NO ARRESTS FOR ITALIAN QUARTER DOUBLE BOMBINGS

"Police Force Has Not Been Doubled," Says Chief of Police Shaughnessy

While the police patrols in Madison's "Italian quarter" have been increased, no arrests had been made at a late hour last night regarding the two bombings of Saturday and Sunday morning, police officers said last night.

"The police force has not been doubled," said Chief of Police Thomas Shaughnessy late last night. "Two men who were on part time before have been given full time jobs. No new men have been added to the force."

Bombing Indicates Terror

The two bombings coming together are taken by the police to indicate a reign of terror on the West side by an outlaw band of Sicilians.

Motives for the warfare are uncertain, according to police.

The second affair at the three story flat building owned by Tom Uccello, 1-3 South Mills street, came just 24 hours after the bombing of the restaurant owned by Rudolph Jessner, 111 North Lake street.

Italian Paper Lone Clue

ragments of an Italian newspaper, believed to have been the wrapper about the explosive, found several feet away from the house, is the only clue uncovered by authorities in their search for the bombers.

Reports at the time that The Cardinal went to press Sunday morning were that the second affair had been caused by the explosion of a still rather than the bomb. Later investigation showed that the first reports were erroneous.

Local Fraternity Installed Gamma of Beta Phi Theta

Alpha Theta, local fraternity, was installed as Gamma of Beta Pi Theta, Friday, May 23. The installation and banquet was held at Pete Larson's Inn, and was followed by a theater party.

Charter members are M. A. Breitenstein '24, W. F. Boese '25, W. E. Whitworth '24, J. R. Goshaw '24, F. H. Ballens '24, C. H. Mary '25, W. P. Schoenoff '24, E. J. Doehler '25, A. C. Besserich '25, H. H. Krohn '24 and K. W. Goddard '27.

Members present from other chapters were J. Kappa, W. Hahn, E. Schwemer, R. Postel, H. Bertram, P. Falbe, J. Murray, R. Bielefeld, H. Phillips, A. Nicholans, C. Kroening, W. Bauman, and R. Baumann.

Members of the installation team from Milwaukee were W. Hahn, E. Schwemer, R. Postel, H. Bertram, H. Phillips and A. Nicholans.

AWARD FORENSICS TROPHY TONIGHT

Winner Judged By Attendance at Meetings and Debate
Work

Announcement of the winner of the Forensic trophy will be made at the meeting of the Forensic board this evening by the committee which is making the decision, it was announced yesterday.

The trophy will be given to either Philomathia, Athenae, or Hesperia literary society. Attendance at the meetings of the societies, winning of the freshmen declamatory sophomore semi-public debates, and joint debate will serve as the basis for the decision. What the trophy will be has not yet been decided.

Those on the committee are Max Cizor '25, George Fiedler L1, and Carl Ludwig '26. This is the first year that such an award has been given.

Sunday Picnickers Get Forced Swim as Canoe Capsizes

Leaping into Lake Mendota Sunday afternoon to save a picnic lunch for four took plenty of courage on the part of Adrian Purvis '24 and Margaret Patch '26 and the reward, of course, was the rescue of the lunch and a somewhat delayed picnic.

The two canoes were shoved off the university pier, and one of the canoes was swamped. Eileen F. Evans '24 and George Berg '25, the other members of the "foursome" stayed by the ship and kept it upright while the other two leaped into the water to save the lunch.

The swimmers were pulled from the cold waters of Lake Mendota by attendants at the pier, and fled to find dry clothes.

The picnic started, but somewhat later.

GIVE 9 CUPS ON VENETIAN NIGHT

Madison Merchants Will Give Special Prizes For Different Events

Nine cups are to be awarded to the winning participants in Venetian night activities.

"Besides the cups to be awarded, Madison merchants are donating prizes out of stock for the winners of canoe races and stunts," John Souerby '26, chairman of the committee on prizes said yesterday.

One cup is to be awarded for Souerby '26 the best decorated Badger Studioed women's float, and one for the men's float which displays the most ingenuity and beauty, according to Souerby.

"Toftie's canoe livery is presenting a large cup for the best decorated canoe rented from their establishment," Souerby said.

E. M. Neibuhr of the university boat house is presenting a cup for the canoe rented from the university boat house which is decorated most artistically, according to Souerby.

Cups will be given for the best and second best decorated piers, and a cup will be awarded to the best orchestra on the piers, according to the committee on prizes.

"A prize cup is to be given to the aquaplane rider who displays the most skill, and one is to be awarded for the best decorated motor boat," Souerby said yesterday.

Those working with Souerby are John Riley '26, Oge Clark '27, Kneland Godfrey '27, Joseph Dell '26, Arline Klug '24, and Helen Burt '25.

WILL HOLD SENIOR VESPERS ON SUNDAY

Senior vespers will be held Sunday, June 8 at 4:30 o'clock on Muirknoll. This is the fifth year that this custom has been observed to honor the senior women, and to serve as a fitting close for the vespers of the entire year.

FACULTY RESOLUTION HONORS LATE PROF

The faculty of the university voted a resolution to honor the late Prof. Ira S. Griffith, chairman of the department of industrial education and applied arts, who died on April 30.

The resolution in part is as follows:

The loss which the university sustains is measured in terms of professional worth of a leader and the strength of enduring personal relationships established during Professor Griffith's brief years at Wisconsin. Despite too short a span of life, his service to educational progress will survive the generation of men who mourn the passing of a friend from out their midst.

SENIOR SWINGOUT WILL BEGIN AT 6:30 THURSDAY

Women of All Classes Will Take Part in the Procession

The procession for the 1924 senior swingout will begin promptly at 3:30 o'clock Thursday, Clara Hertzberg '25, co-chairman of the class procession announced yesterday.

The senior women are to meet at North hall and South hall, half on either side of the upper campus.

Junior women will meet behind Bascom hall to arrange the line-up for the daisy chain.

Sophomore women will meet on the walk at North hall behind the seniors.

Freshmen women will meet on the walk at South hall behind the juniors.

The two university bands assembled around the Lincoln statue will play for the procession of the classes. The Girl's Glee club will sing, and will lead the singing of the class songs. In place of having each class sing its own farewell song to the seniors as was formerly the custom, there will be a general class song sung by all the classes which has been composed by Esther Fifield '25. This has been sung at the spring banquets of the women's organizations. Copies of the song may be obtained at the S. G. A. office.

The upper campus will be roped off and three policewomen from each class will take charge of the crowd. Ruth Johns '27 is chairman of the ushers. The policewomen are Marion Read '27, Eleanor Jones, Ruth Johns, Katherine Arquist '26, Marion Bigelow '26, Dorothy Strauss '26, Grace Goldsmith '25, Ann Smith '25 and Emilie Hunt '25.

The ushers will be dressed in white and will carry swagger sticks decorated in their class colors. Senior women will wear their caps and gowns and all other women will dress in white.

All sororities and Barnard and Chadbourn halls have been asked to move their dinner hour ahead to 5:30 o'clock to enable the girls to assemble before 6:30 o'clock as the procession will begin promptly at that time.

