MISS EVERTS GIVES READING IN ROOM 165

Tickets on Sale at Bascom
Hall and Lathrop—Gives Comedy

Tickets for the dramatic reading Thursday night by Katherine Jewell Everts, well known reader, lecturer, and author of books on dramatic work, will be on sale all day today and tomorrow in Bascom hall and Lathrop hall, or may be obtained from members of Twelfth Night and Red Domino, under whose auspices Miss Everts will read Thursday night, in 165 Main hall.

Miss Everts' dramatic career has been an interesting and varied one, beginning with several years of private study under Leland T. Powers, in Boston, after her graduation from the University of Minnesota. Her first professional work was an exceedingly successful year on the stage with Otis Skinner and Ada Rehan.

Conducts Two Expression Schools

Miss Everts' reputation today, however, is based on her important work in the education branches of vocal expression. Her two books on speech and voice have greatly influenced teaching methods as have her lecture tours, in which she has appeared in nearly every large university in the United States except Wisconsin. She now conducts two schools, one, a summer session at Brattleboro, Vt., and the other her regular winter session at New Haven, Conn.

When the United States entered the war, Miss Everts, who for three years had been a special lecturer on voice and speech in the English and Public Speaking departments of the University of California, laid aside her professional work and volunteered her services as a speaker for the Food administration.

Serves on Speech Committee

As a member of the American Speech committee of the National Council of Teachers of English, Miss Everts has toured the Middle West, for the last two years. Her repertoire includes two series of lecture-recitals, "Imagination and Speech," and the "Dramatic Instinct," and a long series of recitals.

Her reading Thursday will be "My Lady's Ring," the charming three act comedy written especially for Miss Everts by Alice Brown.

TELLS EXPERIENCES AS EDITOR OF NEW DAILY NEWSPAPER

Senior Journalism Student Recounts Adventures at Press Club Meeting

How, as an undergraduate in journalism, she was given entire charge of a new newspaper, and how she ran that newspaper successfully for several months as a rival to the Janesville Gazette, was told by Esther Van Wagoner, now a senior in the university, at the meeting of the Press club in Lathrop hall last night.

"A man came up from Janesville, one spring, looking for someone to run this new paper," she said, "and I was recommended to him by the journalism department. So I took the position as managing editor.

"I had to order the type, make up the dummy, and decide the whole policy of the paper. I had every possible problem to contend with, and made all sorts of mistakes, be-

HILL AND DALE MEN LEAVE FOR MEET THURSDAY

Wisconsin Picked as Likely Contender for Big Ten Championship

The Wisconsin cross-country runners will work out daily up to Thursday afternoon, when the squad entrains for Chicago at 4:10 o'clock. Every runner on the squad is in good condition and the Badger hill and dale team stands a fine chance to repeat last year's victory and annex the conference cross-country championship.

The large field of contestants in the meet has been increased by the entry of teams from the Michigan Agricultural college, and Mississippi A. and M. college. The Mississippi squad has captured the southern long distance honors, and with the Nebraska, Kansas, and Ames squads entered from the Missouri Valley conference, the Big Ten conference run has taken on the aspect of an inter-sectional competition. Teams representing fifteen schools will face the starter at Urbana, Saturday, November 20, with the Ames and Mississippi harriers conceded the best chance of winning the meet.

The victory of any of the entries outside the conference will not affect the Big Ten championship, for the cross-country championship will be awarded to the first member of the Big Ten conference to finish. Wisconsin, with a victory over the Chicago team and a defeat by the Gopher team, looms up as a likely contender for first place honors, but cross-country authorities in the conference are picking either Purdue or Michigan to trot away with the victory.

CADETS DANCE FRIDAY NIGHT

First Informal Gives R. O.
T. C. Members Chance to Show Uniforms

Arrangements have practically been completed for the first informal dance given by the University cadet corps which will be held at the armory Friday night. In other years social functions of the corps have been limited to the Military ball. The dance Friday night is for cadets only.

For the first time of the year every cadet will have an opportunity to see his partners in the daily "squads east and west" drama regaled in their new 1920 uniforms. The dance is primarily planned to take the place of a "military mixer," and gives a chance for the men in ranks of Company A to meet the "top" of K company, and so on down from Captain Woods to the most timid frosh in the rear rank, and back to Tommy Atkins.

