SHUTER CHOSEN "KICKMI" COACH FOR HARESFOOT

Michigan Director Signs Contract for Spring Production

E. Mortimer Shuter, dramatic coach, has been secured by the Haresfoot club to direct the twenty-fifth annual show, "Kickmi", to be staged by the organization this spring, according to an announcement by Thomas Tredwell '23, production manager, yesterday.

For three years Shuter has coached the Michigan Opera produced by the Mimes club at Ann Arbor. The Michigan Opera has developed under his tutelage until it now annually tours several states and has acquired national prominence in theater magazines.

Before entering amateur coaching work Shuter was a professional on the stage. During the war he devoted his entire time to the directing of war relief plays in the various war camps. The changing of the date of the Michigan show to the Christmas holidays has made it possible to secure Shuter for Wisconsin.

Dancing Coach Included

Negotiations to secure the present Michigan coach have been under way for years but this is the first time an opportunity has been open for his coming, Tredwell said.

A full time dancing coach to instruct the athletic males in feminine grace and steps will accompany Shuter. Both men will be in Madison for six weeks to direct the production. Shuter now has a copy of the play which he will correct and revise.

Prof. O. J. Campbell of Michigan university and formerly of the University of Wisconsin and a member of the Haresfoot club recommended Shuter to the club.

Committee Approves Choice

"Shuter is an excellent coach especially for college men and is characterized by the fineness of his work," Campbell said.

The Student Life and Interests committee has passed favorably on the Haresfoot club's choice. Final arrangements will be made between the contracting parties next Saturday by Gerald Koch '23, president of the club, and Tredwell.

Library School Elects

Officers For the Year

27,723 Pass Randall

Turnstiles Yesterday

The turnstile count of the number of persons admitted into Camp Randall yesterday came to a total of 27,723, according to information furnished by the athletic department after the game. Probably another couple thousand tried to catch occasional glimpses of the contest from outside. Illinois sent a large delegation from Champaign. It was estimated that a thousand tickets were sold at the University of Illinois.

THE action photo at the right shows Wisconsin's failure to score during the first quarter yesterday after carrying the ball to the two-yard line. It is the first action picture of a football game ever shown in The Cardinal and was taken by Ruud.

ALL REVIEWS ARE SOLD BY 2 O'CLOCK

Every one of 7,000 copies of the Homecoming Athletic Review, official Homecoming program placed on sale at the game yesterday, were sold by 1:45 o'clock. The sale compares very favorably with that of 4,000 books sold last year.

According to estimates made by Edwin Sorenson '25, business manager, and Bert Hilberts '25, circulation manager, 5,000 more books were needed to supply the demand at the game.

The excessive number of books sold is attributed by Porter F. Butts '24, editor, to ideal selling conditions, the organization of the selling staff and the increased size and feature value of the magazine. It is said to be the largest and most pretentious program ever published by an American college for a Homecoming celebration.

ARREST FOUR FOR SCALPING

Madison Business Man Among Those Apprehended By U. S. Agents

Declaring that he merely offered to wager the tickets in his possession for the Illinois-Wisconsin game L. M. Bornstein, shoe repair man, 809 University avenue was arrested this morning by William Touton, deputy United States marshal. Bornstein was arraigned before Chauncey E. Blake, federal court commissioner, and released on bond.

A Milwaukee man and a man from Janesville have also been arrested and at present are out on bail awaiting the action of the federal authorities.

The athletic department working with the fourteen United States agents in the Latin quarter has made student investigations.

A junior, said to be prominent in campus activities and whose name has been withheld in view of the fact that this is the first time that drastic action has been taken against ticket scalpers, confessed Friday night that he had speculated in football tickets.

He immediately refunded the money received for the tickets and made no attempt to conceal his original intentions. He has been placed on the black list and told that he may never again purchase a ticket to an athletic contest from the University of Wisconsin athletic department.

GRADS ACCLAIM HOMECOMING AS BEST EVER HELD

Latin Quarter Has Busy Day From Morning Until Night

The biggest Homecoming ever celebrated at Wisconsin is history today. Not only was it the biggest, but it was the best in the history of the event as is evidenced by the old grads who attended.

Great crowds thronged the Latin quarter all day from early morning to a late hour last night. Beginning with the Hobo parade at 10:45 o'clock yesterday morning the grads were given something to keep them busy all day long.

All events with the exception of the exhibition crew race went off as scheduled. The race had to be postponed due to unfavorable conditions on the lake.

Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity won the first prize in the hobo float contest and Lambda Chi Alpha placed second. Kappa Kappa Gamma was given a special prize, according to an announcement at Morgan's.

A gypsy caravan was the float entered by Alpha Gamma Rho. Lambda Chi Alpha had a truck decorated with cornstalks in which a hobo band was riding.

In the non-fraternity group Scabbard and Blade won the first prize and the "Kahr" group was second.

There was a tie for first honors in the healthy beard contest. Two men giving their names as Reterson and Friday were the successful beavers. John Runkel split the prize of $10 in trade. It is rumored that he charged them each the full amount of the prize to remove the surplus growth.

