UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN.

VOL. IV—No. 113.]

MADISON, WIS., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1895.

[PRICE THREE CENTS.]

GRAND CONCERT

ON THE NIGHT OF THE JUNIOR PROMENADE.

WILL BE GIVEN BEFORE THE REGULAR PROGRAM.

Final Selection of Programs—Gallery
Admission 50 Cents.

It has been decided to open the Junior Promenade with a short concert by Clauder's orchestra. The concert will consist of six numbers, which have been already selected. This concert will be, of course, free to the holders of the regular tickets and for those who wish to go simply to listen to the concert and to see the dance a limited number of gallery tickets will be issued. Those will be on sale Monday. The price has been fixed at fifty cents.

The entire program for the Promenade has been so well selected that the regular program will furnish a continuous concert for the whole evening. The music will begin about 8 o'clock. The reputation of Clauder's orchestra is well known and any one who has ever heard a concert given by them will be anxious for another chance. The entire orchestra, led by Clauder himself, will be here.

On account of the size of the gallery it has been decided to limit the ticket issue to a number that can easily be accommodated. The promenade will in itself be well worth seeing, on account of the decorations which will be put in the hall. If one does not care to go and dance then a seat in the gallery will afford a good substitute.

The committee met yesterday evening to decide on the style of the programs. Rough proofs in different inks and on different styles of paper had been received. The one selected was in the opinion of the committee the neatest one of the lot and the committee is confident that no prettier design could have been selected.

MODERN CHARITY.

Lecture by Prof. Henderson, of the University of Chicago.

The Presbyterian church was comfortably filled last evening when Dr. Charles R. Henderson, of the university of Chicago, stepped upon the rostrum to deliver his lecture on the Partnership of Modern Samaritans. The address was given under the auspices of the Madison Benevolent society.

The lecturer said that there should be a central association for the distribution of charity. This central distributing point might be termed a clearing house. A man of affairs is generally so busily occupied that he can find no time to investigate the merit of appeals for charity that come to him; yet he dislikes to refuse relief for fear the case may be one worthy of assistance, while on the other hand he is aware that indiscriminate charity often promotes pauperism which is next door to crime. A business man earns more in one day than he need give for charity in a large number of days, if the contribution is properly bestowed. The speaker thinks a trained agent should thoroughly investigate every case where charity is needed and some record should be kept of all assistance rendered. He provoked a hearty laugh by telling a story about having his overcoat stolen on three different occasions while preaching in various cities.

He said the best methods for the distribution of charity are just becoming known and practiced. Wisconsin is well able to care for three times as many poor as it has if only proper methods are adopted. Paupers, beggars and the needy are not to be gotten rid of immediately; there is no method for disposing of these classes of society. This is not the way to solve the problem. We can't send the needy and dependant away without succor. Our compassion aroused by such pitiful spectacles would not permit us to do so. We have to find a good method and follow it.

Next to the Jews the Catholics have the best method of charity. It is a system based on the brotherhood of man. The St. Vincent De Paul charitable organization, founded in Paris by the Catholics, is excellent. Central organization must not degenerate into a detective agency. To reach honest and honorable, though unfortunate workmen, the purveyor of assistance must not go in the guise of a philanthropist, but as a brother. There has been a growth of a spirit of democracy among persons of small possessions recently. This spirit spurs charity given in a patronizing manner. This is a hopeful sign, for it shows the presence of a growing spirit of manhood. Chronic paupers are made by the ancient manner of giving charity. Pauperism is made hereditary in many instances and it should be a community's endeavor to shun acts promotive of pauperism.

Tenderness, kindness and sagacity are necessary for a partnership between the rich and the poor. "A skilled and intelligent agent, one of Dr. Ely's students for instance, should be employed to direct this partnership between the independent and the needy," said the speaker. The agent should see that sanitary and other conditions of the dependent are what they should be. He should keep records of all his transactions. This would obviate the danger of training persons to become chronic paupers.

Dr. Henderson thinks Wisconsin should have a home for the feeble-minded for from this class come most of the paupers and criminals of the state. There are as many feeble minded persons in the United States as there are insane.