Price Comes Down

Death to inflated amusement prices is another slogan of the dance. The prevailing tendency has been to boost the gate receipts to

MONEY

Students Find Novel Ways to Earn Cash for University Expenses

Selling blood is one of the numerous novel ways employed by some of the students at the University of Wisconsin to earn a part of their college expenses. When the doctors of the city have a case that requires transfusion of blood, they call on students who have previously volunteered to sell an amount of their blood in this way. There is some danger involved in this process, but the wages are high enough to influence many to earn money by such a method.

About 20 men have been engaged by the psychology department to smoke at specified times, and their reactions to tobacco are gathered into data upon the effect of tobacco to the human brain and nervous system.

Musically talented students are always in great demand to play in orchestras or at entertainments of all kinds. One man here is an expert tree trimmer, and another, who is good at sleight of hand performances, has often been hired as an entertainer.

Working for the state as a page when the legislature is in session, or for the city on the street railway during rush hours, are two peculiar odd jobs which the city of Madison offers to the student who is in need of money.

GILKE SPEAKS AT FELLOWSHIP MEET TOMORROW NIGHT

Will Answer Difficult Questions
That Have Arisen in Year's Discussionals

Dr. Charles W. Gilke, pastor of the Hyde Park Baptist church, Chicago, is to be the speaker at the Fellowship meeting of the university "Y" tomorrow night for the second time in this year. This time he has been invited as one of the series of speakers addressing the meetings on discussed religious topics, planned for the work of the discussion groups now under way, and has been presented with some of the most debated questions for answer in this meeting.

Dr. Gilke is the fifth of the speakers, the rest being chosen from the Wisconsin faculty, and each presenting one or more aspects of religious or ethical philosophy. Each meeting has been quickly conclusive to discussion, although the purpose of the talks themselves has been only to give the various sides of these questions in religion, for the clarification of later argument.

The varying theories of ethics and religious beliefs have each been presented at the meeting by able exponents. Starting with the talk of Professor McGilvary, on the "Non-Religious Life," which brought hot attack by Professor Gillen, of the Romance language department, and served to generate great interest in the discussionals. "The Jewish Idea of Jesus," explained by Professor Wolfenson was also of interest to the students, and the talks by Professors Robinson and Sharp on religion and ethics from the Christian standpoint followed.

Dr. Gilke will go over summaries of the earlier talks, that the bases of the questions put to him will be clearer to those not in attendance at each of the other meetings. The questions to be answered were all presented to Dr. Gilke some time ago, being handed in at the Fellowship meetings and by members of the discussion groups.

"Bill" Goesling will entertain with popular tunes and will play for the singing before the talk.

ALL REGULARS OUT FOR LAST GRID DRILLS

Entire Badger Strength to Play Against Staggs' Crippled Team

Coach John R. Richards sent his squad of football men through their first scrimmage of the week at Camp Randall yesterday afternoon in preparation for the final game of the grid season with the Maroons next Saturday. Every man was out in uniform. With the exception of several minor injuries, the Illini attack inflicted little damage. Excepting those physical disabilities that may come in this week's hard scrimmages, the Badgers will make the Chicago trip with their entire strength.

The freshmen offered some stiff opposition to the Varsity in last night's workout. The yearlings used Staggs formations and plays, brought back by Badger scouts who witnessed the Illinois-Chicago and Michigan-Chicago contests recently. The frosh will be sent against the Varsity again this afternoon, since the "All-American" team has disbanded for the season.

Wisconsin ends, who were out of the game for some time owing to injuries, are now both in excellent trim. Neither Captain Weston nor Tebell feel any serious effects of the Illinois game. Tebell's shoulder, which was dislocated in the Ohio State contest several weeks ago, has been bothering him somewhat, but a leather harness has been provided to protect that member from further injury.

Beth Guy Sundt and "Jimmie" Brader received slight bruises or sprains about the ankles, but both men are able to take part in the daily practices. Coach Richards is taking advantage of every minute to round his eleven into condition for the final game of the '20 season. Chicago sport critics have already conceded that Wisconsin apparently has the strongest aggregation in the conference, and a decided victory over the Maroons will give the Badgers a boost toward the championship.