Members of the freshman and sophomore commissions have gathered boughs and are working on the daisy chain. Jean Palica '25 and Margaret Campbell '25 are co-chairmen having charge of the daisy chain.

"All junior women are to take part in carrying the daisy chain this year," Miss Hertzberg announced. Formerly a number of women have been selected to carry the chain.

Mary Devine '25 and Miss Hertzberg are co-chairmen of the class procession. Chairman of the other committees are Dorothy Marshall, program; Hazel Weingandt, general arrangements; Ruth Klinger, maypole dance; Dorothy John, class song; Grace Marlott, line of march and Helen Baldauf, publicity.

Mack's Portrait Unveiled at Libe Saturday Night

An oil portrait of Dr. G. D. Mack, the late chief state engineer, was unveiled Saturday night in the auditorium of the State Historical museum at a meeting of the society. The portrait was presented by Mr. C. F. Burgess, in behalf of Dr. Mack's Madison friends, to President Judge E. Ray Stevens.

The hanging of this portrait in the museum is particularly appropriate since Dr. Mack was at the time of his death active chairman of the state museum committee.

Merton Crenhagen, Oshkosh artist, painted the Mack portrait which is said to be the best Crenhagen's brush has yet produced.

Print Shop Holds Extra Invitations Ready For Seniors

"Over 4,000 senior invitations were distributed yesterday and the remainder of the order will be ready for delivery today," according to Mr. Koek at the Print Shop. "We wish that the seniors would cooperate with us and call for their orders as soon as possible," Mr. Koek said.

The Print Shop has printed 1,500 extra programs so that any seniors who have not ordered their invitations can obtain these as long as they last.

"Be sure to bring your stubs when you call for your invitations, as we can find your order very much quicker and take up much less of your time," Mr. Koek said.

102 CADETS WILL GO TO ARMY CAMPS

Largest Group Will Enter Training at Fort Custer, Michigan

Advanced R. O. T. C. camps will be attended by 102 cadets from Wisconsin this summer. They will go to three different camps to spend six weeks. The government allows them mileage to and from camp in addition to camp expenses and a month's pay.

The largest group, which will be composed of 38 from the infantry companies and 20 from the signal corps, will go to Fort Custer, Michigan. The ordnance unit of eight men will go to the Aberdeen Proving grounds, Maryland.

Major Brunzell, university commandant, will be assistant commander at Fort Knox, Kentucky, to which 36 artillery cadets will go. This camp will be held from June 12 to July 23; Camp Custer from June 17 to July 28, and the ordnance camp from June 19 to July 30.

Most of those attending camp will be juniors. Seniors who did not go last year and sophomores unable to go next year will go this summer. Attendance at an advanced camp is required of all advanced cadets before graduation. Seniors will not receive diplomas until after attending camp.

MEMORIAL FOR PROF. SLAUGHTER TOMORROW

A memorial service for the late Prof. M. S. Slaughter of the classics department of the College of Letters and Science, will be held at 4:30 tomorrow in the auditorium of Music hall. Prof. Grant M. Showerman will speak for the classics department, Sterling Tracy '22 for the students who were once under Professor Slaughter, and an address by President Birge will conclude the services. The memorial services are open to all.

WILL CONTINUE TO HOLD GRAD SUPPERS

Graduate suppers every Monday night from 5:30 to 7 o'clock in the S. G. A. rooms of Lathrop hall will continue until the close of school, according to Claude C. Kennedy, grad president. The graduates have given seven dances during the year. Plans for a picnic have been given up because of the pressure of work.

STUDENTS ACT PART IN CATHOLIC PLAY

Several university students took part in the play given in the Father Petit auditorium last night called "The Outcast." Helen Brown '25, Herman Wirka '26, Walter Buellesbach '27, were in the cast with Bernardine Flynn, Jane Ahern, John L. Bourke and John Rupp.

Badgers Fail to Hit in Pinches;
Luther Relieves
Johnson

(Special to The Cardinal)
SOUTH BEND, Ind., May 26—In a game featured by the good fielding of both sides, the Notre Dame baseball team defeated the Wisconsin nine here this afternoon on Cartier field by a score of 9 to 3. The victory marked the eighth conference win for the Irish, and they have now defeated many of the Big Ten teams.

The Badgers were held in check throughout the nine innings by Magevny, who pitched a wonderful game and kept the Cardinal hits well scattered.

Badgers Score in Fourth
The fielding of the Irish was airtight except in the fourth inning, when the Badgers counted three runs on singles by Captain Aschenbrenner and Emanuel, and a triple by Goss, who scored on a wild pitch.

Wisconsin garnered eight hits, but they were not able to hit when there were men on the bases. Many of the Cardinal hits were high to the outfield. They were hard drives, but because they were so high, the outfielders could easily get under them.

Johnson Weak in Pinches
Johnson hurled good ball for Wisconsin, but was rather weak in the pinches. In the opening frame he was hit hard and Notre Dame got four runs on five hits. In this inning, Silver hit one that was good for a home run, but excellent fielding on the part of Wisconsin caught him at home plate and he was out.

Tangen, the Badger third baseman, played the best game for the visitors. He played errorless ball in the field and got two of the eight hits garnered by the Cardinal team.

OFFICER MASON FREED OF CHARGE

Cleared of Misconduct in Case With Checker Taxi Driver

Officer Lyman Mason, 24 years old, was found not guilty of the charge of conduct not becoming to an officer on the evening of January 12 by the Madison police commissioners after a hearing of two and a half hours in the police station last night.

The charges were made by Roy Whitsett, taxi cab driver. Whitsett said that Mason had taken his Checker cab from the George Theiss cottage near Mendota at about 12 o'clock on the night of January 12.

He testified that he did not smell any liquor on Officer Mason, that he believed the officer took his car, and that the policeman left it on the West Port road near the Mendota station in a damaged condition.

Officer Mason testified that he paid the bill of $52.53 at the West End Auto Repair, 503 Regent street, because Whitsett threatened to turn his name into Chief Thomas Shaughnessy for investigation.

The policeman said that he was told other men were looking for his position.

Officer Mason had attended a sleigh ride party to the cottage on the other side of the lake that night and later left for Madison by himself.

The attorney for Mason showed contradictions between the statements of Whitsett in the affidavit made on March 15 and the preliminary hearing on April 7 and the final hearing last night.

SCHOOL OF MUSIC RECITAL TONIGHT

Erma Duncan '24 and Edward Otis '24 Take Part in Joint Singing

As a part of the series of musical programs which the School of Music is giving open to the public, Erma Duncan '24, soprano, and Edward Otis '24, baritone, will appear in a joint recital at 8:15 o'clock this evening in Music hall.

Jane Dudley, violinist, will play the violin obligato for several of the numbers. Robert Nethercut '24 will be at the piano.

Miss Duncan has been prominent in university musical affairs for several years as a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary music sorority, of Clef club, and of the Girls' Glee club. She is also soloist at the First Unitarian and Baptist churches and a teacher of voice.

Edward Otis has been soloist for the Wisconsin Glee club and a member of the Varsity quartet for three years. He is also a soloist at the Baptist church.

