid or entry." In her view, there was an obvious basis for investigation but not a sufficient showing of emergency. Further, the anonymous nature of the call raised further questions as to the reliability. Noting a study which found that only 30 percent of anonymous child abuse reports were found to be valid, she expressed the need for officials to try to substantiate the trustworthiness of these anonymous reports. She suggested that guidelines were necessary to help professionals determine how to respond to child abuse reports.

The 3 concurring justices vehemently disagreed with the dissent. Justice Day wrote the concurring opinion. In his view, the dissent's approach made a mockery of the constitution. Justice Day went on to say:

"The dissent further tells us we 'value family autonomy and privacy and the sanctum of the home.' (Dissent, p. 462). But the house was not just the abuser's home, it was also the home of these two children and they had a right to the protection and help this social worker rightfully gave to them in this case. Far from being a 'sanctum,' the house had more the characteristics of a torture chamber for these unfortunate children. This house was hardly 'the source .... of physical and emotional security' to which the dissent alludes."

The concurring justices felt that the motion to suppress evidence had been properly denied. Also, they felt that the case could properly be determined in light of the "emergency doctrine"; therefore, the case did not demonstrate a need for guidelines.

Preferential Tax Treatment — Racial Discrimination

An organization which practices racial discrimination is ineligible for preferential tax treatment, regardless of whether the organization has a constitution and bylaws which do not exclude members because of their race. In State ex rel. Palleon v. Musolf, 117 Wis. 2d 469 (1984), the Court of Appeals found that the Independence Lodge has discriminated on the basis of race when acting upon membership applications.

The Wisconsin Department of Revenue is prohibited by the Fourteenth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution from granting state income or property tax exemptions to organizations which discriminate on the basis of race regarding the admission of members. In the Palleon case, a black applicant who had been rejected by the Lodge complained to the Department of Revenue. After conducting hearings on the matter, the department found that the lodge had "policies and practices which discriminate against the black race."

The facts indicated several bases for this determination: the lodge had approximately 580 white members and no black members in an area where 10% of the residents were black; testimony was received from one lodge member indicating that other members did not want to let blacks in; and the lodge's voting procedure for members used a secret one-vote-veto (blackball) method which was susceptible to the exclusion of blacks.

The Circuit Court reversed the department's order, deciding that the record did not support the department's findings. However, the Court of Appeals reversed the Circuit Court and affirmed the department's order. The Court of Appeals found that the department's determination was based on substantial evidence. As to the lack of direct evidence, the court noted that:

"Rarely, if ever, is racial discrimination subject to direct proof .... '[A]n invidious discriminatory purpose may often be inferred from the totality of the relevant facts ....'

"The method of voting was susceptible to exclusion of blacks. This, together with the other evidence in the case, provided substantial evidence for the determination reached by the Department of Revenue. Even though it was not demonstrated that those who has publicly announced their intention to vote against the applicant because of his race were present during the voting, or that there may be other reasons to explain the casting of the black cube, the department's determination was reasonable. This is so, regardless of the lodge's contention that racial discrimination is contrary to its precepts and is abhorrent to its philosophy." (pages 474 and 475, citations omitted)

CRIMINAL PROCEDURES

Citizens's Arrest — Police Authority Outside Their Jurisdiction

In State v. Slawek, 114 Wis. 2d 332 (1983), the main question involved the authority of Chicago police officers to make an arrest in Wisconsin. A trial court dismissed the criminal complaint because the officers had no authority to make an arrest in Wisconsin.

On review, the Court of Appeals described the facts. Six Chicago policemen followed the defendants' van in unmarked cars. The defendants went all the way to Lake Windsor, Wisconsin. In Lake Windsor, the officers watched one of the defendants enter a private residence and leave later with a shoulder bag. The officers stopped the van and arrested the defendants. The officers had tried to contact the local police but were unsuccessful until after the arrests were made.

Judge Dykman, writing for the Court of Appeals, stated the general rule that a police officer acting outside his or her jurisdiction does not have any official power to arrest. Wisconsin courts had recognized some exceptions to the general rule but had never faced the question of whether a police officer, acting outside of his or her jurisdiction, could validly make a citizen's arrest for felonies committed in his or her presence.

The Court of Appeals noted that numerous other states have upheld the right of a peace officer who lacked official arrest authority to make a valid citizen's arrest. Even though it did not want to encourage forays by out-of-state police officers, the Court of Appeals decided that the police should, when outside of their jurisdictions, have the same rights as citizens to make valid citizen's arrests.

Witnesses — Requiring Child Victim to Testify

The Supreme Court in State v. Gilbert, 109 Wis. 2d 501 (1982), had to balance the interests of justice and compassion to decide whether a court could quash a subpoena requiring a child victim to testify in a criminal case.

In Gilbert, the defendant was charged with 6 criminal offenses, including child abuse. The defendant's 10-year-old daughter was subpoenaed to testify at the preliminary examination. The child's guardian ad litem (attorney appointed to act on behalf of the child) moved to quash the subpoena because the girl could suffer emotional harm if she had to testify in her mother's presence. The Circuit Court held a hearing on the motion and concluded that testifying would probably cause her great damage. The Circuit Court ordered the subpoena quashed.

On appeal, Justice Abrahamson wrote the opinion for a unanimous Supreme Court. She noted that a fundamental tenet of our legal system is "that the public has a right to every person's evidence," except for certain recognized privileges. Witnesses generally have a duty to testify. However, Justice Abrahamson noted that the Court wanted to protect an alleged child abuse victim from being further victimized by the legal system. Keeping the competing interests in mind, the opinion reviewed the applicable legal arguments.

First, there was no constitutional, statutory or common law privilege which the child could use to claim exemption from the requirement to testify. The Court could find no precedent for completely excusing a witness from his or her duty to testify because of emotional harm. Justice Abrahamson noted that although there was an increase in governmental assistance to victims and witnesses in the criminal justice system, there was no proposal that children be excused altogether in criminal proceedings. Excusing the child from testifying might be advantageous at present, but in the long run it might block the conviction of her alleged abuser.

The Supreme Court held that the Circuit Court erred in quashing the subpoena. Rather, the Supreme Court suggested a number of possible steps to reduce the emotional strain of testifying. The Supreme Court did not prescribe guidelines or a set procedure, stating that:

"We believe that the attorneys and circuit judge closest to this proceeding are in the best position to attempt to devise a solution, keeping in mind BP's particular fear of facing her mother, to eliminate or minimize the burden on BP, to protect the constitutional rights of the accused, and to protect the public interest in the fair administration of justice and in bringing the accused to trial." (page 518)

Juries — Jury Deliberation

What materials may a juror bring with him or her into the jury room during deliberations? Also, given the need for secrecy during the jury deliberation process, what is the procedure to determine if one or more jurors have acted improperly?

The defendant in State v. Ott, 111 Wis. 2d 691 (1983), was convicted for causing injury by conduct regardless of life. The defendant sought postconviction relief because a juror had brought in a dictionary definition of the word "depraved." The trial court determined that the act did not show sufficient probable prejudice to require a new trial and denied the motion.

The defendant appealed. The Court of Appeals reversed the judgment and order and ordered a new trial. Chief Judge Decker first noted that the question of what constituted a "depraved mind" was of central importance in the case. The trial court gave the jurors a definition of "depraved mind." When the jury began deliberations, they were given a written copy of the jury instructions, including the "depraved mind" instruction. After deliberating for over 5 hours, the jury went home for the night and reassembled the following morning. On that following morning they reached a guilty verdict.

The defendant's appellate counsel learned that a juror may have brought in, on the following morning, a dictionary definition written on a card. The trial court allowed counsel to investigate the matter, subject to restrictions to not intrude on the "mental processes of the jurors."

On review, the Court of Appeals noted that Section 906.06 (2) of the statutes controls on questions of jury verdicts. The statute provides that generally the juror may not testify regarding matters occurring in the course of deliberations, except if there is extraneous prejudicial information given to the jury or if there is any improper outside influence.

The investigation indicated that 9 of the jurors remembered that a juror brought in a dictionary definition, 2 could not remember and one refused to talk about it. The exact definition which was brought in was not part of the record. The appellate attorneys noted a number of dictionary definitions concerning "depravity," and the Court of Appeals looked at others as well. The state argued that any error would not be prejudicial as the dictionary and jury instruction were actually equivalent. The court disagreed, concluding that the dictionary definition, which used terms like "perverted" or "corrupt," was broader than the written jury instruction. The court felt that the extraneous material was on a central issue of the case and that "the probable effect upon a hypothetical average jury would be prejudicial."

STATUTORY INTERPRETATION

Worker's Compensation — Horseplay

Should an employe be eligible for worker's compensation benefits if he or she is injured while engaged in horseplay? Although a common reaction might be that horseplay is clearly not part of the job, the determination of eligibility for benefits is not that simple.

The case of Bruns Volkswagen, Inc., v. DILHR, 110 Wis. 2d 319 (1982), illustrates the criteria a court uses to determine eligibility. In Bruns, the foreman and a mechanic started wrestling at the parts counter, and the foreman injured his knee. After an administrative hearing, the hearing examiner awarded benefits to the foreman. The Circuit Court affirmed the award. On appeal, the Court of Appeals noted that the employe, at the time of injury, must be "performing service growing out of and incidental to his employment." Judge Gartzke reviewed previous cases and applicable legal publications. The most important guidelines were those provided by Professor Larson in his edition of Law of Workmen's Compensation. Noting that the Wisconsin Supreme Court had previously relied on Professor Larson's views in a similar legal question, Gartzke reviewed Larson's conclusions on horseplay:

"Professor Larson concludes that minor acts of horseplay may be found to be insubstantial, and that whether particular horseplay is a deviation from the course of employment depends on:

"(1) the extent and seriousness of the deviation, (2) the completeness of that deviation (i.e., whether it was commingled with the performance of duty or involved an abandonment of duty), (3) the extent to which the practice or horseplay had become an accepted part of the employment, and (4) the extent to which the nature of the employment may be expected to include some such horseplay." (pages 324 and 325)

In reviewing the facts of the present case, Gartzke noted that "the wrestling was of short duration, impulsive, and occurred during a natural lull in service for the worker." Further, this type of horseplay was common at the shop and had gone undisciplined. The Court of Appeals affirmed the judgment of the Circuit Court upholding the award of benefits.

Plain Meaning — First Class City

A court can confuse attorneys when it issues 2 opinions on the same subject which appear to conflict with each other. This is especially true when a court issues 2 apparently conflicting opinions on the same day.

In City of Madison v. Town of Fitchburg, 112 Wis. 2d 224 (1983), the statute in question provided that to be eligible for a special incorporation procedure, a town "must be adjacent to a city of the first class." The outcome of the case depended upon the interpretation of what the quoted phrase meant.

The majority opinion of the Supreme Court examined the applicable statutory provision and determined that Madison, the adjacent city in this case, was not a city of the first class. However, the majority felt that:

"Although Madison technically does not have first-class status, it does not follow ipso facto that Fitchburg has failed to satisfy the requirements of sec. 60.81, Stats. This court has consistently stated that the spirit or intention of a statute should govern over the literal or technical meaning of the language used." (page 326, citations omitted)

The opinion went on to determine that the statute was a legislative solution to the special problems of populous towns that are adjacent to large cities. Thus, in this case, it was the size of the city of Madison that was important, not the issue of whether it had gone through the classification procedures to become a city of the first class.

There were 2 dissenting opinions. Justice Heffernan bluntly stated that "the majority's conclusion defies the expressed will of the legislature and a common sense understanding of the English language."

Justice Abrahamson described the potential problems in greater detail. The analysis of statutory construction ignored the "plain meaning rule." Under this rule, a court will look beyond the plain meaning of a statute only "when the literal language of the statute is ambiguous, thwarts the manifest purpose of the statute, or leads to an absurd, unreasonable, or unjust result." (page 242, citations omitted)

In Fitchburg, Justice Abrahamson noted, the majority opinion made none of these findings before looking beyond the plain meaning of the phrase "city of the first class." The failure to follow the procedure was made all the more confusing by the opinion in State Historical Society v. Maple Bluff, 112 Wis. 2d 246 (1984). In that case, decided the same day as Fitchburg, the unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court stated that:

"On any question of statutory construction, the initial inquiry is to the plain meaning of the statute. If the statute is unambiguous, resort to judicial rules of interpretation and construction is not permitted, and the words of the statute must be given their obvious and intended meaning." (pages 252 and 253, citations omitted)

Environmental Impact Statements — Major State Action

Wisconsin has had a series of major appellate decisions concerning the environment. In Wisconsin's Environmental Decade v. DNR, 115 Wis. 2d 381 (1983), the justices split 4 to 3 on whether the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) erred by not preparing an environment impact statement (EIS) for a proposed shopping mall between Appleton and Grand Chute. The case actually consisted of several separate lawsuits. At the circuit court level, all the judgments upheld DNR's decision not to prepare an EIS.

On review, Justice Steinmetz, writing for the 4 majority justices, noted at the start that the Supreme Court was not to decide the merits of placing a mall near the town of Grand Chute. The applicable statute (Sec. 1.11 (2) (c), Stats.) requires that an agency must "include in every recommendation or report on proposals for legislation and other major actions significantly affecting the quality of the human environment, a detailed statement...." The key question was whether the DNR erred in deciding this mall project was not a major action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment.

Steinmetz noted that the DNR had contacted 80 people outside the agency who provided information, data or opinions and had reviewed close to 30 research sources. The DNR concluded that the anticipated physical and biological environmental effects would be minor. The majority found that the DNR's investigation showed reasonable judgment and good faith. Under the standards from previous decisions, they found no obligation to complete an EIS.

The majority turned next to the question of socioeconomic injuries. The majority held that under prior state and federal case law, "in the absence of significant impacts upon the natural environment, socioeconomic impacts do not trigger the EIS requirement." The majority upheld the lower court decisions denying requests for a contested case hearing on the no-EIS decision by DNR.

Justice Bablitch wrote for the 3 dissenting justices. He agreed with the majority that a sufficient record had been developed by DNR, but disagreed with the assessment of the direct and indirect effects of the mall on the physical environment. The DNR report noted the mall would consume approximately 60,000 gallons of water per day and discharge approximately 60,000 gallons of sanitary waste per day and, under a worst case estimate, vehicles in the area would discharge about 1,000 tons of carbon monoxide each year. Also, the DNR had noted that further housing and commercial development was likely in the area, adding to even greater carbon monoxide emissions. The dissenters felt these facts, standing alone, were enough to satisfy the criteria of "major state action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment" and they would have held that an EIS must be prepared.

Evidence — Prior Sexual Conduct of Sexual Assault Victim

The case of State v. Gavigan, 111 Wis. 2d 150 (1983), provides a good example of the interaction between the legislative and judicial branches of government. It further shows that a Supreme Court ruling is often not the final resolution of a problem. The ruling may actually trigger the Legislature to further action.

Gavigan involved a second-degree sexual assault case in Milwaukee. The prosecution indicated that it would introduce evidence to show that the victim was a virgin. The defendant objected on the grounds that the applicable legislative enactment on the subject limited admission of prior sexual conduct evidence to 3 situations:

"If the defendant is accused of a crime under s. 940.225 [Stats.], any evidence concerning the complaining witness's prior sexual conduct or opinions of the witness's prior sexual conduct and reputation as to prior sexual conduct shall not be admitted into evidence during the course of the hearing or trial, nor shall any reference to such conduct be made in the presence of the jury, except the following, subject to s. 971.31 (11) [Stats.]:

- “1. Evidence of the complaining witness’s past conduct with the defendant.
- “2. Evidence of specific instances of sexual conduct showing the source or origin of semen, pregnancy or disease, for use in determining the degree of sexual assault or the extent of injury suffered.
- “3. Evidence of prior untruthful allegations of sexual assault made by the complaining witness.” (pages 156 and 157)

The majority opinion of the Supreme Court found that this “rape shield law” did not preclude admission of a complainant’s prior conduct for a different purpose. They fashioned a 3-part test: the evidence had to prove a relevant fact independent of the complainant’s prior sexual conduct; the value of the evidence must outweigh the prejudicial effect; and the evidence must clearly be admitted for a limited purpose. The Supreme Court went on to reverse the decision of the Court of Appeals.

Justice Heffernan wrote for the 3 dissenting justices. He felt that the Legislature had provided express language in the rape shield law and that the majority had ignored the Legislature’s will. Heffernan felt the majority created a “judicial fabrication” that would defeat the purposes of the rape shield law.

The Legislature agreed with the minority opinion. In 1983 Wisconsin Act 449, enacted in response to the Gavigan decision, the Legislature specified that the admission of prior sexual conduct of the complaining witness is limited to the statutory exceptions, regardless of the purpose of the admission.

CIVIL LIABILITY

Discovery Rule — Statute of Limitations for Personal Injury Actions

Lawsuits must be started within a certain amount of time or they are barred. Generally, a statute of limitations describes how soon after the dispute arises that the plaintiff must bring the lawsuit.

In Hansen v. A.H. Robins, 113 Wis. 2d 550 (1983), the United States Court of Appeals certified the following issue to the Wisconsin Supreme Court for determination:

“When does the cause of action accrue within the meaning of the Wisconsin statute of limitations for personal injury actions, Wis. Stat. secs. 893.04, .54, when the injury to the plaintiff was caused by a disease which may have been contracted as a result of protracted exposure to a foreign substance?” (page 552, citation omitted)

In Hansen, a doctor had inserted an intrauterine device (IUD) in a woman’s uterus. Complications developed and the doctor later removed the IUD and concluded she had pelvic inflammatory disease (PID). Although she recovered from the disease, she was rendered sterile. She later sued the manufacturer and seller (Robins) of the IUD. Robins claimed that the suit had not been started within the 3-year period applicable for personal injury lawsuits.

The IUD had been inserted May 28, 1974. The woman began to have problems in late May 1978 and sought medical attention periodically thereafter. On June 26, 1978, she had the IUD taken out, and the diagnosis of PID was then made. She started the lawsuit on June 24, 1981. The question of whether she brought the lawsuit within the 3-year time period, therefore, depended upon when the cause of the action or lawsuit accrued.

The Supreme Court noted that there are 3 basic times at which a tort claim may be said to arise: when the negligence occurs, when the injury is sustained or when the injury is discovered. Generally tort claims have been held to accrue on the date of the injury. This rule governed most cases, but it could lead to harsh results. If discovery of the injury followed the occurrence of the injury by more than 3 years, the statute of limitations barred the lawsuit. The Court noted that this inequity could be remedied by adoption of the “discovery rule.” Under the rule, the claim does not accrue until the date it is or should have been discovered.

The Supreme Court previously had decided not to adopt the discovery rule, noting that it was a policy question best left for the legislature. Indeed, the Legislature adopted a limited discovery rule for medical malpractice actions, but had not extended the rule to other tort claims.

The Supreme Court noted that there was a balancing of public policy values: the need for prompt adjudication of claims with the desire to allow claimants, who have acted as quickly as humanly possible, to obtain a remedy for their injuries. The Court found that, on balance, public policy would be better served by adoption of the discovery rule. The idea that the time limit could run before the person could reasonably discover the injury seemed to be grossly unfair. Further, the Court noted that defendants were protected by the inclusion language to cover the situation where the claimant "reasonably should have known" about the injury. The discovery rule would not benefit claimants who purposely fail to file a claim in time.

Citing both the interest of justice and fundamental fairness, the Supreme Court adopted the discovery rule for tort actions not already covered by statute. In the present case, the Court found the woman patient could not have discovered the actual injury any earlier than June 26, 1978, when a doctor diagnosed the condition as PID. She could not have been expected to discover her injury any sooner.

Liability for Sale of Liquor — Injuries to Third Parties

If a person sells liquor to a patron and that patron later injures a third party, should the seller be liable to the injured party? Under the common law, dispensers of liquor had no liability to a third party injured by intoxicated patrons. There have been a number of challenges to this exemption in Wisconsin and other states. In a unanimous decision in Sorenson v. Jarvis, 119 Wis. 2d 627 (1984), the Supreme Court recognized an exception to this common law rule.

The Sorenson case actually consisted of several cases consolidated for appeal. They involved civil lawsuits by third parties who had been injured by intoxicated minors. The complaints in these cases against the retail liquor sellers had been dismissed by a trial judge based on the common law exemption of liability.

On review, the Supreme Court noted that it was not bound by common law. The common law rules may be revised to meet the needs of society. The basis for upholding the exemption had changed over a period of years, but as recently as 1979 the Supreme Court had indicated that the furnisher of liquor should still have an exemption from liability, citing 6 reasons:

"(1) That the problem of intoxication was a social, not a legal, problem and, hence, was a matter to be dealt with by the legislature; (2) that to hold a purveyor of spirits liable would be to impose liability upon a liquor industry that was declared to be legitimate and respectable; (3) that the chain between breach of duty and the injury will rarely be clear and, thus, 'hard' cases would be the rule; (4) that, once a negligence basis for liability is accepted, there could be no logical point to cut off risk of responsibility, i.e., if a negligent vendor for profit is liable, why not a negligent social host; (5) that this new rule of liability would create additional burdens on the courts; and (6) that allowing a vendor to be liable would erode the responsibility heretofore placed upon the drinker and would thus diminish a sense of responsibility for one's own conduct." (page 642)

The court, citing earlier dissenting opinions, countered each of those policy arguments. The court did not completely abrogate the exemption from liability, but it did hold that:

"[W]here there is sufficient proof at trial, a vendor who negligently supplies intoxicating beverages to a minor and the intoxicants so furnished cause the minor to be intoxicated or cause the minor's driving ability to be impaired shall be liable to third persons in the proportion that the negligence in selling the beverage was a substantial factor in causing the accident or injuries as determined under the rules of comparative negligence." (page 646, footnote omitted)

The Supreme Court dealt with the question of whether to make the holding apply only to future sales of liquor. This would have had the advantage of giving liquor sellers time to obtain necessary liability insurance. Further, the common law rule had withstood challenge for many years. However, the Court noted that there was a nationwide trend to abrogate the rule and, further, that liquor sales to minors are illegal and subject to criminal sanctions. The Court chose a compromise of sorts. The new holding retroactively applied to the parties in the Sorenson case but applied generally to liquor sales to minors occurring on or after September 1, 1984. The judgments dismissing the complaints were dismissed and the cases were remanded to the Circuit Court.

SUPREME COURT

Chief Justice: NATHAN S. HEFFERNAN

Justices: ROLAND B. DAY

SHIRLEY S. ABRAHAMSON

WILLIAM G. CALLOW

DONALD W. STEINMETZ

LOUIS J. CECI

WILLIAM A. BABLITCH

Director of State Courts: J. DENIS MORAN, 266-6828.

Clerk: MARILYN L. GRAVES, 266-1880.

Court Commissioners: GREGORY POKRASS, JAMES W. RECTOR, JR., JOSEPH M. WILSON, 266-7442; WILLIAM MANN, 266-6708.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 1688, Madison 53701-1688; location: Room 231 East, State Capitol.

Telephone: (608) 266-1880.

Number of Positions: 38.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $3,418,300.

Statutory Reference: Article VII, Section 2 et seq., Wisconsin Constitution; Chapter 751, Statutes.

Organization: The Supreme Court consists of 7 justices. Justices are elected for 10-year terms at the nonpartisan April election. Only one justice may be elected at each such election, so that some Supreme Court vacancies are filled by appointment for several years until there is an open April election date at which a full-term successor can be chosen by the people. The term of office begins in August following the April election. Any 4 justices constitute a quorum for the conduct of the court's business.

The justice with the greatest seniority on the court serves as chief justice unless he or she declines the position, in which event the justice with the next greatest seniority serves as chief justice.

The courtroom and offices of the court are located in the State Capitol. The justices' salaries are fixed by statute. The current annual salary for the chief justice is $75,500 and for the other 6 justices it is $68,000.

The Supreme Court is in session for oral arguments each month from September through June. The court hears matters during July and August upon call of the chief justice.

The court's staff includes the director of state courts, who assists the court in its administrative function; 4 commissioners, who assist the court in its judicial function; a clerk, who keeps the court's records; and a marshal. Each justice has a private secretary and a law examiner.

Functions: Under the Constitution the Supreme Court has original jurisdiction in certain cases of statewide concern and discretionary appellate jurisdiction in all other cases. It is the final authority on the State Constitution and the highest judicial tribunal for any action begun in the state courts, except when a federal question, allowing an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court, is raised. The court in its discretion hears cases on appeal from the Court of Appeals, cases permitted to bypass the Court of Appeals, and cases certified to it by the Court of Appeals. No testimony is taken; the cases are decided on the basis of printed briefs and, in some cases, on oral argument. The need for oral arguments by counsel is determined by the court. The court takes up cases in the order briefs are filed. Criminal cases are given preference. All cases are prescreened to determine which need oral arguments. Both oral argument cases and "on briefs only" cases are placed on a calendar which is heard every 4 weeks. Decisions are in writing and are published in the Wisconsin Reports and in the North Western Reporter. During calendar year 1983, 224 matters were pending from 1982, 947 new matters were filed and 941 matters were terminated. At the beginning of calendar year 1984, 230 matters were pending before the court.

The Constitution also provides that the Supreme Court has superintending and administrative authority over all courts in the state. The chief justice is the administrative head of the state judicial system. Such administrative authority is exercised pursuant to procedures adopted by the Supreme Court.

The Supreme Court appoints the Board of Attorneys Professional Competence, the Board of Attorneys Professional Responsibility, and the state law librarian. It licenses attorneys to practice law and, after a hearing, may disbar attorneys for cause. Since 1929, it has promulgated rules of pleading, practice, and procedure for all courts in the state. The Judicial Council acts in an advisory capacity in matters of pleading, practice and procedure and proposes rule changes to the court.

The chief justice, acting through the director of state courts, keeps informed of the status of judicial business in the courts of the state and designates and assigns circuit judges and reserve judges to serve temporarily in other circuit courts: 1) when a calendar is congested; 2) when a judge is on vacation, disqualified, or unable to act; or 3) when a vacancy in the office occurs.

Number of Employees: 55.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $5,011,300.

Statutory Reference: Section 758.19; Supreme Court Rule 70.01.

History: The position of director of state courts was created by the Rule of Judicial Administration promulgated by the Supreme Court and issued under order dated October 30, 1978, and a further order dated February 19, 1979, pursuant to the administrative power vested in the Supreme Court under Article VII of the Wisconsin Constitution. This position replaced that of administrative director of courts, which was created by Chapter 261, Laws of 1961, as Section 758.19 of the statutes.

WISCONSIN COURT SYSTEM

JUDICIAL BRANCH: SUPREME COURT

COURT SYSTEM

Organization: The director of state courts is appointed by , and serves at the pleasure of, the Supreme Court. At the direction of the chief justice, the director administers the nonjudicial business of the court system through the appointed chief judges and staff. The director is a member of the Judicial Council and the Wisconsin Council on Criminal Justice.

Functions: The director of state courts keeps the chief justice and the Supreme Court informed of the status of judicial business in the state courts and assists in their administration. The specific functions of the director, as set out by Supreme Court Rule, are: supervision of state level court personnel; development and supervision of the budget for the court system; legislative liaison and public information; development and maintenance of the court information system; judicial education; interdistrict assignment of active and reserve judges; development and supervision of judicial planning and research; advisor to the Supreme Court on matters relating to improvements within the system; control over fiscal matters, space allocation and equipment; collection, compilation and utilization of judicial system statistics; supervision of the Law Library and the Supreme Court clerk; administration of the patients compensation panels under Chapter 655; and the performance of such other duties as the Supreme Court may, from time to time, direct.

STATE LAW LIBRARY

State Law Librarian: MARCIA J. KOSLOV.

Reader Services (reference, circulation, government documents): DENNIS AUSTIN, JANE COLWIN, CHERYL O'CONNOR.

Technical Services: ELAINE SHARP, JULIE TESSMER.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 7881, Madison 53707; location: Room 310 East, State Capitol.

Telephone: (608) 266-1424 (office); (608) 266-1600 (reader services).

Number of Employees: 6.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $679,100.

Statutory Reference: Section 758.01; Supreme Court Rule 82.01.

Organization: The State Law Library is administered by the Supreme Court, which appoints the librarian and the library staff and promulgates and enforces rules governing the use of the library.

Functions: The library is a public library, but its main service is as the legal resource center for the Wisconsin Supreme Court, the Department of Justice, the Legislature, the Office of the Governor and the various executive agencies, and members of the Wisconsin Bar.

Reference and basic research services are provided and photocopying facilities are available at a nominal cost. Through a circulation policy instituted in 1976, much of the collection is now available on an overnight or 5-day basis. The Wisconsin materials are generally noncirculating. Circulation is open to judges, attorneys, legislators and state agency personnel.

Holdings: The State Law Library collection consists of approximately 135,000 bound volumes, 3,500 reels of microfilm, and 80,000 microfiche. The holdings include:

1. Session laws and statutory codes, court reports, administrative rules, legal indexes and digests for the federal government and the 50 states and territories.
2. Legal and bar periodicals — 950 titles, of which 520 are current.
3. Legal treatise and looseleaf collection, legal encyclopedias, and general legal reference materials.
4. Government documents collection, including U.S. Statutes at Large, U.S. Code, Congressional Record, Federal Register, Code of Federal Regulations, U.S. Congressional bills, reports and hearings and various federal agency reports and administrative decisions.
5. Appeal papers including cases, briefs, and appendices for almost all Wisconsin Supreme Court cases and for the Wisconsin Court of Appeals.

JUDICIAL COMMITTEES AND BOARDS

Board of Attorneys Professional Competence

Members: PAUL MORROW, chairperson; DANIEL O. BERNSTINE, vice chairperson; KATHRYN R. ANDERSON, JOHN W. DANIELS, JR., H. STEPHAN HALLOWAY, MICHAEL K. MCCHRYSAL, ROBERT B.L. MURPHY, SHARREN B. ROSE, JUANITA S. SORENSON.

Director: ERICA MOESER, 266-9760.

Mailing Address: 119 Monona Avenue, Suite 405, Madison 53703.

Number of Employees: 4.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $278,800.

Reference: Supreme Court Rules 30, 31 and 40.

History: The Board of Continuing Legal Education, created on November 21, 1975, by rule of the Supreme Court, became the Board of Attorneys Professional Competence on January 1, 1978.

Organization: The board consists of 9 members appointed by the Supreme Court for 3-year terms. Five members of the board must be members of the State Bar and 4 members must be selected from the judiciary of the state, the faculty of the law schools of the state, and the public.

Functions: The board implements and enforces the rules of continuing legal education for attorneys, administers the state bar examination, and processes all requests for admission to the State Bar on foreign license and readmission.

Board of Attorneys Professional Responsibility

Members: GEORGE K. STEIL, SR. chairperson; IRVIN B. CHARNE, vice chairperson; EDWARD E. HALES, PATRICIA M. HEIM, BARRY S. LIBMAN, CAROLINE SANDIN, WERNER J. SCHAEFER, JOHN E. SHANNON, JR., SALLY WELLMAN.

Administrator: GERALD C. STERNBERG.

Deputy Administrator: ELSA P. GREENE.

Deputy Administrator, Milwaukee Office: RANDALL N. ARNOLD.

Mailing Address: Room 406, 110 E. Main St., Madison 53703; Room 301, 210 E. Michigan St., Milwaukee 53202.

Telephone: Madison (608) 267-7274; Milwaukee (414) 224-4623.

Number of Employees: 13.50.

Total Budget 1983-85: $1,104,300.

Reference: Supreme Court Rule 21.01.

History: The Board of Attorneys Professional Responsibility was created on January 1, 1977, by order of the Wisconsin Supreme Court and assumed the attorney disciplinary function of the former Board of State Bar Commissioners on January 1, 1978.

Organization: The board consists of 9 members appointed by the Supreme Court. Six members are attorneys, and 3 are lay persons. The board is assisted in its duties by the professional responsibility administrator and staff.

Agency Responsibility: Upon request of the Supreme Court or the Board of Attorneys Professional Competence, the board investigates the moral character of a person seeking admission to the Wisconsin Bar. The board makes findings and recommendations to the Supreme Court on a petition for reinstatement of a lawyer's license to practice. The board investigates complaints of attorney misconduct and takes disciplinary action ranging from private reprimand to the filing of a formal complaint with the Supreme Court. The board also investigates and files petitions with the court for cases involving an attorney's medical incapacity.

Judicial Conference

Statutory Reference: Section 758.17; Supreme Court Rule 70.15.

The Judicial Conference is made up of the justices of the Supreme Court, the judges of the Court of Appeals, judges of the circuit courts, reserve judges and 3 municipal judges representing the municipal courts. It meets at least once a year at a place and time designated by a joint meeting of its Executive Committee and the Judicial Education Committee.

The functions of the conference are to consider the business of the administration of justice and problems pertaining thereto and to make recommendations for its improvement, to conduct educational programs at its annual meeting to assist its members in performing their judicial duties, to provide for committees to study particular subjects relating to the administration of justice; and to adopt forms necessary for the administration of proceedings under Chapters 48, 851 to 882 of the statutes.

The sections, established by the conference at its organizational meeting in September 1979, are: Family and Children's Law, Probate and Mental Health, Appellate Practice and Procedures, Civil Law, and Criminal Law and Traffic. The Judicial Conference also maintains a Standing Committee on Legislation.

Judicial Education Committee

Members: CHIEF JUSTICE NATHAN S. HEFFERNAN, chairperson; THOMAS H. BARLAND, MICHAEL W. BRENNAN, R. THOMAS CANE, PATRICIA S. CURLEY, KENT C. HOUCK, P. CHARLES JONES, LEAH M. LAMPONE, J. RICHARD LONG, PATRICK L. SNYDER; J. DENIS MORAN (director of state courts), FRANK C. DEGUIRE (dean, Marquette University Law School), CLIFF F. THOMPSON (dean, University of Wisconsin Law School).

Director of Judicial Education: V. KNOPPKE-WETZEL.

Mailing Address: Room 510, 110 East Main Street, Madison 53703.

Telephone: (608) 266-7807.

Reference: Supreme Court Rule 32.01.

The Supreme Court Judicial Education Committee approves educational programs conducted or recommended by the director of judicial education for all court personnel.

In 1976 the Wisconsin Supreme Court, after holding a public hearing, issued an order establishing a mandatory program of continuing education for the Wisconsin judiciary, SCR Chapter 32. This rule, effective January 1, 1977, and as amended November 25, 1980, applies to all Supreme Court justices and commissioners, Court of Appeals judges and staff attorneys, circuit court judges, and reserve judges. To comply with SCR Chapter 32, each person subject to the rule must obtain a designated number of hours of continuing education within a period of 6 years. The Judicial Education Committee also sponsors educational programs, conducted by the director of judicial education, for clerks of circuit court and municipal judges.

JUDICIAL COMMISSION

Members: WILLIAM R. MOSER (Appeals Court judge), MARK J. FARNUM (circuit court judge), RICHARD C. NINNEMAN, GORDON SINYKIN (attorneys); JOEL B. GROSSMAN, ELIZABETH G. KING, BERNETTA KILPATRICK LINGREN, JUDITH S. MCCASLIN, BEATRICE PTACEK (public members).

Executive Director: ELENA A. CAPPELLA.

Administrative Assistant: EDITH P. WILIMOVSKY.

Mailing Address: Room 203 Tenney Building, 110 East Main Street, Madison 53703.

Telephone: (608) 266-7637.

Number of Employees: 2.25.

Total Budget 1983-85: $265,200.

Statutory Reference: Section 757.83.

History: By Supreme Court rules effective January 1, 1972, the court created a 9-member Judicial Commission to implement its Code of Judicial Ethics adopted in November 1967, which enumerated 16 standards of personal and official conduct for justices and judges, and 16 rules, the disobedience of which warranted sanctions. Rule 17 was adopted in 1974, effective in 1975, making the commission the repository for financial reports of judges and other members of the court personnel. In December 1979, the Supreme Court clarified and numbered the provisions of the Code of Judicial Ethics for uniformity and convenience in Supreme Court Rules Chapter 60 as SCR 60.001 to 60.19. Under the provisions of SCR 60.18 (1), the commission is no longer the repository for the financial reports of judges and other court personnel.

In April 1977, the Wisconsin Constitution was amended to give the Supreme Court power to reprimand, censure, suspend, or remove any justice or judge for cause or disability under legislative enactment.

Under Sections 757.81 to 757.99 of the Wisconsin Statutes, created by Chapter 449, Laws of 1977, a new Judicial Commission was created as an independent agency, which is not subject to the administrative supervision of the Supreme Court. The court then abolished its own commission which it had previously created.

The new Judicial Commission operates under the statutory definitions of misconduct and disability. Its jurisdiction includes enforcement of the Code of Judicial Ethics adopted by the Supreme Court.

Consistent with the statutory requirement of confidentiality, the Judicial Commission issued an annual report for 1984 and will continue to issue such reports.

Organization: The commission is comprised of 9 members serving 3-year terms with a limit of not more than 2 consecutive full terms: 5 lay persons appointed by the governor with the advice and consent of the Senate; one trial judge of a court of record, one Court of Appeals judge, and 2 members of the State Bar of Wisconsin who are not judges, appointed by the Supreme Court.

Agency Responsibility: The commission is mandated by statute to investigate any possible misconduct or permanent disability of a judge or justice. If the commission finds probable cause that a judge has engaged in misconduct or is permanently disabled, it files a formal complaint or petition with the Supreme Court, at which point all subsequent proceedings become public. The commission then prosecutes the complaint or petition before a Court of Appeals judge and jury or before a panel of 3 judges, 2 from the Court of Appeals.

After the hearing, the panel submits its findings of fact, conclusions of law, and recommended disposition to the Supreme Court. After a jury trial, the presiding judge files the jury verdict with the court, together with recommendations for appropriate action. The Supreme Court then makes the final determination with respect to what action is to be taken as to discipline or disability of the judge involved.

JUDICIAL COUNCIL

Members: WALTER J. DICKEY (designee of dean, University of Wisconsin Law School), chairperson; LEON E. SHEEHAN (representing State Bar), vice chairperson; JUSTICE SHIRLEY S. ABRAHAMSON (representing Supreme Court); JUDGE RICHARD S. BROWN (representing Court of Appeals); JUDGE MICHAEL J. BARRON, JUDGE PETER PAPPAS, JUDGE THOMAS S. WILLIAMS, vacancy (representing Judicial Conference); SENATOR LYNN S. ADELMAN (chairperson, Senate Judiciary and Consumer Affairs Committee), REPRESENTATIVE JAMES A. RUTKOWSKI (chairperson, Assembly Judiciary Committee), JAMES D. JEFFRIES (designee of Attorney General), EVA M. SOEKA (designee of dean, Marquette University Law School), ORLAN L. PRESTEGARD (revisor of statutes), DONALD L. HEANEY (president-elect, State Bar), J. DENIS MORAN (director of state courts), RICHARD J. PHELPS (State Public Defender); JAMES A. DRILL, ERNEST O. HANSON (representing State Bar); JUDY D. HEBBE, GORDON MYSE (public members).