Title in Doubt

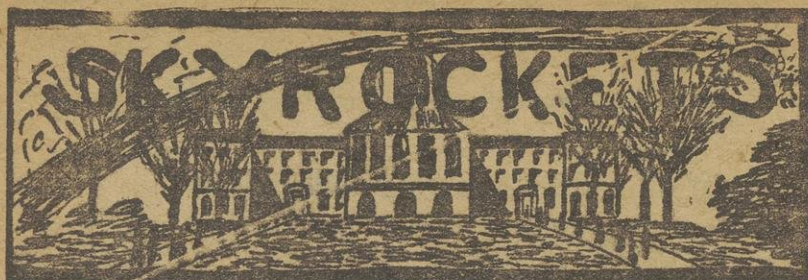

Illinois will doubtless claim the title if they win from the Buckeyes Saturday, but considering that each team would then have one defeat on their books, dopesters will award honors to the strongest team. Chicago is out of the race, having already been defeated by Illinois, Ohio and Michigan. Unless the Stagmen show a complete reversal of form, Wisconsin will have little trouble in winning Saturday's game. The Maroon's cripples are still on the sidelines, and their backfield is weak. Staggs' strength lies entirely in the front wall, but it is thought that Wisconsin's combination of Bunge,

WISCONSIN SENDS 4,500 TO CHICAGO

Approximately 3,800 tickets for the Chicago game were disposed of by the athletic department in the first 24 hours of the sale. Since then many students have been turned away, and a new order for 1,100 tickets has been sent to Chicago. The sale of these will be opened this morning.

This indicates that Wisconsin is sending down this year more rooters than ever before, and over four times the number that witnessed our victory of last year.

Imagine the scene: A big comfortable chair, a beautiful girl snuggled down in it, her head leaned back so far that she is looking up into the face of the man who is bending so attentively over her.

Now he reaches his arm around her. Her head is pressed against his heart. Speech at this time would be impossible.

Listen. We hear her struggled whisper: "Oh, dear, you hurt." In a low earnest voice he says: "Well, I simply cannot help hurting you a little bit. You don't mind that, do you?"

Again we hear only silence. They seem perfectly contented.

It is not long, however, that they remain in this position. He does not seem content with what he can see of her face.

LIT HAS EXTRA COPIES ON SALE ON HILL TODAY

Popularity of Certain Articles Causes Unprecedented Demand for Magazine

Five hundred additional copies of the November number of the Wisconsin Literary magazine have been printed and will be placed on sale today and tomorrow in every building on the hill and also on all the news stands throughout town.

"We regret very much the fact that we have been unable to meet the demand," said Horace Powell, circulation manager, "but we have been simply swamped by the sales this month, notwithstanding the fact that we printed several hundred more copies this time than we did in October."

"The popularity of the 'Lit' this month seems to have centered around Dorothy Shaner's, 'That's the Theory, But—,' and about the offering, 'That's the Trouble,' by Paul Gangelin, which is drawing considerable fire from the co-ed ranks."

many similar functions via the simple method of doubling the price of tickets. The committee in charge of the cadet dance plans to admit the capacity crowd of 300 for the popular price of one dollar.

In order that those coming to the dance may actually receive their money's worth in dancing, couples will be strictly limited to 300. Cadets are urged to get their tickets early.

Floor Will Be Slippery

The floor of the armory is to be polished in a manner that will go easy on shoe leather, and provide excellent dancing. Music of the first order has been obtained. The following lineup will play. "Red" Hawkins, piano; Terkel and Garner, saxophones; Sinaiko and Spring, violins; Brahms, drums; Thompson and Bartlett, banjos; Nardy, trombone; McConnell, flute.

In order that those cadets planning on the Chicago-Wisconsin game may not feel constrained to remain away in order to catch trains, it is announced that a special will leave Madison about 2 o'clock Saturday morning on which all may go. For additional information call E. C. Caluwaert, B. 4611, or Robert Russell, F. 145. The committee has guaranteed also to transport any and all cadets to the depot and insure their making the train to the game.

The committees in charge of the affair are: Chaperons, Joe Bolender; Floor, William Hart, Robert Leuning; Tickets, Hy Bilansky; Punch, Warner; Publicity, E. C. Caluwaert. Robert Russell is general chairman of the dance.