CO-OP CONSTITUTION.

The constitution of the co-operative association published in yesterday's Cardinal is the one to be voted on at the meeting, Monday, and not the present constitution of the association.

The Engineer's association elected the following joint debaters G. W. Hart, '96, A. E. Broemenan, '96 and C. W. Tuller, '98.

JOINT DEBATERS

ARE ELECTED IN THE HESPERIAN SOCIETY.

MEETINGS IN THE OTHER LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Mc Nab, McCard and Evans are the Fortunate Ones.

Hesperia elected her joint debates yesterday evening. The following were chosen:

J. L. McNab, '96.
H. S. McCard, '96.
E. A. Evans, '97.

Every meeting of Philomethia, this term, seems to be more rousing and enthusiastic than the one before, and last night's capped the climax. The debaters were as usual well prepared. Liegler, '96, led the affirmative and Ralsch, '95, the negative on the first debate. "Resolved, That all work in the University of Wisconsin should be elective after the freshman year." The question was decided in favor of the affirmative. The second debate, "Resolved, That railway pooling should be legalized" was won by the negative, led by Smith, '98, over the affirmative, led by Muenzner, '98.

After the Critics' Report by Liedenberg, '97, Demiston, '98 and Bolton, '98, were initiated. The following officers were elected unanimously for the remainder of the term:

Pres.—E. R. Buckley, '95.
Vice Pres.—T. W. Brazeau, '96.
Censor—E. R. Burgess, '96.
Ass't. Censor—P. H. Urness, '95.

It was decided to have no meeting on the coming Friday, it being a legal holiday.

The greater part of Hesperia's meeting last night (was taken up by important business. The part of the program gone through with was animated. The debate on the question, "Resolved, that the right of suffrage should be extended to women," was well laid out, and the discussion on the imperative duties of the home and the other phases of the question would have done credit to a married men's club. The jury decided that woman's field did not coincide with that of politics.

The following officers were elected for the rest of the term: President, J. D. Wolcott; censor, Wilson Cunningham; assistant censor, Henry Case.

There were the usual debates at Athena hall, last evening. The single tax system of Henry George was decided for the affirmative after a well contested debate. The government ownership of electric light, telephones est., was also decided for the affirmative. There was a fair number present, and an interest was shown in these lively questions.

GUNSAULUS TO LECTURE.

The Rev. F. W. Gunsaulus, of Chicago, will lecture at the Methodist church, on March 12th. His subject will be "Robert Browning." Those who have heard this eloquent divine will be glad of a chance to listen to him on this subject.

KAPPA BANQUET.

The members of Eta chapter of Kappa Kappa Gamma very pleasantly entertained their visiting members and delegates at a banquet at their lodge on Langdon street last evening. The dining room and parlors were prettily draped with smilax and large bunches of roses and carnations. The following toasts were responded to: The Old Girls, by Miss Sharp, grand president of the fraternity; That Goat, by Miss Schumann, University of Wisconsin; Our Kappa Song, Miss Elizabeth Palmer, University of Wisconsin; The Fellowship of the Chapters Gamma Province, Miss Sargent, of Evanston; An Ode to Eta, Miss Maud Thorpe, University of Wisconsin; Miss Edna Chynoweth acted as toast mistress; Miss Pratt, of Minneapolis, brought greetings from Delta Province. Others present included: Misses Howe, Irvington, Ind.; Mahan, of Greencastle, Ind.; Gray and Sargent, of Evanston; Shreave, Miller, Hopson, and Loudon, of Bloomington, Ill.; Patton, of Bloomington, Ind.; Hutchinson of Mineral Point; Wyman, of Eau Claire; Griswold, of Columbus, Wis., besides Helen Palmer, Bessie Palmer, Marie Thorpe, Annie Main, Mabel McCoy, Griswold, Parkinson, Remington, Susie Main, Annie Pitman, Frances Welles, Hayden, Sames, McFetridge, Robinson, Jennie Pitman, Merrill and Fannie Flint, of the Eta chapter.

RECEPTION TO MRS. FLOWER.

Prof. and Mrs. Daniells Entertained
Yesterday Evening.