The Varsity quartet sang for the graduates at 11 o'clock in Music hall. Their songs were well received by those who attended. They also gave another concert at 5 o'clock.

Wisconsin Misses Chance In First Quarter Of Tilt

BY CHAS. J. LEWIN

David met Goliath again yesterday, and Wisconsin experienced the end of the world.

With 27,000 fans forming a Homecoming funeral cortege, Badger championship hopes were gently interred in the turf of Camp Randall. An Illinois football team was in charge of services.

Fighting against odds, struggling to break the three-linked chain of Wisconsin victories over Illinois, Coach Bob Zuppke's "fighting Illini" out lucked the overconfident Badgers and eked out a 3 to 0 win. In a game which lacked thrills and good football playing, they held Wisconsin safe while Rune Clark, who may become as famous as his brother Patsy, sent a neat drop-kick spinning over the crossbar and gave an Illinois team the chance that Bob Zuppke has prayed for during three football seasons.

Team Lacks Punch

Once Illinois had gained that narrow margin of a conqueror, it played carefully, savagely, holding to the morsel of points until Referee Magidsohn's whistle ended all hopes of a dime-novel finish in which Wisconsin might forward pass its way between Orange-Black covered posts to a touchdown and victory.

A spiritless Wisconsin team was in there fighting for the old grads who had returned, only to see a potential champion smitten by a "weak sister". It lacked punch and it seemed to lack versatility.

Two quarters were necessary to teach the Badger eleven that the Illinois players were fighting for more than one football game. They were fighting to avenge three and their opportunity came in the middle of the third quarter after a steady march started from midfield when Miller intercepted one of Barr's numerous passes.

Badgers Had Chance

McIlwain made two short advances and then Clark passed to Richards who was not stopped until he had reached the 25-yard danger zone. When the Indians penetrated to the Wisconsin 7-yard mark, Clark dropped back and booted a perfect 15-yard drop-kick from a difficult angle, thereby inscribing his name along with brother Patsy, Pogue,

Varsity Quartet Sings To Entertain Old Grads

"The old grads" were entertained yesterday morning with a group of songs sung by the Varsity Quartet, calculated to instill again all of the old college spirit.

One of the most popular selections sung was the quartet's own special arrangement of "Varsity". Other songs, besides numerous encores, were "Copper Moon" by Shelley, and the quartet's own arrangement of a group of college songs forming a college medley.

Christopher Hendra '23, is second tenor; Noel Stearn, grad, is director and first tenor; Tom Dartnell sings baritone and Whitford Huff '23, bass. Robert Nethercut '24, was at the piano.

OFFER ROUTES TO ANN ARBOR

Association of Commerce Bureau Gives Out List of Best Highways

That a considerable number of Madison people will travel to the Michigan game this week by automobile is assured by the number of requests for information about roads. J. C. Bitterman, director of the Road and Travel bureau of the Association of Commerce with the assistance of the Chicago Motor club has planned several routes for the convenience of those who will drive.

One route is via Janesville, Rockford, Rochelle, Chicago Heights and Elkhart. The directions for this route are No. 10 to Janesville and Beloit, the Meridian highway through Rockford to Rochelle, Lincoln highway from Rochelle to Elkhart, Ind., passing through De Kalb, Geneva, Aurora, Joliet and Chicago Heights. This route also passes through La Porte, South Bend and Elkhart, Indiana.

At Elkhart pick up what is known as the Chicago trail marked red, white, and blue, and follow to Howe, Ind. From Howe to Sturgis, Mich., a distance of 5 miles, follow Ohio-Indiana-Michigan highway marked O I M. At Sturgis pick up Michigan highway, No. 23 and follow through Cold water, Quincy, Jonesville, Cambridge and Clinton to Saline.

Leave No. 23 at this point and travel over Saline—Ann Arbor road 10 miles to Ann Arbor. Total distance by this route is 431 miles. For anyone wishing to avoid the heavy traffic and congestion in Chicago.

Those wishing to go through Chicago should set their speedometers at the Chicago Motor club which is at Michigan boulevard and thirty-third street and continue south on Michigan boulevard to fifty-fifth street; left through Washington park and over what is known as the Midway to Jackson park, leaving Jackson park as the southeast corner and follow South Shore drive to Whiting 15.8 miles from Chicago Motor club.

From Whiting go to Indiana Harbor 19.2 miles, to Gary 27.8 miles, to East Gary 34.6 to Woodville station 45.9 miles, to Chesterton 49.5 miles, north to Tremont and Michigan City 64.3 miles, to Cross Bridge 64.6 miles and to Grand Beach 71.1 miles.

Grand Beach is the first village reached in Michigan over this route. You will now pick up Michigan highway No. 11 which you follow to Watervliet passing through St. Joseph and Benton Harbor and many smaller places. At Watervliet leave No. 11 and follow No. 17 entire distance to Ann Arbor, passing through Hartford, Paw Paw, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek, Marshall, Albion, Jackson and Chelsea. The entire distance from Madison by this route is 420 miles.

The travel bureau of the Association of Commerce has no file a limited number of copies of the log giving detailed directions from the office of the Chicago Motor club to Ann Arbor over this route. Those contemplating driving may have a copy of the log by applying at this office, B. 7305.