HISTORIC TREES ARE FOUND IN MADISON

Willows on Grave of Napoleon Have Descendants in City

A tree census is being taken in Wisconsin by the American Forestry association for the purpose of introducing forest conservation laws into this state. Wisconsin is not only one of the most densely forested states in the union but has many historic trees, some of them growing in Madison. Near the foot of Livingston street is a group of beautiful willows. These trees have grown from slips which were cut from the willows growing on the grave of Napoleon. An old sea-captain doing homage at the grave at St. Helena brought the cuttings across the sea and planted them in Madison. There is an oak which is about a hundred years old growing on the nose of the bear mound in Wingra park. In the 10th ward is a tree bent many years ago to mark an Indian trail. On the property of Will Oppel, South Butler street, is a burr oak which shaded the first house built in Madison in 1837.

FROSH WOMEN WIN IN SWIMMING MEET

Defeat Juniors in Second Match of Season—Frosh in Lead

The freshman women's swimming team scored its second victory last evening when it defeated the junior women in the second meet of the season. The sophomore women received their second defeat at the hands of the seniors.

The first victories were scored Monday night when the freshmen defeated the seniors and the juniors scored over the sophomores. Last night's meet gives the freshmen a score of 64, the juniors and seniors 44 each, and the sophomores 30.

The juniors will meet the seniors and the sophomores the freshmen Thursday night.

Diving, plunging, as well as all strokes, are included in the meets. Two university records have been broken so far. Bonnie Gleerup made the length of the tank and back in 34.6 seconds in the breast stroke, and Frances Farrington did the same distance in the crawl in 27 seconds.

A free-for-all meet will be held next Tuesday evening in which all the teams will compete together, and sometime next week, or in the near future, Dolphin club plans to give an exhibit which will consist of perfect executions of all the strokes, plunging, diving and of stunts.

THE WRONG IDEA

AN impression is prevalent on the campus that the women of the university thrive on tag days and sales campaigns. Such a preposterous proposition needs but a few words to refute it.

In all sales, the women volunteer their services to help "put across" some drive. They receive no financial remuneration, and often little credit for their efforts. Many organizations, such as Homecoming, have no other means of obtaining revenue than by a button sale or the sale of a publication, and they have to depend upon the women for aid.

But the women receive no co-operation from the men. The women have to go out early in the morning and endure physical discomforts for the sake of some cause, and then many men merely scoff at them. Insulting remarks are frequently made, and the women are embarrassed through the efforts of some campus "wit."

For a change, we should like to see the men who so staunchly refuse to aid the women in these campaigns take charge and try to solicit student support. Then they might learn that standing on a corner and accosting people is not the height of happiness in a co-ed's life.

* * *

WHAT ABOUT THE BAND?

ON Saturday, at the Homecoming game, the full 100 piece Wisconsin university band, stationed in front of the center portion of the concrete stand could hardly be heard on the Illinois side of the field. This was not due to any lack of tone value on the part of the band. The reason was that the crowded concrete stand immediately back of the band formed a bank of clothing which absorbed the sound. Then, too, due to the position given it, during the first half of the game, the band was completely shut off from a good view of the field, preventing the leader from seeing the plays which should enable him to accommodate the music to the demands of the game.

It would seem that in fairness to the cause of athletics, if not in fairness to the band as a musical organization, and to the members of the band as loyal fans of Wisconsin, some definite advantageous provision should be made for the band at the games. Would not a band stand with a sounding shell, erected at Camp Randall, at either one end or the other of the concrete stand, help solve the difficulty? This would enable the band to be heard from every part of the field and at the same time permit the leader of the band to obtain from his organization the best possible service.

Why bury a good thing?

PHILIPP TALKS TO STUDENT GROUP

Challenges Hearers to Meet Political Science Problems of Future

Challenging the university students to accept the responsibility of political science problems which are confronting America, Governor Emmanuel L. Philipp spoke to a group of 35 students at the home of Prof. Frederic A. Ogg, 1715 West Kendall street last night.

