JANESVILLE :
JAMES SUTHERLAND, BOOKSELLER & STATIONER,

Jermain & Brightman, Printers, Milwaukee.

TO SUBSCRIBERS.

The purpose of a work of this nature needs no explanatory preface. Its every page being an example of its general utility and business importance. It is, as it were, an index to the great ledger of the community; every party representing a family, or business avocation, will be found posted in its pages. That the compilation of a Directory is attended with obstacles, which retard and render difficult its perfect completion, may be easily imagined, but a practical experiment is needed fully to test the vexations to be encountered.

When it is remembered that the copy for publication has to pass through the hands of the canvasser, the assorter or classifier, the compositor, the printer and the proof-reader, the wonder is, not that some errors and omissions are detected, but that so few are to be discerned.

With this defender against the shafts of the critic the book is presented to the public, with a hope that it will be found worthy of the patronage of the citizens.

It is but a matter of justice to those who have kindly tendered information, and by their courtesy and encouragement aided our canvassers, for us to recognize, with many thanks, our sense of the obligations due.

Respectfully,

SMITH, DU MOULIN & CO.