The office has received some inquiries about the route via Milwaukee and Muskegon, making use of the ferry across Lake Michigan between these two points. In this case use No. 19 to Milwaukee, 86 miles, and on the Michigan side use highway No. 11 from Muskegon to Spring Lake; No. 16 to Lansing; No. 14 to Jackson and No. 17 to Ann Arbor, or one may use No. 11 to Spring Lake; No. 16 to Grand Rapids; No. 13 to Kalamazoo and No. 17 to Ann Arbor via Battle Creek and Jackson. These routes are practically the same distance, about 192 miles from Muskegon to Ann Arbor.

Ferry service between Milwaukee and Muskegon is three times a week each way leaving Milwaukee at 9:00 p. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, and leaving Muskegon at 10:00 p. m. on Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday.

Charges for automobiles are from $10 to $20 according to wheel base of the car; motorcycles $3.50; motorcycles with side car $7. Passenger fares are $4 each; berths $2 each; state rooms $4; breakfast 75c; dinner $1.00 and supper $1.00.

Dr. E. V. Brumbaugh, city health officer, returned today from Milwaukee where he attended the state teachers' convention. Friday he spoke to the department of health, sanitation and hygiene on "The School Physician and the Teacher."

LUNG TROUBLES BIGGEST HEALTH WORRY AT OHIO

Health Director Reports Numerous Complaints By Students

(Special to The Cardinal)

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 11—Three hundred cases of respiratory trouble constituted the chief health complaint of students at Ohio State university during October according to figures compiled by Dr. H. Shindle Wingert, director of the student health service.

Calling attention to the fact that there has been less digestive trouble among students than usual for this time of year, Dr. Wingert credits the mild weather for the general good health prevalent at the University.

The health department has vaccinated 206 freshmen since the opening of school. One thousand seventy-four different students have called at the department for advice and treatment. A diminishing of hours lost in attendance at classes due to illness is one of his main objectives of the department.

Statistics compiled for 1921-22 show that the 13,110 visits made to the department represent an increase of 2,000 over the previous year. Thirteen thousand, seven hundred and seventy-eight school hours, or 2490 less than 1920-21, were lost through sickness declared by Doctor Wingert to be preventable for the most part.

Four thousand, two hundred and thirty-four different students, employees, and faculty members, or nearly half of the total enrollment made use of the department. Nine hundred and seventy-five visits were made for advice, only.

TEST VALUE IS LIMITED, BELIEF

Professor Henmon Addresses Teachers' Meeting in Milwaukee

That educational tests are not developed far enough to furnish exact measurements of individual pupils, was the belief expressed by Prof. V. A. C. Henmon, director of the School of Education of the University of Wisconsin, in an address given last week in Milwaukee before the annual meeting of the Wisconsin State Teachers' association.

"Educational tests have become so numerous that it is difficult, even for the professional student of education, to keep in touch with them all. Comparative studies have been made at the University, with eight tests in American history, four well-known algebra tests, and eight reading tests" Professor Henmon said.

"There are two things about them that are disturbing; first, the lack of agreement between the results of tests, and the well-considered judgment of teachers as indicated in estimates or marks assigned, and second, the lack of agreement between the results of one standard test, and those of another in the same subject.

"When tests were first developed, in duet form, sung by Mr. Melnotte as if there were two people on the stage.

it was suggested that they would be of great value in school surveys and in making comparisons between schools and classes, but would be of doubtful value as measures of individuals. However, in the elaborate calculations of achievement ages and achievement quotients, we have proceeded to treat the scores as if they were measures of individuals and measures of ability.

"In the light of such data as are available, it is doubtful whether we can legitimately claim to measure educational products with sufficient accuracy to go beyond the comparison of schools and classes."

ILLINI SHATTER ALL TITLE HOPE FOR WISCONSIN

Huge Crowds Mourn At Badger Grid Defeat

and Charpier in the roll of Illini who have spoiled Wisconsin Homecoming celebrations.

In the first quarter, Wisconsin had a perfect scoring chance but the final punch was missing and the machine stopped on the Indian two-yard mark. Russ Irish fell on an Illinois fumble 15 yards from the goal line. Barr and Williams carried the ball up to the last chalk line, and with fourth down and two to go, Taft met a stone wall defense and was stopped dead.

Neither team threatened in the second period although Wisconsin had started an aerial march down the gridiron shortly before the half ended.

Resort to Aerial Attack

Wisconsin was entirely on the defensive during the last half. A second dropkick by Illinois in the third quarter failed. Clark was on the 25-yard line, but his attempt went wide. In the last period, Illinois had and lost one more scoring chance. Couthie, who kicked a 50-yard field goal against North western, relieved the badly-battered Clark, but missed a 40-yard try.

At this juncture of the game, with 3 minutes to play Wisconsin awoke to the realization that it was a beaten team. Hurling pass after pass, Barr and his teammates came from beneath their own goalposts to midfield and past. "One minute more", the Wisconsin crowd prayed as it automatically stood up in the stadium. Their prayers were unanswered for the game concluded just as Gus Tebell nabbed a forward pass and was downed in Illinois territory.