The complete program is as follows:

"Sombre Woods", Lully; "Some Rival Has Stolen My True Love Away," Broadwood; "Secrecy," Wolfe; "Bid Me to Live," Hatton, by Mr. Otis. "Dedication," Franz; "His Coming," Franz, "Agnus Dei" Bizet, by Miss Duncan with violin obligato by Miss Dudley.

"Arm, Arm Ye Brave," from "Judas Maccabaeus," Handel, by Mr. Otis. "My Heart at Thy Sweet Voice," from Samson and Delilah, Saint-Saens, by Miss Duncan. "Dawn," Curran; "Pleading," Elgar; "The Last Hour," Kramer; "Brown Men," Braine, by Mr. Otis. "Persian Serenade," Ware; "The Answer," Terry; "Before the Crucifix," La Forge; "Awake, It is the Day," Cecil Burleigh, by Miss Duncan.

"Sayonara," (A Japanese Romance), Cadman, (a) duet, "I Saw Thee First When Cherries Bloomed;" (b) solo, "At the Feast of the Dead I Watched Thee;" (c), solo "All My Heart Is Ashes;" (d) duet "The Wild Dove Cries on Floating Wing," by Miss Duncan and Mr. Otis.

LIBE STARTED IN INFIRMIARY BY S. G. A.

If you've ever spent any weary hours counting the roses on the wallpaper at the infirmary now is the time to rejoice for other sad souls who will not be doomed to the same fate. S. G. A. has established a branch library at the infirmary for all those suffering from ennui.

The library in Lathrop has accumulated so large a supply of books that it was decided the infirmary might profit by the surplus. Books will be added to the branch library each month and will be given to the invalids rent free. Modern fiction will be included in the catalogue. The additional space in the Lathrop libe will make room for new fiction which the librarians are planning to buy next week.

Anouncement is made by Mary Elizabeth Hussong '25, S. G. A. librarian, that the library will be kept open during the summer session but will move to the Y. W. C. A. office. The books may be taken free of charge as has been the custom since this semester.

LIONS' CLUB HEARS GIRLS' GLEE CLUB

Nine members of the girl's glee club under the direction of Dr. Charles H. Mills, director of the School of Music, will sing in a special musical program at the meeting of the Lions club at noon today in the Park hotel. The club will also sing several numbers for the American Association of University Women at 4:30 o'clock tomorrow at the college club. Part of the music for the senior swing-out will be provided by the Glee club.

GRAD TO TEACH IN CITY MUSIC SCHOOL

Fletcher Wheeler, director of the Wheeler school of Music, announces the engagement of Miss Janet Breitenbach as teacher of piano and public school music. Miss Breitenbach was a student in the Wheeler School of Music for four years and later took the four year music course at the university, graduating with a B. M. degree in 1923. She is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon and was active in the Clef club.

Potter Will Talk at International Banquet on Friday

Prof. Pitman B. Potter will be the speaker of the evening at the annual International club banquet which will be held in the Monona hotel, on Friday evening. Dr. Percy Dawson will be toastmaster.

The International club banquet is held every year by the club at the end of the year. Although dancing is usually held after the banquet, there will only be feature dancing this year.

Thirty-five club members have designated their intention of coming to the banquet. Tickets may be procured by applying to Peter Lani '26, president of the club. In addition to the club members, several members of the faculty will be invited.

Glee Club Gives Annual Serenade Wednesday Night

Following an initiation banquet, the Wisconsin Glee club will go on its annual serenade in the university district tomorrow evening. The club is continuing the tradition definitely established by the success of last year's carol.

Officers elected for next year will be installed at the banquet. Those who have been elected are Robert Nethercut '24, president, Eliot Guild '25, vice-president, Arthur C. Johnson '26, secretary, Lloyd W. Llentzner '25, treasurer and Sherman Hendrickson '26, librarian.

Dr. Charles H. Mills, director of the School of Music and Edgar S. Nethercut, Chicago, were recently elected honorary members of the club. Prof. Grant Showerman, Prof. James T. Rood and Leon L. Iltis were appointed members of the advisory board.

Keys will be awarded at the banquet to members who have sung with the club for two years. Initiation of newly elected members will take place Tuesday night.

Offer $100 Prize For Name of New Travel Magazine

One hundred dollars in cash will be paid for the winning title of a new international magazine to be published by the Nomad Publishing company of New York.

Any person with the exception of the members of the Nomad company is eligible to submit an unlimited number of titles. All contributions must be made by June 10 to the Nomad Publishing company Inc., 150 Layette street, New York.

The magazine is one covering general travel in water, land or air, and will be illustrated. Personal traveling experiences, humorous and serious will be used, but the title must not contain the words travel, traveler, or tourist.

JOURNALISTS HEAR PROFESSOR POTTER

Pitman B. Potter, professor of political science, gave an address on the relation of international news and political science at the last meeting of the year of Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism fraternity at the Delta Pi Delta fraternity house on Sunday evening. Professor Potter indicated how political scientists must depend on newspapers for their research work of past world political events, and how the newspapers are handling news of international importance.

GIVE DANCE DRAMA THURSDAY NIGHT

Sketch By Oscar Wilde Will Be Presented in Open Air Theater

Oscar Wilde's sketch, "The Birthday of the Infanta," has been decided upon as the vehicle to be enacted through the medium of dances for the dance drama Thursday night at 8:15 o'clock in the open air theater.

The play will be arranged to fit the wordless interpretation of the dance. Charles Demarest '23 is writing the music for the drama. Margaret D'Houbler, director of creative dancing, and Janet Cumming '24, assistant director for the dance drama are working out the dances. The cast of characters for the drama will not be announced according to Miss D'Houbler who wishes to maintain the artistic effect of the entire production.

Helen Robinson is acting as student director for the dance drama. Beatrice Marks '26 is in charge of costumes and posters. Tickets which have been placed on sale at a dollar each at the University pharmacy and the S. G. A. office, will be handled by Dorothy Dodge '27.

"Fantastique," the name chosen for the drama, will have its setting in a sixteenth century garden. The costuming with tight bodices, neck ruffs, full skirts, and high coiffures is being planned in harmony with it.

Personal Friend of R. W. Emerson Will Speak Here

Charles J. Woodbury, a personal friend of Ralph Waldo Emerson, will give a lecture, "Emerson and His Friends," at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon in 116, Bascom hall.

Mr. Woodbury is one of the few men still living who knew Emerson intimately. He comes here from Oakland, Calif., where he now lives.

"Mr. Woodbury will probably give some interesting reminiscences of Emerson and the Emersonian group," said William B. Cairns, professor of American literature yesterday. "He has written a book which tells of his pleasant association and which is delightful reading." His book, "An Appreciation of Literature," is used in some English classes here."

An Attractive Opportunity for College Men to Enter the Investment Field

THE investment bond business is a young man's business, requiring brains, character, and tireless energy. It appeals particularly to college men and a large percentage of men in the business are college men. To the man who is a good student, a hustler, and a good mixer it offers unlimited opportunities.

Our House was established in 1889 and is now one of the oldest investment houses in the Middle West. We have a few openings in our selling organization for college men with natural sales ability and preferably men who have been prominent in various college activities. The men selected will be given a thorough training in financial principles and bond salesmanship.