"Responsibility of solving the problems in political science rests with you," Governor Philipp said. "You will be the leaders of tomorrow, and you must accept the challenge." Matters of primary election, the growing tendency to centralize power in the federal government were cited by the governor as problems needing legislative attention.

"The people do not really nominate their man in Wisconsin," he declared. "Under the state primary system, which is used by many states, the people are given merely a choice of several candidates. Under the convention system they could call upon a man, not a candidate, who was well fitted for the office. One of the faults of the primary system is that it is not representative. The candidates often choose themselves, and under the system make their own personal campaigns which necessitate large funds of money.

"More crooked play is done in politics under the primary system than ever before. Before, under the convention system," the governor declared emphatically, "the party fought the campaign for its candidate. The primary system is not for the poor man. A bulk of contributions for personal campaigns come from men who have same significant motives. They want something they ought not to have."

BEACH FUND IS INCREASED TO TOTAL OF $500

Burton Beach Loan Receives Addition by Parents of Flu Victim

The Burton Beach memorial fund, established in honor of George Burton Beach, Muscatine, Iowa, who died on January 28, 1920, in the infirmary of the influenza, has just been increased to $500 by an additional gift of $250 by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Beach, his parents. The fund was established by Mr. and Mrs. Beach last year, and has been under the direction of the university Y. M. C. A.

The purpose of the fund is to give assistance to young working their way through the university, and it has helped many such men over difficult periods since its establishment. In particular it has been of great assistance to foreign students, who often suffer stringency due to failure of expected funds. The loan was also entirely over-drawn a short time ago, when the bonus checks were delayed, and the increase will help prevent such an occurrence in the future. The individual loans are unlimited in size or duration, within the limits of the available funds.

ing of the Athletic Department of the University. Mr. T. E. Jones, head of the department, has kindly pointed out to me that it was a conference ruling, and showed me a letter from the committee which definitely stated that no 50 cent rate would be allowed to students of visiting schools at any conference game.

I feel that it is only fair to acquaint you with these facts, as my previous communication clearly worked injustice to the athletic department.

SINGER'S MIDGETS AT THE ORPHEUM

Ten scenes from the studios of Josef Urban who does the Follies, and Robert Law whose work is seen in many Broadway productions are carried by Singer's Midgets and help to make this one of the biggest and best acts ever offered in Madison, at the local vaudeville theater all this week. Ned Wayburn is responsible for several of the musical numbers as executed by the midgets, and the costumes worn by the 30 tiny men and women are from Paris shows, designed and builders of stage fashions. This organization, which is sure to break all records at the popular Monona avenue playhouse this week, requires three baggage cars to transport the scenery, animals and electrical effects over the Orpheum circuit. Singer's Midgets will not be the whole show. Midgets are not the whole show this week, for there are in addition to this banner attraction four other Orpheum feature acts; the acts changing tomorrow, as is the usual custom, the Midgets remaining for the seven day run.

AT THE GRAND

Few people know that Lionel Barrymore is one of the most devoted of students of the occult science. He says he finds this field a veritable gold mine of lore and he is convinced a knowledge of the inner workings and possibilities of the mentality broadens one more than any other brain development. Mr. Barrymore plays the role of a brilliant psychologist in "The Master Mind," which is now running at the Grand.

AT THE FULLER

"Three Wise Fools," Austin Strong's brilliant comedy, and noted above all else for the high standard of its acting, comes to the Fuller, matinee and night, today. This delightful play has achieved a record equaled by few. In New York it ran for 333 consecutive performances, establishing a record for the Criterion theater. During that time it was successfully presented in London, in Australia and in Honolulu, as well. In this country it is still establishing new records. Both Chicago and Boston gave the play record patronage on return engagements, something unique, but demonstrating the drawing power of the attraction.

John Golden, the producer, is not a believer in No. 2 companies, so local theatergoers are to see "Three Wise Fools" with the same company that established the New York and Chicago records. Claude Gillingwater, Harry Davenport, Howard Gould, Donald Foster, Hazel Sexton, Millard Vincert, Wallace Fortune, Harry Forsman, Minnie Remaley,

Harry Leighton, Herbert Saunders and George Harcourt form, what critics claim to be a "perfect cast."