Prof. and Mrs. W. W. Daniells gave a reception last evening for Mrs. J. M. Flower, of Chicago, who delivered an address before the Woman's club in the afternoon. The parlors were handsomely trimmed in foliage and a variety of flowers. The refreshment board in the north parlor was directly under the chandelier from which hung four strands of smilax to the corners of the table. A large cluster of bridesmaid roses graced the center of the cover. Mrs. E. T. Owen presided there. The south parlor was in yellow, the decorations being daffodils and ferns while a parlor lamp with a large yellow shade lent an added charm to the effect. Miss Susie Sterling served ices, coffee and cake in this room. The study was in red and the parlor was fragrant with hyacinths, easter lilies and carnations. Artistic combinations in ferns also adorned the front parlor.

Mesdames W. S. Main, A. E. Proudfit and H. W. Chynoweth assisted in entertaining. About 150 were present, including Gov. and Mrs. Upham, members of the faculty and many old-time friends of Mrs. Flower.

UNIVERSITY ACTORS.

The play "The Loan of a Lover" will be presented, Monday evening, at the home of Mrs. J. S. McNaught. The following university people will assist in the production: C. C. Case, '95; C. F. McClure, '95, and J. F. A. Pyre, '92.

The rush caused by the giving out of the preliminary programs to the Junior Promenade was an exciting one while it lasted, but now that it is all over, everyone feels satisfied that it was the best thing that could have been done and glad that it is all over. From now on until next Friday evening there will be a period of rest and all who filled their programs yesterday, will have a feeling of security that they could not have felt otherwise.

Those who attended the field meet last week were no doubt surprised to see the small attendance, only sixty-four paid admissions. There is no excuse for any lack of response from the students. The contests thus far have all been interesting as they have been close. The management spares no efforts to induce contestants to train thoroughly in order to enter, and asks only a small sum of ten cents to witness this sport. Besides the several contests are all for a purpose ultimately, much more than amusement or the incidental glory. They are a means to put our men in the best condition for the mid-winter athletic meet which we hope will become a fixed custom in the university, because of its past success. Come out tonight and bring your young lady friends and ask all our neighbors to buy tickets, even if they cannot attend. Saturday night is the time for a recreation after a week's hard work and who knows a better place to find the same than at the Gym tonight. Don't forget we intend to send five men at least to Chicago March meet and must raise funds for the plan somehow.

PHARMACEUTICAL SOCIETY.

The meeting of the Pharmaceutical society, last night, was well attended, many lady visitors being present. The program opened with an excellent violin solo by Dr. Saunders, followed by an exceedingly interesting and instructive lecture on "Volatile Oils" by Prof. Barnes. As the lecture treated of a subject of prime interest to the members, its value cannot be overestimated.

After a short recess occupied in specimen review came an impromptu debate on the question, "Resolved, That pharmacists should be held responsible for the purity of their drugs." It was argued in the affirmative by Freytag, '96, and Elsner, '96, and on the negative by Bossingham, '95 and Rainey, '96. The jury decided the question two to one, in favor of the affirmative.

ALUMNI NOTES.

'56—J. M. Flower is spending a few days at the home of Mrs. Elizabeth H. Proudfoot.

'75—G. S. Martin has accepted a call to the Baptist church at Baraboo. Mr. Martin graduated from the Morgan Park Theological seminary, at Chicago, in 1884. He afterward took the law course at the university with the class of '90. Since that time he has been practicing law in Madison.

'91—Olive Baker has completed an advanced course in elocution at the Kayser school, Chicago. She expects to organize a private elocution class in this city.

CREW PRACTICE AT HARVARD.

The coaches have at last modified their plan of secret practice of the 'varsity crew, they have decided to keep the crew-room open to visitors once every week and to furnish all other information necessary to satisfy the curiosity of the undergraduates. The plan adopted by Mr. Watson and Captain Bullard is to allow visitors in the room on Mondays. On the other days of the week complete news will be given out. The only object in keeping the room closed at all is that the crew quarters are so small that onlookers are sure to interfere with the coach's instructions even if in no other way than by the unavoidable noise and disturbance occasioned by men being in the room. This innovation will undoubtedly be received by the students with great satisfaction as there have been many complaints against the former plan of secret practice.—Harvard Daily News.