If you feel competent to enter the hard but highly remunerative profession of bond selling, it will be worth while to telephone our Mr. Alverson at the Madison Club between the hours of twelve and two o'clock, Tuesday, May 27th for an appointment.

DAILY REPORTS OF
ALL BADGER TEAMSBADGERS LOSE TO
NOTRE DAME, 9-3
IN FAST CONTESTMagevny, Irish Pitcher, Keeps
Cardinal Hits Scattered
Except in Fourth

Northwestern team Saturday, played in the outfield and got one hit, one run, and played a good fielding game.

Luther Pitches Well

In the seventh frame, Luther relieved Johnson and pitched good ball, striking out two men. Johnson had three strikeouts. Both teams had five errors. They were mostly made in the same inning, but were all costly.

This defeat does not change the standing of the Badgers in the conference. They are still tied with Michigan for first place. Wisconsin has two conference and two non-conference games left on their schedule. The two conference games remaining on the schedule are with Michigan and Minnesota. If the Badgers succeed in winning both of them, they will win undisputed first place in the conference.

The score by innings is as follows:

Wisconsin 000 300 000 3-8-5

Notre Dame 400 220 10x 9-11-5

Batteries: Magevny and Silver; Johnson, Luther, Aschenbrenner and Lambole.

Records May Fall
in Women's Field
Day on Saturday

If the results of the women's preliminary track meet held at Camp Randall this past week are any forecast of the Field day meet to be held Saturday, May 31, Wisconsin women tracksters are in line for a possible collegiate record and three new Wisconsin records.

Ernestine Troemel, '25, is a possible contender for the new collegiate record in the basketball throw. In the preliminary meet she raised the present Wisconsin record from 82 feet, 3.1-2 inches to 87 feet, 1.2 inch.

The 1923 Wisconsin records which were bettered in the prelims were in the baseball throw, and the running broad jump. Lorraine M. Laytum, '26, has shown great improvement over last year's record for the baseball throw. Ada C. Toms '26, stands in line for a Wisconsin record in the running broad jump.

With the completion of the new track and plenty of fair weather to harden it up for the meet on May 31, Wisconsin women are looking forward to a record breaking track meet.

Miss Cynthia Wesson, head of track, announced the teams which will represent the four classes in the annual field day meet, in a bulletin sent out from Lathrop today.

The following women will represent the senior class in the track finals: Beth Biglow, Eleanor Brainard, F. Hellebrandt, Dorothy Mathis, Y. Perstein, and Edith Schoenberg.

The junior class team is represented by: Signe Carlquist, Esther Oakes, Daisy Simpson, Ann Smith, Ernestine Troemel, Elizabeth Wells, M. Norton, Benita Kueheltau, G. Goldsmith and G. Baird.

Members of the sophomore team are Edith Jorris, Bernice Magnusson, Beatrice Richardson, Lorraine Maytum, E. Schmidt, G. Sherman, E. Horswell and H. Graham.

The freshman will be represented by Eulalie Beffel, Lena Comstock, M. Hall, M. Kruse, H. Kraege, S. Fernald and M. Markham.

ATHLETICS IN THE
COLLEGE WORLDFROSH TRACKSTERS HAVE DUAL MEETS

The Wisconsin frosh tracksters hope to redeem themselves after two defeats at the hands of the Illinois and Iowa first year track men by coming back and winning the dual telegraphic meets scheduled with the Ohio State and Minnesota frosh tomorrow.

The Badgers have never met the Gophers or Ohio State men in a dual meet before and they hope to start their relations with these two schools out right by annexing a victory. The men have been working hard under Coaches Berg and Burke since the meet with Iowa last Wednesday and should be in good shape for the grind tomorrow.

The Badgers are weak in the dash events but they rely on the distance and weight men to gain a victory for Wisconsin.

—Badger Studio high schools lead the entries with three men each. Green Bay East, Verona and Wausau have two a piece, while Albany and Watertown high schools are sending only one representative.

The tennis meet will open with one preliminary round match, the winner going to the first round. T. Sturtz of Green Bay East will oppose W. Houle of Milwaukee West Division, George Livesy, Madison East, vs. Francis Brielmaier, Milwaukee Riverside; and Harry Mienert, Albany H. S. vs. A. Eberhardt, Verona H. S.

At ten o'clock, Robert Bruce, Milwaukee Riverside, opposes Kendall Cady, Green Bay East; Theodore Brumm, Watertown H. S. vs. winner of prelim match; and Victor Chase, Madison East vs. Russell Mutchler, Verona H. S.

At eleven o'clock, Fred Sather, Madison East, opposes Kermit Laabs, Wausau H. S.; and Robert Lutz, Milwaukee West Division vs. Walter Stock, Madison East.

The second round will be played at 2:30 and 3:30 Friday afternoon. The semi-final round will start at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and last until eleven o'clock. The final match will be played at one o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Varsity tennis men will referee the games during the tournament. Capt. Arthur Moulding will referee the final match for the Wisconsin state high school championship.

"Some of the best high school tennis men in the state will play here this week end. Milwaukee is sending her best men, as is Green Bay and Madison. This should assure one of the best tennis meets in the history of the occasion," Wernecke, said yesterday.

VARSITY TRACK MEN TRAIN FOR
BIG TEN MEETBadger Athletes Expected to Make Good Showing in Conference Games

Following a week of easy workouts after the quadrangular meet at Madison, on Saturday, May 17, in which Ohio State, Northwestern, Chicago and Wisconsin participated, the Badger track team has begun intensive training for the conference games at Chicago, on June 7.

With two weeks left in which to condition themselves for the Big Ten meet, Wisconsin's tracksters can be depended upon to make a good showing. The results of this meet will have considerable bearing upon the athletes who are chosen to compete in the Olympic games at Paris during the summer months.

Work Becomes Harder

"Although the work has been light for the track men during the past week, it will gradually become harder during the last part of the week and during the first few days of next week," declared Coach Mead Burke. "It is absolutely essential that every participant be in the best possible condition for the conference meet."

On Wednesday, May 28, the freshman cinder path men will engage Ohio State, and Minnesota in telegraphic meets. The first year men will send the records made in the events to both Ohio State and to Minnesota.

Frosh Expected to Win

While both of the other telegraphic meets were lost by the Wisconsin freshmen, it is hoped that they will be able to make an even break during the season by winning the final meets. Iowa and Illinois were the schools which have been victorious over the Badger first year athletes.

Versus

On top again and this time we hope it is for good. Besides being duly grateful to Northwestern for losing to us we are desirous of showing our thanks to Minnesota and Michigan for winning from Ohio and Illinois.

Christianson is easily the outstanding player of the conference this year. Besides holding the Purple to four hits on Saturday, he polled out a home run a la Babe Ruth style.

The chesty freshmen took a fine drubbing from the sophomores in the annual baseball tilt. Coleman was on the hill for the sophs and had the first year men eating out of his hand. We would like to see Russ given a chance to pitch for the varsity as we think he's very good.

Don't forget the interscholastic this week end and remember that a few words now may mean much to Wisconsin athletics next fall.

The varsity second shell is scheduled to meet Culver in the near future, and while we hate to set ourselves up as prophets we think that things look mighty bad for the home talent.