Fritzi Scheff in Glorianna. The cast supporting Fritzi Scheff in Glorianna to be presented at the Fuller theater Thursday night is practically the same as during the engagement over one hundred and fifty performances at the Colonial theater, Chicago last season. Frank DeVoe the eccentric dancing comedian who scored one of the biggest individual hits ever made by a comedian in that city is still seen as the lawyer who "hates women." James Dunn the dancing butler continues to sing and dance his way into the affection of the audience. The opposite role to Miss Scheff is this season played by Rhoda Nickells who last season appeared in the title and star role of Flo Flo, in Chicago, and all of the principal cities to the Pacific coast. Ursula Ellsworth, Inez Baeur, Harriet Press, Helen Weir, Melville Anderson, Linne Thompson and Will R. Williams are others who have successfully portrayed the principal parts in Glorianna since the beginning of the long New York run.

GIRLS REGISTER FOR WINTER GYM WORK

All women taking work in the physical education department must register for their winter work at the gymnasium on the second floor on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday of next week. Registration can be made from 2 o'clock until 5 o'clock on the days mentioned.

Those who come first will receive a better choice of hours, as the various sport classes fill up rapidly. Those who wait until late will be compelled to take their sports at the hours which remain unfilled.

Regular work will begin the week following registration, on Monday, November 29.

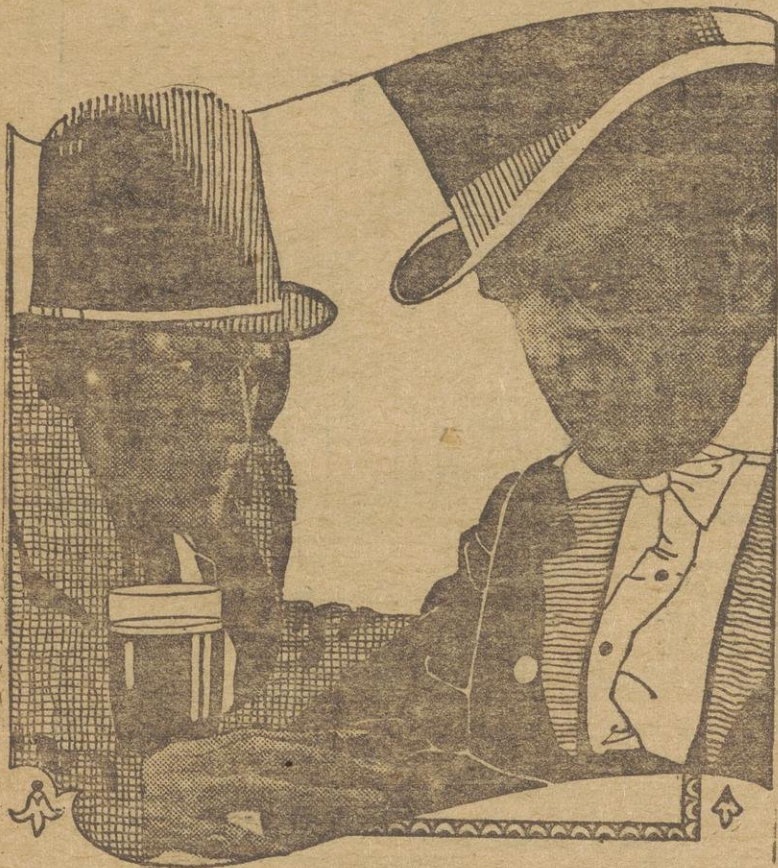

WEATHER

The highest temperature during the past 24 hours was 28 at 2 p. m. and the lowest was 18 at 6 a. m. Sun sets at 4:34.

The weather is unsettled with showers and snow flurries in the south and east. Heavy rains fell on the Gulf coast. The weather is fair and colder in the Mississippi valley where the barometer is high but southerly winds and much warmer prevails on the northern plains. It is raining on the Pacific coast where the barometer is falling.

A marsh fire at Third and Johnson Sts., called out fire department No. 3 at 2 o'clock this afternoon. The central fire company again sent out its fire fighters to contend with the coal fire which is making considerable headway in the coal pile of the Madison Gas and Electric Co.

TEST EFFICIENCY OF FROSH GIRLS

This is efficiency week for the freshmen women who are taking work in the physical education department.

