POLITICS HOTLY DISCUSSED

HESPERIA AND ATHENA HAVE LIVELY DEBATES.

ENGINEERS ARE DOING LOTS OF GOOD WORK.

Philomathia Talks Woman's Suffrage—Laurea Discusses Arbitration—New Officers Elected.

By a slight stretch of the imagination one might have thought himself in congress last night, instead of in Hesperia hall. The leaders of the great political parties were all represented in the debate over the question as to which party ought to run this country. Peck and the state administration were praised to the skies by McNab, who thought the state issues safer ground than national ones. McKinley and protection were represented by Amazeen, who declared that his party had definite principles; and what was more, lived up to them. Simons, backed by four freshmen, undertook to convince the jury that the expenditure of $1,500,000,000 which goes to the saloon keepers and distillers, was the nut to be cracked by a new party; and Simpson, The Sockless, and Peffer, the Kansas Cyclone-dodger, were ably bolstered in their opinions by McCard and Evans. Mrs. Lease was the only prominent politician who was not represented on the floor.

After the jury had been told that the democrats could run nothing but a naturalization bureau, and after they had been assured that the republicans were nothing but treasury thieves and robbers of the people, they were given a short respite before the onslaught of the horny-palmed populists and the sanctimonious prohibs.

Messrs. McCard and Evans then asked the jury whether, in their candid opinion, it made any difference to the people whether there was a duty of 10 per cent. on cochineal, or whether eagle's teeth were admitted free. They said the old parties had slung so much mud at each other that it was impossible to dig either out, and as for the prohibition party, it wasn't worthy of mention in such a short debate.

On top of all this Mr. Simons added the few words he could reel off in a twelve minute speech, and the jury was left to bemoan its fate. It revived sufficiently, however, to send in a verdict in favor of the democrats.

The debate was spicy, and replete with sharp thrusts and keen repartee. The jury's decision was 3 democratic, 1 republican, 1 populist. The freshmen did well. The debate was spirited throughout and lasted till almost eleven p. m. Election of officers then took place. Mr. C. E. Prevey was unanimously elected president. The following are the other officers: Mr. Case, '97, secretary; Mr. Simons, '95, censor, and Mr. Wild, assistant censor. The debates for next Friday evening are: Resolved, that inventions are detrimental to the best interests of the workingman, Dolph to lead the affirmative and Prevey the negative. The second debate, Resolved, that the state should pass a law requiring that children between the ages of 7 and 14 be compelled to attend school where the primary studies are taught in English. The invention question will be very interesting.

Philomathia's meeting last night was one of the most spirited held this team. The debates and declamations all showed good preparation and were listened to with interest by those present.

The exercises were opened with a declamation by Wilson, '97. The first debate was on the question: "Should the right of suffrage be given to women?" The debate was unanimously decided in the affirmative, led by Ryan, '95, in spite of the able arguments of the leader on the negative, Nash, '97. The leaders in this debate were well supported by their colleagues, especially by the new admitted members.

After a recess of ten minutes which was spent in singing college songs, Winter '98, delivered a declamation. Then followed one of the most spirited debates held during this term, the question being: "Was the enfranchisement of the negro in 1870 politic?" The affirmative was led by Buckley, the negative by Brazeau. The debate was finally won by the negative although the affirmative put forth strong arguments. Good volunteer debates were made on both sides. After the initiation of Phoenix, '98, the society proceeded to the election of officers for the residue of the term. Hough was elected president, Burgess, '96, vice president, Botton, '96, censor, and Giddings, '95, assistant censor.

Nash was unanimously elected essayist for the sophomore semi-public, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Ball.

The interest in the political discussions at the various literary societies last evening secured a much better and more enthusiastic attendance than usual,—a fact of much significance to those interested in the progress of the debating society at the university.

The first debate at Athenae was won by the democrats led by Miller against Ap Robert, who led the opposition. The second debate was upon the government ownership of the telegraph system of the United States and was marked by quite as much spirit as was the debate on the first question. Allen on the affirmative won from Moore, the leader on the negative.