Executive Secretary: JAMES L. FULLIN, JR.

Mailing Address: Room 777 Anchor Building, 25 West Main Street, Madison 53702.

Telephone: (608) 266-1319.

Number of Employees: 2.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $197,600.

Statutory Reference: Section 758.13.

History: The Judicial Council was created by Chapter 392, Laws of 1951. It succeeded to the functions of the Advisory Committee on Rules of Pleading, Practice and Procedure, created by Chapter 404, Laws of 1929. Chapter 247, Laws of 1967, provided for the administrator of courts or his deputy or assistant to serve as executive secretary of the council. This was changed, however, by Chapter 154, Laws of 1969, which increased the membership of the council by including the administrator of courts, but removed the provision making him executive secretary. Chapter 187, Laws of 1977, increased the council membership by adding a Court of Appeals judge. A Supreme Court order of October 30, 1978, replaced the administrator of courts with the director of state courts. 1983 Wisconsin Act 377 increased the council membership to 20 by adding the state public defender.

Organization: The council appoints the executive secretary outside the classified service. The council membership includes a Supreme Court justice selected by the Supreme Court, a Court of Appeals judge selected by the Court of Appeals, and 4 circuit court judges selected by the Judicial Conference. The 9 ex officio members or their designees are: the attorney general, the state public defender, the chairpersons of the Senate Judiciary and Consumer Affairs Committee and of the Assembly Judiciary Committee, the director of state courts, the revisor of statutes, the deans of the Wisconsin and Marquette Law Schools, and the president-elect of the State Bar of Wisconsin. The council membership also includes 2 citizen members appointed by the governor and 3 members elected by the State Bar, all of whom serve 3-year terms. The council meets monthly except in July and August. The various committees of the council meet regularly and are composed of council and ad hoc members.

JUDICIAL COUNCIL

JUDICIAL COUNCIL

Functions:

1. Study the rules of pleading, practice and procedure, and advise the Supreme Court as to changes which will simplify procedure and promote a speedy determination of litigation.
2. Survey and study the organization, jurisdiction and methods of administration and operation of all the courts of this state.
3. Recommend to the legislature any changes in procedure, jurisdiction or organization of the courts which can be put into effect by legislative action only.
4. Assist in preparing Supreme Court rules in proper form for biennial publication.
5. Advise the Supreme Court and legislature on any matter affecting the administration of justice in Wisconsin.

History: On June 22, 1956, the Supreme Court ordered organization of the State Bar of Wisconsin, effective January 1, 1957. This organization acquired the facilities, records, property, and staff of the former Wisconsin Bar Association, a voluntary association organized in 1877.

Organization: Subject to rules prescribed by the Supreme Court, the State Bar is governed by a Board of Governors, consisting of the officers, 33 members selected by the members of the State Bar from the 16 districts of the state, and the president of the Young Lawyers Division, Non-Resident Lawyers Division and Government Lawyers Division. Three nonlawyers appointed by the Supreme Court have floor privileges with vote. The Board of Governors selects the executive director and the chairman of the board.

The State Bar consists of all attorneys and judges entitled to practice before the state courts. Attorneys are admitted to the bar by the full court or by a single justice of the Supreme Court. As of September 1984, there were over 13,750 members of the State Bar. Once admitted, members of the bar are subject to the rules of ethical conduct prescribed by the Supreme Court, whether they practice before a court, administrative body or in consultation with clients not involving court appearances.

STATE BAR DISTRICTS
as promulgated in 1972

The Wisconsin Bar Foundation, a nonprofit corporation, is a charitable, educational and research foundation of the State Bar, serving as an adjunct of that organization, and providing public law education.

Functions of the Bar:

1. Work toward raising professional standards, improving the administration of justice, and furnishing continuing legal education to lawyers through its advanced training seminars division.
2. To carry on a continuing program of legal research in the technical fields of substantive law, practice and procedure, and make reports and recommendations thereon.
3. To promote the innovation, development and improvement of ways to deliver legal services to the people of Wisconsin in adequate quantity, of superior quality, and at reasonable cost.

COURT OF APPEALS

Clerk of Court of Appeals: MARILYN L. GRAVES.

Chief Staff Attorney: EARL HAZELTINE.

Telephone: (608) 266-1880.

Number of Positions: 58.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $5,182,700.

Statutory Reference: Art. VII, Wisconsin Constitution, Chapter 752, Statutes.

History: The Court of Appeals was created by a constitutional amendment ratified by the electorate on April 5, 1977. Chapter 187, Laws of 1977, implemented the amendment.

Organization: The Court of Appeals consists of 12 judges. The court is divided into 4 districts, with 3 judges elected from each district. Judges are elected for 6-year terms at the nonpartisan April election. Only one judge may be elected in a district in any year. The term of office begins on August 1 next succeeding each election and terminates on July 31. The Supreme Court appoints a Court of Appeals judge to be chief judge of the Court of Appeals for a 3-year term. The chief judge is the administrative head of the entire court.

The court sits in panels of 3 judges to dispose of cases on their merits except for certain categories of cases that can be disposed of by one judge.

The judges' salaries are fixed by statute. The current annual salary is $64,000.

The clerk of the Supreme Court is also the clerk of the Court of Appeals. The court's staff includes 8 staff attorneys and an administrative assistant for each district, one of whom is a member of the clerk's staff. Each judge has a private secretary and a law examiner.

Functions: The Court of Appeals has appellate jurisdiction, supervisory jurisdiction and original jurisdiction to issue prerogative writs. Final judgments and orders of a circuit court may be appealed as a matter of right to the Court of Appeals. A judgment or order not appealable as of right may be appealed to the Court of Appeals upon leave granted by the court. The Supreme Court may review the final decisions of the Court of Appeals.

No testimony is taken in the Court of Appeals. The court disposes of cases brought to it on appeal on the record made in the trial court, with printed briefs. The need for oral arguments by counsel is determined by the court. The court takes up cases in the order in which the appeals are filed. When possible and without undue delay in civil cases, criminal cases are given preference. All cases are prescreened to determine which need oral arguments. Both oral argument cases and on briefs only cases are placed on a regularly issued calendar. Decisions are in writing. A publication committee of the court determines which of the court's decisions will be published in the Wisconsin Reports and in the North Western Reporter.

COURT OF APPEALS DISTRICTS

The calendar year 1984 began with 1,471 cases carried over from 1983. During the 1984 calendar year 2,484 new cases were filed and 2,432 cases were terminated. There were 1,535 cases pending at the end of the calendar year 1984.

CIRCUIT COURTS

State Funded Positions: 401.00.

Total Budget 1983-85: $41,740,900.

Statutory Reference: Article VII, Section 2, 6-9, Wisconsin Constitution, Chapter 753, Statutes.

The circuit court is the trial court of general jurisdiction under the state Constitution. Pursuant to Chapter 449, Laws of 1977, the jurisdiction, powers, duties, functions and compensation of county courts and judges were made identical to that of circuit courts and judges.

Every county is a circuit except that Pepin and Buffalo Counties comprise one circuit, Menominee and Shawano Counties comprise one circuit, and Forest and Florence Counties comprise one circuit. Thus, there are 69 judicial circuits. Where judicial business is heavy, a single circuit may have several branches of court with a judge presiding in each branch. There are presently 32 multibranch circuits. As of August 1, 1985, there are 197 authorized circuit judgeships.

Circuit judges are elected on a nonpartisan basis for a 6-year term at the April election, and are paid by the state a salary of $60,000. Salaries for court reporters are paid for entirely by the state. Travel expenses for both the judges and court reporters are paid by the state. Most other expenses for operating the circuit courts are borne by the respective counties.

The circuit court has original jurisdiction in civil and criminal matters unless exclusive jurisdiction is given to another court. Administrative reviews of state administrative agency decisions and orders are heard in the circuit court. Appeals from municipal courts are to the circuit court, and appeals from the circuit court are to the Court of Appeals, unless otherwise provided by law.

Statutory Reference: Section 757.60 et seq; Supreme Court Rule 70.17 et seq.

The state is divided into 10 judicial administrative districts for the purpose of administering the court system. Each district includes all the circuit courts within the district and has a designated chief judge appointed by the Supreme Court.

The chief judge is the administrative chief of the judicial administrative district and performs his or her duties with the assistance of an administrator. He or she has the power to assign judges and manage caseload throughout the district and to supervise personnel and financial planning in the district. The chief judge exercises the full administrative power of the judicial branch subject to the administrative control of the Supreme Court. Failure to comply with an order of the chief judge is grounds for discipline under Secs. 757.81 to 757.99; SCR 70.20 et seq. The chief judge serves a 2-year term commencing on August 1 of the year of appointment and cannot serve more than 3 successive terms of office. A deputy chief judge is selected by the chief judge to assist with the administrative duties. Where a multi-judge trial court is subdivided into functional multi-judge units, the chief judge may select a division presiding judge to serve as the administrative head of a particular multi-judge unit. The presiding judge administers the subdivision in accordance with the policies established by the chief judge.

The chief judge is also responsible for transferring cases between municipal judges in his or her district where a substitution, disqualification, illness, or vacancy of a municipal judge is involved. If no municipal judge is available, cases are transferred to the circuit court.

COURT COMMISSIONERS

Statutory Reference: Sections 757.68 et seq., 767.13, 48.065.

Court commissioners must be attorneys licensed to practice in Wisconsin. They may be appointed on a full- or part-time basis depending on the population of the county. In counties having a population of 100,000 or more, the county board may establish one or more full-time court commissioners. The chief judge appoints, supervises, and may remove court commissioners. At least one full-time court commissioner must be created by the county board in Milwaukee County to administer small claims cases. In counties having a population of 100,000 to 500,000 the county board may create one or more full or part-time court commissioners to administer such procedure. Part-time court commissioners may be appointed by circuit judges in each county. All such appointments are subject to the approval of the majority of the circuit judges in the county.

The powers and duties of court commissioners were substantially expanded by Chapter 323, Laws of 1977. With the approval of the chief judge, a judge may authorize a court commissioner to issue summonses and arrest warrants, conduct uncontested probate proceedings, conduct initial appearances and set bail in criminal matters, conduct initial appearances, receive noncontested forfeiture pleas and impose monetary penalties in traffic cases, conduct initial return appearances and conciliation conferences in small claims type actions and hear petitions for commitment under the mental health act. Under their own authority, they may perform marriages and transfer any matter to a court if it appears justice would be better served by the transfer. Every judge has the powers and duties of a court commissioner.

In each county under 500,000 population, the circuit judges may also appoint a family court commissioner, subject to the approval of the chief judge of the administrative district. In Milwaukee County the chief judge appoints the family court commissioner. Family court commissioners have the powers of court commissioners.

The board of supervisors of any county may authorize the chief judge to appoint one or more part- or full-time juvenile court commissioners who have been licensed to practice law at least 2 years prior to appointment. A juvenile court commissioner may issue summonses, conduct hearings under Sec. 48.21, appearances under Sec. 48.243 (3), plea hearings and proceedings under Sec. 48.125, if authorized by the judge assigned juvenile jurisdiction.

In counties having a population of 500,000 or more, the chief judge shall appoint and may remove a probate court commissioner under Secs. 63.01 to 63.17. In counties of 100,000 to 500,000 population the county board may create the office of probate court commissioner. The chief judge shall appoint and remove, if cause is proven, the probate court commissioner. Probate court commissioners have the powers of court commissioners.

MUNICIPAL COURTS

Statutory Reference: Article VII, Section 2 and 14, Wisconsin Constitution; Chapters 755 and 800, Statutes.

The governing bodies of cities, villages and towns are by statute authorized to establish municipal courts. The municipal judge is elected for a 2-year to 4-year term, as determined by the municipality, beginning on May 1. The salary is fixed by the local governing body. There is no requirement that the office be filled by a lawyer. There are approximately 210 municipal courts in Wisconsin.

The municipal court is not a court of record. These courts have exclusive jurisdiction over offenses against ordinances of the town, village or city where legal relief only is sought. If equitable relief is demanded, the action must be brought in a court of record. Jurisdiction is limited to the violation of ordinances enacted by the municipality which created the municipal court. A municipal court may render judgment by ordering payment of a forfeiture plus court costs. Appeals from municipal court are to the circuit court for the county where the offense occurred.

If a municipal judge is substituted, disqualified, ill or unavailable, the transfer of the case to another municipal judge or, if none is available, to the circuit court is handled by the chief judge of the judicial administrative district in which the municipality lies.

Preamble.

WE, the people of WISCONSIN, grateful to Almighty God for our freedom, in order to secure its blessings, form a more perfect government, insure domestic tranquility, and promote the general welfare, do establish this CONSTITUTION.

Article I.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

Section 1. ALL men are born equally free and independent and have certain inherent rights, among them, namely, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness: to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Section 2. There shall be neither slavery, nor involuntary servitude, in this State, otherwise than for the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted.

Section 3. Every person may freely speak, write and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that right, and no law shall be passed to restrain or abridge the liberty of speech, or of the press. In all criminal prosecutions, or indictments for libel, the truth may be given in evidence, and if it shall appear to the jury that the matter charged as libelous be true, and was published with good motives and for justifiable ends, the party shall be acquitted: and the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the fact.

Section 4. The right of the people peaceably to assemble, to consult for the common good, and to petition the government or any department thereof, shall never be abridged.

Section 5. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate, and shall extend to all cases at law, without regard to the amount in controversy; but a jury trial may be waived by the parties in all cases, in the manner prescribed by law.

Section 6. Testimony shall not be required, nor shall excessive fines be imposed, nor cruel and unusual

HIGHLIGHTS OF AGRICULTURE IN WISCONSIN

Farm Production — Wisconsin continues to lead the nation in the production of a number of agricultural products, particularly dairy items. In 1983, Wisconsin ranked first in the production of milk, butter and cheese. Wisconsin also ranked among the leaders in producing buttermilk, whey, lactose and nonfat and sweetened skim milk. In crop production, Wisconsin ranked first among the 50 states in snap beans, beets for canning, cabbage for kraut, hay, green peas for processing, and corn for processing and silage. The state also led the nation in 1983 in producing mink and milk cows.

Cash Receipts and Income — Wisconsin total net farm income decreased again in 1983, continuing a decline which began in 1980. The 1983 total of just over $972 million represented a decrease of $163 million from 1982, and over $460 million from 1979. Cash receipts registered a slight drop from 1982 to 1983, reflecting a drop in crop production. However, cash receipts have shown an overall increase from 1976 to 1982, although net income gains have been limited by higher farm production expenses and changes in farm inventories.

Total cash receipts for Wisconsin farm products marketed in 1983 totaled over $5.3 billion, an increase of 24 percent from 1979, but only a 2 percent increase over 1982. In 1983, California led the nation with over $13 billion, while Wisconsin ranked eighth. Livestock and livestock production contributed over 78 percent of Wisconsin's cash receipts from farm marketings, with crops accounting for 22 percent. Dairy products, primarily milk, are the largest single source of income, amounting to 57 percent of all cash receipts. The state's per farm totals of $67,746 gross income and $12,756 net income placed it below the national average of $68,839 gross income, but above the $11,747 net income average. Wisconsin ranked 18th nationally in gross income per farm; Arizona led the nation with an average income of $226,628 per farm.

The index of prices received for farm products increased slightly from January 1983 to January 1984. During the same time, the index of prices paid by farmers advanced by about 6 percent. From 1980 through 1983, the index of prices received remained virtually the same, while the index of prices paid increased from 145 to 162 percent of the 1977 benchmark level.

Number and Size of Farms — From 1977 to 1982, there was a decrease of 306,080 farms nationally, with a corresponding loss of 36,473,000 acres of farmland. In 1982, Texas has the most farms, 185,000, and the most land in farms, 138,400,000 acres, of any state. Wisconsin ranked ninth in 1982 with 92,000 farms and 18,500,000 acres of farmland.

The decline in farm numbers and land in farms continued at approximately the same rate in 1984 as in previous years. As of January 1, 1984, the number of farms in Wisconsin was 86,000, a decline of 2,000 from 1983. Farm numbers peaked in 1935 at 200,000 but have consistently declined since then and are now at the lowest level since the late 1860s. Land in farms totaled 18 million acres on January 1, 1984, a decrease of 200,000 acres from 1983. As the number of farms in Wisconsin has declined, the average size of a Wisconsin farm has increased from a low of 113 acres in 1925 to a high of 209 acres in 1984.

Of the 90,000 farms in Wisconsin in 1983, the largest number were located in Marathon and Dane Counties. Marathon County had 3,550 farms, 230 fewer than 1978, and Dane County had 3,430 farms, reflecting a loss of 190 farms from 1978. Grant County had 691,300 acres in farmland in 1983, the most of any county. The average size farm in Oneida County in 1983 was 333.8 acres, the largest of any county; while Milwaukee County farms, averaging 82.2 acres, were the smallest.

Value of Farms and Farmland — Land and buildings on Wisconsin farms were valued at over $17.4 billion in 1984, a decrease of over $1.1 billion from 1983 and over $3 billion less than the peak total of $20.5 billion reached in 1981. The value of land and buildings per farm averaged $202,700 in 1984, a decrease of $8,100 from 1983 and $20,700 less than the average value in 1981.

The average price for agricultural land sold in Wisconsin during 1982 was $1,190 per acre. This represents a 1.3 percent decrease from the $1,206 average per acre for land sold in 1981. Land continuing in agricultural use averaged $1,182 per acre in 1982 while agricultural land diverted to other uses sold for an average of $1,299 per acre.

Farm Assets and Debts — Wisconsin farms had total assets of $29.3 billion in 1984 and a total debt of $7.5 billion, resulting in a debt-to-asset ratio of 25.6 percent. Texas led the nation in total farm assets with almost $108 billion, while California's total of $17.5 billion in farm debt was the highest among the 50 states.

Farm Workers and Wage Rates — There were 170,000 workers on Wisconsin farms in 1984, including 124,000 family workers and 46,000 hired workers. The total number of workers declined by 13,000 from 1983 and by 26,000 from 1974.

The hourly wage rate for Wisconsin farm workers was $3.16 in 1984, an increase of 6 cents over 1983. The 1984 Wisconsin hourly wage was one dollar less than the national average wage rate of $4.16. Prior to 1974, the Wisconsin hourly wage exceeded the national average; since 1974 the state wage rate has been less than the national rate.

Farm Ownership — In 1982, the number of Wisconsin farms operated by full owners totaled 48,529. Part owners numbered 26,617, while 7,053 farms were operated by tenants. Despite the trend toward corporate ownership of farms apparent in recent years, the majority of farms in Wisconsin are still operated by individuals or families. There were 70,842 farms operated by families or individuals in 1982, 8,937 operated by partnerships, and 2,041 operated by corporations. Only 152 farms that were organized as corporations were operated by nonfamily organizations.

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information on agriculture.

HIGHLIGHTS OF COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY IN WISCONSIN

Manufacturing — Value added by manufacturing in Wisconsin totaled $21.3 billion in 1980, an increase of $2.5 billion over 1978. The industry groups with the highest total value added in 1980 were machinery (except electrical) with $5.2 billion, food and kindred products with $2.9 billion, and paper and allied products with $2.3 billion.

In 1980, Wisconsin ranked 12th among the states in value added by manufacture. Nationally, value added by manufacturing totalled $773.4 billion in 1980, an increase of $116 billion over 1978. California, with $80.4 billion, and New York, with $58.1 billion, led the nation in this category as they had in preceding years.

Energy Consumption — In 1983, Wisconsin's total energy use per capita was 245 millions of BTU. This represents a decrease in energy consumption of one million BTU from 1982, and 37 million BTU from 1978. During this same period, Wisconsin's energy consumption has been less than the national per capita rate, averaging 10 to 14 percent under the national average. Energy derived from coal and nuclear power exceeded the U.S. per capita average, while Wisconsin consumption of petroleum, natural gas and hydro resources was less than the national average.

Of the petroleum consumed in Wisconsin in 1984, the largest amount, 297.1 trillions of BTU, was used for transportation. Residential use consumed 50.7 trillions of BTU, followed by agricultural use with 28.0 trillions of BTU. Wisconsin use of petroleum has declined each year since 1978; the 1983 total of 406.5 trillions of BTU is 123 trillions of BTU less than the amount used in 1978.

Financial Institutions — The number of banks in Wisconsin decreased from 646 in 1981 to 611 in 1983. The number of total offices, including branches, also decreased during this period. The 1,133 total offices in 1983 were 64 less than 1981.

Deposits in Wisconsin banks reached a record of $25.7 billion in 1983. Although the number of FDIC-insured commercial banks decreased by 19 from 1982 to 1983, total deposits increased by over $3 billion.

Milwaukee County, the state's largest in population, has the greatest number of banks--a total of 49 main offices and 98 total offices. The county with the next highest total, Dane, has 40 banks and 72 total offices.

At the end of 1984, Wisconsin's 84 state and federal savings and loan associations had a total of $12.7 billion in assets. Milwaukee County has the largest number of savings and loan associations with 26, followed by Waukesha County with 6. Forty-eight counties have no savings and loan association main offices, although all but 2 counties have one or more branch offices.

There were 63 state-chartered savings and loan associations in Wisconsin with total assets of over $12.7 billion and a cumulative net worth of over $709 million. Although the number of associations has decreased since 1960, total assets and net worth have increased annually.

Corporations — During the 1984 fiscal year, 8,066 articles of incorporation were filed by domestic corporations and 1,162 foreign corporations were licensed. Total fees collected by the state amounted to over $2.8 million. Both totals represent an increase over prior years.

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information on commerce and industry.

HIGHLIGHTS OF CONSERVATION AND RECREATION IN WISCONSIN

Recreation — Over 14 thousand lakes, 2 thousand trout streams, 5 thousand campsites, and 6.1 million acres of hunting land contribute to the recreational facilities of Wisconsin. As a result, over 69 million fish and 3 million game of various kinds are taken each year, over 425 thousand boats are registered, 118 thousand annual and 444 thousand daily park admission stickers and tags are sold, and over 900 thousand hunting licenses and tags and a million fishing licenses are issued.

Wisconsin has 48 state parks, 9 state forests, 9 state trails, and 3 recreation areas. The parks range in size from Devil's Lake with 7,719 acres to Lizard Mound with 31 acres. The largest single state recreational facility is the Northern Highlands American Legion Forest with 218,781 acres. A more recent addition to the state recreational facilities program has been the state's growing trails system. Nine trails presently total 4,276 acres; 270 miles of trails are presently usable for hiking, biking, and snowmobiling.

Over 8.8 million people visited Wisconsin's state parks in 1983 or — to put it another way — 2.4 million cars brought visitors to the parks. Utilization of the state forests and trails also increased, with over 4.4 million people visiting the forests and over 159,000 people using the trails.

Land Acquisition — Over 130 thousand acres have been acquired at a cost of over $67 million in support of various natural resources functions since the 1974-75 fiscal year.

Wisconsin's Outdoor Recreation Act Program, better known as ORAP, was created in 1969. Although ORAP funds have been used for many recreational purposes, including fish and wildlife management, youth conservation camps, and the Olympic Ice Rink, the largest expenditures of ORAP funds since 1969 have been made for water pollution abatement aids — $144.4 million — and for state parks — $67.7 million. The water pollution abatement aids account for almost half of the total expenditures made in the ORAP program to date. From 1969 to 1984, $331.8 million has been spent on the total ORAP program.

Water Pollution — A water pollution control program has been in operation in Wisconsin since the 1949-50 fiscal year. The total amount of funds expended on water pollution in this state has steadily increased from $66 thousand in 1950 to over $9 million in 1984.

In 1978, pollution abatement efforts were marked by the passage of the law creating the Wisconsin Fund. This multi-faceted law established new state assistance programs for local governments in point source (replacing ORAP 2000) and nonpoint water pollution abatement and solid waste site planning. In 1983-84, $92.7 million was appropriated.

Air Pollution — In the area of air pollution, over $28.8 million has been spent in the past 14 years, with $3.6 million of that amount spent in the 1983-84 fiscal year. The federal government has contributed nearly 50 percent of the program's total cost.

Solid Waste — Under its solid waste program the state spent $2.8 million in fiscal 1983-84 and a total of $16.9 million since the 1969-70 fiscal year. Although funding was a joint enterprise of both the federal and state governments, the state has funded approximately 75 percent of the program's cost.

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information on conservation and recreation.

HIGHLIGHTS OF EDUCATION IN WISCONSIN

Universities and Colleges — Over 162 thousand students are enrolled in the University of Wisconsin System. The enrollment continues to increase.

Enrollment at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, the system's largest campus, has increased over each previous fall enrollment. Between 1979-80 and 1984-85, enrollment increased by 3,985 students or 12 percent.

The system's summer school enrollment reached a peak of 55.7 thousand in 1983, but declined to 54.0 thousand in 1984. A summer session enrollment range of 52,000 to 55,000 plus has been the norm over the past 5 years.

The UW-Extension enrollment over the past 6 years peaked at 227 thousand in 1979-80, but decreased to 181 thousand in 1983-84.

Wisconsin's private college enrollment has remained stable over the past 5 years, with a mean of about 33,581 students enrolled per year. The figures also reflect the undergraduate orientation of the state's private colleges, with 84 percent of the students enrolled as undergraduates in 1984-85.

Vocational, Technical and Adult Education — Wisconsin's vocational, technical and adult education system had a total opening fall enrollment in the 1984 school year of 73.9 thousand. Individual institute enrollments ranged from 21,356 at Milwaukee Area Technical College to 815 at Southwest Wisconsin Technical Institute.

Elementary and Secondary Schools — Since 1971-72, when the enrollment peaked at almost one million, enrollment in the public schools has declined to a 1984-85 figure of 767.5 thousand. The greatest decline in enrollment has occurred in the early school grades, particularly kindergarten through sixth grade, but the decline is now reflected in the higher grades.

Over 153.7 thousand students are enrolled in private schools as of the opening of the 1984-85 school year. Excepting 1976-77, there has been a 10-year trend of declining enrollments. Kindergarten enrollment, however, has been increasing.

School Districts — Wisconsin has 432 school districts. Since the peak year of 1937-38 with over 7,000 districts, there has been a decrease of 94.6 percent. The decrease in the number of elementary school districts is primarily responsible for this change. In contrast, districts operating high schools have remained relatively stable. 85.9 percent are common school districts, and 11.6 percent are unified school districts. The number of school districts per county varies from one each in Adams, Florence and Menominee to 20 in Waukesha and Walworth Counties.

Teachers — Of Wisconsin's 54.5 thousand public school teachers, 35 thousand hold the Bachelor of Arts degree, while an additional 18.9 thousand, approximately 33 percent, hold advanced degrees. Most holding advanced degrees are either in secondary education or in an administrative or supervisory position.

Approximately 96.1 percent of the public school teachers in Wisconsin are in a $15,000 and over salary range. The average is $22,811.

Educational Expenditures — Expenditures for public education in Wisconsin in the 1983-84 school year totaled $4.2 billion, or $874 per capita. The preponderance of public funds are spent on the public schools, with the University of Wisconsin System ranking next.

Wisconsin ranks 12th in the nation in total expenditures for education, 9th in higher education expenditures, and 12th in state aid to local government for education. While the state ranks 11th in per capita education expenditures, it ranks 25th nationally in personal income.

Educational Attainment — In 1980-81 Wisconsin ranked 12th among the states in doctoral degrees conferred, 13th in high school diplomas and 15th in bachelor's degrees earned. California ranked first in the doctoral degrees and high school diplomas categories, and New York ranked first in bachelor's degrees.

Minimum High School Graduation Requirements — In an attempt to improve the quality of education, the majority of states have established minimum high school graduation course requirements. The total number of state-mandated minimum credits range from 13 in California to 24 credits in Florida, Missouri (college preparatory) and Utah. Wisconsin requires 13-1/2 credits but suggests that districts require 22. Missouri, Texas and the District of Columbia have 2 requirements for high school graduation and college preparatory certification.

Public School Student Dropouts — In Wisconsin, public school student dropouts ranged in 1983-84 from 6 or a rate of 1.7% in Iron County to 3,218 or a rate of 7.4% in Milwaukee County.

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information on education.

<sup>2</sup>"Guest Students" are students who enroll for courses on an audit only basis, at a reduced enrollment fee. "University Specials" are included in the enrollment reports. These are students in a program that will allow individuals to take courses without need to qualify as degree candidates. While these students are different from the college specials, who are associated with a particular school or college, the two are grouped together for computational purposes.

<sup>3</sup>Closed at the end of the 1980-81 academic year by Chapter 20, Section 2053 (2), Laws of 1981.

HIGHLIGHTS OF EMPLOYMENT AND INCOME IN WISCONSIN

Labor Force — In 1984 Wisconsin's civilian labor force totaled 2,394,000 workers, 31,000 less than 1983. During the year, the labor force fluctuated by 23,000 workers, ranging from a high of 2,445,400 available workers in January to a low of 2,422,300 available workers in August. The employment high for the year occurred in November with 2,254,000 employed; the least number of workers, 2,231,400, were employed in March. Unemployment was highest in January — 203,600 (about 8.3 percent of the work force) — and lowest in August — 175,300 (7.2 percent of the work force).

In the 7-year period from 1978 to 1984, the labor force increased by about 84,000 workers, employment increased by 27,000 workers, and unemployment increased from 5.1 percent of the work force in 1978 to 7.4 percent of the work force in 1984. During this period, unemployment ranged from a low of 4.5 percent in 1979 to a high of 10.7 percent in 1982.

Employment by Industry — Total employment in nonagricultural establishments reached 90,138,000 nationally in 1983. In Wisconsin, 1,849,000 workers were employed in 1983, with the majority employed in manufacturing establishments. The East North Central region, of which Wisconsin is a part, led the nation in nonagricultural employment with 15,627,000 employes.

In 1982, the number of workers employed in manufacturing industries in Wisconsin totaled 504,002. This was a decrease of 23,436 from 1981 and 29,000 from 1977. As in previous years, the largest number of employes was in machinery industries, followed by food products and fabricated metal products.

Of 8,192 Wisconsin manufacturing establishments in 1982, 6,408 employ fewer than 50 employes. There are 185 manufacturing establishments employing 500 or more workers; 2,128 manufacturing establishments have from 1 to 4 employes, constituting the most common employe size group. The machinery manufacturing industry, the state's largest industry group, has the most number of establishments — 1,524 — with 364 of those establishments employing from 1 to 4 employes.

Income by Industry — Total labor and proprietors' income in Wisconsin was $37.6 billion in 1983. Manufacturing provided the most income, over $12 billion, followed by service industries with $6.5 billion. Farming provided $1.3 billion in earnings and $5.7 billion was earned from government-related jobs. Manufacturing industries provided 32 percent of Wisconsin's total earned income. Fifteen percent of the state's total income was earned in services, followed by government with 15.2 percent and retail trade with 9.2 percent.

The total $37.6 billion earned income in Wisconsin placed Wisconsin 16th among the 50 states. California, with $238.5 billion in earned income, and New York with $169 billion, ranked first and second, respectively.

Personal Income — Personal income in Wisconsin in 1983 totaled $53,935 million. Per capita income was $11,332 compared to the U.S. average of $11,658. Since 1974, Alaska has been the jurisdiction with the highest per capita income, while Mississippi has remained last in this category.

The average adjusted per capita gross income in Wisconsin in 1983 increased by $195 over the 1982 total of $7,407. Adjusted per capita income includes only income taxed by the State of Wisconsin and excludes transfer payments, retirement benefits and other tax-exempt income. The two counties with the highest adjusted per capita income in 1983 were Ozaukee and Waukesha with $11,363 and $10,524, respectively. Menominee County, with a per capita income of $965, and Iron County, with a per capita income of $4,017, had the lowest totals.

Wisconsin's total adjusted gross income (total income reported for state tax purposes) in 1983 was $36,319,443,373, an increase of more than one billion dollars over 1982. Milwaukee County had the highest adjusted gross income in 1983 with a total of $8,054,401,400. Menominee County, the least populated county in the state, had $3,484,715 in gross income, the lowest total of the 72 counties.

Unemployment Benefits — In 1982, 4,061,000 unemployed workers throughout the nation received unemployment insurance benefits during an average week. This represented 3.9 percent of all workers covered by unemployment insurance, and was an increase over the 3.5 percent of eligible workers receiving benefits during an average week in 1981. In Wisconsin, an average of 107,000 workers, or 5.9 percent of those eligible, received weekly benefits in 1982 compared to the 1981 weekly averages of 87,000 and 4.7 percent. The 1982 average weekly benefit paid in Wisconsin was $137, compared to the national average of $119. Wisconsin ranked 8th, along with 4 other states, in average benefits paid per week; the highest average weekly benefit, $154, was paid by Michigan.

HIGHLIGHTS OF GEOGRAPHY IN WISCONSIN

Land and Water Area — The State of Wisconsin has a gross acreage of 35.9 million acres. Almost 34.8 million acres are in land and 1.1 million acres are in water. The water area is slightly more than 3 percent of Wisconsin's total surface area, excluding the Mississippi River and the Great Lakes. The largest county in area is Marathon with over one million acres, the smallest is Ozaukee with 151,152 acres. Winnebago County has the largest water area — 164,224 acres — of which over 137 thousand acres comprise Lake Winnebago; while Calumet County has only 414 acres of water, the smallest amount.

Lakes — The largest lake in Wisconsin is Lake Winnebago with 137,708 acres. The deepest lake is Big Green Lake with a depth of 236 feet. The 30 largest lakes tend to be concentrated in the northern two-thirds of the state and include artificial bodies of water created by dams.

Altitude — Wisconsin is not a state with high mountains. The highest points in the state are less than 2 thousand feet in altitude. The four highest elevations are Timms Hill, Pearson Hill, Sugarbush Hill, and Rib Mountain. The highest points in the state tend to be concentrated in the north central portion of the state.

Temperature — In 1983 the annual average temperature in the state varied from 41.8 degrees Fahrenheit in the north central region to 47.1 degrees in the southeastern part of the state. The annual average temperature for the state was 44.8 degrees. For the years 1973-1983, the coldest year was 1979 and the warmest year was 1973.

Precipitation — In 1983, the total annual rainfall in the state varied from a high of 35.77 inches in the west central area to a low of 31.79 inches in the south central part of Wisconsin. The annual average precipitation for the state was 34.34 inches. The driest year in the 1973-1983 period was 1976, the wettest year was 1982.

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information on geography.

HIGHLIGHTS OF HISTORY IN WISCONSIN

History — On May 29, 1848, Wisconsin became the 30th state in the American Union, but the state's history stretches more than 200 years before that date to the diverse Indian tribes which called the area home. In 1634, Frenchman Jean Nicolet was the first European to visit Wisconsin. The French ceded the area to Great Britain in 1763. It became part of the U.S. in 1783. The area was part of various territories until creation of the Wisconsin Territory in 1836.

Since statehood, the state has been a wheat farming area, a lumbering frontier, and — most recently — the preeminent dairy state. Industry has concentrated in the eastern and southeastern part of the state.

Politically, the state has enjoyed a reputation for honest, efficient government. It is known as the birthplace of the Republican Party and as the home of Robert M. La Follette, Sr., leader of the nation's progressive movement.

Political Balance — After being primarily a one-party state for most of its existence, with the Republican and Progressive Parties dominating for portions of the first half of this century, Wisconsin has become a competitive state. Democrats have controlled some offices and some areas of the state, while Republicans control other areas. The state legislature has been controlled by Democrats since 1975, but the margin of control in the Assembly in 1985 is the lowest since Democrats took control of that house in 1971.

Over the last 30 years, control of the governorship has switched back and forth between the 2 parties with Democrats currently holding the office. In the last 50 years, Wisconsin's 2 main urban areas have provided over half of the state's constitutional officers. During this period, 4 women have served as constitutional officers: 2 as secretary of state, and one each as state treasurer and superintendent of public instruction.

National Office — Republican presidential candidates have tended to receive more support in Wisconsin in recent years. Only Democrats Lyndon Johnson and Jimmy Carter have received a majority of Wisconsin's votes in the last 28 years.

Wisconsin voters have tended to return their U.S. senators to office for long periods of time. Five senators in this century have served 3 terms or more, topped by incumbent William Proxmire's 28 years. After 18 years of Democratic control each party now controls one Senate seat.

Three current members of the U.S. House of Representatives from Wisconsin have been in office for 10 years or more. 5 Democrats and 4 Republicans now represent the state. The Republican majority of the 1940s and '50s was replaced by a Democratic majority, which reached its height in the 94th and 95th Congresses. Certain districts have always been dominated by particular parties in spite of the overall evenness of the party split. For example the 4th and 5th Districts have been dominated by Democratic representatives, whereas the 6th District has been predominately Republican.

Turnout — Turnout in gubernatorial elections can change by as much as a half million votes from election to election. There is no strong trend in any direction. Even adding 18-year olds to the electorate has not had a great impact. The first election after they became eligible to vote in 1974 saw only 1.2 million votes cast, the second lowest total in the last 10 elections. In presidential elections, on the other hand, there has been a substantial increase in turnout. The 1960 presidential vote was only slightly higher than that year's record gubernatorial vote of 1.7 million. Despite a small decrease from the 1980 record presidential turnout, over 2.2 million people voted for president in 1984.

Supreme Court — Although justices of the Wisconsin Supreme Court are elected officials, it has frequently happened that justices first come to the court by way of gubernatorial appointment to fill a vacancy. Subsequently they run for election. Among the current 7 justices, 4 came to the court by the appointment route. The first woman justice was appointed in 1976 and elected in 1979.

SIGNIFICANT EVENTS IN WISCONSIN HISTORY

Under The Flag of France

Although American Indians lived in the area of present day Wisconsin for several thousand years before the arrival of the French — numbering about 20,000 when the French arrived — the written history of the state began with the accounts of French explorers. The French explored the state, named places and established trading posts, but left relatively little mark on it. They were interested in the fur trade rather than agricultural settlement and were never present in large numbers.