Figures on the contest show how Wisconsin was superior to the victorious Illini. Captain Rollie Williams and his mates chalked up 17 first downs; Illinois made but 5. Shorty Barr completed 11 forward passes while 11 were incomplete and 4 intercepted; Illinois completed 4 passes of 10 which were essayed.

Defense Strong Point

Merrill Taft punted an average of 10 yards farther than his Illinois kicking opponent. Yet the Badgers were unable to win. They advanced the ball when it was in neutral territory, but they could not get close enough to worry the hostiles.

Both teams played strong defensive games. They held well in tight places and none of the backfield stars were able to reel off the sensational runs which come when one team is handicapped by a weak defense.

Gus Tebell was the same inimitable scrapper during Wisconsin's downfall. He nailed opposing ball-carriers when Illinois tried to advance and he nabbed forward passes when it was Wisconsin's turn to fight a path down the gridiron. In his last game on Randall field, Tebell showed why he ranks with the best wingmen in the country. Despite an injured side, Marty Below played a strong game at left tackle.

Miller Illini Star

Captain Williams was the most consistent ground gainer for Wisconsin. His legs flashed through the Illinois primary defense many times and if better interference had protected him, Wisconsin might not be mourning a defeat today. Still wearing his copper mask, Eddy Gibson played a steady game at right half. He stood the gaff until late in the last period, Eagleberger relieving him in the few remaining minutes of play.

Miller was the outstanding Illinois linesman. Twice he intercepted Badger forward passes. The playing of Captain Dave Wilson and Richards at the flanks bolstered up the Indian line, forcing Wisconsin backs to run the ball through the middle wall.

Illinois backs divided honors with McIlwain and Clark playing the star roles, and Robinson, Happenny,

BADGER HARES SCORE SHUTOUT OVER MAROONS

Chicago Is Defeated By Decisive Score in Fast Meet

Repeating its performance of last year against the Maroons the Wisconsin cross country squad scored a shutout in the race yesterday morning. Five of the Badgers crossed the line before a Maroon runner saw the finish.

Running over the longer course of 4.7 miles, the Badgers did not seem to mind the extra work but came in with good speed. The excellent time of 25 minutes, 57 seconds was made by the fastest man.

Wade showed his speed in the race and came in first. He is one of Wisconsin's fastest men but has not been able to break the tape until yesterday.

One of the features of the race was the placing second by Douglas Moorhead. Moorhead has been doing good work this fall but was not expected to place so high in the meet. He ran a pretty race and seemed fairly fresh at the finish.

Tschudy, star of the Badger squad in the other meets of the season, was contented with a third. He did not show his usual speed but did not need to exert himself to place.

Rossmeissel and Vallye placed fourth and fifth respectively. Rossmeissel has been showing up well this fall and few people were surprised when he came in ahead of the men who have been running regularly.

The much looked for speed of Krogh, the Maroon captain, was not forthcoming. In spite of the fact that he has made some fast time on the Chicago course in practice, he was unable to push the Badgers for high honors.

Krogh came in sixth and was the first Chicago man to finish. Other Maroon runners finished after all of the Badgers were in.

IOWA INVADES OHIO SATURDAY

Conference Teams Battle For First Time in History

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Nov. 11—Another new drawing card will make its initial appearance before an Ohio crowd next Saturday when the University of Iowa football eleven, conquerors of Yale, invade Ohio Stadium to battle Ohio State university for the first time in history. Iowa fell sole heir to the Western Conference championship a year ago when Illinois ambushed Ohio State just as fandom was settling back to see the Buckeyes and Hawkeyes race neck-and-neck to the tape, each with a clean slate in the Conference. It was Iowa's first Big Ten grid title since 1900.

Though minus the services of those two stellar performers Aubrey Devine and Duk Slater, Iowa is agains romping through a big year, contrasted to the Buckeyes, who have been havin uphill struggle.

The real odds in favor of Iowa are revealed in the experience column. All but three of the probable starters against Ohio are rounding out their third year of varsity football under the tutelage of Howard Jones, former Yale hero. Only one man on the line, Hancock, right end, can be said to be cutting his eye teeth.

The only other lineman playing his first year for Iowa is Engeldinger, but he has had a year of varsity experience at West Point. In the backfield Quarterback Parkin, hero of the Yale victory, is the only new man.

Ohio State, on the other hand, has been hard put all season by the mistakes of new men and veterans playing out of position. Of the 11 men who are likely to start against Iowa, ends Elgin and Wilson, guards Kutler or Long, halfback Klee and quarterback Judy are sophomores. In fact only Captain Pixley among the veterans, started games regularly last season in the position in which he is now playing.

BLOODY BUT UNBOWED

ILLINOIS won in a fair fight. Wisconsin was outplayed. That cannot be disputed.

But thank whatever gods may be for that unconquerable spirit that fought madly ill the last whistle, that stood in the stands and sung "Varsity" on a field of defeat!

Wisconsin may be defeated on the field of battle, but that spirit can never be beaten.