Last night being the regular meeting for election, officers for the remainder of the term were elected as follows: President, Oscar Rohn; vice president, H. A. Sawyer; secretary, J. S. Allen, Censor P. ApRoberts, assistant censor, W. Chester Ferris.

The rolleall at Laurea was responded to by quotations from Tennyson, followed by a solo by Miss Bliss which received a hearty encore. Miss Mary Spence read a paper on "Japan and China War," after which came an enthusiastic debate on the question:

Resolved: That the federal government should pass a law compelling arbitration in troubles between employers and employed.

The affirmative was upheld by Miss Gertrude Spence and Miss Craig; negative by Miss Ross and Miss H. Van

A very pleasant informal dancing party was given by Mrs. Sexton at her residence on N. Henry street last night. The evening was spent in dancing the German, light refreshments being served at intervals during the dancing. The party was given in honor of her many young friends, who were present as follows: Misses Martha Pound, Gussie Wood, Grace Nicodemus, Elizabeth Vilas, Jennie Davis, Anna Scribner, Helen Palmer, Mary Freeman, Grace Merrill, Maud Thorpe, and "Fay Templeton;" Messrs. Clarke Knight, Andrew Sexton, Walter Sutherland, Ralph Jackman, Leo Sexton, Roy Main, Sidney Rumsey, Charles Montgomery, Gray Montgomery, Frank Reilly, and Marshall Hanks.

—The young ladies of Gamma Phi Beta entertained their friends at tea yesterday afternoon.

—Messrs. Ben. C. and Henry C. Parkinson are practicing law at 34 Mack Block, Milwaukee.

—The Pharmaceutical society has recently purchased a new piano.

HARE AND HOUNDS CHASE.

The first "hare and hounds" chase of the season was held yesterday, and although the day was far from pleasant, an enthusiastic crowd of about twenty-five started out from the big gymnasium, dressed for the run, and eager for the sport. The "hares," Messrs. Zimmerman, '96, and Goddard, '98, made a lively start, and laid a trail over the hills, by the lakeside, through the university farm, the whole course being somewhat over two miles. The "hounds" were off in hot pursuit, starting seven minutes after the "hares." Hopkins was leader of the hounds, setting the pace, and looking after the weaker runners. In seventeen minutes the hares were in, and in a few minutes the pack of hounds were seen coming over the hills, every man finishing strongly and well. Following is the order of the first eight who finished: 1. Hopkins; 2. Drought; 3. Street; 4. Benson; 5. Hanks; 6. Peterson; 7. Serl; 8. Haagerman.

The runners were rubbed down, and after a short rest were as fresh as ever. The next chase will be held on Friday afternoon of next week, and it is hoped that 75 or 100 will participate in the enjoyable and beneficial out-door sport. A great many are planning to train on the gymnasium track before the next run.

MECHANICAL ENGINEERS TRIP.

The mechanical engineers of the senior class have made arrangement for their annual trip. They will leave here Monday morning at 5:10 for Chicago. There will be six in the party: Hartwell, Hanson, Ahara, Grover, Golder and Meyers. They will be accompanied by Professors Bull and King. The week will be spent mostly in Chicago visiting such places as will be of interest and benefit to them in their work. Among the places already planned to visit are the Rolling Mills at South Chicago, Bessmer Steel Works, The Illinois Screw company, several of the large power plants and Washburn & Moen's Wire M'fg. Co., at Waukegan. The party will return on Saturday.

GYMNASIUM NOTES.

—The freshmen physical culture class will not meet on Monday owing to the football game with Iowa.

—Charts will be placed for the runner using the track in the gym, to show the direction they are to run each day. The direction will be changed each day so that the muscles on both sides of the body may be used and both ankles strengthened.

—The record on the spherometer has been broken by I. L. Cole, the measure being 380 cubic inches. The former record was held by O. G. Libbey, 370 cubic inches.