- 1634 — Jean Nicolet: First white man to reach Wisconsin. Sought Northwest Passage.
- 1654-59 — Radisson and Groseilliers: First of the fur traders in Wisconsin.
- 1661 — Father Rene Menard: First missionary to Wisconsin Indians.
- 1665 — Father Claude Allouez. Mission at La Pointe.
- 1666 — Nicholas Perrot opened fur trade with Wisconsin Indians.
- 1672 — Allouez and Andre built mission house at DePere.
- 1673 — Jolliet and Marquette discovered Mississippi River.
- 1678 — Dulhut (Duluth) explored western end of Lake Superior.
- 1779 — La Salle began his "great adventures".
- 1685 — Perrot made Commandant of the West.
- 1690 — Perrot discovered lead mines in Wisconsin and Iowa.
- 1701-38 — Fox Indian Wars.
- 1755 — Wisconsin Indians under Charles Langlade aided in Braddock's defeat.
- 1763 — Treaty of Paris. Wisconsin became part of British colonial territory.

Under the Flag of England

British control brought few changes to Wisconsin. It remained the western edge of European penetration into the American continent, important only because of the fur trade. French traders worked in the state and British and colonial traders began to appear, but Europeans continued to be visitors rather than settlers.

- 1761 — Fort at Green Bay accepted by English.
- 1763 — Conspiracy of Pontiac. Two Englishmen killed by Indians at Muscoda.
- 1764 — Charles Langlade settled at Green Bay. First permanent settlement.
- 1766 — Jonathan Carver visited Wisconsin seeking Northwest Passage.
- 1774 — Quebec Act makes Wisconsin a part of Province of Quebec.
- 1781 — Traditional date of settlement at Prairie du Chien.
- 1783 — Second Treaty of Paris. Wisconsin became a part of the United States.

Achieving Territorial Status

In spite of the Treaty of Paris, Wisconsin remained British in all but title until after the War of 1812. After the war, the American Army established control. Gradually Indian title to the southeastern half of the state was extinguished and the Indians moved across the Mississippi. Lead mining brought the first heavy influx of settlers and ended the dominance of the fur trade in the economy of the area. The lead mining period ran from about 1824 to 1861. Almost half of the 11,683 people who lived in the territory in 1836 were residents of the lead-mining district in the southwestern corner of the state.

- 1787 — Ordinance of 1787 — Wisconsin part of Northwest Territory.
- 1787-1800 — In Old Northwest Territory.
- 1800-1809 — In Indiana Territory.
- 1809-1818 — In Illinois Territory.
- 1818-1836 — In Michigan Territory.
- 1795 — Jacques Vieau established trading posts at Kewaunee, Manitowoc and Sheboygan. Made headquarters at Milwaukee.

- 1804 — Harrison's treaty with Indians at St. Louis. U.S. extinguished Indian title to lead region (a cause of Black Hawk War).
- 1814 — Fort Shelby built at Prairie du Chien. Captured by English and name changed to Fort McKay.
- 1815 — War with England concluded. Fort McKay abandoned by British.
- 1816 — Fort Shelby rebuilt at Prairie du Chien (renamed Fort Crawford). Astor's American Fur Company began operations in Wisconsin.
- 1818 — Solomon Juneau bought trading post of Jacques Vieau at Milwaukee.
- 1820 — Rev. Jedediah Morse preached first Protestant sermon in Wisconsin at Fort Howard (Green Bay) July 9. Henry Schoolcraft, James Duane Doty, Lewis Cass made exploring trip through Wisconsin.
- 1822 — New York Indians (Oneida, Stockbridge, Munsee, and Brothertown) moved to Wisconsin. First mining leases in southwest Wisconsin. Dr. Beaumont began observations on St. Martin of action of gastric juice.
- 1825 — Indian Treaty established tribal boundaries.
- 1826-27 — Winnebago Indian War. Surrender of Red Bird.
- 1828 — Fort Winnebago begun at Portage.
- 1832 — Black Hawk War.
- 1833 — Land treaty with Indians cleared southern Wisconsin land titles. First newspaper — Green Bay Intelligencer — established.
- 1834 — Land offices established at Green Bay and Mineral Point. First public road laid out.
- 1835 — First steamboat arrived at Milwaukee. First bank in Wisconsin opened at Green Bay.
- 1836 — Act creating Territory of Wisconsin signed April 20 by President Jackson (provisions of Ordinance of 1787 made part of the act).

Wisconsin Territory

Wisconsin's population reached 305,000 by 1850. About half the new immigrants were from New York and New England. The rest were from England, Scotland, Ireland, Germany and Scandinavia. New York's Erie Canal gave Wisconsin a water outlet to the Atlantic Ocean and a route for new settlers. Wheat was the primary cash crop for most of the newcomers.

State politics revolved around factions headed by James Doty and Henry Dodge. As political parties developed, the Democrats proved dominant throughout the period.

- 1836 — Capital located at Belmont — Henry Dodge became Governor, July 4. First session of Legislature. Madison chosen as permanent capital.
- 1837 — Madison surveyed and platted. First Capitol begun. Panic of 1837 — all territorial banks failed. Winnebago Indians ceded all claims to land in Wisconsin. Imprisonment for debt abolished.
- 1838 — Territorial Legislature met in Madison. Milwaukee and Rock River Canal Company chartered.
- 1840 — First school taxes authorized and levied. Henry Dodge removed as Governor — elected territorial delegate to Congress. James D. Doty appointed Governor.
- 1842 — C.C. Arndt shot and killed in Legislature by James R. Vineyard.
- 1844 — Doty removed and Nathaniel P. Tallmadge appointed Governor. Wisconsin Phalanx (a utopian colony) established at Ceresco (Ripon).
- 1845 — Tallmadge removed and Dodge reappointed Governor. Mormon settlement at Voree (Burlington). Swiss colony came to New Glarus.
- 1846 — Congress passed enabling act for admission of Wisconsin as state. First Constitutional Convention met in Madison.
- 1847 — Census population 210,546. First Constitution rejected by people. Second Constitutional Convention.
- 1848 — Second Constitution adopted. President Polk signed bill on May 29 making Wisconsin a state.

Early Statehood

Heavy immigration continued to be the most salient social feature after statehood. The state remained largely agricultural with wheat the primary crop. Slavery, banking laws and temperance were the major issues of the period. Despite the number of foreign immigrants and a shift from Democratic control to Republican control, most political leaders continued to have ties to the northeastern United States. New York state laws and institutions provided models for much of the activity of the early legislative sessions.

- 1848 — Legislature met, June 5. Governor Nelson Dewey inaugurated June 7. State university incorporated. First telegram reached Milwaukee. Large scale German immigration began.
- 1849 — School code adopted. First free tax supported, graded school with high school at Kenosha. School for Blind opened.
- 1850 — Bond Law for controlling sale of liquor passed.
- 1851 — First railroad train — Milwaukee to Waukesha. First State Fair at Janesville.
- 1852 — School for Deaf opened at Delavan. Prison construction begun at Waupun.
- 1853 — Impeachment of Judge Levi Hubbell. Capital punishment abolished (third state to take action).
- 1854 — Republican Party named at Ripon. First class graduated at state university. Joshua Glover, fugitive slave, arrested at Racine. State Supreme Court declared Fugitive Slave Law of 1850 unconstitutional. Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroad reached Madison.
- 1856 — Bashford-Barstow election scandal. Legislative report on maladministration of school funds.
- 1857 — Railroad completed to Prairie du Chien. First high school class graduated, Racine. Industrial School for Boys opened at Waukesha.
- 1858 — Legislative investigation of bribery in Legislature of 1856.
- 1859 — Abraham Lincoln spoke at State Fair, Milwaukee.
- 1861 — Beginning of Civil War. Governor called for volunteers for military service. Bank riot in Milwaukee. Office of county superintendent of schools created.
- 1862 — Governor Harvey drowned. Draft riots. Ryan address at Democratic Convention criticized Lincoln's conduct of war.
- 1864 — Cheese factory started at Ladoga, Fond du Lac County, by Chester Hazen.
- 1865 — Wisconsin furnished 96,000 soldiers in Civil War; losses were 12,216.

The Maturing Commonwealth

After the Civil War Wisconsin matured into a modern political and economic entity. Heavy immigration continued throughout the period. The mix of immigrants remained similar to that prior to the Civil War until the end of the century, when Poles began to appear in large numbers.

The Republican Party remained in control of state government throughout the period, but was challenged by "Grangers", Populists, Socialists and Temperance candidates in addition to the Democratic Party and dissidents within the Republican Party. Temperance, the use of foreign languages in schools, railroad regulation and currency reform were major issues in the state throughout the period.

Wheat culture gradually declined in importance in Wisconsin as more fertile wheatlands to the north and west were opened to cultivation. In the 1880s and 1890s, dairying gradually became the primary agricultural pursuit in the state. The agricultural school at the university developed into a national leader in the field of dairy science in support of the transformation from wheat to dairy. From the 1870s through the 1890s, lumbering prospered in the northern half of the state. At its peak from 1888 to 1893, it accounted for one-fourth of all wages paid in the state. By the end of the period, Milwaukee and the southeastern half of the state had developed a thriving heavy machinery industry. The paper industry was also established in the Fox River Valley by the end of the century. Tanning and the brewing industry were also leaders.

- 1866 — First state normal school opened at Platteville. Agricultural College at university reorganized under Morrill Act.
- 1871 — Peshtigo fire burned over much of half-a-dozen counties in northeast Wisconsin, resulting in over 1,000 deaths.
- 1872 — Wisconsin Dairymen's Association organized at Watertown.
- 1873 — Invention of typewriter by C. Latham Sholes. The Patrons of Husbandry, an agricultural organization nicknamed the "Grangers", elected Governor William R. Taylor.

- 1874 — Potter Law limiting railroad rates passed.
- 1875 — Free high school law passed; women made eligible to school offices. State Industrial School for Girls established at Milwaukee. Republicans defeated “Grangers”. Oshkosh almost destroyed by fire.
- 1876 — Potter Law repealed. Hazel Green cyclone.
- 1877 — John T. Appleby patented knotter for twine binders.
- 1882 — Constitution amended to make legislative sessions biennial. First hydroelectric plant established at Appleton.
- 1883 — Newhall House fire in Milwaukee; 70 perished. South wing of Capitol extension collapsed; 7 killed. Agricultural Experiment Station established at university.
- 1885 — Gogebic iron range discoveries.
- 1886 — Strikes at Milwaukee — rioting. Agricultural Short Course established at university.
- 1887 — Marshfield almost destroyed by fire.
- 1889 — Bennett Law, requiring classroom instruction in English, passed. Supreme Court decision known as the Edgerton Bible case prohibited reading and prayers from the King James Bible in public schools. Arbor Day authorized. Ex-Governor Rusk became first U.S. Secretary of Agriculture.
- 1890 — Stephen M. Babcock invents quick, easy, accurate test for milk butterfat content.
- 1891 — Bennett Law repealed.
- 1893 — Supreme Court ordered state treasurer to refund to the state interest on state deposits, which had customarily been retained by treasurers.
- 1894 — Forest fires in northern and central Wisconsin.
- 1897 — Corrupt practice act passed.
- 1898 — Wisconsin sent 5,469 men to Spanish-American War. Losses were 134.
- 1899 — Anti-pass law prohibited railroads from giving public officials free rides. Tax commission created. New Richmond cyclone.

The Progressive Era

The state’s prominent role in the reform movements which swept the country at the beginning of the century gave Wisconsin national fame, and its first presidential candidate. Republicans dominated the state legislature, but “progressive” and “stalwart” factions fought continually for control of the party. Milwaukee consistently returned a strong Socialist contingent to the legislature.

Large-scale European immigration ended during this period, but ethnic groups retained strong individual identities and remained a significant force in the politics and culture of the state. Important social issues were reflected in the calendar of progressive legislation enacted during the period. The two world wars caused great stress because of the large German population of the state.

Heavy machinery manufacturing, paper products and dairying consolidated their position as the leading economic activities. As the last virgin forests in the northern half of the state were cut over, lumbering faded in importance. Brewing temporarily disappeared with the advent of Prohibition.

- 1901 — First Wisconsin-born Governor, Robert M. La Follette, inaugurated. Teaching of agriculture introduced into rural schools. Legislative Reference Library, which served as a model for other states, established.
- 1904 — Primary election law approved by referendum vote. State Capitol burned.
- 1905 — State civil service established; auto license law passed; tuberculosis sanatoria authorized. Forestry Board created. Railroad Commission, regulating railroads and subsequently utilities, created.
- 1906 — First cow-testing association organized.
- 1907 — New Capitol begun. Milwaukee elected Socialist administration.
- 1908 — Income tax amendment adopted.
- 1910 — Eau Claire first Wisconsin city to adopt commission form of government.
- 1911 — First income tax law; teachers’ pension act; vocational schools authorized; Industrial and Highway Commissions created.

- 1913 — Mothers' pension law and workmen's compensation act enacted. Direct election of U.S. senators approved.
- 1915 — Conservation Commission, State Board of Agriculture, and State Board of Education created. Mothers' pensions made compulsory.
- 1917 — Capitol completed, cost $7,258,763. Wisconsin sent 120,000 soldiers to World War I — losses 3,932. Wisconsin first state to meet draft requirements; 584,559 registrations.
- 1919 — Eighteenth Amendment (Prohibition) ratified.
- 1920 — Nineteenth Amendment (woman suffrage) ratified; first state to deliver ratification to Washington.
- 1921 — Equal rights for women and prohibition laws enacted.
- 1923 — State Board of Education law repealed. Military training made optional at university.
- 1924 — La Follette won Wisconsin's vote for president as Progressive Party candidate. Reforestation amendment to state Constitution adopted.
- 1925 — Senator La Follette died on June 18.
- 1929 — Professor Steenbock of University of Wisconsin patented radiation of Vitamin D. Legislature repealed all Wisconsin laws for state enforcement of Prohibition.
- 1932 — Forest Products Laboratory erected at Madison.
- 1933 — Milk strike. Wisconsin voted for repeal of 18th Amendment (Prohibition) to U.S. Constitution.
- 1934 — Wisconsin Progressive Party formed.
- 1942 — Governor-elect Loomis died; Supreme Court decided Lieutenant Governor Goodland to serve as Acting Governor.
- 1941-45 — Wisconsin enrolled 375,000 for World War II; casualties 7,980.
- 1946 — Wisconsin Progressive Party dissolved and rejoined Republican Party.

The Middle Years of the Twentieth Century

After the demise of the Progressives, the Democratic Party began a gradual resurgence, becoming strongly competitive for the first time in over a century by the late 1950s. With the decline in foreign immigration, the traditional ethnic differences became muted, but significant numbers of Blacks appeared in the urban areas of the state for the first time. Discrimination in housing and employment became matters of concern. Other important issues included the growth in the size of state government, radicalism at the university, welfare programs and environmental questions. Tourism emerged as a major industry during this period.

- 1948 — Centennial Year.
- 1949 — Legislature enacted new formula for distribution of state educational aids and classified school districts for this purpose.
- 1950 — Wisconsin enrolled 132,000 for the Korean Conflict; casualties — 800.
- 1951 — First major legislative reapportionment since 1892.
- 1957 — Legislation prohibited lobbyists from giving anything of value to a state employe. Milwaukee Braves defeated Yankees in World Series.
- 1958 — Prof. Joshua Lederberg, University of Wis. geneticist, Nobel prize winner in medicine.
- 1959 — Gaylord Nelson, first Democratic governor since 1933, inaugurated. Circus World Museum established at Baraboo. Frank Lloyd Wright, architect, died.
- 1960 — Mrs. Dena Smith elected state treasurer, first woman elected to statewide office in Wisconsin.
- 1961 — Legislation enacted to initiate long-range program of acquisition and improvement of state recreation facilities. Federal supervision of Menominee Indian tribe terminated on April 29; reservation became 72nd county.
- 1962 — Selective sales tax, income tax withholding enacted. Kohler Company strike settled (began 1954). Ralph Votapek of Milwaukee won Van Cliburn international piano competition.
- 1963 — The 1961 Legislature adjourned when the hour for convening the 1963 Legislature arrived. John Gronouski, State Tax Commissioner, appointed U.S. Postmaster General. State expenditures from all funds for 1963-64 fiscal year top one billion for first time.

- 1964 — Wisconsin Supreme Court redistricted Legislature after Legislature and Governor failed to agree on a plan. National Farmers Organization conducted 42-day livestock withholding action; 2 NFO members killed in demonstration at Bonduel stockyard. U.S. Dept. of Defense announced plan to merge the Army Reserve into the National Guard, eliminating Wisconsin's 32nd National Guard (Red Arrow) Division and 84th Training Reserve Division. Legislature enacted property tax relief for aged and abolished office of county superintendent of schools (public education organized into CESAs). Port Washington struck by severe tornado.
- 1965 — School age raised to 18. All parts of state placed into vocational school districts. County boards reorganized on population basis. State law prevented discrimination in housing. Palm Sunday tornadoes in southern Wisconsin. Spring floods along the Mississippi: 14,000 in 16 counties evacuated from flood areas. The State Capitol, in use since 1917 and after extensive remodeling and cleaning, officially dedicated.
- 1966 — 1965 Legislature held first full even-year regular session since 1882. New laws included $300 million water resources and pollution control act. Civil rights demonstrations in Wauwatosa brought out National Guard to keep order. Wisconsin Supreme Court upheld Milwaukee Braves baseball team move to Atlanta. Grand jury investigation of illegal lobbying activities in the Legislature resulted in 13 indictments.
- 1967 — Executive branch reorganized along functional lines, ban on colored oleomargarine repealed. Racial rioting in Milwaukee in July-August. July 4 youth celebration in Lake Geneva became rampage, National Guard called to restore order. Marathon marches demonstrate for Milwaukee open housing ordinance. Anti-war protests at UW-Madison culminate in riot with injuries.
- 1968 — Constitutional amendment permitted the legislature to meet as provided by law rather than once a biennium, resulting in annual sessions. Senator Eugene McCarthy defeated President Johnson in presidential primary. Ninety Black students expelled from UW-Oshkosh when December demonstration damaged the administration building. Wisconsin's first heart transplant performed at St. Luke's Hospital in Milwaukee, first successful bone marrow transplant performed by team of UW-Madison scientists.
- 1969 — Selective sales tax became general sales tax. On opening day of September special session on welfare and urban aids, welfare mothers and UW-Madison students, led by Father James Groppi, took over the Assembly Chamber, National Guard called to protect Capitol. Groppi cited for contempt and jailed, contempt charge upheld by Supreme Court. Constitutional amendment allowed state to contract debt for public purposes. Student strikes at UW-Madison demanded Black studies department, National Guard used to restore order. Congressman Melvin R. Laird appointed U.S. Secretary of Defense. The interstate highway system in the state completed.
- 1970 — Legislature enacted highway bonding program and $200 million bonding program for water pollution control and recreation development. UW-Madison Army Mathematics Research Building bombed, one death. UW-Whitewater's "Old Main" burned down as result of apparent arson. First elections to 4-year terms in Wisconsin history for all constitutional officers. U.W. scientists, headed by Dr. Har Gobind Khorana, succeeded in the first total synthesis of a gene.
- 1971 — The Legislature, now meeting in annual session, enacted major shared tax redistribution, University of Wisconsin and State University System merger, revision of municipal employe relations laws.
- 1972 — Legislature enacted comprehensive consumer protection act, lowered the age of majority from 21 to 18, required environmental impact statement for all legislation affecting the environment, repealed railroad full crew law and ratified the unsuccessful "equal rights" amendment to U.S. Constitution. Record highway death toll, 1,168.
- 1973 — State constitutional amendment adopted permitting bingo. Barbara Thompson first woman state superintendent of public instruction. The 1954 Menominee Termination Act repealed by Congress. Legislature enacted state ethics code, repealed oleomargarine tax, broadened the homestead tax exemption, funded programs for the education of all handicapped children, passed emergency energy legislation in response to the energy crisis, and established procedures for informal probate of simple estates.

- 1974 — Legislature enacted comprehensive campaign finance act and strengthened open meetings law. Democrats swept all constitutional offices and gained control of both houses of the 1975 Legislature for first time since 1893. Kathryn Morrison first woman elected to the state Senate. Striking teachers fired in Hortonville.

Recent History

Democrats have controlled both houses of the Legislature since 1975. Women began to be widely represented in the Legislature for the first time. California began to challenge Wisconsin's dominance of the dairy industry. Higher fuel prices hurt both tourism and the state's heavy industrial base. For the first time, the state suffered more from a recession than most of the rest of the nation in 1982. Six of the 8 years from 1977 through 1984 saw a net loss of control of Wisconsin companies to out-of-state companies through acquisition or merger. The business climate in the state, taxation and education were the chief concerns of policymakers.

- 1975 — Menominee Indians occupied Alexian Brothers Novitiate. Legislature made voter registration easier, established property tax levy limits on local governments, and eliminated from the statutes distinctions based on sex. U.W. scientist, Dr. Howard Martin Temim, shared 1975 Nobel Prize in Physiology-Medicine.
- 1976 — U.S. District Court ordered integration of Milwaukee public schools. Ice storm damage reached $50.4 million. Wisconsin Legislature established a system for compensating crime victims. Exxon discovered sulfide zinc and copper deposits in Forest County. By appointment, Shirley S. Abrahamson became first woman on the Wisconsin Supreme Court. Drought loss on Wisconsin farms worst in state history. Wisconsin Supreme Court declared negative school aids law unconstitutional.
- 1977 — Governor Lucey appointed Ambassador to Mexico. First state employes union strike lasted 15 days, National Guard ran prisons. Constitutional amendments authorized raffle games and revised the structure of the court system by providing a Court of Appeals. Legislation enacted included public support of elections campaigns, no-fault divorce, and implied consent law for drunk driving.
- 1978 — Supreme Court allowed cameras in state courtrooms. Vel Phillips elected Secretary of State, first Black constitutional officer. Laws enacted included a hazardous waste management program.
- 1979 — Constitutional amendment removed Lieutenant Governor from office of President of the Senate. Record snowfall for many areas of the state. Moratorium on tax collections gave state taxpayers a 3-month "vacation" from taxes. Shirley S. Abrahamson, appointed in 1976, became the first woman elected to Wisconsin Supreme Court. Law enacted to establish school of veterinary medicine at the University of Wisconsin.
- 1980 — Eric Heiden won 5 Olympic gold metals for ice speed skating, named winner of the Sullivan Award as best amateur athlete in the country. 15,000 Cuban refugees housed for the summer at Fort McCoy. Massive wind storm in Eau Claire, Chippewa, Dunn and Pierce Counties. Ex-Governor Patrick Lucey ran as independent candidate for vice president. State revenue shortfall led to 4.4% cuts in state spending. Laws enacted included specific rights for victims and witnesses of crimes, revisions in conditions for granting bail, school children immunization program, and mental patient commitment revisions.
- 1981 — U.S. Supreme Court ruled against Wisconsin's historic open primary. Laws enacted included stronger penalties for drunk driving and changes in mining taxes.
- 1982 — State unemployment hit highest levels since the great Depression. Voters endorsed first state referendum calling for a freeze on nuclear weapons. U.S. District Court ordered apportionment of the state Senate and Assembly districts. Laws enacted included a cable television privacy act, extensions in the fair employment law, an "employees" right-to-know law" pertaining to toxic substances in the workplace, a new public records law, and a historic preservation law. Jos. Schlitz Brewing Co. acquired by Stroh Brewing Co. of Detroit, all Milwaukee operations closed.
- 1983 — Continued recession forced adoption of budget including a 10% tax surcharge and a pay freeze for state employes. Law raising minimum drinking age to 19 passed (effective 7/1/85). Inmates at Waupun State Prison held 15 hostages, later released uninjured.

Legislature adopted apportionment plan. Laws passed included a "lemon law" on motor vehicle warranties, regulation of health maintenance organizations, changes in child support collection procedures and levels. An October special session on economic development enacted bonding for export and economic development loans, establishment of a foreign trade office, changes in regulatory process to aid small business and creation of a permit information center. First class at UW-Madison Veterinary Medicine School.

1984 — Most powerful U.S. tornado of 1984 destroyed Barneveld-9 dead. Democratic party chose presidential convention delegates in caucuses rather than by presidential preference primary as a result of the Democratic National Committee rules changes. Indian treaty rights to fish and hunt caused controversy. First liver transplants in Wisconsin conducted at UW Hospital. Laws enacted included a marital property reform act, groundwater protection act, establishment of high school graduation requirements, a "right-to-die" act, prohibition of smoking in public areas. Economic conditions began to improve from the low-point of the previous 2 years.

<sup>3</sup>Representative Steiger died on December 4, 1978 following his November 1978 election. The seat was filled by Representative Petri in a special election on April 3, 1979.

<sup>4</sup>In the congressional redistricting based on the results of the 1960 Census of Population, the old 9th District in western Wisconsin disappeared and a new 9th District was created in the Waukesha-Milwaukee metropolitan area. The redistricting was enacted as Chapter 63, Laws of 1963, and was first used in the 1964 congressional election.

<sup>5</sup>In the congressional reapportionment based on the results of the 1970 Census of Population, Wisconsin's delegation was reduced from 10 members to 9 members. The new reapportionment was implemented in the 9 districts created by Chapter 333, Laws of 1971, and was first used in the 1972 congressional election.

HIGHLIGHTS OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT IN WISCONSIN

Employment and Earnings — In 1983, Wisconsin ranked 34th in the number of state and local government employes, with 451 per 10,000. Wisconsin has fewer government employes per 10,000 than Iowa and Minnesota (ranked 16th and 29th, respectively), but has more than Michigan and Illinois (ranked 43rd and 48th, respectively). Wisconsin's ranking is tied with Arizona, Maine and Washington. The state employed 57,551 employes (full-time equivalent) while local government employed 156,714.

The majority of state employes are in the classified service (35,000 on December 31, 1984), while 17.5 thousand are in the unclassified service.

5.8 percent or 1,700 out of 29,000 state employes on the centralized payroll monitored by the Department of Employment Relations (as of March 2, 1985) were minority employes. Approximately 15.7 thousand or 54 percent were males and 13.7 thousand or 47 percent were females.

In 1983, Wisconsin ranked 17th in earnings of state and local government employes. Michigan, Minnesota and Illinois ranked higher (4th, 7th and 8th, respectively), and Iowa ranked lower (27th). Over 10 years from 1974 to 1983, October payrolls in Wisconsin increased by $45.1 million on the state level and $177.9 million on the local level.

School districts employed the largest number on the local level — over 103 thousand — while counties ranked second with 46.69 thousand and municipalities third with 46.65 thousand employes.

By function, education ranks first in both the number of employes and total payroll. After education comes police protection, followed by hospitals and highways.

Units of Local Government — Local government in Wisconsin is comprised of 72 counties, 189 cities, 393 villages and 1,266 towns. Counties vary in size from Milwaukee with a population of just below a million to Menominee County with 3.4 thousand, and from Marathon County with a land area of 1,599 square miles to Pepin County with 231 square miles. County boards range in size from 46 supervisors in Brown to 7 in Menominee.

Excluding the District of Columbia, in 1982 Hawaii had the smallest number of all local governmental units with 18 while Illinois had the largest with a total of 6,467. In comparison, Wisconsin had a total of 2,592, ranking 14th.

County Officials — All counties elect a county clerk, treasurer, clerk of circuit court, register of deeds, district attorney, and sheriff; about a third elect a surveyor; a coroner may be elected or a medical examiner may be appointed by the county board; and each county board chooses its chairperson. Eight counties have an elected county executive and 10 counties have an appointed county administrator.

Except for the office of county clerk, in 1985-86, county offices are dominated by Republicans. The largest majority occurs in the office of sheriff with 51 Republicans and 21 Democrats. County clerks totalled 38 Democrats and 34 Republicans. Women are the majority office holders in the positions of clerk of circuit court, register of deeds and county treasurers.

Population — Of the total 1980 Wisconsin population of 4,705,642, approximately 49.7 percent (2,336,665) resided in urban areas. Of this total 62.6 percent (1,463,005) lived in the central city, the rest in the urban fringe. The city of Appleton had the lowest percentage of population residing in its central city (41.5 percent), and the city of Superior had the highest percentage (98.1 percent). In Wisconsin's 2 largest cities (Milwaukee and Madison), 52.4 percent and 79.9 percent, respectively, resided in the central city.

Based on Wisconsin's 1980 census figure, cities comprise a total of 2,703,579, a decline of 17,466 from the 1970 census; villages comprise a total of 514,373, an increase of 76,913; and towns comprise a total of 1,487,383, and increase of 227,890. 38 Wisconsin municipalities had a population of 15,000 or more. The city of Milwaukee, with a population of 636,297, ranks first and the city of Muskego, with a population of 15,277 ranks number 38.

Between 1980 and 1984, 147 cities increased in population while 42 cities decreased. Milwaukee, the one first class city, decreased by 33,363 or 5.24 percent; among second class cities, Green Bay had the largest increase, 3,969 or 4.52 percent, and Racine had the largest decrease, 4,254 or 4.96 percent; among third class cities, Eau Claire had the largest increase, 2,458 or 6.85 percent, and Beloit had the largest decrease, 850 or 2.41 percent; and among fourth class cities, Fitchburg had the largest increase, 1,786 or 14.99 percent, and South Milwaukee had the largest decrease, 357 or 1.69 percent. For Wisconsin's villages, 90 decreased and 303 increased. Plover had the largest increase, 1,292 or 24.33 percent and Menomonee Falls had the largest decrease, 752 or 2.70 percent.

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information on local government.

<sup>2</sup>Under Sec. 62.05 (2), Wis. Stats., a city changes from one class to another when it qualifies in size according to the official census, when provisions for any necessary changes in government are made, and when a proclamation of the mayor, declaring the fact, is published according to law. A change in the classification of a city is not recorded in this table unless the Secretary of State has been notified of such change.

*City manager form of government. There are 11 cities operating under the manager form authorized by Chapter 64, Wis. Stats. The city of Monona has an administrator in addition to the mayor. Cities in Wisconsin may be organized as a mayor, manager or commission form of government. No city is now operating under a commission.

<sup>1</sup>All county-wide officers are elective positions except county board chairman, medical examiner, and county administrator, who are appointed by the county board. County boards, under Section 59.12, Wis. Stats., are also allowed to designate any registered land surveyor employed by the county to perform the duties of the county surveyor. Elective officers serve 2-year terms except county executives, who serve 4-year terms.

<sup>2</sup>Serving as chairperson for the 1984-86 biennium. Term of office expires 4/20/86 excepting Milwaukee County, where term expires 4/19/86. The term for county board supervisors is 2 years excepting Milwaukee County, where the term is 4 years.

<sup>6</sup>Elected circuit court judge for a 6-year term commencing August 1, 1985.

HIGHLIGHTS OF MILITARY AND VETERANS AFFAIRS IN WISCONSIN

Military Service — More Wisconsinites served in World War II than in any other conflict in which the United States has been involved. Vietnam ranks second.

Veterans' Programs — Since the inception of various programs for veterans that began with World War II, 482,836 Wisconsin veterans have benefited from the state's programs, and over $1.6 billion has been expended on these programs. Benefits take the form of economic and educational grants and of loans for economic assistance and housing mortgages. Educational grants far outweigh those for other purposes, while the overwhelming proportion of loans is for housing.

Total membership in the Wisconsin Veterans Home was 634 in 1984. The number was near 700 for most of the 1970s as more World War I and World War II veterans and dependents entered the home.

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information on military and veterans affairs.

HIGHLIGHTS OF POPULATION AND VITAL STATISTICS IN WISCONSIN

State and County Population — Wisconsin had a 1980 census population of 4,705,642 and a 1984 estimated population of 4,774,383. Prior to statehood, it totaled 30,945. The greatest increase in population occurred between 1840 and 1850, when it leaped 886.9 percent, and the smallest increase occurred between 1970 and 1980 — 6.5 percent. While less than 10 percent lived in urban areas at the beginning of statehood, about two-thirds of the population are now urban.

Between 1970 and 1980, population increased over 20 percent in the northwestern counties of Burnett, Polk, St. Croix, Sawyer and Washburn; the northeastern counties of Door, Florence, Menominee and Oneida; the central counties of Adams, Marquette, Portage and Waushara; and the southeastern counties of Ozaukee, Washington and Waukesha. Counties which declined in population between 1970 and 1980 included Douglas (northwest), Lafayette (southwest) and Milwaukee (southeast), with Milwaukee's 8.47 percent decline being the largest.

Population, By Race and Sex — Between 1890 and 1980, the nonwhite population in Wisconsin increased by 4.9 percent. Indians were the largest minority group from 1890 until 1950; Blacks have been since 1950. The nonwhite population now constitutes 5.6 percent of the population or 262,732 of Wisconsin's 4.7 million population. In 1980, Milwaukee County had the largest Black population - 149,435, followed by Racine with 13,894, Dane with 5,688, and Rock with 4,696.

The 1980 Wisconsin Indian population was 29,320, an increase of 54.49 percent from the 1970 population figure of 18,924. Wisconsin has 11 Indian reservations. In 1980, the Oneida Reservation had the largest population (13,389) and Mole Lake had the smallest (105).

In 1980, females outnumbered males by 94,913.

Age — As of the 1980 census, Wisconsin had a medium age of 29.4. This compares to an age of 27.2 for the 1970 census.

Marriage and Divorce — The marriage rate in Wisconsin in 1983 was 8.6 per 1,000 estimated population. The rate has fluctuated too much, however, to discern any trend. Nevada had the highest rate (137.3) and Massachusetts the lowest (7.6). Only 8 states, including Michigan, had a lower marriage rate than Wisconsin. Illinois, Iowa and Minnesota had higher marriage rates than Wisconsin.

The divorce rate in the state was 3.6 per 1,000 estimated population in 1983. The high state, Nevada, had a 12.8 rate, while Connecticut and Massachusetts shared the lowest rate, 3.1. Minnesota had a lower rate than Wisconsin, while Illinois, Iowa and Michigan had a higher rate.

Births and Deaths — In 1983, Wisconsin had 72,499 live births or 15.3 per 1,000 (62,796 or 13.8 per 1,000 in 1973); 699 infant deaths or 9.6 per 1,000 (900 or 14.3 per 1,000 in 1973); and 40,985 total deaths or 8.6 per 1,000 (41,293 or 9.1 per 1,000 in 1973).

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information on population and vital statistics.

*Vital statistics are by county of occurrence. Since nearly all births and deaths occur in hospitals, the number which occurs in Florence, Forest, Iron, Marquette and Menominee Counties is small because they have no hospitals. Caution must be used in making inferences based on these data.

HIGHLIGHTS OF REVENUES IN WISCONSIN

Financial Summary — In fiscal year 1983-84 the Wisconsin State government received $10.58 billion in receipts from all sources — including federal and nontax revenue — and disbursed $8.89 billion. Of these disbursements, $6.36 billion was for general fund purposes and $2.53 billion was for other fund purposes. There was a net general fund surplus of over $383 million.

Of the total state budget allocations of $16 billion for the 1983-85 biennium, 37.8 percent ($6 billion) was for state operations, while 35.6 percent ($5.7 billion) was for local assistance. The remaining 26.6 percent ($4.3 billion) was for aids to individuals and organizations.

By far the largest proportion of Wisconsin's state expenditures in fiscal year 1983-84 went to human relations and resources (29.6% — $2.63 billion) and education (28.7% — $2.55 billion). In declining order, the next largest sums were spent on general function (including shared taxes), general executive, environmental resources, the building program, commerce, judicial and legislative. Total state tax receipts (all funds) were $4.91 billion, of which $4.53 billion was general purpose taxes. Revenue from income taxes totaled $2.58 billion. Sales and excise taxes totaled $1.5 billion. Other major general purpose taxes include public utility taxes and death and gift taxes.

The 2 major segregated funds had the following balances in fiscal year 1983-84: Transportation — $160.6 million and Conservation — $45.9 million.

State-Local Finances — In per capita total state and local government revenue in fiscal year 1982-83, Wisconsin ($2,316) ranked 13th nationally from the highest state (the U.S. average was $2,081). Alaska and Wyoming ranked first and second, while Arkansas ranked last. Wisconsin ranked 8th among the states in per capita revenue from state taxes ($904). Alaska ($4,272) ranked first, while New Hampshire ($344) was last. The U.S. average was $735. In total general state and local government per capita expenditures Wisconsin ranked 16th with $2,154 (the U.S. average was $1,986). Alaska ranked first ($8,662) and Arkansas last ($1,372). Wisconsin spent more than the national average in all major functional areas.

Wisconsin ranked 10th nationally in total dollar amount of state payments to local units of government in fiscal year 1982-83, with school districts receiving the largest proportion, followed by municipalities, counties and towns.

On a per capita basis, in fiscal year 1982-83 Wisconsin ranked 4th (with $693) in intergovernmental expenditures, following Alaska ($2,273), Wyoming ($789) and California ($713). The national average was $434.

Wisconsin returned over $928 million to local units of government in property tax relief and shared revenue in fiscal year 1983-84 — $212 million in property tax relief and $716 million in shared revenue.

Of $603.8 million in state aid to local units of government in calendar year 1983 — excluding school aids — the 3 largest categories were: health and social services ($303.5 million), transportation ($188.7 million) and conservation ($52 million).

Property Taxes — Total general property taxes levied in Wisconsin in 1983 amounted to $2.76 billion, with a net amount of $2.48 billion after state property tax relief is applied. Real estate accounted for $2.62 billion and personal property $24.9 million. Milwaukee County had the highest effective (full value equalized) tax rate ($30.37 per $1,000) and Waupaca County the lowest ($16.08 per $1,000).

Historically, in the last 10 years Wisconsin's general property assessment has increased more than two and one-half times (163 percent change), while general property taxes levied have doubled (109 percent change).

State-Federal Finances — Federal tax receipts from Wisconsin in fiscal year 1983-84 totaled $10.90 billion, with by far the largest amount derived from individual income and employment taxes ($9.02 billion). Total federal funds distributed in Wisconsin in fiscal year 1983-84 — including grants, salaries and wages, direct payments to individuals, procurement and other programs — amounted to $10.85 billion. This distribution, on a per capita basis, ranked Wisconsin (at $2,277) 47th among the states in total federal funds received, with the District of Columbia highest ($20,652) and Iowa lowest ($2,176).

Of these federal funds, the category of federal aids to Wisconsin in fiscal year 1983-84 totaled $1.80 billion, of which $244.3 million was channeled to local units of government. Over 65 percent of this aid was in the functional area of human relations and resources, followed by education and environmental resources.

