"Break the News", the 37th annual production of Haresfoot marks a definite break in a quarter of a century of the tradition of having college boys appear in female roles. This year's show features an all male cast in a fast moving modern musical revue in which the settings are laid in a newspaper office where the majority of the characters are men.

The songs, sketches and novelty numbers are all the work of undergraduates, presented by a spirited, lively troupe of seventy five college performers. Haresfoot has always had a reputation for brilliant lighting effects, splendid costumes and tasteful settings. "Break the News" is no exception. In fact, every effort has been made to surpass previous productions. The patron will be rewarded by witnessing a performance of professional smoothness amplified by all the spirit and enthusiasm of youthful collegians.