The reason for that defeat is doubtful. Zuppke certainly has solved the Badger pass, but that alone is not enough.

The Badgers had been told that they were going to win; that was generally understood. The Illini had been told that they were going to lose.

Maybe that is the reason the Illini won.

Tell a real man that he has the odds against him and watch him fight. That's why we expect the Badgers to beat Michigan next Saturday.

One thing is certain. Better spirit was never shown at Camp Randall.

The Illini broke their lungs in cheering; the Badger stands roared to the finish.

On the field was never a sign of quitting.

Nowhere inside the stadium was there a sign of poor sportsmanship.

Just as the flag was being lowered to half mast in honor of soldier dead, the Illini trotted onto the field; and the bugle's "Taps" was drowned out by a grandstand roar.

"Let the dead past bury its dead; honor the living hero," is bound to be the motto of a football crowd.

We can't blame the Illini rooters for that.

Anyway, when the whistles blew at 11 o'clock yesterday, there were three men among the thousands in the lower campus cross country crowd who stood at attention and faced east.

They were Illini. The Wisconsin students went on about their business.

TRIBUTE

YESTERDAY 10 Wisconsin Varsity men appeared in football togs on in the home field for the last time.

Wisconsin does not display sentimentality over the loss of gridiron heroes, but Wisconsin does pay today to 10 men who have fought and fought well for four years to bring glory to Wisconsin on its home field a silent tribute of appreciation.

Being a football regular and a senior implies two things; that the man has persevered to the last and achieved success in his chosen sport, football, and that he has as consistently persevered and achieved success in the scholastic program laid out for him by the university.

The double task, extending over four years, is not an easy one. And underclassmen who seek inspiration for further endeavor during their collegiate careers may find it each year in the few men who are at once football regulars and successful seniors.

Ten grid warriors completed, as far as appearing before their fellow students is concerned, those four well-spent years yesterday. That the memory of these men may not fade too quickly, we set their names down here, in honor roll, if you please:

ONE CONSOLATION

HOMEcoming, aptly characterized as the greatest and most representative of Wisconsin institutions, passes into history the eleventh time today.

Today Homecoming, in spite of a football defeat, seems enormous, glorious, incapable of betterment. The air for two days has thrilled with excitement and festivity, hand-shaking and lustily-shouted greetings.

Homecoming committees have done their work well. They have provided that very necessary machinery for the expression of verve and spirit which comes only with Homecoming time. The congratulations of 30,000 persons are theirs today.

Civilized Paganism Charms Audience of the Denishawns

BY HICKMAN POWELL

We forewent the pleasures of Homecoming jazz last night and went down to the Parkway to see Ruth St. Denis, Ted Shawn and a most admirable troupe do some real dancing.

Though it lasted the regulation length of time, the production was the shortest program we have seen at the Parkway this season.

It was a relief from the instrumental and physical hash of the dance hall which composes the aesthetic food for the cultured denizens of this great institution of higher intelligence.

Paganism?—Yes. The blended beauty of sound, color, form, and motion.

Just as pagan as "Hot Lips." But civilized paganism.

Sound: Chopin, Schumann, Brahms. A piano, violin, reed (not a saxophone). No banjo.

Color: Burnt orange, red, rust red, emerald, purple violet silver gray startling in their subdued blending.

Form: Beautiful women, not dependent for their beauty on cosmetics, marcelle waves, and slinky skirts. Men, strong, well-proportioned, symmetrical. Hangings, long folds, expressive, simple. Black shadows on a back curtain.

Motion: Strength, well-controlled. Rhythmic swaying. Hands, rippling. Scarfs, flowing.

The program, though civilized, was not high-brow.

Spanish dances there were, romantic, coquettish, gently humorous, without the castanettes and gyroscopies of Orph Castilians.

Ancient Mexico, with a discovery of fermentation in keeping with the spirit of Homecoming.

China, India, Egypt. We know not if those distant lands are like that, but we hope they are.

We claim no knowledge of dancing or of music; for our experience with both has been largely limited in the last few years to vaudeville, musical comedy, and Lathrop parlors; but that program at the Parkway last night made us appreciate the value to the university of Miss H'Doubler's dancing classes and Union board's concerts.

Looking Back On Wisconsin

IN THE CARDINAL FILES

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

Prof. R. T. Ely, in speaking of the need of private aid toward the building up of the university said, "If the people of Wisconsin, through the action of their legislature, coupled with private generosity, exert themselves to accomplish the result, there is no reason why our state university should not take a rank second to none in the United States."

The senior committee on class canes recommended the adoption of a wax-wood cane with a silver band bearing the inscription "U. W. '93."

The Oberlin Review writes of The Cardinal: "In our opinion The Cardinal is the most satisfactory of the various college dailies. One can get the gist of the doings of the leading colleges from the columns of The Cardinal."

20 Years Ago Today

The library of the State Historical society has received the first seven volumes of the Victoria History of the counties of England. The work will be completed in 160 large quarto volumes.