Mr. Ori J. Sorenson, of La Crosse, formerly of Madison, passed through the city Friday, on his way to Milwaukee to attend a convention of the Eastern Star (Masonic), to be held next week.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL.

—Miss Pomeroy, '95, left today for a visit at her home in Edgerton.

—Will F. Hase, '97, left for a short visit in Milwaukee this morning.

—Prof. C. N. Gregory gives a dinner to gentlemen friends this evening.

—A number of 1st year short course students took a trip to Ogilvie's stock farm today.

—Robt. Burchard, of Ft. Atkinson, is visiting Fred Landgraf and H. C. Miller, '98, over Sunday.

—Ernest O'Neil, '98, was called to his home in Neillsville by the sudden death of his grandfather.

—J. M. Bessel, '95, and W. L. Smythman, '96, are attending the Epworth League convention at Appleton.

—Mrs. Brittingham, '89, entertained the Gamma Phi Beta freshmen, at her home on Gorham street, last evening.

—Miss Mollie Bertels is expected to return next week, to resume her work on the hill after a long illness.

—The short course students held an interesting and well attended meeting in agricultural hall, last evening.

—Mrs. W. S. Marshall will entertain her sister, Miss Hughes, of Lima, Ohio, for several weeks. She will be here to attend the the Junior Promenade.

—Mr. Alfred Vivian, of the school of pharmacognacy, gave an entertainment at Oregon, last evening. The citizens of Oregon engaged Mr. Vivian for one of the members of a lecture course they are giving this winter. A party of fourteen university students drove across to enjoy the entertainment as well as a sleigh ride. Mr. Vivian kept the house in good humor during the entire programme, being encored repeatedly. His impersonations were natural and not at all strained and the citizens of Oregon expressed themselves by no means dissatisfied in their choice.

FOR THE ARCHON.

Editors and writers for the Archon, the high school weekly, will give a benefit entertainment in the assembly room of the high school building this evening. The following is the program: Piano solo, Josie Fuller, declamation, Wm. Lee; vocal solo, Ida Bratrud; declamation, Lynn Tracy; piano solo, Ena Hauer; vocal solo, Nettie Montgomery; warbling, Miss Lillian Conover. The High School Mandolin club will also play several selections. After the program refreshments will be served in the corridors on the lower floor. The paper has not received the support it deserves and the management has devised this means of decreasing the debt. An admission fee of 15 cents will be charged.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE AT BROWN.

A committee of prominent Providence women, with Miss Sarah E. Doyle as chairman, has undertaken to raise $75,000 to be used in erecting a building for the Women's College of Brown University.

The lack of room in the present building and the consequent inability to conduct the Annex to the best advantage have long been well known by its friends. Now the prospect seems brighter for a commodious college establishment.

A circular has been issued entitled, "An Appeal to the Friends of Higher Education of Women." The circular says: "This (the proposed) system of co-education embraces substantially all the advantages of co-education without any of its disadvantages. It also places Brown University, as a provider of higher education for women, in advance of all the other old American colleges. Thus Yale provides instruction only for graduate women. Radcliffe College instructs undergraduates, but its courses do not lead to Harvard degrees.

"Indeed, an additional argument for our movement is the fact that facilities at present existing in New England for the collegiate education of women are insufficient. With the outfit asked for, Brown University will offer women better educational opportunities than are now open to them anywhere in New England, and may expect many women students from neighboring states."

NEW ENGLAND ATHLETICS.

A meeting of the New England Inter-collegiate athletic association was held in Boston, February 11th. The association is composed of the following colleges: Amherst, Brown, Bowdoin, Institute of Technology, Worcester Polytechnic, Dartmouth, Trinity, Wesleyan, Williams and University of Vermont. It was voted to hold the annual games of the association at Worcester on Wednesday, May 22.

Miss Emma Timberlake, of St. Paul, who has been the guest of Miss Annie Stewart for some time, is spending a few days in Milwaukee before returning to her home.