Indebtedness — Total outstanding state government debt in Wisconsin as of February 1985 amounted to $2.12 billion, of which $1.20 billion was tax supported, and $923 million was self-amortizing. Total state indebtedness at the end of 1983 constituted 1.73 percent of state assessed valuation and amounted to $436 per capita. Local debt in 1983 totaled $2.49 billion. Among state political subdivisions, city debt ($1.17 billion) was largest.

Wisconsin's per capita state and local indebtedness in fiscal year 1982-83 ($1,446) ranked 40th among the states, with the highest being Alaska ($17,649) and Indiana lowest ($968). The U.S. average was $1,942.

<sup>3</sup>General obligation debt of the state and indebtedness of its nonstock, nonprofit corporations issued to fund particular programs and facilities with the initial expectation that the revenues and other proceeds derived from the operation of the programs and facilities financed will amortize the allocable debt without recourse to the state's general fund.

<sup>4</sup>Includes university dormitories, food service, intercollegiate athletic facilities, certain facilities on the state fair grounds and capital equipment acquisition.

<sup>7</sup>The Legislature has created 2 independent state authorities: Housing and Economic Development (1971 Chapter 187) and Health Facilities (1973 Chapter 304). Indebtedness of the Housing and Economic Development Authority constitutes an indirect, "moral obligation" commitment of the state.

<sup>8</sup>Revenue bonding debt is authorized by statute Sections 18.51 to 18.63 (created 1977). Such debt is not a legal obligation of the state, and is not subject to existing debt limitations. Revenue bonds are issued for purposes and amounts specifically authorized by the Legislature.

HIGHLIGHTS OF SOCIAL SERVICES IN WISCONSIN

Public Welfare — U.S. Bureau of the Census data indicated that during fiscal year 1982-83 over $58 billion was spent on public welfare by state and local governments in the United States. This includes all welfare-related expenditures, such as institutions, medical payments and direct aid. Wisconsin spent $1.24 billion or $261.86 per capita, which ranked it 16th among the states. The District of Columbia ranked 1st ($602.26) and New York 2nd ($442.97), while Delaware ranked lowest ($105.45).

State and local welfare expenditures represented $24.23 per $1,000 of personal income in Wisconsin, ranking it 14th among the states, while the District of Columbia ($40.85) and New York ($35.99) again ranked highest, and Delaware lowest ($9.05).

General Assistance and Aid to Families with Dependent Children in Wisconsin counties during the representative month of February 1985 totaled $49.4 million, granted to over 313,000 persons. The average General Assistance grant was $149.97 and AFDC was $158.09. Milwaukee County had the highest AFDC grant total ($17.9 million) and Waukesha County had the highest average grant per recipient ($169.08). The lowest total was in Florence County ($41,676); lowest average grant was in Iron County ($138.66).

Medical Assistance — Medical assistance expenditures in Wisconsin in fiscal year 1984 totaled $944.4 million, a 7.8 percent increase over fiscal year 1983. The largest proportion of total benefits was for providing nursing home care (55.4 percent) and inpatient hospital services (14.8 percent). These two categories account for over 70 percent of the total, with the remainder going for the following services (in rank order): drugs, hospital out-patient, physician, clinic and dental.

A county breakdown of medical assistance in the representative month of April 1985 reveals a total expenditure of $77.23 million for 192,317 recipients, yielding an average user reimbursement of $401.57. The greatest share of total benefits went to the counties of Milwaukee (24.9 percent), Dane (5.3 percent) and Racine (4.9 percent); least to Menominee County (0.1 percent). The highest average user reimbursement per recipient was in Dane County ($641.63); Menominee County was lowest ($123.67).

Institutions — The various state correctional institutions exhibited fluctuations up and down in their average daily population from 1983 to 1984. The number of prisoners on probation and parole continued increasing. A per capita correctional expenditure rate of $28.19 ranked Wisconsin 21st among the states in 1983.

The total average daily number of persons in state mental institutes, Central State Hospital and centers for the developmentally disabled declined from 1983 (2,652) to 1984 (2,595).

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information.

<sup>1</sup>Wisconsin's Medical Assistance Program was created by Chapter 590, Laws of 1965, to implement Title 19, Federal Social Security Act of 1965, extending health services to medically indigent (so-called "Medicaid" plan). Program is funded under biennially adjusted cost-sharing formula (eff. 10/1/85 — Wis.: 42.46%; Fed.: 57.54%).

*Average daily population figures for mental health institutes are rounded off to nearest whole number.

HIGHLIGHTS OF TRANSPORTATION IN WISCONSIN

Roads — There are 108 thousand miles of roads in Wisconsin. Of this total, almost 12 thousand miles (11 percent) comprise the state trunk highway system, and about 20 thousand miles (18 percent) are county trunk highways. 75 thousand miles of local roads account for the largest proportion of road mileage, and 61 thousand of those miles are town roads.

Of Wisconsin's road system, 74 percent (80,100 miles) is surfaced by bituminous grade or higher with the remaining 26 percent being gravel or soil-surfaced, graded and drained or unimproved. 58 percent of the town roads, 93 percent of the city and village streets, 98 percent of the county trunk highways, and 100 percent of the state trunk highways are surfaced by bituminous or higher grade.

Motor Vehicles and Drivers — The total number of motor vehicle registrations has increased from 1,492 in 1905 to 3.4 million in 1983-84. Registrations, however, peaked to 3.5 million in 1979-80.

In 1983, there were 113,986 traffic accidents involving 177,074 vehicles and 169,460 drivers. Of these accidents, 13 percent (23,003) was attributed to speed too fast for conditions, which was the highest-ranking cause in both urban and rural accidents. Of the 169,460 drivers, 68,219 (40.3 percent) involved the 25 and younger age group; 37,438 (22.1 percent) involved the 26-34 age group and 24,431 (14.4 percent) involved the 35-44 age group.

Urban Mass Transit — As of January 1985, 21 publicly owned and 2 privately owned urban bus systems were operating in Wisconsin. The majority of the publicly owned systems were established in the middle to late 1970s; only 3 date back to the 1950s.

Between 1950 and 1984, the overall total urban bus revenue mileage and the number of passengers had decreased by 20,707 miles and 206,824 passengers, respectively. Between 1975 and 1984, however, urban bus mileage increased by 6,536 miles, and the number of passengers increased by 18,585. Passenger revenue has fluctuated throughout this period.

Airports — As of December 31, 1983, there were 590 airports operating in Wisconsin, of which 96 were publicly owned and 381 privately owned. The remainder were heliports, seaplane bases and military fields.

In 1984, certificated air carriers carried 2,155,184 passengers and 13,526 tons of air mail and cargo.

Railroads — Between 1920 and 1977 the number of railroads operating in Wisconsin decreased from 35 to 15. Since then, however, the number has risen to 19. These increases are the result of newly established short-line railroads. Of the 19, 5 are Class I railroads. From 1920 to 1983, the road mileage operated by the railroads declined by 2,951 miles or 39 percent.

Until 1977, both the number of passengers and passenger revenues steadily declined. Since 1977, the number of passengers has fluctuated with a high in 1980 of 174 thousand.

The amount of rail freight traffic has fluctuated while total revenue has steadily increased. In 1981, traffic totalled 97.3 million tons and revenue $476.3 million.

Waterports — In 1982, Wisconsin's lake waterports handled 34 million short tons of commodities and 987.8 thousand passengers.

The following tables present selected data. Consult footnoted sources for more detailed information on transportation.

<sup>2</sup>Commuter air carrier is an operator of small aircraft that fly at least 5 round trips per week between 2 or more points on a published schedule, exempted from CAB regulation part 298. NA means "Not Available." Beginning in 1980, commuter air carrier figures are no longer available because of air carrier deregulation.

<sup>3</sup>Enplaned passengers are the number of revenue passengers boarding aircraft, including originating, stop-over and transfer passengers. Between 1950 and 1960, passenger figures represent those at place of origin only.

In addition, 11 municipalities subsidize taxi service: Baraboo, Hartford, Marshfield, Platteville, Portage, Rhinelander, Ripon, Shawano, Stoughton, Waupaca and Wisconsin Rapids. On July 1, 1984, Chippewa Falls substituted taxi service for Eau Claire bus service.

<sup>2</sup>The city of Merrill discontinued municipal bus service in March 1971, and reinstated service in April 1975.

Politics

Wisconsin political parties: state organizations and 1984 party platforms

POLITICAL PARTY ORGANIZATION IN WISCONSIN

What Are Political Parties?

Political parties are private, voluntary organizations of people with similar political beliefs which — in a democracy — compete with one another to gain or keep control of government. In the United States, they are entirely separate from the government itself. We govern ourselves indirectly through selection of representatives who do the governing for us and at our direction. Political parties help us select these representatives and develop a consensus on principles which can give direction to the conduct and processes of government.

The Wisconsin Statutes defines a political party as a state committee registered according to law with the state Elections Board “organized exclusively for political purposes, recognized by the national organization of the party, if any, under whose name candidates appear on the ballot at any election, and all county, congressional, legislative, local and other affiliated committees authorized to operate under the same name” (Sec. 5.02 (13)).

Political parties in the United States are a marked contrast to the rigid party apparatus in countries with less freedom and democracy. In many parts of the world, political parties start out with established, narrowly defined ideologies and programs. Members are recruited on the basis of these fixed ideas. There is little room for disagreement within the ranks.

In the United States, political parties are loosely organized groups reflecting a broad spectrum of interests. They are truly popular parties in the sense that they accommodate diversity and are instruments of the will of the party activists at the grass roots level. Their ideologies, as stated in the party platforms, are formulated first at the local level, and are then refined at a series of meetings for successively larger geographic areas, through discussion and compromise, to become the party’s expressed national aims.

In Wisconsin this is done through the local party units in each community. Political issues are debated in these local units, and the members’ views are represented when the delegates they select to attend regional meetings take stands on these issues.

Every year in Wisconsin the delegates from the local political units meet in state convention to consider resolutions and to conduct other party business, including, in even-numbered years, drawing up their party’s state platform. Every 4 years delegates from throughout the United States meet in national convention to adopt a national platform expressing the party’s principles and goals for the succeeding 4 years and to nominate their candidates for president and vice president. In Wisconsin, national convention delegates have been chosen in the April presidential preference primary vote, but in 1984 the Democratic party selected its delegates by party caucus.

Depending on the time, place and circumstances, political party labels in the United States can have widely different meanings. Within a single party there is room for members who are scattered along the political spectrum. Individual Republicans and Democrats, for instance, are often further identified with the prefix “liberal” or “conservative”, “right-wing” or “left-wing”, and “moderate”.

In spite of the diversity within a party, however, specific philosophical attitudes are generally associated with major political parties. In the public’s perception, the name “Democratic” or “Republican” conjures up a surprisingly distinct set of economic, social and political principles.

Political parties in the United States have traditionally provided an organized framework for the orderly performance of several basic political tasks necessary to our form of government — a representative democracy. These functions include:

- 1) Providing a stable, continuing institution to build coalitions. The most visible product of integrating diverse interests is the party platform, a statement of shared principles and a priority agenda for action. If the party is successful in getting its candidates elected, it becomes the prospective policy of the government.

- 2) Selecting, recruiting and nominating persons as candidates for elective and appointive offices in government. If successful, these people become the government.

- 3) Helping the party’s slate of candidates get elected. To be elected requires organization, money, and the time, effort and expertise of many people. A party can assist its candidates in all campaign activities.

4) Educating people regarding public affairs and government by defining issues, taking policy positions and formulating programs to implement policy. If out of power, by criticizing and offering alternative solutions. Working for a party and its candidates is also a practical training ground in leadership, politics and government.

Throughout its history the United States has had a 2-party political system, rather than single-party or multi-party systems found elsewhere. While minor parties have always been with us, few third parties have gained the prominence necessary to challenge the 2 dominant political parties at the national level. The same cannot be said of politics on the state level. In Wisconsin, for example, the Socialist party regularly sent one or more Milwaukee representatives to the legislature between 1911 and 1937; and the Progressive party was strong between 1933 and 1947, capturing in 1937 a plurality of both houses of the Wisconsin Legislature.

Should You Join A Political Party?

The right of any citizen to join a political party of his or her choice is one of the freedoms we cherish. Unfortunately, most people leave the exercise of this right to others. For a variety of reasons, party membership is declining in the United States.

You participate in the political process whenever you vote, express an opinion on a public issue, join a special interest group, contact a legislator, sign a petition or nomination paper, or make a financial contribution to a candidate or pressure group. Even the act of voting, however, allows you to participate only to the extent of choosing one candidate committed to a particular policy over an opponent who advocates another course of action. You must choose between persons and policies already determined.

By active membership in a political party, you can have a more direct role in selecting our leaders and in determining the future policies of government. In a representative democracy such as ours, it is a major way citizens can become part of the political process and exercise control over their government.

Through various youth groups associated with political parties it is possible to participate in party activity even before you become old enough to vote. At any age, party membership can be a rewarding experience, interesting as well as educational.

Political parties need your support to be effective. If you think one party or another most closely reflects the broad set of principles by which you believe the nation or state should be governed, only your active participation in the organization and in electing its candidates will enable it to obtain the majority needed to carry out these policies.

If you think of yourself as an "independent", that is all the more reason to become active in a political party. Any party can benefit from independent thinking because only on that basis can old ideas be reexamined and fresh ideas born. Parties need periodic revitalization and new direction.

If you think party politics are "dirty", then that again is a good reason to become actively involved. Only if you are active can you help to "clean it up".

Finally, if you are sincerely interested in good government but think that you do not have enough time to become active in party politics, just consider how many other Americans could say the same thing and yet manage to do their share to have their opinions heard. Do not allow politics to become another spectator sport. Your participation will help to insure that, at all levels, ours will remain a government "of the people, by the people, for the people".

Wisconsin's Political History

In Wisconsin (as elsewhere) fluctuations in voting behavior frequently occur that deviate from general political trends. Such episodes are usually a reaction to specific personalities and events. More lasting changes in party allegiance, however, evolve more slowly, the result of fundamental social and economic changes. Wisconsin has been fortunate that its large immigrant population, such as the Germans and Scandinavians, provided the state with a relatively politically sophisticated population early in its history. A party's stand on issues became a more important determinant of party loyalty than ethnic and religious factors.

In How Wisconsin Voted, James R. Donoghue divided Wisconsin's political history into 4 eras. During the first era — from achieving statehood in 1848 to 1855, when the newly created Republican party first captured a major statewide office — the dominant political party in Wisconsin was the Democratic party. The Whig party provide major opposition. This alignment was an extension of that which generally prevailed during the state's territorial period. In 1854, the Republican party was formed in Ripon, Wisconsin out of the same conditions and events that led with such inevitability to the Civil War. These circumstances contributed to the rapid growth of the Republicans and the demise of the Whigs.

Simply put, the second era, from 1856 to 1900, was one of Republican domination. When it terminated at the turn of the century with the election of Robert M. La Follette, Sr. as Governor, Wisconsin politics entered upon a period of complexity and confusion.

The third era, from 1900 to 1945, was a time of great stress and change, encompassing the Great Depression and World Wars I and II. Until the official 1934 formation of the Progressive party with separate ballot position, political contests usually occurred within two factions of the Republican party — the conservative “stalwart” Republicans and the “progressive” (La Follette) Republicans — rather than between major parties. In effect, Wisconsin was a 3-party state during this period, with the 2 main contenders both labeled Republican and a Democratic party in eclipse as a major factor. Political contests tended to be decided in Republican primary elections.

After some early success within the Republican party, the progressive faction formally split from the party in 1934. The new Progressive party won gubernatorial elections in 1936 and 1942, but declining party vote toward the end of the era led to its dissolution in 1946. Progressive party leadership urged a return of its members and the voters to the Republican party. 1900 to 1945 was also the period of greatest strength of the Socialists. This era saw the high point of third party strength in Wisconsin.

The fourth era, from 1945 to the present, has been marked by a realignment and polarization of the major parties. A resurgence of the Democratic party ended the long Republican domination returning the state to a more balanced 2-party, competitive system. In the late 1940s some former Progressives, Socialists and others began moving into what has been described as a moribund Democratic party. This influx revitalized the party, as well as making it more liberal. In the following decade the Democrats worked at uniting the party and building their strength at the polls. Meanwhile, the conservative faction's control of the Republican party was solidified by the departure of the more liberal-minded Progressives and the addition of conservative Democrats fleeing their former party as it became more liberal.

In the years following World War II, the strengthening Democratic party began offering the majority Republicans serious election challenges. Steady Democratic growth culminated in the 1957 election of the first “new” Democrat to major statewide office (U.S. Senate). This turning point marked the emergence on Wisconsin's political scene of a Democratic party fully capable of competing successfully with the long dominant Republicans for public office. Third party and independent candidates have mostly failed to garner any significant support among the electorate.

The hallmark of contemporary Wisconsin politics is a highly competitive, 2-party, issue-oriented system — with the Democrats currently in ascendancy. Of major elected partisan offices in Wisconsin, in January 1985 the Democratic party held all 5 executive constitutional positions, one of two U.S. Senate seats, 5 of 9 congressional seats, and a majority in both houses of the state Legislature.

Statutory and Voluntary Organizations

Wisconsin law provides for various local “statutory” offices and committees throughout the state for each major political party. However, the actual power is found in the voluntary party organizations rather than in the statutory political party structure.

For the Democratic party of Wisconsin this is the State Administrative Committee; for the Republican party the actual party representation is found in the State Executive Committee. These 2 committees are, for each party, the top echelon of the active, dues-paying membership of the Wisconsin chapters of the national political party organizations.

The voluntary Democratic State Administrative Committee and the voluntary Republican State Executive Committee are the Democratic and Republican parties in Wisconsin. They attend to their party's interests between campaigns, collect money to finance campaigns, maintain cooperation between the various county and congressional district voluntary organizations, and execute, within the state, the directives of the national organizations.

Statutory Political Committees

State law provides for a political party committee organization (Sec. 8.17).

Party Committeemen and Committeewomen. The lowest level elective political party functionary recognized by state law is the committeeman or committeewoman who is the party's statutory representative within each election district and is elected to a 2-year term at the September primary in even-numbered years. Their names are placed on the ballot by the submission of nominating petitions signed by 20 to 40 electors in their district, based on the vote in the last preceding gubernatorial election. A committeeman or committeewoman is elected for each party from each election district. There is a residency requirement. No write-ins are permitted. If no candidate files nomination papers, the office shall not appear on the ballot, and the vacancy shall be filled by the party county committee.

From the standpoint of party coherence, the political parties find it desirable that the elected committeemen and committeewomen should also be the practicing, "card-carrying" activists of the party's voluntary organizations, and the parties attempt to convince their voluntary workers to seek the election district positions. However, this connection is not required by law, and frequently the persons elected are not members of the voluntary organizations.

The primary statutory responsibility of an election district committeeman or committeewoman is the submission to the appropriate municipal unit of a list of nominees to be appointed as election officials. Committeemen and committeewomen, by virtue of their office, are granted party credentials for participation in any caucus or convention called by their congressional or state committee. They act as liaison between their party and residents of the district they serve, appoint captains for each ward, and coordinate such activities as voter identification and registration, polling, and membership. Collectively, the committeemen and committeewomen possess the responsibility to serve on higher committees in the party's organizational structure.

County Committees. In general, the county committees of each party's statutory organization consist of the elected or appointed election district committeemen and committeewomen in the county. Membership on party congressional district and state committees derives from membership on the county committees.

A meeting of the county committee is held within 7 to 30 days after the completion of the canvass of the September primary. At least 7 days' written notice is required. This meeting is open to all party members in the county, each of whom is entitled to vote. At this meeting the county committee offices of chairman, vice chairman, secretary, treasurer and such additional officers and subcommittees as the committee feels necessary are filled by election. In addition, the county committee also elects the congressional district committee members. Individuals elected may be, but are not required to be, party committeemen or committeewomen. They are required to be party members in good standing.

Congressional District Committees. These committees consist of members elected by the county committees. Two persons are elected as members of the congressional district committee from each Assembly district wholly within one county or, for multi-county districts, one person from each Assembly district partially within the county. Additional persons may be elected so that a county has at least 2 committee members for each congressional district in which it is located. At least once per year, with 30 days written notice, the chairman of the congressional district committee shall call for a caucus of all party members in the district. Committee offices of chairman, vice chairman, secretary and treasurer are filled by the caucus. Individuals elected to these offices need not be members of the congressional committee. Each committee elects at least 2 persons to become members of the state committee, who may be, but are not required to be, members of the congressional district committee.

State Committee. The state committee may be composed solely of persons elected by the congressional district committees — at least 2 from each district — or may also include as many other members as called for and chosen in the manner prescribed in the constitution of the state committee.

Miscellaneous Committees. A committeeman or committeewoman residing in any political subdivision or Assembly district may organize a committee for their area by presenting a petition, signed by at least 25% of the committeemen and committeewomen who reside in the same area, to the congressional district committee, the chairman of which shall call the first meeting within 10 days of delivery of the petition (with 5 days' advance notice). Committee offices are filled by election in the same manner as county committees, and may be filled by persons who are not committeemen or committeewomen. Members retain their status on county committees. Assembly district committees shall also include those individuals elected by county committees as members of congressional district committees.

Presidential Electors. On the first Tuesday in October in each presidential election year, the state officers, the Senate and Assembly candidates nominated by each political party at the primary, and the hold-over state senators of each political party meet in the State Capitol for the purpose of selecting a slate of 11 presidential electors. One elector from each of Wisconsin's 9 congressional districts and 2 at-large electors — one for each U.S. Senator — are chosen. Each party certifies its list of presidential electors to the state Elections Board. Should the party poll a majority of the votes in the November presidential election, the persons so nominated meet in December to function as the state's presidential electors (Secs. 7.75 and 8.18).

Democratic Party of Wisconsin

State Administrative Committee. The Democratic party of Wisconsin is headed by a 42-member State Administrative Committee. All members of this committee are elected except when a vacancy occurs by resignation or death, then the state chairperson usually fills the vacancy with concurrence of the entire committee. Nine members of the committee are elected by state conventions. Appointed national committee members, district chairpersons, district representatives, the Milwaukee County chairperson, the Young Democrats representative, and legislative representatives are also members of the administrative committee. District chairpersons and 2 additional district representatives are elected at their respective district conventions, which are held each spring. The legislative representatives are elected by their caucuses preceding the beginning of each new term.

The members who are elected by the state convention serve varying lengths of time depending upon the office. The state chairperson, first vice chairperson, second vice chairperson, treasurer, and secretary are elected for 2-year terms. There are 4 national committee members who are elected each presidential election year and thus serve 4-year terms. The positions of state chairperson and of the next highest ranking position, first vice chairperson, have to be filled with a person of the opposite sex.

State Convention. The state convention meets annually in June. Delegates are elected by each county unit and sent as representatives from their counties. All party members are eligible for the delegate selection process. The number of delegates to represent each county is arrived at by a formula based on the number of county members and a percentage of the vote for governor in the last election. The convention considers resolutions and other party business and, in even-numbered years, adopts the state party platform.

Congressional District Organization; Executive Committee. The congressional district organizations of the Democratic party of Wisconsin are each directed by an executive committee. Unless the district constitution provides otherwise, this committee consists of the chairperson of the county or chartered local voluntary organizations in the congressional district and the officers of the district organization. The officers (chairperson, vice chairpersons, secretary, treasurer) are elected at the district conventions held in odd-numbered years. The main function of the district organization is to provide a base of support for congressional candidates.

County Organization; Party Membership. Upon payment of a small annual membership fee, any resident of the county subscribing to the principles of the Democratic party may become a member of the Democratic county voluntary organization. The state organization receives a part of each membership fee; the remainder is, in accordance with the constitution of the Democratic party of Wisconsin, kept by the county organization.

Each county unit elects its chairperson and vice chairpersons. The offices of secretary and of treasurer may be filled separately, or by one person. Terms of office are generally for one year, but individual county organizations may provide for 2-year terms. The officers of the county committee are elected directly by the county membership.

Ward Unit. In general the basic geographical units of the Democratic voluntary organization in Wisconsin are the county organizations. However, in Milwaukee County the county organization is subdivided into ward units.

Republican Party of Wisconsin

State Officers and Executive Committee. The officers of the voluntary organization of the Republican party of Wisconsin are a chairman, 5 vice chairmen, a secretary, and a treasurer. The chairman, secretary, treasurer, and the first and second vice chairmen are selected by the State Executive Committee from among the membership of the party and need not, prior to their selection, have been members of the State Executive Committee. All officers serve 2-year terms.

Either the first or second vice chairman must, under the party's constitution, be a woman and is charged with the direction of Republican women's activities within the state. The third vice chairman is selected by the county chairmen. The president of the Wisconsin Federation of Republican Women serves as the fourth vice chairman, and the chairman of the Wisconsin Federation of Young Republicans serves as the fifth vice chairman of the voluntary organization.

The national committeeman, the national committeewoman, and the chairman of the Republican Finance Committee of Wisconsin are additional officers of the Republican party of Wisconsin. One representative of the Republican members of the State Senate, one of the Republican members in the Assembly, and one representative of the Republican members of Wisconsin's congressional delegation — selected by each group at caucus — serve as nonvoting members of the executive committee.

The leadership of the voluntary organization of the Republican party of Wisconsin is vested in the State Executive Committee. This committee consists of the officers of the voluntary organization, plus the chairman and vice chairman from each of the state's 9 congressional districts. In addition, 2 representatives of the Young Republicans serve on the State Executive Committee; these must be from 2 different congressional districts and one of them must be a woman. The chairman of the Wisconsin College Republicans also serves as a member of the committee.

With the consent of the State Executive Committee, the state chairman appoints a state finance chairman and such other officers and employees as the chairman shall deem advisable.

State Convention. The state party convention meets in May, June or July of each year. Delegates are selected by the county units. Representation accorded to each county unit is based on one delegate for each 250 Republican votes at the last general election, plus one additional delegate from each county. In election years the convention adopts a party platform and may endorse candidates for the primary election. At every state convention, resolutions are adopted and other party business is conducted.

Congressional District Organization. In each congressional district, the voluntary Republican organization elects a chairman, a vice chairman, a secretary and a treasurer. The district organization usually functions together with an executive committee consisting of the county chairmen of the district. The district organization is charged with coordination of the activities of the county organizations in the district, with special emphasis on the election of Republican congressmen from the district.

County Organization. The county committees are elected in county caucus prior to May 1 of the odd-numbered years. The county committee has the following officers: a chairman and a first vice chairman (one of these is a woman), a secretary and treasurer.

Wisconsin in the National Party Organizations

At the top of the permanent party organizations is the national committee, which acts as the governing body of the party throughout the United States.

According to the charter adopted at the 1974 Democratic Conference on Party Organization and Policy in Kansas City, the Democratic National Committee is composed of (a) the chairman and the highest ranking officer of the opposite sex in each recognized state Democratic party, (b) 200 members apportioned to the states on the same basis as delegates to the national convention, and (c) other specified members.

Within the Republican national organization, the state chairman (in Wisconsin the chairman of the Republican Executive Committee) is a member of the national committee.

The members of the national committees on the state level are selected for each party at the party's state convention. The term of the members of the national committees is 4 years, from one national convention to the next. Each committee serves until its successor committee has been elected at the next national convention. The national committees of the political parties are charged with the organization of the next national conventions of their parties, the direction of the presidential campaign immediately following their election, and the formulation of a national campaign program to be carried out on the state level by the state organizations.

The selection of the Wisconsin members for the Republican National Committee is in the form of an instruction to the party's delegates to the national convention. At the Republican National Convention, the Wisconsin delegates place the names selected by the state convention in nomination as Wisconsin's national committeeman and committeewoman. The entire slate of nominations, combining the nominations received from all state delegations, is then inserted at the national convention into the resolution creating the party's national committee for the next 4 years, and voted on by the national convention as a whole.

WISCONSIN CONSTITUTION PARTY PLATFORM

Adopted at the State Party Convention, August 19, 1984

Adopting Resolution

Be it resolved that the Constitution Party of Wisconsin assembled in Platform Convention this 19th day of August, 1984 hereby adopts the (17) seventeen resolutions unanimously adopted by the National Convention of the Populist Party at Nashville, Tennessee, together with an instrument entitled "State Supplement to National Platform" as and to be the 1984 election platform of said Constitution Party of Wisconsin, said platform as so adopted being attached hereto dated the date hereof and hereby incorporated by reference.

State Supplement to National Platform

Preamble

We believe in the Free Enterprise system and oppose Fascism, Socialism, Communism, and all other forms of totalitarian government which deprive men of life, liberty, and property. We recognize the family as the essential and basic unit of a free civilization. We champion the rights and dignity of the individual and believe in less government, more individual responsibility and a better world under God.

1. Education

The Constitution Party fully supports the concept of equal education for every American child. We believe that education is a local responsibility and we are unalterably committed to the preservation of the neighborhood school without federal control or interference. We believe that the educational dollar should be spent for improved classroom instruction, not for unproductive busing of pupils for the purposes of racial balance, for bilingual education, or for social experimentation. We strongly reaffirm our opposition to the described busing and to the transfer of teachers for similar purposes.

We support all necessary legislation to encourage the development of systems of private education including tax setoffs for parents who choose to place their children in private schools.

We support the concept of voluntary non-denominational prayer in the public schools. We would protect the right of an individual not to participate, but do not believe the minority has the right to bar participation by the majority in desired religious exercises. We will resist any and all attempts by governmental agencies such as H.E.W. and the National Institute on Mental Health, to use our educational systems to experiment with, or capture the minds and lives of our children through such programs as "National Child Advocacy System", sex-education, sensitivity training, and drug experimentation.

We favor placing our schools under the jurisdiction of parents and their local school boards, and support school financing by local taxation.

2. Law and Order

A. Crime and Violence

The main, if not sole, reason for government is to protect us from people who threaten to take our lives, our liberty or our property. We must repeal laws, or overturn decisions, that handcuff our police, make a mockery of criminal trials and turn the criminal free to find new victims. Only the speed, certainty and severity of punishment will make our streets safe again.

B. Guns

The Constitution of the United States preserves to every citizen the right to keep and bear arms. Licensing and registration lead to confiscation. History teaches that rampant criminality, followed by dictatorship and tyranny, always result from the enactment of gun control laws.

C. Police

We support the concept of local police, and their local control. Federal funding of local police establishes a basis for a National Police Force. History shows that National Police Forces become secret, terrorist arms of dictatorial government...Gestapos, KGB's, etc. Civilian review boards, limitations on police weapons, sensitivity training, the Federal Law Enforcement Assistance Administration (LEAA), etc. in reality destroy police officer morale and performance.

D. Judiciary

End judicial usurpation of the Constitution process by requiring Federal judges at the District Court level to be elected by the people, by requiring Federal judges at the appellate level, including Supreme Court Justices, to be reconfirmed in their appointments every four years, and by congressional action ending appellate jurisdiction of the federal courts in state constitutional cases. Continuation of an independent judiciary responsible to the electorate in the state level, Grand Jury and John Doe reform. A return to publication of all decisions of State Appellate Courts either in typewritten or printed form. Publication of all Federal Rules and Regulations in the State Register, if they are to be enforced by State Agencies, to conform to the Wisconsin Constitutional requirements.

3. Housing

A. Urban Renewal

Halt this totally unconstitutional program and demand that the vast government held urban properties be sold at fair market value to again be placed on the tax rolls for productive use by private owners.

B. Public Housing

Oppose all public, subsidized and scatter site housing.

C. Zoning

Encourage a re-examination of the concept of zoning laws, since the rights allegedly protected by zoning are in truth fully protected by other laws. Thus, zoning becomes a thinly veiled theft of the right to determine property use from those who worked to own their land to local, collectivist planners and opportunists.

4. Consumerism

A. Protection

Only government can maintain a monopoly, and we are unrelenting in our opposition to such monopolies. These monopolies have stifled competition and thus denied the average man the finest in goods and services at the lowest possible prices.

B. Goods

The government's duty to protect the lives and safety of its citizens is met by giving those citizens the right to redress in the courts in the event the purchaser of goods or services doesn't get what he contracted for or suffers injury, illness or death because of a faulty product. The government has no other business in the market place.

C. Drugs and Pornography

They are destroying the minds, the bodies and the very spirit of many of our young people, leading to crimes, accidents and other grave misfortunes. Anyone convicted of selling or supplying drugs or pornographic material to any minor should be handed a stiff, and mandatory, jail sentence.

5. Taxes

A. Services Rendered vs. Property Value

There is no reason in logic why the size of a man's tax bill should depend on the value of his home. One man may put everything into a valuable home while another with the same income may live in a modest home and put his money into stocks. Taxes should depend on the services rendered the home; the greater the services rendered, the higher the tax. Neither property nor income taxes should pay for other state services. People who use other state services should pay for them. If the users don't want to pay for these other services, non-users should not be compelled to do so. Rather the services should be discontinued.

B. Amendment

We encourage full consideration of a constitutional amendment reflecting long standing and never refuted studies establishing that if the federal government is restricted to its constitutional functions, the present Socialist income, estate and gift tax programs can be eliminated at a proven gain of about 20% to the average American wage earner.

C. Local Sales

Municipalities should be permitted to fund locally legitimate and necessary programs by enacting nominal sales tax legislation as an alternative to, and partial or total replacement of oppressive income and property taxes.

6. World Government

A. "Regional" or "Metro"

Unknown to most Americans, the U.S.A.'s division into 10 federal regions, and the division of the states into accommodating federal sub-regions (Wisconsin has been so divided into 8 sub-regions for over eight years) should be exposed for what it is: An unconstitutional scheme to destroy the states, counties and cities and replace their elected officials with federally appointed bureaucrats. It is part of the scheme to fasten a federal DICTATORSHIP on America...Wisconsinites better wake up to it and fast!

B. U.N. out of Wisconsin

If it is clear that most of our federal officials want America to become just another state in a one world socialist government, it is even clearer that most citizens want nothing to do with a madness that would cost us our personal freedom and material abundance — without even the consolation that our loss would be somebody's gain. We must enact legislation, as a contracting state superior to the federal agency we created, that will prevent the federal government from committing Wisconsin to any such undertaking.

C. Federal Revenue Sharing

Wisconsin must not participate. It would only raise our taxes by effectively removing our present debt ceiling. Further, the scheme is one involving matching funds, so we'd have to tax more to get more. Further, the only funds the federal government can share are those it first takes away from us. Further, how can the federal government share anything? It admits to being 800 billion in the red! Finally, if the government really wants us to have this money, why do they take it away from us in the first place? The answer, of course, is that when they give it back, they give it with controls. That's the name of this deadly game.

7. Family

A. Equal Rights Amendment

We applaud equal opportunity in employment and equal wages for all workers performing equal work. But we strongly oppose the militants who would demean the role of wives and mothers in the family.

B. Respect For Life

A woman has a right to control her body, but the infant within her is a separate living being from the moment of conception and the deliberate taking of a life, when not necessary to save the mother, is murder. If we recognize any right to take a life, other than in self-defense or Biblically ordained capital punishment, then we are left to quarrel only about when it can be taken — and whoever is in power can change that at whim.

C. Population Control

At no level, federal, state or local, is the government obligated to feed us. We are obligated to feed ourselves and our families, and if we cannot, we must ask help from our relatives or from private charitable institutions. Therefore, since it is not the government's obligation to feed us or our families, the government doesn't have to worry about the number of children I have. But if the government can convince us, through massive welfare programs over a long period of time, that it is obligated to us, then it can make me believe it has a right to tell me how many children we can have. Let's keep our minds clear on this governmental maneuver to control population.

8. Government Custody

A. Welfare

Nobody wants to shove aside the aged, blind and disabled. They should be provided the current necessities of life from the local level. But we oppose handouts to the able bodies who refuse to work or produce illegitimates rather than work. Best estimates are that 1 in 5 are receiving aid fraudulently because of poor investigation of recipients. Both "walk-in" and "mail in" welfare must be halted. Make the welfare rolls open to public inspection.

B. Prisons

We oppose all proposals to close the prisons and free the prisoners, which is what most so-called "prison reform" is all about. Prisons are for punishment as well as rehabilitation. We should stress civic responsibility and vocational training in our penal institutions. And we should let the prisoner know that if he commits a crime after his release, he's in for a rough time, not a paid vacation.

C. Environment

The solution to pollution is not in turning the problem over to government nor in destroying our free economic system. Rather, we urge the enforcement of common and statutory laws affecting these matters; and we are confident that the inventive genius of a free people in a competitive economic system will find brilliant solutions — as, in fact, is right now being done.

9. Government Interference

A. Reapportionment

Our Constitution gives no basis for federal intervention into the make-up of State Legislatures based on "one man, one vote" and we firmly believe Wisconsin should choose its legislature and presidential electors as Wisconsinites see fit.

B. Freedom of Contract

Men should be free to enter into, or not enter into, contracts affecting the rental or sale of property, real or personal, and contracts establishing terms of employment and the right to bargain collectively, without interference by government. This would eliminate forced housing, racial quotas, compulsory working hours, compulsory arbitration and a host of other factors which are none of the government's business.

C. Freedom of Association

Anybody ought to be able to set up any private club or association anytime, anywhere, with such membership rules as he sees fit, without interference from anyone else, and certainly without the government telling him who he's got to associate with, either in his business or his recreation hours.

D. Federal Trespassing

We strongly oppose acts of federal agents which constitute inspection, search and seizure in violation of Article I, Section 8 of the Constitution of the United States.

WISCONSIN DEMOCRATIC PARTY PLATFORM

Adopted at the State Party Convention, June 10, 1984

Preamble

We believe a just society is based on the freedom and equality of all its people. Our government must recognize human dignity and rights and foster an awareness of mutual dependence and responsibilities.

Although we honor our political system best approaches this ideal society, we recognize that there are still inequities and pledge our best efforts to end them.

Our government must encourage personal development and provide free and equal access to the means for developing full potential. Government must ensure the continued improvement and safety of the community and be concerned with our physical, economic and sociocultural environment.

Our nation is best served by vigorous and open political parties. We promise that the Democratic Party of Wisconsin will stand open to all citizens, respond sensitively to the needs of every part of our society and work actively for an honest and open government that is responsible to the will of the people.

We expect Democratic candidates and officials to support and work to implement the platform so it may become the law of the land.