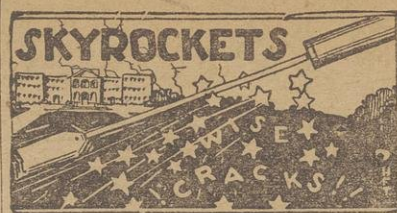

Memorial committee recommends that the new engineering building be named after the late dean, J. B. Johnson. Favorable action on the part of the Board of Regents is necessary to carry out the project.

Professor Kehl's dancing academy, it is announced, is now open to the public.

5 Years Ago Today

The Lincoln Memorial monument will be moved nearer Main hall, and a bench with steps of the same design as the base of the statue will be put behind it.

Ohio out-played Wisconsin in the forward-passing game Saturday, and by this method won a spectacular conference contest 16 to 3.

By golly. We want the alums to feel at home and all the sort of thing, but did you ever sit in an alum section at a football game? They sit there like wooden Indians in front of a cigar store, and can't even keep their foul old cigars going, but have to keep re-lighting them every few minutes, and spilling ashes all over themselves, and everybody else.

And what's more they spend all their energy yelling "DOWN IN FRONT," instead of standing up on their flat feet and yelling "TOUCH-DOWN."

And lots of 'em are feeble-minded, and keep their hats on when the crowd sings "Varsity" and take 'em off when the band plays "On Wisconsin."

Did you know that the Delta Gamma decoration was supposed to be a Swiss mountain slide? They were going to get Johnny Cassidy to come over and play mountain for them, only then it wouldn't be a SWISS mountain-slide.

DRUNK LAST NIGHT—DRUNK THE NIGHT BEFORE

And now that Homecoming is over all we have to do is wait for the annual announcement from the Dean of Men's office "that there was not a single case of drunkenness in the Latin Quarter."

Review of the Lit.
(Whadda ya mean by "Lit"?)
We will begin by reprinting one of Phillip Fox's poems.

Overture

"I ask you not the shelter of an hour
Within those arms whose bones and skinniness
Shall not get me, as squashing some frail flower
Or making some poor fish more finny-less".

Interlude

"The winds awake with gaping yawn
To greet the dawn.
Soon you will wake.
French leave I take
Sneaking slyly 'cross the squeaking floor
My old heart bumps until I reach the door.
Be back tonight.
Do you get me right?"

Here! Here! Just exactly what do you mean by that? Did we get you right?

As to "Andante," well we know what you mean now. And we can't reprint it. Such things are ordinarily censored in the Sky Rocket column. But all we dare say is that we wouldn't want lips like that trailing and pulsing and trembling around.

As to "A Clever Englishwoman" we would like to ask if the title refers to Margaret Emmerling, or to the woman she's writing about?

For various reason we suspect it isn't Madie. Besides, she's German. Quotation: "It was a bright gift to me, that image; but not to every one, perhaps not to many." Well, Madie, you can't make us mad. We don't want any of your "lights of pure lucidity" snapping around us.

There's an awful sap-head thing called "The Inconceivable Story of One Deeb." We don't wonder that Guy Talmadge hides under a nom de plume.

As to the lady of his poetry, she was cruel. Who could help pitying the old guy, standing around handing out lilies?

Well, we ought to say something to the football team. Here goes, "Never mind, boys. You're dear sweet things, and we love you."

Italian Kiddies Make Dolls As Co-eds Direct

Little blackeyed daughters of Italy, jabbing their fingers with needles in putting together rakish rag dolls and howling small boys sawing away at cigar boxes, add class work of a new kind to some fifty university students. The class rooms are the Community house of Madison on 768 Washington street. The class periods come once a week, and the attendance of the charges has reached 1500 beginning with Oct. 1, but then mamas and papas attend too.

The carving from wood of big elephants and cringing cats for a toy for baby sister is done by small boys under the direction of the only university men engaged in this sort of work. It is done entirely without credit.

Home Economics girls teach the little girls the gentler art of clothing rag dolls in neatly hemmed dresses.

Lessons in piano and violin are offered to pupils for 25 cents. A few girls from the School of Music are allowed to teach. Music students also play for ring games on Wednesday afternoons.

Rambling Hens Not

The hen that has to spend all her time running around to keep war mwill not have time to lay eggs this winter, the college of agriculture advises farmers. "It may be an excellent proof of hardiness for a hen to live through the winter in a rickety old hen house, but who wants to experiment in hardiness," J. G. Halpin, poultryman at the University of Wisconsin asks. He says that the present is the time to see that chicken houses are made warm for the winter.

HUGH WALPOLE TO SPEAK HERE

Theta Sigma Phi to Bring Noted English Novelist
Here in January

Hugh Walpole noted English novelist will speak in Madison on January 17 instead of sometime in December as first scheduled. His subject will be "The English Novel of the 20th Century."

Theta Sigma Phi, honorary journalistic sorority, brings to Madison each year some one prominent in the world of literature. Mr. Walpole is making a lecture tour of this country and is now lecturing in Boston.

Mr. Walpole's latest book is "The Young Enchanted." Others of his better known books are, "Captives," "The Secret City," "Jeremy," and "The Dark Forest."

"Almost all critics speak of Mr. Walpole as a man of recognized personality," said Prof. Warner Taylor of the English department. "He is generally spoken of in terms of the future, as one whose biggest and best works are yet to be written."