Spring football is over and everybody, including August the janitor, feels that we have much to be thankful for.

Remember way back when Wisconsin installed the Harvard system of football with Dr. Paul Withington as head coach, and how Minnesota trimmed us 54-0.

Tom Jones takes an innocent joy in recounting the adventure of one Joseph Steinauer and his trip down the ski slide. From Tom's statements we somehow gather that Joe is not an accomplished jumper; we are anxious to hear Joe's side of the question.

A negroe was relating his adventures of the night before to an

HORSE-SHOE LEAGUE TO BE ORGANIZED

Fraternities wishing to arrange for a horseshoe pitching tournament should send their representatives to a meeting to be held in the trophy room of the gymnasium tomorrow at 12:45.

If there is a good turnout in response to this call, the "shoes" will be in for a snappy workout among the fraternity experts. "Get lucky before the final exams by pitching horseshoes," will be the motto.

The Phi Psi team is expected to toss some wicked ringers in the tournament if their continual practicing over in the alley indicates anything in the way of dope.

HIGH SCHOOLS IN STATE ENTER BIG
PREP TRACK MEET450 Athletes Will Participate in Sprint, Weight, and Relay Events

Final entries for the thirtieth annual Interscholastic day, Saturday, May 31, which will be featured by the state high school track meet and tennis tournament, were given out by officials of the meet at the university gymnasium yesterday afternoon.

Fifty-three of Wisconsin's high schools with more than 450 athletes will participate in the events. Although class A has entered 18 schools and 286 men, class B has entered 26 schools and 170 Tuhtar '25 tracksters. —Badger Studio

Milwaukee will be represented by seven schools, while Madison has entered Central, East, and Wisconsin high.

Many Schools Entered

The schools which have entered in the class A events are: Green Bay East, Janesville, Kenosha, Madison Central, Madison East, Marinette, Bay View, Lincoln, North Division, Riverside, South Division, Washington and West Division, Milwaukee; Racine, Viroqua, Wausau, Wauwatosa and Wisconsin Rapids.

The entries in class B are: Brooklyn, Burlington, Darlington, Dodgeville, Elroy, Gays Mills, Humbird, Milwaukee County Agricultural school, Monticello, New Holstein, Norwalk, Oconto Falls, Ontario, Milton Union, River Falls, Roberts, Rosendale, Soldiers Grove, Spooner, Sun Prairie, Viola, Watertown, Westby, Wauzeka, and Wisconsin high, Madison.

Competition is Close

"With more than 450 high school athletes entered in the Interscholastic day program, the competition in both the track meet and tennis tournament will be close," declared Eugene W. Tuhtar '25, assistant general chairman.

Although it is difficult to select the probable winners of the state track titles, Milwaukee Riverside, Milwaukee Washington, and West Division appear to have the strongest teams in class A, while Darlington, Wisconsin high, Spooner, Monticello and Milton Union have strong teams in class B.

Sophomore Women
Lose to Seniors
in Fast Game, 9-5

Despite the slow drizzle and the slippery field, the women's sophomore-senior baseball game yesterday afternoon, at which the sophs suffered their third defeat by a score of 9 to 5, turned out to be the fastest game of the season.

The unfavorable conditions were responsible for the one casualty on the senior team. Dodge '24, second baseman, in fielding a ball, slipped and wrenched her knee again this year, so that she had to be taken from the field.

Unusually good fielding on both sides was displayed throughout. The first baseman, Shepard '26 and Snow '24, caught some hot hits from off the bat, and Dohse '26, second baseman, by picking up some fast grounders, made a number of put-outs.

At the end of the third inning, the score stood 4 to 1 in favor of the sophomores. It was not until the fourth that the seniors were able to get enough hits off Burt, '26, to get four runs. They kept the lead from then on.

The sophomores have lost every one of their games, even bending to the freshmen by a score of 8 to 7 Saturday. The match between the juniors and seniors on Field day will decide the championship.

In case of rain, the dance drama will be held in the men's gymnasium instead of in the open theater Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

STRAND PLANS MOVIES

Movies of the Memorial Day parade will be taken and shown at the Strand theater beginning Saturday night.

SOME DAY—THE CHIMES

Not a great many seniors have paid their dues; in fact, only a few of them have. Just why they have neglected to do so is hard to tell, for the amount asked is not very much. Indeed, it is the same amount that other classes have given and done so quite readily. Part of the senior dues is to go toward the fund for the chimes to be heard some day on the university campus. These chimes will cost about $30,000 and will be among the most beautiful in the world. Over half the fund has already been subscribed by graduating classes. Not much is asked of each individual senior, just a little, but that little multiplied by the 1,000 or more members of the graduating class totals a most pleasing amount to be added to the chimes fund. Some day, when the chimes are heard on the hill, everybody will feel greatly rewarded and overpaid for the insignificant trifle that he was asked to give and which he did give.

DEPORTING CRIMINALS

Recently, at a conference of the Methodist church, a most admirable solution for the problem of constantly increasing crime in this country was proposed. The solution proposed is nothing more or less than the deportation of all foreign criminals, that is the deportation of all those criminals who are not full-fledged citizens. Deportation of the undesirables in war-time was practiced to the betterment of this country and the same could be practiced in peace time.

A moment's thought will suffice to realize that the hot-bed of crime in this country is the foreign district of our cities. The recent succession of murders, the innumerable raids conducted against the residents, and the explosion in the past week of two bombs all show that our own Little Italy is a most undesirable and fertile bed of crime. Nor is Madison's Little Italy unique in this distinction. The foreign settlements of every other city in the land characterized by similar conditions. A recent investigation conducted by the Carnegie Institute and reported to Congress last April revealed that an alarmingly large percentage of the inmates of penal institutions were foreigners who were not entitled to a single right of citizenship and who never had intended to apply for the rights of citizenship.

Of the people in the United States 33 per cent are foreigners. Of these approximately 50 per cent are not citizens. Out of 100 criminals and insane—socially unfit and undesirable—5 to 25 are citizens of the United States and the other 75 to 95 are from the 33 per cent foreigners. Just why America should bear the burdens and suffer the wrongs inflicted by the criminals of other lands is beyond the scope of sane thinking. That they should be allowed to remain here and constantly increase our social and economic disorder and to leave behind them in procreation a heritage of crime and destruction is utterly contrary to the dictates of sound sense, and will mean in the ultimate staggering down of American civilization. Thus this is not an alarmist's theory sound sense alone will command.

It would be neither wrong nor impossible to export the foreign criminals in this country. The countries from which they come should, in all justice, bear the burden they constitute. The justifiable confiscation of sufficient of their property and the levying of fines to pay the expense of their deportation would make the plan entirely practicable. That deportation could have both an active and a passive salutary and inhibitory effect upon crime disorders cannot be questioned. The resident of Little Italy who now isolates the 18th amendment knowing that a mere $500 fine awaits apprehension, would hesitate in isolating it if that fine were to be used in deporting him. And even if he did violate it, he would not have second and third and tenth and twentieth opportunity to violate it as is now the case. And the same could be true in other cases.

College students may think that they have no active interest in this problem as yet, but they have and vitally so. It is one of the greatest problems of the age in which they live and the sooner recognition of it and knowledge of plans of solution become more common, the sooner will the difficulty be solved.