Jobs with Peace

We recognize that it is impossible to achieve our Democratic agenda without significantly altering federal spending priorities. As our top goal, we therefore call on all Wisconsinites to join the fight to make more money available for jobs and programs — in education, transportation, housing, health care, human services, and other socially productive industries — by significantly reducing the amount of our tax dollars spent on nuclear weapons, foreign military intervention and wasteful military programs; these policies will provide a healthy economy, true national security, and jobs with peace.

The Economy and Taxes

We recognize unemployment, inflation, huge deficits and high interest rates as key issues facing us today. We do not believe that tax cuts for the wealthy, excessive military spending, severe budget cutting in human programs, and reductions in the living standard of working people will solve these problems.

We reject efforts on the part of the Reagan administration to transfer most of the funding responsibility for government programs to state and local levels. This policy will result in no real saving of tax dollars, but will merely encourage movement of businesses from high to low tax areas.

We assert that our economy must instead be revitalized by 1) channeling funds for domestic needs away from inflationary military spending and 2) supporting programs which encourage full employment and increased purchasing power for our people.

We stand for a fair and progressive tax system which will achieve our economic goals through:

Development of additional, progressive revenue sources to reduce property tax funding for education and social services;
 Enactment of an employment tax credit;
 Reviewing tax exemptions to ensure equity;
 Improving the corporate income tax by 1) eliminating loopholes and 2) increasing the progressivity of graduated tax rates to assist small businesses;
 Scrutinizing industrial revenue bonds to ensure new job creation;
 Tax laws which encourage family ownership of farms and small businesses; and Exploration of alternative funding sources for Social Security to protect the integrity of benefits.

Agricultural and Rural Affairs

We are committed to preserving agriculture as the cornerstone of our society. We find President Reagan's total disregard for rural America disheartening.

We must:

- Protect family farms and limit farming by nonfarm interests;
- Enact a moratorium on principal payments for family-owned farms threatened by foreclosure;
- Closely monitor the foreclosure activities of the Farmers Home Administration (FHA);
- Require the FHA to competitively bid for farms;
- Increase support for FHA office personnel;
- Create job retraining programs for displaced farmers and agricultural workers;
- Enact income limits on federal farm payment programs to corporations;
- Require dairy processors to sell a sizable portion of their products on the open market before selling to the Commodity Credit Corporation;
- Enact a graduated parity program for milk production on a per-family basis with supply management provisions;
- Ban the import of sodium caseinate;
- Revise price supports upward;
- Strongly support the Wisconsin Farmland Preservation Program;
- Protect agricultural land from urban sprawl, commercial speculation and destruction of topsoil and water supplies;
- Enact new federal farm homestead legislation;
- Enact a beginning farmers' program;
- Support integrated pest management and reduced use of pesticides;
- Increase incentives for agricultural development, use of nonpolluting, renewable energy sources and topsoil preservation;
- Encourage farmer owned cooperatives to increase control over farm production at all stages;
- Authorize anti-trust action against grain cartels; and
- Inspect, regulate, label and establish quality standards for domestic and imported farm products.

Labor and Employment

Working men and women are the backbone of our economy. We believe in the inalienable right of all workers to organize, bargain collectively and strike.

Full employment is our top priority. We need a national industrial policy to ensure the survival of our basic industries.

The public is continually forced to pay for the costs that result when a business closes or reduces jobs. Older workers are especially involved in this process. Businesses which cut back on jobs have a moral responsibility to help affected communities and workers adjust.

Toward these ends, we advocate:

- Opposition to a "right to work" law in Wisconsin;
- Requiring businesses to notify workers at least six months in advance of employment reductions, plant shut downs and sellouts;
- Requiring businesses to share the costs of retraining and relocating displaced workers;
- Supporting employee efforts to protect and control their pension fund investments;
- Expanding programs to help workers and the unemployed organize and manage their own businesses;
- Stringent enforcement of safety and health regulations and accountability for occupational diseases and deaths;
- Unemployment compensation benefits which have lower requirements for wages and weeks employed, no waiting period, and an extended duration when unemployment is high;
- A right to sue for wrongful discharge;
- Protecting employees who report suspected illegal acts of private employers;
- Protecting employees who report suspected mismanagement, fraud or other misconduct in public agencies;
- Fact-finding, mediation and binding arbitration to avert the need for strikes in the public sector;
- Securing collective bargaining rights to all University of Wisconsin faculty, graduate assistants and academic staff;
- Amendment of the state's collective bargaining laws to include
  - 1) negotiation on classifications and their pay ranges and
  - 2) a provision to "grandfather" "permissive" bargaining subjects in existing contracts as "mandatory" bargaining subjects;
- Settling public employee contracts prior to completion of the budget process with an interest penalty for unduly delayed settlements;
- Opposing residency requirements for public employees;
- Quick resolution of the inequities facing state limited term employees;
- A living wage, safe and sanitary working conditions and reasonable hours for migrant agricultural workers;

Equal pay for work of comparable value;
 Opposition to reducing the minimum wage for teenagers;
 Spreading the available work by 1) discouraging excessive use of overtime and 2) supporting early voluntary retirement without loss of pension rights;
 Encouraging job sharing, flexible scheduling and part-time work with full benefits;
 Government training and employment when necessary;
 Passage of federal "auto content" legislation;
 Stringent controls on job and work relief programs to protect existing employees from displacement;
 Standards for subsidies for private job creation based on dollar amount spent per job created with independent monitoring;
 Restoring fairness to the National Labor Relations Board;
 Protecting employees' First Amendment rights and relaxing the Hatch Act; and Protecting employees from all forms of harassment, including sexual harassment.

Environment, Energy and Transportation

Our survival depends on environmental protection and responsible energy use and development. We dedicate ourselves to an ecological conscience that emphasizes preservation of our land, water, air and wilderness resources. We advocate a diversified energy supply system with decentralized production and control that fosters development of safe, renewable, nonpolluting, domestic energy resources.

Environment

We call for:

Opposition to the Reagan policy of exploiting our resources and public lands for private profit;
 A moratorium on exploration for or mining of uranium;
 A moratorium on mining until groundwater standards have been set at nondegradation;
 Strict enforcement of environmental protection laws;
 Strengthening efforts to protect wetlands and surface and groundwater quality and supplies;
 Reducing sulfur dioxide emissions to resolve the acid rain problem;
 Development of responsible methods for solid and toxic waste disposal with public review;
 Opposition to project ELF under any name;
 Opposition to disposal in Wisconsin of nuclear waste produced elsewhere;
 Preserving and expanding wilderness and natural areas to provide protection for wildlife and endangered species;
 Ending use of the steel-jaw leghold trap;
 Adoption of conservation and recycling programs; and Reducing noise pollution.

Energy

We advocate:

Public, nonprofit ownership and control of utilities and large scale energy producing industries;
 Increasing tax incentives for renewable energy resource systems and conservation;
 Opposition to energy demanding or environmentally degrading energy production methods;
 Using domestic coal as a primary energy source only if cleanly burned;
 Opposition to construction of new nuclear power plants;
 An orderly phaseout of existing nuclear power plants to begin immediately;
 That companies responsible for transportation of nuclear materials must inform communities of their activities and safety plans;
 Ensuring public utilities charge ratepayers only for costs associated with service provision; and Supporting an elected Public Service Commission.

Transportation

We propose:

A coordinated, multi-facility transportation system that encourages energy conservation and expansion of rail service;
 Opposition to unnecessary, substantial new highway construction in Wisconsin;
 Encouraging production of energy efficient automobiles;
 Vehicle registration fees based on fuel consumption efficiency; and Opposition to use of tandem-trailer trucks on two-lane highways and of heavier or longer trucks on state roads.

Foreign and Military Affairs-World Peace

Awesome developments in atomic, chemical and biological weapons have made military solutions to international disputes immoral and obsolete, while increasing the need for world cooperation. We believe our nation's defense is weakened if military spending is increased at the expense of social programs and fiscal stability. We demand the immediate transfer of funds from the military budget to local job creation and other essential programs.

Foreign affairs should be conducted to serve the interest of the world's people rather than corporations. Civilian control over the military's practices is necessary to prevent sacrifices in human life and resources.

Economic domination and intervention in the internal affairs of weaker nations by stronger nations must cease. Global problems like hunger, pollution and resource conservation require global solutions. People should think of themselves not only as citizens of their nation but of their world.

Strengthening International Cooperation

We recommend:

Increasing our reliance on and abiding by the decisions of the World Court;
 Developing the United Nations into an equitable, federal system with power to deal with global problems while ensuring national control of domestic affairs;

Forming a permanent peacekeeping force, mediation service and world disarmament agency under the United Nations;

Working for reforms and continuing our membership in UNESCO;

Increasing efforts toward conciliation with the Soviet Union;

Negotiating the creation of a U.S.-Soviet joint crisis center;

Ratifying the conventions to implement the Universal Declaration of Human Rights;

Forming a United States Peace Academy;

Increasing economic and technical aid channeled through the United Nations;

Establishing a world food reserve from national surpluses;

That the State Investment Board divest all holdings in military industries and racist governments;

A just Mideast peace settlement recognizing the rights of Israelis and Palestinians to freedom and self-determination within negotiated boundaries;

Economic sanctions against racist governments such as South Africa, including divestiture of state investments;

Self-determination for all Central American countries;

Ending all efforts to destabilize the government of Nicaragua;

A state trade commission to and increased cultural exchange with Nicaragua;

Eliminating military aid to El Salvador and immediately withdrawing American troops from Honduras;

National and international regulation of corporations to prevent exploitative practices such as 1) dumping contaminated or banned products abroad and 2) promoting and selling products such as infant milk formula to societies unable to use them safely;

An immigration policy reflective of our commitment to provide refuge and freedom to the oppressed;

Promoting equitable, international fair trade practices;

Supporting multilateral trade negotiations; and Ratifying the Law of the Sea Treaty.

De-emphasizing Militarism

We call for:

Total nuclear disarmament by all nations, beginning with an immediate freeze on construction, testing and deployment of nuclear weapons;

A comprehensive test-ban treaty;

Adopting policy of no first use of nuclear weapons;

Pulling back battlefield nuclear weapons to create a nuclear-free buffer zone across Europe;

Nonproliferation of nuclear technology and materials;

Opposition to costly and destabilizing new weapons systems such as the MX missile;

Eliminating funding for nuclear war civil defense;

Sharply reducing our arms exports and troop strength in foreign countries;

Cost-competitive bidding for military contracts and replacement parts;

Banning the production and deployment of biological and chemical weapons;

Regulation of biological, chemical and nuclear weapons transportation and manufacture by state, county and local governments;

Ending military aid to dictatorships;

Opposition to military conscription and compulsory registration;

Ensuring that rights of conscience are scrupulously respected and men and women are equally included if military conscription is adopted; and

Setting up a World Peace Tax Fund as an alternative for persons conscientiously opposed to paying taxes for military purposes.

Veterans Affairs

We endorse provision of health, housing, education and employment opportunities for needy veterans and those who have performed alternative service. Veterans with upgraded discharges should be entitled to full veterans' benefits.

To this end, we support:

Continued funding for rehabilitation of the disabled;

Strong efforts to seek out, treat and provide disability compensation for veterans and others exposed to Agent Orange or nuclear fallout;

Releasing the funds for the congressionally mandated post-traumatic-stress disorder treatment program for Vietnam veterans;

Equal benefit access for Wisconsin residents of five years;

Reopening the program which considers upgrading less-than-desirable discharges; and Civil Service preference points for veterans limited to the original hiring.

Human Rights

We believe in equal rights, privileges, opportunities and immunities for all individuals without regard to color, sex, age, class, occupation, national origin, ancestry, handicap, physical appearance, living arrangements, sexual, religious, or political preference or marital status.

While civil rights laws have been enacted to assure such equality, many individuals and institutions have been negligent in meeting the requirements of these laws. We therefore strongly support a greater commitment to implementation and enforcement of existing laws.

Sex role stereotyping is an important problem for men and women. Women have been excluded from full participation in the working world and positions of responsibility and influence in politics and the community. Men have been denied opportunities to equally participate in raising their children.

We support freedom of reproductive choice and believe in the right of all women, including those who receive public assistance, to elect an abortion under safe and legal conditions. Mature minors have the constitutional right to obtain reproductive services on their own consent with preservation of confidentiality.

We support the right to freedom and self-determination for members of American Indian Tribes and the inviolability of all treaties with the United States Government.

We support the individual's right to die with dignity, including the right to refuse life-sustaining assistance.

Equal Rights and Affirmative Action

We propose:

- An expanded commitment to recruitment, promotional, employment and job retention opportunities for minorities, senior citizens, women and handicapped persons;
- Enforcing and strengthening existing laws prohibiting discrimination in employment and housing;
- Expanding the protection of the 1964 Civil Rights act by including "sexual or affectional preference";
- That individuals may go directly to circuit court to file discrimination suits after filing a complaint with the State Equal Rights Division;
- Vigorous enforcement of and adequate funding for the 1964 Voting Rights Act;
- Passage of a federal Equal Rights Amendment;
- Retraining, counseling and health insurance for displaced homemakers;
- Increasing funds for programs and interagency cooperation to prevent family abuse, assist abused victims and support single parents;
- Pension and medical benefits for divorced spouses of military personnel;
- Expanding services, funding and health insurance coverage for prevention and early termination of unwanted pregnancies; and
- Opposition to efforts to limit the right of women to elect termination of unwanted pregnancies.

Senior Citizens

All senior citizens should have the opportunity to lead dignified, healthy and useful lives.

We therefore propose:

- Equitable financial assistance, particularly passing through social security benefit increases to supplemental security income beneficiaries;
- Adequate health care, low income housing and low cost transportation;
- Multi-purpose senior citizen service centers;
- Strict regulation of and ending segregation of Medicaid/Medicare from private-pay residents in nursing homes;
- Opposing taxation of retirement income for the low income elderly;
- Ending mandatory retirement;
- Opposition to cuts in pension plans, Social Security, Medicare and Medicaid, including increases in co-payment or co-insurance requirements;
- Simplification of Medicaid/Medicare procedures to ensure full use of coverage; and
- Including capable senior citizens in the staffing of programs designed for their benefit.

Law Enforcement

We support the right of individuals to be secure against injury to their person and property. We advocate strong efforts to deal effectively with crime and protect the rights of persons suspected of committing crimes. We believe full employment will reduce crime incidents.

To achieve these goals, we call for:

- Restitution, protection and legal aid for victims and witnesses of crimes;
- Funding of proper legal representation for all needy persons;
- Opposition to determinate sentencing;
- Opposition to the death penalty;
- Seeking alternatives to new prison construction;
- Opposition to reduction of the flexibility of the bail system;
- Emphasizing habilitation in prison reform and community correction alternatives;
- Elected commissions to monitor police and fire department practices to ensure fair treatment of all residents;
- Banning the sale of easily concealed handguns; and
- Criminal penalties for individuals involved in any aspect of animal or fowl fighting.

Education

Elementary and Secondary Education

We strongly support public school education. We also endorse self-supporting, certified private schools. All children have the right to a quality education which takes into account their individual needs. To achieve this goal, we call for:

- Increasing federal and state funding;
- Opposition to tuition tax credits and vouchers;
- Opposition to prayer sessions in public schools;
- Increasing emphasis on basic skills such as reading, writing and arithmetic;
- Improving job skill training;
- Each school system to adopt proficiency standards;
- Parental involvement in health and sex education programs and alcohol and drug abuse counseling;
- Federal and state funding for drug awareness programs;
- Full implementation of programs for children with learning disabilities, emotional disturbances and physical or mental handicaps;
- Including the study of labor history in the high school curriculum;
- Creation of programs for gifted children, minority studies and high school dropouts;
- Increasing state funding for efforts to 1) promote voluntary two-way integration and 2) eliminate sex role stereotyping; and
- Providing at least 70% state funding for the employment of psychologists, social workers, counselors and exceptional education experts.

Postsecondary Education

Wisconsin has traditionally provided low cost, high quality education to its citizens. We call for increased financial support to ensure that this tradition continues. In addition, we advocate:

- No increase in the 27.3% share of instruction costs which University of Wisconsin System students pay;
- Popular election of vocational-technical school boards;
- Evaluation of higher education and vocational-technical institutions and elimination of unnecessary program duplication;
- Part-time and evening degree programs in professional schools;
- Negotiation of college reciprocity agreements between Wisconsin and neighboring states;
- Expansion of scholarship, grant and work-study opportunities for low income and/or minority students;
- No requirement for draft registration in order to receive financial aid;
- The option of completing a college degree under the WEOP program;
- Strong support of students' rights to actively participate in university governance; and
- Appointing a student to the Board of Regents.

Health and Welfare

We believe health care access is a right to be shared equally by all members of society regardless of their ability to pay or geographic location. Consumers and health care providers must share control of health care. We favor alternative health care delivery systems and preventive medicine programs.

We support the efforts of elderly or disabled people to live independently at home or in community living arrangements.

We assert that all citizens are entitled to an adequate income and the understanding, respect and concern of the community. Anyone willing and able to work should be guaranteed a job.

Toward these ends, we call for:

- A comprehensive, national health service program with coverage for preventive care, mental health and dental care services, freedom to choose the provider and adequate fiscal controls;
- A health insurance program for the unemployed and underemployed;
- Assistance for individuals with catastrophic illnesses;
- Serious health care cost containment without shifting costs to low income individuals;
- An emphasis on less costly care, including outpatient treatment and homecare;
- Increasing student financial aid for health care personnel who agree to work in areas of great need;
- Quality day care centers for children with a sliding scale fee subsidy for low income families;
- Aids to establish day care centers for the handicapped and frail elderly;
- A congregate housing services program;
- Compensation to individuals injured in research projects;
- Public sector jobs for the unemployed at a living wage rate;
- A negative income tax;
- State and federal funding and uniform eligibility standards for public assistance to needy persons;
- Expansion of the food stamp program and enactment of an energy stamp program; and
- Waiving the waiting period for welfare eligibility for migrant agricultural worker families in emergency cases.

Urban Affairs

We pledge to work for the revitalization of metropolitan areas and to combat the decline of our inner cities. Government should promote greater understanding, appreciation and cooperation among the various socio-economic, ethnic, religious and cultural groups in urban areas.

To attain these goals, we favor:

- Expanding efforts to promote new and rehabilitated housing in central cities, including continuation of the Wisconsin Home Rehabilitation Loan Program and homesteading;
- Forbidding red-lining in the financing or insuring of businesses and residences;
- Extension of redemption periods in foreclosure actions;
- Opposition to condominium conversion that displaces elderly or low income residents;
- Supporting cooperative home ownership;
- Flexible adjustments to levy limits to allow better response to local needs;
- State funding of state mandated programs; and
- Fiscal analyses of state mandated programs that rigorously identify impact on localities.

Consumer Protection

Every Wisconsin citizen should be fully informed and protected when seeking goods and services.

We therefore favor:

- Universal access to residential telephone service;
- No access charges for long distance telephone service;
- Opposition to local measured service billing;
- Opposition to legalizing the formation of utility holding companies;
- Incorporation of consumer education into already existing courses in public schools;
- Vigorous enforcement and strengthening of all consumer protection laws and opposition to weakening the Wisconsin Product Liability Law;
- State regulatory bodies with a majority of individuals deriving less than ten percent of their income from the regulated field;
- Establishing statewide voluntary arbitration panel systems to permit swift, inexpensive and out-of-court settlements;
- A "no-fault" insurance law to speed handling of personal injury and property damage claims;
- Mandatory liability insurance for all licensed vehicles;
- Administrative rules providing for licensing and discipline of independent insurance adjusters; and
- Requiring prior approval of all insurance rate increases.

Responsive Government and Citizen Protection

We believe in enlarging public participation in the political process to the greatest extent possible. To facilitate this, we favor:

- Strengthening and vigorously enforcing the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) and creating a Wisconsin FOIA;
- Vigorous enforcement of the open meeting law;
- Public financial disclosures by candidates for public office and elected or appointed officials;
- Public financing for Wisconsin political parties;
- A state income tax check-off for contributions to political parties;
- Raising the allowable deduction for contributions to political parties to one hundred dollars for an individual and two hundred dollars for a couple;
- Eliminating unnecessary complexity in financial reporting forms for political parties or candidates;
- Opposition to efforts to remove federal court jurisdiction for special interest areas;
- Strengthening legislation protecting citizens from invasion of privacy;
- Regulating access to personal data in computer banks or transmission;
- Opposition to any expansion of intelligence or law enforcement agencies' powers that infringe on constitutional rights or the right of dissent;
- Opposition to monitoring of private telephone conversations by telephone companies and other businesses;
- Opposition to elimination of county courthouse elected officers from the November ballot;
- Placing elected official recall attempts under the jurisdiction of the State Elections Board and its rules for candidates;
- A minimally restrictive delegate selection procedure which restores the Wisconsin presidential preference primary in compliance with national party rules;
- Greater participation of grass-roots Democrats in the national delegate selection process; and
- Opposition to excessively high thresholds in the delegate selection process.

WISCONSIN LABOR AND FARM PARTY PLATFORM

Adopted at the State Party Convention, June 10, 1984

EXPANDING THE CONCEPTS OF PEOPLE'S RIGHTS

We believe that it is important for our anti-monopoly party to put forth a transitional program which consists of short-term demands that are consciously tied to a visionary goal. We believe that each short-term demand should meet an immediate need while also serving as a basis for our long-range goals.

We believe that these long-range goals require that we advocate political and economic structures which encourage and enable people to transcend the structural limits imposed by monopoly capitalism. We submit that such a transformation must be accompanied by a broadening of the concepts of individual and societal rights and responsibilities.

Toward that end we adopt the following bills of rights:

1. Economic and Social Bill of Rights

In this time of crisis, we need to reaffirm our nation's constitution and the rights it secures for us as Americans. In the 200 years since it was written, however, we have come to realize that true individual freedom depends upon more rights than were self-evident at the time of the framing of the Constitution. We need a Bill of Rights which goes beyond just civil liberties to also include economic and social rights. We find that the following rights now need to be affirmed:

- (a.) The right of every person to work that is socially useful and remunerative and in which workers have input or control.
  - (b.) The right of every person to earn enough to provide adequate food, clothing, shelter and recreation for themselves and their dependents.
  - (c.) The right of every farm family to raise and sell products at a return which will provide a decent living.
  - (d.) The right of every person to quality health care and the opportunity to achieve and enjoy good health.
  - (e.) The right of every person to adequate protection from the economic fears of old age, sickness, accident, and unemployment.
  - (f.) The right of every person to life-long access to an education that allows each individual to develop to her/his fullest potential.
  - (g.) The right of every person to a world free from nuclear weapons and other means of indiscriminate warfare.
  - (h.) The right of every person to an enduring, stable, and healthful environment.
  - (i.) The right of all peoples to self-determination and freedom from military, economic, or other forms of intervention.
  - (j.) The right of every person to live in a society free of racism, sexism, and other forms of social stereotyping and intimidations which hinder our creative and cooperative potential to relate to each other humanely.
- 2. Workers' Technology Bill of Rights***
- (a.) New technology shall be used in a way that creates jobs and promotes community-wide and national full employment.

(b.) Unit labor cost savings and labor productivity gains resulting from the use of new technology shall be shared with workers at the local enterprise level and shall not be permitted to accrue excessively or exclusively for the gain of capital, management, and shareholders. Reduced work hours and increased leisure time made possible by new technology shall result in no loss of real income or decline in living standards for workers affected at the local enterprise level.

(c.) Local communities, the states, and the nation have a right to require employers to pay a replacement tax on all machinery, equipment, robots and production systems that displace workers, cause unemployment, and thereby decrease local, state, and federal revenues.

(d.) New technology shall improve the conditions of work and shall enhance and expand the opportunities for knowledge, skills and compensation of workers. Displaced workers shall be entitled to training, retraining and subsequent job placement or reemployment.

(e.) New technology shall be evaluated in terms of worker safety and health and shall not be destructive of the workplace environment, nor shall it be used at the expense of the community's natural environment.

(f.) Workers, through their trade unions and bargaining units, shall have an absolute right to participate in all phases of management deliberations and decisions that lead or could lead to the introduction of new technology or the changing of the workplace system design, work processes, and procedures for doing work, including the shutdown or transfer of work, capital, plant, and equipment.

(g.) Workers shall have the right to monitor control room centers and control stations and the new technology shall not be used to monitor, measure, or otherwise control the work practices and work standards of individual workers, at the point of work.

(h.) Storage of an individual worker's personal data and information file by the employer shall be tightly controlled and the collection and/or release and dissemination of information with respect to race, religious or political activities and beliefs, records of physical and mental health disorders and treatments, records of arrests and felony charges or convictions, information concerning sexual preferences and conduct, information concerning internal and private family matters, and information regarding an individual's financial condition or credit-worthiness shall not be permitted, except in rare circumstances related to health, and then only after consulting with a family or union-appointed physician, psychiatrist or member of the clergy. The right of an individual worker to inspect his or her personal data file shall at all times be absolute and open.

(i.) When new technology is employed in the production of military goods and services, workers, through their trade unions and bargaining agents, shall have a right to bargain with management over the establishment of Alternative Production Committees, which shall design ways to adapt that technology to socially-useful production and products in the civilian sector of the economy.

FOUNDATIONS FOR THE WISCONSIN COMMONWEALTH

Beyond the "new rights" we believe that there are a number of programmatic points which can offer hope and inspire those who have been denied access to the fruits of social progress.

We find that problems and solutions in one area do not exist in isolation from problems and solutions in other areas. We find the problems to be directly linked to monopoly capitalism. We find the solutions to appear in the form of cooperative concepts which offer Wisconsin residents control over the social and economic structures which dominate their lives.

We find that we must address diverse situations with proposals which offer alternatives to the use of the industrial model in areas where such a model does not and cannot work. We find that primary among the corporate attacks on the lives of working people are the corporate efforts to "industrialize" health care and farming.

We therefore offer the following proposals — not as a list of independent reforms — but as a comprehensive program aimed at establishing the Wisconsin Commonwealth.

1. Health Care

Every person has the right to quality preventive, therapeutic, and supportive health care services which include mental health services. Many persons are unable to meet some or all of their health care needs because of widespread deficiencies and failures in the present health care system. Unnecessary expenditures, profits and administrative costs have inflated the costs of health care. Most fee-for-service professionals have not controlled the cost of their services. Many urban and rural areas have a dearth of qualified health care workers and facilities.

Such conditions cannot continue. It is time for far-reaching and quantitative changes in such services. Such changes should include:

- Creation of a single, state-wide group insurance program available to all citizens which provides basic preventive and therapeutic health care services.
- Set up stringent quality control standards which are uniformly enforced for the development of new institutional beds and technological services. Based on regional needs, develop rate reimbursement standards which earmark funds for specific institutional purposes to prevent use of such funds for other purposes; provide for frequent and unannounced inspection of institutions to monitor quality and adequacy of the environment, staffing and services; and, develop standards which avoid duplication of services.
- Eliminate current fiscal practices and/or regulations which encourage gross profiteering related to the sale, operation and construction of health care facilities.
- Set up a single Health Care Agency controlled by a consumer-provider board to coordinate, regulate, license and monitor health care facilities and providers and assure that every person has access to primary, secondary and tertiary services.
- Set up uniform standards for the education, certification, licensure for all levels of health care providers and maximum utilization of non-physician providers whenever appropriate.
- Provide for a consumer controlled Health Advocacy Board, independent of the Health Care Agency to provide ombudsmen, investigative and legal services to insure patient/client rights; monitor the actions of the Health Agency and the adequacy of facilities.
- Provide scholarships for areas of practice that are understaffed with a requirement that scholarship recipients be required to serve in areas of need and require public service of all those receiving publicly subsidized health care education.

— Set up a system of home-health services which permits those with chronic conditions to live in dignity at home and which permits group residential facilities on a decentralized basis in rural areas.

— Design all these mechanisms of control in ways which promote the public control and ownership of health care facilities.

2. Farm Policy

A severe crisis now confronts the great majority of farmers. The LFP rejects all arguments that attempt to lay the blame for this crisis on farmers themselves; it has not been caused by "poor farm-management practices", or "reluctance to change". Rather, the current crisis has been caused by inappropriate governmental policies and programs as well as the corresponding penetration and growing power of monopolistic agribusiness corporations.

Working together, government and large corporations have increasingly integrated farming into an economic system which is dominated by its need to generate immediate, short-term profits for speculative, investment capital, and which leads to the long-term concentration of control and ownership of all facets of agriculture into fewer and fewer hands. The effects of these economic pressures have increasingly resulted in the forced industrialization of farming.

The increasingly complex and capital-intensive nature of modern farming has prompted many producers to consider alternative farming methods. This desire for change has been fueled by the rapidly escalating costs of energy and petrochemically based fertilizers and pesticides. In addition, many are concerned about the dramatic soil erosion and nutrient depletion often associated with conventional practices. Organic farming methods have demonstrated beneficial effects in regard to input costs of production, soil and water quality, crop yields, and natural resources. Such an approach is a prerequisite to assuring clean drinking water, safe food, sustained agricultural productivity, energy conservation, and improved environmental quality.

The LFP finds the application of the extremely capital-intensive, factory-styled model to farming to be particularly inappropriate. Not only does it create a continual crisis for farmers, it is also untenable for society as a whole.

For years the economic pressures building toward the present crisis have resulted in the disruption — and all too often, the destruction — of rural communities. Thousands of rural residents have been displaced, often to urban areas that can offer few, if any, employment opportunities. Once-thriving small communities have become all but ghost towns, often dependent on only the caprices of tourists for their economic survival. In short, an entire way of life — an entire rural culture is threatened with extinction.

For the sake of urban residents as well as rural residents, this cannot be allowed to happen. The LFP firmly believes that an economically prosperous and stable farm sector is an absolutely essential prerequisite for the establishment of a true Wisconsin Commonwealth.

Toward that end the LFP endorses the following short-term emergency proposals designed to halt the growth of the widening farm crisis:

(a.) The Wisconsin Farm Price Act

We support the efforts of progressive farm organizations to pass enabling legislation in the states which lead in farm production that would permit multistate pricing arrangements on specified farm commodities. The LFP therefore urges the passage of a Wisconsin Minimum Farm Price Act.

(b.) Moratorium on Farm Foreclosures

The current economic emergency demands that state legislation prohibiting farm mortgage foreclosure be enacted.

(c.) Land Reform: Ban on Corporate Acquisitions of Agricultural Land

The dominance of large agribusiness corporations can be halted by a state constitutional amendment that prohibits further acquisition of family farms by large corporations.

Similarly, the Labor and Farm Party endorses the following longer-term measures:

- (a.) Actively encourage the renewal of an agriculture based primarily on small and medium-size farms both family and cooperatively owned.
- (b.) Beginning Farmer Programs: state support for a program which loans money to beginning farmers can help stop farm abandonment and further concentration of land holding.
- (c.) Land Trusts: We believe that the concept of farm ownership must change. Toward that end we support the formation of voluntary cooperative land trusts which would grant lifetime stewardship to qualified farmers who agree to abide by collectively established farming practices.
- (d.) Actively encourage cooperation rather than competition among farmers through such devices as community land trusts, collective bargaining, purchasing and marketing cooperatives, and equipment and labor-sharing arrangements.
- (e.) Actively promote the creation of local and regional markets, including the expansion of fruit and vegetable markets, and the diversification of production at the farm level.
- (f.) Actively encourage the growth of rural homestead communities which integrate production-for-use, production-for-sale, alternative energy generation, small industry, and recreational opportunities for non-rural residents.

3. Labor

The rights of working people and their organizations have long been under attack. We believe that the two-party system has reinforced the corporate attacks on unions. We believe that the following steps are necessary:

- (a.) Repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act — including the "Right-To-Work" (for less) provisions, the restrictions on sympathy strikes, the bans on secondary boycotts, and the prohibitions on mass picketing.
- (b.) Unemployment Compensation.
  - (1) The immediate and full restoration of benefits including:
    - Restore the cost-of-living allowance.
    - Decrease to 15 weeks the time one must work in order to qualify.
    - Reduce the "quit provision" to allow a worker to collect benefits if he/she quit one job and worked 4 weeks at a second job prior to lay off.

- (2) Introduce legislation to extend unemployment compensation to all of the unemployed.
- (3) The cost of unemployment compensation improvements should be financed by increasing the corporate share of contributions.

(c.) Prohibit forced overtime, require at least double time pay for voluntary overtime, and shorten the work-week without a cut in pay.

(d.) Oppose further tax breaks for business and other government giveaways to corporations unless such benefits are linked directly to the creation of jobs at union wage levels.

(e.) The state must place restrictions on plant closings and runaway shops. Such restrictions might include security bonding as a protection against possible future closings or moves, special aids to abandoned communities, and a runaway shop tax. The latter would be levied on the company owning the runaway shop (or its parent company, if necessary) with its in-state assets serving as collateral. The amount of the tax would equal the cost of retraining (if necessary) and re-employing workers who had lost their jobs as a result of a runaway shop.

The state must also develop mechanisms which encourage worker and community takeovers of abandoned industrial facilities. For example, monies raised by the runaway shop tax could be used to help fund such takeovers.

In order to protect and promote public well-being, governmental units should be encouraged to exercise their power of eminent domain to take over plants that owners refuse to operate or to sell. The governmental units should thereafter democratically manage the operation of such plants.

(f.) Enforce an absolute right of workers to refuse to work with toxic substances, including nuclear materials.

(g.) Develop state purchasing, contracting, and investment policies which encourage the unionization of all workers.

(h.) Not only resist current efforts to lower the minimum wage, which is fast becoming the wage of the majority of workers, but also push for its immediate increase to at least five dollars per hour.

4. Economic Policy

We believe that a progressive economic policy can break the cycle of boom and bust. Democracy can and must be applied as a principle within our economy. The concept of "Jobs with Peace" must be a cornerstone of future economic development as well as the recognition that we live in a world that has limited natural resources.

Economic policies must be based upon human needs, not corporate greed. Toward that end we support the following points:

- (a.) Job creation must be the immediate goal of economic development plans.
- (b.) Economic plans must be devised in ways to make jobs fulfilling and should be geared toward reduction of the workweek and elimination of all dehumanizing work.
- (c.) Adequate levels of state-administered health and life insurance must be available to all people.
- (d.) Workers must be given control over their pension funds.
- (e.) A state bank must be created. It must be designed to further the goals of worker and community control of economic development.
- (f.) State investments must be restricted to those which do not further racism and oppression abroad nor union busting and discrimination in the United States. A significant portion of state investments should be allocated to promote the other economic goals of this platform.
- (g.) So-called "high technology" development plans should be scrutinized closely and should not be adopted unless study reveals substantial community and workforce benefit.
- (h.) All economic development plans must be environmentally sound.

5. American Indians

- (a.) Treaties are sacred covenants which honor and respect the sovereignty of tribes.
- (b.) Treaties signed by the United States government with Indian nations are U.S. law, and where these treaties have been abrogated the law has been broken, and the claims of the tribes should be given prime consideration.
- (c.) The form of government of tribes on their respective reservations should not be determined by the states or the federal government but by the tribes themselves.
- (d.) Treaties signed by the tribes are with the federal government and not with the states; however, a friendly spirit between tribes and states should be encouraged.
- (e.) Every effort should be made to assist Indian tribes in their goal of economic self-sufficiency.
- (f.) American Indians have a right to educational opportunities and assistance.
- (g.) American Indians have the right to maintain cultural and religious integrity and to keep their native languages alive. Indian pride should be encouraged.
- (h.) There is great cultural diversity among the various tribes and these differences should be respected.
- (i.) Indians have a right not to be discriminated against because of race, culture, or nationality.
- (j.) Tribal rights to treaty lands, to treaty resource access, to tax, to regulate gambling, to enforce fishing, hunting, and conservation rules should be acknowledged by state agencies.
- (k.) Indian court decisions should receive full faith and credit in state courts. (For example: when a tribal attorney successfully prosecutes nonresident offenders who dump refuse on Indian lands.)
- (l.) State courts must fulfill their duty by federal law to notify the appropriate tribe of impending Indian child placement decisions and this duty should be carefully exercised.

6. Equality and the Struggle Against Racism

We find that substantial numbers of people are economically disenfranchised and otherwise under-represented in the rewarding areas of our society because of their race or national origin. It is clear that such discrimination is based on past patterns, stereotypes, and insensitivities. Despite significant improvements in the public consciousness about these problems, structural features continue to keep discrimination alive and in many cases actually widen the economic gaps.

In the absence of equality and a principled rejection of all forms of discrimination, it is all too easy for labor and peoples' movements to be divided, and their leverage undercut. Therefore, while discrimination most directly injures the targeted sections of the population, the struggle for equality benefits all working people.

The Labor and Farm Party also recognizes that it must have active Black, Hispanic, and other minority membership and leadership, and that special efforts must be undertaken to assure that this becomes a reality.

Discrimination must cease and all people must be given the opportunity to participate in our society. We feel that such opportunity has the following components:

(a.) The right to a job should be enforced by extensive jobs programs on a state and local level as well as federally, with affirmative action guarantees directed to the areas of the population most affected by unemployment, including Black, Hispanic, youth, and women workers.

(b.) Affirmative action in government service on a state and local level should be implemented so that the work force fully represents the population's percentage of minority and women workers. While this is a necessity on all levels, it is particularly important for the sensitive areas of public service, such as police. This should be required of all private employers contracting with state and local governments.

(c.) The right to quality education for all youth must be guaranteed. This should include a positive portrayal of the contributions of all working people and minority cultures. Quality education should be integrated education, based on equal allocation of the burden for that among different segments of the population and respect for the needs and desires of the Black and Hispanic communities. The right to bilingual education must also be guaranteed.

(d.) Effective civilian control over police policy and administration is necessary. The use of deadly force by police should be restricted to clearly life-threatening situations and governed by published regulations and appropriate state laws with provisions made for elected civilian review.

(e.) Voting rights for all minority groups must be strictly enforced, including all provisions of the Voting Rights Act. Apportionment of election districts should never be done to minimize minority representation, but to enhance it wherever possible.

(f.) The State of Wisconsin should not cooperate with any federal efforts which lead to the harassment of migrant workers or with policies aimed at the implementation of repressive immigration policies.

(g.) No benefits, rights, or privileges shall be denied on the basis of race, sex, or lifestyle considerations, including sexual preference and marital status. The State of Wisconsin and all of its political subdivisions should not cooperate with or recognize any public or private group which discriminates on the basis of any of the above considerations, including, but not limited to, corporations doing business in South Africa.

7. Women

(a.) Comparable worth as a cornerstone of all compensation mechanisms and as a legal requirement in all sectors of the economy.