"Two of the strong characteristics of his work, his characterizations and the careful technique which shows a real 'sense of style' he possesses in common with many other modern realists. The definite backgrounds he gets in his pictures, backgrounds that suit the characters to perfection, are created with a skill peculiar to him."

"His writing is finally wrought, intellectual, and when he have finished a book of his we feel that we actually know him," said Professor Taylor.

Mr. Walpole will lecture at Music hall, and the tickets are $1.

REFUSE CITY'S BID FOR CONVO

Teachers Select Milwaukee For Next Annual Meeting

Madison's invitation to the Wisconsin Teachers' association to hold its convention here next year was not accepted Friday, and the delegates voted to convene in Milwaukee again in 1923.

Peace was celebrated in the ranks following the proffering of the proverbial olive branch to the minority Milwaukee delegation by the major faction, and the meeting closed with harmony as the keynote.

The biggest surprise of the entire meeting came when E. G. Doudna of Wisconsin Rapids was elected secretary over M. A. Bussewitz, who has held the position for several years, and who was slated for reelection. The office was put on a salary basis of $5,000 to $6,000 a year. The election followed a caucus of superintendents bent on bringing about harmony. The "insurgents" were opposed to naming Bussewitz.

Catherine Regan of Madison was elected third vice president, and a delegate to the National Educational association convention.

Sons and daughters of farmers, retail merchants, and workers in various trades constitute about 40 per cent of the total. The parents and guardians represented include 185 farmers, 213 merchants, and 184 employers or workers in trade.

Among the 184 parents who are employees or workers in trades, the census is shown that there are 21 laborers, 20 carpenters, 16 machinists, 9 clerks, 8 bookkeepers, 8 foremen, 6 barbers, 6 butchers, 6 printers, 5 blacksmiths, 5 painters, 5 plumbers, 4 electricians, 3 each among buttermakers, dressmakers, milliners, pattern makers, repair men, stenographers, tailors, teamsters, 2 each among bakers, cabinet-makers, cheesemakers, masons, shoemakers, telegraphers, and 1 each of beauty operators, canners, chauffeurs, chefs, cleaners, electroplaters, expressmen, harnessmakers, lathers, masseurs, millers, millwrights, modellers, movie operators, oilers, pressmen, sailors, street car men, telephone employes, trackmen, watchmakers, and watchmen.

Roughly classified, the professions sent 225 freshmen. The medical professions, including physicians, surgeons, chiropodists, chiropactors, dentists, opticians, osteopaths, nurses, and veterinarians, are represented by 77. The legal professions sent 43. The teaching profession sent 40; editors, writers, and newspaper men, 16; architects, 6; the clergy 14; musicians, 2.

Office holders in the government of city, state, and nation are represented by 42 students. Five postmasters, 11 other postal employes, 4 policemen, 3 county clerks, as well as a mayor, sheriff, and other officials are included. Some 41 railroad employes, including 6 conductors, 5 agents, 5 engineers are represented. Exactly 17 list their fathers as officials in corporations, including 3 presidents. Some 52 are sons and daughters of managers or superintendents in various plants or factories.

The field of commercial enterprise, mainly of the smaller type, is represented by 546 students, and includes 45 kinds of business. In-

CITY'S BUDGET IS SUBMITTED

Council Hopes to Trim Amount
Set at Four Million Dollars

The 1923 city budget was submitted to the common council last night, asking an appropriation of almost four million dollars. The exact figure is $3,804,696.33. Work of trimming the budget has not yet been completed by the council finance committee, and it is hoped to cut this figure considerably. The budget was referred back to the committee.

A recommendation was made to the council by the Forest Hill cemetery commission that the city buy the two lots adjacent to the 60-acre tract, purchase of which is now contemplated by the city from the Wingra Land Co. to be used for cemetery purposes.

The report of the commission stated that the lots were purchased by the company for highway purposes to give access to the Wingra woods and should be bought with the 60-acre tract. The commission recommended that $2,000 be paid for the lots.

The resolution of Ald. George A. Trachte, asking that the barracks now at the Central High school be removed to the Emerson school was adopted. The barracks are requested at the latter school due to crowded conditions.

City Atty. Roman A. Heilman was instructed to start condemnation proceedings against property adjacent to the contagious hospital on East Washington ave. for purposes of enlarging the present hospital. The property consists of the six lots to the east of the hospital. The property extends from Washington ave. to Mifflin st. Second st. will be moved eastward to eliminate the break in the street at its intersection with Washington ave.

Auto Line Near

The accident occurred when a speeding auto, traveling in the direction of Madison, attempted to pass a line of cars on the road, and in avoiding a large truck bound toward Sun Prairie, struck an Oldsmobile, throwing it into the ditch and piling the other cars on top of it.

Thousands of motorists, on their way to the Homecoming celebration in Madison jammed traffic on the road today, according to Sheriff William McCormick who arrived at the accident a few minutes after it happened.

Canadian Journalist Criticizes Co-education

"Co-education is at best only a second rate substitute for an ideal method of higher education. Young men and women students would both do better if they each had large schools of their own."