The ardent reformers, including Governor Pinchot would even prohibit us, including Nicholas Murray Butler, from giving voice to our thoughts.

It is human to err, but the errer (if there is such a word), likes to have company.

All success is not in activities or athletics, but the undergraduate mind is peculiar and, as our philosophy prof said this morning, a good many bad things are said about good students.

Support the Memorial Union.

Now that the good weather is here students who are behind in their work wish that it would rain so that they could do some necessary studying. "After you get what you want, you don't want it."

Other Editors Say—

FIGHTING MOPHEUS

It is not pleasant to go to sleep in class. Students sometimes talk loudly about sleeping through so-and-so's lecture and to hear them one would think it is a common occurrence and quite the "collegiate" thing, but the truth is far different. Most undergraduates are conscientious enough to try to pay attention to classroom work even if they do not study, and they hate to miss the value derived therefrom even for sleep. The eagle eye of the professor is prone to roll around in the sleepy individual's direction, and the penalty for dozing in class is severe when imposed by some members of the faculty. The struggle is to keep awake, and that is why class snoozes are not as pleasant as pictured.

It would be going a bit far, however, to say that no student ever sleeps in class. You, and possibly we, have been guilty more than once. Late hours do not alertness make, nor tired brains a scholar. The youth or girl who is up most of the night—either for work or for pleasure—is in no condition to enjoy and profit from an 8 o'clock. The temptation to let drooping eyelids fall shut is acute to these persons, but they fight bravely to nullify the influence of Morpheus and pay attention to the lecture or discussion.

Other causes than late hours contribute to the toll of class sleepers. A stuffy classroom makes an ideal place for a nap, but is not the best place in the world to learn history. Windows, however, are placed in buildings to relieve stuffiness, and we recommend that if professors notice an unusually large number of students with nodding heads they open the windows. It will help the students, for, as we said before, no student really likes to sleep in class, and it will help the professor, because no professor likes to talk to inattentive persons.

Some lectures actually lull their hearers to sleep. Professors who talk in low monotones and who make no attempt to maintain interest and attention, by use of the public speaker's artifices are, through no intent, regular sandmen in their effect.

A little co-operation and extra effort on the part of professors and students might stop much of this clandestine snoozing. Students can keep from sleeping if they pay close attention to the lecturer and take notes or otherwise keep some muscle moving so as not to completely relax. Professors can help by keeping windows open and by changing their voice inflection. Some method seems necessary in these days of spring. —Ohio State Lantern.

TRUE STORY NO. 1313

It was a nice Spring morning on the heights. Two tramps had began food of the house-wives of the neighborhood and after receiving it, retired to a nearby field, to eat and sleep.

About 3 hours later the glorious motorcycle squad of the Madison police force sped through the deserted streets of the heights. They were strained, searching for some vile villain. With their left hand they were holding the handles of the motorcycles, while with their right hands they were displaying evolvers. At times, when they could hit a bump, they would hold their gun and the handle at the same time.

After a careful search, they found their victims, the tramps, and arrested them, after waking them up from their sweet siesta.

The Reader's Say-So

MAIL AGAIN

Editor of The Cardinal:

So Postmaster W. A. Devine thinks that the Madison mail service is efficient. Well, well, well, what queer beliefs some people do entertain. Then, too, just to show how generous he is, he suggests that one bring out all the old envelopes and package wrappings that one has saved, heaven only knows why anyone would save them, and he will make an effort to fix the blame. At least that sounds good.

Now what are the facts? They are as follows, and though I have not got an affidavit to prove them, they are true nevertheless.

Letters mailed from Madison to Milwaukee on Friday are sure to reach their destination by the next Tuesday afternoon or Wednesday morning at the latest. Letters mailed to Watertown are never more than two days late. Letters mailed through Portage are often two and three days late. And worst of all, letters mailed locally often take two and sometimes two and a half days to be delivered. If this kind of service is efficient, then Webster made a mistake.

As for the editorial writer who wrote the editorial entitled, "The Fast Mail," he knew his stuff, and it was time that someone wrote about it.

U. W. SCOUT CLUB HAS PICNIC SUNDAY NIGHT

The picnic of the U. W. Scout Club came off as scheduled at six o'clock Sunday evening at Eagle Heights but in quite a different manner than its founders had planned. The dinner was to be by and for the charter members of the new society which has only two meetings a year an outdoor meeting on May and an indoor meeting in December. In accordance with the plans adopted Scout Executive R. A. Overholser and Executive chairman I. I. Aaron went to Eagle Heights early in the afternoon to prepare the food, build the campfire and make all the preparations for the main detachments which was scheduled to leave the U. W. Y. M. C. A. at 4:30 p. m. under the guidance of Scoutmaster Steve Matteson. When at 5:45 no one had appeared at the picnic grounds Mr. Overholser went back a bit in his car and met but two students Schwoerke and Volk enroute. But four men to eat the Veal loaf, stuffed eggs, angel cake and ice cream and etc., which had been prepared for twenty? — impossible. What to do? Being only about a hundred yards from the Y. W. cottage one of the boys suggested inviting the girls to the supper, which at Miss Anderson's suggestion, was transferred to the cottage dining room. Among the girls to help the boys get away with their supper were Miss Virginia Grover and Miss Rosella Fransen. Both officers of the Freshman Commission of the Y. W. Since it was a scout party the boys did their good turn by washing the dishes and chopping wood for the girls before they left. The four refuse to give out any details of the dinner except to say that those that missed it missed the time of their young lives.

COLLEGE CLUB GIVES A TEA AND MUSICAL

One of the interesting meetings on this week's calendar for the College Women's club is a tea on Wednesday, May 28, followed by a musical program at 4:30 p. m.

The program is to be presented by the Girl's Glee club of the university with Miss Jane Dudley, violinist as soloist.

The first group to be presented by the Glee club consists of five numbers: "Big Brown Bear," Mama Zucca; "Bois epais," Jean Baptist Lully; "Apres une reve," Gabriel Fauré; "To Anthea," J. L. Hatton.

The second number will be a solo by Miss Mabel Peterson, entitled "Will-of-the-Wisp," Gilbert Spross.

The last group by the Glee club is "Mother Goose Arabesque" Jessie Tukey.

The Glee club will be accompanied by Miss Constance McLean.

The program by Miss Jane Dudley includes "Nobody Knows the Trouble I Have Seen," Clarence Cameron White; a selection from the "Camebrake" by Samuel Gardiner; "Indian Lament," Dvorak-Kreisler; second movement of Mendelssohn's "Concerto," opus 64; and "Old Bruin" and the "Fisherman," Burleigh.

PROF. LIPARI TO LEAVE FOR POSITION AT YALE

Prof. Angelo Lipari, assistant professor of romance languages will leave in September for Yale university where he has accepted a position as assistant professor of Italian. Professor Lipari has been an instructor of Italian in the university for four years. Announcement of his successor will be made next week.

MADISON GIRL AUTHOR OF LYRICAL VERSE

Miss Hazel Farkasch, secretary to Prof. John R. Commons of the university, is the author of "Burnt Offerings," a book of verse just off the presses of the Commonwealth College Press, Newellano, La.