All freshmen women are required to go through a series of stunts. The speed with which they perform these acts will determine in which one of the three classes they are to be placed. These who do it in the shortest time will be placed in the honor class, those in the next shortest time, the intermediate class, and the others in the novice class.

The shortest time in which the various stunts have been performed is 18 seconds and the longest time, 30 seconds.

The acts which the freshmen women will be called upon to perform are: Jumping over a rope; climbing a ladder; rolling over a mat, and crawling underneath a piece of apparatus. The purpose is to see how short a time it will take to perform one of these feats and get back to the starting line.

Another test which the freshmen women will be required to perform is to test the distance they can walk on a balance beam. This is called the co-ordination test. The combination of these two tests will determine the efficiency of the person.

The hours at which these tests may be taken are at 11, 3:30 and 4:30 on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. All freshmen women are required to take these tests upon one of the days mentioned.

The sophomore women tightened their grasp on the women's hockey championship yesterday afternoon when they defeated the seniors by a score of 3 to 2, in the hottest game of the season.

At the end of the first half the score stood 1 to 0 in favor of the seniors, but after two halves of the fastest hockey playing that has been witnessed for a long time at Camp Randall, the score stood as a 1 to 1 tie. During the extra five minutes of play the seniors caged one more goal, but the sophomores succeeded in landing two more, making the score 3 to 2 in favor of the second year team.

Those who were commended for exceptional play yesterday afternoon were: Margaret Swift, '21; Florence Hupprich, '23; Helen Kasbeef, '23.

The championship will be decided this afternoon at 4:30 when the sophomores will meet the juniors in the final hockey game of the season.

TWELFTH NIGHT HAS CLEVER STUNTS AT MEETING YESTERDAY

New Members Entertain Old—Present "Trials and Tryouts" After Initiation

"Trials and Tryouts" was the title of a clever takeoff with which the new members of Twelfth Night entertained the old members after the initiation last night at the Women's building.

The stunt was planned by Rachel Hauck and Helen Double and presented the dramatic club of Dobb's corners about to take in new members. Members of the club were: Aileen Hall as the president, Mrs. Pettigill; Merle Shaw as Parson Swallowtail; Alice Fridk as Miss Clarissa Marcelle; Loris Owen as the Widow Van Valzah; Elizabeth Johnson as Mr. Spooner; and Erna Borchers as Miss Pinkerton.

well-Smythe, the social leader of Dobb's corners, read from Romeo and Juliet, amid diversions offered by her small child, Esmeralda, acted by Lillian Dressler. Rachel Hauck, as Mrs. Joe Blum, read the sleep-walking scene from Macbeth, assisted by a complete set of stage properties, and Helen Double, taking the part of Mr. Charles Edgerton Wellington, the principal of the village school, charmed every feminine heart by his emotional rendition of "The Scarecrow." After due deliberation, all three aspirants were duly accepted.

A Second Reduction in the Prices of Coats and Suits

About the middle of October we remarked our Coats and Suits to meet changing prices and as a result we were at that time offering our garments at from 20 to 25% less than the assortments were made to sell for.

Since then we have made further reductions by giving a discount off the reduced figures of last month.

High class, better grade garments are now offered at lower figures than at any time for the past four years.

FULL MEDICAL COURSE WILL BE PRESENTED

Completion of General Hos- pital Will Mark Begin- ning of Regular School

With the completion of the Wisconsin general hospital, which is in process of construction, the medical school will be able to offer to Wisconsin young men a complete four year course in medicine which formerly had to be completed elsewhere. This fact was brought out by Dr. C. R. Bardeen, dean of the medical school when discussing the new hospital yesterday morning.

"Medicine has always been slighted at Wisconsin in the past," Dr. Bardeen said. "This has been due largely to the fact that a university clinical center has never received sufficient attention while undue stress has been laid on the cost of establishing such an institution and to the opportunities offered Wisconsin boys to study elsewhere.

"With the threatened shortage of doctors expected in the future owing to the limitations of instruction in the present medical schools and the inability of Wisconsin boys to receive adequate training, Wisconsin has felt its duty of supplying training to its young men."

Present Output Too Low

The present output of the medical schools of the country, according to Dr. Bardeen, is 3,500 per year, while in proportion to the population and the depletion of profession there should be an output of at least 5,000.