(b.) A study should be undertaken to determine comparable worth for all public employee job classifications with subsequent adjustment of all inequities.

(c.) Legislation should be enacted to provide start-up monies to cooperative groups to set-up, administer, and maintain non-profit, 24-hour child care centers for infants and children on a sliding fee scale based on family income. (Examples of such cooperatives include: community organizations, unions, labor-management committees, local government-citizen child care boards, etc.)

Legislation should be proposed to require employers to provide child care services for workers.

(d.) Child support provided by the state should include options which allow the parent to be employed and/or attain defined educational goals.

(e.) Flex-time and/or job sharing should be implemented for public employees to allow flexibility in meeting personal and familial responsibilities.

(f.) The state shall enact statutes to assure equal reproductive rights for women regardless of income or source of medical care. The state shall give funding for birth control research a high priority so that a safe and effective method of preventing pregnancy can be developed and subsequently made readily available to all interested women and/or men. However, strict protections must be enacted which prohibit practices and research which impinge upon women and men's reproductive rights, regardless of race, national origin, class, religion, family status, or marital status.

The state shall require schools to have relevant sex education programs which promote sexual responsibilities for both sexes.

(g.) State monies shall be set aside to allow the staff of the Women's Study Program, U.W.-Madison, to develop model curricula for elementary and secondary schools tracing the historical contributions of women to the state and nation.

(h.) State and industry sponsored retraining programs should be made available to women who are displaced homemakers to allow their entry into the work force in meaningful and well-paid jobs suitable to their years of unpaid experience as housewives and community volunteers.

(i.) High school curricula should include training programs to make young women aware of the necessity of learning work skills so that they will not be economically dependent solely on their family status.

(j.) As a party we do not condone or excuse violence against women and urge that the laws prohibiting such violence be fully enforced to protect all women. We demand that the public schools be required to educate students regarding the inappropriateness of intra-family violence and sexual abuse. Furthermore, the state must provide greater funding for more facilities such as shelters and counseling centers which aid the victims of domestic violence.

(k.) We are also mindful that while real violence against real women is condoned or ignored in our society, imaginary violence against white women has been used as a justification for terrible violence against men of color. We demand that our schools be required to study the myth of men of color as perpetrators of violence and how this myth has made men of color and all women victims of our society.

8. Energy

The future productivity of our society and the future integrity of our environment are intimately related to how we deal with energy questions. We believe that it is possible to have an energy policy which promotes full employment consistent with "Jobs with Peace" principles, develops alternatives to corporate-dominated technologies, lessens international tensions, preserves the environment and promotes the goals of worker and community control.

Such goals are advanced by the following proposals:

(a.) State funding for alternative energy technologies. Priority to be given to the most labor intensive proposals. Ownership to be vested in municipalities or cooperatives. Development plans should take into account the following elements:

- Consideration of wind, solar, hydro, geo-thermal, bio-fuel and cogeneration technologies.
- Encourage research and development.
- Tax incentives for alternative energy conversions.
- State arrangement of large scale purchases or units.
- Planning and regulation to be based on methodologies which are efficient in given localities.

(b.) Nuclear power must be eliminated from our energy system. Steps must be taken toward this goal:

- Indefinite ban on future construction.
- Phaseout or shutdown of facilities still operating.
- Indefinite ban on high level waste disposal, non-entry into interstate compact on low level disposal, and no in-state low level disposal until an adequate plan dealing with the cessation of nuclear activity has met current environmental objections.

— Retraining and placement for displaced nuclear plant workers.

(c.) Creation of incentives for municipalities to assume ownership of existing utilities.

(d.) Implementation of a plan to weatherize and retrofit all Wisconsin structures. Priority to be given to projects in areas of high unemployment.

(e.) State adoption of a rigorous conservation plan.

9. The Environment

Environmental quality is a key element of work safety, urban rebirth, and farm prosperity. We believe strongly that Wisconsin's progressive heritage on environmental matters should be jealously guarded.

It is our policy that:

- (a.) Work on Project E.L.F. should cease.
- (b.) No nuclear waste should be permitted to enter Wisconsin's groundwater.
- (c.) Phosphates must be banned.
- (d.) Wilderness area preservation should be increased in its scope and coverage.
- (e.) Conservation programs must receive the funding necessary to carry out the goals set here.
- (f.) The recycling of glass, metals, and chemicals should be promoted and, where unprofitable, should be subsidized.
- (g.) The very serious problem of acid rain should be dealt with by the United States and Canadian governments working together. But until our federal government stops dragging its feet, state legislation will be necessary.

10. Mining Policy

Unrestricted mining and indiscriminate mining exploration threaten to contaminate previously uncontaminated water. Exxon mining plans serve as a clear example of multinational corporate exploitation of the Earth. We adopt the following action proposals on mining:

(a.) The State of Wisconsin has already voted overwhelmingly in favor of a nuclear weapons freeze. This freeze, if it is more than rhetoric, must begin with the first step in the nuclear weapons chain: The mining and milling of uranium in northern Wisconsin. The State of Wisconsin should enact an immediate ban on uranium exploration and mining, similar to bans in New Jersey, Vermont and the province of British Columbia.

(b.) There must be full public disclosure of drill core samples from mining companies immediately upon completion of drilling. Under existing state law, drafted by Exxon's lawyers, the companies can withhold results of drilling from the public for up to 13 years.

(c.) There must be an immediate suspension of the existing mining groundwater rules, also drafted by Exxon's lawyers, which allow mining companies to contaminate Wisconsin groundwater with radioactivity and toxic chemicals up to maximum contaminant levels set by the federal government.

(d.) The DNR should be prohibited from wasting taxpayer money reviewing Exxon's mine application until Sokaogon Chippewa Treaty claims to the lands encompassing the Exxon mine site are settled. If these claims are upheld, Exxon will not be able to mine.

(e.) The DNR should be required, under the provisions of the National Environmental Policy Act, to conduct a comprehensive regional environmental impact statement on the long-term and cumulative impact of multiple mines operating in northern Wisconsin.

(f.) Future mining should be subjected to public control and ownership.

(g.) Recycling programs must be geared to reduce the need for additional metal mining.

11. International Policy

We condemn the bipartisan U.S. Government's foreign policy. We oppose a foreign policy that uses overt and covert military force to defend the economic interests of a few wealthy corporations and individuals at the expense of third world peoples. We oppose U.S. aid and the export of military goods to the current repressive regimes such as those in South Africa, Chile, Paraguay, Philippines, Israel, South Korea, and El Salvador. We condemn the hypocrisy of both Democrats and Republicans who talk about human rights and democracy while supporting dozens of U.S. client states that routinely kill and torture political dissidents.

We offer an alternative to the foreign policies of the multinational corporations:

(a.) Peace Conversion — Wisconsin should pass legislation requiring divestment of stocks and bonds (held by the State Investment Board and the University of Wisconsin) which are issued by corporations whose primary purpose is the production of weapons systems components.

(b.) Nuclear Free Zone — The Wisconsin Legislature should pass a resolution which requests all nuclear powers to remove Wisconsin from target lists and which requests that the United States Government refrain from placing or transporting nuclear weapons or materials within the boundaries of Wisconsin.

(c.) Runaway Shops — Restrict the ability of capital to move to countries where low wages are maintained by political repression.

(d.) Immigration Policy — Oppose the Immigration and Naturalization Service raids in Wisconsin; support legislative advocacy for Extended Voluntary Departure Status for Guatemalans and Salvadorans seeking temporary asylum in the United States.

(e.) Sanctuary — Extend Wisconsin resources and protection to refugees from Guatemala and El Salvador.

(f.) Nicaragua — Oppose U.S. covert and overt economic and military aid to counterrevolutionary forces seeking to overthrow the Sandinista government; promote trade and cultural exchange.

(g.) Europe — Support the Green Parties and anti-nuclear forces in their effort to keep out offensive weapons systems.

(h.) Trade Practices — We reject all nationalistic and racist methods of conducting and regulating international trade. We oppose embargoes and discriminatory restrictions on trade between the U.S. and the socialist and progressive developing nations. Such mutually advantageous trade would create many jobs here and would also promote mutual sentiments favoring cooperation instead of hostility between countries of different social systems.

(i.) Reevaluate the necessity of U.S. military bases on foreign soil. Study methods to retrain and create jobs for displaced civilian and military personnel.

(j.) Abolish the C.I.A. and reevaluate intelligence needs.

(k.) Redefine "national security" and open up foreign policy discussions to the greatest degree possible so that the citizens may understand and set the goals of their government.

12. Transportation Policy

Wisconsin is a large, rural state which must link its commodity producing areas with its urban markets. The health of the Wisconsin economy depends on reliable and efficient transportation. In addition, important social and economic goals can be fostered by changes in our transportation system. Community development, environmental protection, and energy conservation must be cornerstones of transportation policy.

Wisconsin should concentrate on the following areas:

(a.) Rail Systems — The State should take over and directly operate abandoned rail lines and do everything possible to prevent any further abandonment of rail service.

(b.) Mass Transit — All forms of mass transit should receive funding priority, including interurban commuter trains.

(c.) Urban Planning — Suburban sprawl and other cultural features which strain transportation systems should be restricted.

(d.) Highway Systems — The current system of highways, streets, and bridges should be kept in good repair. New construction should be banned unless there are clear economic imperatives.

13. Educational Policy

The LFP recognizes the right to life-long access to education that allows each individual to develop to his/her fullest potential. We believe strong public schools are necessary to assure equal education opportunity and oppose any government efforts to support private education. Public education should be financed by progressive taxes. Funding should be sufficient to assure equality of educational opportunity and free access to life-time education. We believe that funding priority for education is consistent with the "Jobs with Peace" concept.

The LFP supports efforts of school employees to improve their economic status and working conditions. We urge existing unions to organize those school workers who are not yet organized. The LFP opposes all efforts to promote merit pay or any other divisive or unequal compensation schemes. It is further recognized that the schools will be improved only when teachers and other workers have meaningful input into the decision-making process within the schools.

The LFP deplores the reactionary methods used by school officials to control students and faculty. Education for a democratic society can only take place within democratic schools. The business model upon which schools now operate should be scrapped. Schools must serve the causes of intellectual freedom, world peace and economic and social justice.

14. Social Services

The welfare of individuals is the responsibility of all society. Where natural support systems fail, it is the responsibility of the state to provide a nurturing and secure environment for dependent people. Funding priorities here further the goals of "Jobs with Peace".

Income Maintenance

Able-bodied adults, without direct child care responsibilities, should be expected to work. We place a high priority on creating jobs for all and extending unemployment compensation benefits. Where suitable employment at a living wage is available, able-bodied adult recipients should be required to work as a condition for aid. However, where suitable employment and unemployment compensation are not available, able-bodied adults and their dependents should receive an adequate income, at 100% of poverty level, from either Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), Aid to Families with Dependent Children — Unemployed Parent (AFDC-UP), or General Relief Program.

Work disincentives in the existing income maintenance programs, such as the "100 hour rule" and the "four month limit on 30 and 1/3" should be eliminated, either through federal legislation, waivers or through state funding as a last resort.

A uniform, statewide system of General Relief should be developed by the state and administered by county agencies responsible for administering federal income maintenance programs.

Child support payment standards should be made progressive (as opposed to the current flat tax rate) to allow low income absent parents to retain a larger share of their earnings.

Social Support Programs

We support adequate state funding for social services, including foster care, group home and institutional care for children, counseling, day care, supportive home care, legal services, transportation, protective services, domestic abuse, adoption services and family planning programs.

Over the last decade, much more responsibility for administering social services programs has been given to local county governments. Unfortunately, conservative local governments are often a roadblock to providing some types of social services which they disagree with in principle, such as family planning and day care services. In such cases, the state should take responsibility for providing direct services to eligible recipients, by circumventing county governments.

In recent years, the state has stopped providing some types of services, such as healthy infant adoptions, leaving the field to private agencies, and even subsidizing private agencies with state resources. In the case of adoption services, for example, all but one of the private agencies in the state requires applicants to be members of one or another religious sect. The only nonsectarian agency does not cover most areas of the state. Furthermore, the state Division of Community Services is actively subsidizing these private agencies. While the state should allow private agencies to compete with state-provided services, the state should provide direct services where it is clear that leaving the task to the private sector would limit service access or subsidize private agencies with public resources.

Developmentally Disabled Services

We support continued programs for deinstitutionalization of developmentally disabled persons, and expanded access for the physically handicapped.

Deinstitutionalization

We recognize the benefits of deinstitutionalization and a "normalized" and least restrictive environment. We support measures to provide safe and adequate community-based alternatives to institutionalization for the frail elderly, mentally ill and the developmentally disabled.

Unfortunately, in too many cases deinstitutionalization has come to mean "dumping" people with severe care needs to cheaper "community placements," often lower cost nursing homes, where they receive inadequate care and treatment. Deinstitutionalization has also become synonymous with attempts to lay off and drive down the wages and working conditions of care givers.

While supporting the concept of deinstitutionalization, the LFP also recognizes that, in the near future, there is a proper role for institutional care in the continuum of care, and that there is a need for adequate resources to make institutions as effective and humane as possible.

We support expansion of programs such as the Community Integration Program and Community Options Program. However, these programs must ensure adequate state oversight, to require local agencies to provide and document that client service needs are being met. Furthermore, we demand that wages and working conditions of care givers be protected, and that the livelihood of institution employees laid off as a result of deinstitutionalization be guaranteed.

15. Taxation

The biggest chunk of property tax now goes to support education and welfare, which distorts the original intent of the tax — supporting basic services which give value to property. Statewide uniformity in education and welfare is desirable. But it isn't possible when property values vary so widely. Uniformity can be achieved through statewide collection (and distribution) of an ability to pay tax — the income tax. Shifting education and welfare to the state would ease local property taxes, which can become confiscatory because of the school and welfare load.

We therefore call for the following policies:

- (a.) State income tax — Create higher tax percentages for incomes over $50,000.
- (b.) Corporate tax — At minimum, adoption of the unitary method of taxation for multinational energy corporations, with possible extension to all multinational corporations.
- (c.) Sales tax — Oppose further increases in the percentage but extend taxation to professional fees, consulting fees, and advertising fees.
- (d.) Inheritance tax — Oppose any attempts to give breaks to the wealthy. Support increases in the rate of taxation of large estates.
- (e.) Wisconsin tax forms should prominently feature information which graphically depicts the amount of federal tax monies from Wisconsin which are consumed by military spending.
- (f.) Until such time as the spending priorities of the federal government shift away from militarism, the State of Wisconsin should provide all possible assistance to every resident taxpayer in order to assure that they pay as little federal tax as possible.
- (g.) Workers and their representing organizations must be given access to the completed state and federal tax forms of their employing corporations.

16. Families and Alternative Households

We believe that all individuals are entitled to a nurturing, supportive environment. This requires that the human services we advocate be extended in ways that promote and assist the nurturing relationships formed between people.

We believe that support and assistance should go beyond the confines of traditionally sanctioned relationships. We recognize the creative capacity of individuals to mold new forms of families and new types of relationships. We also recognize that social and economic pressures have caused the formation of alternative household structures.

Governmental and financial institutions have sought to deny benefits to nontraditional families and/or to alternative households. In many cases business and government have taken a punitive stance toward such relationships. Such discrimination must cease. The State of Wisconsin must take, at minimum, the following steps:

- (a.) Create mechanisms by which nontraditional families and alternative households could apply for "family" benefits at "family" rates.
- (b.) Apply the standard of "family equivalency" to applications for housing, credit, health care benefits, social service entitlements, retirement benefits, and to the tax and inheritance laws of the State of Wisconsin, and to other areas relating to services and benefits.
- (c.) Develop a certification process which legitimizes alternative households by the filing of a noncompliated and inexpensive "declaration of commitment".
- (d.) Develop fair standards by which to evaluate noncertified households in case-by-case applications for benefits (standards might include, but not be limited to, factors such as financial interdependence, duration of relationship, joint ownership of property, etc.).

17. Housing and Tenant Rights

We believe that decent, affordable shelter is a basic human right that must not be sacrificed to private profit and greed. We believe that all individuals have the right to shelter which enhances their health and their relationships with others and that state housing policies could promote such vibrant community development. We believe that state housing policies could be made consistent with individual dignity, sound urban planning, preservation of environmental quality, and promotion of public health and safety.

Toward those ends we propose the following:

(a.) Wisconsin's housing policy must recognize the need for, and support the availability of, housing in the various forms most suited to diverse individual needs. Such forms include individual, family, alternative family, cooperative, and collective household arrangements.

(b.) Wisconsin housing policy should include encouragement of noncommercial, nonprofit ownership of dwellings and should provide incentives for individual tenant and cooperative buy-out of rental properties.

(c.) Existing public housing resources should be utilized in ways consistent with sound energy and environmental practices. Programs for weatherization of low-income housing should be upgraded. Development planning should be subjected to strict standards which discourage suburban sprawl and encourage rational transportation development.

(d.) Wisconsin policy should emphasize rehabilitation of inner city and rural housing, and adequate support of infrastructure services (including recreation, health, and education) in those areas, rather than the construction of new housing.

(e.) Rental relations between tenants and landlords in Wisconsin continue to reveal some of the most abusive and exploitative social conditions. Wisconsin must therefore enact a statewide rental relations law which:

- Provides for collective bargaining by tenants.
- Creates a statewide adjudication body, at least half of the members of which are tenants and/or their representatives, to handle rental disputes.
- Sets standards for discriminatory practices.
- Establishes a limit for security deposits.
- Not only prohibits but also provides stiff penalties for discrimination against tenants with children, or elderly or handicapped tenants.
- Sets standards for the safety and security of rental properties.
- Provides for the confiscation of rental property where landlords have repeatedly violated housing standards.
- Provides for a method of petitioning for a rent freeze in housing shown to be subjected to gross speculation and profiteering.
- Provides for the licensing and regulation of landlords and for the revocation of licenses for violation of standards.

(f.) Priority must be given for the purchase or use by homeless and/or neighborhood residents of boarded up structures offered for sale by municipalities. Toward that end, funding mechanisms must be established to aid the homeless in their efforts to rehabilitate housing structures and community-wide advertisement of such sales or vacancies must be assured.

(g.) Barriers such as cash deposits, "up-front financing", and rehabilitation bonding must be eliminated on the sale of publicly owned housing properties.

(h.) Rather than to continue to allow cash broker sales and/or demolition of valuable housing property, publicly owned housing must be expanded to include buildings in receivership.

(i.) A moratorium must be established on foreclosures and evictions and persons must be supported in any civil disobedience they undertake to save someone's home.

(j.) Fair, decent, and low-cost housing is a basic right. Funding mechanisms must be established to provide shelter for low-income and/or homeless individuals.

18. Forestry and Logging

Wisconsin's culture and economy possess many important connections to forests and forest products. Stewardship of these resources is an important feature of protecting rural communities and improving the lives of those who work in the forests.

We feel that timber as a commodity is undervalued and that this central fact leads to exploitation of rural people, the land, rural communities and loggers. We believe that ecologically sound forestry practices will further the transportation, energy, agricultural and economic goals of this platform. We believe that forestry policies which further those goals are key elements in rural reconstruction for Wisconsin.

We also believe that all our principles regarding community and worker control apply to forest management, logging and forest products manufacturing. Long term goals must include mechanisms for bringing all these facets of forest work under decentralized public control.

Toward that end we will work for the following short-term demands:

(a.) Support organizing efforts of loggers, log truckers and forest product workers. This includes support of legislation which facilitates such organization.

(b.) Create a State-run insurance pool to provide workers compensation, income continuation, personal liability and property insurance coverage for all accidents and damage resulting from logging or transport of logs. This coverage shall be provided at reasonable rates.

(c.) Create the administrative enforcement mechanism to require frequent checking of scales used to value logs and pulp.

(d.) Stop abandonment of railways, provide incentives for the use of rail transport, and discourage trucking of logs.

(e.) Create programs and facilities which utilize poorer quality woods (alcohol distillation and anaerobic pyrolysis).

(f.) Develop a reforestation program that is planned by loggers, rural communities and conservation planners.

(g.) Develop technical exchange programs with American Indians of Wisconsin as well as with Northern European nations which have experience with socially and ecologically sound forestry practices.

- (h.) Commence a thorough forest use audit of public and private lands.
- (i.) Utilize state economic development funds to provide low-interest loans to start logging enterprises, to start cooperative or worker-controlled logging and forest products enterprises, to assist communities in acquiring and managing publicly owned forest lands, and to promote the formation of forest land trusts.

WISCONSIN LIBERTARIAN PARTY PLATFORM

Adopted at the State Party Convention, April 29, 1984

Statement of Principles

We, the members of the Libertarian Party, challenge the cult of the omnipotent state and defend the rights of the individual.

We hold that all individuals have the right to exercise sole dominion over their lives, and have the right to live in whatever manner they choose, so long as they do not forcibly interfere with the equal right of others to live in whatever manner they choose.

Governments throughout history have regularly operated on the opposite principle, that the State has the right to dispose of the lives of individuals and the fruits of their labor without their consent.

We, on the contrary, deny the right of any government to do these things, and hold that where governments exist, they must not violate the rights of any individual: namely, (1) the right to life — accordingly we support prohibition of the initiation of physical force against others; (2) the right to liberty of speech and action — accordingly we oppose all attempts by government to abridge the freedom of speech and press, as well as government censorship in any form; and (3) the right to property — accordingly we oppose all government interference with private property, such as confiscation, nationalization, and eminent domain, and support the prohibition of robbery, trespass, fraud, and misrepresentation.

Since governments, when instituted, must not violate individual rights, we oppose all interference by government in areas of voluntary and contractual relations among individuals. People should not be forced to sacrifice their lives and property for the benefit of others. They should be left free by government to deal with one another as free traders; and the resultant economic system, the only one compatible with the protection of individual rights, is the free market.

Individual Rights and Civil Order

No conflict exists between civil order and individual rights. Both concepts are based on the same fundamental principle: that no individual, group, or government may initiate force against any other individual, group or government.

1. Freedom and Responsibility

Members of the Libertarian Party do not necessarily advocate or condone any of the practices our policies would make legal. Our exclusion of moral approval and disapproval is deliberate: People's rights must be recognized; the wisdom of any course of peaceful action is a matter for the acting individual(s) to decide. Personal responsibility is discouraged by government routinely denying the people the opportunity to exercise it. Libertarian policies will create a society where people are free to make and learn from their own decisions.

2. Crime

The continuing increase in violent crime threatens lives, happiness, and belongings of Americans. At the same time, governmental violations of rights undermine the people's sense of justice with regard to crime. Impartial and consistent law enforcement protecting individual rights, and repeal of victimless crime laws (which breed crimes with victims) are the appropriate ways to suppress crime. We applaud the trend toward private protection services and voluntary community crime control groups.

3. Victimless Crimes

Because only actions which infringe the rights of others can properly be termed crimes, we favor the repeal of all federal, state, and local laws creating "crimes" without victims.

4. Safeguards for the Criminally Accused

Until such time as persons are proved guilty of crimes, they should be accorded full respect for their individual rights. We are thus opposed to reduction of present safeguards of the rights of the criminally accused.

Specifically, we are opposed to preventive detention, so-called "no knock laws", and all other measures which threaten individual rights.

We advocate the repeal of all laws establishing any category of crimes applicable to minors for which adults would not be similarly answerable, and an end to the practice in many states of jailing children accused of no crime.

We support full restitution for all loss suffered by persons arrested, indicted, tried, imprisoned, or otherwise injured in the course of criminal proceedings against them which do not result in their conviction. When they are responsible, police employees or agents should be liable for this restitution.

5. Justice for the Individual

The present system of criminal law is based almost solely on rehabilitation and punishment with little concern for the victim. We support restitution for the victim to the fullest degree possible at the expense of the criminal or wrongdoer.

We accordingly oppose all "no fault" insurance laws which deprive the victim of the right to recover damages from those responsible in case of injury. We also support the right of the victim to pardon the criminal or wrongdoer, barring threats to the victim for this purpose. We applaud the growth of private adjudication of disputes by mutually acceptable judges.

6. Juries

We oppose the current practice of forced jury duty and favor all-volunteer juries.

In addition, we urge the assertion of the common law right of juries to judge not only the facts of criminal cases but also the justice of the law. Juries may hold all criminal laws invalid that are, in their opinion, unjust or oppressive, and find all persons guiltless of violating such laws.

7. Sovereign Immunity

We favor an immediate end to the doctrine of "Sovereign Immunity" which implies that the State can do no wrong and holds that the State, contrary to the tradition of redress of grievances, may not be sued without its permission or held accountable for its actions under civil law.

8. Government and "Mental Health"

We oppose the involuntary commitment of any person to a mental institution. To incarcerate an individual not convicted of any crime, but merely asserted to be incompetent, is a violation of the individual's rights. We further advocate:

- a. The repeal of all laws permitting involuntary psychiatric treatment of any person, including children, and those incarcerated in prisons or mental institutions;
- b. An immediate end to the spending of tax money for any program of psychiatric or psychological research or treatment;
- c. An end to all involuntary treatments of prisoners by such means as psycho-surgery, drug therapy, and aversion therapy;
- d. An end to tax-supported "mental health" propaganda campaigns and community "mental health" centers and programs; and
- e. An end to criminal defenses based on "insanity" or "diminished capacity" which absolve the guilty of their responsibility.

9. Freedom of Speech and the Press

We oppose all forms of government censorship, whatever the medium involved. We oppose the burgeoning practice of the government's invading newsrooms or the premises of any other innocent third parties in the name of law enforcement. We also condemn court orders gagging press coverage of criminal proceedings — the right to publish must not be abridged merely for the convenience of the judicial system.

Events have demonstrated that the already precarious First Amendment rights of the broadcast industry are becoming still more precarious. Regulation of broadcasting including the "fairness doctrine", the "equal-time" rule and the "reasonable access" provision, cannot be tolerated. We support legislation to repeal the Federal Communications Act, and to provide for private homesteading and ownership of broadcasting rights, thus giving broadcasting First Amendment parity with other communications media.

In particular, FCC regulation of political coverage must be immediately ended, to stop its chilling effect on the level of political debate in this country. Federally mandated lower rates for political ads, which unfairly harm established broadcasters, must end, as must FCC monopoly grants, which unfairly benefit established broadcasters.

The removal of these regulations and privileges would open the way for greater diversity in the broadcast media. We deplore any efforts to impose thought control on the media by the use of anti-trust laws and other government action in the name of stopping "bias". We specifically oppose such government efforts to control broadcast content as banning advertising for cigarettes and sugar-coated breakfast foods or regulating depiction of sex and violence.

We call for immediate cessation of federal funding and contracting of ads produced by the National Ad Council, so that no individuals be forced to pay to support issues or ideas to which they would not voluntarily contribute. The implied threat of loss of license renewal broadcasters currently face if they refuse to freely show National Ad Council ads can only be ended by abolishing the FCC.

Government ownership or subsidy of broadcast band radio and television stations and networks — in particular, the tax funding of the Corporation for Public Broadcasting — must end.

We oppose government ownership, grants of monopoly franchise, or regulation of "pay TV" and cable facilities.

10. Freedom of Religion

We defend the rights of individuals to abstain from any or all religious activities or to engage in any religious activities which do not violate the rights of others. In order to defend religious freedom, we advocate a strict separation of church and State. We oppose government actions which either aid or attack any religion. We oppose taxation of church property for the same reason that we oppose all taxation.

We condemn the attempts by parents or any others — via kidnapping, conservatorships, or instruction under confinement — to force children to conform to their parents' or any others' religious views. Government harassment or obstruction of unconventional religious groups for their beliefs or nonviolent activities must end.

11. The Right to Property

There is no conflict between property rights and human rights. Indeed, property rights are the rights of humans with respect to property and, as such, are entitled to the same respect and protection as all other human rights.

We further hold that the owners of property have the full right to control, use, dispose of, or in any manner enjoy their property without interference, until and unless the exercise of their control infringes the valid rights of others. We specifically condemn current government efforts to regulate or ban the use of property in the name of aesthetic values, alleged riskiness, moral standards, cost-benefit estimates, or the promotion or restriction of economic growth.

We demand an end to the taxation of privately owned real property, which actually makes the State the owner of all lands and forces individuals to rent their homes and places of business from the State.

Where property, including land, has been taken from its rightful owners by government or private action in violation of individual rights, we favor restitution to the rightful owners. In addition, we oppose the use of eminent domain as a violation of human rights.

12. Protection of Privacy

The individual's privacy, property, and right to speak or not to speak should not be infringed by the government. The government should not use electronic or other means of covert surveillance of an individual's actions or private property without the consent of the owner or occupant. Correspondence, bank and other financial transactions and records, doctors' and lawyers' communications, employment records, and the like should not be open to review by government without the consent of all parties involved in those actions. So long as the National Census and all federal, state and other government agencies' compilations of data on an individual continue to exist, they should be conducted only with the consent of the persons from whom the data are sought.

We oppose the issuance by the government of an identity card, to be required for any purpose, such as for employment, voting, or border crossings.

13. Government Secrecy

We condemn the government's use of secret classifications to keep from the public information which it should have. We favor substituting a system in which no individual may be convicted for violating government secrecy classifications unless the government discharges its burden of proving that the publication:

- a. Violated the right of privacy of those who have revealed confidential or proprietary information to government agents, or
- b. Disclosed defensive military plans so as to materially impair the capability to respond to attack.

It should always be a defense to such prosecution that information divulged shows that the government violated the law.

14. Internal Security and Civil Liberties

We call for the abolition of all federal secret police agencies. In particular, we seek the abolition of the Central Intelligence Agency and the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and call for a return to the American tradition of local law enforcement. We support investigation of criminal activities of the CIA and wrongdoing by other government agencies.

We support the abolition of the subpoena power as used by Congressional committees against individuals or firms. We hail the abolition of the House Internal Security Committee and call for the destruction of its files of private individuals and groups. We also call for the abolition of the Senate Subcommittee on Internal Security.

15. The Right to Keep and Bear Arms

The right of people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

16. Conscription and the Military

Recognizing that registration is the first step toward full conscription, we oppose all attempts at compulsory registration of any person and all schemes for automatic registration through government invasions of the privacy of school, motor vehicle, or other records. We call for the abolition of the stiff-functioning elements of the Selective Service System, believing that impressment of individuals into the armed forces is involuntary servitude. We call for the destruction of all files compiled by the Selective Service System. We also oppose any form of national service, such as a compulsory youth labor program.

We oppose adding women to the pool of those eligible for and subject to the draft, not because we think that as a rule women are unfit for combat, but because we believe that this step enlarges the number of people subject to government tyranny.

We support the immediate and unconditional exoneration of all who have been accused or convicted of draft evasion, desertion from the military, and other acts of resistance to such transgressions as imperialistic wars and aggressive acts of the military. Members of the military should have the same right to quit their jobs as other persons.

We call for the end of the Defense Department practice of discharging armed forces personnel for homosexuality. We further call for retraction of all less-than-honorable discharges previously assigned for such reasons and deletion of such information from military personnel files.

17. Unions and Collective Bargaining

We support the right of free persons to voluntarily establish, associate in, or not associate in, labor unions. An employer should have the right to recognize, or refuse to recognize, a union as the collective bargaining agent of some or all of his or her employees.

We oppose government interference in bargaining, such as compulsory arbitration or imposing an obligation to bargain. Therefore we urge repeal of the National Labor Relations Act, and all state Right to Work Laws, which prohibit employers from making voluntary contracts with unions. We oppose all government back-to-work orders as imposing a form of forced labor.

Workers and employers should have the right to organize secondary boycotts if they so choose. Nevertheless, boycotts or strikes do not justify the initiation of violence against workers, employers, strike-breakers, and innocent bystanders.

18. Immigration

We hold that human rights should not be denied or abridged on the basis of nationality. We condemn massive roundups of Hispanic-Americans and others by the federal government in its hunt for individuals not possessing required government documents. Undocumented non-citizens should not be denied the fundamental freedom to labor and to move about unmolested. Furthermore, immigration must not be restricted for reasons of race, religious or political creed, or sexual preference.

We therefore call for the abolition of the Immigration and Naturalization Service and the Border Patrol, and a declaration of full amnesty for those people who have entered the country illegally. We oppose government welfare payments to non-citizens just as we oppose government welfare payments to other persons.

19. Discrimination

No individual rights should be denied or abridged by the laws of the United States or any state or locality on account of sex, race, color, creed, age, national origin, or sexual preference. Protective labor laws, Selective Service laws, and other laws which violate right selectively should be repealed entirely rather than being extended to all groups.

Discrimination imposed by the government has brought disruption in normal relationships of peoples, set neighbor against neighbor, created gross injustices, and diminished human potential. Anti-discrimination enforced by the government is the reverse side of the coin and will for the same reasons create the same problems. Consequently, we oppose any government attempts to regulate private discrimination, including discrimination in employment, housing, and privately owned so-called public accommodations. The right to trade includes the right not to trade — for any reasons whatsoever.

20. Women's Rights

We hold that individual rights should not be denied or abridged on basis of sex. We call for repeal of all laws discriminating against women, such as "protective" labor laws and marriage or divorce laws which deny the full rights of men and women. We oppose all laws likely to impose restrictions on free choice and private property or to widen tyranny through reverse discrimination.

Trade and the Economy

Because each person has the right to offer goods and services to others on the free market, and because government interferences can only harm such free activity, we oppose all intervention by government into the area of economics. The only proper role of existing governments in the economic realm is to protect property rights, adjudicate disputes, and provide a legal framework in which voluntary trade is protected.

Efforts to forcibly redistribute wealth or forcibly manage trade are intolerable. Government manipulation of the economy creates an entrenched privileged class — those with access to tax money — and an exploited class — those who are net taxpayers.

1. The Economy

Government intervention in the economy imperils both the personal freedom and the material prosperity of everyone. We therefore support the following specific immediate reforms:

- a. drastic reduction of both taxes and government spending;
- b. an end to deficit budgets;
- c. a halt to inflationary monetary policies;
- d. the removal of all government impediments to free trade; and
- e. the repeal of all controls on wages, prices, rents, profits, production, and interest rates.

2. Taxation

Since we believe that all persons are entitled to keep the fruits of their labor, we oppose all government activity which consists of the forcible collection of money or goods from individuals in violation of their rights. Specifically, we:

- a. recognize the right of any individual to challenge the payment of taxes on moral, religious, legal or constitutional grounds;
- b. oppose all personal and corporate income taxation, including capital gains taxes;
- c. support repeal of the Sixteenth Amendment, and oppose any increase in existing tax rates and the imposition of any new taxes;
- d. support the eventual repeal of all taxation; and
- e. support a declaration of unconditional amnesty for all those who have been convicted of, or who now stand accused of tax resistance.

As an interim measure, all criminal and civil sanctions against tax evasion should be terminated immediately.

We oppose as involuntary servitude any legal requirements forcing employers or business owners to serve as tax collectors for federal, state or local tax agencies.

In the current fiscal crisis of states and localities, default is preferable to raising taxes or perpetual refinancing of growing public debt.

3. Inflation and Recession

We recognize that government control over money and banking is the cause of inflation, depression and distortion of relative prices and production. Individuals engaged in voluntary exchange should be free to use as money any commodity or item that is mutually agreeable. We therefore call for the repeal of all legal tender laws and of all compulsory governmental units of account. We support the right to private ownership of and contracts for gold. We favor the elimination of all government fiat money and all government minted coins. All restrictions upon the private minting of coins should be abolished so that minting will be open to the competition of the free market. We favor the use of a free market commodity standard, such as gold coin denominated by units of weight.

We favor free market banking. We call for the abolition of the Federal Reserve System, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, the National Banking System, and all similar state and federal agencies. Such governmentally sponsored credit agencies as the Federal Home Loan Banks, the Federal National Mortgage Association, the Student Loan Marketing Association, and the various institutions supervised by the Farm Credit Administration must either be abolished or totally privatized.

To complete the separation of bank and state, we favor the Jacksonian independent treasury system, in which all government funds are held by the government itself and not deposited in any private banks. The only further necessary check upon monetary inflation is the consistent application of the general protection against fraud to the minting and banking industries.

Pending the abolition of the Federal Reserve System, we further support:

- a. the lifting of all restrictions of branch banking;
- b. the repeal of all state usury laws;
- c. the removal of the prohibition of interest for demand deposits;
- d. the abolition of Federal Reserve control over the interest paid on time deposits;
- e. the elimination of margin requirements on stock purchases; and
- f. the revocation of all other selective credit controls.

4. Balanced Budgets

We support the drive for a constitutional amendment requiring the national government to balance its budget, and also support similar amendments to require balanced state budgets. To be effective, a balanced budget amendment must provide:

- a. that neither Congress nor the President is permitted to override this requirement;
- b. that all "off-budget funds" are included in the budget;
- c. that the budget is balanced exclusively by cutting expenditures and not by raising taxes; and
- d. that no exception is made for periods of national emergency.

5. Monopolies

We condemn all coercive monopolies. We recognize that government is the source of monopoly through its grants of legal privilege to special interests in the economy. In order to abolish monopolies, we advocate a strict separation of business and state.

"Anti-trust" laws do not prevent monopoly, but foster it by limiting competition. We therefore call for the repeal of all "anti-trust" laws, including the Robinson-Patman Act which restricts price discounts, the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, and the Clayton Anti-Trust Act. We further call for the abolition of the Federal Trade Commission and the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice.

We defend the right of individuals to form corporations, cooperatives, and other types of companies based on voluntary association. Laws of incorporation should not include grants of monopoly privilege. In particular, we oppose special limits on the liability of corporations for damages caused in noncontractual transactions. We also oppose state or federal limits on the size of private companies and on the right of companies to merge. We further oppose efforts, in the name of social responsibility or any other reason, to expand federal chartering of corporations into a pretext for government control of business.

6. Subsidies

In order to achieve a free economy in which government victimizes no one for the benefit of any one else, we oppose all government subsidies to business, labor, education, agriculture, science, broadcasting, the arts, sports, and any other special interest. Relief or exemption from involuntary taxation should not be considered a subsidy. We oppose any resumption of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, or any similar plan which would force the taxpayer to subsidize and sustain uneconomic business enterprises.

7. Tariffs and Quotas

Like subsidies, tariffs and quotas serve only to give special treatment to favored interests and to diminish the welfare of other individuals. These measures also reduce the scope of contracts and understanding among different peoples. We therefore support abolition of all tariffs and quotas as well as the Tariff Commission and Customs Court.