Deep warmth of feeling finds outlet in Miss Farkasch's lyrical poems, while the descriptive verses show a keen observation and appreciation of nature.

Miss Farkasch has also been a contributor of short times magazines.

"Beau Brummel,"
With Fine Cast,
is Work of Art

BEAU BRUMMEL
Presented at the Parkway.
Featuring John Barrymore.
Produced by Warner Bros.
Directed by Harry Beaumont.

By CHATTY

A picture of an interesting era in England, full of masculine frills, faces, and good breeding, when gentlemen were gentlemen in every sense of the word; a picture of interesting characters, of an entertaining prince, hypocritical lords and vampiring ladies, of honor and dishonor; a picture of one great character, grandiose, witty, proud, ending in bitter tragedy; that is "Beau Brummel", one of the best pictures that has come to Madison in a year.

The cast, especially the male part of it, is superb, lead by a master himself—less stagey than usual—his constant posing being less obnoxious because it fits the part. He played the Beau in a way quite different from what the play demands, for he did not give the Beau such an air of perfect conceit as Richard Mansfield must have done if he carried out the spirit of Clyde Fitch's work.

But Barrymore gave the Beau that same beautiful indifferent unconcern which the play calls for, that same fine pride, reserve, elegance—those qualities which one is bound to admire in the Beau. He did it well.

And Wales—what a love of a prince he was. We've never heard before of Willard Lewis, but he certainly is a star of the first water. Alec Francis—the gentleman's gentleman, has long been in the first class and enough can not be said of his performance here.

As for the women, Mary Astor was the kind of pretty which girls like and men don't; Carmel Meyers was quite sad and the others had slight roles.

The play, as was hinted above, has been changed a great deal and yet not so much that you mind it. At least, we who have never seen Richard Mansfield in his part didn't perhaps those who know the play as he acted it would mind the changes. But the spirit is kept extremely well for which the Warner brothers are to be commended, and Harry Beaumont, too, for his finished directing. The comedy and latter tragedy are well proportioned.

It is interesting to know that there was such a person as Beau Brummel, who set the fashion at the court of England in the latter part of the eighteenth century and who died of poverty and insanity in France at the age of 62. He did not, however, lose his place in society but was driven to poverty by excessive gambling.

Go see "Beau Brummel." You may think it drags in places, but it is a work of art and highly entertaining.

Critics Look Hard, But Find Few Poor Plays in New York

By W. M.

Seldom in the memory of New York's oldest theater goers has there been such a collection of really good productions as are now being performed. Instead of the one or two plays which the out-of-town visitor means to take in above all others, there are easily a dozen worthy of this distinction, and the majority of these are comparatively new.

Of the forty-five major attractions on the boards in the metropolis, at least twelve or fifteen are unanimously praised, and there are about three that honestly deserve the epithet of "wonderful."

Easily topping the list of productions are Max Reinhardt's magnificent spectacle "The Miracle", which cannot be properly criticized because it is in a class by itself; "Cyrano de Bergerac", with Walter Hampden, with the best individual acting and sincerity of representation since John Barrymore's "Hamlet," and "The Show Off" now in its fourth month, and declared by many to be the best play in town. "Cyrano" has had an unexpected run, having over a half year behind it.

Right on the heels of these top-notch performances are a half dozen others of unusual merit. "Beggars on Horseback", a satirical comedy with Roland Young, is one of the best of its kind. Guild's production of "Fata Morgana" an almost too true a representation of the youth and adolescence, with Emily Stevens is having fair success, as is Bernard Shaw's first emotional drama, "Saint Joan." "The Swan" also comes in for a deal of praise as an historical comedy which is uproarious. These four plays all began in the latter part of the winter season, and the length of their runs is a matter of speculation.

A rather difficult play to classify is "The Outsider", a straight drama of none too good virtue in itself is made solely by the splendid acting of Katherine Cornell and Lionel Atwill. Of the old timers, "Rain" with Jeanne Eagels, while not meant for the children exactly, is a really fine play, and is approaching its second birthday.

Of the musical comedies, Charlotte's Revue of 1924 seems to be the best. It is composed exclusively of English stars, and the new spring edition is great. Eddie Cantor alone is making "Kid Boots" the success that it is. "Poppy" and Irving Berlin's "Music Box Revue" also rank high as eye-and-ear entertainment. Then there is always Mr. Ziegfeld's $7.70 spectacle which is still turning them away.

What critics called the worst play in the whole town, "Abie's Irish Rose" is having by far the greatest success. The comedy which was termed derisively as "comic supplement stuff" is just starting its third year and still going strong.

PLAY TO BE REPEATED AGAIN BY GERMAN CLUB

"Der Bibliothekar," the play presented by the German club last Thursday will be presented again at Turner Hall Tuesday under the auspices of the citizen's committee. The performance will be given for the benefit of the sufferers of Central Europe.

University students who will take part are Paul Vornholt '27, William Bernhard '27, Isabel Arnold Hempe '24, Ruth Krause Rhens '27, Richard Scholz '26, Esther Trachte '27, Helen Kreutzer '26, Bernard Goodkind '27 and Homer Kline '25.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the cast or from members of the citizens committee.

EUROPEAN PRODUCERS SIGN AMERICAN STARS

European producers arrived in Hollywood recently to sign American picture stars and directors, and thus get even with America for going abroad for Pola Negri, Victor Seastrom, Ernst Lubitsch and others. Mae Marsh has a contract with a German company. Other stars are going to England. One or two will remain in Italy. Yesterday it was learned that a German company has signed Carmel Meyers for a picture which is to be made in London, Paris and Berlin.

Howdy. Mine's done! How's yours? Sure I mean the thesis.

How's for all the seniors banding together and cleaning up everything by Memorial day! Then there will be a whole week with no topics, theses or other side-issues to figure on!

The Haresfoot serenade is now in print. Of course, it misses something by not having the setting of a big truck, a swarming crowd to receive it and a sour cop to listen in, but even so it's one of the prettiest things you could possibly play on your piano.

The local music stores have them.

Tormentor's advice on the Passing Show this week end is "not so good."

Way back in 1921 Tormentor paid eleven dollars to see the opening night of a Passing Show at the Winter Garden and while the Howard brothers were screamingly funny, the price must have queered that show for him for all time.

The present travelling edition of that Winter Garden show which is to be here was only fair in Chicago.

Why is it that when a comedian really gets clever, he thinks he's an artist and has to go mewing around after the nature of Hamlet and giving imitations of the immortals, such as Frank Bacon, in the effort to prove to the world that he's a really great actor?

Those who really want to get some of the intimate things behind the scenes and to learn of the accidents and events which lead up to every production should follow the writings of Alexander Woolcott. His "Shouts and Murmurs" is decidedly entertaining.

Of course, everyone has read "Over the Footlights." How many of you have ever seen a "Cast up By the Sea" production or sat through a "Piffle Play"?

DOROTHY LAVERN SHOWS SKILL IN NEW ORPH PLAY

By DOT

"She can take any old part," we heard someone say about Dorothy LaVern at the Orpheum Sunday, when she took the leading role in "The Broken Wing."