Monday the football team plays Iowa University on our home grounds. The next game scheduled at home is the one with Illinois on the 15th of November, unless a return game with Chicago University is arranged here early next month. So there should be a good crowd at the game Monday. The game will undoubtedly be a good one as the Iowa fellows are playing good ball this year.

So far this term nothing has been done toward starting active work in the University Press club. It has been the experience of the Press club as it has with all other library organizations in the university that work is more reliable to create interest and be properly attend to at the opening of the year than it is later on. The evil effects of waiting until the winter term before resuming work was made very apparent last year and in order not to fall into the same difficulty this year, an immediate action on the part of the members in charge will be necessary for the term is already well advanced.

The senior class will hold an important meeting next Monday evening in room 4, University hall. Several matters of importance will come up. It is understood that an attempt will be made to secure a reconsideration of the cap and gown. A class cane will also be selected and other matters settled finally.

The wearing of the cap and gown should not be decided on hastily or unless a large majority of the class desire it. For a change of this kind to be successful it must have the almost unanimous support of the class. The appearance of the class on class day with only a little more than half the class in cap and gown would be ludicrous in the extreme. So the present senior class had better reject the cap and gown entirely if there is any considerable sentiment against it.

But the fact that it is so hard to find a time for a class meeting when all of the class can be present makes it difficult to get a complete expression of the opinion of the class on any matter like this. The same is true of the election of class-day officers and committees. These elections are usually held with only a small proportion of the class present. The only way to get a true expression of the sentiment of the class is to have the vote by ballot, at some convenient place and to have the polls open long enough to enable everyone to vote.

Lists should be made out of those entitled to vote, and posted a certain time before the election. Any omissions from these lists could be reported to the committee, before the election, and then only those appearing on the final list be allowed to vote at the class election. The election could then be conducted by the registrar, or if he was unwilling to assume the duty, by a committee of the class. The polls should then be open for at least a day or long enough for all of the class to vote. We hope that the senior class will consider some such plan as this for its voting.

Briessen. It was decided in favor of the affirmative. A reading by Miss N. MacGregor and a recitation by Miss MacMynn concluded the program. Several names were proposed for membership and one young lady was initiated.

The Pharmaceutical society met last night in North hall with every member present. The members should be congratulated on the interest they manifest in doing all they can to develop this organization, which has for its object the literary development of its members as well as the work of their profession. The program was interesting, consisting of several papers on the work in pharmacy, a recitation by Mr. Vivian, and several musical selections on the piano and violin. The society have rented a new piano which will add much to the arrangement of the coming programs of the winter.

The Engineers' society had a very lively meeting last night. A number of new members joined and the society now numbers about fifty. President Hanson delivered his inaugural address. Mr. G. X. Gerdtzen described the arrangement of the steam plant of the university. The plant when completed will have a capacity of nearly one thousand horse power and room will be left for more boilers when needed. A description of the new army rifle, recently adopted, was given by A. L. Goddard, followed by an account of the Mannesmann process of rolling tubes by F. T. Hartwell, and an account of the processes of electric welding by A. H. Ford. After the intermission the reviews of the engineering journals were given by A. E. Broenniman, L. D. Dickey and L. W. Golder. The enthusiasm displayed by the members augurs well for the future of the society.

The first regular meeting of the newly organized Freshman Engineer's society was held yesterday at 3:00 o'clock in room 22, Science hall. The attendance was large and all present seemed interested in the progress of the society. During the meeting Mr. Mack gave a condensed report from the "Scientific American." The president appointed a committee of three to canvass the civil engineering freshmen to determine how many intended to join the society. The result was highly gratifying, the majority of the civil engineers expressing their desire to join. The reason why the latter had withheld from joining was because of a misunderstanding, the civil engineers believing that the society was open only to electrical and mechanical engineers. It is expected that by the next meeting all freshmen engineers will have joined. The value to them of a society cannot be overestimated.