Medical schools all over the country have been cutting down their enrollment owing to the fact that it costs so much more to train a medical student at present. Medical schools must have the highest class of instruction and very expensive equipment. Enrollment in the Johns Hopkins institution is limited to 80 this year and 90 in Minnesota.

Students are admitted at the Wisconsin medical school according to the grades they received during their first two years of pre-med work. As the applications for enrollment increase, the standard is, of course, raised according to the facilities for accommodation. At present about half of those applying for admittance in the various medical schools of the United States are admitted.

cause I did not know all about the town affairs."

The circulation of the paper was built up on rather a novel plan. Business men of Janesville bought stock, of which a great quantity was issued in small denominations, so that there were many stockholders personally interested in the success of the paper. They called it "The People's Paper."

"All the people who were discontented with the Gazette, because it had mis-spelled their names, or for some such reason, would support us for a while, until we made the same mistake," Miss Van Wagoner continued.

"The paper started out to be a daily, simmered down to a semi-weekly, and finally, about two weeks after I left, died a natural death. It had built up a circulation of about four or five thousand, but the business department had trouble, and finally went into bankruptcy."

A business meeting of the club followed the talk, and plans for some kind of entertainment were discussed. Katherine Beebe was elected social chairman for the coming year, on the resignation of Leon Kaunheimer.

SPECIAL WRITER WILL INTERVIEW PROF. BABCOCK

Country Gentleman Sends Feature Man to Prepare Big Article

John A. McMahan, special writer for the Country Gentleman, has been sent to Madison to prepare a special feature article in honor of Dr. S. M. Babcock, inventor of the Babcock milk test. Mr. McMahan has had a wide newspaper experience and is now acting in a special field for the big agricultural weekly magazine. Mr. McMahan addressed the Country Magazine staff today in Agricultural hall, on the subject of Agricultural Journalism. He said in part:

"Few country newspapers and magazines realize what an immense field lies before them. Too often the tendency is for their staff to see only the technical and narrow subjects and problems of the farmer without realizing that these same problems effect the entire world. Not only emolument to the individual, but to a nation; not the problem of supplying a local community, but the question of how to feed millions; not the problem of gain to a few, but the vital issue of betterment to a commonwealth. All that is necessary and vital to the farmer effects also the wealth and well-being of the entire peoples of the earth, for if our food supply fail, if rains do not come, if crops are not garnered, then the wheat bin of the world shall not be filled to capacity and many will want.

"When the editors and writers for the farm papers understand and appreciate how wide is their field and what intense questions may be cleared through their columns, the field of agricultural journalism will enter upon a new era. New methods, better balanced editors, and a deeper, broader vision can do much to counteract the too general tendency to specialize upon strictly technical subjects."

THANKSGIVING JOY CHANGED TO GLOOM BY MID-SEMESTERS

In the good old days of the past, students have been able to celebrate Thanksgiving with a real feeling of joy in their hearts. For by that time, all exams were completed and peace was theirs.

Now, however, all is changed. Exams will be given from November 22 to December 4, and will be the usual mid-semester. The difference between the mid-semester of today and those of yesterday is in the element of time. The school schedule has practically been pushed ahead ten days this year, and the students will consequently worry about exams at their festival time.

The New Way of the Breakfast Coat

The values are extraordinary at $12.50 and $15.00

A GIFT A DAY MAKES CHRISTMAS SHOPPING PLAY

Happy thought, why not let tomorrow's gift selection be one of these delightful breakfast coats? If you would bring certain joy to mother, daughter, sister or close friend, your choice could not be better made.

A store filled with gift goods is the story a trip through this house will unfold. It is an interesting story now, too, with thrills and surprises unending. New things, fresh and inspiring peep out at one on every hand, while low price spreads happiness and good cheer.

As developed of Taffeta and Satin Messaline, and presented here there is an unexplainable charm about the Breakfast Coat that is altogether appealing, wholly irresistible. The styles are quite as simple as one could wish in the more intimate things of one's wardrobe, and the colors combine delicate beauty with good taste, and such variety. It is a bit of good fortune which brings these dainty Breakfast Coats here now at so attractive a pricing.

$12.50 and $15.00