And we fully agreed with that person. Miss LaVern shows great cleverness in being able to adapt herself to any part whatsoever, and she takes a character part extremely well. Cast in the part of a Spanish girl this week, she displays real skill in acting, and it is certain the success of the production is greatly dependant on her acting. She is far better in a character role than when she attempts the part of an ingenue. We enjoyed her immensely—and so did everyone else in the audience.

The play, "The Broken Wing" is a comedy in four acts, in which the action is swift and in excellent sequence. Not through the two hours and a half is there a real monotonous minute. The lines are clever, and the settings help produce the desired effect in the play.

Guy Astor as the dashing Mexican captain plays a close second to Miss LaVern. He has done some excellent work in the past three or four productions. Al Jackson is among the missing in this week's cast. All the cast members have their parts perfectly learned, and each fills his part in perfect harmony with the rest of the cast.

GRADUATES REPRESENT VARIETY OF CITIES

Tientsin, Anfushin, Constantinople, Chelek, Pekin, Spearfish, Sparta, and Baraboo may not all be on the main line between Chicago and Madison, but they are cities from near and far which are represented by loyal sons and daughters who are graduating from the university this June.

While Turkey has one lone representative in this year's class, China has ten or more who will be awarded the cherished sheepskin within a month. Guatemala, Honolulu, and Stockholm have at least one representative graduating from one or more colleges in the university.

Every state in the union has at least one graduate. Minnesota, Michigan, and Illinois seem to have more than their quota while Spearfish Lake has a single honored son.

PRINT PROGRAM OF VENETIAN NIGHT

5,000 Copies Will Be Distributed as Souvenirs of Annual Affair

Five thousand attractive programs carrying a complete outline of Venetian night events will be distributed as souvenirs among spectators Venetian night.

The programs are in no way an advertising scheme, according to Max Ninman '25, chairman of program publicity. This is the first time programs for Venetian night have been provided. They have been made possible by the joint contributions of the University Pharmacy, the College Refectory, Petrie's Sporting Goods shop, Photoart, Campus restaurant, and Lettercraft Press.

Ninman '25

—College Refectory, Petrie's Sporting Goods shop, Photoart, Campus restaurant, and Lettercraft Press.

The program will be four-page folders, six by four and a half inches in size. The cover will be appropriately illustrated and will carry the Venetian night slogan "So This is Venice."

New stories concerning Venetian night and the Interscholastic track meet have been sent to Chicago and state papers regularly during the past weeks to keep alumni and others interested in Wisconsin informed of the progress of Venetian night events.

Ninman is being assisted on the publicity and program committees by Irene Norman '25, Hillier Kriegbaum '26, Alice Colony '26, Robert Lewin '26, Helen Taylor '25 and Marcelles Rutherford '26.

LOCAL CHILDREN TO DECORATE GRAVES

Nearly 50 Madison children will assist in the decoration of the soldiers' graves in "Soldiers' Rest" and the graves of the Confederate soldiers at Forest Hill cemetery on the morning of Memorial day. Many of these children are grandchildren of civil war veterans and are therefore delighted to participate in the service.

Mrs. H. J. Clark is the chairman of the committee which secured the children for this purpose. She was assisted by Mesdames C. Z. Wise, O. S. White, David E. Lewis, and William Banford.

The children will meet at the G. A. R. hall on Monona ave. at 7:30 a. m. on Friday morning and will be conveyed to the cemetery in automobiles.

HIGHWAY TO TAKE UP BLAINE LETTER

A special meeting of the state highway commission Tuesday morning to consider statements made by Gov. Blaine in his recent communication, was called Monday by W. O. Hotchkiss, chairman of the commission.

A special meeting of the state commission. The highway body will go into the governor's demands for reduction in highway expenditures and changes in the highway department in detail, it was said.

Chairman Hotchkiss is in letter sent to Governor Blaine this afternoon, denied that he sought to "drive the governor from a course to bring about economy and retrenchment" through the commission's chairman's letter of May 22. He further declared that the commission desires to "cooperate in every way possible to bring about economy and retrenchment."

"Wonderful—Best Song of the Year." —Tom Morony

"Haresfoot Sweetheart"

On Sale Now Music Stores

"Haresfoot Sweetheart" Now Selling at Music Stores

"I'm in Love With Every Girl," Haresfoot heartbreaker from back in 1912, has nothing on "Haresfoot Sweetheart,"—so say the connoisseur of college serenades who have heard Jesse Cohen's orchestra play or Port Butts sing the newest Haresfoot melody.

The song has been published by the Haresfoot club this week and placed on sale at the University Music shop and Hook Brothers Music store, where it is available to the general public, which may serenade with it, dance to it, or just look at the picture of By Rivers on the front cover as it pleases.

Three weeks ago, May 3, to be exact, Cohen and Butts sat down to dinner at the Kopper Kettle and fitted a tune and words together between courses to present at the Haresfoot banquet the same night. The job took just as long as a couple of T-bone steaks endured, but apparently it was an inspired job, because when the 10-piece Haresfoot orchestra introduced the song late that night on its annual serenade, it was applauded with an over-size chocolate cake from the Pi Phi house, fudge from the A. O. Pi quarters, and etceteras from elsewhere.

Again when the orchestra broadcast and Butts sang from the university station, WHA, a week ago Monday night, two telegrams came in promptly asking for orchestration rights.

The number has been presented as a serenade song by Cohen and Butts to the Haresfoot club, of which they are members and for which they wrote most of the "Twinkle Twinkle" show music this year, and the club in turn has had the piece published and will send it to all of its 400 living members, hoping that it will become to the Haresfoot club what "If You Want to be a Badger" is to Wisconsin.

Each copy of the song is being autographed by Cohen, but not in the usual way. He is making his mark where the printer should have made one, tracing an A flat where only an awkward A natural intruded before.

Henderson, Baptist Pastor, Warns Not to Disarm Now

That peace propagandists who charge the world war was only a capitalists war offer an insult to the high spirit of patriotism and idealism with which American soldiers fought that war, and that non-resistance will invite war rather than avoid it were the statements made by Dr. Norman B. Henderson, pastor of the First Baptist church in his sermon Sunday morning.

The Lucius Fairchild post of the G. A. R. and the local chapters of the Veterans of the Spanish American war, the Sons of Veterans and Daughters of the Revolution attended.

"No one wants war with its abnormal hates, its suffering and heartaches and the aftermath of economic upheaval and moral let-down," said Dr. Henderson. "No one can ponder over the 73 million casualties in the last war and the unthinkable sum of 338 billion spent in its pursuit, and the untold suffering and horror it brought and still want war.

"But merely hating war will not cure war. Our men threw themselves into the last war and fought to end war but we have all been disillusioned in that respect. Still I am one of those who believe that America's men whether in the revolution, the civil war, the Spanish-American war or the world war did not fight in vain.

"America's wars have not been capitalistic wars. They have been fought in behalf of high ideals. It is true there have always been many a Judas who has taken advantage of these ideals for his own profit. But millions of our young men fought with high ideals."

CHICAGO, Ill. — According to statistics recently compiled by J. H. Tufts, vice-president of the University of Chicago, there has been a remarkable decrease in the number of students due to scholastic failures.