"Too many young women in colleges and universities are studying for professions in which they will never be of any material use."

These are the views Stephen Leacock, Canadian journalist, humorist, and professor of political science at McGill university, expressed in an interview at Ohio university recently, according to the Cincinnati Bearcat, student publication at Ohio university.

"Women should have college educations as well as men, but they should be separated. Let each follow lines of endeavor fitting to their sex," he said.

MAIL CARRIERS HAVE TROUBLES

Impossible Addresses and Unreadable Ones Frequently Received

Addresses which are in the middle of the lake, unreadable Greek letters, illegible scrawls, and others come into the U. W. postoffice every day.

Some of the addresses which come in are ridiculous. Particularly during the ticket sale for the Homecoming game did the clerks tear their hair and gnash their teeth. Innumerable students enclosed, when writing for tickets, self addressed stamped envelopes which were addressed to some other city or to some other wrong addresses.

From 150 to 200 laundry cases are sent on busy days. The popular days for sending laundry seem to be Monday, Friday and Saturday.

The U. W. postoffice, which was established to relieve congestion at the city postoffice, handles most of the university mail. There are eleven city carriers and four rural carriers, two clerks, and a superintendent employed to care for the mail, and the job is assuredly no sinecure.

The average number of pieces of mail that one man carries each day is between 2300 or 2500 a day with a total weight of 170 to 190 pounds a day. The carrier who handles the mail for the University buildings carries only letters and a few papers, totalling 2600 pieces and weighing about 170 pounds.

Mail addressed to numbers that would be in the middle of the lake are not infrequent. There came in yesterday a handsomely monogrammed envelope with no address on it at all. Maybe it was to Santa Claus.

The postoffice authorities were considering employing a Greek to decipher some of the addresses that come in. Impossible figures, doubtless supposed to represent some fraternity or sorority, exotic drawings followed by the word "house" tax the faculties of the Postoffice employees.

A list has been compiled showing the Greek letters of all fraternities and sororities and is posted, but even with this, it is often impossible to find the person for whom the letters are intended.

Several Students Plan To Drive to Ann Arbor

A Nash six, 1922 model, loaded with enthusiastic Wisconsin rooters and warm auto robes will make a pilgrimage to Ann Arbor to watch Michigan get beaten.

The exhibition will embark on Thursday afternoon or early Friday morning, going by way of the Lincoln highway and then on Michigan state roads which are reported to be in excellent condition.

"Stops and time schedules will be arranged to suit the inclination of the majority of the party" says Al W. Merriam, the manager and chauffeur of the trip.

A successful trip was made to Minnesota last week in the same car. Persons interested, should call B-4892 as soon as possible so that reservations may be made.

men. He will also be excluded from all outside activities.

By a system of purchasing files, Mr. Paul Hunter, who is in charge of the sale of tickets for athletic contests, has been able to trace all questionable ticket negotiations back to the original owner, thereby eliminating any uncertainty as to who was the violator.

Many novel and interesting schemes were used by the scalpers to conceal their identity. In some cases middle men were used to sidetrack the authorities and bogus receipts written out for the amounts received. Certain parties received amounts as high as $15 for choice seats.

"Under Two Flags" Heads Parkway's Bill For Week

Starting today the Parkway presents another super-attraction, "Under Two Flags", starring Priscilla Dean. Miss Dean has the fire and dynamic personality for the role of Cigarette, the idol of a French regiment quartered in Algiers. James Kirkwood heads the stellar supporting cast.

As an added attraction the Parkway has secured Armand Melnotte from the Keith vaudeville circuit. He is a female impersonator of international fame.

The comedy features Lloyd Hamilton in "The Speeder". The Parkway magazine completes the bill. Next Sunday Wesley Barry is coming in "Rags to Riches."

Herbert Lafiam, Milwaukee attorney, will speak at 10:30 Sunday morning at St. Andrews' Episcopal church. The regular service will be shortened, and a discussion will follow his address. He will speak on "The Program of the Church." The regular Sunday service will be followed. Wednesday morning at 7:30 there will be celebration of Holy Communion.

Arnold Ministering To Poor in New York

Victor H. Arnold, former president of the bankrupt Madison Bond Co., will continue his ministering to the poor, according to his announcement made in a New York church Sunday. He asked for names and addresses of people needing help stating that he will try to help them.

He was accompanied by his wife and four daughters who are at home on a five acre estate at Bayfield, Long Island. Collections at the meeting did not cover the cost of the hall, which is said to be $100, but Mr. Arnold will make up the difference.

Miss Marion Strassburger, graduate of the class of 1922 and Woman's editor of The Daily Cardinal last year, visited in Madison over the week end as the guest of Margaret Yates '24, 134 Breese terrace.

JANESVILLE — Andrew Anderson, wanted at Monroe, was arrested here on a charge of giving a Brodhead man a forged check in payment for an auto.

Northwestern to Run Special Ann Arbor Train

As on the Minnesota trip the Chicago and Northwestern road will allow the one and one-third rate to be in effect from Friday until Sunday.

The special train will be modern in every way and will be personally conducted by a representative of the Chicago and Northwestern road.