8. Public Utilities

We advocate the termination of government-created franchise privileges and government monopolies for such services as garbage collection, fire protection, electricity, natural gas, telephone, or water supplies. Furthermore, all rate regulation in these industries should be abolished. The right to offer such services on the market should not be curtailed by law. Experience has shown that the free market can provide services cheaper and more efficiently.

Domestic Ills

Current problems in such areas as energy, pollution, health care delivery, decaying cities, and poverty are not solved, but are primarily caused by government. The welfare state, supposedly designed to aid the poor, is in reality a growing and parasitic burden on all productive people, and injures, rather than benefits, the poor themselves.

1. Energy

We recognize the great mischief that a host of government interferences have caused in the energy industry, and the even greater mischief — that is threatened by recent and proposed interventions.

We oppose all government control of energy pricing, allocation, the Department of Energy, state public utility commissions, and state pro-rating agencies. Thus, we advocate decontrol of the prices of oil, petroleum products, and natural gas. We call for the immediate decontrol of gasoline prices, and elimination of the federal allocation program for crude oil and gasoline. We condemn the "windfall profits tax" which is really a graduated excise tax on the production of crude oil, and which would cripple the discovery and production of oil. We oppose all government subsidies for energy research, development, and operation. We oppose a subsidized Federal Energy Security Corporation, which would develop synthetic fuels. We also oppose its financing via the issue of small bonds, which would rapidly tend to lose their value in an era of inflation. We further oppose government subsidies to a solar development bank for solar energy.

We oppose all direct and indirect government participation in the nuclear energy industry, including subsidies, research and development funds, guaranteed loans, waste disposal subsidies and federal uranium enrichment facilities. The Nuclear Regulatory Commission should be abolished; the imposition of full liability — not government agencies — should regulate nuclear power. The Price-Anderson Act, through which the government limits liability for nuclear accidents and furnishes partial payment at taxpayer expense, should be repealed. Nuclear energy should be denationalized and the industry's assets transferred to the private sector. Any nuclear power industry must meet the test of a free market.

We support abolition of the Department of Energy. We oppose the proposed federal Energy Mobilization Board, which would wield dictatorial powers in order to override normal legal processes. We oppose all government conservation schemes through the use of taxes, subsidies and regulations, as well as the dictated conversion of utilities and other industries to coal. We denounce all temperature level regulations as despotic and oppressive. We oppose any attempt to give the federal government a monopoly over the importation of oil, or to develop a subsidized government energy corporation whose privileged status would be used as a yardstick for condemning private enterprise. We oppose the "strategic storage" program, any attempts to compel national self-sufficiency in oil, any extension of the cargo preference law to imports, and any attempts to raise oil tariffs or impose oil import quotas. We oppose all efforts to nationalize energy companies or break up vertically and horizontally integrated energy companies or force them to divest their pipelines.

We consider all attempts to impose an operating or standby program of gasoline rationing as unworkable, unnecessary, and tyrannical.

We favor the creation of a free market in oil by instituting a system of full property rights in underground oil and by repeal of all federal and state controls over price and output in the petroleum industry. All government-owned energy resources should be turned over to private ownership.

2. Pollution

We support the development of an objective system defining individual property rights to air and water. We hold that ambiguities in the area of these rights (e.g., the concept of "public property") are a primary cause of our deteriorating environment. Present legal principles which allow the violation of individual rights by polluters must be reversed. The laws of nuisance and negligence should be modified to cover damage done by air, water, and noise pollution. While we maintain that no one has the right to violate the legitimate property rights of others by polluting, we strenuously oppose all attempts to transform the defense of such rights into any restriction of the efforts of individuals to advance technology, to expand production, or to use their property peacefully. We therefore support the abolition of the Environmental Protection Agency.

3. Consumer Protection

We support strong and effective laws against fraud and misrepresentation. However, we oppose paternalistic regulations which dictate to consumers, impose prices, define standards for products, otherwise restrict risk-taking and free choice. We oppose governmental promotion or imposition of the metric system.

We oppose all so-called "consumer protection" legislation which infringes upon voluntary trade, and call for the abolition of the Consumer Product Safety Commission. We advocate the repeal of all laws banning or restricting the advertising of prices, products, or services. We specifically oppose laws requiring an individual to buy or use so-called "self-protection" equipment such as safety belts, air bags, or crash helmets.

We advocate the abolition of the Federal Aviation Administration, which has jeopardized airplane safety by arrogating to itself a monopoly of safety regulation and enforcement.

We advocate the abolition of the Food and Drug Administration and particularly its policies of mandating specific nutritional requirements, and denying the right of manufacturers to make non-fraudulent claims concerning their products. We advocate an end to compulsory fluoridation of water supplies. We specifically oppose government regulation of the price, potency, or quantity able to be produced or purchased of drugs or other consumer goods. There should be no laws regarding what substances (nicotine, alcohol, hallucinogens, narcotics, laetrile, artificial sweeteners, vitamin supplements, or other "drugs") a person may ingest or otherwise use.

4. Education

We advocate the complete separation of education and the State. Government schools lead to the indoctrination of children and interfere with the free choice of individuals. Government ownership, operation, regulation, and subsidy of schools and colleges should be ended.

As an interim measure to encourage the growth of private schools and variety in education, we support tax-credits for tuition and for other expenditures related to an individual's education. We support the repeal of all taxes on the income or property of private schools, whether profit or non-profit.

We condemn compulsory education laws, which spawn prisonlike schools with many of the problems associated with prisons, and we call for the immediate repeal of such laws.

Until government involvement in education is ended, we support elimination within the governmental school system, of forced busing and corporal punishment. We further support immediate reduction of tax support for schools, and removal of the burden of school taxes from those not responsible for the education of children.

5. Population

Recognizing that the American people are not a collective national resource, we oppose all coercive measures for population control.

We oppose government actions which either compel or prohibit abortion, sterilization, or other forms of birth control. Specifically, we condemn the vicious practice of forced sterilization of welfare recipients or of mentally retarded or "genetically defective" individuals.

We regard the tragedies caused by unplanned, unwanted pregnancies to be aggravated, if not created, by government policies of censorship, restriction, regulation and prohibition. Therefore, we call for the repeal of all laws which restrict any one, including children, from engaging in voluntary exchanges of goods, services or information regarding human sexuality, reproduction, birth control, or related medical or biological technologies.

We equally oppose government laws and policies that restrict the opportunity to choose alternatives to abortion, including but not restricted to the centralizing and hamstringing of adoption services and the prohibition of decentralized market oriented adoption services.

We support an end to all subsidies for child-bearing built into our present laws, including all welfare plans and the provision of tax-supported services for children. We urge the elimination of special tax burdens on single people and couples with few or no children.

6. Transportation

Government interference in transportation is characterized by monopolistic restriction, corruption, and gross inefficiency. We therefore call for the dissolution of all government agencies concerned with transportation, including the Department of Transportation, the Interstate Commerce Commission, the Civil Aeronautics Board, the Federal Maritime Commission, Conrail and Amtrak. We demand the return of America's railroad system to private ownership. We call for the privatization of public roads and national highway system.

As interim measures we advocate an immediate end to government regulation of private transit organizations and to government favors to the transportation industry. In particular, we support the immediate repeal of all laws restricting transit competition, such as the granting of taxicab and bus monopolies and the prohibition of private jitney services. We urge immediate deregulation of the trucking industry. Likewise, we advocate the immediate repeal of the federally imposed 55 mph speed limit.

7. Poverty and Unemployment

Government fiscal and monetary measures that artificially foster business expansion guarantee an eventual increase in unemployment rather than curtailing it. We call for the immediate cessation of such policies as well as any governmental attempts to affect employment levels.

We support repeal of all laws which impede the ability of any person to find employment, such as minimum wage laws, so-called "protective" labor legislation, governmental restrictions on the establishment of private day-care centers, and the National Labor Relations Act. We deplore government-fostered forced retirement, which robs the elderly of the right to work.

We seek the elimination of occupational licensure, which prevents human beings from working in whatever trade they wish. We call for the abolition of all federal, state, and local government agencies which restrict entry into any profession, such as education and law, or regulate its practice. No worker should be legally penalized for lack of certification, and no consumer should be legally restrained from hiring unlicensed individuals.

We oppose all government welfare, relief projects, and "aid to the poor" programs. All these government programs are privacy-invasive, paternalistic, demeaning, and inefficient. The proper source of help for such persons is the voluntary efforts of private groups and individuals.

8. Health Care

We support the right of individuals to contract freely with practitioners of their choice, whether licensed by the government or not, for all health services. We oppose any compulsory insurance or tax-supported plan to provide health services, including those which finance abortion services. We favor the abolition of Medicare and Medicaid programs. We further oppose governmental infringement of the health care practitioner-patient relationship through regulatory agencies such as the Professional Standards Review Organization. We oppose any state or federal area planning boards whose stated purpose is to consolidate health services or avoid duplication. We oppose laws limiting the liability of health care professionals for negligence, and those regulating the supply of legal aid on a contingency fee basis. We oppose laws which invalidate settlements of malpractice suits through the use of private arbitration services. We also favor the deregulation of the medical insurance industry.

We condemn attempts at the federal, state, and local level to cripple the advance of science by governmental restrictions on research. In particular, we oppose government attempts to suppress recombinant DNA research, which has opened the way for the increased supply of medically useful human proteins, such as insulin, and shows promise of revealing the nature of hereditary diseases, the structure of bacteria and viruses, and the nature of the immune response. We oppose any laws which limit liability for injuries arising from recombinant DNA research.

We call for the repeal of laws compelling individuals to submit to medical treatment, testing, or to the administration of drugs or other substances.

We advocate the separation of medicine and state.

9. Resource Use

The role of planning is properly the responsibility and right of the owners of the land, water, or other natural resources. We therefore urge an end to governmental control of land use through such methods as urban renewal, zoning laws, building codes, eminent domain, regional planning, or purchase of development rights with tax money, which not only violate property rights, but discriminate against minorities and tend to cause higher rents and housing shortages. We are further opposed to the use of tax funds for the acquisition or maintenance of land or other real property. We recognize the legitimacy of private, voluntary land use covenants.

We call for the privatization of the inland waterways, and of the distribution system that brings water to industry, agriculture and households. We oppose all government controls over, or rationing of water; these despotic measures can only aggravate a water shortage. We oppose the construction of government dams. We favor the privatization of presently government-occupied dam sites. We also favor the abolition of the Bureau of Reclamation and the Army Corps of Engineers.

Instances of government recognition of homesteading in which the government reserves surface mining rights to itself are invalid and forced surface-mining of such lands is a violation of the rights of the present land holders. We call for the immediate abolition of the Bureau of Land Management and the transfer to private ownership of federally held so-called public lands, which constitute more than 80% of certain states. Further, we oppose any use of executive orders invoking the Antiquities Act to set aside public lands.

10. Agriculture

Wisconsin's potential for a free market in agriculture has been plowed under by government intervention. Government subsidies, regulations and taxes have encouraged the centralization of agricultural businesses. Government export policies hold American farmers hostage to the political whims of both Republican and Democratic administrations. Government embargoes on grain sales and other obstacles to free trade have frustrated the development of free and stable trade relationships between peoples of the world.

The agricultural problems facing America today are not insoluble, however. Governmental policies can be reversed. Farmers and consumers alike should be free from the meddling and counterproductive measures of the federal government — free to grow, sell, and buy what they want, in the quantity they want, when they want. To restore enterprise in Wisconsin agriculture we advocate:

- a. abolition of the Department of Agriculture;
- b. elimination of all government farm programs, including price supports, direct subsidies and all regulations on agricultural production;
- c. deregulation of the transportation industry and abolition of the Interstate Commerce Commission;
- d. repeal of all inheritance taxes; and
- e. ending government involvement in agricultural pest control. A policy of pest control whereby private individuals or corporations bear full responsibility for damages they inflict on their neighbors should be implemented.

11. Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA)

To insure the involved and concerned protection of workers, we advocate the return of employee and employer authority in occupational health and safety. We call for the repeal of the OSHA Act which has created a climate of false security while abridging the right of both employee and employer. Health and safety in the work place can best be enhanced by the interaction of employee and employer and their agents, (such as labor unions, trade associations, insurance companies, and others).

12. Social Security

Participation in Social Security should be made voluntary.

13. Postal Service

We propose the abolition of the governmental Postal Service. The present system, in addition to being inefficient, encourages government surveillance of private correspondence. Pending abolition, we call for an end to the postal monopoly system and for allowing free competition in all aspects of postal service.

14. Civil Service

We recognize that the Civil Service system is inherently a system of concealed patronage. We call for the abolition of Civil Service, which entrenches a permanent and growing bureaucracy upon the land. This should not be construed as approval of any other system of government employment.

15. Campaign Finance Laws

We urge the repeal of all campaign finance laws, and the immediate abolition of the despotic Federal Election Commission, which suppress the voluntary support of candidates and parties, compel taxpayers to subsidize politicians and political views they do not wish to support, invade the privacy of American citizens, and entrench the Republican and Democratic parties. Such laws are particularly dangerous as they enable the government to control the elections of its own administrators and beneficiaries, thereby removing it even further from public accountability. We call for the repeal of restrictive state laws that effectively prevent new parties and independent candidates from being on the ballot.

16. None of the Above

In order to expand the range of choice in federal, state and local elections of government officials, we propose the addition of the alternative "None of the above is acceptable" to all ballots. In the event that "none of the above" wins a plurality of votes, the elective office for that term will remain unfilled and unfunded.

Foreign Affairs

American foreign policy should seek an America at peace with the world and the defense — against attack from abroad — of the lives, liberty and property of American people on American soil. Provision of such defense must respect the individual rights of people everywhere.

The principle of non-intervention should guide the relationships between governments. The United States government should return to the historic libertarian tradition of avoiding entangling alliances, abstaining totally from foreign quarrels and imperialist adventures, and recognizing the right to unrestricted trade, travel, and immigration.

DIPLOMATIC POLICY

1. Negotiations

The important principle in foreign policy should be the elimination of intervention by the United States government in the affairs of other nations. We favor abolition of the tax supported diplomatic establishment. In addition, we favor the repeal of the Logan Act, which prohibits private American citizens from engaging in diplomatic negotiations with foreign governments.

2. International Travel and Foreign Investments

We recognize that foreign governments might violate the rights of Americans traveling, living, or owning property abroad, just as those governments violate the rights of their own citizens. We condemn all such violations, whether the victims are U.S. citizens or not.

Any effort, however, to extend the protection of the United States government to U.S. citizens when they or their property fall within the jurisdiction of a foreign government involves potential military intervention. We therefore call upon the United States government to adhere rigidly to the principle that all U.S. citizens travel, live, and own property abroad at their own risk. In particular, we oppose — as an unjust tax-supported subsidy — any protection of the foreign investments of U.S. citizens or business.

The issuance of U.S. passports should cease. We look forward to an era in which American citizens and foreigners can travel anywhere in the world without a passport. So long as U.S. passports are issued, they should be issued to all individuals without discrimination and should not be revoked for any reason.

3. Human Rights

We condemn the violations of human rights in all nations around the world. We particularly abhor the widespread and increasing use of torture for interrogation and punishment. We call upon all the world's governments to fully implement the principles and prescriptions contained in this platform and thereby usher in a new age of international harmony based upon the universal reign of liberty.

Until such a global triumph for liberty, we support both political and revolutionary actions by individuals and groups against governments that violate rights. We recognize the right of all people to resist tyranny and defend themselves and their rights. We condemn, however, the use of force, and especially the use of terrorism, against the innocent, regardless of whether such acts are committed by governments or by political and revolutionary groups.

The violation of rights and liberty by other governments can never justify foreign intervention by the United States government. Today, no government is innocent of violating human rights and liberty, and none can approach the issue with clean hands. In keeping with our goal of peaceful international relations, we call upon the United States government to cease its hypocrisy and its sully of the good name of human rights. Only private individuals and organizations have any place speaking out on this issue.

4. The United Nations

We support immediate withdrawal of the United States from, and an end of its financial support for, the United Nations. We oppose any treaty that the United States may enter into or any existing treaty under which individual rights would be violated.

5. Secession

We recognize the right to political secession. This includes the right of secession by political entities, private groups or individuals. Exercise of this right, like the exercise of other rights, does not remove legal and moral obligations not to violate the rights of others.

MILITARY

1. Military Duty

We recognize the necessity for maintaining a sufficient military force to defend the United States against aggression. We should reduce the overall cost and size of our total governmental defense establishment.

2. Presidential War Powers

We call for the reform of the presidential War Powers Act to end the President's power to initiate military action, and for the abrogation of all Presidential declarations of "states of emergency". There must be no further secret commitments and unilateral acts of military intervention by the Executive Branch.

ECONOMIC POLICY

1. Foreign Aid

We support the elimination of tax-supported military, economic, technical and scientific aid to foreign governments or other organizations. We support the abolition of government underwriting of arms sales. We further support abolition of federal agencies which make American taxpayers guarantors of export-related loans, such as the Export-Import Bank and the Commodity Credit Corporation. We also oppose the participation of the U.S. government in international commodity cartels which restrict production, limit technological innovation, and raise prices.

We call for the repeal of all prohibitions on individuals or firms contributing or selling goods and services to any foreign county or organization.

2. International Money

We favor the withdrawal of the United States from all international paper money and other inflationary schemes. We favor government withdrawal from the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund.

3. Unowned Resources

We oppose any recognition of fiat claims by national governments or international bodies to unclaimed territory. Individuals have the right to homestead unowned resources both within the jurisdiction of national governments and within such unclaimed territory as the ocean, Antarctica, and the volume of outer space. We urge the development of objective international standards for recognizing homesteaded claims to private ownership of such forms of property as transportation lanes, broadcast bands, mineral rights, fishing rights and ocean farming rights. All laws, treaties, and international agreements which would prevent or restrict homesteading of unowned resources should be abolished. We specifically call for an end to U.S. participation in the current Law of the Sea treaty negotiations because these proceedings exclude private property principles.

INTERNATIONAL ISSUES

We are in fundamental agreement with the National Platform in its section on International Relations.

STATE ISSUES

1. Gun Control

In order to protect the individuals right of self-defense, we call for the abolition of all state, county, and local laws and ordinances that would seek to control the manufacture, sale or ownership of firearms, components, or ammunition.

2. Self Defense and Restitution

We hold that the employment of physical force or the threat of physical force is legitimate only for the defense of life, liberty, and justly acquired property against aggressors or for retaliation to acquire just restitution and compensation from such aggressors. The right to use defensive and retaliatory force is inherent in the individual, and we therefore oppose all government restrictions upon the exercise of this right. In a period of increasing violent crime and decreasing public safety, individuals must be free to engage in their own self defense and to secure just restitution from criminals. They should also be free to assign these rights to other individuals and private defense arbitration agencies.

We further hold that these rights extend to the aggressive actions of governments, which are the most flagrant and frequent violators of individual rights. We recognize the right to defensive and retaliatory force against governments, provided such use does not violate the rights of others.

3. Death Penalty

Execution by the state violates the right of the criminal's victim, or the victim's heirs, successors and assigns, to seek restitution from the criminal. The history of governments is so replete with errors that it is exceedingly dangerous to place the power of such an irrevocable act with the government.

4. The Department of Natural Resources

We call for the elimination of the Department of Natural Resources. This agency denies the rights of individuals to manage their own property. The DNR can best be replaced by strict enforcement of property rights and contractual obligations.

We also advocate the sale of state-owned lands to individuals or private organizations.

5. Dairy Supports

Dairy price supports, as with any government intervention in the private sector, have disserved the economy by keeping industry prices far higher than world market levels. We call for the repeal of all Dairy Price Supports.

6. Farmland Preservation Act

Contrary to studies produced by the National Agricultural Lands Study and the American Farmland Trust, American farmland is not vanishing. Of the 2.3 million acres of land in the U.S., less than 4 percent is now in urban use, and reasonable projections are that no more than 4 percent will be urbanized by the end of this century. Agriculture lands comprise 21% of the total land area in this county.

We recognize that farmers are taxed as heavily as any segment of Wisconsin society, and as such deserve tax relief. But no one deserves relief at the expense of others. Payment of tax credits would come from other state taxpayers.

A further complication of this Act is the land use controls it mandates. This directly affects the amount of land available for private development and thereby drives land prices even higher, making the American dream of private home ownership available to a very small segment of Wisconsinites.

The Farmland Preservation Act is a voluntary participation program. However, as with many tax credit schemes, those who choose not to participate will be hard pressed to compete with their local competition that is receiving the state money. The effect in practice, is forced participation.

Farmers, or any land owner should be free to dispose of their property as they see fit. We do not believe that the Wisconsin State government has the right nor the ability to administer a master plan for land use. The Farmland Preservation Act should be abolished.

Omissions

Our silence about any other particular government law, regulation, ordinance, directive, edict, control, regulatory agency, activity, or machination should not be construed to imply approval.

WISCONSIN REPUBLICAN PARTY PLATFORM

PREAMBLE

I. The Republican Party of Wisconsin reaffirms its belief in the dignity and worth of each individual and that individual freedoms are best maintained by limited government. We pledge our continued support for this belief, and that government is created to foster the public good within the limits of its constitutional authority and protect liberty while never becoming the master of the public it serves.

We reaffirm our commitment to Wisconsin's motto — "Forward" which is more than a rhetorical maxim: it is a philosophy of governing and government which has placed Wisconsin in the vanguard of innovation and achievement. We pledge ourselves to assuring future prosperity through the application of forward-thinking policies which marshal both public and private resources to meet today's needs and tomorrow's challenges.

II. For four years a Republican Governor and Republican legislators provided strong leadership for Wisconsin based on the Republican principles of sound management, and open, accountable and limited government, despite difficult economic times. Since January of 1983 we have seen that sound base deliberately undercut by the Earl Administration with strong support from Democratic majorities in the legislature with little regard for the citizens represented by the Republican party. Their policies have been highlighted by gross overtaxation, partisanship and secrecy in government, plus expansive government controls and regulation. They have resurrected the money machine which automatically increases income taxes, gas taxes, and legislative salaries without a vote of the people's representatives. The Democrats have brazenly gerrymandered legislative districts to reduce the power of the people to control their own government through truly competitive elections, and perfected the art of satisfying the demands of the special interests at the expense of the needs of all the people. Only by increasing the number of Republicans in public office in the 1984 elections can this trend be halted, arrogance of power be curbed and true government be restored. It is with that goal in mind and with the following platform that the Republican Party will take its case to the people this fall.

III. We therefore present the following statement of goals and principles to further protect and enhance the quality of life for all Wisconsin residents, ever mindful of their diversity.

ACHIEVEMENT OF THE LAST TWO YEARS — THE MINORITY WAS HEARD....

In the period from 1982-84 the voice of Republican Party of Wisconsin was heard despite being in the minority in the legislature. Significant legislation passed with the Republican perspective clearly evident. The repeal of the surcharge retroactive to January, reduction in inheritance and gift taxes, legislation to promote economic expansion, and studies to improve Wisconsin's business and employment climate.

AGENDA FOR THE 80'S FOSTERING THE DIGNITY AND WORTH OF INDIVIDUALS

The Republican Party of Wisconsin strongly affirms our belief in equal rights for each and every citizen and rededicates itself to the long standing Republican commitment to equal opportunity for all, free from discrimination and actions based on stereotypes.

We believe that equality of rights should not be denied or abridged on account of sex. We condemn the Democrat controlled Legislature for blocking not only the adoption but even the very consideration of Wisconsin's Equal Rights Amendment.

EDUCATION — The Republican Party reaffirms its commitment and determination to provide an equal and excellent educational opportunity for all Wisconsin citizens. We strongly believe that our children have a right to the highest quality education in our elementary and secondary schools. All citizens should have an opportunity to a quality education through our vocational/technical and adult education institutions. Special emphasis should be focused on the concerns of the University of Wisconsin system and extension. Not only is quality education essential for each individual to reach their full potential but it is equally essential to future business expansion in order to provide the most highly skilled work force in the nation.

Only when students are motivated to work to their full potential will they be prepared to be productive, self-supporting citizens. We encourage educators to eliminate stereotypes and discriminations which could result in some students lacking the tools and flexibility they need for jobs in the future.

ELDERLY — The Republican Party of Wisconsin understands and supports the desire of our senior citizens to live with dignity and security in a caring economic and social environment.

In fulfillment of seniors' desire for independence and self-reliance, we reaffirm our commitment to programs that provide a range of support options which help seniors to live independently.

We believe that government should assist families that endeavor to meet the needs of their senior members who are no longer able to maintain themselves independently.

Property tax relief, inheritance tax reform and efforts to hold down health care costs are policies which we strongly support to avoid unfairly burdening senior citizens and those on fixed incomes.

YOUTH EMPLOYMENT — The youth of Wisconsin deserve the opportunity for employment both as a form of job training and as a means to acquire a work ethic. Only by providing an economic climate which encourages businesses to establish, stay and expand in Wisconsin can we insure job opportunities for our youth.

VETERANS — The Republican Party of Wisconsin recognizes the special sacrifices of those who have served in our armed forces around the world. Our rights, freedoms and values are only as strong as the nation's will to defend them. We support programs for veterans, and safeguarding of existing benefits with special attention to the health, education, employment and housing needs of veterans of Vietnam and subsequent conflicts.

PUBLIC SAFETY — The Republican Party of Wisconsin believes that safety and security are vital to maintain the level of public trust essential to an orderly society. We support programs to discourage crime. We support the means to achieve fair but firm and prompt application of criminal laws for protecting life, individual liberty and property. We support efforts to return offenders to productive lives. We recognize the rights of victims in the criminal justice system.

HUMAN SERVICES — A commitment to caring for those in need is a Wisconsin tradition. We recognize the obligation to provide for Wisconsin citizens who require assistance in order to meet their full potential as contributing members of society. We believe that the best system for providing human services is by the coordinated efforts of public and private agencies funded with individual and corporate contributions as well as public revenues.

OUR ECONOMIC WELL BEING

JOBS — One of Wisconsin's best known resources is its well-trained and motivated workforce. These men and women further the businesses they work for through their ability, expertise and commitment to their jobs. The role of government should be to provide an economic and regulatory environment that promotes the creation and retention of jobs. Government officials must evidence a knowledge of an economic system and a sensitivity to what makes it operate.

AGRICULTURE — The Republican Party of Wisconsin reaffirms its commitment to assuring the future of Wisconsin's family farms. The family farm provides the backbone for the economy of most rural areas and small cities of Wisconsin, and provides thousands of jobs in the industrial sector of the state's economy.

The Republican Party pledges to continue its cooperative efforts with family farmers to develop progressive legislation and programs to reform the burdensome property tax structure; to encourage young people to enter farming; and to encourage stable production, marketing and access to credit.

The Republican Party pledges its continued support for soil and water conservation programs, as well as programs to preserve and protect productive farmland and ground water. The Republican Party pledges continued support for programs to promote Wisconsin agricultural products both at home and abroad, and to develop expanded markets around the nation and around the world.

SMALL BUSINESS — The Republican Party is committed to the growth and enhancement of small business prosperity and expansion unhindered by excessive regulation and taxation. We call upon the banking and financial institutions to become more aggressive in loaning other funds to our small businesses for start-up and expansion.

TOURISM — The Republican Party of Wisconsin recognizes that the recreation and tourism business is one of our largest industries. We call for increased promotion of our recreation resources as a means of expanding this industry.

SERVICE TO THE PUBLIC

OPEN GOVERNMENT — Wisconsin has long been proud of its reputation for honest and open government. This reputation is based on free and unrestrained citizen involvement, not control of the political process by special interests or political power brokers. The Republican Party strongly reaffirms support for open government and pledges to take whatever action possible to preserve for the people what this Wisconsin tradition symbolizes. We reaffirm our commitment to the open primary and urge its restoration. The state budget should be developed in open meetings with public hearings on all proposals held before they are acted on by the legislature.

FISCAL RESPONSIBILITY — Sound, responsible state fiscal policies are imperative to minimize future tax increases, ensure an excellent state bond rating and foster a healthy, growing state economy. The state should determine its fiscal policies on the basis of limiting its spending to its projected revenues; that is, "living within its means". State spending must be in the interests of all the state's people, not a reward for special interest support. We strongly support representation on the Joint Finance Committee of each party in proportion to their members in each house so that all Wisconsin citizens are fairly represented.

TAX REFORM — The Republican Party believes it is essential to restore and build upon the tax reform program which was the hallmark of the Dreyfus administration. We reject the high tax and spending policies of the Democratic Administration which increased state income, sales and property taxes beyond need or advisability. We recognize that state taxing policy is closely linked to the economic strength of this state. We support restoration of full income tax indexing, reductions in the state income, capital gains, inheritance and gift taxes, and restoration and expansion of property tax relief through direct credits. We support a fair and simplified tax structure.

LOCAL GOVERNMENT — In order to move forward, inter-governmental cooperation is essential. The state should not duplicate local efforts but rather recognize that the government closest to the people usually is better able to deal with their problems. We appreciate the many hours of volunteer time local officials spend to insure that government works. We support stronger mechanisms for local input into state decision-making and reject state mandates without adequate funding.

TRANSPORTATION — One of the highest duties of the state is to maintain a healthy infrastructure for the good of our citizens and our economy. We believe that good roads and bridges form the backbone of our commerce. At the same time we recognize the importance of maintaining and improving airports which are increasingly essential to business development

QUALITY OF LIFE

OUR NATURAL RESOURCES — We recognize that as temporary residents on this earth, we are stewards of the land and all life that it supports. Wisconsin is only as rich as the resources that make our economy possible. We have an excellent quality of life to maintain. It is the goal of the Republican Party of Wisconsin to develop programs that protect the quality of our air, water and soil and the life they support so that we can continue to benefit both personally and economically from them in this generation and for posterity. We believe it is not only possible but necessary to balance the demands of preserving our environment with the need for job-producing economic development.

ENERGY — The Republican Party encourages promotion and development of energy resources and programs to prevent the erosion of jobs in Wisconsin, and to develop the thousands of additional jobs needed now and in the immediate future.

Jobs in the 80's and beyond will be found where there is guaranteed energy, suitable transportation, clean water and a skilled, productive labor force. We are committed to making the best use of available energy through conservation, and to expanding the energy sources currently available. New energy sources and more efficient use of those sources must be developed which will meet the growing demands of citizens, industries, and farms in a growth economy at the lowest cost possible. State government must work in cooperation with the private sector to attain these goals.

TOGETHER IN THE 80'S

On these principles and planks we stand. We urge all who share these values and beliefs to join together in supporting the Republican Party of Wisconsin and Republican candidates. Only through such joint effort and support will we maintain these principles and values.

Wisconsin and the Republican Party have a proud and distinguished tradition of leadership, progress, integrity and reform. Together we will build on this heritage and move forward to an even greater Wisconsin.

Elections

Elections in Wisconsin: 1984 and 1985 primary, general and special election statistics

ELECTIONS IN WISCONSIN

A Capsule View

The laws governing all elections in Wisconsin are set forth generally in Chapters 5 to 12 of the Wisconsin Statutes. There are 4 regular elections to engage the voter's attention — the spring primary in February and the spring election in April of each year, and the September primary and November general election in the even-numbered years. Officers who are elected on a non-partisan basis are chosen in the spring. These comprise town, village, city and school district officers, county board members, county executives, all judicial officers and the state superintendent of public instruction. Officers elected on a partisan basis are chosen in the fall and include other county administrative officials, members of the legislature, state constitutional officers except the state superintendent, and members of Congress. Not all of these officers are elected at every election.

In presidential election years the presidential preference vote is held at the spring election, while the vote for president occurs at the general (November) election. At some elections, the Wisconsin voters are also asked to advise the state legislature or local legislative bodies on matters of public policy (referenda) or to ratify or reject a proposed law or ordinance or an amendment to the Wisconsin Constitution.

The Wisconsin Electorate

Size of the Electorate. Because Wisconsin does not maintain a statewide register of voters, the exact size of the electorate is uncertain. On April 1, 1980, Wisconsin population 18 years of age and older numbered 3,347,947, but not all of these were qualified to vote in Wisconsin elections. Since 2,273,221 votes were cast for president in that year, it can be assumed that about 68 percent of the eligible voters participated in the election. There were 2,212,018 votes cast for president in 1984.

Age Requirements. 18 is the magic number for voting in Wisconsin. Although Article III of the Wisconsin Constitution provides that "every person of the age of twenty-one years or upwards" may vote if he or she fulfills certain other requirements, the 26th Amendment to the United States Constitution, ratified by the necessary three-fourths of the states (including Wisconsin), extended the right to vote to those 18 years and over. Therefore, regardless of the wording of the Wisconsin Constitution, the voting age in this state is now 18 for all elections. The change has been made in the Wisconsin Statutes.

Residence Requirements. One of the voting requirements is residence. In Wisconsin state and local elections, the privilege of voting is granted to citizens of the United States who have resided in the state and election district or ward where they propose to vote for 10 days prior to the election. Under the statutes a person's residence is defined as "the place where his habitation is fixed, without any present intent to move, and to which, when absent, he intends to return".

New residents who otherwise qualify as voters are permitted to vote for president and vice president, regardless of how short a time they have been Wisconsin residents. Beginning with the 1964 presidential election, ex-residents of Wisconsin who moved within 24 months preceding the election to another state have been permitted to vote for presidential electors in Wisconsin unless they had meanwhile become eligible to vote in another state. In accordance with federal law, U.S. citizens living in a foreign country may vote in federal elections in Wisconsin if they last resided here before leaving the United States.

History of the Suffrage. When Wisconsin became a state in 1848, suffrage was restricted to white and emancipated Indian male residents including immigrants not yet naturalized. In a referendum held in November of 1849, suffrage was extended to colored male residents. In 1908, the Wisconsin Constitution was amended to restrict the right to vote to citizens of the United States. Women's suffrage came with the 19th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution (ratified by Wisconsin on June 10, 1919).

Voter Registration. Based on a constitutional amendment ratified in 1882, the Wisconsin Legislature "may provide for the registration of electors". Today, voter registration in Wisconsin is by law required for every town, village or city with a population of more than 5,000 and may by local ordinance be adopted for municipalities of having a population of 5,000 or less. Voters may register at any of the following places: office of the municipal clerk; office of the county register of deeds and office of the city board of election commissioners in the city of Milwaukee; at the polling place on election day; at any other location designated by the municipal clerk or governing body or by the city board of election commissioners or common council in the city of Milwaukee (such as fire stations, libraries, etc.) or as part of a door-to-door voter registration campaign. High school students and staff may, in addition, register at public high schools or, in some cases, private high schools designated by the municipal clerk. Municipal voter registration in Wisconsin does not record the party affiliation of the voter. Chapter 85, Laws of 1975, provided for voter registration by mail, registration at the polls on election day and removal of the 6-month state residency requirement. The residency change was also approved by the electorate, as required by the Constitution, in a November 1976 referendum.

Selection of Candidates

Primaries. Election to public office requires 3 distinct steps: the selection of possible candidates, the nomination of candidates in a primary, and the election of officeholders in an election.

Until "Fighting Bob" La Follette became governor of our state, candidates for public office were selected at caucuses or conventions composed of delegates, of members of a political party, or of eligible voters. Contrary to popular belief, the Wisconsin nominating caucuses did not imply political deals hatched in smoke-filled rooms — the caucuses were subject to legal regulations equally as stringent as our modern election laws.

In most instances, candidates are chosen today in primary elections; the nominating caucus remains as an optional method for the selection of town and village office candidates. In most cases where nominations are made by means other than the nominating caucus method, aspirants to elective office circulate nomination papers to be signed by a specified number of voters in the constituency.

Primary elections are held in Wisconsin to determine the candidates for both the partisan "general election" held in November and for the nonpartisan "spring election" held in April. The spring primary is held on the third Tuesday in February; the fall primary, on the second Tuesday in September.

Nonpartisan February Primary. Nonpartisan primaries are required only under certain conditions. If 3 or more candidates run for state superintendent, county supervisor, any judicial office, or certain other offices, a primary election must be held, and the names of the 2 candidates receiving the greatest number of votes are placed on the ballots for the nonpartisan election. This is also applicable to municipalities adopting the system of nominating candidates by primary election. In nonpartisan primaries, the 2 aspirants receiving the highest number of votes for a specific office are selected as the candidates for that office in the nonpartisan election.

Partisan September Primary. Primaries are held, regardless of the number of aspirants, to select the candidates of each political party for each partisan general election. Since the purpose of a partisan primary is to nominate the candidates that a political party will run against the nominees of the other parties in the general election, only the adherents of a particular party are expected to vote in that party's primary. Most states have a closed primary system, which requires the voter to declare his party allegiance before receiving the ballot of that party. Wisconsin's "open primary" law makes the choice a private matter; that is, the voter does not have to make a public declaration of his party affiliation to receive the ballot of that party. Instead, he is given the ballots of all parties, but votes his choices on one party's ballot only. The voter may not split his ticket and select candidates from more than one party ballot. The provision that requires voters to vote for candidates of only one party is often confusing or frustrating to voters.

Wisconsin adopted the open primary law for partisan offices in 1903 (Chapter 451, Laws of 1903), and the law was amended in 1905 to apply to the selection of national convention delegates.

In partisan primaries, the nominee receiving the highest number of votes becomes his party's candidate for the office, but a write-in candidate qualifies only if the vote for him also equals at least 5 percent of the party vote for governor cast in the district at the last general election, or the number of signatures required on nomination papers for the office, whichever is greater.

The only other partisan officers chosen are party committeemen or committeewomen, who are elected at September primaries in even-numbered years. Each recognized political party elects one committeeman or committeewoman from each municipality, except that in municipalities over 7,500 population, committeeman are elected for each aldermanic district or polling place. Party committeemen may not be elected by write-in vote. When no candidate files nomination papers for party committeeman, the office does not appear on the ballot and the elected committeemen of the county may then appoint a committeeman to fill the vacant position. A party committeeman is required to be resident of the district which he or she is chosen to represent. The elected and appointed committeemen constitute the municipal and county statutory committees of each party. These statutory committees are responsible for recruiting and nominating individuals to serve as election officials, filling vacancies in the nominations of party candidates, and appointing observers. Each committeeman or committeewoman who is elected or appointed from aldermanic districts or villages appoints a captain for each ward in the aldermanic district or village in which he or she serves, and coordinates the activities of the ward captains in the aldermanic district or village, including voter registration, voter identification, polling and membership activities.

Presidential Preference Vote. On the first Tuesday in April of each presidential election year, Wisconsin voters are given an opportunity to express their preference for the person to be the presidential candidate of their party.

Meeting on the last Tuesday in January of that year, a bipartisan committee certifies to the State Elections Board the names of all nationally advocated or recognized candidates to be placed on the ballot and may, in addition, place the names of other candidates on the ballot. The members of the committee consist of each recognized political party's state chairman or the chairman's designee, one national committeeman and committeewoman designated by the state chairman, the speaker of the Assembly, the president of the Senate and the minority leader of each house of the legislature, or their designees. The names of all designees must be submitted in writing to the board. An additional member is elected by the committee and serves as chairman.

Any potential presidential candidate may withdraw his name from the ballot by filing a disclaimer with the Elections Board, no later than 5 p.m. the third Tuesday in February, that he or she is not and does not intend to become a candidate for the office of president of the United States at the forthcoming presidential election. Other candidates may be placed on the ballot by filing nomination petitions with the Elections Board, signed by a specified percentage of qualified electors, no later than the last Tuesday in January. In addition, the ballot of each major party provides space for a write-in vote.

There is no filing of delegate lists prior to the primary. After the results of the primary are determined, each state organization selects as many delegates or alternates as are permitted or allotted by the party's national committee. Delegates must be pledged to represent the presidential candidate in accordance with the primary vote. However, the presidential candidate has until June 10 to review this slate of delegates and replace any of the selections with his own choices. Not less than two-thirds of the convention votes must be designated by congressional districts. The total number of delegates and convention votes allocated to each state is not determined by state law, but by the national committee of each party and is based on the number of congressional districts and the prior voting record of the state. Unless prevented by the death of the candidate, delegates must pledge to vote in accordance with the results of the presidential preference vote on the first ballot, and also on subsequent ballots until the candidate to whom they are pledged either fails to obtain at least one-third of the authorized convention vote or until that candidate releases the delegates. Thereafter, the Wisconsin delegates may support any other candidates of their choice.

The Wisconsin presidential preference vote is also an open primary. In order to reduce the temptation of crossover voting, each ballot provides for a protest "no" vote against the candidate or slate of candidates listed on that ballot. If a plurality of the voters in any district or the state at large casts their ballots for "none of the names shown", or against the single name shown on the ballot, the party organization selects the delegates to attend the national convention as an uninstructed delegation.

The open primary aspect of the state's presidential preference primary has caused considerable problems with the National Democratic Party. Although the Wisconsin Supreme Court in January 1980 decided that the state's delegate selection system was constitutional and binding and that the national party could not refuse to seat delegates chosen under Wisconsin law, the U.S. Supreme Court, in February 1981, reversed the state court's decision by holding that Wisconsin law cannot force the national party to seat delegates chosen in a way that violates the party's rules.

After legislative attempts to amend the open primary law failed, the state Democratic Party established a caucus system to select its delegates to the 1984 national convention. Wisconsin delegates to the Democratic National Convention were elected through a two-tier caucus process rather than by the presidential preference primary, which was advisory only. A total of 89 delegates and 30 alternates were allocated to Wisconsin by the Democratic National Committee to attend the 1984 National Convention. The 53 congressional district (CD) delegates, elected through the two-tier process, were apportioned to the districts based on a formula which gave equal weight to the vote for Democratic candidates in the 1980 presidential and the 1982 gubernatorial elections. The remaining 36 pledged, unpledged and at-large delegates were elected by the congressional district delegates in accordance with rules of the 1984 Democratic Convention.

Elections

The Partisan "General" November Elections. From among the candidates chosen at the partisan primaries in September, the people of Wisconsin select, on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November of each even-numbered year, the elected officials of the state and its counties. The choice is between the single candidate of each major political party who received the highest number of votes for a particular office in the partisan primary and the "independent" candidates who are affiliated with minor parties or who are unaffiliated. "Write-in" votes may be cast for persons whose names do not appear on the ballot.

The constitutional offices of governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, and attorney general are filled from the state at large. The constitutional officers are elected for 4-year terms in the general elections 2 years after each U.S. presidential election. At every general election, a representative in Congress is elected from each of the congressional districts and a representative to the Assembly from each of the Assembly districts. United States senators, who serve 6 years, are also chosen at the general election. The 33 state senators are elected for 4 years — one-half at each general election from the odd-numbered or even-numbered Senate districts. A clerk, treasurer, sheriff, clerk of circuit court, district attorney, and register of deeds are elected biennially from each of the 72 counties in the state, and approximately one-half of the counties elect a surveyor and all counties elect a coroner or a medical examiner. Door, Dunn, Eau Claire, La Crosse, Milwaukee, Oneida, Racine, Taylor and Waukesha Counties have a medical examiner system. Article VI, Section 4 of the Wisconsin Constitution, ratified in April 1965, abolished the offices of county coroner and surveyor in counties having a population of 500,000 or more, while a 1972 amendment allowed counties below 500,000 the option of retaining the office of coroner or instituting a medical examining system. In lieu of electing a county surveyor, Section 59.12 of the Wisconsin Statutes authorizes county boards to designate any registered land surveyor employed by the county to perform the duties of the county surveyor.

Vacancies in the offices of representatives in Congress, state senators, and representatives to the Assembly may be filled by special election only. A vacancy in the office of U.S. senator is filled by temporary appointment by the governor until it can be filled at an election. Vacancies in state constitutional offices and county offices are filled by appointment except that the lieutenant governor constitutionally succeeds the governor in case of a vacancy in the office of governor (the secretary of state is third in line of succession). Appointments to fill vacancies on the state level and for most county offices are made by the governor.

Presidential Electors, Electoral College. In each presidential election year, each major political party's nominees for state and legislative offices, state officers and the holdover state senators hold a convention in the state Capitol on the first Tuesday in October to nominate their party's slate of presidential electors for president and vice president. Minor party and other "independent" candidates file their slate of electors with their nomination papers. Although the names of the electors no longer appear on the presidential ballots, every vote cast for the names of the candidates for president and vice president of each party is a vote for each of the electors committed to that slate. The electors of the presidential slate receiving the greatest number of votes become members of the electoral college and meet at 12 noon on the first Monday after the second Wednesday in December to cast the official Wisconsin vote for president and vice president. The number of electors chosen for each slate is equal to the state's delegation in Congress. One presidential elector is chosen from each congressional district and 2 are chosen at large.

Wisconsin had 12 electoral votes in 1968; because of the reduction of its congressional districts from 10 to 9, the number of its electoral college votes in 1972, 1976 and 1980 was 11. Under the 1980 census, Wisconsin retained its 11 electoral votes in 1984.

Nonpartisan April Elections. Nonpartisan elections are held on the first Tuesday of April for state superintendent of public instruction, judicial officers, county executive officers, town, village and city officers, county supervisors, and school board members. The terms of office vary, so only certain offices are voted on each year. The only nonpartisan offices voted for on a statewide basis are state superintendent and justices of the Supreme Court; all others are elected from the county, district, or municipality represented. In addition to the Supreme Court, consisting of 7 justices, there is a Court of Appeals, elected at large from one of the 4 appellate districts, with 3 judges from each district, serving for staggered 6-year terms. Pursuant to 1978 legislation enacted by the Wisconsin Legislature, the state is provided with a "single level" trial court system, which now consists of 197 circuit judges (the former county judges were denominated as circuit judges). Each county is a circuit with the exception of the following 3 combined county districts: Buffalo-Pepin, Shawano-Menominee and Forest-Florence. Individual county circuit courts are composed of varying numbers of branches, with each branch headed by one judge.

The governor has power to fill by temporary appointment vacancies which might occur in nonpartisan state elective offices. Many of the state's justices and judges first achieved judicial office through appointment by the governor; thus, gubernatorial appointments to a considerable extent determine the composition of the Wisconsin judiciary.

Constitutional Amendments; Referenda; Recall

Referenda. A referendum may be simply described as the process of referring a measure to the people via an election. In some states voters may, by petition, require a referendum to be held on a legislative act. Wisconsin does not have this type of referendum. On the state level, however, Wisconsin has other types of referenda: 1) measures involving amendments to the state constitution, 2) measures extending the right of suffrage, 3) legislation requiring ratification prior to becoming effective, and 4) advisory referenda.

An initiative, on the other hand, permits the voters to initiate, by petition, a proposal to be enacted into law, either by a direct vote of the people (direct initiative) or for submission to the legislature (indirect initiative). The voters of Wisconsin may utilize the initiative procedure at the city level. In Wisconsin, the recall is the only example of direct initiative at the state level.

The most recent statewide advisory referendum submitted to the voters asked whether a nuclear waste site should be located in Wisconsin. The electorate overwhelmingly voted no.

County boards may submit advisory or ratifying referenda to county voters. Municipalities also have the right to submit referenda questions relating to village and city charter ordinances and certain other subjects affecting the government of the municipalities. In cities, electors may by petition require the common council to adopt an ordinance or resolution or submit it to a referendum.

In addition, all proposed amendments to the constitution must be ratified by the people before they can become effective. Thus, the voters of Wisconsin may be asked at an election to approve a change in the state constitution or express their preference on a matter of public policy. With 2 exceptions, all questions have been submitted by the legislature to the electorate at "spring elections" in April or "general elections" in November. Two (nonconstitutional) referenda, one relating to a World War I soldiers' bonus, was submitted at the 1919 September primary and was approved by the electors, and the other, relating to a mutual nuclear weapons moratorium, was submitted at the 1982 September primary and was also approved by the voters.

Constitutional Amendments. The procedure for amending the Wisconsin Constitution is adoption of an identical amendment by 2 consecutive legislatures and ratification of the amendment by a majority vote of the people at a subsequent election.

In recent years the electorate has voted on a number of constitutional amendments. For example, in the April 1979 election, an amendment was ratified consisting of 4 separate questions — providing for gubernatorial succession, filling a vacancy in the office of lieutenant governor, selection of the Senate's presiding officer, and making miscellaneous revisions to clarify the text. In the April 1981 election, 4 constitutional amendments (consisting of 5 questions), were ratified providing for primaries in recall elections, revising the right to bail, removing obsolete provisions on corporations and banking, and extending the indebtedness period for sewage collection or treatment systems in counties and sewage districts over 150,000 and in all cities. In the April 1982 election, one amendment was ratified authorizing county responsibility for acts of the sheriff, while in November 1982, additional obsolete provisions were removed.

Recall. The Wisconsin Constitution and statutes also provide for the recall of elective officers after the first year of a term through a process of petition and special election. A primary is required whenever 2 or more persons compete for a nonpartisan office or whenever more than one person competes for the nomination of a major political party for a partisan office. 1983 Wisconsin Act 491 made several changes in the recall provisions including the requirement that the petition seeking the recall of city, village, town or school district official must now be for "cause" rather than for "good and sufficient reason". Under the old standard, a petition could be based on an issue of public policy; under the new standard, it is limited to an issue of inefficiency, neglect of duties, official misconduct or malfeasance in office. The act requires that the circulator of a recall petition preregister and file campaign finance reports for the circulation period in addition to the election campaign period as formerly required. It requires a statement of the source to appear on advertisements in recall campaigns and provides standards for determining the validity of recall petitions and signatures thereon. The act also changes the formula for determining the number of signatures required on recall petitions. In August 1977, 5 La Crosse school board members were recalled, and in September 1977 a county judge was recalled from office. This was the first time in Wisconsin history that a judge had been recalled from office.

The Mechanics of the Election Process

Certifying candidates, registering voters, and recording, tallying and reporting the votes of over 2 million people is a complex process. Who handles it? First of all, the process is guided by explicit state laws. Detailed specifications concerning the content of the ballot, for example, are set forth in the statutes. The Wisconsin Elections Board, which administers the election laws for the state, prepares all official ballot forms and other election forms, promulgates rules for the purpose of implementing the elections laws and ensuring their proper administration, certifies to each county clerk the list of candidates for state offices, and performs other duties pertaining to elections.

For the potential voter, the election process begins when he registers to vote with the clerk of his municipality or — in Milwaukee — with the city Board of Election Commissioners. Registration is optional for municipalities having a population of 5,000 or less. The registration forms requires information on name, date, residence location, citizenship, age, 10 days' residence in ward, whether applicant has lost right to vote or is currently registered to vote at any other location, and signature. A voter's registration is permanent unless he moves; then he must reregister. However, a municipality must cancel the registration of a voter who does not vote during a 4-year period, if the elector was eligible to vote during that period and the elector failed to respond to a written request to apply for continuance of registration.

County clerks are responsible for preparing the ballots to be used for the election of all offices on the county level or above, and for distribution of them to the municipal clerks; municipal clerks supervise registration and elections in their municipalities; in cities or counties over 500,000 population, election duties are performed by a city board of election commissioners and a county board of election commissioners.

On election day there are usually 7 inspectors for each polling place. However, if voting machines are used, the number of inspectors may be reduced to 5. The law requires all cities, villages and towns having a population of 10,000 or more to use voting machines. Electronic voting systems may now be used in lieu of mechanical voting machines. Each political party may also appoint 2 observers and alternates for each polling place. Certain candidates and nonpartisan and bipartisan groups may also appoint observers. A voter who cannot come to the polling place on election day, either because of absence from the municipality, sickness, handicap, age, disability, military service, jury duty or religious reasons, may vote by absentee ballot.

When the polls close, the inspectors canvass the votes and deliver one tally sheet statement and registration or poll list each to the county clerk and to the municipal clerk. Where electronic voting systems are used, the count may be adjourned to a central location. The county clerk and 2 citizens appointed by him (including one from another political party) constitute the county board of canvassers, which examines the returns. One statement of the results is filed in the county clerk's office; another statement, to which is attached a tabulation of votes cast as each polling place for each candidate, goes to the state Elections Board. The county clerk also issues certificates of election to the elected officials within the county.

The Board of State Canvassers, consisting of the chairperson of the state Elections Board, state treasurer, and attorney general, meets after each election to examine the certified statements of the county canvassers. The board makes a statements of the votes cast for each office and determines who has been elected. The Elections Board then issues certificates of election to all persons elected to a state office. The board also issues certificates or prepares certificates for issuance by the governor to persons elected to national offices from this state.

Campaign Financing

The regulation of campaign financing in Wisconsin was substantially revised by Chapter 334, Laws of 1973, with the intent of furnishing the voters with complete information as to who is supporting or opposing which candidate or cause and to what extent, either directly or indirectly. Chapter 11 of the Wisconsin Statutes regulates campaign financing, while Chapter 12 defines prohibited election practices. Chapter 11 was augmented by the 1977 Wisconsin Legislature, which created a system of public grants for the campaigns of eligible candidates for state offices.

Duties of the State Elections Board. The state Elections Board furnishes candidates and committees with forms for making reports, furnishes manuals setting forth recommended methods of bookkeeping and reporting, compiles and maintains a current list of all reports and statements pertaining to each candidate, individual, committee or group, and prepares special reports. It includes in its biennial report any statistics compiled by it concerning the total contributions and expenditures of candidates and committees, amounts over $100 contributed by contributors, and additional data. It investigates violations of the election laws and must notify the district attorney, the attorney general or the governor of any facts within its knowledge or evidence in its possession that might be grounds for civil action or criminal prosecution. Similar requirements are made with regard to financial reporting in local elections.

The board also supervises the auditing of campaign finance reports submitted in connection with state elections.

Contributions and Disbursements. Every political party committee, other political committee or political group which makes or accepts contributions or makes disbursements in an amount exceeding $25 per year and every individual who accepts contributions or makes disbursements in an amount exceeding $25 per year files a verified statement with the appropriate filing officer (the Elections Board in the case of state or national officers or a statewide referendum). A candidate must file a statement for any amount. The statement includes such items as the name and address of the registrant, the officers, the campaign depository, and the names of the candidates or the nature of the referendum supported or opposed; and the area, scope or jurisdiction of the registrant.

Subsequently, such committees, groups or individuals must file full reports of all contributions received, obligations incurred and disbursements made, including the name, address and total contribution of each contributor donating over $20; an itemization of disbursements over $20 to other registrants; and a separate statement giving the name, address, occupation, place of employment and contribution of any contributor donating more than $100 in any calendar year. Nonresident committees, groups or individuals making contributions or disbursements in this state must also file their names and addresses and that of a designated agent in the state with the secretary of state. Some candidates and others whose financial activity does not exceed $500 per year may be exempted from reporting. Political party committees with less than $1,000 per year of financial activity may be similarly exempted.

Single Campaign Treasurer. Each candidate must appoint one campaign treasurer and designate one campaign depository before receiving any contributions or making any disbursements. Each candidate and his campaign treasurer must file a registration statement. Unless exempted from reporting, each candidate or the treasurer acting on his behalf must file periodic financial reports, for which the candidate is responsible as to correctness.

Contribution by Negotiable Instrument. All campaign contributions exceeding $50 must be made by check or other negotiable instrument, so that the origin is known. All campaign disbursements must be made or reimbursed by negotiable instrument drawn upon the campaign depository. Anonymous contributions exceeding $10 cannot be expended but must be donated either to a charity or to the common school fund.

Limitations on Contributions. Limitations are imposed upon the amount that may be received by candidates. No one individual (except a candidate) may contribute more than the specified amounts to any of the following candidates and any individual or voluntary committee supporting him: constitutional administrative officers (governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, superintendent of public instruction), and Supreme Court justice — $10,000; state senator — $1,000; representative to the Assembly — $500; and all other state and local candidates — a limit which varies between $250 and $3,000 depending upon the office. Furthermore, no individual may make a contribution to all candidates in excess of a total of $10,000 in any calendar year.

No committee other than a political party committee may make any contributions to a candidate for one of the constitutional administrative offices or justice of the Supreme Court of more than 4 percent of the candidate's disbursement level specified by law; nor may such a committee make contributions to candidates for other state and local offices in excess of monetary limits specified by law.

No political party may receive more than $75,000 of its contributions in any calendar year from all other committees, nor more than $6,000 from any specific committee or its subunits. No committee other than a political party committee may make any contribution or contributions to a political party exceeding $6,000 per calendar year.

No candidate may receive more than 65 percent of the total authorized disbursement level specified by rule of the State Elections Board from all other committees, including political party committees. Of this amount, not more than 45% may be received from special interest committees.

Disbursements from the campaign depository may not be made anonymously, nor may contributions or disbursements be made in a fictitious name. The source of all political advertisements must appear thereon.

Independent Expenditures. All expenditures in support of a candidate (or in opposition to the candidate's opponent) must be made by or with the authorization of the candidate who is supported. However, an individual committee which swears that the individual or committee does not act in cooperation or consultation with a candidate or candidate's agent may make expenditures independently of a candidate. The independent expenditures may take the form of radio and television advertisements, mass mailings, or the use of phone banks.

Legislative Campaign Committees. Chapter 328, Laws of 1979, authorized the creation of legislative campaign committees in either house of the legislature. These committees are not bound by limits or contributions by special interest committees to legislative candidates, but, rather, are treated as political party committees for contribution limit purposes.

As a result of the 4 partisan campaign committees, special interest political action committees (PACs) may make contributions to the appropriate legislative campaign committee in addition to or instead of making contributions directly to candidates.

Political Action Committees. A political action committee (PAC) is any combination of two or more persons that receives contributions which are intended for political purposes. The committee makes contributions to candidates or committees or make disbursements on behalf of candidates or committees. PACs are often sponsored by trade or professional associations or labor organizations and draw their memberships from them. PACs also raise money to urge adoption or defeat of referenda.

In addition, political action committees often make contributions to multiple candidates and do not necessarily support one particular party over the other.

Although the small contributions from individuals still represent the major source of campaign contributions, most special-interest contributions are received from PACs. According to the 1981-1982 Biennial Report of the State Elections Board, for the period from January 1, 1981 to December 31, 1982, PACs made direct contributions of $1,185,117 to all state candidates. Of that $1.2 million total, approximately $669,000 was given to legislative candidates, $25,000 to judicial candidates and the remainder to statewide candidates.

Political action committees currently may not contribute more than $14,000 per campaign to a gubernatorial candidate, $1,000 per campaign to a state senatorial candidate and $500 per campaign to an Assembly candidate.

Public Campaign Financing. Under Chapter 107, Laws of 1977, a campaign fund was created in the state treasury consisting of general tax revenues from each person filing a state income tax return who specifies that $1 shall be set aside for this fund. The fund is available to candidates for statewide executive and judicial offices, as well as legislative offices, for use after the primary, provided that they obtain a specified number of votes in the primary and they raise a specified initial amount of private contributions from individuals in amounts of $100 or less. A participant must agree to accept spending limits and limits placed on personal contributions to his own campaigns in order to receive moneys from the fund, unless his opponent qualifies for a grant but declines to accept it (thereby releasing himself from adherence to the limits). The fund is apportioned by office in accordance with a specified formula. Moneys accepted count towards the maximum limit of 45 percent of a candidate's spending limit which may be accepted from special interest committees, thereby substantially limiting this source of contributions for those who participate. The act also made spending limits (which apply only to candidates who accept moneys from the fund) subject to an automatic cost of living adjustment. This, in turn, affects certain contribution limitations which are figured as percentages of the disbursement levels. Moneys from the fund may be used only for advertising in communications media, printing, office supplies and postage; other campaign expenses must be privately financed.

Prohibited Election Practices

Chapter 12 of the statutes lists prohibited election practices, such as practices involving bribery, fraud, election threats, and illegal actions of election officials.

DEMOCRATIC PARTY PRESIDENTIAL CAUCUSES

In 1984, Wisconsin's delegates to the Democratic National Convention were elected through a two-tier caucus process rather than by the presidential preference primary, which was advisory only. A total of 89 delegates and 30 alternates were allocated to Wisconsin by the Democratic National Committee to attend the 1984 National Convention. The 53 congressional district (CD) delegates, elected through a two-tier process, were apportioned to the CDs based on a formula which gave equal weight to the vote for Democratic candidates in the 1980 presidential and the 1982 gubernatorial elections. The remaining 36 pledged, unpledged and at-large delegates were elected by the CD delegates in accordance with rules of the 1984 Democratic Convention.

First-Tier Vote, April 7, 1984

The first-tier caucuses were held on April 7 at the county level except in those counties with a population over 200,000 (Dane, Milwaukee, Waukesha), in which case the initial caucus was at the Assembly district level. In those counties located in more than one congressional district, separate caucuses were held. The caucuses were open to any qualified elector who, upon registration, declared a Democratic Party preference and had that preference recorded. The 1,799 delegates elected here then attended the congressional district caucuses on May 5 to elect the 53 CD delegates.

*The Wisconsin delegates to the 1984 Democratic National Convention were chosen via a caucus system of delegate selection. The caucus process involved 3 separate caucuses: 1) 127 caucuses were held on April 7 to elect the 1,799 delegates to congressional district caucuses; 2) congressional district caucuses were held on May 5 to elect the 53 district delegates to the national convention; 3) a third and final caucus was held on May 26 at the State Capitol to elect 11 unpledged delegates from a category of elected public officials or party officials and 7 pledged delegates from the same category of officials. The 18 at-large delegates were also elected at this caucus comprising a total of 89 delegates elected to attend the Democratic National Convention in San Francisco.

Wisconsin Symbols

Wisconsin symbols: origin and descriptions of the official state symbols as enumerated in Sections 1.07, 1.08, 1.10 and 14.45 of the Wisconsin Statutes

WISCONSIN STATE SYMBOLS

(See front and back endpapers)

The Coat of Arms

The Great Seal

Over the years a substantial group of items has gained statutory recognition as state symbols. Wisconsin now has an official flag, coat of arms, motto, seal, song, symbol of peace, tree, flower, bird, fish, animal, wildlife animal, domestic animal, insect, mineral, rock and soil. The “badger” nickname, however, remains unofficial.

A brief historical description and text of the pertinent section of the Wisconsin Statutes for each symbol follows.

Flag. An official design for Wisconsin’s state flag was initially provided by the Legislature in 1863. Noting that a flag had not been adopted and that Civil War regiments in the field were requesting flags, the Legislature formed a 5-member, joint select committee to report “.....a description for a proper state flag.” This action resulted in the adoption of 1863 Joint Resolution 4, which provided a design for a state flag that was substantially the same as the regimental flags already in use by Wisconsin troops.

It was not until 1913, however, that language concerning flag specifications was added to the Wisconsin Statutes. Chapter 111, Laws of 1913, created a state flag provision in what is now statute Section 1.08. This description was quite similar to the 1863 version, specifying a dark blue flag with the state coat of arms centered on each side.

The 1913 design remained unchanged until the enactment of Chapter 286, Laws of 1979, which repealed and recreated statute Section 1.08. Most significant of the changes required by the 1979 act was adding the word “Wisconsin” and the date “1848” — the date of statehood — in white letters, centered above and below the coat of arms, respectively. This change was the culmination of years of legislative attempts to alter or replace Wisconsin’s flag to make it more distinctive and recognizable.

The 1979 revision also provided certain technical changes in dimensions, proportions, materials and so on to make it easier for flag manufacturers to comply with the law.

“1.08 State flag. (1) The Wisconsin state flag consists of the following features:

- (a) Relative dimensions of 2 to 3, hoist to fly.
- (b) A background of royal blue cloth.
- (c) The state coat of arms, as described under s. 1.07, in material of appropriate colors, applied on each side in the center of the field, of such size that, if placed in a circle whose diameter is equal to 50% of the hoist, those portions farthest from the center of the field would meet, but not cross, the boundary of the circle.

(d) The word "WISCONSIN" in white, capital, condensed Gothic letters, one-eighth of the hoist in height, centered above the coat of arms, midway between the uppermost part of the coat of arms and the top edge of the flag.

(e) The year "1848" in white, condensed Gothic numbers, one-eighth of the hoist in height, centered below the coat of arms, midway between the lowermost part of the coat of arms and the bottom edge of the flag.

(f) Optional trim on the edges consisting of yellow knotted fringe.

(2) The department of administration shall ensure that all official state flags that are manufactured on or after May 1, 1981 conform to the requirements of this section. State flags manufactured before May 1, 1981 may continue to be used as state flags."

Coat of arms. The coat of arms, now provided in statute Section 1.07, is an integral part of the state seal and also appears on the state flag. Its history parallels that of the seal.

On the coat of arms is a sailor with a coil of rope and a "yeoman" — usually considered a miner — with a pick, representing labor by water and land. They are supporting a quartered shield with symbols representing agriculture (plow), mining (pick and shovel), manufacturing (arm and hammer), and navigation (anchor). Centered on the shield is a small U.S. coat of arms and motto ("E Pluribus Unum" or "One out of many") symbolizing Wisconsin's loyalty to the Union. At the base, a cornucopia, or horn of plenty, stands for prosperity and abundance, while a pyramid of lead ingots represents mineral wealth. Centered over the shield at the crest is a badger, the state animal, and on a banner above, the state motto, "Forward".

"1.07 State coat of arms. The coat of arms of the state of Wisconsin is declared to be as follows:

ARMS. — Or, quartered, the quarters bearing respectively a plow, a crossed shovel and pick, an arm and held hammer, and an anchor, all proper; the base of shield resting upon a horn of plenty and pyramid of pig lead, all proper; over all on fesse point, the arms and motto of the United States, namely: Arms, palewise of 13 pieces argent and gules; a chief azure; motto (on garter surrounding inescutcheon), 'E pluribus unum'.

CREST. — A badger, passant, proper.

SUPPORTERS. — Dexter, a sailor holding a coil of rope, proper; sinister, a yeoman resting on a pick proper.

MOTTO. — Over crest, 'Forward'."

Motto: "Forward". The motto, "Forward", which is part of the coat of arms, is provided in statute Section 1.07 (see above). It was introduced in the 1851 revision of the state seal and coat of arms. Governor Nelson Dewey had asked the chancellor of the university, John H. Lathrop, to design a new seal. It is alleged that during a chance meeting on a trip to New York City the Governor and the subsequent Chief Justice of the Wisconsin Supreme Court, Edward Ryan, evolved a new seal from the Lathrop design. Ryan objected to the proposed Latin motto. As an alternative, they first thought of "Excelsior", which suggested the words "Forward", "Upward" and "Onward"; "Forward" was chosen.

Seal. Section 4, Article XIII, of the Wisconsin Constitution requires the legislature to provide a "great seal", to be kept by the Secretary of State and used to authenticate all official acts of the Governor except laws. The seal consists of the coat of arms with the words "Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin" centered above and a curved line of 13 stars below, with an ornamental border. A modified "lesser seal" is provided as the seal of the Secretary of State to be used to authenticate documents.

The history of the seal is inextricably entwined with that of the coat of arms. An official seal was created in 1836, when Wisconsin became a territory, and was revised in 1839. When Wisconsin achieved statehood in 1848, a new seal was prepared. This seal was changed in 1851 because, it is said, Governor Nelson Dewey did not like it. In 1881, Chapter 280 for the first time precisely described the great seal (and coat of arms), language that ultimately became Sections 1.07 and 14.45 of the statutes.

"14.45 Great and lesser seals. (1) The state shall have a great seal and a lesser seal both of which shall be kept in the office of the secretary of state.

(2) The great seal of the state consists of a metallic disc, 2 3/8 inches in diameter, containing, within an ornamental border, the following devices and legend: The coat of arms of the state, as in s. 1.07 described; above the arms, in a line parallel with the border, the words, "Great Seal of the State of Wisconsin;" in the exergue, in a curved line, 13 stars.

(3) A lesser seal, 1 3/4 inches in diameter, engraved with the device of the great seal, with the words, "Seal of the Secretary of State," in a curved line above, and the words, "State of Wisconsin," in a curved line below such device, is the seal of the secretary of state, and may be used to authenticate all papers and documents issued by him, except the official acts of the governor, and such copies of the laws and records in the office of said secretary as may be required for use as evidence in any other state, territory or country."

Song. The music for "On, Wisconsin!" was composed in 1909 by William T. Purdy with the idea of entering it in a Minnesota contest for the creation of a new football song. Instead, a friend, Carl Beck, persuaded Purdy to dedicate the song to the University of Wisconsin football team, and collaborated in the effort by writing the lyrics. The song was introduced at the University of Wisconsin in November 1909. It was later acclaimed by John Philip Sousa as the best college song he ever heard.

Lyrics more in keeping with the purposes of a state song were subsequently written in 1913 by J.S. Hubbard (then editor of the Beloit Free Press) and Judge (later Tax Commissioner) Charles D. Rosa. Hubbard and Rosa were among the delegates from many states convened in 1913 to commemorate the centennial of the Battle of Lake Erie, where Oliver Hazard Perry defeated the British fleet near Put-in-Bay, Ohio.

Inspired by the occasion, they provided new, more solemn words to the already well-known Wisconsin football song. Their lyrics, some of which were later incorporated in the official state song, were first performed on the S.S. Alabama under the leadership of Prof. Julius E. Olson, chairman of the Wisconsin delegation.

Although "On, Wisconsin!" was recognized everywhere as Wisconsin's song, the state did not adopt an official song until 1959. In that year, Assemblyman Harold W. Clemens discovered that Wisconsin was one of only 10 states without a song. As a vocalist, he had sung "On, Wisconsin!" at public gatherings for many years thinking it was the state song. Mr. Clemens introduced a bill to give "On, Wisconsin!" the status he thought it deserved. On discovering that many different lyrics existed, an official text for the first verse of what was to become the state anthem was incorporated in the bill. It was enacted as Chapter 170, Laws of 1959, amending statute Section 1.10.

"1.10 State song and State symbols. The Wisconsin state song is 'On, Wisconsin', music written by W.T. Purdy, the words to which are as follows: 'On, Wisconsin! On, Wisconsin! Grand old badger state! We, thy loyal sons and daughters, Hail thee, good and great. On, Wisconsin! On, Wisconsin! Champion of the right, 'Forward', our motto—God will give thee might!'...."

Symbol of peace: mourning dove. Various individuals and organizations concerned with conservation and wildlife long sought a protected status for the dove. Concluding an effort that stretched over a decade, the mourning dove was added to statute Section 1.10 as Wisconsin's official symbol of peace and removed from the statutory definition of game birds by Chapter 129, Laws of 1971.

"1.10 State song and state symbols. .... The state symbols are as follows: The mourning dove (zenaidura macoura corolinensis linnaus) is the symbol of peace...."

Tree: sugar maple. A state tree was first selected by a vote of Wisconsin school children in 1893. The maple tree won, followed by oak, pine and elm. In 1948 another vote was conducted among the school children by the Youth Centennial Committee. In that election the sugar maple again polled the most votes, followed by white pine and birch. The 1949 Legislature, in spite of efforts by white pine advocates, enacted Chapter 218, creating statute Section 1.10, which designated the sugar maple as the official state tree.

"1.10 State song and state symbols. .... The state symbols are as follows: .... the Wisconsin state tree is the sugar maple (acer saccharum)...."

Flower: wood violet. In 1908 school children nominated 4 candidates for state flower: the violet, wild rose, trailing arbutus and white water lily. On Arbor Day 1909, the final vote was taken, and the violet won. Chapter 218, Laws of 1949, which created statute Section 1.10, named the wood violet Wisconsin's official flower.

"1.10 State song and state symbols. .... The state symbols are as follows: .... the Wisconsin state flower is the wood violet (viola papilionacea)...."

Bird: robin. In 1926-27, Wisconsin school children voted to select a state bird. The robin received twice the votes given any other bird. Chapter 218, Laws of 1949, creating statute Section 1.10, officially made the robin the state bird.

"1.10 State song and state symbols. .... The state symbols are as follows: .... the Wisconsin state bird is the robin (turdus migratorius)...."

Fish: muskellunge. As early as 1939 an effort was made by joint resolution to adopt the muskellunge as the obvious candidate for state fish. The trout was a very distant alternative suggestion. In 1955, by Chapter 18 and without a dissenting vote, the Legislature amended statute Section 1.10 to declare the muskellunge to be Wisconsin's official fish.

"1.10 State song and state symbols. .... The state symbols are as follows: .... the Wisconsin state fish is the muskellunge (Esox masquinongy masquinongy Mitchell)...."

Animals: badger, white-tailed deer, dairy cow. Although the badger has been closely associated with Wisconsin since territorial days, it was not declared the official state animal until 1957. Over the years its likeness had been incorporated in the state coat of arms, seal, flag, and even in the Capitol architecture, as well as being immortalized in the song, "On, Wisconsin!" ("...Grand old badger state!"). "Bucky Badger" has long been the University of Wisconsin's mascot. In 1957 a bill to establish the badger as state animal was introduced at the request of 4 Jefferson County students (age 8-11) who discovered from a Historical Society publication that the badger did not have the official status most people assumed. They wanted this oversight corrected. Custom and usage virtually dictated the badger as the self-evident choice for state animal. Serious opposition developed, however, when a faction from Wisconsin's northern counties introduced a bill to make the white-tailed deer the official animal, citing the state's large native deer population, the animal's physical attributes, and the considerable economic benefits derived from the annual deer hunt. When the legislative debate ended, a compromise had produced 2 official animals to be added to statute Section 1.10. 1957 Chapter 209 made the badger the "state animal", while Chapter 147 named the white-tailed deer the state "wildlife animal".

Badger nickname. History, rather than nature or the law, explains Wisconsin's nickname, the "badgers", or "badger state". It evolved during the lead-mining boom which began just prior to 1830 in southwestern Wisconsin. The name was first applied when miners who were too busy digging the "gray gold" to build houses moved into abandoned mine shafts and makeshift burrows for shelter — like badgers. Although "badgers" had a somewhat derogatory connotation at first, it gradually gained acceptance as an apt description of the hardworking and energetic settlers of the Wisconsin Territory. While the nickname stuck, it has remained unofficial.

The dairy cow was added to statute Section 1.10 as Wisconsin's official "domestic animal" by Chapter 167, Laws of 1971, in recognition of its many contributions to the state. This action was termed a logical and long overdue step, consistent with the state promoting itself as "America's Dairyland", the legend placed on state automobile license plates — following consideration of a number of serious and facetious descriptive phrases — by Chapter 115, Laws of 1939 (see statute Section 341.13).

1972 Executive Order 32 designated Wisconsin's first official dairy cow and ordered the Secretary of the Department of Agriculture to establish an annual rotation among Wisconsin's remaining purebreds. The Jersey was selected for the honor in 1984-85, followed in 1985-86 by the Ayrshire.

"1.10 State song and state symbols. .... The state symbols are as follows: .... the Wisconsin state animal is the badger (taxidea taxus); the Wisconsin domestic animal is the dairy cow (bos taurus); the Wisconsin wildlife animal is the white-tailed deer (odocoileus virginianus) ...."

Insect: honey bee. Selection of the honey bee as official state insect was achieved when statute Section 1.10 was amended by Chapter 326, Laws of 1977. The bill which became law was introduced at the request of the third grade class of Holy Family School of Marinette and the Wisconsin Honey Producers Association. Attempts to allow all elementary school pupils in the state to decide the selection by popular ballot were unsuccessful. Other contenders for the title were the monarch butterfly, dragon fly, ladybug and mosquito.

"1.10 State song and state symbols .... The state symbols are as follows: .... the Wisconsin state insect is the honey bee (apis mellifera)...."

Mineral and rock: galena and red granite. Chapter 14, Laws of 1971, amended statute Section 1.10 to make galena the official state mineral and red granite the state rock. The proposal was introduced at the request of the Kenosha Gem and Mineral Society to promote geological awareness. Criteria for initial selection by the Wisconsin Geological Society included nativity, abundance, uniqueness, economic value and historical significance.

"1.10 State song and state symbols. .... The state symbols are as follows: .... the Wisconsin state mineral is the galena (lead sulphide); the Wisconsin state rock is the red granite...."

Soil: Antigo Silt Loam. An official state soil was created by 1983 Wisconsin Act 33, a declaration intended as a reminder of our soil stewardship responsibilities. Its advocates argued that soil, a natural resource that took 10,000 years to produce, is not only essential to Wisconsin's economy, but is the foundation of life. It needs to be conserved, rather than abused, poisoned, eroded or covered with concrete. Selected to represent the over 500 major soil types in Wisconsin, Antigo silt loam is a productive, level, silty soil of glacial origins, subsequently enriched by organic matter from prehistoric forests. Found chiefly in Wisconsin — stretching in patches across the north central part of the state — it is named after one of our cities. It is a versatile soil which supports dairying, potatoe growing and timber. This amendment to statute Section 1.10 was the result of a successful recognition drive led by Professor Francis D. Hole, UW-Madison soil scientist.

"1.10 State Song and State Symbols .... The state symbols are as follows: .... the Wisconsin state soil is the Antigo silt loam (typic glossoboralf)."
